

RED DEER TRAIL became a reality this morning with the planting of the first of 150 shade trees along Red Deer Creek to develop the trail beginning at Christy St., south of the Coronado Inn and extending the full length of the creek through Pampa. The project was made possible by a contribution of over $13,000 from the Gray-Pampa Foundation. Flowering trees, shrubs and evergreens will also be added with foot-bridges, benches, paths, lights and drinking fountains. The Civic Beautification Committee of the Pampa Garden Club, city officials and the Park Department have cooperated in establishing the trail. Pictured above watching R. L. Thompson, city employe, plant the first tree are Hugh Burdette, commissioner of Pct. 2, Mrs. Thelma Bray, garden club chairman and City Manager Jim White.

US Troops Stage 'Great Victory'

More Than 600 Communists Killed

SAIGON (UPI) — American troops outnumbered five to one lowered their cannons to point blank range and smashed five Communist battalions in a savage four-hour battle for one of the greatest U.S. victories of the Vietnam war, military spokesmen said today.

They said the beleaguered American infantrymen, attacked at dawn Tuesday by more than 2,500 Viet Cong charging from three sides and reaching to within 10 yards of the U.S. command post, killed more than 600 of the Communists and sent the rest fleeing toward Cambodia.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, just back from his Guam conference with President Johnson, toured the battlefield. He said as many as 200 more Communist bodies may be found in the War Zone C jungles northwest of Saigon.

The American victory claim came as Communists struck back with mortar attacks to the north in the Central Highlands, killing or wounding about 100 Americans, spokesmen said.

The running success came in War Zone C 70 miles northwest of Saigon where U.S. troops found more Viet Cong bodies as they chased remnants of the guerrillas' elite 22nd Regiment smashed by outnumbered American infantrymen Tuesday.

But farther north, in the blood-drenched Central Highland battlegrounds, North Vietnamese elite army troops launched lightning and effective mortar assaults Tuesday and today against other units of the U.S. Army 4th Infantry Division that won the War Zone C battle.

Bad Week For Reds However, American military officers said the lopsided Communist losses indicated the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were suffering one of their worst weeks of the war.

Further, the Communists' first major offensives in months all were failing, they said.

The fighting in South Vietnam, stretching from the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) down to the Saigon area, roared as U.S. jets flew 62 missions

Peace Bid Still Open

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's unprecedented personal peace bid to Ho Chi Minh is still open despite its rejection by the North Vietnamese leader, responsible U.S. sources said today.

Johnson, who returned Tuesday night from his fast-moving Guam strategy conference with top U.S. and South Vietnamese leaders, apparently underscored this theme when he said:

"We shall persevere in our efforts to find an honorable peace; until that is achieved, we shall continue to do our duty in Vietnam."

U.S. sources conceded, however, that it was unlikely that Hanoi would do an about-face in the immediate future and come to accept Johnson's letter as the basis for peace negotiations or even more limited talks on de-escalation of the conflict.

But they let it be known that the United States would still be interested, and the terms Johnson outlined were not closed.

Disclosure of the Johnson-Ho correspondence, unique in the many efforts by the United States and other nations to get talks started, came first from Hanoi.

As Johnson's plane was winging homeward from Guam, Hanoi suddenly made public Ho's harsh rejection of the

Vandals, Violence Mark Week-Old Milk Price War

By United Press International
The National Farmers Organization milk holding action over a 25-state area was a week old today but only minor decreases were noted in the supply of milk destined for tables in millions of homes.

Dairy officials in the boycott area, stretching from the Rocky Mountains, reported supplies ranged from normal to 15-25 per cent below normal.

NFO farmers, beset by police and FBI investigations and court injunctions against interfering with deliveries by non-members, redoubled their efforts today. The NFO is campaigning for a 2-cent-a-quart increase in the price they receive.

Wives of NFO members in some Southern Illinois communities went door to door Tuesday, trying to enlist the aid of their neighbors in cutting the supply and forcing the dairies to negotiate contracts with the NFO.

In nearly every area where the NFO action is taking place, there were incidents of violence, vandalism and showmanlike dumpings of white liquid into streets, fields, streams and on highways.

Sabotage and sniper fire brought turmoil to usually tranquil rural areas.

Eight men were arrested and charged with malicious mischief and conspiracy at Greeley, Colo., for allegedly draining 1,000 gallons of milk from a tanker truck.

In New Jersey and at Columbia, Tenn., police reported trucks being shot at and hit. Other shooting incidents were reported in Brown County, Wis., and at Evansville, Ind. Ohio authorities reported several incidents of fuel oil being dumped into milk tank trucks. Fires apparently set deliberately destroyed more than 60 head of cattle, large amounts of hay and farm machinery on two farms near Canton, N.Y.

Premier of Red China Rejects Mao's War Bid

HONG KONG (UPI) — The local newspaper Star today reported the Chinese Communist Party Politburo rejected proposals by Mao Tse-tung for sending troops into combat in Vietnam, Thailand, on the Soviet border and against the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy.

Quoting its "own sources," the rightwing newspaper said the Politburo refused the party chairman's proposals

"very recently." It said an angry Mao now plans to fight for his war plans at the next session of the party congress.

According to the Star, Premier Chou En-lai opposed Mao's plans for sending Chinese troops into Vietnam. It said Chou argued intervention would mean the "slaughter" of Red Army troops and give the United States an invitation to attack Communist China.

According to the newspaper, the premier argued Red Army troops on the Sinkiang-Soviet border should be reinforced but opposed Mao's plan for starting border incidents.

Chou argued an attack on Quemoy would give Nationalist Chinese, President Chiang Kai-shek an excuse to adopt a more aggressive position.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Red

Army newspaper today told reluctant troops to get into the fields and help farmers stave off national famine. The food shortages in Canton have sparked grocery store riots in which one baby was trampled to death, other reports said.

The new directive today from the army organ, Liberation Army Daily, told both commanders and troops of the huge Communist Chinese Army it had a duty as "a production army" as well as a combat army.

The article indicated some army elements are hesitant about going into the fields to help peasants with their work. The army organ also called on troops to help in factories and mining.

Hong Kong newspapers reported today the food shortages in the South China city of Canton had become acute and prompted grocery store riots.

Quoting recently arrived travelers from Canton, the Hong Kong papers reported that a baby was crushed to death several days ago in front of a food store by storming, hungry Chinese.

The arrivals said long lines form daily at food stores throughout the Kwangtung province and the controlling Kwangtung Military Control Commission has issued an order banning lines in front of stores.

Today's editorial in the Liberation Army daily said, "Chairman Mao and the party Central Committee decided that the army must support and assist industrial production and agricultural production."

"In assisting Spring agricultural production, the factories and mines must also be helped simultaneously for making revolution and stimulating production," the editorial said.

"This is the heavy duty of our army. It is a duty that definitely cannot be trifled with."

Observers here said the last sentence hinted that the army was not obeying its previous orders to help with farm work.

Carubbi To Aid Court Battle On Minimum Wages

Atty. A. J. Carubbi, former Pampa now attached to Texas Atty. Gen Crawford Martin's staff in Austin, will be sworn in Monday in Washington to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

Carubbi will be introduced to the court by U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

The ex-Pampa will be involved in a case in which the states of Maryland and Texas are seeking to enjoin the federal government from enforcing minimum wage provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act as they apply to political subdivisions of the state.

The case first will be heard next Wednesday before a three-judge federal court in Baltimore, Md.

If it is not upheld there, the case in all probability will be carried by the states to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The case is styled "States of Maryland and Texas vs. Willard Wertz, U.S. Secretary of Labor."

Carubbi will be working with Attorney General Martin and another assistant attorney general from Texas in the legal attack on the Fair Labor Standards Act which would impose the minimum wage provisions of city, county, school and other (See CARUBBI, Page 3)

First Defense Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has approved the first defense bill for fiscal 1968, a $20.8 billion authorization that included making a start on building an anti-ballistic missile (ABM) system.

After a round of debate on the controversial ABM question, the Senate Tuesday went along with Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Armed Services Committee and approved the package 86 to 2.

Russell, describing the bill's $377 million ABM authorization as the amount needed to get started on a minimum or "thin" system, said such protection would be needed whether, or not Moscow is persuaded to abandon its own ABM system.

President Johnson, with the backing of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, has opposed the creation of a missile defense system on grounds it would be a costly investment for dubious protection. Johnson is pushing instead for a U.S.-Russian agreement not to put up extensive ABM systems.

Businessman Succumbs To Heart Attack

A. B. Whitten, 61, a Pampa businessman for the past 32 years, died unexpectedly at 1:15 a.m. today in his home, 928 E. Browning. He apparently suffered a heart attack.

Mr. Whitten was born April 18, 1905, in Paris, Tex., and came to Pampa in 1934 from Greenville. He was employed by the Pampa Daily News until 1938, when he went into partnership with Floyd Yeager in the operation of a printing shop and office supply store. The partnership dissolved in 1953, when Whitten took over the office supply business, where he was employed at the time of death.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church, Pampa Masonic Lodge 966 and president of the Couple's Sunday School Class.

Survivors include his wife, Lillian of the home; one son, George Whitten of Batesville, Ark.; one daughter, Mrs. L. W. Gooch of Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Will Gartin of Fort Worth, Mrs. Katie Clay of Paris, Tex.; and seven grandchildren.

Arrangements will be announced by Duenkel Funeral Home.

Jaunts by 1966 Congressmen Turn Half-Million Dollar Tab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five Congressmen, one of them a lame duck, circled the globe last year at a cost of more than $18,000 to try to find out why some Americans were losing their jobs.

This jaunt, a month-long affair by a House Education and Labor Subcommittee, took place after last fall's election and won the mythical junkie's palm as the most extensive for a House group in 1966.

The mundane details of cost and authority for this trip and others taken last year were made public Tuesday in the Congressional Record, which is required by law to publish such reports.

All in all peripatetic house members ran up hotel and transportation bills of more than half a million dollars last year, traveling to the ends of the earth at government expense.

The figures showed that about 150 members and staff employes spent $489,682.55 during the year on commercial transportation and living expenses.

Not included were the uncounted thousands shelled out by the military to fly lawmakers when private service was not available.

Nor was there any accounting of the expenses run up by U.S. embassies abroad in accommodation and entertaining visiting lawmakers.

Senate travel, reported earlier this month, totaled $233,426. But of course the house has more members.

The House Education and Labor group, headed by Rep. John H. Dent, ran up a bill of $17,950.18 to cover its living expenses. This total did not include travel, supplied by the air force, at the remarkably low figure of $852.44.

IN THE BREAD LINE — Members and guests of the Salvation Army's advisory board and development council met at the Pampa headquarters Tuesday for a progress report and inspection tour. Reports given at the meeting showed that $43,837 of the needed $131,000 for the new facility had been raised.

24 PER CENT

Salvation Army Fund Has $43,837 of Goal

Salvation Army Development Fund workers have collected $43,837 toward their $131,000 goal for a new Salvation Army center here.

Dan Eddy, public relations director for the Salvation Army in Texas, spoke to the 75 fund workers, and advisory board and development council members during a luncheon yesterday at the army's headquarters, 613 E. Albert.

In discussing the need for new facilities, Eddy said the Army has worked for 40 years without asking for funds for new buildings.

The present facilities, three frame buildings for a chapel, office and meeting room, were originally intended to be used about three years, he said.

The proposed building in South Pampa would not necessarily be the one finally built, Ralph McKinney, fund chairman said. It would be decided by the advisory board after the $131,000 goal is reached.

The pattern gifts division has $32,415 or 30 per cent of its $111,350 quota.

The special gifts division reported 84 per cent or $10,830 of its $13,000 quota.

The general gifts division, which was started last week, has $592, or nine per cent of the $6,500 quota.

Backers of Sales Tax Seek Final Approval

AUSTIN (UPI) — Backers of the local option city sales tax hope to get final legislative approval of the issue today, provided a militant minority does not filibuster the bill again in the Senate.

A bloc of 10 mostly liberal senators filibustered the issue a week ago for 20 hours before losing the floor on a technicality.

Senators supporting the sales tax for cities planned to try for final passage of the House-approved bill today, but this action may not come up before noon.

The House and Senate were scheduled to go into joint session at 11 a.m. to hear a talk by Ed Clark, U.S. Ambassador to Australia.

The city sales tax proposal is being carried in the Senate by Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso. It is backed by at least 19 senators, enough for final passage. Christie wants to pass the bill without any amendments so it can be sent directly to Gov. John Connally for his signature.

The proposal would let cities submit the issue to their local voters for approval. If the voters approve, then the city could impose a 1 per cent city sales tax as a new source of local revenue.

The bill is being backed heavily by the Texas Municipal League. Numerous city fathers from over the state have spent hours in Austin this session of the legislature lobbying for the bill.

Much of the legislative attention Tuesday was focused on bills dealing with liquor.

ters, the Vietnam Service Medal with six battle clusters, the National Defense Medal, and the Vietnam Campaign Medal.

In addition to his fruit salad recognition for "action" in Vietnam, Williams was awarded the United States Armed Forces Expeditionary Service Medal for serving in Domingo during the 1965 crisis there.

Williams also wears the Combat Infantryman's Badge, both the American and Vietnamese Paratrooper Badge and the Air Assault Badge.

Williams took part in 13 of the major offenses which were launched during the 13 months he was stationed in Vietnam.

His next assignment will be in Frankfurt, Germany. He enlisted in the Army in June, 1964.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

RADIO AND YOU — 1967: — That box the sound comes out of and you can listen to in a completely dark room or walking out on the sunny street — the radio — was supposed to disappear in the year 1959, clobbered by television. Who saved radio? You insisted on switching the dials and, as you live in so many other things, started a whole new trend — a regular avalanche of disc jockeys rolling out music (instead of the old soap opera, drama and comedy network fare). So listen to what you caused: More radio sets than ever... about 260 million at the end of 1966... mostly home sets, but also transistors and auto radios. You brought back radio and you dominate one part of it — rock 'n' roll stations (uh, uh, beware, surveys show the oldies are tending to sneak a listen to these, too) But, you only buy 20 per cent of radios sold, and you listen selectively, by the kind of stuff your local stations dish out and your other interests and the season. For instance, in cool Boston less than half as many teen ears tune in to early morning radio in summer as in winter... in tumultuous New York more than 80 per cent do. In windy Chicago you dial before-noon radio 16 times as often in the summer as in the winter... while in hot New Orleans you listen to the late afternoon radio only half as much in summer as in winter. So what, if you continue to drive stations and advertisers frantic? — you listen to what you like!

WHAT'S COMING UP NEW IN RADIO? Checks around among big and little wigs in the radio field come up with this answer — not much new... In 1967 radio will continue to roll out the beat bigger than ever of those tunes you go for on those stations you tune to. One small sign in the 1967 radio sky: Telephone-in type shows are growing, from a few spots to 67 to 70 per cent of the programs on some stations... and new types of the telephone-in show are beaming in... Some of these will be baited to lure you to listen.

HOP TO SOME HIP SHOP TO BUY POP: The craze to buy off-beat stuff — clothes and for your room — is getting bigger. For precious possessions, like maybe Victorian underwear, German World War I spiked helmets, bizarre lamps, souvenir and old-fashioned items, the safari usually leads far afield. Here are places YOUTH BEAT has chased recently where you can pan pay dirt and pick up these beloved wear-gear, etc., nuggets. Fourteen-carat are the surplus military stores (for military, hunting, western); a possibility lurks in work clothing stores (some military, but better for picturesque work shirts, pants, hats); the Salvation Army rehabilitates clothes (as well as the homeless men who help put them in shape) and so does Goodwill Industries — both have stores in places coast to coast, with unexpected gems amidst the second-hand litter; also, thrift shops, second-hand shops (and even pawn shops) are worth browsing. Some prime loot turned up in a speedy tour of (mostly Salvation Army and Goodwill) stores with such "rehabilitated" gems as: dresses from the '20s, leather jackets, messes of sweaters, ordinary and wild-stripe shirts, beat up real fur coats (scissor to size), big-piece old-fashioned jewelry (ornamented watches), scrambles of buttons (sorry, none with slogans); for entertainment — records, records, records (all kinds — dirt cheap)... and books, books, books (10 cents and up); for your room or any kooky thing — giant old mirrors, wild lamps, junkyard of lampshades, souvenir postcards, big cubes of typewriters (looking like the original office typewriter), and a zany old exercise bicycle O.K. if you want to poke through it all you can find delicious things, but remember, too... there is always grandma's attic.

BUTTON, BUTTON — MORE BUTTONS: A handful more of right up-to-date slogan buttons from the nation's leading beatnik shops: "Stamp out Reality," "You Interest Me," "Body for Governor," "Babies Kiss Everybody — Why Can't You?," "I Hate Everybody."

Equalization Board Members Selected; Teachers Re-Hired

LEFORS (Sp) - Lefors School board appointed three members to its tax equalization board and re-hired all teachers in recent meetings.

At a regular board meeting, Ben Diehl, F. W. Beck and Fred Blackwell were appointed to the school tax equalization board. These men served on the board last year.

In a called board meeting, trustees approved the school calendar for 1967-68 school year and approved all teachers for the next school term.

Paving Program Draws Signers

A steady stream of property owners was filing in and out of City Hall today as they signed up the necessary papers to get their streets paved under Pampa's overall 140-block paving program.

The office opened at 8:30 a.m. with several property owners waiting. The crowd grew all forenoon and at noon there was a waiting list of a dozen or so persons in the waiting room.

Officials said the office will remain open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily Mondays through

Price Expresses His Approval of Vet Bill Passage

Panhandle congressman Bob Price expressed pleasure on passage of a bill increasing veterans pensions. The bill is similar to one introduced by Price on Feb. 20. The bill passed by the House differs from the one introduced by Price in only one aspect, that being an increase in benefits to veterans now in school.

Price said, "I am pleased the House has approved this legislation which will provide a cost of living increase for veterans, widows, and survivors, grant certain war time benefits not previously provided for Vietnam veterans, grant additional benefits for those veterans serving after Jan. 31, 1955, and increase educational allowances to veterans."

Price said his only regret was that the bill did not increase the amount of money retired veterans can earn without losing their benefits.

Thundershowers Predicted Here

Pampa's cloudy skies today were expected to produce isolated thundershowers tonight, but the forecast for Friday does leave much hope for moisture

Pigeon Racers Stage Contest

The Top O' Texas Racing Pigeon Club held its first race of the spring season Saturday with pigeons flying from Liberal, Kan., to Pampa.

Eleven members shipped a total of 107 of the birds to Liberal, a distance of 100 miles. The first five pigeons to return were owned by the following men: Jim Cantrell, first; A. P. Coombs, second; Ed Pennington, Phillips, third and Gordon Miller, fourth and fifth.

The race was the first of 14 scheduled for the season, according to Cantrell.

The club will stage a 170 mile race from Garden City, Kan., Saturday. A 600 mile race, from Casper, Wyo., will be held later in the season.

Any persons interested in seeing the pigeons come in or the hobby itself, may contact any member, Cantrell said.

Students Register In Regional UIL Journalism Events

Two Pampa High School students will compete April 22 in the regional Interscholastic League journalism contests in Mesquite.

Martha McMullan and Dale Cain, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Hurley, high school publications sponsor, will enter in five contest categories including feature writing, news writing, editorial writing, copy reading and headline writing.

No district UIL journalism contests are scheduled, because of the wide area included in regional competition.

Two students from each school in the three districts will enter. About 50 each will compete from Class 4AAAA and Class 3AAA schools.

The region includes all of West Texas from the Panhandle to San Angelo, Big Spring, and El Paso.

Pampa High School journalism students will also attend the Panhandle High School Press convention at West Texas State University April 1, Miss Hurley said.

Absentee Voting Light in School Trustee Election

Evidently every Pampa interested in the election of two trustees for the Pampa Independent School District board plans to be in the city on election day, April 1.

Only five absentee ballots have been received in the Pampa Junior High office of the school business manager.

Homer Craig, business manager, said today five absentee ballots have been cast, but four applications sent out by his office, have not, as yet, been mailed back.

Deadline for voting absentee in the school trustee election is March 28.

On the first of April, Pampans will be asked to select two candidates from a field of four to fill the expiring terms of board president, E. E. Shelhamer and board secretary, John Gikas.

Gikas is seeking a third term on the board along with "first time" candidates Mrs. Ben (Pernie) Fallon; John R. Spearman; and Dr. William H. Greenlee.

Weather observers here were counting on a 10 per cent probability of rain for tonight, with southerly winds, 10-20 mph.

SGT. WINSTON G. HOLLENSHEAD

Lefors Marine Killed in Viet

Marine Sergeant Winston George Hollenshead, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollenshead of Lefors, has been killed in action in Vietnam, according to word received by his parents last night.

Sgt. Hollenshead, serving with the 3rd Marine Division in the vicinity of Quang Tri Republic near the Cambodian border, died from wounds from fragments of North Vietnamese explosives March 19.

Hollenshead, who replaced a sergeant killed only five days earlier, had, in previous action been engaged with the division in heavy fighting in the Mekong Deltas region when the unit reported heavy losses including some of Hollenshead's own men.

Hollenshead is survived by his wife, Nancy, and his daughter, Ursula, both living with his wife's parents in Alvin, Tex.; four brothers, three sisters and his parents.

Funeral services are incomplete in Louisiana; however, a memorial service is pending in Lefors with details to be announced later.

Child Contributes Dollar to Campaign

Christa Marlar, 5 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Marlar, 2222 N. Nelson, wanted to "help the campaign" today, and did by contributing a dollar to the Salvation Army Development Fund.

While passing the fund office at 221 N. Cuyler this morning, Christa and her mother saw the sign in the office window explaining the campaign to raise $131,000 for new Army facilities here.

Tax Refunds Being Delayed By Use of Wrong Schedule

Income tax refunds of many Panhandle area taxpayers are being delayed because they have not used the right tax table or schedule to compute their tax, the Internal Revenue Service reported today.

Frank Daugherty, administrative officer in the IRS Pampa office, said the IRS Service Center in Austin where returns from the local area are processed, reports that so far this year 617 showed that the wrong tax table or schedule was used to calculate the tax due.

Daugherty urged Panhandle area taxpayers to use the right table or schedule when they file returns. By making sure the right one is used, a taxpayer can save the government money and avoid delay in receiving a refund.

There are tax tables on Form 1040 for married couples filing joint returns, single persons and married couples filing separate returns, and for unmarried persons who qualify as heads of a household.

On the 1040A, there are tax tables for single persons, married couples filing jointly and for married couples filing separate returns.

One of the major reasons for delay in issuing refunds, Daugherty said, is the failure of taxpayers to include their correct Social Security number on the tax return.

As of this week, Daugherty reported, 67 refunds had been delayed in the Panhandle area because of incorrect or missing Social Security numbers.

Daugherty reported that to date other refunds are being held up because of a variety of other errors or failures to comply with instructions mailed to each taxpayer with his tax forms.

Tax returns filed up to last week included 140 without the signature of husband, or wife or both. These will have to be sent back to the taxpayers before refunds can be processed.

Returns with errors in arithmetic which are causing delays in sending refunds so far total 726 in the Panhandle area. Daugherty estimated the IRS Service Center in Austin had processed 15,767 refunds of Panhandle area taxpayers for a total of $1,941,875.78.

County Officials Select Jury List

Three county officials were to pull names today for jurors to serve during the Gray County jury week April 24.

The docket of civil and criminal cases for trial will be called April 3 when Don Cain, county attorney, and other attorneys decide their cases are ready for trial.

Officials who were to select the 20 persons for the jury list were County Judge S. R. Lanning Jr., Sheriff Rufe Jordan and County Clerk Charlie Thum.

Six jurors will be selected to serve from the jury list. Judge Lanning said.

Final Appeal Issued For Easter Seals

A last-minute appeal for support of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its program of services to the handicapped was issued today by Paul Keim, Easter Seal representative in Gray County.

The Easter Seal Society is providing treatment and services for 16,000 physically handicapped children and adults in Texas. Keim said, and the program needs to be expanded. Many people are going without service that would increase the productivity of their lives and make them happier. With increased growth of the Easter Seal Society, more and more of these people will be reached, he added.

The Society is carrying on a continuing program to seek out the disabled who are going without services and see that they receive the assistance they need. As Easter Seal Representative, Keim asked that anyone in need of services contact him at the First National Bank in Pampa. He added that the Easter Seal Appeal will close next Sunday.

Social Security Number 'Must' On That Tax Return

Texas taxpayers were reminded today that the law requires them to list their correct social security number on their Federal income tax return.

If husband and wife each have income and file a joint return, they should list both numbers in the spaces provided on page 1 of the 1966 Federal income tax return. If the wife has no income, however, the husband's number will suffice.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for northern Texas, said the omission of an incorrect number delays the processing of the return.

If you do not have a social security number application Form SS-5 may be obtained from your local Internal Revenue Service office, Social Security Administration office or most Post Office. Social Security Administration office or most Post Office. Applications should be filed as soon as possible. Campbell stated.

White Deer Student Named on Honor Roll

AUSTIN (Sp.) — Kim Alan Wheelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wheelley of White Deer, has been placed on the College of Fine Arts dean's honor roll. A junior majoring in education at the University of Texas, he also has been awarded a Donna Dellinger Scholarship for the spring semester. In addition, Wheelley has been selected to serve as stage manager for the University's forthcoming Shakespearean production of "Troilus and Cressida," under the direction of Dr. B. Iuen Payne, one of the world's leading authorities on Shakespeare.

SURVIVING QUINTS
VASTERAS, Sweden (UPI) — Two surviving quintuplets born Tuesday were reported in "satisfactory condition" today by a hospital spokesman.

The quintes were born after their mother, Mrs. Birgitta Jansson, 26, took fertility drugs. Three girls died at or shortly after birth. A boy and a girl survive.

Deadline Nears For K of C Essay Contest Entries

SAN ANTONIO — Time is running out for teenagers to enter an essay-writing contest on "American Citizenship — What It Means to Me."

With prizes of $100 and $50 U.S. Savings Bonds, or their cash equivalent sent to colleges of the winners' choice, plus 20 Honorable Mention Citations, the contest is open to all young Texans, 15 to 19 years of age, inclusively.

The sponsoring Texas Knights of Columbus' rules limit the essays to 300 words and point out the final judging will be performed by an interfaith panel composed of members of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Essays must be mailed at latest by March 31 to the Essay Contest Committee, Texas Knights of Columbus, 111 Majestic Bldg., San Antonio, Tex., 78205.

"Youngsters of all races, colors and creeds are invited to enter the annual competition which, in the past, has been won by students residing in cities and rural areas throughout the state," said Willard Green of Temple, head of the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic fraternal order of men with 32,000 members in Texas.

"Essays must be signed by the writers with their full names, ages, schools, classes, home addresses, telephones and cities of their residence, as well as the same information on their parents or guardians, and their school principals," he said.

Annual Daily Newspaper Meet Ends

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — The annual meeting of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association (TDNA) wound up today with reports on prospects for better-trained journalism graduates and the increasing use of computers.

John E. Gray, chairman of the co-ordinating board of the Texas College University System, said journalism students will be given more opportunity to study in specialized areas such as government and political science.

He said the emphasis will be on training "for journalism rather than in journalism."

Frank Bell, controller for the Beaumont Enterprise and Journal, and Grover Livingston, data processing manager for the Dallas Morning News, described the use of computers in newspaper composing rooms and business offices.

"The second industrial revolution," Bell said, is under way in the newspaper business. He said last year the number of newspapers using computers increased by 70 per cent but the total number of U.S. newspapers now utilizing computers is only 13 per cent.

Green added that previous years' winners have resided in small and large cities, including Whiteface, Rowena, Galveston, Benavides, Seymour, Port Arthur, Alpine, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, Gonzales, Schulenburg, Poth, Gainsville, San Antonio, O'Donnell, Dalhart, Fort Worth, Ennis and Wichita Falls.

Area Residents Again Invited To Join Panhandle Heritage Foundation

Panhandle area residents were being invited to join the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc. as members this week. Packets describing the privileges and duties of members went into the mail for those who have already expressed interest, and everyone in the Panhandle who wishes to have a part in the development of the great theatre project in the Palo Duro Canyon was urged to join by writing Box 268, Canyon, Texas, for forms and information.

The Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation Inc. is the producing organization for "Texas" the Paul Green musical production which plays each summer night in the amphitheatre in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park. Members of the Foundation have the responsibility for backing and controlling the production and insuring its quality through the years and for maintaining and improving the physical plant.

According to the Constitution of the Foundation, adopted in 1961, the first memberships extended through the first summer.

Five Candidates File in Election At High School

Five students are vying for president and vice president posts in the April 7 Pampa High School student body elections. March 28 is the deadline for filing for office.

Candidates who filed are Tommy Rose, Dwight Rogers, Jennifer Cunningham, Jim Cornutt, and Chris Dun.

The candidate who receives the most votes will be named president and second highest vice president. Jim Hulet, high school social studies teacher, is student council sponsor. John Braly is present council president.

A student council secretary will be elected later in the spring.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bache & Co. says the Dow Jones industrial average is presently in a position for a major assault on the 900 level although it does not envision a straight path since the market must still cope with some economic dislocation. The company, however, feels that the market seems to have adjusted to the current economic level so that unfavorable economic news will not have a major impact on prices.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. says recent market action has proved that the sluggish blue chips could join in the market upswing. The analyst believes recent gains in the blue chips also has dispelled some growing doubts about the quality of market leadership.

Foreign Commentary

By THOMAS M. BROWN
United Press International
HELSINKI (UPI) — A 42-day political crisis was climaxed last spring when Communists were included in a Finnish government for the first time in 18 years.

There was much skepticism among Finns over the decision. Observers predicted trouble. They remembered the disastrous experiences of Eastern European governments immediately following World War II and what appeared to be a Communist plot to grab power in Finland in 1948.

But as the neutral country as a four-party coalition government completes its first year in power, the misgivings have largely disappeared.

Diplomatic circles are cautiously beginning to call the success of the government the most significant development in Finnish politics since the war and one of the most interesting in Europe.

Potential Trouble
But there are some who regard Red participation in the cabinet as a potential Trojan horse.

For one thing, the Communists have never disavowed the overthrow of the government as an instrument of policy. And they may not long be content with the stewardship of three revatively minor posts.

But so far, the Communists have behaved admirably. The members of their red-front Peoples Democratic League who hold cabinet posts are Leo Suopaa, 55, minister of transportation and communications, Matti Koivunen, 47, minister of social affairs, and Elio Aienius, 43, second finance minister.

In addition to the three Red members, the cabinet includes six Social Democrats, five Center (agrarian) party members and one member of the League.

Despite predictions of instability the government quickly began tackling the country's major problems.

These included an adverse balance of payments, a chaotic system of agricultural subsidies, inflation, and frequent strikes by labor unions dominated by the Social Democrats and communists.

Impressive Results
The results, most observers think, have been impressive.

This year's budget—the first in years aimed at long-term expediency—is designed to slow the growth of inefficient agriculture and spur development of industries competitive in the world market.

The Communists ministers, representing the third largest among Finland's eight parties, have done their bit to ram through changes sought by the non-Communist majority.

They have been mellow to the point where some Finns ask whether they might prove reliable coalition government partners elsewhere in Europe.

But there are others who ask whether the taste of power might not give the Reds ideas about taking over; if revolution does not work, infiltration might.

So Finland walks a wary path.

Three L. Tops Club Names New Queen

LEOPRS — A total weight loss of 27 pounds in two weeks was recorded by members at a recent meeting of the Three L. Tops Club.

Mrs. Betty Read was named "Queen of the Week" with a five pound loss and was awarded the fruit basket.

Mrs. Audie Howe, vice chairman, presided during the meeting which opened with members answering roll call with inscriptions they had previously written on a paper outline of their hands.

Secretary's and treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Thelma Roberts.

Members were asked to bring a brief article on dieting clipped from a newspaper.

Hostesses were Mrs. Cynthia Cate, Mary White and Gene Robbins.

Next meeting's hostesses will be Mrs. Joeldine Elliott and Thelma Roberts.

Dear Abby... In That Wonderful World Of Marriage

DEAR ABBY: So "STILL A BACHELOR" says the reason he's not married is because most women are too lazy to cook, huh? Well, my wife serves home-made bread, rolls, and biscuits every day, and she makes her own spaghetti and sauce from scratch, just like her pies and cakes.

Does Bachelor get home-made pickles and catsup? I do. My mother gave us 400 quart Mason jars, and my gal fills them every summer and fall. She picks 75 per cent of what's in those jars, too. And she still has lovely hands.

We have three children, 4, 5, and 8, and my wife sews most of their clothes, and her own, too. She cuts their hair, and mine, and keeps her own real nice.

Our eight-room house is a show-place. She made all our curtains and draperies and slipcovers. She's active in the PTA and church. Dinner is served every night at 6 p.m. She's through with the dishes at 7:30, and the kids are in bed by 8. After that she's mine for the evening.

She never complains, is slim, beautiful, and full of love and life. She smiles and laughs more than anyone I know. She says she's happy, and I KNOW I am. MARRIED AND LIKES IT
DEAR MARRIED: If your wife has a sister, please send me her name, address, and a recent photograph. There are about four million bachelors who would probably be glad to turn in their bachelor buttons for a gal like yours.

DEAR ABBY: No wonder "STILL A BACHELOR" is still a bachelor. So he thinks the housewife who uses mixes and frozen foods and buys bakery bread is lazy!

Well, please tell him that when he's ready to trade in his late model car for a horse and buggy and turn in his color TV for whatever happens to come along the Chautauquus circuit, we "lazy" women will cheerfully return to cooking everything from scratch, and go back to washing on washboards.

"VI" IN PORT TOWNSEND

DEAR ABBY: I am presently a senior at an exclusive, religiously-affiliated girls boarding school. The administration here claims the right to open and read all incoming and outgoing mail. I would appreciate your opinion of this "right."

INQUIRING
DEAR INQUIRING: There are some institutions (hospitals and penal, usually) where this "right" exists in the best interest of the patient or inmate, but yours is the first boarding school I've ever heard of with such a "right."

Allegro Guests Hear Writing Techniques Of Borger Author

By DORIS E. WILSON

Story, conflict, characters, dramatic collisions between people you care about, this is what sells books, Mrs. Lorene Chinn of Borger told members and guests at the Twentieth Century Allegro Tea yesterday afternoon in the Pampa Country Club.

Mrs. Chinn is the author of three published biblical novels and a love story; "The Anointed" in 1959; "Voice of the Lord", 1962; "Believe, My Love", 1963; and "Marcus" in 1965. She is currently working on "The Soothsayer", a novel about biblical Timothy.

In writing a novel with all the successful ingredients, Mrs. Chinn said, "You can reduce them all to sex and violence if you like, but the satiation point is quickly reached for discriminating readers if that is all you can find in a book."

The Borger author noted "to give depth to a fictional character, it is necessary to develop characters with different points of view, so the book will appeal to a general audience and will have a wide readership."

"Sometimes," she said, "writers become schizophrenic. While writing you believe what your characters are saying. So later you have to pull yourself back to normal after the dialogue is finished."

Mrs. Chinn touched briefly upon her current novel, "The Soothsayer" describing it as "scourgings, stonings, shipwreck and finally beheading for Paul. There is a struggle between Paul and Timothy because Timothy loves the soothsayer and Paul thinks marriage is not for missionaries."

"It's theme... Wherever ry Dell McNeal as team captain.

God impinges on the minds of men, there will be differences. No one man's mind can contain all of God. With us, in this age o. an expanding universe, the concept grows far more difficult. The churches Paul founded: were constantly rent by strife over details of interpretation as our churches today are torn apart by changing views," she said.

Continuing, Mrs. Chinn stated "We must accept the fact none of us has a corner on God or a corner on truth. People whose beliefs are repugnant to us might still know some facets of God's nature of which we are unaware."

Mrs. Chinn was introduced by Mrs. Don Hayes, Allegro program chairman and currently president of Panhandle Pen Women, of which Mrs. Chinn is also a member.

Guests were served from a table appointed with a white or-gandy cloth accented on a corner of the deep floor-length ruffle with two large red poppies. The table was centered with a green felt-covered drift-wood branch hung with moss green and white felt poppies.

Mrs. Jack O. Miller, Mrs. John McCausland, Mrs. Gene Lunsford presided at the silver tea and coffee service. Tea table decorations were under the direction of Mrs. Raymond

This Holy Week has a special significance for those persons who have been planning for the development of the Red Deer Trail through Pampa along the creek banks. About 150 shade trees, flowering trees, flowering shrubs and evergreens will be planted this week along the creek banks south of the Coronado Inn.

The development of this trail is made possible through the generous financial assistance of the Gray-Pampa Foundation. Since this group also financed the underground watering system for this area, it is assured of being a beauty spot.

The new book "Adventures In Insight" by Harold E. Kohn has a delightful essay entitled "Rest Your Soul In A Patch of Light". Mr. Kohn says, "Some of our four-legged friends have a habit that we humans could well develop for our spiritual profit. They make a practice of playing and resting in a patch of light. On a dark day, when the sun bursts through a rift in heavy storm clouds, our dog Lass will find a small circle of light where a few rays drift through our windows. There she will lie, basking in a soft, warm splendor."

LINE SHOT — Rick Foster has just hit a line drive home run to center Tuesday to drive in two runs for Pampa against Borger, won by Pampa, 8-7. Foster's home run was his second of the year.

Oklahoma Next For Harvesters, Borger Falls, 8-7

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

Rick Foster burst Borger's dream of beating the Harvesters for the first time in three tries this baseball season yesterday, with a two-out, two-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Up to that time the Bulldogs had given Pampa a run for their money but instead had to settle for a hard luck, 8-7 defeat at the hands of the Harvesters, now 9-0 in pre-conference play.

Friday and Saturday, however, Pampa will have to be at their best when they journey to Oklahoma for a single game Friday and a doubleheader Saturday with twice state champion Anadarko.

The Harvesters were in trouble several times Tuesday as the Bulldogs gave them their biggest scare yet and led three different times.

Pampa had beaten Borger twice this season, 5-0 in the opener here and 12-4 at Borger last week.

Al Gomez started on the hill for Pampa but had to leave after three and two-thirds innings, having been touched for four runs, only one of which was earned, on four hits.

Dickie Henley finished up, winning his third game without defeat, but giving up three runs, all earned. Henley had given up just one earned run in 14 and two-thirds previous innings.

Steve Pruitt, making his first mound appearance of the season, did a good job going the distance and was touched but for six earned runs.

While Pampa hit three home runs at Borger last week the Bulldogs returned the favor

Tuesday, slamming two of their own while Foster had Pampa's only long clout.

Pampa went in front in the second after one was out.

Batting leader Ronnie Sanders singled and went to third on a single by Barry Price, who stole second. Gomez walked to load the bases and after Larry Stephens popped out Alvin Achord singled to drive in Sanders and Price. Foster fanned to end the inning.

Borger tied it in the top of the third on a one single by Jim Sanders, a groundout by Mike Plumlee with Sanders taking second and scoring on a triple by Jim Billington, who scored on a passed ball by Larry Stephens.

Pampa took the lead again in the bottom of the third when Larry Jones made it all the way to second on a two-out error by Borger's first baseman, Jones scored when Sanders singled.

But the Bulldogs came right back for two in the fourth and a 4-3 lead.

Pruitt walked, Poole singled and Kelley was safe on a fielder's choice when the Harvesters tried for the double play with Molberg throwing wild to first and Pruitt scoring. Glasscock walked and Kelley scored when Pampa again tried for the doubleplay and got only the lead runner.

Pampa took a 5-4 lead in the bottom of the fourth when Henley slammed a one-out single, moved to third on a single by Stephens and both runners scored on a double by Achord, who was out at third trying to stretch it into a triple.

Borger took their third lead of the day in the fifth on a single by Plumlee and Shaw's four-bagger.

Pampa tied it 6-6 in the bottom of the inning when Molberg opened with a double, took third on a ground out and scored when the Bulldog catcher dropped a called third strike on Steve Summers, that rolled all the way to the backstop.

The final Borger tally, a nd last lead at 7-6 came in the top of the sixth on Poole's home run.

Pampa wrapped it up in the sixth on a one-out walk to Stephens. Achord grounded out but Foster parked one over the center field fence for the final runs of the game.

JONES COMES HOME — Larry Jones scores against Borger Tuesday, in a pre-conference game won by Pampa, 8-7, after Ronnie Sanders had singled.

SHAW RESIGNS

TORONTO (UPI) — Bob Shaw, manager-coach of the Canadian Football League's Toronto Argonauts, resigned Tuesday after calling his position "intolerable" because of the team's Board of Governors refused to extend his contract another two years.

There was one year remaining on Shaw's original three-year contract. During his first two years, Toronto finished last twice in the CFL, winning a total of eight games.

IN EXHIBITION BASEBALL

Ford To Try It Again

By United Press International
Like a ghost out of baseball's past, the New York Yankees may be coming back to haunt the American League.

The Yankee dynasty finally seemed toppled last year when the club tumbled into the cellar—ending a 45-year reign of terror that produced 29 pennants and 20 world championships.

But the Yankees aren't acting like a second division club this spring. They recorded their eighth victory in 12 games with a 5-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers Tuesday.

It was produced in typical Yankee fashion, too—on a two-run ninth-inning rally. The winning hit was banged out by rookie outfielder Bill Robinson, who's already being touted as the next possible Yankee superstar.

All that and Whitey Ford, too. Whitey showed there's a Ford in the Yankee future when the 37-year-old lefthander signed a 1967 contract after coming to spring training as a free agent.

In the order nine exhibition games, Cincinnati beat Houston 9-4, Minnesota topped Los Angeles 7-4, the New York Mets shut out the world champion Baltimore Orioles 2-0, Philadelphia drubbed Boston 10-5, Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 5-4, Washington turned back Atlanta 9-8, the Chicago White Sox whipped Kansas City 5-4, San Francisco beat the Chicago Cubs, 8-4 and California whipped Cleveland 10-4.

Jim Northrup's grand slam homer in the third gave Detroit its 4-3 margin going into the ninth. But a walk, Jake Gibbs' single and infield out scored one run and Robinson, obtained from Atlanta in the Cleve Boyer deal, then rapped the winning hit with two out for New York.

WHITEY FORD — Ageless pinch-hitter Smoky Burgess collected a single leading off the 10th inning and his pinch-runner, Bud Bradford, later scored from third on Tommie Agee's sacrifice fly to give the Sox the win over Kansas City.

Gaylord Perry went six innings for the Giants to get credit for the victory over the Cubs—the fifth straight for the Giants.

Greg Goossen hit a pinch triple in the seventh and came home on the front end of a double steal to lead the Mets to their victory over the Orioles.

The Reds jumped on rookie Don Wilson for four runs and jolted Bo Belinsky for five more to rip Houston.

In other notable performances, Bob Rodgers drove in three runs with a triple and single for the Angels, Tony Oliva had a double and two-run homer for the Twins, John Briggs and Tony Gonzalez each add three hits for the Phils and rookie George Spriggs had an inside-the-park homer and a triple for Pittsburgh.

Washington's Fred Valentine had four hits including two homers and scored the winning run over Atlanta in the 10th on Cap Peterson's hit.

Upset Spices Action In First Round of Playoffs

By United Press International
The greatest team in basketball was beaten by an even greater one. And on this unsettling note the National Basketball Association playoffs opened their long run Tuesday night as the Cincinnati Royals turned back the Philadelphia 76ers 120-116 in the day's biggest surprise.

Yet Cincinnati, paced by Oscar Robertson and Connie Dierking, led almost all the way in the opening Eastern Division semi-final at Philadelphia to take an important one-game edge in the best-of-five series. "Tonight we were the greatest team in basketball," said Cincinnati coach Jack McMahon.

Best Game
The Boston Celtics, seeking their ninth consecutive NBA championship, also came up with what player-coach Bill Russell termed their "best game of the year" to overwhelm the New York Knickerbockers 130-110. In opening games of the Western Division semi-finals, the St. Louis Hawks trimmed the Chicago Bulls 114-100 and the San Francisco Warriors defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 124-108.

Philadelphia will be in Cincinnati in tonight's only action.

All of the semi-finals will be decided on a best-of-five basis.

As big a surprise as the Cincinnati victory itself was the outstanding job turned in by Dierking against Wilt Chamberlain. The 6-foot, 10-inch center scored 29 points and added 18 rebounds while Chamberlain tallied 41 points and 22 rebounds—12 of which came in the final quarter. Robertson led the Royals with 33 points.

WELL-OILED

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Phillips 66ers of Bartlesville, Okla., and the Akron Goodyears rank as pre-tourney favorites to win the 16th annual AAU national men's basketball championships which get underway Sunday in Denver.

The tournament features the top 20 industrial and military teams from throughout the country.

Follies Here March 31

The Buffalo Follies, proving more successful each performance, will dance into Pampa March 31 for a performance in Lee Junior High school auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m.

Thus far the follies has played to packed houses in Dimmitt, Plainview and Spearman and Pampa is next on the list of 10 cities the troupe will appear in.

The Follies cast consists of West Texas football players who sing, dance and parade attired in M'lady's finest fashions.

Principal reason for the Follies is to promote selling of West Texas State University football tickets.

The WT Buffs will stage a scrimmage session at Harvesters Field April 7 to help promote ticket sales also.

Baseball Still Just a Game to Giants' Mays

PHOENIX, Ariz. (NEA)—Willie Howard Mays Jr., waiting his turn to bat in the batting cage of the San Francisco Giants, saw the thin fungo bat near the third-base line. He grabbed it and quickly flipped a baseball in the air. Willie chopped at the ball to hit a grounder toward Hal Lanier at shortstop.

But the ball, instead of hitting the infield grass, sailed on a line and then rose in a parabola which took it far over Lanier's head into the outfield. It rolled free to the fence.

"I can't help it," squealed Willie at Lanier, "if there ain't nothin' but hits in my bat." A high-pitched giggle came out of his chocolate face.

Spring training had begun for Willie Mays, his 15th such exercise in the major leagues. Outwardly, there's hardly any change in the compact, thick-necked body with the slightly banded legs that first showed up in New York's Polo Grounds in 1951. Maybe a tuft or two less of kinky hair, a worry line etched deeper between the eyes, a trace of crow's feet on the edges. Age has placed a gentle tattoo on Willie Mays, who has hit 542 homers in his big league career and conceivably has a chance to surpass the 714 of the immortal Babe Ruth.

Willie will be 36 years old on May 6. Last year he hit 37 home runs. If he plays five more seasons until he's 40, which was Ruth's age when he hit his last homer, and Willie keeps collecting home runs at the 1966 rate, he will surpass the Babe. But records are for the hypothesists, and Willie's a materialist concerned only with what he's doing today.

"I don't think about it," he said, as he tapped a bat on the ground and studiously watched the rookie pitcher throwing batting practice. "I never think about those things, records and all. They're nice, but they're not the way I play baseball. I don't know how many home runs I hit or how many records I got coming to me. I never been any other way. It'd be nice to hit as many home runs as Babe Ruth, but that's a long way off. No use wondering about it."

Willie does worry about the demands on his body as he takes up his normal role as field leader of the Giants.

"I love the game now as much as I ever did," he said, retreating to the team clubhouse after the workout. "I get as much fun out of it, the actual playing but the game is a little harder when you get older. I pace myself and get a lot more rest between games. I don't play doubleheaders. Four or five years ago, I used to work out in the infield. I can't help myself when I'm around the guys. That's why to rest I have to stay away from the park completely."

That's why Willie had grabbed the fungo and tried to hit the grounder to Lanier during bat-

Clay, Folley Ready For Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, whose battle to stay out of the Army has eclipsed his boxing successes, rates a prohibitive favorite tonight over Zora Folley in a title bout few expect to go the full 15 rounds.

Clay is expected to weigh in at about 206 pounds, some five pounds heavier than the 34-year-old challenger.

Terrell in 1961, the man Clay beat last month.

Clay has advantages all the way over Folley. He's nine years younger than the challenger from Chandler, Ariz., is three inches taller and has a three-inch edge in reach.

Different Styles

The two men have contrasting styles. Clay the shifty dancer who moves quickly on attack when he spots an opening—and Folley, the stalker, the puncher. Clay employs left-right combinations with far more verve than any single punch, while Folley is particularly deadly with a right to the head.

Folley likely will try for a kill early in the fight. Historically, he has appeared to lose some of his fire if his opening attack fails to do damage. Clay taunted Terrell in their fight and he likely will do the same tonight, taking the offensive in the middle rounds.

Outwardly they're dissimilar too. Clay lives up to his nickname "fastest Mouth in the West," although he has calmed down a bit from his early histrionics.

MEETS BRITISHER

LONDON (UPI)—Osamu Miyashita, a Japanese bantamweight has been booked for a second British appearance April 13 against an opponent to be named shortly. Miyashita's debut in London this week was spoiled when he lost a decision to British and Empire bantamweight champion Walt McGowan.

Ninth Defense

Clay, making his ninth defense of a title he won from Sonny Liston in 1964, says he does not intend to go for a knockout—he even denies he has a knockout punch although 22 of his 28 victims have been kayoed. But his ever-moving style often wears his foes out, setting them up for a possible quick finish.

Folley has been a pro for 13 years and has won 74 bouts, lost seven and had four draws. He has scored an impressive 40 knockouts, but has been knocked out himself five times. Liston, whom Clay dropped for the count twice, knocked Folley out back in 1960. Zora also lost a 10-round decision to Ernie

AND THIS IS HOW Willie Mays looked when it all began, as a sensational 1951 performer at Minneapolis, where a .447 average the first month earned him a quick promotion to the Giants.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Some Are 'More Equal'

One of the fundamental principles (if involuntary tribute be possessed of such) of the U.S. taxing system has been the privilege of deducting business expenses from earnings in determining taxable income. Without these deductions, taxes for most businesses would be confiscatory.

Yet certain types of advertising which in the judgment of business management are legitimate expenditures in behalf of their companies and stockholders are no longer so considered by the tax collectors.

An advertisement of a tax paying electric utility, to cite but one instance, opposing the extension of tax-subsidized government power prospects is not considered a business expense by taxing authorities. In other words, a company is penalized if it seeks to protect its stockholders against the inroads of tax-exempt government competition which its taxes help support. It cannot include expenditures for this purpose as a business expense.

Going even farther, take the case of a major-electric company on the East Coast that has sought authority to construct a needed hydro-electric project on the Hudson River.

The project involves the ability of the company to adequately serve some nine million customers. The project is necessary to its future stability and growth. Since the project involves questions of public policy on conservation and aesthetics, the company felt obliged in the interest of the public and its stockholders to publicize its ideas and plans relative to the project. By so doing, it has hoped to answer the questions of conservationists, recreation interests and others.

Its expenditures for these purposes have been called lobbying by a congressman who in effect is seeking tax penalties against the company and its stockholders for carrying out a clear obligation to present its views concerning a power project upon which the future of the company and future electric service depend.

And this, we are asked to believe, is justice under the law.

Some Voting Statistics

There are numerous myths and misconceptions as to what types of people vote for the presidential candidates of the two major parties, and why. A look at voting statistics since 1922 prompts the observation that forecasting how this or that group will vote is a tricky business indeed.

The party preference of men and women as such, for example, often varies. Of voters in 1956, only 39 per cent of the women but 45 per cent of the men favored the Democrats. But in 1964, while 60 per cent of the male voters favored the Democratic slate, the proportion of women supporting it had risen to 62 per cent. Or consider age groups: 61 per cent of voters over 50 favored the Republicans in 1952 and 1956, but only 54 per cent favored the GOP in 1960—and only 41 per cent in 1964.

It is often argued that professional and business people are the center of Republican strength, but they too may fluctuate considerably in their voting.

In the 1952 election, 64 per cent of this group voted Republican, and the figure rose to 68 per cent in 1956. But by 1960 this dropped to 58 per cent, by 1964 to 48 per cent.

Another fluctuation can be seen when one looks at the country by regions. While the South regularly turns out from 49 to 52 per cent of its vote for Democrats, other areas vary considerably. The Democratic vote in the West illustrates the point: 42 per cent in 1952, 43 per cent in 1956, 49 per cent in 1960 and 60 per cent in 1964. The Republican vote in the Midwest is another example. It was 58 per cent of the total in 1952, 59 per cent in 1956, 52 per cent in 1960 and 39 per cent in 1964.

It is a fair conclusion that there are no easy, dependable ways of predicting how people will vote in presidential elections. The figures show that a lot of the popular preconceptions on this subject are wrong.

Somebody's Slipping

Here it is almost the end of March and no politician has promised to "have the boys home by Christmas yet. It seems to us that the last time we heard that expression was during the Korean War. It was first used in 1917 during World War One and they made it stick the following year. The war was ended, at least, but not in time to get her boys all home for Christmas. It was a standard phrase during World War Two and was dusted off and used several times before it came true.

It sort of fell into disrepute after the second failure to get 'em home by Christmas from the Korean War. In the Vietnam War all they keep promising is that it will take a lotta men and a lotta time, not to mention a lotta dough. It will take all of us and forever, if it is left up to the politicians to end the killing.

Straight Talk

Report From Iceland — Part II Reykjavik, Iceland—

Once a friend asked my brother "Bill, have I shown you the pictures of our recent trip to Europe?" Bill replied, "No, and I certainly appreciate it."

I, too, am anti-travelogue. But Iceland is such a little-known country and so unusual, I hope you won't mind taking another short sojourn with me.

Iceland is one of the most literate nations in the world. Every home has a library. I was told, "Better shoeless than bookless" is the motto. Practically every block in downtown Reykjavik has one or more bookstores, and there are five daily newspapers in the city. Two are privately owned, and three are owned by political parties.

Iceland is a land of lava, greenhouses operated on natural steam, hot springs, glaciers, still-active volcanoes, volcanic mountains, waterfalls, airfields, daily rains, almost no crime (3 murders in the last 50 years), Socialism and highly progressive income taxes.

Income tax takes up 75 per cent of the citizen's income. The highest keepable income is maybe $20,000. By law, the highest government income is $8,000 per year (except for the President and ministers). Hundreds of our government officials steal more than that!

Many times during my visit to Iceland, my mind drifted back to a trip I had made to Sweden 12 years or so before. In spite of Iceland's many good points, its morals—like those of Sweden—are disheartening.

"Free love" is encouraged by government handouts in both Iceland and Sweden. Every Icelandic mother gets paid per baby—more if not married ($15 every three months, plus $10 for herself).

In Icelandic colleges boys and girls use the same dorms, the same floors and probably the same curricula for all. I know, though I'm hardly cold enough here to justify all that.

In Iceland postcards are 15 cents and sex is free. It is unusual for a girl to marry until she is pregnant. Twenty-five percent of the children are illegitimate. I questioned some teenagers about this and the reply was: "We do the same thing your teenagers do—except we are not hypocrites about it!"

I was reminded of a luncheon I attended at the U.S. embassy in Stockholm. The question of free love had come up, as questions like that have a habit of doing.

"Is it true that they have free love in Sweden?"

"Oh yes," replied a forthright American woman. "I'm afraid it is. When I first got here about 18 months ago, I started looking around for a woman who would share an apartment with me."

"What's the matter, are you a queer?" I was asked. "Get a man."

"You mean that's routine procedure here?"

"Well, not exactly routine, but not unusual."

"What if children result?"

"The 'family' can go on as is; let the state adopt the child; or separate with either parent keeping the child. It doesn't matter, there is no stigma attached, regardless."

In Iceland and Sweden belonging to a church is like belonging to a union—check off system, compulsory. Ministers are like any other government official. Most people belong to church but don't go.

I once asked the head of Swedish co-op how the church members (about 90 percent of Sweden's population) squared their free love habits with their religion.

"Oh," he said, "We just belong to the church. We don't go. We use the church for special occasions. It's nice for weddings, christenings and funerals."

The more one travels in Europe, the more one realizes that as pagan as America is, it is not nearly as pagan as Europe. Thank God!

Civil Rights Action in Congress Unlikely While Powell Case Pends Creating Racial Tension

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Adam Clayton Powell's raucous battle against exclusion from Congress is casting a heavy cloud over the prospects for new civil rights legislation this year.

In girding themselves for a historical constitutional test in the Powell case, House Democratic leaders have decided to delay all floor action on the civil rights issue until a settlement is reached in the Powell fracas.

This unannounced strategy, which virtually rules out passage of civil rights legislation this session, was relayed to President Johnson just before he departed for the Gough conference on Vietnam.

The President was told by the lawmakers that in their opinion civil rights legislation would run into stiff opposition in the House because of the growing racial tension generated by the Powell fight.

While not ruling out holding hearings later this year on the President's civil rights proposals, the House leaders stressed that this should be put off as long as possible to avoid giving backers of Powell a congressional forum.

"There are reports that Powell's civil rights supporters plan to use the hearings to denounce the House," reported Speaker John McCormack, Mass. "Attacks of this kind would only increase opposition to civil rights measures and increase tensions."

When Senate Democratic leaders pointed out they were moving first with the administration's anti-crime legislation, the President replied he agreed with that priority.

In conclusion, it was agreed that action on the President's civil rights bills in both the Senate and House would be delayed until later in the session.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS — At one point in the White House civil rights talks, a House leader remarked that if the Supreme Court should claim jurisdiction and order Powell seated, the executive branch would be called on to enforce the ruling.

"Should that come to pass," mused the President, "Powell, Chief Justice Warren and Attorney General Clark would all be lined up against you."

"You are wrong," replied the House leader, "It would be the Supreme Court and the executive branch against Congress and the people. If you don't believe me, I'll send you some of my mail to read."

While these comments were said in jest, Powell's attorneys believe their legal strategy could produce such a confrontation.

When Powell brought suit here asking the federal district court to reverse the House's action, he became the first to take the issue to court.

In talks with negro leaders who have journeyed to Bimini, Powell usually cites this and adds:

"Before this is all over, my lawyers tell me Congress will either seat me voluntarily or it will be done with U. S. marshals or federal troops. Mine is another Julian Bond case, but it is much bigger."

CLEARING THE WAY — Last December the Supreme Court unanimously ruled that the Georgia legislature had acted unconstitutionally in refusing to seat negro pacifist Julian Bond.

Powell's lawyers are preparing a brief pointing out that Chief Justice Warren in a footnote observed that the federal constitution withheld from Congress the "improper and dangerous power" to fix its own members' qualifications. Unless these are specified by the Constitution, Congress "can by decree subvert the Constitution," Warren said, quoting President James Madison.

According to Powell's attorneys, the Bond Decision, Warren's footnote, and the reapportionment rulings, are all precedents on Powell's side and point to a favorable ruling in his case.

But regardless of how the Supreme Court rules, Powell is confidently predicting his eventual seating as well as his re-election next month in the special Harlem election.

"When that happens," he tells friends, "several thousand of my constituents will accompany me to Washington to demand that the House give them representation. If they don't seat me then, all hell could break out. The Powell issue could become bigger than Vietnam."

CIVIL RIGHTS NOTES—Senator Robert Kennedy, D-N. Y., is being urged by his aides to make a statement calling on the House to seat Powell if he wins next month's special election.

After the House voted to exclude Powell, Kennedy appeared on a nation-wide TV broadcast stating that the Harlem Democrat should have been "censured not excluded."

Attorney General Ramsey Clark wants President Johnson to push enactment of legislation providing added legal protection for those engaged in civil rights activities. Clark says that, although compliance with the 1965 Voting Rights Act has been heartening, "It is our duty to see that there is no pressure, however subtle, to discourage the use of the voting franchise. Wherever there is, we will move in."

GO AHEAD AND LIVE!

The "rat race" is the well-known label for the daily grind that never ends — sun-up to bedtime, bills and more bills, struggle just to keep even, try to avoid getting into any more trouble than necessary, etc.

In a complex civilization it is inevitable that most people will wake up someday to find themselves locked into this "rat race" — unable to free themselves to do the things that look more enticing. But one does not get out of the struggle just by resolving to cut down on pressures and commitments. It takes a much greater resolution: a willingness to make substantial changes in one's life.

A helpful textbook in this regard is "Go Ahead and Live" by Mildred J. Loomis (published by Philosophical Library, 15 E. 40th St., New York 16, N.Y. $4.00). It describes the story of a hypothetical couple who attempt to free themselves from the mentally and physically torturing imprisonment of the rat race.

The story is presented in the context of what the author calls the Green Revolution. It moves opposite to the Red Revolution — not bloody and violent, but quietly via persuasion and education. Not through government and the State, but through personal and family action. Not through control of some people by other people, but free of external controls. Wherever individuals, agencies and institutions — in Russia and elsewhere — distort and dominate the purposes and activities of other individuals, there the Red Revolution is active. Wherever individuals decide and implement their own purposes, they are part of the Green Revolution. The Red centralizes; the Green decentralizes.

The book discusses problems of love, sex, marriage, economics, health, birth, homemaking. There are several other authors who contribute chapters to add to Mrs. Loomis' central story.

Because of the wide-ranging nature of the subjects, you are bound to run into areas that disagree with your own present philosophy. In this way, you will be challenged to determine for yourself what you believe to be right or wrong, but you will be losing the value of the book if you do not consider seriously many of the ideas that would represent fundamental changes from your present way of life.

The central theme of the book is simply: Disregard the matters and the attention-seeking elements that are outside of your control and not contributing to your future. Start at the beginning, to understand yourself and what you want, and create that piece by piece.

Anyone for getting out of the rat race?

THOUGHT FOR PARENTS:

Great Society Aiming At Public School Revolution

By THURMAN SENSING (Southern States Industrial Council)

Next to home and church, the school is the most important and cherished institution in our country. For the American people, the public school long has been a subject of special attention and interest. And why not? The local school one's children attend is the institution that will play an enormous part not only in terms of their work as adults but in the molding of their character.

Thus the U.S. public is properly concerned when it sees that federal agencies indeed the entire bureaucratic machinery of the Great Society — is aiming at a sweeping revolution in American schools — a revolution which, if successful, will end local control over schools.

Last year, many Americans became incensed at the high-handed methods employed by Education Commissioner Harold Howe, who created "guidelines" which he sought to impose on public schools on the basis of threatening to cut financial assistance. In 1967, Mr. Howe and other reconstructionists in the Johnson administration are as busy as ever in trying to destroy neighborhood schools and attempting to force local school boards to bow to federal departmental and agency decrees.

When Americans first heard of the "busing" scheme in New York City — a plan for transporting contingents of students from one school to another to achieve "racial balance"—they thought it was a piece of political tomfoolery that would be restricted to New York City. But that notion of forcing "racial balance" on every school in the nation now has become the underlying objective of the U.S. Office of Education and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

U.S. Rep. Paul A. Fino (R-N.Y.) recently addressed himself to this federal political objective in a telling speech in the House of Representatives. "The Johnson administration," he declared, "is quietly moving to enforce racial balance in local communities and school systems under the language of existing programs. The radical philosophy is already being implemented."

Congressman Fino reported that "no city which did not propose busing, pupil exchange, or other schemes to achieve school racial balance" in plans submitted to the federal government would receive a hearing.

The federal government, because of passage of Great Society programs, has gained enormous leverage over cities and counties. Having acquired this leverage, HUD and the Office of Education clearly intend to use it to force city- and county school boards to do what they want, irrespective of the wishes of taxpayers and school patrons.

This is the biggest threat to the public schools in the history of American education. The only way to cancel the threat is to arouse public opinion from one end of the country to another.

While parents may differ on exactly what they want in a school curriculum, the vast majority are agreed that the years spent in public school should add up to a sound educational experience. Only a tiny minority of professional protest types want the schools to be an experiment in sociology. Yet this is what the public schools of the nation will become if the political reconstructions of HUD and the Office of Education have their way.

Busing and pupil exchanges are programs which cut across the grain of education. The former means wasting time, otherwise available for instruction, to delivery of students to classrooms so that the composition of classes will be in accord with what some sociologist or liberal politician believes is ideal. Pupil exchanges means breaking up the neighborhood school concept which has been so successful in the United States.

A school isn't an abstract proposition. It is a part of a community and a mirror of that community's values. Understandably, some schools are better than others. The reason is that some communities have a higher percentage of responsible, self-reliant, enterprising parents. To impose busing and pupil exchanges means to introduce a leveling process in school. In other words, children from good blue-collar and white-collar homes will be dumped into slum neighborhoods. Children from slums will be placed in schools where personal and family standards are high. One can be sure what will happen: those with the highest standards will suffer.

No federal agency has a right to engage in this kind of experiment in leveling. Schools were created to teach, not to introduce socialist concepts of association. It is essential, however, that responsible parents become aroused and demand that Washington halt its sabotage of the schools.

FREEDOM NEEDS YOU

Many things are happening throughout the world which endanger the life of our Republic. It is wholesome for the individual to recognize these occurrences, however incredible they may seem. Many things are wrong and it is important that each person decide what he can do to save individual initiative, and begin to act accordingly.

The winning of any victory is a stimulant, making it easier to win another. The battle to destroy liberty is grim and ceaseless; to maintain liberty we must equal the enemy's diligence but be joyous.

Nearly all USA citizens are anti-communists and anxious to know what to do to preserve our nation's sovereignty. These are a few of the ways:

Never go to sleep at night without having spent at least 10 minutes that day in behalf of Christianity and Freedom. If freedom's minutes are overlooked, telephone others, asking that they join the 10-minute crusade until you "balance out" and are on schedule. Ten minutes may seem too little for effective accomplishment, but if two-thirds of our population do this, it would total 20 million hours per day for Christianity and Freedom daily, saving our Churches and our Freedom.

Never consider Freedom work burdensome or demanding great sacrifice. The concept of freedom is joyous and maintaining it can be sheer delight. Find what you can best do for Freedom and do it with a glad heart.

The good Christian seeks to win others; true patriots must be zealous to win others to the cause of saving our personal liberties. Faith and Freedom go together and belong to each other. The enemy of one is deadly to the other.

Be optimistic, cheerful, confident of yourself and the righteousness of your cause. Friends of freedom must avoid the reputation of being tired, discouraged complainers. Many situations appear gloomy, but the promise of Freedom, and Faith in God, are infinitely rewarding.

A thought for the day—American author Washington Irving once said: "A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Since 1953, the U. S. Weather Bureau has adopted four alphabetically arranged sets of girls' names which it uses to identify hurricanes in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico. The names on the lists are repeated once they have been completely used, says The World Almanac. The name of any major hurricane that has seriously affected the United States is dropped for 10 years and another name substituted. Since there is a scarcity of girls' names beginning with Q, X, Y, and Z, these letters are omitted.

FOR THURSDAY, MAR 23
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when one can combine the use of much energy in delightful ways with a chance to have a very good and happy party in the day, make appointments with those you like the most to get off to fun or creative places and make much "hay" while the sun shines.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Getting your finest ideas to the attention of big-figs is relatively easy today and you do them have a fine time from the special angle. Assist a younger person who comes to you for help. This could be a matter of advice only.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Concentrating upon being more successful in whatever is your current project is fine, but you have to elevate your consciousness. Ask those at home for whatever are your particular aims. Be courteous, not demanding.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Ideal day to converse with those who can assist you in furthering your career, ambitions. Also good for buying clothing, other articles you need. Garner the information you need. New sources are available.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Anything you are concentrating on that will increase your income ethically is fine now. Think along more expansive lines — don't be so petty about small amounts. Use the new system that could be infinitely more workable.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Forget that easy chair and get out to places and with people where you can make your money grow, be vitally interested in the news, etc. You advance via social channels as well. Others appreciate your abilities.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — All that mental energy should be channeled along broader lines and conditions, situations viewed in their right perspective. You have excellent vision. Don't permit others to dissuade you from your aims.

LIBRA: (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — One who has generously will extend fine favors you desire, but be sure you do not offend the pride that is so much a part of his or her nature. Then out socially. State your aims to fine contacts possible there.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Go directly to that bigwig who can give you excellent ideas how best to commercialize on your finest talents. Follow them to the letter. Make appointment with one who has the power to open a very important door to opportunity for you. Talk seriously.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — New ideas and matters of policy should be studied carefully since they can catapult you to success, if handled in a positive manner. Find that information you need. Go to new sources not tapped before.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You can handle those obligations much more easily now, so get right at them and get approval of mate, who is some what discouraged. Make sure you get government affairs in order first. Be safe, wise.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You have some idea you want to put in motion, but it is best you first get approval of an associate or two, and you can then coordinate efforts to a successful working arrangement. Be practical in all matters, especially those that arise in a m.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Adding touches of color and beauty around you is fine, and this could include a charming mate, if you do not have one. Make sure your health is good. Take any small treatment that may be necessary.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...
 he or she will be a young person who will have a natural way of impressing others and get results desired. Be sure to encourage in the academic aptitudes that are in this fine nature, and plan to send to college. Your progeny can also make money at some hobby, such as music, if which he or she can be very adept. Send your child to church, although he may be a bit stubborn in going.
