Rebel South Works On Campaign Plans

BIRMINGHAM—(AP)—Campaign plans occupied the attention today of Southern Democrats who met here Saturday for the purpose of defeating President Truman in the Solid South.

The dissident Southerners chose Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina as their presidential candidate and Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi as his running mate.

Ford Faces Possible UAW Strike

DETROIT—(AP)—The last barrier to a Ford Motor Co. strike was cleared today when the CIO United Auto Workers Executive Board approved a walkout. No date was set.

The board left it to the union's Ford Negotiating Committee to call out 116,000 production workers in 46 plants across the nation whenever it chooses.

The 22-man Executive Board approved a strike unanimously at the request of Ken Bannan, director of the UAW-CIO's Ford Department.

Bannan announced late yesterday that UAW Ford locals had voted "overwhelmingly" for the walkout to support their contract demands.

But even as the UAW went ahead with its required preliminaries to a strike, some observers continued to express belief a walkout could be averted.

The UAW rejected Ford's latest offer of a straight 13 cents hourly pay hike which would bring the average hourly pay rate of Ford production workers to $1.65.

The union's current demand is for a 21-cent package, which would include a 14-cent hourly boost, security grants and other clauses.

Summer School Graduates 14

Fifteen graduates received high school diplomas in an informal ceremony following the closing of Pampa High School's summer session Saturday.

Principal Frank W. Wilson awarded diplomas to Betty Campbell, Pasty Sillyman, Virginia Wylie, Ray Babby, Richard Dillman, Don Emmons, Bob Housh, Jimmy King, Bill Kribbs, Billy Largent, and Dale Miller.

Josephine McCracken, Jimmy Hunter, and Billy MacArthur.

These summer classes, designed for students who lack only a few credits to graduate, who may wish to take extra work, or who may have fallen behind in their grades, are held for eight weeks.

Each student may take one, two, or a maximum of three one-half unit courses. Each class meets six days a week for an hour and a half each day, Wilson said.

Moscow Sends Down Orders To Communists

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst.
The intensity of the battle between democracy and communism in such important theaters as Germany and Italy has largely obscured a recent and important change in Moscow's strategy for world revolution.

Communist parties of all countries have been notified that they are to take the Russian party as a model to be emulated exactly.

They are warned to conform to Marxist-Leninist organization principles.

This means that all Communists must think alike. It means that the Communist parties of America and Britain and elsewhere no longer can adapt their policies to local conditions.

Announcement of this change of policy was made several weeks ago in the newspaper published in Belgrade by the international Communist agency known as the Cominform, which is widely regarded by observers as a revival of the Comintern, or General Staff for World Revolution, which Moscow dissolved in 1943.

This development signals an end to segregation.

Speaker after speaker drew wild cheers and rebel yells from the crowd of 7,500 as they belabored the President for favoring an end to segregation.

Definite plans for the Thurmond-Wright ticket have not been announced. Leaders of the movement indicated they would vary in the different Southern states. In some, they would seek to place Thurmond on the ballot in opposition to Mr. Truman.

In others, they will ask the state conventions or state executive committees to place anti-Truman electors on the ballot as the regular Democratic slate.

Meanwhile at Columbia, S. C., Thurmond said that the South now was afforded an opportunity to show the leaders of the National Democratic Party that they would not be kicked around.

Gov. Ben T. Laney of Arkansas who decided to attend the conference only at the last moment, issued a word of caution.

From now on, said Laney, let any action by the Southern Democrats to defeat the aspirations of President Truman come through the regular state organizations of the Southern Party.

The Arkansas Governor called attention to the fact that "we in the South are outnumbered... but we are Americans... shall unite to defeat the unnumbered... political strife, now when unity is vital, merely for the sake of politics, or the personal satisfaction and ambition of any man?"

Laney's statement also pointed out the fact that delegates to the state's rights meeting with the exception of those from Mississippi and Alabama were without any direct mandate from the electorate of the various states.

Alabama's electors already are pledged against Truman and so are those in Mississippi.

Scouters Finish Leaders' Courses

Mrs. K. E. Thornton and Mrs. R. H. Nestler returned to Pampa early yesterday after completing six-day Girl Scout training courses at the Santa Fe Indian School.

Mrs. Thornton, executive, Pampa Girl Scout Association, took counselors and leaders' training courses under the instruction of Mrs. Eunice Prien of Dallas with twelve other Scout leaders.

Mrs. Nestler, leader of Pampa Girl Scout Troop 20, studied the Dancing and Dramatic Workshop course under the direction of two Dallas instructors, Mrs. Iva Lee Hobbes and Miss Ola Beckett. Approximately 15 Scouters took the course.

Trainer, Owner Disagree on How To Capture Car-Riding Lion Cub

OXNARD, Calif. (AP)—How long does it take for a pet lion to revert to his old savage self? Folks here wish they knew. They'd sleep better.

For nearly a month Henry George's eight-month-old lion cub, Frank, has been loose. A little fellow—only 163 pounds—he escaped from George's ranch.

He hasn't been seen since, but fresh tracks were found Saturday at nearby Santa Paula.

George and Trainer Horn, movie animal trainer, agree that Frank has taken to the brush and will return to town for food. But "It will be easy to capture Frank," George said in a news-

Burglars Take $1,500 in Cretney Drug Store Breakin

Using apparently little effort, burglars Sunday night broke into the Cretney Drug Store and walked off with $1,500 after prying open a small lock on a desk drawer in the store's office.

Police described the burglary as a "push over," reporting the thieves had little trouble in going through two screens in the rear, only one of them bearing small prying marks. The windows, Asst. Chief of Police J. O. Dumas said, apparently were unlocked, or locked loosely, because only faint prying marks were visible. Nothing was broken to get in.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan, also called in to investigate, said the locks on both desk drawers, where the money was taken, appeared to have been pried open with a bread knife.

The money, mostly the day's receipts, was in a desk drawer on a balcony in the rear of the store, officers said, and was secured only by a small lock. This was broken.

The $1,500 included $1,200 in cash, $200 of which was in change, and $300 in checks.

Calvin D. Foster, manager of the store, discovered the theft. He told police he left the store shortly before 11 p.m. last night and discovered the loss when he opened the store this morning.

Chief of Police Louie L. Allen said the burglars entered with a "comparative ease" in this, the first major burglary here in several months.

Several times recently, police have reported to proprietors and managers that rear windows and doors of their businesses have been left open at night.

Leading U. S. Attorney Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—William Nelson Cromwell, 94, attorney who took a leading part in the organization of the United States Steel Corp., died at his home here today.

He was a senior member of the law firm of Sullivan, Cromwell, and was connected with the transaction through which the United States purchased the Panama Canal Co. and the Panama Railroad Co. steps which preceded the building the Panama Canal.

He also was the president-founder and director of the American Braille Press, of New York and Paris.

He served as counsel for E. H. Harriman when the railroad man obtained control of the Wells Fargo Co., and directed the legal and proxy battle through which Harriman obtained control of the Illinois Central Railroad Co.

No One Injured In Collisions

There were no injuries, but three cars were damaged, two heavily, in two collisions over the weekend, City Police reports show.

The first occurred at 11:15 p.m. Saturday when a Chevrolet truck, driven by Wade Haley, Pampa, and a Studebaker car, driven by James Dial, 902 E. Francis, were in collision at the intersection of Hobart and Wilks Blvd., traveling north on Hobart.

Police with running a stop sign and driving without an operator's license. Haley was traveling west on Wilks when the accident occurred. The Studebaker's damage was estimated at $250, but no damage was listed to the truck.

The second accident occurred at most in front of the Police Station shortly after noon Sunday at W. Kingsmill and N. Russell. The crash involved an Oldsmobile sedan, driven by Mrs. Helen C. Knox, Rt. 2, Pampa, and Claude Byrd, 1212 Mary Ellen, driving a Ford sedan. Byrd was going north on Russell and Mrs. Knox was traveling west on Kingsmill. The Byrd car suffered approximately $100 damage and the Knox car about $35. No charges were filed by police.

Someone's car got lost yesterday morning on N. Russell. It was wobbling down the street minus a driver when a local girl jumped from her car and stopped it. She found the keys in and drove it up and down the street looking for its owner. Finally she gave up and left it parked, but with the brakes firmly applied.

Jews Claim Arab Troops Violating New U.N. Truce

CAIRO—(AP)—Israel charged today that Syrian and Iraqi troops are engaged in widespread offensive operations in Northern Palestine in defiance of the truce imposed by the United Nations.

Haifa dispatch quoted an official Israeli report as saying Syrian troops attacked the Jewish settlements of Eingeh, Sussita and Sha'ar Hagolan south of the Sea of Galilee.

The Syrians employed heavy guns, the report said, and firing still was going on this morning.

On the Jenin front, Iraqi troops opened heavy artillery fire on Jewish-held Zif and on Jewish positions at Lajun.

Jewish forces entered the battle which is still in progress, the report said.

In Western Galilee, Jewish forces captured four Arab villages before the cease-fire deadline. Then the Arab liberation army opened fire on the Jewish positions from Tarbikha near the Lebanese border. Jewish forces are pursuing the Arab volunteers which are fleeing, the report continued.

Arab irregulars were reported to have attacked the Tel Aviv-Haifa Highway today from Arab villages around Zikron Yaakov.

The Israeli government stated it will be forced to take operations to insure the safety of main roads for Jewish traffic.

Elsewhere in Palestine, the guns apparently were stilled under the truce.

The Arab states joined Israel yesterday in ordering a cease-fire on all fronts. The U.N. Security Council told the belligerents to comply automatically demonstrated until a permanent solution to the Holy Land problem can be found.

But the Arabs gave scant hope that the war was ended permanently.

The Arab League said the cease-fire was not being real peace to Palestine. It called the truce "a gap in an honorable Jihad (holy war) which can only terminate in victory."

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the seven-nation league, told the U.N. that the Arabs had to accept the new truce because:

The Security Council persisted in considering the continuation of the war a threat to world peace.

The council expressed a threat to apply sanctions against the Arab states if they refused to stop fighting.

Under the council's cease-fire order, failure of either side to comply automatically demonstrated a breach of world peace. (See PALESTINE, Page 8)

Truman Prepares Bill Dealing With Rising Costs of Living

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman will hand the extra session opening Monday an administrative bill to deal with rising living costs.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the President is at work on a measure embracing virtually all of the ten-point anti-inflation program he recommended to Congress last November.

"There will be a concrete bill on high prices," Ross told reporters.

He said he does not know whether it will be submitted simultaneously with the President's special message as Congress convenes on the President's call, or whether it will follow that message.

The President, he said, has not decided whether to deliver his message in person, and the date for its submission will be worked out in consultation with the Republican leadership of the two houses. Under the circumstances, Ross said, he does not know whether the message will go up Monday or Tuesday.

He said that he is "unable to say at the moment" whether the President will include any foreign affairs recommendations in his message.

He conceded that there have been some queries along this line in view of what one reporter described the increasing gravity of the situation in Berlin.

Ross said that the President conferred for an hour and a half yesterday with Sen. Barkley (D-Ky.), his running mate on the Democratic ticket.

After the conference, which dealt with the special session and plans for the presidential campaign, Barkley left for his home in Paducah, Ky.

Ross said Mr. Truman is giving a great deal of thought and study to his message for the session he called as he challenged the Republicans to carry out the GOP platform.

The President's major concern, Ross said, is to pass price control and the Taft-Hellender-Wagner long-range housing bill.

As for the price bill, Ross asserted:

"The ten-point program is still good, although it is being examined in the light of developments which have occurred since it was first submitted."

He said that it is possible that some of the points, such as one dealing with the conservation of grain, may not be needed at the time. He had no comment on the possibility of specific recommendations dealing with bank lending.

Among the ten points covered in the anti-inflation message Mr. Truman sent to Congress were proposed authority to impose rationing and price and wage ceilings if necessary.

Ross would not comment on whether the President's proposed bill would re-impose wartime price controls directly.

He said the President has not made up his mind on the exact terms of the bill.

Ross said that the Taft-Hellender-Wagner Bill has passed the Senate and is now lodged in the House Rules Committee which could send it to the floor for immediate action.

"The President's position on housing is that if passage of the bill is delayed until the January session the start of the housing program will be delayed perhaps a year or more," Ross said.

SENATOR WANTS GOV.—Senator Cordell (R-Ore.) asked friends in the West to discontinue their efforts to promote his appointment as Secretary of Interior if a Republican president is elected in November.

GENE'S CLEANINGS

By GENE GARRISON
Well, it seems as if our glass of ice cubes (serving as a crystal ball) failed us in the clutch Saturday afternoon and failed to present the complete picture of next year's Harvester football team. While sweltering in the 95 degree weather, I seem to have forgotten to mention a certain fellow who will definitely be a member of next year's Harvester squad, and may become quite prominent among 1-A-A line-men.

DID YOU KNOW THAT over $30,000 worth of watches were made in Pampa, Texas, in 1934. There were 60 watches made available to the American Olympic committee by the Longines Wittnauer Watch Company. The time pieces are now guarded by a Pinkerton guard on display in New York City.

Well, right now seems as good a time as any to pop the question. As Bill Chick, WT-NM League statistician at Abilene sends his week's reports of league batting averages, and records, I thought I'd establish a West Texas-New Mexico Hall of Fame.

Surely, there have been many stars down through the years that deserve some sort of honor which would assure their immortality. Many have done great things for the league, on the playing field as well as in the various dug-outs and coaching boxes.

At the recent All-Star tilt in Abilene, the various sports editors of the league held a dinner where they organized the "West Texas-New Mexico League Sports Writers Association." Unfortunately, this dinner had just completed the tiresome journey and was getting in his "forty winks" before Gene made it. It was definitely my plan to present some sort of suggestion to this effect, but since I missed out on the whole affair, I guess I'll have to continue my ideas to this source. Anyway, we think it's a good idea.

Speaking of all-star games, the recent one at St. Louis gained lots of publicity through some who didn't participate. At what was expected to be a mid-summer meeting of American League officials, despite the fact that the All-Star game was almost a week old, the joint started popping in Bob Feller's refusal to play. Bill Veck, Cleveland Indian president, attempted to take the whole thing off if Feller's shoulders when he stated that he told Bob not to play Veck said that the statement was an official announcement and that he hoped it would take some of the heat off his pitcher. It was a move try on Veck's part, but Feller's popularity took a decrease that some

Lions Park Opens 8 P. M.

Lions Club Park will hold its official grand opening tonight beginning at 8 o'clock when a "mock" baseball game between several city officials and a regular Industrial League game matching The Pampa News and Magnolia opens league play, which will continue there throughout the season.

All Industrial League games have previously been played at the Skelly diamond, 10 miles west of town, and Phillips diamond, 10 miles south of town.

Men from Davis Electric Company worked all last week preparing the field.

Hickson and Curtis Fight Called Draw

Billy Hickson and George Curtis fought their hour match to a draw Saturday night at the Sportatorium, and Frankie Murdock won over George Lopez in 28 minutes.

Hickson and Curtis traded Sorenberg tackles, but Curtis got the worst end of it. He was fared enough that Hickson could fall on him and take the first fall with a body pin in 35 minutes.

Curtis came back to take the second fall in 14 minutes with an abdominal stretch. With only two minutes left to go in the match, both boys came back fast and furious. They both applied several holds, but they moved so fast, and they were both so evenly matched, that neither could gain the advantage. When the time ran out with neither pinning his opponent, the match was called a draw.

In the preliminary Murdock took his first fall in 20 minutes with a single grapple. Murdock seemed to have something in his hand that he used to rub Lopez's eyes. He would apply a headlock to the Mexican judo artist, swing him around away from Referee Yaguel and proceed to rub vigorously. Lopez would come out of it, rubbing his eyes, and blinking them rapidly.

Lopez prepared for Murdock, however, and, with a series of body slams and a pin he took the second fall in one minute.

Murdock apparently figured that he didn't need whatever he may have held in his hand, because he didn't use it for the third fall. He bounced off the ropes to alarm Lopez with a series of Sorenberg tackles and a body pin to take the fall and the match in 7 minutes.

Hickson weighed in at 187 pounds, Curtis at 190. Murdock at 198 and Lopez at 190. Homer Anderson acted as timekeeper, and Paul Lefebvre was announcer.

Hot Race Ensuing Fort Worth Leads In Texas League

By The Associated Press
Texas League fans couldn't ask for a better race. With almost two-thirds of the campaign gone three teams still are in a hot fight for first place and three others are in a gang fight for the fourth spot.

Beaumont, the seventh-place club, is only five and one-half games out of a play-off berth and cellar-dwelling Oklahoma City could surge up there by hitting a warm streak. The Indians are seven games away from fourth.

Tulsa's Oilers gained a game on the leading Fort Worth Cats yesterday by trouncing Houston 7-3. The Cats were losing to Beaumont 4-1 and today only two and a half games separate first and second place.

James Patrick Seerey of the Chicago White Sox clouted his way into major league baseball's home run record book alongside such slugging sluggers Lou Gehrig, Ed Delahanty, Bobby Lowe and Chuck Klein.

The barrel-chested outfielder slammed four home runs in one game yesterday to become the fifth big leaguer to achieve the feat.

This one-man rampage overshadowed other Sunday results as Cleveland's sweep of a doubleheader from Washington 2-1 and 4-1 to increase the Indians' first place lead in the American League to a game and a half; and the Boston Braves' two triumphs over Pittsburgh, 10-2 and 3-1, which gave them an eight-game bulge in the National League pennant race.

Seerey belted his four home runs in an 11-inning game in which the White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-11, in the first game of a double header. The A's captured the second game 6-1 with the Sunday 7 p.m. curfew halting proceedings after five innings.

Lowe, Delahanty and Gehrig hit their four home runs in nine innings. Klein cracked his four in 10 innings. Gehrig was the only other American leaguer to accomplish the feat.

Three of Seerey's circuit clouts came in successive innings—the fourth, fifth and sixth. The fourth, fifth and sixth. The fourth, fifth and sixth. The fourth, fifth and sixth.

There Is More to Olympics Than Just Winning Medals

By JIM O'LEARY

(Pinch-hitting for NEA Sports Editor Harry Grayson, who is enroute to London to report the Olympic Games.)

NEW YORK (NEA)—The Olympic Games are similar to the Atlantic Ocean. Both have two sides.

Gold medals and laurel wreaths are the goal but the many hours of practice and self-denial are to be rewarded in the triumph of a bit of barnstorming.

Most of the Olympians won't come back with coveted awards but they'll come back richer in knowledge of the world.

That alone makes the Olympics worthwhile.

Many an athlete still unheralded and almost destined to die with the completion of this Olympiad, will come home with more than the fleeting fame of athletic glory. And don't think these youngsters don't know it.

California's Bob Mathias, 17-year-old Tulare High School boy, and Bob McMillen, 18-year-old Glendale Junior College lad, will represent the U. S. in the decathlon and 3000-meter steeplechase, respectively.

Vernie McGrew, Rice Institute, jumped two inches higher than he ever did before in his life to become top high jump representative.

Clarence Robinson, Brigham Young, is a sleeper in the 5000-meter race.

There is Ollie Manninen. Ollie is third man, behind Ted Vogel and Johnny Kelley on our marathon team.

The 31-year-old Gardner, Mass., factory worker really earned his trip the hard way.

Given a leave of absence since June, the modest Finnish-American has been running almost 100 miles a week, in the best shape of his life.

Teddy, Johnny and I ran up in Central Park We ran for two hours. First time I've tried that in training," Manninen said just prior to his sailing.

NEW YORK (AP)—Messrs. Sam Pian and Art Winch, of the Chicago-Gary set, were in town briefly the other day combining business and social activities. They signed Tony Zale to defend his middleweight title against Marcel Cerdan, and they talked at some length about Zale. It was a good subject, since the two ferocious middle-aged gentlemen may put on one of the best fights of the season. Winch, head of the firm's training department, professed to be worried about Zale's age. (Tony is 34 and Cerdan admits to 32 years.) "You don't know when he might crack up," Art maintained. "He can't go on forever." "He's giving it a good try," suggested a listener. "I guess that's because he works so hard and stays in good condition," replied Winch. "The first day he worked I had to urge him to get out of the ring. The city gave him a new car after the Graziano fight, but does he use it? No. He still takes the suburban 60 miles a day to train in Chicago."

Skellytown Lodge Has Two Guests

The Skellytown Rebekah Lodge met last Monday evening with Mrs. Clarice Wrinkle, noble grand, presiding.

Two special guests were Mrs. Paul Coleman of Indiana and a former member, Mrs. Ruth Groberg, of Omaha, Neb.

Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips and ice tea were served to those mentioned and Leona Yell, Marjorie Peckham, Louise

Morgan, Fannie Coleman, Ethel Austin, Mary Cowart, Glennie Anderson, Faye Weaver, Dorothy Horner, Gertrude Huckins, Florence Sullivan, Donna Crawford, Addie Fern Lick, Georgie Hoff, Edith Noble, Ray Sullivan, Vanice McAllister, and Eloise Wilborn.

A petition of membership for Miss May Faye Miller was read.

SUMMER SALAD

A delicious summer fruit salad is made from a combination of sliced fresh peaches, segments of orange, banana wedges and seedless grapes. Serve the salad on a bed of greens and top with a special dressing made from orange and lemon juice, olive oil, a dash of herbed wine vinegar, salt, pepper, dry mustard and paprika.

The average human being consumes 12 pounds of salt a year for food.

League. It is his name that is associated with mine in the McKenney-Baldwin movements which are used in tournaments throughout the country. During the war, Baldwin's mathematical ability was employed by the government in ballistics.

Although Baldwin seldom plays bridge, he is an outstanding card player. He figures every play with mathematical precision, as he did in today's hand.

North's bid of two spades over two hearts was an ace-showing bid, and did not necessarily show a spade suit.

Baldwin won the opening lead of the queen of clubs with the ace. Then he took three rounds of trumps, and when East discarded the king of clubs on the last round had a clear picture of the hand. He knew that East had held only two diamonds, and he felt sure that he had only two clubs. That left him with five and four in the major suits.

At this point Baldwin cashed the ace, king and queen of hearts, discarding two clubs from dummy, then he led the small club, which West won with the ten-spade. East was squeezed and let go a spade.

West's best defense at this point was to give declarer a sluff and a ruff, so he continued with a club. Baldwin trumped in dummy, and East let go a heart. Declarer also let go a heart, then led a spade from dummy to the king and laid down the last diamond.

Once again East was squeezed. If he let go a heart, Baldwin's last heart would be good. If he let go a spade, Baldwin would lead the jack of spades, overtake in dummy with the ace, dropping the queen, and the ten would be good for the last trick.

At trick No. 4 Baldwin had correctly read East's distribution and knew that from then on, East was going to be squeezed.

Sachet Pretties Will Enhance the Charm of Pastel Ruffled Petticoats

This modern young miss is sewing sachet-filled pretties to the ruffles of her petticoat to add to its old-fashioned charm.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Sew sachet-filled pretties to petticoat ruffles if you want to enhance the old-fashioned charm of these whispering reminders of grandma's days.

The modern young miss will find as her grandma did that because sachet powder releases its fragrance slowly, its perfume is a long-lingering one. Economical to use, too.

You might, if you wish, let the color of your costume dictate your choice of a sachet scent. Petticoats of lavender zeners, for example, could swish the clean, fresh scent of lavender sachet. Pink verberna and yellow jasmine are other floral scents which a stickler for matching things could feebly team with pastel petticoats.

If you can't swing ready-made sachet pretties on your allowance, make your own. Make small bags for sachet out of tiny scraps of satin or ribbon and sew up tightly after they are filled. These pellets can be beribboned with bows or tiny rosettes by which they are tacked to a petticoat flounce.

Love Doesn't Laugh at Royalties

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK—The trend is away from biscuits and babies—and toward biography.

Marriage used to be a private affair. Now it's a short-cut to the best-seller lists.

First it was a little cloud, the size of a galley proof, on the horizon; a book called "Roughly Speaking," written long before the war by Louise Randall Pierson. Today it's a deluge, judging from the publishers' lists.

Time was when the distaff side busied itself with a pipe-and-slippers routine. Time was when marriages were made in heaven, and not in the author's quarters of a book company. Now a bride springs full panoplied into matrimony, equipped with notebook, portable typewriter, a rough plot outline—and probably a publisher's advance.

She's ready to bring intimate things from married life—for public consumption and private profit. Woe betide the marriage-minded young man whose life or occupation isn't worth even a little story in a woman's magazine. If he's an engineer, chemist, traveler, explorer or anything else out of the ordinary, he's fair game for the nation's literary-minded misses—and that, apparently, is almost any young woman today.

Of course, if he's tall, shy, good-natured and absent-minded, so much the better, for that's the formula-type husband of the bridal biographers. And if the little woman can dream up a title with a pun or double-meaning in it, the movie rights alone will pay handsomely for all the trouble she's taken to snag him.

Mrs. Pierson wrote gaily of the joys in building a greenhouse on a shoestring in a swamp. Mrs. Pierson, a one-book girl, became the prototype of the writing wife. But it was Betty MacDonald, with "The Egg and I," who really opened the financial flood-gates.

Since then we've been blessed —to name only a few at random—with such volumes as "Throw Me a Bone" (archeology); "We Married an Englishman" (twin sisters); "We Took to the Woods" (hermit-stuff); "It's Greek to Me" (trip to you know where); "I Love My Doctor" (doctor's wife).

All over the nation, in odd places all over the world, there's the sound of the typewriters as the little helpmeet pounds out chapter after chapter while daddy's out a-hunting, or asleep. She runs up her 60,000 words the way grandmothers used to stitch a ruffled curtain. Some are good entertaining reading. Some are so personal they send shivers of embarrassment down the spine. Some are terrible. But they're all sassy and try to be funny. They lavish such exclamation points with a lavish hand. And most of them stick to the formula.

The formula starts with the Meeting. That's where Arabella meets Bill (most of the husbands have good down-to-earth American names). There's a whirlwind courtship, where, Arabella doesn't even think to ask him if searching for a bubonic plague cure ever takes him out of Hoboken, N. J. Then, suddenly, the divinely happy couple is enroute to Pampa.

BUILDING NEWS

Scale Model House Gives Vivid View Of New Home; Also Exciting Hobby

The best way to find out what your new house will look like is to build a model of it. This can be done by any amateur. It makes a fascinating hobby and results in a realistic miniature of your future home.

If well executed, the model makes an attractive mantelpiece or other decorative object for your home.

Sylvia Robbin, AP Newsfeatures artist, has some helpful suggestions on how to build such models. When she and her husband, Dr. Sidney Robbin, were planning a home they built a scale model, which when placed on the closely cropped grass of a putting green produced a photograph that looked like the real thing.

"Many people find it difficult to visualize their home from an architect's preliminary drawings," Mrs. Robbin explains. "A floor plan looks no more like a room than a map looks like the beautiful countryside.

"Elevation drawings, the architect's flat pattern of the four sides of a house, also are discouraging. They make the room seem much taller than it really is, because slope can't be shown on a flat drawing.

"A model, on the other hand, gives you everything in proportion and in the colors you plan to use."

Materials suggested by Mrs. Robbin are your floor plans, a lightweight board or piece of plywood for the base (this can represent your site on the scale you plan to use), balsa wood for construction (this is available at hobby stores), razor blades, sandpaper, a ruler, household cement, tweezers, paint, ordinary sponge for shrubbery, and celluloid for windows. (Dime store identification card cases make fine windows, she says.)

"Trace the outline of your ground floor plan on the wood base from your blueprints," Mrs. Robbin suggests. "The usual scale used for house plans is a quarter-inch to the foot. This is easy to work with and produces an interesting model.

"Erect sturdy posts at all corners of the outer walls. Quarter-inch wood, or larger, can be used for these supports, for they'll be on the inside and you won't see them. They can be glued, or nailed for better security to the base. The height of these posts is determined by measurements from the elevation drawings. By the same method erect posts in the interior of the plan to support the roof.

"Cut each wall of thin sheets of balsa wood. Cut out all windows and doors and apply exterior decoration before cementing each wall into place.

"Balsa wood is so soft that you will find it easy to mark with impressions to indicate brickwork or clapboards. These markings can be made with any strong instrument, a stylus, ice-pick or fairly sharp end of a pen holder or paint brush.

Before starting the roof, Mrs. Robbin warns, it is important to have all windows, blinds, curtains, etc., in place, so they present a pleasing appearance from the outside.

"Cement supports, like rafters or sheathing, from the ridge of the roof to the outer walls to get the proper slope," she adds.

"To stimulate a shingle effect, take narrow strips of very thin balsa wood and serrate, or nick one edge with a razor blade. Then beginning at the eaves, cement these strips so that they will overlap slightly in the manner of a shingled roof."

At this point it is well to check all details to be sure you have followed the plans as carefully as you expect your builders to follow them. Then the model is ready for a paint job. Mrs. Robbin says it will take several coats to make it look right, for the soft balsa wood soaks up a lot of filler.

Then comes the landscaping. Sponges are cut up for shrubbery, hedges and bushes. You can cut them to resemble arbutus or as round as a clipped English boxwood. Then dip them in green paint and glue them into place.

A coat of green paint for the lawn with a sprinkling of salt from a shaker while the paint is still wet, for the rough effect of grass, and another coat of salt when it is dry, produces a realistic effect.

Flagstone walls and terraces are painted on.

"The result," says Mrs. Robbin, "is a realistic model of the home you will have, as well as a fascinating way to spend your free time while you impatiently await completion of the real thing."

Emperor Nero, who was near-sighted, used a concave smeral to get a better view of the gladiatorial combats.

Classroom's Color Schemes Deflect Harsh Light Rays

More than half of the High School classrooms have been painted colors suggested by the Pittsburgh paint engineer in 1946, Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools, said Saturday.

The High School auditorium's colors were designed by the engineer in 1946. The teal-blue curtains on the stage are contrasted with varying brown hues of palomino, tan, cocoa, and medium-brown.

During the summer the plain plaster walls of the classrooms are being painted different colors, according to the color combinations outlined by the engineer. The colors used on the north and south sides of the building vary depending on the light intensity in the rooms. Some rooms have three walls painted a pastel-blue while others are a pale-green. These colors are used to reflect the light from the outside. The celotex ceilings are being painted white to reflect the light.

The front wall of each room is a palomino-brown, intended to soften harsh light-rays striking students' eyes.

In 1946 the auditorium was painted, and in 1947 the outer halls of the building. The color-combination painting was tried in the homemaking labs before being used in the classrooms.

Texas Reaches Half Billion Building Mark

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas construction contracts soared from 14 million last week, to kick the grand total past the half-billion dollar mark for 1948.

Both residential and engineering contracts were up from last week, the Texas Contractor, building trade journal, reported.

Engineering awards hit $13,221,683. The Corpus Christi Causeway project awarded by the Texas Highway Department to Austin Road Company or Dallas was the largest job of the week at $2,457,035.

Residential building added $8,585,662 and non-residential, $8,241,931 including 622 residences under $7,000; 93 homes costing over $7,000; apartments providing 286 one-family units; and 16 duplexes.

A block of salt taken from a mine in Poland contained remains of marine animals similar to those found in the Mediterranean Sea.

Summer Cabins Are Made Into Year-Round Dwellings

The thousands of Americans who own summer cabins or bungalows in the mountains, at the seashore and in lake regions will plan this summer to equip them for year-around occupancy, it was held by the Construction Research Bureau of New York, clearing house for building information.

If these houses are snug for fall and winter occupancy, more enjoyment often can be obtained from vacation in those seasons than during the crowded, hot summer months, a bureau engineer pointed out. Even if no off-season vacation is desired, ability to get away to a secluded spot from vacation in those seasons is found by many families to be a welcome relief from today's hectic living habits.

Despite today's high building costs, an adequate all-year cabin can be erected at relatively low cost. Prefabricated structures are quick and easy to put up, and they come in price ranges to fit almost any budget. Cost is governed by size.

The comparatively small cost of preparing any structure for all-year-around use does not stand in the way of obtaining this enjoyment, it was declared. The first requisite is full-thickness insulation with fireproof mineral wool walls and roof, the bureau engineer advised. Since most summer homes are little more than siding and roofing nailed to studs and rafters with the interior unfinished, it is easy to nail batts or blankets of mineral wool between these framing members. Many owners do this work themselves. If the roof and wall spaces are inaccessible, the material can be quickly blown in to these areas under air pressure.

A small oil-fired space heater in the living room will provide complete winter comfort if the cabin is insulated. Also on the market are several makes of new heaters that can be placed between floor joists with the heat grille level with the floor. Many thousands of these have been used successfully during the past two winters in emergency housing projects in the coldest sections of the country.

If insulation is installed this summer before the family occupies the vacation cabin, added benefits will be obtained because full-thickness insulation makes a building as much as 15 degrees cooler on hottest days.

Style and size of the vacation cabin or bungalow depends on where it is located and the family needs. In wooded sections, for example, the siding should produce a log cabin effect. Siding which is flat on one side for nailing to studs and the other side rounded to simulate logs is available in quantity. Prefabricated cabins also are produced in this style.

At the seashore or in open areas around lakes, ordinary clapboards or shingles are most popular for exterior siding. After the building is insulated, an interior finish of knotty pine is always in good

Storerooms Being Built in Lieu Of Basements in New Houses

Between five and six percent of the cost of a house can be saved if it is built without a basement and a first floor utility room is substituted, it was shown in a study made by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

A total of $2,102 is saved if there is no basement nor utility room, the HHFA stated, but since space must be allotted for storage, laundry and heating equipment, this can be done for $1,667. This is a net saving of $435 or six percent over the cost of $7,290. Current high construction costs in Washington, D. C., were used as a yardstick by the HHFA, which seeks to show the nation how to reduce home building costs. The figures include contractors' profit and overhead.

Because of the lower cost factor, thousands of basementless homes are being erected in all sections of the country. "The no-basement house with utility room can be built to provide a definite saving in cost and a definite increase in convenience over the house with a basement," the HHFA report stated.

Principal feature of the basementless house is that a single quickly-poured concrete slab on the ground serves as foundation and sub-floor. This costs $42 for a 26 by 32 foot house with an 11 by 12 foot utility room, in contrast to $917 for basement walls, floor and excavation.

The concrete sub-floor was covered with asphalt tile in the houses studied by the HHFA. This flooring material costing $100 less than wood flooring for the four-room house. Asphalt tile is recommended by engineers because it cannot be damaged by moisture or alkali usually present in concrete which contacts the ground. It is widely specified by architects and interior designers because of its high decorative value and long life.

Other substantial savings in the no-basement house come from elimination of $312 for wood joist floor framing and sub-floor, $94 for basement girders and columns, and $163 for basement wall footings, sills, windows and stairs.

Since the HHFA study is based on adding a utility room all costs of the addition are figured, including concrete floor slab, asphalt tile flooring, insulation, additional roof, exterior and interior walls, doors and windows. The 11 by 12 foot utility room is designed to be added as an ell to house laundry equipment and provide adequate storage space for seasonal tools, outdoor furniture, children's wheeled toys, trunks and other bulky objects, leaving a clear space of 45 square feet.

The HHFA also worked out a utility room, 21 1/2 by 11 feet, with 104 square feet more than the 11 by 12 foot room, which can be built at a cost no greater than construction of a basement.

The housing agency pointed out that numerous recent surveys show that most families prefer their laundry equipment on the ground floor; and because of the ease and safety of getting articles in and out, they want outdoor tools, furniture, and children's paraphernalia stored so that it does not have to be taken up and down stairs.

Heating equipment with both types of utility rooms is assigned to the space that otherwise would be used for basement stairs. Oil or gas-fired furnaces are recommended by the HHFA because they eliminate the coal storage problem.

New Home Being Built In Fraser Addition

A building permit was issued last week in the City Engineer's office for a $10,000 house in the Fraser Addition.

The five-room frame residence will be built by the Panhandle Lumber Company for Jack Sullivan and Jeff Lard. The house, 45 by 31 feet, is located at 1611 Christine.
