Connally Will Address Legislators In Joint Night Session

Governor Says Talk 'On Urgent Matter'

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. John Connally goes before an unusual night joint session of the legislature at 7:30 p.m. today, presumably to try to put some new life in his total legislative program.

Among other things, the governor might try to enliven his liquor by the drink bill, which appears to be on the verge of dying in a House committee.

Defectors Target Of TV Broadcast By Premier Ky

SAIGON (UPI) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky today dramatically offered Communist defectors life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness and even society status.

In a special television broadcast, Ky aimed his offer at bringing higher level defectors into South Vietnam's snowballing program for winning the loyalty of Viet Cong forces.

In unprecedented detail, Ky adopted American suggestions and promised defectors jobs, freedom, civil rights, family life, honor, welfare state benefits, the right to hold public office and even a "prominent station in society."

Ky's bid for higher level defectors—two lieutenant colonels are the highest ranking Viet Cong yet to "come in" from the jungles—followed by one day Saigon's appeal to Hanoi to pull back from the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and generally de-escalate the war in steps leading to peace.

The South Vietnamese Chieu Hoi or "Open Arms" defection program has netted 63,000 persons since 1963, government officials said. The rate has picked up to about a 1,000 or more a month recently, they said. Many observers said the success of the program is perhaps the best barometer of how the war against the Communist guerrillas is going. U.S. officials have been lobbying Ky for months to expand the program, to offer more incentives. Clearly, Ky agreed. He issued the new program details in a television address on Hung Vuong Day, a holiday honoring the legendary founder of Vietnam.

SEATO In Support Of U.S. Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. policy in Vietnam, including heavy bombing of the Communist North, appeared to have stronger support than ever today from most of the members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Diplomats in Washington for SEATO's annual strategy discussions said Hanoi's repeated refusal to accept any formula for peace talks undoubtedly had strengthened the feeling that military force was the only form of argument that eventually would move the conflict to the conference table.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk today was scheduled to give the other SEATO foreign ministers, meeting in closed session, a general review of the entire situation in Southeast Asia—diplomatic, military and economic.

Aides said Rusk would emphasize the necessity for pressing campaigns against subversion and programs for economic reconstruction even as military pressure intensified on North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

Konrad Adenauer Dies Of Bronchitis Infection

BONN (UPI) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany died peacefully in his sleep today, plunging into mourning the nation he rebuilt into a world power from the Nazi ruins and degradation of World War II. He was 91.

The iron-willed chancellor who ruled from 1949 to 1963, was struck by a gripe-like infection and bronchitis a week ago Friday. His condition deteriorated steadily and he died at his hillside home in Rhoadorf, a Rhine River village four miles from Bonn.

A medical bulletin said he "died peacefully" at 1:21 p.m. (6:21 a.m. CST). His seven children were at his bedside.

The bells of West Germany's churches sounded a knell when his death was announced and President Heinrich Lübke ordered a state funeral for "Der Alte"—the old one—who ruled longer than any chancellor since Otto Von Bismarck.

Adenauer will be buried in a family plot in Rhoadorf, beside his two wives and his mother and father.

Adenauer was respected and consulted by all of the Western world leaders, even after his retirement in 1963. He commanded the attention of the Communists and his passing was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass without comment.

Rockefeller Signs State Lottery Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York hopes its venture into the business of chance will, as painlessly as possible, produce $198 million a year for education.

In effect, the state is betting that residents and tourists will gamble $30 million each month on the lottery for a total of $360 million annually.

The first tickets are expected to go on sale early in June. The first drawing is slated for mid-July at the state capitol out of large plexiglass drums built to hold 500,000 tickets each.

A drawing will be held for each one million $1 tickets sold. Thus, about 30 persons would take home the $100,000 first prize each month—less federal, state and local income taxes, of course.

The exact prize schedule has not yet been worked out, but the one favored by state leaders would result in 6,000 prizes a month of from $100,000 down to $20.

The odds in favor of New York and against the individual are about 5,000 to one.

Tickets will be sold in banks and Western Union offices, hotels and motels, and possibly some government offices, including toll booths on the New York State Thruway.

Under the plan, the lottery would combine a horserace and two fishbowl drawings to narrow down the winning tickets.

The lottery method of raising public funds flourished throughout the United States following the Revolutionary War and prior to that were used to assist in the financing of colleges including Columbia, Harvard, Dartmouth and Williams.

1830s, lotteries fell into disrepute. But during the 1820s and puts as a result of abuses and fraud, and various state legislatures urged their abolition. In 1812, New York enacted legislation outlawing the lottery.

Brandt, chairman of the Social Democrats who had fought all of Adenauer's policies, including membership in NATO, was one of the first Germans to pay tribute to his accomplishments. Other political opponents quickly followed.

Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger heard the news during a cabinet session which was discussing a treaty Adenauer had so bitterly fought—a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons. Kiesinger read the news and ended the meeting. Flags were lowered to half staff.

"We bow in awe before this great German..." Kiesinger said.

The afternoon meeting of the Bundestag (lower house) which was the forum for so many Adenauer engagements, met only long enough to hear its president, Eugen Gerstenmaier, announce the death. As he did church bells began tolling for 15 minutes.

Rainfall Moves In. Calls Halt To Paving Work

Construction work in Pampa's overall street paving program was started yesterday but lasted for only four hours when a rainstorm moved in and called a halt.

The Lewis Construction Co. of Dumas began work yesterday forenoon on the first block of a six-block stretch on Beryl St. from Finley to Tignor streets.

But activities ground to a halt when the rainstorm moved in about 2:30 p.m. Overnight rain, and continued inclement weather prevented the job from being resumed today.

Pampa received about 40-inch of precipitation up until noon today. It brought the city's total rainfall in the Pampa area to more than two inches and was welcomed as a rejuvenator for lawns and gardens.

A fog that began to settle early this morning grew in intensity all forenoon and at noon today visibility had been cut to about three city blocks.

The noonday forecast from the Weather Bureau called for a 30 per cent probability of more rain in scattered thunderstorms late today and tonight with slightly higher temperatures in store for tomorrow and tonight.

Key House Members Still Not Ready to Admit Powell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although Democratic leaders have begun an earnest search for votes, key members said today the house is not yet ready to reverse itself and seat Adam Clayton Powell.

This assessment came as highly placed liberal Democrats drafted a statement urging the house to seat the 58-year-old congressman-elect as a step in its own interest.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and others interested in bringing the 31-2-month-old Powell affair to an end probably have at least another week to round up the necessary votes.

That is when the House expects to receive official certification from New York that Powell was the winner of a special election April 11 in Harlem, an election made necessary by his exclusion from the House March 1.

DEFENSE ATTORNEY F. Lee Bailey seems concerned with the way the murder trial of his client, Dr. Carl Coppolino, is proceeding as the state of Florida tries to prove Coppolino murdered his first wife with an overdose of a drug. Bailey won acquittal for the doctor on a different murder charge last December in New Jersey.

Inquiry Panel Calls Apollo Builders Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The company that built the ill-fated Apollo 1 moon capsule is going to be called back before congressional investigators to face newly disclosed criticism of slippages and shortcomings in its work.

Executives of North American Aviation were likely to be questioned about a summary of the confidential "Phillips report" on their company, just made available to a house space subcommittee by space agency chief James E. Webb.

In his summary, Webb said North American was called on the carpet by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in December, 1965, for "a trend of slippages, shortcomings and increasing costs."

Webb's memorandum, made available to UPI Tuesday, which summarized the extensive report of Air Force Gen. Samuel C. Phillips made during a high level NASA review of "problems" with North American between December, 1965, and April, 1966.

North American is the prime contractor for both the Apollo capsule and the second stage of the Saturn booster rocket.

NASA officials withheld Phillips' actual report on grounds that its publication could damage the agency-contractor relationship needed for a sound program.

In his summary, Webb said as capsule and booster work progressed at North American "we experienced a trend of slippages in key milestones and accomplishments, shortcomings in equipment performance and increasing costs."

"By the fall of 1965 it was apparent that the rate of the progress in both (projects) was not sufficient to meet the requirements of the Apollo program."

In the following four months, Webb said, North American, under supervision of NASA's Phillips group, "organized an extensive effort" to make corrections. He said these steps "provided some measure of confidence for improved future performance."

"I do not intend, however, to leave the impression that we were completely satisfied with North American's performance," Webb said.

Widow to Take Stand Against Coppolino Again

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — A widow, whose sensational testimony failed to convince a New Jersey jury that Dr. Carl A. Coppolino killed her husband, was ready to take the stand today in the doctor's wife-slaying trial.

Mrs. Marjorie Farber, 52, arrived Tuesday and took lodging at a local inn, presumably on notice from the state that she will be called to testify, imminently. She testified at the Freehold, N.J., trial of Coppolino last December that he hypnotized her into a "love plan" with him and told her to kill her husband. When she failed, she said, he finished the job. The jury found him innocent.

The state is trying to prove that Coppolino's greed for his wife's $65,000 insurance money and a desire to "marry a woman of some means" were motives for a wife-murder carried out with a drug of weird properties.

Greed Motive
State Attorney Frank Schaub was balked at his first attempt to show greed motive when Circuit Judge Lynn N. Silverthorn refused to admit "i evidence some allegedly threatening letters and cards written in 1962."

These, according to the testimony of a former FBI man, who testified while the jury was out of the courtroom, were admittedly written by Coppolino in an effort to frighten a nurse-anesthetist, Lucy Trichina, into leaving Riverside Hospital in Red Bank, N.J.

The prosecutor told the court the letters reached the hospital authorities and for that reason they did not reappoint Coppolino as a staff anesthetist and "his earning capacity was permanently impaired" because of that blot.

No Coronary
Schaub said he would call, and the judge agreed this was proper, the hospital director to testify to the firing and would call a Sarasota, Fla., doctor to show the defendant "never had a coronary condition." The state contends Coppolino faked a heart condition after being fired and drew $22,000 a year in disability insurance "right up to" his wife's death in August, 1965.

Author Sent Back to Prison After Continued Criticism of Communism

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — A Belgrade court today sentenced author Mihajlo Mihajlov to an additional four and a half years in prison for his persistent criticism of the Communist system.

Mihajlov was also prohibited from engaging in any public activities for four years after the completion of his sentence. The 32-year-old former Zadar University professor has served five months of a previous one-year sentence for defaming the Yugoslav system in articles published abroad.

This time he was convicted on a charge of spreading hostile propaganda.

Mihajlov could have received a 12-year term on the charge. The ban on public activities was apparently designed to curb Mihajlov's writing and political activities which last year included an attempt to start an anti-Communist magazine.

Mihajlov, who stands a mere five feet tall, showed no emotion as the court handed down its verdict.

Defense Attorney Veljko Kovacevic said he would appeal. Mihajlov jabbed back at the Yugoslavian Communist regime of President Tito and hotly pleaded innocent to the charge against him.

"I have my ideas, you have yours, but this is not hostile propaganda," Mihajlov told his Communist prosecutors Tuesday.

The 32-year-old former Zadar University professor drew laughter from spectators when he scoffed at Yugoslav authorities for denying him access to foreign newspapers. He said the foreign press could not influence his opinions.

"I have read the Communist press since childhood and I am not a Communist," he declared.

Baten Receives Commendation

Arnold E. Baten, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Baten of 940 Francis, has received a letter of commendation from his commanding officer.

Baten is stationed with the 1st Air Cavalry division in Vietnam.

"Official records show that your aircraft flew a total of 79 hours during the month of March," Army Major Emory Bush wrote in his letter to Baten.

"This is an outstanding accomplishment and is worthy of special praise," Bush said.

Baten's aircraft was subject to extreme heat, dust and a variety of combat missions from the South China Sea to the towering hills bordering the An Lao Valley.

appeal to New Delhi for a halt in the military build up.

"I credit Baten's remarkable feat," Bush said, to his initiative and diligent effort to keep his helicopter combat ready to assist the free world forces in our fight in Vietnam."

Bush pointed out that Baten not only brought credit upon himself but such feats help keep "A" Battery "Always First" in 2nd Battalion, 20th Artillery of Air Cav.

Freeman Holding 'Shirtsleeve' Talks

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI)—Freeman in an effort to calm farmer unrest over declining prices, held "shirtsleeve talks" with farm representatives from five Great Plains states today.

Leaders of major farm organizations in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and Nebraska were invited here to give Freeman their views on government farm policy.

Freeman, who arrived here Tuesday night, was accompanied on his trip from Washington by the Agriculture Department's top economist, Dr. Walter W. Wilcox, and Horace P. Godfrey, administrator of the agricultural stabilization and conservation service.

Invitations were also sent to representatives of Great Plains wheat, state wheat commissions and milo organizations. The meeting was also open to area farmers, livestock groups and representatives of agri-business.

Freeman's appearance here was the first of a series of farm meetings for the secretary in Kansas, Iowa and Indiana and a couple of speeches in Chicago.

Today's meeting opened at 10:30 a.m. CST at the Baker Hotel and was scheduled to conclude at 3:30 p.m., when the secretary was to fly to Ames, Iowa, for a similar night session.

From Ames, the secretary will go to Decatur, Ind., for a third meeting Thursday.

NIXON IN INDIA
NEW DELHI (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived today to begin a four-day visit to India and Pakistan.

Nixon, who is making a private, worldwide fact-finding tour, was scheduled to confer with U.S. Embassy officials before flying to Pakistan later in the day.

He will return here Thursday.

ARMS RACE

RAWALPINDI (UPI)—Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan told the nation's military leaders Tuesday that India was continuing the arms race despite the cut off of U.S. military aid to Pakistan and India.

In a 90-minute speech during which he reviewed the major social, political and military problems confronting Pakistan, Ayub said Western nations seeking an end to the Indian-Pakistan arms race should appeal to New Delhi for a halt in the military build up.

Officials Discuss Road Projects

City, county and state highway department officials here are working on preliminary plans to present to the State Highway Commission in Austin May 5. The plans would request estimates are not yet complete improvement projects on Alcock Street and Highway 60 through Pampa.

At a meeting here yesterday, the project was discussed, but estimates are not yet complete on the project, city manager Jim White said.

Pampa representatives to Austin May 5 will also request $46,500 for easements for a loop from Highway 60 around the city east to Highway 70, the Perryton highway north of Pampa, County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. said.

Charles Smith, district engineer, and T. R. Kelley, resident engineer, state highway department officials here, met with city and county officials and representatives of Merriman & Barber, engineer consulting firm, here yesterday.

Those expected to attend the Austin meeting are Lenning, Clyde Organ, county commissioner, Precinct 2, White, Jim Nation and Fred Thompson, highway committee chairman.

Cancer Crusade Canvass In County Nets Over $4,000

Contributions to the Gray County Unit of the American Cancer Society's 1967 Crusade totaled $5,029.80 today following the "Tell Your Neighbor" phase of the drive.

Don R. Lane, crusade chairman, said that $4,202.35 was collected in Pampa last night and there are still several areas yet to be covered.

Lefors residents contributed $156.45.

The house-to-house canvass, which was under the direction of Mrs. Bob Andis and Mrs. Jim Terry, emphasized the aspect of personal responsibility in the prevention and control of cancer. Printed material containing life saving facts about cancer were distributed along with confidential educational survey cards.

Lane asked that residents complete the cards and mail them as soon as possible.

Jury Convicts Man On Robbery Charge

A jury of 12 men convicted a 58 year-old Clinton, Okla., man of robbery yesterday and assessed his punishment at 99 years in the state penitentiary. Henry Douglas Burton was remanded to Gray County jail yesterday to await formal sentencing.

Burton was convicted of assisting in the armed robbery of $309 from Ideal Food Store No. 3 on June 18, 1966, at 901 W. Francis.

Another Oklahoma man, Zane Leonard Evans, also charged in the offense, was listed on the 31st Judicial District Court's trial docket here today. The trial was to start at 9 a.m. He has been in Gray County jail since the alleged offense occurred.

In his original address to the jury, District Attorney Bill Waters explained that the grand jury indictment against Burton was on a charge of robbery by firearms, which carries the death penalty as maximum punishment.

Since the state, by its own election, was not seeking death, the words by firearms were deleted from the charge on Burton, Waters said.

The guilty verdict was rendered at 3:05 p.m., 15 minutes after Waters and defense attorney James R. Bowers completed their addresses to the jury.

After the guilty verdict, Burton and his defense attorney elected for the jury to pass sentence.

After District Judge Grainger Melthany explained punishments the jury could allow, Waters again approached the court and offered in evidence state's exhibit No. 12, Burton's past record, which revealed he had previously served three terms in state institutions; an Oklahoma reformatory, the state penitentiary of Oklahoma and in the Nebraska state penitentiary.

After presenting the record as state's evidence, Waters called Frank Burton, 56, of Custer City, Okla., to the stand. The witness, identified as the defendant's brother, testified that the record submitted as evidence by Waters was true.

The defense attorney's reaction to submission of prior record as evidence was to take a brief recess with his client and then put Burton on the stand in his own defense.

After the trial, Bowers said he had not planned to have the defendant testify, but after Waters submitted the prior record as evidence and Burton's brother as a witness for the state, "we had nothing to lose by putting him (the defendant) on the stand."

"It would be putting it mildly to say I was surprised by the prosecuting attorney's move to put the defendant's brother on the stand," Bowers said.

Bowers explained that since 1966, trials less than capital offenses are tried in two stages, the verdict and punishment.

"Once the jury has found a person guilty, and the defense elects for jury sentencing, the law has ruled the jury is entitled to know the defendant's prior record. Waters fixed that by putting his brother on the stand," Bowers said.

The defense attorney has 10 days to apply for a motion for a new trial if it chooses, Judge Melthany said.

Pampa High School Students Learn Procedures of Library

Pampa High School library assistants learn how to operate a library from the time they help unpack and check in new books to the time students check them out at the charge desk.

Some other library assistant duties are to shelve books, put away magazines, dust and straighten the library, file card catalogue cards, check in new books and magazines, put up newspapers and run errands. In addition, each assistant is in charge of a certain section of book shelves and is checked and graded on her work. They each receive a half credit per semester and take written tests each six weeks.

Mrs. Michael Wilson Jr., high school librarian, teaches a two-day library orientation course twice a year for sophomore English classes.

Mrs. Harold Craddock is high school library clerical assistant. From September to March this year, 355 high school classes had scheduled library visits. "Library usage increases noticeably at the beginning of a new six weeks period and toward the end of the six weeks. Not many use the library during the six week or semester tests."

"This library is used mostly for reference and research and to complete class assignments, because high school students seem to have little time for recreational reading," Mrs. Wilson said.

Books circulated at high school library since September include 9,307. In 1965-66, 11,965 were checked out; in March 1966, 1,704, and in March, 1967, 7-36 total Pampa High School students.

Five years ago, 6,000 books were circulated. Last year's total almost doubled the number five years ago.

Total high school enrollment five years ago was 988; last year, 1,270. Since September, 1, 340 students were enrolled. The high school library has 10,810 volumes, including 1,400 added since Aug. 18, 1966.

FULBRIGHT TAKES ISSUE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, taking issue with the recommendations of a presidential commission, wants Congress to ban distribution of U.S. Information Agency material in the United States. Fulbright announced Tuesday he would submit an amendment to that effect to a pending bill. A White House advisory commission recently recommended that USIA material be made available domestically upon request.

Lindbergh Still A Lone Eagle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — He was "The Lone Eagle" when he was the toast of the world 40 years ago and "The Lone Eagle" he has remained. Lindbergh quietly but firmly turned down a White House request that he attend the Paris Air Show next month, the 40th anniversary of his historic flight from New York to Paris.

December by then White House Press secretary Bill D. Moyers, it was learned Monday. Moyers was said to have told Lindbergh that President Johnson's request was made last year and that it would be in the national interest for the famed aviation pioneer to attend the air show. The show is viewed unofficially as a prestige contest between the United States and Russia.

Lindbergh's well known dislike of publicity may be why he refused to make the trip. Moyers indicated that Johnson might make a personal attempt to get Lindbergh to change his mind. But Lindbergh was said to have told Moyers he hoped he would not be put in a position of having to turn down the president.

Lindbergh's sole flight from New York to Paris May 20-21, 1927, is the theme of the U.S. pavilion at the air show. It depicts the progress of American aviation since then.

Being taxed is a status symbol among some New Guinea tribesmen.

Blue Lustre Rug Shampoo Finest of All

A gallon of Blue Lustre cleans six 9x12 rugs for about 1¢ per sq. ft. — in soap good shampoos or with brush. It cleans wall-to-wall or removable traffic mats and spots. Raises bottom-down nap at doorways. Pile becomes open and fluffy. Colors sparkle again (in upholstery, too). Contains no soap. So it leaves no residue to cause re-soiling. Dries to an invisible powder containing the soil, removed by vacuuming. Best Blue Lustre electric shampooer ($1 a day) at

Washington Report

BOB PRICE

The House Judiciary Committee has just completed hearings on proposed legislation which would further restrict the sale, ownership and use of small firearms. I participated in those hearings because I do not believe additional laws are necessary.

The Secretary of the Treasury already has broad regulatory authority to control the sale of firearms through licenses under Federal statutes and the Federal government also has broad regulator authority over import of weapons and munitions of war. It is not new laws we need, but enforcement of the ones already on the books, especially those dealing with known criminals.

In the State of South Carolina, where the manufacture and sale of hand guns is absolutely outlawed, the rate of homicides and assaults by firearms is among the highest in the country.

New York City, with one of the most restrictive laws dealing with pistols and revolvers, has a crime rate which makes not only the streets, but the homes of its people unsafe from criminal attack.

In my statement to the Committee, I expressed the opinion that what we actually have in this country is a criminal problem rather than a gun problem. And more importantly, we have a problem with strict enforcement of the laws that we have always had, both nationally and locally. If we fail to enforce laws we have had since the 1930's, how can we expect enforcement of new and more restrictive laws. Why would anyone planning to commit a crime pay one moment's notice to the law that says criminals can't own or buy firearms? And a firearm never committed any crime.

Many Panhandle folks purchase firearms by mail and use them to kill livestock predators. Many are also hunters, skeet and trap shooters, rifle and pistol marksmen, who have been national and world record holders. There are also some talented and expert gunsmiths in our area who order most of the high-grade actions for the rifles and other parts by mail or express. The definition of "firearm" in the proposed bill would prohibit this.

There are provisions in the bill such as restrictions on the acquisition of bazookas, cannons and the like, which are desirable. But the National Firearms Act now regulates fully automatic weapons such as sub-machine guns and also sawed off shotguns and could be amended to include large weapons. Such an amendment has already been proposed and I would be in favor of it.

The real problem is with the lax prosecutors, lenient judges and faint-hearted probation officers, particularly in our larger cities, including the Nation's Capital, who turn hardened criminals loose to continue preying on innocent citizens.

The situation is so bad in Washington, D. C. that a business group has suggested organization of vigilante committees to protect their businesses. Banks, drug stores, and other businesses are hijacked daily here in broad daylight. Such acts, even the many involving needless murder and maiming no longer make the front page of the newspapers and many of them are not reported at all.

The problem has become so serious, that it now seems not only a duty but an obligation to have a pistol, rifle or shotgun in the house for the protection of one's family. I don't believe we want such laws in the Panhandle, and I, for one, will continue to oppose any further restrictions on the sale, ownership, or use of such firearms by law-abiding citizens for any legal use.

Amphitheater's 'Texas' Production to Start Later

Daylight savings time has caused a change to be made in the starting time of "Texas," the Pioneer Amphitheater production which goes into its second year at Palo Duro Canyon State Park this summer.

Officials of the Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., producers of the outdoor extravaganza which scored such a hit last summer, have decided to start the show at 8:55 p.m. nightly, explaining that the late hour is necessary in order to have darkness for electrical storm which is a highlight at the conclusion of the first act.

To attempt staging of the storm in daylight hours would be to lose its entire effect, it was decided.

L. Pete Gilvin of Amarillo was elected president of the Foundation at its annual meeting last Sunday.

Gilvin has served on the board of the Foundation since 1964 and has been the first vice-president and head of the finance committee. He assumes the presidency it was stated, at a time when the Foundation is entering a period of necessary financial consolidation.

Other officers are Wales Madden, Amarillo, first vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Lanham, Amarillo, 2d vice-president; A. W. Lair, Canyon, 3rd vice-president; Jerry LaGrone, Canyon, treasurer; Russell Carver, Hereford, Joe Gidden, Canyon, and Eddie Melin, Amarillo, directors at large. The office of historian was created to use the experience of Mrs. Pies Harper, the first president. For a year it will be combined with the position of secretary so that the procedures for setting up the archives can be established. The president, 2d vice-president, treasurer and Gidden and Melin are entering two-year terms. Other officers have one year more to serve. Pampa board members are C. P. Buckner, Mrs. Tom Rose and Mrs. Raymond Harrah.

Gators are Privileged in Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Driving down a street in this home city of the University of Florida Monday, Paul Herndon found his way blocked by a five-foot long alligator.

Well aware of the privileged existence of gators, who are the university mascots, Herndon got out of his car and tried to move the reptile aside. The gator clamped Herndon's hand in his jaws and wouldn't let go. At this painful moment, Deputy Sheriff Shelly Davis arrived and helped Herndon free his hand. The gator was shoed into nearby swamps.

Herndon received treatment for hand lacerations and possibly became a supporter of Florida's arch-rival, the University of Miami.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 20

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is no time to try to force any interest with an attachment, or to expect any monetary refunds from some amusement concern or a good time following the purchase of tickets, etc. The p.m. there is a most unusual time and it is suggested you handle all details facing you with more than usual carelessness.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Persevere in your work and accomplish a good deal today and avoid whatever is of a frivolous nature. Pay no attention to the complaints of co-workers. Be sure to carry through with promises you have made to others.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — A trip to the beauty parlor or barber shop is good so that you can get out socially later and feel at ease. Handle that professional affair very intelligently. Then show real devotion to closest ties.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Strive to bring more happiness into the lives of close ties instead of adding to their woes by thoughtlessness, etc. Be sure to pave the way to a more secure foundation in the days ahead. Be more practical.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Get busy with routine work whether at home or in business if you want to increase success in a general way. Get those reports out that are pretty much of an annoyance. These can bring right results.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Stop being overly generous and concentrate on improving your financial status in various ways. Contact friends who are in a very cooperative mood. You can make the future very affluent if you stop being a spendthrift.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Improving health and taking charm treatments is wise since you then make a far better impression on others you meet today. You have good comments, so keep them, although they may be somewhat of a bore. Good will come of them anyway.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — There are so many relatively small duties to be performed that seem unimportant as part of the complete scheme of things. Do it with love and generosity by helping one who needs assistance.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Look to your friends for assistance with problems and for favors you need most at this time. Make sure to repay social obligations you may have. Show that you are a cheerful and helpful person.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Act in a most circumspect way so that you do not ruin your reputation in any way, or you can hurt yourself in business as well. Don't be disappointed with a bigwig who depends on you. Show that you are efficient.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Carefully studying every angle in some new outlet is important, otherwise you can make grave errors. Study your buyer need for ideas that will help you to expand. Put them into operation quickly.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Impress those who count with the fact that you can carry through with promises in a custom way. Follow expert advice, hand up intelligently when it arises.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You have to handle associates with kid gloves at this time since they are very touchy and could get into a tizzy over the smallest things. Don't create trouble. Give it you carry through promises in most matters. YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...

Urge to Own a Sports Car Is Now Beyond Fad Stage

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Regardless of what Detroit thinks or hopes, that sports car fad which began about 10 years ago shows no signs of letting up.

Overall sales of foreign sports models — just about everything from Triumph Spitfires to Ferrari 800 Superfasts — are climbing steadily.

A couple of companies had off years on the American market, but their researchers are quick to note the U.S. market is only a changing one, not a dying one.

The big reason for this, the foreign makers point out, is that in this country a sports car is no longer considered a plaything for the extravagant or a status symbol for the young.

The British Motor Corp. (MGB, Austin Healy, 04 Sprite, and MG Midget Sports Cars) surveyed the American market to see just who is buying BMC and other make sport cars.

The buyer is male 85 per cent of the time. He's about 34 years old, well-educated and holds a position with an income slightly above the national average for new car buyers.

About half of America's sports car owners are married. The average owner claims to be sophisticated when it comes to literature and the arts and he says he is an active particinant in sports.

The 15 per cent figure for girls is misleading because they buy virtually no automobiles in the higher price range. They stick mostly to the Spitfire-MG Midget types while increasingly, the American male is going after more power and more sophisticated design.

Perhaps the most sought-after sports car among American males is the Porsche. Porsche 911 and 912 models have drawn raves from automotive critics. Recently it was acclaimed by publisher John Bond as one of the world's seven best cars (the others are nonsports cars — Rolls-Royce, Mercedes-Benz, Cadillac, BMW, Rover and Volvo).

Unfortunately, Porsche exports a limited number to the United States which insures total sales and maintains that image of exclusivity in the Porsche price range ($4,500 to $7,200).

This year, Porsche will whet many an appetite with its new Targa, a convertible featuring a sleek, chrome-plated roll bar. The Targa, available in the 911, 912 and the superfast 922S, hits the market about April 1.

The biggest single advance-

car instead of having a car which drives them."

SPINOFFS: A British-manufactured car may not be exactly what you think it is. Now that Chrysler has a controlling interest in Rootes Motors (makers of Sunbeam, Hillman, Humber and others), nearly 50 per cent of the British car industry is controlled from Detroit.

Americans control Ford and Vauxhall (GM). The only remaining major British company is BMC. Rover is soon expected to merge with Standard-Triumph, which will make that operation a reasonable No. 2 to BMC.

From time to time rumors pop up that great racing names of old, Jaguar and Mercedes-Benz, will get back into the sport. "Not a chance for us," says Mercedes-Benz America President Heinz C. Hoppe.

"The expense of racing is tremendous, especially to begin. If we were assured of winning 90 per cent of the time, we might try it. Besides, we have a different image now." ... Interesting was NASCAR supervisory committee's disqualification of nine entries in the Union-Pure Oil performance trials at Daytona Beach, Fla. Technical inspectors charged that mechanical alterations had been made on the fuel induction systems of the cars — all Pontiacs. GM is having it rough these days.

Under the new daylight time schedule the westbound San Francisco Chief will arrive in Pampa at 9:08 a.m., Amarillo 10:15 a.m., 11:30 a.m. at Clovis and 4:15 p.m. at Belen. East bound, the train will reach Belen at 10:15 a.m.; Clovis at 2:50 p.m., Amarillo at 6:15 p.m., and Pampa at 7:26 p.m.

Gu originally was known as genievre, the French word for juniper berry.

The Secretary of the Treasury already has broad regulatory authority to control the sale of firearms through licenses under Federal statutes and the Federal government also has broad regulator authority over import of weapons and munitions of war. It is not new laws we need, but enforcement of the ones already on the books, especially those dealing with known criminals.

In the State of South Carolina, where the manufacture and sale of hand guns is absolutely outlawed, the rate of homicides and assaults by firearms is among the highest in the country.

New York City, with one of the most restrictive laws dealing with pistols and revolvers, has a crime rate which makes not only the streets, but the homes of its people unsafe from criminal attack.

In my statement to the Committee, I expressed the opinion that what we actually have in this country is a criminal problem rather than a gun problem. And more importantly, we have a problem with strict enforcement of the laws that we have always had, both nationally and locally. If we fail to enforce laws we have had since the 1930's, how can we expect enforcement of new and more restrictive laws. Why would anyone planning to commit a crime pay one moment's notice to the law that says criminals can't own or buy firearms? And a firearm never committed any crime.

Many Panhandle folks purchase firearms by mail and use them to kill livestock predators. Many are also hunters, skeet and trap shooters, rifle and pistol marksmen, who have been national and world record holders. There are also some talented and expert gunsmiths in our area who order most of the high-grade actions for the rifles and other parts by mail or express. The definition of "firearm" in the proposed bill would prohibit this.

There are provisions in the bill such as restrictions on the acquisition of bazookas, cannons and the like, which are desirable. But the National Firearms Act now regulates fully automatic weapons such as submachine guns and sawed off shotguns and could be amended to include large weapons. Such an amendment has already been proposed and I would be in favor of it.

The real problem is with the lax prosecutors, lenient judges and faint-hearted probation officers, particularly in our larger cities, including the Nation's Capital, who turn hardened criminals loose to continue preying on innocent citizens.

The situation is so bad in Washington, D. C. that a business group has suggested or organization of vigilante committees to protect their businesses. Banks, drug stores, and other businesses are hijacked daily here in broad daylight. Such acts, even the many involving needless murder and maiming no longer make the front page of the newspapers and many of them are not reported at all.

The problem has become so serious, that it now seems not only a duty but an obligation to have a pistol, rifle or shotgun in the house for the protection of one's family. I don't believe we want such laws in the Panhandle, and I, for one, will continue to oppose any further restrictions on the sale, ownership, or use of such firearms by law-abiding citizens for any legal use.

Amphitheater's 'Texas' Production to Start Later

Daylight savings time has caused a change to be made in the starting time of "Texas," the Pioneer Amphitheater production which goes into its second year at Palo Duro Canyon State Park this summer.

Officials of the Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., producers of the outdoor extravaganza which scored such a hit last summer, have decided to start the show at 8:55 p.m. nightly, explaining that the late hour is necessary in order to have darkness for electrical storm which is a highlight at the conclusion of the first act.

To attempt staging of the storm in daylight hours would be to lose its entire effect, it was decided.

L. Pete Glavin of Amarillo was elected president of the Foundation at its annual meeting last Sunday.

Glavin has served on the board of the Foundation since 1964 and has been the first vice-president and head of the finance committee. He assumes the presidency it was stated, at a time when the Foundation is entering a period of necessary financial consolidation.

Other officers are Wales Mad-

den, Amarillo, first vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Lanham, Amarillo, 2d vice-president; A. W. Lair, Canyon, 3rd vice-president; Jerry LaGrone, Canyon, treasurer, Russell Carver, Hereford, Joe Gidden, Canyon, and Eddie Melin, Amarillo, directors at large. The office of historian was created to use the experience of Mrs. Pies Harper, the first president. For a year it will be combined with the position of secretary so that the procedures for setting up the archives can be established.

The president, 2d vice-president, treasurer and Gidden and Melin are entering two-year terms. Other officers have one year more to serve. Pampa board members are C. P. Buckler, Mrs. Tom Rose and Mrs. Raymond Harrah.

Gators are Privileged in Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Driving down a street in this home city of the University of Florida Monday, Paul Herndon found his way blocked by a five-foot long alligator.

Well aware of the privileged existence of gators, who are the university mascots, Herndon got out of his car and tried to move the reptile aside. The gator clamped Herndon's hand in his jaws and wouldn't let go.

At this painful moment, Deputy Sheriff Shelly Davis arrived and helped Herndon free his hand. The gator was shoed into nearby swamps.

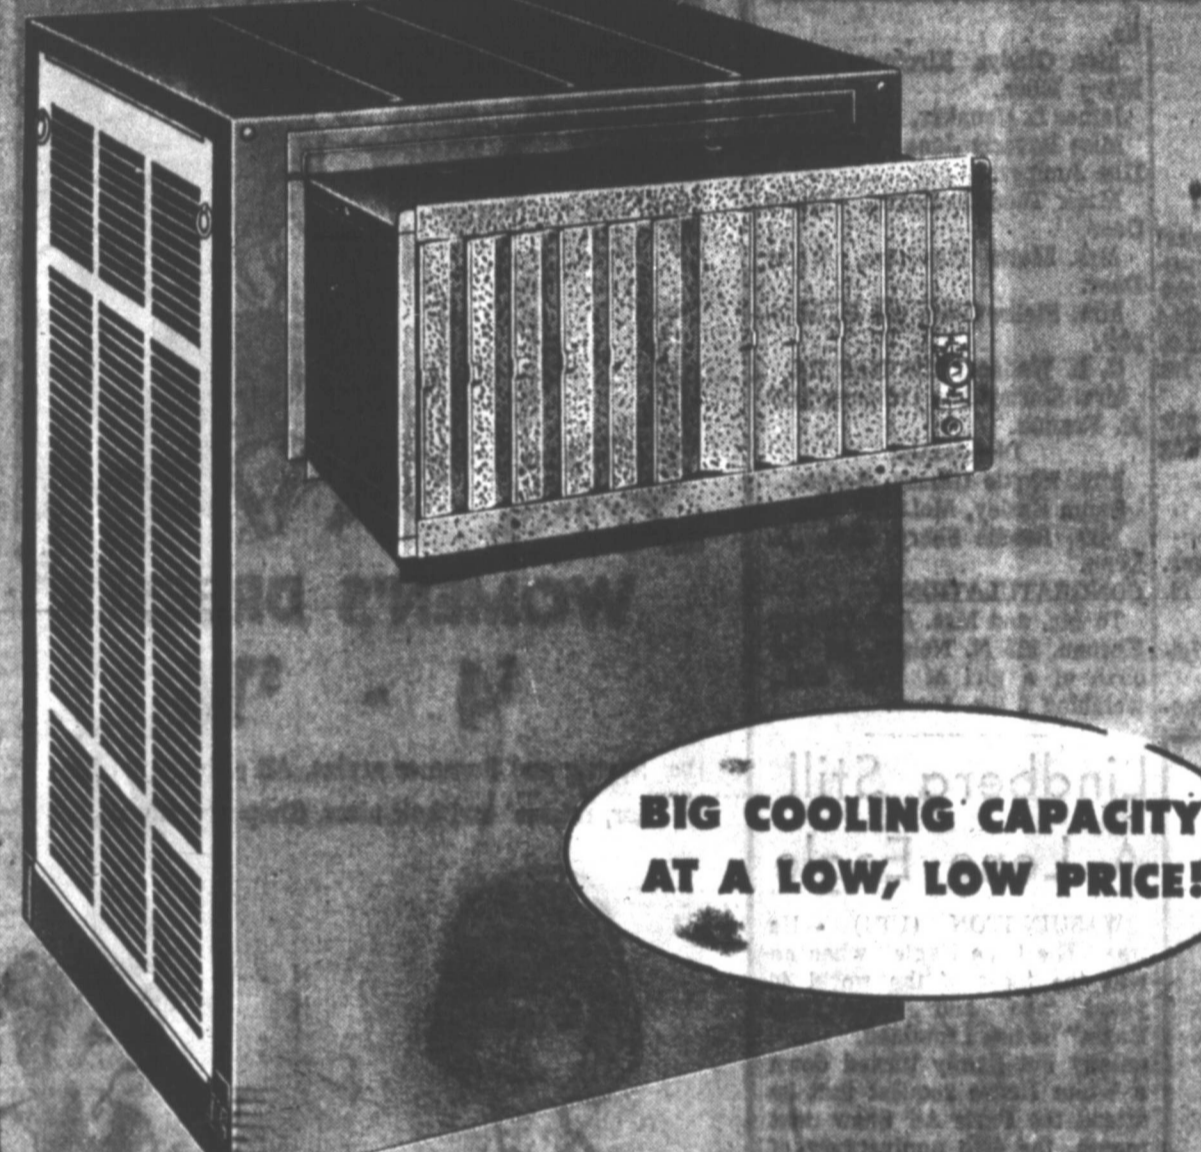

Herndon received treatment for hand lacerations and possibly became a supporter of Florida's arch-rival, the University of Miami.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RUGHTER

FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 20
GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is no time to try to force any interest with an attachment, or to expect any monetary refunds from some amusement society or a good time following the purchase of tickets, etc. The p.m. then is a most unusual time and it is suggested you handle all details facing you with more than usual carelessness.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Persevere in your work and accomplish a good deal today and avoid whatever is of a frivolous nature. Pay no attention to the complaints of co-workers. Be sure to carry through with promises you have made to others.

Taurus: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — A trip to the beauty parlor or barber shop is good so that you can get out socially later and feel at ease. Handle that problematical affair very intelligently. Then show real devotion to closest ties.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Strive to bring more happiness into the lives of close ties instead of adding to their woes by thoughtlessness, etc. Be sure to pave the way to a more secure foundation in the days ahead. Be more practical.

SCORPIO: (June 22 to July 23) — Get busy with routine work whether at home or in business if you want to increase success in a general way. Get those reports out that are pretty much of an annoyance. These can bring right results.

LEO: (July 24 to Aug. 23) — Stop being overly generous and concentrate on improving your financial status in various ways. Contact bigwigs who are in a very cooperative mood. You can make the future very different if you stop feeling around.

VIRGO: (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Improving health and accomplishing a good deal is wise since you then make a far better impression on others you meet today. You have a strong conviction to keep them, although they may be somewhat of a bore. Good will come of them anyway.

LIBRA: (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — There are so many relatively small duties to be performed that seem unimportant yet are part of the complete scheme of things. Do it with love and generosity by helping one who needs assistance.

SAGITTARIUS: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Look to your friends for assistance with problems and for favors you need very much at this time. Make sure to repay social obligations you owe here. Show that you are a charming and refined person.

CAPRICORN: (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Act in a most circumspect way so that you do not ruin your reputation in any way, or you can hurt yourself in business as well. Don't be disappointed with a bigwig who depends on you. Show that you are efficient.

AQUARIUS: (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Carefully studying every angle in some new outlet is important, otherwise you can make grave errors. Study your paper for ideas that will help you to expand. Put them into operation quickly.

PISCES: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Impress those who count with the fact that you can carry through with promises in a cunning way. Follow expert advice and up intelligently when it arises.

ing certain important matters. Don't rely on intuition. Be loyal to those in whom you have in hands associates with big gloves at this time when they are very sticky and could get into a tizzy over the smallest things. Don't make trouble. Carry it out through promises in most methods.

Urge to Own a Sports Car Is Now Beyond Fad Stage

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Regardless of what Detroit thinks or hopes, that sports car fad which began about 10 years ago shows no signs of letting up.

Overall sales of foreign sports models—just about everything from Triumph Spitfires to Ferrari 500 Superfasts—are climbing steadily.

A couple of companies had off years on the American market, but their researchers are quick to note the U.S. market is only a changing one, not a dying one.

The big reason for this, the foreign makers point out, is that in this country a sports car is no longer considered a plaything for the extravagant or a status symbol for the young.

The British Motor Corp. (MGB, Austin Healy, 04 Sprite, and MG Midget Sports Cars) surveyed the American market to see just who is buying BMC and other make sport cars.

The buyer is male 85 per cent of the time. He's about 34 years old, well-educated and holds a position with an income slightly above the national average for new car buyers.

About half of America's sports car owners are married. The average owner claims to be sophisticated when it comes to literature and the arts and he says he is an active particiment in sports.

The 15 per cent figure for girls is misleading because they buy virtually no automobiles in the higher price range. They stick mostly to the Spitfire-MG Midget types while increasingly, the American male is going after more power and more sophisticated design.

Perhaps the most sought-after sports car among American males is the Porsche. Porsche 911 and 912 models have drawn raves from automotive critics.

Recently it was acclaimed by publisher John Bond as one of the world's seven best cars (the others are non-sports cars — Rolls-Royce, Mercedes-Benz, Cadillac, BMW, Rover and Volvo).

Unfortunately, Porsche exports a limited number to the United States which insures total sales and maintains that image of exclusivity in the Porsche price range ($4,500 to $7,200).

This year, Porsche will whet many an appetite with its new Targa, a convertible featuring a sleek, chrome-plated roll bar. The Targa, available in the 911, 912 and the superfast 922S, hits the market about April 1.

The biggest single advancement in the 10 years of sports car popularity in the United States is that the people who drive them are beginning to understand them. The boom in sports car racing is largely responsible, because racing gives the owner an identity, as opposed to the early days when the novelty was identity enough.

"People now know how to use the gears in a sports car and they know the limits of its capabilities," said Chris Andrews, Standard-Triumph Motor Co. president. "Essentially, people just get a kick out of driving the car instead of having a car which drives them."

SPINOFFS: A British-manufactured car may not be exactly what you think it is. Now that Chrysler has a controlling interest in Rootes Motors (makers of Sunbeam, Hillman, Humber and others), nearly 50 per cent of the British car industry is controlled from Detroit.

Americans control Ford and Vauxhall (GM). The only remaining major British company is BMC. Rover is soon expected to merge with Standard-Triumph, which will make that operation a reasonable No. 2 to BMC. From time to time rumors pop up that great racing names of old, Jaguar and Mercedes-Benz, will get back into the sport. "Not a chance for us," says Mercedes-Benz America President Heinz C. Hoppe.

"The expense of racing is tremendous, especially to begin. If we were assured of winning 90 per cent of the time, we might try it. Besides, we have a different image now." Interesting was NASCAR supervisory committee's disqualification of nine entries in the Union-Pure Oil performance trials at Daytona Beach, Fla. Technical inspectors charged that mechanical alterations had been made on the fuel induction systems of the cars — all Pontiacs. GM is having it rough these days.

Santa Fe Lists Arrival Times Under Daylight

Santa Fe Railway has announced it will move all clocks forward one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 30, in compliance with the Uniform Time Act of 1966.

Since all states served by the railroad are complying with the Act, the change means that printed schedules and operation of all Santa Fe trains will correspond with the official time in each community.

Under the new daylight time schedule the westbound San Francisco Chief will arrive in Pampa at 9:06 a.m., Amarillo 10:15 a.m.; 11:30 a.m. at Clovis and 4:15 p.m. at Belen. East bound, the train will reach Belen at 10:15 a.m.; Clovis at 2:50 p.m., Amarillo at 6:15 p.m., and Pampa at 7:26 p.m.

View Of Opera Presented For El Proceso Members

Mrs. Bruce Riehart presented an informative view of opera at a meeting of the El Proceso Club held in her home.

She said, "Contrary to the ideas of many people, opera in the United States seems to be growing. There are at least 200 opera companies now. Most of these are amateur companies who are nurturing a love of opera among young adults."

LOOKING LIKE the glamorous girl she has played in the movies so often, lovely Lana Turner shows here in actually taking a call in her own business office. She is a lady executive—president of Elton Productions.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 22 and I am 19. Tony is in the service and he works with both fellows and girls.

A very cute girl has just been stationed in his department and she gave him the key to her apartment. He said she gave it to him in case she ever needed some help.

Tony said he has never used the key and I believe him, but I still don't think it's right for a married man to have the key to a girl's apartment. We've quarreled about it a lot, but he still hasn't given it back. I have even threatened to leave him, but he says if I loved him and trusted him I would never do that. What should I do?

DISTURBED DEAR DISTURBED: Tell Tony that if the girl "needs" help to call the police. And if that's not the kind of help she needs, to call a single man. Your husband has one key too many, and it he insists on keeping HERS, tell him to turn in the one that fits YOUR door.

DEAR ABBY: My son was recently married. His bride allowed me a limited number of guests as she wanted to stay within a budget.

Naturally, I invited only my closest relatives and friends, but I did invite one cousin whom I see often and am very friendly with. I did not invite her sister, however, because I hardly ever see her, and don't feel close to her at all. Well, the cousin I invited did not attend. But she called me afterwards to say that she didn't come because she wanted to hurt me for not inviting her sister.

I think she was wrong. What do you think?

HURT DEAR HURT: With a "friend" like your cousin, you don't need any enemies.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to give some advice to these teenagers who think sex before marriage is O. K.

Believe me, it just doesn't work out. I was 17 when I let John talk me into it. I loved him so much, and he said he loved me, so we went right ahead, and were married two years later.

Now, after 30 years of married life I don't care whether I live or die. From the very first he accused me of having an affair with every man I spoke to—even our pastor. I finally quit going to church entirely. Abby, we raised four lovely children, and my whole life was wrapped up in John and the children, but he used to accuse me of every butcher, mailman, milkman and male I said hello to.

When John was sick in the hospital, I sat by his bed night and day. Now he says I ran around on him when he was sick! If I want a new dress or pair of shoes he wants to know what man I'm fixing up for.

I feel that if I had not given in to him before we were married, he wouldn't be this way. I hate him for it, but most of all, I hate myself because I think it was all my fault.

Before Trouble Starts Pampa's Pre-Schoolers Have Hearing And Speech Checked

By DORIS E. WILSON Women's Editor This fall is an important milestone for youngsters who had their hearing and speech tested yesterday and today by a group of trained specialists from the Amarillo Regional Hearing and Speech Center. It is important because most of them will be entering school for the first time. The type of student they will be that first year and in the years after depends in great measure upon their ability to hear well and to speak well. The testing, which started yesterday morning in the educational building of First Presbyterian Church will be completed today. When it is, approximately 500 pre-school youngsters and their parents will know whether there are minor or serious impediments, which need correcting, before they begin their careers as students. The halls of the educational building was a-bustle with activity yesterday morning as children entered the building with their mothers and were taken in hand by Junior Service League members, clinic sponsors, to the various testing centers. In two rooms upstairs and in two rooms downstairs. Patience was the keyword at the registration desk, where youngsters presented their appointment cards. The earlier callers were children who attend a Church Day School. They were unaccompanied by a parent. For one very young, it was difficult to know all the answers to the questions the registrar asked. He knew his name of course, but where did he live? "Oh, across the street from a school" . . . When asked when is his birthday, he replied, "Oh, I've already had that." But in spite of the information gaps, the youngster was registered and tested. Hearing tests were under the direction of Buddy Stephens, director of the hearing center and Lal Blakely, both of Amarillo. The pure-tone testing technique was employed by placing earphones over a child's head and sending sounds of differing intensities into the child's ear. At each tone sound, the child would raise a hand to indicate he had heard. If the testing became prolonged, Stephens would change the manner of the children's response by having him drop different colored objects into a box. If trouble was indicated, a recommendation is made as to further testing and treatment. In the speech screening rooms the Bryngleson Picture Articulation Test was employed to detect speech defects of children being tested. Children were asked to identify objects on cards and pronounce as distinctly as they could the objects they saw. Assisting with clinic sessions were George Richardson of Amarillo Center; Mrs. Kay Veale, supervisor of Pampa Schools' nursing services; Mrs. O. C. Penn, school nurse; Mrs. Carolyn Price Smith and Mrs. Betsy Gibson, speech therapists. The Junior Service League is underwriting the expense of the clinic from proceeds of the Charity Ball given last fall.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. feels the stock market is coming through this period of lackluster earnings in good form and is encouraged by the increasing signs of economic revival. The company contends that consumer spending is the "swing factor" in the economic resurgence and regards the rise in personal income in March and lower unemployment figures as important. Nevertheless, the firm feels further base building may be necessary and recommends a policy of concentrating on stocks affording reasonable multiples.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. says the stock market seems in a good position to assault the highs reached in the latter half of March. Whether highs will be challenged or whether this is merely normal market fluctuation depends on the ability of the Dow Jones industrial and rail averages to move in concert with the overall list, Zinder says.

Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. says signs are appearing of a spring revival in business and the general feeling is that business "could and should" improve as the year wears on. The analyst also believes the

 The foreign aid spending light is turning now from green to amber and it had best turn fast. There may be a tinge of red in the amber before long and by then the U.S. dollar is likely to be going down for the third time.

If it sinks, the dollar will have been heavily weighted by the policies of the bubbleheads who have been for years conducting the U.S. government as an eleemosynary institution at home and abroad. An eleemosynary institution is one that distributes charity or doles out relief. That's us.

It has been calculated that since World War II, American taxpayers have doled out nearly $130 billion to aid other countries.

This is known as foreign aid. Billions of these dollars spent abroad for usually good causes have been assembled by the central bankers of aided nations and have been exchanged at the U.S. Treasury for gold at $35 an ounce.

So it is that the U.S. gold reserve which did so much to keep our dollar strong has been shrinking over the years without much effective corrective effort by anyone, least of all by the bubbleheads. The Congress occasionally reels at foreign aid spending and trims away a dime or so.

But the Johnson Administration, like those before LBJ, proclaim the urgency of big-time foreign aid despite the dissipation of U.S. gold stocks. In 10 years from 1956-66, U.S. gold stocks shrank from $21.9 billion to about $13.5 billion.

Marigolds Make Dirksen Flower

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the rest of the nation spring arrived March 21. But for Washington it waited in Monday on the honeyed tones of Everett McKinley Dirksen.

Monday was the day the Senate Republican leader introduced his hardy perennial resolution to make the humble marigold the U.S. national flower.

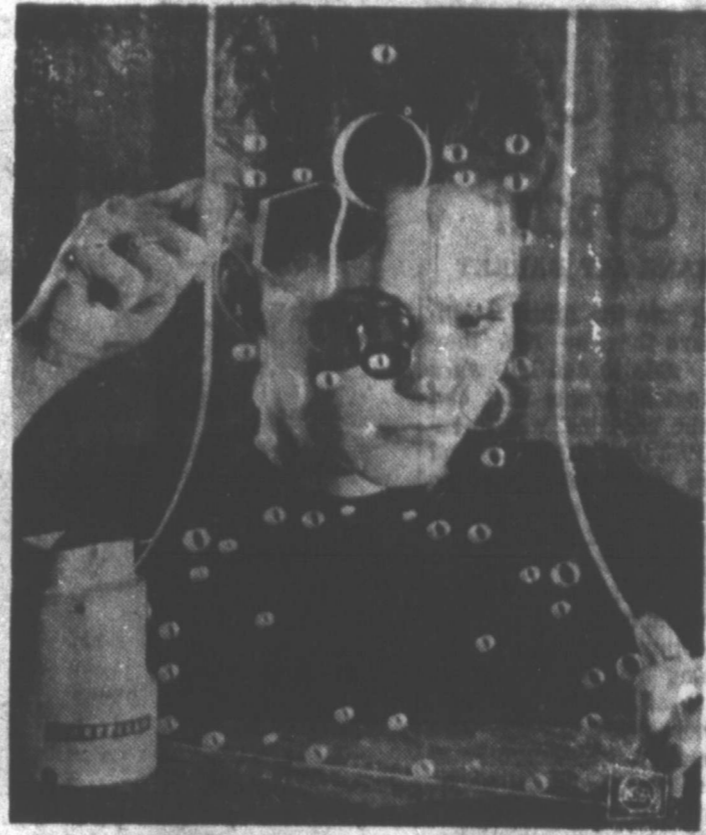

In prior years the Dirksen resolution has never got out of the talking stage. But, nothing daunted, he launched it again this year with this: "It is as sprightly as the daffodil, as colorful as the rose, as resolute as the zinnia, as delicate as the carnation, as haughty as the chrysanthemum, as aggressive as the petunia, as ubiquitous as the violet, as stately as the snapdragon... a truly American flower."

large increase in credit supply and the lower interest rates also should be of great aid.

Foreign gold stock increased from about $14.3 billion to $27.3 billion. In 1956, foreigners held $13.8 billion for which they could demand Treasury gold at $35 per ounce. They hold nearly $30 billion now and the stock of U.S. gold in Fort Knox is down to $13.1 billion.

Many foreign nations have accepted and kept U.S. trade or foreign aid dollars, stashed them in their treasury and used the accumulated dollars as backing for their own paper currency. That custom began when the U.S. dollar was as good as gold.

Under the circumstances now developing there could be a run on the dollar—like a run on a bank. Foreign dollar holders could line up at the Treasury demanding gold. The $13.1 billion in gold would not all be available. U.S. law provides that 25 per cent of the value of U.S. Federal Reserve paper money must be backed by gold. This paper represents most of the U.S. money in circulation.

Foreign Commentary

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
LONDON (UPI) —The Conservative landslide in Britain's local elections last week has given a sharp warning to Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government.

His meaning was unmistakable. Only a year after sweeping Labor back to power, the voters served notice they are disgusted with its performance. The warning came soon after a series of setbacks for Labor in recent parliamentary by-elections.

British voters served similar notice on former Conservative Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas Home in the closing months of Tory rule. The sequel was Labor's victory by a narrow margin in the October, 1964 parliamentary elections and a Labor landslide in the second round of general elections March 31, 1966. But there was one major difference. When the disgruntled voters turned against Douglas Home, it was near the end of a five-year parliamentary term. He had no option but to hold the general elections in which he was defeated. Wilson, on the other hand, is under no such obligation. He was voted back to power a year ago for five years. Virtually nothing, barring an internal revolt in his governing Labor Party, can force him to hold new national parliamentary elections.

Thus, the local election results, though a nasty setback for Wilson, can do nothing more than flash red lights and ring alarm bells in the government camp. Labor tacticians have launched a post mortem on the reasons for the losses. What they are likely to find is that Labor voters simply stayed at home while the Conservatives turned out in mass.

They probably will conclude that the chief reason for this negative protest vote was wide dissatisfaction with the government's economic squeeze and the freezing of wages and prices since last summer. Coupled with this there also was deep disappointment at Labor's "stay put" annual budget unveiled by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan last week. Its message was continued austerity for at least another year.

Such a depressing outlook clearly did not win votes. Although his parliamentary position appears impregnable, Wilson can be expected to do some deep thinking. The chief danger for his government is that such a massive defeat will touch off demoralization and bickering among laborite members of Parliament. Hence, Wilson will have to consider whether to ease the economic squeeze in an effort to placate his followers. He also will have to take into account the powerful boost given to Conservative morale, which had been sagging badly until these elections. But Wilson is known as a man who plays it cool. He may calculate that, regardless of popularity, he has another four years in office and that a lot can happen in four years—including a whole new round of local elections. Whatever decision Wilson may make the voting result is unlikely to produce any major changes in government policy.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is generally agreed that Congress is creeping along this year at an even slower pace than usual. I don't know what effect this might have on the welfare of the nation, but it is imposing a hardship on the tourists. When tourists, whose numbers seemingly double every year, visit the U.S. Capitol they naturally want to see Congress in action. However, the odds are against fulfilling that wish. With luck, good timing and patience, a tourist stands a fair chance of seeing Congress in session. But seeing Congress in action is another matter. Lack of Action Only at infrequent intervals thus far has a Senate session remotely resembled anything that might be loosely construed as action. Nor has the average House session been much livelier. What a visit to the Capitol boils down to is a game of legislative roulette. A tourist gets in line and gambles that his turn in the gallery will come when something interesting is taking place on the House or Senate floor. Unless a visitor happened to hit the Senate chamber this week when Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., was eulogizing the marigold as a candidate for national flower, he might as well have stayed at home. This situation strikes me as being somewhat unfair. Citizens who travel long distances and expend goodly amounts of time, money and energy to observe the legislative process at first hand deserve a better shake. The smallest country taking part in Canada's Expo 67 is Monaco.
