Members of both parties, publicly or privately, expressed amazement that Johnson made no mention at all in his State of the Union address Tuesday night of holding down spending.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, who held a news conference following the President's address to a joint session of Congress, said they felt Johnson failed to heed the "stop" signs of the November election.

New Congress 'Shocked' At Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 90th congress, barely organized but its new conservative bent already showing, reacted with shock today to President Johnson's proposed tax increase to pay for continued spending at home and abroad.

Republicans said flatly they wouldn't buy it. Surprised Democrats generally indicated they won't go along either, unless every effort is made to cut the outlay for great society programs.

Proposed Surtax Would Not Hit Low Income Class

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sixty-seven million Americans—and the companies they work for—face the prospect of increased income taxes, possibly as early as July 1.

Another 18 million low-income taxpayers would escape the boost under the 6-per cent surtax plan President Johnson recommended in his State of the Union message Tuesday night.

While the Chief Executive set no deadline for congressional action on his proposal, administration planners would like to have the new surtax take effect July 1.

It—and that is a big if since initial congressional reaction to the plan was one of shock—and when the tax hike did take hold, the average taxpayer's withholding $30 a week from your paycheck, he'd start withholding another $1.80, or 6 per cent more, making the total bite $31.80.

A surtax is not an increase in tax rates. If you're in the 20 per cent tax bracket, Johnson's proposed surtax would not suddenly boost you into the 26 per cent bracket.

You'd still be in the 20 per cent bracket. Only when you get all done figuring your taxes in the normal way, you'd add 6 per cent of your tax bill. If your (See SURTAX, Page 3)

Union Message Hits On Poverty, Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, banking on a $5.7 billion tax boost to help pay the record-breaking bills, is planning to expand the great societies at home — despite "more cost, more loss, and more agony" in Vietnam.

In a somber 75-minute State of the Union message to Congress and to the American people Tuesday night, he insisted it could be done.

Johnson spoke before a House and Senate whose increased Republican strength threatens enactment of the 1967 program he laid down. But he declared, Americans "do not want to quit" moving at the speed they have become used to during his three years in office.

The Chief Executive was interrupted 43 times by applause—but was greeted only by silence when he called for a 6 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to help finance the soaring costs of the Vietnam war. The boost would affect 67 million of the nation's 85 billion taxpayers.

He said his budget for the next fiscal year would call for $135 billion in spending and revenues of $126.9 billion, leaving a deficit of $8.1 billion, a lot less than had been rumored.

The budget he referred to was the so-called "administrative budget" and does not include the more than $30 billion spent on social security, highway construction and other programs financed through trust funds.

Former Actor Pleas For Film Censorship

Richard Arlen is a private citizen interested in restoring entertainment value to movies, books and stage plays in an effort to lessen the high juvenile crime rate in the United States.

Arlen is also a movie, radio and television celebrity, who never had "adults" only stamped on any of the more than 200 movies he made in Hollywood.

Last night at a dinner meeting in the high school cafeteria, Arlen made a plea to Knife and Fork Club members to use their influence in restoring authority where it belongs.

"Either we restore law, order and authority or we are going to give a bad image to our children," Arlen said.

He suggested writing to congressmen asking for legislation that would ban pornography and establish a censorship of films.

"Ask the people you have elected to help in this. They need to know how you feel about these matters," the still handsome actor said.

Senators To Draw For Terms Today

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The state's 31 senators will find out today whether they will serve two or four-year terms.

Senators will draw lots. The 16 who draw odd numbers will get four-year terms. The other 15 will have to run for reelection in 1968.

Senators normally are elected to four-year terms, with half the seats up each two years.

But because the senate was re-districted in 1965, all its members were elected last fall.

In the house speaker Ben Barnes planned to deliver an unusual speech spelling out some of the areas he thinks need legislative attention.

In Tuesday's opening of the 60th session, the senate defeated an attempt by Sen. A. R. Schwart of Galveston to end the senate's long practice of considering gubernatorial appointments behind closed doors.

B52 Bombers Blast VC's 'Iron Triangle'

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. B52 bombers today blasted a Viet Cong hideaway in the Iron Triangle less than a mile from American troops engaged in the war's biggest campaign. It was the closest the high flying bombers ever have struck to U.S. forces.

Military spokesmen said the Stratofortresses rained hundreds of tons of bombs on a suspected Communist troop camp in a thick jungle only 27 miles northwest of Saigon. The B52s usually strike from above the clouds at 30,000 feet.

The raid required pinpoint accuracy, spokesmen said, because U.S. infantrymen were less than a mile away — holding positions and waiting for the deafening roar of the bombs to subside before moving ahead.

It was only the second time that B52s have been used in close support of ground troops. And in the first, they struck two and one-half miles from U.S. forces during the bloody Ia Drang Valley battle of November 1965.

With the pinpoint bombing raid, U.S. spokesmen reported that the toll in the war's largest ground campaign was pushed to 165 Communists killed, 39 captured and more than 200 suspects detained. Allied casualties were described as light.

The campaign, called Operation Cedar Falls, was launched secretly Sunday in an effort to rid once and for all the Iron Triangle of the strongholds from which Communists have launched hundreds of attacks on the Saigon area.

Baker Trial Testimony Brings Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Washington lawyer who shared an office and a bank account with Robert G. (Bobby) Baker during Baker's rise to riches was the storm center today in the first stirring flareup of the former Senate aide's trial.

Ernest C. Tucker, a government witness in the prosecution of Baker on charges of income tax evasion, larceny and fraud, was to undergo further vigorous cross-examination by defense attorney Edward Bennet Williams when proceedings resumed (at 8 a.m. CST) in U.S. District Court here.

Williams, one of the nation's best known trial lawyers, subjected Tucker to an intensive grilling Tuesday on his financial dealings with Baker, the onetime Capitol Hill page boy who became Senate Democratic secretary before scandal forced him to resign.

Tucker's testimony was aimed at buttressing one of the nine counts against Baker: that he filed a false and fraudulent income tax return in 1961. The onetime Baker law partner testified that he split legal fees with the 38-year-old defendant totaling more than $3,700 during (See BAKER, Page 3)

Maddox Sworn In As Georgia Chief

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lester G. Maddox began a four-year term as Governor of Georgia today with a warning from a Negro leader that any attempt to "intimidate" Negroes could lead to violence.

Maddox, 51, segregationist who once chased Negroes from his restaurant with a pistol, was elected governor by the General Assembly Tuesday night to break a deadlocked general election.

1040 U.S. Taxpayers Ask IRS

DALLAS—Farmers who earned at least two-thirds of their 1966 gross income from farming should file their declaration of estimated federal income tax for 1966 on or before Monday, Jan. 16, or form 1040-ES should be used for this purpose.

However, Ed Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue in northern Texas, said farmers need not file an estimate if they file their 1966 Federal income tax return, Form 1040, and pay in full any tax due by Feb. 15.

"Farmer's Tax Guide," Publication No. 5, which furnishes information on this subject, may be obtained by dropping a postcard to the District Director of Internal Revenue Service, R. O. Patterson St., Dallas, Texas 75201 or from any county farm agent.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A non-commercial, three-and-a-half-hour video program was beamed live and coast-to-coast Tuesday night as the National Educational Television network opened a window on the future. The broadcast centered around, and included, President Johnson's State of the Union address to Congress.

Educational television had never before attempted such a major, interconnected live program. The plans called for about 75 of NET's affiliates to receive it instantaneously rather than in the network's usual slow way. Such efforts at immediacy by educational television have been egged on by the Ford Foundation's revolutionary proposal last year to use a domestic satellite plan that would help provide funds for cultural video on a massive, instantaneous basis. More large experiments are expected this year.

What was achieved by NET Tuesday night was not so much a significant technical development—for coast-to-coast live television is standard for commercial networks. Granted a three-and-a-half-hour live nationwide broadcast without commercials is an achievement of sorts. But above all the idea was simply the taking of the first step by NET—the doing of the program at all, rather than picaresque critical appraisal of its points here and there.

For this viewer, who watched the broadcast at the Los Angeles educational television station, KCET, it was a night of mixed feelings—of gratitude that NET had finally moved, yet of slight depression that it had taken so long to do such a basic thing because the funds have been lacking. In short, the depression stemmed from one's realization at what a stepchild educational television is to broadcasting, despite all the fine cliches. It has been living on a handout basis, fearing to step on toes, hewing close to the establishment line—in short, too often seemingly over-aware of where its funds are coming from.

The Ford Foundation's president, McGeorge Bundy, and its television adviser, Fred Friendly, have helped demolish this atmosphere of respectability and local grass-roots. Yet that there is still so much to be done—almost everything, in fact—was all too obvious Tuesday night to one who knew, for instance, that the central point of the facilities for the NET broadcast was, in fact, at the New York studios of the commercial CBS-TV network which handled the technical switching for the educational organization.

North America was at Brother-ton, N. J., now known as Indian Mills.

The Family Lawyer

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Shotgun weddings may be good melodrama but they are bad law. For a marriage is a contract, "I do," if not spoken freely, is not a true consent. No consent, no contract. No contract, no marriage. A man should not be forced to choose between a wedding and a funeral.

Of course, a real shotgun is seldom used nowadays. But there are plenty of lesser pressures that may push a reluctant bridegroom to the altar.

Consider a common situation. The girl faces the prospect of becoming an unwed mother.

At first the man involved is unwilling to marry her. But her family bombards him with arguments ("You have a duty toward the baby") and entreaties ("Be a man," "Do the decent thing").

Finally he yields and goes through with the ceremony. Is such a marriage valid?

Indeed it is. The pressures on the man to choose between marriage and dishonor are no so overwhelming as to amount to duress in the eyes of the law.

Now suppose that, in addition to such pressures, there is also a threat of criminal prosecution ("Marry our Nell or we will have you arrested"). Even then, the man submits to matrimony. He is ordinarily bound by his decision. He has weighed the two alternatives — marriage and probable imprisonment — and made his choice.

In fact, even a threat of physical violence does not always invalidate the nuptial ceremony.

Thus, a court upheld a marriage that occurred two days after the girl's brother had threatened to kill the bridegroom. The court pointed out that he had plenty of time, between the threat and the wedding, to either leave the vicinity of the police protection.

"Doubt has been expressed as to the wisdom of enforcing vows so grudgingly given. But by and large, the courts see more good in it than harm. This reflects a traditional concern for the unwed mother and the illegitimate child.

"Making the fellow marry the girl," commented one judge bluntly, "seems to me the right and proper course."

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

Whether or not there is any substance to the recent flurry of hope for peace talks on Vietnam, a serious moral problem has been posed for those who direct the U.S. war effort.

This is the issue of continued U.S. bombings of the North. North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong in an interview with Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times, made unconditional cessation of the bombing a fifth point added to the four already set up by Hanoi as a basis for peace talks.

It appeared to echo a report by United Nations Secretary General U Thant, presumably based on "hard facts," that cessation of the bombing would be met by a positive response by the Hanoi government.

And it was echoed again by the North Vietnamese ambassador to Paris, Mai Van Bo.

Many Plans Announced

Since Salisbury's visit to North Vietnam, so many Americans have been going or announcing plans to go that the place is beginning to sound like a tourist attraction.

Salisbury was the most important because for the first time in years an American, whose passport had been authorized by the State Department, talked with a ranking member of President Ho Chi Minh's government.

It was obvious from the start, to Salisbury, to his newspaper and to the State Department that the Communist government of North Vietnam had its own reasons for admitting an American newsmen at this time.

About 70 newsmen have had their passports validated to travel to North Vietnam. But only two, Salisbury and Louis Lomax, a television commentator, are known to have received North Vietnamese visas.

Two other newsmen—William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, and Harry Ashmore who won a Pulitzer Prize for editorial writing as editor of the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock—are on the way to Hanoi to invite North Vietnamese representative to a meeting in peace requirements. The two Geneva in May to examine are not going as newsmen.

Opens Door Slightly

Premier Pham Van Dong seemed to open the door to peace talks slightly when he told Salisbury:

"It is wrong to say that we are putting some conditions. What I have told you are not out conditions, but conditions for valid settlement."

Salisbury's dispatch received an official okay from Hanoi officials. But a later official transcript of the interview described the "conditions" as "truths."

Since a "truth" would seem non-negotiable, the door seemed to have been slammed again.

Hanoi broadcasts have admitted severe economic hardship as a result of U.S. bombings.

Rejected Portrait Of Johnson Hit Sensitive Spot

By DICK WEST

UPI

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's rejection of the portrait that Peter Hurd painted of him last year has been much in the news lately.

According to the White House, the canvas was deemed unacceptable because of its size, background lighting, style and composition.

But I have a feeling there was more to it than that.

The President has never impressed me as the type of man who would get very exercised over the technical points of painting. Yet when he first saw the portrait he is reported to have made such a scene it caused Mrs. Johnson to wince.

I therefore conclude that the portrait touched a sensitive spot.

Unfortunately, a complete text of the President's remarks at the viewing is not available. It is my guess, however, that the conversation might have gone something like this:

"Well, here it is, Mr. President. What do you think?"

"I don't know much about art, but I know what I don't like."

"Does that mean, sir, that you are displeased with it?"

"Yes, I'm afraid it's unacceptable."

"What's the matter with it?"

"You must have gotten the numbers mixed up."

"It's an original, sir. Are you saying it isn't a good likeness?"

"I'm saying it's too flattering."

"Too flattering?"

Yes, I'm actually not all that handsome."

"Come now, Lyndon. You're being over modest."

"You stay out of this, Lady Bird."

"But, sir, most people want their portraits to give them the benefit of any doubt."

"Maybe so, but this is supposed to be an official portrait. For the sake of history, it should be as realistic as possible. If this painting were to hang in the White House alongside the other presidents, people would think I was even better looking than George."

"George Washington?"

"No, George Hamilton."

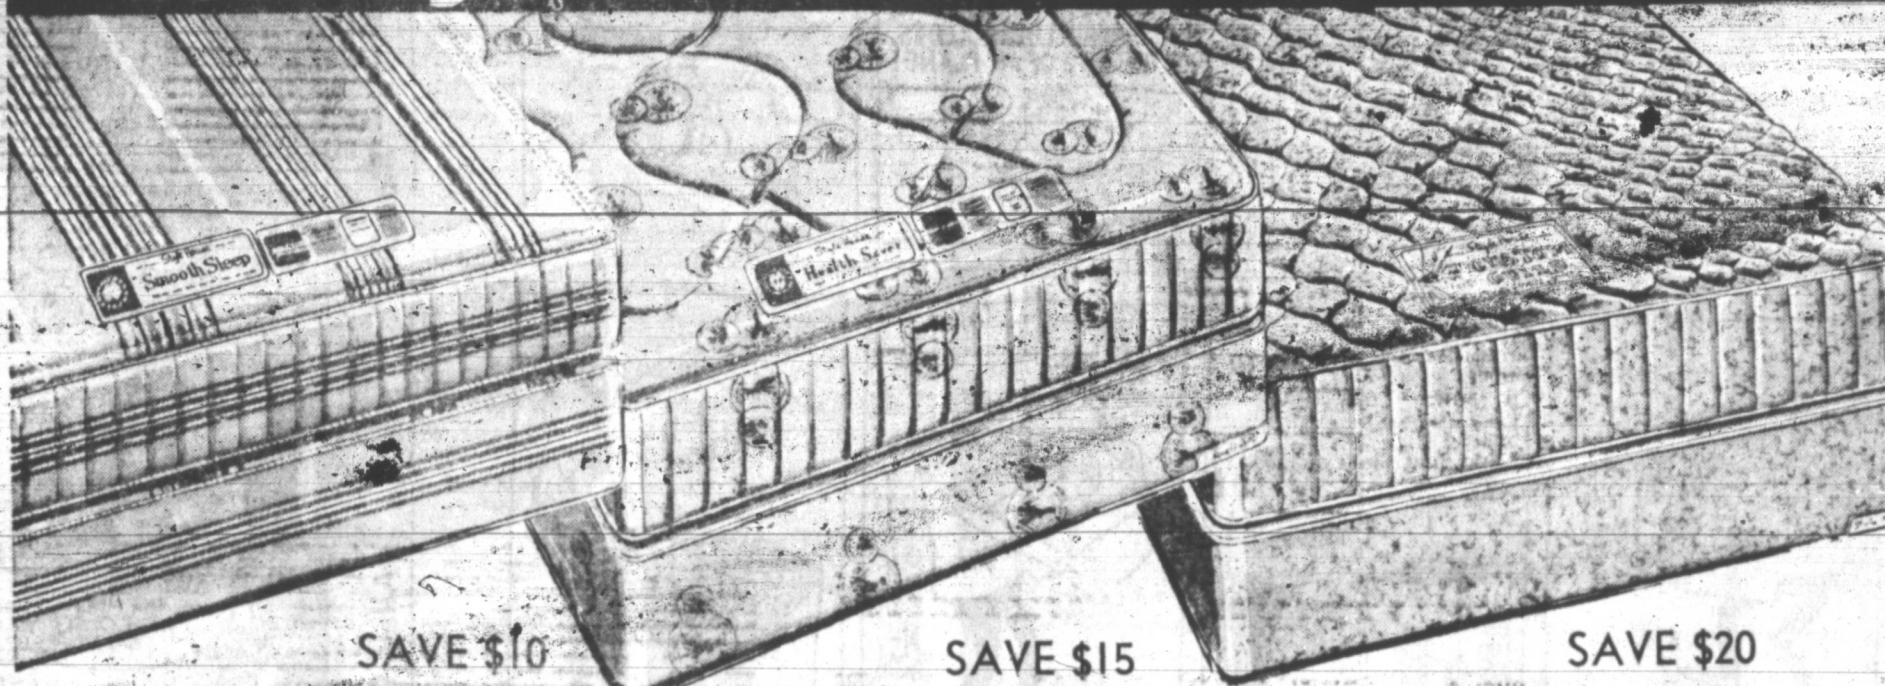

"I'm sorry you feel that way, Mr. President, but I have to paint you the way I see you."

"In that case, I had better find another artist. When I pose for a picture, I want it to be the real me."

DEAR daughter

Dear Abby....

Take Heed to These Words of Wisdom

DEAR ABBY: The woman who is worried about her husband having a cigar or pipe in his mouth while pouring gasoline in the power lawn mower or filling the gas tank on their boat is worrying needlessly as far as her husband is concerned.

Pipe tobacco, cigars and cigarettes do not burn at a temperature high enough to ignite gasoline. You can prove this by dousing a lighted cigar in a pan of gasoline. Put it out like water.

LIVING DANGEROUSLY
DEAR LIVING: Please read another letter on the same subject from another reader.

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer to the worried wife whose husband kept a cigar or pipe in his mouth while pouring fuel into his boat and power lawn mower. You said, "There is always a chance that the fire isn't as 'out' as he thinks it is." I am in the safety field and it doesn't take an expert to know that "unlighted" cigars or pipes do not mix with fuel. The fumes, if they are strong enough, will certainly cause an explosion.

There were 900 deaths in 1965 from firearms. Most of the victims were killed by guns which were "not loaded." (Only they were!) Many people die from accidents because they have the "it-can't-happen-to-me" attitude. According to the National Safety Council, 6,000 people died from fires, burns or injuries associated with fires in 1965.

A READER

DEAR ABBY: My cousin was filling a transport truck with gasoline to be delivered to service stations on a route, and while filling this truck he was smoking a cigar.

The fumes were so powerful that the fire on the end of his cigar ignited and my cousin was burned to death. I hope others will read this and be careful.

JACKSON, MISS.

DEAR ABBY: My sister's daughter has been engaged for a year. Both she and her fiancé have good jobs and money saved, but this girl has told her mother that she wants a big fancy church wedding with all the trimmings, and if the mother doesn't pay for it, she'll run off and get married by a justice of the peace.

My sister and her husband can't afford the kind of wedding their daughter demands, and the girl refuses to spend a dime of her own money for it. My sister has a heart as big as Texas, and she will go into debt to put on a big wedding if she has to. How can I help my sister see that she shouldn't jeopardize her own future security to please this selfish daughter?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: Your sister may have a "heart as big as Texas" but she has a brain as small as Rhode Island if she allows her daughter to pressure her into going into debt for a wedding. Tell your sister to tell her daughter that she can't afford a fancy wedding, that a ceremony performed by a J.P. is just as legal as any other kind, and to take her choice.

DEAR ABBY: At the bottom of your column you said, "How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on DEAR ABBY."

As soon as I find a crate large enough, I'm sending you my husband.

M. G.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on DEAR Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Anyone desiring addresses of several nursery catalogues can find an unlimited number among the advertisements in any gardening magazine now. One that especially appeals to this writer is from the Kelsey Nursery Service in New Jersey. The appeal is not from having seen the catalogue or even being familiar with the company, but from the fact that the nursery's ad states that the catalogue was edited by L. Manning, author of the book, "The How and Why of Better Gardening" which is an excellent book. This catalogue is different in the way in which it is arranged as a garden guide with factual information on soil, growing habits, planting graphs, climate map and ratings showing each plant's hardiness in our locality. The cost of the catalogue is ten cents and fifty cents west of the Rockies.

Several years ago Pampa Garden Club members brought ten Pampas Grass and helped the Park Department to plant them in the city parks but the plants are all dead. Some day it is hoped our city can hire enough trained men to care for the parks.

A person can't help but feel envious of Florida and other southern states for their magnificent trees. The Live Oak Trees seem to grow the largest. With the Spanish Moss draping the trees a mournful but thrilling effect is created, so much so that one stands in awe of creation and our Creator.

Also included in the gardening magazines are lists of new books for gardeners and nature lovers. One book available, entitled Companion Plants, included the following information: "To make cut flowers keep fresh longer in a vase try adding some tea made of foxglove... Cows are fond of resting under trees of all kinds; they are less troubled with flies there... Caraway loosens heavy soil... stinging nettle growing near any herb plant will increase the pungency and aroma of the herb itself."

Reading or just looking at the newest issues of gardening magazines and nursery catalogues can be a real spring tonic. During a recent trip to Florida it was interesting to notice how much the Florida Highway Department uses pyracantha by the thousands along their highways. The shrubs are loaded with orange berries and are most attractive.

Pampas Grass is used in abundance in the southern states. Just from observing the many plumes on each plant in areas where rain is plentiful, it seemed obvious that this plant may prefer more water than some of us give to it.

Peggy Ormson's suggestion for promoting more plantings of the Pampas Grass in Pampa was greatly appreciated.

She Turns Hobby Into Meal Ticket

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. W. D. (Beatrice) Maguire, 77, never advertises her business—her "billboards" are the ties men wear in West Texas cities.

Mrs. Maguire makes string ties and four-in-hands, wool and silk and synthetics, clip-ons and scarves.

And her advertising goes by word of mouth. A Midland businessman walked up to her on the street once and asked, "Why don't you come to sell me your ties? Don't you like me?" His friends had bought ties from her and now he wanted some.

Mrs. Maguire makes them to order or sells from her stock. The chipper, gray-haired lady learned the art in Dallas in 1935.

When her husband died in 1951, she began to sell the ties to support herself and a disabled son. During the Korean War, she worked under government contract to make uniform ties, around 17 dozen a day at 36 cents the dozen. Now her pace is around 10 dozen a day by hand.

"I turned a hobby into a meal ticket," she said.

Cook any thawed fruit left over. Cooking helps the fruit to retain color and prevents spoiling.

Pampa Keeps Third, Pops Coronado High

By RON CROSS

Several good things happened to the Pampa Harvesters Tuesday night and a couple of bad things happened also. The good things first, however. The Harvesters trimmed Lubbock Coronado, 56-44 to take over sole possession of third place in the first half of the district 3-A race.

But despite the win, the Harvesters can't win the first half race due to Amarillo's 66-58 victory over Borger.

The Harvesters can tie for second, one notch above where the pollsters picked them to finish by whipping Borger Friday night at Borger.

The Sandies and Tascosa are tied for the district lead with 7-1 records and will meet Friday for the title, the loser will tie Pampa, providing Pampa wins Friday for second.

The victory Tuesday boosted Pampa to a 6-2 league record and 17-3 season mark. Coronado, who came into the game with a 9-10 season mark and were tied with Pampa for third at 5-2 also saw a three-game losing streak go down the drain. Another bad thing that happened to Pampa was Bo Lang picking up four fouls in the first four minutes of the first quarter and fouling out at the start of the fourth period.

But some good did come of it with junior Bo Bond, at 67, the tallest player in the squad scoring 12 points with six of nine from the field.

Bond had been regulated to most of his duty on the Shockers and had played only about a quarter with the varsity, appearing in only seven games before Tuesday night and had a total point span of six, with his

Rifle, Pistol Club Holds Meet

The Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club held their regular weekly shoot Monday night. An invitation has been extended by the club for anyone interested in learning to fire a pistol or anyone who already knows how to join the club.

The shooters meet at 7:30 p.m. each Monday at the Pistol Range located in Recreation Park.

In the .22 caliber shoot Kenneth Williams beat all comers with a 285 score followed by Ralph Day, 269; J. C. Winborn, 233; Wayne Brown 231 and Albert Phillips, 216.

In the .38 caliber and 45-caliber shoot, Pampa policeman Jesse Goad leveled off for a 272 score while Kenneth Williams dropped to second at 263 with Fred Carothers at 254 and David Holt firing a 227 score.

previous season high being four, against Houston Spring Branch. The Harvesters had 11 fouls at halftime and Coronado had 15 points from the charity stripe.

It took the Harvesters two full quarters to finally ice it over the taller Mustangs.

Pampa led 2-0 then fell behind 5-4 after leading 4-1. The lead changed hands three times in the first period with Coronado leading 12-12 before George Bailey, who led the Pampa scoring with 19, goaled at the gun to give Pampa a 14-13 lead.

Bond goaled to start the second period to make it 16-13 but the Mustangs scored six straight points to go in front 19-16 with 6:21 to play.

Coronado put in 15 straight free shots, going from 5:12 in the first period to 4:24 before halftime without a basket.

The Harvesters came back with seven straight points, going in front 21-19 on a three point play by senior Steve Williams, who gathered in 14 points for the night, then 23-19 on a goal by Bailey.

Jim Gobin goaled for Coronado with 4:24 left to make it 23-21 and Pampa kept a one to three point lead until halftime when Sherlie hit two charity tosses to make it 36-25, Pampa, at halftime.

The Mustangs weren't through and scored first at the opening of the third period for a 27-26 lead but then the bottom fell in with Pampa going in front 28-27 on a goal by Braly, then Bailey hit a free-throw, then goaled to make it 31-27 before the Mustangs could score. After Coronado closed the gap to 33-31, the Harvesters reeled off 10 straight points for a 43-31 third period lead.

Coronado came out pressing in the fourth period but the Harvesters didn't care and built up a 52-36 lead with 4:08 left.

The Mustangs closed it to eight with 2:16 to go at 52-44 but Bailey goaled and Williams hit two free tosses to ice for the Harvesters. Pampa's Shockers won their 18th game in 21 outings, 67-58 with Jim Hollis leading the scoring with 28 points and Dan Carlton adding 10.

Pampa's C team downed Coronado, 46-34 with Billy Thomas pacing the scoring with 24 and Jay Johnson adding 11.

College Conditions in Super

By BUD WILKINSON
The Super Bowl game between Green Bay and Kansas City will be more like a college game than perhaps any big-league professional game ever played. That isn't intended as a commercial for college football. In my judgment, it is a logical observation.

But the Super Bowl is something else. These two teams never have played. They have played no common opponents. And, the National League hasn't been speaking to the American League. It's extremely doubtful that any NFL team will be telling Kansas City what to expect from Green Bay, or vice versa. For those reasons, I suggest these two pro teams will be meeting on much the same terms as college teams. They won't know nearly as much about their opponent as they usually do. College personnel turns over rapidly. A college team plays a league rival once a year, rather than twice as in the pros. It may play other teams as infrequently as twice in ten years. College coaches must rely on movies and well-regulated scouting. In this game, the pros are laboring under the same handicaps. They've scouted each other and swapped movies, but you can learn more playing against a team ten minutes generally is recognized as the best and Kansas City is trying to prove it belongs in fast company. E. J. Holub, one of the Chief's fine linebackers, put it this way: "When I signed with the AFL, people in the other league asked me why I was willing to play in the minor leagues. We want to prove we're big league."

But being practical, it should be remembered that the difference between the winning and losing share per player — $7,500 — is enough to get any team sufficiently high. Also, the Packers are the Yankees of old and have the pride of the Yankees of old. There is no reason they should not be favored.

The chiefs have credentials, too. They were formed as the Dallas Texans at the same time as the Dallas Cowboys, and the latter tested Green Bay severely. The Chiefs didn't have the advantage of the NFL selection process for new clubs, but they have signed some great individual stars — perhaps more than the Cowboys.

A game like this may depend on character, and both teams have it. They have proved it many times. It may depend on which quarterback has the hotter hand, and either could have it. Both Bart Starr and Len Dawson led his league in passing.

Ever since the American Football League became a fact, rather than the fantasy of a few franchise owners, fans have awaited this game. They've waited a long time, and they deserve a good game. They probably won't be disappointed.

MINERS STAGE RALLY Rated Clubs Win

United Press International
Wee Willie Worsley's stature on the Texas Western campus belies his size. Although Worsley measures only 5-foot-6 from tip to toe he has become a big man in the Miners' drive to a second consecutive NCAA championship.

That point was hammered home Tuesday night when the Lilliputian guard from New York scored 34 points, including 25 in the second half, to rally Texas Western from a four-point halftime deficit to an 85-73 victory over West Texas State. The triumph was the 12th of the season against two losses for the sixth-ranked Miners, who trailed 63-60 with 9:15 remaining in the game before Worsley led them on a 15-point surge which broke open the contest played on the West Texas court.

David (Daddy D) Lattin, the largest man on the team at 6-7 and 240 pounds, scored 20 points for Texas Western, which was outbounded in the first half by the shocking margin of 22 to 11. Art Beatty, a perfect Mutt to Worsley's Jeff, utilized his 7-foot-1 frame to best advantage as surprising American University stunned LaSalle 94-90 in overtime. The huge junior pivot scored 28 points and pulled down a school record 33 rebounds in the game before a 42-28 halftime lead, were caught in the last two seconds of regulation time while Beatty was in foul trouble and broke the game open on three free throws and key rebounds by the giant.

TCU Keeps Perfect Record in League

United Press International
Texas Christian remains the only undefeated Southwest Conference team after three games today as Texas upset Southern Methodist 82-73 Tuesday night, thereby slowing down the Mustangs drive for the title.

TCU, led by Mickey McCarty, defeated Texas A&M 67-64 at College Station. In other SWC action, Baylor whipped Arkansas 65-53 in Waco and Texas Tech ran away from Rice 91-69 in Lubbock.

SMU, whose play recently had nabbed them as the preseason pick to win the championship, had beaten Texas five times in a row before traveling to Austin Tuesday. Texas used a four minute, 44-second spurt in the second half to bring them from a seven-point deficit to an eight-point lead. Texas is 2-1 in league play.

Billy Arnold led the Longhorns with 23 points and Noel Stout added 17. Sharing high scoring honors for SMU were Bob Begert and Denny Holman with 16.

A&M, on the verge of an upset, led TCU 60-54 with three minutes left in the game. But the Frogs, with McCarty scoring five points, ran off seven straight points to take the lead. McCarty's short jump shot with 1:11 left put TCU ahead to stay.

McCarty was high scorer with 20 points and John Underwood topped the Aggies with 16 points. Jimmy Turner scored 21 points in the second half for Baylor as the Bears overcame a 10-28 Arkansas half time lead. Arkansas was ahead with nine minutes left in the game when Turner stole the ball and went the length of the court for the basket that put Baylor ahead for good. Turner led the Bears with 26 points and Darrell Hardy had 18. Wally Feeman was high man for Arkansas with 16. Both teams stand 1-2 in conference play. Tech sank 67 per cent of its field goals attempts to break a 10-game losing streak, the longest in Red Raider history. Both teams have a 1-2 record in the SWC.

The Raiders were led by Vernon Paul and Dave Olsen who scored 22 and 21 points respectively. Olsen sank all eight of his field goal attempts and Paul made 10 of 12. Bill Doty was high point man for Rice with 18 points. Greg Williams added 14. Sixth-ranked Texas Western ripped off 15 straight points in the second half to turn back West Texas State 85-73 in Canyon Tuesday night. The Miners trailed 61-60 with 9:15 left in the game when 5-6 Willie Worsley led them on the scoring spree that sent them ahead 75-63 with nearly four minutes to go. Worsley poured in 25 points in the second half and ended with 34. Teammate David (Daddy D) Lattin added 20, Micky Fitts had 18 for West Texas. In the first half, West Texas outshot the Miners 64 to 44 per cent and outbounded them 22 to 11 to gain a 41-37 halftime lead. Two nationally-ranked Texas small colleges ran into hot shooting opponents Tuesday and were upset. Midwestern lead all the way for a 81-66 win over Pan American, the ninth ranked team, in Wichita Falls.

Miami Wins Two From Pirates
Miami won a pair of games from Lefors Tuesday winning the girls game, 42-18 and the boys contest, 45-25. Three Miami players hit in double figures in the girls contest, Beverly Weiss led the scoring with 18, followed by Debbie Thompson and Kay Maddox with 12 each. Judy Barnes led Lefors with 10 points. Miami led only 10-9 at the first quarter but stretched it to 19-11 at halftime. Ken Gill with 14 and Jack Evans with 12 paced the Warriors while Dennis Keith hit 9 for Lefors. Miami led 21-9 at halftime. The Warriors host Kellon in a boys game Friday.

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

US. Not on War Economy

War, of all political government's pastimes, is the most destructive. Aside from the maiming and slaughter of human beings and lives, the involuntary servitude perpetrated and perpetuated by the military and industrial draft, the untold waste and destruction caused by military operations themselves, the erosion of ethics, morals and principles in which the people once believed, war, once a government really gets committed to and enmeshed in it, does almost incalculable harm to a country's economy.

Togetherness in Reverse

When we read the United Press International account about the difficulty the "Great White Fathers" in Washington are having getting Indians to move into a government $225,000 20-family unit (that's $11,250 per unit) apartment project we had to laugh — taxes notwithstanding.

Rights vs. Privileges

A right and a privilege are not the same things. An individual has the right to control, use, dispose of that which is HIS, his life, his body, his mind, his material possessions; in short, HIS PROPERTY. But the individual does NOT, either singly or in concert with others, have any rights with respect to the property of another individual.

Sensing The News By THURMAN SENSING

The U.S. Stake In Africa In deciding to join Prime Minister Wilson of England and the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. in their irresponsible vendetta against independent Rhodesia, the Johnson administration has embarked on a course of action widely deplored in the United States.

The "Wall Street Journal," an important voice of the American business community, has described the U.N. action against Rhodesia as a game of "idiot's delight." Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who often has been on the liberal side in political debates, has dissented from the administration position, pointing out that the U.N. Charter is absolutely explicit against interfering with the internal affairs of a sovereign country such as Rhodesia.

Even such a longtime liberal as Walter Lippmann, the Washington pundit, has recognized that the U.N., in trying to bring Rhodesia to heel, is doing what the U.N. was never intended to do. And John S. Knight, chairman of the powerful Knight chain of newspapers, has observed that Americans should be warned "that U.S. support of the British position is fraught with great peril."

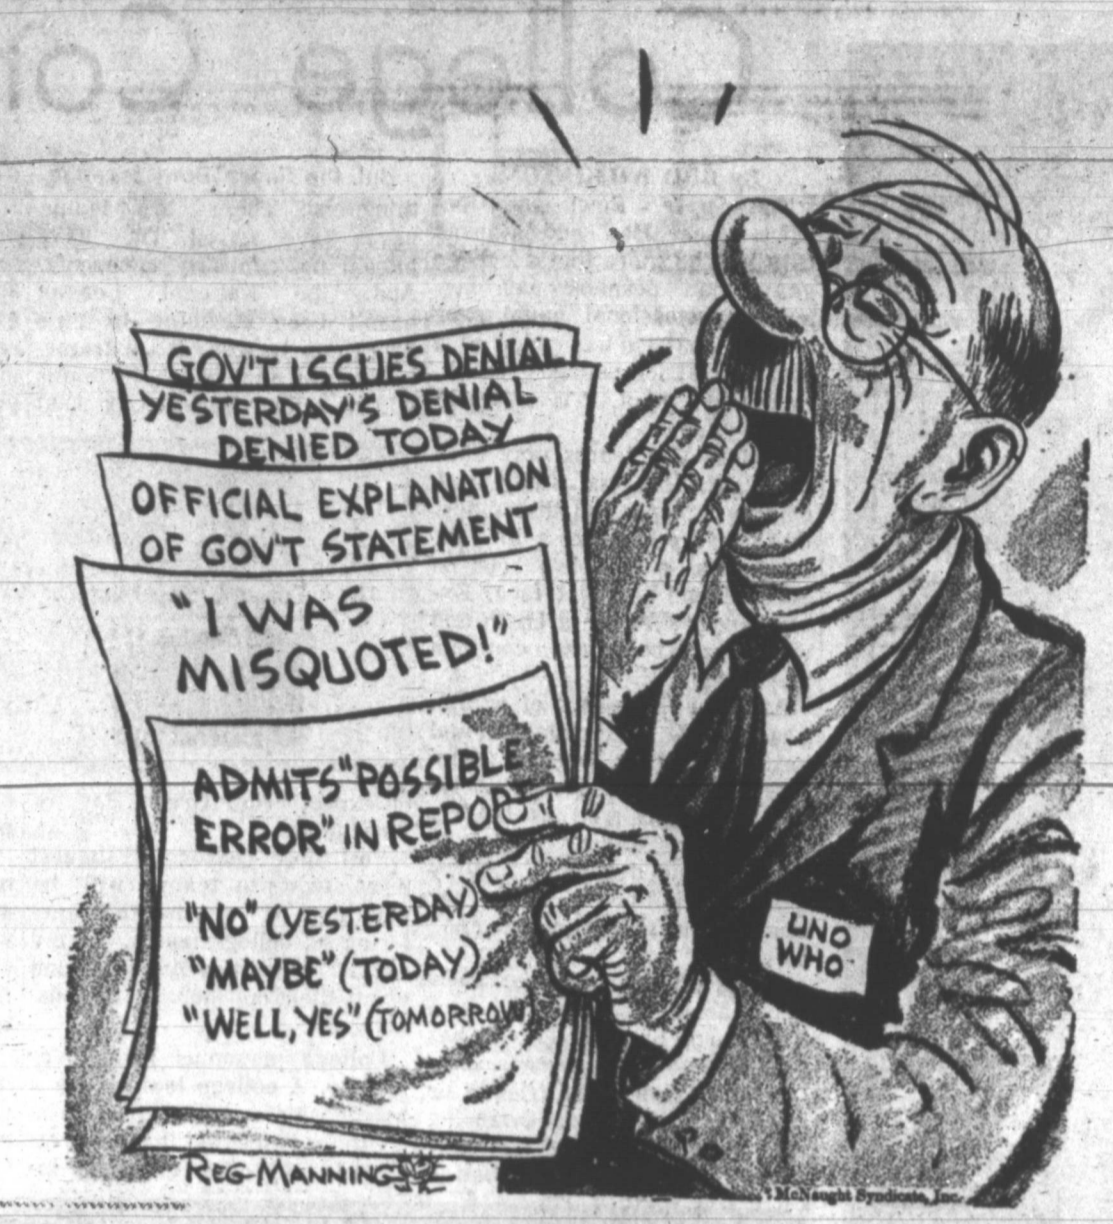

Mr. Goldberg should be ashamed of himself for terming Rhodesia a threat to peace. He should be busy pointing out to the socialist government of Britain and the "neutral" or pro-communist states of Afro-Asia that the real threat to peace is Communist North Vietnam. Ho Chi Minh is killing Americans, not the government of Rhodesia. Rhodesia isn't shipping goods to North Vietnam, but Great Britain is. Rhodesia doesn't recognize the brutal regime in Peking; Britain asserts it is the legitimate government of China.

The international values emphasized by Mr. Goldberg at the U.N. are topsy-turvy. He should be busy looking for the real enemies of peace in Africa. They include the political leaders of Tanzania who have allowed Chinese Communist agents to arm and train terrorist bands for subversive war campaigns against Mozambique, an African province of America's NATO ally, Portugal. But Mr. Goldberg sees no evil in African terrorism directed against civilized areas of Africa.

In pulling the British chestnuts out of the fire and in trying to appease half-savage regimes in Africa, the Johnson administration and its spokesmen at the U.N. are doing more than damaging Rhodesia. They are crippling American statescraft and threatening the long-range security of the United States.

The Johnson administration should be able to see what is at stake in Rhodesia and elsewhere in Southern Africa. Perhaps the insiders do understand. But they seem to heed only the emotional appeals by African states that are periodically gripped by mutiny, bloodshed and terror.

Credibility Gap

Backstage Washington

WASHINGTON — Republican congressional leaders have decided to use the coming debate over an anti-ballistic missile system to challenge administration policy toward Russia.

This strategy was agreed on by GOP Leaders after learning that President Johnson intends to authorize the deployment of a "thin" ABM screen to protect the U.S. against Red China's "first generation" missiles — but not from the Soviet's far more sophisticated late model missile.

That is the backstage report given Republican freshmen congressmen by Representative Melvin Laird R-Wis., chairman of the party's Policy Committee and ranking Republican on the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee.

At a closed-door seminar to outline GOP strategy in advance of tomorrow's opening of the 90th Congress, Laird disclosed: —President Johnson vetoed development of a full-scale anti-missile system as proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and strongly favored by Republican leaders.

—Johnson's backstage decision to limit the anti-missile defense system to the Chinese threat was based on a policy of seeking new accommodations with the Soviet rather than on the higher cost of a full-scale system.

—Administration officials now consider Red China rather than Russia the greatest threat to U.S. security.

—The "thin" defense screen is nothing more than a Pacific Coast guard to protect that part of the country against an attack by Red Chinese missiles during the '70s," he declared.

WASHINGTON

Japan Takes Big Strides In Economy

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent TOKYO (NEA) — The Soviet Union has done much boasting about its industrial growth, but in recent years it has been working on a full-scale missile defense system since the early '60s.

On the basis of information gathered at White House budget briefings and Defense Department sessions, Laird explained he is convinced that the President's decision was predicated on two premises now determining relations with the Kremlin, as follows: —Russia would not attack the U.S. directly because of our overwhelming nuclear-missile striking power.

—A power alliance between the U.S. and Russia will eventually be worked out.

—The loss of Manchuria and other colonies in World War II has been a boon to Japan. Tokyo was pouring far too much of her limited resources into Manchuria's development, with marginal returns. She now devotes these funds to domestic expansion.

—Despite the decline in educational standards resulting from excessive teacher political activity, Japan has one of the world's strongest mass school systems. Education is universal. More than in most countries, talented young men and women can go on to middle school and college regardless of family background.

—Breaking up of the old family monopolies — temporarily at least — eliminated a stagnating industrial leadership and brought in a group of well-trained, imaginative men who had been held back by the family system.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Doctors No Longer Lump Kidney Ailments Together Things were fairly simple in the old days when doctors referred to all types of kidney disease as nephritis or Bright's disease. The catch was that the treatment used wasn't equally effective in all patients.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE Walt Disney was an answer to the multitude of clichés and defeatist slogans that serve to batter the self-confidence of many a talented individual. Walt Disney proved that the world was not ruled by the press agents, the criminals, the international bankers, or anyone else.

These clichés suggest that the "public" is made up of millions and millions of different human beings — each of whom chooses his own standards and responds to his own taste.

To answer those who said that the public was mesmerized with obscenity and "modern" styles, Walt Disney made a fortune selling apple pie and motherhood. (Well, it wasn't exactly "apple pie and motherhood," but you know what I mean.)

He did it — just as anyone would have to — by giving people what they really wanted. Not all people — no one ever sells everyone — just certain people.

He knew that, amidst all of the tastes expressed in modern "entertainment" media, there were people who wanted to laugh, who wanted to see real heroes, who wanted to be reminded that good can triumph over evil; that there can be happy endings if individuals will work to create them.

There is a market for good service today — for brains — for real talent — for the ability to make people laugh — or for the skill to make their lives a little easier. If you're convinced you have the talent but that "people" don't appreciate it, maybe you're trying to sell it to the wrong people.

—Japan has had virtually a free economy since World War II — matched by few other countries. Though the U.S. occupation set up a variety of strong leaders have been adept at avoiding these controls.

—The political party in power since the end of the occupation has been a pro-business party. It has put few barriers in the way of free business growth. The oversize government bureaucracy has been timid about enforcing even those restrictive laws that were on the books.

Hunt for Truth BY H. L. HUNT

VIOLENT CRIME IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL

Many years ago a decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Malory case set free a known, confessed criminal to prey once again upon his fellow-citizens. Malory had committed his crime in the nation's capital. He was set free because police had allegedly questioned him too-long, though there was no claim that he had been physically harmed, before he was allowed to see a lawyer.

Ever since the Malory decision in 1957, crime in the District of Columbia has been on an apparently endless upward spiral. Neighborhoods that were peaceful and safe as late as 1960 have now become full of menace for innocent people. The surroundings of the Capitol Building, the Library of Congress and the Supreme Court are dangerous after-dark.

Since the majority of the people who live in the District of Columbia are Negroes, they have furnished the bulk of the victims of crime. Yet some of their self-styled champions and defenders have done everything possible to prevent more effective law enforcement in Washington.

Recently President Johnson vetoed an anti-crime bill for the District of Columbia. This bill provided, among other points, that anyone convicted of a crime who had previously been convicted of the same or a closely similar crime could not receive probation or a suspended sentence. One out of three persons accused of felonies in Washington today fall into this category. But critics of the bill attacked this section in particular as unfair.
