Siren Fails To Stir Complacent Pampa Residents

A telephone company test of the Civil Defense siren atop the Hughes Building this morning brought several things to light. Either most Pampans can't hear the siren, don't know what it means or don't particularly care.

A telephone company spokesman said there had been some trouble with the siren and that they had run a test on it this morning to try and get things straightened out.

But the siren let out a blast for about eight minutes this morning and most residents in downtown Pampa, where you can hear the siren the best, paid little or no attention to it at all.

Until the trouble developed with the siren, a test blast had been sounded at 10 a.m. every Monday.

A long steady blast had meant an actual attack was imminent. Gray County Civil Defense Director Bill Leonard said today that warning signals had been changed.

"Our actual attack signal now is a 3-5 minute waveling tone. This means an attack," Leonard said.

In case of tornadoes, floods (which we don't have to worry about anyway) and bad fires, the siren will sound a 3-5 minute steady blast.

The new signals are in effect now.

But had we been going by the old signal, the long continuous blast today, then most people would have been caught wondering, "Why is that blasted siren going off?"

State Mayors Seek Smith's Aid Again

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas mayors journeyed to Austin again today to seek Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's help in winning speedy Senate passage of a local-option city sales tax.

The mayors met with Smith at 9 a.m.

The city sales tax has passed the House and has been approved by a Senate committee, but Senate action has been delayed by a rule that requires a four-fifths majority to consider a bill during the first 60 days of the session.

The time is up Friday, and the mayors hope for a vote next week.

Claims Enough Votes

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, cosponsor of the bill along with Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon, said he has enough votes to win on a simple majority vote, but might have trouble raising two-thirds.

Smith said it is "entirely possible" that it could come up next week without the need for rules suspension, but said the timing and other details of the strategy are up to the sponsors.

The city sales tax bill allows city voters to impose a 1 percent local tax on themselves in addition to the state levy of 2 percent.

Tight Money Affects Stock Show's Sales

By RON CROSS

Apparently cattlemen and buyers are feeling the tight money squeeze possibly due to the Panhandle's long drought as the Top O' Texas Stock Show closed out Wednesday with the selling of junior livestock and the Hereford breeder's sale.

The show was successful every way but moneywise, with all prices and total earnings off from the 1966 sales.

A total $34,206.05 worth of livestock was sold this year as compared with last year's sales which amounted to $50,325.89.

The Hereford breeder's sale Wednesday afternoon brought in $20,445 for 46 bulls, an average of $444 per bull. In 1966, $22,750 was earned for 44 bulls, an average of $517 per bull.

Junior calves brought a total of $24,282.15, an average of $328.14 for the 74 calves sold, while calves in the 1966 show sold for an average of $385.40 each and a total of $21,96.48.

The 97 pigs sold Wednesday morning brought a total of $7,506.90, or an average of 38 1/2 cents per pound on each pig. This was down from the 1966 total of $9,049.28 or average of 42.5 cents per swine.

Wednesday, seven heifers sold for a total of $1,970, an average of $281.04 per heifer. In 1966 six heifers sold for $2,435, an average of $406 per cow.

In Wednesday's Hereford breeder's sale, the reserve grand champion bull sold for $2,050 to the McDaniel Ranch.

The bull, Tex 154 Onward, owned by Alex Born and Sons, Foltlett, was the highest priced of its kind to sell.

The grand champion bull of the show, Tex Real Onward, owned by Born and Sons, sold for only $700 to the Horseshoe Ranch, Ada, Okla.

A bull owned by Breeding and Caldwell, Miami, B&C Randolphs ONW 2, brought the second highest price of the sale, $1,400, and was sold to W. E. Chamberlin, White River, S.D.

The lowest priced single bull, owned by R. H. Holland and Son, Perryton, sold for only $285 and was bought by Vernon Payton, Borger.

Some of the bulls were sold in lots of twos and two bulls owned by Richard Kiker, Allison, sold for $220 each.

The grand champion Heifer brought the most money of any of the heifers, $450, and was sold to McDaniel Ranch. The champ was owned by J. P. Callihan, Conway.

The reserve grand champion, owned by Robert L. Newton, Lark, brought $300 and was bought by Davis Hereford Farm, Erick, Okla.

Anti-Viet Policy Guests Walk Out On Humphrey Talk

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 100 guests at the prestigious National Book Award ceremonies walked out on Vice President Hubert Humphrey Wednesday night in a pre-arranged demonstration against the war in Vietnam.

Officials of the National Book Committee on the dais were obviously embarrassed as the protesters, including a number of well-known editors and writers, silently marched out of Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall.

During the walkout, the remaining 1,000 in the audience gave Humphrey a standing ovation. The vice president stood his ground and seemed unmoved during the demonstration.

It began as Humphrey was introduced by William J. Nichols, chairman of the committee. As the vice president approached the lectern, the demonstrators rose and began filing down the aisles.

Humphrey was about to speak when novelist Mitchell Goodman turned in the aisle and shouted: "Mr. Hubert Humphrey, we are burning children alive in Vietnam. You are responsible. We are all responsible, and Mr. Humphrey knows what is happening."

SAIGON (UPI)—American forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the Vietnam war last week with a total of 1,617 men killed, wounded or missing, U.S. spokesmen said today.

The previous high was 1,188 for the week ending Jan. 14. Spokesmen said the price of the war last week included 232 servicemen killed, 1,381 wounded and 4 missing. They fell as the Allies drove into some of the toughest Communist strongholds in South Vietnam.

Announcement of the record American losses came as spokesmen reported guerrillas swarmed over a U.S. Army platoon early today with satchel dynamite charges and hand grenades. Spokesmen said 13 Americans of the 4th Infantry Division's 1st Brigade were killed, 27 wounded and three listed as missing in the fight 240 miles north of Saigon.

Elsewhere in the war, U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses four times Wednesday night and today struck guerrilla bastions in support of American ground troops and U.S. warplanes flew 90 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday. U.S. Navy warships unleashed withering barrages at military targets on the North Vietnamese coast Wednesday.

The record American casualties for the week ending March 4 did not set a record for the number of troops killed. The mark of 240 slain the week ending Nov. 25, 1965, in the bloody Ia Drang Valley campaign, still stands. But last week's wounded total was a war record.

LBJ May Answer Kennedy Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson gets a chance today to publicly answer Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's criticism of the administration's Vietnam policy.

Kennedy touched a sensitive nerve last week by suggesting in a major foreign policy speech that the Johnson administration could be doing more in the pursuit of peace.

His three-stage proposal, including a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam, drew massive rebuttal from top administration officials. Johnson, however, did not reply personally to the Kennedy peace proposals.

The controversy was revived Wednesday when Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., a top aide to the late President Kennedy, charged that the Johnson administration is not interested now in Vietnam peace talks.

Johnson faced certain questioning about the Kennedy and Schlesinger statements at a White House news conference today.

The conference was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. CST. All three major networks planned live television coverage. For the first time, it was to be telecast in color. It was also to be carried on nationwide radio.

In his Senate speech, Kennedy urged: —A halt to the bombing of North Vietnam and a declaration to the Communists that "we are ready to negotiate within the week."

—Mutual assurances that neither side would "substantially increase" the scale of the war during negotiations.

—A final settlement that would allow all political parties in South Vietnam, including the Communist National Liberation Front, to participate in elections to establish a national government.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk promptly rejected the proposals as "substantially similar" to others explored by the administration "without result."

He said there was "no reason to believe at this time that Hanoi is interested in proposals for mutual de-escalation such as those put forward by Sen. Kennedy."

Other administration spokesmen, including Gen. William C. Westmoreland in Saigon, also criticized Kennedy's suggestions.

Cost of Hospital Care Expected To Scar in Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of hospital care is expected to soar to at least $57.93 a day per patient by September, Congress was told today.

The American Hospital Association, which compiles cost records, disclosed that hospital expenses are increasing faster than previously reported.

Mark Berke, director of Mt. Zion Hospital and Medical Center in San Francisco, told the House Ways & Means Committee in prepared testimony that hospital costs this year will increase 18.6 per cent over 1956 and 30.2 per cent over 1965.

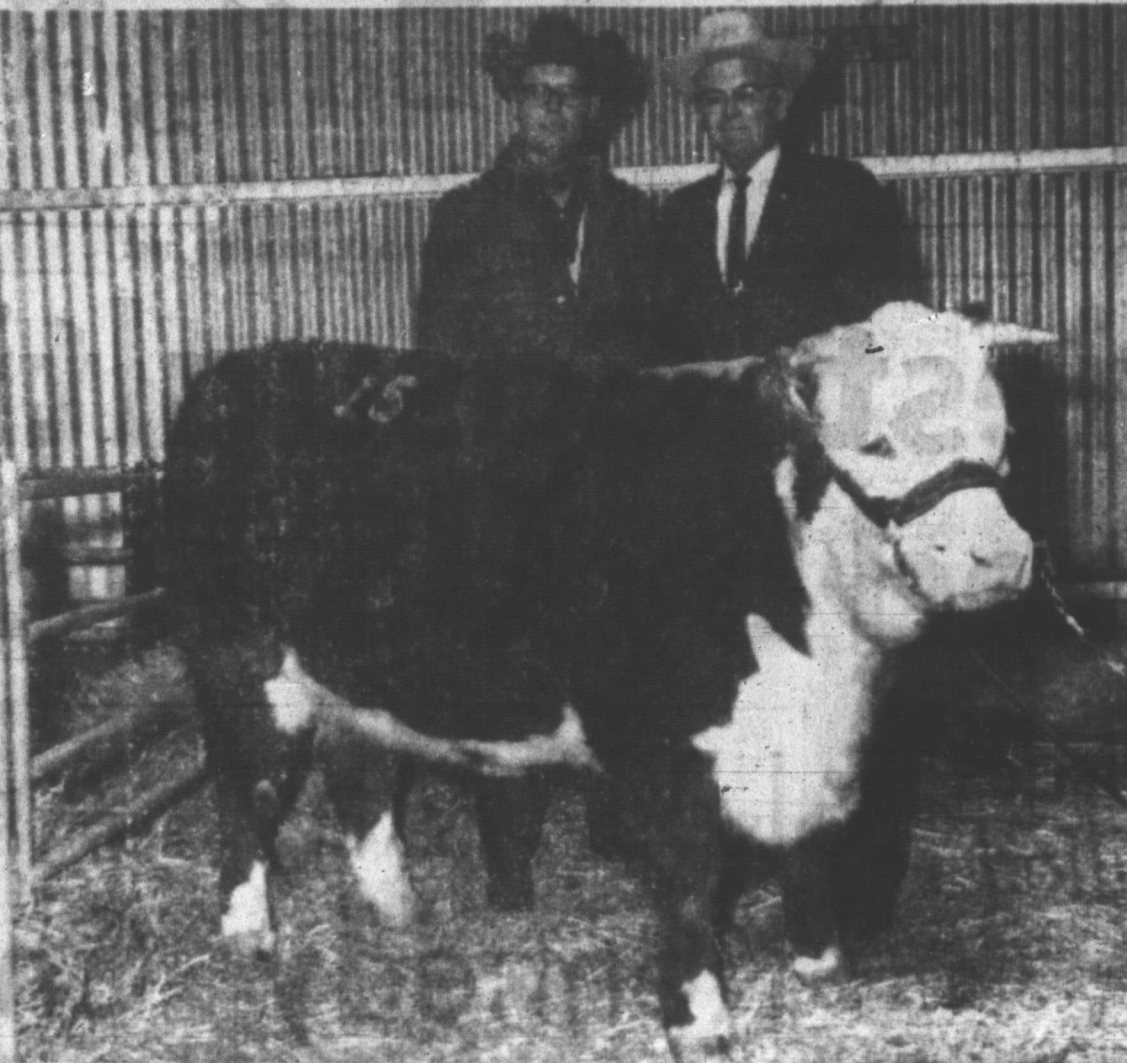

On Monday Walter J. McNerney, president of Blue Cross, estimated that hospital costs this year would increase a record 12 per cent and level off next year to a "more normal" 6 or 7 per cent.

Berke, a board member of the association representing 6,000 of the nation's 7,000 hospitals, said that higher nurses' salaries represent 60 to 65 per cent of higher expenses for hospitals.

Ways & Means was considering President Johnson's call for a 20 per cent average increase in Social Security benefits and several changes in the Medicare program.

Berke said that statistics show that elderly patients were staying longer in hospitals since Medicare started last July, averaging 13.3 days each. This, he indicated, also was driving up hospital expenses.

Berke said a study showed that the average daily expense of hospitals would be $57.93 for

Skull Believed To Be That Of Lionel Crabb's

CHECHESTER, England (UPI) — A skull found on a local beach may solve the cold war mystery of what happened to British frogman Lionel Crabb, a pathologist said today.

He said the skull spotted on the beach by a Sunday stroller, in Chichester harbor, would likely have been that of the British Navy commander who disappeared during a 1956 visit to Britain by then Soviet leaders Nikita S. Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin.

Crabb's dentist has been called in to examine the skull which had four teeth intact, pathologist Donald King told newsmen.

At the time of his disappearance, it was widely said Crabb, was engaged in underwater espionage, inspecting the ship that carried Khrushchev and Bulganin.

The then prime minister, Anthony Eden, told parliament, was not in the public interest to disclose the circumstances of Crabb's presumed death. A year later a headless body was found in Chichester harbor, two miles from the spot where the skull appeared Sunday. The body was identified as Crabb's.

In 1960 Moscow claimed Crabb "perished" during underwater espionage. But it gave no details. Some British experts said the commander was killed by Soviet security men.

King said the skull may give a final answer to what happened. "I would say the skull has been in the water about 10 years. There is a clean cut across it. But I cannot say if this was done by a ship's propeller," he said.

Civil Air Patrol To Meet Tonight

Members of the Pampa Senior Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in Lovett Memorial Library to discuss procedures of operating the A.D.F. which will be explained by Jim Leverich.

The CAP Beechcraft T-24 plane of the Pampa squadron is being equipped with $2,520 worth of instrumental flight equipment. A marker beacon, glide slope, localizer and an automatic directional finder are being installed by members of the Pampa squadron.

The marker beacon will serve to identify a particular location in space along an airway or on the approach to an instrument runway. A glide slope gives signals to the pilot to determine his angle of descent. The localizer keeps the pilot aligned with the flight path direct with the center of the runway. The ADF gives directional finding to any radio or low frequency transmitter.

Pampa's Perry LeFors Air Field is currently in the process of installing an ADF instrument landing system.

At the last CAP meeting ribbons were presented to members who had passed the Phase II examination. The following members received ribbons: Don Chisum, Kenneth Gray, Phillip Gray, Roy Smith, Andrew Smith, Ronald Hawkins, Charles Duenkel, Jr., Paul Miller, all of Pampa, and Ed Daugherty of Miami.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

The current issue of the magazine Popular Gardening and Living Outdoors has an interesting article by Gwen Schultz entitled "Look to the Sun Before You Plan". Miss Schultz says: "Have you studied the sun lately? I mean as it strikes the point on earth known as your address? Gardeners are all sun-watchers, of course, no matter where they live.

"The sun's routine sweep across the sky is so reliable and familiar that we sometimes disregard it. We shouldn't. Sunlight is the most critical factor in the success of our gardens. Other vital factors, like moisture, soil and terrain, can be artificially regulated to a great extent.

"But the sun — 93,000,000 miles out in space — we cannot touch or control. We can only adjust to it. Sometimes we seek a shield from its withering heat. Sometimes we avidly court its scanty supply of warmth and light. It is the magic wand that can create a beautiful and rewarding garden. It is a powerful determinant of your physical comfort and mental mood, wherever you live. So look to the sun; review its behavior. And maybe you'll think of new ways to make your surrounding more enjoyable and attractive.

"The sun is completely predictable, fortunately. If we keep in mind its age-old, orderly celestial course as we go about constructing and improving our homes and gardens, we can design a year-round environment of sunshine and shadow, of warmth or coolness, suited to our individual preferences.

"To do this effectively, one must consider the angle of the sun's rays and the way that angle changes with the time of day and time of year. The more direct the rays of the sun, the more energy they deliver. A plant that receives two hours of midday sunlight gets more energy than one that receives two hours of sunlight later in the afternoon, for then the sun is lower and its rays have a longer distance to travel through the absorbing, scattering atmospheric filter.

"From December 21, when the sun is lowest, until about June 21, the sun reaches a slightly higher position every day. It's a full 47 degrees higher on June 21 than on December 21 in the middle latitudes. Daily during its climb it casts and gives a longer period of light. After June 21 the reverse is true. How does that translate into sun and shadow on your plot of ground? Observe the procession of shadow and sun about your house and grounds and keep a record.

"It is not entirely correct to say the sun shines from the East in the morning, the south at midday, and the West in the afternoon. In summer it shines also from the northern part of the sky — from the Northeast in early morning and from the Northwest in the evening. It's not a powerful sun at those times, but its gentleness is what makes it so welcome in summers.

"Remember summer's northeast morning sun and northwest evening sun when planning a porch or sunroom which will be used mostly at the beginning and end of the day. How pleasant in summer to breakfast in the cheerful, flattering, still-cool light of the rising sun. In the evening, how relaxing to watch the rainbow glow of lingering twilight as the sun leisurely fades out in the Northwest.

"Look to the sun — throughout the day and throughout the year — and enjoy the added benefits it bestows on those who take the time to understand it."

Too much moisture can shorten the life of painted walls. Prevent moisture damage in crucial areas such as kitchens, bathrooms and laundry rooms by using ventilating fans or special louvers to dry the air.

7 Lefors Seniors Have Roman Holiday

LEFORS—Lefors High School seniors were honored with a Roman Holiday banquet recently in the school cafeteria. The Roman theme was carried out in Caesar's Garden setting with fountains, gold and royal purple balloons forming grape clusters.

A menu of Jupiter's Requite (ham); Patricians Privilege (green beans); Gladiators Glory (candied sweet potatoes); Laurel Wreath (tossed salad); Chariot Wheels (hot rolls); Olympian Brew (tea); Cleopatra's Temptation (dessert) were served by "Romans" dressed in gold and white togas.

The menu was prepared by Geneva Lisenbee and Stella Kellin of the school's cafeteria personnel.

The Rev. D. C. Read, pastor of First Methodist Church gave the invocation. Keith Geisler, high school guidance counselor and English teacher dressed as Julius Caesar, introduced Hall Sims, who welcomed guests with response from Marvin Finney.

Musical entertainment was provided by "Caesar's Duo", Greg Jackson and Leslie Skinner of Phillips, who dedicated a song to seniors and juniors.

Mrs. Geisler as guest speaker, humorously discussed "life and times" of high school students.

TAKE CARE OF EYES—Eyes come just two to a customer, and since they bring up 80 per cent of all knowledge and guide more than 90 per cent of our actions, tender care is essential. You should have your eyes checked at least once a year. Remove eye make-up thoroughly each night with a light cream or moisturizing cleanser, then smooth on your favorite eye cream for further pampering.

Dear Abby... Walking To School Will Solve Problem

DEAR ABBY: My daughter (I'll call her Linda) goes to high school and her first class begins at 7:55 a.m. Her father drives her as he goes right past the school on his way to work.

The problem is my husband. He pokes around so much before he finally gets going that he's made Linda late for school several times. And when she's not late, she barely makes it. Linda gets so nervous and upset she can't keep her breakfast down. I have begged my husband to be more considerate, but every day it's the same story.

allowed as many guests as we wish, and they're asking us to please fill in the number. Who is right?

"TWO OR FIVE" DEAR TWO: You are. Under no circumstances should invited guests include others without first checking with the hostess. She wants to know whether both you and Mr. Smith will attend. The answer is TWO.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A MOTHER'S RIGHT" IN ST. LOUIS: Physicians are forbidden by law to dispense birth control pills to minors, no matter what their mothers' say.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns his own business and he travels over a large territory, which means he must be away from home over the week - end quite often.

He keeps asking me to meet him out of town for the weekend as he gets lonesome for me. Abby, we have three children, 8, 10, and 13, and altho I can always get someone to take care of the children, I have mixed emotions about running off and leaving them just to keep my husband company. What would YOU do?

MIXED EMOTIONS DEAR MIXED: I would join my husband as often as common sense and practicality allowed. I would rather have someone taking care of my children than my husband.

DEAR ABBY: We have received several wedding invitations with a smaller card included which reads as follows: Mrs. and Mrs. — will attend. Number of guests—

The outer envelope was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith and the inner envelope was the same. Is it proper to fill in Mr. and Mrs. Smith plan to attend, and the number of guests if FIVE? (This includes our two children and my husband's mother who makes her home with us.) I say that since there was only Mr. and Mrs. on the envelopes, they want only the two of us. My husband says that we are

Dietitians Okay Pizzas For Kids

By GAYNOR MADDOX, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Q—My teen-age children are crazy about pizzas. But I've been told that pizzas have no food value and that mothers should discourage children from eating them. Is that right? A.—Your children will be pleased to learn you are wrong. A study of the food value of pizzas in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association (Feb. 1967) states: "Pizza, already accepted as a tasty food, is a nutritious food. While pizzas can by no means be considered low-caloric, they contribute substantial amounts of protein as well as carbohydrates and calories to the diet." The pizza pies studied were prepared from shelf mixes, refrigerated mixes, home recipes and commercially frozen. Q.—The school dietitian keeps telling my two daughters they should eat more citrus fruit. Why? A.—Because oranges and grapefruit are one of the main sources of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) which is needed in the diet every day to maintain optimum health.

THE STRONG ARM of Sam McDowell could mean the difference between a good and poor year for the Cleveland Indians. The lefthander was 9-8 for Cleveland last year, but arm problems curtailed his effectiveness.

IN TRAINING CAMPS Powell, Brooks Shine for Birds

United Press International — It was only a squad game homer but it made the Baltimore Orioles feel that everything is going to be all right with Boog Powell this year.

Powell's homer and a grand slam homer by Brooks Robinson were the big blows in the Billy Hunters' 11-3 victory over the Gene Woodlings Wednesday. Robinson's homer was the big blow as far as the score was concerned but Powell's homer was the big blow in the Orioles' long-range view.

That's because the Orioles were concerned whether the 245-pound first baseman would hit his stride early this spring. It wasn't until mid-May that Powell hit his stride last season.

Phoebus Possible Starter Tom Phoebus, who broke in with two straight shutouts for the Orioles after being recalled from Rochester of the International League last September, was the winning pitcher. He is regarded as a possible starter because of the many lame arms among Baltimore pitchers.

Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris displayed early-spring batting form for the St. Louis Cardinals; the New York Yankees announced that Mickey Mantle will play first base in their opening exhibition game; and Manager Gene Mauch became concerned when Richie Allen again failed to reach a salary agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Cepeda went 3-for-3 and Maris had a run-producing single in his first at-bat in the Cardinals' six-inning intra-squad game.

Taylor Pitching Start In other camps: Jim Hickman's two-run double featured the Los Angeles Dodgers' intra-squad game. Mike Ryan and George Scott had two hits each in the Boston Red Sox' camp game. Ron Taylor was the most impressive pitcher in the New York Met's squad game.

Orioles pitcher Eddie Watt suffered a possible nose fracture when hit by a ball thrown by catcher Vic Roznovsky. Detroit Tiger Vice President Rick Ferrell demanded further explanation of the Chicago White Sox "double pinch hitter" experiment and General Manager Jim Campbell said, "We'd prefer to play the spring games just the way we'll play them all this summer. I see no advantage in this rule."

Art Shamsky's home run produced the only run of the Cincinnati Reds' intra-squad game. Mike Cuellar, Dave Giusti and Claude Raymond combined for a shutout in the Houston Astros' final intra-squad game. Gene Oliver's three-run homer was the big blow of the Atlanta Braves' workout.

DODGER-GIANT RIVALRIES are classic in the National League, but there's more friendliness on the part of the Dodgers when the Giants come from Tokyo instead of San Francisco. Los Angeles' $100,000 pitcher, Don Drysdale, gives a form lesson to Shalir Kaneda. The teams are training at Vero Beach, Fla.

Baseballers Open Today, Canyon Next

Spring sports opened in earnest at 1 p.m. Saturday for Pampa High Schoolers. Pampa high golfers leave for today with PHS baseballers opening pre-conference warfare by playing host to Borger at Optimist Club Park.

The baseballers host Canyon at 5 p.m. Friday and Liberal, Kan. in a doubleheader, beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Lubbock early Friday where they will shoot, qualifying rounds for the start of the first round of district competition Saturday.

The Harvester track squad participates in their third meet of the year Saturday, going to Dumas for the Dumas Invitational.

Yanks, Sens Open Exhibitions

By United Press International Major league baseball began the final step in its annual spring ritual Thursday as the New York Yankee and Washington Senators kicked off the 1967 spring training exhibition season with a game at Pompano Beach, Fla.

The opener of the month-long Grapefruit League pitted the two teams that will open the American League season at Washington April 10. Exhibition action gets into full swing with six games slated for Friday and a full load of 10 games on tap for Saturday.

In Friday's Florida action Cincinnati meets Philadelphia at Clearwater, Houston plays Washington at Cocoa, World Champion Baltimore hosts Minnesota in a night game at Miami, the White Sox battle Boston at Sarasota and Kansas City faces Detroit at Bradenton. In the only Arizona clash the Cubs take on the Giants at Tucson.

The Pirates and five American League teams will play exhibition games outside the United States during a grapefruit league season that lasts until April 9, when the teams wind up with a full slate of activity.

Pittsburgh will face Baltimore at Ponce, P.R., on March 31 and April 1, and then play host to the Yankees the following day. The New Yorkers will battle the Red Sox at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands on March 31. The Twins and Athletics will clash in the remaining games outside the U.S. The two teams will play a four-game set March 16-19 at Caracas, Venezuela.

Purse Listed For PGA

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — A "minimum" purse of $150,000 for the 1967 Professional Golfers Association championship tournament July 20-27 at Denver and a television blackout for the championship in Denver and the surrounding area, was announced Wednesday by the PGA.

The executive committee of the PGA also voted to abandon the playing captain system for the American Ryder Cup teams. President Max Elbin said a non-playing captain will be designated for the 1967 team in consultation with other members of the squad, which will be named after next month's Masters championship.

"The players themselves will prefer this system," said Elbin. "It's hard for a playing captain to be completely objective, especially in fitting himself into the daily pairings."

FINE THING!

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Jockeys Laffit Pincay Jr. and Bill Mahorney were fined $100 each Tuesday for being involved in a fight last Saturday in the Santa Anita jockeys' room.

The fight took place after the third race in which Pincay rode Squad Leader and Mahorney was on Faithful Ruler.

NFL-AFL To Hold Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National and American Football Leagues, agreeing to select only players who have completed their college football eligibility, announced Wednesday they will hold their first common draft beginning next Tuesday at New York's Gotham Hotel.

Twenty-five teams—16 in the NFL and nine in the AFL—will pick for 17 rounds, with 445 players expected to go in the draft. The order of selection is basically based on won-lost percentage of the combined 1966 standings of both leagues.

Title Shot Waits Winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former lightweight champion Ismael Laguna of Panama is an 8-5 favorite to beat Frankie Narvaez Friday night in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden that is expected to earn the winner a shot at Carlos Ortiz' title.

Laguna held the title briefly in 1965—winning it from Ortiz on April 10 and losing it back six months later. He has a record of 44 victories against four losses and a draw while Narvaez is 30-4-1.

The former champion is the No. 1 contender for Ortiz' title, and Narvaez is ranked second.

The two fighters' contrasting styles are pointed out by the nicknames they have chosen for each other. Narvaez calls Laguna the "road-runner" for his darting defensive style, and Narvaez is known as "the bull" in Laguna's camp.

The short, compact Narvaez charges in on an opponent, continually keeping up pressure with left jabs and an overhand right while Laguna moves in and out with jabs and frequent leads with his right.

More than 10,000 fans are expected for the fight, although it has been almost overlooked in the local newspapers and on the radio and television while the coming Cassius Clay-Zora Foley heavyweight title bout grabs most of the attention.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who will head both leagues when the merger is completed in 1970, said the draft should run at least two days. The selection time for each team has been reduced from an hour to 15 minutes.

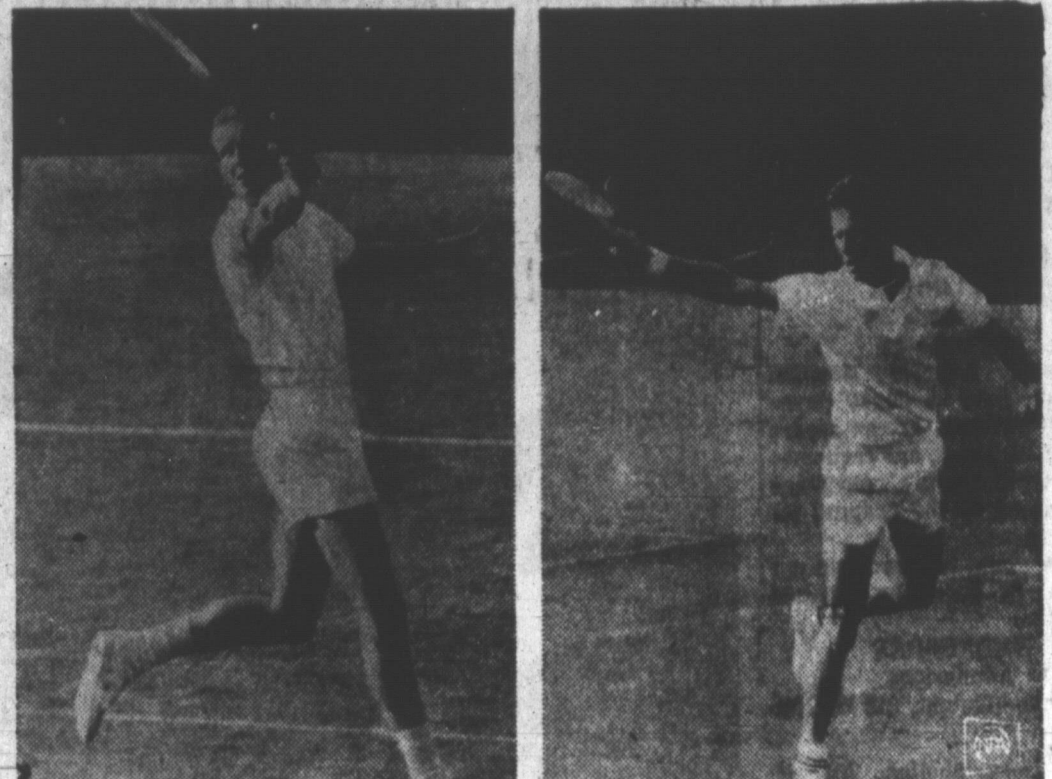

The draft, normally held in late November or early December, was delayed because of the so-called "red-shirt" draft of players whose class had graduated but had a year of eligibility remaining.

Vince Lombardi, coach of the Green Bay Packer and chief exponent of including red shirt choices in the regular draft had objected to the exclusion of the red shirts when the subject was brought up at the time of the merger last year and was voted down in the recent NFL meetings in Hawaii.

The New Orleans Saints, the newest NFL franchise, were awarded 20 extra selections, with Baltimore receiving the Saints' first choice in exchange for quarterback Gary Cuozzo.

The New York Giants, whose 1-12-1 record was the worst in the NFL last season, had been given the option of choosing first, presumably for a quarterback, as a provision to the merger, but the Giants traded the privilege to Minnesota Tuesday for quarterback Fran Tarkenton.

STU PLAYS TONIGHT Nebraska Joins NIT Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Southern Illinois and St. Peter's didn't exist, the National Invitation Basketball Tournament selection committee would have had to invent them.

The two schools provide the perfect colorful backdrop for the opening of the tourney tonight—a matchup that would sound implausible if you made it up.

SIU comes in as the small college national champion that spurned a bid to the NCAA small college tourney to enter the NIT and prove it deserves major college status.

St. Peter's of Jersey City, N.J., is already a major college even though it's an 11-point underdog and nobody outside of the New York Metropolitan area ever heard of the school.

Both teams are determined to prove they're better than generally given credit for and what will actually happen when the two teams collide is the unanswered question that will draw the crowd into Madison Square Garden tonight for the opening of the 30th annual NIT.

Villanova, the third place finisher last year and runnerup in 1965, will play Marshall in the first game before SIU and St. Peter's clash. Villanova is a three-point pick.

Nebraska, the Big Eight runnerup, was the 13th team named to the field Wednesday. Either North Carolina or Duke will be No. 14—depending on their finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney starting tonight.

The SIU-St. Peter's game will also feature a clash of contrasting styles. SIU coach Jack Hartman played for Hank Iba and is a great believer in Iba's controlled style of play while St. Peter's coach Don Kennedy believes in the Ed Hickey brand of fast-break basketball.

The Salukis (a Saluki is a type of hunting dog) bring a 20-2 record into the NIT including victories in their last 15 games. St. Peter's comes in with an 18-5 record although it lost its last three games of the season—blamed on a letdown after receiving the NIT bid.

Bowling Breaks By Gil

GIL BURGUND

Believe it or not the bowling season is rapidly drawing to a close. City tournaments are over. Sunday the Womens' Traveling league made its last appearance in Pampa and the Celanese Mixed league have finished their schedule with several weeks of special events taking place.

The Champions are Yvonne and L. D. Thomas and Marie and Pete Parks who won a playoff against Retha and Bill Oler and Ernestine Pulse and Ernie Grady. Later Ernie Grady teamed up with Elaine Riddle and took first in a special doubles with Anita and Jack Davis taking second.

Downhill Side

Last year the Amarillo paper had a cartoon showing a bowling proprietor wearing gloves and earmuffs out in the snow putting up a sign that read "Summer Leagues Are Now Being Formed." (Just a little hint.)

Candice Merrell had her first 200 proving that a wild backup still gets a lot of pins. We certainly had a variety of splits this week, with Leona Williams, 6-7-10; Mary Broadbury, 3-10; Eva Bennett, 5-8-10 and the 5-10; Minnie Cable, 3-10; Nan Lacher, 5-7; Mary McCord, 3-7-10; Jack Mosley picked the weird looking 3-7-8-10; Elsie Gerik, 3-7-10 and Rita Stedum, 2-7-10.

Rosa Warminski with a 543 and Irma Beck with a 564 and neither having a 200 is unusual although Irma came close with a 199.

This is one that I like, Judy Russell, one of the girls in our PE bowling class rustled up some coke bottles in order to get in some extra bowling practice.

Florence Mounce, Donna Bates, Inez Snider, Elsie Gerik and Frances Bessire were showing the pictures they had taken at the ladies state tournament. Due to an odd angle in the back ground Inez Snider appeared to be wearing an attractive crown, maybe next time we will have all the gals from Pampa wear crowns.

Florence Bittie and Jim Rkoord almost lost their Junior Classic crowns by default to Linda Tillman and Danny Winter, but after keeping Linda and Danny on needles and pins, chewing their fingernails, Florence and Jim showed up just in the nick of time and held the title.

Summer Leagues

Everybody seemed to be on the downhill side this week. Laverne Devall had a 135-130-125; Frances Brown, 147-143-139 and Emmanuel Gutierrez, 124-120-116, while I just can't imagine Tiny Harmon with a 99.

Certainly hated to lose Shirley-Winters to sunny California, but nice to see Ron Browning once again after his tour of duty with Uncle Sam. Then, too, La Mona Hendricks just had to show me a picture of Mike Sullins looking very handsome in his uniform.

Jerry and Ricky Goodwin always manage to get in a little bowling whenever they are in town. Trina Frost, Patty Glover and Helen Reed also seem to always find a little time to visit the lanes on vacations.

Danny Cox, Charles Snuggs and Charles MacDonald also get in a little practice now and then. Bill Workman tried out his bowling arm again after nearly a years' layoff.

The Kotara families from Groom are regular addicts of the Saturday night Frolic and always reserve a couple of lanes well in advance while Candice Merrell and Linda Jordan, not to be out done, have reserved lanes each weekend up until May.

I think you might call that being bitten by the bowling bug, and that's the way we like it. Lets get more and more bowling addicts and here's hoping to see you at the Lanes.

Monroe Leads UPI Star List

By United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Earl Monroe of Little Winston-Salem college, a 6-foot 3 phenom who is closing in on the single season college basketball scoring record, today emerged as the top point-getter on the 1967 United Press International small college All-America team.

The 21-year-old senior from Philadelphia, who is averaging an incredible 42.7 points per game, joins a group of talented performers from four of the nation's top 10 ranked small college teams on this year's All-America squad.

Walt Frazier of top-ranked Southern Illinois, Sam Smith of second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan, Harold Booker of seventh-ranked Cheney State and Phil Jackson of eighth-ranked South Dakota completed the first team as selected by sportswriters and broadcasters from across the nation.

Booker, Jackson Repeat
Booker and Jackson were the only repeaters from last year's first team, while Monroe was a third team choice in 1966. Booker and Frazier both have another year of eligibility remaining.

Don Carlos of Otterbein, a third team choice last year, moved up to a second team berth this year and headed a squad that consisted of American International's Frank Stronczek (the nation's leading rebounder); Elbury Miller of Nevada Southern; Jerry Newsom of Indiana State and Al Tucker of Oklahoma Baptist. Newsom was a second team choice last season.

Maribert Pradd of Dillard University (La.), a 40-point plus per game scorer who has been tabbed as a first round choice by the American Basketball Association, was named to the BOSTON (UPI)—Hal Greer wore an "I told you so" grin when he was carried off the court on the shoulders of his teammates.

Greer, the spunky Philadelphia guard was glad to be resting. He had just netted a 40-foot set shot with three seconds remaining in an overtime session that beat the Boston Celtics 115-113 Wednesday night and earned the 76ers their second straight Eastern Division championship.

The veteran backcourt man, who scored a game high of 37 points was playing on sheer guts to help nail down the title. He suffered a cramp in his right leg with about five minutes to go in regulation time and grimly held on in the extra session.

Predicts Title Win
"I told a writer before the season started that we'd win the division title by six or seven games," Greer chortled in the dressing room as Philadelphia players passed around the beer in celebration. "Look at us now. We're leading by eight games." Philadelphia Coach Alex Hannum will have his 76ers practicing a lot in the coming days as the club seeks to break a Boston stranglehold on the National Basketball Association title that has brought the Celtics nine consecutive championships.

Hannum said he had played his regulars more during the season, but worked the subs well in practice sessions. It was the regulars, naturally, who carried the ball Wednesday night to set a new club mark of 63 victories in a season and top the record of 62 previously established by Boston.

Score Despite Injuries
And they did with minor injuries picked up during the battle. Bill Cunningham, who hurt an elbow during a second period fall scored 21 points for Philadelphia. Wilt Chamberlain sustained a groin injury in a third period scramble for a loose ball, but stayed in to contribute 17 points, control the boards and pass off for scores. Wally Jones bruised his right knee in a first quarter collision with Sam Jones, but went on to tally 16 points.

It was Chamberlain, Cunningham and Greer who led a drive that made up a 15-point deficit in the third period. Greer hit on nine points early in the fourth quarter to close the gap.

Philadelphia finally edged into a 102-100 lead only to lose its chance at winning the game in regulation time when Bally Howell tipped-in the tying basket at the buzzer.

Americana and the Railroads

Students of history, railroad buffs, teachers, writers and others will find the eleventh edition of the "Railroad Film Directory", released by the Association of American Railroads to be of extraordinary interest. The Directory is a guide to more than 345 films and slidefilms owned by or relating to the American railroads.

There are films for child and adult entertainment, films on safety, films on freight handling — one is even based on the ever-popular children's classic about "The Little Engine That Could."

These films are far more than a dry documentary of an industry. One is entitled "The Great Train Robbery", the famous pioneer film production by Edison in 1903. Others have to do with the Civil War period, the opening of the West, Indian ceremonies, inventions in America's growth, the logging railroads of the West iron ore from Labrador, tomorrow's railroading, etc. through an almost endless list.

The "Railroad Film Directory" is in effect a directory of American folklore. This is logical, since the rails have been and are the backbone of the American transportation system, and during most of the life of the nation have been closely associated with the important events that have shaped American history. The story of the railroads is the story of the United States.

A Fading Myth

A popular myth about government debt is "running into more and more trouble. In essence, that myth is the politically fomented belief that deficits and the rising debt of the federal government are nothing to worry about because "we owe it to ourselves". Many a candidate has been elected to public office on the strength of this irresponsible thesis, which explains in large part the steadily depreciating value of the dollar and increasing inflation.

Now a brief item in U. S. News and World Report stated, "Debt will be a matter of growing concern. Debt interest alone is headed for a 14-billion-dollar total and rising. That's on federal debt, and it exceeds the entire federal budget of any "New Deal" year . . ."

If debt is no burden because "we owe it to ourselves", then why should the government pay $14 billion interest each year on the funds it borrows? Why not just ask our citizens and institutions to turn over their wherewithal to Washington with no strings attached. Since we are all allegedly one big family, why should the thrifty investor collect interest on borrowings that are to be used for the public good. Better yet, why not repudiate the entire interest obligation of some $14 billion — a year?

Why? Because repudiation would end with the financial collapse of the government. This is the implication of the "we owe it to ourselves" philosophy.

On Resisting Inflation

We have every sympathy for housewives who want lower food prices. However, we have a sneaking hunch that a little investigation would turn up some inconsistencies.

For instance, if you were to follow Mrs. Brown home you'd probably find her being met at the door by her seven-year-old Wilbur with the following ultimatum:

"Mommy, I just saw on television a Super Z-Ray Cannon that shoots genuine atomic warheads and it costs ONLY $24.95. Will you buy me one, Mommy? It's ONLY $24.95."

At the home of Mrs. Smith, the one who carried the sign demanding a cut in meat prices, there'd be a different demand, this from five-year-old Sissy:

"I have been watchin' Uncle Zuk on the television and you know what? For ONLY $39.95 you can buy me a Genuine Hollywood Screen Test Kit Including Hair Dye. And I want one."

Mrs. Jones, the lady who denounced high food prices for the reporters on camera, is silent at dinner because Junior has the floor. Seems he has been looking at cars. He can get a Caramba, with bucket seats, four on the floor, tachometer, stereo tape system and 440 inches of power, all for only $3,495 delivered. Or he can get a Palomino similarly equipped for ONLY $3,695.

Since today's moppets get what they go after, there's a good chance that Wilbur, Sissy and Junior will end up with these things, and meanwhile, their mamas will do their utmost to stop inflation in food prices.

Maybe the men who run the groceries and supermarkets ought to make some changes in their advertising copy. We might suggest:

Super-steaks for Sizzling, ONLY $2.98 a portion.
Milk With Built-in Glamor, ONLY $1.89 a fifth.
All the Vegetables Your Family Can Eat in 1967, ONLY $1.995.

Obviously nothing can be high-priced if it costs ONLY a certain amount. And obviously it is priced at ONLY so many dollars.

That's the ONLY way of looking at it.

A Priceless Resource

Other than agriculture, the two primary sources of employment are government and business corporations. As population expands, business inevitably becomes bigger in order to meet the needs of the people. As business gets bigger and bigger, it runs the risk of becoming like big government insofar as the individual is concerned. Restrictions and conformity are potential evils of bigness that can be as destructive in business as in government.

The chairman of the board of one of the biggest oil companies in the world recently commented on the individual in a corporation. Mr. Michael L. Halder of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) believes that "When a company loses sight of the significance of the individual, it squanders its most priceless resource. For what after all, is progress? It is a continuing, constructive assault on the status quo . . . It is a process that requires people to stretch their minds and stick their necks out. It requires conviction and courage. But courage and conviction are not enough. If people are to realize their full creative potential they must be given room to spread their wings, test their concepts, and make the mistakes by which all of us learn. They must be encouraged to look upon the company . . . as an association of purposeful human beings bound together in a common, creative endeavor."

Recognition of the importance of the individual is the basis of our national strength and freedom.

Exciting (ugh) New TV Season

NEW YORK (NEA) — This is the time when the television networks decide on their new program lineup for the coming season. And as regular readers know, we usually look into this matter and report on what the home screen will be offering next autumn.

Unfortunately, it is not going to work out that way. After making several calls to our sources in videoland, we find that the new television schedules are far from firm.

This delay is quite understandable, of course. Turning out a new array of adult entertainment is a very difficult business, requiring a staggering expenditure of imagination and creativity.

Consequently, we do not have a list of the new programs. So, our report on the television highlights for next season is completely unauthoritative — but not completely unreasonable, as any true video viewer will see at once.

NEWS AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

New Perspectives — True-to-life interviews with actors playing the parts of illustrious dead people and giving their probable opinions and analysis of today's current events.

Inside Government — On-the-spot interviews and searching examinations of leading public officials by a highly trained team of physicians, psychiatrists and certified public accountants.

Person To People — Each week the Camera takes you to another restricted neighborhood, country club or prep school — places you can actually visit through the miracle of electronic living.

SCIENCE AND EDUCATION
Capital Punishment — Every Thursday evening a different crime is reported, its background analyzed, and the criminal executed in a thrilling on-camera finale.

Vicarious Monkey — Watch veteran video sportsmen each Saturday morning at 11 as they take a different drug or narcotic and report on its effects while they actually consume it.

Inside Report — Complete review, analysis, history and evolution of the most important national organs, with actual X rays, fluoroscopes and cultures taken from famous celebrities of stage and screen.

ADVENTURE AND DRAMA

Double Agent — A young college student who feels he might like a career in espionage tries it out by working for both sides. Final episode of series reveals which government he finally chooses.

Hopalong Carnaby — A two-tisted hairdresser moves into Dodge City.

Inside Voyage — If you liked the movie, you'll love this exciting adventure of two mininants who get lost on their way into a man's brain. Each installment tells of their adventures in a different organ.

SITUATION COMEDY
I Try — Rollicking good fun as a bumbling CIA man is assigned to run the United States while his boss is on home leave in China.

Vidiot — Two 9-year-old boys and their pet pony run away to New York and find themselves running a big television network.

Inside Out — Two astronauts (one of them is a teen-age singing star) cross the time warp and discover they are lost inside an automobile engine. Each installment is their adventure in a different part of the motor.

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION

Just Folks — Ordinary citizens sit around each evening with host Johnny Carson and chat about what they've been doing lately, whom they saw at the store and what their plans are. Occasionally, celebrities join in.

Splitville, U.S.A. — A hilarious fun game in which recently divorced couples are brought together in the studio for an hour while the host and a panel of celebrities try to guess why they split up.

House Call — A panel of physicians, surgeons and psychiatrists try to beat the clock and diagnose the ailments of contestants selected from the audience. Winners get free operations.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

While doing some research on an unrelated matter we came across an interesting bit in view of what's happened since. Just 35 years ago this summer when Franklin D. Roosevelt was running for President for the first time, Democratic party news releases attacked the incumbent Hoover administration, thus: "Turn the spendthrifts out."

And further: "The performances of the past two years have wiped out previous gains in the way of reducing our national debt and have brought it to the astonishing total of nearly $20 billion." Well, it's nice to know the Democrats at that time were concerned about the size of the national debt. Not many of them have shown much interest in it since. With all the deficit spending, since 1932, mostly by Democratic Presidents, it is now up to more than $320 billion — and still rising.

Today's smile: A butcher in a supermarket was displaying a roast of beef to a lady customer when she asked: "Aren't you giving me a lot of bone in that roast?" "No," replied the butcher, "you're paying 96 cents a pound for it."

One of the big rubber companies plans to market a tire later this year that can be driven hundreds of miles after a puncture deflates it, yet it will cause no damage to the tire rim. When it loses air pressure, the sidewalls fold in and the tread contracts, forming a tight bind that hugs the wheel rim securely. What next?

Thoughts while shaving: There wasn't any CIA in those days, but there was a lot of cloak-and-dagger action during the American Revolution. When John Jay and Benjamin Franklin were serving as peace commissioners in London in 1781, they sent messages to the colonies written in invisible ink. The messages became legible when a second fluid was brushed over the paper . . . And in colonial times folk put much store in the power of beads. They believed amber beads could cure a sore throat, and red beads were supposed to stop a nosebleed . . . Studies show the average man loses his temper about six times a week. A woman loses her temper about half as often. But women get mad most frequently at other people, while men's tempers flare up over inanimate objects such as a flat tire, a missed train, or some such happening . . . "There are 36,000 ways to earn an honest living in the United States," so says a press release from New York's Department of Labor. Fortunately the release doesn't enumerate all of them. . . . The baseball season opens officially every year when the President of the U.S. attends the opening game of the Washington Senators and tosses out the first ball. That custom was started back in 1910 when President William Howard Taft was invited to pitch the horsehide. It

Question Box

QUESTION: Can majority operated tax-supported schools successfully teach economics? If not, why?

ANSWER: Economics means to economize—to satisfy a want with the least effort over a long period of time.

Economics is, in the first place, based on morality, on voluntarism, where both parties in any exchange believe they are making a profit either spiritually, intellectually or materially. They should include all three kinds to be the most profitable. But tax-supported schools are used in collecting taxes to pay for the schools, and compulsion is used in forcing the youth of the land to attend the schools, and compulsion is used in forcing them to read the textbooks made mandatory in all schools by the politicians who naturally are going to choose books that reflect well upon themselves.

The local schoolteachers in the little red schoolhouse could teach economics much better than the schools operated by bureaucracy out of Austin or Washington. That is true because control of the little red schoolhouse was close to home and was exercised by people who better understood what economy means.

Another thing, which the schools are centralized, no one can write and sell a book based on voluntarism on morality to government schools, because as we said above, the politician buying the textbooks is naturally going to buy books which tell the activities of politicians in favorable manner and which do not teach anything which might cause the young to question the rightness of what they do.

Government schools are based on a double standard of morality, according to which the state can do things that are immoral for an individual to do. For instance, it's doubtful whether any individual would contend that he had a right to go to his neighbor and say "You must let me educate your child the way I think he ought to be educated and you will have to pay for it." Yet that is what the tax-supported schools and their advocates do.

If a man has no moral right to do a thing, as an individual, how can he delegate to an agent — the state, the school board, the bureaucracy at Austin or Washington — that which he does not have, himself?

For these reasons there aren't even any good textbooks available that could be used in tax-supported schools. The reason is, as we see it, that they could not be sold. Publishers do not publish books, if there is no market for them and no profit. Even the private schools have contributed in a large measure to making baseball the national game . . . The New Haven (Conn.) REGISTER reported in a story: "Six-time winner John Blank was entered for defense of his high jump championship." If he won it six times on sherry why change to anything else?

Country Editor speaking: "The one thing young parents should save for a rainy day is patience."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Young Diabetic Must Know His Own Danger Signals

The most serious problem your diabetic child faces is the recognition of an insulin reaction or impending coma. The former is more serious because it can rapidly lead to shock. It may start with profuse sweating and dizziness but in the excitement of his play a child may not recognize these warning signs. If there is any doubt, however, the child should eat a piece of candy or drink some fruit juice without delay. If he is having an insulin reaction this may save his life. If he isn't, the harm can be easily remedied.

Diabetic coma is preceded by acidosis which may be heralded by the frequent passage of large amounts of urine and an inordinate thirst. These symptoms, too, may be ignored by a child. In time, however, he will come to recognize the warning signs of these two complications and report them to his parents or, if he is old enough, take steps to remedy them.

Juvenile diabetes is notorious for its instability. Such things as vigorous play in the sunshine may reduce your child's insulin requirement and keeping him in on a rainy day may increase it. And change in his meal time or his school gym period will affect his need for insulin and the number of calories in his meals will need to be adjusted to compensate for the change.

Some parents still make the mistake of withholding sweets from a diabetic child. He needs his sweets but in carefully calculated amounts geared to his insulin intake, his output of energy and his rate of growth. Another misconception is that the diabetic child is more susceptible to infection than a normal child. This is a hazard of the middle-aged diabetic, not the juvenile diabetic.

Finally the question arises whether you should send your child to a diabetic camp. If he has not yet made a good social and emotional adjustment to his disease the answer is not yet, but if he has made such an adjustment, let him go to a regular camp. After all, the world he is going to live in is not slanted to the diabetic and he will want to learn to live as nearly a normal life as possible.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Our "Live Now — Pay Later" Plan

Concerning domestic policy, the President's State of the Union message was a mere recital of desirable things we would like to have, without realistically facing the fact that we cannot afford them at least until the war is over. It was exactly as if a man would call his family together and say to them: "We should have new living room furniture. We should have a new refrigerator. We should have a dishwasher, a washing machine, a television, better clothing, more vacations and all the things that every family wants." Then, having totaled up this new expanded budget, the head of the house proposes to increase the mortgage on the home and have a glorious time with every appearance of prosperity, spending the money. This will work until the home is mortgaged for its full value. Meanwhile increased interest and payments destroy the financial stability of the family and bankruptcy becomes inevitable.

Our country already owes about one-half trillion dollars more than the total value of our property. When that situation exists for an individual, he is bankrupt. In reality, that is also true of the nation, although by means of inflation, that is, confiscation of the property of its citizens, a nation can, at least for a long time, avoid actual bankruptcy. In the end it cannot do it and the proposed increase in the national debt of some twenty to twenty-five billion dollars during the next two years, with the probability that the deficit will exceed the estimate, is certainly another long step into inflation and toward bankruptcy.

The President's message does not distinguish between wants and desires on the one hand and the ability to gratify them on the other. To be sure, there is to be a six percent increase in the income tax, but that will not be sufficient to provide all the things the President proposes. The message recklessly advocates spending money we do not have, and further increases in our indebtedness. No prudent individual or head of a nation would recommend that course. To be sure we have to prosecute the war in Vietnam, but the greater part of our increased spending during the Kennedy and the Johnson years has gone for civilian purposes. We should do without these things at least until we have finished with the war.

There's nothing more important than moral education and we are reaping what we have sowed. The mess we are in in the United States today is the outcome of the education we have given and are still giving the youth of the land.

The best way to accomplish something, as Albert Schweitzer says, is by example. The professors can't set a good example in getting their salaries morally — in voluntary exchange. They are perfectly willing to have their salaries collected by the tax collector backed up by the sheriff and his guns.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

Writing in the MUNCEY INDIANA EVENING PRESS, Dr. George W. Crane recently wrote a column mentioning me and commending my suggestion that people reach their M.C.s via the letters-to-the-editor column.

As one who is bitterly opposed to Communism, I am more often on the receiving end of printed brickbats than bouquets. As a result, Dr. Crane's column was like a breath of fresh air to a war-weary anti-Communist.

Nobody really enjoys playing the role of a "heavy," and I am no exception. But, since 1961, anybody who actively opposes Communism gets a thorough "going over" with some choice descriptive language such as "superpatriot," "paranoiac patriot," "ultra-patriot," and "right-wing extremist."

Whether or not this is a coincidence is anybody's guess, but the 22nd Communist Congress in Moscow, October, 1961, directed that "anti-Communists must be wiped out wherever they are found throughout the world." Now, search your memory: do you recall hearing anyone described as a "right-wing extremist," a "paranoiac patriot" or a "super-patriot" before 1961? One is not supposed to repeat a compliment regarding oneself. But, at the risk of being "ruled out of order," I shall repeat part of Dr. Crane's column dealing with me.

"He is an intense patriot, believing firmly in an balanced federal budget, as well as all those wonderful freedoms in our Constitution."

"Hunt is a very experienced practical psychologist who has maintained a radio chain to help enlighten American good government."

"But when he also urges that you channel your letter to your Senators or Congressmen via your newspapers, he shows his 'horse sense'."

After the things Sukarno, Juan Bosch, Russia's PRAVDA and their admirers have called me, this is installment Number One to be continued! H.L.H.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Dead Sea Scrolls, a collection of hundreds of Hebrew and Aramaic manuscript fragments, were found between 1947 and 1962 in a number of caves about 15 miles west of Jerusalem. Some of the texts are estimated to be about 1,000 years older than any previously found, says The World Almanac. The finds are still the subject of intensive study by historians and religious scholars. One of the scrolls contained the complete text of Isaiah dating from the 2nd Century B.C.
