

Mao May Enforce Power With Army

HONG KONG (UPI)—Red China's three-million man army is fully behind Communist party leader Mao Tse-tung in China's power struggle, a ranking official said today. It was an ominous warning to Mao's opponents, indicating that military forces might be used to repel any further resistance to the aging party chairman's "cultural revolution."

Tension Mounts In Disputes Of Israel and Syria

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel said today it was victimized by a series of terrorist weekend attacks and warned that its border dispute with Syria has hit "the point at which we cannot put up with any more."

Foreign Minister Abba Eban issued the warning to Israel's northern Arab neighbor only hours after U.N. Secretary General Thant told both nations that "at any moment" their border clashes could erupt into full-scale war.

Charging Syria and other Arab nations with weekend incidents of terrorist bombings and explosions, Eban said: "We want the world and Syria to understand we have reached the point at which we cannot put up with any more things of this kind."

The warning came as Israel released a communique which charged that Arab terrorists blasted a vital water supply line with three explosive charges Sunday night in western Galilee—500 yards from the Lebanese frontier, but also a short distance from the Syrian border.

There were no casualties reported, but the communique said the "lifeline" water carrier was damaged. Later today, the Israeli government announced that three anti-vehicle mines were discovered just one-half mile from the Syrian border. Israeli troops were reported to have disarmed the mines.

Eban also charged that Syrian tanks and other heavy weapons have been moved up to the 48-mile long frontier with Israel. This, he said, forced a "corresponding Israeli move." (As Eban spoke, a new Arab guerrilla group in Beirut, Lebanon, claimed responsibility for a weekend series of mine explosions inside Israel.)

Baker Trial Will Rest On Judge's Decision Of Government 'Bugging'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal District Court Judge Oliver Gasch faced a crucial decision today on whether to continue the Bobby Baker trial or throw it out because of admitted government "bugging" of its star witness.

Gasch ordered arguments on a defense motion challenging the not-yet-given testimony of Washington lawyer lobbyist Wayne L. Bromley.

The challenge was made because Bromley was equipped with electronic eavesdropping devices on two occasions when he talked with Baker, former Senate Democratic secretary, while a federal grand jury investigation was in process.

The grand jury indicted Baker on nine counts of tax evasion, larceny and fraud in connection with his lucrative and free-wheeling business deals while a trusted Senate employe.

The arguments were expected to last about an hour; Gasch indicated he would rule immediately on the constitutional issues raised by Baker's defense lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams.

In his formal motion, Williams asserted that by using Bromley as a "walking bug" the government has violated Baker's constitutional protection against illegal search and seizure.

U.S. Atty. William O. Bittman, in reply, acknowledged that Bromley had been fitted with a transmitting microphone when he visited Baker on March 25, 1965, at a Los Angeles hotel. The government also admitted its agents were able to listen in on a conversation between Baker and Bromley the following day.

But, Bittman contended, the bugging was arranged because of fears that Baker might be trying to persuade Bromley to lie to the grand jury.

Three Escapees Held On Shooting Charge

CANADIAN, Tex. (UPI)—Three Indiana men, two of whom were accused of shooting an Oklahoma town marshal, were held without bond today in this Texas Panhandle town.

Justice of the Peace Boyd Williams, acting as a U.S. commissioner, arraigned the men, Jerry Joe De Long, 18; James Elmer Coomer, 16, and Thomas Scott De Long, brother of Jerry, all of Princeton, Ind., Sunday on charges of taking a stolen car across a state line.

Jerry De Long and Coomer escaped from Putnamville, Ind., State Prison Farm Tuesday night.

They were accused of stealing a car in Cloverdale, Ind., along with two shotguns and a .38 caliber revolver.

Jerry De Long was serving a sentence for breaking and entering and Coomer for car theft.

Pampa Highway Patrolman Stanley Schneider along with Sheriff Jim Cloyd and game warden George Farr of Shamrock captured the men Saturday night in a brushy area outside

The article also revealed that anti-Mao forces had jailed persons opposing them, but gave no other details.

In other developments: Premier Chou En-lai ordered striking workers crowding into Peking to return home and branded them as "counter-revolutionaries" according to the correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Sankei Shimbun.

Travelers arriving in Hong Kong reported heavy clashes in southern Fukien Province facing Nationalist China. The clashes resulted in deaths in Amoy, Foochow and Chunchow.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda informed its readers for the time Sunday of clashes in Nanking early this month in which 84 persons were reported killed and 900 injured.

Bombers Strike Hanoi Fuel Dump

Soldiers Discover V.C. Prison Camp

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force fighter bombers penetrated North Vietnam's deadliest defenses and for the first time in nearly a month struck the Hanoi area dump which supplies its Communist MIG jets with fuel, spokesmen said today.

Spokesmen said the American F105 Thunderchief pilots met several flights of advanced Russian-built MIG 21s in the raid Sunday on the Ha Gia jet fuel depot on the fringe of Hanoi's major air base. No dogfights were reported.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese soldiers stumbled on Vietnam's worst prison camp massacre. The government troops reported finding the bodies of 44 men, women and children who were stabbed, shot or killed with hand grenades by their fleeing Viet Cong captors.

The Ha Gia depot was the target of the last U.S. attack on the Hanoi area on Dec. 19. It supplies fuel to the Phuc Yen MIG base three miles away, and is located 14 and one-half miles from the center of Hanoi.

The MIGs based at Phuc Yen defend not only the capital, but the industrialized Red River Valley to the north and the region southeastward to the port of Haiphong. The prime objective of attacks on the fuel depot is to immobilize MIG defenses.

The Viet Cong massacre was reported Sunday from two guerrilla outposts 500 yards apart in jungles 100 miles southwest of Saigon. Government spokesmen said Viet Cong guards bound most of the prisoners in groups of eight and killed them while other guerrillas held off the advancing Vietnamese troops.

The spokesman said only six of 50 prisoners at the camp escaped the massacre by faking death. Two women and two children were among those killed.

Another Vietnamese Ranger battalion operating only four miles from the massacre encountered a Viet Cong force and killed 74 without suffering any casualties, the government reported. Most of the guerrillas reported killed were struck by Vietnamese.

In other U.S. air raids on North Vietnam, F105 pilots reported strikes against two surface-to-air missile (SAM) sites within 15 miles of the capital. The Viet Tri railway, 31 miles northwest, and the Trai Ca highway and rail bridge, 40 miles north of Hanoi, also were struck.

American B52 bombers staged three raids in South Vietnam, spokesmen said. The targets included guerrilla base camps 280 miles northeast of Saigon, just west of Hue and south of Marine positions along the (See HANOI, Page 3)

Lurleen Takes Oath of Office

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Lurleen Burns Wallace took the oath of office today as Alabama's first woman governor and the third in the history of the nation.

The honey blonde former dime store clerk succeeds her husband in a family affair inauguration which evolved when the legislature refused to change laws to allow George Wallace to succeed himself as governor. Wallace ran his wife for the post and she won handsily.

Mrs. Wallace, standing on a bronze star on the steps of the Alabama statehouse where Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of the Confederacy 106 years ago, took the oath following the longest parade ever in Alabama—a five-hour extravaganza of 300 units.

She used the same tattered Bible Davis used to complete the latest chapter in her Cinderella story.

Fair skies and balmy temperatures combined with the magnetism of the Wallaces drew thousands for the swearing-in ceremonies at the capitol, gleaming white with a fresh coat of paint especially for the event.

Mrs. Wallace began her big day at 6:45 a.m. CST with a traditional prayer breakfast, along with her husband and Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer and several other state leaders.

Mrs. Wallace was introduced by her husband at 2:50 p.m. and delivered her inaugural address at 4 p.m.

Gov. and Mr. Wallace were expected to return to their white-columned mansion after the oath-taking ceremonies while several Alabama legislators and their ladies staged a renegade inaugural ball.

The Wallaces broke tradition by refusing to sanction an official ball out of deference to Alabamians fighting in Vietnam.

The only other women ever to serve as governors were Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming and Mrs. Miriam (Ma) Ferguson of Texas, both elected in 1924.

Snow Storm Rages Over Great Plains

By United Press International

A howling storm packing rain, sleet and snow and whipped by winds ranging up to 85 miles an hour, raked the western Great Plains today as it marched eastward.

The low pressure system which spawned the storm in the northern Rocky Mountains also dropped temperatures to near zero levels over a vast section stretching from Montana to the upper Mississippi Valley as far south as Iowa and Missouri.

Hazardous driving warnings were hoisted today for the Dakotas, Minnesota and northern portions of Iowa and Nebraska.

Winds gusting to 85 m.p.h. buffeted Livingston, Mont., Sunday night. Billings, Mont., reported gusts up to 72 m.p.h. Both television stations in Billings were knocked off the air when power lines were felled.

Shelby, Mont., received three inches of snow along with the high winds. Temperatures dropped 20 degrees in less than an hour.

A group of 13 mountain climbers and skiers narrowly missed death Sunday when an avalanche crashed down on them in a canyon southeast of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Authorities said only one person was known to have required hospital treatment but that many members of the ski party were hurt when partially buried.

Four inches of new snow fell at Minot, N.D., as the vicious storm moved in Sunday.

The snow was expected to spread into the Great Lakes region later today and tonight. Snow flurries spawned by the leading fringe of the storm persisted from the Great Lakes to the Appalachians.

Dense fog plagued the California coast today, forcing the closing of Los Angeles International Airport.

Clear skies dominated the southern half of the nation today except for sections of Florida which reported lingering light showers.

Mansfield, Dirksen Back LBJ Efforts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's efforts to reach agreement with the Russians against deployment of costly antimissile systems have won the backing of the Senate's two leaders.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois agreed, in effect, in separate interviews during the weekend.

Mansfield predicted that "costs will increase on both sides and increased tension could well be the inevitable result" if there is no Soviet-American agreement.

Dirksen said he did not think the United States knew enough about Soviet progress in the anti-ballistic missile (AMB) field to decide whether an American system should be developed.

Weekend Road Deaths Hit 22

By United Press International

Multiple fatality highway accidents helped send Texas weekend violent death toll zooming.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday showed at least 31 violent deaths, 22 of them highway fatalities.

The worst accidents occurred near Athens and in Corpus Christi, taking three lives each. An automobile struck an overpass pillar on an expressway Friday night, killing Encarnacion Gonzalez, 42; Adalio H. Garcia, 36, and Thomas Arriga, 42 all of Corpus Christi.

Charles Ward 33; Porter Henderson, 79, and Teddy Bob Buford, 16, all of Athens were killed in a pileup involving three cars Friday night.

A two-car smashup on U.S. 81 four miles north of Itasca, Tex. Saturday killed Max Hernandez and Raymond Corpus, 22, both of Fort Worth.

Thomas W. McClure, 70, of Lubbock was killed Sunday when his pickup truck overturned on U.S. 84 eight miles northwest of Post.

Gilbert L. Garza, 39, of Edinburg was killed Sunday night when his car overturned on Texas 105 some five miles east of Edinburg.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Transportation Co. (PTC) and the Transport Workers Union (TWU) reached a contract settlement today ending a one-day citywide strike which halted all bus, trolley car and subway-elevated service in the nation's fourth largest city.

The strike, which began at 11:01 p.m., CST Sunday, was halted before its full effect was felt with the onset of the Monday morning rush hour. Transit spokesmen said full service would be restored by about 9 a.m., today.

The contract settlement provides a 51-cent hourly package for 5,000 PTC operating and maintenance employes.

PTC President Albert Lyons said there was a "strong possibility" that the present 22 cent tokens would be eliminated and the 25 cent cash fare would be increased.

The contract agreement, subject to ratification by TWO Local 234, provided an immediate 15 cent an hour wage boost, another 15 cents next Jan. 15 and 12 cents in July 15, 1968. The present hourly rate is $2.95.

The settlement also contained an increase in fringe benefits worth five cents an hour now and another four cents next year.

Mayor James H. T. Tate Sunday took charge of negotiations between the company and the Transport Workers. City representatives, with orders to "take all necessary steps to each a settlement by Monday morning," brought company and union negotiators together for a marathon session Sunday night. The mayor was critical of federal and state mediators for failure to avert the walkout.

Board Dissolves Pampa's Junior College District

The Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System took action this morning in Austin to dissolve Pampa as a dormant junior college district and thus also dissolved a 22-year plan to establish a junior college here.

The Pampa Junior College District was established Nov. 6, 1944, but the plan failed to be put into operation within the time required by law.

The coordinating board took the action under its policy to remove dormant districts from the state in preparation for establishment of a Higher Education Master Plan.

Dr. John Dameron, superintendent of schools, attended this morning's meeting in Austin, but did not appear before the board to protest the action.

Pampa school officials opened a school of night classes in September in an effort to keep the Junior College program activated and are now instructing about 300 students in technical and vocational fields.

In a long distance call to the News today, Dr. Dameron said school officials plan to seek approval of the Texas Education Agency for a Pampa Vocational and Technical Institute.

"We plan to continue to offer night classes in Pampa High School and hope that we can meet the needs of the adult students by the continuance of these night classes."

Junior college districts in Brazosport and Collins County, also up for review at this morning's board meeting, were granted a year's extension of time in which to establish junior colleges.

Fire Destroys Exhibition Hall

CHICAGO (UPI)—Fire destroyed at least half of Chicago's huge, $35 million McCormick Place Exhibition Hall on the shores of Lake Michigan today, twisting steel girders like pretzels and sending tons of concrete roofing smashing through the floors.

No known casualties or injuries were reported, but Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn estimated damage at between $10 and $20 million—with a guess that the final figure would be close to $20 million.

The blaze which swept the low, rambling hall which stretches for three blocks along Chicago's lakefront came a few hours before one of Chicago's largest annual merchandising shows—the National Housewares Manufacturers Association convention—was to open at McCormick Place.

The blaze apparently broke out in the main exhibition hall where the housewares convention was scheduled to be centered.

Edmund Valliquet, division fire marshal in charge of arson, said private detectives stationed in the building told him the fire appeared to start "with an electric spark" and spread like wildfire.

The flames "jumped to the drapes and in a few minutes raced all the way across the ceiling," Valliquet said.

A half hour after the blaze broke out at 2 a.m. CST the north ceiling of McCormick place, located over the main exhibition hall, collapsed. The south ceiling followed.

In the early morning darkness along the lakeshore, the standing walls of the modernistic structure loomed like teeth gaps.

Four hundred and seventy-five firemen and 100 pieces of equipment fought the blaze which swept McCormick Place, one of the world's largest exhibition halls.

McCormick Place was erected just six years ago as Chicago's bid to insure its place as America's convention capital.

It attracted an estimated 4 million visitors a year and housed many of the largest conventions in the country.

Dear Abby...

Pros, Cons Given On Knucklerapping

DEAR ABBY: Re your answer to the teacher about discipline: You said the teacher who needed anything other than language to discipline a child, be it a ruler, a dunce cap, or adhesive tape, is in the wrong profession.

Well, I think YOU are in the wrong profession, giving advice like that.

In most cases language is all that is needed, but not all children can be handled alike, and for some a board works wonders.

Teachers have a hard enough time already without your making their job harder. If you continue to give such advice it may be time to administer some adhesive take to YOUR mouth.

A PRINCIPAL

ed and tested psychologically to determine whether he is qualified to teach children.

I hope this becomes universal. It will help raise the level of teachers, but unfortunately, it cannot eliminate those who are emotionally unqualified to teach, but are already in the system.

FOR YOU

DEAR ABBY: Re how a teacher should discipline a child: Some forty years ago, when I was a young, inexperienced elementary school teacher, on the first day of school, one mother came to visit me with her little eight-year-old son in tow.

"I am giving you permission right in front of my boy," she said, "to hit him, slap him, or to do anything you have to do to make his mind. He's a real handful at home and I'm sure he's no better at school."

Believe it or not, Abby, I never had one bit of trouble with that boy. But it was good to know that at least one mother would back me up.

STILL TEACHING

DEAR ABBY: If my child earned punishment in school, I would not object to his getting a good paddling on the rear. But let any teacher apply adhesive tape to his mouth, or hit him in the face or head, and I would have that teacher before the principal, school board, and judge, charged with assault and battery!

MOTHER AND FORMER TEACHER

DEAR ABBY: You said, "A teacher who needs anything other than language to discipline a child is in the wrong profession." Well, you don't know what you're talking about. When were you in a classroom last? The youngsters of today have no respect for their teachers and if the teacher doesn't have the authority to shake a child or give him a good crack with a ruler, she may as well give up. Children don't understand "language," but they DO understand a good, sound thrashing.

OLD SCHOOL TEACHER

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for Fellow Teacher! Too bad all children can't go to school in Europe. There they teach with a cane and they really use it. And if a child is punished in school and his parents find out about it, he gets it double when he gets home.

OLD TIMER

DEAR ABBY: I wish to commend you on the stand you took against teachers using physical means to discipline their students. In this case, a teacher taped a child's mouth shut and when the child removed the adhesive tape, he tore away part of his lip.

Thank heavens we finally recognize how much influence teachers have over our children! U. C. L. A. has a teacher-screening program. All those who hope to make teaching their career are carefully evaluated and screened. Each teacher candidate is interviewed with Mrs. H. L. Baird, leader, and Mrs. Delbert Daniels, assistant, has 14 eager members. Welcome to Scouting.

Troop 32, leader Mrs. John Malloy, Mrs. Ronald McDaniel, assistant and Mrs. Lavonia Skidmore, troop committee chairman, has fifteen active Brownies. Many of the girls in these two troops have been active in Scouting before, their names being familiar from Day Camp attendance. Good to have these back in the group.

Troop cookie orders are to be turned in to neighborhood cookie chairman by Jan. 25. Leaders make a special red mark around this date. Discussion of cookies to be ordered should be one of the main topics of troop business this week. Brownies do not sell cookies. This is one council law to be voted upon by delegates attending the banquet and business session on Jan. 27. Cookie chairmen are: Mrs. Jerry Davis, Sunrise; Mrs. Richard Stowers, Highland; and Mrs. Orley Becker, Sunset. Mrs. N. G. Kadingo is District cookie chairman. Neighborhood cookie chairmen are to turn their orders in to Mrs. Kadingo, Girl Scout office.

Troop 214 has done it again. This active troop, Mrs. O. C. Cox Jr., leader and Mrs. Archie Maness, assistant, is continually coming up with unusual ideas. The girls, while caroling during Christmas, thrilled Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crocker with their version of "We Wish You a Merry Christmas." Unusual? Not in itself but the girls had learned the sign language for this carol and performed for this couple. Being deaf, you may be sure Mr. and Mrs. Gordon appreciated the time the girls spent learning the carol. Congratulations to this troop for their thoughtfulness.

This troop also made tote bags of felt with felt animal trim to be sent to the seven Indian children in new Mexico. This is an annual activity for the troop, sending candy and gifts to these children. Five different recipes were made during a special Saturday meeting. Underneath this troop printed their own Christmas cards using linoleum block prints. This applies to ward their Cadette Graphic Art badge. Another project of the Troop was 50 cup cakes made and decorated for the Cadette event in December. Hats off to this "always-on-the-go" troop.

MALOUF ABRAHAM Reports on First Week As a State Legislator

We certainly had an eventful first week in the Legislature. We got down a few days early and found an apartment that we can afford down on Town Lake. Sure is a nice sight to walk out the front door and see a lot of water. I'll try and figure out some way to send it up to our district.

We have been especially pleased over how nice everyone has been to us. It might be just the honeymoon, but I don't think so. Have gotten pretty well acquainted with most of the other 149 members. I think being one of the three Republican members is an asset. Of course, I have had a lot of good-natured kidding but I've dishied out about as much as I've gotten. I am impressed with the caliber of the members and they are truly representative of all walks of life in our state. We have about every occupation and race and everyone seems eager to be of assistance. We have gotten our Committee assignments and I got four good committees — Education, Urban Affairs, Motor Traffic and Livestock and Stock Raising.

We are going to face a lot of problems in the Legislature, most of which involve money. Every question that comes up will have two sides and I intend to weigh the facts and do what I feel is best for our District and Texas. I am going to try and keep you posted as to what all is going on down here and hope that I can make it interesting. I will appreciate any suggestions from folks in the district that will make this report more helpful to them. I hope to give some of the pro and con on the important things that come up. I won't be able to please all of you all the time but hope to please most of you most of the time. Let us hear from you.

Lions Consider Girls' Town Aid

Voluntary assistance to Girls' Town, USA at White Face and integration of the Cripple Children's League in Kerrville, were agenda items discussed at a district cabinet meeting attended by Lions Club members yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

Approximately 225 Lions were in session here Saturday and Sunday for a mid-winter conference of District 271, Lions Clubs of Texas.

W. L. Edelman of Friona, District 271 governor, was presiding officer for the conference.

John Locke of Pampa, deputy district governor, said the cabinet meeting was for information and discussion purposes only with decisions to be made at the district convention to be attended by the 15 district governors and to be held at Dumas in April.

He said the cabinet meeting primarily served for an exchange of ideas and discussion of approaches to what Lionism can mean in terms of service to the community.

The new constitution of the Lions Club of Texas was also discussed, Locke said. "Most of the 62 presidents of the local clubs attended the meeting during which the new constitution was discussed. They are to take the details back to their own clubs for discussion," Locke explained.

Five past district governors of District 271, Lions Clubs of Texas attended the recently concluded mid-winter conference. Attending were Boyd Meador of McLean; Ralph Thomas of Pampa; James Wheeler of Amarillo; Steve Stephens of Amarillo and Sam Pagan of Shamrock.

Lombardi Biggest Winner of Them All

NEW YORK (UPI) —Vince Lombardi isn't a good loser. He isn't a particularly good winner, either, but you have to give him one thing: he sure tells the truth. As the biggest winner of all in the Super Bowl Sunday, the intense, iron-willed Green Bay coach had the perfect opportunity to be generous and gracious toward the defeated Kansas City Chiefs.

anyone else. Holding the game ball his Packer players gave him after they demolished the Chiefs, 35-10, it would have been so easy for Lombardi to say nice things about the losers when the TV people shoved a microphone in front of his face. He couldn't do it, though. "Is Kansas City a better team than Dallas?" one of his questioners asked. "I think Dallas is a better football team," he snapped right back.

Good Enough Lombardi was right again. It was far from the Packers' best performance of the season, but it was more than good enough to take the starch out of the Chiefs and end all argument as to whether they could keep up with the Packers. They almost did during the first half after which they trailed only 14-10. Small signs of panic, however, became evident in the Chiefs' playing pattern and they never really walked circuits, he saw things in a different light in Los Angeles Sunday. Pleased With Game "I think it was a tremendous show," Rozelle beamed. He then added, "it takes more than one game" to evaluate the difference between the two leagues. That's his opinion. The crowd of 63,036 for the first Super Bowl contest was a distinct disappointment. So was

Super Bowl Is Super Runaway

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Coach Vince Lombardi won't come right out and say so, but indications today were that he felt the Kansas City Chiefs got out of their league in more ways than one when they tangled with his mighty Green Bay Packers. "Kansas City is a good football team with fine speed but I'd have to say that National League football is tougher," Lombardi said Sunday after the Packers used their conservative attack to knock off the American Football League titlists, 35-10, in the first annual Super Bowl.

A crowd of 63,036 at the Memorial Coliseum, plus an estimated sixty million television viewers, watched the Packers draw away from a 7-7 deadlock to down the Chiefs behind the deft quarterbacking of Bart Starr.

ALCINDOR THE DIFFERENCE UCLA Still Unbeaten

who was suspended after being arrested on a forgery charge, was a major blow to the team. "Our team isn't unbeatable in any sense of the word," He even claims it isn't as good as his 1964-65 clubs which won back-to-back NCAA championships. But the veteran Bruin coach admits the presence of 7-foot-1 Lew Alcindor "might make this team as difficult to beat" as his two national championship clubs. Even though Alcindor is admittedly the key to the team and scored 37 points Saturday night to pace the Bruins to a 116-78 rout of Stanford, Wooden insists, "Most people still expect too much of Alcindor."

The modest NFL player of the year, who is paid to locate a team's defensive weakness then wreck it with passes, did just that to the Chiefs and helped earn himself and each Packer teammate $15,000 in winners' money. Consolidation Prize Kansas City had to settle for the losers' cut of $7,500 which still isn't bad for an afternoon's work. If there had to be a goat in the game, the spotlight would fall on defensive halfback Willie Mitchell of the Chiefs who was burned by two touchdown passes from Starr to Max McGee.

Starr had a better day than his K.C. counterpart, quarterback Len Dawson. Starr hit on 16 passes out of 23 attempts for 250 yards gained and threw one interception. It was the first theft to be recorded against him since he had one picket off last October by the Chicago Bears.

UCLA is now 12-0 and favored to win the NCAA crown this March. Wooden said the loss of veteran forwards Ed Lacey, who is sidelined for the season with an injury, and Mike Lynn, three players averaging in double figures, including Larry Kiser, 6'3 forward with an 11.3 average, Pat McKean, 6'2 guard, 13.2 and Leland Pitts, 6'4 center at 14.2.

Pampa, in first half play, suffered losses to Monterey, at Lubbock and Tascosa, at Pampa and beat the champion Sandies on the Harvesters home court.

The second half shapes up as a real dog fight with Pampa, Amarillo, Tascosa and Monterey expected to battle it out for the title.

The second half winner, unless it happens to be Amarillo, will play the first half winner for the overall title.

In other games Tuesday night Caprock (5-15) plays at Tascosa (15-4); Plainview (8-15) is at Borger (9-9); Amarillo (15-2) at Lubbock (2-18) and Coronado (10-11) vs. Monterey (17-5).

Friday Tascosa is at Palo Duro, Amarillo at Comonado, Lubbock at Caprock, Pampa at Plainview and Monterey at Borger.

SEARCH CONTINUES CONISTON, England (UPI) — Police surface launches continue the search today for the body of world speed ace Donald Campbell.

Navy divers abandoned their search Sunday when Lt. Cdr. John Fletcher said, "Every likely spot has been eliminated without finding any trace of Campbell." Campbell was killed Jan. 8 when his jet-powered Bluebird crashed at more than 300 miles per hour.

Vince Right, Chiefs Still Too Young for NFL Teams

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers may have temporarily ended the battle of words between National and American Football League enthusiasts, but the vanquished Kansas City Chiefs are ready to play the Super Bowl again—today, if necessary. Coach Vince Lombardi and the Packers refused to say "anything detrimental" about the Chiefs after they won 35-10 Sunday.

But in the next dressing room over at the Memorial Coliseum, Chief mentor Hank Stram, and his players all agreed that one game is not sufficient evidence of the superiority of the NFL.

While Lombardi was opining that the "Chiefs don't rate with the top teams in the National Football League," Stram was praising for running and passing well against the veteran Packers, who have been under the strain of championship competition many times before.

Key Play "We played well in the first half and at the start of the second half," Stram explained. "But that interception by (Willie) Wood changed the complexion of the game."

Besides Wood's key theft in the third quarter with the score only 14-10, Stram pointed to the clutch third down calls made by Packer quarterback Bart Starr. "It is imperative not to give them anything easy," Stram said. "We did and it cost us. But like I said before, one game is not a true test of the abilities of both leagues." Defensive tackle Buck Buchanan chimed in, "Today they were a better team, but I'd like to play them against next year or next week or even tomorrow, if necessary. And linebacker Bobby Bell stated that the AFL-NFL championship proved only that the Packers put on their football uniforms just the same as we do."

Starr seconded his coach's opinion. "We followed the same game plan exactly in the second half as in the first," the 11-year veteran said. "We made no changes at halftime. We just didn't execute properly in the first half."

The Chiefs were not covering in their dressing quarters after the disappointing setback. "The Packers aren't super human," rookie running back Mike Garrett said. "We made mistakes, but we'll be back."

Garrett foresees the Chiefs winning the AFL title "for the next two or three seasons. Then we'll be happy to take on the Packers again."

Looking Back

Fifty-four years ago this spring, in 1913, a young Congressman drafted an income tax bill. His name: Cordell Hull. The bill provided for a normal tax of one percent. On large incomes it rose as high as six percent. Every taxpayer had a personal exemption of $3,000 and an additional $1,000 if married. The head of a family who had a $20,000 net annual income had to ante up $160 to Washington.

A year later, in January of 1914, a man named Henry Ford, not very well known across the nation in those days, announced that henceforth he would pay his workers a minimum wage of $5 a day for an 8-hour day—about three times the national average.

Now which of those two events would you suppose stirred up the greatest furor in the press? The Henry Ford announcement wins, hands down. Even the war in Mexico moved to the inside pages. Some papers editorialized that the American free-enterprise system would be destroyed.

Others thought that the workers would foolishly squander their money and realize no gain from it. The issue was debated wherever two gathered together. Some hailed the move as "an epoch in the world's industrial history." Others alleged that "the workers will be robbed of their independence by Ford's paternalism."

Henry Ford made the working man a buyer of goods, even luxury goods, a consumer and an investor. This country, and every other in the world, felt the influence of that announcement in Detroit 53 years ago this month.

Time passed, and Cordell Hull became Secretary of State. The basic exemption on the income tax was trimmed 80 percent.

The basic tax was increased more than 20 times.

The value of the dollar depreciated some 55 percent.

As this is written, union plumbers in New York announce acceptance of a new contract calling for $8.59—an hour.

In Washington, however, the talk is of a 5 percent surtax on personal and corporate income in 1967.

Businessmen continue to put increasing amounts of money into the pay envelope.

But we continue to send men to Washington who take it away even faster.

Repeat Performance

There's an old saying that "the more things change the more they stay the same." This is certainly true when it comes to the way in which the Communists wage psychological warfare.

Right now we are being subjected to a propaganda barrage demanding that we "Get Out of Vietnam." This ultimatum, ordained by the Red High Command, is being repeated ceaselessly, not just by Communists but by many others. And some of them, we suspect, know exactly what they are doing. And for whom.

However, there's nothing new about this kind of propaganda. In the early 1950's we were being ordered, often by the very same people, to "Get Out of Korea." Ignored was the fact that it was the Communists, not the Americans, who had overrun a nation, but the blame was placed on us. We were expected to get out so that South Korea could be "liberated."

As "proof" that we were barbarians, the Communists made charges that we resorted to germ warfare in Korea. But so good a selling job did they do that many people came to believe their Big Lie. Today, the Big Lie is that American G.I.s systematically seek out and destroy the women and children in the villages of Vietnam. The success of this propaganda may be judged from the fact that even in this country there's a strange amount of emphasis on news—and news pictures—of this sort.

Actually the start of the "Get Out . . ." propaganda routine dates back to China. The Chinese communists, under Mao, were trying to seize control of the country from Chiang Kai-shek. In this they had the help of Soviet Russia and many people in high places here in the United States. However, pro-Communists feared that the United States might insist that the USSR live up to its treaties with China and help Chiang to overcome the Communist rebels. So we were ordered to "Get Out of China." We got, and today more than a half billion once friendly people are ruled by our avowed enemies.

Most of the people who said we had to "Get Out of China" were not Communists, but by conditioning Americans to accept Communist rule of Asia they made a monumental contribution to World Communism.

And there's no sense in listening to the same kind of advice from the same kind of people today.

A thought for the day—Scottish historian and essayist Thomas Carlyle said: "True humor springs not more from the head than from the heart; it is not contempt, its essence is love."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Spain isn't going to let us get away with a "hit" recording by Senator Everett Dirksen. The Spaniards have put out an album about the life and accomplishments of Franco, which will be priced at $50. At this writing we'll bet all 10 LP records will top the Madrid hit parade . . . New York has had two Madison Square Gardens and the third is now being constructed. The first was actually located at Madison Square and was the product of that architectural genius, Stanford White.

The second was a huge arena on Eighth Ave., between 49th and 50th Streets, and the third will be on the site of the old Pennsylvania Station. It will be opened later this year, and although it doesn't appear to be very much these days the management is already scheduling dates for next fall and winter.

Today's smile: Our favorite teen-ager told us about a country doctor on his way to see a patient and saw a well in a farm yard. He stopped to look, tripped over a stone and fell into the well. She asked if we knew the moral of that story and, of course, we didn't. She said: "A doctor should take care of the sick and leave the well alone." Oh Brother!

We've been using pipe cleaners for years to clean the residue of tobacco from our favorite briars. It came as a surprise to learn from a housewife that she had found a dozen other uses for them. She uses them for hair curlers, cleaning gas stove burners, fastening plants and vines, cleaning the indicator on her coffee percolator, oiling table lighters, her sewing machine and the family typewriter. Well, you learn something every day.

Thoughts while shaving: Just heard about a fellow who received some of that junk mail addressed to "Occupant." He scribbled on the envelope "Unknown Here" and dropped it back in the mail box. . . . Another fellow received an appeal for a contribution to a charitable organization, which was also addressed to "Occupant." He wrote a big cheque and sent it to the organization, but signed the cheque "Occupant." . . . If you've wondered why so many persons use air travel in preference to other means of getting there these days you'll find the answer in the way plane fares have dropped through the years. Just 20 years ago it cost almost $600 for a round-trip flight from New York to London, but today you can make the same journey for about $225, less than half. In addition today's jets get you there in half the time it took for an ocean crossing 20 years ago, and more comfortably too. . . . The Sacramento (Calif.) BEE reported in a story: "Her death was apparently caused by an overdose of sleeping pills." At any rate she overdosed.

Country Editor speaking: "The worst part of a diet is not watching your food—it's watching others eat."

165 Million Giveaway to Poland, Amounting To Illegal Large Scale Economic Aid, Charged by Gruening

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The State Department is preparing to give Communist-ruled Poland — which is providing large quantities of arms and numerous freighters to carry other Iron Curtain war supplies to North Vietnam — a $65 million hand-out.

That is the amount due the U. S. in the next five years for huge stocks of surplus farm products sold under Public Law 480.

Since 1957 Poland has obtained $538.23 million in such food — thus saving its people from dire privation. Under a series of eight agreements covering these purchases paid for in the local currency, the Communist Warsaw government pledged to redeem its zlotys in dollars over specified periods.

It has repeatedly failed to live up to these written commitments. A detailed report by the Senate Subcommittee on Foreign Aid Expenditures, headed by Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, discloses that only $3 million has so far been collected from Poland, and that since last October it is in default of $32 million.

Capping this default, and despite the Warsaw regime's extensive aid to North Vietnam and frequent castigation of U.S. policies, the State Department is considering deferring not only the defaulted $32 million but another $33 million due in the next five years. Neither these obligations nor the more than one-half billion in zlotys to this country's credit in Poland draw a cent of interest.

"This represents a loss of $27 million each year in interest," Senator Gruening caustically points out, "which would otherwise have been available to alleviate our balance-of-payments difficulties. The decision of the State Department to defer dollar payments due from Poland in 1962 through 1966 has resulted in a loss of dollar interest earnings of about $5 million."

Another important factor forcefully stressed by Gruening is the danger of setting a costly precedent, as follows:

"Waiver of Poland's dollar obligations on past Public Law 480 sales may well be taken by that country and others as an indication that dollar obligations are subject to waiver whenever foreign exchange difficulties are experienced. This can easily turn the 'sales' program into a grant program — a situation clearly not contemplated by Congress."

"At a time when the U.S. is involved in a costly war and when severe cuts are being made in expenditures for our domestic programs, it is astonishing to find the State Department even contemplating forgiving a half-billion dollars of Poland's indebtedness — an indebtedness incurred by Poland to buy food to feed its own people because the Communist agricultural system has failed, as it has in other Communist countries." ONE-WAY STREET — Jarring as these disclosures are, they are only part of the story. Others detailed in Senator Gruening's comprehensive report are:

—Poland has done nothing whatever about making restitution on some $337 million in pre-World War II debts. Says Gruening: "Poland has made no payment on either the principal or the accrued interest in more than 30 years, and it is not likely that the U.S. will ever receive any payment on these obligations of the Polish government."

The U.S. has been grossly overcharged in leasing land for an embassy in Warsaw. John Cabot, former ambassador to Poland, characterized the price demanded as "preposterously expensive and a hold-up." Declares Gruening, "It is estimated that equivalent land in Washington could be obtained at one-tenth the cost. Similarly, Ambassador Cabot protested the extremely high cost of rental housing for the embassy staff under rates set by the city of Warsaw which, according to him, must be paid in dollars."

Not only has the U.S. been overcharged in these excessive charges, but also in the exchange rate of zlotys for dollars. Gruening reveals that the PL 480 agreements with Poland "provide for payment in zlotys, later convertible to dollars at a rate of 24 zlotys to one U.S. dollar. This vastly overvalues the zloty since the realistic rate, as evidenced by other transactions approved by the Polish government in converting dollars to zlotys, places the exchange rate at closer to 80 to one. Ambassador Cabot summed up this situation correctly when he stated, 'We are getting only a fraction of the commercial value of our products.'"

With one exception, the Polish agreements call for payments over 30 years; the exception for 40 years. None require payment for 10 years; and no interest is charged at any time on either the more than one-half billion dollars in zlotys or the unpaid dollars.

IRREFUTABLE CONCLUSIONS — Two conclusions are strongly highlighted by Senator Gruening:

In failing to require the Polish Communist regime to live up to its written agreements to redeem the counterpart zlotys in dollars, the State Department in effect is extending large-scale economic aid contrary to PL 480 and not contemplated by Congress; and providing Poland with immense quantities of urgently-needed food has had absolutely no effect on its Communist regime. To hammer home this finding, Gruening cites a statement by Ambassador Cabot in vigorously opposing the State Department's deferring of Poland's dollar payments: "We must recognize that since the heady days of 1956, the general trend has been for Polish authorities to tighten the screws over the people rather than to loosen them."

"The very considerable aid in military supplies which Poland has been sending to North Vietnam," continues Gruening, "and the numerous ships which Poland has assigned to carry supplies from other Communist countries to Haiphong are further indications of the validity of Ambassador Cabot's observation that PL 480 assistance has not moved Poland out of the Communist camp by one iota."

Gruening's other finding is that the vast food "sales" to Poland have been "a one-sided affair with all the benefits flowing to Poland and very little in the way of tangible benefits accruing to the U.S."

Again quoting Ambassador Cabot, Gruening summed up this point as follows:

"The benefit of the $538.23 million of agricultural commodities we have sold Poland under PL 480 accrues to the Polish Communist regime. It is no trifling benefit, but just so much help to that regime to achieve its economic objectives. In other words, if we are to extend material help which importantly strengthens the Communist bloc we should be certain that what we are receiving in return is worth as much as what we are giving."

Gruening has asked Secretary Rusk for an explanation of what is going to be done about continuing to defer dollar payments from Communist Poland — but has still to get a reply. If one isn't forthcoming soon, Rusk will be summoned before Gruening's committee for grilling.

WE PREDICT — Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin will not be reappointed when his term expires in April. Martin, Reserve chairman since 1951, has let the President know he is willing to stay or leave as the President desires. Johnson will give the job to someone else. . . . It could be Peace Corps director Jack Hood Vaughn, who rates tops with the President. Vaughn was Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs before taking over the Peace Corps last fall, where he has been doing outstandingly. . . . William Roth, former leading San Francisco businessman, will replace the late Christian Herter as U. S. representative in the Kennedy Round of trade negotiations with the Common Market. Roth was Herter's chief assistant, and is intimately familiar with the involved and intricate deliberations. He also is well liked by the White House.

Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler has changed his mind about resigning and will remain, at least, until Congress quits. Fowler has wanted to leave the Cabinet for some time; his wife strongly favors that. But the President has persuaded him to stay. . . . Stokely Carmichael, stormy "black power" proclaimer and agitator, will give up the chairmanship of SNCC in May, when his term expires. Carmichael is telling other SNCC leaders that he wants to get out of the public eye and concentrate on grassroots organizing.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Discover Wondrous Events In Unborn Child's World The world of the unborn child is not as dull and monotonous as you might suppose. Even in the uterus he can, after about four months of gestation, open and close his eyes and, if the mother stands unclothed in a well-lighted room, he can differentiate between diffuse light and total darkness. He can also hear not only his mother's heart beat (a very reassuring sound) but also outside noises such as loud music.

Since he is entirely surrounded by fluid he can move as freely as an underwater swimmer but, with all his thrashing around, there is no danger that he will get tangled up in the umbilical cord and strangle. The cord is made fairly stiff until after birth has been completed by the pressure of circulating blood just as a fire hose that is in use is stiffer than one that is empty. The baby's movements will not be felt until about the fifth month when he is large enough to reach the front and back of the uterus simultaneously.

Babies learn by stimulation of their senses and the sense of smell does not develop in the uterus but begins to be manifested when they are about 10 months old. That is why a baby who would eat anything you put into his mouth may, at the age of 10 or 11 months, suddenly reject foods he took before without question.

Babies learn to swallow before they are born and gulp down the amniotic fluid that surrounds them. If they gulp too fast they have been known to get hiccupps. This can be more distressing to the mother than the normal kicking she feels after the fifth month. The unborn may also suck his thumb.

When at last your baby is born it is much better, once his breathing is established, to cuddle him for a short period than to hustle him away to the nursery. This will give both of you the kind of emotional experience you are most in need of.

When your baby starts nursing it is a good idea about halfway through his feeding to hold him upright against your chest and let the air bubble come up automatically. This is done not to make him more comfortable but to make more room in his stomach. The more milk he takes the longer it will be before he gets hungry again and starts crying.

All these facts were discovered by a husband and wife team of physicians in New Zealand as a result of direct and X-ray observation of developing fetuses.

Asia Must Develop Red Curbs

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent TOKYO (NEA) — Talks with key Asians in Thailand, Vietnam, Japan, the Philippines and Laos make one thing clear:

East Asia now has within itself the resources to develop in time a bloc of nations with the economic, political and military strength to hold back Communist subversion with a minimum of outside help.

This would cut down the likelihood of new Vietnam and Korea-type wars in the area.

Japan has the ability to supply in considerable amount the financial, technical, organizational and developmental leadership needed to get this bloc started.

This reporter found many men in Southeast Asia looking to Japan for this leadership.

The tragedy is that Japan has been emotionally uncertain about its ability to assume that leadership role.

The Japanese lack self-confidence. In the era after the Spanish-American War the United States had the same doubts and hesitancy, though for different reasons.

The Japanese have special reasons for their doubts. They recall World War II when Japanese troops occupied considerable Asian areas. Resentment built up against the Japanese. Therefore, top Japanese worry about how Southeast Asians would react now to Japanese leadership.

Many Japanese also do not want to become involved. They fear involvement might lead to war. They have had enough of war.

The Japanese did not attend the Manila Summit Conference or send an observer (though leading Japanese did ask friends to bring them private reports on conference results).

The Japanese, nevertheless, are hesitantly moving forward. A Japanese has taken the presidency of the new East Asian Development Bank. Japanese businessmen are moving into joint ventures in India, Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand. They're looking hopefully at Indonesia.

But Japanese agricultural experts could make a major contribution in South Vietnam, Thailand, Burma, and in the free areas of Laos. Japanese bankers have the know-how to radically improve farm-area banking practices in these lands. This would bring help to farmers attracted to the Communists because they're never able to get out of debt to money lenders.

Japanese manufacturers have know-how in the type of small industry that Vietnam, Thailand, Laos, the Philippines, Burma, India and Pakistan must now develop if they are to attain the economic stability necessary to block Communist subversive insurgency.

Japan has developed a mass education system and men with the ability to help other Asians develop their schools.

Most important of all Japanese have shown a capacity for organization scarce in many parts of Asia.

Top U.S. officials are convinced it is in the United States' interest that Asians themselves take the lead in developing a free bloc to develop free Asia's economic, military and political strength.

Far East leadership, U.S. officials believe, will attract countries reluctant to join a U.S.-led grouping. An Asian-led bloc would encourage each Asian nation to do more for itself and for its neighbors. American experts hope there would be less "let the United States do it" feeling.

CAMPAIN TO DOWNGRADE ANTI-COMMUNISTS

Ever since the Twenty-Second Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union announced in 1961 that anti-Communism throughout the world must be destroyed, a vicious attack has been steadily mounting against every active anti-Communist. From J. Edgar Hoover, a man whose brilliant record and sterling integrity once rendered him safe from public denunciation, to the humblest local patriot who tries to do something for his country against the communist menace, defenders of liberty and foes of communism have felt the lash of scorn and hatred.

Patriotism has been made a word of mockery, while millions have been assured, even while a shooting war against communism is going on in Vietnam, that communists are "mellowing" and are really only a minor danger. Those who speak out for the values America stands for are vilified. Their words and views are cleverly distorted in the communications media.

This massive concentration of fire on the pro-Americans should suggest that the enemy fears them, their resolution and their devotion more than anything else. It is in truth the greatest tribute to the unquenchable flame of their loyalty.

If patriots remain constant and continue to hold up their heads proudly under the barrage of attacks, eventually the tide will turn. The fundamental American sense of decency and fair play will come to the rescue. People will begin to wonder why the critics and attackers of anti-Communists are so ruthless and vindictive. Eventually they will begin to understand the real motives and purposes of the "anti-anti-communist." For if anti-Communism can be destroyed, communism will inherit the earth.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The day came up warm and sunny—a super day here in the super city. We shaved with our super stainless steel razor blade and then headed for the studios of one of the nation's three super networks, NBC-TV, where we could see the Super Bowl football game Sunday, since it was blacked out in Los Angeles because it was played here.

A: we drove, we suddenly were thankful to television for freeing us from the discomforts of modesty and restraint, or opening up to us the world of mind over matter, for helping us do away with the cultivated discipline that is, after all, only important to professionals. The days are so much easier to take without bothersome criticism of exaggerations and wheeler-dealers. Come on in. Join the club. Be a good fellow.

Difference in Fee
Poor Sammy Baugh. Poor Water Johnson. Poor George Mikan. They were only stars. If they had only had press agents—or better ones—they could have been superstars. It's like the yellow said when he was asked the difference between a public relations counsel and a press agent. "About $50,000 a year," he said.

NBC-TV, we watched the super game in a marvelous room with some terrific people who had the wonderful choice of going to either one of the two great sets—one color, the other black-and-white. It was fabulous and everybody had a fantastic time.

Since Green Bay defeated Kansas City, 35-10, there were those who felt that because the Packers had to be at least fairly sharp to get into the game, there was simply no superlative still available in television that was adequate to describe the winners.

Like the game itself, the menu provided for visitors by NBC-TV was unforgettable. The hot dogs were prodigious, the mustard was simply incomparable and the relish was—well, good is a fair word. The drinks were stupendous, wondrous, extraordinary.

Difficult to Describe
How can one describe the joys of knowing that one was watching a Super Bowl game? It is difficult. For example, what term can one affix to the recent Green Bay-Dallas contest, which was merely a championship encounter and was better? Or to anyone of a full of National Football League games this season that were better?

Well, it is a super problem, right. But join the club, be a good fellow, take your cut of the action and don't ask too many questions. That's the way to move in the super-quantity era. But after the second half of Sunday's game, don't make any more of Cassius Clay's fights.

Triple Fatality Accidents Boost Weekend's Toll

By United Press International
A pair of triple fatality accidents boosted the Texas weekend violent death toll in its early hours Saturday.

A United Press International count for the period beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending Sunday midnight showed at least 13 persons had died violently around Texas, including nine on the state's streets and highways.

One triple-fatality wreck occurred on an expressway in Corpus Christi and the other involved three cars in a pileup north of Athens. Both occurred Friday night.

Killed in the Corpus Christi wreck were Encarnacio Gonzalez, 42; Adalio H. Garcia, 36 and Thomas Arriga, 42, all of Corpus Christi. The car in which they were riding skidded after making an exit from the expressway and crashed into an overpass support.

DOESN'T PAY
FERGUS FALLS, Minn. (UPI)—Two young con artists taught 12 to 18 high school students that crime doesn't pay over the weekend.

Police said the students paid the men up to $4 each for what they thought was marijuana. The mixture turned out to be green tea and tobacco.

CONFETTI
STERLING, Colo. (UPI)—City councilmen here voted to increase the fine for overtime parking from 25 cents to 50 cents.

Now all someone has to do, officials said, is figure out what to do with a new shipment of 2,000 old parking tickets enough for about two years.

Russia Publishes Letters of GIs Serving Terms

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three American GIs jailed for refusing to fight in Vietnam defended their stand in a Soviet newspaper Saturday.

Letters from Dennis Mora, James Johnson and David Semas appeared in the Soviet youth newspaper, Komsomol Pravda, which said they were forwarded from the American "committee to defend the three soldiers."

"The hypocrisy of our leaders and the despair of our ruling class... border on madness," Mora's letter said. "Racism and genocide, aggression and arrogance of the bosses of the corporation in our spoiled state machinery soils the true honor of the United States."

American leaders, he said, are "war criminals." Johnson, a Negro, said the "Negro in Vietnam helps to destroy what his black brother in America is trying to gain... we have nothing to fight for in Vietnam."

Semas' letter said, "I pay dearly for the right to have my own mind—all three are serving five-year sentences—but this path is the more honorable. I laugh at the bosses, but at the same time I am sorry for them. I hate the system in which they are entangled."

In 1965, Confederate President Jefferson Davis met with an emissary of President Lincoln at Richmond, Va., to discuss Civil War peace negotiations.

Mrs. Eckley told police the collection consisted of Confederate money.

Woman 'Trapped' In Bathtub for 37 Hours

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 56-year-old woman slipped in her bathtub and lay helpless there for 37 hours before a neighbor called police Saturday to report her missing.

Miss Alice Prior, who lives alone in a first floor apartment in Sunnyside, Queens, was reported in fair condition at St. John's Hospital after her rescue.

Police said her ordeal began at 9 p.m. Thursday when she slipped as she tried to get out of the tub. Injured in the fall, she lay trapped in the tub her calls for help unheard.

The neighbor, Alma Tretau, finally became alarmed at not seeing Miss Prior for several days. She called police when Miss Prior did not answer a knock on her door.

First use of windmills was in corn grinding in Ferala in the seventh century A. D.

It's what's inside that counts

Southwestern Bell installer trucks carry more than 150 different items—from half-inch nails to telephones to coils of wire. Also on board is a careful driver trained to understand the why's and wherefore's of modern communications.

Throughout the nationwide Bell System, each type of telephone truck is equipped with its own standardized parts and equipment. The same equipment that works in Southwestern Bell also works in any other Bell territory. If trouble strikes—flood, tornado, hurricane—telephone men from one company can be rushed to another company to aid in fast, efficient service restoration. There's no delay because of equipment that won't work or men who don't know what to do.

In time of emergency or during a regular work day, Southwestern Bell's goal is to provide the best telephone service possible. Our expert craftsmen and a fleet of 8,000 well-stocked trucks help us do just that.
