

Three States To Hold Primary Elections During Week Ahead

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—California, Iowa and South Carolina hold primaries next week with the West Coast state in the spotlight. Last minute drives there for the Senate, and a House contest featuring James Roosevelt as a contender, have spurred an otherwise mild campaign.

The California primary is on Tuesday, the same day Democrats in South Carolina hold a primary in which candidates for governor have differed over details of how to maintain separate schools for whites and Negroes despite the Supreme Court decision banning segregation.

Sen. Burnet R. Maybank is opposed for a third nomination which in South Carolina means election.

Iowa Republicans and Democrats vote Monday. Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D) and Rep. Thomas E. Martin (R) have no competition for Senate nominations. Chief interest there is in a six-man race for Republican nomination for governor in which there may be a test vote on legalizing the sale of liquor by the drink. Iowa now allows liquor to be sold only in state-owned stores.

Altogether, candidates will be chosen Monday and Tuesday for three Senate, three gubernatorial and 44 House seats.

Republicans go into the California election with a solid majority of incumbents for 115 state, congressional, and legislative offices, but still the minority party in registration. Democrats outnumber Republicans 43, but in the past this has not helped them in state races.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.), now serving by appointment, predicts he will win both party nominations for the remaining two years of the term of Richard Nixon, who resigned to become vice president when President Eisenhower was elected in 1952.

Kuchel has cross-filed as has his Democratic opponent, Rep. Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles. Kuchel backers have been trying to make hay over an admission by Yorty that he franked 4,108,500 copies of a speech he inserted in the Congressional Record May 12 at a cost to the taxpayers of $119,146.

Yorty, who has been highly critical of the Eisenhower administration said he sent the speech out under his postage-free franking privilege after the Kuchel forces circulated what he called "smear material" against him.

Roosevelt, eldest son of the late New Deal President, is facing four other Democrats for the nomination for Yorty's House seat in the heavily Democratic Los Angeles district. He was defeated by Earl Warren, now chief justice, in the 1950 race for governor.

Roosevelt's marital troubles—his wife brought sensational charges of infidelity in a separate maintenance suit—have figured in the campaign. A letter distributed by a group calling itself the "Women's Crusade for Decency Committee" has fought Roosevelt's candidacy.

In Iowa, Monday, County Atty. Clyde E. Herring, Des Moines, son of the late governor and senator, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for governor, while six Republicans are seeking the GOP nomination. Gov. William S. Beardsley announced he would not seek a fourth term.

Among the six is A. B. Chambers, former Des Moines mayor, who proposed legalizing liquor sales by the drink. Most of his competitors oppose this.

In South Carolina Tuesday the outcome of the Democratic race for governor to succeed James F. Byrnes—not permitted to succeed himself under the law—is a toss-up. It's between Lt. Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr., 42, and Columbia insurance executive Lester L. Bates, 49.

Toss 'Er In There

With batter up and the infield pulled in close for a vital play, youngsters square off for a brisk softball game on the junior high. Harold Rosson, in white gym suit, is the supervisor. This is part of the citywide recreational program which is providing supervised activities at the junior high gym and campus, West Side Park, the YMCA and soon at the Lakeview school.

Tempo Of Citywide Recreation Program Due To Show Increase

Tempo of the citywide recreational program is due to increase Monday, and by mid-week, when most Vacation Bible Schools will be over, matters are expected to swing into high gear.

West Side park activities will begin in earnest Monday with John B. Hardy in charge. There will be softball, games, singing, story telling, tests, stunts, nature activities, group games, table tennis, reading, sand-box play, volleyball, basketball and free play periods.

Toll Road Open On One Route To Lake Thomas

A private toll road is being operated on one route to Lake J. B. Thomas. E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was advised Saturday.

In turn, Spence cautioned motorists, who do not desire to pay the 25-cent charge over a half mile stretch on the county-line cutoff, that they should use the Ira road.

The CRMWD general manager was informed Saturday by Pee Wee Allen, owner of a ranch which borders on the south side of the lake property, that he was maintaining a charge for crossing his property.

"This is something that the District has no control over," said Spence. "The stretch of road in question is between a lateral road and the District's property. But it crosses private property."

Those who prefer to make use of public roads all the way will take a slightly longer route by going to Ira and then turning back west directly to the lake. Except for the last few miles, this road is paved. The road north from Vincent to Murphy School and then back east to the lake is blocked by the upper reaches of Lake J. B. Thomas.

Several months ago delegations from Mitchell and Scurry Counties, which would be traversed by a proposed road from the dam south to the Big Spring-Snyder highway, made a request to the State Highway Department for opening and surfacing the road. Howard and Ector groups joined in the request but the highway department said it did not have funds. At that time landowners from the lake property to the highway had offered Mitchell and Scurry counties right-of-way 100 feet wide free of charge. Since then the proposal seemingly has been dormant.

Part of the program will be in the clubhouse and will be on a come-and-go basis.

At the junior high gymnasium and the junior high campus, Harold Rosson will begin a more organized program this week. There will be softball, gymnasium activities, tumbling, games, contests, relays, volleyball, basketball, and other games.

Girls have a full program in store at the YMCA where Floyce Brown is supervising. Here activities are divided by age groups with girls from 7-11 to meet on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings from 8:30 to noon and Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 3 with games, relays, tumbling, folk and tap dances and other activities. Those from 12-17 will convene Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 to noon, and on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons for tennis, tumbling, fencing, volleyball and other advanced sports.

A meeting has been set for Thursday evening at Lakeview school with leaders and parents in that community to plan for beginning the program in that part of the city. Bobby Jack Gross is to begin this program on the morning of June 13 and efforts are being exerted to have everything organized in advance.

Meanwhile, registrations were continuing at a good clip at the YMCA for the annual swimming program. The first phase starts Tuesday morning and registration must be in advance at the YMCA. Instruction will be furnished by a staff of 10 for beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers.

Failure Of Motor Causes Emergency Landing Of T-28

Motor failure, attributed to loss of oil, resulted in an emergency landing for a T28 trainer from Webb AFB east of Midland Friday evening.

There were no injuries and practically no damage to the plane, said Col. Fred M. Dean, commander or Webb.

Second Lt. David L. Nappoli, Chicago Heights, Ill., instructor pilot with flying section No. 2 and 2nd Lt. James M. Harris, Logan, Utah, student officer in class 54-B were aboard.

They had taken off at Midland, enroute to Webb, and had reached 5,000 feet when there apparently was a complete loss of oil. This in turn resulted in motor failure. Lt. Nappoli put the ship down in a wheels-up landing in a plowed field on the I. E. Echols farm. Location was 12 miles east of Midland and two miles north of U. S. Highway 80. Time of the emergency was 5 p.m. An investigation as to probable cause is being conducted.

Texas Sea Scouts Given Big Surprise By Miami

MIAMI, Fla., June 5 (AP)—Enterprising Texas Sea Scouts, from land-locked Mercedes in the Rio Grande Valley, had a big surprise waiting for them today.

While they've been "cruising" southward in their "ship"—an old school bus—they've been looking forward to 11 quiet days of camping on the shores of Miami's Biscayne Bay.

But South Florida scout leaders, instead of the way the boys worked in pay for their "cruises" and "ship" have other plans.

The scouts were to get their first hint of what is to come when they reach the outskirts of Miami this morning.

First thing was a police car escort, with sirens screaming, to their palm-shaded campsite at the Coconut Grove Sailing Club.

In the days that follow, the 11 boys, leaders and three leaders will get their big game fish in the Gulf Stream, cruise through the Florida Keys in sailing yachts, learn the thrills of spear-fishing on the reefs, take overland sightseeing tours, and be entertained at dinners and parties.

It all started last year when Sea Scout Ship No. 39 of Mercedes voted to take a "cruise" this summer. The boys wrote to yacht clubs around the country, asking only for a place to camp near water and a chance to do a little sailing.

Dr. Paul Robertson, skipper of Sea Scout Ship No. 18 in Miami, heard about it and invited the boys to come here. They accepted and then went to work to earn money for the trip.

There was no hat-passing. The boys worked after school and on weekends. Their mothers ran a concession stand at the Rio Grande Valley Livestock Show to boost the fund.

Eventually, the boys had enough money to lay the school bus, equip it with a stove and refrigerator, and enough left over to pay their expenses on the way.

Lambert Landscape Company of Dallas, is preparing plans for beautification of the square. County Judge R. H. Weaver said Saturday that complete plans for the project should be completed shortly.

Pro-American Yoshida Target Of Growing Criticism In Japan

By JOHN RANDOLPH
TOKYO, Sunday, June 6 (AP)—Feeling against Shigeru Yoshida, Japan's pro-American prime minister, has grown so bitter among his enemies that high respectable newspapers are speculating openly that assassination is the only way to get rid of him.

Every day Yoshida, who has a 30-man bodyguard, is called a "shameless dictator"—or worse. Thursday his Socialist opposition became so aroused in their opposition to a police nationalization bill that they started a riot in the House of Representatives. The speaker's pants were torn off, women legislators were manhandled; 50 persons were hurt; 200 policemen had to restore order; and Yoshida postponed a world tour that would have taken him first to the United States.

Almost daily there are alarming stories. There are huge scandals involving big businessmen and big politicians. Debate is heated over disquieting legal proposals to silence outspoken school teachers and strengthen the police. There is the continuing paradox of a nation that would like its U. S. defenders to go home but shrinks from building an army of its own.

Above all, there is the wildly outspoken, utterly ruthless and unending attacks on 76-year-old Yoshida—who keeps on winning what he wants. He towers today as Japan's one commanding figure.

Actually all is not bad from the Western point of view. The process now going on could turn Japan into a real parliamentary democracy.

Out of 1,500 years of recorded history—violent when Orient meets West like two strong rivers merging—had grown a rigid code tending toward indirect government. It was considered gross bad manners for a man to seek power openly. Real power has been shadowy—a board, a commission, a family clan, a clever priest, a chief clerk, a feudal lord or an obscure adviser. Even World War II's Hideki Tojo was just a spokesman for an extremist army clique.

The crashing end of World War II tore down much of the old system and cleared the way for a new deal. The first man to see it was Yoshida. He has emerged in the last five years as the toughest, most successful parliamentarian Japan has ever had.

During the last six-month Diet session he has cracked the whip like a Pitt, a Gladstone or a Stanley Baldwin (whom he knew personally).

Aggravating anti-Yoshida feeling is the fact he has survived loss of his Liberal party majority. But the Socialist opposition is split similar to the Attlee and Bevinite wings of Britain's Labor Party.

It generally is conceded if a new election were held now, the Socialists would make gains over Yoshida's Liberals.

But the wily premier stays in the saddle, accomplishing ratification of a mutual security agreement with the United States, including a Japanese military buildup, and plumping for a bill to centralize the police force. All this is hateful to his opposition—Socialists, liberal thinkers, intellectuals, plus many middle-of-the-roaders who fear a swing back toward reaction.

DO IT YOURSELF Here's A Headboard That's Easy To Make

By BILL BAKER

I've had many requests during the past months for a modern bed headboard pattern. But, since the requests have covered such a wide variety of requirements, I have avoided adding one to this series.

But I've been able to find a solution — I've discovered a way which I incorporate all of the required features into one unit. The result can be found in Bill Baker's extra-simple Pattern Number 117. Here's what you'll find in my modern bed headboard pattern:

It's an easy do-it-yourself project. Simple, modern lines make it ideal for even the beginning woodworker.

Material requirements and costs are kept to a minimum.

As with all patterns in this series, heavy paper pattern pieces in exact size are included. Like a woman's dress pattern, all you have to do is trace the pattern, cut and assemble. No elaborate tools are needed.

Use one headboard with a single bed. Two, placed together, form an exact-size double bed unit.

Upholstered sections make the headboard ultra-smart in appearance. It will give your room a tailored look. In the pattern you'll find full instructions on how to do the upholstering. Fabric of your choice can either contrast or match other appointments used in your bedroom.

With the addition of a special hinge, the headboard pulls out, making it a perfect rest for reading or relaxing. For this feature an inexpensive hinge can easily be attached. Information on its availability is included in the pattern.

In case you don't want to add a hinged back rest, details are included in the pattern for completion of the unit without this accessory.

Behind each padded section is a wide book shelf.

Tax Suits Filed Against Two Local Hospitals

Tax suits have been filed in 118th District Court by the City of Big Spring and Big Spring Independent School District against Malone & Hogan Hospital Clinic Foundation and the Howard County Hospital Foundation (Big Spring Hospital).

The petitions of the plaintiffs allege that the two corporations owe penalties totalling $8,521.57.

It is alleged that the Howard County Hospital Foundation owes the city $849.21 and the school district $1,150.73 in 1953 taxes. Judgment is asked for $1,999.94 against this hospital.

Petition filed against the Malone & Hogan Hospital Foundation asks judgment for $6,521.63 which would cover city taxes amounting to $1,508.64 for 1952 and $1,509.52 for 1953, and school taxes of $2,040.55 for 1952 and $1,982.92 for 1953, plus interest, penalties, etc.

Both hospitals have claimed tax exemptions on the basis of their charters as charitable foundations.

For tax purposes, the city sets value of the Malone & Hogan Hospital real property at $77,845. The school values this property at $116,770, according to the petition.

The city evaluation of the Howard County Hospital real property is $47,573 and the school sets the value at $71,363.

The suits assert liens on the properties of both corporations. Judgment for foreclosure and a decree that the liens are on a parity with those of the State of Texas also is requested in the petitions.

The Malone & Hogan property is described as Lot 3 and the south 50 feet of Lot 2, Block 72, original town of Big Spring. The Howard County Hospital property is listed as all of Block 75, original town of Big Spring.

Three Continental Trailways Bus Systems Hit By Strike

DALLAS, June 5 (AP)—A strike of less than drivers on connecting lines.

The company said drivers were paid 7 cents a mile by Western and 7 1/2 cent a mile by Central.

No buses were rolling in the three divisions, which total about one-third of the system's 43,000 miles of routes.

The Dixie line runs from Dallas east to Texarkana and Shreveport, La., and south from there to Houston. It also runs out of Dallas north to Ardmore and Durant, Okla.

Strike Not Expected To Interrupt Service

The strike of some 200 Continental Trailways bus drivers in California, Arizona and New Mexico isn't expected to affect transportation from this section to the West Coast, local officials of the bus company reported Saturday.

Route on which the drivers walked out in a wage and seniority dispute is through the northern parts of Arizona and New Mexico. Continental Trailways buses through Big Spring travel the "southern route" which is not affected by the strike.

Ministers in the conference will receive their church appointments for the coming year tomorrow at the final conference meeting.

A statistical report showed a total membership in its churches of 127,282, an increase of 1,092 over last year.

Foodhandlers' School Expected To Draw 300; Starts Monday

Upwards of 300 people are expected to register for the annual Foodhandler's School which will be held here Monday through Friday.

Practically every restaurant owner in the county has expressed interest in the school, said Lige Fox, city sanitarian. A number of operators have said, they will require their employees to attend the classes.

The school will be conducted by the State Department of Health, and the instructor will be C. B. Breddlove, director of the health education. He has conducted the school in Big Spring for the past several years.

Classes, to be held in the morning and afternoon so employees on all shifts can attend, are designed to present instruction on all phases of manufacturing, processing, distributing, preparing or serving food.

The morning session will be from 9 to 10:30 a.m. at the city auditorium, and afternoon classes will be from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Foodhandlers who successfully complete the course by attending five class periods will receive a certificate in sanitary foodhandling, Fox said.

The public is invited to attend the school, and there will be no admission charge. Each day's program will be different.

The license which is obtained by school attendance is the type required by city ordinances for all foodhandlers, Fox pointed out. Without an unrevoked license issued by the health office, a person cannot work in a restaurant.

Most restaurant owners here have voiced support for the school, stating that everyone possible should take advantage of the opportunity to attend a refresher course in sanitation.

"I believe the knowledge to be gained by the lectures and films given by the health department will prove beneficial not only to the restaurant people but to the public at large," said Martin Binder, manager of the Cap Rock Cafe.

H. M. Rainbolt of the Wagon Wheel is equally impressed with the school. "We insist that all of our employees attend," he stated. "If all food handlers are properly informed it will improve health conditions."

The course has been invaluable to employees of the Settles Hotel Coffee Shop, according to Carter Belew, manager. "I highly endorse the school and feel that restaurant people should make use of it since the health department goes to the trouble and expense of making it possible."

Personnel of the Knott School lunch room have been able to do a much better job as a result of instruction received in last year's school. It was pointed out by Mrs. Herschel Smith, lunch room supervisor. "The school helps us to realize the importance of proper sanitation in the handling, preparing and serving of food and in the handling of dishes and cooking utensils."

Frank Morales of Morales Restaurant said, "Walters and waitresses in Big Spring would miss a great deal of the know-how which your program has to offer without such a school."

Mrs. Fred Coleman of Weber's Root Beer Stand pointed out that attendance by her teen-age employees helps them in their work as homemakers.

Citing "unusual zeal" on the part of Baptist laymen who have pioneered such exercises, Dr. Boone said:

"From these meetings have come the salvation of souls, the strengthening of convictions, the deepening of spiritual life, more harmonious relationships both among employees and between employer and employee and a new appreciation for and honor to the name of our saviour."

Old Country Store Keeps Serving Need

HOWLAND, Tex. (AP)—There's still a place for the old country store.

Old Dick Justus, down at Howland Mercantile Company, has been catering to the needs of the farm folk for 57 years and business is still pretty good.

"Aw, things get kind of dull sometimes," agrees the mellow old gentleman, "but I feel like the people would miss us pretty bad if we closed our doors."

Wagons, buggies and horse-collars don't sell so good as they used to. Matter of fact, there's only one horse-collar in the store and it has been gathering dust on the back wall for years.

Dick Justus is still a shrewd businessman, despite his 57 years. He has shoved aside the old cracker barrel and cheese hoop for a modern meat counter and other improvements.

Instead of kerosene lamps, he now stocks electric light bulbs.

"Don't carry women's shoes anymore, either," Justus explains. "Got 'em where they make so many styles and sizes. And women are harder to please than they used to be."

Justus doesn't handle caskets and shrouds any more, either.

Howland's old storekeeper first opened his doors at Broadway in 1897. Four years later, in 1901, he moved to Howland and has been there ever since. Same building, same name.

There were good years and bad. "First 20 years we were in business, the money rolled in," recalls Justus. "Then came the lean years. Like 1920 when cotton went to six cents a pound."

"Folks don't depend so much on cotton nowadays," he explains approvingly. "They raise different things 'round here. Changes our credit system, too. Don't do a lot of that long-term credit now. They can pay more often."

"Back to the old days, we'd carry some families all year. Matter of fact," he chuckled, "we're still carrying some of that credit we passed out 30 years ago."

No Sabotage In Disaster

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The Navy reported today that no evidence of sabotage "or other malicious acts" has been found thus far in its investigation of the disaster carrier Bennington, but it said "this possibility is by no means being overlooked."

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, made public a letter from Secretary of the Navy Thomas which said:

"Every possible cause will be most minutely investigated and corrective action will be most vigorously prosecuted."

Pending the inquiry, Thomas said the Navy "has placed limitations on the use of catapults, has emphasized meticulous observance of all possible safety precautions, and has implemented all practicable measures indicated by the facts now known in order to eliminate the possibility of a recurrent of this disaster."

Thomas said the toll of the May 28 disaster off Quonset, R.I., was 101 dead and 118 injured, up to last Thursday, and that there was "extensive damage" to the Bennington's interior.

UP TO STAND

Most Of County's Cotton Is Planted

Approximately 90 per cent of Howard County's cotton acreage has been planted and is up to a reasonably good stand. This was the estimate Saturday from James Wren, assistant county agent. He based his estimate on reports from farmers in various communities of the county. Vincent, in northeastern Howard, because of tightness of the land, was lagging a little behind with about 85 per cent of the cotton acreage planted. North of Luther there were some delays too. For a time, farmers in exceptionally deep sand were stalled because the ground crusted over bogs which caused tractors to sink. While the lice and aphid threat began to diminish, a new menace appeared Saturday. Farmers in the Vincent sector said that grasshoppers were beginning to get thick along fence lines and turn rows.

Several were in to obtain poison. Wren said that the formula was still five pounds of white arsenic to 100 pounds of bran and 1 1/2 to 2 gallons of syrup. Most farmers reported better results by adding some water to the syrup and then mixing the arsenic before applying the liquid to the bran. The cotton lice threat did not appear too serious at the end of the week and hot weather was whipping the aphids. Careless worms, however, have been cutting a swath in some fields. Cecil Long, in the Lomax sector of southwest Howard, said he lost three to four acres to the worms. Johnny Walker reported careless worms had consumed about five acres in one spot for him. Most of the damage was spotted with worst of it occurring in areas where careless weeds had been bad. In general, the weed situation appeared under reasonable control. This is attributed in part to the necessity of replanting due to rains. There were reports of several farmers who plowed up good stands because the weeds were even more robust. One of the problems posed last week was that of blowing. High and gusty winds have shown a tendency to stir sand and some damage had been done by spandemic sand blasting. Farmers were cheered by the return of hot weather at the end of the week for it set up the ideal cycle of hot days and cool nights for cotton. Wren said that there had been considerable feed planted over the county, but he had no estimate on the acreage. He did caution producers to begin to make arrangements for storage if they plan to carry grain over in the loan. It would be wise to book commercial storage now, he said, or to investigate possibility of erecting storage at home. Under certain terms, home storage costs can be amortized in five years time, he added.

T&P Receives Safety Award

The Texas and Pacific Railway Company, for its outstanding safety promotion beyond the realm of railroading, has won a Public Safety Activities award conferred by the National Safety Council. President Ned H. Dearborn of the National Safety Council, in conveying congratulations to the railroad, wired J. H. Williams, T&P superintendent of safety, that the Texas and Pacific's public safety activities were "a real contribution to the welfare of the nation." The award was in recognition of the T&P's consistent efforts to encourage safety off the job, in the home, school and community. Highlighting the railroad's safety program has been a series of T&P safety rallies in the cities and towns along the railroad's lines from El Paso to New Orleans. A major part of each safety rally is directed toward promoting safety in the home and community. The railroad has organized T&P Ladies Safety Councils, composed of its women employees, wives, mothers, daughters, and sweethearts of T&P workers, which are dedicated to promoting safety on the highways, in the home, school, and community. There are 10 of these T&P Ladies Safety Councils aggregating approximately 2,500 women at El Paso, Big Spring, Mineola, Marshall, and Shreveport. Alexa Gria, Bunkie and Gretna, La. Included in its public safety activities, the T&P has sponsored safety poster contests in the schools and churches, safety bicycle-racing contests, automobile driver training and safety driving contests in conjunction with local newspapers. Many civic groups and service clubs have been addressed on public safety by Texas and Pacific officers and representatives. The railroad has produced home safety, sound-slide movies and for many years now has produced and distributed nationwide its own public safety booklet, "Stop, Look, Listen and Live!" As far as public safety of its patrons is concerned, the Texas and Pacific, has not suffered a passenger fatality in well over a quarter of a century of service.

Eisenhower Says Normandy Invasion Lessons Not Lost

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the lessons of "unity and cooperation" displayed in World War II have by no means been lost in the trying period of reconstruction since the fighting stopped. In a statement honoring the 10th anniversary of D-Day—the Normandy invasion—the President said once bitter enemies are burying their antagonisms and joining together to meet the problems of the postwar world. He said if some of the peoples who were America's comrades in arms "have been kept apart from us, that is cause for profound regret, but not for despair." The White House said the statement would be read at ceremonies on the Normandy beaches tomorrow by United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who is the President's personal representative to the ceremonies marking the anniversary.

Bethlehem, Pa., was founded on Christmas Eve, 1741.

Liberace Rakes In Much Dough Despite Music Critics' Panning

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD, June 5 (AP)—Liberace, the most popular pianist since Harry Truman quit the White House, will gross close to a million dollars this year. Most of the feminine population in the palms of his soft, well-manicured hands. Men generally are not so enthusiastic, but that's a cross which matinee idols have always had to bear. Liberace needs no press agent because he's as good as any he could hire. He sells himself with an odd mixture of flamboyant showmanship at the keyboard and a sincere, almost boyish approach away from the piano. Liberace has no network show, yet is on 174 television stations weekly, all individually sponsored. "For some reason," says Seymour Heller, his personal manager, "most of the sponsors are banks and biscuit companies. No matter which way he turns, he's in the dough." He was the only artist to fill

Hollywood Bowl—capacity 20,000—two seasons in a row. He does it by openly playing for the masses. He unhesitatingly rewrites and edits the classics. He needs only four minutes for Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1. Horowitz and Rubinstein can't get their fingers warmed up in that time. Horowitz, with Toscanini's help, needs both sides of a long-playing record for the same opus. The pianist helped burlesque himself on the Jack Benny Show. And he professes to laugh uproariously at such cracks as Red Skelton's: "Liberace cracked his head when he dived in his pool. Brother George forgot to lift the lid." That pool is a fantastic thing, built in the shape of a piano with a keyboard along its edge. It's part of his $100,000 home in Sherman Oaks, one of the fancier sections of the San Fernando Valley, where Liberace lives alone with his mother. The master of this modernist mansion is half Italian, half Polish, combining the handsome features of both. His dark brown eyes and slightly dark complexion, from an Italian father, set off a gleaming row of even white teeth perpetually visible in a smile almost as famous as his. It's all topped off by a luxuriant crop of wavy gray hair. He has been prematurely grey since he was 21, a fact attested to by his barber although there have been stories that it's all part of the act. Born Wladziu Valentino Liberace in Milwaukee in 1919, he started playing piano at the age of 4. His mother first hoped he would grow up to be an undertaker; an uncle was successful in the business. "But his interest in music was so obvious that she did everything she could to encourage him. Father Liberace was his son's first teacher. At 16, he made his professional debut under sponsorship of the late Dr. Frederick Stock, former conductor of the Chicago Symphony. As a recitalist, he went through the usual routine of half-filled concert halls before long-hair audiences. Then he branched out, to jazz, semiclassical, even hillbilly. This led to a night club act, which his brother George joined after coming out of service. It

Tuberculosis Study To Be Mapped In Sweetwater Meeting

Howard County Tuberculosis Association representatives will meet with other area TB workers in Sweetwater June 17 to map plans for the "searchlight on tuberculosis" survey which is to be made this summer. The Sweetwater meeting, at which 13 counties are to be represented, will kick off the "searchlight" program. The various county tuberculosis associations are to start extensive research into the prevalence of the disease and conditions which contribute to its incidence. The survey will include the gathering of information on patients and treatment facilities in every county of the state, according to Joella Terrill Butler, president of the Texas Tuberculosis Association. Details of the research program will be outlined at the meeting in Sweetwater. Judge Lea Boothe of Sweetwater is chairman of the program for this area, which includes Borden, Callahan, Eastland, Fisher, Howard, Jones, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall and Taylor Counties. To attend the meeting as representatives of the Howard County Association are Jewel Barton and Dorothy Yates. Others may attend, officials said.

Connecticut statisticians say the federal government owns less land in that state than in any other—half of one per cent of 3,600,000 acres.

More Precious Than Gold

Many years ago all research was concerned with an effort known as "alchemy" which had as its aim the conversion of all materials into gold. However, today we are grateful that present-day medical and pharmaceutical research has turned its efforts toward the development of items "more precious than gold." Ten years ago no amount of gold could buy some of the modern pharmaceutical products available today—the few antibiotic capsules that today can treat a case of pneumonia without worry and danger—the hormones that have allowed arthritics who were permanently disabled to again live useful lives—the insulin which now allows the diabetic to live a healthy normal life—and many, many others. Who can place a value on these? Are they not more precious than gold? We in pharmacy are proud of our part in these advances which today are being taken for granted by even the poorest, but 10 years ago were not available to even the wealthiest.

made supper clubs all around the country. George, a violinist and the comic relief, became the business manager and later the orchestra leader. That's how the attention-getting essentials of his act were born—the gymnastics on the piano bench, the vast smile, the famous wink and, in 1945, the candelabra. What does Liberace think of the pannings he gets for his cutting of the classics, for the candelabra, for his boimcy showmanship? "No, criticism doesn't bother me, but it does bother George. Once we got a bad review, and he cried all the way to the bank."

Skull Of Composer Haydn, Body Are At Last Reunited

EISENSTADT, Austria, June 5 (AP)—The skull of Austria's great composer, Joseph Haydn, stolen from his grave 145 years ago, was reunited with his other earthly remains today and reburied in a new grave. The skull was blessed by Theodor Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, in an unusual ceremony this morning in the Austrian capital. After the skull received the benediction of the Roman Catholic Church, it was placed on a bier and brought to this sleepy market town in a solemn procession through Soviet-occupied Lower Austria. The reunion of the skull and body marked the end of a strange journey for the composer's head. Haydn first was buried in a Vienna cemetery in 1809. Later his body was exhumed and brought to Eisenstadt, the home of Prince Esterhazy, Haydn's patron. The composer had lived here most of his life. When the coffin was opened, it was discovered the head was missing. The mystery was not solved until years later. Josef Rosenbaum, Prince Esterhazy's secretary, confessed on his deathbed he had stolen the head 10 days after Haydn's burial. He said he had been bribed by a group of doctors who wanted to examine the head of a great musician.

Omaha Beach Decade Later Is Still Spot For Many Memories

Editor's Note—The last time Pulitzer Prize-winning war correspondent Don Whitehead saw Omaha Beach was through the smoke of invasion. Now he's returned on the 10th anniversary to find the sand washed clean, the remains of the great first almost vanished, but overlooking it all rose on rows of white crosses—mute tributes to brave Americans.

By DON WHITEHEAD
OMAHA BEACH, Normandy, June 5 (AP)—Between the rows of white crosses they walked hand-in-hand, the gray-haired man and woman who had traveled across an ocean to visit the American cemetery overlooking the invasion beaches of Normandy. The afternoon sun slanted the couple's long shadows across the graves of Americans who had died at this gateway to Europe's liberation from the hand of Nazi tyranny.

They walked slowly among their memories and the dead. And then they paused beside a cross distinguished from thousands of others only by the name and the number it bore. They stood and looked for a long moment at the name. Slowly the woman sank to her knees. She held her hands to her face and wept. The man beside her bowed his head and touched her shoulder with his hand. They were alone with a heartbeat that went back to that day of invasion, June 5, 1944.

Above the man and woman and the crosses rose the clean outlines of the cemetery chapel, on which were etched these words:

"These endured all and gave all that justice among nations might prevail and that mankind might enjoy freedom and inherit peace."

They come by the hundreds—Americans, British, Canadians, French and Germans—to visit these beaches called "Omaha" and "Utah" which with the years have become symbols of man's struggle for freedom and peace.

Never before, with another brand of tyranny rising from the ashes of World War II, has the symbolism meant so much as on this 10th anniversary of the invasion.

The brown sand stretches hard and smooth to the rock-shale shelf marking the high-tide line. The sand is clean again. The tides have scoured away the blood and debris of battle.

Beyond the beach rise the bluffs where the Germans built their first line of defenses with trenches and blockhouses. The blockhouses still stand. The dark, evil eyes of their gunports stare at the scene haltingly but impotently. The trenches have crumbled. The green grass and vines almost hide the scars, but not quite.

Slowly the signs of war are disappearing. Inland from the beaches, the Norman countryside is lush and green. Herds of fat cattle graze in fields which once were packed with men, guns, armor and storage dumps. The noise and dust and confusion are gone. A peaceful calm has settled down.

Looking at this country, and standing again at the water's edge, the memories come with a rush . . . memories of that terrible dawn when the Allies smashed across the beaches in the great drive on which hung the hope of peace . . .

Through the night the vast invasion armada rode the rough channel waters toward Normandy. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had given the signal to go. Now the decision had passed from his hands to the men riding the invasion craft. The greatest invasion gamble in history couldn't be halted.

The first waves were under the command of Col. George Taylor, commanding the 1st Division's 18th Regimental Combat Team. In his cabin aboard the USS Samuel Chase, Taylor outlined the battle plan:

"The first six hours will be the toughest. That is the period when we'll be weakest. But we've got to open the door. Somebody has to lead the way—and if we fall . . ."

well . . . then the troops behind us will do the job. They'll just keep throwing stuff onto the beaches until something breaks. That is the plan."

There it was. "We've got to open the door . . . Somebody has to lead the way."

Already the paratroopers of the 82nd and 101st Airborne divisions were dropping from the skies into the hedgerows of Normandy. Bombers and naval guns were pounding the coastline.

At dawn, the men climbed over the ship side into the pitching assault boats and headed for the beach. Soon the roar and smoke of battle rolled over us. Our craft found an opening blown in the steel and barbed wire defenses at the beach and plowed through. The ramp lowered. We waded to the rocky shingle where thousands of men were burrowing into the shale. Some men stepped from the boats and slid beneath the waters without a murmur.

Machine-gun bullets whipped across and ripped small geyers in the water. A shell screamed into an assault boat just as the ramp was lowered. The poor devils never had a chance.

During the night the German 352nd Infantry Division had moved onto the bluffs in a training maneuver. They had no hint the invasion was under way. Suddenly the maneuver was real. From the trenches and blockhouses they poured a deadly fire across the bloody beach called Omaha. The sands were strewn with the dead, with broken boats and wrecked tanks and broken bodies and all the litter of gear dropped by men under the hail of steel. Still the invaders came. It seemed there wasn't room for another body along that shoreline.

Brave men were on Omaha Beach that day, and because of them the tide of invasion finally rolled over the sands and through the hedgerows. On Utah Beach and on the British and Canadian beaches the invaders swept inland with little trouble. The Germans were hammered back, field by field. And behind the assault waves came a mounting tide of armed might.

Trio Sentenced In Hub Cap Case

The three Big Spring men arrested here Friday morning with 21 stolen hub caps in their possession have been found guilty of theft.

Claude Washburn, Robert Elam and Bobby Harris each received a 10-day jail sentence and a $47.65 fine. They are now serving their time in the Midland County jail.

Big Spring officers arrested the three about 12:30 a.m. Friday in the 400 block between Runnels and Johnson. Police said they were transferring the stolen articles from a car to a pickup. The men also had a jacket, a wash glove and some seat pads.

The three admitted taking the hub caps from cars parked outside the Midland Rodeo Grounds Thursday night. They were charged in Midland County Court.

LTM Delegates Favor Plan For City Share In Auto Fees

Delegates to the district meeting of the League of Texas Municipalities here Friday indicated they would favor legislation to increase vehicle license costs and abolish ad valorem taxes on automobiles.

They also expressed belief that cities should be allowed a portion of any increase in gasoline taxes to be used on street improvement.

There were 51 city officials from 20 West Texas cities registered for the League meeting. Sessions, starting at 9 a.m. and lasting through 4 p.m., were held in the Settles Hotel.

Guest speaker for the day was Dr. J. L. Bullard, mayor of Kerrville and president of the League. He told the officials that growing emphasis on "international-mindedness" in the United States has weakened our national feeling and hence our greatness.

Stating that American sovereignty can be surrendered through treaties, Bullard said the U. S. should be careful in making international agreements. It is possible, he said, to subordinate the Constitution to a treaty, changing the supreme law of the land.

With the exception of Bullard's speech, the entire meeting Friday was pitched on problems of local government. Discussions were led by E. E. McAdams and C. C. Crutchfield, League officials from Austin.

McAdams explained to the League that at the next session of the legislature a bill will be introduced to do away with ad valorem taxes on automobiles and raise the cost of license plates by one-third. The raise, he said, would be divided between the cities and schools.

Officials openly voiced approval of the bill when it was explained that everyone, and not just those paying ad valorem taxes, will be affected by a license cost raise. Those now paying ad valorem taxes will get off cheaper as they will not have to render assessments to school and city agencies, it was pointed out.

If the bill is passed, it will definitely mean more money for cities of Texas to use on street improvements.

The city officials agreed that the League would ask for a portion of the one-cent raise in gasoline taxes which is expected to be asked during the coming legislature. The League will not ask for the raise, it was pointed out.

The officials discussed dog ordinances, civil defense plans, policies of installing subdivision utilities, ordinances against peddlers, "lady cops," welfare programs, social security for city employees, and collections from utility companies.

Most cities represented have a policy whereby developers of subdivisions pay for installation of utilities. Some cities, it was revealed, pay back the money to developers over a period of years. McAdams pointed out that League surveys show that the developer usually sells his house and lot for the same price whether or not the city pays the cost of utilities.

The meeting also revealed that most West Texas cities have some type of peddlers' ordinance to keep undesirable solicitors from making door-to-door calls. Most ordinances call for an investigation period and filing fee. Dog ordinances vary, some calling for the dogs to be kept off the streets altogether.

Quite a bit of interest was shown in the idea of "lady cops" to check the parking meters and issue over-parking tickets. Abilene and San Angelo officials said the program works well in their cities. Women require less pay and the men are relieved for police duties, it was pointed out.

San Angelo and Abilene do most

Greeks, Slavs Announce Plans For Arms Pact

By L. S. CHAKALES
ATHENS, Greece, June 5 (AP)—Greece and Yugoslavia announced today they will be joined by Turkey in a new Balkan military alliance aimed at "strengthening peace and collective security in the spirit of the United Nations charter."

The three nations—all recipients of U.S. military aid which has increased considerably the power of their armed forces—have been linked previously in a treaty of mutual cooperation. The new pact elevates this agreement to an outright military alliance.

Koca Popovic, the Yugoslav secretary for foreign affairs, told newsmen the new alliance would be political as well as military.

This was indicated also in the communique issued both in Athens and Belgrade announcing formation of the pact. The communique said the treaty provides for establishment of a consultative assembly of the three nations which will meet alternately in Athens, Belgrade and Ankara to discuss mutual problems. An equal number of deputies from the nations' parliaments will make up the assembly.

The foreign ministers will meet in Belgrade in July to formally sign the treaty for their governments.

Announcement of the pact came as a climax to the visit here of President Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. He conferred with Premier Marshal Alexander Papagos while additional talks were held at lower levels. Tito made a similar visit to Turkey in April.

The new alliance will forge a military link between three nations with a total population of around 44 million. All occupy a strategic position in the East-West cold war. Turkey has a common frontier with the Soviet Union. Greece and Yugoslavia have borders with Communist states within the Soviet bloc.

Prisoner Admits New York City Rapes, Slayings

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—A husky steamfitter described by boarding house acquaintances as "well mannered" was quoted by police today as admitting three slayings and two savage rapes of teen-agers.

The arrest of John Francis Roche, 27, climaxed a feverish around-the-clock search by more than 100 detectives.

Roche was picked up for a traffic violation, far across town from a humble Upper East Side neighborhood which had been terrorized by the rape cases.

One of the rape victims, a 17-year-old, also was one of the slaying victims. The other, a 14-year-old, is near death. They lived only two blocks apart.

Many residents of the section had fearfully kept their daughters home after dusk since Dorothy Westwater was raped, beaten and stabbed last Wednesday.

A crowd of angry residents gathered this afternoon about the E. 67th St. Precinct house, where Roche was brought for further questioning after being arrested at Rockaway Beach.

A similar crowd, including many young girls, assembled at the Rockaway precinct house late this morning after it was learned that Roche had been arrested.

There were shouts of "lynch him," and "kill the bum" as Roche, hiding his face, was hustled to a police car to be transferred to the East Side.

Police said that in addition to the Westwater attack, Roche, a curly-haired, six-footer, admitted: The rape slaying of Marion Brown, 17, in the hallway of her home last April 8.

The stab slaying of 85-year-old Rose Chronik in her apartment near the scene of the rape attacks last Nov. 15.

The fatal stabbing of a taxi driver without warning April 18.

Seven Accidents Are Investigated

Seven automobile accidents were reported to police here Friday and Saturday. Investigating officers said all were minor, and that there apparently were no injuries.

Three of the collisions were reported Saturday.

Lamar Bailey Jr., 701 East 17th, and Juan D. Ramirez, 111 NE 3rd, were operators of vehicles which collided at 3rd and Gregg about 10:45 a.m. Saturday.

At 11:35 a.m. an accident occurred in the 300 block of Scourry. Drivers involved were Ollie Covert Shick, 510 Gregg, and William J. Kizer, 1212 East 19th.

The third Saturday mishap occurred in the 400 block of East 3rd about 5:30 p.m., and cars involved were operated by Johnnie Lee Hart, 1607 Johnson, and Wesley Shelton, route 2.

The other four accidents, were reported Friday. One was at 7th and Gregg about 10:30 a.m., and car operators were Gladys M. Fivesah, 808 E. 14th, and Octavio A. Loya, 603 NW 9th. Another, at 2:30 p.m., occurred in the 100 block of Main. Theima Eyle Williams and Dale Sutton Graves, both of Coahoma, were vehicle operators.

Grace Whitlaw Lemay, State Hospital, and Charlie Brown, Colorado City, were drivers of vehicles in collision at Northwest 4th and Lamson Drive about 4:40 p.m. Friday.

The final mishap occurred when an unknown driver of a car pushed the car in front of him into another vehicle. The cars which were pushed into one another, police said, belong to Marie Haynes and W. O. Leonard. This was reported a 8:45 p.m. Friday.

KNOW YOUR COURTS

You are advised by Hack Wright, the personal friend and close associate of the present district judge, not to be misled. Yet, he adroitly and skillfully attempts to mislead the public in that after naming a large number of subjects, states: "This advertisement prepared, sponsored, and paid for by some of the above named past jury commissioners who felt that the people should know the facts from the public records." A number of the ones listed have phoned me stating that such implied meaning that they were sponsoring the candidacy of Judge Sullivan was entirely erroneous and that they did not appreciate the use of their name in this manner by Hack Wright.

I am not criticizing Mr. Wright. His personal friendship with the judge has been close and on many occasions, I understand, they have had quite a bit of pleasure. Friendship is a very admirable quality, but when the public is tempted to believe that a number of those named contributed to the advertisement, such is not true and the matter of friendship has got out of bounds.

I am not going to criticize in the least the action of this friend. I remember very plainly within recent weeks the present judge was very appropriately honored by a ceremony in the district court room, upon which occasion the architect of the court house presented the judge with a mallet made from wood out of the old court house. In this ceremony of presentation he referred to the present judge as the "Father of the New Court House." This is a very appropriate incident. Such honor coming from Mr. Wright on the last week's occasion and from the architect a few weeks ago is rather appropriate and rather significant as to the kind of close friends of the judge. They are O.K.

Next week we will take up the government report as to the statistics of the present district court since the date Judge Collins went out of office. Such statistics of the government will show that the present judge has done a very small amount of work though many cases were pending on the docket, some of them for more than two years and one over five years. These statistics will show on a comparative basis the results of the work the present judge has performed, and they are very interesting.

of the welfare work in the counties in which they are situated, but other cities rely heavily on the county government to do welfare work. It was revealed.

Cities are entitled to a 2 per cent collection on gross sales of utility companies, it was announced. Collection percentage from telephone companies can be any reasonable amount, League attorneys believe.

The inclusion of city employees in the social security plan will depend on the vote for such a constitutional amendment on Nov. 2, officials were told. National legislation also sponsors the change.

Visiting dignitaries were welcomed by Chamber of Commerce Manager J. H. Greene and City Manager H. W. Whitney.

French Planes Make Direct Hits On Vietminh Convoys

By FORREST EDWARDS
HANOI, Indochina, June 5 (AP)—French planes scored direct hits with half ton bombs today on Vietminh convoys moving along routes the rebels are using in an attempt to close a pincers behind this Red River Delta capital.

In addition to hammering the Communist-led rebels moving slowly from Dien Bien Phu, French pilots blasted a Vietminh ammunition dump 35 miles east of Hanoi used for storage of small arms and mortar ammunition.

The rebels were moving on two roads from Dien Bien Phu—routes 13 and 41. French planes strafed and bombed the troops. The pilots said they set several large fires in the attacks on the convoys.

The Vietminh were driving Russian-made trucks supplied by the Chinese Communists to bring the heavy artillery into the Delta area from Dien Bien Phu. The most advanced elements were still reported 50 miles west of the edge of the western delta defenses.

Ground action by the French Union forces was concentrated on keeping intact the vital road and rail link between Hanoi and the big seaport city of Haiphong. The bulk of American supplies to Indochina move along the 65-mile highway.

Last night Vietminh squads slashed the rail line—an almost regular nightly occurrence. French engineers repaired the damage this morning.

Rebel troops also drove Vietnamese rail guards from a post near Haidoung, 32 miles east of Hanoi on the highway. But French Union Forces stormed back into the post at dawn and the supply route was not endangered, a high command spokesman said.

U.S. informants in Saigon said that diplomatic difficulties had caused the abandonment of plans to airlift three battalions of French soldiers from North Africa to Indochina with American Globemasters. They will come by slower sea transport.

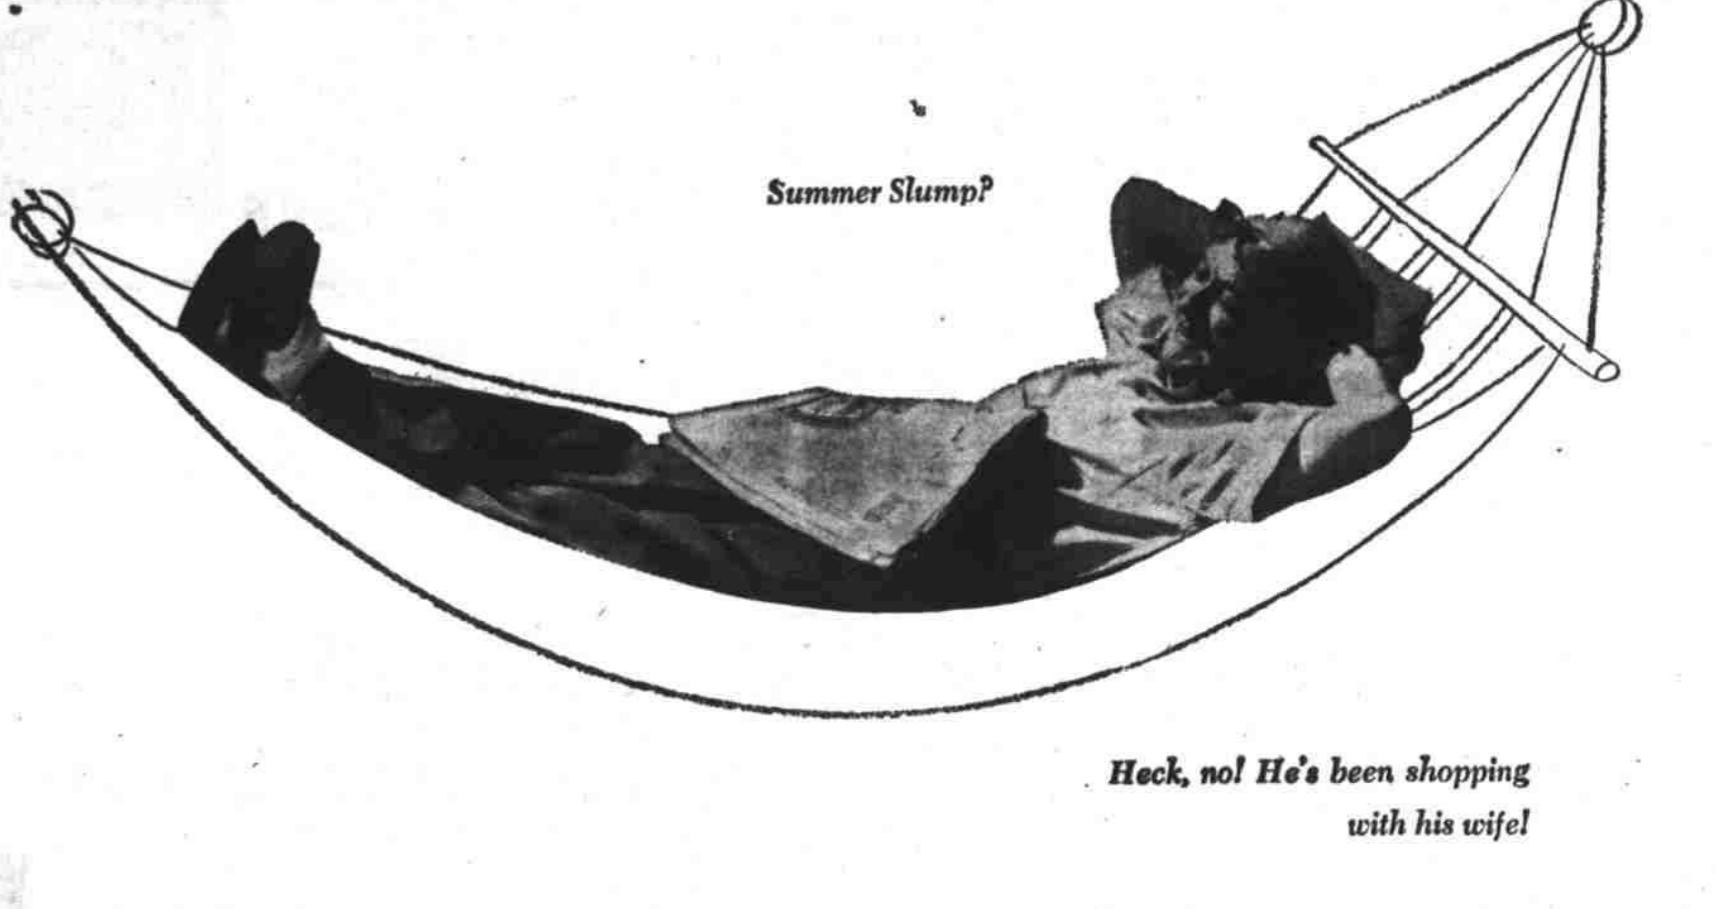

The American sources said red tape involved in obtaining clearances through a half dozen countries contributed to the decision to call off the flight. On two previous occasions the planes had to detour around India and Burma because those countries objected that transport of troops violated their neutral status.

Bond Denied Men Charged In Rape

KAUFMAN, Tex., June 5 (AP)—Bond has been denied two men charged with raping an Oklahoma woman twice near Terrell, Tex., yesterday.

Kaufman County Sheriff Bill Becker said the two—Milton C. Belcher, 25, and Elmer Eugene Hames, 33, would probably be held without bond until a grand jury hearing Thursday.

The pair was captured near Wills Point, Tex., yesterday. The husband said he had escaped from the car at Elmo, Tex., and the wife leaped from the car at Wills Point. They said two men forced them to drive from near Durant, Okla., to Dallas, then to a point east of Terrell, where the assaults are alleged to have occurred.

Sales are as hot as the weather!

People spend more money on merchandise in June, July and August than in most other months—as the chart shows.

Are you taking advantage of this?

Business leaders are capitalizing on this!

Mr. Gimbel says: "We're going after summer business because we feel that there are too many valleys between the peaks that have no reason to be there."

And he adds that summer business is "the most neglected, the most under-promoted area in our whole merchandising system."

Are you planning special summer promotion?

And they're using newspapers!

They know there's no summer replacement for the newspaper. People buy and read newspapers avidly all summer long!

Completion of Maner Graham No. 1 Meille Van Horn, wildcat venture in Mitchell County, is slated during the next few days.

The No. 1 Meille Van Horn is about one and a half miles north of Westbrook. Drillsite is 660 south and 330 from east lines, 35-28-in. T&P survey.

Also in Mitchell County it was reported that 30 feet of oil and gas sand was recovered on a test of the Dean Sand at McDermott and Company No. 1 P. K. Mackey.

A gray 1949 Mercury automobile was stolen here Friday night, police said. Records show that the vehicle belongs to an Airman Nelson at Webb Air Force Base.

Operator reported a daily pumping gauge of 106 barrels of oil in 24 hours, with gas-oil ratio 753-1 and gravity 29.5 degrees.

Production is through perforations from 4,420 to 4,440 feet, 4,452-4,520 feet, 4,536-4,558 feet, and 4,570-4,600 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 2, block A-46, ps1 survey and east of other production in the field.

Seven and five-eighths-inch casing has been cemented at 12,563 feet in Gulf Oil Corporation and Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Mrs. V. L. Shurtleff (Toyah Unit), indicated gas discovery in Central Reeves County.

The pipe was set at this time in order to protect the hole. As soon as cement hardens, operators will drill out and make more hole.

This wildcat reported a gas flow of 4,270,000 cubic feet daily to 7,000,000 cubic feet on a drillstem test from 12,672 to 12,747 feet, present total depth.

Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 20, block C-17, ps1 survey.

Because New York harbor has excellent fireboat service, ships which catch fire in the Atlantic often are directed to head for New York.

BARGE READY FOR INITIAL PROJECT IN LAKE BASIN

The sea-type barge of the Colorado River Municipal Water District is due to get its maiden work voyage Tuesday.

Two weeks ago the big steel barge was launched in Lake J. B. Thomas, and now a call has been made for its services. Magnolia No. 1-B Murphy, C NW NW 60-97, H&TC, ran into operational troubles and a well servicing crew is due to be floated to its mount on Tuesday.

The water district had to rush delivery on four 25-hp motors which will power the big steel hull. They were installed Saturday and worked satisfactorily.

The barge, 23 feet wide and 70 feet long, draws 18 inches empty. It will draw another 18 inches with 59 tons aboard. Well servicing equipment will be driven aboard from the shore and ferried to the well mound ramp. Slope on the end of the barge matches that on the ramp so that equipment may be driven directly off the barge and up to the mount top.

Total depth of the No. 8-C Hyman is 1,311 feet, and the 5 1/2-inch casing goes to 1,290, which is pay top. The open hole section was fractured with 6,000 gallons of acid and 12,000 gallons of sand oil.

Battlelines Drawn For Imports Fight

HOUSTON, June 5 (AP)—Battlelines are being drawn once again in the dispute over imports of foreign oil.

A year ago there was a difference of opinion among importers opponents as to the proper method of attack. There is now near unanimous support of one method: congressional legislation.

Representatives of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, one of the pioneers in the fight against imports, are to meet Monday in Washington to outline a course of action.

Only a few months ago IPAA's official position was to try to solve the problem within the industry. This policy was discarded last month with the adoption of a resolution urging congressional action.

The resolution said industrial statesmanship had failed to provide an over-all and assured solution.

Members of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. recently renewed their longstanding request for congressional action. They asked Congress to determine and establish an import duty or tax designed to equalize competition between high-cost domestic production and relatively cheap oil "from unreliable foreign sources."

TIPRO members contend foreign oil enjoys a price differential of about $1 a barrel on the domestic market because of tax advantages and lower production costs.

Both TIPRO and IPAA believe foreign oil is supplanting domestic production. They blame imports for recent reductions in domestic production.

Imports opponents drew a bit of encouragement this week from Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Thompson said two major importers—Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and the Texas Co.—have notified the commission they plan to cut imports this month.

Gulf Oil Corp. and Sinclair Oil & Gas Co., Thompson said, have indicated they are seriously considering reductions.

Thompson was making a preliminary report on a survey now being conducted among importers. Complete results will be announced at the commission's June 18 meeting when the state's July crude production allowances will be determined.

Similar surveys have been made during previous domestic production cutback periods. The latest questionnaire called the importers' attention to high levels of crude and gasoline storage and increasing imports.

Broncs Bash Colts In Hit Spree, 12 To 1

Big Spring Receiver

Medsell LaGrone, who Big Spring Bronco Manager Pepper Martin acquired from Tyler of the Big Spring League recently, is dividing catching duties with Bob (Huck) Doe here. He's a right-hander all the way.

SAN ANGELO, June 5 — Pounding out 20 base hits off four San Angelo pitchers, the Big Spring Broncs tonight slugged out a 12-1 decision over the Colts.

Paced by Tony Martinez, Floyd Martin and Julio De La Torre, each with four hits, Big Spring jumped to an early lead and was never headed as Mike Rainey chalked up his eighth win against five defeats. Herb Dwire, making his first start for the Colts, fell the sting of the Big Spring bats in the first inning as Martinez got an inside-the-park homer followed by successive singles by Floyd Martin, De La Torre and Bob Martin good for two runs. Dwire survived until the fourth when Big Spring drove three more runs over on singles by Jim Zapp and Bob Doe, an error, a sacrifice and another single by Martinez. This brought on Joe Criner, rookie making his first Colt appearance. He retired the side but ran into trouble in the fifth when he walked Floyd Martin and Sam Doe and Luis Caballero rap successive singles for another outburst.

Herb Sather came on and retired the side and lasted until the seventh when he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Big Spring got to him for three runs on four hits in the sixth, the safeties including singles by Martinez, Floyd Martin and De La Torre as well as Zapp. The Big Springers closed out their scoring with single runs off the fourth Colt pitcher, Chino Rivera, in the eighth and two in the ninth. The eighth-inning marker came on singles by Floyd Martin and De La Torre and a Colt error. Four hits including singles by Rainey, Martinez and Floyd Martin and a double by De La Torre accounted for the pair in the ninth. The lone Colt score came in the fifth on a single by Jim Morgan, a sacrifice and a single by Manny Tames.

The same clubs meet here at 3 p.m. Sunday with Bill Ewen (5-5) scheduled for Colt mound duties against Frank Maren for Big Spring. The Big Springers will be managed by Pepper Martin and the Colts by Herb Sather.

4-Minute Miler Beaten In Rain

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—A 24-year-old Czech, Stanislav Jungwirth, ran mighty Roger Bannister into the rain-drenched clinders today, proving the four-minute miler can be beaten the same as any other human. Jungwirth vanquished the speedy Briton by outmaneuvering and outrunning him down the last stretch of an invitation half-mile race.

The Czech was clocked in 1:50.7. Bannister came home three yards behind in 1:51.3, failing to threaten, as expected, Mal Whitfield's world record of 1:48.6. It was Bannister's first race since his phenomenal 3:59.4 mile at Oxford May 6 and his first defeat in a race of any sort since he finished fourth in the 1500 meters at Helsinki in the 1952 Olympics.

WARD HURLS HITLESS GAME

Jim Ward threw the first no-hit, no-run game of the season at Cosden here Friday night as Coahoma coasted to an 8-0 victory. Except for an error on the shortstop in the final frame, Ward had a perfect game. He was so hot that he whiffed 12 Cosden batters in the process. All the while his mates were climbing on Pitzer for two runs in the third, five in the fourth, and one in the sixth. Piggy-Wiggly turned back Tennessee Milk 5-1. Franklin was winning pitcher, striking out eight and allowing only one hit. B. Baker gave up five hits for Piggy and struck out four. Tennessee got its only run in the third while Piggy-Wiggly got one in the second, two in the third, two in the fifth.

King Ranch's High Gun Wins Handicap

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—King Ranch's High Gun surprised today by winning the $30,150 Peter Pan Handicap at Belmont Park with the favored Porterhouse, finishing sixth. Fisherman was second and Diving Board third. Eric Guerin rode High Gun to his first victory in seven starts this season in the mile and one furlong race which is a final prep for the $100,000 Belmont Stakes next Saturday.

Raschi Defeated By Phillies, 9-4

ST. LOUIS, June 5 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies tonight handed Vic Raschi his first National League defeat, knocking out the St. Louis Cardinals' righthander while gaining a 9-4 victory. Raschi, who had won five previous games, went out in the seventh inning after the Phillies had reached the big ex-Yankee for eight runs on nine hits, which included Del Ennis' 11th home run.

Record Holders Don't Tell All They Probably Know

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—It is a proud feeling a baseball player gets when he sees his name in the record book—sometimes. Later he may look back, turn the pages and point a lingering finger at some figures of his past feats—but his grandson may wonder why he hidriedly flips over other pages with nary a remark. The reason is there are some records a player would rather not remember.

The fabulous "Big Train," Walter Johnson, set many a record pitchers may never surpass. He led the American League four years in both won-lost percentage and earned run average (1913, '14, '18 and '24); he led the American League in strikeouts 12 years; he pitched the most shutouts, 113; he pitched the most consecutive shut-out innings, 56. And he holds many other records.

But the speedball also threw the most wild pitches in one season, 21 in 1910, and the most in one inning, 4 in 1914. Joe McGinnity was quite a pitch-

Odessa Oilers Use Long Ball To Nip Broncs

ODESSA, June 5 (SC)—Despite two home runs by Julio De La Torre and one by Bob Martin, the Big Spring Broncs went down in defeat here Friday night, 10-9, in 11 innings of play. Tony DiPrimo, a player Martin tried to sign before the 1954 season got under way, hit a home run as the leadoff man in the 11th to give the Odessa Oilers the victory.

The four masters by De La Torre were his 10th and 11th of the year. Martin clubbed his third. DiPrimo's blow broke up a three hour marathon that was a pitcher's duel for five innings before erupting into a runmaking spree.

Both sides employed three pitchers, with Wes Ortiz picking up his eighth win in nine tries and Al Mendoza losing. Ortiz came on in the ninth and escaped unscathed despite runners reaching third base in both the 9th and 11th innings. Mendoza also arrived in the ninth in time to quell an Oiler uprising that netted two runs and sent the game into extra innings. Tommy Myall also connected for the circuit for Odessa.

Martin was the busiest player of the night, starting at second base, pitching for a spell and then going to center field. He had a Big Spring held a 3-2 lead at the end of five innings, but Odessa got four to go ahead in the sixth. The Oilers made it 7-3 in the seventh, but the Broncs cut it to 7-5 by scoring two in the eighth.

Then Big Spring rallied for four in the ninth before Odessa tied it two to two and brought it into over-time.

Webb AFB Bests Cook Team, 12-10

Webb AFB and Cook's Appliance battled each other and the wind Saturday evening and Webb won, 12-10. Gentry was the winning pitcher but he was shelled for 10 assorted hits. Cunningham started for Cook's, his first softball pitching in five seasons, and he was buried under five runs in the third and retired in favor of Mize. Together they allowed 13 hits and their mates committed four miscues. Strong breezes at the Webb field made it tough on fielders. Roberson homered in the fifth for Cook with one aboard.

The score by innings: WEBB ..... 205 230 x-12 13 2

Ben Hogan Finds Baltusrol To Be 'Putting Course'

SPRINGFIELD, N.J., June 5 (AP)—Ben Hogan says Baltusrol is a "putting course" but rates it not as tough as Oakmont, where he won his fourth National Open golf championship last year. Hogan will try for his fifth crown at the course here June 17-19.

He played the 7,027-yard, par 70 course for the first time this week-end. He plans several other practice rounds. "There are hidden tricks on the greens," said Ben. "The course has a lot of blind holes." He rates 1, 7, 9, 17 and 18 as having "blind" greens—hidden behind traps and unable to be seen properly from where the pros will play their approach shots.

"I have to play quite a lot to get to know the course," was Hogan's first summation of Baltusrol. "I'm just not smart enough to know a course the first time I play it."

Hogan has not been feeling up to par since Sam Snead beat him in a playoff for the Masters title last April. He has had recurring virus attacks. He had to postpone until next Saturday his round in connection with National Golf Day.

Wes Santee Runs Mile In 4:00.6

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Lanky Wes Santee ran the second fastest mile on record Friday night and threw veteran meet officials into a state of confusion when he passed the 1,500-meter mark in a time that eclipsed the world record. "I can do better in warmer weather," Santee said after missing the 4-minute mile by a fraction of a second at the Compton Invitational Track and Field Meet. He finished all alone in 4:00.6, fastest ever run by an American. For the 1,500 meters, about 100 yards short of a mile, Santee broke a tape in 3:42.8. The accepted world record shared by Gunder Haegg and Lennart Strand, both of Sweden, and Werner Luag of Germany, is 3:43.

NAIA Crown Won By ACC

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF ABILENE, Tex., June 5 (AP)—Abilene Christian won the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) meet tonight as half the record book was rewritten in the greatest track and field show in the history of the far flung association of smaller colleges.

The versatile Christians ran up 41 points to get back the championship they held in 1952—first year of the giant cinder path carnival. But individuals dominated the meet with Ron Chadwick of Eastern Washington, high point man with victories in both hurdles and a place in the high jump, vying with Ralph Aldredge of Texas Southern, who set records in both sprints.

Hiskey Wins Links Tourney

ABILENE, Tex., June 5 (AP)—Marion Hiskey of North Texas State made a brilliant comeback on the final round today to win the NAIA Golf Tournament with a record 77 for 72 holes.

The North Texas State golf star, who won the first tournament in 1952 but lost to Tommy Hale of Hardin-Simmons last year, shot a closing 68. It was a stroke better than the record set by Hale in winning the championship. When Hiskey had finished 54 holes today, it appeared he had shot himself out of the race as he took a 5-over-par 76 over the windy, dusty 6,101-yard Abilene Country Club course. He had 209; Hale had 206 with a 73 and Ray Ferguson of North Texas State had 207.

After six holes of the final round, Hale held a 5-stroke lead. Then Hiskey pulled his game together for the brilliant finish that rounded out his college golf career. He birdied 13, 14, 15 and 18 and the title was his, with Ferguson winding up with 279 and second place and Hale ending up with 281 and third. Ferguson shot a closing 72 and Hale 75.

Hiskey rammed down a 15-foot birdie putt on 18 for the record score. Arlyn Scott of Hardin-Simmons was fourth with 287 and Lee Wise of North Texas State fifth with 288.

Reed Oil In Lead Of T-Shirt Loop

Reed Oil took undisputed lead in the T-Shirt (Little) League here Saturday night, defeating the Record Shop, 17-13. Melvin Wrightall was the winning pitcher. Seven-up evened things with the Owls, coping a 13-12 victory. Last week the Owls clipped the Bottlers so they shared second place. On Wednesday, Reed had nosed out the Record Shop, 11-10, with William Charles Johnson going the distance.

Keep YOUR Eye On The Ball!

Summer time is play time, you know . . . when baseball and such games are mighty important to a young fellow.

Oh, sure, his parents have cautioned him about running out into the street, and he really knows better . . . but sometimes, in the heat of a game, keeping his eye on the ball is the main thing at the moment.

So you keep YOUR eye on the ball, Mr. Motorist! When you're approaching a playground, or a lot where children are busy at games, SLOW DOWN!

Don't expect the children to do ALL the watching . . . You do your share, too. Common prudence tells you that more risk of accident exists around summer playgrounds. Proceed cautiously . . . keep YOUR eye on the ball!

Make it the safest summer ever, in Big Spring, while children are out enjoying their vacation.

Let's Be Odd-Drive With Double Care

FHA To Look Over Apartment Profits

By J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration disclosed today it has instructed 7,000 apartment owners with government-insured financing not to distribute further profits to stockholders unless they get FHA approval.

An official of FHA said the purpose was precautionary, to prevent any future distribution of what has been described as "windfall profits" resulting from excessive loans on rental projects.

Since May 25, letters have been going out in batches to all mortgagors under section 608 of the National Housing Act—the section under which the FHA guaranteed loans up to 80 per cent of the estimated cost of a project—as well as builders or operators of other multi-family rental units under FHA financing.

Most of these projects are owned by corporations. Section 608, which expired in 1950, had liberal loan provisions to encourage construction of housing. Congressional committees have reported that in many instances these corporations got loans far in excess of their actual costs and thus were able to pocket the difference as a windfall.

Officials said the orders now going out can have no retroactive effect, but are intended only to forestall any additional windfall distributions. They also said that dividends out of earnings would not be forbidden.

"The whole purpose is to take a look at what is going on," one FHA official said. "If the profits are all right, then they will be allowed. But if they (corporations) are doing as was done in the so-called windfall cases, we will want to take another look."

A method employed in the windfall cases went like this: A corporation would get a FHA-insured loan for $1,800,000 on a project that cost only $1,500,000. It would thus have $300,000 it didn't have to use and would declare a dividend, giving the money to its stockholders.

Seven Negro Boys To Face Judge In Air Rifle Shooting

Seven Negro boys are to go before the juvenile court at 2:30 p.m. Monday as a result of the shooting of air rifles in the city, Juvenile Officer A. E. Long reported Saturday.

Long said a BB shot from an air rifle in the boys' possession struck a Negro man between the eyes. The juvenile officer confiscated three air guns when he arrested the boys Saturday.

Numerous complaints have been received lately as a result of air rifle shooting and rock throwing in the city, Long said. Persons shooting or throwing are going before the juvenile judge just as quickly as they are caught, according to the officer.

The seven Negro boys range in age from 13 to 15 years, Long reported.

Epileptic Seizure Research Brings New Hope For Many

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—A man who says he has been "reborn" after almost 42 years of sheltered, half-living due to epilepsy, has helped give a nine-year-old girl a good chance of escaping such a lot.

Diseased tissue taken from the brain of John Unger, 44, in a delicate surgical operation apparently has controlled his epileptic seizures for the first time since he was two years old. Moreover it has helped government scientists develop a new chemical approach to the control of this ancient disease, now suffered by 1 1/2 million Americans.

The first to receive apparent benefit from the new approach is the nine-year-old girl, who until a few months ago, was well on her way to having the strange, almost recluselike life which had been Unger's for so many years.

Government doctors say that if the present promise of the new chemical technique holds out, she and other epileptics not helped too much by previous anti-epilepsy treatment will have a good chance of controlling the convulsive seizures which daily plagued Unger and caused his watchful parents "to sleep with one eye and one ear open at all times."

In about 20 per cent of all epileptics, seizures are uncontrollable with previous medicines. Moreover, doctors say that such medicines, while very valuable, act only as general depressants of the central nervous system—and do not directly act on the source of the epileptic disorder.

The new chemical technique—still considered experimental and not fully proven—consists of giving to epileptics certain chemicals found to be actually deficient in the epileptic brain tissue of Unger and a score of other similar sufferers. Unger and these others had undergone a relatively new surgical technique for the removal of tissue as a means of relieving their seizures.

While the operations were done, in one sense, to improve their condition, another broad purpose was to obtain diseased brain tissue for studies on the nature and treatment of epilepsy. These studies are being carried on by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

Out of research on the cut out brain tissue came an entirely new concept about epilepsy—namely, that one of the factors of the disease is a deficiency of glutamic acid and acetylcholine in the brain.

The new approach to treatment consists of giving epileptics chemicals which, it is believed, will make up for such deficiencies.

Knowland Says Asian Crisis Due In Month

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today the free world has reached the "jumping off place" and if it does not force some kind of showdown with the Communists on Indochina in 30 days, all Asia may topple to the Reds.

The Senate Republican leader said it was not his decision to make, but the country ought to "face up to the fact" that it may have to fight in Indochina, just as it fought in Korea. He said Congress would have to participate in any such grave decision.

Knowland called in an interview for an end to what he described as the "fatal thinking" that the Allies can go on talking at Geneva with the Communists while the Reds continue to gobble up Indochina territory.

The California senator made it clear, without putting it into specific words, that he believes the United States should take the leadership in an Allied move to serve notice on the Communists that fighting must stop in Southeast Asia if the Geneva talks are to go on.

"The Communist are trying to seize Hanoi while their negotiators are talking at Geneva," the California senator declared. "The advantage is all on their side in that move."

"In my judgment, the crucial period will be in the next 30 days. If there is no settlement and nothing is done to bolster the strength of the non-Communist areas, the Reds could well win control of Hanoi and the delta area in 30 days."

"It is my opinion that any such victory by them would shatter not only the morale of the free nations in Southeast Asia but would have repercussions in the Middle East, Egypt, Africa and in Europe, including the captive peoples behind the Iron Curtain."

"This is one of the decisive turning points in the history of the world and a decision in the next 30 days may determine whether communism is to be stopped or whether it takes over the balance of Asia."

Knowland, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and one of the GOP leaders who confers weekly with President Eisenhower, emphasized that he was expressing his personal views.

There is no doubt, however, that he has been urging the executive branch toward action to end what he regards as a dangerous stalemate at Geneva.

Knowland said that he believes only a show of power by the free world will halt Communist aggression in Asia.

He said the assembling of this power ought to be accomplished by joint action of the free world.

Ivan James Barber Weds Alice Plowman

COLORADO CITY—Alice Plowman, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Plowman and the late Vernon Plowman of Galveston, became the bride of Ivan James Barber Jr., of Galveston Saturday evening in Galveston's First Baptist Church.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan J. Barber Sr. of Colorado City. Dr. Harold L. Fickert read the double ring wedding vows. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Vernon Plowman of Fort Worth, wore white lace over a satin bodice and nylon tulle over a satin skirt to form a short train. Her gown had a long waistline with double peplum, high collar and long pointed sleeves. Her crown with fingertip veil was made of lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Her sister, Mrs. Victor L. Schaper of Galveston was matron of honor and wore pink nylon organza and picture hat and shoes which matched her dress. Her choker pearl collar was a gift of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Sitton of Fort Worth, a sister of the bride; Wanda Jo Park of Beaumont, a cousin of the bride and Louise Carol Park of Texas City.

a cousin of the bride. The bridesmaids wore blue nylon organza and pink carnations.

Linda Ann Sitton of Fort Worth, the bride's niece served as flower girl and Victor Schaper Jr., a nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

Creighton White of Colorado City was the best man and groomsmen were fraternity brothers of the groom—Julian Wells of Rogers, James Pickens of Big Spring and Arthur Allison of Kerrville.

The bride's mother wore pink linen and lace with black patent, accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The groom's mother wore a dress of pale blue embossed nylon, a matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of baby orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception honored the couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schaper.

Following a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home in Galveston where both are employed by the Research Department of the University of Texas.

Out-of-town guests were present from Beaumont, Houston, Arcadia, Wichita, Kansas, La Marque, Colorado City, Abilene, Big Spring and Fort Worth.

'Zapotec' Is Non-Fiction That Seems Like Novel

By ANNE LaFEVER

"The Zapotecs are perhaps the oldest people of gentle breeding on this continent, a marvel of survival, and it is worth while to learn what things they have chosen to keep, and what has kept them whole, through three millenniums in this valley." Thus affectionately does Helen Augur speak of the people of Southern Mexico for whom she has named her book, "Zapotec."

The book is written in three parts, with each division giving a different phase of the country and its people. A New Year celebration was the first entertainment in this Valley of Oaxaca, in southern Mexico "where the air is so fragrant that breathing is like drinking Rhine wine." Then one Sunday morning, a "tooting band" aroused the group, and they knew it was time to hurry to the square to witness a wedding feast.

In most interesting ways the customs and the backgrounds of the people are described, with little personal experiences added.

With a long look back into the past, Miss Augur tells of excavations which indicate a civilization existing centuries before Christ. In these explorations have been found proof that the Indians "had worked out a calendar which was eventually adopted all over Middle America." The Zapotecs had built the earliest observatory that has so far been discovered in the New World, and they were familiar with the movements of the moon and planets.

In an account of the Toltecs, who came as barbarians from the north about 700 A. D., there is the possibility presented that these people may have had their origin in Asia and Russia. Description of the Mila Temples brings out the fact that they are over 1,000 years old, and legends and stories of the people and their gods are woven into the book.

In Part Three, the author deals with Benito Juarez, the Zapotec who led Mexico in its fight for independence and with the measure of his faith, "that mankind may set for itself the highest goals and in time achieve them." The chapters telling of the superstitions and medicinal practices are interesting, as are the descriptions of funeral and religious ceremonies.

Helen Augur was born in Minnesota and received a degree from Barnard College. She has at times been special correspondent in Russia for the Chicago Tribune and staff correspondent in Rome for the New York Herald Tribune. She has also published many short stories and articles in leading magazines. Some of her books include "American Jezebel: The Life of Anne Hutchinson," "Passage to Glory" and "Tall Ships to Cathay."

Movie Business Woman Stresses Appearance

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Ida Lupino is the only female star in Hollywood who directs, produces and acts in her own films. She has come a long way from the little girl who was brought here from England to play in "Alice in Wonderland."

Ida's latest effort was "The Big Artist" in which she starred, produced and directed. She is currently working on "Private Hell 36."

When Ida invited me to visit her on the RKO lot the other afternoon, I watched her work and was

DIARY FOR BEAUTY

At the request of many readers, we are happy to make available a very limited number of the popular "Diary For Beauty" booklets. In it you'll find information on complexion, hair, hands, exercise, diet, a plan for staying young, etc. The booklet is illustrated and autographed by Jean Simmons, Ava Gardner, Irene Dunne, Donna Reed and other stars. more than ever impressed with her talent and ability. Later in her office, I asked if she found it difficult to invade a man's field.

"No, so long as you pay them the compliment of remaining feminine," Ida answered. "I dress just as carefully when I am directing a picture as if I am starring in it. The crew and the camera men appreciate this. So often when a woman goes into business and holds a responsible position she sacrifices her femininity to her efficiency."

"No one knows better than I the importance of appearance," Ida continued. "I nearly wrecked my career because of it."

I asked her to tell me about it. "When Paramount brought me to Hollywood the top glamour girls were Dietrich and Colbert. Both of them were at my studio at that time and I decided that I would be most impressive if I copied these stars. One week I would look like Dietrich by penciling my eyebrows way up on my forehead and the next I would copy Colbert, dye my hair black and cut bangs. Oh! I was all over the place doing things with make-up."

"One day I was working on a picture with Hedda Hopper—this was long before she wrote a column—and she took me aside and said, 'I've been watching you. I think you have lots of talent but you are the worst example of a girl who is ruining her career by trying to be something she isn't. I'd love to see you scrub all that stuff off your face, wash the dye out of your hair and show what YOU are like. If you don't,' she warned, 'you won't make it.'"

"I was crushed. I had not learned how important it is to accept constructive criticism so I paid no attention to her. Three months later her prediction came true. Paramount dropped me and no other studio would touch me. For eighteen months I didn't do a thing. I couldn't even get a test."

"In desperation I followed Hedda's advice," Ida continued. "I stopped doing ridiculous things with myself and concentrated on developing my talent. I got work on radio and through this I met a producer who seemed impressed with me. I remember he said, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so different.' And he offered me a test which led to a contract at Columbia."

"Know all about yourself," Ida advised. "And don't try to be one thing on the outside and another on the inside."

"When you are casting a picture, how much are you influenced by appearance?" I asked.

"I look more for potentialities because I know how superficial appearance can be," Ida answered. "But I believe I am the exception which proves this rule."

"But a quality which is indispensable for success in any venture is enthusiasm," Ida said with characteristic intensity. "Enthusiasm is equally necessary whether it's for the recipe you're found in a cook book or for a new story you've just bought."

"I've studied this in people and have come to the conclusion that enthusiasm is always accompanied by a sense of humor, proportion and sensitivity. The reserve is equally true. I have never found an insensitive person who was enthusiastic."

As Ida crossed her attractive office in search of a match I remarked how impressed I was with her figure on and off screen. "Did you have any trouble getting back into shape after the baby?" I asked.

"The only thing that worried me was that I might not have a flat tummy so I was very good about doing all the exercises the doctor gave me. But," Ida added, "I loathe that type of exercise."

"You're lucky not to have a weight problem," I commented. "I did once, a long time ago," Ida confessed. "Paramount gave me an ultimatum to lose fifteen pounds or else. I went on a rigid diet of bananas and skim milk. It was the fad at that time and I lost weight but I became very ill with anemia and almost lost my health. Ever since I've been dead set against fad diets. It's stupid to try to lose in a hurry what you've taken a long time to put on."

"Today I don't have a weight problem but I do have an energy problem," she added. "When you are as active as I am you have to make everything you eat count. And I've felt so much better since I've been eating for energy."

Flapper Slouch

This is the way women stood back in the 1920's, as the petite Jeanne sees it — and the shapeless flapper clothes were the sad result.

The Bustle

The sensational young French dancer, Jeanne, star of the Broadway hit, "The Girl in Pink Tights," illustrates the posture of the bustle era.

Current Fashions Reflect The Dance

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women Editor

What causes a new fashion? I put this question to Adele Simpson, diminutive New York designer who has set many high style trends, and got this reply: "Every new fashion silhouette is the result of a new posture. Women start standing a different way, and all of a sudden it is apparent that their clothes must have a different shape and line. "Back in the 1890s, women bent slightly forward at the waist and stuck out their derrieres. The fashion result was the bustle. "Later came the flapper era, when women threw off all restraints, including corsets, and walked in what they believed was a fashionable slouch. The fashion silhouette followed the new posture, and we had the shapeless, casual, sack-like styles of the 1920s. "This year women are standing straight as arrows, sticking out neither in front nor in back and today's silhouette is the streamlined sheath. "I was poking around the designer's workrooms, high over New York's bustling garment center, and was examining the dressmaker's dummies on which each season's new styles are fitted. I inquired: "Do you change the shapes of these dummies each season?" "They are changed with each new collection," replied Mrs. Simpson, "even though they are all made to the measurements of the same girls who model my clothes year after year. "There is always a slight change in the posture of fashionable women from one season to the other.

So we add or subtract padding to the dressmaker's forms until the shape of the new silhouette emerges and seems right. And last season when it's right, and last season's forms always look wrong." All this seemed to make sense, but I still didn't know why women should change their posture each season. Was it something they planned, or did they do it unconsciously? "Oh, it's entirely unconscious," replied Adele. "It's all the result of a subtle change in attitude, in the tempo of their lives, in their perspective. "I believe that the greatest current influence on posture, and accordingly, on fashion, is the dance. A new dancer becomes famous in a new hit show. Thousands of people go to see and applaud her. After they leave the theater the women unconsciously try to imitate her—to walk and stand and sit the way she does. They probably aren't even aware they are doing this. But they have absorbed something of the attitude of the dancer, and subtly their own posture changes. "Pretty soon you notice many women walking and standing in a different manner — maybe only slightly different, but enough to cause adjustments in the shape of the next season's fashion silhouette." So that's how fashions are born.

Four Delegates Return From Beta Sigma Phi Convention

Mrs. Frances Doll, Mrs. Zollie Mae Rawlins, Mrs. Jewel Reinhart and Barbara Giles have returned from the state convention of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held recently in Houston. Among the honored guests who were present at the convention were Walter W. Ross, founder of Beta Sigma Phi, and Mrs. Ross, and the following international honorary members of the sorority from Texas: Amelia Anthony, founder of Gristown, USA; Dr. Nina Faye Calhoun, Carrollton; Dr. Eric M. Darnall, Dallas; Dean Pauline Beery Mack, Denton; Nadine and Sallie Woods, Liberty; and Mrs. Clara R. Nelson, Marathon. Miss Nadine and Sallie Woods are the founders of the National Muscular Dystrophy Association, which is one of the state projects of the sorority for the coming year. A report was made on the contributions to Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation which was the state project for 1953. Total contributed was $9,246.62, of which $287.50 was from Big Spring. The chapters of Big Spring expressed their appreciation to the local citizens who donated to the various drives to raise money for this crippled children's home. The convention membership voted to sponsor the following projects for the coming year: St. Paul's Industrial School in Malakoff, Texas, a home and school for Negro children from broken homes; the National Muscular Dystrophy Association, which sponsors research on the little known muscular disease; and Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation. The Gristown Choir from Whiteface, Texas, appeared on the Memorial Program. The sorority has "adopted" Gristown and contributes monthly to its upkeep. The convention was told that the first high school graduates from the home were among the seniors in Whiteface High School this year, and these two girls have elected to continue their education in Nurses School this fall. These two girls had been juvenile delinquents before being admitted to the home, and the training they have received there and education they will receive is preparing them to take their place in society. The convention voted to hold its next convention in Dallas.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Children's Curiosity Can Lead To Tragedy

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Chief Children's Bureau

It is the nature of growing children to trespass.

Their curiosity about the world around them knows no property limits and is a wonderful thing. But their safety, in their explorations, is a serious concern, of course.

The matter has been brought to public attention just last month through the hearings of a Senate subcommittee which, investigating into the reason why so many youngsters at play shut themselves in abandoned ice boxes to the point of suffocation, attempted to find a solution. There was much give and take on the subject of whether refrigerator manufacturers could devise locks that could be opened from the inside.

So far, industry has not been able to come up with that kind of protection against suffocation by playful, curious children.

The Refrigeration Trade Association of America is helping with this problem, however, by working with local groups in drawing up codes covering the disposal or care of unused iceboxes. Too, it urges its 8,000 members to include as part of their normal service in installing any refrigerator, an offer to remove doors from replaced units.

And in New York City just last week all city patrolmen were ordered to be on the lookout for discarded iceboxes and "similar containers" with instructions to render the appliances harmless by removing the doors, latches or hinges.

The order is the result of an amended state law which will become effective July 1 and which will make any person who discards a household appliance of this type, without rendering it harmless, subject to a $25 fine for the first offense, $100 for the second.

The situation focuses on an all-time parental concern: how to keep children safe from these hazardous things which are so attractive to them. There are other such attractions, besides iceboxes, that are fascinating places for children to play: gravel pits, excavations, dump areas, crumbling foundations and wells, sewer openings. Some danger attractive to play-minded youngsters may exist right in your neighborhood.

Of course, as one judge has phrased it: "adults should exact a certain degree of foresight and care...as regards children's safety."

In other words, the responsibility for a child's safety essentially rests with his parent and the community. If in your neighborhood, there are "attractive nuisances" that endanger the children of the neighborhood, the laws of most municipalities offer some protection.

For instance, in Detroit, a telephone call to the Mayor's office is enough to get the proper city machinery in motion to see that the reported menace is removed or safeguarded and to rescue any child in trouble. And he has invited such calls.

And, of course, parents should seek, as it is possible, to supply safe channels for that wonderful embark on unsanctioned excursions into the unknown and the unsafe.

Don't Let Arm Hair Get Out Of Hand

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Editor

Fastidious ladies who debate the relative merits of various leg hair removal methods sometimes forget their arms. It isn't that they mean to neglect them, it's just that they don't think of it.

Arm hair may be removed in exactly the same fashion employed on legs. Or it may be lightened satisfactorily if the growth is not too heavy.

New products for this purpose are easier on the skin. One non-ammonia hair lightener contains lanolin offering an extra-mild application for the arms. It stirs into a creamy white foam that stays put without messy dripping and lightens hair quickly.

This method might prove particularly fascinating to the girl who dislikes fussing with depilatories since it is also effective in lightening leg hair, particularly if the growth is not too heavy. Otherwise the usual choice may be made of razor, wax removers, creamy depilatories, pumice and other abrasives.

It is a good idea to start the hair lightening program before the skin comes in too-frequent contact with the sun. Sunburn is likely to delay the project, putting you in the position of tolerating the noticeable fuzzy growth for a long time.

Turkish Leader Averts Cut In U. S. Arms Aid For Next Year

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has assured Prime Minister Adnan Menderes of Turkey that military assistance for his nation in the next 12 months will total around 200 million dollars and that arms deliveries will be speeded up.

Menderes thus left Washington today with what appeared to be a considerable personal triumph to his credit. He had averted a heavy cut in U. S. military aid funds for Turkey, had gotten a promise that the funds in fact would total a little bit more in the next fiscal year than in the present one, and had obtained the speed-up agreement.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles told Menderes that they consider his nation a key ally in the world Communist conflict. They assured him of continued economic assistance, though at a somewhat lower level in the next fiscal year, and went about as far as they could to promise both military and economic help to meet essential Turkish requirements over the next several years.

One thing that apparently caused the administration to abandon plans to cut Turkish military aid program in the year beginning July 1 by possibly 50 per cent—down to 100 million dollars or less—is the fact that Menderes is working on a four-year armament program. He appealed for assistance in meeting this program.

communicate disclosed, in very general terms, the nature of the agreement. It failed to give the hard facts and figures which were a major concern of the Turkish leader in his four-day round of conferences here.

New Texas Bar Chief Is Named

AUSTIN, June 5 (AP)—Texas' 11,700 lawyers have named Rupert N. Gresham, San Antonio attorney, president of the State Bar.

Maurice R. Bullock, Fort Stockton, was elected vice president. They will begin one year terms at the close of the 1954 State Bar convention at San Antonio July 3.

Bar President Everett L. Looney, Austin, announced results of the mail ballot here today.

Also elected were six new directors. One director, Leo Brewster, Fort Worth, who was serving an appointive term, was elected for a full term.

New directors are: Isaac O. Newton, Seymour; Cecil D. Redford, Corpus Christi; Myrlyn O. Johnson, Harlingen; Arthur M. Teed, Pampa; Fred Parks, Houston, and Frank Stubbeman, Midland.

A native of Luling, Gresham was admitted to the bar in 1916. He has practiced law in San Antonio since that time. He is an active member of the American Bar Assn., presently serving on the committees on taxation and on limitation of the power to tax. Law is his specialty.

hower and Dulles decided to exempt Turkey from the general downward trend of foreign aid. One reason is that Turkey is considered one of the toughest and most dependable allies the United States has. Its position in the Middle East on the southern flank of the Soviet Union is of enormous strategic importance.

Furthermore, diplomatically and militarily, Turkey is developing a vital role as a link between the Eastern and Western sections of the free world's anti-Communist front. It is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Together with Greece it has special ties with Yugoslavia which is anti-Soviet but not in the NATO alliance. Turkey also is working out special ties with Pakistan far to the east and American officials hope that these will provide the basis of an effective anti-Communist front in the unstable Middle East.

The modern bride is making her trousseau lingerie of dacron lace, now available in the lovely traditional patterns of the old world but measuring up to today's demands of washability and hard wear.

A petticoat of dacron lace edged in nylon (net) ruffling is easy to make by directions worked out by local sewing center experts.

Dacron lace is available in 36-inch width. To calculate yardage needed, measure once and a half around the hem of the crinolene that will be worn underneath. Add one inch for seam allowance and five inches for a waistband.

Cut off a five-inch strip for waistband and two strips 8x3 inches for placket facing. Sew up side seam of petticoat, leaving seven inches at top for placket. Bind this before gathering top of skirt. To make waistband, fold five-inch lace strip lengthwise, stitch ends and turn right side out.

Gather top of skirt to fit waist measurement. With right sides together and skirt front attached to belt front, stitch belt and skirt together, hand-stitching inside of belt section to fabric. Sew hooks and eyes on belt and placket.

Finally, trim bottom of petticoat to desired length, if necessary, and stitch on ruffled nylon edging. Dacron thread is recommended.

HI--TALK

By PEGGY HOGAN

BENNY COMPTON

PAT TIDWELL

The first thing I want to do is say thanks to Libby Jones for being such an efficient and capable reporter of Hi Talk for the past year. Libby never failed to cover every school activity or social affair that occurred, and she kept all of us right up to date on the hottest news. I feel sure I'm speaking for all the students of Big Spring High when I say, "Thanks, Libby, we think you did a mighty good job."

Now for the "goings on" concerning our first week of that long awaited vacation. It really seems the summer has been properly initiated by a whirl of activities from the young people.

On Monday the DeMolay and Rainbow groups held a joint installation and dance at the Junior College gymnasium. Carrying out the theme, "Stairway to the Stars," two six-foot glittering stars reigned from each end of the gym as Pat Tidwell was installed worthy advisor and Benny Compton as master councillor. Crepe paper and stars composed a false ceiling and a ladder was extended to one of the main stars as a final touch to the decorations. Some of the starry-eyed kids seen at the "heavenly" dance as Joe Williamson and his orchestra made music were: Ronald Farquhar, Toni Barron; Pvt. Buddy Cosby, Pat Tidwell; Jim Farmer, Anne Gray; Ray Dabney, Darlene Agee; Bobby McCartney, Nancy King; Jerry (Beak) Graves and Sue Boykin.

Our student body president, Glenn Rogers, has really started things to clicking as he has already held a council meeting. The newly elected officers and class representatives met for a backyard supper at Glenn's home, Tuesday night. Big plans for the coming school year were discussed, committees appointed, etc. Also, delegates to the Student Council Workshop of Texas were elected. The workshop is to be held at Texas University in Austin during August. Those attending are: Nina Hedleston, Bette Anderson, Peggy Hogan, Glenn Rogers, and Mrs. Ratliff. Ten members, Mrs. Ratliff and Coach Baird attended the meeting.

The halls of B. S. H. S. echoed with laughter, chatter (and just plain noise) as the two Senior High FHA clubs held a slumber party and club meeting combined, Tuesday night. The program of the joint session was about picnic safety. Janice McDaniel reported on safety prevention of insect bites, Mary Beth Stratton reported on sun burns, and Agatha Cagle on poison ivy. Games, mysteries, talking, and eating ruled over the group till the wee hours of the morning when the party broke up at 6:00. Some of those attending the slumberless affair were: Barbara Elmore, Mona Hooper, Beverly Mills, Wilma Bradford, Mojie Henson, Mary Helen Lee, Janice Loper, Norma Reed, Sue Ann Everett, Lovetta Hinson, Bobbie Stallcup, and sponsors, Nancy Amen and Edna McGregor.

The news that was on everybody's lips for so long is still being talked about—the Louis Armstrong dance. Yes, he was just as wonderful as everyone seemed to expect. A few teen-agers enjoying the well-known voice and music of Louis Armstrong, Wednesday night were: Ann Rowe, Jim Allen; Anna Mae Thorn, Roger Brown; Carolyn Whitefield, Wayne Tollett; Judy Douglass, Frosty Robison;

Libby Jones, LaMar Bailey; Janice Nalley and Lefty Reynolds.

This week we have a group of industrious girls reliving their young Girl Scout days by helping instruct and teach in the Girl Scout Day Camp. The camp site is Buffalo Trail and sessions are held five days a week from 3:00 to 8:00. The girls devoting their energy and efforts to scouting are: Clara Freeman, Nancy Smith, Nan Farquhar, Anne Gray, Mojie Henson, and Agatha Cagle.

As summer flashes before us, many kids are going to camps, on vacations and trips, and some are even starting college with summer school.

The Colorado City Lake proved a popular place for a Big Spring gang last Sunday. Jo Ann Gordon, Larry Shortes; Barbara Elmore, James Norwood; Shirley Thomas; and Leon Pettitt were seen boating over there. Also, Marliou Stagg and Donnie Miller (of Colorado City) were seen making the Colorado City "dred" last Sunday. Saturday, Freddie Blalack, Dickie Milam, and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Milam were off to that wild country up Wyoming way. The fellas plan to work all summer near Worland, Wyoming, and return to Big Spring in August.

Betty and Billy Earley returned Saturday from attending a young people's conference at Lake Brownwood where they represented the First Christian Church.

Sharon and Kathy McRee are visiting at the Buffalo Trail Council Boy Scout Camp at Tappahvale, Texas, for three days. Carolyn and Mariella Lauderdale are visiting ye old home town of Levelland for a week. They will return next Friday.

Leaving Monday for Texas A&M will be Barbara Lewter. She plans to attend the 4-H Round-up there for five days.

This weekend Mary Ella Bigony and Nina Fryar begin to further their educations by starting summer school. Mary Ella will attend McMurry and Nina will enroll at Tech.

Four boys just discovered they have sea water in their blood and a yearning for that fishy, salty smell of the ocean blue. Doss Brookshire, Ace Boyter, Sonny Wimberly, and Curtis Barnfield are setting their aims toward San Diego, California, and the Navy sometime during June. Four years accompany their contracts, so, good luck, boys!

Hide Done-Up Hair With Fake Bangs

Many a bridegroom, so they say, has been frightened by the first sight of his bride in curlers. And many a bride has worried about how to maintain the glamor of the honeymoon and still keep her hair curled.

Edith Tapley of Trenton, N. J.,

Cook Glamorously With Rotisserie

One of the most glamorous of all methods of cooking is the handsome table broiler of chrome and glass that occupies the place of importance in so many homes today.

This modern table broiler is a versatile and wonderful cooking appliance. It is portable and can be placed on a buffet table or in the kitchen. It is a timesaver and broiled foods cooked by infrared rays are both healthful and flavorful.

It can be used for broiling steaks; for roasting fowl or roasts on a spit; for hot snacks and sandwiches...even for Sunday morning bacon and eggs.

Plump young chickens, the broiler-fryer type weighing 3½ lbs., are the best to use in a rotisserie. Turkeys should weigh 6 to 7 lbs. and ducklings 5 to 6 lbs. are fine for broiling.

Frank Roll Ups

Cut franks lengthwise but not through. Spread all with prepared mustard or chili sauce and stuff with thin sticks of tangy cheese, canned pineapple, or grated sharp cheese with grated onion. Wrap each frank spiral-fashion with a bacon strip and secure at both ends with toothpicks. Grill or broil, turning till bacon is crisp and franks are hot. Serve in warm frankfurter buns.

If you prefer to serve franks in toast instead of buns, place frank diagonally across bread slice with crust cut off; spread with prepared mustard, roll up, fasten, brush with melted butter or margarine and toast at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

Paint Names

If your child's playthings have a habit of getting lost, paint the youngster's name on the tricycle or wagon and then cover it with two coats of thinned shellac.

Pakistan Embassy Wedding Brightens Capital Scene

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Three days of elaborate prenuptial preparation—and a trousseau that would stagger an American bride—highlighted the wedding at the Pakistan Embassy of pretty Dr. Nafis Shoib, daughter of the executive director of the World Bank.

The bridegroom, who did not see his bride until after the ceremony, which was performed according to Muslim (that's the way it's spelled in Pakistan) tradition, was handsome Capt. Azhar H. Sadik of the Pakistan army, who arrived in this country for the first time the day before. A fine sportsman, named best all-around athlete during his college days, he was formerly aide de camp to Pakistan's governor general.

The bride, who is exquisite, with large dark eyes and graceful manner, plans to practice medicine in Pakistan after a typically American honeymoon to Niagara Falls and New York. She was attached to the City Hospital at Baltimore during the past year. She has a beautiful singing voice, likes riding and tennis and has won more than 70 cups and medals for her skill at badminton and table tennis.

The colorful ceremonies saw the use of the traditional Ubatna and Mendhi. The first is a preparation of scented herbs said to be very good for the complexion. The second is a loaf of paste used for coloring the nails. Herbs, scents, oils and paste are all taken to the bride on silver trays and in silver containers after the bridegroom's mother, or proxy, takes her a set of saron-colored robes.

A ceremony is performed by the bride's maids—a mud-pack bath, the anointing with scents and oils and the coloring of the nails.

Then there was the trousseau preview! Such an array!—101 saris, of many beautiful colors, of finest silks, hand-embroidered in gold and beaded in exquisite patterns; several gharraras or skirts; brocade in gold and silver, 21 pairs matching bags; slippers from Pakistan, gold embroidered, a chest of silver, trunks of linen and lingerie besides many other queenly treasures. The bride's eyes sparkled as she surveyed the array. "Enough to last for years," she sighed.

The wedding costume, traditionally the gift of the bridegroom's family, was a soft vermilion, the skirt richly trimmed with hundreds of loops of gold beads and the tunic of matching silk, also embroidered in gold. The bridegroom also produced a beautiful gold-embroidered veil of the finest silk, jeweled slippers and matching bag. Another of the gifts was a delicate little hand-wrought silver bottle containing mascara for the eyelashes.

Paint For Wicker

A spray gun can be an aid in recasting wicker furniture. If you use a brush, see that the enamel does not collect at the intersections. To preserve the wicker's natural color, use a clear varnish.

Ceil Chapman Turns From Formals To Day Dresses

Ceil Chapman, whose ball gowns and party dresses have been worn by the country's most beautiful belles, has begun a new chapter in her fashion story. She is now designing dresses that appear in the daylight, but she continues to grace them with all her knowledgeable knack of making a woman as feminine and attractive as possible. This dress is a perfect town or country model, as ideal for luncheon as it is for a little dinner.

Your choice of fabric will cast the deciding vote. Mrs. Chapman thinks of it in crepe, shantung, pique, linen or cotton with trimming of braid or a contrasting material. And lest you think she has over-simplified her designing, under that collar there lies some very artful darting, to shape a bosom in the manner La Chapman has made famous.

This pattern is cut in Designer sizes.
Size 10, bust 34, waist 24, hips 35; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36; size 14, bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41.
Size 12 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material for dress and ¼ yard of 36-inch material for contrast.

To order Pattern 1186, address American Designer's Patterns, P. O. Box 535, Dept. B-5, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Add 4 cents for handling, if paid by check or money order. Airmail handling 25 cents extra.

Here's How To Use Chafing Dish

To use a chafing dish properly, you must know the different parts of it. There is a stand, which holds the alcohol or sterno burner; the blazer pan, which is actually the saucepan; the water pan, which is the pan without a handle; and a lid.

This is the ordinary chafing-dish equipment that you'll buy when you simply say "I want a chafing dish."

There are other chafing dishes that have only one single cooking pan over the burner and there is the warming dish over an alcohol burner which is not used for cooking but merely for keeping food hot during buffet serving.

There is also a petite marmite, which means crock for soup and this sets over a burner, too. The luxury member of the table-cooking family is the crepes suzette pan, a flat griddle that must have its own burner because the pan must be very close to the flame for the crepes suzettes to cook quickly and properly.

Oven Stain Remedy

Baked-on stains in the oven will soften and be easy to remove if a shallow dish of ammonia is left in the closed oven over-night.

When you've finished broiling, be sure to wipe out the inside of the broiling compartment of your range to remove any splatterings of fat.

Is Foster Mother To 500 Babies

TORONTO — Toronto's top foster mother, Mrs. Frank Mitchell, has cared for 500 babies in the past 13 years. She and her husband with part-time assistance of her married daughter Lois, look after as many as five babies at a time for the Children's Aid Society.

Most of the babies that come to her are foundlings, or illegitimate wards of the society. Sooner or later—usually after about three months—the baby is ready for a new home with a family that has been on the waiting list.

Mrs. Mitchell's own daughter was 7 when she and her husband decided to adopt a boy. Inquiry showed they might have to wait as long as two years, but the Children's Aid Society asked them if they would consider looking after a baby on a temporary basis.

The first infant arrived amid rejoicing, but was adopted a month later by a couple who had priority on the list. To lighten the gloom, the Mitchells took another baby, and they have been taking them ever since.

The Mitchells have moved to a larger house to accommodate them all. They have six baby carriages, and as many cribs and cupboards of baby clothes.

Fuse Blows, Lights Safely

An electric fuse that lights up when it blows out and stays lighted until you turn the face of it one notch to a new contact is now on the market. It is a repeater fuse with six positions for new contacts—sort of combining the functions of a circuit breaker and ordinary fuse with the signal light added for good measure.

Michael L. Kaplan, head of the manufacturing company producing it, tells us that the big advantage of the little neon indicator in this fuse is to avoid shock when fumbling around in the dark to find which fuse to replace. The retail price is around 80 cents.

English Muffins

Spread butter on toasted muffin halves. Drizzle honey over muffins and sprinkle with chopped walnuts or almonds. Run them under broiler to heat through and serve warm.

Mrs. R. L. Heith

As a member of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Mrs. R. L. Heith has the opportunity to attend many social functions during the year, and what could be more appropriate to go dancing in than this lovely chateauise taffeta topped with white net. The shirred bodice is set off with a dainty white ruffle extending around the top of the dress, and the waist is neatly nipped in with a chateauise taffeta sash. For her accessories, Mrs. Keith chooses a rhinestone choker and matching ear screws. With this ballerina length dress, chateauise pumps add the finishing touch.

Hot Tips For Cool Cooking

Want some pretty little cookies to serve with a cool milk drink on a sunny afternoon? Sandwich vanilla wafers together with currant jelly; top with confectioners' sugar frosting and a sprinkling of finely chopped pistachio nuts.

Here's a delicious and nutritious luncheon dish. Cook converted-type rice according to package directions; serve with a cheese sauce and crisp curls of bacon. Accompany this main course with a crunchy vegetable salad. For dessert you might have a compote of fresh strawberries and pineapple.

Try a different sauce with fish fillets. Add a couple of tablespoons each of catchup and chopped dill pickle to white sauce. Use 1 1/4 tablespoons of butter or margarine and the same amount of flour to a cup of milk, for the sauce, and season with salt and pepper.

Here's how to dress up a salad for that cold-cuts supper when you are having company. Use a medium-size head of cabbage and carefully spread out the outer leaves; cut out the center and mix it with grated carrot and salad dressing with your slaw. Pile the slaw back into the cabbage "bowl" and sprinkle with minced parsley.

Scrape and slice a bunch of carrots; cook just until tender in boiling salted water, then drain. Reheat the carrots with a tablespoon of butter or margarine and a couple of tablespoons of mint jelly. Serve these minted carrots with roast leg of lamb.

Serve antipasto as a first course when you are having spaghetti and meat balls and you can omit salad. Include celery, anchovies, canned pimientos, green pepper and sardines in your antipasto. Arrange the vegetables and fish on individual plates. Another good addition is Italian salami, sliced very thin.

Ever serve eggs a la king for Sunday night supper? To make the sauce add mustard, Worcestershire, sliced canned mushrooms, canned pimientos and green pepper strips to white sauce. Pour the hot sauce over quartered hard-cooked eggs and sprinkle with paprika.

Combs Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Combs are the parents of a son, Christopher Eugene, born at 2 p.m. Friday in the Cowper Clinic weighing 7 pounds 2 ounces.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Combs of San Diego, California. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mead are the maternal grandparents. The baby was born on the birthday of his mother the former Neil Mead.

Miss Garrison, Mr. Cockrell Wed In Informal Ceremony

Daury Bea Garrison became the bride of Jerry Cockrell at an informal double ring ceremony Friday afternoon.

Nixon New Pastor At Forsan Church

FORSAN — The new pastor at the Forsan Methodist Church will be the Rev. R. C. Nixon and wife, Wanda, from Paducah. The Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Bowman has been transferred to the Westbrook Methodist Church.

Tony Starr is visiting relatives in Wichita Falls. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Starr and Sharon were Mr. and Mrs. John Koon and daughter of Notrees and Mrs. Dixie Davill and Gloria of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boothe and Lana were in Doolee recently. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dempsey and Travis left Friday for Louisiana. After a two weeks' vacation with his parents, Travis will journey on to Camp Trial in North Carolina for six weeks.

Leaving Monday for a trip through the southwestern states and California are Mrs. W. O. Averett and Sue, Mrs. Earl Breedlove and Jan of San Angelo, Mrs. Bob Averett and John Earl of Terminal, and Mrs. L. F. Harding of Dallas. The ladies, who are all sisters, plan to be gone for two weeks.

The bride wore a white linen suit with white lace shoes and a pink corsage. For something old, she wore a gold bracelet belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Hart. Her suit was new, she had on borrowed pearls and a blue garter. She also had a penny in her shoe for luck.

Neida Garrison, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The best man was G. W. Rogers, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Following the ceremony, a reception was held. Cake and punch was served from a table covered with a lace cloth. Neida Garrison and Sonja Swindle presided at the table.

The Desk and Derrick Club will not meet Monday as the meeting has been postponed until June 14. The meeting place will be announced at a later date. New officers will be installed at the meeting.

Northern Cities Report Mixed Schools Present Few Worries

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—What can more than eight million white and 1 1/2 million Negro children and their teachers expect when the Supreme Court issues its decision ending segregation in the public schools?

The experience of other millions of pupils in nonsegregated school systems may shed some light on what's ahead. A survey by The Associated Press of some of these areas shows:

The complexion of the schools reflects the pattern of housing, depending on the districts they serve, the schools range from mixed, to almost all white or almost all Negro.

Negro teachers have been employed successfully to teach white pupils.

Children are not bothered by color.

A carefully prepared educational program helps reduce friction.

"Children intermingle freely . . . We have very few racial problems," says Dr. Claude B. Courrier, superintendent of schools in Cincinnati.

"There is a racial problem, but we are meeting it the best we can with a human relations program," says Supt. Arthur Dondineau of the Detroit schools.

"We keep no record on the basis of race or religion," says Dr. Herbert Clish, San Francisco's superintendent of schools.

"No incidents in nine years," reports Asst. Supt. Joseph C. Neethen of the time he has spent in a section of New York with a heavy concentration of minority groups.

New York school authorities—like those in Chicago, San Francisco and other places—say they keep no count of the number of white and Negro pupils among their students.

Elementary schools, says a New York Board of Education spokesman, are districted according to density of population, not character. Some of the 800 school buildings have few Negroes, and some have few whites. Others are changing with the changing character of their neighborhoods.

The Board of Education cannot say how many of New York's 37,000 teachers are Negro. Teachers generally are named from a list of applicants rated according to a competitive examination.

However, a special effort is made in New York to orient the curriculum to the needs of the major community group.

Clish was asked how San Francisco overcame the race problem.

"Our elementary schools are districted on a neighborhood basis," he said. "A youngster must go to the elementary school in his neighborhood, unless the parent receives special permission."

Clish said there had been "one or two" requests for transfer because of race. They were denied.

"One year," he added, "A Chi-ness boy was elected student body president and another year a Negro was elected in a predominantly white school."

Chicago schools have no policy of segregating pupils. Factors which help make a school district include distance children have to walk and the number of arterial highways they have to cross.

"We count them simply as American children," says Thaddeus J. Lubera, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools in Chicago. He says there is "no friction," although high spirits sometimes flare at games.

In Chicago as in other big cities, high schools cover greater areas than do elementary schools and sometimes offer specialized subjects.

Transfers from one school to another are permitted, although not allowed in the lower grades.

In Chicago, Lubera said, high school students sometimes shift to schools where a racial or religious group is dominant. He said the transfer requests usually are pegged to curriculum as a pretext.

Cincinnati has 79 public schools with an enrollment of 53,945 white, 15,774 Negro children. A dozen schools are predominantly Negro, nine are evenly divided.

Detroit's 19 public schools, 230 elementary schools and 18 junior high schools also range from all white to mixed to all Negro. In the schools there are 263,565 children, 17 per cent of them Negro.

"We've grown up with a non-segregated system and it works," said Supt. Dondineau.

In the nation's capital, where the public schools have been segregated, Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle began desegregation among the Catholic parochial schools in 1948.

"The pattern of acceptance is unblemished by any untoward incident," reports the Catholic Standard, publication of the archdiocese of Washington.

A flareup had been predicted but did not materialize, the newspaper said. The paper did not say that some white parents withdrew their children from the church schools.

Reports of successful integration of minority-group pupils in curricular and extracurricular life come from other places, like St. Louis' Catholic schools.

There Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter erased the color line in 1947, although Missouri law requires segregation in public schools.

When some parishioners threatened court action, the archbishop cautioned them that such a course would lead to excommunication, and the action was dropped.

Reports the Rev. James T. Curtin, superintendent of the St. Louis archdiocese high schools:

"Relations between Negro and white pupils have been all that we could possibly hope for. We feel they are getting to the point of accepting each other without question."

Archbishop Ritter said an important factor in the process of integration has been the community's letting down its racial barriers in recent years.

A pastoral letter was read in the sprawling archdiocese of San Antonio, Tex., last April 5.

"Henceforth," declared Archbishop Robert E. Lucey, "no Catholic child may be refused admission to any school maintained by the archdiocese for reason of color, race or poverty."

The Rt. Rev. Mgr. John L. Morkovsky, superintendent of schools, said the order might give a few heretofore reluctant Negroes the moral courage to apply for enrollment.

Looking Ahead

Joel McCrea and Yvonne DeCarlo are shown in a scene from "Border River," which shows today and Monday at the Terrace Drive-In. McCrea is telling about his great plans for the future. The Universal-International film is in Technicolor.

No Snack Today

It looks as if Figaro the kitten would like to make a meal out of Cleo the goldfish. They are just two of the cartoon characters from "Pinocchio," Walt Disney Technicolor film which is to show today through Tuesday at the State Theatre. It tells all about a puppet who got his wish and became a real, live boy and then got into a mess of trouble that he likely never would have gotten out of if it hadn't been for his old friend Jiminy Cricket. Among the numbers especially written for this film was "When You Wish Upon a Star."

Walt Disney's 'Pinocchio' Current State Film Feature

"Pinocchio," Walt Disney's famed full-length cartoon feature on the adventures of a puppet that wished for life and had his wish granted, shows today through Tuesday at the State Theatre. The film classic, which is in Technicolor, returns in time to delight a new generation. The tale is told by Jiminy Cricket, who was appointed Pinocchio's conscience by the good fairy who gave Pinocchio life. Geppetto is the old toymaker who dances with him to amuse his pets Figaro the kitten and Cleo the Goldfish. One night the Blue Fairy gives Pinocchio (incidentally pronounced PIN-oh-kee-o) life and then adventures really begin. Geppetto sends Pinocchio off to school

Mitchum, Monroe In 'River Of No Return'

Twentieth Century-Fox had two reasons for making their latest film, "River of No Return," in CinemaScope. One was that Marilyn Monroe co-stars with Robert Mitchum and the other is that the film was made on location in the famed Jasper and Banff National Parks of the Canadian Rockies. The picture shows today through Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. Miss Monroe has the role of a dance hall girl in a gold-town of the Canadian northwest in the wild and woolly days of 1875. Rory Calhoun is her gambler boy friend, who leaves her in the lurch. Mitchum is a stalwart farmer with a 10-year-old son, Tommy Rettig, the son of his late wife. He plans to start a farm in the virgin territory. The four all come together at the time Calhoun who decides to steal Mitchum's horse in order to file a gold mine claim won in a poker game. That leaves the farmer and the dance hall girl and the farmer's son marooned in dangerous Indian country with no way out except the River of No Return, which is aptly named. The trip on a raft is indeed dangerous with Indians from time to time taking pot shots at the trio and a series of dangerous rapids to traverse. Miss Monroe is given the opportunity to warble four songs over the stereophonic sound track. Ken Darby provides the lyrics and Lionel Newman the music. The picture is in Technicolor.

Still Seized On Indiana Scouting Camp's Grounds

MARTINSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Federal and state agents seized a 60-gallon still deep in the woods of the Bradford Boy Scout Reservation Friday. Lt. Reuben Aldrich, a state excise policeman, said he and three federal revenue agents found a man cooking up a new batch of liquor when they arrived by jeep in a remote hollow of the camp. The man escaped. Aldrich said the man apparently was trespassing on the Boy Scout property, 25 miles southwest of Indianapolis. The Central Indiana Boy Scout office in Indianapolis said the camp had been opened for weekend camps, but no Scouts were on the reservation at the time of the raid. About 400 Scouts began arriving at the heavily wooded 1,400-acre camp a few hours later. More than 22,000 women 15 years old and older are killed annually in the United States because of accidents, four out of five of them in traffic accidents.

Joan Crawford Dons Levis In 'Johnny Guitar' Picture

Joan Crawford dons levis and struts for her role in "Johnny Guitar," a film showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre. She plays Vienna, the beautiful but fearless owner of a frontier saloon and gambling house. Sterling Hayden has the title role, that of a famous gunman, who decides to put away his smoking guns and turn to a peaceful way of life, strumming his guitar in Vienna's Saloon. Scott Brady has the role of the Dancin' Kid, Vienna's discarded lover. Mercedes McCambridge has the role of Emma, whose envy of Vienna, sets off a powder keg of emotions and gunplay. Ward Bond has the role of McIvers, a local rancher, whom Emma stirs with her tale of imagined doings of Vienna and who persuades the marshal to accuse Vienna of sheltering a gang of killers, including the Dancin' Kid. Also involved in the plot, based on a novel by Roy Chanda, is the railroad that is to come through the Arizona valley and which Vienna sees as making her a rich woman. The picture, a Republic production, is in Trucolor by Consolidated.

'Laughing Anne,' Tale By Conrad, Is Due At State

A famed story by Joseph Conrad, world-renowned author, comes to the screen in "Laughing Anne," which stars Wendell Corey, Margaret Lockwood, Forrest Tucker and Ronald Shiner. The film shows Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre. Anne (played by Miss Lockwood) was no saint and her famed laugh was known in every bar east of the Paris, however. Debonair Jim Suez Canal. Only a few years before she had been the toast of Farrell (played by Tucker) had been her lover and Farrell was the leading contender for the heavy-weight title held by the great John L. Sullivan. But Farrell had been "taken care of" by crooks who sought to fix the fight that made Farrell the leading contender. He can never fight again and he and Anne drift to the eastern seas. There she stows away for Singapore on the trading schooner of Davidson (Corey). During the voyage, he begs her to marry him but she loyally sticks with Farrell. Years later Davidson comes across Anne again for the climax of the story. Herbert Wilcox was producer and director for this Republic production.

'Five Fingers' Due

James Mason stars in "Five Fingers," which shows Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyric Theatre. Mason plays the spy that had all Ankara (capital of Turkey) astray in World War II. As waltz to the British ambassador, Mason manages to get hold of secret diplomatic papers which he promptly sells to the Nazis. Daniele Darrieux co-stars in the film.

THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

One of the Grub Line's most favorite girls, Paula Russell, sweetheart of the Stanton Future Farmers of America Chapter, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Russell of the Lomax Community, has been elected sweetheart of Area II of the FFA.

They're discerning boys, those Future Farmers, and congratulations in the lads on their choice!

This means that Paula will represent Area II at the State FFA convention at San Antonio, July 21-23-25.

Why shouldn't Paula be state sweetheart?

Area II of the FFA, it might be explained, covers a lot of West Texas. Roughly it is bounded on the west by New Mexico and El Paso; on the south by Old Mexico; on the east by a line running north from Del Rio through San Angelo, and on the north by a line including Brownfield and running back to the New Mexico state line again.

In that area there are 78 high schools with FFA chapters.

At the Area II convention at Lamesa, at which Miss Russell was chosen as area sweetheart, eight out of the 78 chapters were given the Gold Emblem rating, which is the highest rating any FFA chapter can attain.

Five of these eight chapters are in our area. They are Stanton, Coahoma, Garden City, Flower Grove and Lamesa.

The other three were El Paso, Marfa and Sanderson.

Congratulations to these boys and their vocational agriculture instructors, who are Elbert Steele at Stanton; Wayne White at Coahoma; Marlon Barber at Garden City; Robert Becker at Flower Grove, and Clemon Montgomery, Bill Atwood and Andrew Essary at Lamesa.

In attaining the Gold Emblem distinction the Stanton Chapter made a score of 85.15 out of a possible 100. Wherever a high chapter rating is made there is evidence that every member of the chapter has done his part. Just a few of the members aren't enough to bring this honor to the whole chapter membership.

Of course, too, a whole lot of credit must go to the parents and to the school administrative staff. On top of this it means that the chapter has received the support of its community.

The Stanton chapter is also competing in an electrification contest sponsored by the Texas Electric Service Company. Results of this contest will not be announced until the State Convention at San Antonio.

Since the Stanton boys have achieved a score of 4,382 points they have the feeling that if they don't actually win it, they'll be crowding somebody mighty close for first place.

The members of the Stanton Chapter hold meetings twice each month and they aren't letting up this summer. They're determined to make the Stanton chapter one of the top ones in the state.

On the front counter in the office of the handsome and smiling young sheriff of Martin County there is an eye-catching, gilt-horseshoed trophy, suitably engraved, of which that officer is very proud.

It was the second place trophy won in the Midland Rodeo Parade, during the week by the Martin County Sheriff's posse, members of which were among the 500 lawmen who participated.

And Dan Saunders has every right to be proud of that trophy. It was the first parade in which his posse has ever ridden, and in this one they were topped only by the Santa Rosa Palomino Club of Vernon, old-timers in the game of colorful and spectacular parade showmanship.

The Vernon boys have almost perfectly matched golden Palomino horses, and they ride four abreast carrying Confederate flags. They put on quite a show.

Third place, next behind the white-shirted Martin countians, was the Ector County Sheriff's posse in their green shirts. Other posses in the parade included those from Lynn, Reeves, Gaines and Midland counties.

For a while Saunders was worried that his posse might not be able to make much of an appearance because it was beginning to look like some of them might not get their hats and shirts in time.

But Bob Deavenport of Stanton, who was handling this matter, pushed through some rush orders and got the boys properly decorated in time.

Rural sociologists say they're worried about a situation rapidly developing in the farming areas of the United States which is resulting in a shortage of young women and a surplus of young men.

"There just aren't enough farm girls to go around," they report. In towns and cities, say the researchers, the ratio is reversed: more young unmarried women than young unmarried men.

This means, in a large measure, that more farm girls than farm boys are leaving the farms and ranches. Most of the girls who are leaving the farms explain that it is "to get a job" or that "there are no opportunities around a farm for a girl."

One girl, when questioned, explained: "If you want to marry a farmer just stay at home, and you can have your pick."

A researcher thinks he has found the answer in a survey he made in one Iowa county. He found that two-thirds of the boys who had completed school and who were staying at home to work on the farm were receiving a regular wage. On the other hand he couldn't find a single girl, staying at home after finishing school, who was being paid a definite wage or share of the farm income.

He believes that if daughters are made partners in the farming operations, like the sons, that the problem will be solved.

Something that happened just a few weeks ago is quite characteristic of the things, over the last 15 years, that have caused New Mexico ranches to develop a very unfriendly attitude toward the Federal Government and to become suspicious of any proposal emanating from Washington.

Recently the Department of the Army announced that it would take over 670,000 acres of rangeland in Otero County in that state and just north of Hudspeeth County, Texas.

The Army Department just simply made the announcement without first talking with the 21 ranch families whose land they proposed to take; without notifying either of the senators or either of the representatives from the state, and without first asking congressional approval for the purchase and Atom-ic Energy Commission have already taken over a large part of New Mexico, forcing a large number of ranchers off land they have owned for many years.

However, when word of the Army Department's proposal leaked out, the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association joined a group of other organizations in forcing a hearing which will be held in Alamogordo by a committee of Congress before approval for the purchase of the land is given.

Ranchers in all Western States, particularly New Mexico and West Texas should be concerned about the land-seizure policies of the Army, the Air Force and the AEC, who continue to demand more and more southwestern area for their experiments and operations.

Whisky And Cash Taken By Robbers

WACO, June 5 (AP)—Robbers last night stole $1,250 worth of whisky and $170 in cash from a Perry liquor store and then took the night watchman's car.

Three men drove into a filling station next door to the liquor store at about 11:30 p.m. They tied up Sidney Martinez, manager of the station and night watchman for the liquor store; Martinez's wife, and Eddie Vaughn. The three were forced to lie down on the floor and were covered with blankets.

Martinez said he managed to free himself at about 3 a.m. today, and called Falls County Sheriff Brady Pamplin.

Air Pollution Held New Texas Worry

AUSTIN, June 5 (AP)—Air pollution problems are beginning to plague Texas along with the blessing of stepped up chemical industry, a University of Texas conference was told today.

The State Health Department must increase its industrial health activities if it is to meet plant and community problems of waste disposal and air pollution, said Dr.

C.U. Dersahl of Texas City. The job of handling such problems as waste, pollution and noise has to be done by engineers from within the plants, working with state agencies, several speakers said.

The one-day industrial hygiene conference was sponsored by the University of Texas College of Engineering.

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Harold R. Foster

Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT AND SIR GAWAIN ASCEND TO THE ROOF AND WITH THEM, HOWEVER UNWILLING, GOES BEN EL RASCH. IF THEY CAN ESCAPE WITH THEIR PRIZE HE CAN BE USED AS RANSOM FOR SIR BASIL.

THE GATE, THROUGH WHICH THEIR MASTER VANISHED SO SUDDENLY, REFUSES TO YIELD, SO THE GUARDS AND PORTERS SCALE THE WALL.

VAL AND GAWAIN SPEED ACROSS THE ROOF TO WHERE PIERRE WAITS WITH A DONKEY AND CART.

SLOWLY THE CART RUMBLES THROUGH THE CROWDED STREETS OF JERUSALEM.

SAFE IN THEIR LODGINGS AT LAST, THEY REMOVE THE GAG AND OFFER BEN EL RASCH HIS FREEDOM IF HE WILL RELEASE SIR BASIL FROM HIS DUNGEON. BUT THE SHEIK IS A HORNET, DEFIANT AND UNYIELDING....

.... "MY TRIBE WILL GATHER AND SEARCH THE CITY UNTIL THEY FIND AND AVENGE ME!"

AND, LOOKING FROM THE WINDOW, VAL NOTICES AN EVER-INCREASING NUMBER OF TALL DESERT MEN IN THE STREETS, ALL ARMED AND FURTIVELY SEARCHING.

THEN COMES A VISITOR, WITH SMILING LIPS AND CRUEL EYES, AND HE OFFERS A GREAT SUM OF MONEY FOR BEN EL RASCH!

After years of study of washing problems, Good Housekeeping, leading household magazine, says this:
"To maintain whiteness, use a heavy-duty chlorine bleach for the white cottons and linens that make up the bulk of family laundry..."

"Typical items: sheets, pillowcases, dish and bath towels, jacq cloths, men's shirts (including striped and light colors), T-shirts, shorts, aprons, gloves, handkerchiefs."

2 "I GOT SOME PUREX - NOTHING ELSE GETS CLOTHES SO WHITE... SO SAFELY!"

It's true! To get your family wash really white, sweet and sanitary, you need a heavy-duty chlorine bleach like PUREX. And you can use PUREX every washday without damaging your clothes! Simply follow label directions for perfect results.
PUREX, you see, is a different kind of chlorine bleach. It's safer for your cottons and linens because it's pure. Our exclusive Intrafil® Process removes harsh chemical impurities... gives you gentle, steady yet thorough bleaching action.

See if you don't agree: only PUREX gets clothes so white so safely!
