Public Hearing On Street Paving Set For Tuesday

A public hearing on Pampa's proposed $718,000 paving program to improve approximately 140 blocks in all sections of the city will feature Tuesday morning's meeting of the Pampa City Commission.

The meeting is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. in the regular meeting place on the main floor of City Hall.

City Manager Jim White said if enough property owners appear, the hearing will be moved to the former city council meeting chamber on the third floor.

An explanation of the paving assessment program in connection with the citywide project will be given at Tuesday's hearing.

The city's share will amount to $236,359 and the property owner's share of the cost will be $482,357.

Other items on the agenda at Tuesday's meeting include the awarding of contracts for purchase of a tractor mower and two police cars, setting of dates for receiving bids on water well equipment and seal coating of streets, purchase of $600,000 in U.S. Treasury Bills, and the approval of current city and library bills.

'Wild' Auto Slams Into Car, Fence

A near-tragedy was averted last night shortly before 9 o'clock when a late model compact car, which police said was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, jumped the curb in front of 907 E. Browning.

The car apparently careened across two lawns narrowly missing the porch at 909 E. Browning and finally came to a stop after hitting a car parked in the driveway at 909 E. Browning. Both cars crashed into the fence of a vacant house next door owned by Eugene Pace of Skellytown.

Police charged Stanley W. Townsend, 42, of Lefors, driver of the compact car, with driving while intoxicated.

A witness to the accident said when he first noticed the car traveling east on Browning, it hit the curb where the street jogs left causing it to go out of control and then hit the curb on the opposite side of the street.

Mrs. E. V. Boston, 909 E. Browning, owner of the parked car which was damaged in the accident, said she and her sister, Miss Minnie Bogy, were watching television in their living room when they heard the crash.

Mrs. T. V. Gilbert, 1004 Fisher, who had been visiting with her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. M. H. Meeks, 901 1/2 Browning, narrowly escaped injury as she was getting into her car, which was only a few feet from where the Townsend car jumped the curb and started careening across the lawns.

G. K. READING HONORED Kelley To Take Over As Resident Engineer

Approximately 300 of his friends and highway associates honored G. K. Reading, Pampa resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department, at a retirement party Friday night in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

Reading will wind up a 44-year highway improvement career when he retires March 31. It was announced by Reading in a responsive talk at the conclusion of an evening of accolades and awards that he will be succeeded in the post by Tom R. Kelley, who has been assistant resident engineer under Reading in the Pampa highway department office.

Byron Reese, a retired district highway engineer and present Amarillo city commissioner, emceed the banquet program and introduced testimonial speakers. Those who paid tribute to Reading were Charles W. (Chili) Smith, District 4 highway engineer at Amarillo; Virgil McGee, district highway engineer at Childress; Fred Thompson, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce highway committee; James Baird, representing the Pampa residency office, and James Terrill, representing highway contractors who had worked with Reading.

More than two score highway department officials and employees from Amarillo, Austin, Borger, Childress and Pampa attended the affair.

Reading and Mrs. Reading were presented with plaques, certificates, flowers and personal gifts from various organizations and employ groups.

Reading was described as a "king maker" by one of the testimonial speakers who said: "He has something that he gives to others. He is a man with the ability to impart that something which makes them better persons and better engineers. During his career he has fathered three district engineers. During his career he has engineers now scattered over the state."

Entertainment for the affair was furnished by the "We Three" trio and Maxine-Miliron at the organ.

Reception and banquet guests were welcomed by Mayor Jim Nation.

Political Elite Lampooned At Gridiron Club's Banquet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's political elite—ranging from President Johnson to the Republicans who would like to get his job—were lampooned in non-partisan fashion Saturday at the 82nd annual Gridiron Club dinner.

With song and skit, members of the newspaper club zeroed in on such Democratic targets as the President, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and their Republican counterparts, Richard M. Nixon, Govs. George Romney, Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Charles Percy.

Johnson did not attend the frolicsome white tie affair but Humphrey, Kennedy, Romney and Reagan were on hand to see themselves lampooned before an audience of more than 500 Gridiron members and guests.

Satiric shafts also were thrown at the CIA for its recent troubles over subsidizing student groups, the House for its problem with ousted Adam Clayton Powell and the Communist leaders of Russia and China for their ideological dispute.

Club President Walter Trohan, chief of the Chicago Tribune's Washington news bureau, set the tone of tongue-in-cheek evening with the traditional opening "speech in the dark."

Of the GOP, he remarked: "The elephant can't forget, but after all what's he got to remember." Then the Democrats, Trohan commented: "They may not have as many actors (as the Republicans) but they have more than their share of characters."

Kennedy and Reagan delivered traditional off-the-record speeches on behalf of their party. (See GRIDIRON, Page 3)

Shaw Attorneys Granted Hearing

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Attorneys for Clay L. Shaw, the man named by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison as a member of a conspiracy to kill President Kennedy, have been granted a special hearing Monday before the three judges who will conduct a preliminary hearing Tuesday.

The purpose of the special hearing was not spelled out, but it apparently involves additional motions which Shaw's lawyers want to file.

The three criminal district court judges: Bernard J. Bagert, Malcolm O'Hara and Matthew Braniff, have given Shaw's lawyers permission to photograph the interior of the apartment occupied by David W. Ferrie, a key figure in the probe who died Feb. 22.

In filing an affidavit to search Shaw's home, Garrison stated Shaw, Ferrie, Lee Harvey Oswald and others plotted to kill the President during a meeting in Ferrie's apartment in September, 1963.

Viet Reds Claim Steel Mill Raiders Downed

Stalin's Daughter Given Temporary Asylum by Swiss

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—The Swiss government Saturday granted temporary asylum to Svetlana Stalina and announced officially that the only daughter of the late Soviet Premier Josef Stalin wanted to remain in the West.

Svetlana, 41, flew to Geneva from Rome early Saturday aboard an Alitalia Airlines plane which carried only one other passenger. He reportedly was Robert F. Rayle, second secretary of the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi.

A Swiss government spokesman said later Svetlana had been granted "temporary sojourn for the purposes of rest and recovery." Justice Minister Ludwig von Moos scheduled a news conference Monday to explain Switzerland's attitude toward Stalin's daughter.

Spy Novel Dash

Svetlana traveled from New Delhi to Rome to Geneva in a dash for asylum which had all the trappings of a spy novel. She apparently intended to go to New York, but a Washington official—reportedly it was President Johnson himself—decided that this would be impossible for the time being because of delicate U.S.-Soviet relations.

Stalin's daughter, dressed in an olive-green two-piece suit, carried a handbag as she left the four-engine turboprop. The plane landed at a remote corner of Geneva Airport where a gray sedan waited in a light drizzle.

Swiss police hustled Svetlana into the automobile and it roared away. She ignored questions shouted by reporters as she was taken to an undisclosed hiding place.

She gained refuge in the same country Stalin's predecessor, Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, and some of his followers spent the early months of 1917 plotting the revolution which overthrew the czarist regime.

Svetlana apparently made her decision to defect while in New Delhi, where she had taken the ashes of her third husband, an Indian.

Concert Drive Goes Into Its Final Week

FOR 1967-68 SEASON

The final sellout drive of 1967-68 memberships for the Pampa Community Concert Association's 1967-68 season begins tomorrow with the annual volunteer-workers dinner at 7 p.m. in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

Concert headquarters will be opened at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the lobby of the Southwestern Public Service Co., 315 N. Ballard.

Renewal membership week was concluded last night and all remaining memberships now are open to the public.

Mrs. Lillian Kilgarriff, Columbia Artists, Inc., representative, was scheduled to arrive in Pampa this forenoon. Mrs. Kilgarriff will be the speaker at tomorrow night's workers' banquet.

Mrs. Bruce Riehart, membership drive chairman, said Saturday two attractions already booked for the coming season are the Washington National Symphony Orchestra and the Roger Wagner Choral and Orchestra, two of the most outstanding musical organizations in the United States. (See photo, Page 12.)

Two additional attractions will be booked for the coming season when this week's membership campaign is concluded.

Mrs. Tom Rose, membership secretary, reported a heavy renewal sale during the week just ended and urged persons wishing to get memberships to do so early to avoid disappointment.

Adult memberships are $10 each for the season and student memberships are $5 each.

Mrs. Leora Rose and Mrs. Aubrey Steele are in charge of arrangements for tomorrow night's banquet to be attended by association officers and more than 100 volunteer workers who will wind up the membership campaign this week.

Mrs. M. McDaniel, association president, will preside.

Mrs. Kirk Duncan will be in charge of the SWPS lobby headquarters where workers will make daily reports.

The campaign will continue until the seating capacity of Pampa Junior High Auditorium, where the concert attractions are staged, is sold out.

While the campaign is scheduled to run through Saturday, it is expected to be concluded before that time. Last year memberships were all gone by Thursday of membership week.

Persons wishing to obtain memberships may call MO 5-3092, the headquarters office.

Giant Factory Blasted Again

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR., United Press International

SAIGON, Viet Nam—Communist North Vietnam claimed early Sunday it shot down seven U.S. planes and captured a "number of American pilots" Saturday when U.S. jets flying out of Thailand bombed North Vietnam's giant steel works at Thai Nguyen for the second straight day.

The Hanoi report, relayed by the Communist New China News Agency, said the planes were shot down over Bac Thai, Ha Bac, Hai Duong, Hung Yen and Yen Bai provinces as well as Haiphong city during bombing and strafing raids on "populated areas and economic installations." It gave no details on the reported capture of American pilots.

There was no immediate U.S. report on any plane losses in the Saturday raids that saw 14 flights of U.S. Air Force jet bombers pound what was left of the big steel fabrication mill that sprawls over more than two square miles of land about 38 miles north of Hanoi. Informed sources said "all bombs were on target" and the plant was "out of commission."

One Jet Downed

U.S. spokesmen disclosed however that one U.S. plane—an Air Force F105 Thunderchief—was shot down Friday during the first raid on the steel plant that had been turning out steel bridge sections and other products for the Communist war machine.

Four Soldiers, Newsmen Killed In Tragic Vietnam Artillery Accident

RACH KIEN, Vietnam (UPI)—A tragic artillery accident Saturday battered two companies of U.S. infantrymen, killed four GIs and an American newspaper correspondent. Those close to the action said Sunday the five men "didn't have a chance."

The correspondent was identified as Ronald D. Gallagher, 27, of Coffeyville, Kans. He was an accredited free-lance photographer for the Topeka Capital-Journal, the Joplin, Mo., Globe and the Fort Scott (Kan.) Tribune.

The artillery mishap occurred during fighting along the Oriental River 10 miles southwest of Saigon where two companies of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division launched a sweep into the Mekong Delta.

No Chance

One GI who witnessed the tragedy said later "that press guy didn't have a chance. He and the other guys were lying together and that round came in right on them."

When the shells started landing one of the men, Pfc. Bruce Meyer, 20, of Chicago, got to a radio and transmitted information back to the rear that the shells were hitting friendly troops.

Meyer was credited with calming the men around him as the platoon leader, 1st Lt. Thaddeus Davis, 25, of Marion, Ala., also got on a radio and received orders to pull his men back.

By that time another six or seven rounds had come in. When the barrage ended Meyer and the others went back to pull out the dead.

After the dead and wounded had been evacuated the company prepared to be lifted back by helicopter to the battalion command post.

They had not been able to sweep their final objective.

Pampa Police Rookies Will Study How to Enforce Law

Rookie applicants for city police jobs in Pampa from here on out will be trained thoroughly in the rudiments of law enforcement before they go on the job.

This was the statement of City Manager Jim White yesterday following Friday's meeting of the Panhandle City Managers Association in Coronado Inn.

A dozen city managers from over the Panhandle attended the Friday luncheon and four-hour afternoon session at which the chief topic of discussion was a proposed police academy for Panhandle cities.

The upshot of the meeting was that cities wishing to do so would enter an arrangement with the City of Amarillo to have rookies trained at the Amarillo Police Academy.

City Manager White said Pampa police applicants in the future will take an eight-week course at the Amarillo Academy where they will be addressed and briefed by lawyers, highway patrol officials, police administrators and FBI men.

The rookies will attend the school for eight hours five days a week and undergo an examination at the conclusion of the course.

White said the tuition cost for eight weeks of police training would be $1,000. (See POLICE, Page 3)

Capitol Hill Image Facing New Scandal?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Is another major scandal about to chip away at Capitol Hill's image, already battered by the Adam Clayton Powell and Bobby Baker affairs?

That will be the looming question Monday when Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., goes before six of his peers for hearings on charges he pocketed big contributions intended for campaigning, charged two and three times for air fares, and played fast-and-loose with his influence.

Going into these allegations in public session will be the Senate Ethics Committee, a carefully selected bipartisan panel set up in the wake of the Bobby Baker scandal.

Dodd's accusers have estimated that political donations allegedly turned to his own use by the Connecticut Democrat ranged from $100,000 to as much as $500,000.

As for raising money through testimonials, Dodd said, "I have no regrets, I would do what I have done all over again. I know in my heart I have raised money in an honorable fashion and in good faith."

He conceded that he double-billed the government and private organizations for seven air fares, but blamed this on a home demonstration agent.

Lefors 4-H Club Girls Win First

Two winners in the Gray County 4-H Club food show Saturday at Recreation Park here will compete in the district food show in Canyon on April.

District winners in the senior division will enter the state contest at Texas A&M.

First place blue ribbon junior winners yesterday were Elaine Webb of Lefors and Cynthia Youngblood of Mobeetie. Alternates for the junior division district contest were Theresa Ann Sailor of Pampa and Janet Gail Smith of Pampa and both received red ribbons.

Other red ribbon winners in the show at the Community Building were Marilyn Sailor, of Pampa; Carra Thomas, Pampa; Marcella Brooks, Pampa; Debbie Sailor, Lefors; Vicki Smith, Grandview; Joyce Babcock, Grandview; and Niña Nickel, Lefors.

White ribbon winners were Debbie Fields, Grandview; Belinda Brooks, Pampa; and Marva June Rowan, Pampa.

After the district contest, Gray County 4-H winners will not compete in the state contest, because no seniors entered the Gray County show this year.

Mrs. Gail Nunez, assistant home demonstration agent, said.

WAY TO A MAN'S HEART—First place winners in the Gray County 4-H Food Show, Cindy Youngblood (left) and Elaine Webb, check over the winning table. The girls will compete in district competition at Canyon April 22. The competition was held Saturday at Recreation Park. Both first place winners are members of the Lefors 4-H Club. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Youngblood of Lefors and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Webb of Mobeetie.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Goodbody & Co. says the stock market has stood up well despite adverse economic news recently, suggesting the 1966-67 market has stood up well despite adverse economic news recently, suggesting the 1966-67 business slowdown may have been discounted. The company believes prospects for a business recovery in the second half of the year will favor an uptrend in stocks.

The company says a substantial advance in the near term does not seem likely until the severity and duration of the current economic adjustment becomes more clearly defined.

Bache & Co. says the market seems to be waiting for a stimulus before resuming an aggressive upswing. Meanwhile, the company feels, the market continues to build a much needed base in the 820-860 area of the Dow Jones industrial average and expects this pattern to continue until the economic picture improves.

The International Statistical Bureau Inc. says prospects for the steel industry for 1967 appear mixed. The company says early earnings estimates by industry leaders do not bear out the contention of government projections for an increase in production and shipments. The company advises against the purchase of steel issues by traders interested in short term profits.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 12
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Strange and surprising news. Most and least come into your consciousness now, but it is no time to get of the better track. Instead, look into fresh approaches by which you can refresh your mind in right thinking and living. Show respect for others.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—You have many practical ideas but they need to be worked out more thoroughly if they are to be successful for both you and associates. You can become more magnetic by carrying. Become more charming. Be happy.

Taurus: (Apr. 20 to May 20)—Think steadily before you carry through with ideas that include good friends or you meet with limitations that are difficult to overcome. Being sociable is fine, but don't take on responsibilities you cannot meet later on. Be firm.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21)—You have a different attitude in gaining the favor of others and this is good. Get approval of close the first. The public in general will believe in you more readily. Your profits can increase appreciably.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 22)—You are enthusiastic about putting more financial support from higher-ups. Make sure you have the present. Share yourselves. Then you can advance in a very sure way.

Virgo: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)—Improving system by which you get your bills paid more quickly is good on this free day. Concentrate skills and get spiritual enlightenment. One you have is feeling very dejected—cheer him, or her, up intelligently.

Libra: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You need to confer with partners who are pretty much pioneers, but must also complete duties you have assumed in a performance. You comprehend how to make a better impression on others. Conscientiousness does it.

Scorpio: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Ave matters of mutual benefit with others who have high intelligence and a good very effectively so that you become more successful. Doing something kind for those close to you is wise. Earn devotion.

Sagittarius: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Some interesting offers are required if you want to increase success and happiness in the future. Put that particular talent to use. This may require real labor but is infinitely worth it.

Capricorn: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Have a more alert attitude toward the wishes and desires of kin and you start a huge new upgrade in all of your affairs. Be glad to get rid of anything that is not necessary.

Water: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18)—You have wonderful ideas to make a fine impression on those around you who are vital to your present operations. Be very communicative with those who understand you. Get ahead much faster.

Pisces: (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)—Mentality matters are uppermost in your mind and this is fine, since you need to increase income at present. Increase your efforts. Get who understands your wants. Follow through on ideas given.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY
he, or she, will be one of those fine people who will show a distinct temper. At times they will be a little temper. At times they will be a little temper. At times they will be a little temper. At times they will be a little temper.

You, Your Child And School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

If most children have on quality in common, it is that of curiosity. Children want to know "what and why." They constantly ask questions and seek answers.

Parents have the most important responsibility of directing and encouraging this natural curiosity. This could take a great deal of patience and understanding. The adult who is faced with constant questions could easily become annoyed and as a result could discourage a child's interest and motivation.

How should a parent deal with his child in this area of curiosity? When a child asks a question there are several ways in which it can be answered. First, a direct and simple answer can be given. It is important to respond on the child's level.

When a five year old asks about atomic energy, don't get involved in the meory of nuclear fission. He will probably be satisfied with a simple answer such as that atomic energy is very strong and powerful. It can do a great amount of work. It can be used to run motors just like gasoline is used to run an automobile.

You might answer a question by saying that you don't know but that you and the child could try and find the answer. This will depend on the child's age. You can't look something up in an encyclopedia with a three year old but you can show him how to operate a particular toy.

It is an excellent teaching technique to help the child find the answer to his questions. Be careful not to get him upset by something which is too complicated or difficult for his ability.

You may choose not to answer the question. This is certainly proper in some situations. If possible the child should understand the reason for not getting an answer. In this way he has an opportunity to learn for the next time.

He must also learn to accept such a response recognizing that his parents at times must make decisions without explanation.

Another excellent teaching technique is to respond to a question with another question. The idea is to help the child think and hopefully find his own answers. A child who asks how much he weighs could be asked in return "what measures a person's weight?" Depending on his age he may need help in reading the number on the scale but he has started to learn how one solves problems.

Red Cross Youth Study Services During Workshop

International projects, community and high school services were discussion topics at the Red Cross Youth conference Saturday in Pampa High School.

The conference was designed as orientation for high school freshmen to acquaint them with Red Cross chapter activities. Arrangements for the conference were under the direction of Miss Barbara Holt, president of the Pampa High School Red Cross Youth Chapter, and Richard Barrett, Pampa High School student, who is also Panhandle Area president of Red Cross Youth.

Mrs. Jack P. Foster, board member of Pampa Chapter of ARC, as guest speaker, outlined activities and how chapters may make the best use of services to their communities and high schools.

The morning and afternoon sessions were devoted to discussion group centered around the service theme.

Dick Strayer of Amarillo, area field director, concluded the session with a question and answer period.

Approximately 30 youths from Pampa, Amarillo, Perryton and Hereford attended the all-day meeting.

BOB GADBERRY ... K & F Speaker

Public Relations Official To Be K&F Club Guest

Robert "Bob" Gadberry, who doubles as vice president and trust officer, and as public relations director of the Fourth National Bank in Wichita, Kan., and a fellow who has established an enviable reputation as a delightful speaker with college, church, civic and contentment groups in a fifteen mid-western state area, will be the guest of members of the Knife and Fork Club at 7:30 p.m., Friday, March 17, in the Coronado Inn.

Gadberry started his speaking career early while attending Kansas State College, Pittsburg, which granted him a degree in 1940. For fifteen years he was "on the air" over station KOAN at Pittsburg and later at stations KFJH and KFBI in Wichita. He joined the Fourth National Bank of Wichita in 1952.

His talk is titled "Shoes That Pinch" taken from an ancient Arabian proverb. "I complained because I had no shoes, until I met a man who had no feet." Which is part of the Gadberry philosophy, "what we occasionally forget is that had off as we think we are, others may be in a much sadder state."

Howard Graham, Pampa High School-social studies' instructor, will give the invocation.

Jerald D. Sims, First National Bank vice president, will introduce the evening's speaker.

Dinner tickets are now on sale at Malone Pharmacy. Knife and Fork Club members are asked to make reservations by 1 p.m. Thursday.

Deadline for renewing club memberships is March 15.

ing is only $100.

The city managers at their Friday meeting also discussed current legislation affecting Texas cities which is now pending in the Texas Legislature.

Marshall Pharr, city manager of Plainview, is president of the association. Pampa City Manager White is vice president.

Change Made in SA Fund Reports

It was announced Saturday that report meetings on progress of the $131,000 Salvation Army building fund drive will be made at daily meetings of civic clubs this week.

This will cause the cancellation of the general report meeting scheduled for Thursday, according to Ralph McKinney, campaign chairman.

Arrangements have been made, McKinney stated, to have each worker in the Development Program report his cards at the weekly meeting of his civic club.

A reporting table will be set up at the regular meetings of the Optimists, Jaycees, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs and workers are urged to attend and file their reports at that time.

A separate meeting will be scheduled later for workers who are not members of a civic club.

Knights To Hold Sausage Dinner

Frank Keim Council No. 2687 of Pampa will hold its 13th annual polish sausage dinner and supper today at the Columbus Club, 500 N. Ward.

Eight hundred pounds of polish sausage, plus 200 pounds each of potato salad, slaw, and barbecue beans have been prepared for the event.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used for charities sponsored by the Knights of Columbus in the Amarillo Diocese and in Gray County.

Serving hours will be from 12 noon until 7 p.m. today.

Four Draw Pen Terms For Burglary, Robbery Counts

The criminal jury for the 31st Judicial District Court here will not be summoned Tuesday because cases listed on the criminal docket of the current jury were settled by late Friday, District Judge Grainger McIlhenny said.

Richard Spradley of Pampa pleaded guilty Friday to two counts of robbery and was sentenced to 15 years in the state penitentiary on both counts. Judge McIlhenny also revoked Spradley's two-year probation.

Pedro Rivera, who pleaded guilty to a robbery charge two weeks ago, was formally sentenced Friday to five years in the state penitentiary.

Charles Richard Blumerick and David Joseph Donoghue, found guilty of burglary in a jury trial Feb. 7, were each sentenced Friday to five years in the penitentiary.

Since the original verdict, Blumerick and Donoghue were taken to Carson County to be tried for a burglary in Groom. They were found guilty and sentenced by Judge Charles Reynolds to three years in the state penitentiary. Groom is in the 100th judicial district.

Blumerick and Donoghue also pleaded guilty Friday to an additional burglary in McLean and were given five years in the state penitentiary by Judge McIlhenny.

All sentences handed down Friday will run concurrently, Judge McIlhenny said.

Geraldine Farrar Taken by Death

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Geraldine Farrar, a prima donna of ravishing beauty who sang her way to immortality before opera audiences during the first two decades of the century, died of heart failure Saturday. She was 85.

Miss Farrar spent 16 years with the Metropolitan Opera Company, following a debut in Germany in 1901, at the age of 19.

Michael V. O'Hare, his former office manager.

In fact, Dodd said, O'Hare failed to get refunds for 21 trips to Connecticut which were due to the senator. Balancing the double-billing against the 21 trips, Dodd said he owed the government $384.24.

O'Hare has said he only double-billed upon express instructions from Dodd.

Although he previously had declined to discuss investigation specifics with reporters, Dodd said in New Britain, Conn., recently that there is no chance the Senate will oust him as the House did Adam Clayton Powell.

Dodd—the first senator under investigation since the late Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., said flatly, "I'm not one bit worried."

Civic Clubs To Hear Speakers On 'Young Life'

Several local civic and service clubs will hear talks this week by representatives from Young Life, a non-sectarian organization set up to communicate Christian faith to teenagers in terms and circumstances familiar to them.

Jim Sullivan of Oklahoma City and Cy Burrus of Colorado Springs, Colo., Youth Life directors, will be in Pampa this week. They are scheduled to speak Monday noon before the Life Underwriters Association; Monday night before the Top of Texas Kiwanis Club and the Pampa Optimists; Tuesday for the Business and Professional Women's Club; Wednesday morning at the Key Club meeting in Pampa High School.

Wednesday noon, Rotary Club; Thursday, TruTeens at the Pampa Youth and Community Center at 7 a.m.; Thursday noon, Lions' Club in Methodist Church; Thursday Night, Lion's Club, Lewis Buffeteria; Friday noon, at the Downtown Kiwanis Club in Methodist Church.

The Young Life speakers will describe activities in the organization founded in Dallas in 1941 by Jim Rayburn. Through informal clubs, high school summer resorts and sharing groups, trained leaders transmit the adventure of fulfilled living on a person-to-person level, according to Sullivan.

Nine Injured In Rural Accidents During February

Sgt. J. W. Wilson, highway patrol supervisor of Gray County, reported Saturday the Texas Highway Patrol investigated 12 accidents on rural highways in the county in February.

These accidents resulted in nine persons injured and an estimated property damage of $4,090.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first two months of 1967 shows a total of 23 accidents, with no persons killed, but 20 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $12,425.

Only one month remains for the 2,000,000 vehicles registered in Texas to secure the 1967 safety inspection sticker. The period set by law to secure the sticker is midnight, April 15.

Any motorist who fails to comply with the deadline is subject to arrest and a fine of not more than $200, Sgt. Wilson said.

Suicide Verdict Given in Death At White Deer

Judge H. L. Powell, coroner for Carson County, ruled suicide Friday night in the death of Gordon R. Lewis, 47, at White Deer.

Lewis, a World War II veteran, was found by his brother-in-law, Franklin Poe, owner of the Poe Blacksmith and Welding shop in White Deer.

Poe told John Nunn, Carson County sheriff and Preston Sargent, deputy sheriff, he and his wife had gone to Pampa about 3 p.m. Friday and had left Lewis in the blacksmith shop.

When the couple returned to the shop about three hours later, Poe told officers he found Lewis in the office, dead from a rifle shot. He summoned Deputy Sheriff Sargent.

Lewis had lived in White Deer almost all his life, Poe said, but had served in World War II, and been away from the Panhandle several years. He moved back two years ago, from Douglas, Ariz. where he had been in a veterans hospital.

Funeral services are pending at the Poston Funeral Home in Panhandle.

Survivors include two brothers, F. L. of Phillips, W. T. of Waco; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Rusk of Odessa, Mrs. Murtie Whitaker of Lubbock, Mrs. Franklin Poe of White Deer.

Lewis was born Feb. 18, 1919 in Hutchinson County.

Obituaries

Kathryn Ruth Rose
Funeral services for Mrs. Kathryn Ruth Rose, 1800 Fir, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church conducted by the Rev. Dan Cameron, pastor, and the Rev. J. R. Manning, assistant pastor.

Mrs. Rose, who had been a patient in Highland General Hospital since Thursday, died at 4:45 p.m. Saturday upon arrival at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Born Feb. 14, 1927, in McLean, she came to Pampa in 1939 from Grand Junction, Colo. She was graduated from Pampa High School in 1945 and attended West Texas State University. She was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors are her husband, Robert E., and one daughter, Diana Rose, both of the home; her mother, Mrs. Ruth Mosley; one sister, Mrs. Bill Garrett; one brother, John Mosley, all of Pampa.

Interment will be in Memory Gardens under the direction of Carmichael-Whalley Funeral Directors.

Pallbearers will be H. J. Johnson, Bob Richardson, Denver Allen, O. G. Trimble, John P.

Cookie Salegirls To Be Out Monday

Pampa Girl Scouts will be out en masse this week letting friends and neighbors know "It's Girl Scout Cookie Time."

The eighth annual cookie sale will get underway tomorrow and continue through March 21. Scouts will be working to help raise money for troop treasuries, raise funds for building an established camp and to help with the 1967 camping program.

Their goal will be "to sell every box of cookies." There will be honor certificates as an incentive for the cookie salesmen.

OBVIOUS DANGER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It may sound obvious, but the Public Health Service is nevertheless warning people who wear the new paper clothes to be careful with matches.

Studies will be made to see how fire resistant the garments are, the PHS said Friday, but in any case paper items that have been washed, dry cleaned or worn in a soaking rain have lost their fire-retarding chemicals. It is recommended that soiled paper clothing be discarded.

ABERDEEN, Miss. (UPI) — The question on the examination for a driver's license asked: "How many feet are required to stop a car traveling 30 miles an hour?"

Mississippi highway patrol examiner R. W. Brown said one applicant, whom he declined to identify, answered: "Two feet, one for the clutch and one for the brake." He got his license, too.

G.O.P. Leaders Alarmed Over Spending

Federal-State
By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders again are viewing with alarm what they call the erosion of the federal system caused by the unlimited appetite of the federal Treasury for the taxpayers' dollars.

"The destruction of our federal system could be imminent," said Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen at a recent performance of the "Ev and Jerry Show."

He and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford were demanding that Congress do something about "tax sharing," the proposal for the federal government to pass some of its tax collections back to the states for unrestricted use.

Johnson not interested. The Republican plan is unlikely to go any farther this year than last because of disinterest on the part of the Johnson administration.

While admitting weaknesses in existing federal aid programs for education, urban renewal, state and local governments, it is budgeting about $17 billion in federal air programs for them for the coming fiscal year.

Eyes of the round sting ray glow like a cat's eyes at night.

Like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, they preferred a cutback in federal aid programs and taxes with the states taking over some of the problems.

Eisenhower did urge that approach during his second administration, but accomplished nothing. After he had left the White House, Eisenhower complained that one reason for this disappointment was that he had received no meaningful support from state governors.

The federal government is now contributing about one sixth of the money spent by education, urban renewal, state and local governments, it

The Order of DeMolay

Building better citizens out of teenage boys is the goal of the Order of DeMolay, an international youth organization founded on March 18, 1919 in Kansas City, Mo., by Frank S. Land and nine teenage youths.

The organization was named for Jacques DeMolay, the last Grand Master of the Knights Templars, who was burned at the stake by King Phillip of France on March 18, 1314, as a martyr to loyalty and toleration. Today, members of DeMolay strive to carry on the fine ideals for which DeMolay gave his life — loyalty and service to God and fellow man.

DeMolay does not attempt to take the place of the home or church, but rather supplement them. The organization's purpose is to offer the teenage boy of today:

1. a wholesome occupation for his spare time
2. Worth-while associates
3. The best of environment
4. An interesting and complete program of all-around youth development.

To Join the Order of DeMolay, You Must

The Vows of a DeMolay At My Chapter's Altar

Humbly and sincerely . . .
 I promised to be a better son.
 I promised to love and serve God, my country, and my fellow men.
 I promised to honor and protect every woman.
 I promised to slander no one.
 I promised to aid and uphold the public schools.
 I promised to walk uprightly before God and man.
 All of these things, and more, I did promise!

Harvesters Tumble Liberal Twice

Randy Sets New Meet Mark With Toss of 67-11½

LAREDO (UPI)—Big Randy Matson set a new Border Olympics shot put record with ease Saturday night with a toss of 67 feet 11 1/2 inches, but a two-week-old tendon injury bothered him in search of a new world record in his specialty.

The 6-5, 260-pound Texas A&M senior bettered his old meet mark of 63-7 by better than four feet, but he scratched on half of his six throws—the third in the preliminaries and his first and third in the finals.

Matson, who owns the official world mark of 70-7 1/4 and has one indoor toss a quarter inch better than that, posted a 66-8 in his first toss, the 67-11 1/2 on a trial throw in the finals.

Weak 62-9 1/2 on his only off-the-second and then got off a weak 62-9 1/2 on the top of the ball to go out over the top of his hand and lose its trajectory, Matson said.

"I knew that first one (which hit around 54 feet out) was going to be a bad one, so I just stepped on out of the ring," Matson said.

Matson's feat was one of a series of meet records that were to topple before the wind-blown night was over.

Jim Hines of Texas Southern ripped off a 9.3 100-yard dash, Conley Brown of Rice ran a 46.5 quarter mile dash.

Arnaldo Bristol of Texas Southern posted a 13.9 in the 120-yard high hurdles, and John Hartfield of Texas Southern lifted the high jump standard to 7-1 to better the meet's previous overall marks.

Volleyball Girls Finish Third

BIG SPRINGS — Pampa High School's girls volleyball team finished third Saturday in the Caprock Tournament in Howard County Jr. College.

Pampa clipped Big Springs Friday, losing the first set, 7-15, winning the second, 15-12 and the third, 16-14.

Saturday Pampa lost to Cooper of Abilene, 6-15, 15-12 and 8-15. But Saturday night the Harvestettes downed Midland Lee for the third place trophy, losing the first set 9-15, winning the next two, 15-11 and 16-14.

Two Pampa players, Cheryl Porter and Sandra Jackson made the all-tournament team.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ismael Laguna, the former world lightweight champion, sparred three rounds with Ricky Nelson, two with Angelo Rivero and two with Jose Mumba in his next-to-last training session before meeting Puerto Rico's Frankie Narvaez in a 12-round fight Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

PRICE AT BAT — Harvester Barry Price swats a single Saturday during Pampa's first game, 4-0 victory over Liberal, Kan. The Harvesters also won the nightcap, 3-2, in extra innings. Price also stole three bases for the day.

IN NCAA REGIONAL ACTION Houston Nudges NMS

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—Houston used overwhelming height and power together with a 30-point night by all-America Elvin (Big E) Hayes Saturday night to stop scrambling New Mexico State 59-58, in an NCAA regional playoff game.

Seattle and defending NCAA champion Texas Western were to meet in the second game Saturday at Colorado State University here.

New Mexico State used a ragging defense to hold heavily.

BULLETIN
NEW YORK (UPI)—All-America Bob Lloyd thrilled a crowd of 17,502 with a brilliant 45-point performance Saturday night to carry spirited Rutgers to a stunning 78-76 victory over favored Utah State in the second game of a National Invitation Basketball Tournament doubleheader.

Springlake, High Island Win A, B Girls Crowns

AUSTIN (UPI)—Four tournament records fell Saturday as Springlake soared past Cross Plains to win the Class A girls high school basketball championship, 106-52.

Led by Susan Britton, who hit 20 of 26 from the floor, the Wolverettes built up a comfortable 25-11 first quarter lead as Cross Plains could hit only two of six in that period and only three of ten in the first half. At one point in the first half, Springlake had outscored the Buffettes 29-6.

The Wolverettes, who were nudged out of the title last year by Jourdanton, 79-74, hit a remarkable 37 of 58 from the floor for 63.8 per cent. Miss Britton led all scorers with 46 points.

Among the records set were team high scores for one game.

Ryun, Seagren Set New Meet Records

DETROIT (UPI)—Kansas' Jim Ryun ran a 3:56.6 mile and Southern California's Bob Seagren pole vaulted 17-1 1/4 Saturday in record performances highlighting the third NCAA indoor track championships.

Southern Cal, scoring all its points on the final day and sparked by a one-two finish in the pole vault, edged out Oklahoma for the team title, 26 points to 19. Defending champion Kansas was third with 16.

Five records were set in the 10 final events and two others equaled. But the victories by Ryun and Seagren were the most impressive.

Ryun, the world record holder in both the mile and half mile outdoors, was beaten in world record time Friday night by Villanova's Dave Patrick, timed at 3:48.9 to the half mile.

Today Ryun led all the way—at 58.0 for the first quarter, 2:01.5 for the half, and 3:02.5 for the three quarters—before turning in a final 56.1 quarter to triumph by 30 yards over Sam Bair of Kent State.

"I wanted to get out from a stretch out and see how I would go after three races Friday," Ryun said. "I wasn't challenged so I just kept leading all the way. I was pleased with the time."

BLACKSBURG, Va. (UPI)—St. John's stopped stubborn Temple 57-53 and fifth-ranked Princeton clipped West Virginia 68-57 Saturday in the first round of the NCAA Eastern Regional basketball tournament. St. John's will play the winner of Saturday night's Boston College-Connecticut game and Princeton will meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, also to be decided Saturday night, in the semifinals next Saturday in College Park, Md.

St. John's which came into the post season playoffs with a 22-3 record and the nation's 12th rating, led all the way, although the game wasn't decided until the final minutes of play.

Sonny Dove, a 6-foot-8 senior who has been St. John's leading scorer and rebounder, hit for 21 points and collected 13 rebounds. Dove cashed in on seven of nine free throws.

Temple, employing a zone defense, kept the middle jammed but Dove and Rudy Bogard were effective both under the basket and from around the foul line. Bogard also collected 14 points.

Clarence Brookings, Temple's junior ace, kept the Owls in the game with crucial plays and wound up with 21 points. John Baum and Tony Brocchi each tallied up 10 points.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Bob Hoopes sank a 20-foot jump shot with three seconds remaining in overtime Saturday night to give Dayton a 69-67 upset win over seventh-ranked Western Kentucky University in NCAA midwest regional first round play.

The Flyers trailed by 10 at 35-25 at halftime but came back to tie it, 62-62, at the end of regulation play behind a 26-point performance by Don May.

May and Rudy Waterman led the Flyers to a 50-50 tie midway through the second half, then to a 5-point lead with 9 minutes remaining.

UCLA Ends Regular Season With Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—No 1 rated UCLA, ignoring Southern California's early stalling tactics, put on a devastating all-around show Saturday as bury the Trojans, 83-56 and finished their regular season with a 26-0 record.

The Bruins, near-unanimous choice to win their third national championship in last four years, travel to Corvallis, Ore., next week end for the NCAA regionals. They are Pacific Eight champions.

USC, using a deliberate ball-control offense, managed to stay close to the Bruins for almost 2 minutes before UCLA broke the game open with a dazzling 15-point burst while the Trojans went scoreless.

Molberg, Lang Pitch Victories

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

Pampa Harvester shortstop Gary Molberg found out Saturday he could do something with a baseball besides hit it as he pitched no-run ball for eight innings of a second game doubleheader against Liberal, Kan. as the Harvesters squeaked to a 3-2 second game win after winning the opener, 4-0, behind Jim Lang and Don Davis.

Molberg, who led the Harvesters in hitting last season, pitched the first five innings of the nine-inning, extra-inning nightcap and was touched for no runs and two hits.

Coach Bobby Stephens sent in Fran McGahan, who gave up a double to the first batter he faced in the sixth, then a single. Stephens then called in ace hurler Dickie Henley, who had pitched Thursday and Henley walked the first batter he faced to load the bases.

With one out Jim Craig singled and center fielder Barry Price had trouble picking up the ball and two runs scored to put Liberal on top, 2-0. Henley then retired the next two batters.

But Molberg came back in to pitch the seventh, eighth and ninth innings and gave up no runs and only two hits.

Pampa tied the evening game in the seventh off ace Liberal hurler, Bill Whiteley on a single by Sanders, who went to third when Price was safe on an error.

With one out, Larry Stephens walked to load the bases and third baseman Alvin Achord unloaded a double to drive in Sanders and Price.

The winning Pampa run came across with no outs in the bottom of the ninth. Stephens led off with a walk. Stole second and went to third when Achord beat out an infield roller.

The Liberal coach decided to walk James Matney to load the bases but the senior outfielder wouldn't hear of it and waited until the ball came close to the plate and smacked it for a single to score Stephens and win the game.

In his split up-debut Molberg fanned 16 batters and walked four.

In the first game Pampa scored twice in the opening inning when Stephens walked, Achord singled and Foster walked to load the bases. Molberg flew out to center with Stephens scoring and Hyatt walked to reload the bases. After Jones fanned, Matney walked to force in a run.

The third Pampa run came in the third when Jones unloaded a solo homer, the first for the Harvesters this year, over the right field fence.

Pampa's last tally came in the sixth when, after one was out, Price was hit by a pitch, stole second, then third and scored on a wild pitch.

Lang pitched the first four and two-thirds innings for Pampa, allowing one run and three hits. He fanned nine and walked but one batter.

The victories were the third and fourth for Pampa without a loss.

Pampa travels to Berger Tuesday for their second game of the season with the Bulldogs.

CHAMBERLAIN HONORED

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain was named the winner of the Sam Davis Memorial Award as the National Basketball Association's player of the year, by the New York Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association.

The association also named Lou Hudson of the St. Louis Hawks in a close vote over Detroit's Dave Bing as the 1967 recipient of the Hy Turkin Memorial Trophy as the NBA's Rookie of the year.

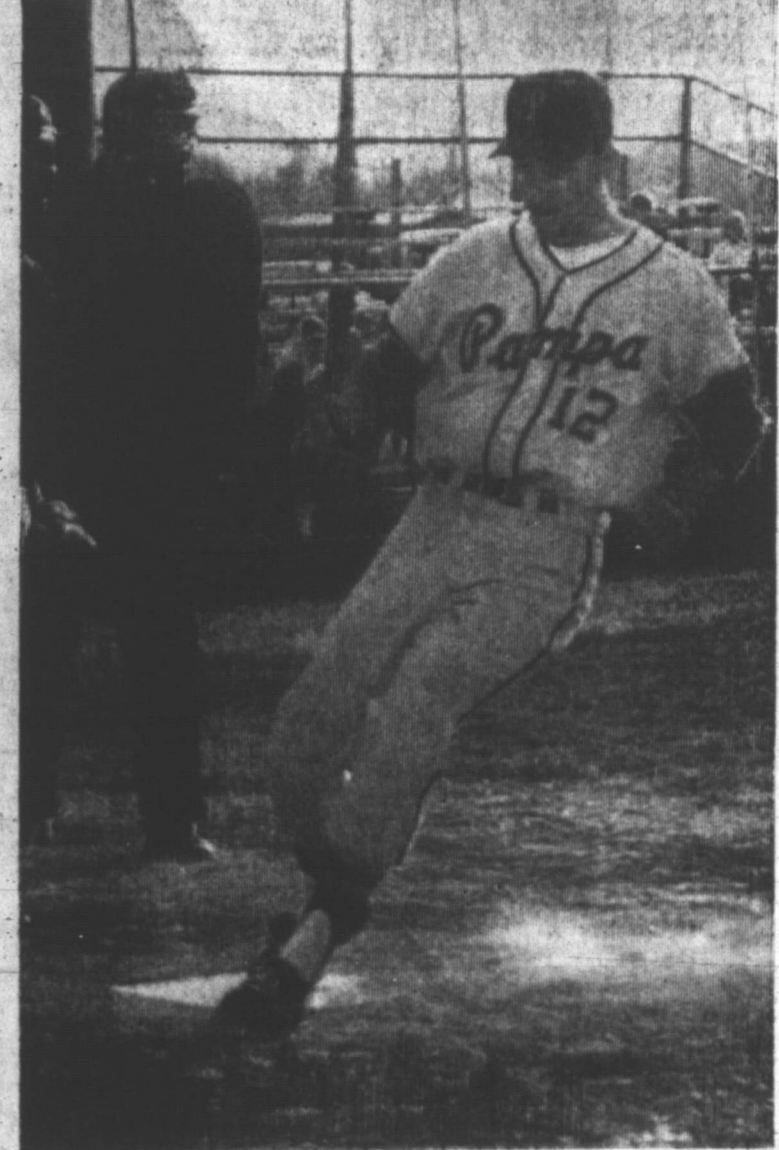

Cornutt, McCarrell Win at Dumas

DUMAS — Pampa High School's thinclads finished fifth in the annual Dumas Invitational Track and Field Meet Saturday, although Doc Cornutt and Gary McCarrell took first places in their specialties.

Amarillo won the meet with 113 points, followed Plainview with 97; Berger, 95½; Dumas, 73; Pampa, 50; Clovis, 39 and Perryton, 24.

Cornutt won the shot with a toss of 59-6¼ and finished fifth in the discus with a 132-11 toss. The winning discus toss was 139 feet even.

McCarrell won the 440-yard dash in 32.7, one of his slower times, but was running against the wind. Gary placed sixth

FOSTER SCORES — Rick Foster crosses home plate in Pampa's first game, 3-2, nine inning win over Liberal, Kan. Saturday. The win in both games gave Pampa a 4-0 record.

Marquette Nips Tulsa in NIT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Wolf put on a dazzling exhibition of outside shooting to score 25 points Saturday night and led Marquette to a 64-60 upset victory over Tulsa in the first game of a National Invitation Basketball Tournament doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

All-America Jimmy Walker rattled Memphis State's highly-touted defense for 37 points in leading Providence to a 77-68 victory and New Mexico's superior height advantage and aggressive defense enabled the Lobos to upend Syracuse 66-64 in an afternoon doubleheader.

Wolf's torrid shooting broke the game open for the Warriors before it had barely begun. The 6-foot-2 guard connected on nine of 16 shots for 18 points in the first half and scored 16 of them in the first 10 minutes. Marquette opened up a 21-8 advantage.

The Hurricane, guilty of many turnovers throughout the game, never fully recovered from that deficit but rallied to within three points in the final minute of play behind the shooting of Eldridge Webb.

Tulsa experienced great difficulty with its shooting throughout most of the contest and made only six of 31 field goal attempts in the first half. Bobby Washington, a 6-6 forward, paced the Hurricane scoring with 21 points but fouled out five minutes before the game ended.

COACH NAMED

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The New Orleans Saints announced that veteran pro performer Ed Khayat has been named the defensive line coach of the National Football League's newest entry.

Khayat, 31, played defensive tackle and end with Washington and Philadelphia of the NFL and Boston of the American Football League between 1967 and 1968.

CHARLEY ECKMAN steps right in to break up this fight. Charley, who has been officiating collegiate and professional basketball for 29 years, says this is his last season. The abuse from fans, he says, is just too much to take.

'They Want You To Be A Homer'

By SANDY TOWDE
BALTIMORE (NEA) — With the end of the collegiate basketball season also comes the end of Charley Eckman's career.
Charley's career—as a referee and as coach of the old Fort Wayne Pistons—has been colorful. It also has been controversial. It still is.
"It takes a certain kind of guy to be a referee," Charley said.

"He has to have personality, poise, guts, he has to be a bit of a psychologist, but, most important he has to have a feel for the game. The rule book is the last thing to worry about. It is the poorest written book in the country."
I was Charley's "feel for the game" that earned him the title, "the player's referee." And it is because Charley has lost this "feel" that he has de-cidied to retire.

"I've been in the game for 29 years," he said. "I'm 45. Why not go out on top?"
"I'm not quitting because of anything the coaches or players pull. You can always keep them in line. It's the fans. They are getting worse. They are almost unbelievable."
"I'm not talking about the guys in Madison Square Garden or the big arenas in the big-cities. They're not really fans. They're gamblers. All they care about is the point spread.

"I'm talking about the kids on the campuses. Their behavior has been so bad that I'm inclined to believe games should be more more more played on neutral courts."
"Look, I don't mind the booing and all that. It's part of the game, part of the color and atmosphere. What I mind is the things they throw: beer cans, hot dogs, soda bottles, rolled-up programs, hot pennies. . . .

Hot pennies?
"Yeah, hot pennies," Charley said. "The kids at Duke—high class kids—heat pennies with matches and throw them at opposing players (and occasionally at referees) At Maryland when they don't like a call they throw rubber balls out of the stands."
"You know, these are college students. If educated people act this way, what are you supposed to expect from the illiterates?"

At a game between St. John's and Villanova a few weeks ago, the Villanova students showered the playing floor in the campus gymnasium with so much debris that coach Jack Kraft offered to forfeit the game. St. John's declined, but still won, 59-52. Kraft and the athletic department then decided to switch a scheduled home game with Providence to the Friars' home court to avoid a similar display.
"That's what I'm talking about," Eckman said. "Incidents like that I don't know. Maybe after 29 years I'm getting thin-skinned."
"Basketball officials just have to take too much abuse. Look at football. It's easy compared to what we go through. You always see the name of the college printed after the name of the football official in the game summaries. In basketball you don't. The ex-players are too smart to go into officiating. But ask yourself, why?"
The reasons are simple. Officiating, as Charley said, is "90 per cent guts and judgment and 10 per cent rule book." Fans, however, do not accept it. "They want you to be a homer." Charley said.
So after starting a career at 16 (for $1.50 a game) the $100-a-night checks do not matter now.
Charley Eckman has worked all the major games, all the major tournaments, professional as well as collegiate. But over the hotel room walls and the fans have closed in too much. "I've got a good job with a radio station (WCMB in Baltimore)," Charley said. "I think I'll stick with it."
The fans from Atlantic Coast and Southern Conference schools may not care about Charley's retirement, but the players will. He was their favorite.
Charley was always at the foul line with that big grin, and he always was around with the quick retort to any player who started to gripe ("You do not shoot well enough to argue with me"). And he was always there with a quiet remark to ease a youngster's tensions.
And always the sense of humor.
Once an exhausted South Carolina player collapsed at Charley's feet, after a fast break.
"Tired?" Charley asked.
"Cholly, I'm beat," the youngster replied.
"Well, you just lay there a while," Charley said, the grin splitting his face. "I got the ball and you got to throw it in to start play, so nobody's going anywhere without us."

Pro Playoffs Facing Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National Basketball Association will decide on noon, Tuesday, whether its post-season playoffs will be cancelled this year because of a pension dispute between the players and team owners.
The players must notify Walter Kennedy, NBA president, by that time whether they will carry out their threat to strike if their pension demands are not met.
Lawrence Fleisher, attorney for the players, said they are willing to negotiate their differences with the owners, but he added the owners appear reluctant to hold a meeting before the Tuesday deadline. The playoffs are scheduled to begin March 21.
In a telegram sent to the players of the NBA Friday, Kennedy said:
"The owners and the players have substantial obligations to the public in the NBA playoff, now scheduled to commence March 21.
"The owners must be advised whether the players intend to live up to their contracts and participate in the playoffs.
"Unless such commitment is received by noon on Tuesday, March 14, it will be impossible to hold the playoffs."
Kennedy said he believed the players are legally bound to play but added that the owners will not take any legal action until the players officially notify the league whether they actually intend to strike.
John Havlicek, captain of the Boston Celtics, said the defending NBA champions will definitely not play if the players' demands aren't met.

IN EXHIBITION GAMES

Baltimore Still Tough

By United Press International
Hank Bauer's reserves react to disaster like the old U.S. horse Marines charging to the rescue.
Bauer, a grim-jawed ex-marine who has a knack for sending in a landing party at the right beachhead, received help twice from Baltimore substitutes Friday night as the world champion Orioles edged the Minnesota Twins 8-6 in 11 innings.
First it was Sam Bowers, fourth man in the Baltimore outfield who beated a three-run homer in the ninth inning to tie the score at 5-5. Then in the 11th inning, Woody Held, a utility infielder, lashed into a Jim Merritt pitch with a man on base to unload a 6-6 deadlock and give Baltimore the exhibition victory.
Bauer, who got more mileage out of a depleted pitching staff than a set of retreads last season, shuffled his lineup to perfection.
Three Run Inning
Minnesota took a 6-5 lead at the top of the 11th on a double by Bob Allison and a triple by Russ Nixon. The Orioles then countered with rookie Mark Belanger's single, Russ Snyder's triple and Held's game-winning blow.
The Cincinnati Reds pounded Jim Bunning, Christ Short and former teammate Joey Jay, for 14 hits in walloping the Philadelphia Phillies 7-0. Pinch-hitters Dick Simpson and Floyd Robinson banged out homers for the Reds. The Phils' lost first baseman Bill White for the start of the season when an incision was torn open on his injured achilles tendon during pre-game practice.
San Francisco, runner-up to the NL homer title in 1966, rapped Chicago Cub pitching for eight singles to win 4-3. Cub righthander Ferguson Jenkins started the game by striking out five straight Giant batters.
Dodgers Defeat Tokyo
The Los Angeles Dodgers

defeated a touring Tokyo Giant team 5-3 with the aid of three unearned runs without a hit in the third inning. Bob Miller enhanced his chances for the starting berth by limiting the Japanese squad to an infield hit in three innings.
Detroit turned a three-hit performance by Willie Horton and five double plays by the Tigers infield into an 8-7 victory over the Kansas City Athletics. Horton homered and singled twice to drive in four runs. Mickey Stanley and Jim Northrup also homered for Detroit.

Eddie Mathews debuted with Houston in hitting fashion as he slammed a third inning single to drive in the first run of the Astros' 3-0 whitewash of the Washington Senators.
Tommye Agee, the American League rookie of the year for 1966, homered for Chicago as the White Sox topped the Boston Red Sox 8-3.

Riot Fails To Mar Laguna's Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) —A senseless bottle-throwing riot Friday night at Madison Square Garden did little to discredit the fact that Panamanian Ismael Laguna's slashing fists earned him an exciting 12-round decision over Frankie Narvaez of Puerto Rico and another shot at Carlos Ortiz, lightweight title.
The enthusiasm that had been building from the time both fighters left their dressing rooms wound up in a melee that left 12 people injured.
I was taken to the hospital with a bloody gash over my right eye that required five stitches along with a cardiac patient, who was suffering from chest pains, two persons with cuts on their heads from bottles and two special Garden policemen, who were injured trying to quell the riot.
Different Opposition
"I wasn't scared going into the ring," said Laguna, who won the title from Ortiz on April 10, 1965 and lost it back seven months later, "but I was mighty scared coming out."
Laguna was pushed past his dressing room and nearly into the street before police managed to get him away from the enthusiastic mob.
Riots are nothing new for Narvaez, however. His loss to Flash Elorde Aug. 4, 1965, precipitated another wild night that led to a dozen injuries and required the police to turn fire hoses on the mob. That fight was close, though, while Friday night's 12-round elimination bout for a lightweight challenger was strictly a one-sided affair after the first few rounds.
Decisive Win
Narvaez, the second-ranked contender, gamely tried to stick with the shifty Laguna, who lived up to his Panamanian nickname of "El Tigre," but he proved to be no match. I scored it 9-2-1 while judge Artie Alda had it 9-3, judge Jack Gordon made it 8-3-1 and referee Jimmy Devlin was 7-5 all in favor of Laguna.
After brief lapses in the fourth and fifth rounds when he was momentarily stalled by barrages of Narvaez punches after being trapped on the ropes, Laguna took charge. In the eighth, he opened a small nick over Narvaez' right eye, and the bout was never in doubt after that point as Laguna continually beat the Puerto Rican to the punch. Despite the one-sided licking he took, the stocky Narvaez contended that he won.

Boxing Commission Chairman Edwin Doozley wisely left during the 10th round despite the thrilling action in the ring.
The verdict first was greeted by mixed loud cheers and soft boos. Then a lemon bounced off my typewriter. Seconds later a bottle hurled from the mezzanine hit my forehead and shattered. The reporters dived under the ring to protect themselves from the barrage that continued for several minutes over the blare of the Star Spangled Banner and the urging of the ring announcer.

FOR PHILLIES

Gomez Trying For Comeback

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) —There's a little more gold in his face and a little less hop on his fast ball, but Ruben Gomez remains convinced he can make the grand-daddy of all baseball comebacks.
"If I didn't feel I can make it," he laughed in front of his locker in the Phillies' crowded quarters, "I wouldn't be here."
Those people with the club who will be in on the final decision tend to agree already that Gomez will stick even though he'll be 40 this summer, he isn't on the roster yet, he doesn't know who holds his contract and he can't remember the last time he pitched in the majors.
Ruben guessed it was four years ago but he was wrong, it was five when he had a cup of coffee with both Cleveland and Minnesota in 1962.
The last time he was aboard before that was seven years ago when he began the 1959 season with the Phillies and drifted to the minors later that same year.
It's Been Done
"I never gave up hope of coming back," the skinny Puerto Rican right-hander said, laughing some more. "When I saw a lotta older pitchers coming back up, guys like Chi Chi Oliva, I knew I could do it, too."
"The way I pitch, I know I can still win up here. Most young pitchers come up and all you see is fast ball, fast ball, fast ball. With me, the hitters don't know what to look for... screwball... slider... curve ball... change."
"And then while they're looking for all that, I come in with my fast ball," said Gomez with obvious glee.
Ruben earned his plane ticket to Florida five months ago when Phillies' manager Gene Mauch spotted him pitching for Santurce in the Puerto Rican winter league. Gomez had a 1-6 record at the time but that didn't fool Mauch.

"We'd like to have you back for our bullpen," Mauch told Gomez after the game.
"I'd like to come back," Ruben replied.
No Grudges
Gomez went on to win his next eight straight but there was a little matter of obtaining his contract from the Mexican League where he pitched last year. Starting and relieving with Aguila, he had a 10-4 record and an eye-catching 1.24 earned run rate.
Ruben, who first broke in with the Giants way back in 1953, naturally is happy to be back in the big time. He isn't mad at anybody and that includes big Joe Adcock, who once chased after him with a bat at the old Polo Grounds.
"I was glad to see him named Cleveland manager," says Gomez, who aroused Adcock by brushing him back and undoubtedly would again if he had to. "What happened between him and me is all over with. I control my temper now. Adcock worked hard and always gave 100 per cent when he played. I tried to play the same way, that's all."
Ruben peeled off his candy-striped Phillies' uniform and hung it in his locker.
"I'm not tired at all," he said. "What for? I've only been pitching 20 years, all year round, summer and winter. If you're going to put my age in the paper, make it less."
"Nah-h-h," he laughed again. "I can't lie about it. Everybody knows how old I am."
SPARRING SESSION
NEW YORK (UPI) —Heavyweight challenger Zora Folley went through his first sparring session in preparation for his March 22 title bout against Cassius Clay.
Folley sparred two rounds each against Wendel Newton of New York and Archie Ray of Phoenix.

A RUN IN — James Matney scores from second on a single by Barry Price in the Harvesters victory over Canyon Friday. Matney had reached first on an error and stole second. (See Saturday's results, pictures, page 8).

PRE-CONFERENCE PLAY

Pampa Slugs Canyon

By RON CROSS Sports Editor
Pampa's Harvesters had to put their hitting shoes on Friday, and did, and won their second non-conference baseball game in as many outings. (Saturday's Results Page 8)
The Harvesters went after wins three and four Saturday afternoon when they played host to Liberal, Kan. in a double-header.
Friday the Harvesters came from four runs down to stagger Canyon, 8-4.
Hal Clabaugh started but lasted only an inning and two thirds, allowing all four runs on five hits.

Another sophomore Al Gomez, finished up and fired nothing but blanks, allowing no runs, no hits, fanning 11 and walking but one.
Canyon got good pitching from starter Max Sunderman for one inning but Pampa tied the score at 4-4 in the second.
The visitors scored twice in the first when the leadoff batter, Rick Sogee, was safe at first on first sacker Larry Jones' error. He was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Stan Hicks with Hicks going to second on the throw in.

Hicks scored when Dave Gerhee doubled.
Two more runs came in for the visitors in the top of the second on a walk to Jay Moore, a single by Sunderman, sending Moore to second, a single by Sogee, scoring Moore and moving Sunderman to third. Clabaugh then got the second out for the inning but Hicks followed with a single, scoring Sunderman and Gomez was called in and promptly struck out Rossi to retire the side.
Canyon never threatened after that.
Pampa came up swinging in the second with Molberg leading off with a single, Hyatt singled, scoring Molberg but was cut down at second when Larry Jones reached first on a fielder's choice.
James Matney then reached first on an error by pitcher Sunderman with Jones going to second, Barry Price then singled, driving in both runs to make it 4-3. Price stole second then scored on a walk and fielder's choice when he beat a throw to the plate.
Two more runs came across for Pampa in the third on singles by Foster and Molberg, a sacrifice by Hyatt and singles by Jones and Matney to make it 6-4.
The final two Pampa runs came in the fifth when, after one was out, Price singled, went to second when Stephens walked and both runners scored on a double by Alvin Achord.

Three Tied For Lead in Citrus

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Ageless Julius Boros, young Kermif Zarley and croquet-putting Dean Refram wound up in a three-way tie with 9-under-par 20s Saturday at the end of the third round of the $115,000 Florida Citrus Open golf tournament.

for birdies on the last hole when they came in as part of the final threesome.
The colorful Sanders led Refram by two strokes, Boros by five and Zarley by six after the second round but had a pair of bogeys on the front nine.

It was the first 54-hole three-way tie on the pro tour since the Azalea Open last April. "Man, it's going to be a real battle in Sunday's final round," Boros said. "The one who makes the most birdies is going to win it. I don't know about the others, but I don't plan to gamble; I'm going to stick to my own game and let the shots fall where they may."
The 47-year-old Boros, father of seven children, sank an 18-foot birdie putt on the final hole Saturday to catch Zarley, more than 20 years his junior, and Refram.

Boros had a 4-under-par 67 for the day, while Zarley had the day's low at 66 and Refram had a 70.
The tri-leaders were only one stroke ahead of second round leader Doug Sanders and South African Gary Player, both of whom just missed on long putts

Cornutt—'I Admire People'

By RON CROSS
Doc Cornutt is no doctor, but probably if he chose to be one he'd be the best in his field.
It would seem to follow the pattern of the 17-year-old Pampa Harvester, who has excelled in everything he's done thus far.
Doc, who also goes by the name, Clarence Edward, although not very often, is a straight A student, an all-district football player, the district's best shot-putter, with a chance to be the best in the state this year, he raised a champion pig, he's a past president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and despite the apparent trend of young people today he respects his elders and teammates.
Cornutt, who got the nickname 'Doc' after his grandfather, C. P. Pursley, is one of the most popular students in Pampa high and shys away from publicity.

"I've gotten a lot of publicity but it's the guys I play with that are responsible for it, the seniors said, I've profited from my teammates, they're the guys that deserve the publicity."
"Anything I am I owe to them. I guess I'm a people watcher. I watch people and try to profit from their mistakes," Cornutt said.
It hasn't been an easy road for Doc or his mother, Mrs. Dona Cornutt, who has been school registrar at PHS the past five years.
Doc's father was killed in an oilfield accident about seven years ago and Doc's mother was faced with the problem of raising three children by herself, a daughter now in college, Doc and Jimmy, a junior in Pampa High School.
She's done a job that other mothers in the same boat would envy.
What's next for Doc, a future in college football, track or just an education?
"I really haven't made up my mind that I want to play football in college, Cornutt said, adding, I want to wait and see what I do in the shot this year."

"The main thing I'm going to college for is an education, playing football would just be a means to an end."
Cornutt, a member of the Church of Christ, let slip that the two college's he's considering most at present are Oklahoma University and Abilene Christian College.
He has steadily improved on his shot throwing each year and finished sixth in the state meet last year. He is eyeing the 60 foot mark this season and if he reaches it may decide on a track scholarship.
Doc has always liked the outdoors and decided to do something about this year. He joined Bob Skaags agriculture class and raised a pig, that won its most.

"I think the Dumas game, it's always nice to knock off the big boys and everybody played their best," Doc said.
"In football and life you've got to be a strong person, have a lot of desire, self discipline and character," Cornutt said.
Cornutt also speaks well of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, of which he is captain.
"I think this year we were all really helped by FCA. Almost all of our players attended the meetings and it helped me to get to know all the players better and we all knew each other better," Cornutt said.
"I know on the football field we knew we could depend on each other and knew what we were capable of. When one of us would get down there was always someone to give us a little little lift."
Up above the door in assistant principal Weldon Trice's office there is a painting of a fellow in a torn, battered green and gold football suit with the caption underneath, "Fighting Harvester."
The artist might have had Doc Cornutt in mind.

AAAA All-State Squads Named

By United Press International
Houston Jones' Gene Phillips who set a state record of 81 points in a game this past season, was the only repeater on the Texas Sports Writer Association's 1967 Class AAAA all-state high school basketball team announced Saturday.

The 6-4 Phillips, whose brothers have starred at Rice and SMU ahead of him, led in the balloting with 59 points. He averaged 30.1 points per game this season and 20.4 points over his three-year career at Jones.
Also on the first team were 6-11 Steve Niles of San Antonio Lee's state championship team, 6-8 Bob Hall of Houston Bellair, 6-2 Mike Billingsley of Fort Worth Paschal and 6-1 Larry Delzell of Highland Park.
The honor team averaged 6-5 1/2 and boasted a scoring potential of 23.6 points per man.
Paschal and Lee were the only teams to place more than one man on the three teams, which included only one junior against 14 seniors. The lone junior was Sammy Hyde of Texas City on the third team. Paschal also placed 6-6 George Ferguson on the second unit, while Lee spotted 6-3 guard Billy Black on the third team.
The complete all-state squad with heights, class and scoring averages:

- FIRST TEAM
Gene Phillips, Houston Jones, 6-4, Sr., 21.7; Steve Niles, San Antonio Lee, 6-11, Sr., 21.7; Bob Hall, Houston Bellair, 6-8, Sr., 27.4; Mike Billingsley, Fort Worth Paschal, 6-2, Sr., 19.2.
- SECOND TEAM
George Ferguson, Fort Worth Paschal, 6-6, Sr., 20.2; Tom Friedman, Paris, 6-5, Sr., 27.4; Tommy Dinsman, Grand Prairie, 6-7, Sr., 27.4; David Johnson, Austin, McCalm, 6-8, Sr., 18.8; Dwayne Vaughn, San Antonio Highlands, 6-0, Sr., 24.0.
- THIRD TEAM
Lynn Rowden, Houston-Washp, 6-4, Sr., 18.2; Chuck Smith, Odessa Permian, 6-3, Sr., 21.2; Sammy Hyde, Texas City, 6-5, Jr., 21.1; Billy Black, San Antonio Lee, 6-3, Sr., 17.4; Dan Laney, Denton, 6-2, Sr., 20.7.

Monterey Takes Lead in 3-4A Golf

LUBBOCK — Monterey took a big lead in district 3-4A golf Friday as the first round of district action opened here.
The Plainsmen shot a 301 team total for a six-shot margin over Lubbock Coronado and Amarillo Tascosa, both of whom came in with 307.

Pampa's high school golfers shot 327 to windup in seventh place after one round of competition.
Borger followed the Coronado-Tascosa teams with a 318, then came Amarillo and Plainview, both with 324 team totals. Pampa, then Lubbock, 331 and Caprock and Palo Duro, both with 332 team totals.
Mark Beasley of Monterey was Friday's medalist with a 71.
Frank Kelly, posted Pampa's best score with rounds of 40-38 — 79 then came Tom Rose with, 41-39—80; Steve Grady, 43-39—82; Ricky Roach, 38-48—86 and David Kihnenman, 41-46—87.
Pampa's B team had a 332 team total with Mike Osborne leading the way with a 43-37—80. Charles McKenney shot 40-41—81; Tim New, 38-47—85; Rick McClosky, 43-43—86 and Steve Walls, 39-48—87. Greg Gunter played as a single and shot an 82 on rounds of 41-41.

The Harvesters take up district play again Saturday when they journey to Plainview for round two.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
The 1966 water depletion maps needed by irrigation farmers in the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District will be available tomorrow at the District Office in White Deer. The decline maps have been approved by the Internal Revenue Service and are essential in claiming tax credit for water depletion. Guidelines for showing the cost in the water will also be available.

Th proper and intelligent use of water has become a prime concern of all West Texans.

An important seminar, on the use of Plaza Lake water for irrigation was held at the United States Department of Agriculture's Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland Wednesday. Dr. Victor R. Hauser, Agricultural Engineer for the Research Center has done extensive research on the various methods of using plaza lake water profitably.

In some phases of the research project he was joined by Dr. M. Rebbun of the Israel Institute of Technology. As a result of their work together the two soil and water scientists have written a paper, which was presented during the seminar. The paper, entitled "Clarification of Turbid Water with Polyelectrolytes for Recharge Through Wells", discusses a way of purifying water in plaza lakes so that it can be recharged through water wells.

Hauser said the ground water which is now being pumped for irrigation purposes will eventually be depleted. Thus, he said, it is necessary to seek ways of conserving all available water.

If a new source of water for irrigation isn't found, he added, business as well as farming will be affected. "Eventually it gets back to everybody."

Research projects on the problem are being conducted jointly at Bushland and at Haifa, Israel. The studies are financed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Hauser said.

In Israel, he said, basic research on chemicals for clarifying the water is being conducted. At Bushland, "field and laboratory research to put into practice what they've found in Israel" is under way.

Hauser and Dr. Rebbun will present their paper at the International Association of Scientific Hydrology at Haifa during the week of March 19-26.

All interested persons are invited to attend the seminar, Hauser said.

The authority to police activities surrounding city-owned lakes, as well as activities on the lakes, would be given cities under a bill by Rep. Temple

Dickson of Sweetwater, which has been sent to a House Urban Affairs subcommittee of Reps. Felix McDonald, James Cole and Arthur Vance. Water pollution Control Board executive secretary, Hugh Yantis, asked the subcommittee to hold it until he has checked to see that it would not conflict with the board's authority.

Under present law, a city's jurisdiction extends to city-owned parks and boulevards that lie beyond the city limits, but it is powerless to wield police power to control other nuisances that occur 5,000 feet beyond the city's edge.

In the case of city lakes, Rep. Dickson told the Urban Affairs Committee Wednesday, "some cities have gotten around this limitation by annexing the area around the lake, but when the lake is 15, 40, or even 50 miles from the city, that can't be done."

He said the idea that cities could extend their jurisdictions to their out-of-town lakes was prompted by a decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Treadgill versus State.

Life of a deer ranges from three to 15 years, depending on the species.

Texas Farmers to Make Russian Inspection Tour

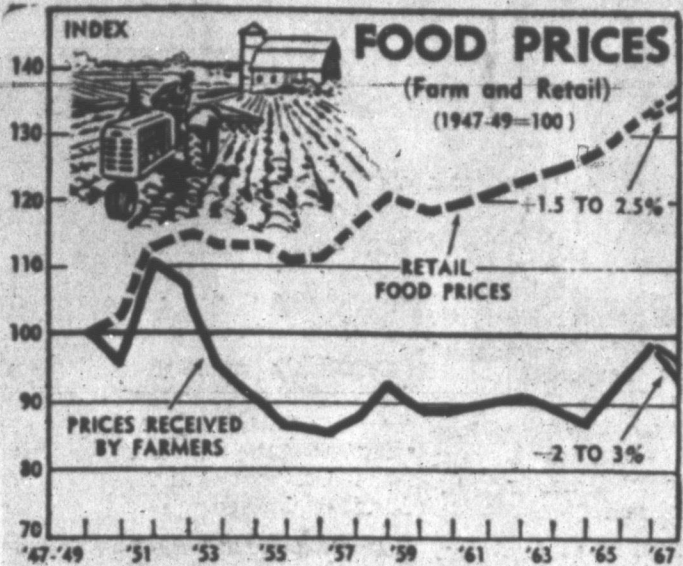

LUBBOCK (Sp) — Dr. T. R. "Dick" Owens, Lubbock, has been named as host for a delegation of Texas agricultural leaders on a 22-day goodwill People-to-People inspection mission throughout the Soviet Union.

The Texas delegation will depart New York Aug. 6. They are scheduled to participate in several visits with their occupational counterparts as well as take part in numerous meetings and interviews with United States and foreign government representatives.

The Goodwill Mission will take the Texas citizens to Belgium, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Italy, and Spain.

Membership in the Texas People-to-People delegation is limited to official and personal invitation only. The entire Goodwill Mission is arranged and designed to implement the aims and purposes of the United States Cultural Visitation Exchange Program and endorsed by People-to-People, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.

Its purpose is to promote understanding and goodwill, both for the American people and the American government, to tell the story of Democracy during personal visits and to Farm prices in this first part of 1967 are 2 to 3 per cent below the 1966 average, the Agriculture Department reports, reversing a recent trend toward rising farm income paralleling the steady increase in retail food prices. Retail prices are continuing their upward march.

Experimental Ranch Boosts Profits By Rotation Grazing of Beef Cattle

THROCKMORTON (Sp) — A deferred rotation grazing system here is boosting cattle profits about $11 a cow per year. At Texas A&M University's Texas Experimental Ranch two methods of deferred rotation are being used. Both have given outstanding results, according to Dr. Wm. (Dub) Waldrip, in charge of the A&M Experimental Ranch.

He said, "Of all treatments, the system of grazing continues to have the most important dollars and cents influence on livestock production. Both the 2 pasture and the 4 pasture systems of deferred rotation grazing have produced more and heavier calves than continuous grazing at the same stocking rate."

Waldrip said the 4-pasture system has produced the best gains so far. Weaning weights for the past 6 years have averaged 518 lbs. on the 4-pasture system, 499 with the 2-pasture system and 487 on continuous grazing.

Calf production per cow averaged 482, 454 and 438 lbs. under the 4-pasture, 2 pasture and continuous grazing systems respectively. Waldrip figured the increased production of the 4-pasture system over the continuous grazing is about $11 per cow.

Calving percentage with the 4 pasture system was a healthy 93 percent, he said. The 4-pasture system allows each pasture to be grazed 12 months, then rested 4 months. It was developed at Texas A&M's Ranch Experiment Station, Sonora, by Dr. Leo Merrill, ranch scientist.

Waldrip says he not only gets more beef per acre and per cow with deferred rotation but gets plenty of ranch improvement, too.

County SCD News

L. E. Glass has completed a diversion terrace, stock pond and some critical area shaping on his stockfarm north of Alameda. J. T. Trew has completed an irrigation well on the stock farm he leased from Drew Word. A pit-type pond was staked for Lewis Meers on his farm south of Pampa. A field leveling job was completed on the W. H. Taylor Estate. A new irrigation well was completed on the E. G. Barrett Estate southwest of Pampa.

Timing of irrigation is of maximum importance in the production of wheat. The stages of growth where adequate moisture is essential are jointing stage, late boot and early head. The jointing stage usually occurs around the last of March, and the early boot stage around the middle of April. The early head of flowering stage occurs around the middle of May. The stages of growth where maintenance of adequate soil moisture is most is in the late boot and early head stages.

In one experiment the six days in the early heading stage without adequate moisture resulted in a decrease of seven bushels. In one year the yield of wheat was reduced nine bushels due to inadequate moisture in the late dough stages. It is not profitable to spend a lot of time and money on land preparation, fertilizer, seed and watering, and then more or less abandon the wheat after it reaches the later stages of growth.

Proper irrigation water management is essential in obtaining an economic response to nitrogen fertilizer and to produce an adequate wheat crop.

Record Weight Gain
Emmett Lefors of Pampa is owner of the top gaining bull being performance fed at the Texas Technological College Research Farm near Amarillo, James A. Carpenter, assistant animal husbandman, said.

Lefors' animal, sired by Roy at Mischief 14, showed an average daily gain of 404 pounds. Lefors' animal, sired by Roy. The average daily gain for the 73 other bulls on the farm was 2.90 lbs., Carpenter said.

CONVENTION SITE Cattlemen Polish Boots for Dallas

Cattlemen from areas throughout the Southwest are polishing their boots for their annual trip to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association convention which this year will be held in Houston, Sunday through Wednesday.

Headquarters for the convention will be the Shamrock Hilton Hotel with registration to begin at 2 p.m. today.

Directed by TSCRA President Ben H. Carpenter of Dallas, the cattle raisers are scheduled to tackle pressing problems in general sessions and to work out details for whipping them in committee meetings on the agenda tomorrow and Tuesday. Don C. King of Fort Worth, TSCRA secretary-general manager, said a board meeting is slated at 2 p.m. tomorrow and that it will be followed by a conference on the agricultural minimum wage. Both sessions are open to the public.

The welcome address will be given by the Honorable Louie Welch, mayor of Houston, Tuesday and the response will be given by T. L. Roach of Houston, TSCRA first vice president.

Carpenter's "Report of the President" will be followed by an address on livestock taxation by Harvie Branscomb Jr. of Corpus Christi.

Other morning speakers include the Hon. W. R. "Bob" Poage, chairman of the House agricultural committee, John A. Schmittner, under secretary of agriculture, and Gov. John Connally.

A "Report of the Secretary-General Manager" by Don C. King will open activities at the general session Wednesday.

Texas A&M Scientists Will Study Compatability of Blood Systems

COLLEGE STATION (Sp) — Texas A&M University poultry scientists are hooking the blood circulatory systems of chicken embryos together to study blood compatibility.

Although the project is strictly in the pure or basic research category so far, it might have practical application. Hopes are that the research will give an overall picture of how birds build resistance or immunity to diseases. There may be application to human-medicine.

The research is sponsored by a grant from the U. S. Public Health Service, an agency of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Dr. Roy Fanguy of the A&M Poultry Science Department said past studies have shown that there are differences in chicken blood antigens just as there are differences in blood types in humans.

In the current study, the blood types are known before the embryos are hooked up by a medical process known as parabiosis. Fanguy is joining the circulatory systems of two embryos in tests now underway, but perhaps more will be linked together later. Circulatory Siamese twins, they might be called.

By using this system, the researcher can see which blood types will mix and which won't. Or he can determine if blood compatibility really matters in the first place.

Fanguy said work by other researchers has shown that parabiosis is a delicate procedure. Embryo mortality has been high — 80 percent in some cases.

Is this mortality due to surgical technique or actual blood incompatibility?

"This is one of the things we want to find out," Fanguy said. "It's strictly a guess on our part, but we feel that it is mostly incompatibility."

Livestock Count

Cattle and calves on the farms and ranches of the nation numbered 108.5 million head, down slightly for the second year in a row. An increase of one percent in beef cattle was more than offset by a five percent decrease in dairy cattle, reports USDA's Statistical Reporting Service. Number of cows and heifers 2 years old and older kept for milk was down to 15.2 million head — smallest number since 1893. Hogs and pigs on farms Jan 1 was up by 8 percent. All sheep and lambs totaled 23.7 million head, down 4 percent from the revised figures for a year ago and the smallest inventory since records began in 1867.

Texas Calf Crop

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says the 1966 calf crop for the state was up 1 percent from 1965 and totaled 4,695,000 head. The increase, they said, was the result of the larger percent calf crop. Nationally, the calf crop was down very slightly but it was the first decline in the number of calves born from the previous year since 1958.

Local Businessman Conducting Design Class at Houston

Jack P. Foster, local N.S.I.D. member and owner of Foster's furniture store, will be conducting classes in interior design in Houston for the next three weeks.

The classes are a portion of a Dale Carnegie training series now being given in several centers throughout the State of Texas, and sponsored by the Retail Furniture Association of Texas.

The course, Foster said, is an educational program designed primarily for retail furniture managers and employees, in order to better prepare them for needs and demands of the home furnishings industry.

Foster, state vice president of the Retail Furniture Assn. of Texas, was selected as one of eight interior designers throughout the state to present the interior design portion of the course.

Washington Report

From Congressman BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

The big news since my last report is the refusal by the house to seat Adam Clayton Powell. In an extraordinarily long session, from noon to 8 p.m., the issue was hotly debated. The vote to exclude Powell was 307-116.

In my opinion the entire Congress of the United States was on trial. This was evident from the many letters I received condemning all congressmen, not just the New Yorker. The question raised by many of the 116 who voted to let Powell keep his seat was "why single one man out for punishment and let other members get away with the same thing?" Personally, I will vote to exclude any member who is guilty of so flagrantly violating the trust placed in him by the people and the Congress.

In connection with my activities as a member of the Committee on Agriculture, I was in the majority when the committee recently adopted a resolution asking the other members of Congress to help in passing legislation to exempt farm workers from new minimum wage laws which went into effect on Feb. 1. Legislation is now being prepared which would allow this exemption until farm income reaches 100 per cent of parity.

Three days of hearings were recently completed on a resolution to increase food aid to India. During the hearing I went on record in favor of the government purchasing any wheat or any other grain to be shipped to India under this program at a price which will assure the American farmer 100 per cent of parity. I also reminded the committee that no other segment of the American economy is asked to produce more and more of their product for the world market at a cost 26 percent higher than the price they receive for their product. We have a moral obligation to share our food but we have an obligation to ourselves to make certain our commitments do not outpace our productivity.

On March 2, I was in the majority of 372 House members who voted for an additional 4.5 billion dollars for the war in Vietnam. This money will be used between now and the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, to purchase aircraft, missiles, and combat vehicles for our forces in Vietnam, as well as for additional military construction in that country.

During the debate on the additional appropriation the House defeated an amendment which would have put Congress on record against further bombing of North Vietnam. The "doves" continue to call for a halt to this bombing in hopes the Communists will agree to peace talks. As I have stated many times and the President restated at a recent White House briefing I attended, we have halted the bombing three times and all it has accomplished is giving the North Vietnamese time to bring up reinforcements to kill more of our own men.

Pampa DeMolays Celebrate Order's 48th Birthday

Sixty-two members of the Top O' Texas Chapter of the Order of DeMolay will join 250,000 members in 2,500 chapters throughout 12 countries in observance of DeMolay Week March 12 to 19 which will mark the 48th anniversary of the Order.

DeMolay was founded March 18, 1919, in Kansas City, Mo., by Frank S. Land and nine teenage boys. The goal of the Order is to build better citizens out of teenage boys.

Top O' Texas Chapter Order of DeMolay is sponsored by the Top O' Texas Scottish Rites Association and meets in Pampa Masonic Lodge No. 966.

The degree work of the Order of DeMolay is divided into two sections—the Initiatory and DeMolay Degrees.

The Initiatory Degree is one of solemnity and consecration, during which the initiate dedicates himself to uphold the Cardinal Virtues of filial love, reverence for God, courtesy, comradeship, fidelity, cleanness and patriotism.

The DeMolay Degree is a dramatic and historic portrayal of the trials and martyrdom of Jacques DeMolay, and teaches a lesson of fidelity and comradeship.

THE FLOWER TALK — New initiates James Bellflower and James Allen (left and right) receive lecture on womanhood, more especially motherhood, after their induction into DeMolay. George Poole (center), gives the 20 minute speech from memory. All ritual is committed to memory.

DEMOLAY WEEK PROCLAIMED — Pampa Mayor Jim Nation signs the document which proclaims March 12-19 as DeMolay Week in Pampa. Friday the members of Top O' Texas Chapter will take over city and county offices. Monty Elkins (left), past master counselor and Mike Manning watch as Mayor Nation signs the proclamation.

NEW SWEETHEART Paula Daugherty, the new Chapter Sweetheart, is presented flowers by Master Counselor Alvin Bellflower on the night of her coronation. Paula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Daugherty who live north of Pampa, is scheduled to compete this summer for the title of Texas DeMolay Sweetheart.

SPREADING THE WORD — Steve Heare, Ronnie Mortimer, and Neil Brooks examine the billboard on the Amarillo highway which announces DeMolay Week.

CLEAN WINDSHIELDS — Bobby Poole and Randy Stubblefield wash windshields of cars parked in downtown Pampa. When the owners of the cars return they find a note saying, "While you were gone, your windshield was cleaned by members of Top O' Texas Chapter Order of DeMolay."

d.e.w. tell!

ONLY TEN days until Spring ... and not a sign of a Robin ... or at least none have been reported ... perhaps they are wisely delaying their flights this way until after that final, bitter blast of winter ... which has been predicted for us ... if we do escape this will be one of the mildest winters ever ... and one of the driest.

— dew —

THE DOORS of the County Ag Show Barns closed this week after three hectic days of "Show and Sell" livestock ... if, perhaps, prices were down ... interest was not from the opening day with 4-H youngsters ... their calves ... yearning for that Grand Champion title ... or at least Reserve Grand Champion ... through the second day when future farmers went through the same routines with their beautiful animals ... and the third day, when their cattle were sold ... leaving them with empty halters in their hands and empty stalls of their farm home ... the checks in their hands were compensation for purses ... but not for the hearts ... for over a year a youngster's whole life ... and that of their families revolved around show cattle ... from the moment a calf is born until it is shown ... their hearts become involved sentimentally with something they have cared for that long.

— dew —

THERE WERE no two prouder youngsters than Clint Williams and James Martin ... both of Carson County ... who earned Champion and Reserve Champion honors, respectively ... Clint's pride was still showing when he was introduced at the Hereford Breeders Banquet Tuesday night with his parents and sister, Carolyn, who also had a steer reserve champion in the show.

— dew —

THE HEREFORD and Angus steers and heifers were so beautiful with long lashes curling over their soulful eyes ... the hoofs of the angus were blackened with shoe polish to present a conformity ... and the hair on every tail tip had been teased and back-combed ... then showered with hair spray to make it stand out fluffy and full ... yes, lots of grooming goes on pre-show time ... and the boys and girls are quite conscientious about it ... to feel the softness, we casually ran our hand along the back quarters of Clint's steer ... just before he took him out for a second turn ... Clint was immediately behind us combing out our finger prints.

— dew —

IT'S A rather sad place ... back behind-the-scenes after judging ... with all the cattle who didn't win ... place or show ... it's not at all uncommon to see whole families in the barn back of the show arena gathered around their favorite steer or heifer ... stroking ... petting ... and talking to them ... that's exactly what Mrs. J. W. Hendricks of Perryton was doing to her son, J. W.'s animal ... after Monday's 4-H judging ... They say it's not so much not winning a ribbon ... its that the slaughterhouse looms so near after a stock show.

— dew —

THERE WERE lots of "regulars" among the spectators at each of the three-day events ... saw Mrs. Fred Vanderburg several times ... Inez Carter was out for the FFA judging ... and later at the Hereford Breeders Banquet, she was given quite a hand for her contributions to the Hereford industry ... the Frank Carters had their "pet" at the FFA banquet Tuesday evening ... an adorable mechanized dog that follows voice commands ... but they must have leashed it for the adult banquet later in the evening ... Mrs. Buzz Hoover was among the spectators at the Tuesday afternoon judging ... so many familiar faces at the Big Banquet ... just to name a few ... the Jeff Beardens ... Ruth Spearman ... the Dan Johnsons ... Rex McAnelly had the Big Boss of Moody Farms in tow, Eugene Smith of Dallas ... the H. G. Doggetts ... the Quentin Williams ... Guy and Freda LeMond, who have just returned from a late-winter vacation in Phoenix, Arizona, where they visited with their son and family, the Dick Barretts ... and later flew down to Quadalajara with friends for a real "get-away-from-it-all" vacation ... and, of course, those gold-coated Top Texans were on hand dispensing Top of Texas hospitality in the grand old manner.

— dew —

HOW DO YOU TELL when a town stops being "just a town" and starts stretching into a "city" ... one way is when enterprising Pampanos open a genuine Art Gallery ... which is exactly what Fauncine Mack and Doris Johnson, in partnership with Mary Elizabeth Corlette of Canyon, plan to do this week ... Mrs. Corlette is the wife of West Texas State University prexy, James P ... opening soon in Coronado Center will be "Las Pampas Galleries", where only the works of established and "known" artists works will be sold ... in adjunction with a "foreign gifts" shoppe.

— dew —

YOU CERTAINLY could tell the buyers at the Hereford Breeders' Sale Wednesday afternoon ... they were all wearing bandana kerchiefs and lipstick smudges on their cheeks ... both of which were presented by very pretty girls when buyers made their purchases.

RAMBLING THOUGHTS of a professional Rambler ... Zee and J. R. Holloway are back from a Caribbean Cruise ... where they made seven ports of call including Kingston, Jamaica ... Cristobal ... Aruba ... Barbados ... Martinique ... St. Thomas ... and San Juan Puerto Rico ... touring by day, sailing by night and waking up each morning to a new and different port ... they would like to have brought back a small twig from the Rain Tree Forest in Martinique ... and we could have used it ... Lola and Ray Jewell of Hedley were in town Tuesday visiting with friends ... The W. L. Epps were honored yesterday by their children with a reception in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank and Trust Co ... the occasion was their silver wedding anniversary ... we know Olive Hills is having a wonderful time this weekend in Louisiana visiting her son, Carl, who is on a flying trip back to the states from Iran visiting with his wife, Mary, and Little Cindy ... Tracy Cary tells us "The Messiah" chorus has grown to 180 voices ... and they are hoping for 200 before rehearsals have "jelled" in preparation for the April 16 presentation ... The American Business Women's Association is extending "their hands in friendship" at a tea this afternoon from two until four o'clock in the Hospitality Room at the Bank ... there's so much to tell, but we're out of time and space ... see you, dearie, Wilson.

Copenhaver-Dye Say Vows In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Karen Lea Copenhaver exchanged wedding vows with James Starr Dye Jr. in a double-ring service at 7:30 p.m. on February 25. The Rev. A. G. Purvis officiated for the ceremony in Highland Baptist Church.

Miss Copenhaver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Copenhaver, 427 N. Naida. Mr Dye is the son of Mrs. Vernie Dye, 1311 Coffee.

For her wedding, Miss Copenhaver wore a sleeveless dress of ivory white lace designed with a rounded neckline and an A-line skirt. A corsage of white carnations complemented her dress.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Dale Eis wore a navy blue and white two-piece suit with a white carnation corsage.

James Ragain attended the bridegroom as best man.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Maxine Buchanan at the organ.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Copenhaver chose a two-piece Royal Blue knit suit with suede trim complemented with black accessories.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Dye, wore a Winter White knit suit accented with a black and white stole and black accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was appointed with an arrangement of red and white roses.

Misses Tedye and Lynn Dye, bridegroom's sisters, presided at the punch and coffee service. Miss Kathleen Daily served cake. Miss Barbara Hopkins was guest registrar.

Mrs. James S. Dye Jr. ... nee Karen Copenhaver

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Lois Savage, Mrs. Louise Stanford Mrs. R. W. McKean.

The bride was a 1966 honor graduate from Pampa High School; a member of the Spanish Club Quill and Scroll, honorary journal society. She will continue with her studies at Frank Phillips Junior College until the end of the current semester.

The bridegroom attended Pampa High School and was graduated from Ramsauer High School in North Carolina. He is an airman third class at Charleston Air Force Base. Mrs. Dye will join her husband in Charleston this spring.

Girl Scouts Mythically Blow Out 55 Birthday Cake Candles

By DORIS E. WILSON
Women's News Editor

Not many "girls" will admit to being 55 years old in this mod, mod world, but in that many years the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. have built up an enviable record based on the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service. And they are still building.

Today, more than three million girls, ages seven through 17, participate in the March 12th birthday of Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. and in the way of life envisioned by its founder, Juliette Low 55 years ago.

Mrs. Low would be amazed and proud of her Girl Scout family of 1967. But all of us who have seen the family grow are just plain proud.

The Pampa Daily News joins the rest of the community in wishing "Happy Birthday, Girl Scouts! Long may you glow!" in keeping with such an important occasion. The Honorable Jim Nation has proclaimed May 12 to 18 as Girl Scout Week.

His proclamation pays tribute to Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. on its 55th anniversary and highlights the organization's new triennium theme: "Values to Hold... Worlds To Explore."

The proclamation reads in part: "Within this theme Girl Scouts have a twofold purpose:

to strive to apply the verities of character, conduct, patriotism and service in an age in which these verities can so easily be lost; and to more vigorously explore the worlds about them... the worlds of home, community, nation and other lands... thereby bringing further understanding to their own lives and the lives of others."

Mayor Nation calls upon all citizens of Pampa to give Girl Scouting "their continued interest, cooperation, and support so that increasing numbers of girls ages seven through 17 may benefit and, in their turn, bring greater benefit to the lives their lives touch."

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. was founded by Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Ga. on March 12, 1912. From 12 girls in the original troop, the organization has grown in membership to more than three million girls and two-third million adults.

Quivira Girl Scout Council, headquartered in Pampa's City Hall, oversees the activities of more than 1,800 Girl Scouts in a 10-county area.

In Pampa, there are more than 650 Girl Scouts populating 40 Troops ranging from Brownies, Cadettes, Juniors and Seniors. Some 115 adult workers join the Girl Scouts in carrying out the program levels of Scouting.

Troops are organized under a Neighborhood system. Pampa has three: Highland, Sunset and Sunrise.

Members of the board of directors from Pampa include Mrs. James C. Crouch, second vice president; Mrs. Fred Tinsley, secretary; Jerry Sims, treasurer; John McCausland, public relations; Kay Fancher, finance chairman and Mrs. N. G. Kadingo, District II chairman.

Senior Class To Be Honored By WSCS

LEFORS (Spl) —Lefors Senior Class will be honored by the Methodist Church with a fried chicken luncheon at 12 noon on March 14.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will cater the luncheon and the school colors will be carried out in the theme, "Graduation Day."

Twenty four students will be honored with their class sponsors Mrs. Shirley Green and Mr. Merray Stroud; Jerrel Julian, superintendent and G. N. Mounger, principal.

Miss Wilda Powell Weds James Daws Wright III

The wedding vows of Miss Wilda Marie Powell and James Daws Wright III were solemnized in a seven o'clock service on January 21 in the Lee Street Baptist Church in Dimmitt. The Rev. O. J. Mayor, pastor, officiated for the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Powell of Dimmitt. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wright Jr., 115 S. Starkweather.

Vows were repeated beneath an archway of candelabra entwined with greenery and white mums centered with a trio of wedding bells.

Mrs. Myrna Keener, organist, accompanied Tommy Keener as he sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length brocade satin with metallic design fashioned with portrait neckline and accented at the waistline with a bow edged with pearls. The skirt terminated in a chapel train.

A triple-tiered, waist length Veil of Illusion was held to a Princess Crown of rhinestones. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid cascading with a pompons on satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Donna Powell served as matron of honor with Miss Linda Wright as bridesmaid. They were dressed identically in blue satin, street-length dresses with matching accessories.

They carried white testaments topped with an arrangement of white carnations.

Jerry White served as best man with Wayne Storrs as groomsmen. Seating wedding guests were Gene Storrs and James Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright will make their home at 2415-13th Avenue in Canyon, where both are students at West Texas State University.

The bride is a member of Delta Zeta, social sorority and Sigma Tau Delta, honor English fraternity. The bridegroom is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity.

Pampa Art Club Plans Display At Spring Festival

Pampa Art Club members discussed plans for a booth at the Pampa Fine Arts Association's Arts and Crafts Spring Festival to be held in Coronado Center, Saturday and Sunday, May 13-14.

Art club members plan to wear fiesta regalia in the booth, where they will display objects d'art including crafts and paintings.

Plans were finalized for the Art Tea Exhibit to be held April 4-5 in Lovett Memorial Library.

The Tuesday workshop was held in the home of Mrs. O. W. Appleby, 1300 N. Russell. Members worked on exhibits to be displayed at the tea; these include china tempera and tissue paper painting; metal, glass and needle crafting.

Special guests were Mrs. Doris E. Wilson, Pampa Daily News women's Editor and Ken Leach, Sews photographer.

Members attending were Mmes. Gordon Lyons, C. P. Pursley, James McCune, J. G. Doggett, W. L. Heskew, A. C. Houchin, A. D. Hills, Dewey Palmittier, Leta Flynt, Vernon H. Hall, Cecil Chirley, A. C. Cox and Clyde M. Vanderberg. Luncheon was served during the noon hour.

A workshop meeting will be held March 21 at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Owen Gee, 1608 Williston.

To remove candy or syrup spills on bleachable clothing, sponge the area with cold water. Launder. If stain remains, use a bleach with hot water and re-launder. On non-bleachable fabrics, soak in cold water. If stain remains, rub on detergent, rinse, and launder.

Checking In At Lovett Memorial Library

By BARBARA COCKRELL, Head Librarian

The well-known authority of children's literature, May Hill Arbuthnot, says, "If children's introduction to books is a happy one, they're likely to become book-loving adults."

So many parents ask, "When shall I start reading to my child?" or "How old should my child be before I bring him to the library?" The answer to both questions is NOW! A child cannot be introduced to books too early in life. The early, happy experience of sharing a picture book, or book of nursery rhymes, with a beloved parent will be the foundation for years of enjoyable reading. On the other hand, a child can't be forced to enjoy reading in later years if he has not been introduced to the wonder of books at an early age.

It does not just "happen" that people learn to love books.

In her book, "Request of Wings," Annis Duff advises parents, "Children seldom do ask for books, an initial stage in learning to love them. Reading, for young children, is rarely a pleasure in isolation, but comes through shared pleasure and constant discerning exposure to books so that they fall naturally into the category of pleasant necessities, along with food, sleep, music and all out-of-doors."

Mothers frequently hesitate to bring small children to the library for fear the children will disturb the more studious patrons. Surely it would be more disturbing to think that children may never have the opportunity to explore the library and its world of books. For some reason known only to themselves, the smallest visitors seem to sense that the library is a special quiet place, and they behave accordingly.

True, small children cannot be expected to comprehend the exact function of the library. For instance, one very small, chubby, brown-eyed boy insisted on "checking a fish" from the aquarium in the children's room and taking it home with him. He didn't get his fish, but obviously he is confident that the library is a place that has wonderful things you may borrow. This young man will never be a stranger to the world of books.

It is the very young people who write notes to the library. Following the "free week" before Christmas, during which time the fines for overdue books were forgotten, the librarians received this note, "Dear Librarian, I am sorry I was so late getting in my books. Thank you for letting this week be here."

Another grubby, pencil-scribbled note requested the library to buy a copy of "Hell's Angels." (Fortunately, there seems to be no one around who is qualified to write on this subject!)

Parents who may wonder how to help their children become book-loving adults are reminded that the library has help to offer in the form of books that explain just what is of interest to children and why, and what mistakes to avoid when building children's reading habits. "Children and Books," by Arbuthnot, and "Request of Wings," by Annis Duff are among the best.

Yes, you've guessed it... the smallest visitors are the library's favorite people.

The Mature Parent Show of Helplessness Cry For Recognition

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: You recently wrote about the "probable" mental illness of a young woman who has lost weight, is "too nervous" to work, makes her apartment mate support her and "creates situations which insist on her helplessness." You exactly described my mother's behavior. She is in her middle 70s. Is this behavior in my mother the result of old age or is it symptomatic or mental illness.

ANSWER: I don't know. As I'm not a psychiatrist I'm not qualified to diagnose mental illness in anyone. That's why I spoke of its "probable" existence in the young woman of that column, and why I urged her friend to get her to a physician who would take over and make the proper referrals.

However, it's my feeling that the insistent helplessness which may indicate mental illness in a young person may not indicate it in an old lady approaching 80. Old people whose physical powers have waned have realistic reasons, not concocted ones, for depending on younger people's strength.

Nevertheless, we cannot describe a 75-year-old parent who creates situations which insist on her incompetence to be abounding in mental health. If she were, she'd use words to declare her need for our help instead of using helpless behavior to demand it. But then I don't know anybody who is abounding in mental health. Do you? In this society we live in, it's just about impossible to abound in the mental health that would enable your aged mother to say: "I am old. I am tired. My eyesight-my hearing, my muscular organization is failing, my insides don't hum along with their former efficiency; and for these reasons, I have to sometimes depend on your younger efficiency."

In America nobody dares to so admit weakness, moral or physical. For in America we must all be independent, self-sufficient, captains in perfect charge of our fate. And if we're not these commanding captains of our fate, we cannot tell anyone how it is with us. We know that we'll be patronized and resented by the people we bother with open need of their bigger strength. So if, like your mother, we're an old lady weakened by age we have to use weak behavior to make our demand on a child's younger strength.

Garden Two Years History Of Roses

Mrs. W. B. Adair was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Pampa Garden Club in the home of Mrs. W. R. Campbell. Mrs. Adair discussed the "Selection and Care of Roses."

She began her topic with History of the Rose and Roses in History by stating that the rose antedates man. "We find that in the years before Christ the rose was glorified and used as medicine and perfume as well as a pattern for fine needlework. When Pharaoh's tomb was uncovered a wreath of roses was found to be still giving off a sweet perfume after 1700 years," Mrs. Adair said.

"In 1850 the Rose Breeders Association of England began the cross-breeding of roses and thus began the development of the rose of today. Any rose introduced before 1867 is considered an old rose and usually had a minimum number of petals. Many of these came from China and Palestine and would not have survived if they had been choosy as to soil or climate. A three-foot square

RUTH MILLETT

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
By 1894 the American wage earner may be working only 22 hours a week, 27 weeks of the year, and retiring at age 38.

That's a possibility of things to come recently outlined by Thomas J. Watson, board chairman of the International Business Machines Corporation. He admits that such reduced working hours and lowered retirement age could be a national problem unless Americans are taught to turn idle time into creative activity.

Better yet, the American man should be taught how to be a competent housekeeper and reliable baby sitter so that his wife can share in a little of that leisure.

If he is permitted to go on thinking that housework and child care are woman's work and once he has put in his 22 hours a week at the office he is entitled to spend the rest of his time on some creative activity, the housewife of 1964 is going to really have it tough.

While her young husband pursues his chosen hobbies she will be busy taking care of children, washing and ironing (unless all clothes by then are made of paper), cooking and marketing and so on. Nothing is going to shorten her week very much — as long as there are children to be cared for.

And then when she reaches the age where she should have it a bit easier, her husband — not yet 40 — will be retired for life, putting around the house, needing three meals a day, and wanting to be waited on.

Unless, of course, boys as well as girls are taught how to run a house and look after children, so that keeping house becomes a divided chore.

Pampa PTA Council To Sponsor District PTA Spring Conference

Plans for a PTA District 19 Spring Conference to be held in Pampa were discussed and new council officers were elected during the PTA City-Council meeting Tuesday morning in Woodrow Wilson School.

The conference will be held April 10-11 with Mrs. N. L. Nicholls as general conference chairman, according to Mrs. Charles Lanehart, council president.

Mrs. Nicholls announced the appointment of the following committees: Mrs. S. T. Friends and Mrs. John Damron, hospitality; Mrs. George D. Crossman, decorations; Mrs. Gifford Kerksieck, publicity.

Mrs. E. A. McClennan, a District 19 vice president, will be in charge of registration.

Duties assigned to host schools are Stephen F. Austin, tickets; B. M. Baker, pages and conference stage; Sam Houston, music; Lamar and City Council, gifts and flowers; Robert E. Lee, registration tables; Horace Mann, entertainment; Travis, exhibit tables; Woodrow Wilson, folders; St. Vincent de Paul, registration coffee.

It was announced R. H. McKay, first vice president of the district and Mrs. Lucille Martin, program chairman of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be speakers at the afternoon workshop of the spring conference.

The meeting opened with a devotion presented by Dan Johnson, Travis school principal from the Book of Great Thoughts concerning the responsibility of parents and teachers. He said, "Our concern for our children and what we want for our child, must be the community's feeling for a child."

Dr. John D. Damron, superintendent of schools reporting for the nominating committee, submitted the following names which were elected for the 1967-68 year: Mrs. N. L. Nicholls, president; Mrs. Zebbie Land, vice president; Mrs. Calvin Hogan, secretary; Mrs. Troy Bennett, treasurer.

Mrs. James Frazier announced public record books are due April 1st.

Bob Parks reported on events in the Spring Festival to be sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association: "The Messiah" on April 16th; Home Art Tour, May 7; Arts and Crafts Fair, May 13-14.

Pamphlets concerning Youth Protection were distributed by Mrs. R. E. Warren Jr. Reports were given by each principal outlining activities during Public School Week.

Bob Parks, host principal and Mrs. Jerry Davis, Wilson PTA president, were hosts during the social hour.

Closing thought was given by Mrs. Charles Lanehart, "Don't Let a Stranger Teach Your Child."

The next meeting of the city council will be April 4 in Horace Mann Elementary School as co-host; executive board meeting at 9 a.m. with a general meeting at 9:30 a.m.

A covered-dish luncheon was served during the noon hour.

American Business Women To Have 'Hand Of Friendship Tea' Today

Mrs. Jessie Rance, tea chairman for the American Business Women's "Hand of Friendship Tea," will present an interesting program to members and guests at 2 p.m. today in the Hospitality Room of the Citizen's Bank. The program will emphasize improving employer-employee relations; advancing women in business through more efficient service to business; and enrichment for business women through education.

The association's national headquarters is located in Kansas City, Mo. where it was chartered in 1949. The organization is designed to fulfill specific needs not made by other organizations. Believing that education is essential to society, as well as for advancement in business, the association emphasizes the sponsorship of Scholarships for deserving, qualified young women.

Each of the six districts throughout the United States holds a district meeting in the Spring. April 1-2 is the date set for the Southwestern District meeting in Tuscon, Ariz.

The national convention will be held in Las Vegas, Nev. on October 20-21-22. The American Business Woman of the Year is announced at this convention. Each chapter is allowed to nominate a candidate for this honor. Mrs. Clara Quay, Pampa's "Woman of the Year," attended the national convention in Tulsa, Okla. last October.

These are just a few of the reasons why over 40,000 members belong to ABWA. Business Women are invited and encouraged to communicate with Mrs. Vernon Graham, president of the local chapter, at MO 5-2788, or 1429 Williston, to learn more about the association.

Lamar Ladies Group Names New Officers

New officers for the ladies auxiliary of the Lamar Full Gospel Assembly were elected at a meeting held recently.

Mrs. Gene Reedy, president, was elected to serve with Mrs. Leslie Wilkerson, vice president; Mrs. James Melson, secretary; Mrs. Don Riddle, treasurer; Mrs. Bob Winborne, foreign mission; Mrs. Elmer Johnson, literature; Mrs. Ots Lester, counselor; Mrs. Walter Hyatt, reporter.

Mrs. Lester, as guest speaker, spoke on the topics, "Laying the Foundation... Jesus Christ himself the Cornerstone."

Mrs. Wilkerson, soloist, sang "Lord, Lay Some Soul Upon My Heart."

During the business meeting, a needy family and a home missionary were selected as projects.

A covered-dish luncheon was served during the noon hour.

Local Realtor Describes Career Training For La Cultura Club

Mrs. Genevieve Henderson, local realtor, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the La Cultura Club held in the home of Mrs. William Chafin.

Mrs. Henderson, who is associated with Quentin Williams Realtors began the discussion by tracing her own career in real estate and explained the training necessary for this career. Stressing the importance of consulting a realtor when buying or selling a home, she explained the strict code of ethics adopted and enforced by the National Association of Real Estate Brokers and state licensing board.

"Service is our Business," said Mrs. Henderson as she discussed the function of the local Multiple Listing Service of which she is chairman. "Although your property is listed with your own realtor who is responsible to you, other local realtors have access to the property and try to sell it," she continued.

"Reasons for a house not selling are usually over-pricing by the seller and a depressed local market situation," stated the local realtor.

"Every house is sold every five years on the national average and 41 percent of all these homes are sold to persons between the ages of eighteen and thirty-four," concluded Mrs. Henderson. She then distributed literature on buying and selling a home and answered questions from the club members.

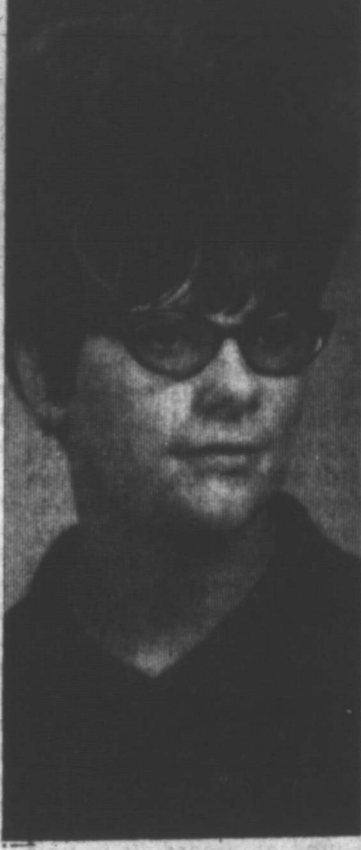

The meeting opened with Mrs. Jimmy Hayes reading the Federated Club Collect.

Mrs. Billy G. Pate was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Arnold Wesely, club president, appointed Mmes. Paul Hartin, John Ellis and Weldon Knight to the Year Book Committee.

Members attending, not previously mentioned, were M.A.L.colm McClelland, Freddy Cooper, and Kenneth Cunningham.

Betrothed

Miss Carlene Sexton

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Sexton, 409 Doucette, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carlene to Lewin Anthony Clayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Clayton of Vernon. The betrothed couple is attending Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where he is affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi, social fraternity. A June 1 wedding is being planned in Central Baptist Church.

MILDEST SHAMPOO

The process of straightening causes hair to become delicate, even more so than bleaching. For that reason it should be treated to the mildest shampoo possible. Be sure to rinse hair thoroughly and always use warm (never hot) water and set hair while it is still wet, using the largest rollers possible.

Dear Abby...
Love Shows Itself In Strange Ways

DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and was employed for four years by a man in his late 40s. I admit I was attracted to him from the start, but assumed he was a happily married family man and let it go at that. About two years ago I worked late one night and he drove me home. He confided that his was a miserable "in name only" marriage, and that is when our romance began.

He talked of divorcing his wife and marrying me, but I asked him to wait until his children were grown. The next thing I knew, his divorce was underway. I was tormented with guilt, went to my priest and confessed my sin. He advised me to quit my job and never see this man again. It wasn't easy, but with God's help I did it. Within three months I knew I was better off without him.

My problem is, this man keeps calling me, telling me he gave up everything for me and begging me to see him. I feel so guilty, I still love him, but I could never be happy with him, knowing I took him away from his family. What should I do?

DEAR GUILTY: Review the advice your priest gave you, and continue to heed it. The temptation to see him would be greatly reduced if you were to relocate, leaving no forwarding address. I recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman do with a husband who calls every place she applies for employment and tells them he doesn't want his wife working? I am practically climbing the walls.

DEAR WANTS: If a man doesn't want his wife to work, that's his business, but they should fight it out privately at home — not in the public arena. Your husband's childish tactics are undoubtedly both confusing and amusing to third parties — to the credit of neither of you. Somebody should tell him to quit humiliate you... and making a fool of himself.

DEAR ABBY: In planning my wedding, I agreed to have my fiancé's 6-year-old niece for my flower girl. But that was before I met her. (She's my fiancé's sister's child, and they live out of state.)

Abby, this little girl has taken drama, ballet, tap and toe since she was three, and she thinks she is the world's most talented entertainer. It's not her fault. Her family encourages her. I've never seen a more conceited, affected, obnoxious child. She is just waiting for the chance to use my wedding as a stage for her performance.

Tell me how I can change my mind about having her as flower girl without getting his whole family mad at me. After all, a bride has the right to be the star of her own wedding.

WEDDING TROUBLES
DEAR TROUBLES: Your only solution, as I see it, is to decide on a "simpler" wedding — eliminating some of the frills and fanfare — including a flower girl. That way you would be the stellar attraction. You will probably get some static from his family, but if the circumstances are as you describe them, it's the lesser of the evils.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TELL ME, HONESTLY," IN BRATTLEBORO: A man who has had "psychiatric treatment" could be a better risk for marriage than one who hasn't.

... That Oily Hair Problem

Long straight hairstyles are ideal for women with dry or normal hair but can be a problem for those with oily hair. Excess of causes hair to separate, making it difficult to maintain the smooth look essential to the beauty of straight styles. So that oily hair isn't too much of a problem, be sure to shampoo frequently using a mild shampoo. Wash hair twice, making certain it's squeaky clean after the second rinse. Try a thorough brushing before each shampoo, using a brush that has a thin piece of gauze wrapped around the bristles. This helps to eliminate excess oil.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Turn Free China Loose

The no-win war we are fighting in Vietnam makes less sense every day. Sad part of the whole thing is that it is being waged at a cost of thousands of lives of young American service men and billions of dollars in war material. What kind of war is it anyway? Who ever heard of mortal enemies (in this instance, the Viet Cong and the U.S.) declaring time out for holidays? The Communists invariably use each truce period to regroup their forces and prepare to strike again when the whistle blows signaling the end of the shooting holiday. Who can make sense out of that?

But no matter what our objective is, one thing is sure: The Communists are out to win this war and everything else they fight for and you'd better believe it. If a for instance - is needed, the Viet Cong were charged with hundreds of cease-fire violations during the truce that ended last week.

In many ways, the Vietnam war seems like a repeat performance of the old road show put on in Korea where Gen. Douglas MacArthur was fired by President Truman for even trying to win. There are too many similarities to think otherwise. Such things as enemy targets being off limits to U.S. bombers, especially the port city Haiphong through which war supplies are channeled to front line Viet Cong soldiers.

A large portion of war material coming through Haiphong, incidentally, originates in nations "friendly" to the United States. Among them are England, France, Belgium, Japan and, of course, Russia. When is the Johnson administration going to get smart and knock off the friendly act with nations which support our enemy with guns and butter? That kind of business is hard for GIs fighting in Vietnam and their parents to understand. Everybody else too.

As a matter of fact, approximately 70 per cent of Red China's trade is with governments considered friendly to the United States. These countries, incidentally, have been on the receiving end of aid costing American taxpayers more than $42 billion.

Another aspect of the Vietnam conflict the average American fails to understand is why Chiang Kai-shek is not unshackled and permitted to invade Red China with the 600,000 Chinese Nationalist troops he has standing by chafing at the bit to get a their enemies on the mainland. In his recent State of the Union message and other pronouncements, President Johnson was strangely silent on Free China and its role, if any, in Southeast Asia.

In a copyrighted article published in the Dan Smoot Report, Smoot, conservative Dallas commentator, suggested these measures be taken by President Johnson to end the Vietnam war:

Johnson should tell Chiang Kai-shek he is free to invade Communist China when he pleases. Perhaps he could give Chiang material assistance, but no American troops for the invasion.

Johnson should order an all-out bombing attack on industrial plants, transport facilities, supply depots, troop centers, and Red River dikes in North Vietnam, together with a naval blockade of North Vietnam seaports.

Aside from American materials they steal or buy on the black market, or goods they confiscate from South Vietnam, Communist military forces and guerrillas in Vietnam are dependent on three sources of supply: (1) What is produced in North Vietnam; (2) what comes to North Vietnam by sea; (3) what comes to North Vietnam overland from Red China.

Our aerial bombardment and naval blockade would shut off the first two sources of supply. Chiang's operations on the mainland would shut off the third.

In Vietnam (where we are squandering the blood and treasure of our nation); in Thailand (where we are squandering our treasure, and drifting to the point of using our troops, just as we did in Vietnam); in Laos (where we have fruitlessly squandered millions to resist communism); and in all other portions of Southeast Asia, communist operations would be quickly starved and stopped by Chiang's invasion of mainland China and an effective American campaign of bombing and blockading in North Vietnam.

"We should then pull all American military forces out of Asia, stop all foreign aid, terminate all our government's political and military commitments in Asia, and leave Asians alone to run their own countries without any aid or meddling from us.

Impractical dreams, you say? "Escalation" of the war? Perhaps. But no more impractical, we think, than the present travesty of a "limited" war that pours our young men into the communist meat grinder at an ever-increasing rate. When all the "limiting" is on our side how can we hope to prevail? (Oops, we almost said "win.") That's a nasty word that our government doesn't dare use for fear of making somebody mad at us.)

If other people can rebel against entrenched Communist tyranny, surely, we Americans can rebel politically and force our government to take the only road which promises to get us out of the Asian war at minimum cost in American lives, and without loss of national honor.

'Generation Gap' Age-Old Story

"Youth is disintegrating. The young people of the land have disrespect for their elders and contempt for authority in every form. Vandalism is rife, and crime of all kinds is rampant among youth. The nation is in peril."

These alarming words were not taken from the report of the President's Commission on Crime, although they might well have been. They were recorded by an Egyptian priest about 2,000 B.C.

Socrates, 1,700 years later, is also said to have lamented that youths no longer obeyed their parents or respected their teachers. Similar complaints have been expressed in every period of human history in the 2,300 years between Socrates and the present - in every generation, in fact.

So far, obviously, all such pessimistic pronouncements about the imminent collapse of civilization have proved to be exaggerated. Nations and empires have risen and fallen, to be sure, and whole societies have disappeared down the dusty corridors of time. But mankind itself is still around, and the virtues and ideals which the Egyptian priest and the Athenian philosopher feared would not outlast them are still very much in operation.

The "generation gap" about which we hear so much lately is nothing new. Parents have always regarded their children with as much suspicion as pride, forgetting that their own parents were equally dubious about transferring the safekeeping of society and the nation into their hands. Today's young people in revolt will in their turn be tomorrow's rigid guardians of the status quo.

This is not to say that the problems of our own time are not unique and very real and that we should adopt a Pollyannaish attitude that morals will take care of themselves.

The pharaoh's young subjects, after all, did not have motorcycles or zippens. Socrates' students were not tempted by LSD or marijuana. Social and

WASHINGTON

Red Protest Week Fouled By Students

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Organizers of the national "Vietnam Week" of protests scheduled for April 8 to 5, are having problems getting their operation going at full steam. Student groups they had depended on for co-operation have been reluctant to commit themselves.

The most dramatic activity scheduled for the week — the National Student Strike, which had aimed at 50,000 student participants — has been tabled.

Instead, student strikes are planned only on a few "ripe" campuses. The planners hope for sit-ins at some draft boards, civil disobedience to prevent government agencies from operating, boycotts against firms manufacturing war materials and fund raising for medical aid to "napalm victims."

These are operations which can be organized and carried out by handfuls of students and make a good show. The planners can pick places where campus authorities are weak and where student discipline is already lax.

To further their chances for a "good show," the organizers plan to call in high school students and a wide variety of non-student groups. (In Vietnam, demonstrators have found it easy to draw out numbers of high school students for almost any kind of demonstration.)

The committee now has many slogans against many things besides Vietnam — the Central Intelligence Agency, military contracts, draft "inequities," military influence on the campus and "the corruption of education" and is planning dramatic, showy "campus war crimes tribunals."

These will inevitably attract the curious and a wide array of the discontented.

By these means the organizers, without exposing the weakness of their groups, can put on a "nationwide" show and claim a participation of thousands of students.

One problem for the organizers is that many students have been made leery of "Vietnam Week" by the open, heavy participation of Communist and Communist-front leaders in the planning and organizations sessions.

Proposals for the National Student Strike were written and distributed by Bettina Tinker Kurzwil last August at the Washington Monument grounds in the District of Columbia. Mrs. Kurzwil, a leader in the University of California riots, has announced she is a Communist. She is the daughter of Herbert Aptheker, for many years chief theoretician of the Communist Party.

Again, planning for the strike and associated events was made at a December, 1966, Chicago meeting dominated by representatives of the Communist-sponsored W. E. B. Du Bois Clubs of America; the pro-Chinese Marxist Progressive Labor Party; the Youth Against War and Fascism, a Communist splinter group; Communist party members and representatives of the Socialist Workers Party (designated as subversive by the attorney general) or its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance.

Another sponsor of the "Vietnam Week" of protests is the Spring Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. The major national planning session of the committee was held in Cleveland in November. More than two-thirds of those registering were members of the Socialist Workers Party, the Young Socialist Alliance or the W. E. B. Du Bois Clubs. The Communist party was represented by members of its national committee cultural changes brought about by technology seem to be accelerating at a pace that leaves most of us bewildered and apprehensive. Accepted morality is being challenged by youth as never before in the nation's history.

What the "generation gap" really tells us, however, is not that the younger generation is about to abolish everything that all the generations before it found necessary and good. It is questioning, testing, searching, attempting to arrive at a set of values it can call its own. What it eventually finds will not be so different from what it is seemingly rejecting as many people fear. It is when the younger generation ceases to search for its "new morality" and passively accepts its inheritance of the old that we will have reason to worry.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure answers.)

QUESTION: Is it not a fact that the constitutional inhibition against the use of cruel and unusual punishment for commission of crimes is being used by those who have more compassion for the criminal than for his victim? It seems to me that use of the whipping post and the stocks might go a long way in reducing increasing crimes of bank robbery, rape, etc. Criminals have, I've been told, a great fear of the lash. We should investigate use of such methods of punishment in other civilized countries. Our own methods are not a deterrent to violent crimes. The punishment should fit the crime.

ANSWER: It is quite obvious that a great many judges appear to be more concerned with the constitutional "protections" of those who are convicted of various crimes than with protecting the victims of the crimes. The compassion seems to be more for those who have invaded others' rights of life, liberty and property — the murders, robbers, rapists and the like. The same protections do not seem to be available to those who may have violated man-made laws which in themselves invade man's own personal rights — i.e. compulsory military service, zoning, compulsory school attendance.

We would not advocate a return to the whipping post or any other means of physical retaliation against individuals. However, we will concede that unequal application of legal penalties, through court interpretation, will add to the number of crimes. Enforcement of equal and impartial penalties for invasion of others' natural rights should go a long way toward deterring those bent on crime. Elimination of laws which make a man a criminal for attempting to use his life and property in a peaceful, non-coercive manner would do much to restore respect for other laws.

Hunt for Truth

BY R. L. HUNT

CONGRESS AND ITS PROBLEMS
Now Congress has reconvened to tackle the Nation's problems. Chief among them are the war in Vietnam, increasing centralization of power in the federal government, constant assaults on individual freedom, increase in crime, and the threat of inflation.

As for Vietnam, the only rational course to take now is to use such force as is necessary to defeat the enemy or compel him to agree to a just peace. Our troops should have the best weapons available, and the conduct of the war directed by generals and admirals; not by arm-chair experts. With growing tendency to concentrate the powers of government in executive agencies

Reduction in Price Gives Business Shot in the Arm

By OSCAR W. COOLEY
Assoc. Prof. of Economics,
Ohio Northern Univ.

The American Motors Corporation has drastically reduced the price of its Rambler American if the dealers sell at the suggested retail price. Buyers will save from 7 to 13 per cent. This is probably a smart move. The company sold 74,340 Americans in 1966, about 50 per cent fewer than in the preceding year. Apparently the car was over-priced. If the firm wanted to continue to make and sell that car, the price had to come down.

Roy Chapin, president of American Motors, might have denied this, saying that the cost of making the American had not dropped — perhaps had risen, in fact — and therefore the selling price could not be cut. But he is wise enough to know that the selling price of a product cannot be raised and lowered as the cost of production rises and falls. It must be set at a level which the buyers are willing to pay, whether this is above or below the cost of production.

American Motors' action is in accord with the Law of Demand, the most fundamental of all economic laws. This law states that the quantity of a good which people are willing to buy varies inversely with the price. At a higher price, they will buy less; at a lower price, more.

From this it does not follow that a seller should always lower his price, in order to sell more. Obviously, at a zero price, he could do a land-office business! Every seller wants to sell a large volume, but he wants still more to make a large profit. And so he must pay attention to his cost of production as well as to his sales volume.

It boils down to this: he must set his price at the level which will induce the sale of that number of units which he can produce at such a cost that total dollar sales minus total dollar costs will yield him the maximum total profit. As American Motors sold fewer and fewer cars in recent months, one can surmise that its and departments in Washington, executive officers increasingly strive to manage the affairs of all men. Crime has risen forty-six per cent while population has grown only eight per cent during the past six years. Enough has been done for those who murder and rape and rob. It's time something is done for those who do not wish to be murdered or raped or robbed. Voluntary confessions of self-confessed criminals should be admitted in evidence against them. And there should be laws to promote more adequate procedures for the apprehension and conviction of criminals.

Failure to curb inflation stems from an unwillingness to go to the source of the problem. For years the federal government has pursued a policy of spending more than its income. The remedy is to reduce federal spending. Our elected representatives have their work cut out for them. Let's hope they stay with it.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Inflammation of Eyelids Is Usually an Allergy
Q — I have an inflammation of my eyelids that feels as though I had sand in my eyes. I have been using yellow oxide of mercury ointment. Is it all right to use it every night?

A — If your conjunctivitis is due to an infection the ointment you are using should clear it up in seven to 10 days. If it doesn't, the true cause should be determined. This may be a habit of rubbing your eyes, overindulgence in alcohol, working under improper lighting or direct exposure to sunlight. The commonest cause, however, is allergy for which the treatment is to discover and avoid the offending substance.

Q — I must frequently pull white strings of mucus out of my eyes. What would cause this?

A — You probably have some form of conjunctivitis. Various eye drops are available for temporary relief but you should have your eye doctor find and remove the cause. Q — What causes lobar pneumonia? Is it serious? Can you get it more than once? Does it leave any after-effects?

A — Lobar pneumonia, an infection due to the pneumococcus, causes the consolidation of an entire lobe of the lungs on one side in contrast to the patchy involvement of both lungs in bronchopneumonia. Unless treated promptly with antibiotics it can be rapidly fatal. Since the body builds up no resistance to the pneumococcus it is possible but not advisable to get this disease many times. With prompt treatment complete recovery is the rule, but complications have been known to occur. These include pleural effusion (an accumulation of water in the space between the lungs and the chest wall), pericarditis (inflammation of the sac surrounding the heart), arthritis and jaundice.

Q — I have heard my doctor described as a "gastroenterologist." He says that refers to a subspecialty. Would that make him less skilled than a specialist?

A — No. It means that, although his specialty is internal medicine, he has narrowed his field of primary interest to diseases of the digestive tract. You might even be justified in calling him a superspecialist. Other so-called subspecialties of internal medicine include cardiology (heart disease), endocrinology (disease of the glands of internal secretion) and allergy.

Photoplay Award Given To Stanwyck; Janssen

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Barbara Stanwyck and David Janssen have been voted "Favorite Stars of 1966" and will receive Photoplay magazine's 45th annual Gold Medal Awards. Miss Stanwyck stars in ABC-TV's "The Big Valley," and Mr. Janssen is the star of ABC-TV's "The Untouchables." Special Editors' Gold Medal Awards will be presented to Broadway and film actresses, Ginger Rogers and to comedian Bob Hope. This is the third year Special Editors' Awards are being presented by Photoplay magazine. John Wayne received Photoplay's Special Award last year.

Rough, Tough Duff Fits Well in 'Felony Squad'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Howard Duff fits as smoothly into his tough cop role in "The Felony Squad" as a hood's fingers in a set of brass knuckles.

He was radio's "Sam Spade," the truculent private eye for five years back in the 1940s. Since then his professional life generally has been devoted to movies and television shows.

His private life, however, is serene. He has been married to actress-director Ida Lupino for 15 years. They are the parents of Bridget, 14 who hopes to become an actress herself.

For the past dozen years the Duffs have lived in a modern ranch-style home in Sullivan canyon, a posh residential area bordering on Pacific Palisades. Ida has tastefully decorated the house in comfortable early American motif.

Ida Lupino

There is an impressive array of oil paintings throughout their home, most of them selected by Ida.

Fast-Paced Show
Before the ABC series began last year Howard took a dip in the family swimming pool every morning. But the fast-paced adventure show has him hopping out of bed between 5 and 7 a.m. every morning, when it's too cold for a swim — even in Calif.

The show goes on location in and around Los Angeles every week with Duff spending from 12 to 14 hours in makeup.

In the evening he telephones Ida to let her know when to expect him for dinner. As often as not, he calls to say he won't be home until late and to "leave dinner warming on the stove."

A housekeeper does most of the cooking and a nurse, who joined the Duffs when Bridget was born, has become a member of the family.

The household includes three cats and an ancient mutt named Tuesday who is part beagle, part spaniel and part other blood lines.

Howard tries to memorize his lines on the set between takes. But if he has an especially difficult and lengthy dialogue Ida cues him the night before.

Twice a week Howard plays tennis with a group of friends at a private court. It keeps him in top physical condition and releases the tensions inherent in a weekly television show.

Ida doesn't play tennis, which also springs her husband from the predominantly feminine household.

On weekends the actor relaxes at home, spending much of his time reading or watching television. His collection of novels, histories and biographies threatens to push him right out of his den where he enjoys a certain amount of solitude.

In other years when neither Ida nor Howard were working in series — they once costarred in "Mr. Adams and Eve" — the Duffs entertained frequently. Most of their friends are in show business or closely associated with it.

Howard's wardrobe is more conservative than many Hollywood stars, but considerably less austere than the business suit he wears as the cop in his show.

Happiness for Howard Duff is renewal of "The Felony Squad," and chances are excellent that it will be around again next fall.

Yvette Joins Cast
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Yvette Mimieux joins Rod Taylor and Jim Brown for location shooting in Jamaica of "Dark of the Sun."

Sellers Planning "No Ball" for June

LONDON (UPI) — Actor Peter Sellers and Princess Alexandra are sponsoring a charity event which won't take place, the "No Ball."

Invitations were sent Wednesday to all the "in" people. In exchange for a one pound ($2.80) donation to the Royal Commonwealth Society for the Blind, they won't have to attend.

Sellers said the "No Ball" won't happen June 31.

The raffish prizes include: — A free holiday for seven on the Albanian Riviera. — An illustrated history of coconut matting. — An autographed first edition of "My Next Move" by former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The society, of which Alexandra is president, said it hoped to sell 10,000 tickets.

"So many people find charity balls a bore," it said. "This way they can buy tickets without all the trouble of showing up."

TV NOTES

NEW YORK — "The FBI" series, which got off to a somewhat shaky start its first season, will be back for a third in the fall on the ABC-TV network. This makes the second long-run series for star Efram Zimbalist Jr., the first having been "77 Sunset Strip."

Veteran television viewers will remember "The Colgate Comedy Hour" as one of the popular big weekly programs of the early years. It expired a decade ago, but a single one hour special under that title will be broadcast on NBC early in May, employing a roster of popular comedians. The gimmick is that you'll be treated to material that might have appeared on the program had it been alive during the 10 years.

Mary Martin and Robert Preston will be co-hosts for ABC's telecast of the Broadway theater's Tony awards March 26 on ABC. Both also are nominees for awards, respectively in the star actress and star actor categories for musicals. They are the sole members of the cast of the current "I Do! I Do!"

Girl Scout Week Begins On Island

The Girl Scouts will celebrate their 35th birthday anniversary with a full week of activities. The celebration got off to a big start Saturday when the local Girl Scout equipment agency, E. S. Levy & Co., observed Girl Scout Day in the Pandora Shop. Every Girl Scout was presented a souvenir, with Brownies, doing the honors. TROOP MEMBERS appeared in song and dance numbers, and were models for spring fashions in both stores. Levy's awarded four complete camp outfits to a Brownie, a Junior, a Cadette and a Senior Scout.

Today is Girl Scout Sunday, and the girls will attend church either individually or with their troop.

Monday is Homemaking Day, and Scouts are urged to do something nice for their mothers in the home.

Citizenship Day is Tuesday, and Scouts will show appreciation to persons who have been helpful during the year by sending thank you notes or special treats.

Wednesday is Health and Safety Day, and the Galveston Neighborhood meeting at 9:30 a.m. will be attended by representatives from each troop.

Thursday is International Friendship Day. Special "Thank You's" will be sent to persons from other countries who assisted in preparing the Thinking Day program.

Friday will be devoted to the arts. Troops will practice songs and dances, and will visit displays in Rosenberg Library.

Saturday will be Skills and Fun Day at Kemper Park beginning at 10 a.m. Some troops will cook, and others will bring a nosebag lunch.

Anjou Pears Are Versatile

When other fresh fruits are scarce the Anjou (pronounced An-jo) pear is only beginning its campaign, on improving winter meals. This noble fruit is the meal planner's most loyal friend from October to May. The aromatic, spicy, sweet flavor makes this pear ideal for out-of-hand eating, general cooking, desserts and salads.

For a refreshing salad add diced winter pears to finely shredded cabbage. Accent with chopped green pepper and a dressing of lemon juice, sugar, salt, and mayonnaise.

Or, fill centers of halved and cored pears with a mixture of canned shrimp, chopped celery, green olives and a dressing made from mayonnaise combined with paprika and lemon juice.

Well Fertilized Lawn Needs Less Water

Much has been written and said about the watering of lawns. I would like to explain a little further our feelings on the subject.

AS A NATION, we are running out of good pure water.

Only recently have we begun to develop a national consciousness of the seriousness of the situation. Water is essential for all of the life processes of grass and other living things.

Life depends upon water in the proper quantities, in the right place, and at the right time. Each of us may expect to be asked to make significant contributions to water conservation in the near future. Many of us already are painfully aware of the consequences when unexpected limitations in water use are imposed upon us during periods of drought.

One of the first of such restrictions is the ban on watering lawns. Lawns that have been conditioned in advance for just such emergencies will be far superior to those which require a constant and large supply of water at all times.

BRIEFLY, then, it would seem to be good business to develop the kind of lawn which will be satisfactory with the minimum of supplemental watering and which will have the best chance of survival if and when water is denied or restricted.

Acceptance of this basic premise is essential to the practical understanding of the use of water on lawns. Grasses are very efficient in extracting water from the soil for their life processes.

Grass roots may draw water from a few inches to as much as 6 or 8 feet down. Grass roots will not grow in soils that are lacking in moisture. Lawns receive water from natural rainfall and, when this is not sufficient to sustain growth or appearances, they receive it from supplemental irrigation.

The quantity of water supplied by rainfall, as well as the distribution of it, is highly variable. For this reason it has not been possible to develop standard patterns for watering lawns.

WE NEED to take into consideration the type of soil, which on this island is about the same.

On the Mainland and Gulf Coast area it varies more from black, gummy soil to clay in some places.

OUR OBJECTIVES are to maintain in the soil sufficient moisture for satisfactory growth and performance of the grass, periodically to replenish that which has been lost through drainage, plant use, and evaporation and completely to recharge the soil to the full depth of the effective rooting of the grass.

Watering to supplement rainfall should be as needed. So we need to learn the needs. The needs of St. Augustine grass is to have moisture at all times. The way to do this is not to sprinkle the lawn daily but to let the sprinklers run for a least four hours and give a complete soaking. This done once a week will take no more water than daily sprinkling and there is much less evaporation.

Suzanne Peters Says Vows With Roger Dale Lawrence

Miss Suzanne Victoria Peters became the bride of Roger Dale Lawrence in a Saturday ceremony performed at the First Methodist Church in La Marque by Rev. Glenn Polan, Wesley Foundation in Huntsville with the assistance of Rev. Archie Fleming.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Peters Jr., 2410 Twelve Oaks Dr., Texas City. She was graduated from La Marque High School and attended Sam Houston State College.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Lawrence of Huntsville, the bridegroom was graduated from Huntsville High School and attended Sam Houston State College. He is employed by First National Bank in Huntsville.

Music for the double-ring ceremony was provided by H. J. Faust, soloist, and Mrs. W. F. Hill, sister of the bride, at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight peau de soie, an original design by Priscilla. It was created with a batteau neckline and elbow sleeves. The empire princess bodice flowed into a soft A-line skirt. Exquisite re-embroidered alencon lace studded in pearls accented the classic slender lines of the dress from the neckline to the hem in front and back panels. A floral applique enhanced the sleeves.

Her floor-length veil of candlelight illusion scattered with seed pearls was arranged over a beaded crown. She carried a nosegay of gladioli florets surrounding a white orchid.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. T. R. Robinson Jr. of Houston as matron of honor.

Best man was Kreigh Polan of Huntsville. Seating guests were the bridegroom's brother, Wayne Lawrence of Huntsville, and Ted Robinson Jr. of Houston.

After the ceremony a

Plans for honoring Delbert Williams' Grand Chapter appointment were made at a meeting of Mizpah Chapter No. 2, Order of the Eastern Star in the Grey Room of the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Williams, member of the Masonic Education committee of grand Chapter, will be honored at a covered-dish supper March 21 at 6:30 p.m. in the Grey Room.

Mrs. A. Frino, worthy matron, and Vernon Camp, worthy patron, presided at the meeting. Mrs. J. T. Sanders, past matron of Galveston Chapter No. 716, was introduced and welcomed.

Miss Crawford Plans Wedding On April

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Newton Crawford have announced the engagement of their daughter, Pamilla Elizabeth, to Gary Walker Beller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman H. Beller of Fort Smith, Ark.

The announcement was made at a party in the Colonial Room of the Jean LaFitte Hotel.

Floral arrangements, carrying out the chosen color theme of pink, garnet and gold centered the dining tables.

The bride-elect was presented a corsage of pink iris and garnet roses and the bridegroom-elect a garnet rose boutonniere.

Covers were laid for 25 guests which included members of the wedding party and immediate families of the betrothed couple. Individual engagement announcements of pink and gold marked each guest's place.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Jack Jones who will solemnize the marriage on April 1 at St. Patrick's Church.

Boys Clubs Add Arts, Crafts

Something new has been added to the program of the Galveston Boys Clubs Inc. and it's catching on like wild fire.

This is arts and crafts. During the past couple of months Mrs. Wayne Combs and Miss Barbara Ann Wilson have been volunteering their services and serving as instructors.

Boys of all ages have been making pot holders, painting plaster of Paris molds, lace crafts, elementary art. Space has limited the crafts program.

Gus Loomis, president of the Boys Clubs said some people think that a Boys Club is strictly athletically oriented.

"But we have plenty of plans and dreams," Loomis said and they will materialize as the opportunity presents itself.

Programs in the future will include woodworking, arts and crafts from drawing to painting of all kinds of hobby crafts.

Also music programs will be provided just as soon as space is made available, Loomis said.

Mrs. Miller New Chairman Of Secretaries

Mrs. Faye Miller has been appointed chairman for the Texas Educational Secretaries Association luncheon in Galveston on March 15, 1968.

Mrs. Lila Peterson will be co-chairman of the meeting.

The appointments were made at the TESA luncheon March 3 at the Warwick Hotel in Houston.

Mrs. Edith Cannon was named chairman of the pupil accounting section, with Roger Martin of Port Arthur as co-chairman.

Others from Galveston who attended the luncheon in Houston were Mrs. Anna Dover, Sally Coleman, Dorothy Preston, Grace Sidney, Ethel Bonner and Charlene Johnson.

Mrs. Joy Noufer, the current Mrs. America, was guest speaker. Her topic was "Woman's Role in the Home."

The Lee High School Dance Band provided music for the luncheon and a style show. Mrs. Ann Chastain, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, spoke to the group.

BETROTHED — The engagement of Pauline Barbara O'Beirne to Russell Lee Henderson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Henderson, is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll O'Beirne. She is now a technician at John Sealy Hospital. He is an alumnus of Ball High School and is employed by Port Richmond Grain Elevator. The wedding will be June 24 at St. Patrick's Church.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Nieves Sr. announce the engagement of their daughter, Juanita, to Joe Fred Granado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Granado of Alpine. She was graduated from Dominican High School and now is employed by the American Indemnity Co. He received his degree from Sul Ross College and now is teaching in El Paso. The wedding will be held June 10 at Sacred Heart Church.

Business Women's Groups Teas Today

Galveston Charter Chapter and Oleander Chapter will join more than 600 American Business Women's Association chapters throughout the United States in entertaining approximately 10,000 specially invited guests at Hand of Friendship Teas today.

OLEANDER Chapter will entertain guests at the home of Mrs. Ellen Day, chapter president. Mrs. Mary Lasko is chairman and Mrs. Leona Schroeder is co-chairman of the Hand of Friendship Tea.

Other chapter officers are: Miss Emma Frieberger, vice president; Miss Janet Jordan, recording secretary; Mrs. Cecilia Brown, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Schroeder, treasurer.

The chapter's scholarship recipient is Miss Nancy Bohn, Junior student nurse at St. Mary's Hospital.

THE TEA for Galveston

Charter Chapter members and guests will be in the Palm Room of the Galvez Hotel with Miss Linda Inabnet as chairman.

Officers of this chapter are: Mrs. Jerome Lee, president; Mrs. Jo Anne Johnigan, vice president; Miss Delia Rouse, recording secretary; Miss Alice Preston, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Violet Seelhorst, treasurer.

The chapter's protegee is Miss Carol Sullivan, sophomore at Sam Houston State College.

THESE TEAS are presented by ABWA chapters to emphasize the improvement of employee-employer relationships, the advancement of business women by serving business more efficiently, and the encouragement to business women through education.

The association stresses the sponsorship of scholarships for deserving, qualified young women. Last year local chapters awarded scholarships totalling over $60,000. Chapters are also privileged to make application for loans and grants-in-aid from the Stephen Bufton Memorial National Educational Fund, for outstanding students who are already working toward their college degrees.

Green Thumb Group Plans Antique Show On Weekend:

(See Pictures, Page 1-C)
By TERRY MacLEOD
STAFF WRITER

It will be absolutely a paradise for those who love antiques.
That's what the Green Thumb Study Group had in mind when it prepared for its third such show and sale to be staged in Galveston Friday through Sunday at the Moody Center.

AN AGGREGATION of treasures worth a king's ransom, $1,500,000 to be exact will be on display by antique dealers from New England, the Midwest and Southwest.
More than 25 known dealers, representing every antique classification from Illinois, California, Wisconsin, Iowa, Colorado, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Arizona, Kansas and Texas will display everything from primitive cooper to fine art glass at this show.
Dealers from Texas cities include Houston, Wichita Falls, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth, Pasadena, Sweetwater and Galveston.

STAGED by Mrs. Peg M. Scanlon of Midwest Antique Shows of Davenport, Iowa and Mesa, Arizona this year's show has been expanded in several areas to include coins and several unusual items of interest, and attendance is expected to be measurably increased.

And it will be an opportunity to go and browse through all those treasures leisurely. Food will be catered every day of the show. A buffet will be served at noon and snacks will be available for the remainder of the day.

SHOW HOURS will be from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and on Sunday the show will run from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.
In charge of this year's show are Mrs. Milton Lindner and Mrs. Charles Skarke of the Green Thumb Group. Other organization members who have committee responsibilities are Mrs. Everett Smith, tickets, Mrs. Mike Galdo, publicity, Mrs. L. W. Oliver, schedule chairman.

MEMBERS who have been working in other publicity areas include Mrs. H. L. Rabe, Mrs. Mario Dell'Oso and Mrs. Andrew Johnson.
Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Green Thumb Group or may be purchased at the door on the days of the show.

Little Girls Love Tents, With Turtles, Dogs, Daisies

By MARY ELLEN HARVICK
STAFF WRITER

DALLAS — This spring, little girls will be wearing turtles, frogs, dogs and daisies — applied on swinging easy care tent dresses.

Favorite silhouette for the younger set — which mothers love too — is the tent, shown in mostly bright, bright colors, and applied with animal and floral motifs.

PRISSY Missy, which showed fashions in 3 to 6x range and 7 to 14 sizes, brought out an obi-tied tent, which they called the "happy dress."

One five-year-old model stole the show, when she modeled a ruffled bikini with a tent cover - up. When the commentator unbuttoned the cover - up, the child announced "I fell out of a tree."

KINGSTON Manufacturing Company of San Antonio showed sportswear and dresses from 2 to 6x through the 3 to 13 junior sizes. There were low-waisted arnel jersey dresses that go happily into the washing machine and come out crisp. This line also had linen that was treated not to wrinkle.

Johrston - Pool, Inc., presented little girl dresses and bloomer suits. The sashed bloomer with a butterfly applique had a button closing at the shoulders. There were also transition sleeveless plaids that would be wonderful for Galveston's hot September and October.

JONI J dresses for little girls had flip skirts, pleated or circled, with Schiffli embroidery or appliques. There were tents, as well as that favorite low-waisted look, and again, cool, cool back-to-school plaids.

Only Martha's Miniatures showed ruffles, waistline sashes, full skirts with petticoats and the natural waistline. This line also showed a sheer pink harem suit, and all the little models wore ornate rhinestone tiaras!

Tuesday afternoon's showings featured Dorcia

Originals, Sunny - South and Jo Hardin, Nardis and Justin McCarty.

THE DORCIA line was much expanded this year — there were the ruanas, vestidos and ponchos which have almost become a trademark of the Ahlene designer. Also, however, there was some fabulous op-art jewelry made of leather and plastic which would look just as at home in an art museum as on a chic fashion model.

Justin McCarty showed summer fruit, with colors taken from a fruit salad and put into the newest miracle fabrics.

Nardis showed usual run of Dacron Polyester knits, and prophesied for fall pale soft colors and earth colors of orange paprika and spruce. There was also a well-tailored pantsuit in worsted wool knit, and a mini-pant pyramid dress.

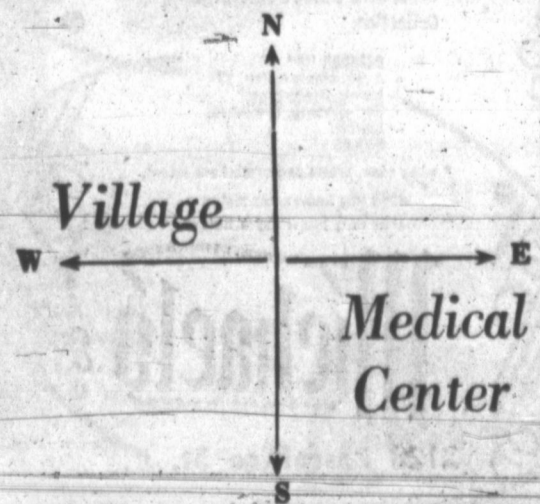

PAST DEADLINE: John Gardner, director of the Galveston Architectural Historical Survey, will give a lecture with slides on the Galveston Garden Center Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Garden Center. All members and guests are invited, says Grace Hoelker.

The LAST WORD
IN THIS SUNDAY'S NEWS

There's still time to make your reservations for the annual meeting of the YWCA Monday at 7 p.m. in the Grecian Room of the Galvez Hotel.
Dr. David G. Hunt, president of the Galveston Junior College, will be making his first speech in Galveston — so it's something that everybody should be interested in hearing.

Everybody has been asking how was Dallas — so I'll tell you now.
It was busy. It was hard work. It was fun. It was cold.
The Texas Fashion Creators Association went all out to make the fashion writers feel at home. They even had O. W. Cartwright, president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, speak to us the first day we were there.

We met Mildred Whitaker, who's now writing fashion for the San Antonio Express. She started her career on The Daily Sun in Texas City, and then worked for The Galveston News while she saved money to go to college, she said.

SWEETHEART — Miss Melissa Bendiksen, right, was named 1967 Basketball Sweetheart during the Lon Morris College Homecoming Basketball game. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bendiksen and a graduate of Ball High School. With her is LaVerne Cook of Magnolia who was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Green Thumb Workshop Held For Flower Arrangements

Mrs. Joe Patterson of Houston conducted a workshop for 14 members of the Green Thumb Study Group of the Galveston Garden Club at the Garden Center.

MEMBERS worked on various types of flower arrangements and were shown how to place each flower and leaf. Mrs. Patterson stressed using height in the arrangement and bases of blending materials so they will not distract from the main idea or focal point.

Mrs. Andrew D'Albergo, chairman, presided at a short business session when discussion was concerned with the Antique Show to be March 17-19 at the Moody Center.

Members were urged to join the other garden clubs for a tour of Hodges Gardens in April. The April group meeting will be at Gaido's Restaurant.

MRS. WILLIAM Fletcher judged horticulture exhibits and gave ribbons to Mrs. Harry Rabe, Mrs. Ed Smith and Mrs. Andrew Johnson.

A sack lunch was served with Mrs. D'Albergo, Miss Ruth Vautrin and Mrs. Johnson as hostesses.

A special meeting is called for March 15 at the home of Mrs. Milton Lindner. Last minute details will be made for the Antique Show and presentation of the project on the Sunday morning television show "This Week in Galveston" on March 19.

ENGAGED — Mrs. Leto Estes Krueger of Austin announces the engagement of her daughter, Myra Sue, to James Lloyd Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anthony of La Marque. Colorful Fashions Slated At Weis Junior High Fashion's Wonderful World of Color will be the theme of the style show to be presented Monday by the Home and Family Living department of Weis Junior High School for the PTA at 7:30 p.m.

THE MODELS will appear according to the color of the garment they have made. Most of the models will be from the eighth and ninth grade classes and a few from the seventh grade.

The role these students play in the world of fashion is the result of their daily class work in clothing construction. They will be telling fashion's story in color as they model prints and patterns, breezy tents, the little suits, hip-hugger skirts, skimmers and shifts, two-piece and dropped waist dresses, coordinated ensembles, and casual and at-home wear.

PTA MEMBERS will see big fashion news for teens in tattersall plaids, window pane checks, and citrus shades in fabrics like Raja, Kettle cloth, hopsacking and homespun.

Student leaders are Dolly Toombs, student director; Rosie Troncoso, model director; Darlene Presley and Susan Rhame, stage chairmen; Pattie Fieselman and Debbie McCarty, fashion commentators; Johnny Knust and Buster Jones, boy escorts.

TALENT NUMBERS will be a jazz dance by Joanna Skelly, Dalia Garcia and Ann Callahan; a duet by Lyle Ritter and Robin Balentine and chorus of 20 seventh grade homemaking girls as "The Sizzling Seventh Singers" under the direction of Mrs. Jerry Patrick.

An artful display of color on a giant-sized artist's palette was designed by Mrs. Pat Reagan and her classes with stage props supports by Charles Aleca and his classes. Model consultant is Mrs. W. W. Follett. Mrs. David E. Dunn is the eighth and ninth grade homemaking teacher.

Yesterday's pastels appear tame in demure pink blue floral print and Vivian Vannatta, left, models a dress with the beruffled puff sleeve interest. Suzanne Kovacevich chooses a citrus orange for this A-line shift with hip interest. The material is hopsacking.

WILD, KICKY AND wonderful is soft velvet touch. The Oriental look this at-home lounge worn by Jo Nell Fuste. The cut pile toweling gives a Kimono sleeves.

BEVERLY Killebrew, left, chooses the ever-popular shift that plays a double role as a jumper. Tailored and smart this navy Raja is trimmed with strap tabs and buttoned belt of coordinated tattersall plaid. Viola Romero wears a mini-print two-piece notch collared suit of pink homespun. When the jacket comes off, more fashion comes in with a white poorboy accenting the A-line hip-hugger skirt making the dress versatile.

Ball High School Plans Barbecue

BALL HIGH School P-TA will have its annual western barbecue dinner Tuesday from 5 to 8 p.m. in the Ball High School cafeteria.

The menu will include one-half a barbecued chicken, potato salad, baked beans, dessert, coffee or tea. Donations are $1.25.

Mrs. A. C. Braikovich is general chairman; Mrs. Louis Brown, co-chairman; Mrs. P. R. Verkin, and Mrs. A. C. Neumann, pie and cake; Mrs. R. H. Gibbs, potato salad; Mrs. Neumann pie and cake; Mrs.

E. Herzfeld, baked beans; Mrs. Marcel Patterson, French bread; Mrs. F. Marinelli, coffee and tea; Mrs. A. Annweiler, take-out orders.

Tickets are available from any of the committee chairmen.

BURNET P-TA will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school's new cafeteria for the election of officers.

Mrs. Anna R. Benson will direct the choir in a program of music. Mrs. L. W. Giusti will give the devotional.

ONCE EACH YEAR — Only once during the year does the Board of Lady Managers ask the public to support its Galveston Orphans' Home, at the annual Charity Ball, which this year will be April 7 at Moody Center. But throughout the year, the home is made warmer by the concern and work of organizations and individuals such as the Key Club, a service organization at Ball High School, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Above, Key Clubbers Daniel Salcedo and David Ofman help Randy and Raymond in woodwork shop. The Key Club boys have brought tools to the Orphans' Home and are teaching the youngsters the rudiments of shop and wood working.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Hitchcock will hold its monthly Bible Breakfast March 15 at the church with Mrs. Peggy Warren and Mrs. Jerry Massa as co-hostesses.

At a meeting at the church members were entertained with a play entitled "How to Make a Call." Participating in the clever skit were Mrs. Victor Oberg, Mrs. Dorothy Maudlin, Mrs. Jerry Massa, Mrs. H. Wull, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. David Janosky.

During the business session arrangements were made for the Easter Egg Hunt to be held at 10:00 a.m. March 25 on the church lawn and also for the Sunrise Service set for 6:00 a.m. March 26.

The Adult Information Class will begin at 7:00 p.m. Sunday according to an announcement.

Preparations are also being made for the Spring Rally at Friendswood with the tentative date set April 19.

Samuel Lynn Ward Sets April Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rummel of San Antonio are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Joan Ann to Samuel Lynn Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Ward of Galveston.

She was graduated from the University of Texas with a history major and now is employed by the State Welfare Department of San Antonio.

He received a bachelor of science in physics from the University of Texas and will receive his master's degree in aerospace engineering in June. He is now serving in the U.S. Air Force and is stationed at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

The wedding will be held April 28 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Austin.

Secularity To Be Topic For Parents

St. Patrick's Home and School Organization will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The Rev. W. D. Steele, columnist for the Texas Catholic Herald will speak on secularity. A social hour will follow, according to Mrs. H. E. Kleinecke III, publicity chairman.

Pears Ripen With Ease

Winter pears are picked when full-grown but still green to develop fine texture. So don't be discouraged if they are still firm. In 2 or 3 days pears will ripen at room temperature to produce a juicy smooth texture. They are ripe when flesh yields to gentle pressure of the fingers.
