Summit Meet Closes With Signing of Plan

Ecuador Nixes Pact For Common Market

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI) — President Johnson and 18 other American presidents today signed a document establishing a Latin American common market.

The final session of the three-day meeting ended at 11:21 a.m. (8:21 a.m. CST) after the "Declaration of the American Presidents" had been signed by President Johnson.

The 11,000-word document reached President Otto Arosemena Gomez of Ecuador at 10:59 a.m. at the conference table.

But instead of signing it he placed on top of it a document containing his reasons for refusing to sign and started to read it.

He repeated several times that his refusal to sign should not in any way be construed as a lack of respect for his fellow presidents.

None of the other presidents spoke during the signing ceremony in the casino of the San Rafael Hotel.

The declaration pledged its signatories to a "free and democratic social order" throughout the hemisphere.

Johnson, taking leave of the conference, said it had been an "extremely valuable" one.

Andersch said his agents were contacting property owners in all sections of the city and others are signing up at the City Hall.

The contractor for the entire $750,000 paving project, High Plains Pavers of Dumas, is expected to move in its equipment Monday and first grading work probably will start in the Beryl St. area by the middle of next week.

City Manager White said that other blocks on some of the same streets released today will be released for construction work as soon as sign-ups are completed.

South Vietnam Troops Surround Three Battalions

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States sent 5,000 troops to help Marines facing four Communist divisions on the North Vietnamese border, while in the South government troops surrounded three guerrilla battalions and killed 230 of them, military spokesmen said today.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, wheeled the crack 196th Light Infantry Brigade into the northern provinces where North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces recently opened unprecedented guerrilla warfare.

Only today, before dawn, the Communists smashed at the Allied war base at Tahn Thanh, just south of the provincial capital of Quang Tri, which they assaulted Thursday in the second audacious attack in a week.

In the Mekong Delta, 85 miles southwest of Saigon, South Vietnamese troops trapped more than 1,000 guerrillas in a flatland of rice paddies lined with coconut palms that gave the Communists no place to hide.

U.S. and Vietnamese fighter-bombers streaked out of blue skies and rained bombs on the paddies. American artillery far beyond the palms unleashed barrage after barrage on the cornered Communists. Then the South Vietnamese troops attacked.

The South Vietnamese suffered only light casualties themselves, spokesmen said.

In other action, American pilots fought bad weather as well as anti-aircraft fire and flew 71 missions against North Vietnam Thursday, spokesmen said. Using bombs and rockets, they hit supply routes in North Vietnam's southern panhandle and struck at military targets east of the major port of Haiphong. In the delta, 20 miles southwest of Saigon, U.S. Army 9th Infantry Division troops killed 34 Communists in a series of helicopter assaults. South Korean troops reported killing 29 more on the coast 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

Wirtz Working To Save New Teamster Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary M. Willard Wirtz worked today to save a proposed new nationwide Teamsters Union contract from blowing apart at the seams.

Should his efforts fail, there was a distinct possibility of further lockouts and strikes by the 1,500 truckers and 500,000 union members affected by the contract.

Neither the union nor the trucking companies were commenting on the tough situation, but Wirtz cut short a planned stay at Syracuse, N.Y., Thursday night to return to Washington via Air Force jet.

The Secretary, who had spoken at Syracuse University earlier in the day, would say nothing other than that "some difficulties in clearing up the teamsters contract have come up."

The top policy boards of the union and of Trucking Employers, Inc., which represents the companies, had been expected to give quick approval to the tentative contract hammered out in bargaining sessions earlier this week. The agreement was subject also to approval of the union rank and file.

Speck Case Awaits Jury

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Richard Speck's all or nothing defense today was based on the testimony of two witnesses who said Speck was eating a hamburger at the time the state claims he was killing eight nurses.

Public Defender Gerald Getty brought his defense of the 25-year-old sometime seaman to a dramatic and sudden close Thursday without calling Speck to the stand or trying to hedge the issue by bringing up mitigating circumstances.

The defense called only 11 witnesses and spent less than two days to present its case, including an exhibit of photographs Getty said Thursday showed 12 unidentified fingerprints found in the dormitory apartment where eight young women were murdered last July 13-14.

Getty rose unexpectedly, faced Judge Herbert C. Paschen and said, "your honor, the defense rests."

Prosecutor William Martin recalled briefly a police witness and wound up his case for a second time. He said "the state rests" first time Wednesday.

Martin and Getty met today in Paschen's chambers for arguments over jury instructions. The court was scheduled to reconvene Saturday morning for final arguments with the seven men, five women jury to get the case the same day.

Getty, by refusing to plead innocent by reason of insanity or mitigating circumstances, left three jury verdicts possible — guilty with a recommendation for electrocution, guilty with no recommendation allowing Paschen to set a prison term, and not guilty.

The defense's key witnesses appeared Thursday during a court session delayed at the beginning and disrupted briefly by a threat on Speck's life.

The witnesses, Merle Farmer, a short order cook and bartender at a sailors' hangout called Kay's Pilot House, and his wife, Berdina, said they saw Speck munching a hamburger the moment Corazon Amurao, the survivor of the slaughter, swore he was in the nurses' apartment.

Commission Ok's First Units In Paving Program

Paving construction on the first 12 blocks in Pampa's initial phase of its 140-block street improvement program will get underway next week.

The city commission today approved City Manager Jim White's recommendation that would authorize the contractor to start work on the following streets:

A six-block stretch on Beryl from Finley to Tignor, one block each on Rose from Browning to Twiford, Jordan from Hazel to Sloan, Short from Starkweather to Carr, Worrell from Hamilton to Coffee, 18th from Williston to Hamilton and 21st from Williston to Hamilton.

Prior to the commission's approval today, Thomas M. Andersch, of Texas Securities, Inc., of San Antonio, is an agent for the paving project, said that in a three-week period more than 700 of the 1,400 property owners involved in the overall paving project have given up for participation in the program.

Andersch said his agents were contacting property owners in all sections of the city and others are signing up at the City Hall.

The contractor for the entire $750,000 paving project, High Plains Pavers of Dumas, is expected to move in its equipment Monday and first grading work probably will start in the Beryl St. area by the middle of next week.

City Manager White said that other blocks on some of the same streets released today will be released for construction work as soon as sign-ups are completed.

British Conservative Party Is Triumphant

LONDON (UPI) — The opposition Conservative Party today was triumphant and gleeful as a result of a nationwide disaster for Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor Party in local elections.

Lat or lost control for the first time in 33 years of the Greater London Council. It lost 140 council seats across the nation while the Conservatives picked up 150 in Thursday's voting.

The stunning defeat in local borough elections did not lessen Wilson's control in the national Parliament. But it was expected to bring demands by his followers for an easing in the economic austerity program said to have turned voters against Labor.

Even the staunchly pro-Labor trade union members were reported to have revolted in the polling booths against Wilson's freeze on wage raises.

No Election Expected Wilson does not have to call for national parliamentary elections for four years. No one expected him to make the call now for some time.

With most votes counted, the results in the races for the 100-seat Greater London Council amazed every Conservative official. The lineup has been 64 Laborites and 36 Conserva-

The final lineup today was expected to be 82 Conservatives and 18 Laborites. The Socialists had not had such a bad day in London since the depression days of national government.

Even Sir William (Big Bill) Fluke fell. He had been a member of the London "little Parliament" for 21 years and its "prime minister" for the last three. Voters threw him out of office.

Conservative Leader Edward Heath said he was particularly pleased with the results from Lancashire, one of the nation's great local government political plums. Long a Labor bastion, it fell to the Conservatives Thursday by a landslide.

Chemist Testimony in Coppolino Trial Takes Defense by Surprise

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — The chemist who took defense Attorney F. Lee Bailey completely by surprise with his method of drug-sleuthing today gave more testimony today about how he found Carmela Coppolino's body "overwhelmed by acute poisoning."

Charles Joseph Umberger, director of the Toxicological Laboratory of the New York Medical Examiner's Office, testified Thursday he found indications Dr. Carl A. Coppolino's dead wife had enough succinylcholine in her brain to cause "classical toxic reaction."

"In other words, the body is overwhelmed by this drug," he testified, adding that it was not his job to fix the cause of death — for all he knew she could have jumped out of a window or been strangled—but she also had enough brain poisoning to kill her.

He said he based his opinion entirely on his laboratory findings of an estimated 18 milligrams of succinic acid in Carmela's 1,500-gram brain. The acid is one of the two components of the drug. The other is choline. The state contends Coppolino gave her a fatal injection.

The drug breaks down into its components shortly after entering the body and was thought to be untraceable in the body before the Coppolino case. Addressing Circuit Judge Lynn N. Silvertooth late Thursday in the absence of the jury, Bailey said:

"We were taken completely by surprise by everything this man said. We thought he used the standard methods, relying on choline. Now we find out he based his opinion entirely on succinic acid."

Housing Advocates To March Again Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Open housing advocates promised to return tonight to this city's predominantly white South End where they were pelted with eggs, rocks and bottles during a two-hour march Thursday.

The Rev. Leo Lesser, a local civil rights leader, said, "we will be back and we will keep returning until Louisville passes an effective open housing ordinance."

The demonstrators marched Thursday for the fifth consecutive night. The city's Board of Aldermen voted 9-3 last Thursday night against a law banning racial discrimination in the sale of real estate. Some 150 open-housing advocates gathered at Southern Junior High School where they were greeted by an equal number of young white hecklers who set fire to a cross on the school's lawn.

The hecklers, who grew in number to 400 during the night, followed the biracial group along the march, some jeering and taunting.

The crowd of hecklers has grown in numbers at each demonstration, and Thursday's crowd was described by one policeman as "the largest, loudest and meanest this city's ever seen."

Lesser and the Rev. A. D. Williams King, leader of the open housing movement, were felled by rocks and fruit at the outset but continued the march. King, a brother of Dr. Martin Luther King, complained of an eye injury and asked to be taken to a doctor after marching four blocks.

He said he had been struck with "either a rock or a piece of fruit."

Band Wins Sweepstakes In Hereford

Judges must have considered Pampa High School band students performed well in regional University Interscholastic League band contests at Hereford yesterday, for they awarded them the top sweepstakes honor.

To rate sweepstakes, a band must win Division 1 ratings in both concert and sightreading, and must have already won a Division 1 rating in marching competition.

The band won its marching contest in UIL events in October at West Texas State University.

Pampa Junior High School and Robert E. Lee Junior High School bands will compete in both concert and sightreading UIL events Wednesday at Caprock High School in Amarillo.

'Gentle Thursday' Brings Coed Kisses

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Banished in a fountain under the University of Texas Tower, sat the sun and kissed.

Sandra Wilson, 22, of Houston, did a lot of kissing. She figured she gave out maybe 100 kisses.

"I offered a kiss to everybody I could find," she said, her brown eyes twinkling. "Because I can't think of anything more genteel."

Did anyone turn her down? "I have to admit three or four fellows did," she said. "One, who did was a state legislator."

The Texas statehouse is not far from the campus. The day, in which girls were flowers painted on their arms and legs and the boys wore bright billowy psychedelic shirts and sandals, was planned so that "if you're gentle on Thursday, it could spill over into Friday and on and on."

Police strolled about the grass to protect the SDS members but there was no trouble. The Conservative Democrats manned a booth that was surrounded with a sign that said, "Sign Up, Oppose SDS."

MILLIONS OF SPIES

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Lester Maddox, angered by criticism, said Thursday he may increase from 800 to 2 million his committee of citizens employees and lead to political dismissals.

The governor said his committee, which would report on the efficiency of state government workers, would harm no employe with a clean record.

World Trade Sets New Record

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—World trade set a new record in 1966 as it passed the $200 billion mark, according to U.N. statistics issued here Thursday.

World exports totaled $204 billion last year, a 9.6 per cent gain over the previous year and almost double in volume in a decade.

The figures were published in special section of the April issue of the U.N. monthly bulletin of statistics.

Comparative trade figures also showed:

—The so-called developed countries and the socialist bloc gained bigger shares of world trade at the expense of developing nations, whose share dropped from 24 per cent to 19 per cent in the past decade.

—In the same period, the countries increase their share from 20 to 26 per cent of the world volume, while the European Free Trade Area lost ground from 14.7 to 13.7 per cent.

—The greatest individual 10-year gain was by Japan, which doubled its share from 2.4 to 4.8 per cent. Italy followed with a rise from 2.1 to 3.9 per cent, West Germany 75 to 9.9, and France 4.6 to 5.3.

—Losers were the United States, dropping from 18.3 to 14.7 per cent of world exports, and the United Kingdom, which dropped from 8.5 per cent to lag behind Germany at 6.9 per cent.

Canada held its own at 4.7 per cent of world volume, but led the pack in absolute gains over the past year with an export increase of 17.3 per cent. Japan followed close behind with 15.7 per cent, West Germany 12.5, Italy 11.7 and the United States 10.9.

But the developed nations still hold the lion's share, up from the 66.2 per cent 10 years ago to 69.4 per cent last year.

Three Injured In Four-Car Collision

One person was admitted to Highland General Hospital this morning immediately following a four-car collision in the 1800 block of Alcock, and two others were admitted later, hospital authorities said.

James D. Bohannon, 621 Roberta, a passenger in a car driven by O'Neal Monk Jr., 33, 318 E. Denver, was taken to the hospital by ambulance immediately after the wreck.

Hospital authorities listed Bohannon in good condition this morning.

Eleanor Wese of Berger, a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Carl G. McMillen of Berger, and Mrs. McMillen, were treated at doctor's offices and later admitted to the hospital.

Other drivers involved in the 7:14 a.m. accident were Earvin Edvard Carper, 40, 413 Roberta and Robert Joseph Moore, 32, Skellytown.

Carper and Moore were both alone, according to investigating patrolman, C. L. Wallace. Other passengers in the McMillen car were Dennis Grist of Skellytown and Sharon Strader of Berger.

Passengers in the pickup driven by Monk were Bohannon, Robert Bradshaw Jr., 536 Oklahoma, and David Monk, 905 E. Denver.

According to police records, the Carper car sustained no damage; the Moore vehicle incurred damages of $250; McMillen's car received about $400 damage and the pickup, belonging to Curtis Well Service, sustained about $300 damage.

SUMMER IN WISCONSIN

Lefors University Student Selected for Mission Work

FRANCES CLARKE
... student missionary

LEFORS — Frances Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clarke of Lefors, has been named as one of 48 Baptist college students for the 1967 Texas Baptist Student Summer Mission Program.

Miss Clarke's father is a Gray County Commissioner.

A sophomore at the University of Texas, Miss Clarke will work with youths and adults at the Wisconsin Work Camp.

A member of Lefors First Baptist Church, she became interested in working with missions when she attended a Girls' Auxiliary summer mission study course taught by Mrs. Ed Spivey.

While studying at the university last year, Miss Clarke helped conduct mission church services and recently has conducted two weekend revivals.

This year she attended an international student conference at Palestine, Tex.

A pianist and singer, Miss Clarke has worked in the Lefors church for several years.

Her grandfather, the Rev. A. C. Wood, a retired Baptist minister, served under a mission board while in Arizona.

The 48 young missionaries will work in eight foreign countries and seven states in June, July and August.

They will help conduct vacation Bible schools, youth camps, retreats, youth-led revivals and evangelistic services.

In addition to worship services, the youths will assist in medical clinics and hospitals, do church census and survey work with migrant groups and goodwill centers.

The students will be divided into groups which will go to Wisconsin work camps, junior college projects, campus evangelism programs, resort areas, the Rio Grande, and foreign countries.

Texas Baptist students will serve this year in Ghana, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Israel, Jamaica, Malaysia, Nigeria and Trinidad.

More than 100 students were interviewed for mission work, Chet Reames said. Reames is student division associate of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Miss Clarke attended a recent weekend retreat at Mt. Lebanon near Dallas to learn what students will do in their summer program.

Theron V. Farris associate in the BGCT evangelism division and former missionary to Japan, was retreat speaker.

W. F. Howard is director of the BGCT student division, which sponsors the annual summer program.

Howard challenged the students to concentrate their study in three areas in the next 100 days before they leave for mission fields.

He urged the group to set themselves definite learning goals, select materials for their work and discipline themselves for study to be ready for work in mission fields.

Other retreat speakers were Bob Adams, director of student work in Chile; Charles McLoughlin, BGCT state missions commission secretary; Darwin Farmer, BGCT district missions department secretary and Bill Tomerlin, associate in the student work division.

Witnesses To Attend Convention

Meetings for the Pampa congregation of Jehovah Witnesses have been canceled this week so members can attend the three-day convention being held this weekend in Borger.

A. A. Catanzaro, district representative from New York, will open the assembly tonight in the Hutchinson County Coliseum with a keynote address entitled, "Thoroughly Accomplish Your Ministry."

More than 100 volunteers have been working in 20 departments to prepare for the convention.

During the meeting, new ministers will be ordained and baptized. Catanzaro will conduct the program and ordination ceremonies.

A film entitled "God Cannot Lie" will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Borger High School auditorium, Charles Regal, Pampa presiding minister, said.

More than 800 are expected to attend the Bible conference and participate in 15 hours of instruction.

Protestant Groups Need Unity Of Liberals, Fundamentalists

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
The ecumenical spirit has persuaded Protestants and Catholics to accept one another as brothers in Christ.

Perhaps it can now achieve a similar miracle within the Protestant family, by overcoming the antagonism and mutual contempt which have so long characterized relationships between liberals and fundamentalists.

That hope was voiced recently by a prominent Protestant liberal, Methodist bishop Gerald Kennedy of Los Angeles.

He contributed the lead article to a new magazine called "Good News" which was launched to provide a forum for evangelical or fundamentalist views in the Methodist Church.

"I am convinced that the main obstacle which faces us is not our differences, but the spirit in which we hold them," said Bishop Kennedy.

"I have known some fundamentalists so narrow and bitter that it was impossible to talk to them. I have also known liberals who were so dogmatic and unbending that they could put the fundamentalists to shame."

Bishop Kennedy acknowledged that "it is hard for a man with a great conviction to believe that a man who differs with him is honest."

"But this is one of the miracles which Christ works for us, and we ought to pray that He will touch us with His grace."

"We need each other. Instead of merely putting up with somebody who is different than we are, let us thank God that He gives us an authentic witness from the other side of the hill."

As a liberal, he said, he is grateful to fundamentalists for their "emphasis on the unchanging and eternal verities of our faith."

He asked fundamentalists in turn to respect the Christian motivation of liberals who "feel so strongly about the relevancy of the church that they want to find ways to make it speak to the modern world."

America's oldest and largest organization of Protestant fundamentalists—the National Association of Evangelicals (NAE)—celebrated its 25th anniversary at a recent convention in Los Angeles.

The NAE is composed of 40 denominations with 2.5 million members. Largest of its affiliated bodies is the Assemblies of God, with 600,000 members. It also includes many pentecostal and holiness groups.

IT'S A BIG JOB!

The primary task Jesus expects Christians to get done is a big job. "Consistency" and "visitation" are key words in succeeding at the task. The task itself is simple enough — to win people to Jesus.

The plan presented was simple enough, too. Mark records it in an abbreviated form: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark 16:15) This divine directive can be reduced to only two small words of four letters, "Go Ye." This was the Lord's plan for continuing his ministry among men. The plan was not only simple; it was highly practical. It was nothing more than reaching the nearest person, winning him to Christ, and then teaching him to do the same for others. Thus an ever widening circle, the whole world could learn of the grace of God.

Visitation is the key. Visitation originated in the heart and mind of God. It began in the Garden of Eden. It served as a contact between God and His people. It was culminated at Calvary. Did not Calvary consummate the visit of all visits? It was there that God gave himself, through the Son, to save the world. From that memorable day Christian visitation has been inseparably associated with salvation. It is, both in its origin and purpose, completely and gloriously a divine ministry.

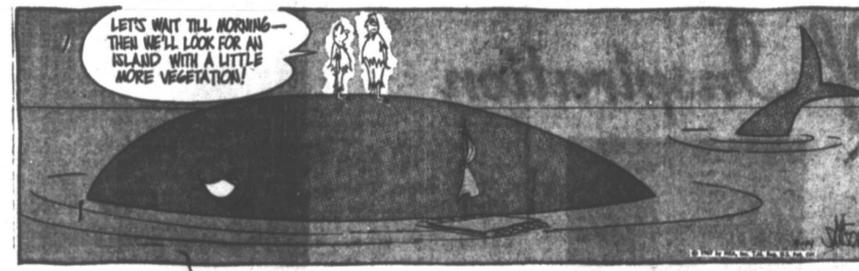

Visitation was the method of Jesus. He visited in the homes of people. He sent His disciples into the homes of people (Luke 10:5) He visited family groups. He visited crowded places. He made wayside visits. He visited specific individuals (Luke 19:5). It is evident that Jesus did his most effective work through the ministry of education.

Visitation was practiced by the early Christians, visitation was the program of the New Testament churches, in deed and fact, visitation was a factor in the remarkable spread of Christianity. Visitation was the key to their New Testament program of Evangelism.

The "consistency" must be found in two areas. First, a consistent, persistent, patient, tactful, pursuit of those you seek to win. Secondly, consistency in your own personal living to support your witness.

Jesus not only gave us a task and a plan for carrying on his work, but he also assured us of his continuing presence and power.

Dear Abby... Imagination Can Play Tricks

DEAR ABBY: While I was out of town recently, my husband accompanied a very attractive friend of ours to a dinner party. (Her husband was also out of the city.) Upon questioning him, he told me he took her home and went in with her after midnight and had a d. ik.

I have not drawn a happy breath since. Although I don't think anything serious happened, it could have, as both this woman and my husband are very physically attractive.

Now I am uncomfortable in this woman's presence. I feel she is smirking, and knows something I don't know. We are constantly thrown together, and after being friends for years I have actually developed a dislike of her.

I keep imagining there is something between her and my husband. When I mention it to my husband he says I am "foolish." How can I get this thing out of my mind, Abby? It is eating my heart out.

MISERABLE
DEAR MISERABLE: Your "misery" is a classic example of what imagination can do. This may sound like a preposterous over-simplification, but I can give you two magic words which will solve your problem. "FORGET IT!" If you nag your husband, or show your contempt for the lady, you will tempt your husband and this woman to join forces against a common "enemy." YOU! Say nothing, ask no questions, and be your old sweet self.

DEAR ABBY: I answered an "ad" in a magazine for information about joining a flower club. All I wanted was information about joining, but before I knew it, they started sending me all kinds of seeds.

I didn't want these seeds and did not order any seeds, so I just put them aside. I may have even thrown some away. Now I am getting letters from this flower club telling me that if I don't either send them the money or the seeds they are going to sue me.

they sue me? For God's sakes, help me! I have six children and no money to go to court to fight this thing.

CAN'T SLEEP
DEAR CAN'T: Throw their letters in the waste basket. No one is obligated to pay for—or RETURN—anything that is sent to him unsolicited.

DEAR ABBY: One day while cleaning the living room, I came across an unfinished letter my daughter was writing her girl friend. It was hidden behind the sofa cushion. Here is what I read:

"Dear B—
This afternoon Mr. R. came over. He's Mom's and Dad's best friend. Mom was at. He hung around and hung around. Finally he pulled me closer and gave me a real passionate kiss right on the lips. I told him he'd better leave, but Kiddo, was I scared. I'll never tell my folks as it would break up a beautiful friendship."

Needless to say, Abby, I cooled that friendship quickly. With "friends" like that, who needs enemies? I am glad I read that letter as there are some things a daughter won't tell regardless of her relationship with her mother. You say you are against "snooping." Do you still think I was—

"WRONG, WRONG WRONG!"
DEAR WRONG: You were cleaning your living room, not "snooping," when you came across the letter. There's a difference. And in this case, you might hardly charge you with mistrust or prying. You did what came naturally and your daughter knows it.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 9700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

PTA Units Expand Around The World

By JAMES F. COUR
United Press International
EUGENE, Ore. — It's hard to imagine the PTA lacking enough women members. But it's true — in Japan, which has the largest membership of any country.

"The PTA in Japan is entirely run by men," says Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"Two-thirds of the membership in Japan is made up of men, which is the reverse of the United States."

Mrs. Moorhead, who will step down in May after serving as head of the national organization for the past three years, recently visited PTA leaders in Japan, India and the Philippines.

"Getting more mothers to participate in the PTA is a major problem," she continued. "Of course, men have always been dominant in the country's cultural pattern."

Japan's PTA has 17 million members compared with a 12-million membership in the United States.

"Gen Douglas MacArthur founded the PTA in Japan," Mrs. Moorhead said. "After World War II, he was faced with the problem of teaching democracy to the Japanese. He decided to use the PTA as the means of demonstrating the principles and practices of democratic action."

"He issued a memorandum suggesting that each school establish a PTA — and immediately there were 15 million members."

"Since there was so much war damage to the schools when it was formed and so little money, it took on large fund-raising activities," she said. "I would suspect that every school library in the nation was started by the PTA and each library's books acquired by the organization."

"Now however, the Japanese have moved toward parent education as their primary goal. While I was in their country, they piled me with questions about the fundamental purpose of the PTA in America, which is, of course, parent education."

The PTA in India was formed in 1964 by the All-India Education Association.

"I think India eventually will surpass Japan in total membership because the country's population is growing so rapidly," she predicted. "But, at the present time, there is no actual count of the membership."

What impressed America's PTA president most about the PTA in the other two countries?

"The structure of organization in Japan and the zeal and enthusiasm in India," she said.

Mrs. Moorhead found no truly national PTA in the Philippines, but, instead, found three local units.

"I'll never forget the welcome in Manila," she said. "I was met at the airport with flowers, photographers, newspaper reporters and warm, friendly smiles. They rushed me off to the mayor's office where I received a beautiful gold key to the city."

"What really impressed me in the Philippines, though, were the children. They are so clean despite the obvious presence of poverty."

Mrs. Moorhead, a faculty member at the University of Oregon, visited the three nations' PTA leaders after attending a conference of the International Union of Family Organizations at New Delhi, India.

RUTH MILLETT By RUTH MILLETT Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Memo to Men: There are some surefire ways of pleasing a wife that you may be overlooking. For instance, do you—

Just once in awhile jump up to wait on her instead of always being the one who is waited on? Use some thought and imagination in selecting gifts for her, instead of just buying "something" for special occasions so that you won't be in the dog house?

Slow down when she thinks you are driving too fast without acting annoyed about it?

Call her from the office occasionally just to see how things are going?

Remember always to tell her any complimentary thing anyone says to you about her?

Tell her enough about your work to keep her from feeling completely left out of a big part of your life?

Occasionally do a chore around the house or yard without grumbling, making a big deal of it, or putting it off with the question a wife gets tired of hearing, "Does it have to be done right now?"

Surprise her once in a great while with a gift you didn't feel compelled to buy because of a birthday, anniversary or to mark some other special occasion?

Once in awhile say, "It was my wife's idea" instead of always taking the credit for the bright ideas yourself?

Let her know that she is aware of all that she does to make your home a happy one and to keep the family a closely knit unit.

Once in awhile make a date with her for an evening out and plan it for her enjoyment.

When re-varnishing furniture, beware of dust, lint, and cold or humid air. These four culprits can sabotage a finishing job. Choose a warm, dry, well-ventilated work area. Sand the furniture surface before each coat of varnish, removing all dust with clean, lint-free cloths.

Can you afford to let another year go by?

Cadillac is by far the soundest automotive investment in the world. Some of Cadillac's twelve models cost less than the corresponding models of other fine cars. And, in a surprising number of cases, they cost little more than cars in the middle-price range. One reason is that Cadillac is gifted with a wide variety of equipment that would cost extra on lesser cars. A Cadillac price sticker is always worthy of careful study. Then, there is the matter of resale. It is a very real fact that Cadillac craftsmanship is an irresistible attraction to those who buy previously owned Cadillacs year after year. This enables a person who buys a new Cadillac to drive his car for substantially less than many well-known makes over a one, two, or three year span. And, of course, Cadillac ownership offers satisfactions that cannot be measured in terms of cost. For how can you price its wonderful and relaxing quiet? Or its rewarding comfort? Or its incredible smooth ride? So don't let another year go by without appreciating Cadillac price, Cadillac comfort, Cadillac performance and Cadillac value. Ask your authorized dealer for a demonstration.

Despite Opiates, Reality Remains

Reality is the hardest thing in the world. All of us are constantly bumping up against it from the moment we are born.

A few strong personalities are able to leave an impression on it in the shape of their own image. At the other extreme are those unfortunates who, for various reasons, are unable to cope with reality and retreat into a schizophrenic fantasy world. Most of us steer a middle course between the two.

A growing number of people, however, most of them young, are trying something they think is new. They have simply decided they don't like the reality they see around them and, with the help of certain "mind-manifesting" drugs, are exploring new reality inside their heads.

This private reality, say the prophets of LSD, is more real, more beautiful, more meaningful than the everyday reality the rest of us clods are stuck with. They are in touch, they say, with the fundamental truth of the universe.

So far, however, they have not been able to demonstrate any of these truths — in art or literature or anything else — any more than did the primitive tribes who first experimented with mushrooms and fungi and roots and other brain-altering substances which man is now rediscovering.

The reality that most of us know remains as hard as it ever was, and it exacts a price from those who try to dismiss it with a chemical. A youth under the influence of LSD may think he is a bird, but when he dives out of a window he gets killed as definitely and as finally as anyone else. Other subtle changes in brain chemistry, about which we as yet know little, may take place, leaving the experimenter permanently incapable of returning from his "trip."

Anyone who has ever suffered a blow on the head has experienced a taste of this "new reality." The pattern of lights and colors was of this world — but the lingering pain was very much in it.

The fever delirium generated by the pneumobacillus is also capable of distorting familiar things and giving us an insight into "universal truths." Many people who have been given ether before an operation have had profound mystical experiences — or so it seemed at the time.

None of these methods is recommended for personality development, however. Neither is LSD, marijuana or, for that matter, tranquilizers or any other depressant or stimulant used to excess.

All of them are, in fact, only escapes from the world of harsh reality — escapes that sooner or later lead to dead ends. More than that, they are denials of every thing that makes human beings what they are — the ability to communicate with one another, to share, to work together to change the world of reality into something closer to the heart's desire.

Science: Handcuff For Criminals

In all the discussion about crime and what to do about it, one approach to the problem is seldom mentioned — the application of modern science. Yet of all the weapons which have been used in the war on crime in the past, science and technology have been among the most effective.

Albert V. Crews, University of Chicago physicist and director of the Argonne National Laboratory, points to the accomplishments of forensic medicine as an example of how science, by making detection more certain, has lessened crime, or at least made the life of the criminal much more difficult.

Of the thousands of methods of committing murder that are humanly possible, large numbers of them are seldom used by even the most desperate, he says, simply because of the ability of the medical pathologist to discover the cause. Today, even the most stupid person would not consider committing murder by arsenic poisoning, for instance.

To Crews, "it is absolutely incredible" that society should rely so heavily on scientific criminology and yet completely ignore its potentialities.

What he has in mind is a new kind of laboratory which would contain a wide spectrum of scientists and instruments and devices. It would be about 10 times the size of the FBI laboratory, and use equipment of the highest performance — the largest and fastest computers available, a nuclear reactor for neutron activation work, all of the most modern analytical tools in chemistry, physics and biology.

It would have a staff of highly trained physicists, chemists, mathematicians, pathologists, etc. It would be integrated with the academic community as closely as possible and be at least partially under public control. The whole thrust of the laboratory would be to study the total problem of crime.

Crews believes science and technology have a role not only in crime detection but crime prevention. In the matter of crime on the streets, "it's at least conceivable," he says, that citizens could be licensed to carry miniaturized police call systems in the form of small radio transmitters. A call for help could be automatically and instantaneously transmitted to the local police.

The fingerprint identification system has not been developed as far as it could, he says. Computers could help here. Computers could also make possible the cataloging and identification of criminals by physical characteristics.

"Granting that these efforts may be costly, the cost would be infinitesimal compared to the cost to society of crime itself," says Crews.

Soft Life Too Hard to Take?

One of the favorite fun games for researchers are forecasts of what life will be like in, say, 33 years from now.

The more fantastic the predictions, the more attention they get. The more attention they get, the more fantastic they become.

A fresh one just out of the forecast factory paints a picture of the American home in the year 2000 that makes our favorite forecaster, Jules Verne, look inept.

Listen, homemakers, to what your daughters will have in A.D. 2000:

—No dusting, scrubbing or vacuuming, courtesy of sonic devices which banish dirt.

—Little or no cooking, thanks to freezer-microwave ovens.

—No dishwashing, because disposable dishes will be made from powdered plastic for each meal by a machine in the kitchen.

—No ironing, since clothes will be permanently pressed.

Sounds great, doesn't it? Or does it?

Can a freezer-microwave oven turn out a meal as good as one prepared in the year 1967 by a lovely device called a wife?

And how do you think you will like eating off dishes made out of (ugh) powdered plastic?

Now, no one wants to knock the better life for womanhood. But please, Mr. Scientist, leave us a few tollens throwbacks to the age in which we now manage to subsist.

Otherwise, we may not be able to enjoy or endure the luxuries and privileges of the Effortless Existence.

We hardy, primitive folk are used to the rigors of automatic dishwashing and eating off china. Powdered plastic, indeed!

CAPTIVED EYE

Desperate Viet Cong Fight On

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A few days ago, the clandestine radio of the Viet Cong said:

"The south and the north are united, millions as one, and are animated by the same will and determination to fight and defeat the U. S. imperialist aggressors, an aggressive, stubborn, cunning and perfidious enemy."

At another point in a long statement, the VC commentator added:

"With every passing day, victories have been greater and greater and ever more repeated, and in the present 'determination to fight and win' spring, the gunfire to annihilate the Americans, their puppets and satellites is being heard resoundingly on all battlefields."

Utterances of this sort, commonplace in VC quarters, in Hanoi and in Peking these days hardly suggest Red eagerness to rush to the negotiating table.

A Saigon correspondent for a major newspaper says European diplomats there who have ties with Hanoi agree today that North Vietnam has no intention of engaging in peace talks with the United States.

What the Reds are doing, in fact, is to build up their forces for harder, tougher combat. Their introduction of rockets to the battle zones has been well-publicized. They have also drawn together some of the largest concentrations of mortars ever seen in war.

Their stepped-up southward flow of supplies during the recent lunar New Year bombing pause was not something improvised in a moment. Preparations for the supply push were carefully made.

Hanoi and the VC do not truly believe they are going to wipe out 425,000 U. S. soldiers with their tremendous firepower. But they seem to think they can make a war of attrition so unpopular in the United States that American voters in 1968 will turn out President Johnson and elect a man who will sue for peace on Red terms.

If a war lasting into 1968 will be difficult for Johnson to defend before the voters, it may not be exactly easy for Hanoi to sustain. Already there is evidence that very heavy Red battlefield losses are being cloaked by fantastically exaggerated claims of victory over U.S. forces. Said Hanoi Radio recently: "The enemy losses included three motorized battalions, one battalion and 33 companies of U. S. Infantry, and one battalion and five companies of artillery completely wiped out. Among the units heavily decimated were four infantry battalions. These losses represented 18 per cent of the enemy manpower, 48 per cent of the tank and armored force, and 32 per cent of the artillery involved in the raids."

In this kind of force-feeding there is an obvious element of desperation. Yet the desperation appears to be tempered by the insistent Red notion that the United States will give up if its will is taken at last to the straining point.

Hanoi could be reading all the signs badly. A survey of South Vietnamese people in free areas, done for CBS by Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N. J., but only partly reported in a CBS broadcast, suggests that two-thirds of those questioned (the sample was sizable) think the United States and the Saigon government are winning and will win the war. Only a few predict a Hanoi victory.

Eight million of South Vietnam's 13 million people live in the surveyed free areas. Refugees are steadily escaping VC territory to reach these zones, though Reds recently burned down 117 of 152 refugee homes in a wide campaign to halt the flow. The survey shows little support in these areas either for the Red war effort or for a future government joined in by the Viet Cong or Hanoi.

Starved for real backing in S. Vietnam's populous free zones, the Reds may find their current war of attrition becoming increasingly desperate. When it does, when it begins to fail, then negotiations toward ending the war may really be possible.

The American Revolution lasted from April 19, 1775, to Sept. 17, 1783.

The early movie makers selected Hollywood as the site for their industry because it averaged so much sunshine every day, which was an important factor in photography at that time. However, the sunshine city of this country, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau, is Phoenix, Arizona, with Fort Worth and El Paso, Texas, ranking second and third respectively. Today, as you know, movies are made everywhere, including Hollywood, and sunshine is no longer of great importance to the film industry.

The American Indians used to make regular pilgrimages there to cut "pipestone" a reddish clay used in making their peace pipes. . . . Seeing the late Victor McLaglen in an old film on the late, late TV show reminded me that he was the only person to win an Oscar for his film acting and could also boast that he had fought a heavyweight champion. He won his Oscar in 1935 for his portrayal of the character "Gypso Nolan" in John Ford's great film "The Informer."

Editor: For two centuries the International Communist Gangsters and their predecessors have proclaimed their hatred of civilization and lust for barbarism and savagery. Proofs of a Conspiracy (1798) by John Robinson and World Revolution by Nesta Webster document key parts of the vast evidence available.

These master gangsters fertilize criminal breeding grounds by injecting their theory of moral relativity into many of our schools and churches, and they openly applaud the decisions of the Earl Warren Gang. However, and probably because of a serious defeat on their Police Review Board front by the normally liberal citizens of New York City, and more recently a Philadelphia judge, they are now changing their strategy of attack on our local police.

The soundness of this change is summarized in Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson's 1942 comment: "It is hardly lack of due process for the federal government to regulate that which it subsidizes." A federally subsidized police or gestapo always ushers in a socialist or Nazi style dictatorship. Historically, cyclically, and often rapidly, these collectivist dictatorships under the immoral decay into slavery under the amoral or most criminal elements of society. These in turn merge with barbarism and savagery.

We must brace against the impending torrent of pleas from communists, demagogues, opportunists, and do-gooders for "federal aid" for our overburdened local police who find it ever harder to catch vicious criminals at a faster pace than they are created by the theory of moral relativity and freed by decisions of the Earl Warren Gang.

Castro's Red Underground Is a Worry

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Behind the scenes, there's growing worry in the Pentagon about the Castro underground in some sections of Latin America.

Recent outbreaks have occurred in Colombia and Venezuela; a state of emergency has been decreed for southeast Bolivia, but the problem is much wider than these three countries. Only a small part of the underground-organized unrest shows.

Despite the Alliance for Progress and attempts by some Latin governments to improve the rural conditions on which subversive insurgents feed, things are getting worse. Paradoxically, some of the worst problems today are in countries which have made determined efforts in the past five to 10 years.

Take Bolivia as one example. Gen. Jorge Belmonte Ardiles, commander of the Bolivian army, reports a "guerrilla army" in the southeast of the country. For some time, political unrest and disturbances in the Bolivian mining areas have detracted from the effectiveness of rural reconstruction and military-civic action. In fact, the political unrest has caused a considerable number of army units to suspend work on civic action projects and shift back to internal security operations.

Yet Bolivia was one of the first Latin countries to take decisive land reform steps. In 1953 the government provided by law for extensive land redistribution, settlement of new areas and improvements in tenancy conditions.

In the early 1950s, 2,500 to 25,000 acre - properties accounted for 70 per cent of the farmland. By August 1966, 17 million acres had been redistributed to 179,000 farm families and 165,000 farm families already occupied another 13 million acres on which expropriation proceedings were pending.

Farm employment practices that came close to indentured labor have been abolished. A strong rural union movement has been created. Universal suffrage is in effect. Rural educational and health standards have gradually improved. Bolivia's per capita Gross National Product has been slightly more than 2.5 per cent a year—above the Latin average.

Strong attempts are being made to promote migration from densely populated rural areas to the eastern lowlands. New roads linked to navigable rivers are connecting lowland communities and providing farm sales outlets.

But delays in confirming titles have hurt farm investments and agricultural credit. Despite strong government efforts to boost education, Bolivia had an illiteracy rate of 63 per cent in 1964. Of every 1,000 youngsters who entered the first grade, fewer than 300 completed primary school. Many rural teachers haven't gone beyond primary school.

There is only one doctor for each 16,000 rural inhabitants. The average life expectancy is 50 years at birth, one of the lowest in Latin America. Infant mortality is 98 per 1,000 live births. Intestinal diseases and tuberculosis are widespread. There is malnutrition, deficient sanitation and little preventative medicine.

With less than one million families, Bolivia had an estimated housing deficit of 615,000 units in 1966. The typical rural home is a windowless, one-room mud and wattle enclosure with earthen floor and thatched roof, built from primitive materials by the occupants.

Some improvements are going to have to be made in our the convention who would favor a limitation or deletion.

Thomas Jefferson pretty well expressed the thinking of the founders of the Republic when he wrote: "I hope our courts will never countenance the sweeping pretensions which have been set up under the words 'common defense and general welfare.'" These words only express the motives which induced the Convention to give to the ordinary legislature certain specified powers which they enumerate, and which they thought might be trusted to the ordinary legislature, and not to give them the unspecified also; or why any specification? They could not be so awkward in language as to mean, as we say, "all and some," and should this construction prevail, all limits to the federal government are done away." (Oct. 12, 1815, letter to Spencer Roane).

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE
Muscle Tension May Be Cause of Jaw Pains

Stand in front of a mirror, Place the first finger of each hand on the sides of your face, just in front of the tragus of the ear. Now open and close your mouth a few times.

Do you feel a click or snap as though your jaw was about to become dislocated? Is there a grating, sand paperlike noise? Is there more motion on one side than the other? Is your mouth opening narrow? Does your jaw deviate to one side when you open and close?

The presence of these symptoms probably indicates some degree of malfunction of your hinge joint, called temporomandibular joint.

This joint is an amazing conglomeration of bone, bony protrusions, muscles, ligaments, capsules, cartilage, disks, nerves, joint fluid, blood-supply etc. It controls movements of the jaw, allowing 360 degree motion. Its muscles are capable of producing pressures of 250 pounds per square inch at teeth surfaces.

To work properly, all structures that comprise the TM joint must complement each other, working in perfect harmony, not only with each other but with the chewing apparatus, the teeth.

The TM joint is a tough "work horse" and can stand all sorts of pressures, from chewing tough steaks to biting hangnails. Yet there can be slight, unnoticed eccentric pressures from poor bite that can produce the common symptoms mentioned above.

Most dentists feel that poor bite is the major cause of TM disturbances. Some say that muscle tension and muscle spasms are important causes. Both are interdependent to such a degree that malfunctions of muscles can cause malfunction of chewing apparatus, and vice versa.

Other causes, although less common, are worth noting: trauma, infection, rheumatoid or degenerative arthritis, tumor and gout.

Jaw dysfunction is often accompanied by pain and discomfort and neurological disturbances, such as burning sensations on side of tongue and palate, ringing in ears, headaches and, sometimes, metallic taste.

Usually symptoms can be relieved by application of hot, wet packs to side of face, over the joint. Pain can be controlled with aspirin.

For more permanent relief, proper diagnosis and treatment are most important. Muscle tension and disharmony must be lessened and bite adjusted. Also, knowledge of the limitations of your particular chewing apparatus can help control your discomfort.

Orioles Back To Head List

By United Press International
The Baltimore Orioles are back on top of the American League faster than you can say Frank Robinson.

That's all they had to say last year when the rest of the circuit lapsed into a dead faint at the sight of the powerful refugee from Cincinnati who wound up winning the Triple Crown and the Most Valuable Player Award in his very first try.

Robinson's performance was enough to make the Orioles' road to their first AL pennant all downhill. This year he may eliminate all the curves. That appeared to be the prospect after the 31-year-old outfielder, who smashed a career high 49 homers in 1966, blasted his first two circuits of the season into the bleacher seats at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium Thursday to spark the Birds to a 7-1 rout of the Minnesota Twins.

The victory left Baltimore with a 2-0 record, the best in the AL, and also left skeptics thoroughly convinced that the Orioles must be considered top-heavy favorites in the junior circuit pennant derby.

The Chicago White Sox scored five unearned runs in the ninth inning to overhaul the Boston Red Sox 8-5 in the only other league game. Cleveland and California were scheduled to meet in a night contest at Anaheim but the game was postponed by a power failure which blackened approximately half of the lights.

San Francisco shut out the Atlanta Braves 2-0 on a four-hitter by Gaylord Perry. Cincinnati edged Houston 5-4 and the New York Mets upended Pittsburgh 3-2 in National League action. The Dodgers and Cardinals were rained out at St. Louis.

Robinson, who underwent a knee operation during the winter, looked remarkably healthy as he teed off on Deau Chance, the Twins' prize acquisition, in the first and third innings. In two games he now has three hits in seven at bats and three RBIs. His running mate, Brooks Robinson, also hit a solo homer, his second in two games.

What may be even more important in Baltimore's dominant picture, however, was the fine four-hit performance turned in by Jim Palmer, one of the pitching stars of the Birds' World Series sweep over the Dodgers. Palmer had a sore shoulder in spring training and did almost no throwing, leading to speculation that he would not be able to pitch in the starting rotation.

ON HIS HEAD — Wayne Caswell appears to be standing on his head in this photo but actually he is clearing the bar in his specialty, the pole vault for Pampa High School. Caswell will take part in the district track meet in Amarillo.

IN LUBBOCK, AMARILLO District Meets Open

Pampa High Schools' spring sports stars were busy today and some will be busy Saturday.

HS golfers were in Amarillo today for the fifth and final round of district golf action at Tascosa Country Club.

The first two finishers in district play qualify for the Regional tournament at Odessa Thursday and Friday of next week. Medalist of the district, if he isn't a member of the winning or runnerup team also goes to district.

Tascosa trudged into first place last week, finding the Pampa Country Club course to their liking and went into today's final round with a six-shot margin over Monterey.

Tascosa has a 1259 four round team total with Monterey boosting a 1265 total. Borger is only three shots back at 1268 with Lubbock Coronado fourth at 1278 and Amarillo fifth at 1283. Pampa was in sixth place at 1304 followed by Caprock, 1327; Palo Duro, 1331; Plainview, 1337 and Lubbock, 1377.

In B team standings Tascosa was on top with a 1268 total followed by Borger, 1298; Pampa, 1318; Monterey, 1326; Coronado, 1354; Amarillo, 1372; Caprock, 1391; Plainview, 1406; Lubbock, 1529 and Palo Duro, 1545.

Ricky Roach, David Kinne-man, Mike Osborne, Frank Kelley and Tom Rose represented Pampa's varsity while Tim New, Greg Gunter, Steve Grady, Steve Walls and Charles McKinney played for the Shockers.

The Harvester tennis team was in Lubbock today for the start of district action. Preliminaries were held today and finals will be held Saturday.

Danny Winters, Mike Sublett, Mike Edminster, George McCarrell, Brenda Schaffer, Jamie Lou Schaffer and Carolyn Walker made the trip for Pampa.

Pampa thinclads don't take to the cinders until Saturday in Amarillo when the district track carnival unfolds with all first and second place finishers going to Regional action at Odessa next Friday and Saturday.

The Harvester runners had their day and night of the year last week at Borger where they finished third.

However, a couple of injuries and their old dirty track, under-water most of the week has kept practice to a minimum.

Doc Cornutt, off his usual form because of a hand injury, will participate in the shot and discus with Gary McCarrell, getting better every week, good in the 440-yard-dash and two relays.

Dan Stokes, who copped a first place last week and Stan Mathis, who was second, will be the Harvester broad jumpers with Wayne Caswell, who has been injured, going in the pole vault.

Pampa's mile relay team first last week, is represented by Dan Reed, Mathis, Jack Newcome and McCarrell.

The 440-yard relay team, also first last week, has Stokes, Mathis, Newsome and Paul Anderson.

Montreal Sweeps To Stanley Semi-Finals

By United Press International
The Montreal Canadiens earned a one-day holiday today for their sweep of the New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup semi-final playoffs, then it's right back to work.

"This was just the first round," coach Toe Blake said after the Canadiens completed a four-game sweep of the New York Rangers with a 2-1 overtime victory Tuesday night. "We have another four games to win."

The Canadiens, who now have won 10 games in a row and are unbeaten in their last 15, will gather at their Laurentian retreat Sunday to await the outcome of the other semi-final series between the Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago evened that best-of-seven series at two games each Thursday night by tripping the Leafs 4-3 at Toronto.

Nets Winner
John Ferguson scored the winning goal for the defending Stanley Cup champion Canadiens, shooting into an unguarded Ranger net at 6:28 of the sudden-death overtime.

Ranger goalie Eddie Giacomin thought he had smothered a previous shot by Claude Larose and had no idea Ferguson was shooting at the net.

"That's the kind you dream about," Ferguson said later.

J. C. Tremblay scored the first National goal at 10:46 of the opening period, beating Giacomin with a 50-footer. Phil Goyette evened the count at 17:56 of the middle session on a power-play goal, marking the 10th time in the series the Rangers had scored while having a man advantage.

Chicago, which had run away with the NHL regular season title, got goals from Ken Wharram, Pierre Larose, Eric Nesterenko and Kelly Hull in beating the Leafs. The Toronto marksmen were Dave Keon, Tim Horton and Mike Walton.

Gambie Pays
The Leafs, trailing 4-2, pulled goalie Terry Sawchuk at 17:28 of the final period to gain an extra skater and the gambie paid off nine seconds later when Walton scored.

Sawchuk then returned to the ice, returning to the bench again with a minute and a half remaining. But although the Leafs stormed the Chicago goal, they couldn't beat Denis DeJordy again.

Albuquerque already has been sounded out and seems willing to accept the fight.

Cargo said Thursday night that he had received a telephone call from Robert Arum, and attorney for Clay in New York, inquiring about the possibility of Albuquerque as the site.

The New Mexico governor said he would fully support the bout.

"I have no objections," Cargo said he told Arum. "In fact, bring some tourists with you."

He emphasized, though, that the offer was not definite.

The governors of Nevada and Pennsylvania recently turned down bids for the bout.

Herbert Muhammad, Clay's manager, has indicated that Albuquerque is in the running.

Contacted in Chicago, Clay the champion, said: "I heard something about New Mexico but I don't know where it's going. I'm not feeling too good right now, but I've been working. I worked out today."

The bout previously was scheduled for April 25 in Las Vegas, then in Pittsburgh. Clay is scheduled to be inducted into the Army on April 28.

FOR NBA PLAYOFF Warriors Return To Home Town

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors, who went west after bringing the last National Basketball Association title here, return tonight for the first game of the championship playoff against the Philadelphia 76ers.

The then Philadelphia Warriors were the NBA champions in 1956. The Warriors moved to San Francisco in 1962 and won the Western Division crown in 1964, losing to the Boston Celtics in the championship playoff. The 76ers were formed in 1963 from the Syracuse Celtics 140-116 in the deciding Nationals who won the NBA title in 1955.

The second game of the best-of-seven playoffs will be played here Sunday. The next two are scheduled in San Francisco Tuesday and Thursday. If the title hasn't been decided by then, the fifth game will be played here April 23, the sixth at San Francisco April 24 and the seventh here on April 26.

The 76ers won the NBA Eastern Division title four games to one Tuesday at Convention Hall, crushing the Celtics 140-116 in the deciding contest. The Warriors won the Western title by beating the St. Louis Hawks 112-107 at St. Louis for a 4-3 series triumph.

Alex Hannum, 76ers coach, indicated Thursday that he had his men concentrating on "defensive strategy" in their drills.

Their defense needed sharpening up against the Warriors. Rick Barry who rolled up 2,775 points during the season to dethrone Wilt Chamberlain as NBA scoring king.

The Philadelphians also made plans they hoped would thwart San Francisco's defensive star 6-foot-11 Nate Thurmond, the rebounding ace regarded as one of the top defensive centers in pro basketball.

The 76ers were favored to win the NBA title but Chamberlain has appointed himself a watchdog against complacency. He told his teammates that their defeat of the once all-powerful Celtics might lead to overconfidence.

Top Pros Play to Catch Up With Beard In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The top pros played today to catch up with Frank Beard in quest of their share of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions.

Beard turned in a sparkling six-under-par 65 to take a two-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the exclusive tournament. He was 33-32 on the par 71 course.

The greens came in for criticism by some pros after the first round, but Masters champion Gay Brewer summed it up after his 35-32-67: "They were different because of the type of grass that is here but with only nine golfers failing to equal or break par it wasn't too bad."

They were denounced especially by Arnold Palmer as "the most difficult I've putted in years. The ball bounces. It's just as hard to putt from 10 feet as it is from three." As a defending champion he scored 35-33-68.

With Brewer at 67 were Don

January with 35-32 and Doug Sanders, who carded 37-30 and said the greens were "tough unless they're cut very close—and these are not." January said the ball "wiggled" on the greens.

Bunched with Palmer at 68 were Jack Nicklaus, George Archer, Bobby Nichols and Dan Sikes. A stroke back at 69 were Al Geiberger, Bob Goalby and R. H. "Dick" Sikes.

Burt Yancey, second to Brewer in last week's Masters was at 70 along with Roberto Devicenzo of Argentina, Billy Casper, last year's top money winner on the pro tour was at 71 with Jacky Cupit and Bruce Devlin.

Beard, whose career as a pro was interrupted by a near-fatal attack of encephalitis in 1964, had six birdies and one bogey.

He conceded the greens were "hard to read" but also said he was "tickled" with the round that gave him the lead.

Plainview Here For League Tilt

Jim Lang got the call today to put his perfect 50 record on the line and keep Pampa in at least second place in district 8-4A.

The Harvester played host to Lubbock Coronado today at 4 p.m. at Optimist Club Park and host Plainview at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Lang, 5-0, was today's scheduled pitcher with Alan Woodard, 1-0 in relief and Dickie Henley, 4-1, was to pitch Saturday.

Pampa's B team travels to Shattuck, Okla. Saturday for a season ending doubleheader. The Shockers are 7-2 for the season.

New Mexico To Support Bout For Clay, Patterson

SANTE FE, N.M. (UPI) — Gov. David F. Cargo of New Mexico has opened the door for the twice-canceled Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title bout which apparently is very much alive.

A New York source said Thursday night the controversial bout "definitely will come off" but the site was still undecided. He said the bout will be fought "somewhere in the South."

Albuquerque already has been sounded out and seems willing to accept the fight.

Cargo said Thursday night that he had received a telephone call from Robert Arum, and attorney for Clay in New York, inquiring about the possibility of Albuquerque as the site.

Court May Solve Clay's Question

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court may decide today whether to step into heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's long legal battle to avoid being drafted.

Clay's attorney, Hayden C. Covington, filed an appeal Thursday asking the court to block temporarily at least the champion's scheduled induction April 28 at Houston and to order a special three-judge Federal Court to hear his claim that the entire Selective Service System is unconstitutional.

The nine justices regularly convene in the privacy of their chambers on Fridays to determine which appeals they will accept and possibly rule upon. In view of the fact that Clay is under orders to report for induction two weeks from now and to jail for draft evasion, they may take some immediate action today.

There are these options in the case: The justices could order a stay of Clay's draft orders while they give further consideration to the legal aspects of his case. If four of them vote yes, the case could be put on the Supreme Court docket for future arguments and a ruling on its constitutional claim.

The lower Federal courts could be ordered to set up the three-judge panel for a hearing at the judicial level.

Clay's appeal to the high court could be ignored at this time, leaving his case under the jurisdiction of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, which is weighing the same legal arguments Covington made to the Supreme Court Thursday.

Tryouts Set For Little League

Tryouts for the Pampa Optimist Club Youth Leagues have been set, according to Buddy Thornton, publicity director.

Nine and 10-year-olds will have two workouts, April 17-18, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the Optimist Park.

Boys 11 and 12 will work out three times April 19, 20 and 21 at 5:30 p.m. at this park.

In the nine and 10-year-old bracket the boys have to make at least one to be eligible to play and youngsters out for the 11-12 bracket have to make two of the three trials.

All equipment is furnished, except for shoes and gloves and only cost to a boy is a $3 insurance fee.

STILL KICKING is Juan Marichal who joined the San Francisco Giants after a lengthy holdout. Marichal had been working out at his home in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic before joining the Giants.

Perry Sets Out To Prove He's a Star, Not a Fluke

By FRED DOWN
By United Press International
Gaylord Perry has achieved step No. 1 in his personal campaign to prove that 21 victories in 1966 made him a star instead of a fluke pitcher.

The 28-year old native of Williamston, N.C., reached 20th victory status for the first time in his career last season but failed to win the prestige usually associated with the achievement. The experts attributed his success to just about everything from luck to an illegal spitball. They pointed out, among other things, that he had a 20-2 record on Aug. 20 but wound up with a 21-8 season mark.

Perry had his first chance of the new season to prove his right to recognition as a star Thursday night and came through with a four-hitter that enabled the San Francisco Giants to beat the Atlanta Braves 2-0 and score their first victory of the year.

The 6-foot, 4-inch, 205-pound right-hander walked only one batter, struck out four and was in trouble only in the fourth inning when Hank Aaron led off with a double and Mack Jones followed with an infield hit. Perry pitched out of the jam by getting Joe Torre to hit into a double play and retiring Rico

Carty on a routine fly. While Mays sent the Giants off to a 1-0 lead when he hit the 543rd homer of his career in the first inning and Willie McCovey produced the other San Francisco run when he homered in the fourth. Both blows were off right-hander Tony Cloninger, a 24-game winner in 1965 who slumped to 14 victories in 1966. The win squared the Giants' record at 1-1 while the loss was Minneapolis Lakers and the St. Louis Hawks. Martin played his college basketball at the University of Texas.

The Cincinnati Reds shaded the Houston Astros 5-4 and the New York Mets nipped the Pittsburgh Pirates in Thursday's other NL games. The Los Angeles Dodgers' scheduled game with the Cardinals in St. Louis was rained out.

Home runs by Tony Perez and Deron Johnson, major disappointments in 1966, paced a 12-hit attack that gave the Reds their second consecutive victory. Perez, who hit only four homers last season, hit a solo shot in the fourth inning and Johnson, whose RBI total dropped from 130 in 1965 to 81 in 1966, delivered a two-run homer in the fifth.

Milt Pappas pitched one-hit ball for five innings but was tagged for two runs on three singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly in the sixth and routed by a single by Sonny Jackson and a double by Jim Landrum in the seventh. Gerry Arrigo pitched out of that jam but needed the help of Ted Abernathy, who shut out the Astros for the last 1-2-3 innings. Dave Giusti was the loser.

labeling him "one of the top four Mustang drivers" entered the 188-lap event.

Van Beuren, who speaks and acts more in keeping with the Latin half of his heritage, is being groomed for future stardom in a field in which his father before him was a Sebring class champion.

He and Porsche driver Bill Seale make up what owner George Kirksey likes to call his "Dos Caballos" (two horses) racing team.

Kirksey, himself, is also in the embryo stage in the business. The one-time newspaperman who more recently was a vice-president of the Houston Astros major league baseball firm, dropped in on the Le Mans 24-hour race while vacationing in Europe last year.

Foreign News Commentary

Foreign News Commentary By ROBERT IBRAHIM
United Press International
MANILA (UPI) — For the second time in four years, the status of the tiny state of Sabah in northeastern Borneo is threatening to wreck longrange plans for peace and progress in Southeast Asia.

In 1962 Indonesia's President Sukarno, charging that Sabah had been dragged into the new federation of Malaysia, started a "hostile confrontation" and border war that continued until last summer.

The Philippines, although not involving itself in the fighting, broke off diplomatic relations with Malaysia over the same issue—contending that the timber-rich state of Sabah rightfully belongs to the Philippines.

Two weeks ago the Philippine government rejected a Malaysian invitation to send observers to Sabah's first general elections, being held April 8 through 28.

Became An Issue
And last week, the Philippine consul general to Singapore, Mariano Logaria, contended that the Sabah elections are unfair and that Malaysia has sified opposition.

Although the question of Sabah's status as a member of the federation of Malaysia is not a formal issue in the elections, the candidates have declared that it is.

Both the ruling Alliance Party and the independent candidates opposing them, have said that a vote for them is a vote for rejection of the Philippine claim.

The basis of the Philippine claims is that the 29,000 square miles of teak forest and mountain once belonged to the sultan of Sulu. The sultan, according to the claim, leased the area to British private interests during the 19th century. The rest of the sultanate is now part of the Philippines.

The Philippines is demanding the "return" of Sabah, which is now administered as part of British North Borneo. With creation of the federation of Malaysia, it became a part of the federation when the British yielded political power in North Borneo.

Heavy Opposition
The Philippines is still threatening to take its claim to the world court, although it is unlikely that the court would give the state to the Philippines over the objections of the inhabitants.

This month's elections are expected to produce a clear mandate for continued membership in the Malaysian federation.

Scattered reports in Manila newspapers indicate that even Filipinos who have gone to Sabah for higher paying jobs and better living conditions would object to the Philippines taking over the administration.

Parnelli Jones Heads Up Field In Sunday's Green Valley '300'

SMITHFIELD, Tex. (UPI) — Parnelli Jones heads up a fast field for Sunday's Green Valley "300," the third leg of the Trans-American Sedan Championship racing season, but he and the other veterans may get a shock from Fred (The Mop) Van Beuren IV.

The 23-year-old Van Beuren, Mexico City-born son of a Yale engineering school graduate and a comely Mexican diplomatic service employe, is a fledgling in the field of big time auto racing, but he's done well in his only previous starts at Sebring and Daytona.

The darkly handsome Mexican-American gets his nickname from the fact he tends to wear his hair somewhat on the "mod" side, but that hasn't kept his fellowdrivers from labeling him "one of the top four Mustang drivers" entered the 188-lap event.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Goodbody & Co. says there is the possibility of a reversal in the current downward trend during May despite an expected 10 per cent decline in first quarter corporate earnings. It hinges its optimism on the theory that the market already has braced itself for any drop in earnings and already may have made allowances for it.

Moody's holds that the administration's current efforts to bolster the economy "will continue to produce reasonably good support for stock prices," although it says selling of inflated issues can be expected.

E.F. Hutton & Co. sees, in an irregular market, certain issues which are likely to progress on their own steam. It cites as evidence the fact that new highs have consistently out-umbered new lows through the market's current softness.

Wright Investors' Service says it remains optimistic on the outlook for the stock market this year, despite any economic weakness. The company recommends waiting out any short term price reaction but would not hesitate to accumulate selectively in the anticipation of a renewed advance by summer.

The car rental industry of the United States is a $400-million-a-year business.
