WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite official assertions that nothing definite was under consideration, reports of some movement toward Vietnam peace talks continued to circulate in the capital today.

The statements of a top White House adviser and numerous other sources made it appear a dialogue of some sort — seemed to exist between Washington and Hanoi.

The four-day cease-fire for Tet, the Buddhist lunar new year in Vietnam, begins Thursday and officials here and in Saigon will be watching closely to see what the Communists do.

Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's assistant for national security affairs told a conference of college newspaper editors during the weekend: "This is an extremely interesting and delicate phase in what is or what might turn out to be a negotiating process. Nothing has yet happened that would justify us in saying we have a serious offer to negotiate. This is a bad time to discuss any particular negotiating track."

In another development, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who returned during the weekend from a 10-day European trip, was reported to have received "a peace message from Hanoi via the French government" during his visit to Paris.

According to Newsweek magazine, the message Kennedy received outlined "a willingness on the part of Hanoi to negotiate a Vietnamese settlement in a three-stage process, following the cessation of U.S. bombing."

The first stage was said to be that Hanoi and Washington would hold "bilateral discussions of U.S.-North Vietnamese relations; in the second stage, Hanoi would be ready to discuss the future U.S. role in South Vietnam, and the third and final stage would be negotiations aimed at an overall settlement in Vietnam."

The Paris message, according to Newsweek, was transmitted to Kennedy and a U.S. Embassy official by a French Foreign Office official who said it came from Maj. Van Bo, North Vietnamese representative in Paris.

In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass reported in a Hanoi dispatch that North Vietnam has indicated it is willing to join in peace talks despite President Johnson's denial that there has been any such indication.

Top Opponent Of Mao Is Reported Ousted as Prexy

HONG KONG (UPI) — Peking correspondents today quoted "reliable" sources as saying Mao Tse-tung's No. 1 opponent, Liu Shao-chi, has been ousted as president of Red China.

The reports by Japanese correspondents were sketchy, but they said it was learned from "reliable diplomatic sources" that both Liu and Communist party Secretary-General Teng Hsiao-ping had been purged from their posts in China's "central organs."

Both Liu and Teng have been under repeated Red Guard attacks for allegedly pursuing policies contrary to those of party Chairman Mao. Peking wall posters only last weekend said Liu was publicly humiliated for being unable to quote from Mao's teachings.

The Japanese reports did not say when Liu and Teng were fired, although the Asahi Shimbun newspaper indicated it may have been as long ago as last August when the Communist Central Committee was in session. There was no mention of whether successors were named to the post.

Liu, who has been called the "Khrushchev of China," has been said to pursue a softer Communist line than Mao. He is the highest ranking official to have been subject to Maoist Red Guard attack. Teng, who also holds the post of vice premier, was one of Liu's chief supporters.

Pure Oxygen For Apollo May Get Boot

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Reliability and past success were the main reasons the space agency chose pure oxygen for the Apollo spacecraft that burst into flames Jan. 27 at Cape Kennedy, killing the nation's first Apollo astronauts.

When engineers planned the Apollo environment, they faced two major possibilities — the one-gas oxygen system, or a less flammable but more complicated two-gas system using both oxygen and nitrogen.

"In a nutshell, we have not made a decision to go to a two-gas system," a space center spokesman said. "No decision about the spacecraft environment will be made until the board (seeking the cause of the fire) reports."

A report is expected to take several more weeks at the earliest.

The decision to use 100 percent oxygen was arrived at after "the utmost responsible examination of all alternatives," said James E. Webb, chairman of the space agency.

Russia and Red China Near Diplomatic Split

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nearly 100 Soviet refugees, most of them children, returned from China today and told how they were hissed at and spat upon by Red Guards who detained them 11 hours before their departure by plane from Peking.

The refugees said hundreds of Red Guards surrounded their buses at the Peking Airport Sunday and held them at bay throughout the rowdy demonstration protesting an alleged Russian attack on Chinese students in Moscow.

The Peking protest was the latest of several Sino-Soviet clashes indicating that a break in diplomatic relations might soon occur.

Sources in Moscow said the Soviet Union intended to recall most of its diplomatic staff, leaving only a skeleton crew at the Red Guard-besieged Soviet Embassy in Peking. This move would nullify what little diplomatic contact still remains.

Aboard the plane arriving today were 60 children and 34 women, dependents of embassy staff, and three men brought home for "personal" reasons.

The 97 refugees brought to 138 the number of Russians brought home from Peking during the weekend. Another plane load was expected to arrive later today with another 80 women and children. Then, sources said, the Russians would begin evacuating most of the 68 men still left in the embassy, leaving only a caretaker staff.

The refugees received a tumultuous welcome from a crowd of about 2,000 waiting at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport.

One of the refugees, Mrs. Evgenya Barovina, said large

Russians crowds which welcome the IL18 airliner when it made a rest stop at Irkutsk, in Siberia, had frightened some of the younger children. "Mommy, are they Red Guards?" she quoted one as saying.

Another refugee, Tamara A. Mikhailova, told reporters that "We had to pick our way through a fanatical crowd of Red Guards" to get from the embassy buses to the aircraft.

"I was holding a little girl with one hand and beating off the books with the other."

The books used to strike the fleeing Soviets were the red plastic bound volumes containing the writings of Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

A Soviet Foreign Ministry official told newsmen at the airport that at least one Soviet youth was injured during the demonstration but Chinese officials "refused to help" because they said it was none of their business.

One woman told newsmen that the wife of a correspondent for the East German news agency ADN had been trampled by the Red Guards when she tried to photograph the airport demonstration.

Peking, meanwhile, lodged a strong new protest with the Soviet Union Sunday and warned that "the patience of China is limited." Peking Radio reported today.

According to the broadcast, the protest note accused the Russians of attacking Chinese diplomatic personnel in Moscow.

The note was followed by a government statement that demanding:

- An apology.
- Compensation for damages.
- A guarantee that no similar incidents would occur again.
- A guarantee for the safety and freedom of movement of incidents — would occur again.

Kosygin Begins Talks in Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin today began a week long visit expected to include top-level talks on Britain's renewed efforts for peace in Vietnam.

Kosygin was met by Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary George Brown as he arrived in London from Moscow to begin the third round of Soviet-British summit talks within a year.

The tightest security measures ever mounted in Britain were in effect as the Soviet premier arrived with a 26-man delegation. Security precautions were stepped up as a result of threatened demonstrations by East European exile groups.

Five full-dress meetings were scheduled between Kosygin and Wilson. In addition there were numerous opportunities for informal talks.

British officials said there was no fixed agenda for the talks. But it was assumed Vietnam would dominate all other issues. The British have made several abortive attempts to get peace talks started and indications were that Wilson would seek to enlist Kosygin's support for another effort.

Johnson Asks Congress For Weapon Control Act

Package Includes Ban on Wiretapping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson asked Congress today for a big, new arsenal of anti-crime weapons, including a stiff gun control act and a law to virtually ban wiretapping and electronic snooping.

Johnson asked Congress to enact a package of legislation to attack crime from the federal to the local level. He said crimes are costing the nation nearly $3 billion a year in property losses alone.

In one of his longest special messages to the new Congress, Johnson said 7 million persons a year are brought into contact with at least one agency of criminal justice. More than 400,000 are put behind bars a day, in lockups that cost about $1 billion a year to support, he said.

The arms control bill and wiretap bills were part of an omnibus "Safe Streets and crime control act" for which Johnson asked $3 billion in fiscal 1968 to start research and planning grants largely to help improve local police facilities.

One of more controversial proposals is firearms control. There is strong opposition to such proposals from sportsmen groups and gun legislation has been stalled in Congress for almost four years.

Johnson said, however: "Any effective crime control program requires enactment of firearms legislation."

Citing recommendations of the National Crime Commission which spent many months studying crime and preparing a report on recommendations to stem the rising crime rate, the President said:

"The legislation I am submitting is closely comparable in substance to that which was under consideration in the last

Price Nixes Liquor By Drink Issue

U.S. Rep. Bob Price did not hesitate to express his views on the controversial state issue on sale of liquor by the drink while in Amarillo a few hours yesterday before flying back to Washington.

It was the congressman's view that permitting the sale of mixed drinks "would be another step toward degradation . . . and would be harmful to our youth. It would make drinking a social grace and a social right. Next would come horse racing." Price said.

Price spoke Saturday at a day-long Southwestern Water Resources Symposium in Portales, N.M.

Commenting on the Human Investment Act, which he helped introduce in the House last week, Price said it has a "good chance of passing." He said the act, which would provide for tax credit for industries with employ training programs, is now under committee consideration.

Price said the bill, as it was presented Thursday, already has the support of 187 members of the House.

The 18th District congressman was in Portales Saturday to present the Missouri-Mississippi River conversion system. He told the 1,000 visitors from southwestern and western states he presently favors the Missouri River concept which would bring water by pipeline

Jungle Defoliating Resumed in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — American forces today struck at the Communists' greatest war arsenal with two U. S. infantry divisions driving through the Cambodian border jungles and planes chemically defoliating the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) on the North-South Vietnam border.

The one-two blow formed what observers called the greatest American effort yet to smash the Communists' main supply routes and operation bases.

In the steaming jungles of War Zone C, struck seven times in seven days by thousands of tons of bombs from Air Force B52 Stratofortresses, Americans drove once more into the Viet Cong heartland where for years the Communists have kept their headquarters and jungle arsenals.

Spokesmen said Air Force transport planes sprayed hundreds of tons of vegetation-killing chemicals on the southern half of the six-mile-wide zone Sunday in an effort to strip away the jungle canopy under which Communist infiltrators hide.

In the air war against North Vietnam, spokesmen said, U.S. jets and Communist MIGs tangled in a brief dogfight Sunday but there was no loss by either side. The American raiders went on to blast North

Carothers First To File Papers For City Office

The filing period for candidates in Pampa's April 4 municipal election began this morning and Fred J. Carothers, operator of the Western Motel and Gun Museum, 821 E. Frederic, became the first official candidate for city office.

Carothers filed his candidacy for city commissioner in Ward 3 at 10:40 a.m. with City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden.

The filing period will close on March 3.

While Carothers became the first to file, five other unofficial announcements of intentions to run already have been made.

Joe Taylor, used car dealer announced on Jan. 29, he also would seek the Ward 3 commissioner post left up for grabs after City Commissioner Roy Kay announced Jan. 24 he would not be a candidate for re-election.

Mayor Jim Nation and City Commissioners M. McDaniel, Hugh Burdette and Clyde Caruth announced on Jan. 24 they would run for their respective posts again.

The city election schedule calls for absentee balloting to start March 15, and run through March 31.

Under Pampa's charter all commissioners will be elected by city-wide vote although they must reside in their respective wards.

Commissioners M. McDaniel, Burdette and Caruth represent Wards 1, 2 and 4 respectively.

Under a charter revision, commissioner candidates in Ward 2 and 4 this year will be elected for one-year terms only, beginning in 1968 commissioner in these two wards will be elected for two-year terms in April of each even-numbered year.

Commissioners in Wards 1 and 3 will be elected to two-year terms.

Legislators Take Up Pay Raise for State Employees

AUSTIN (UPI) — The legislature this week planned to swap the advanced mathematics of a $187.4 million tax bill for the elementary politics of lesser issues, including a state pay raise.

The tax bill proposed by Gov. John Connally last week now goes in the deep freeze until the state's 1967-68 budget is almost completed. Then the tax bill will be thawed out and molded to fit the appropriations bill, and vice versa.

House Speaker Ben Barnes said "I think we're at least 100 days away from a tax bill."

The return to more immediate issues was expected to begin with another attempt by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin to force Connally to give state employees an emergency pay raise.

Both houses unanimously

Snow, High Winds Hit Midwest Again

By United Press International

A record-breaking storm carrying up to 11 inches of snow and high winds followed by 30-degree below zero cold, turned the Midwest into a winter wasteland today for the third time in 11 days.

The bitter cold spun off by the storm which continued to pummel the upper Midwest with paralyzing snow, pushed south in a line stretching from Texas to the Ohio River. Cold wave warnings were hoisted for portions of a nine state area extending from East Texas and Nebraska to Wisconsin and Illinois.

Hazardous driving warnings flew in northeast Illinois, which faced the brunt of the continuing storm, and north and central Indiana. Blowing snow in the area closed roads almost as fast as overworked road crews could plow access routes.

A separate snow storm produced up to four inches or more of snow and hazardous driving warnings in West Virginia and northern Maryland.

Chicago, beleaguered and beset by snow upon snow for the last 11 days, received an official 6 inches of new snow Sunday, running the 11 day total to 36 inches, two inches more than the city usually receives during an entire winter.

Some Chicago suburbs reported 11 inches of snow during the afternoon and evening hours when traffic was slowed to a crawl. Major expressways in

Dear Abby...

Babysitter Should Remember Mrs. Brown

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter (I'll call her Kay) is 20, pretty, and popular. Last summer she started babysitting for a young couple I'll call the Browns. Ever since then, Kay has turned down dates with young men to babysit for the Browns.

One night last week Mrs. Brown telephoned here at 2 a.m. asking if Kay was home yet. It seems that Mr. Brown had left to drive Kay home at around midnight and he hadn't returned yet. Since the drive normally takes about 15 minutes, Mrs. Brown was worried. Just as I hung up, Kay walked in.

When I asked her what took her so long she blushed, became upset, and said she and Mr. Brown had stopped for coffee, and they forgot the time. Abby, am I evil-minded to think that there could be something going on here? How should this be handled?

KAY'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You are not "evil-minded." Have a frank talk with Kay, and tell her if the incentive to sit for the Browns is the ride home, she is playing with dynamite. Keep your eyes open for other signs of hanky panky, and if your suspicions check out, your next chat—or perhaps your husband's—should be with Mr. Brown.

P.S. Remind your daughter that there is a Mrs. Brown to be considered, also.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very good friend who was married twice. Her first marriage lasted 15 years and ended in divorce. She's been married nearly 10 years to her second husband, and now she is telling her friends and family that she will soon celebrate her "Silver Wedding Anniversary!"

Abby, we've tried to tell her that it doesn't work that way but she insists that anyone who has put in 25 years of marriage can celebrate a silver wedding anniversary and is entitled to gifts of silver. Can you settle this?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: A silver wedding anniversary is in order for a couple (no substitutes) that have been hitched for 25 years. Your twice married friend may feel she deserves a Prize. But sorry, no silver—and no cigar.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to add my voice to that of the mother who deprecates how ugly the

New Furniture Has Warmth and Color

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
CHICAGO (NEA) — Sometimes it is difficult to crystallize "what's happening," especially at a furniture market.

After trudging approximately 42 floors in two buildings during the current international furniture market in Chicago, a person trained to spot something new, something exciting, feels like an aggressive Christmas snopper pinned to the wall in Macy's basement.

Setting such an unfortunate free is catalytic designer Milo Baughman, Baughman reached to the heart of salable design when he said in an interview here, "Look for touches at the market that look like someone really cared."

Baughman is known for his designs for Directional Industries, Thayer Coggin and Lane.

He speaks as a leading designer of modern. Yet Baughman appreciates the work done by furniture companies who are strictly traditional.

He firmly believes that the stress on period furniture shown during the mart reflects manufacturers fulfilling a desire of people wanting to escape from the 20th century.

He says consumers who want to play it safe buy Italian Provincial, for example, and other pseudo interpretations of classic period pieces.

As a trend Baughman feels that the great emphasis upon Early American will lessen as contemporary designs become better and consumers understand them. A solid reason for this, Baughman explains, is that "the consumer objects to phyness."

This is why Baughman prefers to design with exotic woods used as exotic woods and synthetics used as synthetics. "Young moderns may prefer wood to Masonite but if they can't afford good wood, it would be better for them to buy a well-designed synthetic."

"Although he feels there are 'an awful lot of bad modern things coming out of the market, there are design leaders who will make the other manufacturers wake up.'"

He cites the success of a competitor, Kroehler Mfg. Co., with its swinging modern line now in the stores. The designs shown this week in Chicago are being bought for spring store introduction.

"There are questionable designs," he adds, "with too many taking a leaf from a fashion book. These might have started with a good design but there is still too much acceleration of good design to borax or run-of-the-mill copying."

To Baughman modern really is "what is happening now." He prefers to call it the New Modern because the designs are fresh, less intellectual and not rigid as was the modern of the '50s.

Give More Thought To Buying Transistors

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Most people, unfortunately, aren't sophisticated buyers of transistorized entertainment equipment, especially radios. Too many buy for price rather than quality, according to a specialist in the field.

Sol Fields, manager of technical services for Panasonic home entertainment products, says a major problem is that many go in a store and ask, "What is your cheapest six (low six transistor) radio?" How can you protect this guy who is looking only for the lowest price?

He says a more sophisticated customer will ask a salesman about the speaker (depending upon the size of the set), who backs the warranty and how many transistors there are in a radio. Putting down the salesman, Fields adds: "Ask too many questions and the clerk probably will walk away. Now I've alienated salesmen cross-country."

Not to leave anyone out, he also explains that the firm provides a guarantee on its entertainment equipment because "we find a dealer often is not giving a customer his full warranty."

Fields offers some advice based upon how he would approach buying a transistorized unit.

First he suggests weighing performance versus the dollar. "The more you pay, the better a set should be, but even this has its cutoff point."

More appropriately, a person buying a unit should look for special features and listen to how a unit sounds to him. Another guide through the mumbo-jumbo maze of electronic terms is to check fact tags. These should specify the wiring in simple terms and give an honest count of transistors.

"Hybrid sets, those with transistors and tubes, should list this," he explains.

Watch wording, he says, to determine whether all the parts are "solid state," a toney way of saying transistorized. Occasionally a unit will have a part, such as a tuner, listed as solid state and infer that all parts are solid state.

To protect the consumer, the Federal Trade Commission has stepped in and soon all firms must spell out which parts are solid state and which ones are not. This will help a consumer, even one who hasn't the foggiest notion of electronics.

Another point to consider when buying a transistorized unit is to ask: "Why buy transistors?"

Transistors, Fields explains, are more economical to operate than tube sets because there are no filaments to burn out. In tubes, 80 per cent of the power is used to light up the filaments, thus transistors are more efficient and more effective because of no heat. This also means less reason for failure.

If a repair is needed and it will cost more than one-third of the original price, Fields says to throw away the set and buy another.

Biggest complaints for service, he says, come from teen-

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD

Today finds a newly organized Brownie troop from Baker School having their first meeting. Getting acquainted with their leader and her assistants, finding which of their school friends will be in their troop, learning what they will be doing in Scouting activities and last but certainly not least; repeating word for word the entire meeting when they get home. There is nothing to equal the excitement of Brownies on the day of the Investiture when they turn into Brownies and are allowed to wear their Brownie uniform for the first time.

Mrs. Harold Moore is leader for this Brownie troop with Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. Frank Shaw assistant leaders. Welcome to Scouting.

Have you noticed that most of the newly formed troops are getting two assistant leaders? It is marvelous to see the interest in Scouting by the mothers of these troop members. All training and meetings for leaders are also open to the assistant leaders, committee members and others interested in Girl Scouts. This is of great help if you should happen to be responsible for a troop meeting in case the leader could not attend.

Mrs. Bill Watson, troop organizer for Baker School, is very busy going over the survey for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of this school. New troops will be formed soon. A Girl Scout thank you to Mrs. Watson for this much needed service.

Neighborhood meetings this week are Highland, Feb. 9, 9:30 a.m., Girl Scout Little House; Sunrise, Feb. 10, 9:30 a.m., 507 Red Deer; Sunset, Feb. 10, 1:30 p.m., 424 Jupiter. All troops should have a representative at these meetings.

A Brownie Roundtable is scheduled for Feb. 16, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Girl Scout Little House. Those attending should bring a sack lunch.

Juliette Low programs are this month. More information will be given at neighborhood meetings. Window displays during Girl Scout Week are also to be discussed.

Each month Cadette Troop

214 plans a "special" event. An invitation made in the form of a skate was given to the guest of each troop member for their January skating party. They dispensed with the regular troop meeting Monday afternoon to be sure homework was completed in time for their party.

Guests of Troop 214 were Vickie Cobb, Debbie Cloyd, Teresa Cloyd, Paula Derrick, Debbie Fletcher, Dianne Hatfield, Cindy Holloway, Mary Beth Karr, Connie Maness, Marsha McCracken, Hane Robertson and Rebecca Taylor. Long ago troop members dubbed their chaperones as "Tag-a-Longs." Deserving the honorable names are: Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Cox Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Maness.

Noted Physician Offers Advice On Headaches

Headaches can be "tamed" and even prevented, says Dr. Joseph G. Molner, noted health authority and syndicated columnist, in his widely distributed booklet, "How To Tame Headaches."

"A headache is not a disease, it is a symptom," he writes. "It is a symptom which shows that something is not just as it should be, and is causing the pain."

The first step, Dr. Molner advises, is to determine the cause. For frequent headaches a physician should be consulted. "For the casual, or occasional headache, there are two, perhaps three, real remedies. One is rest. Another is aspirin. The third, if it is distinct from the rest, is recreation, a relief from the cares of the day."

"There are a host of commercial 'headache remedies,'" says Dr. Molner, "but they have very much the same principal ingredients, with minor variations in dosage and in added ingredients. Some have a laxative added, which may, in a few cases, be just what is needed. In other cases, it will, by setting the bowels in motion, convince the user that the remedy 'does something' other than the things aspirin will do."

Got a Sport? Call Judge Hofheinz-Collect

HOUSTON (NEA)—From his exotic quarters high in the Harris County Domes Stadium, surrounded by objets d'art from Hong Kong and Thailand, Judge Roy Hofheinz commands a sweeping view of all that transpires beneath him.

The Houston Astrodome, one of the most far out places in the world, has become the "in" place to be in sporting circles because of the circus of events that the Judge has arranged for his opulent "palace."

It's no more unusual for the Casals Clay-Ernie Terrell feud for the world's heavy weight championship to be staged in the world's biggest air-conditioned room than for the Judge to bring in a "destruction derby" with 25 jalopies hurtling around and into each other before the rapt gazes of 24,457 paying citizens.

The Astrodome has been privy to hoity toity polo match, before 35,000, and a lusty mob of bullfight aficionados. The Judge will also make it an instrument for the introduction of Gaelic football and curling, which are no more far-out than the soccer team he's planning to introduce as Houston's newest major league sports endeavor.

Texas is well established as football country, but soccer—or European football—is a foreign entry where feet are encased in pointed boots and no one would dream of letting a ball bounce off the noggin. It might misshape the skull for a 10-gallon Stetson.

Yet Judge Hofheinz has an entry in the National Professional Soccer League. How so?

"Very simple," he answered, flicking a cigar ash across his Lousi XIV desk. "I took my family down to Mexico to see a soccer game without telling them why. When it was over, I turned to Mrs. Hofheinz and the youngsters, the girls, and asked them:

"Number one, did you understand the game? They nodded yes.

"Number two, could you follow the ball on every play? No trouble, they told me. It was easier to follow than football or baseball or any other sport.

"Number three, did you see the action of all the players? Again, they all said yes.

"Number four, did you appreciate the niceties of the game as they were shown by the players? They said it was a great and wonderful thing.

"I said, 'Fine. you've answered all my questions. We're going into the soccer business.'"

And then the Judge explained

the logic of his reasoning:

"In the Astrodome, if an event has special appeal to ladies and children and is of a nature they can understand, without a great deal of education, etc., then those ladies and children will come out. And whenever they come out, the men will follow."

And the men, of course, pay the bills.

Hofheinz, who was Lyndon Johnson's first campaign manager in politics, is acutely aware of pecuniary matters, since it's his obligation as the head of the Houston Sports Association, which has a 40-year lease on the stadium to keep the ball rolling so to speak.

Why, for instance, considering the spectacular success of the Astrodome as a magnet for big events, haven't other cities already contracted rival stage settings?

"I don't think there's anybody prepared to subsidize such a stadium," he answered, "even though it didn't cost more than New York's Shea Stadium to build. If you depended on normal revenues from baseball and football and other sporting events, you'd still have an operating deficit crowding $1 million a year. Not many people are willing to make that contribut ion"

So the Judge, who also owns the Houston Astros, his principal tool for keeping the house in shape because baseball keeps it occupied 80 days a year, scrounges for any kind of event he can hustle Next winter, for instance, he'll display college basketball by importing Lew Alcindor and UCLA to meet the University of Houston and Elvin Hayes.

"If you know of any event that will fill the stadium," he said earnestly, "give me a call."

Oh yes, he stipulated that the call should be "collect."

The Harvesters, losers to first place Tascosa, 58-52 Friday night, stand 2-4 in second half league play and 20-7 for the season.

Lubbock is 0-6 in the district last half race, 0-15 in district competition overall and 2-24 for the entire season.

Clay to Defend Heavyweight Title In Dome Tonight

HOUSTON (UPI)—Shuffling the usual champion's 50 per cent of the anticipated $400,000 gate, paid by some 30,000 fans, Clay and Terrell both weighed a little heavy at the preliminary weigh-in a week ago Clay said he expected to weigh 214 and Terrell 212 pounds at the 11 noon CST weigh-in in the Astrodome ring today.

Terrell is recognized as the champion by the World Boxing Association in 47 states, while Clay is the acknowledged title holder almost everywhere else. The WBA defrocked Clay and set up an elimination that Terrell eventually won when Clay violated a WBA rule against return bout clauses in contracts.

The bout will be televised live via Early Bird and Lani Bird satellites to Europe and Asia as well as to 165 closed circuit screens in this country. It also

Bears, TCU to Close

United Press International

Only two teams figure to have much of a chance to dethrone defending Southwest basketball champion Southern Methodist, and those two clubs—Baylor and TCU—get together tonight in a showdown battle in Fort Worth.

The Bears, who had won four straight league games, and the Frogs, who have dropped their last two contests, are currently knotted in second place with 4-2 records. That is a step behind SMU, which whipped the Frogs last week to take over the No. 1 spot—just where most experts figured the Mustangs would be this season.

SMU showed it was ready for the rugged second half of the season struggle by mashing Texas Tech in Lubbock Saturday night 91-75.

The Mustangs only appear and on the court this week will be in the friendly surroundings of Moody Coliseum against Baylor. That could be a vital contest, particularly if Baylor can dispose of TCU tonight.

If the Bears should whip TCU and SMU should then defeat Baylor, the Mustangs would have a two game bulge on the field and little would stand in their way on the road to their third straight SWC crown.

SMU got a helping hand last week from Rice, which upset TCU 89-81 in Houston. And although Rice is now 3-3 in conference play along with Texas, neither team is given much of a chance to reach the top spot.

Texas A&M, drubbed by Trinity 100-74 early in the week and then whipped by Baylor Saturday night, Arkansas and Texas Tech round out the low end of the conference standings.

Other than the crucial battle between Baylor and TCU Tuesday, other games find Rice at Texas and Texas Tech playing Texas A&M in College Station.

The Baylor - SMU game in Dallas Saturday is only one of three daytime encounters that day. TCU plays Texas Tech in Lubbock and Arkansas entertains Texas in other afternoon contests. The Texas A&M-Rice game in Houston is the only Dallas Saturday is only one of three daytime encounters that day. ### Stall May Be Key To Stopping UCLA

By United Press International

Did Southern California discover the way to beat No. 1 UCLA last Saturday night?

Southern Cal's persistent stall gave UCLA its closest call of the season before the unbeaten Bruins finally triumphed 40-35 in overtime, but other college coaches undoubtedly observed the proceedings with interest.

Lew Alcindor, a sure-fire All-America in his sophomore year at UCLA, was pulled away from the basket as the freeze worked to perfection for Southern Cal in the first half to give the Trojans a 17-14 lead. Alcindor was held to only five points as the Trojans hit seven of their eight field goals attempts in the first half.

It took little used substitute Bill Sweek to finally solve the freeze-for-UCLA as he stole the ball twice during the last 16 minutes, 16 seconds of the overtime. Sweek scored once on a layup and passed off to guard Mike Warren, who dumped in two free throws after being fouled.

In other games Saturday conference game, bowing to second-ranked North Carolina; Illinois 93-83.

defeated Maryland 85-77: Louisville (No. 3) bowled over Cincinnati 65-57, Texas Western (4) beat Tulsa 61-53, sixth-rated Princeton downed Harvard 66-59, Kansas (7) topped Iowa State 68-50 and Western Kentucky (9) whipped Middle Tennessee 95-62. Eighth-ranked Vanderbilt was the only team among the top-10 to lose as it fell to Florida 83-75.

Maryland also tried to slow down the pace against North Carolina but gave up after falling behind in the first half because of the Tar Heels' own sticky defense. By intermission North Carolina led 39-39, and five players wound up with double figures.

In other contests, Toledo lost its first game after 14 victories, 96-81, to Marshall and Utah State avenged a previous loss with a 92-66 triumph over Brigham Young. Nebraska a layup and passed off to guard moved to the top of the Big Eight by beating Kansas State two free throws after being fouled.

Northwestern dropped its first conference game, bowing to

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst The foreign news outlook: Since few western newsmen are allowed to report from Red China, the question has arisen and bloodletting may not be exaggerated deliberately for political reasons.

Far from stirring up more trouble for the Portuguese in Macao, according to United States sources, it was the Red Chinese mainland that brought about a settlement of the crisis in the Portuguese overseas province.

President Sukarno of Indonesia has reserved his usual wing in Tokyo's Imperial Hotel for late this month. This is timed for the birth of his child to his third wife Dewi, scheduled within the next month.

Torginol Is Leader In Tough Flooring

Thinking of remodeling, building another room, or re-doing your basement? Americans spend millions each year making sure that the right material is used to decorate the walls and ceiling, but forget the right procedure to go through when it comes to flooring. "Just any 'ole thing" won't do. With all the latest products introduced, Torginol flooring is one of the leaders on the world markets.

For the family play room it has proven itself time and time again. It has withstood punishment that only an active family full of children and vigorous teenagers can give. From running, jumping, basketball, indoor bowling and spilling of every form of liquids to constant wear and tear, still Torginol has stood the test.

Visit your local hospital and you'll probably find Torginol flooring in the emergency room, the operating rooms, and the hallways. Why? Because over the years the hospitals have searched, experimented, and tested every known flooring on the market and settled with Torginol. It proved to be not only durable and inexpensive, but easy to keep clean—a prerequisite for their needs.

Country clubs found it desirable. The laboratory testing the latest drugs, the clinics, and many other institutes found Torginol the finest in flooring. For your kitchen or bathroom, to your basement, you'll be more than satisfied with Torginol. Give Towles Tile a call and arrange for a free estimate. You'll find it suitable to your needs.

Bache & Co. says the major topic of conversation in the market is still the trend of easing monetary conditions. The company says the list continues to display impressive breadth characteristics and, despite pockets of hesitation which appear to be developing, near term gains seem to be in store.

I. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says considering the long succession of up days, the present slightly less vigorous market is neither surprising nor unhealthy. The analyst says the important thing is the January rise has set the stage for an entirely different type of market than that "which bored or worried" investors in 1966. He feels both the public and institutions have changed their attitude toward equities.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Co. & Stetson says he sees nothing in the technical behavior of a number of performance stocks to suggest anything but the process of an orderly advance that could easily carry them to much higher levels despite the sideways movement of the Dow Jones industrial average. The analyst says that by the action of individual stocks rather than the behavior of the blue chip averages, one might deduce the market is on the second leg of a vigorous advance that started in October.

Cotton Farmers Against Revise Of Penalizing

The directors of the Rolling Plains Cotton Producers, Inc. met in a called meeting in January and voted to send appropriate letters of protest to the proper governmental authorities requesting a revision in the penalty system now in effect on the micronaire readings for cotton placed in the Government loan. According to a spokesman for the group, the directors felt that the penalties imposed by the micronaire readings on government loan cotton for the past two years has resulted in an unfair and discriminatory price reduction to cotton producers at a time when cotton prices are already at a disastrously low level.

In other action, the board also decided to make application for certification for eligibility as an approved producer organization. Since the membership of the Rolling Plains Cotton Producers Assn. is made up from the cotton producers in the Eastern tier of Panhandle counties who have their cotton classed at the Memphis Cotton Producers can be members, then the directors felt the organization should qualify as an approved cotton producer organization.

Government Gives '69 Model Orders To Auto Makers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government is ordering the nation's automakers to equip their 1969 models with devices designed to reduce air pollution and increase gas mileage. An official of the Public Health Service's division of air standards has been made possible by development of low-cost systems which will reduce gasoline evaporation by 95 per cent.

One such system to block evaporation from carburetors and gasoline tanks costs less than $10, he said, and would pay for itself in gasoline savings in two years.

It consists of carbon filters in vents on carburetors and tanks. The filter needs to be cleaned only about once a year.

The industry has 60 days to comment, after which the standards will be reissued with any revisions. No industry objection is expected.
