

Astronauts Flown North For Burial

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The bodies of America's first three Apollo astronauts were taken into the sky today on their last flight to resting places among the nation's heroes.

Under cloudless skies and within sight of launch pad 34 where they perished in a flash fire Friday, the flag-draped caskets of Lt. Col. Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom, 40, Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, 36, and Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee, 31, were borne to a blue, white and silver C135B military jet transport.

The huge jet took off from the "skid strip" in the Cape launch area at 9:23 a.m. CST and was landed at Andrews Air Force Base, Washington at 11:15 p.m. CST.

Dressed in their military uniforms, Grissom and Chaffee will be buried at Arlington National Cemetery on Tuesday, and White at the U.S. Military Academy cemetery at Highland Falls, N.Y.

Memorial services for the dead spacemen were held in Texas today and Sunday.

A minor mishap nearly marred the final departure of the astronauts from the Cape. A tractor-towed yellow trailer containing a generator to supply electric power to the plane turned over directly in front of the plane. The incident occurred while the transport was standing on the skid strip, several minutes before the arrival of the caskets.

The trailer was quickly moved away and the spot washed down with water.

Honor guards of pallbearers watched in silence as the caskets were borne aboard the C135B, but there were no formal ceremonies at the skid strip.

After the caskets were aboard, the hearses pulled slowly away. The bearers stepped back to the visitors area and stood at attention as the plane wheeled around. The pallbearers were led by Maj. Gen. Vincent Huston of the Air Force, Dr. Kurt Debus of the Apollo program, and Gemini astronaut Frank Borman.

The huge plane roared down the strip and off into the bright blue sky, leaving behind the sorrowful space men at the Cape to pursue their investigation of the tragedy.

The Apollo 1 astronauts were to have left the Cape Feb. 21 atop a powerful Saturn 1 rocket to inaugurate the manned phase of the nation's $23 billion drive to land men on the moon this decade.

But the ball of fire Friday night that turned their spacecraft cabin into an "apalling" gutted shell covered with ash and debris shattered those plans and dealt Project Apollo a severe blow.

Just how damaging the tragedy was to the moon program's timetable has yet to be determined. A nine-man board of inquiry is trying to pinpoint the source of the spark that ignited the oxygen-laden capsule during the routine launch pad test. The panel's findings should determine the impact on the project's immediate future.

After more than two and a half days of investigation, there were no indications that the board had located the cause. But speculation was becoming rampant and most of it centered on the ship's electrical system.

The U.S. space agency refused to confirm or deny any of the reports.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration added to the confusion by issuing conflicting statements as to whether or not the spacecraft was using its own power at the time of the accident. NASA at the Cape said firmly that it was not, but NASA at Houston backed up a statement by Maj. Gen. Samuel Phillips, program manager, that it was.

Once-Trusted Baker Faces Jail Term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, once the trusted confidant of some of the nation's most powerful men, today faced the prospect of going to jail as a convicted thief and tax cheat.

A U.S. District Court jury, after deliberating 7 hours and 20 minutes, found him guilty Sunday morning on charges of tax evasion, larceny, and fraud carrying a maximum penalty of 48 years in prison and a $47,000 fine. He will be sentenced at a later date.

The three-week trial of the former Senate Democratic secretary — a one-time assistant to President Johnson — came to a tense climax when jury Foreman James M. Buchanan seven times declared Baker guilty as charged by the government.

Except for a paleness of face, the 38-year-old Baker showed little outward emotion as Buchanan recited him guilty.

His attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said he would appeal the verdict "all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary."

Baker joined his wife and walked quickly from the courtroom without comment.

In essence, they had decided that the former Capitol Hill insider had "willfully" evaded paying more than $21,000 in income taxes in 1961 and 1962; had stolen most of $100,000 collected as campaign funds from California savings and loan sources in 1962, and had defrauded the government in 1963 and 1964 through a conspiracy with Washington lobbyist Wayne L. Bremley and former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clifford Jones.

of Roy D. Payne of Austin, director of field operations for the Texas Railroad Commission.

Payne was in Pampa today on a routine visit and conferred with Jack O. Miller, district supervisor for the commission in the Panhandle.

One of the best indicators for the local field, according to Payne and Miller, is the fact that for every lease available for sale in the old Panhandle field there are five potential buyers.

Payne was a guest at the January meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this noon at which a panel discussion was scheduled on the production potential of the Panhandle field.

Miller was one of the panelists and Payne was expected to be available for a short question and answer period.

Miller pointed out this forenoon that the Panhandle field still has a production of 100,000 barrels of oil daily.

The local commission supervisor also reported he had a committee of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Association met last week with Railroad Commission engineering, research and production representatives in Austin to work out details of the proposed revision of the Panhandle oil allowable schedule format.

Their proposal is to be presented to the Railroad Commission and an open hearing probably will be set, Miller stated.

Payne commented on a recent hearing in Austin which considered a proposal for a statewide "no-pit" order which would eliminate earthen pits for the storage of salt water and brine.

Payne said 12 of the 26 counties in the Panhandle field, already are under the no-pit order. Of the remaining 14 counties only five are in production. These counties are Childress, Collinsworth, Potter, Oldham (See OUTLOOK, Page 3)

Indonesian President Arrested by Soldiers

Students Demand Sukarno's Removal

JAKARTA (UPI) — Steel-helmeted soldiers with automatic weapons today surrounded the palace of President Sukarno as about 40,000 students marched through the city to demand his removal from office. There were signs Sukarno was under virtual house arrest.

Voters Have Only One Day Left For Registration

With only one day remaining, Gray Countians were beginning to indicate interest in their city, county, state and national politics by registering to vote in elections called this year.

Approximately 9,000 persons had registered as of this morning, according to Jack B. A. C. Gray County tax assessor.

Gray County's peak registration in other years totaled between 10,000 and 11,000, a total far short of its potential.

Registration booths have been set up in both banks, First National and Citizens Bank and Trust. Voters may come to the first floor tax assessor's office in the courthouse or applications may be mailed in as long as they show a pre-midnight postmark on Jan. 31.

Registration is free under the new voters' registration law passed last year.

Voters will have their first opportunity to exercise their balloting privilege on April 1 when they elect a mayor and four city councilmen, and again on April 4 in a school board election.

Troops loyal to Indonesian strongman Gen. Suharto erected barbed-wire barricades at all palace entrances and relieved pro-Sukarno guards and marines at sentry boxes. They took positions around the square across from the palace in downtown Jakarta while the student demonstrators marched past 20 abreast. Three armored personnel carriers stood near the palace gates.

The students, clad in tight guerrilla jackets and waving banners, handed out leaflets along their five-mile route through Jakarta's main streets. The leaflets called Sukarno "a Peking dog... mastermind-puppeteer of the 1965 abortive Communist coup" and demanded he be removed from office "as soon as possible."

The students' ranks were swollen by civilian-garbed Special Forces troops packing side arms under their jackets. This was interpreted by observers as a green light from Suharto for student action against Sukarno.

It was the biggest student turnout since last October when Indonesia's militantly anti-Communist youths marked the first anniversary of the abortive coup.

The military power display was ostensibly to insure order during the student demonstration. It was also possible the deployment was the prelude to the long-expected armed forces move to oust the moon-faced Sukarno from the presidency.

All telephone communication with the palace was cut off by the military.

Sukarno was not observed returning from his weekend palace at Bogor, 40 miles south of Jakarta, but palace guards told UPI he had returned at 8:45 a.m. local time today (7:30 p.m. CST Sunday).

Inside Parliament, student leader C. Nainggolan told members the military tribunal was the only way to "dispose of Sukarno. (He) is trying to maintain his position by any means, even if this means putting aside the constitution."

Second Snowfall Staggers Midwest

CHICAGO (UPI) — Midwest residents who strained resources and backs to clear away just a semblance of a record, community-isolating snow storm, awoke today to find more snow on the ground.

The new snow, gentle compared to the million-dollar monster which struck a life-stalling blow at northern Illinois, northern Indiana and southern Michigan, began Sunday.

An additional three inches of snow fell on Chicago Sunday, even as city, county and state crews struggled to make roads ready for this morning's rush-hour traffic.

The new fall ran the snow depth in the Chicago area to an even two feet. More snow, on a hit-or-miss basis, was forecast for today.

An inch of new snow fell on South Bend and Fort Wayne, Ind., in a six-hour period ending today. Two inches fell at Dayton, Ohio and scattered flurries prevailed from the

Legislators Take Up State Employee Pay Hike Again

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Legislators from Austin planned to take up the banner in the House today for an immediate pay raise for state employees.

They planned to seek House approval of a Senate-passed resolution asking Gov. John Connally to declare the matter an emergency.

The Travis county delegation, put in an embarrassing position by Austin Sen. Charles Herring's unilateral sponsorship of the pay raise, declined to say exactly what they intended to do. But other sources in the planning said they would try to amend the request to include thousands of hourly workers excluded from Herring's bill.

Pending in the Senate is another spending measure, Connally's request for a $5.5 million appropriation for HemisFair. Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris has not set the bill for hearing by his finance committee.

Legislators expected to get Connally's tax message some time this week, although a spokesman for Connally said the timing was not definite.

Aircraft Losses Up in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. military officials disclosed today that American aircraft losses in the Vietnam war have been greater than reported in the past. The disclosure left the actual cost of the U.S. air war in doubt.

A spokesman for the Military Assistance Command in Vietnam (MACV) said that not all American aircraft losses are included in the latest "official" total of 618 U.S. planes shot down in North and South Vietnam. It was explained for the first time that the total included only "combat type" aircraft.

The MACV spokesman said at least 38 U.S. aircraft have not been included in the official releases, until this week reported as "fixed wing aircraft losses" in Vietnam. The 38, spokesmen said, included only the losses of non-combat

Space Groups Feel Apollo Must Go On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top ranking members of the Senate and House space committees agreed today that the Apollo moon-landing program must go on, despite the fiery death of three astronauts.

Both Chairman Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., of the Senate committee and Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., of the House panel indicated they would wait for completion of a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) investigation before deciding whether to launch their own inquiries.

"There may be some things we desire to ask after NASA's investigation is over. If they leave some things out, we will probably have an investigation," Anderson said. "Nothing is definite at this point, however."

Miller said if the NASA investigating board's report is "clear cut" there would be no need for a further inquiry.

But Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., who is not a member, indicated he felt the Senate Space Committee should investigate the tragedy.

"I don't know what to make of NASA's statement that they expected something like this to happen at some time," Dirksen said.

Senate Hearings On Commitments Overseas Begin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee launches a new round of hearings on U.S. overseas commitments today, but the opening was marred by sharp criticism from a former member of the panel.

George F. Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Russia and Yugoslavia and an architect of America's post-war policy of containment, was called to testify on the Communist world. The hearings were billed by the committee as a study of "the responsibilities of the United States as a great power."

But Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., a former committee member, said that if the hearings produced new criticism of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, "this will harden the resolve of the Communists... and result in more casualties to our boys."

The committee's hearings last year, at which Kennan also testified, produced sharp criticism of the administration's Vietnam policies.

But the new hearings were expected to center on a board spectrum of U.S. commitments. Edwin O. Reischauer, former ambassador to Japan, was scheduled to testify Tuesday on "Asia, the Pacific and the United States."

Sen. George D. Aiken, Vt., second ranking Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Sunday he anticipates a "phasing out" of the Vietnam war before the 1968 elections.

But another member of the Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., was not as optimistic. Morse said he fears the administration will escalate the war still further in hope of "forcing a surrender."

Morse, once again urged Johnson to "stop our unilateral course of action in Vietnam."

"You can't bomb them off the face of the earth and you can't wishfully think them off the face of the earth," Morse said.

Reds Ban Chinese Lunar Celebration

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Communist Chinese cabinet has banned celebration of the lunar new year, one of the last surviving vestiges of pre-revolutionary China, Peking Radio reported today.

The ban came after railroad workers in Peking warned that opponents of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung were planning to use the holiday to disrupt transportation throughout the nation.

The start of the new year Feb. 9 will also be the start of school for elementary and junior school children, Peking Radio said. The children, who have been out of school since last June, will go back to an academic diet of the works of Mao and a few scientific books, the broadcast added. University and high school students, the core of the Red Guards, were not affected by the order.

In other official broadcasts from the Chinese capital, it was reported that:

—Maoist forces took control of Tsingtao, a major naval base in Shantung province, from which they planned to take over the entire province.

—Opponents of Mao were sending large numbers of peasants into Shanghai in an effort to regain control of the city.

—Red Guards burned Yugoslav President Tito in effigy during an eight-hour demonstration outside the Yugoslav Embassy. The demonstration was apparently in retaliation for a minor attack on the Chinese Embassy in Belgrade last week.

—Japanese correspondents in Peking, meanwhile, reported that armed rebels in strategic Sinkiang province were still offering stiff resistance to Maoist forces, with the center of their power in the city of Shih Ho Tzu. The rebels, who reportedly include large numbers of troops, were negotiating with loyal troops sent against them, wall-posters in Peking said.

—The ban on the lunar new year celebrations was bound to encounter resistance in the countryside where old customs are deeply rooted. The holiday is the most cherished of the Chinese celebrations and is traditionally a time for feasting and gift giving.

Dear Abby....

'Thrifty' Sister Is Not Very Bright

DEAR ABBY: I have an older sister who is a bit on the thrifty side. I should say "cheap" — but, after all, she is my sister. She married late in life and her husband passed her a nice bundle. She keeps it hidden somewhere. She won't put it in the bank where it can draw interest because she doesn't want anyone to know how much she's got. She could live like a queen, but she denies herself luxuries because she hates to part with money. All she talks about is the sales the stores are having. She never entertains because it costs too much, so of course she has no friends. How can I get her to realize she can't take it with her?

HER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: You can't. But you should tell her that if she plans to take it with her, she'd better put it in the bank before someone finds the hiding place and takes it with him.

DEAR ABBY: Some of my relatives and I are having a disagreement. They say that cigarette smoking stunts a person's growth. I say it doesn't. I have an uncle who stands 6 feet tall and he has been smoking since the age of 14, so I think I am right. What do you think?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Your relation is Flattering Satin Turbans. Nothing is as exciting as a glow of satin. When placed on the head it beautifully lights the face. Most flattering are the small, head-hugging, draped turbans in exquisite shades of emerald, cerise, white or black. There's a jewel-tone color to match any of your party costumes.

Sun Hasn't Much To Do With Shades

NEW SUNGLASSES STYLES also provide protection. At left is a new wraparound. Frame at right has a no-nonsense, classic shape. Both are by Riviera.

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Once upon a time, the man who wore sunglasses on a gloomy street in mid-January or in the back room of a restaurant was either blind or an actor.

Shades are now a fashion thing, it seems, because eagle-eyed nonactors will wear them even at the drop of a raindrop and when the sun is resting comfortably on the other side of the world.

Yet most folks are wary of the public figure who dares to don dark glasses. Observers are not likely to blame the political demise of Carmine DeSapio, once the powerful boss of New York's Tammany Hall, on his tinted glasses (which he wore because of an eye defect), but the shades didn't help his image much.

Sunglasses worn whimsically smack of phoniness. It's difficult to remain on comfortable terms with a man — or woman, even — who insists on blanking out his eyes.

Aside from pseudo-sophistication, there doesn't appear to be any decent reason why sunglasses are worn when sun and glare are not present. On the other hand, there are plenty of good reasons for shades to be worn in harsh sunlight.

The retina can be damaged when exposed to the direct rays of the sun. This is especially true on the ski slopes and the beach.

But there are sunglasses and there are sunglasses. Some sell for as much as $20 a pair and the lenses are not ground to prescription. You can buy others for as little as 29 cents from the neighborhood notion or drugstore. These may look neat on the face but they aren't particularly useful.

In buying sunglasses you should make sure the lenses do not let through a large amount of infrared light. Most plastic lenses transmit the optimum 16-20 per cent of visible light, has low distortion, good color neutrality and low transmission of infrared and ultraviolet.

Once you decide on the right lens, you might think about style. The wrap-around, Italian-influenced frames remain as popular as ever, as do the wire-framed Air Force types.

"Granny glasses," those dinky little things, really look stupid and don't really cover the eye as they must be effective.

ODDMENTS, USEFUL AND

OTHERWISE: Let it not be said that men's fashions are still in the dark ages. Ruben Torres, the Paris designer who really thinks ahead — like 40 years or so — has produced what he calls a "jet and space suit" which looks as if it were influenced by those old Buck Rogers movies. There's a helmet which matches the "suit" — a close-fitting, lapelless jacket, trousers of stretch fabric worn tucked into the boots. February's Gentlemen's Quarterly goes on and on about it.

There'll be a novelty on the beaches this year, if the Jantzen people are successful in promoting a swim trunk they call the "Smoggy." It's a translucent nylon trunk lined with a bright printed cotton twill. The veiled effect changes a bold black-and-yellow lining to a sky blue which is intensified when the trunks are wet. Super.

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: The teacher keeps telling me my son is doing well in school — "for a boy." I'm tired of her insinuations that boys are second-rate students. Are they?

MOTHER OF MALE

ANSWER: Spoken in generalities, yes. You can't fight nature, which puts the average boy about a year behind the average girl in the sixth grade. During the early school years, boys outnumber girls in reading and speech problems. Their attention spans are usually shorter, their visual perception poorer, and they have more trouble conforming to school routines.

The question of sex differences in learning and teaching abilities was raised in the November 1966 issue of "National Elementary Principal," official publication of the Department of Elementary School Principals of the NEA. According to educators and psychologists featured, our schools should recognize and do something about the problem.

For one thing, boys need more male teachers in elementary school. Too many women do not understand them. Getting men to enter the field, however, is difficult. Unfortunate people feel that adult males who enjoy small children are "sissies."

I could expand further on boys vs. girls in school. But this will clue you in on why your son's teacher qualified her words of praise.

As for my own feeling — vive la difference!

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I'm a working mother. Yet whenever my children so much as break

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD

The Panhandle weather surprised everyone by providing an ideal evening for delegates and guests attending the annual meeting of the Quivira Girl Scout council on Friday. Delegates and guests attended from all three districts of the council representing Girl Scout troops in their area. Council goals for the year were discussed, changes in by-laws voted upon and board members and nominating committee installed in their respective offices. Presentation of awards and certificates were made in appreciation of interest and support of Girl Scouting to several persons for their "added, special efforts during the past year."

Prudence Skelly, Pampa's Girl Scout personified; told of her opportunity to attend "All States Encampment" last summer. Leaders should contact Prudence for more information...she is eager to share her knowledge of this experience. An enthusiastic and capable camper, Prudence is an excellent example for the younger Girl Scout troop members.

Kay Ann Porter, Shamrock, reported about the Citizenship Conference which she and Janice Easley, Phillips, had attended.

Mrs. Bob Covington, Shamrock, our council's Pied Piper and her troop of Girl Scouts provided a delightful program portraying the need for sister troops for Girl Scouts to enter upon completion of their present level. The cry for "help" of a Pampa Brownie Troop 18 was answered by their sister Scouts.

"Follow the Pied Piper" will soon be heard from all the Scouting troops across the nation.

Brownie Troop 35, Mrs. H. F. Trimble, leader; Mrs. James Braxton and Mrs. Jimmy Tucker, assistant leaders conducted a most impressive Investiture ceremony with 13 little girls becoming Brownies, using the Magic Pool and a color scheme of green and gold. A table cloth with the Brownie Pin emblem and troop number in green on a gold background displayed the magic pool. This was made especially for the occasion by Mrs. Braxton.

Parents were invited and served punch and cookies. Those receiving pins were: Twila Trimble, Kelly Tucker, Janice Braxton, Teresa Griggs, Mary Hagemann, Bambi Hacker, Terri Graham, Dana Kent, Carol Peeples, Reba Vaughn, Joe Ann Sloan, Ann Henderson and Peggy Selvey.

This is a new Brownie troop from Woodrow Wilson School. A mother's meeting will be held Tuesday, 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Harold Moore, 301 Anne. This is a new Brownie troop being organized at Baker School for second and third grade girls. Mrs. T. M. Whiteley, field adviser and Mrs. J. S. Silcott will attend this meeting to explain the Scouting program.

In case the date has slipped the leaders mind, cookie orders are due and should be in the office by tomorrow at the very latest.

Shimmering Hase In the evenings, when you want your legs to glitter, slip into a pair of shimmer hose. They can be purchased in either silver or gold as well as many petal shades. They come in two styles for your comfort...as tights or regular hose. They make marvelous gifts.

Twentieth Century Forum Members Observing Series of Guest Days

Twentieth Century Forum Club met recently in the home of Mrs. J. R. Holloway in one of a series of guest days, planned to show the workings of a regular meeting. Guests welcomed included Mrs. Mack Hiatt Jr., Mrs. David Holt, Mrs. Jim Carman and Mrs. Kenneth Reeves.

Mrs. Donald Hauck, president, tendered her resignation and was presented a gift in appreciation of her service. Mrs. Hauck is moving with her family to Richardson. Mrs. John Sweeney will assume the president's office for the remaining term. The program was presented by Mrs. M. McDaniel, who discussed "Danish Architecture From the Stone Age Period to Present Day Building." She said "The Stone Age 'doimans,' which are found all over Denmark, are frames of stone around one or more tombs. They are considered perfectly designed architectural works."

"With the formation of the Danish realm in 800 A.D., construction of public buildings began. This was the age of the great Viking raids, which, according to Danish historians, were an attempt at colonizing. Christianity was brought to Denmark by the Vikings, thus beginning the building of numerous churches. In the period from 1095 to 1103 the churches were decorated with a primitive sculpture and, inside, the splendid murals were in the Byzantine style. Many of these are still in good condition and can be seen in use over the old Danish realm.

"In the 12th and 13th Centuries the Danes became deeply influenced by European culture which is seen in the many churches and convents built during this time.

"Under Christian IV, who ruled from 1596 to 1648, great progress was made. He is referred to as their 'builder king' and many of the palaces and public buildings were constructed during his reign. He personally was the architect of many of them and Dutch Renaissance was his preferred style. Christian IV is quite popular in the memory of Denmark today and his statues and crest, and C and a 4 flanked by two lions, are seen everywhere," the speaker continued.

Mrs. McDaniel then told the history of Kronborg Castle at Elsinace which is the setting for Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

She concluded by saying "The influences of the Italian, Dutch and French styles of architecture were greatly felt during the 1700's and 1800's, and the 1900's brought the Neo-Classicism and Individualism into being. The present-day type of architecture is referred to as the Functional Tradition. Frank Lloyd Wright and Miss Vonder Rob have asserted a belated but quite strong influence on architecture, yet even now a 20 story skyscraper is the tallest in Copenhagen."

Mrs. McDaniel showed pictures of different phases of Danish architecture which were made when she visited Denmark recently.

Members present included Mmes. Holt Barber, Hugh Barton, Alex Dunn, Joe Franklin, Robert Harmon, Donald Hauck, Carlos Nunez, assistant Gray County Home Demonstration agent, give a talk on "4-H Contests" at a recent meeting.

David Weisber, vice president, presided over the business session at which Ted Reeves gave reports on horse and pony and livestock and Guy Turner gave a recreational report.

Randy Stubblefield, Janice Stubblefield, Casandra Mangold and Mike Bucle were welcomed as new members.

BERRY'S WORLD

FOR TUESDAY, JAN. 31
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only by exercising charm and letting others see and read you are appreciative and value whatever their problems may be. You are able to sidestep some potential argument with those who are so wrapped up in their personal anger and scheming that they feel those about are trying to negate their efforts.

ARRR: (Mar. 23 to Apr. 19) — An associate could be working for your interests alone and leave you holding the proverbial bag, so come up with some big idea of 7 or 8 and all is well. Some friendship. Don't tolerate ridicule, either.

TAKERS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Your job may seem intolerable right now but if you get good ideas from a suspect it would easily become a pleasure instead. People's public problems can be solved now easily. Take it easy tonight.

GENIUS: (May 21 to June 21) — Some fine inspirational thought can catapult you out of dull routines. But you have to be alert to opportunity around you. A benevolent appreciates your talents. Advancement can come quite easily.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Carry through with some idea that has you inspired, even though business conditions may not seem to be just right. Be more devoted to close ties. Why waste affection on those who do not deserve it. LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 22) — There are some rather strange gung-hoers around you but an associate can give right advice which you should follow. Use that fine magnetism to charm others, also. Then all is smooth sailing.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) — You require more modest system by which to operate in the days ahead, whether it be in civil or business matters. Get aside all that old-fashioned stuff. Look to cooperate for help with some practical matter.

LARNA: (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Try a little smile and a pat on the back during some difficulty that may rise up during the day and you find that tension is relieved immediately. You have a talent that needs expression. Do it now.

SOCRATES: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — There is some confusion with regard to business or personal problem that you can easily clear up if you listen to what a close tie has to say, instead of bothering with such small matters, get down to business. Get ahead.

SADIST: (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Avoid that pal who is too demanding and rely on your own fine judgment to get rid of some problem that is bothering you. Get right down to work ahead of you. Refuse to argue with anyone.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — You have excellent ideas and are thinking clearly but others around you are in difficulty, so be sure gently to give them a prodding. Show that you are a humanitarian. Your unique type of charm can delight others now.

PISCES: (Jan. 21 to Mar. 20) — You have an unusual intuition that clears up some problems in the outside world very easily, so put it to use. Follow advice of the expert who is truly one in every sense of the word. Be more active.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a remarkable quality that will endear him, or her, to others quickly, but learn early not to be so impractical and wavering from the positive promises in this chart is to be realized. There is a time to be a realist and co-operation in this chart and even fame is possible.

A total of 48 producing counties in the state are currently under the order.

"We are getting good cooperation from the oil industry," Payne said, "and the Panhandle field is one of the best we have in this respect."

The proposal to make the no-pit order statewide still is pending before the commission, Payne stated.

Commenting on the outlook for new production in the Panhandle, Miller and Payne pointed to additional activity expected in the southern part of Roberts and Hemphill and the northern part of Gray and Wheeler counties where at least two major companies hold large-scale interests.

Boy Scouts Set Electricity Merit Badge Clinic Here

As part of the observance of National Boy Scout Week, scouts from the Santa Fe and Comanche districts have been invited to participate in an Electricity Merit Badge Clinic, which will be held in the Patio Room of the First Methodist Church at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 9.

The clinic is designed to assist Boy Scouts in meeting the requirements for the Electricity Merit Badge and covers subjects which are necessary to qualify for the award, according to Gordon Lyons, SWPS district manager.

Six employees of Southwestern Public Service Co. will conduct Thursday evening's program. Brac Biggers will open the program with a discussion of the history of electricity, and advise scouts on career opportunities in the electrical field. "Fundamentals of Electricity" will be the topic of David Tucker, while Jerry King will discuss "Magnetism." Household Electricity is the subject Jake Webb will discuss, with Willard Suit leading the "First Aid and Safety" discussions and W. T. Seitz the "Projects and Diagrams." To assist further study by scouts, the company is also presenting each troop with copies of the Electricity Merit Badge pamphlet for the troop library.

Three clinics are being conducted in the Adobe Walls Council area by Southwestern Public Service Co. employees. One will be held on Monday evening, Feb. 6, at the High School Auditorium in Texhoma, and one on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7, in the David Crockett Elementary School in Borger.

According to Lyons, any scout who fails to attend the clinic on Thursday evening is encouraged to attend either one of the other two.

Ruth Page International Ballet Labeled As Outstanding Success

By JEANNE WILLINGHAM

The superb dancing and beautiful costumes of the Ruth Page International Ballet was thoroughly enjoyed Saturday evening by members of the Pampa Community Concert Association.

The very distinguished roster of dancers, mostly very young in years, but with impressive performing credits, were greeted with warmth and friendliness by the very enthusiastic balletomane from Pampa and surrounding cities. The performers responded with brilliant and inspired dancing.

The company, headed by vivacious Ruth Page, an American who has enjoyed international success both as a dancer, director and choreographer, has created some of the best-known ballets of our time.

The program opened with the second act of Tchaikovsky's most popular ballet "The Nutcracker." The version, choreographed by Miss Page, banishes the realism of the Christmas party, and concentrates on the world of fantasy and imagination.

The short version of the "Nutcracker" (affectionately named "The Mini-Nuts" by Miss Page) was climaxed by the Grand Pas de Deux with original choreography by Marius Petipa. The Sugar Plum Fairy and the Prince were danced by Guest Stars, Kirsten Simone, top ballerina and Henning Kronstam, solo dancer of the Royal Danish Ballet.

The second part of the program was a divertissement "The Dying Swan," created by Michel Fokine with music by Sain-Saens, and danced by the enchanting Prima Ballerina of the Paris Opera Ballet, Josefa Amiel. It is difficult to put into words the beauty of the movements of the arms of the lovely Miss Amiel, who dances with such classic style.

The program climaxed with the new ballet "Carmina Burana," choreographed by Miss Page with music by Carl Orff.

The principal dancers in this ballet were Dolores Lipinski, born in Detroit of Polish descent and trained in Chicago and Charles Schuck, also of Chicago.

The gorgeous new costumes and the music of the International Ballet Orchestra, directed by Neal Kayan, contributed greatly to the complete success of the Saturday performance of the Ruth Page International Ballet in Pampa.

Pampa Hoping To Break Losing Streak on 'Horns

By RON CROSS
Pampa coach Terry Culley hasn't figured it out and neither have the players. But they know something is wrong. "I don't know what all it is," Culley said, adding, "But I do know we haven't been playing nearly as well as we can or we should be. We aren't playing to get there as well as we were in the first half."

Whatever's wrong with the Harvesters they'll have a chance to do something about it Tuesday when they host Caprock in an 8 p.m. conference game in Pampa Fieldhouse. The Harvesters, losers of three straight league games and now 1-3 in second half play, beat Caprock 90-75 in the first half of the district race, but so had they beaten Plainview, Monterey and Amarillo, the three teams that have gunned them down in the last two weeks. Friday Amarillo turned the trick, 66-61 and for the first time this season Pampa's defensive average is higher than the offensive mark in conference play. The Harvesters are averaging 39 points a game in their four last half games but are giving up an average of 60 points per contest. Caprock, now 2-2 after beating Borger 71-70 Friday night, has an explosive offense, averaging 66.8 points per contest and giving up 63.9.

The Longhorns also have the league's leading scorer in 5'9 guard James Duckworth who is averaging 20.8 points per contest. In the first game, which Pampa finally won by going in front, 64-62 midway through the fourth quarter, Duckworth hit his average while 6'6 senior Jack Tracy scored 24 points and 6'2 junior Joe Jones added 11.

The Harvesters 'Big Four' of Steve Williams, Rick Foster, Bo Lang and George Bailey did the same with Williams canning 23, Foster 15, Bailey 21 and Lang the best of the night with 25 points. The Pampa Shockers, now 2-3 and winners of a tournament at Dumas Saturday night, will try to shake off the effects of a Friday night conference loss by hosting Caprock B at 6 p.m.

Rickey and Waner Picked to Baseball Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—Branch Rickey, the man who opened the door for many of baseball's greatest stars, and Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner, a banjo hitter with a loaded bat, are the latest addition to the Hall of Fame. Rickey, who died a year ago at the age of 84, and Waner, now 61 were selected for the sport's highest accolade Sunday by a unanimous vote of the 10-man veterans' committee. They will be enshrined in the Hall at Cooperstown, N.Y. in July.

Rickey never amounted to much as a player, putting in time as a catcher with the Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees, but as an executive he left an indelible mark that stamped him a giant not only in the game of baseball but in American civilization. It was the grand "Mahatma" who was responsible for breaking baseball's color line when he signed Jackie Robinson to a Montreal contract in 1946 for the Brooklyn Dodgers. Robinson was voted into the Hall of Fame in 1962.

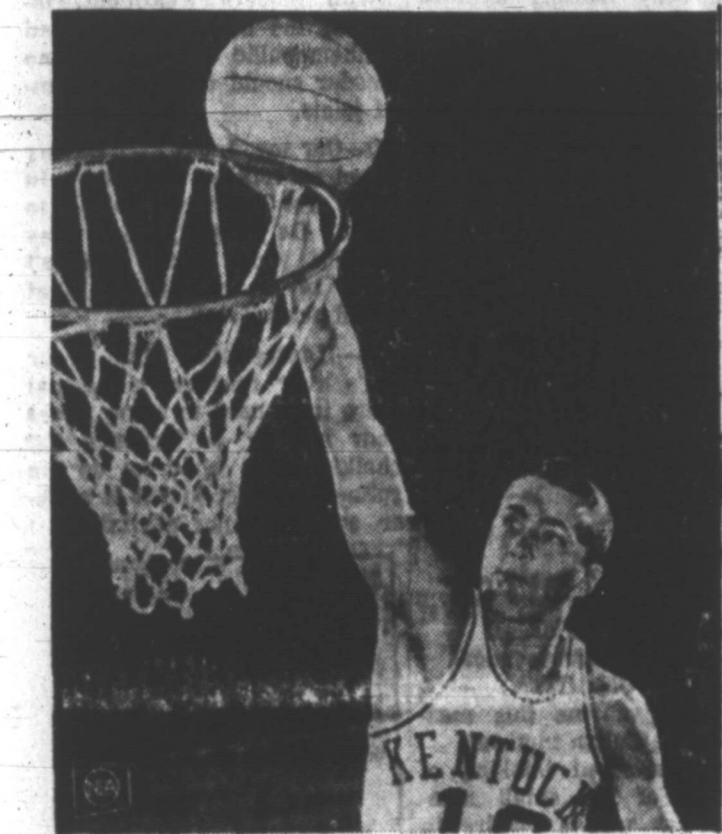

Rickey also is credited with developing baseball's farm system, which helped him build dynasties with the St. Louis Cardinals and Dodgers, and he was somewhat responsible for baseball's reluctant expansion when he threatened the organization with the creation of a new league, the Continental League.

Waner follows his late brother, Paul (Big Poison) Waner, into the Hall of Fame, marking the first such brother act in the shrine. Little Poison spent 19 years in the major leagues, most of them with his brother on the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bruins and Miners Up Season Records

By United Press International
Coach Johnny Wooden and his UCLA Bruins headed back to the warmer climate of the Pacific Coast today after making their only foray east of the Rockies a smashing success. Braving a 23-inch Chicago snow storm, the Bruins warmed up for the remainder of their AAWU Conference schedule by knocking off Loyola of Chicago 82-67 Saturday night and then bombing Illinois 120-82 in a Sunday afternoon affair rescheduled from Friday due to the storm.

Lew Alcindor scored 35 points and snared 20 rebounds against Loyola as the Bruins racked up their 16th win without a loss.

Fifth-ranked Texas Western conquered Brigham Young 85-76 in the first game of a Chicago Stadium tripleheader Saturday night. In the nightcap, Notre Dame beat Illinois 90-75, but the Illini had no idea of how dismal a weekend it would be until the following afternoon.

Alcindor Sets Record
The 7-1 Alcindor broke a Stadium mark by pumping in 21 field goals against the Big Ten club and wound up with 45 points, although leaving the game with more than six minutes left.

The Bruins, who equalled a

Stadium record for most points by one team that was set by the Illini themselves just a year ago next take on Southern Cal, a team the Uclans already have beaten twice this season, next Saturday.

Texas Western, the defending NCAA champ, upped its record to 15-2 with the win over the Cougars. The Miners jumped off to a 15-5 lead and put four men in double figures, led by Dave Lattin's 19 points.

Things expect to get even better for the Miners Wednesday when they face a so-so New Mexico State team that lost to BYU by 31 points earlier in the season.

Two of the nations top 10 were beaten Saturday. Cincinnati, hoping for a second upset of fourth-ranked Louisville next Saturday, got caught looking ahead by St. Louis, which handed the eighth-ranked Bearcats their third Missouri Valley Conference loss, 63-60.

Houston Upset
Lightly regarded Washington upset third-ranked Houston 81-78 as the Huskies, winners of only six games in 14 previous decisions, held off a late Cougar rally by converting six of seven free throws in the last three minutes.

Louisville celebrated the news that it would have highly regarded sophomore Mike Grosse next season by whipping Bradley 81-68. The Cardinals, who have only that loss to Cincinnati to blot their Missouri Valley record, scored their 16th win of the season by using a blistering fast break and getting another stellar performance from Wesley Unseld.

The 6-8 center grabbed 20 rebounds, stole the ball twice and blocked seven shots while combining with guard Butch Beard for 43 points.

Second-ranked North Carolina came back from a two-week layoff and showed apparently little after effects from the break in crushing Virginia 103-76.

Boy Scout Week

The Boy Scouts of America celebrate the 57th anniversary of their organization February 7 to 13. Today there are over five and three-quarter million scouts in the United States alone. Scouting is dedicated to teaching boys how to do things for themselves and others. Working to build friendship and understanding between the people of all countries, scout associations of 86 nations now coordinate their efforts through the Boy Scouts World Conference. Although each national association is independent in its organization and methods, the World Conference works to establish common ground in thinking and action among all its member associations. One of the major highlights of 1967 will be the Twelfth World Jamboree to be held at Farragut State Park in Idaho next August. The first to take place in the United States, it will bring together more than 15,000 scouts from 100 free nations. Although they will speak many dozens of different languages and come from widely varying religious, economic and cultural backgrounds, they will for a time share common experiences and pleasures and be united in the purpose of building world friendship.

The Road to Scarcity

In the opinion of a leading oil company executive, it does not make sense to curb productivity by curbing investment. This has been the effect of recent changes in tax laws that are supposed to help control inflation. The executive says, "To me, it is topsy-turvy economic thinking to suppose that you can really slow inflation—which is essentially an increase in the supply of money with a consequent shortage of goods in relation to dollar demand—by limiting capacity to produce the goods you need." The oil industry is an excellent example of a case where slowing investment can bring speedy and dire consequences for the simple reason that the public demand for its products continues to soar. The industry from oil field to service station has been able to meet all needs including the military for petroleum products, because it has had the vision and the ability to keep well ahead of consumer demand. This is one of the reasons why gasoline prices today — excluding taxes — are essentially at the level of ten years ago.

Gimmicks Running Out

Many people have begun to lose faith in official estimates of government spending and deficits. A new word has entered the vocabulary of government financial operations. That word is "gimmicks". Some of the gimmicks that are being used to prevent people from seeing the true picture of government spending are "seigniorage" (the profit which the government makes from minting coins), sale of "federal assets" to private investors to raise money for government's current bills, tax payment speed-ups, etc.

Preserve Freedom in U.S. Also

Shortly after last fall's election, one northern Congressman commented that candidates running for re-election from Right-to-Work states who had favored repeal of the right-to-work clause (14b) in the Taft-Hartley Act "were murdered in this election". Scores of labor-backed candidates went down to defeat and right-to-work was one of the fundamental issues contributing to their defeat. As the Carter County News-Times of Morehead City, North Carolina, notes: "In every campaign where explanation was given of the stands of the candidates, voters overwhelmingly rejected those who advocated that a person must join the union or lose his job." At a time when the people of the United States are involved in a war 9,000 miles from home to preserve the basic right of self-determination of a small nation, it is not surprising that they turned thumbs down on candidates for public office who advocate the destruction of a basic right of self-determination for the individual in our own land. The unions will hurt rath-

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

How would you like to have your wife or daughter walking around in a mini-cage? Well, at $500 each, that should be enough to throw you, but these latest examples of high fashion are really something to behold. It's actually a swiny cage strung with 1,200 rose pearls and is worn over a body stocking at such places as discotheques. It's suspended from the shoulders by pearl straps and sways with every movement of the body. The one we saw was definitely a conversation piece.

Today's smile: A Coed was on a date with a college student who knew all the answers. Finally she said to him: "Did anyone ever tell you how wonderful you are?" "No," he replied. "I don't think anyone ever did." "Well," said the coed, "I just where did you ever get the idea?"

The recent rash of housebreaks across the country has caused some headaches for the locksmiths, too. They've been hard put to it to design a lock that's "pick proof," but after much experimenting they've finally achieved success. The new "push button" lock offers about 1,000 possibilities to open. If you don't know the combination, you can try any one of the aforementioned 1,000. However, if you do, it opens easily by pushing four buttons.

Thoughts while shaving: Since Uncle Sam can't convince people they shouldn't smoke, cigarettes for health reasons, he's now trying to do the next best thing. That is to produce a cigarette that's harmless. He figures it will cost about $50 million over the next ten years to develop one. Maybe by that time most folks will be ready to give up on ciggies anyway. We were dismayed but not surprised when LBJ proposed another tax boost and disclosed another unbalanced budget of several billion. We're old enough to remember when Franklin Roosevelt conned the public about the soaring governmental debt by saying: "After all, we only owe it to ourselves." And we are the ones who have to pay for much of the foolishness in government spending. Try running your own budget at an annual deficit and see how it works. We'll bet most of the ski enthusiasts don't know the word "skid" comes from the Icelandic "skid", meaning literally a piece of wood. It's pronounced "shee" by Scandinavians. Maybe it's easier to figure out how much you spend on soap each year, but a recent business survey showed the average family uses about $40 worth of soap a year in soft water areas and close to $100 if they live in a hard water region. Things must be getting better. We haven't heard about any tantrums by Maria Callas thus far this year. The Norwalk (Conn.) BULLETIN reported in a story: "Foam laminated garments can be washed like the fabric, dipping quickly in hot water. Invert onto serving plate. Keep in freezer until serving time." Top each one with whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

'Food for Peace' Program Losing Independence, Name, One-Man Direction; Being Absorbed into State Dept.

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The once loudly fanfared Food for Peace program is being quietly metamorphosed into just another cog in the State Department's vast bureaucracy. Under a forthcoming executive order, this highly touted program, which under President Eisenhower and Kennedy was administered by a White House agency headed by a director, is to be run by a cabinet-level advisory committee in which the State Department will have the decisively controlling voice.

Not only are the staff and funds of the one-time semi-independent Food for Peace agency being swallowed up by the State Department, but it's even losing its world-known designation.

The program is being renamed "Food for Freedom." This still-unannounced retitling directly flouts congressional disapproval of such a change. Last year, in voting a two-year $7.4 billion extension of the program, Congress flatly rejected President Johnson's proposal that it be labeled "Food for Freedom."

Despite that, this is what it's called in the final draft of the executive order awaiting the President's signature.

To Senator George McGovern, D-S.D., this is "petty." He was in charge of the Food for Peace program under President Kennedy for several years, and was Senate floor leader for the renewal legislation last year. McGovern disapproved of the name change then, and still feels that way.

"Congress insisted on retaining the Food for Peace designation," he says, "and wrote it into the 1966 law. But the administration is disregarding that and is dead set on calling the program Food for Freedom. I see no reason for this. It strikes me as petty."

WHAT'S IN STORE — The executive order has been awaiting the President's consideration for at least three weeks. During this time Secretary of State Rusk and Agriculture Secretary Freeman have been arguing and maneuvering over who is to have the controlling authority in the cabinet-level "war on Hunger Policy Committee" that will boss the $7.4 billion program.

Other members of this committee are Budget Director Charles Schultz and William Gaud, head of AID, the multi-billion dollar foreign aid agency.

The inside word is that Rusk has won, and the State Department, in conjunction with AID, will determine which nations get U.S. surplus food and how much. In other words, this all-important power is to be vested in the State Department.

Only say left to the Agriculture Department is which foods will be sent.

Already, the State Department has absorbed into its bureaucratic empire the staff and funds of the Food for Peace agency.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Prompt Treatment Most Helpful to Hemophiliacs

One of the chief hazards in boys who are bleeders or hemophiliacs is painful hemorrhage into the joints. This is especially common before puberty and often leads to deformity. Prompt treatment will save these joints. Compare these two cases:

Roy called out to his parents at 10 p.m. one night that he was bleeding into his right knee. His parents took him to the nearest hospital where they arrived at 10:55. A resident doctor was summoned and he said that plasma would have to be given. It was then 11:25. When all the preparations had been made, the plasma given and the bleeding stopped, it was 12:45 a.m. Roy was admitted to the hospital where he spent the next 10 days thereby missing a week and a half of school.

Joe felt a similar hemorrhage coming on one night after he had gone to bed. His parents, who had been taught how to give plasma at home did so promptly. Ice bags and pressures were applied to the knee and to the injection site. The parents got a good night's sleep and Joe was able to go to school the next morning with less damage to his knee than was suffered by Roy.

The Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago has a hemophilia clinic that encourages this type of home treatment. The only requirement is that the parents notify them every time they give the plasma. Similar clinics in other cities are using this treatment.

A great deal of damage is done by giving pain killers containing aspirin to boys like Joe and Roy when they have these episodes involving their joints. Aspirin not only causes bleeding in the digestive tract — it also increases the bleeding time. This is often a decisive factor in producing deformity. Sodium salicylate, although closely related to aspirin, does not do this.

With modern treatment, including the newer concentrated antihemophilic globulins, no bleeder should develop deformed joints.

Q—Our son, 7, has been having bowel movements that vary in color from almost white to green. Only rarely are they normal. Our doctor doesn't seem to be concerned. What would you advise?

A—If tests show that your son's liver function is normal there is no need to worry. Does your son by any chance eat chalk? Some children do in spite of the fact that it is neither appetizing nor nourishing.

Cuban Reds Tighten Grip With Terror

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A friend has given me this message from a Cuban mother: "I am terrorized thinking of the future of my small nine-year-old son, who is the first in his class, and for this reason the Communists have made him 'Vanguard,' which means that he is responsible for seven of his school chums, to whom he must teach the history of the (Communist) Cuban Revolution and review their school work."

"The free time he used to have to talk and play with me, he now must, by force, use to indoctrinate others, and at the same time be indoctrinated himself."

"Several days ago I went to see his teacher, to explain to her what it means for a boy his age not to have one moment free. Her answer was: 'Do you want your rationing card to be taken away from you?' And since I know that we must eat, and I am afraid of being jailed, there was nothing for me to do."

"These boys under the guidance of my son who come to our home, look all around and ask lots of questions. . . It is a double job that these poor children are doing. . . they are doing their homework and spying."

"It is impossible to really know life in a country like Cuba without being there. But sometimes smuggled letters from ordinary people to their friends give some sort of a picture."

Another Cuban mother writes from Havana: "If we cannot leave the island within the next few days, we shall be forced to flee in a small boat — for otherwise my 15 year-old son will end up at the agricultural farm in Esmeralda, Camaguey Province, where the young people who do not accept the Marxist theories are sent."

Then consider this unsigned letter: "Saturday we went to Evelio's home and found him very depressed. The Communists had taken away from him his small plot of land, his few cows. . . They didn't take away his wife as well, because she didn't appeal to any of the militiamen who went there to take away his possessions."

"It is most unfair to have taken away the farm and the animals from this poor man, who has done nothing else all his life than to get up at three o'clock in the morning to milk the cows and who has been working since he was born. Now he has nothing left. . . with a sick wife and four small children."

"Recently, my wife contracted tuberculosis. She had been fooling me, telling me she was eating, while all the time she was giving her meager rations to our children, while she was starving."

"Two years ago, I lost a two-year-old baby daughter due to gastroenteritis. Nothing could be done to save her, for lack of medicines and medical knowledge."

"Just now, my youngest child, 1½ years old, is very sick. No one knows what he has. I have no right to stay here and see my family die. I must save them. Please claim me."

Hunt for Truth

By M. L. HUNT
INFLATION

The steady rise in the value of the Federal Government over the past years has been more than matched by the steady decline in the value of the American dollar. The greatest single cause of the inflation that has sapped the dollar of its purchasing power has been massive government deficit spending.

If the value of the dollar in 1939 is set at 100 cents, the value of today's dollar is just 49 cents. If the present trend continues, we could expect the 1968 dollar to be worth only 11 cents on the dollar of 1939.

But more disturbing is the fact that the process of inflation has begun speeding up in the past few months. To remedy this situation, government economists continue to recommend an increase in taxes, which is very hard to understand. If anything, increased taxes will just do more to create inflation. Higher taxes would further stimulate the growth of big government, make deficits harder to control and more likely to occur regularly, thereby speeding up inflation rather than curbing it.

The real cost of government is effectively illustrated by what would happen this year if a worker who earned $7,000 last year received a $300 pay raise. That paper raise of $300 would net the worker only an additional $12 in purchasing power; all the rest would go to higher costs of government and inflation. Higher Security taxes would take $103, the Federal income tax would take another $49, and higher state and local taxes would take $21. The higher cost of living due to inflation, for which the government is ultimately responsible, would take $115 of what is left of the worker's $300 raise.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In most countries where poisonous snake bites are a problem, antivenoms are produced for neutralizing the toxic effects of the bite. The method of preparing an antivenin involves injecting a particular venom into a horse. After a period of time, the horse becomes immune to the poison, says The World Almanac. A blood serum is then made and used for inoculation. However, no one serum has yet been developed that is effective against all venoms.

By mid-day Friday public transportation had ground to a halt. The Northern Indiana Transit Co. gave up after trying all morning to keep its buses running.

But the Artificial Ice Co. was still in business. A spokesman said, "We're open, but on a crippled basis. We don't expect to sell much ice, but some people might want some."

Q—I understand that Medicare will not pay anything on prescription medicines which I get at the drug store. Can I include the cost of these medicines as part of the $50 deductible since Medicare is not paying anything on these $50?

A—No, only the cost of services or supplies covered by Medicare can be included in the $50 deductible. Since prescription medicines are not covered by Medicare, they cannot be included in the deductible.

The foreign news outlook:

WISHFUL THINKING?
Nationalist Chinese, looking hopefully from across the Strait of Formosa, believe more of Peking's diplomats abroad may defy Mao Tse-tung. They theorize that more and more Red diplomats will refuse to be recalled to Peking for fear of being purged. According to the Nationalists, the only other choice for these diplomats is to defy Mao and gamble their future by siding up with the anti-Mao elements as their fellow diplomats did in Sudan.

LITTLE HOPE:
Despite the latest optimistic noises, Great Britain's chances for entry into the European Common Market remain very slender. Coming months will be occupied with further soundings, French President Charles de Gaulle is in no hurry to open the door he slammed on Britain four years ago. For De Gaulle the issue is chiefly political. Britain's entry into the economic community could threaten or at least impair his leadership of the continent.

FREE WHEELERS:
But from Belgium British Prime Minister Harold Wilson can expect a more enthusiastic welcome. Little Belgium has no political ambitions in the market and its free trading businessmen and Christian Democrat-Liberal government will endorse Wilson's membership plans.

PLANS AHEAD:
In Paris, speculation is growing that De Gaulle would assume emergency constitutional powers under Article 16 of the 1958 constitution allowing him to disband parliament and rule by decree if the March 5-12 general elections go against him. Sources say he will make at least two public statements warning Frenchmen he will not bow to a chamber hostile to his policies.

PHILIPPINES POLITICS:
Philippines President Ferdinand E. Marcos' legislative program, including his proposal to keep Filipino troops in Vietnam for at least another year, may be heading for rough sailing in the current 100-day session of the Congress. The issue has less to do with Vietnam than with the division of the two houses between opposing political parties. Under an alliance with the Nationalists, Marcos' Liberal party has agreed to a distribution of key chairmanships

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Missing or inaccurate social security numbers on Federal tax returns held up more refunds for Texas taxpayers last year than did anything else.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., IRS district director for Northern Texas, said Saturday that unless a tax return is properly identified by number it cannot be processed. In some cases the number can be obtained from Social Security records while in others the taxpayer must be contacted.

"Either way, any refund that may be due the taxpayer is held up until the accurate numbers are obtained," he said.

Campbell said when a joint return is filed, the social security numbers of both husband and wife are required if they each have income. If the husband is the major breadwinner of the family but the wife has a part-time job, owns stock in her own name or has her own savings account, then the wife's number must also be entered on the return. The wife's number should be listed on joint returns even though her income is less than $600.

He pointed out that the social security number is the one used in the IRS automatic data processing system to identify all transactions affecting a taxpayer's Federal Tax liability. The master file for each taxpayer account at the National Computer Center is based on this number.

"To make sure all payments are properly credited to your account and not someone else," Campbell said, "care should be taken to enter an accurate social security number."
