Powell Lays Plans To Get House Seat Back

Eight-Year Term In Prison Looms For Jimmy Hoffa

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—Federal prison loomed today as the next plateau in the career of James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, the most powerful union leader in America.

The 33-year-old leader of the 1.7 million-member Teamsters Union was ordered Wednesday to surrender to U.S. marshals here next Tuesday to begin an eight-year-prison term for tampering with a jury.

His battery of attorneys was expected to use the five days exhausting every legal resource in an attempt to have the sentence delayed or overturned. The next apparent step would be a plea to the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Hoffa, who rose to absolute power in the nation's largest union from a 32-cent-an-hour warehouse dock leader in Detroit, probably would be sent to the federal prison in Atlanta. Under normal conditions, he would be eligible for parole after serving two years and eight months of his sentence.

He would continue to wield the powers of his office, Hoffa said, and to draw his $100,000 annual salary. The Teamsters' General Executive Board Tuesday voted to turn over control of the union to Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons "in the event of Hoffa's absence."

Fitzsimmons, 58, also would draw a $100,000 salary. Claiming the Teamsters "have left nothing to chance," Hoffa said in Baltimore Wednesday that nationwide contract negotiations with the trucking industry would continue until the Teamsters get what they are "justly entitled to. Otherwise, we will take economic action."

The man whose single strike order reputedly could paralyze the nation in a transportation tieup was ordered to prepare for prison by Federal District Judge Frank W. Wilson.

The order came almost three years to the day after Hoffa was convicted of rigging a federal jury that heard a conspiracy case against him in Nashville in 1962. The conspiracy trial, in which Hoffa was accused of sharing a $1 million kickback from a trucking firm with which the Teamsters had contracts, ended in a hung jury.

Hoffa also has been sentenced to five years in prison for fraud and conspiracy in the use of Teamsters' pension funds.

Airfield Improvement Survey To Be Long-Range Study of Gray County

A survey of the airfield needs of Gray County, approved Tuesday by the county commission, will be a long-range study of the area.

The survey, contracted by the consulting firm of Merriman and Barber of Pampa for $2,000 will study the present facilities of the Perry LeFors Airfield, located six miles northwest of Pampa.

It will also study the economic potential of the county, its expected population increase, possible increase in air travel, ways to put the airport on a self-sustaining basis and ways to pay for necessary airport improvements.

"It will tell us if we can pay for improvements with existing money or if we need to raise a bond," County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. said.

The airport should operate with a profit. We have the basis for a good airport and with

Garrison Still Silent Despite Suspect's Arrest

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison plans to file today a bill of information accusing a civic leader of conspiring to murder President Kennedy.

The bill may reveal what role Garrison contends Clay Shaw, 54, former managing director of the International Trade Mart, played in the alleged plot. The district attorney, who ordered Shaw arrested Wednesday, thus far has declined to indicate how he believes the suspect was implicated in the assassination.

The arrest of Shaw was the first in Garrison's investigation. He said it would not be the last.

Shaw's associates said the silver-haired bachelor supported Kennedy for election in 1960.

Shaw was booked three hours after his arrest was announced and freed on $10,000 bond. He would not comment after his release.

Garrison shocked the world last month by announcing he had "solved the mystery" of the assassination and every person involved would be arrested. He said the Warren Commission was wrong in concluding Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the 1963 tragedy at Dallas. He has not, however, revealed any information.

Shaw and a Saturn rocket plant quality control inspector, James LeWalle, 38, were subpoenaed by Garrison's office and told to appear Wednesday for questioning.

Lewallen, who works for the Boeing Co. at the space agency's Michoud Saturn rocket plant here, was questioned because he once shared an apartment with a key figure in the Garrison probe, David W. Ferrie. He was not held.

Ferrie, a 49-year-old pilot, psychologist and private investigator, was found dead in his uptown apartment Feb. 22. Garrison at first terrified Ferrie's death, suicide, but the coroner's office ruled death resulted from a brain hemorrhage. Garrison had called Ferrie an important witness in the alleged conspiracy.

Courts to Get Case 'Within Next Week'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adam Clayton Powell plans to ask the courts "within the next week" to overrule the House and give him back his seat.

Arrests Expected In Inquiry Of DeSalvo Escape

BRIDGEWATER, Mass. (UPI)—An inquiry into security at Bridgewater State (mental) Hospital opens today amid reports there would be additional arrests in the escape of Boston Strangler Albert H. DeSalvo.

The Massachusetts legislative committee investigation began six days after DeSalvo and two other inmates escaped from the century-old institution. In so doing, they obtained a key to their cells, a gun and money.

It was learned reliably that investigators are virtually certain of the source of the contraband. One or more new arrests is expected.

DeSalvo's brothers, Richard, 31, and Joseph, 37, were arrested early Saturday and charged with aiding and abetting in the breakout.

State Sen. John J. Conte, chairman of the investigating committee, said the hearing would be conducted in a manner not prejudicial to any court cases that may result from the breakout.

Scheduled witnesses included state correction commissions John A. Gavin and Hospital Supt. Charles W. Gaughan, who after DeSalvo's escape described the hospital as a "honeycomb" housing vicious criminals.

DeSalvo, admitted killer of 13 women, was captured after 37 hours of freedom and subsequently confined to the tight security of Walpole State Prison.

The other escapees, convicted wife-killer Frederick E. Erickson, 41, of Brockton and gunman George W. Harrison, 33, of Westford, were returned to the hospital after surrendering to a member of Conte's committee.

Erickson and Harrison gave themselves up hours after DeSalvo unlocked their cells and the three climbed down an elevator shaft under construction, and scaled a wall.

On the eve of the hearing, Massachusetts Gov. John A. Vellope said steps already had been taken to increase security at the hospital.

Rejecting the legal arguments offered by their own experts and ignoring pleas by leaders of both parties, rank-and-file House members took the rare step in response to heavy mail from the homefolks demanding that the flamboyant Powell be denied his seat.

In character to the end, Powell was not on hand for the historic action. He got the news on the sunny isle of Bimini, where he has been vacationing.

"It's a second Dred Scott decision," he said, referring to the 1857 Supreme Court ruling upholding chattel slavery in the United States.

He then telephoned his lawyers, refused all comment on the action of his former colleagues, and resumed sipping scotch and milk and playing dominoes with local fishermen at "The End of the World" bar.

There were several roll call votes Wednesday, but only two made any difference. In the first, the House voted 222 to 202 to reject a special committee's plan to seat Powell, then fine him $40,000, strip him of 22 years' seniority and subject him to public censure.

In the second, by a vote of 248 to 178, members adopted a substitute proposal offered by (See POWELL, Page 3)

Bob Price Votes Against Seating Adam

Congressman Bob Price was on the winning side Wednesday night when he voted with majority of the U. S. House of Representatives members to strip Adam Clayton Powell his seat in Congress.

Price said that there was the argument that if the House did deny Powell his seat, the people of New York would probably re-elect him.

"This is probably true," Price said. "But I think that the members of the House have the responsibility regardless of what the people of New York may do. I will continue to vote against the seating of Powell or anyone else who violates the people's trust."

House OK's Sales Tax

AUSTIN (UPI)—With the local option city sales tax issue out of the way and enroute to the Senate, the House today voted to final action on a tough code of ethics bill and one to strengthen the Sunday closing law.

After two days of debating during which some 30 crippling amendments were knocked down, the House Wednesday finally passed 85-63 the 1 percent city sales tax.

House members Wednesday also gave tentative approval 140-6 to Rep. James Nugent's conflict of interest bill. Final action was expected with little opposition today.

The bill by the Kerrville law maker would tighten the code of ethics laws for legislators and state officials and employes. It has been passed five times by the House, but never by the Senate. And its fate this time in the upper chamber is uncertain.

The Sunday closing bill, by Rep. Willis Shalley of Houston, that lets a purchaser get around the law by signing an emergency certificate.

Proponents of the Sunday closing law contend this section has the effect of nullifying the state blue laws.

Rep. John Traeger of Sequim, who successfully guided the city sales tax issue through the House, said he was confident "we have the votes to pass it in the Senate."

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith has said the bill will not be considered by the Senate before March 10, the 60th day of the session. It takes less support after the 60th day to get a bill up for debate in the upper chamber.

Anti-Maoists Adopt New Havoc Tactics

HONG KONG (UPI)—Reports from Red China today indicated opponents of Mao Tse-tung have adopted a new tactic in their struggle against the party chairman designed to wreak further havoc on the nation's economies.

According to dispatches from Peking, the new anti-Mao strategy, calls for encouraging and intimidating the peasants to flee their farms at the very time when they should be starting to sow spring crops.

The rightwing Hong Kong Times said today that anti-Mao "powerholders" were trying to sabotage agricultural programs by instigating the peasants to leave their work in the east river region of Kwangung Province.

The newspaper, quoting travelers just back from the mainland, said spring sowing in the southern region had not begun because of the anti-Mao activities. The planting seasons should have begun long ago, the newspaper said.

Speck Trial Resumes With Relaxed Rules

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)—The trial of Richard Speck on charges of murdering eight nurses resumed today with four jurors in the box and relaxed rules for news coverage.

The Illinois Supreme Court, with one justice dissenting, Wednesday ordered Judge Herbert C. Paschen to modify his controversial 16-point "guidelines" for reporters covering Speck's trial.

The high court did not immediately rule whether Paschen's guidelines were in violation of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. In its suit the Tribune Co. contended the restrictions on the press were unconstitutional.

The trial judge promptly put into the trial record the modifications ordered by the state supreme court. Paschen read the changes into the record in a loud, emphatic tone following an unusual 4-minute mid-afternoon recess.

Paschen was ordered to allow newsmen to buy at any time the transcripts of open court proceedings, a practice the judge had forbidden until after trial testimony begins.

The second of the two paragraphs read into the record ordered "that nothing contained (in previous orders) shall be construed to prevent reporting of all events and happenings that occur in open court, provided however: that the names of the prospective jurors shall not be reported until such individuals are either excused or sworn and sequestered."

The supreme court order was issued in response to a suit brought by the Tribune Co., publishers of the Chicago Tribune and other newspapers. The suit charged Paschen's guidelines were unconstitutional "judicial censorship and prior restraints upon freedom of speech."

The court said it would rule on the overall issue of constitutionality following a hearing set for oral arguments March 13.

the U.S. Weather Bureau and the Department of Agriculture through February's rainfall totals, the survey indicates small grain crops are in "very poor condition" in Western Texas.

State climatologist Robert Orton said Wednesday that ranges are deteriorating and stock water is drying up.

"Only the middle and upper coast have had adequate rain," he said.

In some parts of Texas, it has been the driest winter since 1908.

Lack of moisture "continues to hamper agriculture over most of Texas," according to Gary Palmer of the Crop and Livestock Report; g Service. Drying winds in all areas have caused some erosion of soil, and small grain fields are being abandoned with intentions to grow super crops, he said.

Of major reporting stations, only Corpus Christi got more than the normal amount of rainfall during January and February, although Beaumont, Houston and Galveston had more than two inches of rainfall during February.

The Fort Worth Weather Bureau recorded only .32 of an inch in February. The normal is 2.24 inches. So far this year, Fort Worth has recorded only .60 of an inch of rain, while the normal for the first two months is 4.28 inches.

Only three stations, Austin, Victoria and Brownsville topped the inch mark in recorded rainfall for February. Austin had 1.5 inches of precipitation, including snow. Victoria got 1.41 inches and Brownsville 1.05.

"Precipitation was fairly evenly distributed throughout the month," a summary from the Weather Bureau said. "But there was just not enough to go around."

Although icy, wet northerners swept through the state Feb. 5 and 19, most of the cold fronts have been dry and dusty.

Reagan Says He Will Be Favorite Son

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan said Tuesday he will be a favorite son candidate for President in California's 1968 primary unless something happens to change his mind.

But, he told his weekly news conference, he doesn't expect to be nominated as his party's national standardbearer at the Republican National Convention.

Reagan said he intended to steer clear of involvement in a possible contest between incumbent Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel and Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty for the GOP Senate nomination.

The governor was asked to clarify his position on the 1968 presidential race.

He replied: "... Yes, I will be favorite son here in the interests of trying to keep the glue on our recently healed wounds and to avoid any bitter campaign that might result once again in spitting the party."

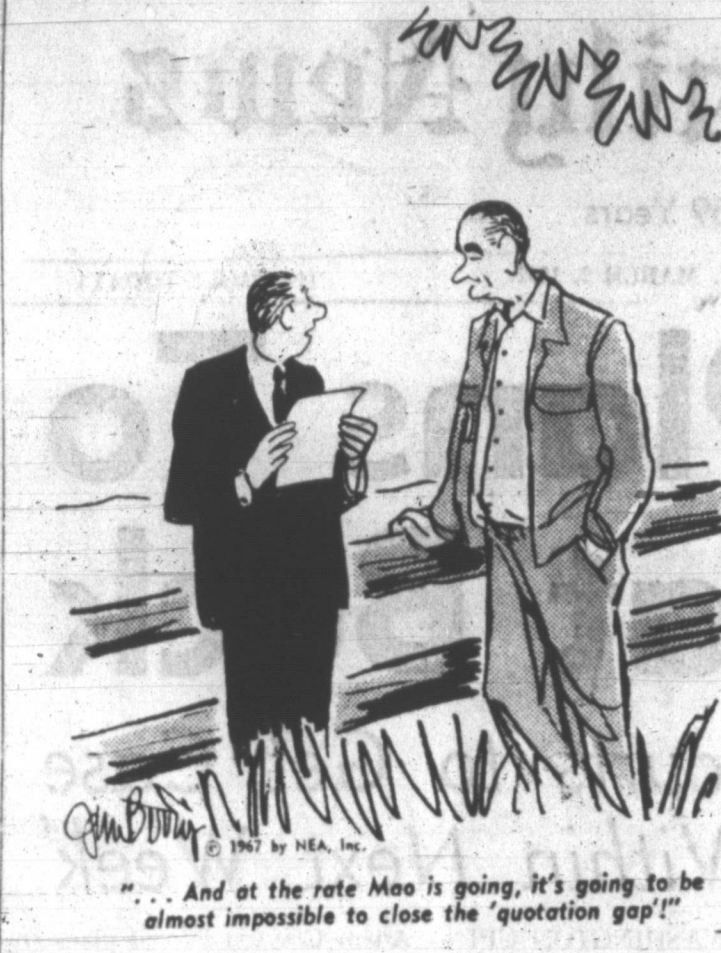

He qualified the statement at the start by saying he had made no "hard and fast" decision but would make the bid "unless something changes."

The governor had said many times he was "leaning toward" a favorite son candidacy and two weeks ago said he expected to lead California's 86-member delegation as a favorite son.

Aircraft Firms Merger Approved

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Directors of the McDonnell and Douglas aircraft companies have approved a "definitive merger agreement," officials of the two firms said Tuesday.

The firms last Jan. 25 announced execution of a letter of intent to merge.

McDonnell manufactured Gemini space capsules and currently makes Phantom jet aircraft for the armed forces.

The firm plans to open a Florida division soon.

'New' Training Planes Are 40 Years Old

DALLAS (UPI) — The Mexican Air Force believes in teaching pilots to fly almost by the seat of their pants.

Five Stearman trainer planes, which may be more than 40 years old, left here Tuesday for the land down south.

"They make good pilots because they are not so easy to fly as those new airplanes," said Brig. Gen. Jose Guadalupe Vergara Ahumada.

The aircraft, bought in Oklahoma, have a top speed of only 105 miles per hour.

New Indonesian Prexy May Face Showdown With Sukarno Backers

JAKARTA (UPI) — An Indonesian newspaper said today supporters of President Sukarno, including some members of the armed forces, were mobilizing in central Java for a possible showdown with strongman ruler Gen Suharto.

The student newspaper Kami Daily said members of the Indonesian Nationalist Party Sukarno's main base of support, and "arms-bearing terrorists," were establishing a chain of defense bases running from the central Java capital of Semarang on the north coast to Jogjakarta near the south coast.

Only Tuesday, Suharto warned that diehard "remnants" of the outlawed Communist Party may be plotting another attempt to seize power.

Sukarno surrendered all his powers to Suharto last week.

The student newspaper said reports reaching the Indonesian capital and confirmed by army intelligence gave details of plans by pro-Sukarno forces.

Kami Daily is the official newspaper of the anti-Sukarno, anti-Communist Student Action

Front. It said of one of its correspondents described the political situation in Jogjakarta as "explosive."

According to the correspondent 160 marines, a truck-load of air force ground troops and a "great number" of police mobile brigade troops were deployed in Jogjakarta during the weekend. The troops were identified as belonging to pro-Sukarno units.

The official Antara news agency, meanwhile, reported today that 54 Chinese Communists were killed and 40 others arrested by security troops in East and West Borneo during the past few months.

Despite the reports of trouble brewing for Indonesia's military regime, most government and army officials here discounted the possibility of civil war or even serious trouble breaking out over Sukarno's fate.

The Indonesian Congress, the highest authority in the land, meets March 7-11 to begin debate Sukarno's fate—whether he should resign and whether he should be placed on trial for treason.

Home Chefs Asked To Solve Riddle of 72 Muffin Brands

Everyone who has eaten at Rosoff's Restaurant in New York City knows they make great bran muffins. Over the years many of Rosoff's friends have asked for the recipe. It's always given. The trouble is the recipe is for 72 DOZEN.

Rosoff's pastry chef, Willy Kay, has tried to cut down the formula in his own kitchen so it will make just a few dozen. On each occasion, Mr. Kay's muffins have been quite good but not great.

Whenever the boss, Al Newman, asks Kay for one of the reduced recipes to send to inquiring patrons, there arises a pained expression on the baker's face followed by an unequivocal "no."

"Give them," he says, "the recipe for 72 dozen. THAT I know is great."

"Well," says Al Newman, "we can't fight Mr. Kay. He's an artist and we don't want to lose him."

So here's the giant recipe that will make 860 bran muffins.

Perhaps a reader can cut it down and solve the riddle of why 72 dozen at Rosoff's comes out great while a few dozen in the home comes out only very good.

Kay would really appreciate hearing from the riddle-solver.

Rosoff's 72 Dozen Bran Muffin Recipe

- 6 lbs. sugar
- 3 lbs. shortening
- 2 oz. salt
- 3/4 OZ. MOLASSES
- 2 qts. whole eggs
- 5 lbs. cake flour
- 3 lbs. Kellogg's All Bran
- 6 oz. baking powder
- 2 qts. whole milk
- 6 oz. clear Karo
- 6 oz. vanilla
- 1 lb. raisins.

Cream the sugar, shortening, salt and molasses. Then add the eggs and mix thoroughly. Separately mix the cake flour, all bran and baking powder and add to the previous mix. Again separately mix the milk, Karo and vanilla. Then add to the previous mix and mix every-

Ice-Cream Cupped In Cookies

Peaks of pastel-colored ice cream contrasted against golden-brown cookie cups—what a wonderful dessert to match the mood of that first warm weather party. And so good to eat, too—cups and all! To help the hostess stay cool and calm, the Borden Kitchen suggests making the cookie baskets ahead, filling, then freezing them. Serve on a big tray garlanded with flowers.

Ice Cream In Baskets
(Makes about 8 baskets)
1/3 cup maple syrup 3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup butter 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sifted flour 1 quart Lady Borden Ice Cream
Heat maple syrup to boiling point. Add butter; stir until melted. Remove from heat. Stir in flour, sugar and vanilla. Drop by tablespoonfuls on a well-greased baking sheet about 4-inches apart. Bake in a slow oven (300°F.) about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Allow to cool only 1 minute. Carefully remove each cookie with wide spatula. Place on inverted custard cup; pinch 4 corners to shape into basket. Cool. Remove from custard cup. (If cookies become too hard to shape, return to oven for a few seconds.) Fill each basket with spoonfuls of your favorite flavor Lady Borden Ice Cream.

A Wonderful Way To A Loaf

For a hostess who loves to give dinner parties but loathes the work, the Borden Kitchen created this quickest Cottage Cheese Loaf. Most of its makings are kitchen staples, including many-talented cottage cheese whose delicate flavor is enhanced by a creamy white color. Low in cost and calories, too. Garnish the loaf with greens and tomato roses, then sauce in seconds with a mushroom soup mix.

Cottage Cheese Loaf
(Makes one 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch loaf)
2 cups (1-lb.) Borden's large or small curd Creamed Cottage Cheese
1 large green pepper, finely chopped
2 large carrots, peeled and finely grated
1 tablespoon dehydrated instant minced onions
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
2 eggs, well beaten
1/4 cup homogenized milk
1 package (1-3/4 oz.) mushroom soup mix and gravy base, optional
Butter an 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch loaf pan. Line with waxed paper, butter again. In a large-size mixing bowl, combine all ingredients until thoroughly blended. Turn mixture into prepared pan. Press firmly. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven about 55-60 minutes, or until golden brown. Invert pan over serving dish; lift to remove and very gently peel off paper. If desired, serve with mushroom soup mix and gravy base prepared as directed on package for gravy.

Food Buying Guide

EDITORS: The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—March winds bring a good variety of meat, poultry and seasonal fresh produce for weekend food shoppers.

Vegetable bins boast a colorful array of fresh cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce and potatoes. Fruit counters are still brimming with fresh oranges and grapefruit, along with plenty of apples and avocados. Meat counters generally offer plenty of beef roasts and steaks, pork roasts, ham and bacon. In poultry watch for good supplies of turkeys and broiler-fryer chickens.

At the fish counter, be on the lookout for plenty of fish fillets and steaks and canned salmon.

Good Eating By Any Name

Q—You know those hefty sandwiches made with long slices of Italian bread and filled with salami, cheese, tomatoes, mayonnaise and other things. What are they called? My boys who go to camp in Maine say they are "grinders." Is that really their name?

A—The long Italian bread sandwiches you describe are called "grinders" in New England, as your boys tell you. But the same thing in parts of Wisconsin is called a "Garibaldi"; in Philadelphia, a "Hoagie"; in New Orleans, a "poor-boy."

Q—I like to serve many cold foods in lettuce cups. What's the best way to separate whole lettuce leaves from a head of lettuce to make these cups?

A—First cut out the solid stem portion, suggest U.S. Department of Agriculture food specialists. Hold the stem end up and put it under a strong stream of cold water from the sink faucet. Soon the lettuce feels heavy and the weight of the water starts to separate the leaves from the head. Begin at the stem portion, and slowly peel off each leaf. The leaves are strongest at the stem end and if you pull downward from the stem end while the cold water flows briskly through the leaves, they separate with little tearing.

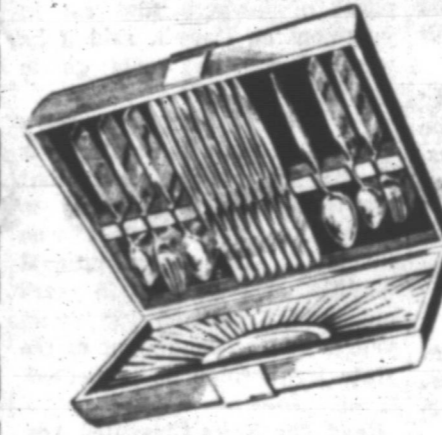

in Ohio, a "submarine" and in New York, a "hero." So take your choice. They are good eating by any name.

Rotarians Are Entertained At Horace Mann

Pampa Rotarians enjoyed the hospitality of the personnel, teachers and students of Horace Mann School yesterday. The group dined in the school cafeteria and then adjourned to the auditorium where they were entertained with a musical presentation of "Folk Music-U.S.A.", which illustrated America's rich musical heritage. School principal Sam Begert welcomed the club members. In other business, Kirk Duncan appealed for financial and volunteer support for the Salvation Army's $131,000 building drive.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When American presidents meet at Punta Del Este, Uruguay, next month to open the way to a Latin American Common Market, they will find their way impeded by ancient quarrels, some of them going back nearly a century.

Three of the Latin American nations already have indicated they will not attend.

Bolivia has announced it will boycott the meeting because its agenda does not include a discussion of Bolivia's claim for an outlet on the sea.

Bolivia has been landlocked since 1884 as result of territorial losses to Chile in the Pacific war and redemption of the lost maritime provinces is a favorite theme of Bolivian nationalists. There are no diplomatic relations between Bolivia and Chile.

Support Falls

Ecuador sought unsuccessfully to gain support for her desire to nullify a treaty of 1942 with Peru that fixed the present Amazon boundary between the two. The United States, Argentina, Brazil and Chile guaranteed the treaty which settled a dispute going back a hundred years.

Peru as result of a more modern dispute, has indicated she will not attend because of United States refusal to recognize her claims to a 200-mile limit on fishing rights. In attempting to enforce their claims, both Peru and Ecuador have from time to time seized U.S. fishing vessels.

These are only a few of the disputes which stand in the way of a common market which could link 19 countries and some 225 million people in an effort to develop some of the world's greatest resources in oil, metals, timber, hydro-electric power, and agriculture.

Other disputes involve unresolved border problems between Argentina and Chile in the Patagonian region and differences between Brazil and Paraguay over possession of the Seven Falls at Guaira on the Parana River which is part of their common border.

Involved in the latter issue of a hydro-electric power site, Brazil has flatly rejected Paraguayan claims.

Two Plans Stalled

Until these disputes are settled, two vast plans for Latin American regional development also must remain in abeyance.

One of these is international development of the Parana which rises in Brazil, tumbles down rapids and waterfalls and finally flows through the broad pampas of Argentina, and into the River Plate estuary 2,500 miles away.

Properly developed, the Parana and its tributaries could bring new electric power, factories and prosperity to Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay.

It is a scheme so vast that no price tag has yet been put upon it.

Candy Strippers Hear Inside Story of Nursing

LEFORS — Mrs. JoAnn Linville RN of Highland General Hospital gave Candy Strippers an inside look at hospital nursing at a meeting held recently in the Lefors High School.

She described nursing uniforms, hospital manners and duties of a nurse. Mrs. Linville, who instructs licensed vocational nurses, organized the first LVN Class in Highland General several years ago.

Miss Mary Kay Lee, president, announced the Lefors Art and Civic Club will sponsor the Candy Strippers with Mrs. John Harris and Mrs. Loyd Mc Knight, club members representing the club.

Miss Virginia Danley was appointed telephone chairman.

Miss Elizabeth Phillips gave the secretary's report.

Attending were Ethel Denton, Jewel Hartman, Brenda Barnes, Linda Stanton, Paula Wall, Mrs. Johnnie Sybert, Mrs. John Harris, and Mrs. Loyd McKnight and guests were Mrs. JoAnn Linville and Paula Hartman. New members are Linda Jernigan, Virginia Danley and Carolyn Davis. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Johnnie Sybert.

Confectioners' sugar formerly was called powdered or powdered sugar.

Affluence, Youth and Women Are Big Three of Nation's Housing Industry

Affluence, youth and women are the Big Three of the nation's housing industry. They are the elements most carefully weighed by builders who tailor their homes to meet consumer demands, says the Tile Council of America.

Builders are taking a greater interest in market research that pinpoints who prospective buyers are and what they want, the trade association of the country's ceramic tile manufacturers explains. This is so because today's sophisticated buyer will not settle for just a roof over his or her head.

Today's builders are acutely aware that about half the population is under 25 years of age. They also have discovered that when one partner of a marriage team is the home-buying decision maker, it is more frequently the woman than the man.

At a recent building products exposition it was noted that most of the products stressed design and were geared to women and the youth market. Products that have been accepted for decades for their functional qualities have jumped aboard the design bandwagon. Domestic ceramic tile, the Tile Council says, has more than quadrupled its offerings of special colors, designs and shapes in the last few years.

In homes this stress upon giving the conventional a new appeal is resulting in some new terminology. One builder believes in glamorizing names of rooms. His homes' kitchens are called "homemakers' havens" and "goody making" centers. Bathrooms become "beautifullish niches," a closet may be called a "storemore," and the master bedroom is likely to be labeled "alone at last."

Manners Make Friends

Whatever happened to the man who opened doors and lighted cigarettes?

Dear Abby: To guide other college boys when they are week-end guests, please tell them not to make the same mistakes our son's pal did last week-end. He opened the refrigerator door and helped himself to anything he wanted. Without waiting to be told where to sit, he scrambled into my husband's place at the table.

He helped himself (generously) to my husband's bourbon, and when, at midnight, I offered him coffee and sandwiches to indicate that the "bar" was closed, he mixed himself several more drinks. He wolf-whistled when he met me, and whacked me on the seat when he left.

MIDDLE-AGED MOM IN AUGUSTA

DEAR MOM: I doubt if most college boys who are invited to the home of a "pal" for the week-end need a guide to proper behavior. Just tell your son not to bring home any more fun-loving, thirsty, ill-bred characters.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is all right to speak to your mother in the same tone she speaks to you? When she talks sharp or sarcastic to me and I answer her back in the same tone she slaps me. It's no wonder I don't have any friends. She scares them away.

Before anybody comes over they ask me, "Is your mother in a good mood?" Please tell me how to get along with a person everybody is afraid of? I have four more years to go before I will be 18 and I can leave. Thank you.

SCARED OF MOM

DEAR SCARED: No, it's not all right to speak to your mother in the same tone she uses to speak to you. Mothers have problems children know nothing of, and being human they sometimes take it out on those nearest and dearest to them. (Perhaps she doesn't feel well.) When mothers are in a "bad mood" children should try to be even more respectful, obedient, and understanding.

POLLY'S POINTERS
 Work Upward When Making Buttonholes

By POLLY CRAMER
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — When getting ready to make buttonholes in a new garment made of unfamiliar material, practice for size and stitch on a scrap of the first buttonhole at the lowest point on the garment so the nicest work will be at the top or neck which is more noticeable. If corduroy or any material that tends to be wiry or fray easily is being used, sew around the marked buttonhole a couple of times with the sewing machine. Cut the hole with a sharp razor blade, then apply clear nail polish to the edges with a toothpick. When the polish is dry, work with close stitches just below the line of machine stitches. This proves most satisfactory for me. Thank you, Polly and all the girls, for the most helpful suggestions. — ELLEN

And thank you, Ellen, on behalf of all the girls who have made this column — POLLY

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — Traveled two new sweaters and would like to reknit them. How can I get the kinks out of the wool so it will be nice and smooth again? I will be grateful for a quick solution. — CAROLINE

DEAR CAROLINE — Wind the yarn around a piece of heavy cardboard and tie together in several places. Slip hank off the cardboard and dip up and down in warm water. Let the down in warm water. Let the skein drip dry and the weight of the water should remove the kinks. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I save the plastic bags that dry cleaning comes home in as they are wonderful to peel fruits and vegetables on. Just roll up well when the job is finished and throw in the garbage can which stays clean and dry and free from odors. — MRS. D. M. H.

Kappa Kappa Iota Entertains With Patriotic Party

Kappa Kappa Iota Society of the Gamma Conclave entertained with a party Monday evening in the City Club Rooms with Mmes. John Tatum, C. W. Stowell, M. L. DeFeaver and Charles Meech as hostesses.

Party games were played during the social hour.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with a lace cloth over red damask centered with a miniature tree blossoming with miniature flags to carry out a patriotic motif.

Mrs. D. L. Mackie presided at a brief business meeting during which the secretary's report was given by Mrs. Marjorie Gaut.

Members attending, not previously mentioned, were Mmes. M. L. Carter, J. E. Gunn, Houston Price, Hugh Sanders, Herbert Coker, C. L. Cross, L. B. Penick, D. Z. Nowdell, J. R. Postve, Houston Branch, Wendell Watson, Truitt Ross, Perry Gaut, James Poole, Roy McMillan, Roy Sparkman, Ben Ogden, Price Smith, G. M. Walle, Homer Bowers, W. L. Parker and Teresa Humphreys.

Timely Beauty Hints

Today's exciting jewelry may enhance your beauty to a greater degree, if you coordinate its color with make-up. When choosing jewelry, beauty authority, Max Factor, advises that you first consider your skin tone. Gold, for instance, is ideal if your complexion is a lovely creamy beige, or is tanned to a golden brown. If there is a good deal of rose-beige in your skin, however, silver will flatter it, and even tone down an overly ruddy coloring.

Regardless of which precious metal you wear, create an even-toned complexion backdrop by applying make-up in a shade that blends with your own skin's coloring. Lipsticks should be chosen to harmonize with the pink, rose, red, coral or orange stones in your jewelry. The new pastel lipsticks will enhance the soft shades of pastel jewels, and the brighter lipsticks will bring out the rich elegance of the deeper jewel tones.

If earrings, bracelets, beads or necklaces are predominantly blue or green, try blending blue or green eye-shadow over your eyelids. Diamonds, glowing pearls and all sparkling jewels are exciting when worn with the shimmer and shine of eye shadows and lipsticks that dazzle with iridescence.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Does a child learn before he enters school? Some research shows that learning in these early years may affect a child throughout his life. This places a major burden upon parents since they are the major influence on their children especially during the pre-school years.

Children learn a great deal from imitating what they see and hear. Other things are learned from experience while still other activities are taught by parents, other adults, and friends.

Children are usually anxious to walk and talk. As soon as their muscles and minds are sufficiently developed, they begin to copy. They try to do practically everything they see their parents doing. They want to wash their hands when they see mother doing this. They sit on a chair the same as dad. Feeding and diapering their dolls is fascinating when they see mom taking care of a baby.

This fascination that children have for repeating things they see and hear places a serious responsibility on parents. It is obvious that parents must be careful to set good examples. If dad carefully hangs his clothes away and mom keeps the house neat, a child will tend to do the same.

What about a child's social development? This is an important area in which parents have much influence. Children must learn how to play with their friends. They should learn to share and respect property. This requires experience, advice and careful handling.

Give your child many opportunities to play with other children. Don't be lazy and keep them in the house. When the weather permits, take them to the playground. Although it is not a good idea to constantly interfere when they are playing, you should be available when they need help. Give advice

The Family Lawyer

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

No doubt about it: the case was a shocker. A city alderman had been caught taking a bribe. But when he was brought to trial, it turned out that there was a loophole in the state's criminal code. By mistake, the code failed to make this particular action a crime.

So the alderman went free. As speedily as possible, the state legislature passed a new law closing the loophole. But as far as the alderman was concerned, it was too late. He had slipped safely through the law's clutches.

Does that make sense? Should the court let a man "get away with it" just because of a loophole in the law?

We have to start with one blunt fact: no law is perfect, with no loopholes at all. Human wisdom cannot foresee all the possible variations of conduct that may arise in the course of time.

Still, when a mistake in the law is so obvious, shouldn't the court stretch a point in the interest of justice? For example, in the alderman's case the court might have said:

"Loophole or no loophole, this fellow has done a wrong thing and must be punished."

The trouble is, a court simply does not have power under our constitutional system. Judges may interpret laws, but not make them. In the words of the United States Supreme Court:

"It is the legislature, not the court, which is to define a crime and ordain its punishment."

To be sure, there is harm in letting a wrongdoer escape the punishment he deserves. But in the process, he gives society vital information — just as the escaping fish show the fisherman where his net needs patching.

And closing even a single loophole in the law may have far-reaching consequences. Thus:

A flour company in New York once used a society girl's picture in its ads without asking for her permission. When she sued, the court could find nothing in the law that forbade such unwanted publicity. The girl's suit was dismissed.

Red China May Explode First H-Bomb Next Year

GENEVA (UPI) —Despite Red China's raging internal upheaval, Peking is now expected to explode its first H bomb by next year, disarmament conference sources said today.

The sources said that unless the revolutionary unrest on the Communist mainland spreads to Peking's nuclear installations, the Chinese should have their first H bomb by 1968, sooner than had been anticipated.

There have been periodic newspaper reports in Hong Kong that Sinkiang Province, where China's nuclear arsenal is stored, had fallen into the hands of anti-Mao Tse-tung forces. There has been no reliable confirmation from mother sources.

The determined Chinese push for a strong nuclear weapons potential conflicts with current efforts of the United States, Russia and Britain for a treaty aimed at banning the spread of nuclear weapons.

China has served notice that she will not underwrite a nuclear non-proliferation treaty and will not feel bound by it in any way. France, intent on building its own independent nuclear force, has joined Peking in this opposition.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edward A. Viner & Co. says a retracing of the Dow Jones industrial average to the 800-810 area is a distinct possibility, but this support zone could be the base for an advance to around the 900 level later on this year.

The company also believes the reported imbalance now appearing in autos, steels, machine tools and other industrial goods seem to have been discounted in the prices of the leading stocks in these groups. It feels that although it may be ten early to buy these stocks, the risk of further extensive decline seems to be over.

Moody's Investors Service says the large amount of uncommitted funds in the hands of institutions, such as mutual funds, has been a support for the market. The company believes this potential buying power eventually will be translated into action, yet at the moment is limiting any reaction to January's sharp gains.

According to the old wives' tale, a ghostly white halo circling the moon is an omen of stormy weather.

Auto Racing on Ice Is Newest Winter Sport

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—In drag racing, "funny cars" are stock-looking, specially light powerhouses which rear up and literally leap down the strip as they dig for traction.

They're a funny sight to the uninitiated but they are so quick and finicky they can be handled only by professionals. The cost of one isn't funny, either.

"Funny racing" however, is strictly for amateurs, since you don't need a mint to get into the act.

Funny racing is the fast-growing wintertime automotive sport of racing on ice. By comparison, it reduces laughs at drag racing's funny cars to half-hearted ha-ha's.

"To begin with," says Dick Bauer, a weekend warrior from New Jersey who takes his Volvo to races on New England's frozen lakes, "standard equipment in every ice racer is a shovel."

"You need one when you go into a snowbank, which happens quite frequently. You have to grab your shovel, get out of the car and dig your way out."

"Myself, I carry two shovels—one made for hard snow, a bigger one for soft snow."

Ice racers are run in two classes, both of which are in the same race, similar to multiclass sports car races. One class is for front-wheel drive, the other for back-wheel drive.

Four-wheel drive cars are not allowed.

Saabs pretty much own the front-drive class. Volkswagens, Corvairs, Citroens and the various models of teenie-weenie European economy cars do best in the rear-wheel drive class.

"Power isn't important," Bauer said. "A race may look awfully funny, because the cars go down the straights sideways, sliding all over the place, but actually the drivers are in complete control."

When the sport is ice racing, spectators sometimes have difficulty in determining the traffic flow. In photo, two contestants appear to be going in opposite directions in the 1966 Endurance Ice Race at Brunswick, Maine.

is good (the ice is rough), and spike tires are not allowed. Ice, in races sanctioned by the Northeast Ice Racing Association, must be at least 8 inches thick to support the weight of 46 or 56 cars, the crowds and equipment.

The most important ice racing sites in the United States are Moosehead Lake, Greenville, Maine; Lake Winnepesaukee, Wolfeboro, N.H.; Cheshire Lake, Mass.; Brunswick Lake, Maine; Lake Arell, Pa., and Lake George, N.Y. Other hotbeds (?) are in Michigan, Wisconsin, Montana and Washington. The annual Brunswick race is a six-hour endurance race.

"I think every driver should take a car out on ice just once," Bauer said. "He'd learn something about handling a car in bad weather and there would be fewer accidents in this country, believe me."

And snow-shoveling would become a national breeze.

"It isn't chaos at all. You get traction by babying the throttle, using power to increase or decrease traction, whichever is needed. You've got to be delicate with the throttle, the steering and the brakes — yes, the brakes — as a doctor in surgery."

"Otherwise, you'd better keep your shovel handy. Either that or you'll suddenly find yourself heading in the direction of traffic."

Once Bauer was taking a curve and looked over to see a car spinning crazily toward him. He rolled down the window, stuck out his arm and pushed the other car away.

"I wouldn't advise it as a regular practice in ice racing," he said, "but in this case the slightest bump could have thrown me no a snow bank. Most collisions in ice racing are very minor because there's so little traction."

Brakes are important in that they must be finely aligned. "The slightest pull," Bauer said, "and it's the snowbank, baby."

Since power is not too important, cars can run on regular gas and engines do not need super-tuning. Tires are regular production tires, occasionally snow tires when the traction

SPINOFFS: In 1966, the 12-hour 12-hour endurance race will be cut to 1,000 miles. The start will be at noon. Ford may be licking its wounds after the Ferrari resurgence at Daytona recently, but in the same Daytona confines, Ford is doing fine, thank you, in a resurgence of its own in stock car racing. Ford had four Fairlanes among the top 10 qualifiers for the Daytona 500.

Astrological Forecast

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Associates are in a nervous mood, so speak carefully or they turn into bitter enemies. Show a calm, cool manner and save the day. Procrastinate on that civic work you have to do, since this not a good time for same.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — If you dig right into that pile of work ahead of you, instead of putting it off again, you find it gets done and quickly. Workers are apt to be feeling off par. Pay little heed, but smile indulgently.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Giving more of yourself instead of spending so much money for gifts, etc., to please others is wise, since this will be infinitely more appreciated. You feel you are not getting ahead as you should. Analyze situation well and you find that you are.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Although you may feel that you are not as well off financially as you would wish if you'd stop being so extravagant you'd find this is not the case. Make that improvement to property that it sorely needs. Be thorough.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Get-out and show others that you are highly talented but do so in a dignified way. By being thoughtful with good friends, you can be socially successful. Evening requires you study whatever most interests you.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Important you maintain prestige in your own area of activity, so don't risk same by some thoughtless remark or act. In fact, you can become more popular by some intelligent maneuvering. Be clever.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Show gratitude for backing given you by those in the background for some time. Father hunt allies can give you a bad time. Take no needless action since they are pretty much under pressure.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — This is not a good day to rely on that higher-up for favors since he or she is not in a very good mood or very busy. Await a better time. Forget being angry over one who has power over your affairs for one day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she, will be one of those fascinating people who understand the underlying reasons for certain problems and can do much in straighten out matters quite easily. Be sure to give ethical and spiritual guidance early so that the energies will always be channeled in the right direction. Teach not to criticize others so much. A real boon can be in the amazing chart.

Love Follows Non-Playboy Belinsky Around

COCOA, Fla. (UPI)—Bo Belinsky, that great lover, has gone and fallen again.

And unlike all his other romances, this is a match that was made in heaven. Or on the front doorstep of the Houston Astros' clubhouse to be exact.

Bo has lost his heart to a shaggy looking black and white sheep terrier that hung around for days searching for scraps of food.

Belinsky named the dog "Alfie," and now everywhere the Astros' southpaw goes, the animal happily trails after him.

"He doesn't lead a dog's life anymore," said Bo, stroking Alfie's head affectionately as the husky sheep terrier lapped up some milk especially set up in Belinsky's locker.

Tickled Off

"He has it better than a lotta people I know. Maybe even better than me. Roast beef and steak every night. The works.

"You oughta see him when he first got here though. Dirty, scroungy and everything. I took him down to the vet. The vet got all the ticks off him and gave him a bath. Groomed him real nice. Even cut his nails."

Bo paid for that. He'll never tell you so himself. The other Houston players do. They've also adopted Alfie, more or less

"I got him all cleaned up, but it didn't do any good," Belinsky laughed. "Five minutes later he was all dirty again. He likes to roll in the mud. I don't know how long I'll be able to keep him. It's up to the club officials. A lot of 'em like him, too."

The one thing about Alfie which disturbs Bo is that the dog doesn't seem to be in A-1 spring training condition.

"He keeled over right here in front of my locker the other day after running five laps with us pitchers," frowned the 30-year-old lefty, getting his third major league shot with the Astros.

Tired Terrier

"I don't know what's the matter with him. Maybe he's been staying up and running around too much at night. Look at him: he's got a big wheelbase and burning feet."

Jim Ewell, the club trainer, noded agreement.

"I gave Alfie something for athlete's foot," he said. "He's running better now, don't you think so Bo?"

Belinsky concurred somewhat reluctantly.

And what about his own future?

"I like this club," he said. "This is the nicest I've ever been treated. I'll do anything they want me to. They want me to relieve, I'll relieve. They want me to start, I'll do that. I'm 30 and more settled now. I've seen a whole lot. I'm sorta jaded. . . . Everybody makes mistakes. I made a few but not as many as they said. And never real big ones. I mean where I was in serious trouble."

A guy like Bo, who takes a mangy old mutt in like he did, never will be in any serious trouble.

Bowling Breaks By Gil

lyn Waltz, Lib Mitchell.

Now then as if that were not enough tournament news, is some more. Two teams of I.O.O.F. Lodge of Pampa went to the Tri-State Odd Fellows tournament at Vernon last weekend.

Team No. 1, R. K. Parsley, John Carson, Carl Baer, Homer McNeil and T. Owens brought home every trophy that was awarded except the booby prize. Jim Radcliff, Floyd Strickland, Bill Smith, Walter Clay and Jack McNeil at least made a swell rooting section as the other team took first place with a 3158. Johnny Carson proceeded to win the scratch and handicap all events, the singles and teamed up with R. K. Parsley to win the doubles. All of this while teammate Carl Baer had the high scratch game, a 236. John had an 1828 scratch for a 203 average. The bowlers at Vernon will remember the Pampa bowlers for some time.

Condensing a few other happenings, Nancy Shelton picked the 4-7-10 Mike Nisbet the 4-7-10 while Kerry Parsley picked the difficult 4-7-9-10. Car roll Pettit, with a 247 game, and a 627 series forgot all about getting a cigarette lighter while Kent Olson wanted a lighter for both his 231 and 600 series.

Jim Harris was happy enough even though he missed the lighter by one pin. Betty Culey and Lyn Prysock are again bringing their P.E. classes for bowling instructions and what a fine bunch of youngsters they are. Nearly a hundred potential Marion Ladawigs are taking to the lanes three times weekly.

A happy thought, Betty Gage, who attended the first class for women beginner bowlers that I conducted in Pampa, still needs help occasionally.

Then we also have the kids with Florence Bittle and Jim Ricard our new champions of the junior classic. Ron Gray and Linda Chase are waiting for a second chance. Little Ronnie Young had a 174-178 for a 498 series while Johnny Enloe a 194 all in the Bantams while Florence Bittle came up with another 202.

The A.J.B.C. is going to run out of awards for these prospective champs and maybe in a few more years they too will be winning trophies and awards in adult leagues.

Pirates Look The Best on Paper Again

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PITCHING — Bob Veale (16-12) should be the big winner. After him Pirates have at least five pitchers who can be counted on to win between 10 and 15 games: Woody Fryman (12-9), Vernon Law (12-8), Steve Blass (11-7), Dennis Ribant (11-9 with the Mets), Tommie Sisk (105). Law, of course, once was a 20-game winner last season, but he gave up too many home runs. Bullpen just as strong: Alvin McBean (4-3, 3.21), Elroy Face (6-6, 2.70), Billy O'Dell (5-5, 2.63), Pete Mikkelsen (9-8, 3.07). Club extremely high on rookie Luke Walker (11-11 at Columbus). RATING — A-

INFIELD — Best offensive defensive balance in league, Donn Clendenon (.299, 28 HR, 89 RBI) on first. Bill Mazeroski (.262, 16 HR, 82 RBI), best in game, on second. Gene Alley (.299) developed into a solid shortstop last season. And at third, the most important acquisition, Maury Wills (.273). RATING — A.

OUTFIELD — Frightening offense. Matty Alou (.342) won National League batting title. MVP Roberto Clemente (.317, 29 HR, 119 RBI) is now in the $100,000 bracket. Willie Stargell (.315, 33 HR, 102 RBI) keeps Manny Mota (.332) unhappy on the bench. RATING — A.

CATCHING — Jim Pagliaroni will never win any races with Bob Hayes but he's a valuable man behind the plate. Jim hit only 235 last season. Can do much better. Jesse Gonder, Jerry May his backup men. RATING — B.

BENCH — Excellent reserves in Mota, Jose Pagan (.264). Jose can fill in during infield emergencies. Gonder hit seven home runs, some at opportune moment. Rookie George Spriggs (.300 at Columbus) may stick as outfield sub. RATING — B Plus.

SUMMARY — Power, Offensive potential unmatched in either league. Braves come closest in NL, but can't match depth of Pirates' pitching staff. Pirates' trades should win it; Ribant, Pizarro. Wills excellent additions. PREDICTION — Repeat 1960, a repeat. 1ST.

Lew, Walker Pace Voting

UPI ALL-AMERICAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lew Alcindor and Jimmy Walker lived their high school years in different kinds of worlds—but they've gone on to reach the highest pinnacle in college basketball together.

Alcindor, the most sought after high school player of his time who's lived up to his incredible buildup and Walker, who played his prep ball in anonymity while being ignored by the high-pressure recruiters, head the 1967 United Press International All-America team named today.

Alcindor, the 7-1 sensation from UCLA who was the first sophomore named to the first team since Jerry Lucas turned the trick at Ohio State in 1960, and Walker, the slick Providence senior standout who was the only repeater from last year's first team, were the top two vote-getters on the club. They were joined on the first five by Wes Unseld of Louisville, Elvin Hayes of Houston and Bobby Lloyd of Rutgers.

Almost Unanimous Choice

Alcindor was left off only two of the 240 ballots from sportswriters and broadcasters across the nation. Walker, compared by no less an expert than Red Auerback to Oscar Robertson, was a runaway choice and is a cinch to be the No. 1 pick in the National Basketball Association draft.

The second team was made up of Bob Varga of Duke, Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, Butch Beard of Louisville and Sonny Dove of St. John's.

On the third team were Larry Miller of North Carolina, Mel Graham of New York University, Rod Widby of Tennessee, Louis Dampier of Kentucky and Don May of Dayton.

Alcindor was the most ballyhooed player since Wilt Chamberlain two years ago when he graduated from Power Memorial High School in New York. His team lost only one game in his final three years of prep ball.

Alcindor has been a nationally known player ever since he was a 15-year-old sophomore and he had to call a press conference to announce his choice of college as UCLA from the dozens of schools trying to lure him to their campuses.

But Lew has lived up to his advance notices. He led the UCLA freshman team to a 21-0 record last year and he paced the varsity to a 23-0 mark this season and the No. 1 ranking in the UPI ratings.

A BLACK MOURNING band on the team cap is displayed in good humor by the owner of the National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers, Walter O'Malley, left. Dodger manager Walt Alton inspects the headpiece—a present from Baltimore Orioles owner Jerry Hoffbejer. Baltimore defeated the Dodgers in the 1966 World Series.

Mick Okay at New Job

SO GOOD, SO WHAT?

The report on Mickey Mantle, the first baseman today is so far, so good, so what?

The New York Yankees unveiled the $100,000 slugger at his new position Wednesday with a maximum of fanfare and a minimum of pressure. There probably haven't been so many gawkers since Phineas T. Barnum exhibited two invisible South African fish in a goldfish bowl.

Mantle handled his assignment easily. He scooped up the easy grounders hit by Coach Frank Crosetti and had no trouble with his footwork when handling throws.

The verdict was that Mantle had done okay without really being tested—and Mickey seemed to agree.

"It feels pretty natural," he said when the 15-minute drill ended. "I think it's going to be all right."

Frank Robinson, the American League's Triple Crown winner and most valuable player in 1966, tested his right knee in the Baltimore Orioles' Miami, Fla., camp and reported it is still weak from winter surgery.

"I'd be concerned if this were the opening day of the season," he said. "But it's only the opening of spring training and I think I'll have time to get it ready."

Manager Gene Mauch was elated at injured first baseman Bill White's showing in the Philadelphia Phillies' first drill. White underwent surgery for a torn achilles tendon last December.

"It's hard to believe he could have made this much progress," said Mauch. On other fronts: Tommy Metz with a 450-foot drive. Davis impressed the New York during batting practice. Sluggers Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris looked good in the St. Louis Cardinals' first full-scale workout. Rookies Joe Coleman and Dave Baldwin were effective in the Washington Senators' drill.

Two Share Honors In Pistol Club Shoot

Fréd Brown and Kenneth Williams had to share the honors this week in the weekly Pistol Shoot.

Brown won the .22 caliber shoot with a 282 score followed by Williams with a 276. Ralph Day, 266, Albert Phillips, 232, John Smith, 228, Ronnie Gill, 231 and Wayne Brown, 218.

In the .38 and .45 caliber shoot Williams won with a 69, with Fred Carothers second at 263, David Hall, 260. Jesse Goad, 263 and Mickey Miller and J. T. Winborn, 220.

Jack Nicklaus Looks Better on Paper

MIAMI (UPI)—On paper, at least, big Jack Nicklaus ought to win the $100,000 Doral Open Golf Tournament that gets underway today on the "blue monster" course.

The 210-pound Nicklaus, golf's third leading money-winner, comes to the Doral sporting the best stroke average for the six tournaments leading to this classic—70.9.

He also won the Bing Crosby Tournament earlier this year and "besides," say his followers, "This is Jack's year to win the Doral."

Arnold Palmer's "army," as loyal a group as you'll find, disagree with Nicklaus' "statistical" status as favorite. They point to Palmer's recent wins in the Tucson and Los Angeles Open and note their hero has never looked better.

Pampa Swimmer Sets New Marks

Pampa swimmer Jim Cole competed in the Roswell Aquatic Boosters Invitational swim meet at the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, N.M., and won several medals.

There were 11 teams competing from Texas and New Mexico. Out of the six events for boys 15 and over, Jim dominated the field by placing first in five events and fourth in one. Because he received the most individual points, he won the high point trophy for his age group and set five pool records.

His times were: 100 Freestyle—54.3; 200 IM—2:18.5; 100 Breast Stroke—1:10.1; 100 Back Stroke—1:02.3; 100 Butterfly—1:01.1; 400 Freestyle—4:28.5.

Seventeen Area Schools In Lefors Relays Saturday

LEFORS — A total of 17 schools will participate Saturday in the Lefors Relays, scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. with preliminaries.

Besides Lefors, White Deer, Briscoe, Gruver, Claude, Sunray, McLean, Wheeler, Follett Canadian, Mobeetie, Morse, Booker, Turkey, Clarendon, Darrouzett and Texline have entered the meet.

Preliminaries for the 440-yard relay will kick things off at 9:30 a.m. followed by the 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 330-yard intermediate hurdles and 220-yard dash with the six best qualifying times reaching the finals.

Field events will get underway at 9 a.m. with the pole vault, shot and broad jump all being held at the same time and at 10:30 a.m. the discus and high jump will be held. The top six in the shot and discus will qualify for the finals with the other field events being decided Saturday morning.

The bar for the pole vault will be placed at the nine foot level, and no measurements under 35 feet will be counted in the shot and all broad jumpers get four jumps with no measurements under 100 feet being counted in the discus and in the high jump the bar will be placed at the five foot level.

Finals in the dashes and relays will start at 2 p.m. with the shot and discus finals at 1:50 p.m. with four throws in each event.

Track, Golfers In Snyder Meet

Pampa's Doc Cornutt will shoot for his second shot put victory in as many outings this season and the Harvester golf team will shoot for their first victory as both the track and golfers journey to Snyder this weekend for the Canyon Reef Relays.

Cornutt picked up a first place last week in the Plainview Invitational and placed second in the discus.

Harvester Gary McCarrell will be shooting for his first victory in the 440-yard dash. Gary placed a strong second last week in the event in the Plainview Invitational.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Senseless War

The Oregon State Game Commission Bulletin describes how the real victim of the running battle between the farmer and the sportsman and recreationist is wildlife.

wildlife wages a losing struggle unless the public, individually and collectively, shows greater respect for the wild land, property of others and the preservation of wildlife.

Handle Projectiles With Care All the talk about unsafe automobiles is rather amusing. There are four major causes of car accidents regardless of car safety.

Don't blame the car when the news story says, "car left road on a curve, passenger killed." The car wasn't doing the driving.

Manning the Meters

It will not surprise the average citizen to be told that he is personally involved in dozens of acts of measurements every day, from reading his watch to keeping an eye on the speedometer of his car.

But he may not be aware that his life is tremendously influenced by an additional 20 billion measurements made each day in science and industry.

Without a national system of agreed-upon units and standards, modern society could not exist. It is the basis of our mass production system of the interchange of goods and services in commerce, of scientific and technical information and of decisions made constantly in every walk of life.

Fight? Cuss? Good for You!

Do you fight with your wife? Use profanity? Congratulations! You must be a normal, healthy person, doing your part to make a happier home and a healthier society.

A psychiatrist addressing a group of his peers asserted that a lively spat between husband and wife is good for most marriages and offers one of the best ways for a couple to work out a touchy problem.

Liberties Union in Washington, D.C., quoted psychologists as saying that cursing is "a healthy substitute for violence and is as basic and vital to the ultimate health of society as laughter and crying."

One thing is obvious. If these gentlemen are correct, a great many marriages are going to last, and the health of the nation is excellent, indeed.

There is, of course, a simpler way to get the same results. It is to get along with people and to mind your manners — and it just might be worth a try.

One-Way Democracy

Whatever dubious benefits Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution may be bringing China, it has to be admitted that it is enriching the language.

Take, for instance "extensive democracy." The term was introduced last year by Mao's No. 1 heir apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao, who called it "the perfect new model of government." Extensive democracy, the rank and file were given to believe, stood for the process of free discussion and continuous mutual criticism within the revolutionary faction.

For defeating the Consular Treaty (being sponsored by President Johnson), which would legalize Communist spies throughout our country.

The human race — to which many politicians belong — has made no measurable improvement morally and intellectually in all human history. How sad! And it won't unless Christianity prevails. Communism, the greatest organized threat to Christianity ever, has in less than half a century, captured more souls than Christianity can now count, living, after 2,000 years. I'm for Christianity.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Now, sir, would you like to test the shoulder harness for DRIVING safety?"

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

20th Century Here We Come

WE "conservatives" are often accused of being neanderthal characters who have to be dragged, screaming and clawing, into the 20th Century. We are reportedly against all changes. I'm for every good change, but not for change just to be changing — like the young fellow who just for a change started parting his hair crossways, ear to ear. His one remaining friend asked him: "How do you like your hair parted ear to ear?"

Here are a few things I'm for: For more expensive teachers and less expensive buildings. For more emphasis in schools on courage and character — the two priceless ingredients which far outrank brains and knowledge in making a real man.

I'm for all churches which teach the divinity of a personal God who rewards goodness, punishes evil; and against any group which would force One Church on everybody.

For living today! If we put it off till tomorrow, there may be a law against it. "Living" does not mean living it up. Those who live it up also have to live it down.

I'm for veterinarians. They are the best doctors in the world; they can't ask their patients what's the matter — they've got to know.

For J. Edgar Hoover who can catch Communists faster than the Supreme Court can turn 'em loose. Although it's a race. For an upward reach for our nation toward more morality and spiritual values, starting at the Presidential level.

I'm for a law requiring that the total number of federal agricultural employees shall not exceed the total number of farmers. For outlawing the Communist Party and jailing or deporting all known Communists, including those in our State Department.

In the olden days, as my daughter calls it, when charity was a virtue instead of a government department, Herbert Hoover spent less on everything than we spend for interest on the federal debt. I'm for putting Christ-back in Christmas, not Xmas but Christmas. And speaking of abbreviations, for restoring what should again become our national purpose, "Give me liberty or give me death." The American people seem to have shortened that to just plain "gimme."

I'm for reapportionment in the United Nations, where we get 1 percent of the vote and pay one-third of the bills. Eighty-four of the one hundred and four nations in the United Nations don't pay their dues and assessments. The only organization probably anywhere in the world where you can refrain from paying any dues and assessments and still vote. I'm for relieving human suffering by repealing the 16th Amendment, the personal income tax.

For winning in Vietnam now! For defeating the Consular Treaty (being sponsored by President Johnson), which would legalize Communist spies throughout our country.

The human race — to which many politicians belong — has made no measurable improvement morally and intellectually in all human history. How sad! And it won't unless Christianity prevails. Communism, the greatest organized threat to Christianity ever, has in less than half a century, captured more souls than Christianity can now count, living, after 2,000 years. I'm for Christianity.

There can be no universal peace — and brotherhood until that far off millennium when God chooses to radically alter the character of man.

The Communists have tried to stamp out God. God, with our help, will stamp out the Communist heathens. I'm for making Communism fail.

Will the Real CIA Please Rise? NEW YORK (NEA) — The Central Intelligence Agency has been secretly financing projects in a wide range of U. S. student, legal, journalist, academic, research, business and labor organizations.

Well, we have given this matter a great deal of thought, and must conclude that we do not believe it.

It is a little embarrassing to say that, especially since many of the parties involved in this clandestine affair have admitted their complicity.

But the fact remains. We simply do not believe that the U. S. intelligence and espionage people have done these fearful things, and we have three rather sound reasons for holding that belief.

In the first place, espionage and intelligence are parts of the nation's defense system. It seems to us completely absurd to think that the nation's defense system is trying to corrupt and subvert the nation's students in its press, free enterprise, jurisprudence — and all the other institutions which make the battle for men's minds.

In the second place, espionage and intelligence are by definition secret endeavors. It is inconceivable to us that an organization of the professionally surreptitious would be so inept as to be exposable by a tiny little magazine such as Ramparts which probably does not even give fees and gratuities to its informed sources.

Quite the contrary. U. S. espionage and intelligence are extremely adept. And that brings us to our third — and major — reason for not believing this libel against them.

You have only to look at recent current events to see how patriotic, professional and invisible the American cloak-and-dagger people are. In the past year alone, they have: — Thrown Communist China into civil war, and at the same time maneuvered Communist Russia into a new missile race with the U. S. — thus reducing the prospects of a global war without disturbing East-West Communist revolution by foiling attempts to remove Fidel Castro; and removed the possibility of Nazi resurgence in Germany without removing any of the Nazis.

—And last but not least, American intelligence and espionage have kept France stable by protecting Gen. De Gaulle, while getting him out of NATO to keep stability there.

Under the circumstances, we find it very hard to connect American espionage and intelligence work with each new fact that comes to light about the CIA.

Those two cannot really be related, except in the most fictitious sort of way. Perhaps we have been reading too many spy stories. But our fervent hope is that the CIA will turn out to be only a cover for the real intelligence agency.

Pull Up A Chair

A recent survey in supermarkets revealed that women purchase more king-sized cigarettes than men. And the reasons they gave were right out of the cigarette ads: economy, mildness, better taste and cooler smoke.

Today's smile: A professor at one of the smaller country colleges asked a question in a physiology examination: "How do you attain a good posture?" One of his students in an agricultural course answered: "Keep the cows off it, and let it grow awhile."

If you're planning a European trip this summer and plan to drive a car there you can expect higher prices all along the way. Car rentals are up 20 percent in the past five years and food and lodging has increased about 40 percent.

Q—Is it possible to tell with the naked eye whether another person has a cataract? With a cataract, does a white film grow over the eye.

A—Only a far-advanced cataract can be seen with the naked eye. The clouding is fairly deep within the eye and would not be regarded as a film.

Q—I have heard that bathing the eyes with castor oil will cause a cataract to go away. Would it harm the eye in any way to try this remedy?

A—There is no basis for the assumption that castor oil will either benefit or prevent a cataract. Since I have never applied castor oil to an eye, I cannot say whether it would be harmful.

Q—What is quinidine used for? Does it help high blood pressure?

A—This drug is used to control some types of rapid heart rate or irregular heart beats. The dosage must be carefully regulated to prevent undesirable side effects. It is not recommended for the control of high blood pressure.

The American Way

By HARRY BLOWNE

If the world was perfect, I would be recognized for the great man I am.

If the world was perfect, people would understand and respect everything I say.

If the world was perfect, there would be no thieves, no murderers, no villains of any kind — and I would not have to worry about protecting myself.

If the world was perfect, no one would ever do anything to hurt me.

If the world was perfect, everyone's morality would be exactly like mine.

If the world was perfect, people would want to live their lives the way I think best.

But this morning I made an amazing discovery: the world is NOT perfect!

I have discovered that there ARE thieves, there ARE murderers, there ARE villains, there ARE people who would hurt me if they could.

I have found that, because the world is NOT perfect, there are individuals who do NOT choose to respect me or to recognize me for what I am.

It has come to my attention that there are individuals (quite a few of them) who do NOT choose to live by MY concept of morality — who will live their lives the ways that THEY think best, no matter how much that goes against my grain.

Well, it appears that I had better forget about the possibilities of a perfect world and think more in terms of trying to create a perfect me.

Unfortunately, I just don't control anyone but myself. I can't MAKE other people live the way I think they should live. Laws won't even make them do that. And besides, I can't even make anyone pass the laws that would try to make people live as I want them to. If I am living my life in expectation of a perfect world that is just around the corner awaiting the right election or whatever, I am going to be sadly disappointed.

Because — no matter what the nature of the social system — I must still protect myself against thieves and others who would hurt me. I must still find a way of dealing with people who do not see life in the same way I do.

I must still recognize that others are living for themselves not for me — and they are certainly not living to respect my wisdom or understanding. They will determine for themselves the nature of life, no matter how smart I think I may be.

Ah, if the world was perfect. . . But it isn't. So what am I going to do to gain as much happiness as possible in this imperfect world — just as it is now?

I must still recognize that others are living for themselves not for me — and they are certainly not living to respect my wisdom or understanding. They will determine for themselves the nature of life, no matter how smart I think I may be.

Ah, if the world was perfect. . . But it isn't. So what am I going to do to gain as much happiness as possible in this imperfect world — just as it is now?

Japan Seen As Atom To Power Nation

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A private talk with a member of Japan's Atomic Energy Commission and the figures his experts have worked out lead to one conclusion:

Industrially speaking, it is almost certain Japan will be the No. 3 nuclear power within the next three decades.

My friend's projections indicate that within 15 years one-fourth of Japan's electric power production will be in nuclear power generating plants. Within 23 years, nuclear plants will account for a half of Japan's electric power; within 33 years the nuclear installations will be producing 83 per cent.

In 23 years this nuclear power production will total 500 billion kilowatt hours a year. Ten years later it will be a trillion kilowatt hours a year. For the next half century it is expected to double every two decades.

By the year 2050, Japanese experts estimate the annual nuclear production of electric power at $ trillion kilowatt hours a year.

The appeal of electric power in Japan is that the country's untapped water power potential is almost exhausted. New coal or oil-burning plants must import their fuel. New nuclear power plants are already competitive commercially with new conventional power plants when costs are figured over a 20-year period.

Japan already has a 166,000-kilowatt commercial nuclear plant in operation. The reactor was imported from Britain.

Construction has started on a plant almost twice as large in Fukui Prefecture using a nuclear reactor built by U.S. General Electric and scheduled to be operating in late 1969. Forty per cent of this plant's cost is being met with an Export-Import Bank loan.

A General Electric reactor will also power a 400,000-kilowatt nuclear plant under construction by the Tokyo Electric Power Co. in Fukushima Prefecture. It will begin producing power in 1970.

The Kansai Electric Power Co. is building a 340,000-kilowatt nuclear plant also expected to be completed in 1970. It will use a U.S. Westinghouse Electric reactor.

Already in the works are plans for a series of other nuclear power plants scheduled to go into operation in the early 1970s. A nuclear-powered ship is also expected to be started sometime this year and completed by 1971.

The developing Japanese nuclear power industry has several implications for the U. S., Canada, and the West.

Japan's plans call for buying a considerable amount of nuclear equipment and American know-how commercially in the beginning. Her later plans call for producing reactors, developing ore - processing plants and mines through joint Japanese ventures with U. S. and other foreign capital. In manufacturing, U. S. companies now have an inside track. In ore mining, the Japanese are exploring the possibility of a joint Canadian-Japanese firm to operate in Canada.

This rapid development of nuclear power plants, most of which eventually will use breeder reactors which produce additional fuel as a by-product, will enable Japan, if she chooses, to become a major nuclear military power.

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE

Knowledge of Your Health Problems Helps Dentist

If you have a history of illness that may affect your status as a so-called "normal" dental patient, you must make this known to your dentist. For your best protection your dentist should know if you've had a cardiovascular problem, debilitating disease, epilepsy, etc., and what drugs you regularly take or have taken just prior to your dental visit.

Heart problems are especially important and require special attention. For instance, if you have an arrhythmic heart and have had a recent dramatic episode, it might be wise not to undergo extensive dentistry. If some dentistry is necessary but presents an office risk, it should be done in a hospital where emergencies can be dealt with easier. If "novocain" is used it should NOT contain epinephrine.

If you've had a heart blockage any time in the past, it's usually safe to have novocain with epinephrine. If administered properly this type of anesthetic can be used with minimum risk. Angina patients can also have novocain with epinephrine.

Epinephrine is a vasoconstrictor and is combined with novocain to give prolonged anesthesia. But it's also a heart stimulant and, while it can be safely used in "normal" patients, it must be used with caution in some cases.

Many patients warn their dentists that they are allergic to novocain but most authorities say, this is not so. They admit that some people have a reaction to novocain injections but this is due to blood level of anesthetic which is influenced by amount, rapidity and site of injection.

What is called allergic reaction is probably apprehension of the needle and injection. This problem can be minimized by pre-medication with tranquilizers.

Novocain injections are simple, harmless and practically painless these days because of use of disposable needles which are thin and sharp so you don't feel them entering the gums, simplified techniques, more potent anesthetics requiring much less solution to give the desired effect, and better understanding of possible side effects and what to do about them.

National League clubs plan to do so. . . The Boston (Mass.) RECORD - AMERICAN headlined a story: "Red Hen's Green Eggs Stump Poultry Experts." Well, they're not so smart. They've never been able to figure out which came first, the chicken or the egg.

Country Editor speaking: "The fellow who puts the cap back on the toothpaste generally marries a gal who doesn't."
