Peace Talks Possible If Bombing Is Ceased

N. Viet Diplomat Makes Statement

PARIS (UPI)—A senior North Vietnamese diplomat said today Hanoi might be willing to hold direct peace talks with the United States if Washington ordered a "definitive and unconditional cessation" of the bombing of North Vietnam.

The statement was made by Mai Van Bo, Hanoi's chief representative in France at a Paris press luncheon today. He said if the bombing ceased "this fact would be examined by the government" of North Vietnam.

Clarendon Ranch Gas Explosion Is Fatal to Sisters

CLARENDON — The bodies of two Clarendon sisters were found late last night in their brick ranch home 12 miles north of here which was leveled in an explosion apparently caused by escaping butane gas.

The blast occurred at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday. Investigating law officers and firemen found the body of Mrs. Kathleen C. Griffin, owner of the home, in the bathroom. The body of her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Jones, was discovered in the living room.

Mrs. Mattie Clark, 55, who lived with the two women, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning in Northwest Texas Hospital, where she was taken immediately following the explosion.

Funeral services for Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Jones are pending at the Murphy Funeral Home.

Firemen said the women had just returned from a trip to Wichita Falls and the blast is believed to have been set off when one of the women turned on a light switch.

Search for the two women was delayed yesterday because of the intensity of the fire.

Reds Drop Two Jets

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States lost its first two planes of the new year over North Vietnam, American military spokesmen reported today.

U.S. spokesmen said two Navy jets were shot down by ground fire over coastal North Vietnam Wednesday, but both pilots were saved as they ditched their planes into the sea.

The downed Ar Skyhawk and Fr Phantom jet were the 452nd and 453rd U.S. Air losses of the war, and gave North Vietnam its first measure of revenge for the downing of seven Communist Mig21s by American planes last Monday.

There were these other developments in the Vietnam war today:

—Two American civilians held captive by Viet Cong for seven months told newsmen today of their life in captivity, and of how a U.S. air attack gave them their closest brush with death. The men, Robert W. Monahan of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Thomas R. Scales of Matamoras, Pa., said that despite considerable loss of weight they were treated well by the Communists.

—The Viet Cong stepped up a terror campaign in Saigon, hurling Chinese-made hand grenades at two American soldiers in a jeep. The GI's leaped from the vehicle and escaped with cuts and bruises.

—In the central highlands, U.S. 1st Air cavalrymen swept upon one hill so quickly the commander of a Communist force was surprised and had no choice but to surrender, spokesmen said.

The two Navy planes downed over the north carried a crew of three. The damaged planes headed toward the Gulf of Tonkin and ditched near the USS Bennington. A helicopter from the ship picked up all three men.

During the raids, Navy pilots hammered Communist shipping and destroyed or damaged at least 77 coastal and inland waterway craft. Air Force and Marine jets also flew against the North, hitting bridges and roads along the southern panhandle region.

U.S. 1966 Death Toll in Vietnam Much Higher Than Count in '65

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. military officials reported today that more than 5,000 American servicemen were killed in Vietnam fighting during 1966. The death toll was nearly four times higher than the year before.

The yearend casualty report showed that 128 Americans were killed in action during the final week, in spite of a two-day lull in combat during the Christmas truce. It raised 6,644 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in Vietnam since 1961.

The U.S. death toll at the end of 1965 was 1,597—an accounting that would set the 1966 combat death toll for Americans at 5,047.

In 1965 itself, 1,350 U.S. servicemen were reported killed. There were only 247 American combat deaths in the four previous years dating to Jan. 1, 1961, when casualty figures first were compiled.

The casualty figures for any of the years is subject to change, however, since men have died of wounds received in a previous year. But since a vast majority of American deaths occur on the battlefield itself, the tolls are regarded substantially accurate.

In another comparison pointing to escalation of the war, U.S. spokesmen reported that there were 389,000 American fighting men in Vietnam at the end of 1966. Troop strength rose throughout the year at a rate of about 4,000 per month.

The report for the week ended last Dec. 31, said that in addition to the 128 Americans killed, 634 were wounded in action. The large number of casualties reflected bitter fighting in the central highlands during the

Battle Over Auto Safety Standards Is International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's effort to impose new safety standards on the nation's automakers is developing into an international furor. The British and Swedish governments joined more than a dozen leading European automobile manufacturers Wednesday in asking the U.S. Commerce Department to postpone enactment of the proposed new standards.

From prestigious Mercedes-Benz to mass-produced Volkswagens, European automakers agreed they would not be able to comply with the new regulations if they are put into effect Jan. 1, 1968, as planned. American car manufacturers filed their comments on the proposed standards during the past week. All agreed they couldn't meet the entire list of 23 standards in the government has proposed.

Volkswagen of West Germany said its air-cooled engine "would be outlawed" if the government's proposed deforming and defogging proposals are enforced.

Renault of France charged that the standards appeared "to have a discriminatory character" since they are "easily applicable to American type cars, but are difficult to apply to cars of smaller dimensions of the European type."

Meanwhile, safety critic Ralph Nader charged today that the confrontation between the American auto industry and the government over the standards is political rather than technical.

He said the outcome of the battle would hinge on the amount of political power that can be brought to bear, not on technical know how.

Study Shows Cuba Is In Crisis State

LONDON (UPI)—An authoritative private study said today Fidel Castro was still in firm control of Communist Cuba but his political and economic revolution on the island nation "was in a state of crisis."

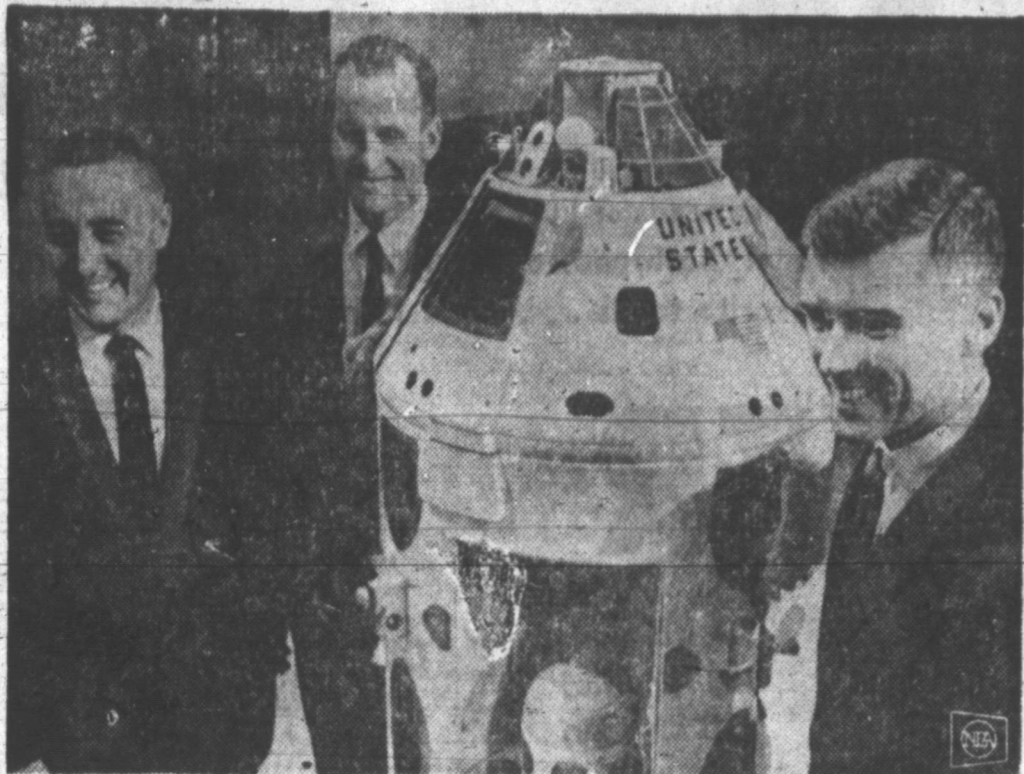

The study, published by the Royal Institute for International Affairs, also said there appeared to be no end to the deadlock in Cuban-American relations as long as Castro maintained his goal of Communist revolution in Latin America.

The study was prepared by Raymond Carr, a fellow in Latin American studies at Oxford's St. Anthony College. It appeared in the current issue of "The World Today," the monthly publication of the Royal Institute.

Carr, who visited Cuba last year, said in the study that the Cuban revolution was in a crisis. Political and morale problems had combined to make new trouble for the Caribbean nation already plagued by a poverty-level economy.

But "politically, Dr. Castro is still secure and in control of all decision," the study said. Although factional struggles continue, "the balance has swung and apparently settled against the older Communist leaders" with none of the old guard now holding top positions.

Excess Corporate Profit Tax Is Latest Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A tax on excess corporate profits is the latest proposal for solving President Johnson's problem of financing the Vietnam war and the great society.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., suggested Wednesday that skimming the cream off high corporate returns would be a more equitable method of raising new revenue than increasing the personal income tax.

"Why hit consumers, already hard pressed by high prices and high interest rates, another punishing blow?" he asked.

Hart, Chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, proposed increasing corporate tax ceilings from 48 per cent to 75 per cent on firms whose profits have increased 80 per cent or more since 1958.

"This would encourage firms to share high profits with the consumer in the form of lower prices rather than turning (excess profits) over to the government," Hart said.

With the Vietnam war nearing Korean proportions, Hart said, additional federal revenue is needed.

President Johnson is still undecided on the need for a tax increase. But the President will ask Congress this month for an estimated $12 billion to $14 billion to cover the mounting cost of the Vietnam fighting.

The administration's former top economic adviser, Walter W. Heller, has urged a modest variation of a general tax increase. Heller suggested a 5 per cent surtax on 1967 income tax bills. Under this plan, if next year's tax bill was $100, you would pay an additional $5.

Ruby's Body Under Guard In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police alert for "trouble" today guarded the body of Jack Ruby, who his family said died of neglect and "mental anguish" while in a Dallas jail.

As final preparations were made for a Friday morning service, Hershey Weinstein, president of the Original Weinstein and Son Funeral Home, told police he received a "threatening" person-to-person telephone call from Dallas.

Controversy raged over Ruby's treatment at the hands of Dallas authorities while he faced charges of murdering the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

"Jack was definitely neglected by the police in Dallas," said Ruby's brother, Earl, Wednesday during a funeral parlor news conference. "Jack Ruby was throwing up in jail for four months and they neglected him for that time."

A sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, said Ruby "died from mental anguish from people thinking he was part of a conspiracy."

"He was a good American," she said. "This mental anxiety robbed him of his will to live. The one thing that bothered him most was that anyone could think he was associated in a conspiracy to kill the President." Earl said. The Ruby family charged Dallas authorities contributed to Ruby's death by ignoring his health. Dallas city officials denied the charges but Dr. (See RUBY, Page 3)

IN PROPOSAL STAGE

Oil Allowable Format Change Is Under Study

Oil producers and royalty owners in the Panhandle Field today began further study of a mutual proposal with the Texas Railroad Commission for a change in the state's allowable schedule format.

The proposed change in submitting proration lease schedules would lump oil wells which produce less than 20 barrels a day so they could be listed as one total instead of listing them separately.

The proposal being studied was explained by Jack O. Miller, district director in the Pampa office of the Railroad Commission, at the monthly meeting of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association yesterday afternoon in Amarillo.

"The proposed change deals only with the allowable schedule format," Miller said today, "and there would be no change in the rules and no change in the allowable."

Miller stated one of the biggest problems in the Panhandle Field is underproduction. "The commission's and the industry's initial motivation for the proposed change," he said, "came from the inordinate underproduction that historically occurs in the Panhandle."

Miller stated there are 13,000 wells in the Panhandle Field and out of that number, approximately 12,500 of them have an allowable of 20 barrels of oil per day. Only about 450 to 500 wells can produce more than that, he added.

Underproduction in the Panhandle Field, he stated, runs about 30 per cent while the state average is eight per cent.

"This is costly to oil production in the state, he explained, because the Railroad Commission assigns a certain amount of production to various areas and if that production is not met then there is that much Texas crude oil which is not sold."

"All the proposal would do," Miller said, "would be to simplify matters and cut down a lot of paper work both for the operators and the commission."

He estimated that approximately 75 per cent of the oil leases in the Panhandle would be affected and lumped under lease totals instead of being listed separately if the proposal is adopted.

Pointing to the problem of underproduction, Miller said the 1961 crude production for the Texas Panhandle was about 103,600 barrels per day while the crude production for the area in 1966 approximated 94,500 barrels per day. On the other hand he noted the allowable for the area had increased (See OIL, Page 3)

Drifter Charged With Theft of Paintings

LONDON (UPI)—Rembrandt and Rubens were found stuffed under a rumpled bed in a filthy ramshackle room. The neon glow from the brassy dives blinked at the window.

Scotland Yard detectives gingerly lifted the three canvases, worth perhaps $4 million. On the Soho street below,urchins begged pennies from passersby. History's biggest art theft was en route to a climax.

Hours later, a young London drifter was charged with stealing eight masterpieces worth $8.4 million. Nobody really knew why. Michael Hall, 32, was to be formally arraigned in magistrate's court later today. He was arrested and charged by Scotland Yard detectives Wednesday night, only hours after all eight paintings were recovered. Underworld tipsters were said to have aided both the recovery and capture.

None of the masterworks, including three by Rembrandt and three by Rubens, was seriously damaged. Police were still searching for a "tall brunette." There was no immediate indication if she or Hall was the "thin man" police think entered the Dulwich College Art Gallery through a one by two foot hole drilled in a side door New Year's Eve. A bushy bearded beatnik was originally believed to be the "thin man's accomplice."

Police believed two persons were responsible. One had art knowledge keen enough to snatch the best of the 200 paintings displayed.

Three of the paintings—including the most valued of the lot, Rembrandt's "Girl at a Window"—were found under a rumpled bed in a ramshackle apartment in the seedy Soho district. The other five were found under a holly bush in a public park two miles from the Dulwich Gallery.

LONG BINH, South Vietnam (UPI)—Two American civilians who were held prisoners by the Viet Cong for seven months said today their closest brush with death was in an attack by U.S. warplanes.

Robert W. Monahan, 41, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Thomas R. Scales, 45, of Matamoras, Pa., were weak, weary but happy as they described their ordeal in Communist captivity—one of roaming the South Vietnam jungles, living and working like a Viet Cong.

The two construction workers despite considerable loss of weight, said they were treated well by the guerrillas who set them free earlier this week. "We sang 'Jingle Bells,' 'Wild Irish Rose,' anything we thought," said Scales. It was singing for their lives, because their Viet Cong captors set a "good attitude" as a requirement for their release.

Scales said the closest call he and Monahan had was within two weeks of their capture at a Communist road block south of Saigon last May 27.

The Americans were in a Viet Cong column along a trail when U.S. warplanes appeared overhead and opened fire. "They shot rockets close to us," Scales said. "We hit the ground and then we ran—or were pushed—through the jungle to an air raid shelter. "The bombing lasted for about an hour."

There was about 10 or 12 of them," he said. "They had a number of weapons of all sorts. A pistol was right in the back of my head, and Bob had one on his forehead."

A Filipino couple, Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Gaza, were brought into their camp as prisoners about a month later. Gaza died in captivity last week, but his widow was released with the two Americans.

Monahan and Scales looked drawn and tired today but were in good spirits. Monahan had lost about 75 of his 215 pounds. While Scales (See PRISONERS, Page 3)

Congressman's Wife To Attend Tuesday Event

Mrs. Bob Price, wife of the 18th District congressman-elect, plans to leave Monday morning for Amarillo Air Terminal for Washington, D. C., where she will attend the swearing-in ceremonies for her husband at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

She will be joined in Kansas City, Mo., by her husband's mother, Mrs. Ben Price of Reading, Kan., for the continued flight to Washington.

They plan to arrive there in time to attend the reception given by Senator John Tower on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Price will return to Pampa the latter part of the week. She and the Price children, Carl, Grant and Janice will move to Washington, D. C. at the close of the current school semester, Jan. 20.

Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl White of Oklahoma City, Okla., will be unable to attend the swearing-in ceremonies.

Other Pampans planning to attend the Tuesday morning event are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fatheree and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell, who will leave on a Monday evening plane for Washington.

Bonds Set For SWC and DWI

In Gray County court yesterday, R. L. Durham, Plainview, was arraigned on a charge of swindling with a worthless check.

Judge Sherman Lenning set bond for $1,500.

Dennis Newton Walker, 808 Walker, arraigned on a charge of driving while intoxicated, had a previous DWI probation revoked. He was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

New Face On Scene At Courthouse

Another new face on the Gray County Courthouse scene this week is that of Mrs. Travis (Elaine) Lively Jr., new secretary to County Attorney Don Cain.

Mrs. Lively replaces Mrs. Lisbeth Leath, who left this week to join her husband, Jay, in Alamogordo, N. M. Leath, former local scout executive, is District Scout Executive for the White Sands District of the Yucca Council, Boy Scouts of America. His headquarters will be in Alamogordo, where they will reside at 1102 Cedar.

Mrs. Lively has been assisting Mrs. Leath for the past two weeks "learning the ropes," but officially took over secretarial duties yesterday.

Race May Play Big Part In Powell Furor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negroes appeared today to have convinced Rep. Adam Clayton Powell to make race a basic issue in his fight to retain his congressional power.

Powell, charged in a statement issued early today that his enemies' attempts to deny him his House seat or depose him as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee were part of "a political conspiracy of enormous dimensions."

The conspirators, said Powell, are a number of his colleagues and "certain influential members of the press" who are waging war against "black political leadership, black people and black progress."

The statement ended Powell's silence on the moves afoot to reduce his House standing, and apparently marked a reversal of an earlier decision not to make too much of the fact he is a Negro.

BAY OF PIGS VETERANS — Renaldo Rodriguez Perez, left, and Jose Manuel Macias, right, join a newcomer to Caribbean revolutionary activities, Luis Gomez Justo, standing, in the Key West, Fla., jail, after U.S. authorities broke up a secret training camp in the Florida Keys. The camp reportedly was preparing an invasion of Haiti to establish a base for operations against Cuba.

New Voting Law Imposes Change

The new law regarding annual voter registration is imposing some changes in the modus operandi for Gray Countians, according to Jack Back, county tax assessor.

Under the new law which went into effect last year, registration booths cannot be set up at any time and at any place, Back said.

"And it is no longer possible for another person to register for another person as in the case of a husband for a wife, or a son or daughter," he said.

If registration booths are set up outside it is necessary to deputize the registrar and post an affidavit stating the time, place and by whom voters will be registered.

Deadline for registering to vote in any elections planned this year is Jan. 31, according to Back.

Until more convenient arrangements can be made, Back said the Gray County Tax Assessor's office will remain open during the noon hour for persons wanting to register.

Mail Floods Bob Price's New Office

While his boss was continuing a Republican orientation session today, Forrest Reace, press aide to Congressman Bob Price of Pampa, was wading through a three-week stack of mail waiting for Price when he arrived in Washington.

Reace said the mail had piled up from deliveries since before the Christmas holidays.

In a long distance telephone interview with The News, Reace said the congressman's office, 1323 Longworth Bldg., in Washington was gradually shaping up and should be ready for business by next Tuesday when Congress convenes.

Reace said the flood of mail to Congressman Price was not only from his 18th District constituents but from persons all over the United States.

"There are many congratulatory messages," Reace said, "along with suggestions from the people on congressional matters they believe should be tackled first."

Reace said Price is planning on continuing the weekly letter to newspapers back home — a practice that was inaugurated years ago by Congressman Walters Rogers who is winding up his congressional work in Washington this week.

Rogers withdrew from the congressional race last fall after announcing his retirement to enter the private practice of law.

Prisoners

Weinstein told police he received a call placed by a Dallas operator soon after Jack Ruby's body was delivered to his funeral home.

"You could possibly have trouble," he said the male caller said. "You'd better have security."

Weinstein said news men would be allowed to view the body today and to hear the 11 a.m. EST services Friday. He said one purpose of the viewing today would be to remove any doubt the coffin contained Ruby's body.

weight dropped from 175 to 122. They blamed it on a diet of fish and rice and a daily regimen of digging trenches and air raid shelters for their captors.

The men, who first were questioned by U.S. intelligence agents, were not allowed to disclose where the communists who held them captive had set up camps. But they said they were frequently on the move through Vietnam jungles.

"We thought of escaping every place we were at, but it was impossible," said Scales. "Every place you went the Viet Cong were all over the jungle."

Scales said the guerrillas told them only three days after their capture that they would not be killed, "but we would be held until we repent."

The Americans, both employees of Pacific Architects and Engineers and Architects for about 10 years, said they first were taken to a small prison camp and then moved to a larger one with about 10 or 12 other prisoners.

They said their treatment close to the end of their captivity was exceptionally good. They were allowed to celebrate Christmas, the men said. And on the day before they were sent toward freedom, the Viet Cong threw a farewell party.

Former Resident Of McLean Killed

SHAMROCK—A former McLean resident was killed about six miles west of here Wednesday when his truck overturned. James Daniel Teddar, 65, of Weatherford, Okla., was pronounced dead at the scene while his wife, Addie, was listed in serious condition in Shamrock Hospital today.

The couple had been to Albuquerque, N.M., and were returning to Weatherford when their pickup truck apparently went out of control on a sharp curve. The 1964 pickup truck was pulling a two-wheel trailer when the accident occurred.

Former Canadian Teller Enters Plea of Guilty

AMARILLO — A former teller at the First National Bank in Canadian, Mrs. Jo Ann Morris, 32, entered a plea of guilty in U. S. District Court here yesterday to two counts of embezzlement of bank funds.

A federal grand jury indictment was returned against Mrs. Morris last summer. She was charged with embezzling $300 in one count and with making a false entry of $3,275 instead of $1,275 in another count.

Sentence was to be pronounced on Mrs. Morris this afternoon by a federal judge from Dallas.

RUTH MILLETT

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
It's the "seconds" in their lives that keep modern housewives jumping.

The second job in the family (hers) has forced the working wife into doing all the work a full-time homemaker does after she has worked the same eight-hour day her husband puts in. The second car in the family (hers) has turned her into the family chauffeur and errand-runner. When there was only one car to a family and the husband drove it to work, he did the errands that had to be done, and the children got where they wanted to go by foot or didn't get there at all.

The second house (theirs) that more and more families are acquiring for weekend retreats means that a housewife has two houses to keep clean, stocked with supplies, and redecorated from time to time, instead of one.

It also means that holidays that once took her away from the kitchen now just transport her from one kitchen to another, and often the second is less convenient than the first. Also, the second home is becoming more and more a place for the entertainment of guests so that weekends at the family's vacation home are likely to find the housewife a hard-working hostess.

The interesting thing is that each of these family "seconds" that has brought more work and more responsibility to the housewife has made life a bit easier for the husband.

His financial responsibilities are less when there's a second job and a second pay check in the family.

His errand-running is cut to a minimum when there is a second car in the family and his wife has no excuse for asking him to please stop and do this or that on his way home from work.

And his life is easier when there is a vacation home where he can get away from it all on weekends, spending his time relaxing.

Timely Beauty Hint

Because of its delicate fine texture, face powder is often called the finishing touch of beauty, says make-up authority Max Factor. It may be used on the face and neck by itself, or, even more advantageously, to provide an exciting finish to your foundation make-up.

In applying face powder, begin by using it liberally for this is the secret of a smooth, long-lasting make-up. Pick up a generous amount of powder on a clean puff, then fold the puff and rub it together to distribute the powder evenly over the surface. Continue by gently patting the puff over the lower part of the face and by moving it upward, using more powder as required, until the entire face is covered. Powder the nose last, so it will not receive the bulk of the powdering.

● French

from the French will be pleased to learn that the younger generation in Paris is not very proud of how the French treat Americans who come there on a visit. It seems the kids have more on their minds than just clothes and dates. But I must admit that when the Peace Corp was mentioned, the American girls didn't know much more than the French about it.

Although only the older finalists took part in this symposium, 18 American youngsters, aged 10 to 18, were in Paris for the final judging in the World Stylemakers Contest. They found that sewing can pay higher dividends than just a pretty wardrobe. The three who were selected as winners by an eminent panel of judges won such prizes as cash, scholarships and jet trip to a city of their choice. The decisions were based on the appearance of the costumes the girls made for themselves, the suitability of each design to the girl and her personal poise.

Winner of the Deb Division, girls 16 through 18, was Denise Nassas of Clifton, N.J. For the Sub-Debs, 13 through 15, Sheila Gay Judy of Houston, Tex., wore the crown. Kay Ellen Reed, 11, of Scottsdale, Ariz., took the honors for the Junior Miss group.

And although the French girls didn't seem interested in American boys as marriage material, the Americans apparently didn't consider the French boys a total loss. Karen Skidmore, 15, of Jamesburg, N.J., asked for a list of the boys' names and addresses and promised to send it to the others after they all got home.

Sandwich Supreme, Combining Ham 'N' Swiss Cheese, Is Supper Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Now is the season for late supper after the movies, the skating party or the school basketball game. Remember, your guests, whether teenagers or adults, will be hungry. Therefore, have something that sticks to the ribs.

Here's one more version of the classic Ham 'N' Swiss cheese sandwich. It makes a welcome supper dish.

1 cup grated Swiss cheese
Batter:
2 eggs
2-3 cup milk
1 cup pancake mix
Sauté:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash Cayenne
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
Spread 6 of the bread slices with butter; top each with a ham slice. Combine sour cream and cheese. Spread over ham; top with remaining bread slices.
For batter, combine eggs, milk and pancake mix in shallow pan. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Dip sandwiches into batter. Pan-fry in butter in heavy skillet or on greased griddle, until golden brown, turning only once. Top sandwiches with hot sauce.

Braised Beef Is Succulent, Hefty

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Whenever Paula Peck talks about how she cooks, we stop, listen and eat well. In our opinion, she is one of the most exciting, competent and delightful guides to better dining. That explains our enthusiasm for her newest book, "Paula Peck's Art of Good Cooking," just published. Anyone who knows her earlier "Art of Fine Baking" can understand.

Her book suggests many modern short cuts that eliminate drudgery without any loss of quality. She suggests non-conventional methods. For example, "There is no need to brown meat before it is braised," she insists. "Browning is not necessary to keep in the juices. Actually, browning toughens the meat and is a smoky process."

Here's her recipe (modern method) for braised beef succulent and hefty. The book gives 75 recipes for meat, as well as excellent ones for fish (which is her favorite food), poultry, vegetables and for her specialty, desserts.

BASIC BRAISED BEEF
3 pounds boned thick flanken (trimmed), or very grainy chuck cut into 1-inch cubes
2 large onions, chopped
4 cloves garlic, finely minced (optional)
Salt and Pepper to taste
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
1/2 cup liquid (wine, beer, stock, tomato puree, or anything you choose) (Optional)
1 cup beef gravy

Place meat in a heavy pot. Add onions, garlic, monosodium glutamate and some salt, and pepper. Cover tightly. Place in 325-degree oven. When meat and other ingredients begin to simmer, add any desired liquid. Liquid is not absolutely necessary, but helps make a more abundant sauce (almost too abundant).
Continue to braise meat in covered pot about 1 1/2 hours, or until the meat is barely tender. Skim off fat from top, and stir in beef gravy.
This dish tastes even better when it is cooked and then reheated on a second or third day, 6 servings.

COOK'S TOUR

By ANDREW SALWYN
United Press International

PARIS (UPI) — The French, among the world's most discerning eaters, are giving less importance to food today than they ever have before.
"And things will get worse and worse," one food scientist reports.
Special studies on French eating habits show that the amount of money spent on food dropped from 8 per cent of the average family budget in 1950 to 35 per cent in 1965.
And even though the French still are the biggest spenders on food in continental Europe, this is a poor consolation for the French gastronomic industry, which understandably enough, is giving the future a long hard look.

The French are eating more and more uncooked vegetables and natural food and are leaving the "rich-sauce stuff" for the weekends.

According to the scientists, the "bifteak pommes frites" (beef and fried potatoes) will be a thing of the past by 1970. The five o'clock snack will have regained the importance it had in ancient days and supper will be served at a much later hour.

French consumption of bread and potatoes today represents only a quarter of what it was a century ago and will continue to decline.

Meat consumption on the other hand is on the way up. The French government had to import 200,000 tons of meat last year to meet public demand which gave meat a 30 per cent share of the total food market in France.

Fresh fruit consumption is also on the way up.
The medical corps is theoretically satisfied with this trend which it says proves that the French are eating better nutritionally.

"There will be less stomach upset, and less indigestion and less liver trouble and less heart congestions," say physicians.
From the industrial point of view, there will be less drowsiness after lunch hence a higher production rate, say some experts.

Consequently everyone seems happy about the new trend except the upcoming generation of chefs.

"What's going to happen to us?" they ask.

Cook artichokes in boiling salted water to which you've added some lemon juice or vinegar to preserve the 'chokes color and a little oil to make the leaves glossy. For 4 artichokes use 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and a tablespoon of oil.

Mix cream cheese with black bean soup (straight from the can) and a pinch of onion powder, as a spread for rye crackers.

Combine Cranberries, Apples and Pears in Delightful Dutch Bake

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Serve the bake warm. Cream or ice cream is great with it. And remember that cranberries, apples and pears are plentiful now and should be moderately priced.
DOUBLE DUTCH CRANBERRY FRUIT BAKE
(Makes one 9x13-inch cake)
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1/2 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups mashed ripe bananas
1/2 cup milk

1 can (1 lb.) whole berry cranberry sauce
3 large cooking apples
2 Bosc pears
1-3 cups sugar
Sift flour, baking powder, salt and baking soda together. Cream shortening and gradually beat in sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Beat in dry ingredients alternately with bananas and milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Pour batter into well-greased and floured 9x13x2-inch pan. Mash cranberry sauce and spoon evenly over top of batter. Peel and core apples and pears and cut into 3/4-inch-thick wedges. Put apples in rows over cranberry sauce. Put pear slices between rows of apples and sprinkle fruit with sugar. If using an oval pan, put apple slices around outer edge and pear slices in center.) Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 50 to 60 minutes. Cut into squares and serve warm.

Food Buying Guide
EDITOR'S NOTE: The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for the coming weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highlights on the food shopping scene for the coming weekend are fresh oranges, grapefruit and broiler-fryer chickens, plentiful most everywhere in the country.

Other fresh produce buys include apples, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes—all in ample supply.

At the meat counter, watch for a good selection of beef roasts and steaks. Bacon also is in good supply, with ham and pork roasts featured in some areas. Along with the bounty of broiler-fryer chickens, come plenty of eggs for the breakfast table, luncheons and snacks.

To be sure that the meat and poultry you buy is wholesome and of the quality you expect, watch for the marks of USDA inspection and grading, proof that the products have been checked by inspectors and graders of the consumer and marketing service.

The featured fish selection, nationally, is canned salmon.

Quick Lunch Treat
Serve curry egg pancakes for a quick lunch during the busy holiday season. Place 1 cup of milk, 1 egg and 1 tablespoon of liquid shortening in a bowl. Add 1 cup of pancake mix; mix lightly until batter is fairly smooth. Bake pancakes to golden brown, turning only once.
Top each serving with 1 hard-cooked egg, sliced, and 1/4-cup of curry-flavored sauce. To make the sauce melt 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine; mix in 2 tablespoons of all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon of salt and 1/2 teaspoon of curry powder. Stir in 1 cup of milk. Cook over low heat until mixture is thickened, stirring constantly. Makes 4 servings.

Cabbage Treat
Cabbage is particularly good sautéed with olives and seasoned with vinegar. For 4 servings, coarsely shred 4 cups of cabbage (about 1 small head). Heat 1/4 cup of butter or margarine in a skillet and add cabbage, 1 tablespoon of caraway seeds, 1/2 cup of chopped pimiento-stuffed olives and 1/4 cup of vinegar. Cover and sauté over low heat, stirring occasionally, until cabbage is just tender, 8 to 10 minutes.

1966 'Looney Larceny' Included Boa Constrictor

By MEADER G. RATTINGTON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — One wonders what gives with those who make the annual loony larceny list because, for the second straight year, no one walked off with the kitchen sink.

Or at least no kitchen sink was reported missing. Of course, everything else was.

For openers, the 1966 list shows that an East Charlotte, Vt., citizen had his car; iron bathtub, removed without his permission.

In Fort Worth, a thief laid in a lifetime supply of spark plugs—37,000 of them taken from an auto supply house.

And in Manila, the Philippines, thieves made off with a man's entire home while he and his family were absent for two months. All household furnishings were left on the lot where the house once stood.

Police in Mexico City are still investigating the theft of a 10-ton pavement roller. A watch-from a farm near Lansing, Mich.

A diesel locomotive was stolen from a railroad yard in Napa, Calif. The "engineer" drove it 15 miles, hit a car on a grade-crossing and then decided he'd leave it to Casey.

Rustlers ain't dead yet, pardner. A herd of 59 foats were stolen from a rancher near Williams, Ore.

Automobiles also were very much in the news. A woman discovered a tire and wheels stolen from her car. Returning, at a call to police she found someone had stolen a second wheel and tire.

In New York City, police located a stolen car, parked it in front of the precinct house, notified the owner who, upon arrival, found the car had been stolen again.

But Phoenix, Ariz., beat the record. A stolen car was recovered by police and the owner arrived without a key. Returning with the key, the car again had been stolen. Recovered in a short time, again the owner, again no key, again no return—yes, that's right—stolen once more.

Jails came in for their usual hard time. In Miami, awaiting trial on a larceny charge, a man complained bitterly that someone had stolen his brand new shoes. And in Memphis, Tenn., a prisoner has been charged with loading the jail's vending machine.

All "rooks don't stay that way. A seaman from Manitowoc, Wis., had his stolen wallet containing $5 returned with $70 enclosed. A note said: "Please forgive me. Since Christ entered my life, I am making amends."

Alibis still are good. A thief in Halifax, England, explained that he took the money for plastic surgery on his nose.

Some victims are helpful. A housewife in Birmingham, Ala., politely backed her car out of the way so that the driver of the other car who had just robbed her house of its television set could drive away. A man in Dallas slept in his car to protect it. It worked fine. Awakened, he was relieved of his shoes and wallet—but was allowed to keep the car. And a woman asked a stranger for help in starting her stalled car in Toledo.

The polite helper drove off with her purse and $20.

Tonsorial mediums weren't neglected. Two women in St. Louis were robbed of their wigs and money by a gunman. A policeman made a grab for a shoplifting suspect and ended up holding the escaped one's wig.

Bandits do have their disappointments. The bag stolen from a bank car in Maidstone, England, contained several sandwiches. The money was locked safely in the truck. While trying to escape Los Angeles police in a stolen car, the driver pulled into a driveway—the entrance to the city jail.

A taxi driver in Statesville, N. C., told police that his stolen hubcaps were replaced with wheelcovers worth four times as much. Burglars in Woodbury, N.Y., carried off a 400-pound safe, containing exactly 100 pennies. And another unlucky thief looked back over his shoulder, ran into a wall, knocked him self out and was relieved of his $2,500 jewelry loot taken from Warren, Mich., store.

An armed robber in Lynn, Mass., met a barrage of peanut butter jars throw with good aim by the woman owner of the store.

A bride in Fort Worth, Tex., was indicted on a charge of sealing her wedding dress. The bridegroom was already preparing to serve a prison term for robbery.

A faulty burglar alarm was stolen in Portage, Ind., on the second trip, after $1,400 was netted on the first try. Perhaps the thieves wanted to see how one works.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Alfred the janitor was minding his own business Wednesday, sweeping the office floor, while the pay clerk worked with an electronic calculator. The machine-cooked "I give up," moaned the clerk. "Burn the damned thing," Alfred did and his company had to spend $1,200 on a replacement.

Report on Free Press and Fair Trial Concluded

NEW YORK (UPI)—Major conclusions of the American Newspaper Publishers Association's committee report on "Free Press and Fair Trial."

—There is no real conflict between the First Amendment guaranteeing a free press and the Sixth Amendment which guarantees a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury.

—The presumption of some members of the bar that pre-trial news is intrinsically prejudicial is based on conjecture and not on fact.

—To fulfill its function, a free press requires not only freedom to print without prior restraint but also free and uninhibited access to information that should be public.

—There are grave inherent dangers to the public in the restriction or censorship at the source of news, among them secret arrest and ultimately secret trial.

—The press is a positive influence in assuring fair trial.

—The press has a responsibility to allay public fears and dispel rumors by the disclosure of fact.

—No rare and isolated case should serve as cause for censorship and violation of constitutional guarantees.

—Rules of courts and other orders which restrict the release of information by law enforcement officers are an unwarranted judicial invasion of the executive branch of government.

—There can be no codes or covenants which compromise the principles of the Constitution.

—The people's right to a free press which inherently embodies the right of the people to know is one of our most fundamental rights, and neither the press nor the bar has the right to sit down and bargain it away.

Bowling Breaks By Gil

The Holiday season is at an end and everyone is ready to dig in and get a fresh start on the second half of the bowling season. Boy, I wonder where the first half went?

Most leagues operate on a split season with the winners of the first half playing the second half winners for the actual championship and John Carson and Jim Ratcliff made it known that the L.O.O.F. team were winners of the first half of the Civic League. A number of others are also starting the second half but since some leagues bowled over the holidays and others didn't, it's hard to keep up with all of them and also hard to find enough news. But by combining a couple of weeks I will try and fill this.

Ron Havens had everyone on edge with a 275 game, starting with three in a row then a nine pin spare and the rest strike except the last ball. It could have been a 300.

At the same time Wylene Patrick was bowling a nice 224 that almost went unnoticed. Just ahead of these George Thut had posted a 235 and a lofty 622 series.

Pat Johnson, who is always early, had a novel excuse for being late on the last bowling session but managed a real good series anyway.

Sylvia Smith was quite upset at finding that the ball she was using had become cracked. That time at least she could blame the ball.

Connie Ziebarth was bemoaning the impossibility of winning when using two dummy scope but managed to win the first game regardless. Linda Jordan learned the hard way that it doesn't pay to have a strike and to foul while doing it.

I don't believe Sherrie Connell was very happy with her 92 game. Jean Patton's hair turned gray overnight and I don't know if it was her bowling or riding her motorcycle in this weather that was the cause.

Jean Townsend established some kind of record the other evening. She picked the 5-7, 4-5-7, 5-10, and 2-7 all in one series and had only two other spares all evening. Charlene Fraiser was having quite a time with her score keeping while herding seven little bowlers who were celebrating a birthday party.

Katie Kitchens and Jan Snell, a couple of juniors broke their glasses the same day, but decided to try bowling anyway and boy what scores they had.

Camarine Hoyler showed how easy it was to make the 3-7-10, Barbara Moreland the 5-7 and Betty Kemp the 5-8-10.

Otis Nace a downhill stairstep 167-166-165 and Kent Olsen had a much bigger drop for an almost stair step 208-189-169.

Luther Sober flubbed another chance at his elusive 200 game and Houston Smith had given up on getting a new ball from Santa Claus but turned out to be the happiest boy ever when Santa didn't forget him after all.

Pauline Stone paid us a nice visit over the holidays. Pauline was for years a very efficient secretary but is now doing all her bowling in Tulsa.

Ted Mastin also came in, tried his luck for the first time in years. Also on vacation Claude Middleton got a chance to try out a new ball that had been idle since he took off for college.

Jim McDaniels, home on leave, tried his luck again as did a lot of college kids during the holidays. Candy Hatcher even took her new ball along on a skiing trip, she wanted to get in some bowling, too.

Joyce Cantrell tied husband Jim's series with a nice 484 and Wylene Patrick with a 578 beat Pat almost 200 pins and I think this is a good place to wish everyone a Happy New Year and better bowling.

DATE IS FEB. 27

Memorial Tourney Set for Tony Lema

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (UPI) — A Memorial golf tournament for the late Tony Lema, with all proceeds going to his favorite charity, was announced today.

The tournament will be played on Feb. 27 over the Marco Island country club course at which Lema served as a touring pro until he was killed in an airplane crash last July 24.

A field of 25 professionals will team with 75 amateurs for the 18-hole event. The pros will compete for $5,000 in prize money, donated by the country club while the amateurs will make donations of $100 each to the Hanna Boys Center at Sonoma, Calif., which was Lema's favorite charity.

Plans for the tournament were announced by Gene Sarazen, Chairman of the tournament committee.

"It will be for a worthy cause, befitting Tony's memory," Sarazen said. "It will be a fine tribute by the men who knew him best, to the memory of one of our most popular golfers. Tony was one of the keenest competitors the game has known and one of its finest personalities."

Because Feb. 27 comes during an open date on the PGA tour, between the Tucson, Ariz., open and Doral Open in Florida, most of the names stars are expected to compete.

Sarazen played a "dedication round" at the then new Marco Island course last February. He was named chairman of the tournament committee, which includes former vice president Richard Nixon, U.S. Senator George Smathers, Ted Williams, Ed Sullivan, Fred Corcoran, Frank O. Mackle, Jr., Barron Collier, Jr., Billy Vessels and Magr. William O'Connor, director of the Hanna Boys Center. Mackle and Collier are presidentatives of the Marco Island Development Corporation.

Lema was named the touring pro at Marco Island on July 25, 1967. He and his wife, Betty, had disclosed plans to build their own home on Marco Island shortly before they died in an airplane crash on a golf course at Lansing, Ill. Lema, who was 31, was enroute in a private plane from the PGA championship at Akron, Ohio to Chicago for an exhibition match. The pilot and co-pilot of the plane were killed along with the Lemas.

Lema, known as "Champagne Tony" because he celebrated his victories with the press with a case of champagne, was one of golf's top money winners in 1964 and again in 1965, exceeding the $100,000 mark both years.

Walker Leads Cagers Scoring

NEW YORK (UPI) — Providence's Jim Walker and UCLA's Lew Alcindor are closer than their eight-inch height difference may indicate.

Walker led Alcindor by just .03 points per game to hold the scoring lead among major college basketball players after games of Dec. 31, according to official statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Walker, a 6-foot-3 senior guard from Boston, sported a game average of 29.90 in 10 games, to a 29.87 mark held by the 7-foot-1-inch UCLA sophomore, Alcindor.

Alcindor had dumped in 230 points for the Bruins in eight games.

PACKING EQUIPMENT are Harvester managers Darreyl Smith and John Hasse for Friday trip to Lubbock. The Harvesters meet the Westerners in a 7 p.m. district game in Lubbock Coliseum.

OVER THE COUNTER

Super Bowl Ticket Sales Start Moving

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ticket sales for the Jan. 15 Super Bowl game between the Green Bay Packers and the Kansas City Chiefs were expected to take a sharp jump today when they were made available "over the counter" for the first time.

Sales started at 7 a.m. (CST) at numerous agencies throughout Southern California and about 47,000 of the pasteboards were available going for $12, $10, or $6.

Up to this point, sales appeared to be rather slow. Pro-football commissioner Pete Rozelle reported Wednesday 26,000 tickets had been sold by mail. Another 20,000 were allotted "on consignment" to the competing teams and other teams in the National and American Football Leagues.

There wasn't much doubt about selling the 20,000 to priority fans of the various teams, according to Rozelle.

The youthful commissioner, here on a brief visit from his New York headquarters, would not even concede that sales were lagging.

"Fans haven't even been able to see the tickets yet and pick their locations," he said Wednesday. "and after all we've just been through the holidays for one thing, and fans have been preoccupied with the college bowl games. I think ticket sales to the Super Bowl will show a sharp increase this week and the game should be a sellout."

A sellout would mean 93,000 seats sold at Memorial Coliseum.

Whether the first game, between champions of the two leagues is a sellout or not, it will be blacked out on television in the Los Angeles area.

CBS and NBC contributed $2 million for TV rights and the blackout was written into the contract, Rozelle said.

He did not appear worried about a federal court suit seeking an injunction against the local blackout.

Suit Filed Rozelle gave a deposition Wednesday to attorney Arthur Toll in nearby Beverly Hills, explaining his reasons for the blackout. Toll represents Alan Minter, a football fan who filed the suit.

A hearing is scheduled in federal district court at 2 p.m. (PST) Friday.

Rozelle would not talk specifically about what he said in the deposition.

In general terms, however, he told newsmen lifting of the local blackout would be unfair to fans who would purchase tickets. He also said he had to "protect the players." Players on the winning team are guaranteed $15,000 and the losers get $7,500 each.

Lifting of the blackout would, Rozelle said, jeopardize the live gate and the guarantee.

He said in a federal court suit in New York in 1962, the National Football League was upheld in setting a local TV blackout.

Irish Named As Best in Football

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Notre Dame was named 1966 College Football Champion Thursday by the Football Writers Association of America in the only balloting held after the completion of post-season bowl games.

The writers' panel of experts rated Michigan State No. 2 and Alabama the third top team in the nation. No other schools were named in the voting.

Notre Dame received 18 points and two first place votes from the five-man panel. Michigan State collected one first place vote and 14 points to barely edge Alabama, which drew 13 points and was selected first by two of the writers. The points were awarded on a 5-3-1 basis.

The United Press International board of coaches rated the teams in the same 1-2-3 order at the end of the regular season.

Association President Arnie Burdick of the Syracuse Herald-Journal announced the results of the vote. The selecting panel was made up of Fred Russell, Nashville Banner; Jerry Nason, Boston Globe; Jack Murphy, San Diego Union; Si Burick, Dayton News, and Maury White, Des Moines Register.

Notre Dame, unbeaten but tied 10-10 by Michigan State, will receive the Grandland Rice Award given by Look Magazine.

Michigan State, with only the Notre Dame deadlock to mar an otherwise perfect record, and unbeaten, untied Alabama were named co-champions by the writers last year.

CURFEW VIOLATIONS DETROIT (UPI) — Four members of the last-place Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League were fined Friday by coach Sid Abel for breaking their curfew times in New York Thursday night.

Abel, who would not divulge the amount of the fines, said that Captain Alex Delvecchio, Norm Ullman, Parker MacDonald and Floyd Smith were "lingering in a restaurant in the hotel after midnight."

Don't Give Up, Harvesters Will Bounce Back

By RON CROSS Now would be a good time for everybody to call it quits and fold up like a tent, fan and players alike. Somehow we don't figure this will be the case.

Pampa's Harvester cagers go on the road Friday, journeying to Lubbock where they meet the lowly Westerners in an attempt to break a two-game losing streak.

Lubbock is by no means the worse team in the league, even though they are playing like it. The Westerners stand in last place in the district race and in the season standings with 0-6 and 2-15 records respectively.

Thus far Lubbock is scoring at a 45.2 per game clip and giving up 57 points per contest in district play and offensively have scored 48.5 points per game while giving up 59.7 per contest for the season.

Pampa was flying high until they ran into Hobbs' Eagles in the finals of the Hobbs tournament and still managed to score a season high of 98 points. Then Tuesday night the Harvesters, ran into something called Tascosa who came to town leading the district and left the same way, battering Pampa, 59-49.

The loss dropped Pampa into third place with a 42 record, behind Amarillo, and gave them a 13-3 season reading.

Mistakes is something the Harvesters hadn't made too many of before running into the Rebels and then everything seemed to go wrong at once.

Pampa played before their largest home crowd of the season, more than 1,900 fans, and those see the Harvesters play for the first time, probably decided it would also be the last.

Well, don't be discouraged, you'll probably not see Pampa go off the deep end like that again, they made enough mistakes Tuesday to last them and coach Terry Culley the rest of the season.

The Harvesters aren't the type fellows to fold up and we hope Pampa fans and student body type folks aren't either.

It's bad enough trying to win away from home and two or three busloads of folk at Lubbock would do Pampa more good than a couple of 6-6 players. (Just kidding coach.)

It would be nice if some en-it's just plain discouraging when the cheers are for the other team only.

Crowds have picked up for the last two home games but when Pampa plays on the road and a Harvester makes a bucket or free throw it's so quiet you could hear a pin drop.

There is plenty to see, scoring-wise when you watch Pampa, with Bo Lang sinking bucket after bucket and carrying a 18.2 scoring average and the same as true of junior George Bailey who is inching toward the 20-point mark with a 18.9 average.

Seniors Steve Williams and Rich Foster provide plenty of offensive and defensive action with Williams averaging 13.7 points per game and Foster an surprising business firm in Pampa would sponsor a bus just for the student body for money is the only thing that keeps a lot of the kids from attending the out-of-town games.

Usually only parents who have youngsters playing are the only ones who make the out-of-town games and a lot more fans than this are needed.

Those kids are playing for their town and school, not just for themselves, but sometimes even 11 per game.

Williams was put on Tascosa's Pat Estes in the second half Tuesday night and held the Rebel hotshot to two baskets after he had downed 18 first half points.

As a team the Harvesters are averaging 70 points per contest and that's good for any high school team.

The Harvesters and Westerners tip off at 7 p.m. in the Coliseum. Let's go help 'em out.

Free Shots Pace TCU Past Raiders

By United Press International Texas Christian, outshot from the field, took advantage of its free throws Wednesday night to defeat Texas Tech 71-65 in both teams' Southwest Conference Opener in Fort Worth.

It was the only SWC game scheduled.

Tech hit on 45.3 per cent of its field goals, compared to TCU's 33.8 per cent, and made two more field goals than the Frogs. But TCU went to the charity line 10 more times and made all 10 good.

TCU was ahead by only one point in the closing minutes of the game, but sank seven free throws in the last two minutes to pull away.

Terry Sloan and James Cash led TCU with 14 points each. Joe Dobbs was high man for the Red Raiders with 18 points.

Tar Heels Start Off Bad in 1967

By United Press International If the North Carolina basketball team didn't make any New Year's resolutions, it might be time for a late one.

The Tar Heels should resolve to start playing again like they did in 1966 if they're going to be a contender for 1967 national collegiate honors.

The Tar Heels started off the 1966 part of this 1966-67 season with a magnificent 9-0 record, bringing back memories of 1956-57 when the Tar Heels went 32-0 and beat Kansas in Wilt Chamberlain's sophomore year: 54-53 in triple overtime to win the NCAA title.

The North Carolina rosters started envisioning a similar performance against UCLA this year in Lew Alcindor's sophomore year.

But in the first four days of 1967, things have been different. The Tar Heels were gunned down by Princeton of the Ivy League 91-81 Monday night and then just squeezed by Wake Forest, which now has a 3-7 record, 75-74, Wednesday night.

Last Second Triumph It took a basket by 6-foot-16 sophomore Rusty Clark with 17 seconds left to give North Carolina a 74-74 deadlock and then junior sensation Larry Miller made a dramatic steal and drove in for a layup in the last second to give North Carolina the victory.

North Carolina was the only member of the United Press International's top 10 ranked teams to see action Wednesday night. But two members of the second 10, St. John's and Dayton, were both in action and both were victorious.

St. John's turned backboonee Washington 74-58 and Dayton nipped Xavier 75-72.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Big Brother Is Here

Eight-year old Peggy Stewart burst into her home at Chester Township, Pa. 'Mommy, she cried, 'we've been suspended from school!' The terse notes that she and her brother handed her mother said they'd been 'disobedient'—they had brought sandwiches from home instead of buying the lunch prepared at school under the federal School Lunch Program. Washington 'encourages' total participation in the program, so local authorities simply ousted the Stewart children to make them conform.

Regular readers of the magazine 'Reader's Digest' will recognize the above quotation. It is the opening paragraph of an article entitled, 'Big Brother Is Here' which appeared in the magazine's November, 1966 edition. The article, written by Charles Stevenson, takes the position that: "It is terrible to contemplate, but we (in this country) are permitting (governmental) practices which, left unchecked, have resulted in police states in other countries."

This newspaper agrees. In fact, for years now, The Register has been warning of the growing violations of individual freedom by government at every level which the Reader's Digest, with its 27 million circulation, has now documented in instance after instance, case after case, in stark relief.

The reference to 'Big Brother' is, of course, to the omnipotent, cruel and senseless bureaucracy portrayed by George Orwell in his book 'Nineteen Eighty Four.'

As much as we would like to, the Digest article is far too long for us to quote here in its entirety; and, of course, we could not reproduce the article without the publishers' permission. However, these examples taken from the article of power-crazed bureaucracy running amuck will give our readers an added insight into what The News has been talking about these many years:

A man and his wife, Jesse

Bureaucracy Runs Amuck

Msgr. William N. Wall, in charge of the Mount Carmel Center and Hospital for Alcoholics in Paterson, N.J. which sells, for mere pittance, objects made by grateful refugees to help sustain itself, was ordered by the Department of Labor to pay for the labor involved at the rate of $1.25 an hour, since, so the department claimed, Wall was thus engaging in interstate commerce.

Fifty-three-year-old Clarence Robinson, a self-employed redcap at the Mobile, Ala. Municipal air terminal, was ordered, by the Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division, to pay his son and two friends, who had helped him on occasion for whatever tips they might receive, $1,104.76 in back wages at the rate of $1.25 per hour. Robinson, himself, only clears about $30 a week. But the government men went further. They forbade Robinson from letting his son help him under any conditions, since that, it was said, was in violation of child labor law. In addition Robinson was ordered to keep "business-like books and submit reports as pelled out by Department of Labor wage-hour regulations."

and Dorothy Stalker, owner of a New York dairy farm, fined $20,89.90 (twice as much as they had ever earned in an entire year) for violating an obscure Department of Agriculture regulation. Their crime? The Stalkers hauled cream in one 20-quart can instead of the ten two-quart cans required by departmental edict. The Stalkers, at great expense to themselves; appealed the fine to the federal district court and, finally, although opposed by a battery of government lawyers and other talent, beat the case. Even so, and that was three years ago, the Stalkers are still undergoing bureaucratic ordeal. From time to time, agents from the Department of Agriculture settle down at the Stalker farm for as long as a week, checking and double-checking their books item by item. Recently an agent, after being refused access to Dorothy Stalker's personal checkbook, had an accomplice phone the warning: "There are ways of taking care of non-cooperators." Meanwhile, the Stalkers are nearly broke, and Dorothy has developed ulcers.

"A new tyranny," says Reader's Digest, is spreading across America. What has been creeping up on us through the years of ever-expanding government has finally caught up with us as a result of the Great Society's concern for our welfare. It is the chilling rule of Big Brother Bureaucracy, a fiction-like despotism silently imposed behind a glittering facade of political promises and dangled gifts."

Other examples: The Food and Drug Administration has bugged teachers, raided churches, harassed honest businessmen and possibly, according to the article, used perjured testimony trying to convict the innocent.

The Post Office has delivered private letters to federal agents for opening and spying on loyal employees in restaurants.

"The portent is frightening," states the Reader's Digest article. "The Government owns a third of all land in the United States. Some two million people reside in its enclaves. There are newsstands in many of its 426,866 buildings... subjected to Big Brother's thought control." Government jobholders, the article went on to state, have been made to answer searching questions about their personal finances, family ancestry, religious and sexual experiences. In the Post Office Department alone, 51 "deputy ethical-conduct counselors" have been entrusted like so many thought-control commissars to oversee this sort of snooping. The small Business Administration tells its employees that they are not to patronize certain restaurants and stores.

At Norfolk, Va.; civilian personnel officers advised civilian workers that a sociologist was scheduled to speak on racial matter. "The names of those who aren't there will be taken down," the employees were warned. Thousands of workers are being coerced into buying government bonds. Whether they want them, or can afford them, appears to be of little moment. Some, the article continued, are forced to buy or sign this statement: "I do not accept my responsibility to support the President."

But the commissar tactics of the bureaucracy are even more ominous. "Now," says the Reader's Digest, touching on a subject editorialized on repeatedly by this newspaper, "the Bureaucracy has conceived the idea of a 'National Data Center,' where an electric dossier can be established on EVERY citizen. Huge computers will store intimate detail on our lives—from tax returns to census information. All will be recorded, in full detail, admits

Federal Economy Wanted — Not Promises

The public should be forgiven if it views President Johnson's promise to reduce federal spending by several billion dollars with considerable skepticism. After all, this isn't the first time American taxpayers have heard Mr. Johnson promise to cut back federal spending.

No doubt some citizens will recall the early period in Mr. Johnson's administration when he was insisting that the lights be turned off in the White House and government offices in order to curb expenses. Some light switches were manipulated, but within months Mr. Johnson was proposing that billions be spent on Medicare, the War on Poverty and other costly Great Society operations.

Americans also will recall that Mr. Johnson appeared before Congress and submitted what he called a "barebones" budget. Yet this same budget was ringed by layers of fiscal blubber with enormous sums going to satisfy the appetite of American brand socialists. If the American people have to rely on presidential promises to cut spending, they will have a long wait in the poorhouse. Mr. Johnson, according to accurate critics, doesn't know what budget-cutting means.

Mr. Johnson stresses the demands of the Vietnam war, and these demands are truly great. But Mr. Johnson does not insist that the national budget be put on a war footing, with non-essential spending eliminated. For example, the administration pushed through Rentiere in the last Congress. That is a plan where by the federal government subsidizes rent payments for supposedly underprivileged citizens. An administration that seeks to spend money on Rentiere can hardly be described as an administration that understands the meaning of the world frugality.

Even if the Johnson administration shaves $3 billion off the budget, it is unlikely that will answer the nation's need for governmental economizing. While the White House talks of clipping the budget by $3 billion, other government spokesmen indicated that the budget will grow enormously in other directions.

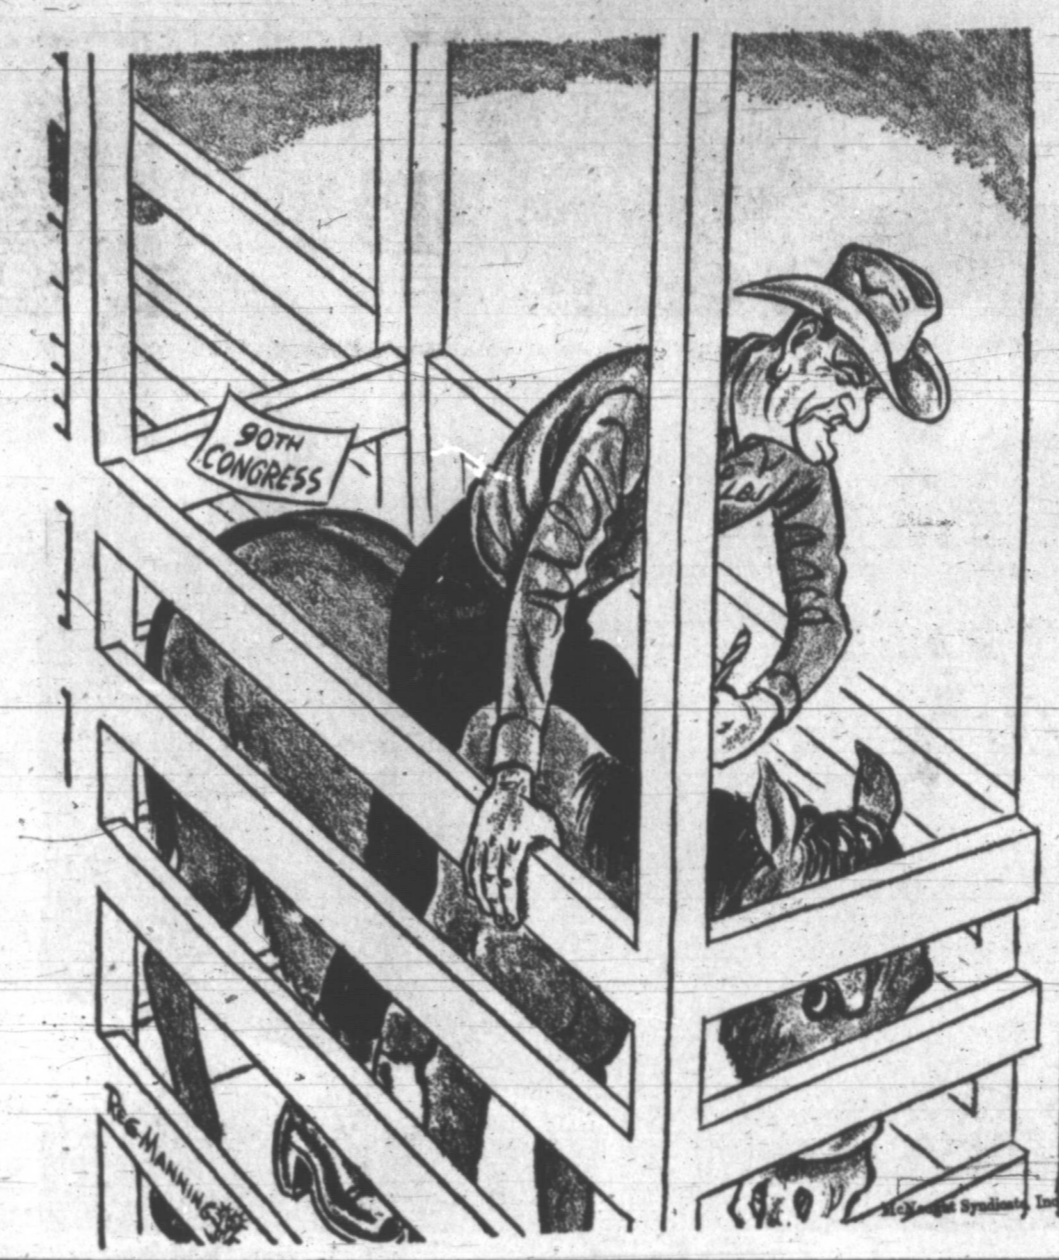

Walter Heller, Mr. Johnson's former economic adviser, already has suggested that the deficit may range between $10 billion and $15 billion this year. Effective combat of the twin dangers of inflation and recession requires budget-cutting on a massive order, not on a taken scale. Government operations are riddled with non-essential spending. For example, the federal government has more than 150 aid programs for the states. It is bad business that the states should look to Washington for a solution to all their problems. It is equally bad that Washington should try to run state affairs by pumping money into state capitals. Surely, budgetary axmen could have a field day on these programs.

Foreign aid still remains a prime area for budgetary reduction. Take the case of Egypt. For years, Egypt has been receiving millions of dollars worth of free food from the United States. With this food available to feed its people, the Egyptian government has been in a position to wage war in the small Red Seas country of Yemen. More recently, Egypt and other revolutionary Arab countries have been applying pressure against the more conservative Arab nations. Surely it is time for Mr. Johnson to cut off the supply of free food to the aggressive Egyptians who are working hand-in-hand with the Soviets.

Federal urban renewal programs have absorbed tax funds in large quantities. It is time the Budget Bureau, "without screening for confidentiality," thus making it possible for "other data — secret reports on marital affairs, I.Q. tests, school grades, illness, forgotten comments by teachers and former employers, records covering credit, travel and adolescent indiscretions — to be easily added once the center is set up. By pressing a button, the Bureaucracy could then spread out and exploit the personal affairs of any individual."

The list goes on and on. We suggest that those who missed the article read it if the November issue of Reader's Digest is still available. If not, reprints may be obtained by writing to: Reprint Editor, The Reader's Digest, Pleasantville, New York — 10 copies for 50 cents.

No less an authority than Stanley Marcus, of the famed Neiman-Marcus store in Dallas predicts the department store of the 21st century will feature push-button shopping at home with the housewife slipping a large plate into a slot in a phone-vision machine to complete her purchasing. The merchandise, dresses, or anything she might want to buy will be shown to her on a gadget like a TV set. When she makes her selection she will simply charge it electronically and the goods will be shipped to her home. Mr. Marcus foresees that department stores of the future won't need so much selling space, but more telephone salespersons.

ILL FARES THE LAND

"What is the solution to the so-called 'farm problem'?" The farmer is going to insist, and rightfully so, on an improved economic circumstance completely free of government subsidy and control. "At the same time the solution must not grant the farmer favored-treatment from government, or secure for him an enforced advantage over other national trade, craft and professional groupings."

Thus does author Dan P. Van Gorder present his solution to the "complicated" farm mess in his new paperback book "Ill Fares the Land" (published by Western Islands, Belmont, Mass.; 75 cents).

Van Gorder provides a new wrinkle to the long-debated farm situation by proclaiming that the end result of today's political policies will be a famine for America. To support his claim, he fills the back part of his book with an impressive array of agriculture statistics. He says that the multitude of programs to limit farm production are putting the U.S. in a position where it will be dependent upon foreign trade.

Of course, the solution advanced by the author (quoted at the outset of this review) will provide the answer — no matter whether the problem is surplus or shortage. For the free market automatically signals profit-seeking farmers to produce that which is needed and wanted, and to shy away from overproduced products that can yield no profits.

In "Ill Fares the Land," the author cites a great deal of history concerning communist and socialist involvement in agricultural legislation during the thirties. Again, however, this background concerning who put us in this fix is not important; the

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Balance of Necessary Body Chemicals Important In recent years physicians and surgeons have grown increasingly aware that certain essential chemicals in the body have to be kept in a state of fairly close balance. The amount lost daily through the kidneys, skin and bowel had to be supplied in about the same amount — if not in the diet, then by supplements. This has made for greatly improved care of the victims of various diseases and persons recovering from operations. One of these essential electrolytes is potassium. Unlike sodium your body cannot store this element to give you a reserve supply. Potassium is found abundantly in unsalted nuts, most fresh and frozen vegetables and fresh, frozen, canned or dried fruits. Exceptions include most canned vegetables and frozen peas and lima beans. Persons who have to take diuretics (water pills) or cortisone-like drugs lose potassium faster than it is supplied in a normal diet. The element is also lost in diabetes, colitis, severe burns, kidney disease excessive sweating, vomiting and some nutritional deficiencies.

The problem was met at first by giving tablets of potassium chloride but these were found to irritate the stomach. The tablets were then coated in such a way that they didn't dissolve until they reached the intestines. Although these tablets no longer caused nausea and heartburn they were just as irritating to the lining of the intestines and caused severe ulceration or hemorrhage at that level.

This prompted the development of a new effervescent tablet (K-Lyte) that makes a lime-flavored drink and contains potassium citrate, bicarbonate and potassium supplements and is available only on a doctor's prescription. Although it is well-tolerated by most persons, it should be used only when it is not possible to meet the body's potassium requirements with foods that are rich in the element or by using Triplex or Karon in place of ordinary table salt.

Q—I am hungry all the time no matter how much I eat. As a result I am gaining weight. What could cause this and what do you advise? A—An insatiable appetite may be caused by too high a concentration of acid in the stomach, diabetes (in which case there is also increased thirst) or emotional frustration (seeking consolation in food). It is not caused by a tapeworm as was once believed. Before seeking an appetite-suppressing drug or other treatment, you'd better have your doctor determine the cause of your trouble.

For many years the American Seventh Fleet has patrolled the Straits of Formosa to prevent Chiang's forces from returning to the mainland. Why? We don't want to offend Russia.

A free and friendly China on Russia's flank is, from America's viewpoint, the most vital bastion of defense possible, for outranking launching pads on the moon or in space. Free China should attack Red China with or without the permission of the United States. Chinese involvement in Vietnam would doubtless cease immediately if Free China attacks Red China.

Talk with almost any army officer back from Vietnam and he'll tell you "we could, even without resorting to atomic weapons, win the Vietnam War this week."

Then why don't we? Again, we don't want to offend Russia. American foreign policy is not based on freeing China or any other enslaved nation. America's foreign policy is not based on destruction of the enemy. America's foreign policy is not based on defense of America and the free world. America's foreign policy is based on the destruction of our friends in Rhodesia and South Africa; and on capitulation to and eventual merger with the Soviet enemy.

Why is the main plank of our foreign policy predicated on friendship with Russia? Only the word can adequately answer that question. The word is treason. We — "our" State Department — made Russia. Ever since Roosevelt, we have exported factories, food, equipment and American know-how to Russia and her satellites. Russia is the enemy. Treason is "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

The American people will either cause a reversal of this policy soon or we will some tomorrow, if not today, see our choices confined to: surrender or annihilation. The number one enemy of America and the free world is not Red China, but Russia, just as Russia was in World War II. World War II was the wrong war at the wrong time against the wrong enemy. Allied with and supported by us then and since, Russia is the greatest menace in the history of the world. Perhaps those who allied us with Russia in World War II were ignorant and innocent, though I don't think so. Those who repeat this treason can't possibly be ignorant, and assuming their innocence is as ridiculous as calling Bishop Pike a Christian.

In 1967 let us resolve to win in Vietnam and in Cuba and China. In 1967 and every year let us dedicate ourselves to making the criminal Communist conspiracy fall everywhere; and to freeing the enslaved of the world.

Wit and Whimsy

An influential businessman lay dying. He summoned his best friend and asked him to promise to see that his mortal remains would be cremated. The friend agreed, but with cautious reverence asked:

Fred—What would you want me to do with the ashes? Frank (the dying man)—Do with the ashes? Place them in an envelope and send them to the collector of internal revenue and tell him: "Now you have everything."

A kindergarten teacher was asked by one of her small charges whether the rabbit they were playing with was a boy or a girl. Not wanting to be drawn into a birds- and - bees discussion, she said she didn't know.

Another youngster volunteered:

Young Teddy—I know how we can find out. Bracing herself for the worst, the teacher almost reached to put her hand over his mouth. But he blurted out:

Young Teddy—We can take a vote!

The first Olympic Games were held by the ancient city-states of Greece in 776 B.C., says The World Almanac. They were continued every four years until A.D. 394 when they were banned by the Roman emperor Theodosius. The modern Olympic Games were started by Baron de Coubertin in 1896. He succeeded in persuading nine nations to send athletes to Athens for the first meet.

DEFINING THE PUBLIC INTEREST

Some politicians would have us believe that they alone have a clear concept of what the "public interest" actually is and how it can best be served. Proceeding on this theory, they frequently demand that some U.S. industry "act in the public interest" by not raising prices.

In a free economy like ours prices go up and down. In a period of inflation like the present they are much more likely to go up than down. But in any period they are bound to fluctuate in accordance with changes in supply and demand.

Recently the Federal Government has been trying to hold prices level even as it is increasing the quantity of money. During the last six years the combined policies of the government and the Federal Reserve have resulted in an increase of 52 per cent in the supply of money. This increase naturally has cheapened the value of the dollar.

Government-dictated prices are not in the public interest, which would be served much better by a halt to heavy deficit spending by the government. That is a prime cause of hurtful inflation.

There are those in government who look constantly for excuses to impose more and more controls on the American people; for their own good, of course! But many are not ready to accept the definition of public interest that is put forward by advocates of rigid controls.

Only a free price system can provide assurance that the thousands of different commodities and services provided today can be produced in the proportions demanded by the buying public.
