Nation's Drivers Safe But Texas Leads Toll

By United Press International

Texas led the nation in automobile deaths today in the New Year's holiday weekend, a tragic distinction brought on by a series of multiple-fatality highway collisions.

The highway toll surpassed the Texas Department of Public Safety's estimate that 36 persons would die on Texas highways in the holiday period.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday showed 62 violent deaths, including 40 highway fatalities. There were four fire deaths, 15 homicides and three miscellaneous fatalities.

Among the latest highway accidents was a three-fatality collision near Encinal Monday night between an automobile carrying six women to San Antonio and a pickup truck.

The dead were Mrs. Amparao Pompa of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico; Mrs. Mariana Vela Valdez of San Antonio and Mrs. Olivia Castillo of Monterrey, Mexico.

Five persons were injured, in (See TEXAS, Page 3)

By United Press International

The nation's drivers capped the bloodiest year in traffic history with the safest New Year holiday weekend in four years—safer even than a comparable non-holiday period.

The toll inched toward 450 today with the receipt of delayed reports and deaths occurring from injuries suffered hours earlier but the toll was expected to be well under the record 562 persons killed in accidents during last year's New Year's weekend.

At 8 a.m. CST, United Press International counted 415 dead in traffic with fires, plane accidents and other mishaps running the total holiday casualty count to 561.

The breakdown:

Traffic	441
Fires	53
Planes	17
Miscellaneous	60
Total	576

Texas led the nation with 40 traffic deaths. California was second with 2, followed by Michigan with 21, North Carolina, 21, New York and Illinois 19 each, and Florida 18.

Alaska, Delaware, Nevada, South Dakota and Wyoming reported no traffic deaths (See NATION, Page 3)

Two Days Late, New Year's Babe Finally Arrives

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

"I kept telling everyone we were going to have the first New Year's baby for 1967, but of course, I really didn't believe it myself," said a surprised, but happy, Mrs. Jack Atwood, 213 McCullough, as she gazed at her young son through the nursery window in Highland General Hospital this morning.

The new arrival has been named Carl Ray. He was also welcomed by his dad, who is a mechanic for Clarence Reeves' Garage, and by three big brothers, Jerry Lynn, 12, Kim, 10 and Mike, 9.

Carl Ray made his official entry into the world at 11:23 a.m. yesterday. Dr. M. Hampton was the attending physician.

Also welcoming the first baby born this year are the following merchants with the gifts they have waiting: Presto Serv-N-Planes from Lewis Hardware; Ideal baby shoes from Lad 'n Lassie; a $5 gift certificate from Dunlap's; Handcraft automatic electric eight-bottle sterilizer from Gibson's and one case of Gerber's Baby Food from Ideal Grocers.

Also, a Handcraft vaporizer from Heard and Jones Drug Store; Warner's Lycra girdle or panty-girdle from Behrman's; (See LATE, Page 3)

Reds Reject British Peace Talk Plans

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist North Vietnam today rejected Britain's peace talk offer and reiterated its demand the Viet Cong be included in any negotiations.

The Viet Cong "is the only genuine representative of the South Vietnamese people," North Vietnam said in a Hanoi radio commentary on British Foreign Secretary George Brown's peace proposal.

An official North Vietnamese news agency broadcast monitored here called Brown "America's speaker" and said the call for the United States, South and North Vietnam to immediately start peace talks on British territory was designed to deceive world opinion.

The broadcast called the proposal a "demand."

"It was nothing new compared with the United States' terms for unconditional talks," it declared.

"The Brown peace appeal was made not only for the sake of giving help to the United States, but to evade denunciations from impartial public opinion and to deceive world opinion."

The broadcast claimed "the Viet Cong controlled 80 per cent of South Vietnam and had the support of 75 per cent of the people."

Powell Investigators to Report On Alleged Malpractices Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators report today on the alleged malpractices of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., during his chairmanship.

During three days of closed hearings, the investigators reportedly received testimony from members of Powell's committee staff that on 75 to 100 occasions over the past two years, staffers listed as having taken official trips did not, in fact, make the trips.

Powell refused to appear before the panel so the question of who made the trips will probably remain unanswered.

While the subcommittee felt that some of the practices were unethical, sources said members were not sure they were illegal.

Meanwhile, a Washington clergyman announced that a special "week" in support of Powell will begin Wednesday.

Rev. Cleveland Sparrow said Powell week will begin Wednesday night with a mass meeting in Washington's Meridian Hill Baptist Church.

He said the meeting might be "the beginning of a fundy drive" to free Powell from a $164,000 defamation of character judgment against him.

But the report is expected to be used as ammunition next week when attempts are made to either unseat Powell or strip him of his chairmanship.

Jack Ruby Loses His Fight Against Cancer

Slayer of Kennedy Assassin Is Dead

DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Ruby, the killer of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, died of cancer today in the same hospital where both President Kennedy and Oswald died three years ago.

Parkland Hospital announced that Ruby sank into a coma and died at 10:30 a.m. of the widespread cancer discovered in his body last month.

Hospital assistant administrator Peter Geilich said he had no further details. He scheduled a news conference for 2 p.m. CST.

Ruby was the last vital link with the assassination of President Kennedy, and he went to his death with controversy still swirling over the presidential murder.

One of his last acts was to deny, in a secretly made tape recording from his hospital bed, that there was any conspiracy involved in the killing of Oswald.

Members of Ruby's family were with him when he died on the seventh floor of the sprawling Dallas hospital.

His sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, came out of the room and told a reporter: "Jack is dead."

Justice of the Peace W. E. Richburg was summoned to the hospital to pronounce Ruby dead.

Ruby died on a chilly windy winter morning. It was a hot, muggy day in Dallas when Oswald was killed with a single shot from Ruby's 8-caliber revolver—two days after Oswald killed the president with a high-powered rifle from the sixth floor of the Texas Schoolbook Depository Building.

Ruby was reported conscious and still alert Monday. "He just went to sleep" today, a hospital source said.

Ruby, who shot Oswald in full view of millions on television on Nov. 24, 1963, was once convicted and sentenced to death for the crime. But the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals last Oct. 5 reversed the conviction and sentence.

The court ordered a new trial, and it was scheduled to be held in Wichita Falls, Tex., some time this year.

Ruby's attorneys last week asked that he be given a lie detector test on his contention that there was no conspiracy involved in the killing of Oswald. But the request was turned down because authorities said the drugs he was taking (See RUBY, Page 3)

Castro Says War Expert Will Turn Up

MIAMI (UPI)—Cuban guerrilla warfare expert Ernesto (Che) Guevara, missing from the island for almost two years, can be expected to turn up "any day now where Yankee imperialism least expects him," according to Premier Fidel Castro.

But the Cuban chief, in a lengthy Havana speech Monday marking his eight anniversary in power, once again failed to give any specifics about the Argentine-born Guevara's whereabouts.

He cryptically compared Guevara's supposed future reappearance with the Egyptian myth of the "Phoenix which was reborn from its own ashes."

Since Guevara dropped out of sight in March 1965, Castro has consistently employed only vague and guarded language in referring to him. Mention of Guevara's name Monday drew prolonged applause by the throngs in the plaza.

Successful Pilots 'Looking for MIGs'

SAIGON (UPI)—The air battle over North Vietnam in which American pilots shot down seven MIG21 jets without loss marked the first time of the war U.S. planes have deliberately set out to destroy Hanoi's air force, the U.S. Air Force commander in Vietnam said today.

Gen. William Momyer, the commander of the U.S. Air Force, stopped short of calling the battle an escalation of the war, but he said it was the first blow aimed primarily at crippling the MIG fleet recently reinforced by planes from the Soviet Union.

He also confirmed the jets shot down were the most sophisticated planes in the Communist arsenal—sleek, delta-winged planes capable of speeds of 1,500 miles per hour and armed with the latest Russian electronic gear and air-to-air missiles.

In the past the American pilots have shot at Communist

MIGs only when directly challenged. They have never bombed enemy air bases although raids have been directed at a big oil supply dump where the MIG's draw their fuel for the defense of Hanoi.

Col. Robin Olds, a World War II fighter ace and former West Point football star, the mission leader, said, "this time we went looking for MIGs."

No air strikes over North Vietnam were reported today but B52 Strategic bombers carried out devastating attacks against Communist troop build-ups in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and to the south near Hue.

The MIGs were downed in a 122-minute dogfight on the outskirts of Hanoi Monday on the first mission American jets had flown with the primary mission of challenging Communist planes. No American planes were reported lost in the battle, which dealt a serious blow to North Vietnam's fledgling air force.

Cuban Exile 'Army' Seized In Florida

MARATHON, Fla. (UPI)—Federal officers and local police swooped down on a beach house late Monday night to break up a planned invasion by exiled Cubans, Haitians and American soldiers of fortune bent on overthrowing Haiti President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier.

Authorities said about 120 men and a woman quartermaster, led by an exiled Catholic priest dressed in khaki, were preparing to shove off for Haiti from an inlet at Coca Plum Beach in the Florida Keys, about 110 miles south of Miami.

Custom agents seized an old fishing boat, and an arsenal of machine guns, some as large as 50 caliber, homemade bombs, rifles and other weapons, 120,000 rounds of ammunition and three tons of explosives. They also looked for an "air force" of five planes the would-be invaders claimed to have and a "navy" of two other vessels.

Customs agents arrested 21 of the men and rushed them to the Monroe County Jail at Key West, 51 miles away, where they were undergoing fingerprinting and questioning early today.

They were arrested after an ugly confrontation that at least one officer feared would turn into a riot.

Monroe County Sheriff Reace Thompson said the 21 were arrested after demanding "either arrest us or turn us loose."

Customs agents said they were not sure what charges would be pressed against the men but that they would be arraigned later today before U.S. Commissioner William V. (See FLORIDA, Page 3)

Safety Standards Cannot Be Met By Ford or G.M.

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. told the federal government today its 1968 model cars could not meet five of the government's proposed safety standards.

Ford was the second big auto maker to complain that some of the standards were impossible to meet. General Motors Corp., the industry leader, told the government Saturday it could not meet five of the standards.

But the two big firms agreed on only three standards as allegedly impossible to meet, including one specifying not a car should protect its occupants from injury in case of a wreck.

"We believe that some of the provisions of these proposed standards are arbitrary, unreasonable or impracticable," Bill Scott, Ford automotive safety director, said in a letter to Dr. William Haddon Jr., administrator of the National Traffic Safety Agency. Congress established the agency to administer a new law giving the government power to set up mandatory safety standards for cars.

Ford said "the great majority" of its 1968 models could conform to 10 of the 23 standards proposed by Haddon. It said Ford cars could meet seven other proposed standards if the government would accept changes in "detailed specifications or the test procedures that we believe will be no substantial (See SAFETY, Page 3)

Israel, Syria Exchange Blame

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Israel today accused Syria of deliberately stirring up trouble on their border where two straight days of gun battles punctured a month of relative calm.

Each side said the other started Monday's fighting. The Syrians claimed they destroyed three Israeli outposts after Israelis opened fire on Syrian shepherds and farmers working near the border.

The Israelis said Syrian soldiers entered the demilitarized zone at Khorazim but were driven back by Israeli automatic weapons fire. They said half an hour later two Syrian tanks, identified as Russian-built SU100s, opened fire on an Israeli position just north of Almagor and dropped 22 shells on Israeli territory in a 20-minute exchange. One Israeli soldier was reported injured by shrapnel.

Syrians and Israelis exchanged automatic weapons fire Sunday on the southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee. The Israelis claimed the Syrians started the clash by firing at Israeli tractors working in a field.

Mideast tension remained high elsewhere. Cairo newspapers charged monarchist Jordan was planning sabotage operations against socialist neighbor Syria.

FOR NEEDED REVENUE

Surtax Proposed by Economist

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the President's former economic advisers today offered the administration a tax increase proposal that could keep open the options President Johnson favors.

Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, proposed a kind of tax on taxes to be effective July 1 when the economic growth threatened to turn into a recession. Heller said, the tax increase could be withheld and its further deflationary impact avoided.

The increase he proposed is a surtax or a levy against the amount of taxes paid by individuals or corporations. In November, he recommended a surtax of about 5 per cent.

This means that if an individual paid $100 in taxes, the surtax would require him to pay an additional $5.

This approach could also have appeal to Congress, Heller said, for while the economic case for an increase is weakening, "the political case seems to grow stronger."

Forecasting huge budgetary deficits for 1967 and 1968, Heller said the additional revenue from a tax increase might well be accepted in Congress as the price of a guns and butter program.

Heller thus saw the surtax as a means of providing "monetary ease" and "more budget leeway" for Johnson's Great Society, given the economic demands of the Vietnam war.

The former adviser, now a University of Minnesota professor, gave his assessment of 1963 in a newsletter published today by the National Bank of Minneapolis.

He conceded that a survey of the economic outlook for 1967 produced no clear-cut path to follow in determining what kinds of taxation would be required. But, he said, "I for one still favor a modest surtax."

Heller predicted a period of rather slow growth in the first half of 1967, with the economy gathering force in the second half, resulting in a gross national product (GNP) of about $500 billion or about $60 billion above the 1966 figure.

John T. Connor said the 1967 "U.S. Industrial Outlook" forecasts a prosperous new year.

The book, published by the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration, analyzes prospects in 76 individual industries in manufacturing, construction and the wholesale and retail trades.

According to outlook, 14 of the 78 industries will grow by more than 10 per cent, 37 by 5-10 per cent and 24 by less than 5 per cent. No estimates were made for the remaining three.

Youth May Be Declared Juvenile Delinquent

ORANGE, Tex. (UPI)—A prosecutor planned to go before a judge today to try to get Ronnie Ozio, 14, declared a juvenile delinquent rather than prosecuting him for slaying his grandmother, father and step-mother-to-be.

Dist. Atty. Roy Wingate said if Dist. Judge Eugene Hoyt declared the youth a delinquent child on the basis of the three murder charges, the judge would then decide on custody.

The slim, junior high student was accused of slaying his father, John Ozio, 43, the woman his father planned to marry, Mrs. Bobby Mayberry, 31, of Arkinda, Ark. and Ronnie's paternal grandmother, Victoria Ozio, 77, early Sunday.

He was accused of stabbing Mrs. Mayberry's son, Craig, who told police he tried to subdue the berserk youth.

Wingate said he had the following alternatives in the case: —He could have the boy put in juvenile detention until he was 17, the legal age to be tried for murder in Texas, with possibility of the death sentence.

—He could ask that the youth be declared a juvenile delinquent. The court then could either give the boy to the custody of his mother, release him to a foster home, or give him to the custody of the Texas Youth Council, the agency that decides on placement of juvenile boys.

The judge could also order a psychiatric examination.

Father Was Asleep

Ronnie and his father and Craig Mayberry, 18, Mrs. Mayberry's son, were sleeping in the living room of Ozio's fashionable apartment in a suburb of this Gulf Coast city.

Safety

Way diminish the safety contributions of the proposals.

Ford urged the government to change the five standards it could not meet and modify the seven others to make them workable. Ford also asked elimination of one of the 23 proposals which specifies standards for car lamps and reflecting surfaces.

Ford's analysis of the standards came in an inch-thick report to Haddon who had asked all auto makers to give him detailed reports on his proposals. Haddon is scheduled to complete his standard proposals Jan. 31. Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. have not yet given the government their reports.

The new standards are scheduled to become effective Sept. 1, about the time 1968 models will be introduced.

Ford asked for more latitude, suggesting the timing be changed to "the commencement of 1968 model production" with a final deadline of Jan. 31, 1968. A Ford spokesman said this did not mean the firm was considering pushing back introduction of 1968 models in order to work the safety standards into the new models.

Ford also said it could not meet standards for reflecting surfaces and tire endurance neither of which was on the GM list. Standards which GM said it could not meet in 1968 models also included specifications for new tires and head rests. Ford said it could meet the head rest standards but believed head rests should be optional, not required. The new tire standards were among the seven items which Ford said it could meet with slight modifications.

Police said it appeared Ronnie shot his father in the stomach with a bow and arrow then shot Mrs. Ozio and Mrs. Mayberry with a rifle and pistol when they tried to subdue him. He stabbed Craig with a 10-inch butcher knife. The women's bodies had some 20 bullet wounds each.

Debbie escaped by hiding in the bedroom until Ronnie left. Authorities said the youth had been depressed about his parents' divorce. The boy had been given to the custody of his mother, but he left voluntarily to live with his father.

The boy was held in Orange County jail.

Yarborough Opposes Hike Of Tuition

DALLAS (UPI)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., calling efforts to increase the tuition fees at state schools "a very vital economic issue in Texas," has asked his political opponent, Gov. John Connally to aid him in fighting the proposed boost.

"It is not an issue of personalities," Yarborough told an appreciation dinner in his honor Monday night. "It is not a pro- or anti-governor issue. I haven't heard the governor advocate this doubling of the college tax on students. I hope he doesn't advocate it."

"Texas has too big a stake in giving all of its young people an educational opportunity for this issue to become a political football."

The College Coordinating Board has proposed changing the fees from $50 a semester to $7 a semester hour which would double the tuition rate for the average student.

Yarborough said the proposal "puts a head tax on the student, the one who can least afford it."

Connally has not said whether he will support the board's recommendations. The governor, however, appointed the members of the board.

Communists fear most, pounded an area 12 miles west of the northern city of Hue today in support of American Marines positioned below the demilitarized zone separating the two Vietnams. The area was near where Marines have been shelling a Communist force caught trying to move into attack positions during the New Year's truce.

The Guam-based B52s also hit suspected Communist base camps slightly to the south and along the coast 360 miles northeast of Saigon.

Another B52 strike was mounted against suspected Communist buildups in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) where North Vietnam is believed to be massing as many as two divisions to strike against Marine units deployed along the southern edge of the six-mile-wide buffer strip.

The 45-year-old Ruby, a tough, balding man who came out of the slums of Chicago and ran nightclubs in Dallas, shot Oswald in full view of millions on nationwide television as the assassin was being moved to the Dallas County Jail.

Ruby was wrestled to the ground by police and has been imprisoned since until he entered Parkland.

Customs authorities, close-mouthed about the raid, indicated that as many as 50 more men got wind of the operation and failed to show up for the scheduled departure.

In addition to the 21 put under arrest and jailed at Key West, a number of the invasion force soldiers were put aboard buses and headed toward Miami, presumably for questioning. Authorities said that group was not technically under arrest.

Many of those in the group were veterans of the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

The group was led by Haitian exile Priest Father Jean Baptiste Georges, 44, and Cuban exile leader Rolando Masferrer, a former senator and Havana newspaper publisher.

Masferrer said the plans were to overthrow the Duvalier dictatorship and then set up a base in Haiti for Cuban exiles to attack the Fidel-Castro regime.

The military commander of the expedition was Haitian exile Col. Rene Leon, a graduate of special training at the U.S. Army Infantry base at Ft. Benning, Ga., and the U.S. Army training school in the Panama Canal Zone.

Masferrer said the invasion force was originally scheduled to go last November around Thanksgiving Day but was cancelled because "we were infiltrated by U.S. customs agents."

Authorities captured a 45-foot boat, an old fishing boat at the dock near a two-story house on the beach that had served as headquarters for the force.

Teen Film To Be Shown Tomorrow

Teen Revolt, produced by Teen Challenge, an organization of the Assemblies of God churches, will be shown at the Bethel Assembly of God Church, corner of Hamilton and Worrell Sts., tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Vernon Bueke, a representative of the Fort Worth Teen Challenge Center, will present the film. Rev. Wm. F. Blakley is host pastor.

The film exposes teen-age crime, the teen-age moral problem, homosexuality in America and drug addiction. It also features the personal testimonies of former drug addicts and gang members whose lives have been changed by the power of Jesus Christ, according to Rev. Blakley.

Pampa Teacher Named to Group Of Celebrities

Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, Pampa High School science and chemistry instructor, has been elected to membership in the International Platform Association, according to an announcement by the board of governors of the 63-year-old association.

Mrs. Ledbetter said she was probably chosen because of her work with the National Science Teachers Association. She spoke at the regional conference of the association in Chicago and Atlanta last fall and at the national convention in 1965. She is also general program manager for the national convention to be held in March at Denver.

The membership of the association is made up of persons in the lecture, concert, and entertainment fields, as well as many of the nation's top men and women in diverse fields who have been instrumental in bettering the quality of the American platform particularly as it relates to the field of school assembly programs available to children.

Anton Dvorak's most famous single composition is "Humoresque, No. 7," one of a cycle of eight, all composed within 17 days.

The collision occurred three miles north of Encinal on IH 35. Two persons were killed and a third injured Monday night in a two-car collision on U.S. 290 four miles east of Hempstead, Tex.

Killed were Buster Maxter Shelley, 55, and his wife Mrs. Brunette W. Shelley, 47, of Houston.

James B. Fowler, 55, died in a fire that destroyed his home in Lubbock Monday night. Fowler managed to crawl to the front door of his home before collapsing, firemen said.

The worst accident of the period occurred north of Hillsboro Sunday night. The flaming, one-car accident killed five persons, including a Hillsboro housewife, her two children and a Dallas man and child.

Dear Abby...

She Never Learned The 'Numbers Game'

DEAR ABBY: Is there any way I can get my daughter-in-law to "catch on" without coming right out and telling her? She has a family of four. My family consists of four, also. My daughter-in-law has invited us over for supper several times, which I appreciate, but she will set her table for eight and then serve the same amount of food as she would for four! Naturally nobody takes very big helpings, and she wonders out loud if maybe the food isn't "good."

Once I brought her an extra pound of stew meat and she seemed more offended than pleased.

"O, I always buy only one pound of meat," she exclaimed. I wanted to say right then and there, "Yes, for four, but not for eight," but I kept quiet.

How can I get thru to her, Abby? She's a sweet girl and I don't want her to hate me.

DELICATE PROBLEM DEAR DELICATE: It's hard to believe that anyone would have to be told to prepare twice as much food for eight as they would for four, but I'll take your word for it. Get your son aside and ask HIM to explain it to her.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I have always said I wanted to devote my life to acting. Next Wednesday I am supposed to portray an ugly monster named MEDUSA in a school play. A boy is supposed to cut off my head (my real one). How can I get myself out of this mess?

DEAR D.D.: Tell the boy who is supposed to cut off your head not to take his role too seriously. It's only a play, so don't lose your head, honey.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my husband helped one of our friends move some furniture from one house to another. The next day he found a $10 bill in his jacket with a note saying, "Thanks for the help you gave me."

These people have helped us with favors like this, but because we were good friends we never offered them money.

Now we feel obligated. Should we return the $10 and tell them that friends help each other without payment? Or do you think the next time they help us out we should give them money? This could be an expensive friendship.

GOOD FRIENDS DEAR FRIENDS: After stating them to dinner with the $10, tell them that their friendship is worth more than money and you prefer to keep it that way.

DEAR ABBY: Please advise "LOVES HIM ANYWAY," that just because her child is retarded does not excuse him for his bad manners. I have a retarded child and even though I can

Couple Observes Anniversary Date

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Grace were united in marriage on Dec. 24, 1916, in Cord, Ark.

The couple, who reside at 613 Magnolia, was honored by their children at a dinner Dec. 24 in their home, marking their golden wedding date.

Children of the couple hosting the event included Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Sorrells of Sulphur Springs, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Block of Spring Dale, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Grace of Fairview, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Grace of Duncan, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grace of Ferryton, T.S.G. and Mrs. Lowell D. Grace, serving with the U.S. Air Force and on leave before reporting for duty in Thailand.

The dinner table, covered with a white linen cloth, was appointed with a bouquet of yellow roses and a four-tiered wedding cake which was trimmed in gold and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Attending the event were the honorees' children and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Grace, residents of Pampa since 1934, are members of Central Baptist Church. Mr. Grace, a retired pumpjack for Pan American Oil Co. following 34 years service, is a member of Masonic Lodge 968.

erlook his faults I realize that the rest of the world will not. Any child can be taught good manners, no matter how retarded he is, although it may take longer and a little more effort.

If that mother "loves him anyway," she had better start preparing him to live in the world in which he was born because she won't always be around to make excuses for him. Sign me—

They've Got a College—in Kalamazoo

But the Students Study Abroad

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Every time someone mentions Kalamazoo my cells tweek and I remember two college journalists who once visited our country.

The young women from Australia were fascinated with the city's name and put it in their must list of places to see. The city, they explained, was popularized by the Glenn Miller hit record years ago, much as Winchester Cathedral now is. It's funny what will arouse a student's curiosity. Such campus-inspired wondering, though, is leading to a two-way jetstream of international student exchanges.

Kalamazoo, the Aussie girls will be happy to learn, hasn't let them down. Since the late 1950s a small college in the Michigan city has been sending its students off to investigate life in communities with equally intriguing names and mores—Guilo, Ecuador; Free-town, Sierra Leone; Vichy, France; Bonn, Germany; Beirut, Lebanon; Nairobi, Kenya.

Although the number of students participating remains small in comparison to those from Big Ten student bodies, a count reveals that 1,059 Kalamazoo College students have studied in 22 cities in 14 countries. The impact on the students, on their families and friends is immeasurable.

Discussing this recently here was one who helped develop the school's foreign study program. With his crew-cut and tweed jacket, Dr. Richard V. Stavig looked more like the small town midwestern businessman who "gets took" on Times Square than a shrewd English prof who travels all over the world ironing out problems with foreign school representatives and businessmen. According to Stavig, he is an expert because "I was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Heidelberg in 1958 when Kalamazoo began the program. Since I was there, I was elected to help set up the study in Germany. With one year's experience, I became an expert."

LESS THAN A DAY'S flight separates Michigan and an African country. Yet it takes more than speed to span the distance. Trying to close the people gap are two students from Kalamazoo College shown buying fruit from a street vendor in Sierra Leone during study abroad.

The first year 25 Kalamazoo students went abroad. This fall's class is 191. The foreign study program has helped KC shift from a science-oriented campus to one more interested in social education, languages and the need to communicate with other countries.

About 90 per cent of the student body of 1,150 to 1,200 enrollment takes part in study abroad.

"There are many things to say about the program," Stavig explains. "Perhaps the most significant is what happens to the students when they live with families in other countries."

"Academics has more meaning. Living with a family in Madrid whose members fought in the Spanish Civil War makes history come alive for a student."

Just as important is the report from parents that their sons and daughters have grown up while away. The students say they "discover something about family relationships to help them, with their own families."

The Kalamazoo College program is supported by the S. R. Light Trust and the students pay $760 for the first and third quarters and $389 for the second. They receive credits for their work abroad.

One of the greatest benefits to the students, Stavig feels, is "heightened awareness" of the United States from the vantage of a foreign country.

"Our problem has been," he adds, "to help them avoid being backed into a corner by the elite students in other countries. These youths have more political savvy. We do have sessions to prime students to field questions on such things as race and Vietnam. However, there are no par-answers. The students are told to be honest and free in their replies. They can't fake it."

Raincoats certainly have moved away from the traditional. Now they are go-everywhere coats, handsomely styled and in untraditional materials. The Dior-New York spring collection includes one coat in navy and white printed cotton, with white vinyl trim and white vinyl kerchief. Another is a shocking pink silk, treated with a double-breasted closing of brass buttons.

Child Can Gain Much Pleasure By Making Toys

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Is Junior bored with his playthings?

Then let him make his own toys, suggests Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, extension child development and family life specialist of the Pennsylvania State University.

An older child or grandparent can join Junior in the toy-making adventure.

A spool necklace is a good starter. Place 10 to 15 spools on a shoestring and tie the ends of the string together. Paint the spools in bright colors.

Mrs. Duvall suggests an improvement for this do-with toy. Wrap one end of the string with thread for about three inches, then stitch through the string every 10 or 15 wraps. Paint the end with nail polish to make it smoother and stiffer.

A child will enjoy stringing the spools and it also provides an excellent exercise in eye-hand coordination.

If you can bear the noise — here's a suggestion that you've probably tried in your childhood. Take two flat pan lids with knobs and teach the child to strike them with an up and down stroke. He'll be a cymbal player in no time.

But Mrs. Duvall cautions safety at all times. There should be no sharp edges on the makeshift toys and enamel full-intensity color paint should be used.

Toys should be large with no loose pieces. Child could swallow.

For sanitary reasons, towels should be laundered as promptly as possible, using the hottest water available for sudsing. If towels must stay in a hamper a few days before washing, first hang them to dry because bacteria and mildew multiply more rapidly on damp fabrics.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until Sunday is no time for anything that is risky or in which the odds are against you. So be sure that you do what you are supposed to do. Avoid any kind of trouble. However, the evening finds a headed change for the better taking place and you are able to get lots done in most any direction U wish.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — Partners are more interested in operating by themselves and you should be interested for now. Just go ahead with own plans. Tonight settle problems nicely. Then be happy with considerable loved one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Showing fellow workers that you will not impose on them is wise. They are very much rushed right now. Delays are apt to come up, but take them in your stride. Evening is wonderful, though, recreational.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Although your mind is concentrating on recreation, there are more important things that need the doing, so get busy. Get healthily recharged with creative matters wisely, too. Take time to relax in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — That need to do things but also at times, by being satisfied you find they soon right themselves. Be very careful with money matters. Evening finds guests in, or in theatre, etc. tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Care in motion is most necessary during the day and better order about territory important now. On over-all statements — very fully, also. Relax within the safety of your own home tonight — make kin happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Thinking straight now will show you how to handle financial matters properly and you will be free to join congenial in p.m. Be sure to get important bills paid, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Impress important friends at heart, and then get busy in p.m. and see how to improve your financial position. Improve your day. Get out socially in p.m. for a while, also.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Private associates could have you in a ditch during the day, so take hold of yourself early, and then tonight all is fine. Avoid trying to put new ideas in operation. Evening can be very pleasant for you.

SAGETARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Instead of getting into a terrible battle with one who does not think as you do, think of Vulture. Be friends. Avoid the social during the day. Evening is best time for that sort of thing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Do not get involved in higher-ups during the day or your reputation downgrades tomorrow. You have much social work to do tonight, so be enthusiastic. State your aims specifically then.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Some analyzing is necessary with partnership during day. You want to start in evening in all of your affairs. Evening is best for extra duties. Be sure you complete one project before you go on to another.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Being sure to follow through with important obligations is imperative before you go out with loved one or a close friend. Don't look for "loved one" during day. Working steadily, then out for fun later, if YOU CHOOSE TO DO SO TODAY. Be sure to be one of those young people who is so interested in bringing about harmony among others that others seem to fall in line, too. Early morning. Early evening. Early night. And that it is best to teach others to help themselves. Then the chart becomes very successful and the personal life can become ideal, though marriage may come rather late in life.

Meat can be extended by combining it in dishes using rice, spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, crackers, bread crumbs or cereals.

Color shredded coconut by placing it in a jar, adding a few drops of food coloring, and shaking.

Russians Make Most of Curiosity

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI) — "No wonder Americans pronounce 'but in-ski' like a Russian word, sighed my wife, dropping on the sofa. "I never saw so many nosy people."

"Looks like they've been trying to tell you how to raise Peter again," I said.

"And how," she replied, "was pushing him down the street and this babushka (grandmother) stopped to tell me he was too cold. I can understand that in the winter, but it's 90 degrees in the shade today!"

As beneficiaries of a communal society, Russians are incurably curious about other people's business. The western sense of privacy or reticence, or self-consciousness — is all but unknown here as each comrade freely speaks his mind, on non-political subjects, to every other comrade.

It makes Moscow seem like one big happy family. But it's a little unnerving for easterners new to this sort of thing.

Women, and especially mothers, get the brunt of the frankness.

One young Swedish housewife wearing the latest in brightly flowered slacks was chased home by a Moscow man who called them the "most disgusting trousers I ever saw."

Two young American wives were sitting in a park watching their children play when a Russian woman came over and politely informed them that "if you sit on the grass, you will get a female disease."

Every westerner who has ever driven to Moscow returns with tales of the crowds that gather around his car — even in the affluent year-1966.

Anything different is subject to scrutiny. There are few redheads in Moscow, so a red-haired Marine guard at the U.S. Embassy became used to Russians running their hands through his hair — just to see if it was real — whenever he went onto the street.

"I've had them finger a new dress on the street just like I wasn't even inside it," one woman complained.

In a country that has never heard of Dr. Spock, everybody is a child care expert.

"They tell me he is too hot, or too cold, or too fat, or too thin, or hungry, or thirsty, or his shoelaces are untied," said my wife.

"How do you handle it?" I asked.

"I just tell them he's an American baby," she smiled. "That seems to satisfy them. They probably think he's beyond help."

Cracking Rocks Can Be Easy

There's an old country method used by the pioneers and nearly forgotten today which works very well. Uncover the rock as far as possible or as deep as necessary. Then build a bonfire over it. After the fire has burned for several hours, put it out and douse the rock well with cold water. The next morning you will find the rock full of hairline cracks. Insert a cold chisel and wedges, if necessary, and the rock will come apart with a little pounding.

After you have removed the pieces of rock, fill in the area with good soil and replant your lawn or garden.

KEYPORT, N.Y. (UPI)—A snowball thrown by a teenager stopped a 69-car freight train, police said Monday.

Authorities said the snowball hit engineer William Carroll in the face, cutting him above the eye. He instinctively slammed on the emergency brake and the train screeched to a stop, snapping a coupling that took 45 minutes to repair. The youth got away.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

What is being said, by people occupying high places in state and national government, about water and its uses is eventually going to find its way into future legislation. The same may be said concerning people in high position in business, agricultural or industrial circles.

The last two issues of this column were devoted to addresses by the executive director of the Texas Board of Water Development and by the District Judge at Pecos. This week we are carrying portions of an address by Maurice R. Bullock, before the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association concerning "Title to Ground Water in Texas."

"Origin and Destination — Water in the ground may originate from several sources. Chiefly, these are: Direct penetration of rain and snowfall into the ground; penetration of diffused surface water, spring water, and overflow separated from streams; penetration of excess water applied in the irrigation of land; water purposefully injected or encouraged to sink into the soil for the purpose of storage or augmentation of the existing ground water supply; and so-called 'losses' into the ground from flowing streams.

"The Public in general is not aware of the fact that the source of water for all underground reservoirs in Texas is precipitation that falls on the intake areas and water that enters the intake from surface streams.

"Part of the ground water supply is dispersed by breaking out in the form of springs, and by transpiration and evaporation. According to competent ground water hydrologists, practically all ground water is moving toward some stream, the flow of which it is helping to maintain.

"It follows that at certain times and places ground water is contributing to the supply of surface watercourses, and that under other circumstances the reverse is true."

Jack R. Barnes, consulting ground water engineer of Austin, in a paper presented at the Water Law Conference, University of Texas, May, 1956, started with respect to the occurrence and movement of ground water as follows:

"Ground water in the hydrological sense commonly refers to that water occurring within the zone of rocks that are completely saturated. The upper surface of the zone of saturation is known as the water table, except where the containing formation is confined under pressure by an overlying stratum that is relatively impervious. Ground water does not include moisture suspended in the soil or moisture that is infiltrating downward from the land surface to the water table. For practical purposes, ground water is that water capable of being extracted from the earth through wells.

"The character of the subsurface movement is determined by the size of the rock pores forming the conduit and their interconnection, the thickness of the water-bearing formation and the gradient of the water surface. A typical velocity through a fairly permeable sand formation, undisturbed by pumping wells, would be about 1 foot per day or 1 mile in 15 years. This may be contrasted to typical velocities in a surface stream of the magnitude of 1 foot per second or about 100,000 times greater than the rate of ground water movement.

"The term which perhaps best describes the nature of ground-water flow is 'percolation,' which means to strain through. As water percolates through a porous sand formation, each particle follows a tortuous path through the interconnected pores between the sand grains. Although the course of the individual water particle may seem erratic, the water mass obeys perfectly the laws of physics and the quantity and direction of flow can be ascertained with reasonable precision.

"In fissured or jointed limestone and similar rocks, water moves through a network of crevices which may be slowly enlarged by solution and may sometimes result in formation of large caverns. Water occurring under these conditions most nearly conforms to the popular concept of underground streams and although ground water percolation through fissured rocks is usually more rapid than through granular formations, it is slow relative to the velocity of surface streams. Moreover, the movement occurs through a constantly branching network of crevices that may extend tens of miles in all directions. Although the limits of the productive aquifer may be readily ascertained, the course and boundaries of each of the numerous interconnected passageways in a typical formation are beyond practicable determination.

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge

See last paragraph

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atopic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

- 1. Water seeks its level.
- 2. Stealing is wrong.

It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law — only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntarism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

- 1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.
- 2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal." Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: "... I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual, or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good political socialism," either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club — and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

*Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
 United Press International
 You may as well face it, fellow citizens, the Congress of the United States probably cannot do much about the conduct of its most discredited, disgraceful member.

The Rev. Adam Clayton Powell is an untouchable, more or less. It seems inevitable that for his doubtful services to the republic, the Rev. Powell will remain on the public payroll at $30,000 per annum as a member of the U. S. House of Representatives.

Whether Powell did or did not, through his House Education and Labor Committee, siphon off public funds to support la dolce vita in the Caribbean islands, is the major question. A House inquiry seeks to discover who was listed on the Powell committee payroll and whether Powell benefited by kickbacks from payrollers, real or imaginary.

There could be inquiry also into Powell's high flying journeys to Europe at public expense accompanied by women committee employees, who also appeared to be traveling in Powell's company as guests of the taxpayers.

The accusations against Powell are almost endless, but he is protected by a variety of luck charms and incantations. He also is protected by a congressional awareness that if one committee chairman is investigated and condemned, it is likely that the conduct of other committee chairmen may be questioned.

From many years of observing Congress and the conduct of its members, it is the opinion of this writer that many legislators abuse their privileges and would merit some degree of punishment. Some years ago a distinguished, quick-tempered member of the U. S. Senate was in the habit of running up session-long tabs for food in the Senate restaurant. Annually there was a hassle about payment and it is recollection of your correspondent that there was a hassle about write-off of indebtedness for this distinguished public servant.

Another distinguished senator about that time conducted a subcommittee on a foray into the northern Rocky Mountains to study the habits of wild game there. This senator was a periodic drunk, the periods being about six months, twice a year. He was accompanied by sturdy drinkers and they bought their whiskey with Senate funds.

On the expense voucher, however, the liquor was set down as soda water. Not even Senate auditors could believe that the senator and his party had swallowed all that much of non-alcoholic bubbly. The expense voucher was re-done.

Powell is making like he wants an inquiry into the committee chairmen. If he forces that issue it may come to pass that some distinguished legislators will flee to the hills or retire to seek honest work back home. However that may be, the advance leaks on the Powell inquiry suggest that the investigators either have not come up with hard-nosed incriminating evidence or, if they found any, are skittish about putting it to use.

The Rev. Powell probably could not care less. It is likely that he merits expulsion from the U. S. House of Representatives on general principles or maybe lack of same. If he were expelled, the Harlem voters promptly would re-elect their tarnished idol. The Rev. Powell, you might say, is sitting pretty.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —For the person capable of only so much goodwill during the Christmas season or any other, television is a constant relief. There, even as the last hours tick away before the days of reverence, one is returned to the real world of jazzy new automobiles and bad breath. Has no one ever considered a holiday truce of decent length between video and the home audience?

The only major suspension of commercials I can remember in recent years was during the four days following the assassination of President Kennedy. Yet it would seem that there are days each year in the lives of ordinary persons that have a right to be treated with full respect rather than partial —respect, particularly by a medium which, though its influence in reflecting values, can do much good or harm.

Surely television cannot wish to be known as a medium that requires a tragedy to make it act with dignity, or just plain decency.

I suppose I resented more than anything else this past Christmas the automobile dealers who came on full of reverent words about the real meaning of the season, and told how they weren't going to pitch their cars, but then casually mentioned in passing that they would be open after a day or so —or other words along these lines.

Who are these people anyway? How dare they intrude on such a holiday? How dare they presume that anyone is interested in their views about the Christmas season, or wishes to hear them sermonize from a podium? How dare a station allow such fellows to intrude in such tastelessness —these people who could never get on television unless they bought their way on?

And then how charming it was shortly after Christmas to hear these same fellows explain how cheaply customers could buy their cars now, whereas only several months before they were so much more expensive —in short, what idiots viewers were for listening to their original commercials.

Television also contributed some other choice tidbits to the holiday season. Monday morning, for instance, all three of our major networks devoted considerable time to coverage of the Rose Parade —whereas not one of these organizations could find time recently in the prime evening hours to devote a full documentary to the dispute between Mrs. John F. Kennedy and author William Manchester over his book, "The Death of a President." Such judgment concerning coverage of both events gives you a clue as to what television really likes to do with its valuable time, and why you should treasure your newspaper.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Last Monday and Tuesday a week ago all of the county agents of the Panhandle met at the Bushland Experiment Station for two long days of intensive study and work.

The purpose of the meeting was to develop production guidelines on each of the major agricultural enterprises of the Panhandle of Texas. The county agents were divided into small groups of four agents each. We were asked to develop a guideline that would spell out the best known methods of production of the particular enterprise in which we were working based on the latest research findings.

Backing up each county agent group were specialists from the extension headquarters at Texas A&M University as well as from the Lubbock and Amarillo District Offices. In addition numerous research people were present from the Bushland Experiment Station.

Doug Smith, an able county agent from Ochiltree County; Jerry Harland, county agent, Dalhart; Elwyn Dysart, county agent of Hartley County for 25 years and I were assigned the task of developing guidelines on the production of irrigated and dryland grain sorghum the first day and dryland and irrigated wheat the second day. Our group considered it a distinct honor to work on the two key enterprises of the Panhandle.

When completed our guide covered recommendations on: 1. cropping sequence, 2. seedbed preparation, 3. fertilization, 4. varieties, 5. time of application, 6. varieties, 7. placement of fertilizer, 8. planting dates, and many other items.

Every recommendation had to be backed up by research findings. An agronomy specialist reviewed our guideline for final approval.

This same procedure was used by all the other County Agent groups and covered such enterprises as forage for grazing, alfalfa, soybeans, range management, cow-calf operations, stocker-calf operation, cattle feeding, swine and cotton.

By Jan. 4, 1967 each county agent in the Panhandle will have in his hands a copy of all these guidelines. The county agent will then sit down with special lay committees on such subjects as field crops, beef cattle and range management and use these guidelines to localize one for his particular county. It is hoped this can be done by Feb. 20 on all major enterprises in each county. In many cases the guidelines for a county will be much the same as the original ones developed at Bushland.

For many years we have held meetings on various phases of production of many of the commodities. We have had many excellent bulletins on the various subjects. However, this is the first time a coordinated effort has been made to print all the latest information on a particular subject. We are one hundred percent behind the idea and plan to work with our local committees in developing these guidelines for all of our major enterprises in Gray County. We will have several local result demonstrations incorporated in these recommendations.

This effort is being duplicated all over the state of Texas. And the goal is for every producer in Texas to have a copy of these latest recommendations in the production of a specific commodity.

In my opinion this effort by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will go down in history as one of its greatest achievements. It is a self help program. One in which each individual can improve himself.

It comes at a most opportune time to be of maximum benefit to the Panhandle Economic Program.

Within the next few days we will be calling on many of you to assist us in the development of these guidelines for our Gray County farmers and ranchers. We hope you will respond.

QUIET HOLIDAY
RED RIVER, N.M. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Pat Nugent spent a quiet New Year's Day Sunday as they prepared to end their king vacation and return to classes at the University of Texas.

A spokesman for the President's daughter and son-in-law said the Nugents probably would depart for Austin tonight or early Tuesday.

Luci and Pat attended Mass at a small Roman Catholic church Sunday afternoon then returned to the resort home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Batson, their hosts for the five-day visit.

HEAVY SWEAT
RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Three Reno men—including one senator—went into a sauna bath to sweat off some extra poundage.

They got a more severe treatment than they bargained for when the rubber mechanism on the door broke down and the trio were locked in. Firemen finally had to use an axe to batter out the door to let state Senator Cliff Young, Jerry Whitehead and Chet Mazza.

Wall Street Chatter

By United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Bache & Co., says the current market is cautious and hesitant and this mood could well carry into the new year as traders await vital decisions on taxes, budget and military expenditures. The company feels that, considering the psychological emphasis that has been placed on these decisions, it is difficult to foresee any significant moves until the air is cleared.

Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Co. & Stetson believes a decision to raise taxes at the present time would be more beneficial to the economy than a decision not to ask for one. He believes the market will rise with or without a tax increase but it will have a 820 level in the Dow Jones industrial average would be a full scale bullish signal and any evidence of support in the 785 area probably would be followed by a retesting of the 820 zone.

U.S. '67 Population Near 200 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States began 1967 with a population estimated at just under 198 million, according to the Census Bureau.

Census statisticians, in a weekend report, estimated the population at 197,900,000 as of midnight Jan. 1. This was 17,960,000 more than the count on April 1, 1960, when the last decennial census was taken.

A—Yes. But social security tax rate on self-employment income is higher.

ENGLAND'S HEIR WEST NEWTON, England

(UPI) — The heir to the British throne Sunday night read to a church congregation about three kings who ruled 20 centuries ago.

Prince Charles read the Gospel account of the three kings who paid tribute at Christ's birth. The reading was to a church gathering which included his mother, Queen Elizabeth, his father, the Duke of Edinburgh; his sister, Princess Anne; and his aunt, Princess Margaret.

Truck Overturns With 36 Bombs

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (UPI) — A truck overturned as it left the Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike recently, spilling 36 1,000-pound napalm (jelled gasoline) bombs. The bombs, which had no fuses, did not explode and demolition experts from Carlswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, and firemen reloaded them on the truck. The truck was hauling the bombs from Gallup, N.M., ordnance plant to Orlando, Fla. Napalm is used extensively against Viet Cong positions in Vietnam. Only one kind of bear, the Atlas bear, is found in Africa.

Can Men Live For 300 Years?

MOSCOW (UPI) — Men of the future will live to be 300 years old — and never get a full night's sleep, according to a Soviet scientist. The scientist, Vladimir Engelgardt, peered into the future in the newspaper Pravda Sunday and forecast that, by the year 2,000, mankind will sleep one hour per night without tiredness and eat artificial food, including caviar — without hunger. "One hour per night will provide a refreshing sleep," he said. "As soon as we know what makes men tired, we will be able to slow down this process."

Pampa Cagers Play Tascosa Here Tonight

The 'dead-eye kids' Pampa's twice beaten Harvesters hope to rope Tascosa out of the driver's seat and become the driver tonight when they host the Rebels in an important district 3-4A contest, beginning at 8 p.m.

Coach Bill Brown's Shockers, 12-1 and undefeated in district competition, will host the Rebels B team at 6:30 p.m.

Tascosa holds the top spot in the conference with an impressive 6-0 record while the Harvesters are 6-0 reading while the Harvesters and Amarillo are just a game behind with 5-1 marks.

But the Pampans are death at home, they've won all seven games played here thus far and sport a 14-2 season record, with only Monterey and Hobbs, N.M., holding victories over the high school.

Pampa is averaging 79.9 points per contest for the season and 64.4 conference average.

Chicago Assaults NHA Record

MONTREAL (UPI)—Stan Mikita and his cohorts on Chicago's "scooter" line are intensifying their assaults on two of the National Hockey League's premier scoring records, according to statistics released today.

Mikita, the Czechoslovakian-born center who has led the NHL in scoring in two of the last three seasons, amassed six points in last week's action to raise his total to 49 on 16 goals and 33 assists in 30 games. That puts him ahead of the pace set by teammate Bobby Hull last year when he set an all-time single season record of 97 points.

Hull had 47 points after 30 games a year ago. At his present pace, Mikita would finish with the amazing number of 114 points. He also has a good shot at his own assist record of 59 which he set in 1964-65.

Kenny Wharram and Doug Mohs, the wingers on the Chicago's prolific line, also padded their totals to 35 and 20 points, respectively, to boost the "scooter" line's total to 102 points. Projected over the full 70-game season, the line would finish with 238 points, 12 more than the record 226 set by the Detroit "production" line of Gordie Howe, Norm Ullman and Ted Lindsay in 1956-57.

Wharram moved into second place in individual standings. Tied for third with 31 points were Rod Gilbert and Phil Goyette of the New York Rangers and Bobby Rousseau of the Montreal Canadiens. Gilbert became the first player to reach the 20-goal mark. Wharram was second in goals with 18.

Charlie Hodge of Montreal dislodged Ed Giacomin of New York from the goaltending lead. Hodge, who yielded only five goals in three games last week, has allowed an average of 2.13 in 19 games while Giacomin has permitted 2.22 per game in 33 appearances.

Giacomin, who remained tied with Roger Crozier of Detroit for shutouts at four, and Cesare Maniago, however, retained the team lead with a combined average of 2.35.

FEATHERWEIGHT REMATCH MEXICO CITY (UPI)

Mitsunori Seki was to begin training today for his featherweight title fight with world champion Vicente Saldivar of Mexico Jan. 29, after arriving in Mexico City Monday.

Seki said he expected to win the crown from Saldivar, who defeated the Japanese fighter in a close decision in an earlier title bout.

FAST SKATING OSLO, Norway (UPI)

Eduard Matusевич led a trio of Russian ice skaters to a sweep of the top three places Monday in an international race at Oslo's Bislet Stadium.

Matusевич won the 1,500-meter race in a time of two minutes, 5.6 seconds and missed the world mark by three-tenths of a second. Valery Chagin and Valery Kaplan, both of Russia, were second and third.

ON THE COURT

Princeton Stands on 10 Feet

United Press International — The exorcism is complete at Princeton and now the Tigers' talented basketball team finally can stand on its own 10 feet.

Princeton had been playing with the ghost of the fabulous Bill Bradley ever since he led the Tigers to third place in the NCAA tournament two years ago and the extra burden on the team had been oppressive.

The Tigers finally severed the cord Monday night, however, when they stopped third-ranked North Carolina 91-81 at Chapel Hill, handing the Tar Heels their first defeat of the season after nine victories.

In staging the remarkable upset, Princeton shot a phenomenal 65.5 per cent from the field and stamped itself as one of the foremost powers in the nation. The Tigers now have a 9-1 mark with their only defeat a 72-63 loss to second-ranked Louisville in the final of the Quaker City tournament last week.

Narrow Vandy Win

While North Carolina was being grounded, Vanderbilt, another member of the top 10, barely got off the ground against Alabama, which nearly emulated the success of its football team before succumbing to the 10th ranked Commodores 84-81 in overtime.

Fourth-ranked New Mexico and sixth-ranked Houston had less difficulty in subduing Denver and Tennessee Tech, squeezed the Pioneers 65-43 with the help of a zone press and Houston overran Tech 95-69.

Princeton, ranked 8th nationally this week and likely to go higher on the strength of its upset, shocked a sellout crowd of 8,500 by crashing through North Carolina's strong defense, which had bottled up all previous foes.

All five Princeton starters scored in double figures with 6-foot-7 John Harlow leading the club with 24. Larry Miller paced Carolina with 31.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Stan Mikita and his cohorts on Chicago's "scooter" line are intensifying their assaults on two of the National Hockey League's premier scoring records, according to statistics released today.

Mikita, the Czechoslovakian-born center who has led the NHL in scoring in two of the last three seasons, amassed six points in last week's action to raise his total to 49 on 16 goals and 33 assists in 30 games. That puts him ahead of the pace set by teammate Bobby Hull last year when he set an all-time single season record of 97 points.

Hull had 47 points after 30 games a year ago. At his present pace, Mikita would finish with the amazing number of 114 points. He also has a good shot at his own assist record of 59 which he set in 1964-65.

Kenny Wharram and Doug Mohs, the wingers on the Chicago's prolific line, also padded their totals to 35 and 20 points, respectively, to boost the "scooter" line's total to 102 points. Projected over the full 70-game season, the line would finish with 238 points, 12 more than the record 226 set by the Detroit "production" line of Gordie Howe, Norm Ullman and Ted Lindsay in 1956-57.

Wharram moved into second place in individual standings. Tied for third with 31 points were Rod Gilbert and Phil Goyette of the New York Rangers and Bobby Rousseau of the Montreal Canadiens. Gilbert became the first player to reach the 20-goal mark. Wharram was second in goals with 18.

Charlie Hodge of Montreal dislodged Ed Giacomin of New York from the goaltending lead. Hodge, who yielded only five goals in three games last week, has allowed an average of 2.13 in 19 games while Giacomin has permitted 2.22 per game in 33 appearances.

Giacomin, who remained tied with Roger Crozier of Detroit for shutouts at four, and Cesare Maniago, however, retained the team lead with a combined average of 2.35.

FEATHERWEIGHT REMATCH MEXICO CITY (UPI)

Mitsunori Seki was to begin training today for his featherweight title fight with world champion Vicente Saldivar of Mexico Jan. 29, after arriving in Mexico City Monday.

Seki said he expected to win the crown from Saldivar, who defeated the Japanese fighter in a close decision in an earlier title bout.

FAST SKATING OSLO, Norway (UPI)

Eduard Matusевич led a trio of Russian ice skaters to a sweep of the top three places Monday in an international race at Oslo's Bislet Stadium.

Matusевич won the 1,500-meter race in a time of two minutes, 5.6 seconds and missed the world mark by three-tenths of a second. Valery Chagin and Valery Kaplan, both of Russia, were second and third.

Alabama Star Signs Papers With Colts

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—America end Ray Perkins, who starred in Alabama's 34.7 shut-out victory over Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl Monday, signed a reportedly $250,000 contract with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

Perkins described the contract as a "modest bonus and a very adequate bonus."

The 6-1, 188-pound Petal, Miss., native snared seven passes for 174 yards and a touchdown in the decisive victory over the Cornhuskers.

Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant describes Perkins as "The finest athlete on our squad."

Perkins was drafted as a fullback last season by the Colts and Boston Patriots of the American Football League.

Matson Waits In New Orleans For Sugar Meet

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—With two world's record holders waiting glumly in the wings, the Sugar Bowl track and field meet was rained out in New Orleans Sunday—and canceled.

Both shot putter Randy Matson of Pampa, Tex., and pole vaulter Bob Seagren of Southern California were entered in the meet, but could not put one shot or vault one vault without cooperation from the weather. And it did not come. The rain-out also cut short the regatta and forced changes in the tennis schedule.

Matson, of Texas A & M University, has put the shot 30 feet, 7 1/2 inches for his world mark. He would have been a shoe-in to break the Sugar track mark of 60 feet, 5 1/2 inches, set last year by George Woods of Southern (La.) University.

SNOWBALL STAKES YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI)

Three divisions of Snowball Stakes highlight the opening of the winter harness racing season at Yonkers Raceway tonight.

The season, which ends on March 3, is the earliest date that the track has ever opened. The Jan. 3 opening date is far ahead of previous inaugural starts of Feb. 18, 1965.

Super Bowl Next Sunday Matches Chiefs and Packers

NEW YORK (UPI)—No. 2 game remark pertaining to his quarterback Lennie Dawson in team's last scoring chance.

"They had not stopped us all day and I did not feel they could stop us then," said Landry. "I was well pleased with the game except for that drive."

Under far more difficult conditions, Kansas City's defense looked twice as strong as Green Bay's.

The Chiefs' defensive unit had it much rougher because it was operating on a field in Buffalo that was half frozen and had visible patches of ice. Yet, the Chiefs confined the Bills to a mere 40 yards on the ground and 255 yards overall.

There's something of a tendency now to make a case of "revenge" for Kansas City.

Near Normal Returns Today As Football Vacates Tube

By RON CROSS

Things should be back to near normal today after three straight days of watching the tube where eight football games in three days were televised for viewers.

Pampa folk should be thinking now about going to the field, house tonight where they can watch a basketball game. Basketball? What's that?

There haven't been too many folks out to watch the Pampa Harvesters of coach Terry Culley.

Why we don't know. You don't know what you're missing. The Pampa squad this season is just short, not much, of amazing. Anytime you can score 98 points you've got to have something going for you.

The Harvesters have in Bob Lang, George Bailey, Rick Foster and Steve Williams. Two seniors and two juniors who eat, live and breathe the roundball sport.

In fact they don't know there is another game. These four are GOOD EYE FOR DIAMONDS. Off-season, Atlanta shortstop Dennis Menke is in the jewelry business. During the season he patrols the baseball diamond rather effectively.

Houston Wins Again To Keep No. 8 Place

Brownlee got 17.

Harley Swift led East Tennessee with 21.

Mike Nau sank a jump shot with 28 seconds left to give Arlington State a 66-64 victory over Stephen F. Austin.

Nau led scoring with 20 points. It was close the whole evening with nine points the largest spread.

Marvin Polnick had 14 for the Lumberjacks.

Providence Catapults Way Up To a Place on the Top 10 List

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eastern powerhouse Providence used the ECAC Holiday Festival crown to catapult from an also ran to the number eight slot in the weekly college basketball ratings announced today by United Press International.

With backcourt ace Jimmy Walker showing the way, the Friars tabbed themselves the best in the East with a three-game sweep at Madison Square Garden last week to annex their second straight festival title and move into the top 10 for the first time this season.

UCLA and Louisville also won major tournaments and retained their 1-2 status among the collegiate class in the ratings based on games played on or before Saturday, Dec. 31.

The Uclans captured the hometown Los Angeles Classic all averaging over 11 points per game well and performed in good stead the last four games.

Monterey is the only league foe to handle the Harvesters and did by out rebounding Pampa, something that has been done only one other time this season.

Hobbs is the only non-league foe to halt Pampa, scoring 10 points in a free-wheeling affair will get that opportunity next week against the Plainmen.

But Pampa's thoughts right now go to the Tascosa Rebels, who will begin a district 3-4A contest with the Harvesters at 8 p.m. tonight.

The Rebels are 5-0 in league play while Pampa and Amarillo are tied for second at 4-1. The Sandies meet third-place Monterey in Lubbock tonight, so Pampa has a good chance of going to the top in a tie with Tascosa.

However, it's hard to play your best when hardly no one shows up to show you they like the brand of ball you play.

Still the same old Pampa fans. Almost anyone would like the brand of ball Pampa plays, they win, they score a lot and give you a lot of thrills.

If you like the Hank Iba brand of ball, stall 'em out, then stay away.

Pampa is averaging just over 100 points per contest and just missed the 100-mark last week. This might be the night.

Area Teams Go Tuesday

Pampa Junior High and area basketball teams come off the holiday trails this week with junior high teams seeing action Thursday and area teams going into action Tuesday.

Pampa Junior High eighth and ninth grade plays host to Dumas Thursday with Leeville. The Lee seventh hosts Phillips and Pampa seventh plays at Borger Houston, both games coming on Friday.

In area action Tuesday Briscoe hosts Lefors in a doubleheader and Miami plays host to Alton for three games while Cadotia gets in shape for its tournament starting Thursday by playing host to Wheeler while Mobeetie travels to Kelton and McLean hosts Samnorwood in a pair of games.

Thursday, Mobeetie, Lefors, Wheeler and Kelton all play in the Canadian tourney.

Miami plays its first round game Thursday in the Darrouzett tournament.

By United Press International

Alabama, Purdue and Florida are the final winners of the 1966 college football season, but the Crimson Tide isn't ready to quit yet.

After humiliating Nebraska 34-7 in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans Monday to complete a perfect 11-0 campaign, the Alabama players hollered for a chance to meet top-ranked Notre Dame. The Tide was ranked third in the final national ratings.

Quarterback Kenny Stabler, who passed for one Alabama touchdown and scored another, summed up the feelings of his teammates regarding Notre Dame when he said: "I believe we would hold our own against them anytime and if we had a chance we'd jump at it."

One Point Win

Purdue squeezed out a 14-13 decision over Southern California in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., when the Trojans failed on a two-point conversion attempt in the final minutes of play and Florida defeated Georgia Tech 27-12 in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Alabama left no doubt it was out to prove something against a Nebraska team it had beaten 39-28 in last year's Orange Bowl. The Tide ran up 17 points in the first period and its 24-0 halftime lead was the biggest intermission margin in the 33-year history of the Sugar Bowl.

The lefthanded Stabler completed 12 of 18 passes for 218 yards, including a 45-yarder to Ray Perkins on the first play from scrimmage to set up a one-yard scoring plunge by Les Kelley and another 45-yarder to Perkins for the final touchdown.

Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant exulted over the triumph, proclaiming, "It's the greatest football team I've ever been associated with and the greatest college football team I've ever seen."

Stop Conversion Attempt

Purdue, a heavy pre-game favorite, emerged a winner in its first-ever bowl game only because George Catavolos intercepted Southern California's pass attempt for a two-point conversion after Troy Winslow had thrown a 19-yard scoring pass to Rod Sherman to bring the Trojans to a 14-13 deficit.

"We weren't going for a tie," USC Coach John McKay explained later. "Nobody in the stands wanted us to go for a tie. It has always been our policy to go for the win."

Sophomore Larry Smith set two Orange Bowl records to carry Florida to victory over Georgia Tech. The 216-pound tailback ran 94 yards for a touchdown in the third period, the longest run in Orange Bowl history, and his total 187 yards for the evening established another standard.

Steve Spurrier, Florida's Heisman Trophy winner, led the Gators on two touchdown drives, both culminated on one-yard plunges by fullback Graham McKeel, and the final score came on a five-yard pass from Harmon Wages to Jack Coons with 11 seconds left in the game.

Tarheels Win Two

Third-ranked North Carolina didn't see any tournament action but coasted to a pair of victories in regularly scheduled competition, both times cracking triple figures with their point production.

New Mexico and Cincinnati moved up a notch to fourth and fifth place, respectively as defending NCAA champion Texas Western was beaten by Southern Illinois and dropped from fourth to seventh. Houston, once beaten in 12 games, advanced two spots to sixth place by taking the Arkansas State Tournament.

Providence bowed in at No. 8 and Kansas, out of the upper echelon for a week, returned as the ninth-rated squad, and Vanderbilt slipped a peg to complete the first 10.

Western Kentucky ran its

St. Johns Drops

St. John's sank to 14th and Michigan State plummeted to 15th following tournament losses. Seattle and Utah State, were 16th and 17th. Dayton and Princeton were tied for 18th and Florida, winner of the Gator Bowl tourney, was No. 20.

Louisville topped Niagara, Syracuse and Princeton in taking the Philly title, and closed the gap on UCLA slightly. The Bruins, who beat Wisconsin, Georgia Tech and Southern California en route to their initial Alconcor-led tourney triumph, atraced 33 first place votes, one less than a week ago, and a total of 348 points.

The second-rated Cards were named at the top of the two dissident ballots and corraled 302 points overall, compared to 272 last week. North Carolina also inched forward, not in the ratings but in points. The Tar Heels, riding a nine-game win streak, collected 274 points, 17 more than last week.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

WI. No past generation of U.S. youth has equaled your year for clubs. Sure, millions in bygone years (as well as 12 to 15 million today) regularly joined up with the true-and-true "Y's", scouts, 4-Hs, church and school club groups, P.T. clubs that count as especially your own. . . organized just to fit your tastes are new and growing. YOUTH BEAT has reported on the noncommercial coffee house clubs you guys and gals have sprouted in church cellars, homes and vacant stores, this last year. Now, special "commercially" supported young adult clubs are coming in even bigger. Prominent in this hullabaloo about clubs for you, the new "TV's Hallabaloos" teen club has had a spectacular eight-month march. . . from the first in Waterford, Conn., late this spring, then the South and West (they've just jumped the Mississippi). . . with plans to hit the Pacific Coast soon. Originator John Angel, a former adult night club businessman, has sold their formula, plus training in how to run a club to suit you and your tastes to responsible local businessmen (franchise costs $15,000) in over 20 cities. . . insisting parents be invited to inspect each club before it opens. Clubs consist of a dance floor that'll take 600 swingers, soft but brightly colored lighting, a hurricane of sound and controlled tornado of dancing. . . plus a handful of strict rules that teens can feel responsible about — open only Friday or Saturday evenings (or before school holidays) from 8 to 11 p.m., no alcoholic drinks, admission only to 14 to 20-year-olds and no readmission once you leave the premises. More than 70 of these TV Hullabaloo Scene clubs are contracted for, right now — 1,000 are predicted by 1970.

NOW: Keep your eyes and ears cocked for the new type of ammunition the music industry is beginning to unlimber. Consists of tight-wound cartridges of tunes on tape that you pop into a new type of "cartridge player" that looks about like a transistor radio. You can set this down anywhere at any angle, or walk around dangling it. You get much longer playing than from records. . . up to several hours. This big switch in "canned" music has been looming for some time. Started with tapes and cartridge players in automobiles. Now the big music moguls are preparing to push cartridges hard against traditional records for home and portable playing. The main ammunition will be taped to your tastes. . . with the top musical cartridges manufactured to your r'n'r preferences, then pop music generally, plus some classical. This Christmas marked their first big season. You'll find the cartridges costing less per tune than records generally, but requiring a cartridge player (they start at $30.50).

CAPITALIST HERO OF YOUNG COMMUNIST POLAND: Polish youth at a technical college in Warsaw, asked to pick the hero of this era, skipped all Communists. Their choice stresses the loud worries of the Red press that today's youth is failing to communism. . . that it is "free-loading" instead of believing in Marxist society. Sharp warnings have been issued that Red "ideological instruction" should be stepped up. Why all the fuss?—Because the Polish students picked as their hero the same man polls show you go for, too, as the top hero of these times — John F. Kennedy. —The Editors

Russian Scientists Say Moon is Living, Breathing Organism

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russian scientists have established the moon is "a living, breathing organism," the Soviet news agency Tass said Monday. The Tass report explained that Soviet scientists had discovered only "geological life" and not, so far, animal or vegetable life on the moon. It revealed that astronomers in Leningrad and Moscow had studied what may be lunar volcanoes or eruptions of lunar dust in two of the moon's craters.

The report followed the successful completion of the first study of the moon's surface by a "miniature laboratory"—Russia's Luna 13 spaceship which shot a metal probe into the moon's crust and reported back that it was about as firm as the soil on earth. "By now, parallel with the study of the lunar surface by Luna 13, observations from the earth have confirmed that the moon is not a dead body, but a living, breathing organism," Tass said. It reported that astronomer Nina Petrova, of Leningrad's Pulkovo observatory, has discovered a special glow in the area of the crater Kepler. "Almos" simultaneously, at the end of last year, a manifestation of the moon's geological life was recorded by Moscow astronomer Mikhail Pospergel. Tass said these discoveries confirmed the claim of Leningrad's Prof. Nikolai Kozyrev three years ago that "Aristarch crater, a fiery dot at the eastern rim of the planet has a smoke, gas or maybe dust rising over it."

In 1945, Congress officially recognized the "Pledge of Allegiance" to the flag.

SLAMS DOOR (UPI)—Chief Fire Officer William Middleton notified residents that his men would no longer help them unless their lives or property were endangered. The nine repeatedly locked themselves out of their homes and called the fire department to help them get in. Middleton reached the end of his patience when a woman locked herself out three times this past week.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International. WASHINGTON (UPI)—According to The Reporter, a magazine which specializes in intellectual matters, the three daily newspapers here now print a combined total of 63 comic strips.

I do not know, whether this makes Washington the comic strip capital of the nation, but it is undoubtedly a leading center of cartoon culture. The reason for that is obvious.

People here enjoy reading comic strips because it is like looking into a mirror.

As The Reporter points out, the trend is toward "creeping profundity." Many comic strips "are involved in political and social significance, either through parable or direct commentary."

Comically significant Washington, of course, is a hotbed of political and social significance. So when people here say, "I'll see you in the funny papers," they probably mean it.

Commerce Secretary John T. Connor turned up in one strip not long ago and numerous other governmental figures have been depicted either in person or in obvious characterization.

I'll leave it to someone more erudite than I to figure out what the upshot of this is. What interests me is the apparent trend toward comic strip interchangeability.

By that I mean a character from one strip making a guest appearance in another strip.

Recently, for example, a character from "Peanuts" showed up in the "Beetle Bailey" strip and someone who looks a lot like "Little Orphan Annie" currently is lurking around in "Li'l Abner."

I am all in favor of this and would like to see more of it. I can think of one situation where it would be particularly advantageous.

Physicist Believes No Antimissile System Can Prevent Nuclear Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the nation's leading nuclear physicists believes there is no antimissile system that can protect a nation from nuclear attack.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a member of the team of scientists that produced the world's first atomic bomb, told UPI in an interview Sunday, "I believe that for every wrinkle you introduce into defense there are 10 more wrinkles that can be introduced into the power of the offense."

Whether to spend the billions of dollars needed to build America's Nike-X antimissile system is certain to be the hottest defense question facing the new 90th Congress when it convenes this month.

Last November Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported that the Russians had begun to deploy an antimissile system.

His announcement touched off demands in Congress that the United States speed up development of the Nike-X system, cost estimates of which range from a low of $3 billion to a high of $30 billion.

The United States is understood to be sounding out the Russians on a possible moratorium on antimissile development in hopes of heading off a costly new spiral in the world arms race.

Lapp warned of the danger that an antimissile system might become the equivalent of France's World War II Maginot Line.

"The Germans simply went around it," he said. "An enemy could go around an antimissile system, too. For example, he could patrol eight or 10 submarines 100 or 200 miles off the West Coast of the United States. Each submarine could be equipped with 'dirty' nuclear missiles, each equivalent to one billion tons of TNT which could be exploded in the atmosphere at that point. There would be no way to avoid the radioactive fallout which would coat much of the United States with lethal radioactivity and contaminate crops for decades to come."

The Communist Chinese, he said, had submarines which they could use in this manner.

Oil Allowable Up In 1965

By United Press International

The Vietnam war boosted demand for Texas crude oil in 1966.

The Texas Railroad Commission, regulatory body for the industry, noted in a year-end report that the permitted allowable began climbing in November, 1965.

With the exception of June and September, the allowable has been going up ever since. It was set at 37.5 per cent of potential for January. Eighteen months ago, 30 per cent was considered high.

Keeping pace with the increased demand for oil from the nation's No. 1 petroleum producer, there have been 6,975 oil well completions in Texas, up from 6,629 through mid-December, 1965.

Gas wells completed through a similar period this year totaled 2,222 compared with 2,340 in 1965, a drop in this category, the Railroad Commission figures show.

Other Reasons Cited

Besides the Vietnam war, output in the petroleum industry has moved to a higher level because of a growing population, rising incomes, and increasing industrial activity, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas noted.

Demand for crude oil and refined petroleum products will undoubtedly remain very high, said Raynal Hammetton, an economist for the bank.

A spokesman for the oil industry, W. A. Landreth of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, foresees a big year ahead in 1967—like the peak established 11 years ago.

"A number of the large companies which provide a big share of the market for Texas oil are predicting a growth in demand next year in the range of 3 per cent increase over this year," Landreth said.

"If this proves to be the case, Texas should exceed the total crude production figures it reached with 1,107,808,000 barrels in 1956."

Well Over Billion

The association estimates Texas production will hit about 1,077,698,000 barrels in 1966.

Robert J. Anderson, the transplanted Texan who formerly was secretary of the Navy and is now chairman of Atlantic Richfield Oil Co., Philadelphia, thinks the petroleum industry will be affected less than other industries during 1967 by the general slowdown expected in the U.S. economy.

"The oil industry generally can look for a 10 per cent increase in after-tax profits for the year, compared with no more than 5 per cent for the average of other industries," Anderson said.

Landreth said optimism generated by prospects for continued strong demand for Texas oil and gas is tempered by a number of factors.

He said although the volume of crude produced may reach the total set in 1966, the average price is still about 12 cents a barrel less than the top level reached in 1957 at $3.11 a barrel.

Landreth said "another significant cost item to Texas operators is taxes. Increases in volumes and prices will be reflected in higher income for the state treasury. It is estimated that currently state taxes paid by oil and gas operators are running approximately $242 million a year, an all-time high yield."

Five European Newspapers Have More Freedom Than Those in US

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Newspapers in five West European nations are freer than those in the United States, the University of Missouri announced Sunday.

The announcement was based on a survey of freedom of the press in the United States and Europe. The university hopes eventually to extend the study to every country of more than 1 million population.

The university's Freedom of Information Center said the survey indicated that the United States ranks behind the Netherlands, Switzerland, Finland, Norway and Sweden in press freedom.

The center said one Communist country, Yugoslavia, ranked above two non-Communist countries—Spain and Portugal—in press freedom. With that exception, the Iron Curtain countries were at the bottom of the list, with Russia exceeded only by Romania and Albania as the most restrictive.

Dr. Paul Fisher, center director, said the "press independence and critical ability (PICA) index" was designed to measure the independence of a nation's press and broadcasting system and its ability to criticize its own local and national governments. Veteran native newsmen and outside experts scored each country according to 23 different factors.

The ratings, based on a range of plus 4 for absolute freedom and minus 4 for absolute control, were: the Netherlands 3.25, Switzerland 3.14, Finland 3.05, Norway 2.8, Sweden 2.77, United States 2.71, Denmark 2.68, Belgium 2.58, England 2.57, West Germany 2.36, Ireland 2.26, Austria 2.05, France 2.04, Italy 2.02, Greece 1.37, and Yugoslavia 0.09.

The countries where press restrictions were the tightest were Portugal -1.43, Spain -1.56, Hungary -1.72, Czechoslovakia -2.45, Poland -2.63, Bulgaria -2.72, East Germany -3.05, Russia -3.08, Romania -3.20, and Albania -3.51.

The study included magazines and broadcast media.
