The Messiah Is Well Received

"The Messiah" was the first part of a three-part series in a "Spring Arts Festival" sponsored by the Fine Arts Association. Part II will be a Home-Art Tour on May 7 and Part III a Arts and Craft Fair May 13-14 in Coronado Center.

Pope's Commission Favors Lifting Catholic Ban on Contraception

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A majority of a commission established to advise Pope Paul on birth control recommended that the Roman Catholic Church lift its ban on contraception, the National Catholic Reporter said today.

The weekly newspaper said in a copyrighted story that the majority and minority reports of the commission were delivered to Pope Paul June 28, 1966. He has not issued a ruling and the reports had been kept secret.

"As products of a group named to assist Pope Paul, the reports have only advisory status," the Reporter said. "But they crystallize long years of debate and underline the gravity of the decision he faces."

The majority and minority reports both were published by the Reporter. They contain almost no discussion of specific forms of contraception. However, abortion was condemned and sterilization was "generally to be excluded as a means of responsibly avoiding conceptions."

The majority opinion was presented in a paper which

Troops Shifted To Back Marines

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Military Command today said units of the Army's crack 1st Air Cavalry Division have been rushed to beef up Marine forces battling North Vietnamese infiltration attempts.

The announcement of the dramatic troop movement from the Central Highlands to the North-South Vietnam border area came as U.S. officials for the first time acknowledged a "little Maginot line" is being built on the frontier.

The shift of the troops who developed the art of helicopter warfare followed the dispatch of the Army's entire 5,000-man

Hutchinson Death Ruled Accidental

BORGER — Justice of the Peace Sam Watson ruled accidental death due to shock, and exposure Sunday in the death of Charles B. Hutchinson, 49, of Borger, who drowned Saturday in Lake Meredith.

An autopsy was not performed. Hutchinson died early Saturday when the 18-foot boat in which he and three other companions were fishing capsized in Lake Meredith.

The body was found about 8:30 a.m. Saturday in about eight inches of water, chief park ranger Hugh Beattie said.

The three fishing companions, Wade Gillespie, Creed Bogan and Carlos Garcia, were treated for exposure after four other fishermen found them standing on the shore near where the boat had drifted.

Funeral services for Mr. Hutchinson were held this morning.

State Traffic Deaths Low For Weekend

By United Press International Traffic fatalities remained relatively light this weekend, but a plane crash and a boating accident helped push Texas' violent death count upwards.

A United Press International count which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday showed at least 27 persons died violently in the state. Of these, 17 died in traffic accidents.

J. D. Snider, 26, Joseph Bolas Cobban, 44, and John J. Dorem, 43, all of Houston, were killed Friday night in a plane crash near Raymondville.

Three men drowned in Galveston Bay Saturday when a boat powered by an outboard motor capsized near the north side of the Texas City dike. A woman was rescued.

The victims were Harry Hollingsworth, 58, Wesley Wilrich, 65, and Nelson Scales, 30. Melvin Henney, 59, of Houston was killed Sunday when he was hit by a truck.

Catherine Jo Blakeney, 16, died Sunday at the Sheppard Air Force Base of injuries sustained Friday night when the motorcycle she was riding collided with a car on the Jacksboro Highway.

In a similar case Guadalupe Palta died of an injury which he suffered in a wreck Saturday.

House Committee Sets Hearings On Sales Tax Hike

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. John Connally says raising the state sales tax in Texas is not necessary. Nevertheless, the House tax committee is scheduled to hear this week two proposals to raise the sales tax.

The hearing is scheduled Tuesday. One bill the committee will hear witnesses on would raise the sales tax from two per cent to two and five-tenths per cent. The other would raise it to three per cent.

Both measures are considered standbys to be used if Connally's five-part tax package — which does not include a sales tax — fail to pass or is inadequate.

Some lobbyists hope the legislature will increase the sales tax instead of accepting Connally's proposals for higher taxes on natural gas production, corporate franchise and gasoline.

If the legislature passes the $170 million teacher pay raise that the Senate Education Committee has recommended, Connally's tax bill would be about $120 million short. The state sales tax is the only likely source for that kind of money.

Insiders have been saying the Texas State Teachers Association is willing to wait until 1969 for the big raise, but TSTA witnesses didn't sound that patient at the Senate hearing. "We cannot wait two years," said Dr. Joe B. McNeil, Wichita Falls school superintendent.

Midnight Deadline For Income Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Okay, you've stalled long enough. Get out that form 1040 and fill it out. If it's not in the mail by midnight tonight, you're in trouble.

The Internal Revenue Service says several million of you still haven't filed a 1966 income tax return, and the "Martinsburg monster" is standing by to finger anyone who decides not to bother sending one in this year.

The deadline for 1966 returns to be in the mail is two days later than the standard April 15, which fell on Saturday this year. Many have waited until the last minute, but most all will pay.

"There are not many people who choose not to file or pay and we have a very effective machinery for bringing them in," IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen said.

The most effective IRS agent in tracking down tax cheats is the "Martinsburg monster," the government's master tax computer hidden away in the hills of West Virginia.

This year for the first time, the monster is checking up on every taxpayer. And no doubt about it, machines are much better than men in catching tax dodgers.

"We are nationwide with automatic data processing and we can pick up most anyone who fails to file rather quickly," Cohen said.

Astronauts to Testify In Apollo 1 Inquiry

Legislator Charges 'Shocking Laxness'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Amid congressional charges of "shocking laxness" in the space program, five astronauts were summoned to testify tonight in the House investigation of the tragedy which claimed the lives of the Apollo 1 team.

Astronauts Frank Borman, Alan B. Shepard, James McDivitt, Donald K. Slayton and Walter Schirra faced questioning by a House space subcommittee conducting an inquiry into the fiery deaths of three of their co-crewmembers.

Rep. John W. Wydler, R-N.Y., a member of the House Space Committee, charged today that the laxness of Apollo program managers to the obvious danger of a launching pad fire was shocking.

Wydler was highly critical of a report prepared by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) board of inquiry and claimed it was a "graywash" of the tragedy.

"It failed to fix the responsibility for any of the failures," Wydler said, and "may raise more questions in space than the Warren Commission Report (on the Kennedy assassination) did on earth."

Wydler said that with six of the eight members of the board of inquiry from NASA, their inquiry appeared to be a "sweetheart" type of arrangement with subordinates sent out to investigate the boss.

The senate space committee today pressed its own investigation of the Jan. 27 fire and summoned NASA Administrator James E. Webb for questioning.

Webb has come under heavy fire during the congressional investigation, but astronaut Borman objected Sunday to making anyone, including the space agency chief, a scapegoat for the Cape Kennedy disaster.

"Never have I seen safety sacrificed for anything," Borman said in a television interview (Issues and Answers — ABC).

Ghana Coup Attempt Fails

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) — The military government of Ghana today put down a bloodless coup staged by a group of young army officers, Radio Accra reported.

It indicated the rebels may have been inspired by exiled President Kwame Nkrumah.

Nine hours after announcing that the government of Gen. Joseph Ankrah had fallen, Radio Accra said the "small group of military officers" who staged the abortive coup were placed under arrest and would be court-martialed.

Police Inspector General John Harley, in a special broadcast monitored in this neighboring capital, said:

"The commanders of the army, navy and air force have remained loyal to the National Liberation Council."

Harley, who also is vice president of the council, urged the population to remain calm and assured the people of the tiny nation on the upper west coast of Africa that "the authorities of the country are carrying on their full duties."

The broadcast said the coup attempt "may have pleased Kwame Nkrumah."

"But he must know that the Ghanaian people are determined to prevent his return," it said.

Pampa Suffers Second Traffic Death of Year

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. today for Howard J. Kuhlmann, 45, of 702 W. Francis, who died Sunday night in Highland General Hospital as the result of a car accident in Pampa, April 10.

Kuhlmann is the second traffic fatality in Pampa for 1967. P. O. Sanders died Jan. 22 of injuries received in his accident with a Pampa police car Jan. 21. At this same time a year ago Pampa had recorded only one traffic death.

Services for Kuhlmann, injured when his vehicle struck the rear of another car in the 1300 block of N. Hobart, were held in Carmichael - Whatley Colonial Chapel.

Rev. Sam Hulse of St. Matthews Episcopal Church officiated. Burial will be in Emporia, Kan., cemetery.

Kuhlmann had lived in Pampa the past five years and had worked as a car salesman in White Deer.

He was a veteran of World War II and had received the Purple Heart and Distinguished Service Award.

Survivors include his wife, Cherry, one daughter, Paulette, two sons, Bryan and Danny, all of the home; his mother, Mrs. L. N. Kuhlmann, Emporia, Kan.; four sisters, Mrs. Bill Ganerfeldt, Creston, Iowa; Mrs. Earl Gullist, Ottawa, Kan.; Mrs. E. M. Hollister Jr., Boulder, Colo.; Mrs. Jack Frost, Emporia, Kan.

Surveyor Speeds Toward Landing On Moon Surface

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's Surveyor 3 moon robot sped today toward a lunar landing Wednesday to scan and scratch by remote control the obscure terrain Apollo astronauts may visit.

With a rotating television camera and a versatile power shovel, the three-legged spacecraft ranks as the nation's most ambitious step yet to pave the way for manned landings this decade.

Surveyor 3 left earth 49 minutes late at 2:05 a.m. EST today and was following a 237,000 mile course toward a gentle landing on the eastern portion of the Ocean of Storms around 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The barren, pock-marked lunar plain is a potential landing site for the first Apollo moon explorers and has been scouted twice from above by Lunar Orbiter satellites. Surveyor 3's mission is to make sure it is safe for men.

It will first photograph the surrounding landscape and then unfurl its steel-tipped dirt scoop to dig ditches up to 18 inches deep in the moon's surface, smash rocks the size of a brick and move larger ones to see what's underneath.

The first stages of Surveyor 3's mission appeared flawless. Within 45 minutes after the fiery blastoff, the 2,283-pound spacecraft had unfolded its spidery legs, deployed its vital antennas and pointed its glass solar panels toward the energy-giving sun.

"So far, so good," said Surveyor Program Manager Benjamin Milwitzky.

Still ahead were the crucial mid-way steering maneuvers tonight that his predecessor failed last September and the tricky landing sequence needed to ease it onto the moon with less force than a parachutist descending to earth.

Escaped Convicts Fool All At Gov. Maddox's Reception

ATLANTA (UPI) — The four men in dirty work clothes attracted some attention in the line of well-dressed visitors waiting to meet Gov. Lester Maddox during a public reception at the executive mansion Sunday.

One observer thought they were "beatniks." Another suggested they were members of a militant protest group.

But no one apparently gave the four Negroes a second thought. Not even Maddox. He shook their hands in routine fashion as they passed him in the reception line.

Then a woman with the men approached Mrs. Maddox, standing beside her husband. The men, Mrs. Albert Hill said, were escaped prisoners who wanted to see the governor.

Mrs. Maddox quickly had Highway Patrolman Lt. Steve Polk take the prisoners into custody.

San Francisco 'Peace Fair'

SAN FRANCISCO "PEACE FAIR" — Thousands of anti-Vietnam demonstrators marched in downtown San Francisco Saturday in a war protest parade, enroute to Kezar Stadium (4 miles away) to a "peace fair." Police estimated 25,000 persons (one source said 70,000) participated in the parade, the largest peace demonstration in West Coast history.

Maddox met with the prisoners and heard their complaints of mistreatment at the Wilkinson County Prison Farm.

"If they're telling the truth, this camp ought to be shut down," said Maddox. "I believe there is a lot of truth in their statements."

R.T. Bridges, warden of the Wilkinson County camp, denied the charges of mistreatment. "A nigger will tell a lie," Bridges said. "Let 'em investigate. Send the governor. I'm ready for him."

CONDIE RECEPTION — Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cree Jr., entertained with a reception in their home, 1912 Charles, on Saturday evening honoring Dr. Richard P. Condie, director of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir of Salt Lake City, Utah. Dr. Condie directed the Pampa Oratorio Choir in a presentation of "The Messiah" Sunday afternoon in the Harvester Fieldhouse. The presentation is Part I of a three-part Spring Arts Festival sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association. Public School Prayer D.A.R. Topic

Mrs. W. S. Dixon, national defense chairman for the Las Pampas Chapter Daughters of American Revolution, reported on the topic "Restoration of Prayer in Public Schools" at a recent chapter luncheon meeting held in Jackson's Cafeteria.

In opening remarks, Mrs. Dixon said, "Supreme Court decisions in 1962 and 1963 banned a state prescribed prayer and a state required Bible reading in public schools. This 'law of the land' has been interpreted to cover all public schools in all States. The decisions were based on the thesis that prayer outlined by the defendants in the case — the New York State Board of Regents and required Bible reading in the Abingdon School district in Pennsylvania — were in violation of Article I of the United States Constitution. The only dissenting opinion was written by Associate Justice Stewart.

"In the 89th Congress a Senate Joint Resolution was introduced by Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States to permit voluntary participation in Prayer in public schools. This Resolution was defeated," Mrs. Dixon reported.

"Senator Dirksen has again introduced the same Resolution into the 90th Congress," she said. "He has stated that our tradition is a religious one and the voluntary participation in prayer in no way constitutes an establishment of a state religion. He contends that freedom of voluntary prayer or participation in prayer is perhaps the greatest of our freedoms. He believes that agnostics and atheists who oppose all forms of religion are destroyers of the American tradition."

"The simple Amendment proposed by Senator Dirksen is voluntary and permissive," Mrs. Dixon said in concluding remarks. "It places the responsibility upon local school authorities. It gives no authority to an official body to dictate the form or content of a prayer. Such authority may provide or permit voluntary participation only. This is an opportunity for all concerned Christian Americans to support the restoration of a vital freedom for Americans."

She urged members to write to their representatives to Congress.

During the business meeting, a monetary pledge was made to the Kate Duncan Smith School on Gunter Mountain Tennessee and the Tammassee School at Tammassee, S.C. These schools are maintained wholly by the D.A.R. A pledge was also made for refurbishing and air conditioning of Constitution Hall in Washington, DC.

Mrs. A. D. Hills, regent, who attended the state conference of the Texas Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, held March 14-15-16 in the Sheraton Lincoln of Houston, gave her report.

She said the conference opened with army national officers as well as state regents from other states. Mrs. Walter G. Dick from Alleyton, Texas, the State regent of the Texas Society presided over the Conference.

Mrs. William Henry Sullivan, Jr. of Scarsdale, N.Y. president general of the National Society, gave the opening address, using as her topic, "Conscientious Citizenship". She stressed the importance of exercising citizenship rights and guarding those rights zealously.

At the National Defense luncheon on March 15th, Mr. Phyllis Schlafly, national chairman of American History Month, discussed the policies of the Defense Department; especially concerning the deployment of the Nike missiles.

The conference closed with a banquet at 7:30 p.m. March 16th after a program of American music by Dr. Claude Rhea Jr. of the Houston Baptist College. Paul P. Haney, guest speaker, Public Affairs Officer, NASA Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, told of the plans for launching Gemini XII sometime in the future. He used a model of the spaceship to explain its operation as it journeys to the moon. The manned moon vehicle will land on the moon and will rendezvous with a craft for the return trip to earth.

Manners Make Friends

Dear Abby... Unusual Invite... Stirs Up Curiosity

DEAR ABBY: I recently received an invitation which read: "The OLD Mrs. John Doe requests the pleasure of your company at cocktails and supper for the NEW Mrs. John Doe, etc."

It floored me. I knew our friends John and Mary Doe had gotten a quickie Mexican divorce, and it was rumored that John was interested in a lady from New York, but how about this?

Do you think it is normal for an ex-wife to be such a good sport?

DEAR SHOCKED: No, it's not "normal" — but it's nice. The absence of bitterness could indicate that everybody's happy. (P.S. Don't be surprised if the New Mrs. Doe entertains the Old Mrs. Doe and a newly acquired John.)

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is in the fourth grade and she recently had a birthday party. She took the invitations to school and passed them out to the classmates she wanted. There were 44 kids in her class and she wanted only 38 of them at her party.

After the party her teacher called me and told me that my daughter should NOT have passed out her invitations at school unless she invited ALL the kids in her class.

Since when does a school teacher have the right to tell a pupil WHOM to invite to her birthday party? I would like your opinion in print!

HER MOTHER: Three cheers for the teacher! She is obviously much more understanding than you. The pain of having been left out will remain with those six uninvited children long after the fun has been forgotten by those who attended.

DEAR ABBY: My best girl friend has started to write to my boy friend who is away at college. She says she "likes" to write letters.

He feels that he must answer her letters as she is my best friend, yet he is very busy and really doesn't care to correspond with her.

I wish she would find her own boy friend to write to, and leave mine alone.

How can I tell her this without hurting our friendship? I don't want her to think I am jealous.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR: DEAR SENIOR: If a college man really doesn't want to continue a correspondence he shouldn't need his girl friend to run interference for him. If you have let him know that he does not have to write to your girl friend for YOUR sake, and he continues to write, you can assume that he's doing it for HIS OW Nsake.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD

Each badge which a Junior Girl Scout wears on her badge sash represents completion of several requirements. Each badge has a purpose. The purpose of the Troop Camper badge is to learn and practice the things you need to know to go troop camping. The Jr. Camporee scheduled for April 28-29-30 will provide troops the opportunity to earn this badge and also requirements on other badges. Backyard Fun, Foot Traveler, Gypsy, Observer, Outdoor Cook, Rambler, and Writer badges have requirements which may be completed during this Camporee. Leaders received more information about details of this outing during the April neighborhood meetings. A personal list for each troop member and a troop list for each leader for the needed articles were discussed. Leaders should be certain to secure parent consent and council trip permission slips for their troop to be eligible to attend this Camporee.

Brownie Troop 18 appeared on the Sheriff Bill television show last Sunday morning. It had been taped the morning before during their outing to Amarillo. They had a tour of the TV station, Borden's Dairy, ate lunch at Thompson Park, visited the zoo, rode the rides at Wonderland Amusement Center, toured the airport and was shown through one of the major airline planes. Sounds like a busy day and the leader, Mrs. Jewell Snider, is busy making plans for the troop to take another next year. Mrs. Snider had been a Girl Scout and is now repaying by sharing her Scouting experience.

Brownies of Troop 18 are: Rebecca Campbell, Cathy Carlos, Judy Kepler, Rhonda Turner, Becky Tanner, Cheryl McGill, Tammy Martin, Kim Snider, Lisa Smith, Jaet Young, Rhonda Jenkins, Cammy Holder, Rebecca O'Neal and Veda Wyatt. Also attending were: Kelli and Mike Snider, Craig Tanner and Karen Campbell. Chaperones were: Mr and Mrs. Jewell Snider and Mr and Mrs. Charles Tanner. It is nice to have the fathers taking part in Girl Scouting.

Another active Girl Scout father is Steve Odom, Boy Scout Executive of the Adobe Walls Council. Mrs. Odom and Mrs. E. B. Smith, Jr are leaders of Troop 37. An active Junior troop from Horace Mann School Mr Odom was their instructor during their "Camp Skills" Day last month on the Billy Davis Ranch. This busy troop has made a puppet theater from a Girl Scout Cookie Carton and had a show during troop meeting, decorated egg shells before Easter, collected and presented books for the children's ward to Highland General Hospital as their service project. The girls are working on the Observer badge and are busy making "Nature Observation Calendars" for the month of April. Interest never lags where planning of this sort is included in troop meetings. Thanks to the "Scouting Odors".

Members of Troop 37 are: Gay and Marie Cady, Debra Erwin, Aleta Hall, Margaret Hankins, Teresa Haynes, Barbara Herring, Kristie Langham, Elaine Odom, Kathy O'Neal, April and Linda Shultz, Susan Smith and Marie Thomas.

...Except in Unusually Severe Or Persistent Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases, to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain without surgery except in unusually severe or persistent cases.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H® — the only formula containing Bio-Dyne®. Preparation H also helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Delbert Bullard has worked with Southwestern Bell for 39 years

He's seen a lot of changes in telephone service

"They've definitely been for the better," says Mr. Bullard, chief deskman at Longview, Texas. "It hasn't been too many years ago that we were out setting poles with ropes and mules. Then we'd get one of those wet, heavy snows and we'd have to set them all over again. Now our equipment is as good as you'll find anywhere. And snowstorms don't bother buried cable and microwave towers."

"Customers get better service now—it's more reliable and costs less, too. When I started work, it was difficult to even recognize a voice on a Long Distance call. Now it's like talking across the room."

What about the changes coming in the next 39 years? "I'm not sure," Mr. Bullard says. "We've got Picturephone and the laser coming in a few years. Where do you go from there? I guess the sky's the limit."

Whatever comes along will come because of people like Mr. Bullard. He and 26,000 other Southwestern Bell people in Texas have one thing in common. They're working to make your telephone service better than ever.

Bonds Set On Two Pampans

Two Pampans were released on $500 bond each after they were charged here in Justice of the Peace courts.

Percy Roudet Britton of 2501 Charles was arranged before Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford today on a driving while intoxicated charge.

Pampans Named To Foundation Board in Canyon

Three Pampans were elected to the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation's board of directors during the organization's annual meeting Sunday at West Texas State University in Canyon.

They were C. P. Buckler, Mrs. Tom Rose and Mrs. Raymond Harrah. About 32 directors from area towns and 37 from Amarillo and Canyon were also named to the board.

During the meeting, Dr. Thomas Hohstadt, Amarillo Symphony conductor, said the orchestra will perform concerts in the Pioneer Amphitheater July 18 and 25 and Aug. 1.

Librarians Help With Circulation In Pampa School

EDITOR'S NOTE: In recognition of National Library Week, which started Sunday and ends Saturday, the News is running a four-part series on Pampa's school and public libraries. The following article, on Pampa Junior High School Library will precede two other articles on libraries of Robert E. Lee Junior High School and Pampa High School. An article on Pampa's elementary school libraries and Lovett Memorial Library ran Sunday.

Pampa Junior High School library assistants average checking out 700 to 850 books a week to a student body of 700.

"Usually junior high students have reached their peak in pleasure reading. Good reading habits should be formed by this time. In high school and college a great part of their reading time is used in required reading and in reference work for different subject areas," Mrs. Ruth Watson, librarian, said.

All Pampa Junior High School students have at least one period a week scheduled for library use, and they also come individually before and after school and in between classes.

Student assistants help Mrs. Watson with all routine library work, such as working the circulation desk, helping other students use the card catalog, keeping shelves orderly and tables, chairs, magazines and newspapers in place. They also help with processing new books.

Students are given grades for their work and ninth grade assistants earn credit.

Student assistants are Denise Bennett, Barbara Ethridge, Donna Matheny, Reggie Thompson, Charlotte Bolen, Kathy Haffines, Cindy Cummings, Peggy Nabors, Claudia Rhine, Linda Rodgers, Debbie Bennett, Carolyn Kidwell and Rita Myers.

Price To Sponsor Bill To Amend Meat Import Act

Congressman Bob Price speaking to a Farm Bureau Federation meeting in Spearman Saturday night lambasted imports as one of agriculture's big problems.

The new Panhandle Congressman, a member of the House Agriculture Committee and also a Republican Task Force on Agriculture, is a rancher himself and holds a college degree in agriculture.

He said he had introduced bills to restrict dairy imports which increased 300 percent last year and are still going up this year. He blamed imports for low returns to dairy farmers and the recent milk-dumping by a national farm organization.

Another of his bills, Price said, would give either the House or Senate Agriculture Committee authority by resolution to direct the Tariff Commission to conduct hearings and set quotas on any imports determined to be harmful to a domestic industry including beef imports. "Only the President now has this authority," Price added.

"I will introduce a bill next (this) week," Price told the group, "that will amend the Meat Import Act of 1964 to include all cured and canned meats which were not included in that act. 'Also,' he added, "under my bill, quotas would be applied when imports reached 100 percent of the base formula rather than 110 percent as allowed under the present law."

Pepitone Just Happy To Get a Base Hit

NEW YORK (UPI)—The last one out of the clubhouse was N-O-T a rotten egg.

He was jovial Joe Pepitone, really a good egg whose only major drawback is that he has a known tendency of falling victim to scrambled thinking, generally his own.

Joey boy was the Yankees' big hero Sunday night and he took his sweet time changing clothes and getting out of the clubhouse. So would you if you had just broken up a five-hour and 30 minute, 18 inning ball game.

Pepitone's base hit with two out in the 18th beat the Red Sox, 7-6, and actually should have been a double, but it goes into the books as only a single because he doesn't care about two base hits that much.

The blow which wound up the marathon struggle was a well-tagged one-bounce line drive which skipped into the right field stands.

Nestor Chylak, the first base ump, first called it a ground rule double. Later he ruled it the only thing he could, a single, because Pepitone turned and headed for the Yankee dugout after reaching first and seeing Jake Gibbs scoot home with the winning run.

"Breaks me up all over," Pepitone allowed when they told him he had lost a double by not touching second.

"I don't think I'm gonna hit 69 more doubles this season and break the record."

Joey boy is a tough cookie to figure. When everyone else feels good, he usually feels blah, and when others feel rotten, he feels great. That's the way it was at Yankee Stadium Sunday.

"I started feeling strong around the 15th inning," he said. "Eighteen innings isn't so much. I remember a doubleheader I once played in the minors. The first game went 22 innings, the second one 19. Think I'm kidding? Look it up.

It was in 1961. I was with Amarillo and we played San Antonio."

Maybe 18 innings didn't seem so much to Pepitone, but it did to some others. Like Yankee Manager Ralph Houk.

Extra Troops

"Say, Joe, why don't you go in the clubhouse and get your bat," he instructed one of the men sitting on the bench in the 16th inning.

That sounds like a normal enough order except that Houk happened to be speaking to Yankee trainer Joe Soarez at the time.

Houk laughed as he recounted the incident later, then suddenly grew serious.

"We had it all the way," he said. "We just didn't know when we wanted to strike."

He laughed some more at that one.

"I used everybody I could," he said. "The only one left was Lou Clinton and he had a broken thumb."

Originally, there were 19,290 fans in the stands but by the end there were less than 3,000 and some of those who did remain huddled around small fires to try to keep warm in the 45-degree temperature.

Pepitone said he didn't feel cold, though.

That figures.

The reason it does is because everyone else did.

SCRAMBLING back to first base is Philadelphia Phillies' catcher Clay Dalrymple. Clay made it back safely, but it was a little too close.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Brock Carries Hot Stick

By United Press International

Dashing Lou Brock has slowed to a trot and the St. Louis Cardinals, are off to the fastest start in the National League.

Brock, a scintillating speedster who led the major leagues with 74 stolen bases in 1966, hasn't done much running this season due to circumstances beyond his control—he keeps hitting the ball out of the park.

That's quite all right with the Cardinals, however, because the St. Louis swiftness have followed Brock's lead right into first place in the senior circuit with the only unbeaten record in the majors, 4-0.

Brock, who has dazzled and entertained the St. Louis fans with his footwork since being acquired from the Cubs in 1964, has made the home run trot an accepted part of his repertoire after only one week of the new season with a phenomenal output of five homers in four games.

The lithe, 170-pound outfielder socked two circuits for the second time in as many days Sunday and also collected two other hits to pace the Cards to an 11-3 slugfest victory over the Houston Astros.

Reds Shutout Giants

The Cincinnati Reds moved into undisputed possession of second place with a 4-1, 6-0 doubleheader sweep over the Giants, the Phillies flattened the Mets 2-0, the Pirates rallied to nip the Cubs 6-5 and the Braves battered the Dodgers 4-1 in other NL games.

Brock led off the first with a first-pitch homer off former roommate Mike Cuellar and repeated the solo effort in the fourth. In between, he also singled, running his consecutive hitting streak to seven before Carroll Sembera retired him on a comebacker in the fifth. He singled again in the seventh however, and scored a run in St. Louis' three-run outburst which wrapped up the victory.

Orlando Cepeda also homered for the Cards in the sixth to break a 7-7 deadlock and Roger Maris drove in three runs with a single and sacrifice fly.

Billy McCool, who came out of the bullpen this year, and Mel Queen who came out of left field, mowed down the Giants for the Reds. McCool, in his first starting role this season, struck out 10 in eight innings before yielding to Ted Abernathy is the first game. Queen, a converted outfielder, pitched a six-hitter and struck out eight in the second game.

Veteran Larry Jackson spun a five-hitter to beat the Mets for the 16th time in as many decisions. Richie Allen provided all the offensive punch with a titanic two-run homer in the fifth, one of only four hits the Phillies collected off three New York hurlers.

Matty Alou, the leagues' defending batting champion, tripled home the tying and winning runs with two out in the ninth inning as the Pirates snapped a three-game losing streak. Pittsburgh pushed across four runs in the ninth off relievers Cal Koonce, John Uplham, the loser, and Joe Niekro to hand Juan Pizarro his first win in a Pirate uniform.

Atlanta routed Don Drysdale with a four-run sixth inning and Denny Lemaster and Phil

Niekro throttled the Dodgers, who lost their fourth successive game of the year. Joe Torre's double scored Henry Aaron with the decisive run in the sixth as Drysdale was tagged with his first loss.

Beard New Vegas Champ

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Frank Beard, a quiet-spoken, bespectacled Kentuckian, does not look like a gambler and he doesn't look like a nervous type but he was both Sunday to win the 15th annual $100,000 Tournament of Champions by one stroke over Arnold Palmer.

That putt was good for $8,000—the difference between the $20,000 first-place prize and the $12,000 which Palmer won for second.

Beard, 27, had a final-round 71 par for the Stardust Golf Club course, and led the tournament from start to finish with his earlier rounds of 65-69-74. His 72-hole total of 278 was six under par.

Palmer came from eight strokes off the pace in the final round to momentarily catch and pass Beard. He had rounds of 68-72-74-64. His final 64 was a course record.

Beard, aware he needed a birdie to beat Palmer on the final hole, looked calm but he said later, "I was like a wet dishrag. You're bound to get nervous. We play for a lot of money."

Instead of playing conservatively and using a two-iron from the 18th tee as he had done in earlier rounds he got his driver and whacked the ball far down the fairway.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Barber Nears No Hit Job

By United Press International

Fortunately for Steve Barber, he's a pectical man.

The hard-balling lefthander was put on trial Sunday, risking his career on the verdict, and earned a fast acquittal by coming within two outs of a no-hitter as the world champion Baltimore Orioles beat the California Angels 3-0 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Jim Fregosi's double with one out in the ninth inning ruined the no-hit bid of Barber, whose career has been threatened by tendonitis of the left arm.

Barber, in fact, rejoined the Orioles only three days ago after originally being sent to Rochester of the International League before the season started.

The one-time Baltimore ace, who had not won a game since last year's All-Star break, was more than happy with his day's work and he showed little remorse about losing the no-hitter.

"The only guys who deserve no hitters are pitchers like Sandy Koufax and Chris Short, who throw the ball by the batters," he said. "It would have been nice to have made history but I'm not going to worry about it."

Barber's success came after the Angels had rallied for a 5-4, 10-inning victor over Baltimore in the opening game and capped the first Sunday's actions of the season, a day marked by extra inning contests.

New York and Boston stretched it out the furthest before the Yankees won 7-6 in 18 innings, although Washington and Chicago drew the prize for the most effort expended. The White Sox squeezed out a 4-3 verdict in 18 innings after they had beaten the Senators 7-3 in the opener of a doubleheader.

On other American League games, Detroit and Kansas City split a doubleheader, the Tigers winning the first 6-3 and the Athletics taking the second 11-7, and the Cleveland Indians tripped the Minnesota Twins 4-3.

The Oriole runs came on a single by Curt Blefary in the second, a double by Larry Haney in the fourth and Frank Robinson's single in the ninth. Fregosi also was the spoiler for Baltimore in the opener, driving home Don Wallace with a single for the winning run in the 10th after Jose Cardenal and Don Mincher had hit back-to-back homers with two out in the ninth to tie the score.

A two-out single by Joe Pepitone, his fourth safety of the game, broke up the five-hour and 50-minute marathon at New York in which 39 players were used and 571 pitches were thrown. Pepitone's hit drove home Jake Gibbs, who had walked and stolen second.

Chicago scored its winning run in the 16th inning on a one-out bases-loaded walk to Jerry Adair from loser Darol Knowles. Ken McMullen and Hank Allen homered for the Senators. McMullen's coming with a man on base. Three-run homers by Tommie Agee and Pete Ward made it easy for Joe Horlen to go all the way in the opener.

Kansas City scored three runs in the eighth inning to clinch the nightcap after relief pitchers Tony Pierce and Bob Dilliba had cut short a Detroit threat with the bases loaded and none out in the top half of the frame. Danny Cater and Ken Suarez each hit two-run homers for the A's. In the opener, Jim Northrup's three-run double capped a five-run sixth-inning for the Tigers and allowed Denny McLain to coast to his first victory. Dick Green and Roger Repoz homered for Kansas City.

A two-run homer by Leon Wagner in the fourth inning helped Sam McDowell register his first triumph although the Indians picked up the decisive run with the help of two fielders' choices in the sixth.

Tascosa Plays Here Tuesday

Pampa and Tascosa, who have been taking their lumps of late, will meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Optimist Club park to see just who stays in second place and maybe move up to first.

Pampa lost only their second game in 19 outings, 5-1 to Plainview, while Tascosa lost their second in a row, 5-4 to Caprock.

Pampa's loss broke a four game losing streak for the Harvesters. Plainview had downed Tascosa, 2-1 Friday.

Friday Tascosa plays Amarillo. Palo Duro at Caprock. Monterey is at Borger and Plainview at Coronado.

Saturday Palo Duro hosts Amarillo. Coronado at Tascosa. Plainview is at Caprock. Borger hosts Lubbock.

Pampa still has the best overall mark among league teams at 17-2, while Tascosa is 13-5. Monterey is 13-8; Caprock, 11-6 and Plainview, 11-7. Amarillo is now 9-9 for the season.

Caprock is in fourth place with a 4-3 mark; Plainview and Lubbock stand 4-4; Borger is 3-4; Palo Duro and Amarillo are each 2-5 and Lubbock Coronado is 2-4.

Friday Pampa hosts Lubbock, whom they beat, 1-0 in the season opener then Monterey comes to town Saturday. Monterey is the only other team to defeat Pampa, 8-3 at Lubbock.

Take Up The Slack In Space Safety

A faulty electrical wire was the probable cause of the January 27 fire aboard the first Apollo capsule, a special review board determined after more than two months of painstaking investigation.
The exact cause was not, and may never be, determined. But failure to pinpoint the exact cause of the fire is not as important as the long list of factors and conditions which the board cited as having combined to turn what might have been a minor accident into a major disaster.
These included: Not testing the combustibility of materials in the capsule's 100 per cent oxygen atmosphere at sea-level pressure; vulnerable wiring carrying the spacecraft's power; vulnerable plumbing containing a combustible coolant; inadequate provision for crew escape or for outside rescue, and "many deficiencies in designing, engineering, manufacturing and quality control."
In the light of NASA's experience in over five years of manned flights with the Mercury and Gemini capsules and their perfect safety record, the charge of haste, waste and toleration of sloppy work and testing procedures seems incredible.

Has pressure on the space agency become so great, the moon-landing timetable so inflexible, the moon race of such overriding concern that engineering shortcuts and improvisations have been allowed to take precedence over human lives? Has confusion or overconfidence—or worse, in competence—been allowed to creep into the space program?
The House subcommittee now investigating the Apollo 1 fire will want to look into these questions, as well as following up the recommendations of the review board to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy.
For want of a nail, a kingdom was lost. Because of a faulty wire, a spacecraft was lost. How much more the disaster at Cape Kennedy will have cost the nation, it is still too early to tell.
For the present, the unnecessary deaths of three brave men to sufficient cost to reckon with.

Read Any Good Book Lately?

More than 34,270 schools in America, attended by 9.6 million students, have no school libraries. In those which do have libraries, there is only one librarian for every 1,606 students.
Less than 15 per cent of all two-year college libraries meet the 20,000-volume minimum standard recommended by the American Library Association. Less than 30 per cent of all four-year colleges have 50,000 volumes.
Per capita expenditure for public libraries is $2.
These facts provide a somewhat somber background for the 10th anniversary of the National Library Week Program, April 16-22. Since the NLW's inception in 1957, public support for libraries in terms of federal aid has increased from $2 million to about $500 million in 1966-67.
Yet the U.S. Office of Education estimates that at least $2.7 billion in added support is needed to bring libraries up to minimum national standards—plus a $1.2-billion increase in annual operating budgets to maintain that level.
Development of lifetime reading habits and improvement of all types of library services are the twin objectives of the year-round NLW program, which is sponsored by the National Book Committee, a nonprofit educational association of citizens devoted to the wider and wiser use of books, in cooperation with the American Library Association.
Appropriately, the program has twin themes this year: "Explore Inner Space—Read" and "Reading is What's Happening."

To Err Is Machine, Too

There's a certain unpopularity about computers. But it isn't because people are afraid they will someday be automated out of their jobs. It's just a feeling that machines are becoming too humanlike.
This was revealed in a study based on interviews with 3,000 persons, reported in Datamania magazine. It was found that many people believe—wrongly—that the computer is infallible and that it is a "kind of superbrain which thinks as humans do and which can provide instant solutions to highly complicated problems that the ordinary man cannot even begin to understand."

As more and more people come into daily contact with computers, however, this modern-day myth is expected to lose its force. Familiarity in this case will breed not contempt but better understanding of thinking machines' true capacity to think—which is no more than men give them.

Moving The Mails

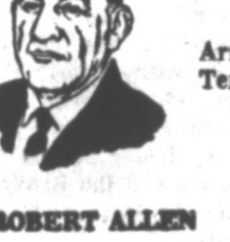

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien deserves a good word from the public for suggesting that the Post Office Department is in need of a fundamental overhaul to make it more businesslike. It is not often that a federal office holder admits that Big Government is not the model of efficiency.
What Mr. O'Brien suggested is that the Post Office Department be replaced by a non-profit government corporation, with a sweeping grant of administrative power provided by the Congress and the President. He pointed out that the Department currently has no effective control over the postal system, with respect to work loads, postal rates, salary schedules and physical facilities. To make any change, the Post Office Department has to secure congressional approval, which is not easy.
It certainly is true that the Post Office Department is subject to all manner of outside influences and controls. From its establishment the Department has been regarded as a political operation. Postmasterships have been choice political plums. As a result, efficiency has suffered.
In the past, when the country was not so populous, the inefficiency of the Post Office Department was not so apparent. Indeed Americans whose memories go back to before World War II remember that there were two mail deliveries a day in most neighborhoods. Year by year, however, postal service has deteriorated. Though this is the age of jets, the Post Office Department operates at the speed of the covered wagon.
This is an intolerable condition. The high-speed, complex America of today requires first-class communication. The investor owned telephone service furnishes this kind of quality communication in its field. But getting a written communication from one place to another is still a 19th century operation in the United States. This is ridiculous because the U. S. is the most advanced technological country in the world. There is no lack of machines and technical control systems to handle the sorting and distribution of mail.
It is questionable, however, whether Mr. O'Brien's specific remedy is the answer to the problem. The idea of a non-profit government corporation has a superficial appeal, but it is still a government enterprise. The reason is that the people involved in it are lacking the profit incentive which sparks so much that is progressive in our national life.
Furthermore, Big Government lacks the courage to deal effectively with labor problems if there is featherbedding in the Post Office Department. It is likely that there will be featherbedding in a government corporation created to move the mails. Indeed the bureaucrat just doesn't have the incentive, as an executive, to remove people from the payroll who aren't performing as they should. In the world of government bureaucracy, numbers of employees in a department or agency constitute a status symbol.
An even better suggestion than Mr. O'Brien's would be to turn the postal service over to private enterprise—to a profit-making corporation, that is. One can be sure that such a corporation, if it knew its earnings would go up in accordance with the rendering of speedy service, would see that the customers were satisfied.
At present the customers of the Post Office Department are very unsatisfied. And unless there is some radical change in the postal system, postal service will come close to collapsing in the United States. More and more mail is being put into the system, without improvement in the system's handling capacity.
Seriously, it is tragic that private enterprise isn't given a chance to carry the mails. The public, one can be sure, would be glad to pay sensible postage rates if it knew that a letter or package would be delivered on time. Americans are accustomed to paying for service, and the overall pattern of commercial services shows that citizens will pay what is necessary to get quality performance.
Big Government has had its chance to move the mails on a timely basis, and government has failed. It is time that the bureaucrats moved over and let business executives work out ways to get mail from one city to another at a speed compatible with the jet age.

Armed Services Spending Tens of Millions For Non-Military Studies and Inquiries

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Army, Navy and Air Force are spending tens of millions of dollars for so-called studies and inquiries—which on the basis of available official information would appear to have little, if any, military value.
Exactly what these large expenditures are all about is unclear.
But in 1965 (most recent official figures), the three armed services expended $33,827,000 for this purpose. The year previous the total was $24,776,000.
Of the $33,827,000 in 1965, the Air Force parceled out a whopping $23,453,000 in 554 grants; the Army, $9,651,000 in 271 grants; the Navy, $723,000 in 78 grants. In 1964, the Air Force again was way out in front with $17,871,000 for 396 grants; the Army, $6,226,000 on 242 grants; the Navy, $678,000 with 69 grants.
Pentagon officials say 1966 compilations are still incomplete. The delay is blamed largely on the Air Force—which is characterized as "always late in submitting this information." There was no indication when a full report would be available.
The 1964-1965 figures are from an unpublished Defense Department report titled "Grants for Non-Profit Institutions." Other significant disclosures are:
—In 1965, 116 foreign universities and schools of various kinds got $3,362,000 in these so-called research grants.
—Thirty-two U. S. universities received around $30 million of the $33,827,000 dished out by the three armed services. The remaining $10.5 million was divided among 192 other U. S. schools.

HIGH - FLOW BOONDOGGLE — These details of large-scale military spending of this kind follow on the heels of two reports by this column of similar expenditures by the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the anti-poverty program.
It was disclosed that the Arms Control Agency, established by the Kennedy administration in 1962, has spent approximately $25 million for so-called research out of a total of $53.831 million in appropriations. This is slightly less than one-half of the funds Congress has voted the agency in the six years of its existence.
Previously, this column revealed that the OEO had spent $7,788,365, as of June 30, 1966, on numerous studies, inquiries, assessments, evaluation and surveys—none of which seemed to get at the real problems of poverty, such as training the unemployed and providing jobs for them.
Congressional authorities in charge of anti-poverty legislation bluntly characterized these "research" projects as largely boondoggles with the primary purpose of lading out funds to certain individuals, concerns, organizations and colleges.
Representative H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, made a similar charge against the Arms Control Agency—which has yet to record any achievement of note.
MYSTERIOUS RESEARCH —Inquiries at the Army, Navy and Air Force about the nature of the projects for which they are handing our millions to "no profit institutions" in the U. S. and abroad brought shrugs and blank stares.
It was explained such information was not available because detailed records are not kept. The reason: There was no demand for them.
"Nobody ever asked us what the money goes for," said a Navy official. "The only interest seems to be in how much we are spending. To my knowledge, this is the first time anyone has wanted to know what these grants are for."
The story was the same at the Army and Air Force. At the former, an official stated the last time an effort was made to ascertain what the service was spending on research and the nature of the projects was in 1961 at the demand of a senator.
"It took us eight weeks and cost thousands of dollars to assemble this data," said the Army spokesman.
Digging at random through one Navy file cabinet shed a little light on these "research" projects, as follows:
—Colorado State College got $10,200 for a study of "Metabolism of Hibernation."
—Wilkes College, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., $19,000 for a study of "Microstress Research."
—National Academy of Science $6,150 for a "Breathold Diving Symposium."
—University of Hawaii, $3,960 for a study of "Albatross Biology."
—National Academy of Science $1,800 for an "Aquatic Enrichment" study.
THE BIG GRANTEES —The University of California and Yale head the list of the 32 U. S. colleges that got some $20 million in these "research" grants, approximately two-thirds of the total the Army, Navy and Air Force spent for this purpose in 1965.
California received 59 grants amounting to $3,147,361; Yale, 10 grants for $1,229,000.

In striking contrast were some mini-grants—$600 from the Navy to Washburn University, Topeka, Kan.; $2,060 from the Army to the Citadel Military College, S.C.; $4,000 from the Air Force to the University of Idaho. All these projects were for unexplained "research."
Other of the large beneficiaries were:
Case Institute of Technology, 10 grants, $575,000; Duke University, 9 grants, $463,000; Florida State University, 9 grants, $645,000; University of Florida, 14 grants, $399,000; Illinois University, 16 grants, $702,000; Maryland University, 16 grants, $488,000; Michigan University, 19 grants, $717,000; Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 17 grants, $714,000; Minnesota University, 15 grants, $604,000; New York University, 21 grants, $765,000; Pennsylvania State University, 10 grants, $564,000; Pittsburgh University, 10 grants, $445,000; Rochester University, 16 grants, $979,000; University of Southern California, 12 grants, $974,000; Stanford University, 12 grants, $445,000; Texas University, 13 grants, $755,000; Wisconsin University, 17 grants, $729,000; Ohio State University, 7 grants, $391,000; Johns Hopkins University, 5 grants, $532,000; Columbia University, 8 grants, $466,000; Cornell University, 5 grants, $341,000; Catholic University, 6 grants, $392,000; California Institute of Technology, 4 grants, $327,000.
FOREIGN FAVORITES — Of the 116 foreign "non-profit institutions" that got these military "research" grants, the largest, $263,000, went to Toronto University.
The most curious grants were —$1,000 from the Army to the Director de Dentre Muraz Haute, Oungadougou, Upper Volta, Africa; $3,000 from the Air Force to the University of Sassari, Sardinia.
Also, despite President De Gaulle's numerous moves and pronouncements against the U. S., two French institutions received grants — $45,000 from the Air Force to the Ecole Normale Supérieure; $7,500 from the Air Force to the University of Lyon.
Even South Africa got in on these deals with a $17,000 grant from the Army to Witwatersand University.
Other large foreign beneficiaries were the University of Western Australia, $83,000; Universidad de Chile, $122,000; Taiwan University, $15,000; S. a Calixto College, Bolivia, $69,000; University of South Wales, Australia, $40,000; Pisa University, $30,000; Pontificia Universidad Catolica de Chile, $46,000; Universidade de Sao Paulo, $86,000; Sheffield University, Sheffield, England, $34,000; Institute of Medical Research, Malaysia, $163,000; Buenos Aires University, $24,000; Cambridge University, England, $103,000.
PREDICTIONS — Svetlana Aliluyeva, daughter of Stalin, will be admitted to the U. S. within a few months. She will be granted permanent residence here. Preparations for that are now underway. . . . Prime Minister Harold Wilson will come to Washington next month for a series of momentous talks with President Johnson and his top assistants. . . . Massachusetts Governor John Volpe will join the growing number of Republican aspirants for second place on the 1968 ticket. Volpe has definitely decided to seek the vice presidential nomination. . . . The U. S. will resume military aid to Pakistan, cut off with the outbreak of fighting with

Clearing House

Glenwood Springs, Colo. April 13, 1967
Editor:

My only son lost his life in Korea, in a no-win appeasement of the Communists, which has resulted in another no-win war in Viet Nam, which, if allowed to continue, will result in more sons dying in other no-win wars elsewhere in the future.
So, in Glenwood Springs, Colo., we formed a committee, flew a retired Marine Lt. General from the East to speak, held a Victory in Viet Nam Rally which voted to send the President the following telegram:
"(1) In loyalty to our fighting American sons dying in Viet Nam — 200 each week — stop trading with and aiding the Soviet communists now supplying 80 per cent of the munitions killing our men. (2) Blockade or destroy Haiphong through which flow the Soviet munitions killing our men. (3) Go all out, short of using nuclear weapons, to win this war and bring our boys home. We are opposed to further appeasement."
Petitions were also signed by the Rally requesting our two Senators and Representative to introduce resolutions stating that the telegram represents the sense of the Senate and the House.
Too long have the headlines and TV coverage been cornered by the Vietnicks, the Communist appeasers, the fearmongers, and the handful of weathervane politicians who cater to this un-American rabble and who have swallowed the Communist line, hook and sinker. It is high time that the solid patriotic desire of the American people to win this war and get out of Viet Nam be heard in the press and on the air.
So I am asking the editors of the country to print the story of this Rally and its telegram and petitions, and then to hand this letter to some unfringible citizen and suggest that he do what we did here. There is no politics in it; all organizations can join in a true grassroots rally. It will take a hundred rallies and telegrams to impress the President. We did it in our town; what's to stop you from doing it too?
Fear motivates the opposition and prevents otherwise supporters from standing up to be counted. But what if George Washington had feared British reprisal? What if the men of Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill had played it safe by staying home? Would we have won our freedom? Can we keep it now by cowardice instead of courage?
I failed to fight for my dead son, but I'm not going to have my two grandsons, now about to be drafted, approach me from their graves as my son does. I can say, "I tried. I did my damndest." What will you be able to say?
Eugene R. Guild,
Capt., USA (ret.)

Homeric with offices in New York, Los Angeles and Chicago, is a firm that specializes in a unique service for about-to-be-displaced persons and families. If a fellow is notified that he is being transferred to another part of the country by his employer he can call Homeica and tell them where he is to be located. Within hours they will send him a complete dossier on the new location—the good suburbs, activities, social life, educational and recreational facilities, in fact everything he might need to know. Next they direct him to reputable local real estate agents to that when the family arrives they will have a selection of new homes to consider in the price range they can afford. It's one of this nation's unusual businesses.
Today's smile: A teacher asked one of her pupils: "Johnny, can you tell me the difference between a little boy and a dwarf?" Johnny answered: "There might be a lot of difference." The teacher asked: "What do you mean?" Little Johnny replied: "Well, the dwarf might be a girl."

The widely-held belief that Senator Bobby Kennedy would like to become President, as his brother JFK did, is not without precedent in our history. Many of our chief executives were related. John Quincy Adams was the son of John Adams, our second President. William Henry Harrison was the grandfather of Benjamin Harrison, James Madison and Zachary Taylor were cousins and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a fifth cousin of the colorful Teddy, was related to eleven former chief executives through blood or marriage.
Thoughts while shaving: Everyone has heard the old saw about carrying coals to Newcastle but it has a real counterpart in this country. Mussel shells harvested along the coastline are shipped to Iowa where they are made into buttons. . . . A New York dog fancier has a unique and sometimes startling way of transporting his prize St. Bernards to the various dog shows. He loads the enormous pouches into a second-hand hearse and off they go. Needless to say, other motorists and pedestrians give a second startled look when they see the gigantic dogs peering out at them and it's not unlikely that many decide on the spot to quit drinking or at least not so very long ago that five and ten-cent stores carried only items in that price range, but times have changed. Most of them today are offering "1 a year plans" for those who can't afford to pay $25 or $50 for something they think they need. . . . A Vermont correspondent tells us how to distinguish between junk and antiques. He says if his wife wants it painted, it's junk; if she wants it sanded and polished, it's an antique. Maybe that's as good a definition as any. . . . A textile

Celanese Corp. Lists Earnings For Three Months

NEW YORK (Spl) — Celanese Corporation had earnings of $147 million, equal to $1.02 a share, on sales of $255.7 million, during the first three months of 1967, Harold Blanche, chairman and chief executive officer, told stockholders at the corporation's annual meeting.

The earnings were 9.3 per cent lower than the income of $16.2 million, or $1.13 a share, reported for the first quarter of 1966. Blanche said this year's first quarter earnings would have been comparable to those of the same 1966 period, except for a month-long strike in the fibers plant at Narrows, Virginia, which has been settled, and by costs involved in the planned closing of its rayon facilities at Rome, Georgia.

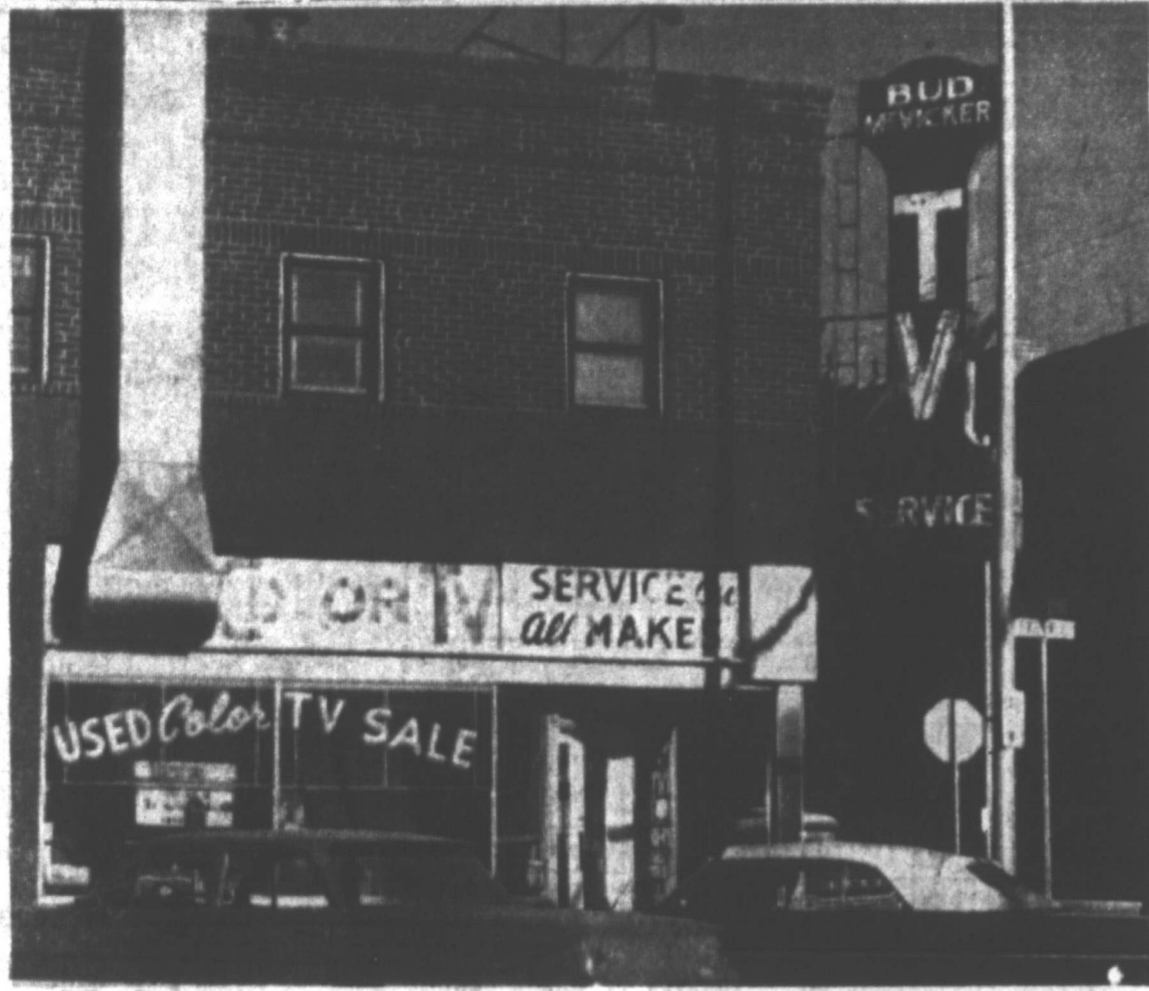

Sales for the three months ended March 31 this year were the highest for any first quarter in the corporation's history, with increases in sales of fibers, chemicals, petroleum and forest products. During the quarter, the first shipments were made from the new Skeena mill in Prince Rupert, British Columbia, which is operated jointly by a Celanese affiliate and a Swedish firm.

Stockholders were presented a film report of the corporation's $300 million investments in expansion projects during 1966.

Celanese is a diversified chemical company, producing a broad line of petrochemicals, fibers, plastics, paints and coatings, petroleum and forest products.

Torginol Floors Offer Low Cost Upkeep

For centuries man has tried by one form of experiment or another, to develop a seamless floor covering. A covering that not only remains beautiful, but also carries a durability and proves to be easy to keep clean for hospitals, schools, doctor's offices and the child's playroom.

Finally after much trial and error, Torginol was introduced to the public. It found immediate success. Not only was it durable but it resisted cracking and gave the housewife a floor wax-free and easy and inexpensive to maintain.

Through numerous laboratory tests, the technicians learned that Torginol was unaffected by most chemicals and proved to impervious to oils, greases, animal fats and detergents. Its resistance to abrasions was amazing, outlasting other resilient flooring on the market.

What thrills for most homeowners wanting to install a seamless floor outside near the pool, Torginol has proved to be unaffected by normal weather conditions. This provides the homebuilder with confidence in the material and workmanship of Torginol flooring. This lasting quality was unheard of before introduction of Torginol flooring. This flooring is installed by experts, giving you dependable service and workmanship unsurpassed.

Torginol flooring can make life easier and provide a wax free floor and a cleaner mode of living. Give it a try. Call Towles Tile at MO 5-5075. You will be more than pleased.

LONDON (UPI)—Gerald Spagnol, 9, doesn't mind any more when his friends call him "Fatsy."

Saturday, after a birthday party feast of cake, sandwiches, ice cream and all the trimmings, Gerald was out playing when he stumbled and fell into an open manhole.

Instead of crashing 12 feet into an old coal cellar, he got stuck in the 18-inch hole. It took five adults to pull him out—unhurt.

Investment Co. Lists Net Earnings

Consolidated net earnings of Southwestern Investment Co. and subsidiaries for the second quarter ended Feb. 28, 1967, were 29 cents per share compared to 26 cents for the first quarter and 26 cents for the second quarter of the previous year. Earnings for the six months were 55 cents per share compared to 57 cents for the first half of 1966, as reported by R. Earl O'Keefe, chairman of the board, in a mid-year letter to shareholders.

Adjusted earnings, allowing for an increase in insurance in force in the life insurance subsidiary, were 62 cents per share for the six months, compared to 77 cents per share for the previous period, reflecting a less rapid growth rate in life insurance in force. O'Keefe stated that this rate is expected to improve in the second half of the current year.

Credit loss experience improved substantially to 1.15 per cent of receivables liquidated, compared to 1.57 per cent in the first half of 1966. Operating expenses were reduced 11 per cent, compared to the previous period. Significant reductions in money costs since the latter part of January are expected to contribute to net earnings in the last half of this year.

Volume for the period was $55,135,354, compared to $60,585,353. Outstanding receivables on Feb. 28, were $121,305,224, compared to $123,232,110 at the beginning of the year.

Wall Street In Review

Arthur Tepper of Stanley Heller & Co. says the administration's efforts to stimulate the economy and ward off a recession have been well timed. He feels the moves were made in the early stages of a slowdown, making them more likely to succeed than if they had been attempted when a downward trend was well established. The analyst says that despite current weakness he sees no change in the search for the ever popular performance stocks.

The Monroe Doctrine was declared on Dec. 2, 1823.
