Johnson Arrives In Uruguay For Summit Meeting

Parley Will Center On Common Market

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — President Johnson arrived in Uruguay today for a summit conference of hemispheric chiefs of state on strengthening the Alliance for Progress, chiefly with a Latin American common market.

Two key Latin American requests had been rejected in advance of the summit by the U.S. delegation already at Punta Del Este. One was that the United States soften its requirement that most of its aid funds be spent for U.S. products. The other was that the Latin American countries be given preferential treatment in U.S. markets for their exports.

Pampa's Trucking Lockout Could Become Critical

Truck transportation into the Pampa area was described today as "something of a confused state," and critical unless something happens soon to break the Trucking Employees Inc. lockout of Teamsters International employees here.

Pampa plant managers said they would resort to rail, air, parcel post, and "mule train" to get needed shipments transported into and out of Pampa.

Ed Lowrance, Teamsters Union steward of Pampa, for Amarillo Local 577, said today four Teamsters Union members, employed here with Lee Way Motor Freight, have been locked out of work since the shutdown started Saturday.

"We've reported for work every day, but we can't get in. They tell us there's no work today," Lowrance said.

The lockout of Teamsters union employees here and nationwide started at midnight Saturday, because the union had not agreed on a contract with management officials.

The union's three-year contract expired April 1. Since then management and union officials in Washington have been working on contract negotiations, but have not yet reached an agreement, Lowrance said.

Union officials in Washington are asking for back wages for those men denied the right to work since the shutdown. he

Planes Rake Missile Sites

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. planes aided by clearing weather hit North Vietnam with 133 missions Monday—the second largest strike since the monsoon rains blanketed the North in November. One plane and pilot were lost—the 503rd plane shot down over North Vietnam.

While pilots of the 400 or more planes were raking anti-aircraft and missile sites in the North troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division fought to annihilate a trapped Communist battalion within earshot of Saigon. Smaller battles flared on all sides of the capital.

A spokesman said the American troops which trapped the battalion of 400 to 600 men against the Do Mai River had killed 224 guerrillas by body count and estimated another 50 dead by air strikes. The American losses in the lopsided

Railroad Strike Blocked 20 Days

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress today passed emergency legislation requested by President Johnson to block for at least 20 days a threatened nationwide railroad strike.

The Senate and House passed the measure in rapid-fire order. The special resolution the President requested now will be flown to Punta Del Este, Uruguay for his signature.

WOULD HAVE QUIT YESTERDAY — John Stettler, a California song-writer, who stopped here yesterday on his cross-country walk from California to New York, said he is protesting the "unfair treatment new song writers get." In an interview here, he said he would have quit his mission yesterday if some music publisher would give him a fair hearing.

Protest Song-Writer Makes Stop in Pampa

Pampa had a new protest marcher yesterday. John Stettler, 40, a California song writer, stopped here on his cross-country walk to New York City to "protest the treatment a new music writer receives."

The ex-Marine who left his home, his wife, four children, and job in Westminster, Calif., started for New York in January and expects to get there by July "unless something happens pretty soon."

To Stettler, that "something" would be for a song publisher to listen to his music and give him a "fair hearing."

An intermittent popular music writer about seven years, Stettler said here he is "disgusted with the treatment a newcomer gets in that field. Sometimes I would almost give up trying, because I've sent sheets off to have them come back unopened."

As Stettler explains it, he "decided to try something nutty to draw attention" to his problem. To someone as "out of condition as I was, starting out with a 60-pound pack was a mistake. If I had it to do over again, it would be easier to shoot myself."

A combination of the over-laden pack, blisters, heat, and rainy cold weather, and "being broke 90 per cent of the time" caused Stettler to lose about 30 pounds since he started his hike. "Some of these things I hadn't bargained for, but the most frustrating part is not the walking, it's being broke all the time," he said.

Financial support from home "petered out before I got to Yuma, Ariz. I have no sponsorship, other than shoes, but you can't eat them."

"I worked about a week at a grape ranch in Arizona. The rest of the time, I've been lucky."

"Something has happened to keep me going. In some places, total strangers gave cash donations, a place to sleep or a meal," he said.

How long he stays here depends on whether or not he can find work in a "couple of days." "If I can't I'll have to push on. Staying too long in one place uses up what capital I have. It takes about four weeks to work enough to earn a decent stake, about $100, which is used up in three weeks," he said.

According to Stettler, "It costs more to walk from California to New York than it does to drive. To drive 500 miles in one day, takes five weeks to walk. Paying for room and board, and keeping up the laundry adds

Paving Program Begins Monday

Another step in Pampa's overall 140-block $750,000 street paving program will be taken Monday when the High Plains Pavers of Dumas moves in its paving equipment to start work on the project.

The Pampa City Commission will meet in a called session at 8:30 a.m. Friday to approve release of the first six to ten blocks of paving on streets where there has been 100 per cent sign-up by property owners.

"The contractor will be ready to start work next week as soon as we give him the go-ahead," City Manager Jim White told commissioners at their meeting today.

The city manager stated that in the overall program more than 800 property owners out of the 1,400 involved have signed their willingness to participate in the program.

The commission also was informed by the city manager that the State Highway Department has completed its figures on property valuations for right-of-way purchases for Alcock St. (SH 152) widening and improvement.

A tentative meeting has been scheduled May 5 with the state Highway Department in Austin at which time the State will be asked to appropriate funds on a 50-50 basis for the project.

The city's share for improving Alcock from Faulkner St. to Price Rd. is $236,000 which was included in the $2,900,000 bond issue approved by voters March 8, 1966.

The Pampa delegation which will go to the Austin meeting will include the mayor, city manager, representatives of the chamber of commerce, city commission, county judge, county commissioners' court, and local highway committees.

A recommendation of the City Traffic Commission regarding the removal of all stop signs on Duncan St. from Decatur to the downtown area was tabled by the commission until alternate routes are worked out for traffic during the widening of Duncan St. which is expected to start within the next month or so.

The commission also took under consideration recommendations to make Charles a through street, removal of stop signs at Charles and Harvester and at Charles and Kentucky, with a "yield" sign to be placed on Kentucky and a stop sign on Harvester at those intersections. Unless the recommendations are put into effect, the traffic commission stated, it recommends that traffic should be stopped on N. Russell at Decatur St.

In other business today the commission awarded a $2,891.75 contract for the purchase of water well equipment to Western Industrial Supply Co. of Amarillo, appointed William C. Davis and J. C. Russell to the City Electrical Board and named R. M. Samples, George Scott and L. L. Sone to the City Board of Equalization. Sone replaces Jim Daley who has served on the board for several years and asked to be relieved of the post this year.

City bills of $36,220.99 and Lovett Memorial Library bills of $1,054.79 for March were approved for payment.

The commission also awarded a contract for dump ground salvage of tin cans to James Dale of Amarillo for $2 a ton.

SCOFIELD BEST ACTOR

Liz Takes Second 'Best Actress' Oscar

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, who played a vicious, heavy-drinking and promiscuous nagging wife, and Paul Scofield, who portrayed a gentle soul who chose to die for opposing his king rather than violate his conscience, Monday night won the top Academy Awards for acting.

"A Man for All Seasons," which Scofield played Thomas More, won the Oscar for best picture over "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" in which Miss Taylor starred as the foul-mouthed Martha and her real-life husband Richard Burton portrayed Martha's husband, George.

It was Miss Taylor's second Oscar and she became the sixth actress in history to win two. Burton had been nominated for best actor and it was his fifth loss in five nominations.

"A Man for All Seasons" won a total of six Oscars, including the one for best director, won by Fred Zinnemann. "Virginia Woolf" won five, including best supporting actress, Sandy Dennis, who played the young ingenious foil to Martha's and George's games. Walter Matthau won the best supporting actor award for his role in "The Fortune Cookie."

Matthau suffered a heart seizure during the filming of "The Fortune Cookie." He accepted the award with his broken left arm in a sling, and limped painfully to the stage. He was injured in a bicycle spill.

Miss Taylor, who was in France, did not comment immediately on her award. Scofield, who won a Tony award in 1961 for his Broadway portrayal of More in "A Man for All Seasons," said in London he was "quite overwhelmed." He said he thought the film was better than the play.

Miss Lennis said in New York, "I'm absolutely pleased. I hadn't really given it much thought. That's the best way you know—don't think about it."

Bob Hope, who again failed to win an Oscar, was master of ceremonies for the annual film and television tribute which was televised. The settlement of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists' strike was announced 90 minutes before the show went on.

Among the winners only Matthau and Zinnemann were present to accept the top awards.

Robert Bolt won the Oscar for best screenplay from another medium stage for "A Man for All Seasons," in story of the Lord Chancellor who defied King Henry VIII's legal attempts to be supreme over the church so he could obtain a divorce.

Greatest ovation of the evening was given to gallant Patricia Neal, a former Oscar winner who suffered three near-fatal strokes two years ago.

The orchestra played "you gotta have heart," after which Miss Neal, speaking clearly but slowly said, "I thank you. I'm sorry I've been away so long."

Other award winners were: Best song: "Born Free," which also won the best original music score.

Best costume design for a black and white picture: Irene Sharaff for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Best costume design for a color picture: Elizabeth Haffenden and Joan Bridge for "A Man for All Seasons."

"A Man for All Seasons" also captured Oscar for best screenplay and best cinematography of a color picture.

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" won additional awards for art direction and cinematography in a black and white picture.

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — A $170,000,000 pay raise bill for Texas school teachers now is in its flight through legislative thunderclouds.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, sponsor of the legislation, steered it through the Senate Education Committee with ease.

Aikin indicated he will move for Senate passage after the general appropriations bill is passed. He has sufficient votes to send it to the House.

Texas State Teachers Association President Sam M. Anderson of Big Spring told the committee that this school year opened with an actual shortage of 1,200 teachers.

Furthermore, some 5,000 of those now employed would not be working if capable replacements were available. By fall the teacher shortage is expected to grow worse unless salaries are improved.

TSTA says Aikin's bill — which provides raises of $61 to $100 a month with the biggest going to teachers with less experience — still would leave Texas teachers $4 below the national average.

Raises would necessitate a state appropriation of $170,000,000 for the next two years. Local school districts would add about $17,000,000 a year more, as their share.

Additional state money involved is almost as much as Gov. John Connally's entire $187,300,000 tax program. For that reason this bill will play a significant part in the overall financial complexion of this legislative session.

Connally's spending and revenue plans include $50,000,000 for teachers, or a total raise of five per cent across the board. This is about one-third of what TSTA wants.

While there is general feeling that teachers will get more money again this session, House sentiment appears to lean toward a lower figure than that covered by TSTA's bill, but a higher one than recommended by the governor.

COMMITTEES GO TO WORK — Quick action by various committees of the House and Senate in reporting out notable bills will keep Senators and Representatives busy during the coming weeks. Bills coming out:

Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee reported favorably without debate constitutional amendment by Sen. Joe Bernal of San Antonio to lower the state voting age to 18.

Bernal didn't even get to present his testimony or the numerous witnesses from all over the state.

Same committee favorably reported a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville to gradually do away with ad valorem taxes.

Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater pushed through the House Judiciary Committee his Tort Claims Act, which would do away with the doctrine that prohibits suits against the state and local governments without permission of the Legislature.

Senate Education Committee recommended passage of Sen. Wayne Connally's bill to exempt students from low-income families from having to pay tuition and fees at state-supported colleges and universities. — Enabling bill to allow the Parks and Wildlife Department to issue $75,000,000 in bonds to about 2,300 calories a day but finant the purchase and development of parks around the state was reported favorably by the House Committee of Parks and Wildlife. Its companion constitutional amendment to authorize the bonds has been passed by both houses, but in different forms so it, too, is pending.

BILLS SIGNED — Governor Connally has signed two of this session's major bills into law: (1) Local option authority for cities to levy one per cent sales taxes and; (2) Strengthening of the Sunday closing law.

Sales taxation at local level will be delayed until after August.

Under Sunday closing law amendments merchants cannot sell 42 named items — including clothing, toys, furniture and hardware — on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays. Old "emergency purchase" certificate is out.

Two lesser bills also got Connally's signature. One establishes the Texas Fine Arts Commission on a permanent basis. Other allows the Parks and Wildlife Department to acquire, restore and maintain historical structures and sites and those relating to prehistoric animal or plant life.

OLD-AGE Benefits — Awaiting the governor's signature is a bill by Senator Bernal to make eligible for old age assistance payments 10,000 persons who have lived in Texas 25 years or longer, but who are not U.S. citizens.

Bernal said that no one knows how many elderly non-citizens there are in Texas, though the figure may run as high as 12,730. However, State Department of Public Welfare figures that 5,000 will sign up the first year and 10,000 the second.

Estimated cost to the state is $1,000,000 the first year and $2,000,000 the second.

"CIVIL RIGHTS BILL PASSED — First state "civil rights" bill in recent history has been passed by the Legislature.

Measure by Sen. Don Kannard of Fort Worth prohibits discrimination because of race, religion, color or national origin in employment with all branches of state and local government in Texas. It also forbids discrimination in agency-dealing with people.

Provisions extend to hiring employees, issuing permits, awarding contracts, use of facilities or participation in government programs. Violations are punishable by fines up to $1,000 and a year in jail.

Bill supplements the 1964 federal civil rights act and allows practices to be filed first in state courts rather than federal courts.

LONG TERMS DELAYED — Proposed Constitutional amendment to provide four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials is bogged down in the Senate after booming through the House.

Senate placed the proposal on table subject to call after a motion to kill it failed 8-19.

Sponsor, Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, will need two-thirds vote to call it off the table, plus recognition of the presiding officer.

COLLEGE BILLS CLEARED — Only a few hours after it cleared Committee, the Senate passed a bill authorizing a regional college district to operate a four-year Permian Basin College at Midland-Odessa.

Its fate in the House is uncertain. However, its author, Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa, predicts final passage there. Even if passed, the governor has left some doubt whether he would sign the bill.

Senate also approved a bill to provide a separate board of regents for West Texas State University at Canyon.

NO JURY EXEMPTIONS — Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi wanted to add veterinarians to the list of persons exempted from jury duty, but by the time the House had finished with his bill, it removed all exemptions.

Bill, which now goes to the Senate, would take away the exemptions enjoyed by mothers of small children, lawyers, small businessmen and other large groups. It would allow the judges to decide whom to exempt from duty.

NO-PIT BAN — Texas Railroad Commission has issued a statewide order prohibiting the use of open earthen pits in the disposal of salt water produced in oil field operations. It takes effect January 1, 1968.

Order will not affect no-pit orders already in effect in individual counties and fields.

Ban was based on evidence given at the Commission's statewide hearing in December and from a study of conservation law and its own rules and regulations. Pits have been criticized because salt water sometimes leaks through and pollutes fresh-water supplies.

Pampa Teachers Have No Plans To Strike For Raise in Pay Scale

Since Pampa teachers consider themselves professionals, they have no plans to use the "strike method" to raise teacher salaries, a Classroom Teacher Association spokesman here said.

Texas is 33rd on the teacher salary scale, but to date, even the usual sanction method for raises has not been used yet in Texas, Frank Anderson, the Pampa CTA president, said.

During the recent state classroom teachers' convention in Austin, Pampa teachers agreed with others in Texas who voted to initiate a study to develop guidelines and procedures for imposing and lifting sanctions.

Sanctions are the National Education Association's answer to teacher strikes, a union tactic which NEA condemns as unsuitable for settling differences in public education.

"Teachers who do strike are members of teachers' labor unions. We consider ourselves professionals and as professionals, will not strike," Anderson said.

Sanctions are used to warn teachers not to take employment in states with unsatisfactory conditions. They were effective in Oklahoma and Utah, but as Anderson said "we have never come to that in Texas."

The national beginning teacher salary is $6,821. In Texas, it is $4,104. Pampa pays $4,704, or $600 above the state average, and adds a local supplement of $315 for a beginning teacher. A beginning teacher's total salary here is $5,019, Anderson said.

This $315 local supplement decreases with years of experience, and was first paid here last year, Anderson said.

During the state CTA Austin meeting, Pampa delegates agreed with seven other resolutions adopted by the state association.

They were resolutions for a pupil-teacher ratio of 23-1; professional consultation agreements between teachers and school boards; extra pay for extra assignments; a 45-minute daily conference planning period for each teacher; a 30-minute, duty-free lunch period for each teacher and reciprocal certification of teachers in all states.

TCTA is supporting a bill before the state legislature to raise teachers' salaries by $61 to $100 a month on a nine-month basis, with larger amounts going to teachers receiving only nominal raises in the last legislative session.

Delegates, including the Pampa teachers, also passed a resolution calling for certified physical education teachers, librarians, and registered nurses in every Texas school.

Delegates to the TCTA meet were Anderson, Mrs. Hazel Poole, Lewis Rogers, Wendell Watson, Donna Anderson and Mrs. Doris Price.

Death Report Is In Error

The News regrets the error in yesterday's story of an Arbor Day planting of a tree IN HONOR, not in MEMORIAM, of Lee Roberts, former city park superintendent.

Mr. Roberts, who lives at 533 S. Barnes, is hale and hearty, enjoying retirement after 25 years service to the city.

The Pampa Garden Club accorded the Arbor Day honor to Roberts because of his assistance to the garden clubs, when they began in 1958 toward a concentrated program of civic beautification.

Tools Taken From Pickup

Pampa police were investigating today the burglary of some tools reportedly stolen out of a pickup parked in the parking lot at Highland General Hospital last night.

The pickup, owned by Dean Crain, contained tools valued at $250 which were taken between 10 and 11 p.m., according to police.

Lockout

Other trucking firms here, including Santa Fe Trails, have been affected by the lockout. Trucking firms that can ship throughout Texas without depending on interstate truck lines, would have no trouble making shipments schedules, if they have no Teamsters Union drivers.

In Pampa, Santa Fe Trails drivers who are members of Teamsters Union, usually drive in shipments here to the dock for an independent driver to deliver. Since the lockout, no trucks have been coming in. Usually two or three drivers come in daily with shipments for Santa Fe, Lowrance said.

Dale Greenhouse, plant manager at Marie Foundations, said conditions at the plant are "critical if this thing continues," but we are working on plans to go to air freight transport "and parcel post for our inbound and outbound shipments," Greenhouse said.

About 320 employees work here at the foundation plant and 220 in another Marie Foundation plant in McLean, he said.

"We do not plan to close our plant," R. E. Dobbin, Cabot Corp. carbon plant manager, said three shipments from the Schaefer plant at Skellytown were delayed, but the Pampa and Big Spring plants have not yet been affected.

"Two Louisiana plants have had serious shipping delays. It could become serious here within the next two days if this continues," Dobbin stated the company is trying to schedule all shipments by rail exclusively from Pampa and other Cabot plants.

Life Insurance Principles Told

The principles of selling life insurance were discussed by J. W. Robinson Jr., Hereford life insurance broker, in an address at a district luncheon meeting of the Top O' Texas Association of Life Underwriters yesterday afternoon in Jim's Steak House.

In his topic, "Closing the Sale Makes the Difference," Robinson, an 18-year veteran in the business and a qualifying member of the Million Dollar Round Table for the past seven years, outlined a four-point program which he stated leads to success in the selling of life insurance.

Robinson has been an outstanding producer for Southland Life ever since entering the profession 17 1/2 years ago in Hereford.

He gave his listeners yesterday the benefit of success methods which have earned him the National Quality Award for the last nine years, elevated him to membership in the Texas Leaders Roundtable for the last ten years and to the Million Dollar Roundtable.

Robinson, a graduate of Texas A&M University with a BS degree, entered the life insurance business six days following his graduation in June of 1949.

The luncheon speaker was introduced by Cree, the association vice president and Southland Life's Pampa representative.

Three-Car Accident Injures Two

A 20-year-old Pampa woman was treated and released from Highland General hospital Monday night and a Pampa man was listed in fair condition at the hospital as the result of a three-car accident Monday night.

According to a Pampa police report, the accident occurred on N. Hobart and S. H. 70 about 9:30 p.m.

The report states that a car driven by Virginia Tallman Gray, 30, of 2009 Hamilton was stopped for a red light in the 900 block of Hobart and another vehicle, driven by Matilda Ann Coyle, 20, of 1117 E. Foster, was stopped behind the Gray vehicle.

According to police, a car driven by Howard J. Kuhlmann, 45, of 702 W. Francis, struck the rear of the Coyle car causing it to hit the rear of the Gray car.

Damage to the Gray car was estimated at $100, to the Coyle car at $900 and to the Kuhlmann vehicle at $400.

The Coyle woman was treated and released at Highland General Hospital while Kuhlmann was still in the hospital Tuesday morning.

Kuhlmann was charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

up," he said.

Stettler has walked through California, Arizona, and New Mexico, is on his way out of Texas and into Oklahoma. He plans to stop in Pryor, Okla., and visit a sister, before heading north and east.

When he started he averaged about 18 miles daily, but since he sent home part of his camping gear, he averages 30 miles a day, he said.

In the last three weeks, he has been invited to appear on a new network television show, "One in a Million," which is expected to start by next week.

The show was delayed because of the nationwide strike against three radio and television networks. He expects to appear on other radio and television programs later, he said.

On his walk, he found people are basically the same, most of them sympathetic and friendly, but he failed to find the excitement he expected in a cross-country hike.

"I haven't seen anything but gophers, road runners and jack rabbits. I have a long knife in case I have to defend myself, but so far I've only taken it out of the pack once to cut tent pegs," he said.

Stettler plans to write a book based on his experiences, but his central character would walk for different reasons, and wouldn't have to lower his standard of living because he was temporarily broke.

At home, his wife, a nurse, and his son, 19, are working to maintain the home until he returns. The three other children are a girl, 18 and two other boys, 16 and 13.

Nurturing Creativity Program For Beta Delta Spring Coffee

A teacher's responsibility to nurture creativity in students they teach was graphically brought out in a speech by Dr. John Davron, superintendent of schools, at a Spring Coffee Saturday morning in the City Club Room.

Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma was hostess for the morning affair honoring school superintendents and their wives.

"Every child is capable of creativity," he said, "and it is important they make contributions regardless of how small."

Davron listed 10 factors that might foster individual creativity as 1) outside stimulation from the home and church; 2) responsible freedom to learn; 3) need for love from others; 4) acceptance by peers and teachers; 5) success; 6) the right to fail now and then; 7) opportunity to examine human values; 8) chance to make commitments beyond self.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Laura Pennick, Beta Delta vice president.

Proceeding the program, guests were served refreshments from a table appointed with a bouquet of Spring flowers. Mrs. Lennie Richardson, soloist, sang "Let All My Life Be Music," "American Lullaby," and "Italian Street Song," accompanied by Mrs. John Gill. Hostesses during the social hour were Misses Quentin Williams, Lillian Carr, Lucille Etheredge, Grace Harris and Jessie White.

A business meeting was conducted by Miss Mellie Bird Richey, chapter president, immediately following the pro-

Dear Abby...

Gal Doesn't Have Leg To Stand On

DEAR ABBY: I am a teenage girl who has the most unshapely legs you ever could imagine. I have tried all kinds of exercise to improve them, but nothing works.

Now that all the girls are wearing their skirts so much shorter I am ashamed of these awful looking legs. Can you please tell me what can be done about them? I'll do anything!

DEAR ABBY: You should be ASHAMED — Not just of your legs. Of your attitude. I wish I could escort you through just one Easter Seal Rehabilitation center. There you would see any number of beautiful teen-age girls who would give anything in the world for a pair of healthy legs — regardless of "shape." You would then get down on your knees and thank God for those "unshapely" legs that get you where you're going.

DEAR ABBY: A woman recently started to care for a baby boy in her home during the day while both parents worked. This woman took the liberty of cutting that baby's hair without permission from the parents. He is 15 months old and his parents wanted to keep the baby "aura" around him for a while yet.

They had special plans for his first haircut. His mother has kept a record of his "firsts" with photographs and an account of his reactions. Sure, his hair will grow out again, but his parents have been cheated out of the thrill of this important event.

Couldn't the couple sue this woman for defacing their baby? Do you think this woman should be trusted with a child if she takes such liberties?

ANOTHER PARENT

DEAR ANOTHER: Yes, they can sue, but whether they can collect for "defacing" the child is doubtful. The woman was a presumptuous, to be sure, but perhaps she was not aware that the parents placed so much importance on the baby's first haircut.

DEAR ABBY: Today my husband and I received an invitation to a wedding that took place a week ago — 1,500 miles away. Should we assume that all the invitations were mailed this late? Or should we assume that ours was mailed late on purpose because they really did not want us to come?

Also, under the circumstances should we send the couple a wedding present? And should we let them know WHEN we received their invitation?

Facts About Cleaning Carpets With Blue Lustre

A gallon of Blue Lustre cleans six 3x12 rugs for about 1¢ per sq. ft. — in easy good shampooer or with D. Cleans wall-to-wall or remove traffic paths and spots. Rinses beaten-down nap at doorway. Fibers comes open and fluffy. Colors sparkle again (in upholstery, too). Contains no soap. So it leaves no residue to cause re-soiling. Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — In a perfect Hollywood photo finish, ABC's telecast of the Academy Awards was able to go on Monday night because of an eleventh hour settlement of the strike against the three networks.

If the strike had not been settled, the awards ceremonies would have been held anyway at the Santa Monica, Calif., Civic Auditorium, but without live television coverage.

If video coverage of the Oscars had been attempted during a strike, there would have been a shambles and almost certainly no awards ceremonies because no actor or actress would have crossed a picket line to enter the auditorium. Nor would many members of other theatrical unions.

Well-informed television industry sources, unattached to either network management or the labor organizations, report that ABC-TV's position in the strike would have hardened considerably if it had been denied the opportunity to present the Oscar telecast.

70 Million Watchers

The Oscar cast drew an audience estimated at about 70 million viewers for ABC-TV last year. Not only is there a very large financial stake involved for the network, but also for the Motion Picture Academy, which depends heavily on this annual television revenue. The academy share has been estimated at about $700,000.

Actually, at one point last week the movie academy had decided to postpone the Oscar awards, if necessary, until the strike was over so that television's coverage would be assured. This brought anger and resentment from many influential film people in Hollywood, where some important movie-makers still harbor displeasure at the motion picture industry's general submission to television.

In a front page editorial entitled "Don't Humiliate Oscar," the Hollywood trade paper "Daily Variety" said in part: "The Oscar ceremony should be carried out on schedule, with or without benefit of TV cameras. To hold up the long anticipated news of the awards voting until such time as television can foot the bill for the release of this news is the most crass display of commercialism and it could haunt the academy for years." The editorial later asked: "Isn't there any pride left in Hollywood?"

On With The Show

The academy reversed itself and decided to go on with the show, with or without television. But despite this rather late show of pride by the movie industry, there are few persons here who would deny the strike settlement was luckily timed — for most significant film making is no longer done in Hollywood but the Oscar telecast is a potent force in updating this town's old image.

U.S., Philippines Relations Sour

By VICENTE MALIWANAG
MANILA (UPI) — The relations between the United States and the Philippines, often sweet but sometimes sour, may turn sour again.

A new issue has come up which threatens to provoke fresh barbs from both sides unless one side yields or unless mutual accommodation is reached.

The question involves the status of Sangley Point Naval Base, one of three major military installations maintained by the United States in the Philippines as part of its defense chain in Asia and the Pacific.

The other two major American bases in this country are at Clark Field, headquarters of the U.S. 13th Air Force and a key logistical support center of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and at Subic Bay, a repair and supply center for 7th fleet ships. These two and Sangley Point are all located on the island of Luzon and are all within a radius of less than 100 miles from Manila.

The Philippines wants the United States to give up Sangley and allow its own navy to move in and use it for operations against smuggling, a major menace in this country costing the government estimated revenue losses of more than $100 million a year.

The request reportedly caught the United States by surprise. Only six months ago, the two allies signed an agreement providing for a 25-year lease to all American military bases in this country.

In 1947, Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers became the first Negro to play major league baseball in an exhibition game with the New York Yankees.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hi, Mac—what's the good word? That is, tell me what went RIGHT. I've already read about the rest!"

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis notes that the market is faced with a number of "inhibiting factors" at the moment, such as strikes, tax payment time and a profits squeeze. Thus the analyst says it expects a testing of the $20-$30 level of the Dow Jones industrial average. The firm says that the 863 DJ level—an intra-day high last week—now must be bettered if the market is to show it has solid footing for a sustained advance.

Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. says the current lowering of interest rates and the availability of more cash cannot put life into the economy. He says they do facilitate a pickup but the pickup has to get started first. The analyst says although he does believe that business will have a turn for the better before too long the pickup has not started yet and current disappointing news "catches up to the market every so often."

A thought for the day — English novelist William Thackeray once said: "Mother is the name for God in the lips and hearts of little children."

Foreign Commentary

By K. C. THALER

United Press International LONDON (UPI)—Latest revised predictions are that Red China's population will reach one billion by 1965. It is around 700 million now.

Earlier estimates had suggested that the one billion population level would not be reached before the turn of the century.

The fast rise of the population rate coincides with a slowdown of the country's grain production, indications are that new shortages are expectable as a result of the upheaval caused by the so-called "great cultural revolution" of the Mao Tse Tung regime.

These developments raise serious problems for both the immediate and distant future, with grave implications for China and Asia as a whole.

Bleak Prospect
Short of a miracle Red China is faced with the prospect that it will take all the energies to avoid starvation.

The increase in Red China's population over the past 20 years has been spectacular.

In 1949 the figure was still about 450 million. A census taken in 1953 showed the population about 590 million.

Last year Peking estimated the population at 700 million.

The latest indications are that at the present rate of growth the country's population will be one billion by 1965, with no apparent move on the part of the regime to control the birthrate.

Children under 15 make up 40 per cent of the population.

Attempts at organized birth control were made by Peking in the early 1950s. The campaign gathered momentum during 1956 and 1957.

But coinciding with the so-called "great leap forward"—which marked Mao's attempt to push a program of forced economic development by the system of communes and similar arrangements—the regime's population policy underwent a change.

Sought Large Population
The regime preached the desirability of a large population as a means to strengthen the political status of the country, Mao's dictum being that "the more there are of us, the more powerful we shall be."

Calls for a return to some form of birth control have been silenced.

After several bad harvests Red China recently began to show signs of improved food supplies. But even then China

The Lighter Side

BY DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Art Linkletter, regarded by many housewives as the greatest thing since instant cake mix, has been giving a series of lectures on "Entertainers in Politics."

His talk here was delivered at the Congressional Club, whose members are married to senators and congressmen. They probably thought Linkletter was going to discuss their husbands.

But Linkletter was referring to people who are entertainers before they get into politics.

Most senators and congressmen don't become entertainers until after they start passing laws and having testimonial dinners. Or, as far as their wives are concerned, until after they get married.

Villains Don't Win
An actor, Linkletter said, has both advantages and disadvantages when he runs for public office.

If he has frequently been cast as a villain, the voters may refuse to support him—except, of course, in Berkeley, Calif.

Nevertheless, Linkletter said, "You are going to see many more of them" getting into politics.

I have developed a habit of sizing up the political prospects of the show business people I meet, and Linkletter himself impressed me as a person with great potential.

Besides having his own daytime television show, "House Party," he demonstrated another valuable asset.

"I'm not a member of any organized political party," he said, "I'm a Republican."

Campaign Openers
By that you can tell he has a large repertoire of old jokes, which is virtually indispensable to a well-run campaign.

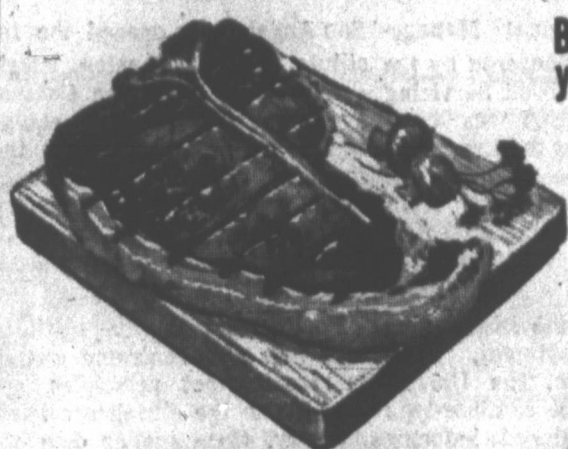

Linkletter disclaimed any political ambitions, however. He mentioned Robert Vaughn, "The Man From Uncle," and Chuck Connors, "The Rifleman," as the two actors most likely to be the next to take the plunge.

Maybe so, but I personally am convinced that George Kirby, the mimic, would make a better candidate.

Imagine what an effective campaign he could put on by adjusting his voice to fit the type of audience he was appearing before.

He could speak to a group of Teamsters in the voice of Bobby Kennedy; use the voice of Dean Martin to seek the votes of prohibitionists; ester to intellectuals with the voice of Tennessee Ernie Ford.

In politics, Kirby would make an unbeatable combination.

Checking In At Lovett Memorial Library

By BARBARA COCKRELL, Librarian

The library is a busy place these days. Plans for National Library Week are nearly completed.

During that week, April 17 to April 21, several outstanding exhibits will be presented, and some distinguished visitors will be present to meet the people of Gray County. An exhibit of very rare books and manuscripts pertaining to the history of the Panhandle will be on display. This priceless collection is loaned by the Mary E. Bivins Library of Amarillo. A fine collection of Indian artifacts from the Panhandle Plains Museum at Canyon will be shown by Mr. Boone McClure of West Texas State University.

Of special interest to parents and teachers will be the exhibit of best new books for children. The books for children are furnished for exhibition by the Texas State Library through the cooperation of the American Library Association and children's Book Council, Inc.

Since the theme of our local "library week" is to be "The Culture, The Literature and Art of the Panhandle Plains," certain there must be an artist present. James Ivey Edwards, promising young artist from Amarillo, will be present Friday, April 21st, to display some of his outstanding works in painting and sculpture.

Knowing that most people are fascinated by watching an artist at work, Mr. Edwards has graciously consented to bring his paints and canvas and give a demonstration of his artistry. The dates for the showing of these exhibits will be announced soon. Watch your paper!

At last it's here! The book everyone has read about and waited for "The Death of a President," by William Manchester, has been the subject of much controversy and publicity for many weeks because of the Kennedy family's objection to certain material that it contains.

In its September 3 story on

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked.

Q—I filed my return last week and am expecting a refund. However, I just got a W-2 statement from a former employer I thought had gone out of business. What should I do?

A—If you included the income from this W-2 on your return without attaching an explanation wait until you are contacted by IRS. When your return is processed, the missing W-2 will be noted and you will be requested to supply it. However, if you neglected to include this information and you discover this before the due date for filing, file a corrected return. To do this, fill out another return including all information previously reported plus the information that was missing. Type or print "corrected return" in the top margin of the form.

Q—We hired a housekeeper to take care of the kids several weeks last year while my wife was in the hospital for an operation. Can we claim the child care deduction?

A—To be eligible for the child care deduction, your wife's illness would have had to last at least 90 days. Check Page 9 of the 1040 instructions for further details.

Q—Our interest income was over $10 last year but it was split up among several different banks. Do we have to report all of this or just the amount over $10 received from any one bank?

A—All interest from savings accounts must be reported as taxable income, whether or not it was reported to you on a Form 1099.

Q—I understood IRS had prepared a questionnaire-type tax form. Where can I get a copy?

A—This is an experimental form being used by only a small sample of taxpayers in the Southwest this year. If the form proves satisfactory, it may be adopted for wider use next year. Only taxpayers who received the questionnaire form in the mail should use it this year.

Q—Is state inheritance tax deductible?

A—No, it is not.

Q—My wife had no income so why does she have to sign our joint return?

A—The law requires both husband and wife to sign joint returns. Even though she had no income, she is legally responsible for any tax due under a joint return. If she does not sign, processing the return and any refund that may be due will be delayed.

Irrigation Project Slated At Booker

BOOKER (SpI) — Construction has started here on the Peoples Natural Gas 10-acre sub-surface irrigation research project on the Richard Sell irrigated farm, 1 1/2 miles north of here on F. M. 1285.

Peoples Natural Gas of Amarillo, with Sell's help, is installing the project which will sub-irrigate five acres of sorghum and five acres of grain sorghum.

For about $300 per acre, the new irrigation system is designed to cut irrigation labor 90 per cent and water requirements 50 to 70 per cent.

The 67,300 feet of black polyethylene pipe, which is being installed, includes 66,000 feet of one-half inch perforated lateral lines, which will be put about 18 inches underground.

FARM CRITIC WASHINGTON (UPI) —The chairman of a Republican task force on agriculture says the administration has "utterly failed" to solve the problems of the farmer.

Rep. Odin Langren, R-Minn., added in making the charge Sunday that "every effort must be expended" to help the farmer get more money for his production efforts. Langren announced a reshuffle in the panel's makeup to include more freshmen congressmen.

First AOSC Management Clinic Ends

The First Annual Management Institute sponsored by the Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors (AOSC) was completed recently at the Crest Inn, Austin, with the awarding of certificates to contractors from all parts of the country who attended the concentrated four-day course.

Conducted by the Distributive Education Department, Division of Extension, The University of Texas, the seminar-type course also featured industry speakers. First of these was Frank M. Pool, well servicing contractor with international operations headquartered in San Angelo, who opened the Institute. Fulton Johnston, President of Jack Anderson Company of Kilgore, servicing equipment distributor, discussed the financial aspect of a contractor's business. Third industry speaker was J. Forrest Smith, Training Director of the American Petroleum Institute.

Participants in the Institute received a concentrated course in management principles applicable to the oilwell servicing industry. Case studies developed from actual field investigations by Dr. Brandt, who has a background in the industry, were the basis for Institute discussions. Under the direction of the Institute faculty, each discussion provided active participation by groups who offered solutions to the problems presented in the cases.

Home Landscaping

Time and labor for maintaining the home landscape can be reduced through planning, says Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist at Texas A&M University. He suggests dividing the yard space into use areas and developing each for its best use and beauty.

FAVORS DEFERMENTS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. William Bates, the top ranking Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, says he has tentatively decided student draft deferments should be continued.

The Massachusetts congressman said Friday he sees no advantage to the lottery method of drafting that Congress is considering, and added that he believes the idea of an all-volunteer military force would not be feasible.

Cotton Production

Machines and chemicals continue to gain favor with Texas cotton producers. Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M, in a year-end summary of the 7-Step Cotton Program reported machinery and chemicals were used to produce and harvest much of the state's 1966 cotton crop. Pre and post-emergence chemicals for weed and grass control were used on more than 1.1 million acres, he said.

The breast-beating political bolters, black and white, would be attracting more attention in this pretty spring time if there were some reasonable belief that they have any political retreat to which to bolt.

That goes with special emphasis for John Kenneth Galbraith, newly elected chairman of America's for Democratic Action (ADA) and a brain trust buddy of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Galbraith accepted chairmanship of the ADA leftwingers in a Washington, D. C., speech last week. He warned President Johnson, who was not present, that prolonged conflict in Vietnam could mean the death and burial of the Democratic party.

Galbraith may have exaggerated a little, but not much. He did fail to note that the burial of the Democratic party would be a double ring ceremony. In a second black box would lie the remains of ADA as a powerful force in national politics. ADA is a political fungus attached to the warm body of the Democratic party. If the host body withered and grew cold, the fungus would die.

Galbraith and Co. may try without much chance of success to prevent LBJ's renomination for President next year. Failing that, ADA will whop it up for the Democratic ticket. It would be a mater of self preservation.

The Rev. Martin Luther King is in about the same fix. King is an orator of large accomplishments. He probably is the best manager of a bus boycott ever to undertake such a venture. King has other abilities and virtues, none of which seems to qualify him to take over direction of the war in Southeast Asia. King is going through the motions of a bolt from LBJ in next year's presidential election.

The question naturally arises: To whom would King bolt? George Wallace will be operating an anti-Negro third party next year. The Republicans probably will be maneuvering, as usual, with a something-for-everyone platform and candidate; something, that is, for everyone except Rev. King. King could team up with Adam Clayton Powell and a Negro comedian named Gregory who massaged his ego this week with a futile sprint for the Chicago mayoralty.

King, Galbraith and other lefties could, of course, simply ignore the presidential election. But that wins no newspaper headlines nor television appearances. These bolters are activists, all. They have a compulsion to participate. Therefore, they seem to be stuck with LBJ and Hubert H. Humphrey.

President Raymond R. Corbett of the New York State Labor Organization is even more confused. The New York Legislature last week passed a hard-nosed bill to penalize unions of civil servants who strike. Organized labor was all out to kill that bill, Democratic and Republican leaders in both houses of the legislature supported the bill. Democrats control the Assembly. Republicans control the Senate. Some Democrats in both houses voted against the bill but they were few. Both parties joined in this rebuff to labor.

Corbett had this to say: "Labor will have to give special weight to action taken on this bill, in determining whom to support in the future."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE With Major Hoople

Short Ribs

Cincy, Yanks in Front

United Press International was a short baseball season but Opening Day 1967 Wednesday it could be a long one for the New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

President Johnson stayed just two innings as the Yanks kicked the American League season routing Washington, 8-0—but Mickey Mantle's third-inning injury took the glow off the Yanks' inaugural triumph and left them wondering how much of their superstar will see his year.

In the opening of the National League's 92nd season at Cincinnati, the meaning of the Dodgers' loss of the retired Andy Koufax was illustrated as the Reds bombed Bob Miller for two first-inning homers en route to a 6-1 triumph over the defending NL champions.

While the traditional openers at Washington and Cincinnati took the spotlight Monday, the rest of the teams will get in the act today and tonight, when eight other openers will be played.

First Ball
President Johnson, who kept the Senators guessing before making a last-minute appearance at the park, threw out the first ball for the photographers. The president, who'd seen the Senators lose in his other two opening day appearances, then sat back with 44,382 fans and watched the Yanks explode for seven runs in the third inning. Mel Stottlemyre, pitching a two-hit shutout, made it a dull game the rest of the way and Johnson departed after the fifth inning to prepare for his trip to Latin America.

Vada Pinson and Deron Johnson hit the first-inning homers off Miller, a reliever last year who has taken Koufax's place in the starting rotation—although no pitcher could replace him. Jim Maloney and Ted Abernathy then throttled the Dodgers on six hits to victory in his first inaugural before 28,422 fans.

Opening Choices
In the key American League opener today the world champion Baltimore Orioles will send Dave McNally (13-4) against the Minnesota Twins at Baltimore. The Twins will counter with Jim Kaat (25-13) in this early series between pennant contenders.

It'll be Chicago at Boston in a day game and Cleveland at Kansas City and Detroit at California in night action in the other three openers.

Two of the National League openers will be day games with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the winter book favorites for the pennant, invading Shea Stadium to meet the New York Mets and the Philadelphia Phillies at the Chicago Cubs.

In night action, San Francisco goes to St. Louis for a Juan Marichal-Bob Gibson duel and Atlanta is at Houston.

Bill Robinson's two-run homer following Tom Tresh's double at the outset of the third inning off Pete Richert gave Stottlemyre all the help he needed. But the Yanks went on to score five more runs in the inning—although they may have been costly since Mantle was injured scoring one of them.

Pulls Muscle
Mantle singled after Robinson homered and Joe Pepitone followed with a homer. As Mantle rounded second, he pulled the hamstring muscle behind his right thigh and he was limping by the time he crossed the plate.

It was a re-aggravation of an injury he suffered on March 22 that idled him for nine days.

"We just don't know yet," Yankee manager Ralph Houk said when asked how long Mantle would be idled, "we'll just have to wait and see."

Celtics, 76ers Resume Play in Pro Playoffs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Governors of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania will be leading the cheers when the Boston Celtics and Philadelphia 76ers line up tonight for the fifth game of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division playoffs.

Philadelphia, leading the series 3-1 will be seeking to clinch the berth in the final playoffs against the winners of the San Francisco-St. Louis matchup.

Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe announced Monday that he will be near the Celtics' bench hoping to provide the luck to keep them in contention. Volpe, who missed the first three games which the Celtics lost, was in the stands on Sunday when Boston won a stormy 121-117 decision on their home court.

"They always seem to win when I'm present," Volpe said. Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania wasn't to be outdone in enthusiasm. He said he was able to obtain a ticket to the sell-out contest and he would be there rooting for the 76ers to wrap up the series.

Also to be on hand for the game was a contingent of police, not only to maintain order but to protect Philadelphia coach Alex Hannum, whose wife received threatening telephone calls. Hannum had a police escort before and after Sunday's game at Boston although he dismissed the telephone calls as "just a prank."

But even if Hannum didn't need an escort, the police would be on hand to prevent a repetition of the egg-throwing barrage which disgraced the Boston game on Sunday.

"These things are going to happen in such an emotional game," Hannum said. "I'm glad nobody got hurt. I hope both teams can keep their players healthy during all the playoffs."

Hawks Trail In Playoff Series

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rick Barry, the chief bomber in the San Francisco Warriors attack, says bluntly that "St. Louis is strictly for the birds."

"They've got the baseball Cardinals, the football Cardinals and the Hawks," Barry said Monday night after sinking 25 points in the Warriors' 123-102 playoff win over the latter club. "They are strictly for the birds."

His feelings could be traced to the fact that he drew a heavy round of jeers in St. Louis on Saturday night when he fell to the floor with an injured ankle during the Hawks' 108-104 victory. But he trotted out onto the court at the Cow Palace Monday night without showing a bit of a limp and resumed putting in the points as usual.

Now leading the best-of-seven NBA Western Division series 3-2, the Warriors return to the Hawks' Kiel Auditorium for a Wednesday game. If the Hawks pull even on the floor where they have bested the Warriors 14 out of the last 15 times, the series will end Friday back in San Francisco.

Player-coach Richie Guerin of the Hawks led his team with 19 points in a losing effort Monday and then kept the team locked up in the dressing room afterward. The NBA veteran drew a shower of boos himself from a partisan Cow Palace crowd of 10,311 late in the game when he seemed to give Joe C. Idwell of the Hawks a tongue-lashing.

Coach Bill Sharman of the Warriors praised the way his club kept the pressure on throughout the contest.

"Our plan was to keep it there," the former Boston Celtic great said. "We didn't want to sit on a lead. So we ran throughout the game and it was our best overall showing in the series."

Loss of Mick Shadows Yanks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The specter of the loss of Mickey Mantle took all the joy out of life today for the New York Yankees.

Instead of whistling for happiness after the opening day 8-0 rout of the Washington Senators that put them in first place for the first time since Oct. 4, 1964, the Yankees now are whistling past the graveyard because Mantle is hurt again.

"How long will he be out?" Yankee manager Ralph Houk said. "We just don't know yet. We'll just have to wait and see."

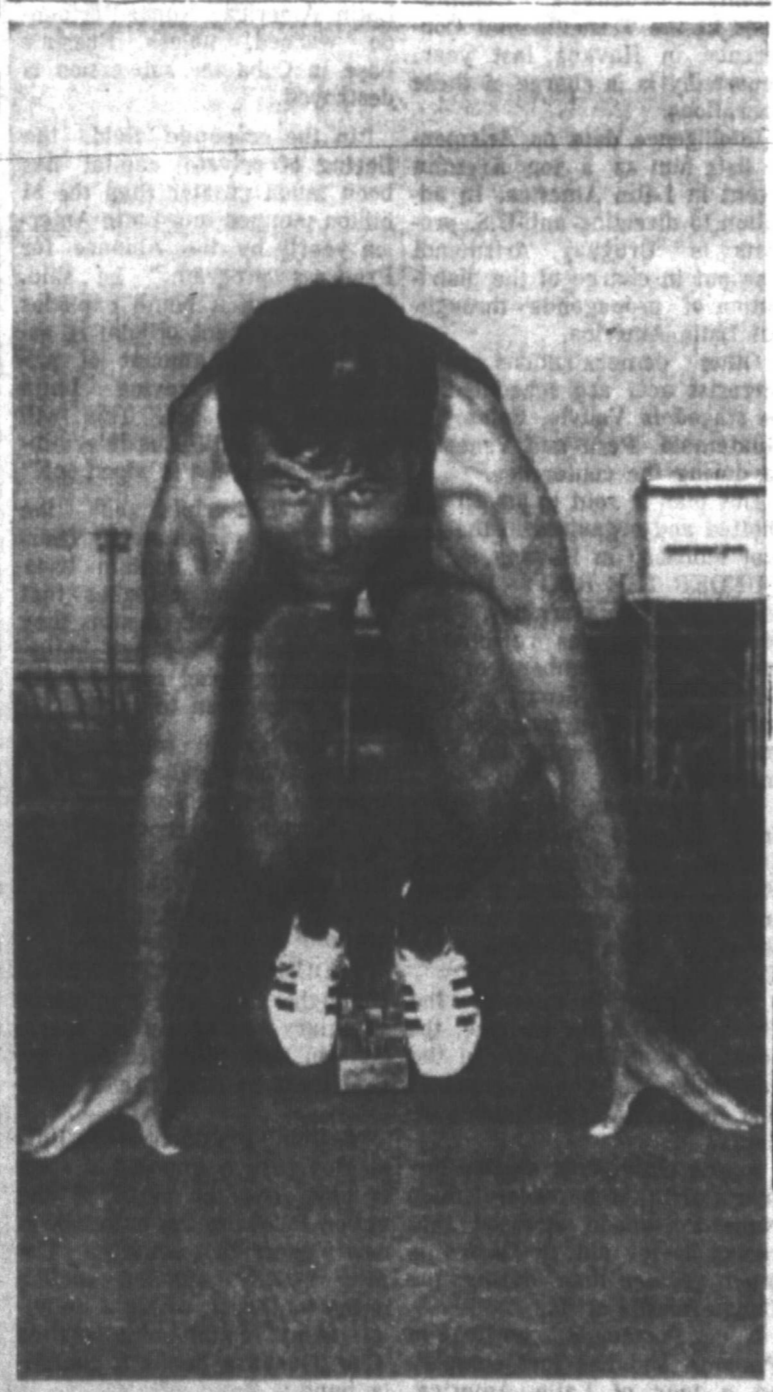

Mantle's official debut as a first baseman—the "great Mantle experiment" that is supposed to prolong the playing life of the million-dollar slugger with the 10-cent legs—lasted exactly 2 1/2 innings of Monday's opening game and then he was on the shelf again.

The trouble, of course, was his legs. It is always his legs. Playing first base was supposed to lessen the wear-and-tear on those aching stems—but it doesn't do a thing for him when he is running the bases.

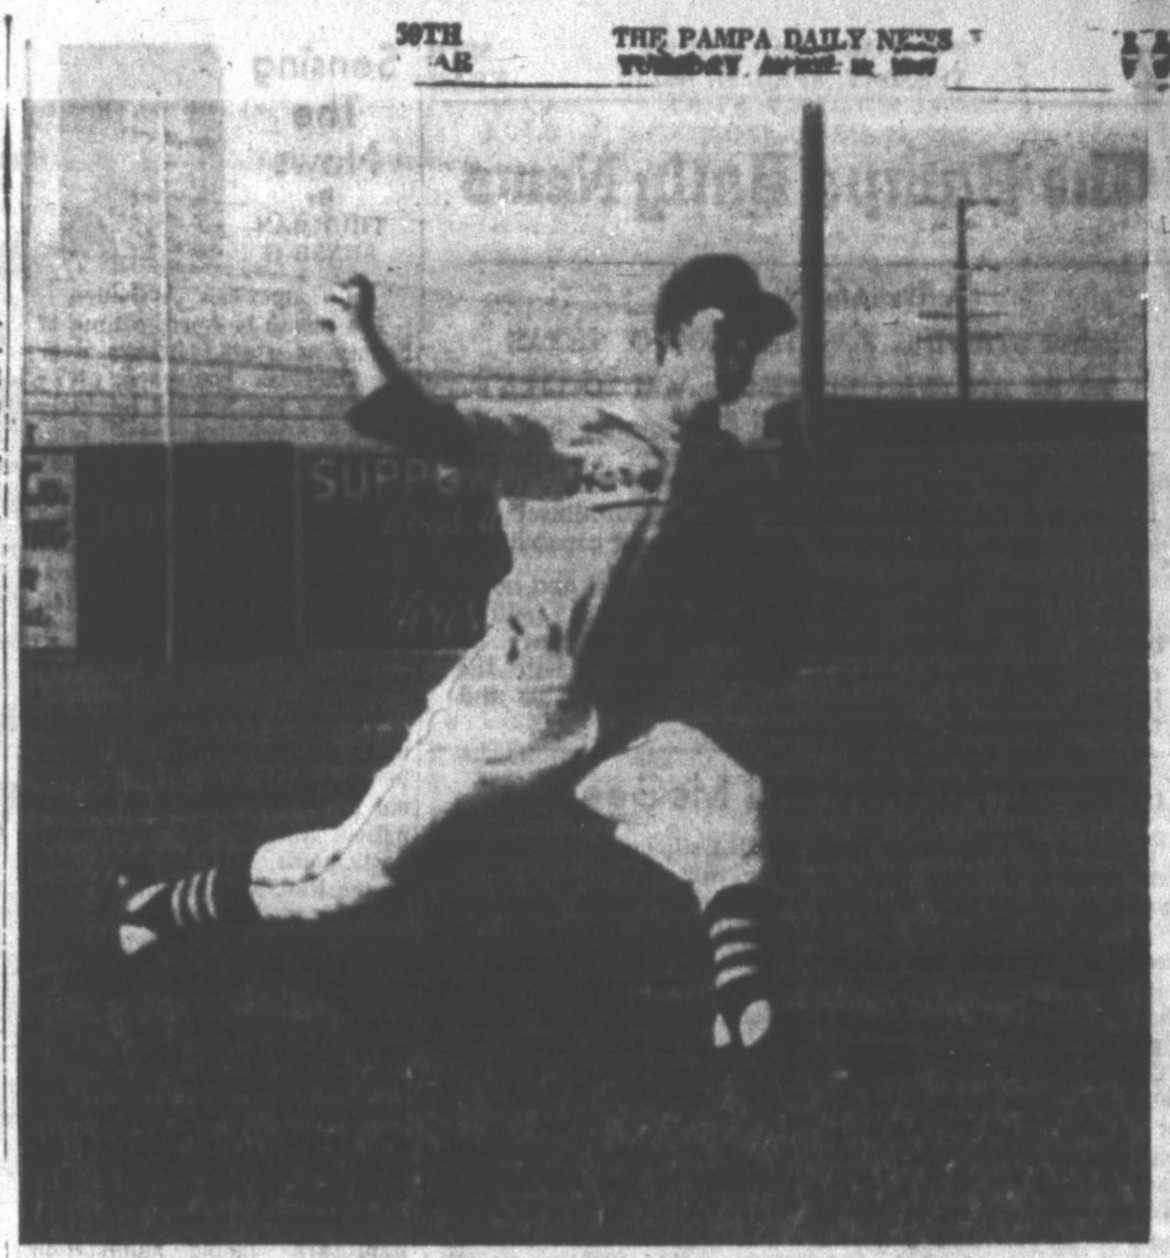

And it was running the bases that did him in this time. Mantle had just ripped a single to left field in the third inning following the two-run homer by rookie Bill Robinson that started the Yankees on their way to the easy victory. Joe Pepitone followed with a sliced drive that dropped into the left field corner for a triple.

Mantle was off to the races—on his two bum pins. He already was favoring the right leg which had been struck by a line drive in a Sunday workout and was hurting. As he rounded second base he pulled the hamstring muscle behind his right thigh and he was limping by the time he crossed the plate.

It was a re-aggravation of an injury he suffered on March 22

Pampa, Caprock In District Tilt

Pampa's Shockers were busy Monday, the Harvesters were to be busy today and the varsity hopes they can do as good as their counterparts did Monday.

The Shockers played host to Samnorwood at Optimist Club park and easily won their seventh game in nine outings, 8-0.

Sophomore Dan Carlton fired a nifty three-hitter, giving up just one run, fanning 10 and walking four. Carlton was in trouble only once, in the sixth inning, when the visitors scored. Carlton loaded the bases on two walks and a hit and another hit scored the run.

The Shockers scored their eight runs on 10 hits and had two errors. Dan Skelton paced the hitting attack with three hits in four trips while Ramee and Doucette both pounded triples.

The Harvesters, 16-1 and 4-1 in district play, journey to Amarillo for a 4 p.m. game with Caprock, 9-6 and 1-2.

Scoutpr Alan Woodard was scheduled to start for coach Bobby Stephens diamondmen who are currently riding a three game winning streak.

Friday the Harvesters host Coronado at 4 p.m. and Saturday Plainview will be in town for a 1 p.m. contest.

The Shockers play host to Quail at 4 p.m. Wednesday then close out the season Saturday with a doubleheader at Shattuck, Okla.

Monday the Shockers, riding a four game winning streak themselves, scored a first-inning run on three straight singles by Skelton, Doucette and Carlton.

Another run came across in the third to make it 2-0 when Carlton singled, stole second and scored on a hit by Knight.

Pampa broke it wide open in the fifth when Skelton led off with a single, stole second, then third and scored on Doucette's triple. Doucette came in when, after Knight and Parrish walked, Hopkins doubled to score two of the runners and Ramee tallied the other two on another double.

The final Pampa run came when Skelton led off with his third hit, stole second and third again and scored on an error.

Horses Ready To Run; Strike Ends

NEW YORK (UPI)—The thoroughbreds lined up at the post today for the first time since last Tuesday, ending a boycott at Aqueduct that was the most costly in track history.

Members of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association voted at 5:00 p.m. CST. Monday to wind up its strike at the Big A and the word went out that entries for Tuesday's program would be accepted immediately.

There were enough horses to fill at least four races by 9 p.m. and when the entry box closed for the night at 11 p.m., seven races were set up for the day.

A special two-hour time limit as established between 5 a.m. and 7 a.m. today for the reopening of entry applications and the securing of a complete nine-race card.

Tommy Trotter, racing secretary and handicapper of the New York Racing Association, said the regular entry box hours of 7 a.m.-10:30 a.m. would then be available to start taking thoroughbreds for Wednesday's program which is highlighted by the $25,000 added Toboggan Handicap.

The strike's end was achieved by a cohesive effort from all parties as track and political leaders successfully battled the boycott that cost the state $1.75 million in revenue from the betting handle.

passage of a $3.5 million bill that would increase their take by one-half of one per cent and raise purse money. The state Senate passed the measure, but the assembly turned it down and in so doing raised the wrath of the HBPA.

The NYRA said it would provide the additional purse money after Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and members of the legislature agreed to sponsor jointly a bill permitting the NYRA to retain one-half of one percent of the betting take. The men of politics also agreed to move for passage at the 1968 legislature a bill to extend for an additional year, to 1969, the franchise now held by the NYRA.

Jack Dreyfus Jr., acting president of the HBPA, said he did not know where the NYRA would get the money to put in the pot, but believed it could be done through re-arrangement of several mortgages.

Actually, an arrangement with 13 creditor banks was made for an extension of time in paying off a $65 million dollar loan, in order to meet the horsemen's demand.

"We might lose the good will we have generated if we fail to accept this offer," Dreyfus said. "I don't think that very many in the legislature knew previously that we existed. They know we do now and I think they realize our problem."

Kudos for Huntley and McGee

"Millions of Americans have been stunned to learn that the danger of compulsory unionism is a very real threat to the media of television and radio," said Reed Larson, Executive Vice President of the National Right to Work Committee. Commenting on the strike initiated last week against all major networks by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA), Larson added, "The prominence of some of the participants in the strike has exposed what few persons around the country understood: namely, that virtually all TV and radio personalities are forced to be union members in order to work in their chosen field."

Mr. Larson seems to be on firm ground. For, in a striking illustration of the excessive government bestowed power wielded by ambitious labor union bosses, prominent news commentators and announcers at the national level, almost to a man, complied with the union dictum and refused to cross AFTRA picket lines to perform the duties for which they were hired and paid.

Among those actually on the picket lines, according to the March 31 issue of Right to Work News, were Howard K. Smith, ABC commentator; Hugh Downs, host on the NBC show, "Today"; and Daniel Schorr, CBS news commentator.

There were noteworthy exceptions, however.

Chet Huntley, of the famed Huntley-Brinkley news team, reported for work as usual even though his partner of the "air waves" complied with the union decree. As a result, Huntley has been threatened with expulsion from the union by strike leaders and, possibly, loss of employment with NBC, since that company's agreement with AFTRA stipulates that the company will employ only individuals who are union members in good standing. Huntley, a long-time AFTRA member, called AFTRA, "a union of singers, actors, jugglers, disc jockeys, announcers and every other type of performer."

Another NBC headliner who refused to be cowed by the picket line was Frank McGee who said he was compelled to join AFTRA four years ago. "I don't want to be in a position," McGee said, "to be compelled to support something that I had no choice in deciding."

Both Huntley and McGee asserted that the union is not qualified to represent broadcasters in collective bargaining. But president Reed Larson made an even more telling point. "The controversy," he pointed out, "raises an important question of news objectivity in many people's minds." Considering the number of news commentators who bowed to the union's arbitrary order, "people will now question whether these and other men who report the news, and who manned the picket lines in support of union bargaining demands, can objectively treat future news stories dealing with questions of union power."

That, we believe, is a good question. Nevertheless, despite the fact that the philosophies of both Huntley and McGee are too "liberal" for our digestive system, and despite the fact that they represent a competitor medium, we want to congratulate both of them for having the moral courage to defy the union and stand up for what they believed to be right. More power to both of them. This country stands in great need of more men with that kind of spunk.

If the Home Is Not Safe, What Is?

They took my husband. They took my son. Now, they want my home."

So reads a sign hanging in the front bay window of the home of Anthony and Madeline Piazza in Queens, New York. Mrs. Piazza, 46, put the sign out when she learned that the Piazza home, along with those of 68 of her neighbors, is scheduled to be demolished to make way for a high school athletic field.

The husband, Anthony, also 46, is a World War Two veteran. The couple's son, Nicholas, 20, has been fighting in Vietnam for two months with B Battery, of the 192nd Field Artillery.

Other signs displayed on the Piazza home in an attempt to stay the hand of the governmental bulldozers read: "We pay tax. Don't give us the axe. Save our homes." Interviewed by a reporter, Anthony Piazza puzzlingly remarked: "My boy is in Vietnam, fighting for what? Is this democracy?"

It is a good question and one that, although phrased in various ways, is being increasingly asked by people beginning to wonder, at long last, just what is afoot?

Indeed, if peoples' homes and other properties are not to be held inviolate, if the elected so-called servants of the people can arbitrarily appropriate property and use it, not in accordance with the desires of those in authority, it is logical to ask, just what service is it that political government is supposed to provide?

The question, whether asked outright or in mental puzzle ment, betrays a failure to grasp the nature of any political establishment and what it, with its heady corrupting powers, does to people. Political power, the antithesis of reason, will corrupt the best man, or woman, who lives. That is its nature.

Not one individual out of a million, it is safe to say, while acting as an individual would dream of doing to the Piazza family what the city authorities of Queens are about to do. Yet, take any individual and invest him with the powers of a city council, of a zoning board, of a legislative or bureaucratic administrative position, and he, under the illusion of acting in the interest of the "general common good," will ride roughshod and unthinkingly over the rights of his neighbors and everyone else.

The Piazza's, as a last resort, plan to paint a large American flag on one wall of their home, hoping by so doing to deter the wreckers. It is doubtful that the strategem will work; for the American flag, regardless of what it may have once meant, has become an instrument and symbol to be waved, when expedient, to whip up emotions and support for the plans of our political masters.

We would leave the Piazza's, and others finding themselves in a like predicament, with this thought. In a country where human beings can be drafted like cattle into involuntary servitude and ordered to kill and be killed, nothing is safe. And replacing the "rascals" in office with "good men" who, themselves, are thereby corrupted, will not change matters one whit.

Fable of Night Births

The State of Ohio is turning down two of 13 proposed federal standards for highway safety—the periodic re-examination of drivers and compulsory inspection of motor vehicles.

Inspection is not worth the expense, argue Ohio highway officials, since only five per cent of all accidents are caused by mechanical failure.

Five per cent equals five out of 100 or 50 out of 1,000 or 500 out of 10,000 accidents. This is what is known in military parlance as an acceptable attrition rate.

Sensing The News

Un-American Activities The month of April, a time of beauty as spring breaks over the American landscape, this year may be marred by ugly political realities. At mid-month, for example, it is expected that anarchists and "peaceniks" in the Northeast will converge on New York City to conduct massive demonstrations at the gates of the United Nations building against U. S. defense of freedom in South Vietnam.

According to reliable reports, these demonstrations are likely to be the largest ever carried out by radical elements in the nation. Among the prominent participants, it is believed, will be the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who is shifting his attention from "civil rights" strife campaigns to the anti-Vietnam campaign.

The worsening of the battlefield situation of the communists in Vietnam lies behind the new urgency with which domestic radicals are approaching the April demonstrations. The homefront leftists realize that the communist troops in Vietnam are facing annihilation and that public pressure is mounting for stepped-up air and naval attacks against Communist North Vietnam. Thus they clearly intend to pull out all the stops in demonstrations inside the U.S.A. They are reported to be seeking bloody clashes with police authorities.

In particular, they want a real clash at the gates of the U. N. building, in order to make the Vietniks here appear as martyrs. They also believe that massive anti-Vietnam demonstrations in the U.S.A. will produce even stronger anti-American declarations by the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. and by U. Thant, Secretary-General of the U.N. U. Thant already has clearly indicated that his sympathies lie with Hanoi, not Saigon.

The demonstrations planned for New York City are only part of a new drive by the pro-communist forces to gain power in the United States and to eliminate anti-communist activities on the part of the U.S. government.

Insufficient attention has been paid to what is known as "The Underground Press" in the United States. Reference here is to the ultra-leftwing sheets which have begun to appear in several cities and on a number of campuses. These small newspapers have as their principal target the stopping of American efforts in Vietnam. To this end, they endorse every conceivable assault on public authority and public decency. They approve the flight of young peaceniks to Canada, where they have a safe harbor as draft-dodgers. They recommend films produced by or in behalf of the Viet Cong. Among their various editorial proposals are projects that are utterly obscene and perverted, which cannot be described in family newspapers, but which are an effort to degrade public officials.

It should be realized, too, that "The Underground Press" stresses "free speech" campaigns involving filthy language and recommends the showing of pornographic films. Realistic observers of these gutter sheets understand that the endorsement of pornography in print and on film is a calculated effort to undermine the morality of the American people.

In an effort to weaken the fabric of our nation, these journals and their sponsors hope to turn loose a flood of pornographic material. In this connection, the national public should know that in recent months one of these "underground" papers distributed 70,000 copies of one of its filthiest issues to elementary school children on New York City's East Side. Now, it is obvious that printing and distribution of 70,000 copies of a gutter sheet is a costly proposition. Public agencies and private citizens should inquire as to the source of the money for this project. Indeed it is time that the House Committee on Un-American Activities, or other suitable agencies of Congress, conduct a full-scale investigation of the actions and financial backing of "The Underground Press."

Some well informed journalists, who have devoted years to the study of Communist Party operations in the United States, are certain that the money for both the upcoming demonstrations and the continuing and accelerated pornography campaign is coming from communist sources.

Lets' Look At The Facts

The socialists say that all wealth is produced by labor. They also admit that six percent of the world's people, those residing in our country, produce about forty percent of the world's wealth. Obviously therefore, our people must work very hard. According to the socialist theory, if the other 94 percent of the people would work as hard as the people of our country, the world would have about 15 times as much wealth as it now possesses.

But the socialists say we have better equipment with which to work. Where did we get that equipment? From the labor of the same six percent of the world's people. The fact is that free people who are working for themselves under the free enterprise system produce far more abundantly than the people in socialist countries. Until recently, and to some extent even now in spite of our excessive taxation and regulation, we have known that we could enjoy the fruits of our efforts. That is what spurred production in our country.

Production proceeds almost in inverse proportion to the amount of socialism existing in any country. We know that in the USSR about half of the quality foodstuffs — meat, milk, cheese, butter, eggs — is produced on the little one or two acre plots the collective farmers are allowed to farm for their own use, and for sale in the local uncontrolled markets. The socialized collective fields produce very much less in proportion. That is an excellent example of the fact that socialism does not, never has, and never will, produce abundantly.

The socialists put all their emphasis on dividing wealth. They have even induced our country to send abroad about $125 billion since World War II, in addition to furnishing the lion's share of the material with which to wage the war.

While socialism concentrates on dividing wealth, private enterprise (as practiced in our country prior to the last generation) concentrates on multiplying wealth. That's why socialism never has, and freedom always has produced abundantly. That being true, why do we have so many people who are always demanding more socialism? There are two reasons — either they do not know the facts, or they believe the people do not know them and are eager to gain power for themselves by promising more benefits.

Vietnam is a one-front war. The truth is that the front is everywhere, including here on the home front. Among the targets of the communists are not only soldiers in the Pacific but the youth people of our nation, the students who will be the leaders of tomorrow. This is why it is imperative that there be an immediate investigation of what lies behind these new un-American activities.

Widespread Terrorism To Harass Punta del Este Conference President Warned

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is not even 10 per cent of what is happening in Latin America," he declared. "The continent is being converted into a volcano. Every day guerrillas and terrorists from Cuba are being landed in Latin America. Shipments of arms from the Soviet bloc arrive weekly at Cuban ports."

NEW COALITION — One of the latest threats, according to Nunez-Portuondo, is "the link-up in Argentina between the Peronistas and Communists."

"This unholy alliance," he testified, "was worked out at a meeting in the Cuban embassy in Madrid, where Peron is living. Since that meeting, Peronistas and Communists have joined in sponsoring strikes and demonstrations against the present Argentine government."

Nunez-Portuondo and three other Cuban refugees declared that Castro has set up a headquarters in the Andes of Peru to infiltrate guerrillas into Bolivia, Brazil, Argentina and Chile.

U.S. aid will be of little help to Latin America, Nunez-Portuondo warned, unless Russia's base in Cuba for subversion is destroyed.

"In the economic field, the fleeing of private capital has been much greater than the $1 billion pumped into Latin America yearly by the Alliance for Progress program," he said. "Every time a bomb explodes or a government official is assassinated, the amount of private capital leaving Latin America increases. This will not change until Russia's military base in Cuba is wiped out."

Other transcripts sent the President by Senators Thurmond and Dodd contain testimony of Cuban refugees that within the past six months they saw intermediate range ballistic missiles being moved from one storage area to another.

Another Cuban refugee, who worked directly under "Che" Guevara, the long-missing Castro lieutenant, reported, "In 1966 there were at least 18,000 Russians in Cuba and there is no sign that number has decreased in recent months."

TROUBLED CONTINENT — Highlights of an intelligence summary on guerrilla operations in Latin America for the first week in April are as follows:

"Bolivia: President Rene Barrientos Ortuño imposed a state of emergency on parts of the nation following the outbreak of new guerrilla activity. The most heavily affected section is the southeast, where a Bolivian army commander claims a band

"Colombia: Guerrillas ambushed and killed eight members of an army patrol, and six guerrillas were killed in a counterattack. The incident took place in a mountainous southwest region. Fifty-two guerrillas were killed in March. "Guatemala: Guerrillas raids on an army camp near Guatemala City were linked to terrorist training in Cuba. "Venezuela: Government forces are still hunting the terrorists that murdered the foreign minister's brother in March. The government has rounded up more than 50 men linked with a Cuban terrorist group."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Don't Make a Career Of Taking Reducing Drugs (Second of Two Related Columns.)

Q—My doctor is giving me pills and shots because I am overweight. I am losing weight and I feel better but my friends say that I am endangering my health. How do you feel about reducing drugs?

A—There are so many kinds of reducing drugs that a categorical answer can't be given. Some of these drugs, if taken for a short time, help a person to get started losing weight but I wouldn't advise anyone to make a career of taking them.

Q—I am having trouble losing weight. After taking Eskatrol and Dextedrine for five months I have lost very little. My doctor can't understand this. Can you explain it?

A—Eskatrol is a combination of dextroamphetamine (dextedrine) and prochlorperazine. The first suppresses the appetite and the second relieves the emotional tensions produced by dietary restrictions. A farmer is never mystified when his livestock gains weight. No doctor should be mystified when his patient fails to lose on a reducing regimen. Who's kidding who?

Q—I am a housewife. By staying on a balanced low-calorie diet I have managed to lose 18 pounds. Is staying on such a diet harmful in any way?

A—An active housewife needs about 2,300 calories a day but there is no harm in a diet that is low in calories if it includes the essential vitamins and minerals and if you don't become emaciated.

Q—My doctor says I have an enlarged liver. What causes it? What foods should I avoid?

A—The most common cause is congestion due to a valvular heart disease. Tumors, especially those that obstruct the common bile duct, and the early stages of cirrhosis also cause liver enlargement. What sort of diet you should follow would depend on the results of liver function tests. It may be that no dietary restriction is necessary but, in any case, alcohol should be avoided.

Q—After a gallstone operation my doctor said I have a shrunken liver. What would cause it? Is there any cure for it? Should I be on a strict diet?

A—The liver is shrunken in the late stages of cirrhosis. If you have cirrhosis you should be on a soft-poor diet. You may also need supplementary vitamins and water pills or diuretics.

WASHINGTON:

Freedom Is Ace in Viet Constitution

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — The new South Vietnam constitution has some remarkable provisions.

If enforced, they will make profound changes in the government and be a major factor in winning the war.

The new constitution (in force from April 1) provides for religious freedom. It asserts the equality of all citizens without regard to race, sex, religion or political party.

Defendants are guaranteed speedy and public trials.

A defendant has the right to a defense lawyer for counsel in every phase of his interrogation, including the preliminary investigation.

The accused is to be considered innocent until proven guilty. Doubts are to be resolved in his favor.

No citizen "can be tortured, threatened or forced to confess. A confession obtained by torture, threat or coercion will not be considered as valid evidence." The accused and his next of kin must be informed of the accusation within the time limit prescribed by law.

No one can be detained for indebtedness.

In the new basic law, the state recognizes the political rights of every citizen, including the right to petition freely and engage in overt, nonviolent and legal opposition. (But every activity designed to propagandize or carry out communism is prohibited.)

The constitution says the state respects freedom of thought, speech and publishing "as long as it does not harm personal honor, national security or good morals." Censorship is to be abolished "except for motion pictures and plays."

Freedom to join labor unions and to strike is to be "respected within the framework and regulations prescribed by law."

The private life, home and correspondence of every citizen is to be "respected."

The state guarantees the freedom of private property. It guarantees to push "a policy of making the people property owners."

Freedom of trade and competition is recognized, but monopolies and actions to secure control of the market are banned.

Representatives or senators cannot be prosecuted, pursued, arrested or brought to court for any statement or vote in the National Assembly.

Government officials and their wives are not allowed to receive government bids or contracts. Neither are representatives, senators or their wives.

Military men on active duty are not permitted to engage in political party activity. Military men in the civilian government must either resign from the military or take a leave of absence without pay.

The future of South Vietnam depends on how these provisions are carried out.

If the human rights guaranteed are zealously guarded by the elected government, the Communists will grow steadily weaker. The Viet Cong will lose their local support. The North Vietnam and Viet Cong armies will have no base on which to rest.

If the human rights guaranteed in the constitution are not protected, the struggle will get worse, however striking the military victories we achieve.
