SEATO Delegates Hold Little Hope For Hanoi Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, its Vietnam policy strongly endorsed by most of its Asian partners, today appeared to have cleared the decks for applying still more military pressure on the Communists.

Most of the representatives of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), winding up their annual council meeting here, were of the opinion that Hanoi would reject the latest American bid to move the conflict to the conference table.

This was a proposal, announced by Secretary of State Dean Rusk Wednesday, for creation of a 26-mile-wide no man's land between North and South Vietnam as a prelude to talks on general reduction of hostilities and eventual settlement.

The anticipated rejection of this offer by Hanoi, coming atop its refusal of earlier peace bids, could serve as justification for whatever intensification of the war President Johnson might decide necessary.

With reports of North Vietnamese troops massing along the Communist side of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating north from south, this might encompass a broad range of actions.

The representatives of the seven nations actively engaged in the anti-Communist struggle in Vietnam were opening their strategy conference here on the heels of the two-day SEATO session later today.

The seven include five SEATO members—the United States, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and Thailand—plus South Korea and South Vietnam.

Connally Calls For Yearly Budgeting

Plan Would Rule Out Hike in Taxes

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. John Connally Wednesday night proposed a novel approach to the 60th Legislature to write one-year budgets in annual sessions which he said would save the state $50 million in the coming biennium.

The plan also will rule out the necessity of having to raise taxes this year, Connally told a joint session of the legislature.

Connally said he will call a special session during 1968 to take care of state finances during the second year of the next biennium.

The unique plan met overwhelming favor among most lawmakers, although some senators were cautious in their reaction.

The governor chided lawmakers for failing during the past 100 days of the 140-day session to pass much of his program submitted to them three months ago.

He mentioned his liquor-by-the-drink bill only in passing, but his speech probably weakened the slim chance the bill ever had for passage. The liquor bill was part of Connally's tax package, and he said no new taxes would be needed this year.

The governor's speech included a number of barbed references to "obstructionists," "pettiness or jealousies," "divisiveness and prejudice," and "political ambitions."

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, thought by many to be the target of some of these barbs, said he didn't know how to interpret them. "There's no dis-

Jets Elude MIG Swarm

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Navy planes bombed two power plants of the North Vietnamese port city of Haiphong today in the closest strike yet to the heart of the city. iHanoi reported a second day of dogfights in this new escalation of the war.

A terse communique issued by military headquarters in Saigon said the power plants were 1.1 miles northwest and 2.1 miles northeast of Haiphong. A military spokesman said the distance measured is from the center of the city.

The raids by an unannounced number of planes marked three days of concentrated fury against industrial targets in the north. In raids Wednesday marking yet another escalation

Leaders to Assemble For Adenauer Funeral

BONN (UPI) — West Germany today prepared for an informal summit conference of President Johnson and other Western leaders coming to attend funeral rites for former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and almost certainly French President Charles de Gaulle were expected to appear Tuesday in the greatest muster of world leaders since the November 1963 funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Their talks here were expected to deal with the troubled Western alliance which formed the final concern and political testament of Adenauer, West Germany's post war leader who died Wednesday at 91.

There was no announced schedule for a summit meeting. But the opportunity was there. And West German Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger said Wednesday night he accepted an obligation to carry on Adenauer's work toward Western unity in a final deathbed meeting with "Der Alte."

Summit topics could include Johnson and Wilson's push for a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons opposed by De Gaulle, Britain's bid for Common Market membership clouded by the Frenchman's past veto, the fate of the Kennedy round of tariff-cutting talks and the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) following French military withdrawal.

According to Kiesinger, Adenauer saw these and other problems endangering the Western unity he helped create. His political testament was a warning to his successors not to let disunity sweep away all that had been gained.

During the last months of the life of the man the late Sir Winston Churchill called the greatest German since Bismarck, Adenauer warned repeatedly of the growing gulf between Europe and America and the weakening of European unity. Kiesinger said in a television tribute Wednesday night the topic came up during their last talk April 3 in Adenauer's hillside home four miles down the Rhine from the capital.

"In the last few days of his life, he was almost overwhelmed by his concern for the unity of Europe. He called me to his sickbed and once again most emphatically urged on me this great concern of his life."

Four days after the meeting, doctors put Adenauer in a bed he never left in life. After a week of fighting a condition described as "critical," he died peacefully in his sleep of grippe, bronchitis and the complications they wrought in his tough old system.

FROM MOON'S SURFACE

Surveyor Returns Quality Pictures

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — America's third Surveyor moon robot shrugged off a puzzling power malfunction Thursday and began transmitting high quality television pictures of the lunar terrain.

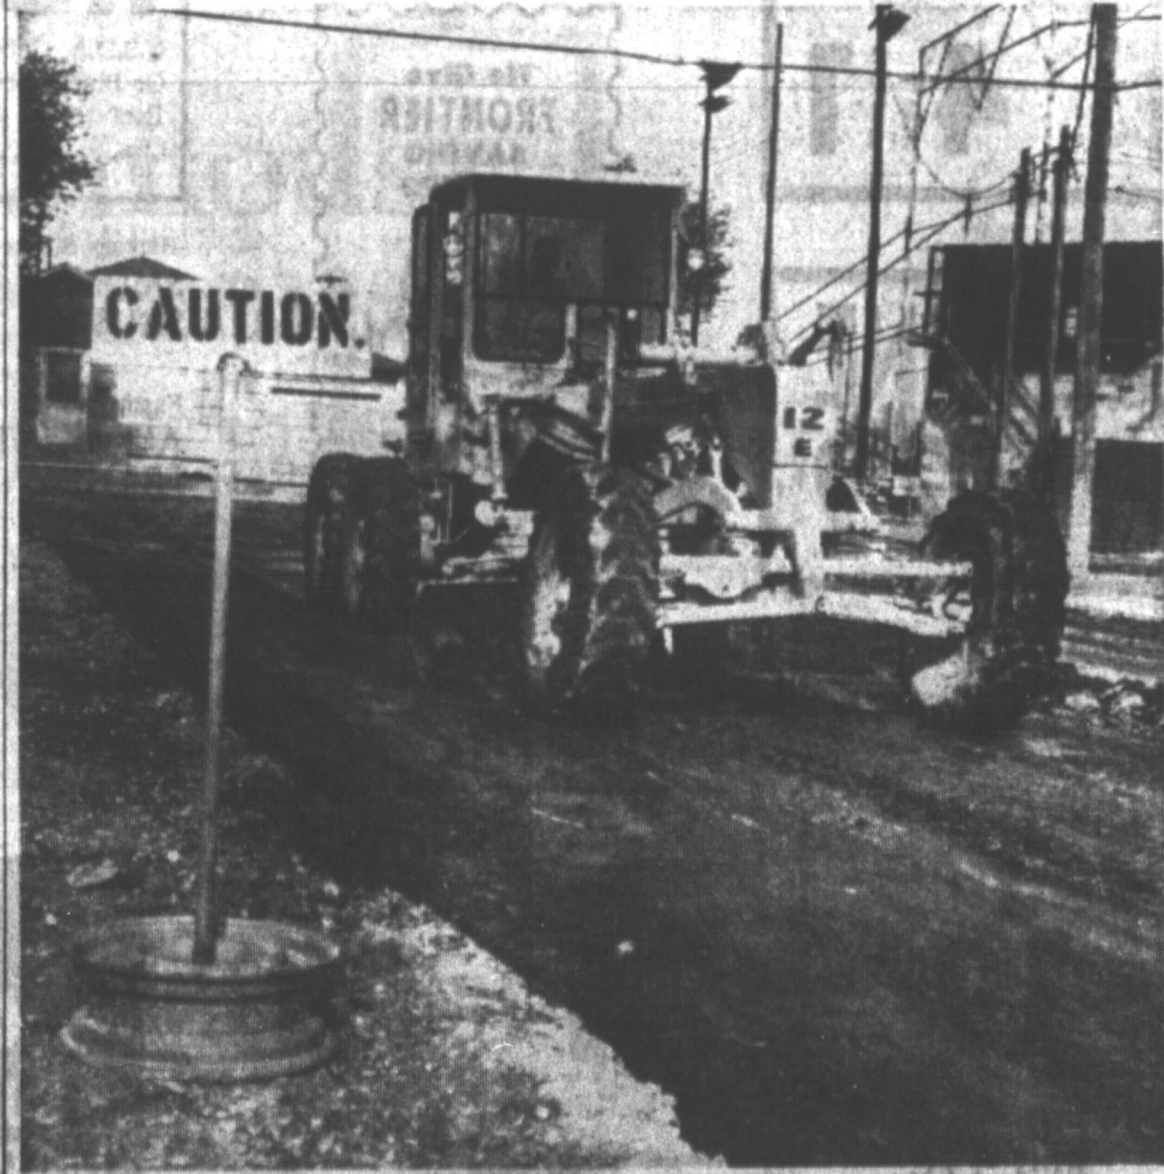

The gallant little space geologist made a dramatic space landing in the moon's Ocean of Storms Wednesday night, but immediately signaled it was having power problems.

Controllers at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory at first believed the three-legged spacecraft was drawing too much power from its batteries. Later, however, scientists determined the problem lay in Surveyor 3's telemetry system and would not affect its ability to return photographs or operate a small power shovel designed to test the strength and composition of the lunar crust.

An initial series of 54 photos—returned on a medium quality, 200-line screen, proved virtually worthless because of the extreme glare from the sun. However, by 12:45 a.m. PST (2:45 a.m. CST) Thursday, the spacecraft had responded to commands from earth to erect its solar panel and point its high-gain antenna toward earth to allow transmission of television pictures in a high quality, 600-line mode.

RAIN RAIN STAY AWAY—That was the theme song this morning of Lewis Construction Co. paving contractors as workers resumed operations so rudely interrupted when the rain came yesterday. Another start was made on the city's 140-block paving program when a grader was moved into Beryl St. after the wind and sun had dried it off enough to try again. Six blocks of the street from Finley to Tignor will be paved as the first unit of Pampa's vast $750,000 street construction project that will include thoroughfares in all areas of the city.

University Faces Student Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Catholic University of America today faced a general strike by students and faculty members in protest against the dismissal of a young theological professor who advocated liberalization of the church's stand on birth control.

The strike had already closed down the university's famed school of theology, and walkout sentiment was spreading rapidly across the rest of the sprawling campus of America's only national Catholic university.

It was triggered by the ouster of the Rev. Charles E. Curran, 33, an assistant professor of moral theology. Fr. Curran told reporters that he was given no statement of the charges against him but was simply called into the rector's office Monday and told that the board of trustees had ordered him fired.

The board of trustees is headed by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, and includes 33 ranking members of the U.S. hierarchy and 11 laymen. It met last week in Chicago.

Fr. Curran said his "doctrinal orthodoxy and personal integrity" had been endorsed by his faculty colleagues, who only recently unanimously approved

Plane Crash Is Fatal to 126

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — All but four of the 130 persons aboard a chartered Swiss airliner on an economy vacation flight were killed today when the plane was hit by lightning and crashed while trying to land in a rain and hail storm.

It was the worst air disaster ever to occur on this Mediterranean island and one of the worst in civil aviation history.

The four-engine turbo-prop, carrying 120 passengers and a crew of 10, slammed into a hill in flames and disintegrated, authorities said. The plane, returning vacationers from a cut-rate trip to Asia, was operated by Globe Air Charter of Basel, Switzerland.

Of the four survivors, three were critically injured. But one man, identified as Nicholas Pulver of Switzerland, escaped with only minor injuries and was able to talk with rescue workers.

No Americans were aboard the ill-fated airliner, authorities said. All of the victims were believed to be Europeans.

Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios inspected the wreckage this afternoon and later visited the four survivors at a United Nations field hospital.

The crash occurred on a hillside three miles from Cyprus International Airport in the pre-dawn hours. The area was strewn with battered toys and other items of the vacation trip to the far east.

The passengers included an estimated 40 to 50 Swiss tourists. The rest were vacationing Europeans. No Americans were reported among the 120 passengers and eight crew members.

Airport officials said the four-engine, British-built Britannia turbo-prop slammed into a hill about three miles south of the runway where it was to make an emergency landing.

Lost in Storm

They said it circled twice and was trying a third approach in the blinding storm when it lost contact with the control tower and crashed.

Civil aviation authorities said the British pilot radioed Nicosia that the plane was ruck by lightning while about six miles away. He was ordered to make an emergency landing on a closer runway than the one assigned originally. The flight had been diverted by weather from Cairo to Cyprus for its refueling stop.

Over 100 Housing Protesters Arrested for Defying Court Ban

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — More than 100 Negro and white open housing demonstrators were arrested Wednesday night for defying a court order banning night marches. Police fired tear gas canisters at chest level to disperse hundreds of jeering hecklers.

Approximately 15 hecklers, some with tears streaming from their eyes from the gas, were arrested.

The demonstrators, herded against a chain-wire fence by police as they arrived in groups in rented trucks, were arrested for violating a circuit court restraining order limiting demonstrations to daylight hours. They were jailed overnight without bond.

Additional charges of banding together to commit a felony also were filed against them.

Two injured

Two persons, United Press International newsmen Drew Von Bergen, 27, and Jefferson County patrolman Wilburn E.

Cantrill, 36, were injured during the two-hour demonstration.

Von Bergen was struck on the nose by a missile thrown by hecklers, and Cantrill suffered a scalp cut when he was struck by a city policeman who did not know him.

The crowd, estimated at 700 by police, was held across a major north-south avenue from the side street where the demonstrators were stopped and kept from marching by police.

The hecklers were composed largely of teen-aged boys and youths. There were a number of small children as well.

As rocks and bottles began to shower on the parked police cruisers, patrolmen wearing gas masks fired tear-gas canisters at chest level directly in the hecklers, driving them back into a small park.

The demonstrators, led by four white ministers, sat in a group and continued to sing freedom songs as they were dragged off one by one into the waiting paddy wagons.

They were arrested for defying a Jefferson Circuit Court restraining order issued last Friday. The case was returned Wednesday to the lower court by U.S. District Judge Henry L. Brooks, who refused to accept jurisdiction.

Louisville Mayor Kenneth A. Schmiegel, who has urged both that the marches be stopped and that other citizens ignore them, planned to meet today with Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook and the Louisville - Jefferson County Human Relations Commission. A commission spokesman said they would discuss "how to get this open housing thing back on the track."

The almost nightly marches or attempts to march by open housing advocates followed the city board of aldermen's 9-3 rejection of a proposed open housing ordinance on April 11.

Library Presents Special Exhibits

Lovett Memorial Library will present two displays today and tomorrow; the exhibit of Randolph Marcy's "Exploration of the Red River of Louisiana in the year 1852," which is a re-painting and sculpture of James Edwards.

Edwards will be here from 2 to 6 p.m. tomorrow to explain his work. The Bush exhibit was to be displayed from 1 to 5 p.m. today, by Mrs. Alice Green, head librarian of Amarillo public library.

Ivey's sculpture is of pioneer figures of the Southwest. His watercolors depict Panhandle scenes.

Ivey was graduated from West Texas State University, had done graduate work at University of Texas and is taking graduate courses in Amarillo from Dr. Emilio Caballero.

Ivey has won several awards for his water colors and has had several exhibits in this area, including a one-man show at Canyon Art Gallery. He also has paintings on exhibit at the Las Pampas Galleries here.

The Bush collection of Southwest history, housed at the Amarillo Public library, was established in 1941 by Mrs. Ruth G. Bush as a memorial to her husband, who died in 1931.

Bush was the first man to enclose a Panhandle Plains ranch with barbed wire. His collection of books on the Southwest includes those explaining earliest known records of travel and exploration of the Southwest, with special attention to early travels through the Panhandle plains.

His collection contains several early maps of Texas and the Southwest and rare maps of the

Investigators To Inspect Site Of Apollo Disaster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators fly to Cape Kennedy late today to inspect the site of the Apollo moonship disaster, leaving behind a congressman who has been pressing for full disclosure of the space agency's confidential "Phillips Report."

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., who has demanded in vain that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) allow Congress to examine notes critical of the prime Apollo contractor, said he had been barred from the trip.

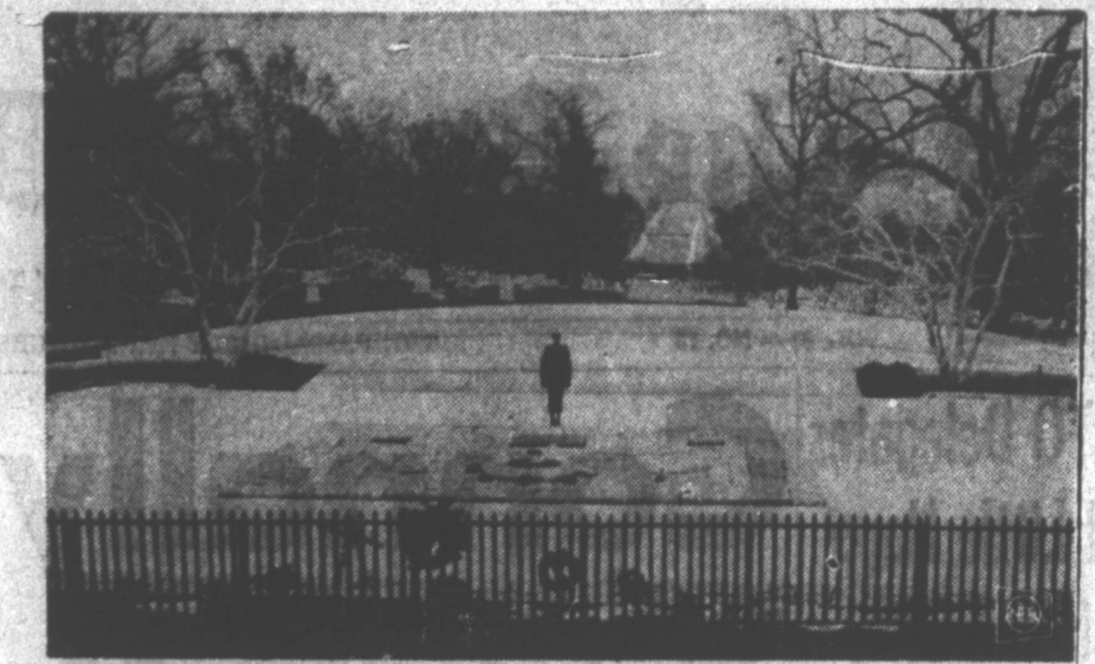

Members of a House space subcommittee which oversees NASA are making the two-day fact-finding trip to view the scene of the Jan. 27 tragedy and interview technicians and other Project Apollo personnel.

Ryan, a member of the full House Space Committee but not the investigating subcommittee, said he had been advised the trip was restricted to subcommittee members.

Ryan has been demanding that NASA release the "Phillips Report"—notes made during a critical review of problems with North American Aviation, Inc., between December 1965 and April 1966.

NASA Administrator James E. Webb, who has refused to release the notes, earlier this week sent Rep. Olin E. Teague, chairman of the subcommittee, a summary of the report.

In the summary, Webb said NASA called North American on the carpet in December 1965 for "a trend of slippages . . . and rising costs."

THE NEW KENNEDY GRAVE in Arlington National Cemetery sits on the side of a slope and is reached by sweeping stone walks. It consists of slabs of rough-hewn reddish granite, beneath which lies the late president's body and those of his two infant children. The wall around the memorial has seven carved excerpts from speeches by President Kennedy.

Rotary Entertained By Vocal Group

A vocal group from the music department of Pampa High School, "The Modernaires," entertained members of the Pampa Rotary Club at the organization's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

Miss Marilyn Milliron served as spokesman for the group. Student Bill Mao also presented a comedy routine.

Club president Lee Fraser urged members to attend the three-day Rotary District Conference, which got underway today.

 then proceeded to take photographs for more than an hour, both with wide and narrow angle lenses. He said the pictures were panoramas of the immediate terrain around the spacecraft and were "interesting and of high quality."

Release of some of the pictures presumably would be announced at a news conference scheduled for 11 a.m. PST (1 p.m. CST) today.

It was believed that the spacecraft would be asked sometime today to use its 18-inch metal claw digger to begin sampling the nearby terrain.

Surveyor 3 made its gentle landing on the moon at 4:04 p.m. PST (6:04 p.m. CST) Wednesday at a point just 2.4 miles from its target point.

Surveyor 3's mission to sample the moon's crust is expected to last 14 days if an Apollo spacecraft can land safely on the moon by 1970.

The spacecraft began its 21-2-day, 233,000-mile trip from Cape Kennedy on Sunday. The voyage lasted 64 hours, 59 minutes and 20 seconds.

Special UAW Contract Bargaining Convention Kicked-Off by Reuther

DETROIT (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther today opened his union's special contract bargaining convention before 3,000 militant delegates bent on collision courses with the auto companies and the parent AFL-CIO.

The union, representing 750,000 workers throughout the nation, was loaded with its biggest strike fund in history, estimated at $60 million to back major contract demands for a substantial pay hike, conversion of hourly paid workers to salaries coupled with a guaranteed annual income, and elimination of lower pay scales for Canadian auto workers.

In addition, the UAW was committed to press for special increases for 200,000 skilled trades members to bring their pay scales on a par with comparable skills in other industries.

Feud With AFL-CIO
 A special item added to the contract bargaining convention was a resolution to be submitted to the delegates either Friday or Saturday, calling for an amendment to the UAW's constitution eliminating the requirement that it be affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

This amendment brought to a head the long-smoldering feud between Reuther and AFL-CIO President George Meany. Reuther has accused Meany and other officials of the parent organization of no longer being in the mainstream of the labor movement, and lacking the vigor to pursue labor's political as well as economic objectives.

Passage of the amendment, which was expected to be virtually unanimous, would result in automatic withdrawal of the UAW from the AFL-CIO. But it would give Reuther and his international executive board the power to withdraw if they considered it in the best interest of the labor movement and the UAW.

Rough Battle Ahead
 The coming battle at the bargaining table with the auto companies was underlined on Tuesday when Chrysler Corp. reported to stockholders at its annual meeting that profits in the first three months of 1967 were down more than 70 per cent compared with the first three months of 1966.

Responding to that and to the prospects that Ford and General Motors would report similar profits declines next month, a UAW spokesman said, "The companies cannot cry poor mouth to the UAW."

The militant UAW stand bore out advance predictions that the coming contract talks would be among the most turbulent in more than 20 years, with a strike a definite possibility when the current contracts end Sept. 6.

In 1877 Northern rule of the South following the Civil War ended when President Rutherford Hayes ordered federal troops out of New Orleans.

In 1898, Spain declared war on the United States after receiving an American ultimatum to withdraw from Cuba.

Testimony Continues In Robbery Trial

The trial of Zane Leonard Evans of Oklahoma, charged in the June 18, 1966, $300 robbery of Ideal Food Store No. 3 here, continued today in 31st Judicial District Court.

After a jury of 10 men and two women were selected yesterday, District Attorney Bill Waters read the Gray County grand jury indictment on Evans to the petit jury.

According to the indictment, Evans, about 38, and Henry Douglas Burton, 58, of Clinton, Okla., were charged with acting together to commit the June 18 robbery by firearms.

Waters explained "the state would waive the count on firearms since it is not seeking the death penalty."

Evans pleaded not guilty to the charge yesterday. Burton was found guilty of the charge Tuesday. After a jury of 12 men assessed Burton's punishment, at 99 years in the state penitentiary, he was remanded to county jail to await formal sentencing.

Investigating officers who testified yesterday for the state were police Sgt. George Wallace, Texas Ranger Bill Baten, police chief Jim Conner, sheriff R. H. (Rufe) Jordan, deputy sheriffs Jimmy Bowers and Shirley Nickols.

Witnesses who testified yesterday were Mrs. A. Neel, dispatcher and keeper of criminal files for Pampa police department; Larry Blair, assistant manager of Ideal Food Store No. 3; Mrs. Peggy Ryan, 39, of Elk City, Okla.; Mrs. Esther M. Legg, 204 E. Tynge, an apartment manager; and E. M. Stafford, owner and manager of Plainsman Motel here.

In explaining what happened at Ideal Food Store No. 3 on June 18, Blair said "about 2 p.m. I was in the checking stand next to the outside entrance and adjacent to the store office when a man, wearing a dark brown sport coat and dark gray straw hat, came in the store."

"I went into the office where Jewel Holmes was, and the man stepped into the office behind Jewel and facing me," Blair said.

Blair testified the man said "I want your money." He opened his coat, put his hand on a gun stuck in his belt and said "I'm not kidding." He told Jewel not to mosh any buttons and for me to get the money out of the safe."

Blair said he took the money, a bundle of 300 one-dollar bills, stuffed them into a brown bag, gave it to the man and he left.

Blair testified he was unable to identify Evans in a police lineup June 18 as the man who robbed the store, but in court yesterday, after repeated questioning by both Waters and David Holt, defense attorney, he pointed to Evans and said "That's the man, I'm positive now."

After hearing testimony from several other witnesses and investigating officers, the court adjourned yesterday about 5:30 p.m.

Both defense and prosecution rested their cases this morning. After hearing testimony from Mrs. Jewel Holmes, an employee of Ideal Food Store No. 3, court was to reconvene about 1 p.m. for the defense and prosecutors' addresses to the jury.

Fog Makes Pampa Look Like London

Pampa looked like a bit of London last night and early this morning, with foggy, wet weather that brought .03 inch of moisture yesterday.

The moisture occurred in a 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Tonight and tomorrow forecasts are for fair and cooler weather with partly cloudy and a little warmer prediction on tap for Saturday.

In 1704, the first American newspaper to be printed regularly, the Boston News-Letter was published by John and Duncan Campbell.

Pampans Set Annual Date For Cleanup

Pampans working in the annual cleanup campaign will try again beginning May 1 to rid Pampa of its fire and health hazards and "sore thumbs" in the city.

Campaign officials today described "sore thumbs" as trashy, vacant lots; old buildings that are of no use and are potential fire and health hazards; wrecked and junked autos, and other areas that need cleaning up.

The campaign will include Pampa's garden club members, schools, service clubs, city employees and other residents interested in beautifying the city.

Work will be concentrated in each city ward for one week in May. The first week workers will cleanup in ward one; second week in ward two; third in ward three and fourth in ward four.

The annual cleanup, fixup, paintup campaign will be conducted in connection with "Operation Sparkle" a three-year project sponsored by West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Kay Fancher is sparkle chairman here.

Cleanup campaign officials here are James Hart, general chairman; Jack Nichols, service club announcements; Paul Payne, school information; Bill Fraser, general publicity, with Theima Bray and Bert Nuckols as publicity committee members.

The Council of Garden Clubs is working with the drive by distributing letters requesting Pampans to help.

If anyone has an old building they wish to have eliminated, contact Hart at MO 5-3011, or call the chamber of commerce office, MO 4-3241.

Bands Equal 1961 Three Wins Record

This year will be considered a "record year" for Pampa school bands; it is the first time since 1961 that all three secondary bands have won regional sweepstakes honors.

Pampa Junior High School and Robert E. Lee Junior High School bands won the sweepstakes honor yesterday in regional UIL band events at Caprock High School, Amarillo.

They both received Division I ratings in concert and in sight-reading events. In October, they won their regional UIL marching contest at West Texas State University in Canyon.

To win sweepstakes, a band must win Division I ratings in all three UIL events.

Pampa High School band won its sweepstakes honor April 13 in regional UIL events in Hereford when it was rated first in concert and sight-reading. Harris Brinson, high school band director, said.

Personal Injury Suit Filed Here

Oliver L. Chewning of Pampa filed a $37,000 personal injury suit against Edward Hutchinson of Gray County yesterday in 31st Judicial District Court.

The suit is filed in connection with a two-car accident Feb. 23, 1966, in Gray County.

U.S. Proposes Forces Move From DMZ

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States proposed Wednesday that allied and Communist forces in Vietnam withdraw ten miles from either side of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between the two countries and then open talks on bringing the conflict to an end.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk unveiled the proposal at a meeting of the ministerial council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO). It subsequently was announced at a news conference by State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey.

The United States said its forces and those of South Vietnam would pull back 10 miles from the six mile wide DMZ if Hanoi's forces would make a similar withdrawal and permit international inspection to verify their action.

The US plan for disengagement and peace talks accepted and broadened a proposal made last week by Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin.

"Upon separation of the forces, the United States government and the government of the Republic of Vietnam would be ready to undertake talks leading to further de-escalation and to an overall settlement," the American proposal said.

The talks, the U.S. statement said, "could be public or private and take place at any appropriate level and site that the government of the Democratic Republic of (North Vietnam) might suggest."

South Vietnam on Tuesday accepted the Canadian proposal for disengagement but did not envisage quite so deep a withdrawal as contained in the American plan.

McCloskey said, however, that the Saigon government had been consulted on the American statement and "associates itself with that statement."

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING
KEEP IT CLEAN — YOUR LAUNDRY: Once upon a time there was a washerwoman. . . But, man, those days are gone forever. YOU are the washerwoman (guys, too, lots of times) when mom's not handy to whirl that machine. Out of the millions of washing, drying, etc. home laundry machines in the laundering, be sure you get into hot water — at least 140 degrees. . . soap or detergent? — read the instructions on the packages to guide you. . . pre-soak extremely dirty or oily (work-stained) clothes first in a pail of hot suds plus kerosene. When gals do lingerie, a touch of cologne in the last rinse adds country, most of them get run one time or another by youth. So here are a mess of novel tips on "keeping it clean," dug up from the Cleanliness Bureau in "sniffability." Wash corduroy wrong side out, since the ribbing attracts lint (omit lint-makers from this batch of wash). To iron things out right, it's often enough to "finger-finish" (instead of ironing). . . shaping or stretching taut such points as collars, seams, bra cups. And, if you need to break off ironing and want to keep your wash damp but not exposed to mildewing, simply roll up and stow in the refrigerator. For guys, one of the best tips on "keeping it clean" is — buy that cinchy-to-laundry stuff. . .

LUCKY UNLUCKY BUCK — SPOT THOSE TWO-SPOTS: The $2 bill, frequently considered unlucky (seems lots of people feared they'd get back change for a $1 bill), is a lucky piece, today. If one lands in your hands, grab that two-spot tightly. Because Uncle Sam's stopped printing 'em. . . they're getting scarce. . . and, chances are, before you retire on Social Security, your $2 will be worth much more.

PWP, DIVORCE AND YOU: Parents Without Partners is a club of people who are divorced (or widowed) and have growing children. . . an organization whose members get together to try to solve a common personal problem. What's this got to do with you? Could be you're a divorced teen-ager (divorce rate is three or four times higher than in other age groups). . . but, more possibly, you're one of the 10 million American children with divorced parents. PWP recognizes that divorce can be one of the most shattering of human experiences. . . that the most valuable thing is to find a way to work out bitter and self-crippling emotions toward the now-broken-away partner. . . and that the children (it can hit teen guys and gals hardest) are the most important pieces to salvage out of the wreckage. PWP tries to bring children into a family atmosphere as much as possible, mixing them up with its ball of social activities (dancing, bowling, roller skating, skiing, chess, swimming, coffee and conversation. . . everything) for "single" men and women parents. Guiding principles are: Reassure your children that the other parent loves them; encourage them to respect him (or her); remember the best parts of your marriage and share these with your children. NOW, teen-age auxiliaries have just sprung up for guys and gals whose parents are PWPs. . . they hold meetings (run by themselves with help of a senior adviser). . . where they talk things out. . . see brothers or sisters now living with the other parent. . . sometimes even work for a new marriage. Teen PWPs, exchanging notes, come to realize they were not responsible for what happened. Learn how to handle sticky situations of explaining things to friends. . . know they're not alone. If you want to find out about PWP and these new teen chapters, Parents Without Partners, 80 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10011 will be glad to answer letters.

In 1941, thousands attending an "America first" rally in New York city heard Charles Lindbergh, the noted aviator, say: "It is obvious England is losing the war."

PRACTICAL POLITICIANS

Issue of 18-Year-Olds Voting Still Prickly

By PHILIP R. WERDELL, Newspaper Enterprise Assn., NEW YORK (NEA) — Politicians don't oppose the 18-year-old vote. Neither do they actively work for it, mainly because they have difficulty in finding practical reasons to do so.

Young people, it is reasoned, lack little political power. There are few practical political gains in youthful enthusiasm and honesty. Since both parties would support 18-year-old voting in an election, the issue is not a vote-getter for one candidate as opposed to the other.

A politician has plenty to lose by opposing the 18-year-old vote, because if it passes he has offended the new members of his constituency, but he has little to gain from vigorous support.

The majority in support of the issue is unorganized. But the minority opposed to it is organized, in a sense. Until the Supreme Court decision on reapportionment, senators from rural areas controlled state Senates. While state houses favored the 18-year-old vote, the issue failed to pass the state Senates because of rural senators' opposition.

Why? Most of the new voters live in the cities. With reapportionment, the situation has changed.

A very powerful minority of one opposing the issue is Rep. Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. Bills supporting the 18-year-old vote must pass through his committee. Celler has consistently opposed any move to call for public hearings of the issues and has not allowed any resolutions to be reported by the Judiciary Committee.

The "States Rights" senators are the third minority. Robert Kennedy stands among them, saying, "I personally favor lowering the voting age to 18. . . But, I do not think we should amend the Constitution of the United States to require an 18-year-old voting age generally.

"This is a matter which each state should be free to decide for itself. It is in accordance moderator campus report with that principle that I would support a decision by New York to lower the voting age.

Kennedy's fellow senator from New York, Republican Jacob Javits, speaks for most Americans: "I believe that the minimum voting age should be 18 rather than 21. . . In order to change the minimum voting age, I believe that a constitutional amendment granting suffrage to those who reach the age of 18 would be far more equitable than state action.

"I do not believe that the citizens of some states should have the right to vote at 18 while persons in other states do not vote until they are 21."

Why aren't the large minority of 12 million Americans between 18 and 21 working for the 18-year-old vote? There never has been a successful suffrage movement in the United States without strong initiative and organization from those who want the vote. But it looks as if students are beginning to take that initiative.

Student organizations are forming around the 18-year-old vote. More than one inter-collegiate attempt has been made in California, though STUDENT CAUSES are as old as students. They are, history tells us, usually spurred to some sort of movement when they begin asking "why?" The most important "why?" within the 18-20 age group today is, "Why shouldn't we be allowed to vote?"

none have been particularly successful as yet.

The New Jersey Student Committee for Undergraduate Education (CUE), which pushed through New Jersey's tuition-free college plan, shifted its focus to the 18-year-old vote last year at a state constitutional convention.

The University of Minnesota's student government has taken a strong stand on the vote and is organizing on other campuses in the state. The students in Michigan have been most active, however, indicating that students will respond to the issue of the young vote when it is a realistic possibility.

At a statewide conference about the issue, held before classes to inform and organize student leaders about 18-year-old vote, a record 45 student leaders from 13 colleges appeared. Twelve other student governments indicated strong interest but were unable to attend the short-notice call.

Barbecuing Gives Mom A Break

Take out the grill, the charcoal, the paper plates and Dad's chef hat — it's barbecue time again! This is the season when Mom gets to take a break from the hot kitchen as Dad exercises his culinary skills over an open grill in the fresh outdoors.

During the winter months when Dad is left to babysit while Mom is visiting or shopping, one of his most challenging tasks is preparing lunch. But, in the warm weather when he can create a special charcoal-grilled treat on the patio or terrace, mealtime becomes the highlight of the day.

One of the easiest foods to prepare and the most popular among barbecue fans of every age is chicken. It's a good idea to have several packages of cut chicken parts on hand. This will save Dad time and will allow each member of the family to choose the part he likes best.

For Dads who are creative chefs, which includes most of them, here's a zesty Peach Cobbler Barbecue Sauce that makes a deliciously different topping for barbecued chicken. Made with Gerber Strained Peach Cobbler and a combination of seasonings, this spicy sauce is sure to transform ordinary barbecued chicken into a special luncheon treat.

To complete the barbecue menu, Dad can serve an easy-to-make tossed green salad, some relishes, bread and butter sandwiches and cups of cold milk. The youngsters are sure to enjoy having Dad take over for a change. And, knowing how men cook, there will certainly be enough chicken left over for Mom to sample when she gets home.

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1967 60TH YEAR

Quick And Easy Luncheon Boon To The Busy Mother

Modern Moms not only have household activities to contend with but community affairs as well. No wonder that you and your family often have to "grab-a-bite" or "eat-and-run." Wise homemakers have discovered a few quick tricks to solve the problems of hurried meal times and still satisfy their families' growing appetites as well.

When you dash back from the weekly shopping stint, serve up a hearty luncheon of Beef-Onion Soup complemented by Chicken Corn Muffins and it fills the bill!

Both soup and muffins are enriched with High Meat Dinners — an especially important factor for active youngsters and grown-ups, too. And that zesty meat flavor lends an extra plus to otherwise ordinary dishes.

BEEF-ONION SOUP
1 jar Gerber Junior High Meat Dinner, Beef with Vegetables
2 tablespoons packaged onion soup mix
1 cup tomato juice
Combine ingredients in a saucepan and simmer about 10 minutes.
Yield: 1-1 1/2 cups

CHICKEN CORN MUFFINS
1 jar Gerber Junior Chicken High Meat Dinner
1 package (8 1/2 ounce) corn muffin mix
Prepare muffins according to package directions, substituting the high meat dinner for the egg.
Bake according to package directions.
Yield: 8 2 1/4-inch muffins.

PEACH COBBLER BARBECUE SAUCE
2 tablespoons molasses
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 jars Gerber Strained Peach Cobbler
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 cup finely diced celery

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes.
Yield: 1 cup.

Cherry Cobbler For Spring Fever

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Here's a gala cherry dessert to take your mind off your worries. It is topped with whipped cream — like nondairy frozen topping new on the market, with only 16 calories per tablespoon. If not calorie-conscious, then indulge in whipped cream instead.

CHERRY COBBLER
2 cans (1 lb. each) water-packed pitted red sour cherries
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 to 1 1/4 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1-3 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
Frozen whipped topping, thawed, or whipped cream
Or use syrup-packed cherries and reduce sugar used in filling from 1 to 1 1/4 cups to 3/4 cup.

Drain cherries, measuring 1 1/2 cups liquid. Combine measured liquid, the cherries, tapioca, 1 to 1 1/4 cups sugar, and 1/4 teaspoon salt in saucepan. Let stand 5 minutes. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

Mix together flour, 1/2 cup sugar, baking powder, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cut in shortening. Gradually add milk, stirring until soft dough is formed. Knead on heavily floured board until dough can be shaped — about 30 seconds. Roll out to fit top of baking dish. Cut several slits near center of dough.

Pour cherry mixture into greased 2-quart baking dish or 9-inch square baking dish. Dot with butter. Place dough on cherry mixture, opening slits with a knife to permit escape of steam. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes. Top each serving with a generous dollop of thawed topping.

Savory Scalloped Shrimp Will Catch Compliments

Spring is an excellent time of year to start treating the palate temptingly with shellfish. And shrimp, probably the most popular shellfish of all and even a favorite with children, serves as a nourishing and satisfying basis for many tasty recipe combinations. For a delectable lunch or dinner entrée — and one that is easy to prepare — try this savory scalloped shrimp casserole. It can be served in its own attractive oven-to-table dish with crisp mixed salad greens and tomatoes.

Scalloped Shrimp
45 Hi Ho Crackers (about 1/2 of 10 ounce pack)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 cup finely diced celery

1 cup commercial sour cream
2 pounds medium shrimp, cooked and cleaned or
1 1/2 pounds frozen cleaned shrimp cooked according to package directions
2 tablespoons butter

Break crackers into medium coarse crumbs. There should be about 2 1/2 cups. Mix with salt, pepper and dill weed and set aside. Melt 1/2 cup butter over moderate heat. Add onion and celery and cook until tender but not brown. Remove from heat to cool a bit and stir in sour cream and shrimp.

Sprinkle about 1/2 crumb mixture over bottom of shallow 5-cup casserole; cover with half the shrimp. Add another 1/2 cracker crumbs and then the remaining shrimp. Top with final layer of crumbs. (If desired, save 6 shrimp to garnish top.) Dot with two tablespoons butter. Bake in moderate oven (350°) for about 20 minutes, or until slightly browned on top. Yield: 6 servings.

Breakfasts Can Be Better

Weekday breakfasts are sometimes hurried as Dad rushes to work and the children dash off to school. That's why weekends call for leisurely breakfasts when the whole family can relax and sit around the table chatting and enjoying each other's company.

After the main course is finished Mother can delight the family with a special weekend surprise — a delicious warm-from-the-oven Sugar Crunch Coffee Cake.

Every member of the family, including the toddlers, can enjoy this taste-tempting cake. Nourishing, as well as appetizing, it is made with Gerber High Protein Cereal. Mothers with an eye toward nutrition will appreciate knowing that this cereal has a thirty-five per cent. protein content and is enriched with vitamins and minerals.

Raisins, which usually are a favorite among children, are sprinkled throughout the cake, enhancing both its flavor and its texture. A mixture of High Protein Cereal, brown sugar and butter gives this easy-to-make coffee cake its sweet crunchy topping.

Teamed up with tall glasses of milk for the youngsters and fresh cups of coffee for the adults, this mouth-watering Sugar Crunch Coffee Cake is a fine way to top off a family breakfast.

COFFEE CAKE
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

Food Buying Guide
The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This weekend the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior predict that plentiful arrays of meats, poultry, fish, and produce will April-shower local markets.

Cabbage heads the list of bountiful vegetables. Keep your eyes peeled also for plentiful potatoes, carrots, celery and onions.

Brimming with vitamin C, grapefruit and oranges continue to stand in among this week's featured fruit. Meanwhile, apples in abundance appear on the scene.

Be on the lookout for attractive price tags in your meat department. Beef steaks and roasts, bacon and ham are flowing to meat counters in good supply. Broiler-fryers and turkeys are rapidly winging their way to market in abundance.

Here's a tip on fish: Tipping the scales this week will be plenty of canned salmon and frozen fish fillets.

1 tablespoon baking powder
1 cup sugar
1 cup Gerber High Protein Cereal
1/4 cup shortening
1 cup seedless raisins
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk . . .

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Add cereal and mix thoroughly. Work in shortening until mixture is mealy. Add raisins. Beat eggs. Add milk. Add liquid to dry ingredients and stir only enough to dampen flour. DO NOT BEAT THIS! Spoon into a greased 10-6 1/2 inch or 8-8 1/2 inch pan. Spread to rim with a spatula. Sprinkle with topping. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 20 minutes or until nicely browned.

Yield: 1 coffee cake. . . .

TOPPING
2 tablespoons Gerber High Protein Cereal
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon melted butter. . .

Blend above ingredients together and use as a topping.

Foreign Commentary

By OSEPH FLEMING
United Press International
BERLIN (UP) — How can an anti-American demonstration take place in West Berlin, of all places?

The question was asked here elsewhere after youths shouted "Vice murderer" at Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on his recent trip here and tried to hit him with eggs and flour.

Everyone grants the possibility of anti-American actions in Paris, Rome or London. They most are taken for granted. But Berlin is something else, the reasoning goes. The United States was instrumental in saving the city during the 1948-1949 blockade. It saved it again when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev issued his ultimatum and tried to swallow West Berlin by making what he called "a free, demilitarized city." Only the continued American guarantee keeps the city free.

The answer, of course, is simple. It does not take many in a city of 2.2 million to start a demonstration and keep it going.

Pro-American Majority
The vast majority of West Berliners are pro-American. The vast majority acknowledge and appreciate the part played by the United States here.

But the gratitude and appreciation of most West Berliners can not keep a small number of leftwing extremists from displaying their fanaticism.

The reaction of the city government, political parties, the press and public was unanimous.

The Tagesspiegel said in an editorial the demonstrators were "confused student who cannot understand that freedom is indivisible, that an American retreat in Vietnam would undermine the position of Berlin just as America determination in the Cuban crisis strengthened Berlin's position."

The Morgenpost in an editorial denouncing the demonstration said, "Every child in West Berlin knows what the American guarantee means for the free part of the city."

Increased Activity
The Morgenpost warned that leftist activity is growing and the extremists plan more unrest. It asked, "How long will the city government, how long will the Berliners allow this?"

Western allied officials, too, felt the city government was showing the leftist students a bit more tolerance than they deserve and should have taken a tougher stand in the past when they acted up.

Fort Worth's First Negro Councilman Elected in Runoff

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The first Negro councilman in Fort Worth's history was elected recently in a runoff election that gave control of the council to Good Government League candidates.

The Negro is Dr. Edward W. Guinn, who made his second bid for a council seat. The Good Government League is supported by the city's merchants and civic leaders.

In a San Antonio runoff, Peter Torres Jr., 33, a lawyer and novice politician, beat incumbent councilman Roland Brenner by 3,000 votes. Brenner thus became the first candidate of the San Antonio Good Government League to lose in 12 years.

The Good Government League retained control of the San Antonio council, however, with two candidates elected in the runoff and six elected on April 4.

The contest in Fort Worth was between Good Government League candidates and so-called independent candidates. In the April 4 election in Fort Worth, the independents elected two councilmen and a third elected was supported by both sides.

APOLLO WORKSHOP
WASHINGTON (UPI) — National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials still hope to orbit a space workshop in the coming year as part of the Apollo program.
Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator for manned spaceflight, told the Senate Space Committee Wednesday that the program would need $454.7 million in the fiscal year starting July 1.

There are signs the city will get tougher. Mayor Heinrich Albertz appears to be getting less patient and he sent the Free University the names of students arrested in the demonstrations for possible disciplinary action.

The Free University to the conservation of most Berliners has become a center of leftist activity.

Request Refused
The university student council even refused a request of Albertz that it take a stand against the students who planned to throw smoke bombs at Humphrey.

The organizers of the demonstrations are not Communist although the Communists take part in them and are happy about them.

They are members of the "new left," many of whom look to Communist China for inspiration.

Some of their leaders are fanatics of the type that caused so much trouble in this country and the world in the past.

They appear to have a love of disorder and violence, and the most damning judgment on them is that some of them would have made very good Nazis indeed.

Medicare Questions and Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following questions and answers on Social Security and Medicare benefits were prepared by the Pampa Social Security Office in the Hughes Bldg. and are published by The Pampa News as a public service:

Q—I recently sent in a medicare claim for doctor bills and it was returned to me with a note asking for more information. How can I be sure the claim is filled out right and that all the information is furnished?

A—You should take all correspondence you have received about your claim to your nearest social security office. The people there are trained to complete the form correctly and to help you furnish the information needed.

Q—I recently paid several doctor bills and would like to file a medicare claim. I heard that if the claim isn't filled out right, payment will be delayed. How can I be sure the claim is filled out right?

A—Before medicare claims can be paid, information about the doctor's services must be furnished and the claim form filled out. Payment on some medicare claims has been delayed because all the information was not furnished or the claim was not filled out correctly. You should take the receipts our doctor gave you to the nearest social security office. The people there are trained to help you fill out the claim and they will be glad to help you furnish the information needed nearest social security office, for prompt payment.

Q—I have gone to work for an air base and will no longer be covered by social security. Can I "freeze" my social security record so that I will get social security benefits when I retire?

A—No. Only individuals who have severe disabilities that prevent them from working can "freeze" their social security records. If you have paid social security taxes for ten years, though, you will be entitled to some social security retirement check when you reach age 62 or 61.

In 1926, a picturegram of a blank check sent from London to New York by RCA Radiophoto was honored and cashed. It marked the first time a bank honored a check not actually in its possession.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day and evening for you to organize all departments of your existence in such fashion that you become more efficient in the days ahead, especially if you get some modern systems and appliances which will do your work better. Consider new age types of services.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You find that you carry through with your duties more effectively whether they be in the outside world or at home. Sales and purchases come easily. Show dynamism in all that you do and say.

TAUROS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — A different approach to special talents you possess which you enjoy will make you more successful in them. Later keep appointments with regularity for recreation. Show your associates, admire them.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Much focus is whether to be business or creative world, so be sure to attend to such and forget all about whatever is frivolous or hazy. Start an interest by a highly legitimate method.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Use the buying and selling that is important if you are to make real headway in your business and home affairs. Have a most efficient, modern, scientific, and property and add to its value. See that everything is nicely cleaned.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You can get ahead in practical matters by showing you have initiative. You need assistance from one who is an expert in financial matters. Make improvements, to property and add to its value. See that everything is nicely cleaned.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Think along personal lines and make your future brighter, since the planets are with you. Show that you have initiative. Some social life in p.m. in fine since you can increase success via such channels as well.

LIBRA: (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — You have some novel plan in mind, but be sure you first get into the rudiments thereof quietly. Confide only in those who can assist you. Personal tasks can also be handled with perfect ease.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — Look to comrades who are very exacting for the suggestions and advice that will help you to ameliorate your particular position in life. Then follow through on them. Get out socially in p.m. for further progress.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — That important person will do a good deal to help you improve your image with the public. Contact him. State your aims with key persons. They will also open new doors of opportunity to you.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Find better modes of expression and listen to what persons with entirely different experiences have to say. Find out how they became successful. Look into your paper for data that is pertinent to your affairs.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Drive right into the tasks ahead of you and get them completed with alacrity and efficiency so that you have time to plan a better future. Be more thoughtful with loved ones. Show special courtesies.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Show the others that you want to be more cooperative in the future in mutual ventures. Start everything operating more ideally. Be alert to present opportunities. Be more progressive.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... — he, or she, will be one of those interesting young people who will have every opportunity to get ahead in professions where much detail is connected with the work involved. First be sure to teach early how to understand the over-all picture otherwise he, or she, will get lost in the important. Management, personnel, humanitarian ventures fine here.

SIGHTINGS INCREASING

Unidentified Flying Objects: Who's Kidding Whom?

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Scientific evidence against the existence of flying saucers is so overwhelming that anyone who persists in the belief that they are real is usually assumed to have a screw loose somewhere.

GUY MARQUAND snapped this at Riverside, Calif.

The assumption is unfair. Wild as the stories and theories may seem, increasing numbers of solid citizens are quietly insisting that "something unusual is happening."

August Roberts is an example. He's a 46-year-old mechanic from Wayne, N. J., who recently came under a unanimity of raised eyebrows after spotting a saucer near his home. "I saw it," he sighs. "I don't care what anybody says, I saw it."

What Roberts saw, according to official Air Force authority, was a "natural phenomenon," the same kind which last year accounted for 870 of the 886 reports of sightings and which over the past 19 years has accounted for nearly 95 per cent of all Unidentified Flying Objects.

It could, for example, have been a reflection of automobile headlights off cloud layers, or the flight of a large bird, or swamp gas, or high altitude balloons, or an optical mirage, or a meteor, or even another of the fiery insects which have previously accounted for reports of strangely glowing and slowly moving objects.

But according to Roberts, it was none of these. "Whatever it was, it wasn't natural," Roberts saw his object at night near a reservoir. He says it was 50 to 100 feet in diameter, round-shaped, glowing with a pulsating light and fashioned with a thin metal rim which spun rapidly in a counterclockwise direction. "As it moved and spun faster," he remembers, "the thing changed colors several times, from deep orange to brownish reds. Then it rose quickly and flew away." Roberts' report gets the official giggle because he has no proof, and this, of course, has been the bane of the Saucerian Society since official sightings began in 1947.

Pictures have been taken, but most have turned out to be hoaxes (one common trick has been to paint old straw hats silver, toss them into the air and snap away). The nation's incredibly sensitive radar network has yet to turn up anything of undetermined origin. And, in 19 years of government probing, not a single shred of evidence has been uncovered, as the Air Force says, "to support any unscientific theories."

Still this rebuff hardly weakens the UFO cult. In fact most of them believe the government is "hiding the facts" and continuing denials only reaffirm their dedication. Roberts himself now asserts, "The Air Force is lying!"

But why? "It may be some new energy has been discovered," he says. "New energy? 'Something revolutionary.' So what? 'Maybe the government does not want the public to know about it. Let's say it's a new which causes much of the you. I saw it with my own country to roll its collective eye-eyes."

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
By AV DNYDICK
UPI Education specialist

Too many parents are more concerned about themselves than the real welfare of their children. Although this self-concern is not consciously intended to harm their children, it is unfortunately the result in many cases.

The desire for prestige is probably the most common reason for decisions which are in reality selfish. In any decision regarding a child's welfare, extreme care must be taken to reach the proper conclusion without allowing the parent's pride to become the basis for such a decision.

How would you react to a recommendation by the school that your child be retained in his present grade? I have listened to many parents object on the grounds that the grandparents would be terribly disappointed. Other parents are concerned with how it will be explained to neighbors and other relatives. Obviously, these are not concerns related to the child but rather to parental embarrassment. Few parents express the concern of how the child will explain being left back to his friends.

which causes many parents to rebel is that of placing their child in a special class which is designed to deal with emotional disturbance, brain damage or other handicaps. Again the objection is not usually based on the best interests of the child but rather on the pride of the parents.

Why do so many parents pressure their children to attend prestige colleges? Unfortunately, it is not always because the particular college is well suited to the ability, ambitions and needs of the child. Too often it is so that the parent can brag to friends and relatives. There is certainly nothing wrong with pride and pleasure from a child's accomplishments. The problem is when decisions are made on this basis rather than a realistic evaluation of the child's needs.

Unintentional Harm
Parents rarely intend to bring harm to their children. The harm is often the result of poor judgment based upon emotion rather than facts and logic. It is not wrong to make decisions as suggested above when the decision is truly for the best interests of the child. It is wrong when parents refuse to accept recommendations because of their own pride.

Junior Service League Has Talk By AFS Student

Werauy Yeethongham, American Field Service student attending Pampa High School, was guest speaker at the meeting of Junior Service League of Pampa held yesterday morning in the Pampa Country Club. "Bill" as his classmates have nicknamed the AFS student, was introduced by Mrs. Mack Hlatt, president of the Pampa Chapter of AFS.

Mrs. Warren Fatheree, newly-installed president, presided at her first meeting during which the secretary's report was given by Mrs. W. O. Matejowsky. Mrs. Joe Donaldson, treasurer, announced the League had donated $25 to the Salvation Army's children's trip to Amarillo.

Announcement was also made the Golden Eagle will be open on Wednesday afternoon from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

H&S Elects Officers

Mrs. Roger Farrow was elected president of St. Vincent's Home and School Association at the final meeting of the year. Other officers are Mrs. Charles Walsh, vice president; Mrs. Bill Hagerman, secretary and Mrs. Jack Hilt, treasurer.

C. W. Forbes, co-ordinator for the Distributive Education program in Pampa High School, was guest speaker.

In accepting the gavel of president for the new year, appreciation was expressed to Mrs. John Delacroce and other officers for their service to the association during the year. Refreshments were served by the first grade with Mrs. Joe Dickey and Mrs. Jim Keough as hostesses.

Builder, Spare Those Trees!

By SHEILA AND ALLAN SWENSON
NEA Garden Specialists

When you build a home or a new addition, pave a drive or alter your property, try to save the trees. They are more important assets than you may realize.

Real estate people estimate that attractive landscaping during and after construction work will help trees overcome minor damage to parts of the root areas. To deep-root feed, make holes with a crowbar 12 to 18 inches deep and 2 to 4 feet apart in concentric circles under the drip line. Put a cup of fertilizer such as 5-10-5 or 10-6-4 into each hole and water well.

Protect trees with a snow fence or build a wood box around the trunk to avoid trunk damage during construction. Avoid changing soil levels when grading. Piling a few extra inches of soil around established trees or paving a drive over roots can sometimes suffocate a tree.

Pruning after nearby construction is helpful. This reduces water loss through leaves and compensates for root damage.

POLLY'S POINTERS To Tip Or Not Too... That's The Question

By POLLY CHAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — My retired bachelor uncle recently moved to a small town, and he eats many of his meals in one particular restaurant. The customers there are asked not to tip. Feeling that the attentive counter girl merits a gratuity, but not wishing to be noticeable or to embarrass anyone, every so often he leaves the correct amount of his check on top of some silver for her. This is placed on or over the cash register drawer. Do you think he is right or wrong in doing this?

—EDIE

DEAR READERS — Perhaps some restaurant owners will tell us how serious they really are when they post such signs. I am sure many wonder what to do in such a situation and particularly when they have the same person serve them regularly. However, I am surprised that Edie's uncle hasn't had his hand slapped when it is on or over the cash register drawer.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I keep a roll of adding machine tape in a dispenser on my kitchen bulletin board where needed items are jotted down for my grocery list. Next to this I have attached an envelope in which I keep all the coupons that come in the mail. A quick look through these and I am ready with the list and coupons when time for my weekly shopping trip rolls around.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I know you are not a fashion editor, but maybe you can help me. There is continual friction between me and my husband over the length of my skirts. I will be 50 this year and have four grown children and four grandchildren.

I have a nice figure, work in an office and wear my skirts to the middle of my kneecap.

My husband, who is a business executive, says I am too modest and old-fashioned, that I should "get with it" and wear my skirts shorter like the fashionable women do.

I think teen-agers look cute with short skirts, but after 40 a woman should have a little more dignity about her.

Should I shorten my skirts to please my husband? Or should I leave them the way they are and get an argument from my husband every week?

DEAR "SMITTY" IN TORONTO

DEAR "SMITTY": Tell your husband you'll shorten your skirts if he'll let his hair grow down to his shoulders, wear skin tight trousers, and a turtle-neck sweater to his office. Then you can "get with it" together.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school student. Last week my very best girl friend slept over. The day after she left my mother missed about $12 worth of her good cosmetics. I didn't want my mother to think my friend had taken them so I said I had "borrowed" them and left them somewhere.

Now I am being punished, but I would almost rather take the punishment than have my mother think my girl friend was a thief. Abby, I turned the house upside down looking for those cosmetics, and they are just gone!

Should I tell my mother I had nothing to do with it, and it just had to be that girl? Or should I take the punishment and let it go?

BEING BLAMED

DEAR BEING: If you can catch your girl friend with the evidence, do so and give her a chance to return the stolen goods. If you can't, tell your mother that you didn't take her cosmetics and that you lied to protect a friend who may not have deserved it.

DEAR ABBY: The boy next door bit our daughter on the face. The skin was broken so we had to take her to the doctor for tests and medical care. I asked the doctor to send the bill to the boy's parents.

He did, but now the doctor tells me that they did not pay it. Don't you think they should pay this bill instead of me? What should I do?

MAD

DEAR MAD: Pay the doctor. Then retain a lawyer to tell your neighbor that you expect repayment and (possibly) punitive damages.

Looks Like Leggy With Femmes In Spring Pantsuits

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Women first took to trousers years ago when they discovered how comfortable leggy fashions could be. But things have changed since pants were "let go" clothes. Now they're "shape up" styles and what you wear under them has a lot to do with how you look.

Buying either pants or pantie girdle too small, thinking you will LOOK smaller, is a mistake. Actually, you'll look bigger by creating a roll at the waistline or a bulge at the thigh.

Correct length is important, too. Leg lengths are proportioned today to both figures and fashions and a number of manufacturers, reports the Corset and Brassiere Council, are producing super-legs with concealed garters especially for pantsuits.

There also are sleek one-piece pantie foundations that afford midriff control as well as uplift and hip-over-thigh smoothing. Lengths and strengths vary. Do not slip into a "little nothing" if you need control.

Stretch Pettipants are good with culotte-style pantsuits. These are cut slim and are pretty enough to be seen when a breeze lifts your hemline.

Since pantsuits generally come complete as costumes with blouse or sweater you have to consider the right bra as well as the right hip-hugging foundation to wear underneath. The typical pants look is pared down — trim and smart rather than sexy. So you need a bra with cups that shape a natural, unex-

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NOTE: The following letter refers to the mother whose son repeated to the teacher the derogatory remarks his mother had made about her.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: WOW! I had to read your answer to "Upset Mommy" three times to be sure that I had read correctly your advice to her. This easy-way-out philosophy is just exactly what has made us a soft, spineless, sorry generation.

You should have told this young mother to grow up and tell the teacher she did make the unkind remarks, apologize for them, and say she now realizes (let's hope she does) that it's wrong to tear down another's character without that person having an opportunity for defense and she hopes the teacher will forgive her.

Doing the right thing in a situation like this is what builds character. Who knows, the act of offering herself in humble apology might make for a friendship that would otherwise have been missed.

I hope you will think over your first answer. You have a real opportunity to help this young mother.

ANALYZES POLITICS

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Nationalism is the strongest force in Southeast Asia today and communism a mere technique, according to former U.S. Ambassador to Japan Edwin O. Reischauer.

In the first of two Edward Hanly Memorial Lectures at Holy Cross College Wednesday night, Reischauer characterized communism as "merely a technique by which some nationalists attempt to control a country."

Reischauer said "Much greater dangers lie beyond Vietnam rather than in Vietnam itself."

NEW YORK (UPI) —William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks, Hamphill, Noyes believes many investors who had expected lower first quarter earnings to depress the market were caught off guard by the recent heavy demand for blue chips and a general revival of confidence. The analysts therefore feels, that many traders who were waiting for declines for bargain prices before reinvesting cash reserves probably have decided to accelerate purchases.

He feels recent strength of auto industries is significant inasmuch as it encouraged belief that the economic slump of the last 6 to 9 months may be less severe and shorter lived than had been expected.

Whitey, Yankees Back on Top Again

By United Press International
Whitey Ford's fingers were cold Wednesday but his pitching made the New York Yankees the hottest team in the American League.

the crafty veteran Ford who's trying to make a comeback at age 36, moved the Yanks back to the top.
Ford, the veteran of 11 pennant-winning teams, scattered seven hits to blank the Chicago White Sox 3-0 for the 45th shutout of his career. It was the third straight victory for the Yanks since Boston's Bill Rohr pitched his memorable ted he was worried a bit about finishing.

"I got them out with fast balls and sinkers," he said. "The last few innings I had to lay off the breaking ball because my fingers were cold and I couldn't get a grip on it. I thought I'd come out in the eighth or ninth if I got tired but I didn't get tired."

Warriors Eye Second Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The San Francisco Warriors, suddenly hot after returning to the frenetic confines of the Cow Palace, seek to pull even tonight with the Philadelphia 76ers in their best of seven battle for the NBA championships.

WHITEY FORD shutout one-hitter against the New Yorkers Friday.

Down two games to zero as the result of losses at Philadelphia, the Warriors scrambled back at the palace on Tuesday to muscle out a 130-124 victory and cut the 76ers lead to 2-1 in games. It also marked the ninth straight Warrior win in the drafty old barn.

Combined with Baltimore's 3-2 loss to Minnesota and Kansas City's 4-1 defeat at the hands of Cleveland, the victory moved New York into first place with a 4-2 record. The only other scheduled action, Boston's Patriot's Day doubleheader with Washington, was rained out.

Following tonight's game, the clubs zig-zag for the rest of the playoff with games slated for Philadelphia April 23, San Francisco April 24 and then back to the 76ers floor April 25 if a seventh contest is necessary.

Mobeetie tallied their 19 runs on 11 hits and made seven errors while Darrouzett scored nine runs on only eight hits but committed eight errors.

Although playing on an injured ankle that required a shot before game time, Rick Barry bombed the 76ers with 35 points Tuesday.

Jim Newman was the winner for Mobeetie while Ralph Back took the loss.

DISTRICT ACTION

Lubbock, Monterey Next for Harvesters

By RON CROSS Sports Editor
Lubbock and Monterey will bring plenty of power to Pampa Friday and Saturday for district baseball games (weather permitting of course) but Pampa still looks the best on paper.

Coach Bobby Stephens will start righthander Dickie Henley on the mound for the Westerners until, scheduled at 4 p.m. Friday and come back with lefty Alan Woodard, who was scheduled to go against Tascosa Tuesday or Wednesday.

Henley, 4-2, has lost to Monterey and Plainview but actually looked better in his last start than he has all season.

The Plainsmen have plenty of big bats with Jimmy O'Jibway, who'll start at third hitting a cool .500 in district play.

Lubbock, who lost to the Harvesters 1-0 in the district opener, will probably send Roger Meester, 2-0 or Randy Coleman, 2-2 to the mound Friday.

Mike Crutcher, the Plainsman catcher carries a .261 average. Frist baseman Bart Bratcher is hitting .280. Jim Stiles the second baseman has a .296 average.

In the first game played between the two clubs this year Jim Lang set Lubbock down on five hits while the Harvesters could manage only one run, that one unearned against Coleman, who gave up only four hits.

As an OSU collegian, I had often heard of "the great VanBebber" from a former Panpan who originally got Jack his job with Phillips.

White Deer's varsity and B golf teams left for Lubbock today to enter regional play Friday and Saturday.

Aaron's batting average dipped from .318 in 1965 to a career low .279 last season and marked only the second time in his 12-year major league career that he had failed to reach the .300 plateau.

"This year I want to do what's best for the club," continued Aaron. "I figure that if we get off to a good start, we'll be in the frame of mind to win the pennant."

The Bucks two teams finished one-two in district action recently and are the district representatives.

"This year I want to do what's best for the club," continued Aaron. "I figure that if we get off to a good start, we'll be in the frame of mind to win the pennant."

For the Bucks varsity Buddy Thomas and Mike Hughes tied for most hits with each carding an 83. Wayne Burgin shot an 87 and David Heaton carded an 89.

As An Amateur VanBebber Great

By MIKE GERALD
A man who may quite possibly be regarded as the greatest amateur wrestler in the history of the sport, once dazed Pampa wrestling fans and still resides in the Texas Panhandle.

one other wrestler can match VanBebber's feats; the Japanese bantam Yojiro Uetake, another O-Stater who wound up his undefeated career last year with three NCAA championships and an Olympic gold medal he won in Tokyo while on Japan's team.

Jack VanBebber of Dumas is grappled professionally at the old Pampa Playmores as well as in Amarillo, Lubbock and other Golden Spread cities in 1933-34.

VanBebber, who presently works at Phillips' Cactus plant, north of Dumas, still tries to make it back to Stillwater each year for the annual OSU-OU mat clash, dubbed the "Bedlam Series", when former Cowpoke grapplers are especially welcomed.

As an OSU collegian, I had often heard of "the great VanBebber" from a former Panpan who originally got Jack his job with Phillips.

Visiting the News on his return trip this year, the old hero was slightly dazed when he announced that the Pokes dropped it 17-12.

Born in the heart of wrestling country at Perry, Okla., VanBebber captured three state championships at Perry High School, helping his team do the same, and was beaten only once in his schoolboy career.

"It was close, and we had 'em up until the last match," he said.

Jack then went to nearby Oklahoma A&M (Now Oklahoma State), national champions at the time, on a scholarship.

Jack VanBebber will go on being a legend even if someone does top his record — and no one has been able to in 35 years.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Konrad Adenauer: The 'Miracle Man'

A story making the rounds of Bonn in 1961 concerned a supposed conversation between West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his gardener.

Adenauer wanted something planted in his garden to keep passersby from looking in. The gardener suggested poplars. "But they take 15 years to grow," he cautioned.

"So what?" said Adenauer. "Der Alte" — the Old Man — was then 85 and running for his third election as chancellor.

Adenauer, who seemed always to have been old, was 73 in 1949 when, as founder and leader of the Christian Democratic Party, he was made chancellor of the new-born Federal Republic of Germany. By the standards of the Allied occupying powers, his qualifications were impeccable.

Mayor of Cologne before the war, he had been deposed by the Nazis, barred from politics and eventually imprisoned. He was the strong man many thought Germany needed — and wanted — to guide it through the difficult postwar era.

Many Germans, however, particularly his splintered political opponents, chafed under his near-autocratic rule, his staunch anti-communism and searing subservience to the United States, his bluntness and his faith in his own longevity and indispensability.

But crushed and divided Germany itself grew strong under the strong man. "The Economic Miracle," the Germans called it — the amazing recovery blueprint by Adenauer's economic minister, Ludwig Erhard, who succeeded to the chancellorship when Adenauer at last retired in 1963.

Konrad Adenauer, who died yesterday in Bonn, lived long enough to see his poplars half grown, if they were ever planted. Of far greater significance to the world, he lived long enough to see his country more than half-grown toward genuine democracy, the old enmity with France reconciled, Germany come to terms with its past and prepared to take its place as a leader among the free-world nations.

This, perhaps, was the greatest miracle of all.

War Economy Is Not Prosperity

Almost without realizing it, citizens of the United States are living in a war economy. Keeping the pipelines to Vietnam filled is causing many industries to hum and scarcities in some vital materials to crop up.

At the same time, dislocations are becoming evident. The economy is booming, the experts say, but new cars aren't selling at a comparable pace. The 1967 models, in fact, are selling so slowly that layoffs in the auto industry have been the rule in recent weeks.

Where are all the potential buyers? It doesn't take an expert to see that nearly a half-million of them are in the rice paddies and jungles of Vietnam, transportation provided by Uncle Sam, with little need for a new car right now.

All of this raises an interesting question: Is it possible for a country to suffer economic depression during wartime?

The answer is that every war is an economic depression, but that the effects are disguised. It is an economic depression in the sense that business expansion is limited except for war purposes. It is an economic depression in the sense that many persons suffer deprivation of consumer goods. It is an economic depression in the sense that many persons are not engaged in productive employment, but instead are engaged in destructive undertakings. It is a depression in the sense that many are being pressed into involuntary servitude and many are being crippled and killed.

The main disguise on wartime economic depression are these: First, the population is motivated to work and, unlike conditions in an ordinary recession, nearly everyone is busy.

The Idea and the Thing

We are going to great lengths to develop a workable society in which vast multitudes of people of all races, creeds and colors can live amicably and in comfort. It is a worthy goal. The question is, can it be achieved at the expense of basic principles of human freedom?

Everywhere we turn, compulsion is being substituted for free choice, and overall, we hear the click of the computer sorting and cataloging people like they were so many nuts and bolts — mere components of a great, complicated social machine.

As the rules and regulations mount, what is to become of the individual who may prize his freedom more than his security? In fact, what may become of the machine itself, built on structural man-made laws that deny natural laws? The great danger is the social machine that is rising around us today, is arbitrary power.

It might be well to recall, and question, the words of John Locke who lived and wrote during the seventeenth century. "The end of law is not to abolish or restrain, but to preserve and enlarge freedom." But one might ask, can law based on coercion and restraint do aught but coerce and restrain?

It is worth thinking about.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

The maneuvering of Nixon, Romney, Rockefeller, Bobby Kennedy and others for the Presidential nomination the next time around recalls that Daniel Webster could have had it three times and refused. In 1836 when he rejected the Anti-Masons; in 1844, when he supported John Tyler against his own Whig party; and again in 1859 when he defied the radicals in his own party. Perhaps it is no wonder that John F. Kennedy had a special regard for Webster when he wrote his best seller, "Profiles in Courage." Webster was a statesman and a politician, and, on occasion, a conniver, but he had GUTS.

Today's smiler: A collection agency wrote to a long-overdue account and politely stated in a letter: "We're surprised that we haven't received anything from you." The delinquent creditor returned the form letter with the notation: "You should not be surprised. I haven't sent anything to you."

No one ever puts any gloves in them so we wonder why the auto makers continue to call that "catchall" on the dash a "glove compartment"? In most of them you can find anything from a lipstick to a monkey wrench, but never any gloves.

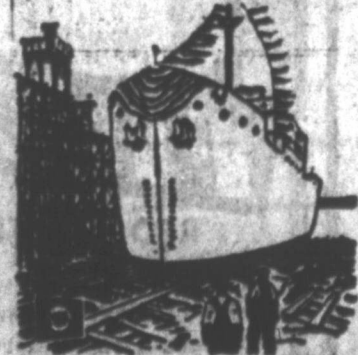

And, we've observed, most of the items are women's accessories. . . . More than 80 percent of the food consumed by the average American family is refrigerated somewhere along the line from its source to the family table. . . . There's a War on Poverty in the U. S. yet statistics show there is one automobile for every 35 persons in the nation. Can any communist country match that?

Thoughts while shaving: Years ago it was commonly believed that a gold coin would cure a case of jaundice. These days the average American is certain that a gold coin will cure almost anything. . . . Uncle Sam won't permit us to own one. . . . The bugle call Retreat, which is still played every evening at military posts when the flag is being hauled down, is of very ancient origin and is said to date back to the Crusades. . . . These days the Virgin Islands is a vacation paradise, but Uncle Sam thought he was stuck real bad after he bought them in 1916 from Denmark for $25 million. It was about the time of our entry into World War I and military experts believed Germany would grab them as a naval base in this hemisphere.

After purchase we discovered no harbor there could accommodate a battleship. . . . Hawaii, the 50th state, has a language of its own that dates back to the time of first settlement by the Polynesian ancestors of the present-day island dwellers. However, it was not until 1820 and the coming of the missionaries that the language took form. It consists of a 12 letter-alphabet and sounds something akin to Latin. . . . A Japanese firm has developed the world's first automatic sandwich maker. The machine, which can produce 1,200 sandwiches an hour, can make almost any type of spread or minced sandwich on an assembly-line basis. Bread is fed into it by an operator and the machine does the rest, including slicing and wrapping. . . . The Shreveport (La.) TIMES reported in a story: "The next big struggle will be to grab TV viewers who keep their seats on from 11:30 p.m. into the small hours." Well if you've got to watch TV you may as well do it sitting down.

Country Editor speaking: "A lot of successful men who started on a shoestring wound up taking a leech."

Straight Talk

DEAR BIG DADDY. . .

Honorable Adam Clayton Powell The Bimini Bar Bimini, B.W.I.

Dear Big Daddy of Bimini:

Just because you are a thief, philanderer, hypocrite and liar is not sufficient reason to deny you a seat in Congress. Since when does that make a person unfit to sit in the Congress or the Senate or the White House? You should definitely take your case to court. Many of the judges have much in common with you. If Douglas is fit to sit on the Court, you are fit to sit in the House. You claim that your de-seating violates your constitutional rights. But the Supreme Court, like Pontius Pilate, has washed its hands of the Constitution.

Reminds me of the doctor and lawyer who were shipwrecked in shark-infested waters a mile offshore. They were debating which should try to swim ashore for help. Said the lawyer: "If it is you who are attacked by sharks, you will better be able to deal with your wounds."

"But if it is you the sharks encounter," replied the doctor, "they will step aside from professional courtesy."

There's doubtless much jealousy involved in your de-seating. Many other members wish their constituency would love to see them a-go-ing in Bimini like you, with a babe in one arm and a bottle in the other. And many more wish they knew how to keep their wives from setting, not her paycheck, but theirs.

Even if you should lose your case before the Supreme Court, your people will doubtless reject you by an even more overwhelming majority than the 74 percent of the vote you got last go around. So, probably the only thing that can keep you out of Congress is the Internal Revenue Service. In other words, if you should just possibly get a term in Leavenworth instead of Washington, for income tax evasion, you might find it more convenient to remain in Bimini permanently.

And I can assure you that the vast majority of the American people don't want you to return here to go to jail. They'd rather you stayed there permanently. And there are millions of unselfish patriots who would pay the passage to Bimini of all your supporters, to live it up there with you, permanently. Raising that money would be less sweat than counting the Wallace vote in a Harlem precinct. And everyone would be as happy as an orthodox rabbi looking at current pork prices in a meat market.

You say, "I have not tarnished the name of the House through any violation of federal laws, particularly the U.S. Civil Code governing conflicts of interest for congressmen. Nor have I misused my position to obtain federal contracts for corporations represented by me or my law firm. Nor have I de-

An Interesting Question: Should Doctors Advertise?

By OSCAR W. COOLEY, Assoc. Prof. of Economics, Ohio Northern Univ.

There is an unwritten rule in certain professions such as medicine, dentistry, and law that their members shall not advertise. Is this good economics? Advertising is the giving of information to the buying public which makes possible the intelligent buying of goods and services. Professional men offer valuable services. Aren't people benefited by learning who performs such services, what their experience and qualifications are, and what they charge for their services?

People now get this information very haphazardly by word of mouth, that is, by noting what other people say and by inquiry. They also evaluate professional men by the clients or patients they are reputed to serve. These are not very reliable methods of sifting up a surgeon or a solicitor, but people have to learn as best they can.

Similar methods are used by all of us in determining what automobile, shoes, or coffee to buy. Word-of-mouth communication is the oldest, easiest, and most widely used kind. But we are also aided by printed and spoken advertising to decide what auto, shoes and coffee to buy. The makers of these things are not bashful, nor are they inhibited by any rules of "professional ethics." They are frank and forthright in telling the world about their product. The world, fully aware that it is being told in each case by an interested party, listens with skepticism, but listens nevertheless, and learns a great deal. Advertising is vastly informative.

Certainly the advertisers are convinced that "it pays to advertise." They are convinced that such contracts. Nor have I bilked the U.S. government out of one million dollars by selling it inferior merchandise which affects . . . the war in Vietnam."

According to your logic, no criminal should be prosecuted until all are. And we just don't have enough jails! Reverend Powell, did you by chance ever hear of the Commandment which says, "Thou shalt not steal?" — no matter what Congress may do?

Your appeal is that you are an authentic phony. Obviously, you have no religion; but then many other preachers: these days don't either.

In 1966, members of the House spent more than $500,000 on trips to attractive and comfortable parts of the world, at taxpayers' expense, of course. Trouble is, you stole more than your pro rata share.

I certainly hope you can find the time, in addition to Bimini, babes and bars, to write your proposed congressional crook book. We can hardly wait for you to tell us just which white congressional culprits committed which crimes, and where the pardon the expression — bodies are hidden. That'll teach them to NAACP (Never Antagonize Adam Clayton Powell).

Of course, maybe some congressman are all right, but would you want your daughter to marry one?

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE Whom would you like to make the decision as to which candidates you will get a chance to vote for as President? Would you prefer a choice made by political machines in a dozen or so of the nation's largest cities? Or do you want an electoral system that would be representative of the Congressional Districts and States of the nation?

A reform of the Electoral College providing one elector from each Congressional District and two from each State at-large will result in the nomination and election of Presidents who, so long as the U.S. continues to dominate the world, will not permit the loss of 10 million people per year into Communist domination. The thinking is more constructive through the U. S., outside the midtown and sometimes stum areas of metropolises.

Also deploring the present system are President Johnson, who has twice asked Congress to initiate a reform of the Electoral College system; American Bar Association, League of Women Voters, American Good Government Society and countless others. The American Legion acted in 1956 and 1957. A fair, feasible, truly representative system would be the Dis-

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Home Fire Drills Are Valuable Safety Aids

Every year nearly two million persons in the United States suffer severe or fatal burns. Most of them are either very old or very young. A disproportionate number of these injuries occur in the home and all are preventable. The key to prevention is education. Teach your younger children the danger of playing with matches and your older children how to handle fire safely.

Take a tip from the schools, where fire drills are held routinely. Show your children two avenues of escape — usually a door and a window — from every room in your home and provide a rope ladder for each bedroom above the first floor.

Teach your children the importance of immediate escape. They should not try to put out the fire or try to salvage any of their treasures. Fire spreads quickly and every second counts. If a window can't be opened readily, teach your children to break the glass with any handy object, then break off the jagged edges before climbing out.

Stress the dangers of suffocation with smoke. Many a child has been overcome trying to pass through a smoke-filled hall and died before the flames reached him. One should not rely on a wet cloth over the nose to filter out the poisonous fumes and let only pure air into the lungs. Repeat the home fire drills often enough that your children will react calmly and automatically should they be faced with the real thing.

There are still far too many children seriously injured by clothing fires. Teach your children not to run if their clothing catches fire but to lie down and smother the flames by rolling in a rug, coat or blanket. The search for fire-resistant fabrics has been less-rewarding than the development of flame-retarding finishes for ordinary fabrics. Three or four have already been found but not yet received wide usage. For more detailed information on this important development you can write to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Research Service, P.O. Box 19678, New Orleans 19, La.

Q—My daughter, 7, had several waris removed but they have come back. What causes them and is there a cure?

A—Waris are caused by a virus. They will disappear spontaneously after a period of months or years. There are several ways to remove them — X-ray, freezing with dry ice or, if your doctor is ultramodern, laser rays — but unless the roots are completely destroyed they may return.

his offering is better than that of other producers. Professional men are in economic competition, and each knows full well who his competitors are. Is it somehow unethical to bring this in, even though the economic effect is very much present.

The truth is that war is the worst form of economic depression. The "prosperity" it appears to stimulate is a vicious illusion.

War, alone and of itself, is proof positive that a significant portion of a country's economy has already been socialized or fascitized.

In the news today we hear lots about negotiats, especially about our government negotiations to make peace with our enemies. Some times we forget what has happened by negotiation in the past. I must recall what happened at Potsdam, Yalta, Geneva, where the government gave away in appeasement, more than they received, and we suffer by means of it today. Also we negotiated and held up General Patton two weeks to allow the Russians to occupy Berlin, and we negotiated the treaty of Berlin, dividing Germany, leaving Berlin an isolated city in a communist-controlled country.

We have 60,000 soldiers in Korea holding the cease fire negotiated line.

We had a negotiation at Oshee Bay of Pigs, an act the government does not like to talk about. Also we negotiated with Castro, and helped him in his revolution in Cuba. Then what happened? Again we negotiated with Russia to take missiles out of Cuba. The price we paid was to agree not to invade Cuba with arms by sea, air or land.

How about that? Our hands are tied in regard to Cuba and Castro. How about the Suez Canal? We negotiated again and gave the canal to Egypt. How about that? There was the negotiation at Laos, same old story. In all these negotiations Uncle Sam lost his shirt, and had to pay the bill. Then again, there is the least talked about negotiation with Panama. The all valuable canal is about negotiated over to Panama. This time Uncle Sam split his pants. We are about to lose the works. All of these negotiations were not victories, just cease fire and peace table talks.

Oh yes, there was a negotiation made by a victory. Japan's unconditional surrender to Douglas MacArthur, thanks to Harry S. Truman, who had the guts to back up his good judgement and win the war quick and save the lives of thousands of American boys in the Armed Forces. Again Japan is one of U.S. best friends. She buys 60 per cent of U. S. exports, pays cash, never asks for credit. How about that?

I am for winning this war. Get it over. Quicker the better. I am tired of a no-win 5 or 10 year war, possibly 150,000 casualties or more. Let's have victory, unconditional surrender and a peace that will be permanent, a peace that will have no ifs and buts, the kind that the rest of the world will look up to and respect Uncle Sam, even though he seems kinda soft and easy, with his aid money sometimes. I do not like the way the government agrees to trade with the Communist block countries, and in turn gives aid to our enemies.

C. C. Dodd, 1618 N. Russell.
