

Western Leaders Gather for Last Tribute to Adenauer

BONN (UPI) — President Johnson and a host of Western leaders gathered in the cradle of West Germany today for a solemn last tribute to the nation's chief architect, Konrad Adenauer.

Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle, chiefs of state whose relations have cooled in recent years, almost dwarfed West German President Heinrich Luebbe as he stood between them.

De Gaulle and Johnson made no attempt to speak with each other at the rites for Adenauer, who died Wednesday at 91.

But later, at a lunch given by Luebbe for visiting chiefs of state, Johnson and de Gaulle shook hands and made small talk that led to speculation of a longer more intimate discussion on troubled Franco-American relations.

Shortly before the tribute began, the "old man's" former chauffeur drove up to the Bundestag in the car that took Adenauer to the chancellery for years.

On the back seat were a bunch of Adenauer's favorite flowers—red roses—and his top hat.

With Johnson and de Gaulle were British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, the heads of government of many other Western European countries and scores of ministers and other representatives of nations in every corner of the globe. Even the Russians, bitter political foes of Adenauer, sent their ambassador.

They headed a distinguished throng of nearly 2,000 official mourners who crowded the white painted chamber of the Bundestag, the lower house of the West German parliament.

In an hour-long ceremony they honored the memory of the stern, iron-willed old man who raised Germany from the ashes of total defeat to an esteemed place among nations.

Adenauer died April 19 at the age of 91. They heard West German President Heinrich Luebbe praise Adenauer as the man who forged friendly relations with other nations, particularly the United States.

"Konrad Adenauer," Luebbe declared, "in his meetings and talks with leading statesmen and politicians of the United States obtained guarantees of security for our country. For this we owe sincere thanks to him and you, President Johnson, as representative of a great allied nation which aided us in difficult situations of the post-war period."

In a final tribute, chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger declared, "Konrad Adenauer did not reach the promised land—neither the reunification of Germany nor the unification of Europe. But he left them behind for us as a great heritage for us. May we be worthy of it."

The gathering of Western statesmen here was one such as had not been since the funeral of President John F. Kennedy. Although no formal political talks were scheduled, it had become inevitably something of a Western summit meeting.

The Bundestag ceremony was the first of several scheduled today.

In the afternoon a pontifical requiem mass was planned in Cologne cathedral in the presence of 1,000 official guests and as many of the general public as could squeeze into it.

Then the body of Adenauer was to be carried in its coffin draped in the black-red-gold banner of Republican Germany down to the banks of the Rhine in Cologne for a final journey up river to Rheindorf, the village where he made his home for more than 30 years.

There in the presence only of members of his family, the dead chancellor would be laid to rest in the Adenauer family plot in the village burial ground alongside the bodies of his two wives and other family members.

Council Hires Planners To Map Pampa's Future

The city commission today unanimously voted to hire Marvin Springer & Associates, Dallas urban planning consultants, to prepare a Comprehensive Plan for the future development of Pampa.

The City agreed to pay the planning firm $33,500 for its services in drawing up a ten-step projection based on Pampa's population growth for the next 23 years to 1990.

City Manager Jim White said there would be no federal or state participation in financing the cost of the planning report and the entire bill for its preparation will be borne by the city.

Whether the final report possibly would contain recommendations for federal fund participation in accomplishing Pampa's future needs could not be stated at this time, the city manager stated.

"We do not know what the recommendations will be," White said, "and if the people don't like the planning report, it can be rejected."

The scope of the $33,500 ten-point Comprehensive Plan includes the following:

- Population and Economic Base Study, $3,000; Land Use Survey, $4,000; Base Map Revision and Expansion, $1,500; Zoning Regulations Revisions, $3,750; Thoroughfare Plan, $3,500; Community Facilities Plan, $4,500; Housing Study and Neighborhood Improvement Plan, $3,500; Administrative Study and Report and Subdivision Standards, $2,750; Capital Improvement Programming Report, $2,500 and the Final Comprehensive Plan Report, $4,500.

In the contract entered into by the City today, the consultants agree to conduct surveys, do research and to prepare required plans and data.

Springer, who appeared before the commission this morning, also stated the consultants will work with the mayor, city manager, city council, planning and zoning commissions and such other groups and persons the city commission may desire.

Spring Festival Is Slated for Bands

About 550 Pampa band students will participate in the annual all-city spring band festival at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Pampa High School Fieldhouse.

Charles Mesch, Horace Mann Elementary School teacher, will direct the all-city elementary school band, which will include fifth and sixth grade students from Pampa elementary schools.

Elementary school band selections will be "Melody March," "Dream of Love" and "The Skaters Waltz."

Jeff Doughten will direct Pampa Junior High School band in "British Eighth March," "Chant and Jubilo" and "Soliloquy."

Joe DiCosimo, Lee Junior High School band director, will lead his group in "Hall of Fame March," "Album Leaf," and "Tango for Band."

Pampa High School band, directed by Harris Brinson, will play "Viva el Rumbó," "Symphony for Band," and "How the West Was Won."

DiCosimo will also direct all bands in the finale, "America the Beautiful."

The spring instrumental festival is a "dress rehearsal" for Pampa High School Band, which will perform two of its Tri-State band festival entries.

"Symphony for Band," and "Viva el Rumbó," Brinson said.

No admission charge will be made for the festival here, he said.

In the Tri-State band festival, about 150 bands from Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama, Kansas, Louisiana, and

New Mexico will compete at Enid, Okla. May 4-6.

Bands will enter contests in marching, street parade, sight reading, concert, stage band, solo and ensemble.

Eight soloists will compete from Pampa High School at Enid. They include Richard Tarrant, Bill Felter, Alfred Greet, Judy Stephens, Jerry Lambright, Joe Trumm, Prudence Skelly and Danny Fenell.

Four Pampa High School trios competing at Enid will be Alfred Green, Jim Ingram, and Jerry Fife, brass trio; Prudence Skelly, Harriet Henderson, and Terry McClure, woodwinds; Cheryl Beckam, Pat Ray, and Jane Edgerton, woodwinds; and Harriet Henderson, Renee Secrest and Phil Vanderpool, woodwinds.

Three quartets competing include Paula Hoepfner, Dolton Walker, Theresa Mercer and n d Gary Brummett, clarinets; Gail Miller, Donnie Hall, Terry Williams, and Tommy Francis, saxophones and Jim Brown, Larry Hargus, Joe Trumm and Pat Vanderpool, trombone quartet.

A brass quintet competing at Enid includes Hargus, Mike Ruff, Bill Duggan, Vanderpool and Barbara Wolf.

A brass sextet playing in Enid includes Mike Ruff, Ronald Gordon, Mike Collingsworth, Richard Tarrant, Jim Brown and Bobby Bailey.

The street parade in Enid is called the two million dollar parade because that's about what the band equipment costs that is entered, Brinson said.

City Awards Contract For Duncan Work

A contract for the widening of Duncan St. from Central Park to Harvester St. today was awarded to Lewis Construction Co. of Dumas.

The contract price was $98,732, approximately $25,000 lower than Ray Boswell Construction Co. of Pampa, the only other bidder.

The Lewis Construction Co. is the same firm now engaged in the initial phase of Pampa's overall $750,000 paving program.

Five bids were opened today for the City's summer street seal-coating program. The bids will be tabulated and contract awarded at the next regular council meeting.

Three more blocks in the city's 140-block street improvement program were released to the contractor today. They were 19th and 20th Sts. from Coffee to Hamilton and Twiford from Lowry to Powell.

The commission also authorized payment of $59,904 for the purchase of right of way on Alcock St. City Manager Jim White said it is hoped to wind up the right of way purchases for the Alcock street improvement within the next two or three weeks.

A called meeting of the city commission was set for 5 p.m. May 3 to canvass returns of the May 2 city commission runoff election between Leon Holmes and Joe Taylor.

Other business included transfer of $20,000 from the general fund to the Library fund and payment of $314 for officials at the April 4 general election.

Probe of Accident Already Underway

MOSCOW (UPI) — Grieving Russians today readied a hero's burial in the Kremlin Wall for their oldest cosmonaut, "a born fighter, even to the end." Investigators sought to determine how far his crash death would set the Soviets back in the race to the moon.

"Death has brought both nations back to square one in the moon race," said an eminent scientific observer in Moscow following the death of Soviet cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov in a malfunctioning Soyuz 1 Union 1 spacecraft. It was Russia's first manned space venture in 25 months.

In Washington, U.S. officials said Komarov's space vehicle tumbled out of control in orbit. They said after failing to achieve re-entry on the 18th orbit he finally re-entered on the 16th orbit but the end-over-end spinning had fouled his landing parachute.

Komarov, 40-year-old father of two children, was the first known Russian victim of the space race. He died Monday when Soyuz 1 slammed into the earth near the Ural Mountains in the central Soviet Union at an estimated 300 miles per hour.

His widow, Valentina, who learned of his flight only after he was in orbit, said he was "a good friend, a good father, a good comrade."

Pravda, the official Communist Party newspaper, today said Komarov "was a born fighter. Even in his hour of death he showed how to work to the end, to struggle to the end for the life of the ship entrusted to him."

Soviet officials were not expected to disclose the contents of the last reports or the findings of the probes already underway.

Komarov's shattered body was cremated and returned to Moscow, his home town, where it lay in state at the Soviet army house.

Pravda's aviation writer, Sergei Borzoko, said Komarov was in contact with earth until virtually the final second before impact. He said the cosmonaut was fully aware of the impending tragedy.

U.S. Navy planes from carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin today bombed a cement factory inside Haiphong and just 1.1 miles from its center. Previously they had bombed a nearby power plant which supplied electricity for the cement plant and for the Haiphong docks.

All Eyes Focused On Encounter Between Johnson and DeGaulle

BONN (UPI) — President Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle exchanged a series of handshakes and pleasantries today that opened hopes for later talks on deteriorating Franco-American relations.

Both are in Bonn today for the funeral of Konrad Adenauer, the 91-year-old former West German chancellor who died a week ago. All eyes focused on them because of the strained situation between France and the United States.

Today's encounters were their first meetings since the funeral of John F. Kennedy in 1963. So far they have not had a chance for real discussions. But after a cool start their brief exchanges appeared to have become more friendly.

FROM NASA TO THE MOON — Ward Taylor, representative of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, peers from behind some of the fifteen scale models he displayed this morning at a space presentation in Lamar School. The demonstration was designed by NASA to illustrate how space science is being used today. The program was geared for elementary students, but according to Taylor can also be used for college seminars.

Red Chinese Claim Two U.S. Jets Shot Down Over Country

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States carried the air war to Hanoi and Haiphong today and for the second consecutive day battled Communist MIGs. Peking Radio charged that U.S. planes flew over China Monday and that the Red air force shot down two of them.

The Communists reported heavy U.S. air losses in two days of attacks. The Americans reported losing four planes and said U.S. pilots shot down two Communist MIG17s and damaged many more on the ground.

U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs from Thailand bombed a key railway 2.25 miles from the center of Hanoi today in the closest strike yet to the North Vietnamese capital.

Pilots reported encountering MIGs, heavy anti-aircraft fire and surface-to-air (SAM) missiles.

U.S. Navy planes from carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin today bombed a cement factory inside Haiphong and just 1.1 miles from its center. Previously they had bombed a nearby power plant which supplied electricity for the cement plant and for the Haiphong docks.

It was the second day of escalated air war aimed at bringing so much pressure on Hanoi, the Communist regime would agree to negotiate. Monday, the planes bombed two

MIG airfields previously off limits—Hoa Lac, 19 miles west of Hanoi, and Kep, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi.

An American spokesman reported the loss of four planes during the two days of stepped up warfare, with the rescue of four fliers and the loss of four others. Communist broadcasts, condemning what they called new acts of aggression, claimed up to 18 planes shot down with a number of pilots captured.

The most disturbing claim came from Peking which said two Navy F4B Phantom jets flew over Kwangsi Province, which borders North Vietnam, and that Chinese MIGs took to the air and shot down the planes Monday afternoon.

Hanoi is about 70 miles from the Chinese border and Haiphong about 60. The air base of Kep attacked Monday is 50 miles from the border and the air base at Hoa Lac is about 100 miles—a matter of seconds for the 1,500 mile per hour jets.

A brief Japanese language broadcast monitored in Tokyo claimed "another great victory" by the Chinese air force and "a victory for Mao Tse-tung's thought." It said the Chinese pilots would be awarded medals for their defense of China.

There was no immediate American comment on the Chinese claims. The United States has scrupulously avoided flights over the Chinese mainland and informed sources said a zone along the border had been marked off limits to prevent any incidents. In the past, Navy jets have flown over the Chinese island of Hainan off the south coast.

47th District Court to Try Tom Vessels

CANYON — The assault with intent to murder trial of Thomas Ray Vessels, 29, Pampa, is scheduled to start at 9 a.m. Monday in 47th District Court here.

Vessels was sentenced to death Oct. 29, 1966, for the April 28, 1966, rape of a Pampa housewife. He is charged here with attacking a south Amarillo woman in Canyon last May and stabbing her with a pocket knife.

Randall County Criminal District Attorney George Dowlen said he had no plans to try for an immediate trial in the assault case until an appellate court rules on the death sentence given Vessels Oct. 29.

Jay Ray Martin of Amarillo, Vessels' court appointed attorney, had filed no pre-trial motions as of late Monday, Dowlen said.

After Vessels' arrest on the charge involving the Pampa woman, the Amarillo housewife identified Vessels at a lineup in Pampa.

The Amarillo woman said her attacker stabbed her with a knife and fled when she sent her daughter to get help.

District Judge Gene Jordan impounded a new grand jury Monday to serve a three-month term.

C. Boone McClure, director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, was named foreman.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — It's all right to work on a plan for increasing revenue, abundance, but don't put in too operation until you are familiar with every angle connected with it. Confer with expert in business for advice. Forget that mercenary advisor.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—The organizers of a new club at Indiana University were recruiting new members today, but they don't really expect many, and frankly, they don't care. It's called the Apathy Club.

REALISTIC SHOW

EVERETT, Wash. (UPI)—Two gunmen picked an appropriate time to hold up the drive-in movie.

The feature Sunday night was "A Fistful of Dollars."

Council

City may designate from time to time.

The planners, when their study is completed, will make recommendations to the City based upon the results of their findings.

The first study to be made will concern the city's population and economic base.

This initial study, according to Springer, will take into consideration the characteristics of Pampa's site, its people and the economic, social and geographical factors which influence Pampa's future.

Primary purpose of this initial study, he stated, will be to establish and agree upon a scale for other phases of the ten-point planning work and to establish the basic future development goals for Pampa.

The first study and report will include: (1) changing economic factors influencing growth of Pampa and the Panhandle area; (2) present and probable future population in 1990; (3) present and probable future distribution of population in Pampa; (4) physical factors influencing the growth of Pampa; (5) future urban area of Pampa; and (6) evaluations and population estimates will be made on the basis of neighborhood planning areas.

In the final phase of the Comprehensive Plan report, it is set forth in the contract that a study of the financial capacity of Pampa and past improvement practices will be made, and recommendations for improvement goals within the City's financial framework will be made.

The agreement made today with the planners calls for a list of needed capital improvements along with recommendations concerning priorities to be prepared, based upon the various planning studies.

Estimates of cost will be prepared for all priority projects included in the first phase of a continuing improvement program, the contracts states.

One clause in the contract stipulates that "it is intended that the work outlined be accomplished and submitted to the City within 4 months."

SNOW FAN

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI)—The Greater Boston Intercollegiate Golf Championships have been postponed until next Monday because of a snowfall. Northeastern University's Pete Baronowsky was on the green, eight feet from the sixth hole during a west snowfall. He gave the ball a tap and forced a postponement of the tournament. His ball gathered so much snow it wouldn't fit in the hole.

There were no dissenting votes when City Manager White recommended that Springer's firm be hired to prepare the Comprehensive Plan.

"This has not been a spontaneous thing," White said. "My office has been busy working on it for the past year."

"After a search in and contact with other cities, I am convinced Mr. Springer is one of the most capable planning consultants to be found anywhere."

The city manager said at present Pampa has no guidelines in making decisions that will "affect the city a long way down the line."

"We feel that to do the best job in this respect we need professional services to get these guidelines."

Commissioner Elmer Radcliff asked if it wouldn't be a good idea to wait two weeks before hiring the planner in order to give the fourth city commissioner (to be elected next Tuesday) a chance to vote on the decision.

Mayor Jim Nation said he had full faith in Commissioner Roy Kay (continuing in office until his successor is elected) and that nothing would be gained by delaying the vote.

Commissioner M. McDaniel made the motion to hire Springer. Commissioner Hugh Burdette seconded the motion and the roll call vote was unanimous.

Still in their positions on Luebke's left and right hand, they leaned across him—at a moment a quick smile passed across de Gaulle's face. Any De Gaulle-Johnson meeting, even if only for a few minutes, assumes overriding importance because of their cool relations following the French leader's challenge to American policies on Vietnam and NATO.

Princeton Professor Will Speak at AICE Dinner Meet

The April dinner meeting of the Texas Panhandle section of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers will be held at Jim's Steak House, next Thursday, starting at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:15 p.m.

The speaker will be Dr. Richard H. Wilhelm, professor of chemical engineering and chairman of the Chemical Engineering Department at the American Chemical Society for achievements in chemical engineering.

Parametric pumping is a new principle proposed by Dr. Wilhelm which has possible applications in separating salt from ocean water and also in petrochemical separations. His presentation will introduce the principle along with a discussion of the supporting experimental and mathematical work which substantiates his concept. Further possible applications will also be proposed.

Reservations should be made by Wednesday, with Coy Don Mitchell of Cabot Corp. or Paul E. Dudit of Celanese Chemical Co.

Christopher Columbus called himself by the name Cristobal Colon.

First military post to fly the Stars and Stripes was Ft. Schuyler in New York.

MALOUF ABRAHAM REPORTS

Governor Takes Entirely New Approach to Budget

The best defense is a good offense!

I am writing this the morning after Governor John's speech to the Joint Session; so it's too soon to be able to see what the repercussions will be. He has either pulled an astute political maneuver or else he has gotten his foot in a bog. Realizing that he was unable to get several of his unpopular measures across, he reversed the field and took an entirely new approach.

A big key to future developments will be the action of the Senate. Preston Smith has been preaching economy and claiming that we did not need all the new taxes the governor proposed. If he and the senate get their "tail up", there isn't much telling what will happen. It could go most any way. If the governor has his way it seems that a lot of the work that has been done will just drag to a halt.

I hear rumors of still a bigger spending budget than had first been proposed by the governor. Then we will have this special session next year which will put all the members who are running, then entire house and half the senate, on the hot spot. It will be necessary to pass a big tax bill right in the middle of a campaign.

Scout Skills Exposition Set Saturday

About 200 Boy Scouts participated in a Santa Fe District camporee during the weekend and several boys will exhibit "scout skills" in a district exposition at the National Guard Armory Saturday.

In the weekend camporee, which ended Sunday, at the new scout camp near Mobeetie, 14 scout troops and Explorer posts participated.

The top scoring patrol was the Screaming Eagles of Troop 16, sponsored by Pampa Noon Lions Club.

Troop 14 sponsored by Pampa First Presbyterian Church, and Troop 34, sponsored by Pampa First Christian Church, took top honors in camp site inspection.

Seven boys received physical fitness ratings of excellent at the camporee. They were LeRoy Thornburg and Paul Newton, troop 120; Mike Lindsay, Hubert Sims and Allan Garrett, 19, and Terry Hall, 80.

Troop sponsors are Lefors Lions Club, 19, Walter Elliott, scoutmaster; Pampa First Methodist Church, 80, Tom Dunn, scoutmaster; Methodist Men of St. Paul Methodist Church troop, 120, Connor Hicks, scoutmaster.

In the district exposition, boys will set up booths Friday to display their scout skills Saturday. The exposition will start at 2 p.m. with judging of booths by 2 p.m.

Scouts still have tickets available and will distribute them at the door Saturday.

Booths will be judged on activity in the booth, attractiveness and scout participation. Tom Gray is exposition committee chairman.

Booths at the National Guard Armory east of Pampa will include displays of scout marksmanship, Chippewa Indian cooking and camp site, first aid, woodworking, western activity and circus activity.

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will display their work.

DOG'S LIFE CHICAGO (UPI) — Mrs. Jean Martin claimed in divorce court Monday that her estranged husband had taken her 4-year-old dalmatian dog, Schatzie.

Martin said the pup's papers were in his name. So, Judge Hyman Feldman awarded Mrs. Martin the 60-a-week temporary alimony and weekend visitation privileges to see Schatzie.

Hawaii Does It With Oldtimers

They may tell funny stories about Hawaii fielding an "ancient" team but Islander Manager Wayne Terwilliger is having the last laugh as his team keeps winning.

The Islanders, farm team of the Washington Senators, are carrying only six players under the age of 25 and eight of the 21 players on the roster are over 30.

But Terwilliger, who in nine managerial seasons has never finished in the second division, has molded the youngsters and veterans into a winning combination — good enough to head the Pacific Coast League's Western Division.

Veteran Barry Shetrone lofted a home run over the rightfield fence in the bottom of the 13th inning and 27-year-old reliever Carlos Medrano pitched five perfect innings Monday night to pace the Islanders to their eighth win in 11 outings, a 5-4 verdict over the Seattle Angels.

The win gave Hawaii, off to its fastest start in seven years, a 1½ game bulge over second place Portland and Spokane.

There were no other scheduled games.

Shetrone's homer, his first of the campaign, broke a tie that had existed since the eighth inning and was Hawaii's fourth round-tripper of the night. Veterans Hector Lopez and Dick Phillips homered in the third and sixth innings, while rookie Frank Coggins slammed one out of the park in the fifth.

Medrano gained his first victory of the season as he mowed down 15 consecutive Seattle batters. He struck out three.

Charlie Vinson and Chris Krug homered for the Angels.

The Islanders and Angels play the second contest of their seven games series tonight. In other games, Indianapolis opens its home season against Denver while Phoenix moves into Tulsa, San Diego to Oklahoma City, Tacoma to Spokane and Portland to Vancouver.

Spurs Move In TL Play

The Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs continued their extra-inning magic Monday night by defeating El Paso on Byron Browne's 10th inning homerun.

Albuquerque's John Duffie shutout Austin 7-0 and Arkansas at Amarillo was postponed because of cold weather.

Browne's homer came with the bases empty and one out in the bottom of the 10th. El Paso had tied the score 3-3 in the 9th by Spur catcher Jim Procopio, long fly and the passed ball.

George Sherrod started for Dallas-Fort Worth but was relieved in the ninth by Steve Cosgrove, who picked up the win. Bill Boehert, the fourth El Paso pitcher, was the loser.

Duffie allowed only three hits while going the distance for Albuquerque. Leonard Carbo helped Duffie by hitting two two-run homers—one in the fourth and one in the seventh. Jim Bitton was the loser.

Today's schedule finds league-leading Amarillo traveling to second place El Paso, Dallas-Fort Worth at Austin and Arkansas meeting Albuquerque.

Reds Take First As Dodgers Nip Cardinals in 13

Ted Abernathy is three months older than his own manager according to the calendar and younger than springtime in his attitude toward baseball.

A well-traveled veteran who has played for 15 different teams in the course of a checked 16-year career, Abernathy at 34 is tackling his latest assignment with the vigor of a rookie and his new employers, the Cincinnati Reds, are putting him to good use.

The lean submarine pitcher, who set a major league record with 84 appearances during the 1965 season while playing for the Chicago Cubs, has found a very steady job with the Reds after a disappointing 1966 campaign in which he was shuttled from Chicago to Atlanta to Richmond.

The Reds have won 10 of their first 13 games this year and Abernathy has pitched in seven of them, including Monday night's 3-1 victory over the Houston Astros. Overall, he has pitched in eight games, including three of the four-game sweep over the Astros.

Likes Work "Abernathy likes to work," explained manager Dave Bristol, 33, who played against the journeyman hurler in North Carolina American Legion ball when both were teen-agers.

"I'm not going to wear him out although it looks like it, doesn't it. But he likes to pitch and he's a real good guy to have on the club."

Bristol, who has followed Abernathy's career with interest ever since their boyhood meetings, urged Cincinnati to draft the relief artist from Richmond last winter and the acquisition has proved to be a major factor in the club's rise to first place in the National League race.

In the only other NL action, Los Angeles outlasted St. Louis 6-5 in 13 innings. Pittsburgh at Chicago was postponed by cold weather. Boston defeated Washington 7-4 in the only scheduled American League contest.

Great In Relief Abernathy, who had won Friday night's game with two scoreless innings and saved Mill Pappas' victory on Sunday with two hitless innings, bailed out Sammy Ellis in the eighth inning of the series finale with runners on first and third and one out by getting Rusty Staub and John Bateman on fly balls.

He held the Astros, who suffered their eighth successive defeat, hitless in the ninth to preserve Ellis' first win of the season.

"I feel better at this point than I did in 1965," said the elongated veteran. "I think I'm off to a better start than at Chicago. I'm getting more, saves right off the bat here."

In 1965, Abernathy won four games and saved 24 others to capture "Fireman of the Year" remarkable in view of the fact that he began his career as an orthodox overhand pitcher and now had to alter his delivery because of shoulder injuries.

Perez Homers

Tony Perez did all the damage for the Reds with his second home run of the year in the fourth inning with Pete Rose and Deron Johnson aboard. The 360-foot blow into the left field seats came off Houston starter Dave Giusti, who also yielded Perez' first homer two weeks ago.

Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice fly, his fourth run batted in of the game, tied the game in the 13th and Lou Johnson's run-scoring single, his second RBI, won the game for the Dodgers. Lefebvre and Johnson each had homered earlier, Dick Egan, who relieved Joe Moeller in the top of the inning after he had yielded a run on Curt Flood's single, received credit for the win. Joe Hoerner, the last of six Cards' pitchers, was the loser.

Ken Harrelson booted Mike Andrews' bases-loaded grounder with two out in the eighth inning, allowing all three runners to score and presenting Boston with its "gift" victory. Carl Yastrzemski, who had singled, and Rico Petrocelli and Jose Tarabull, who had walked, scamped across on the miscue. John Wyatt picked up the victory in relief.

Trailing by five points when the final quarter started Monday night, the 76ers rallied to go ahead of the San Francisco Warriors and then held off a last surge to triumph 125-122 and win the National Basketball Association crown by a margin of four games to two.

"This is the greatest team in history because it won on the road and that is the mark of a champion," Hannum said afterwards while champagne was sloshed around the victors' dressing room. But he also warmly praised the Warriors as an "inspired team."

Comeback By Coach It also climaxed a smashing comeback for the former Southern California star who had been cut loose as coach by the Warriors after the 1965-66 campaign because he refused to settle down in this area.

So he took over the 76ers, who breezed to the Eastern Division title, then knocked off defending champion Boston in the divisional playoffs, and then defeated the embattled Warriors, who had won the Western Division playoffs by downing St. Louis.

The victory was worth $3500 apiece in first money for the 76ers and $2500 each for the Warriors.

The contest was a down-to-the-wire affair which had a Cow Palace crowd of 15,613 plus a closed circuit TV audience of 4,483 in Oakland screaming during the final seconds.

Late Spurt San Francisco went into the last quarter holding a five-point lead and with a good chance of sending the best-of-seven series back to Philadelphia for a Wednesday showdown. But the 76ers' Bill Cunningham, who had 17 points for the night, packed 10 of them into a five-minute burst which helped his club move ahead 114-109.

A 10-foot jumper by the Warriors' Rick Barry, whose 44 points led all scorers, nudged them back ahead 115-114. But then San Francisco's Nate Thurmond fouled Wilt Chamberlain, who made good on both free throws to put Philly ahead to stay.

The game wasn't decided, however, until the final two seconds.

Barry was fouled by Luke Jackson with 41 seconds to go and hit on two free throws to cut the 76ers' lead back to a point. Rick missed a shot from the side with four seconds to go after a Warriors time out. Chet Walker of the 76ers then was fouled by Thurmond and put in two free throws which wrapped it up.

After the Leafs had whipped the final game of the series with last Saturday, to deadlock the best-of-seven set at one game each, Imlach predicted flat out that Toronto would have no difficulty in winning the Cup. He was a little more down to business today.

"That 3-0 win over the Canadiens doesn't mean a thing unless we can add three more victories and regain the Stanley Cup as our centennial project," he said. "There's no champagne for finishing second, just sour grapes."

However, Imlach proved he still carries the same sharp needle when he was asked about rookie goaltender Rogatien Vachon, who has played every game in the playoffs for Montreal. Before the finals began, Imlach referred to him as a "Junior B" goalie.

"I've promoted Vachon to Junior A," Imlach said. "He's not a bad kid but he's not going to win any games if they don't get any goals."

Johnny Bower, the 42-year-old goalie who registered the shutout which halted Montreal's unbeaten string at 16 games, was expected to be back in the Toronto net tonight.

Stock Car Champ Calls it Quits

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Fred Lorenzen, who won more money from stock car racing than any other driver, Monday night ended five days of speculation about his future and confirmed "I'll never be back in a race car."

Primarily because of nervous tension and ulcers, the 32-year-old Elmhurst, Ill. bachelor-businessman said he would remain with the Ford racing division although "I have no idea what I'm going to do, except stay with Ford."

At a banquet in the plush City Club to honor the veteran of seven seasons on the NASCAR circuit, Lorenzen said he wanted to "quit while I'm ahead, rather than getting smoked down."

No immediate answer was provided for the obvious question of who will replace him on the Charlotte Ford team of builders John Holman and Ralph Moody, but speculation centered on David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., who recently broke up with builder Cotton Owens because of financial budget-tightening.

Lorenzen said he noticed he had been "slowing down the past year and a half" but made it clear he would still be seen around the five super-speedways — Atlanta, Charlotte, Darlington, Daytona and Rockingham. So far, he is the only driver ever to win at all five-stock car racing's "Grand Slam."

NASCAR President Bill France of Daytona Beach, Fla. warmed to the idea, commenting that Lorenzen would provide "a great image for drivers to hold with them."

Yancey Eyeing Texas Open After Dallas Win

DALLAS (UPI) — Bert Yancey headed for the Texas Open today with $20,000 in his pocket and the memory of a three-wood shot that he drilled through a gap in the trees and an ensuing 20-foot birdie putt that won him the rich Greater Dallas Open golf tournament first prize.

While the 28-year-old Yancey will long remember those two golf shots, his scrambling final round 35-36-71 over the 6,700-yard Oak Cliff Country Club round 35-36-71 over the 6,700-yard Oak Cliff Country Club layout was full of memories—both good and bad—as he posted a 72 hole winning total of six under par 274.

That left him only one stroke to the good over defending champion Roberto de Vicenzo and young Kermit Zarley, who won $9,750 each with their 275; two strokes better than charging Doug Sanders and faltering Bob Goalby, whose 276 were worth $4,650 each, and three shots ahead of cigar chewing Charles Sifford, whose 277 was worth $3,900.

Yancey, a one time West Point golf captain from Florida who now plays out of Philadelphia, had just lost his one-stroke lead on the previous 13th hole to Bob Goalby—the only time during the tension-packed final round that he didn't hold or share the lead he had built up with his third round 65.

His drive had caught the trees and he was faced with the dilemma of pitching out safe onto the fairway or gambling through an eight-foot gap in the trees.

"I knew Bob Goalby had birdied the 11th hole and was seven under par while I had just bogeyed the 13th and was six under," Yancey said.

"I knew if I didn't get it through there, I wouldn't win. I had to go for a birdie," he added.

The ball was on a sidehill lie, but Yancey pumped his three-wood shot through the gap, then got off a bad chip shot that left him 20 feet shy of the pin. But he rolled it in for his birdie while Goalby was bogeying the hole and Yancey was back in front for good.

Who's Breaking Rules?

NEW YORK (UPI) — I don't like to be the one to blow the whistle, but somebody here is breaking the rules.

In broad daylight, too. The way I understand it, no return bout contracts are permitted in boxing. This is supposed to keep the game clean, prevent any possible collusion and guarantee all worthy challengers a chance.

So far, so good and I got all that fine. But now I see where Dick Tiger is about to give Jose Torres a return shot for the light heavyweight title. Torres lost to him five months ago and Nino Benvenuti's next bout will be a return with Emile Griffith from whom he took the middleweight crown last week.

All this confused me so much that I inquired around about it and after I did I was more confused than ever.

Clay Innocent They gave me a whole lot of da-di-da-da-da about the Tiger-Torres return and since I never studied more code I failed to get that message. Then when I asked about the upcoming Benvenuti Griffith bout they told me there had been "a handshake" agreement on it beforehand.

But rules are rules, aren't they? They should apply to everyone, shouldn't they?

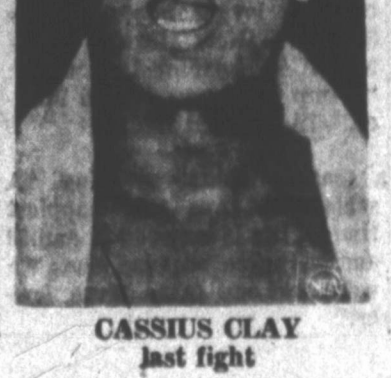

His critics knock Cassius Clay for a lot of things but they can never rap him for being party to any return agreements. I'd add 0002 xxx agreements.

"I never have 'em," he always hollers, and he has every right to holler when such agreements apparently prevail in the other divisions.

Benvenuti before Griffith had another go at him. And what about South Korea's Ki Soo Kim, who still boasts he's the only man ever to lick the new Italian champ, hometown decision or not?

About the handshake. I think that was a lotta soap bubbles.

Maybe two guys shook hands

Bureaucrats and Safety

Now that there is a new federal bureau supposed to be looking out for the safety of motorists, there is a variety of reaction.

Some of the state people already are unhappy at regulations being laid down by the federal bureaucracy, and it no doubt is going to get worse.

You see, the federal government is taxing motorists for the gasoline they purchase. It was supposed that this tax money would be parceled back to the various states in order to speed up the construction of the interstate highway system. But now, the federal bureaucrats are attaching various strings before they will return the tax money.

If the state doesn't adopt certain safety or beautification rules, some of the money allocated for that state will be held back.

And now, we note, Dr. William Haddon Jr., head of the National Traffic Safety Agency, is teeing off on the fact that sometimes there is difficulty getting ambulances to victims of traffic accidents. He expects soon to have "a final set of medical aid standards for use in state highway safety program." It sounds like a threat that if states do not install the kind of program he thinks they should have, he'll just see that the states' portions of highway funds will be withheld again.

It's no wonder some of the state officials are getting concerned. But they should not be surprised. That is the way bureaucrats function.

Just as Dr. Haddon has done, in the matter of state requirements on automobiles, bureaucrats substitute their judgment of what is good for the people, then order it done with complete disregard or whether it is practical or financially feasible.

Spurred on by the writings of such as Ralph Nader, the federal government has established it National Traffic Safety Agency. And Dr. Haddon has ordered the manufacturers to turn the interior of automobiles into something resembling a padded cell so that motorists who drive negligently and fail to use seat belts will be less seriously injured in collisions. The fact that the manufacturers had already tooled up for 1966 automobiles seems to have made no difference to the bureaucrats. The fact that some manufacturers have tried some of the safety devices in earlier autos and have found the public unwilling to buy the gadgets also seems to have no influence on the chief of bureau.

We are in favor of safety. But we are convinced that most deaths and injuries in traffic are the result of negligent driving or disregard of the drivers for the limitations of the machines they have.

If the public really wants safer automobiles, the industry will manufacture them and the people will buy them. But bureaucratic edicts will not bring safety.

Man's 'Uppercut' To Insect Enemies

While mankind strives to achieve peace with its worst enemy — itself — war against its second worst enemy goes on as implacably as it has for 10,000 years since men changed from being hunters to planters.

That enemy is the insect, whose annual toll of crops and livestock mounts into the many hundreds of millions of dollars.

Never before, however, have men had an array of weapons at their disposal such as they now have or hope soon to have — weapons so promising that the U.S. Agriculture Department proposes total warfare against the 100 worst insects that cause 90 per cent of the damage.

High priority insects include the boll weevil, tobacco hornworm and budworm, corn earworm, European corn borer, pink bollworm, cabbage looper, sugarcane borer, tropical fruit flies and cattle grubs.

The goal is not complete eradication but "total population control" (TPC), says entomologist Dr. Ed Knipping, head of insect research for U.S.D.A. Knipping is the man who came up with the idea for sterilizing screwworm flies with atomic radiation, which has vanquished that menace in cattle-rust states.

As reported in "The Furrow," magazine of the John Deere Company, TPC means switching from defense to offense — reducing the entire population of an insect in an area and then stamping on it.

Chemicals are essential in the beginning, especially when farmers co-operate in mass spraying campaigns. Better and safer chemicals are constantly being developed.

But the trouble with chemicals is that the more they are used the less efficient they become. It costs as much to kill the last one per cent of a population as it does to kill the first 99 per cent. Also, insects develop resistant strains and there is the danger of pesticide contamination of the environment.

Thus other methods being investigated for the stamping job include cultivation practices, natural predators, parasites, diseases, breeding of genetically weaker strains, bait lures and trapping.

For the pink bollworm, which threatens California cotton, scientists are studying a combination of sterilization and a new synthetic sex lure.

At D.S.D.A.'s research center in Beltsville, Md., it has been discovered that juvabione, a substance in the wood of balsam fir, prevents insects from developing into adults. Scientists are now trying to determine if the compound can be cheaply produced as another nonpoisonous weapon.

The war against the insect goes on. It will never end, but now there is hope that someday the battles will all be one-sided in favor of man.

A Tale of Two Cities
If anyone doubts the danger of civil disobedience and planned disorder in the United States, he has only to examine recent tragic events and situations in Nashville, Tenn., and Rochester, N. Y. In both cities — great progressive communities which are the pride of their states — so-called "civil rights" advocates have created terrible havoc.

Nashville suffered the worst of the trouble in early April when "black power" advocate Stokely Carmichael was invited to speak at Vanderbilt University. Following his inflammatory talk, this Tennessee city — a center of educational activity — was torn by riots. In the words of the press, "Roaring marauders, many of them screaming 'black power,' struck through a 30-block area, shooting, looting, destroying cars and trucks and setting fire to stores with flaming Molotov cocktails."

Great as was the tragedy that hit Nashville, the greatest tragedy is that of the mental attitude which was responsible for Carmichael's visit to the Vanderbilt campus. The visit, approved by Chancellor Alexander Heard, supposedly was in the interest of "free expression."

But what university, what city or state in America, needs free expression in the form of Molotov cocktails? Those who invite the Stokely Carmichaels of our day, and those who approve their visits to respectable places, may foolishly imagine that they are implementing a constitutional guarantee of free speech. If this is their idea, then they have indulged in the most tortured logic — logic unworthy of men who profess to be educators and leaders of public opinion.

The Stokely Carmichaels of this country don't have a monopoly on civil rights. The average, law-abiding citizens of Nashville and other communities have a right to live in a community free of rampaging mobs and student arsonists.

It is time that those who administer colleges and universities bear in mind the right of the law-respecting majority. It is time that colleges and universities refrain from operating as privileged sanctuaries for would-be terrorists of America's society.

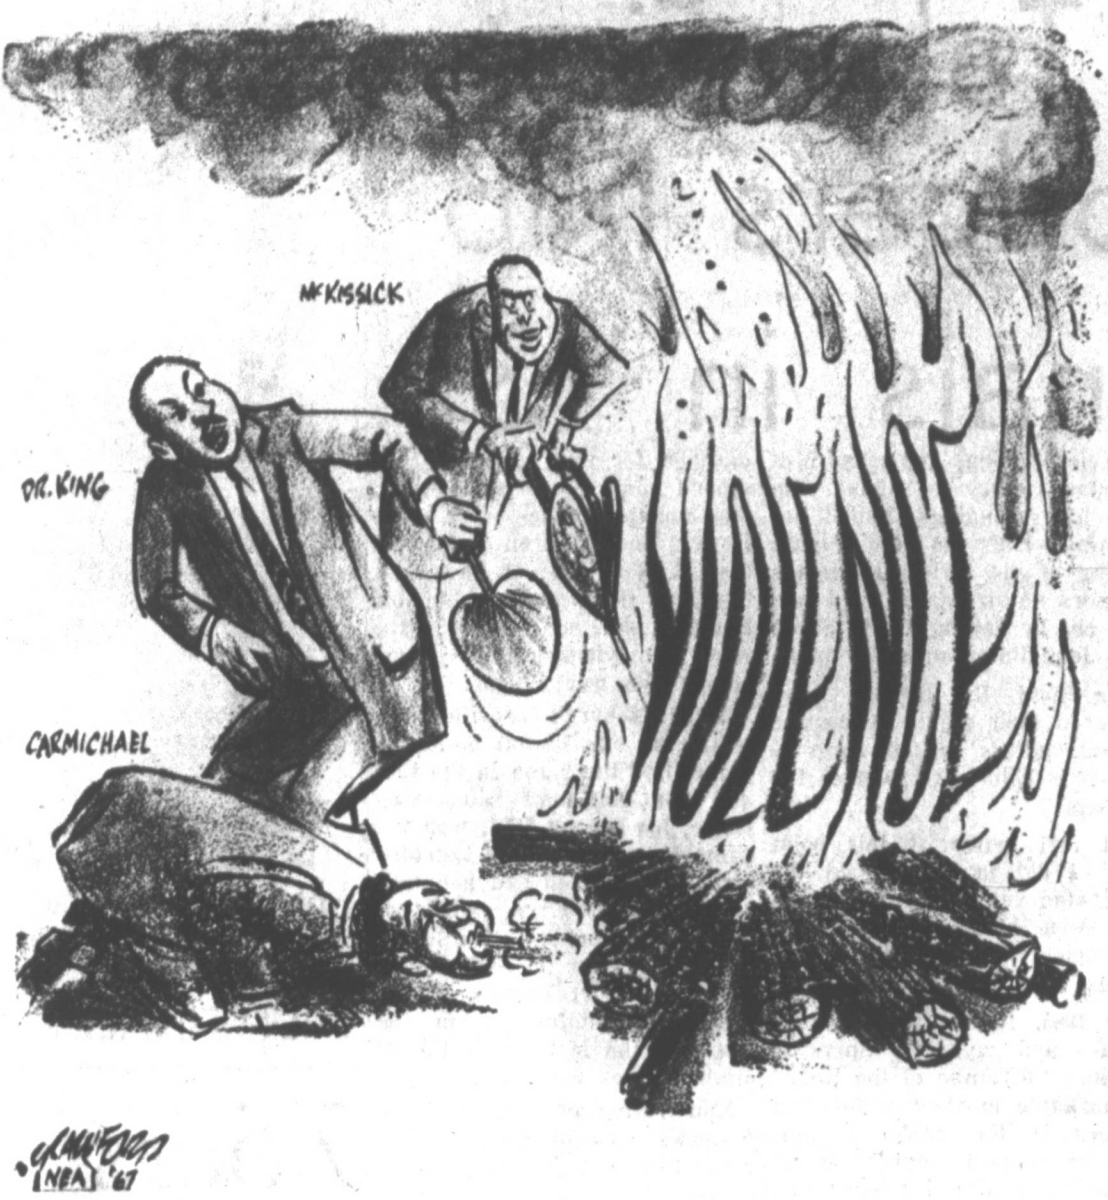

As for Stokely Carmichael, there is some question as to whether he is an American citizen. Yet he has abused this country, its laws, flag and public decency. Americans can only ask, if he is not a citizen why hasn't he been deported to his native Trinidad? If he is a citizen why hasn't he been arrested for treason? "To hell with the laws of the United States," said Carmichael recently. Refuse to serve in Vietnam, he thundered at the Negro students; and they roared back with the new litany of the civil rights, "Hell no, won't go." "Hell no, won't go." Who is Stokely Carmichael's powerful friend in Washington who is protecting him against either deportation or arrest for treason?

Even as Nashville suffered riots, Rochester, N. C. M. has suffered the arrogance and pressure tactics of FIGHT (Freedom, Integration, God, Honor — Today a radical community action group. For months FIGHT (established with funds provided by the Rochester Council of Churches) has been trying to intimidate the Eastman Kodak Co., one of the nation's most respected and enlightened companies. It has been trying to force Kodak to accept FIGHT as the exclusive recruiting agent for unskilled persons who will be trained by the company.

FIGHT imported Stokely Carmichael to address a rally in Rochester. Carmichael told the rally: "We have been looking for a fight against a big company, and you've got everything we want." What FIGHT had in mind is plain enough. A leader of the organization says that it plans "guerrilla warfare" against Kodak. It also plans to hound Kodak's officials and to create disorder at the company's annual meeting. Despite the campaign of harassment against this and other highly respected companies, church groups continue to give financial and other assistance to FIGHT. According to the New York Times, the presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church has withheld proxy votes from the Kodak board on stock owned by the church. This action was taken to protest Kodak's failure to enter into an agreement with FIGHT.

In Rochester, then, is found an example of the intimidation

Pull Up A Chair

Strolling on New York's Fifth Avenue the other afternoon we suddenly became even more conscious of the money people spend on pet dogs. Most of the dogs we saw were lapdogs, mostly poodles, cradled by their owners, but there were others walking along leashed. Nearly all were dressed in some kind of sweater or coney against the chill winds, and some even wore bonnets. The thought struck us after a few blocks that we had seen more dogs wearing hats than women. But the one that really took the prize was some specie of poodle, strolling along with his master, outfitted in a leather motorcycle jacket and crash helmet. That topped them all!

Today's smile: An auto manufacturer, proud of his assembly lines, advertised that his cars were put together in six minutes. One day he got a telephone call asking: "Is it true that your make of car is put together in six minutes?" He answered in the affirmative and the caller replied: "Well, I just wanted to know. Now I can make excuses for all the things that are wrong with it."

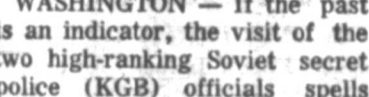

If you're a harness racing fan you'll be interested to learn the horses are traveling at speeds of 30 to 35 mph when the mobile starting gate opens. According to the rules the gate picks up the starting field one quarter mile from the starting post and maintains a speed of 11 mph for one-eighth of a mile and not less than 18 mph for the next one-sixteenth of a mile. Then the speed is gradually increased to the maximum of 35 mph at the moment the field crosses the starting line and the race is on.

Thoughts while shaving: The latest thing to keep you from dozing when driving is an alarm cap that sets off a buzzer when your head nods. It looks like a baseball cap. The buzzer shuts off when you raise your head. No doubt they're effective, but we think a buzzer buzzing on the top of one's head would scare the daylight out of any sleepy driver. They might also be helpful to some major league baseball players, especially outfielders who are slow in going after long drives to center field. Today's copyright law had its origins in ancient Ireland. Seems a monk of Tara designed a psalter that was copied by a rival monastery. An appeal to the king was decided in favor of the originator and the imitation was discarded. . . . Garbage collecting isn't the softest job in the world, but the town fathers of St. Thomas, England, are trying to make it "soft" for campaign which radical groups plan to use against American corporations. Both the mass riots and the selective intimidation are equally shameful. The American people should wake up to this ugly war — a war waged from within by people who want to break down our free society.

Visit of Russian KGB Team to U.S. Recalls . . . Visits Elsewhere . . . Preceded Missile Troubles

ROBERT ALLEN
WASHINGTON — If the past is an indicator, the visit of the two high-ranking Soviet secret police (KGB) officials spells trouble for the U.S.

When General Vasily V. Mozshechekov, second ranking in the KGB, and General Nikolai Vinogradov, the organization's security expert, showed up in Cuba and North Vietnam, their appearance was the forerunner of new arms measures against the U.S.

First visit of the elite KGB team in the Western hemisphere was in December 1960, when President Eisenhower was preparing to turn over the reins to President-elect John Kennedy.

A National Security Agency report at the time warned that a KGB team headed by Mozshechekov and including General Vinogradov had arrived in Havana with the mission of setting up a security system for Soviet military technicians and arms to follow. The NSA document asserts the Mozshechekov team spent more than three months in Cuba.

It reveals that the two Russians traveled via Prague where they arranged the first consignment of arms for Castro. The rest is history. The weapons shipments that began early in 1961 led to the missile crisis in October 1962.

Generals Mozshechekov and Vinogradov reappeared in Cuba in September 1963 with then-KGB chief Aleksandr Shelepin. The trio were guests of Castro and "Che" Guevara. A Central Intelligence Agency report states they spent several weeks inspecting Soviet military camps before returning to Moscow.

VIETNAM VISIT — The next important trip Generals Mozshechekov and Vinogradov made was in January 1965, when they showed up in Hanoi and stayed nearly a month.

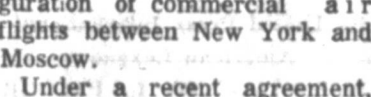

On that visit the two KGB officials were credited with arranging the handling of shipments of SA-2 surface-to-air missiles, now being used against U.S. air attacks.

This operation also included establishing air routes over Communist China, as well as rail routes, for the delivery of arms.

U.S. authorities believe one purpose of the two secret police officials' trip here is in connection with the forthcoming inauguration of the local laborers. Each is issued a tube of hand lotion every week. That's one place where you say without fear of contradiction the garbage is handled by soft, loving hands. . . . The Santa Fe (New Mexico) NEW MEXICAN headlined a story: "Stamp Collectors Cancel Foreer." They licked him.

PAUL SCOTT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The war in Vietnam has a purpose and a meaning.

If we are to live in a world of reason and law — a peaceful world — the first law that must exist is that no nation can be allowed to use aggression to take over its neighbor.

Without such a rule, no matter how many World Courts of League of Nations or United Nations are established, there can be no peaceful world.

If you are a decent citizen and see one man sneak up and start to kill another, you try to stop the killer.

You do not ask if the man defending himself is a good man or a bad man. You do not ask if the man doing the aggressive killing is good or bad. The thing that must be done is to stop the aggression even if the aggressor gets killed in the process.

But some people get so confused they call the man defending himself the aggressor when he hits back at the aggressor to defend himself.

Whatever our other mistakes may be, the United States has been consistent the last 50 years in upholding this policy.

We have followed this step-by-step-aggressor rule whether the aggressors were our friends or our enemies, whether they were Communist or non-Communist, whether we thought they were attempting to attain their rights or were out for conquest.

Twice we helped prevent a totalitarian German government from taking over Western Europe. In one of those wars we helped Communist Russia from being overrun by Nazi Germany. Some people thought this was wrong.

We later prevented the Soviet Union from occupying northern Iran.

RECS — PRONOUNCED "REES"

Everyone who would like their voice heard in the sensible choosing of our Presidents and Vice Presidents can help this needed Reform by talking to all with whom they come in contact; at work, school, play, church, on the bus, train and plane. They can begin making short, informative talks to meetings of all kinds. Students who want the privilege of choosing our country's top leaders in the future should make a Crusade for RECS, making speeches wherever welcome while becoming finished speakers. This enjoyable subject can become a "field day" for YOUTH FREEDOM SPEAKERS with their 3-minute speeches.

Midtown New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore, Miami, Houston, etc., now decide who will be nominated and elected President. The machines of both major parties have their "City Machines" and "Power Voting Blocs" which make their existence possible and profitable. The suburbs and homelands far from these hectic congested areas provide the calmer and wiser thinking throughout U.S.A.

If your favorite publication is not adequately informing its readers on the subject of the Reform of the Electoral College System — RECS — write or call the publisher or editor suggesting they publish information on the vital subject. Make friends of the members of the staff. There are splendid people of high ability connected with every sizeable publication in the U.S.A. who will act to insure the continuation of our Republic, and while saving freedom of the press will save many other vital freedoms.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Fever Blisters, Canker Sores Are Quite Common

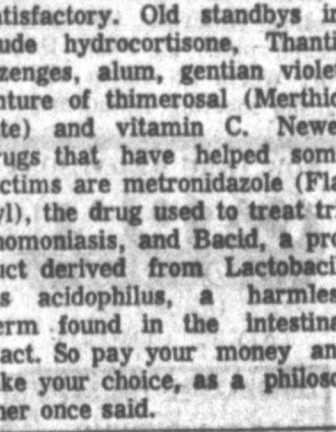

If you are confused about fever blisters and canker sores, don't feel badly. We doctors are confused about them too. It is now agreed that the fever blisters and cold sores that may occur at the border of the lips and the nostrils are caused by the herpes simplex virus. Some doctors believe that similar lesions occurring on the mucous surface of the mouth, tongue and gums (canker sores or aphthous stomatitis) are caused by the same virus, and others believe that the cause of canker sores is still unknown. Allergy, long thought to be a causative factor, appears to have been ruled out.

Both diseases are very common. The sores last eight to 12 days and tend to recur with diminishing frequency. These recurrences are often associated with fatigue from late hours or worry, fever, menstruation and exposure to wind or sunlight.

When, as in the case of fever blisters, a dozen or more remedies are recommended the chances are that none of them are wholly reliable. Drying the cold sore with alcohol, spirits of camphor or tincture of benzoin promotes healing whereas the use of salves appears to have the opposite effect. A series of vaccinations with smallpox vaccine at weekly intervals sometimes helps.

A new drug, idoxuridine (Den-drid, Herplex or Stoxil), has given good results but only when used properly. With the first intimation that a new sore is forming a 0.1 per cent solution should be applied locally every five minutes for the first hour, then every hour for 12 hours. After that it should be applied every two hours except when sleeping, for four days.

In the treatment of canker sores, also, many agents have been tried. All have their ardent advocates but none are entirely satisfactory. Old standbys include hydrocortisone, Thiantis lozenges, alum, gentian violet, tincture of thimerosal (Merthiolate) and vitamin C. Newer drugs that have helped some victims are metronidazole (Flagyl), the drug used to treat trichomoniasis, and Bacid, a product derived from Lactobacillus acidophilus, a harmless germ found in the intestinal tract. So pay your money and take your choice, as a philosopher once said.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first occasion on which Congress passed legislation over a presidential veto was March 3, 1845. The legislation was entitled: "An act relating to revenue cutters and steamers," says The World Almanac. President John Tyler vetoed the act but Congress passed it over his veto by a vote of 41 to 1 in the Senate and 127 to 30 in the House.

Mayor John V. Lindsay's big economy size government in New York City has announced its 1966-67 fiscal year spending program. It calls for a mere $4.1 billion, up half a billion from the previous year.

What should interest flatland citizens who visit the big town as conventioners or tourists is that the greatest, richest city on earth, designated officially by the mayor as fun city, is unable to support itself and must draw about $1 billion of the proposed expenditure from the U. S. Treasury. The precise sum is $746,425,279.72. That is 14.4 per cent of the whole.

Mayor Lindsay was able to pass on his parishioners some happy thoughts in his current budget message. He said:

"I am proposing new taxes or increases in existing taxes. The bulk of the additional funds needed, (about half a billion) will be obtained from state and federal aid rather than from local funds."

This Lindsay budget is up 12.7 per cent over the previous year although there has been no increase in the city's population. The cost per head of municipal government in New York City is $650 annually under this budget. It was $561 per head under the last previous budget. Ten years ago the cost was $237 for each man, woman and child. Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr., a certified New Dealer, presided over this increase from $237 to $561. Lindsay is quite capable of outspending Wagner further and no doubt will do so. It is a way of public life to spend big, especially if you need not, tax quite so big as you spend.

Lindsay shook up a U.S. Senate committee last summer by taking the pauper's oath for his glamorous city in a somewhat wacky maneuver to obtain an annual $5 billion subsidy from the U.S. Treasury on a 10-year projection. At a hearing on the "crisis of the cities" Lindsay told the senators that without more federal dote the great cities simply could not make it. Other mayors were in the amen corner on that.

It must be said for the cities who are jiggling their begging bowls that they have some—much—claim to some of the money they seek to siphon out of the U.S. Treasury. The cities pay vast sums in federal taxes. There is political pressure now for some sharing of the tax take whereby the federal government would refund to the states and thus indirectly to the cities some of the tax load. Was there ever a dizzier idea than that outside a looney bin?
