Soviet Leader Urges Communist Unity to Defeat U.S. in Vietnam

Cooperation Between Russia, China Pushed

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev offered today to cooperate with Communist China to defeat the United States in Vietnam.

He called for "unity of action" by Russia, Red China and other communist states "in the widest sense."

SEATO Nations Gather to Review Strategy of War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With peace hopes near zero and more North Vietnamese troops massing along the demilitarized zone, the United States and its Asian allies gathered today to review their war strategy.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, opening the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), was expected to emphasize the importance of cohesion among the anti-communist allies in the long pull ahead.

Aides said Rusk probably would underline the need, while pressing the fight on the battlefield, to step up campaigns against subversion and economic chaos.

The SEATO conference continues until mid-day Thursday, to be followed by a meeting of the seven nations actively engaged in the Vietnam conflict. The seven include five of the eight SEATO members, plus South Vietnam and South Korea.

During the seven-nation meeting, South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do is expected to unveil his country's ideas on giving repentant Viet Cong members full political rights if and when the communists give up their effort to conquer the country and agree to cooperate with Saigon.

City Officials Seek State's Paving Share

Preliminary plans for seeking appropriation of the state's share of funds to pave Alcock St. (SH152) from Faulkner St. to Prices Rd. were discussed here this forenoon at a meeting of Pampa City officials with District Highway Engineer Chas. Smith and Tom Kelley, resident engineer.

A Pampa delegation including the mayor, city manager, representatives of the chamber of commerce, city commission members, county judge, county commissioners and local highway committeemen, plans to go to Austin May 5 to present a request for state highway commission participation in the street paving and widening project on a 50-50 basis. The city's share of the improvement is $230,000, provided for in the $2,900,000 bond issue approved by city voters March 8 last year.

The Lewis Construction Co., Inc. of Dumas moved paving equipment to Pampa yesterday to begin work on the first 12 blocks of streets released for construction by the city commission last Friday.

The first of the 12 blocks to be paved will be a six-block stretch of Beryl St. from Finley to Tigner. Actual work is expected to start tomorrow.

The entire paving project to be done by the Dumas firm will cover 149 city blocks under a $750,000 program, also part of the bond issue schedule.

Path Corrected For Surveyor 3

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Surveyor 3 reacquired its navigational fix on the sun and the star Canopus.

"Indications were that the maneuver was successful," a JPL spokesman said. "But it will be about a dozen hours before we can be positive."

The steering maneuver, accomplished by firing a retro-rocket aboard the vehicle, was successful with Surveyor 1 last June, but failed with Surveyor 2 last September.

Surveyor 3, sent aloft early Monday from Cape Kennedy atop an Atlas-Centaur 12 launch vehicle, is expected to dig into the lunar surface to confirm that astronauts can land there safely.

About 45 minutes after blastoff, the 2,285-pound spacecraft had unfolded its spidery legs, deployed its vital antennas and pointed its solar panels toward the sun for energy.

GRAY COUNTY SOIL SURVEY MAP — Jack Williams, left, and Robert Sailor, both of Pampa, examine a map that illustrates where different types of soils are located in Gray County. The map is part of the first Gray County soil survey report, recently published. Williams, a soil scientist for Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District, is author of the text. Sailor is chairman of the conservation district's board of supervisors that met here yesterday and received advance copies of the survey.

House Committee Resumes Work On Code of Criminal Procedure

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee resumes work today on a detailed, compromise revision of the much-criticized 1965 Texas Code of Criminal Procedure.

The committee, under Rep. James E. Nugent of Kerrville, is trying to include both the technical changes proposed by the state Bar Association and some of the anti-crime weapons sought by prosecutors.

To be settled today is the controversial question of oral confessions. Prosecutors want to be able to use any oral confession acceptable to the U.S. Supreme Court, while the Bar Association proposed a somewhat more restrictive rule that prevailed before 1965.

The House committee already has shown more sympathy than its Senate counterpart for the suggestions of police and prosecutors.

The House committee's bill is a compromise, hammered out word-by-word, between the Bar Association bill sponsored by Rep. Joe Shannon Jr. of Fort Worth and the prosecutors' bill sponsored by Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin.

In contrast, the Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, is basically for the most part ignores prosecutors' suggestions.

The Senate last week refused to vote on Hardeman's bill. It is still awaiting Senate action. After a long hassle, the committee Monday agreed on a compromise on the question of sentencing.

The 1965 code permits the defendant, after he has been found guilty, to decide whether he wants judge or jury to assess punishment.

Armstrong said prosecutors believe this gives defendants an unfair advantage. He said he would prefer that the judge pass sentence in all except death penalty cases.

Rep. Carl A. Parker moved to leave the 1961 code unchanged, but lost on an 8-8 tie vote. The committee then agreed to the Armstrong-Shannon compromise, which lets the defendant choose between judge and jury, but makes him do so at the beginning of the trial unless the prosecutor agrees to let him change his mind later.

B52's Blast Jungle Bases

SAIGON (UPI) — Beefed-up U.S. and allied forces today bombed and attacked Communist forces that have turned the North-South Vietnam border area into the cockpit of the war.

From high above the clouds U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses dumped scores of tons of special high explosive bombs on the jungle bases of the North Vietnamese troops who had twice assaulted and once overran the South Vietnamese key provincial capital of Quang Tri.

On the ground in the coastal plains below the border U.S.-led South Vietnamese forces killed 51 guerrillas who had been terrorizing government teams aiding local peasants.

The action followed the reinforcement rush north by units of the U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division and the entire Army 196th Light Infantry Brigade. U.S. commanders clearly hoped to stem the tide of a rising Communist offensive in South Vietnam's strategic five northern provinces.

In related action, U.S. pilots flew 101 missions against North Vietnam Monday and concentrated on the buildup area of Communist forces just above the South Vietnamese frontier.

On the southern fringe of the five provinces newly arrived air cavalrymen reported killing 39 guerrillas to raise their total to 139. The fight came in a dozen action by the Americans smashing Viet Cong forces testing their might.

The fighting flared as South Vietnam proposed a Communist and allied mutual pull back from the DMZ area. Government spokesmen said the proposal was designed to lessen fighting and ease the way toward negotiations — which Hanoi has rebuffed. The proposals came as Saigon pushed construction of a "little magnet line" to hold back the Communist divisions poised for invasion from the DMZ area.

Allied commanders estimated the Communists have field units or entire formations of up to six divisions in the border area.

The stratofortresses hit today near Quang Tri, in an area nine miles west of the city. They aimed at the jungle supply routes supplying the Communist forces.

Astronauts Feel It's Time to Press Ahead to the Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The comrades of the three astronauts who died in the Apollo 1 disaster feel it is time to stop the recriminations and press ahead to the moon.

Astronauts Alan B. Shepard, Walter M. Schirra Jr., Donald K. Slayton, James A. McDivitt and Frank Borman expressed that belief Monday night before a House subcommittee investigating the Jan. 27 moon capsule fire.

"Although a penalty has been paid," Shepard said, "it seems to me we can benefit from this penalty. It seems to me the benefit from this accident is to discontinue recriminations and press ahead."

Shepard and his four colleagues expressed unwavering confidence in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's management of the Apollo program. "We're confident in the management, in the engineering, in ourselves," Borman told the House Space Subcommittee that oversees NASA's operations.

"I think the question is whether you have confidence in us."

The astronauts rebuffed suggestions that an independent agency be formed to act as a watchdog on the moon program. And they won the backing of some top Democrats among the investigators.

Gray County Unit Cancer Crusade Canvass Set Tonight

Several hundred volunteers from the Gray County Unit of the American Cancer Society will launch the "Tell Your Neighbor" phase of the organization's 1967 crusade with a house-to-house canvass in Pampa and Lefors tonight from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

Printed material containing life saving facts about cancer will be distributed and residents will be asked to complete confidential survey cards.

County crusade chairman Don R. Lane said "Tell Your Neighbor" will emphasize responsibility in the prevention and control of cancer.

"Half of all those who develop cancer could be saved through earlier detection and prompt treatment," he said.

Mrs. Bob Andis and Mrs. Jim Terry, in charge of tonight's activity, asked Pampa area and district chairmen to check-in at the First Methodist Church patio immediately following the completion of their canvass.

TELL YOUR NEIGHBOR — Cancer Crusade leaders are shown making preparations for the house-to-house educational survey tonight in Pampa and Lefors. Highlights and Sidelights From the State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — House of Representatives has passed the Senate a far-reaching consumer code regulating most consumer loans and allowing banks higher interest rates.

Gov. John Connally recommended the code which resulted from a two-year study of the credit field.

Bill by Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews establishes maximum credit charges, limits required insurance on loans, requires disclosure to borrower of all charges he must pay and prohibits misleading advertising.

Pendleton said his measure would provide Texas with one of the most "comprehensive and effective" regulations of consumer loans in the nation.

But Rep. Paul Floyd of Houston claimed the bill would "increase cost of money to borrowers."

Code covers all fields of credit under $2,500, whether loans are by banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions or pawnbrokers. Installment purchases, including those of autos, are included.

Proponents contend that consumers will have a better loan market if banks and other lending agencies can charge the same rates as finance firms.

Although opponents emphasize that the bill allows up to 240 per cent annual interest (on a loan of $10 for one month), rate permitted still is a reduction from that now fixed as ceiling in that class of small loans.

(Actual charge on the $10 loan action under the code would be $2.) Reduction is about 25 per cent below those now charged for loans under $100.

These rates are authorized by the code.

—Auto installment loans—$7.50 per $100 on new cars ranging to $15 per $100 on autos over four years old.

—Regulated loans — $18 per $100 annually on first $300 and $8 per $100 above $300, to $2,500.

—Secondary mortgage loans on residential property — $1 per $100, same rate as on installment loans.

—Retail installment sales and services would be limited to $12 per $100 for first $500, ranging down to $8 over $1,000.

—Revolving credit maximum would be one and a half per cent per month for first $500 of unpaid balance and one per cent on unpaid balance over $500.

OPTOMETRY BILL DELAYED — Bill to reverse State Board of Optometry ruling which restricts multiple-office practice and advertising of eye glass firms under trade names (e.g. Texas State Optical, Lee) was sent to sub-committee after hearing before Senate Public Health Committee.

Fate of the bill is uncertain. Contested ruling, upheld by State Supreme Court, was made by six-member Board, five of whom are independent optometrists.

Dr. N. Jay Rogers of Beaumont, TSO head, said Board ruling was aimed at curtailing competition and would run up prices of glasses.

Board attorney Charles Babb argued advertising would not be prevented by ruling, although he criticized some advertising by multiple-office optometrists. He said intent of Board's ruling is to require optometrists to practice under own names and maintain closer relationship to "patients."

WATER RIGHTS LAW — After 50 years of effort, Texas now has a water rights adjudication act to help solve water disputes without prolonged and costly court battles.

Act follows the "Oregon plan" of administrative procedure in refereeing water wrangles, plus automatic judicial review.

Riparian users must file a record of their claims with the Texas Water Rights Commission, the administering agency, by Sept. 1, 1969.

Backers of the bill said they hope it will prevent repetition of cases like the Rio Grande Valley water rights suit which has cost an estimated $10,000,000 ($400,000 of that out of state funds) over years of litigation. Case now is on appeal.

INDUSTRIAL AMENDMENT PASSES—Legislature has cleared for submission to voters next year the first constitutional amendment of this lawmaking session — to permit cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial development.

If approved by Texans in the November, 1968, election, bonds could be used to build industrial plants for private concerns and repaid through revenues of the corporations. No tax funds would be obligated.

MEDICAID BILL ADVANCED — Senate has passed a bill to implement the "Medicaid" program of medical assistance to needy which would provide a program totaling more than $200,000,000 in the next two years.

Federal government will match state expenditures on a four - to - one dollar basis. Bill, virtually assured of House passage also, would provide hospital, nursing home and physicians services to public welfare recipients, including a aged, blind, disabled and families with dependent children.

MH-MR LEGISLATION—Last week was a big one for Mental Health-Mental Retardation.

House passed a bill to allow MH-MR board members to be paid for every day they work instead of just the days they attend a meeting; bill transferring the authority to license private mental hospitals from the State Department of Health to MH-MR; and a bill to allow the voluntary admission of mentally retarded persons to state schools.

House MH-MR Committee favorably reported a bill setting out the schedule of monthly payments for persons in mental retardation facilities; bill to allow MH-MR to make contracts for the provision of MH-MR services with hospitals and other private facilities; and a bill to require county attorneys of counties where community centers are located to file suit to collect fees for the treatment of non-indigent persons in those centers.

TRAFFIC SAFETY — House Committee on Highways and Roads favorably reported two bills and sent two others to sub-committee.

Reported back to the House were bill to expand motor vehicle inspection requirements to make them conform with federal statutes and bill to provide for reflectorized license plates to be issued in Texas beginning in 1969.

Sent to subcommittee were bill to establish a uniform crime reporting system and bill to increase the amount of damage required before a written accident report must be submitted to the Department of Public Safety.

MORE BILLS — Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall introduced resolution urging Congress to take action toward a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayers and Bible reading in public schools.

Senate passed bill to authorize creation of institutes of urban studies at University of Houston and Arlington State.

House voted for new medical school at Houston, dental school at Dallas.

House Agriculture Committee sent to sub-committee the bill to allow Agriculture Commissioner John C. White to issue "stop-sale" orders when he finds a violation of the state's weights and measures laws on food packaging.

Bill by Rep. Oscar Carrillo of Benavides to exempt from tuition at state-supported colleges and universities students from families with annual income of $4,800 or less was referred by the House Education Committee to sub-committee.

AG OPINIONS — Proposed law to prohibit sale of merchandise below cost "with intent to injure competition" would be constitutional, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: —State institutions can adopt reasonable standards of clothing and attire for students, in "anti-beatnik" bill by Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock is unconstitutional because caption does not cover all provisions.

—Court would have power under new bill to require presence in courtroom of parents or guardians of a minor charged with driving while intoxicated.

—Law does not require an employee be given time off to vote while working overtime hours for which he volunteered.

—Galveston County may use flood control funds to maintain seawalls.

—It is responsibility of the committing county to physically return an escaped juvenile offender to Texas Youth Council custody.

—Bill authorizing exchange of benches by justices of peace in the same county is constitutional.

—Harris County commissioners court cannot enjoin a subdivider from selling lots on the ground that he has failed to complete roads to standards of county engineer.

—Chattel mortgages filed prior to last July 1 should be renewed or extended by filing affidavit with county clerk as required by law in effect before the Uniform Commercial Code adoption.

COURTS SPEAK — U.S. Supreme Court rejected the state's appeal from the ruling that Texas House of Representatives must be reapportioned to form districts of more nearly-equal population. House committee is proceeding on that mandate, expects to have bill out by mid-May.

Third Court of Civil Appeals reversed Austin district court and held that last November's constitutional amendment repealing the poll tax and requiring an annual free registration system is valid. Court said voters had ample notice by advertising and publicity that registration provision was included in repeal measure.

MALOUF ABRAHAM REPORTS

Hairgrove's Death Is Shock To All

One of our new Representatives, Jim Hairgrove from Lake Jackson, was found dead this week and it was a shock to all of us. There are only six weeks left in this session and I don't see how we can get done in spite of what the "old pros" tell me. These are going to be by far the most important weeks of the session. We will determine who gets what and where it will come from. It seems that the Legislature is supposed to be all things to all people. However, we do have a lot of good men down here who are trying to do the best they can and so hopefully the end result will be something that we can live with. A lot of surprising things happen. Some bills that you think will have a lot of trouble will sail through and others you think will not have any trouble at all will get hung up. An example was HB 457 by Jones of Lubbock. It is a bill that permits growers of various products to set up a fund for research and promotion of their product. This comes about by having an election in a given area setting up a committee. It takes a two thirds vote of those involved and then an amount not to exceed one percent can be deducted from the sale of the product for the promotion of it. If a producer does not wish to participate, he can exempt himself from the deduction. I had a number of letters favoring this bill and felt like it had some merit. At least they weren't asking the State for money. However, it got amended on the floor where it was about gutted. Just before the final vote, Jones moved to table it for two weeks to give him time to try and satisfy some of the objections. Another bill got axed and a couple more got postponed as the sponsors got a little nervous. It seems that there are good days and bad days to pass bills. You ought to come down and attend some of these Committee hearings as they are a real education. They are open to the public and everyone present has a chance to speak for or against whatever bill is under consideration. I think it would make you feel a lot better about what goes on. I've enjoyed seeing and hearing from so many of you. If there are any issues you are particularly interested in be sure and give me your views.

Dr. Norma L. McNeil, president of Sul Ross State College, will be guest speaker for the Pampa High School honors banquet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the high school cafeteria. The 142 students who made a grade of 90 or above in accelerated English, mathematics, science and foreign language courses will be honored for academic achievement. Program officials are Howard Graham, master of ceremonies; Weldon Trice, invocation; Hugh Sanders, music; Dr. John Damron, introduction of Dr. McNeil; Cameron Marsh, introduction of honor students and Jerry Stephens, dinner music. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Texas. His M.A. thesis dealt with the corridos (folk ballads) of Mexico and South Texas. As an American specialist, he toured five South American countries in 1962 giving lectures in Spanish on United States folklore and concerts in United States folk songs. In 1963, he was invited by the Ministry of Education of Saudi Arabia to tour that country as a consultant on their program to establish scholarships to American universities for Saudi Arabian students. Under a grant from the Creole Foundation of Caracas, he conducted a survey of primary needs of Latin American universities in 1961. Pampa High School officials who organized the honors program were John Plaster, chairman; Marsh, Aubra Noncaster and Plaster, program committee; Miss Mary Dean Dozier, menu; Wendell Watson, tickets and programs; Mrs. J. BAIL GRANTED NEW YORK (UPI)—David Miller, the first man convicted for burning his draft card, has been freed in $500 bail pending an appeal from his prison sentence for refusing to renew and carry a card. The 24-year-old pacifist was jailed recently after he told a judge he would not apply for a new draft card to replace the one he burned at an anti-war rally last year. He was then sentenced to 1 1/2 years imprisonment. The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals granted the bail Monday after Miller asked a three-judge court to review the case.

Foreign Commentary
By ARNOLD DIBBIE
United Press International TOKYO (UPI)—There's an election April 15 to see who rules the largest city in the world—the city of Tokyo. It is forecast more than five-million citizens will cast free, safetiered ballots to elect the next governor of Tokyo City and prefecture. But it's not the size of the election that interests the United States. Leftist Foursamer
What has produced a feeling of quiet apprehension among American government officials is the very real possibility that Tokyo will be delivered into the hands of a candidate supported by the Japanese Socialist Party, which, ironically, is farther to the left in many respects than the co-supporting Japanese Communist Party. What makes the prospects of a leftist-backed candidate running Tokyo produce such nagging uncertainty is the U.S.-Japan joint security treaty which comes up for renewal in 1970. The winner of Saturday's election will still be in office since it's a four-year term. And what produces this nagging uncertainty over the security treaty is what are called "public safety ordinances," passed nearly a decade ago by the Tokyo Metropolitan Assembly. These ordinances prohibit parades and demonstrations unless application is made and approval granted 72 hours in advance. Remove US. Installations? The Japanese Communist and the Japanese Socialist parties promise that if their man is elected they will scrap all of these ordinances and rid (their word) Tokyo of all U.S. military installations. The candidate, Ryokichi Mobe, a 66-year-old leftist economics professor is, according to some polls, slightly ahead of his major opponent, Dr. Masatoshi Matshusita, former president of Tokyo (St. Paul's) University. The candidate of the conservatives and the middle-of-the-road Democratic Socialist Party. The United States undoubtedly hopes the polls are wrong.

IT'S THE LAW
Assassinating a President
To many foreigners, and to many Americans as well, one of the oddest aspects of the assassination of President Kennedy was that the United States had no law against it.

Was this just a legislative oversight? Not at all. On the contrary, such a law had been proposed and debated a number of times over the years — and had always been turned down.

Of course, that does not mean the assassination was legal. The lack of a federal law merely reflects the fact that, in this country, the punishment of crime has always been entrusted primarily to the individual states. The presidential assassination, while not forbidden by federal law, was clearly forbidden by the laws of every state.

Why this arrangement? For reasons both historical and geographical, most crimes fit more naturally into state and local jurisdiction. It would seem strange indeed to have the federal government prosecuting the man who holds up the corner grocery or who drives recklessly down Main Street.

And the Constitution itself, while giving the states a free hand to deal with crime, gives the federal government no such leeway. The federal government may punish crime only if the power is:

- 1) given expressly (for example, the power to punish treason); or
- 2) given by implication (for example, the power to punish interference with the United States mail).

As a rule, the crime of murder has no peculiar significance to the federal government. Neither expressly nor by implication does the Constitution give the federal government a general power to punish homicide.

Yet, murdering the President is more than just murdering a man. It is a blow at the government itself, because it destroys the central repository of the nation's executive authority.

Furthermore, as a practical matter, federal agencies — which have the duty to protect the President — should be better able to investigate such a crime.

The Kennedy assassination lent fresh urgency to these considerations. And at last, 176 years after the nation began, Congress has finally given overwhelming approval to a bill making it a federal offense to kill the chief executive.

Youths Condemn Juvenile Crimes

Bill Leonard, Pampa's juvenile officer, learned that "some youths are honest and sincere in their condemnation of juvenile crimes," when he attended the district I youth conference in Plainview recently.

Pampa youths attending with Leonard were Barbara Brown, Ricky Redus and Greg Hunter. Mrs. Peggy Thomas, Leonard's daughter, a resident of Borger, is a state child welfare worker in Hutchinson County. She attended a session on citizenship.

The youths discussed teen juries, teenage patrols, and heard other youths explain how tutoring elementary age children can prevent high school drop-outs, Leonard said.

"I was surprised that those who condemned drinking also condemned smoking. They talked about ideas to curb teenage vandalism, smoking, drinking, and promoting more worthwhile projects for teenagers," Leonard said.

The conference on leadership training was held at Plainview High School Friday and Saturday, with about 600 youths attending seminar discussions on education, citizenship, recreation and crime prevention.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am employed by a professional man who speaks a foreign language that I neither speak nor understand. Although he and his wife both speak English very well, when she calls him at his office and I am sitting there working he will very often switch to that other language. This is most irritating to me.

I told him once that I would be glad to step out of his office when he is conversing with his wife, but he said it wasn't necessary. I am not interested in what they have to say to each other, but I think this is very rude, don't you? What should I do?

DEAR IRRITATED: Unless you are deliberately trying to tune in on his conversations with his wife (which you obviously are), what he says (and in whatever language) is none of your business. Eavesdropping is also "rude," — no?

DEAR ABBY: I have a son, my only child who is the proud owner of a very beautiful home. When my son lived alone he gave me the key to this home and I often entertained my friends there. Since he has married, I have continued to do so when my son and his wife were out of town.

His wife has now told me that she would "rather" that I did not use her home in this way. I feel that she has no right to forbid me, as it is my son's home, and as his mother I am entitled to be there whenever I please.

Shouldn't my son insist that his wife say no more about it?

DEAR INDIGNANT: No. Now that he is married, it is his wife's home as well as his. If you wish to remain on friendly terms with your son and his wife, don't ask your son to "insist" on anything. Entertain your friends in your own home.

Mother, and say no more about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 45 and unmarried and just started to work in a factory. All the employees eat their lunches together. They don't have a lunchroom where we can BUY anything; we all bring our own lunches and they give us a lunchroom to eat in.

I noticed a very nice looking man about my age looking at me. (I'll call him "Romeo.") I asked about him and was told he was a "great guy" and not married. I would like to know Romeo better, but I don't want to ask anybody to introduce us because they might start teasing me — or him. How can I get acquainted?

The Mature Parent
Moms Should Decide On Unwanted Babies
By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A raped woman has no say-so in the conception of the rapist's child.

A 12-year-old girl, incestuously violated by some male member of her family, has no say-so in the conception of her child. And a pregnant woman is given no say-so in an infection by those German measles which will deform the foetus in her body.

Nor do these members of the child-conceiving sex own the slightest say-so in giving birth or not giving birth to their unwanted children.

It's men who own the say-so. In political groups, in ecclesiastical groups and in other male nonchild-conceiving sex — who go into huddles and decide that morality or theology requires these women to give birth to their unwanted babies. Refusing to revise that abortion law which commands us to give these babies birth regardless of how we feel about that giving, they say, "You must have this baby, no matter what."

sexual choice. The rapist forces the conception on us. And these so moral, gentlemen force the birth-giving on us.

How they acquired such a monopoly of morality beats me. Men get absolutely furious if women intrude on their masculine right to play golf when they feel like playing it. If they choose to make love, to enter monastic orders, to incarcerate themselves in space capsules, to get drunk, to work in offices until 12 o'clock at night — well, just try telling them that they can't do what they feel like doing. We're told where to get off quick enough. "Don't interfere with my male prerogatives!" they roar. "Leave me alone! You dominating woman, you, you attend to your knitting and allow me to attend to my superior, highly transcendental male affairs!"

But they don't, you see, permit us to attend to our knitting — the use or the nonuse of our bodies for the bearing of children.

Senior Center Corner
By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

The cold wind and illness kept several away Thursday. Everyone was talking about the wonderful rains we had most of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brandt of Oildale, Calif. are visiting friends in town. They formerly lived here but moved to California in August of 1963. Mrs. Brandt, one of our former Gray Ladies, visited the Center Thursday. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bennick, Mrs. Rosco Pirtle and Peggy and other friends. We were so happy to see Mrs. Brandt.

Mrs. J. C. Moseley spent last weekend with her sister, Mrs. Jewell McCampbell, in Post, Tex.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor and daughter attended the funeral service of a close friend of forty-two years, in Texoma, Oklahoma last Sunday. Mrs. Grover Fields; She is the mother of Mrs. George Hendricks of Pampa.

Mrs. Joe Williams is in the Highland General Hospital; having been stricken with a heart attack last Sunday, but is reported doing well.

Mrs. W. D. Benton who lives 10 miles east of town, and belongs to the Old Timers Club, was a visitor at the Center Thursday. We hope she can come regularly.

Mrs. Bell came over from Amarillo Sunday and spent the day with her aunt, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock.

Mr. J. F. Noe was welcomed back after spending the winter in South Texas and Missouri. He was telling everyone that it was going to freeze Thursday night. Others were worried, too. But as this is written the good news is the temperature was a nice 42 degrees. So the fruit is saved for the present at least.

Frank Carter is now a happy man again. His daughter, Mrs. Gladys Hallon, of China Lake, Calif. is back with him after spending most of the winter here with her father, she returned home for a few weeks.

The Gray County Home Demonstration Council was hostess this week. They served ham and cheese sandwiches; Angel Food cake, mints and coffee. Mmes. N. A. Briden, Audria Sanford, Huntelison, Jimmie Lou Wain-

The serving table was decorated with a beautiful centerpiece of white Irish Iris, from Mrs. Briden's garden.

Door prizes went to Mrs. Barnard and Mrs. Hardy.

Red Cross Volunteers serving with transportation were Mmes. Jess Hatcher, George Benham and A. D. Hills.

Altruists assisting Jay Flaming with registration and supervision were Mmes. Louise Sewell, Lena Pearl Hobbs; Lillian Snow.

Please take note: There will be no meeting of Senior Citizens next Thursday the 20th as some convention or group is using the auditorium; the next meeting will be the following Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p.m., the 27th. Visitors and new members are always welcome. See you the 27th.

Governor General Installed For Canada
NEW GOVERNOR GENERAL
OTTAWA (UPI)—D. Roland Michener, former high commissioner to India and speaker of the House of Commons, was installed Monday as Canada's 20th Governor-general.

In an impressive ceremony accompanied by the booming of cannon and the tolling of bells, Michener took the oath of office, pledging to serve as Commander-in-Chief "in and over Canada."

Prime Minister Lester Pearson and his cabinet officers watched the swearing-in ceremony from a large table placed before the speaker's throne in the red and gilt senate chamber.

Speaking as Queen Elizabeth's personal representative in Canada, Michener pledged his loyalty and devotion to the Canadian people.

BURIED TREASURE
WASHINGTON (UPI)—North Vietnam, which has been dispersing its petroleum supplies to avoid U.S. bombs, has taken to putting some of it in cemeteries, U.S. officials reported today.

The oil is stored in 55-gallon drums and is dispersed underground in a variety of locations, including local graveyards, they said.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The administration has asked Congress to clean up some of the mess in the Job Corps program to head off a congressional bulldozing job on the whole works.

Some sample clean-up proposals:

Reduce the annual cost per Job Corps enrollee from $7,500 to $7,300.

Establish safeguards against using federal funds for illegal picketing or demonstrations. (Seems reasonable.)

Prohibit anti-poverty workers from partisan political activity of any kind or any kind of direct action in violation of law.

There is much more. President Johnson's request for this clean-up was accompanied to Congress by his request for a $2.06 billion anti-poverty appropriation for fiscal 1968, nearly half a billion more than Congress appropriated for fiscal 1967.

It is not unreasonable to accept the request for clean-up legislation as a plea of guilty to charges that the Job Corps program has been badly administered, the cost per enrollee is preposterous, that federal funds have been misused for illegal picketing and demonstrations. And what about the anti-poverty staff playing partisan politics or engaging other activities in violation of law?

Congress now is asked to tell them they must not engage in such any more. The story of the proposed legislation and the big hike in proposed expenditure next year blends well with what has gone before. The record of what has gone before reflects small credit, if any, on the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

The record also doesn't help the reputation of Sargent Shriver. Shriver is a Kennedy in-law, generally regarded at one time as the ablest among them. He is director of the OEO, which conducts the Great Society's anti-poverty program. Congress has been threatening to take OEO apart and to assign the disassembled elements variously to other agencies in the executive department. Congress might still do that, although the reform proposals now advanced are likely to obtain a reprieve for OEO. An OEO official told Bill Stief of the Washington Daily News that the reform proposals would put into law what the OEO management had learned in three years.

Three years is a long time for an administrative staff to find out what goes on in its own organization. Shriver and his aides cannot be accused of paying too much alert attention to their jobs. Their outfit would have been better served if they read a daily newspaper and occasionally paid some attention to what Congress was saying about their anti-poverty efforts.

Bank President to Speak At Canadian Credit Meeting

CANADIAN (Sp) — W. N. Stokes, Jr., president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, will be the featured speaker at the annual stockholders meeting of the Canadian Production Credit Assn. here next Saturday.

The meeting, which is expected to attract more than five hundred Canadian PCA members and their families from the six-county Northeast Panhandle area served by the association, will be held at the Canadian high school auditorium, opening at 10 a.m. Saturday.

In addition to the annual business session, in which reports will be heard and two directors elected, there will be special musical entertainment featuring the Leonard Barlow family of Perryton. Following the meeting, there will be a barbecue buffet luncheon served by the Pampa Shrine Club in the Canadian high school gymnasium.

Two hundred dollars in cash door prizes, in the form of two-dollar bills, will be distributed at intervals during the morning program by John Burson, manager of the Perryton field office of the association.

Stokes, who will address the annual meeting in the auditorium, is a native of Vernon, a graduate of Baylor University and of Yale University law school.

He served in the Legal Department of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington and has been general attorney for all three of the Houston Farm Credit Banks.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a considerable amount of dynamic energy but don't be so eager to get things accomplished that you miss out on the good will of a very influential person. Confusion can also exist unless you carefully think out and study the right means by which you can improve some adverse condition.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Get away from the dull early and be with some charming person who has fine ideas for your advancement. Listen and follow. Act in a circumspect way so that your mate does not become jealous of you.

Taurus: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Better carry through with what kin desire of you since associates and competition are pretty difficult today. Begin an uptrend where basic matters are concerned. Plan your schedule right now.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — You need to get some important information and should do so by forgetting dull dullness. Talk with associates can widen your knowledge and you can achieve far more in the days ahead. Be active.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Forget frivolity and concentrate on whatever is of a monetary nature; you can add much to present abundance. Plan how to improve your house, other real estate. Get in touch with right persons and get estimates.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You can accomplish a great deal today, so concentrate on whatever is closest to your heart, uppermost in your mind. Avoid one of kin who does not think as you do. Get figure and health toned up.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Take the time to assist one who is in dire trouble though it may curtail your own activities in outside world. During the evening a fine new arrangement can be made with mate. Show that you are cooperative.

LIBRA: (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — You want to foster some friendship and a lovely thoughtful gift will do much to accomplish just that. You can do much to further your personal aims as well. Act in a very practical fashion.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — An extraverted individual may be right in his views though you may not agree entirely right now with what is suggested. Be sure you act in a very circumspect way in all matters. Be more ambitious.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Others have some very good ideas so be sure to listen to them before you expound your own. Then you can combine your efforts toward some worthwhile goal. Arrive at that happy mutual understanding.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Making sure to carry through with some promise to a big job is wise now otherwise you can get into trouble later on. Get data you require from experts. Use it in the most intelligent way.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Co-operating with allies in all spheres of your endeavor is the best way to get ahead now. Be more generous with others and you get better results with everyone. Sharpen your wit so that others do not take advantage of you though.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You will have to establish more ideas around you and add beauty to your surroundings if you are to live a fuller life. Be more artistic if you want the respect of co-workers. Stop taking things so easy.

Nurses Plan To Attend State Meet

Five Pampa registered nurses will attend the state Texas Nurses Association 59th convention in San Antonio Sunday through April 26.

Pampa delegates are Mrs. Dorothy McMurtry, Mrs. Kay Veale, Mrs. Geneva Gobin, Mrs. Maude Boyles and Miss Vernell Meador.

About 800 Texas nurses will attend the sessions and visit the United States Army test and Evaluation Agency to see a self contained medical unit.

The medical unit is the newest device in the army medical service. A complete portable, field hospital, it has recently been sent to Vietnam where it is being used by the army's 46th surgical hospital, Miss Meador said.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Alexander Hamilton Institute says a renewal of investor confidence apparently will hinge on some definite proof of the anticipated second half economic resurgence rather than additional stimulative measure by the administration. The company feels the first signs of this upturn should come in late spring and, meantime, market action could be uninspiring.

Harris, Upham & Co. says in view of the fact the list is facing a flock of lower first quarter earnings and that long term traders (six months) have only now been able to cash in on stocks bought near the October low, the market has not fared too badly in recent sessions. The company feels further consolidation here rather than speculative leadership should improve chances for a summer recovery.

Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds & Co. says no one can predict the trend of the economy six months from now, but feels that monetary and fiscal policy as well as "natural forces" will bring around improvement sometime this year.

Compressor horsepower is required to move natural gas through pipelines.

Cardwell, Brock Off to Amazing Starts in NL Wars

By United Press International
 Success stories come in different wrappings, and Don Cardwell will settle for an imitation blue ribbon as a starter.

Although his pitching performance wasn't a gem, and he'd like everyone to believe it was just another game, Cardwell derived immense personal satisfaction from his first victory as a New York Met Monday night when he beat his former Pittsburgh Pirates teammates 9-6.

Cardwell had criticized manager Harry Walker's handling of the Pittsburgh pitching staff in the National League pennant race last season and the outspoken right-hander said he could have helped the Pirate win the flag if he had been used more frequently. Cardwell eventually was traded to the Mets in the off-season.

"I like to beat anybody, not only the Pirates," Cardwell said after the victory, which he also aided with a tape-measure home run. "There's no longer animosity between Walker and me. I said something at the time and it was my opinion."

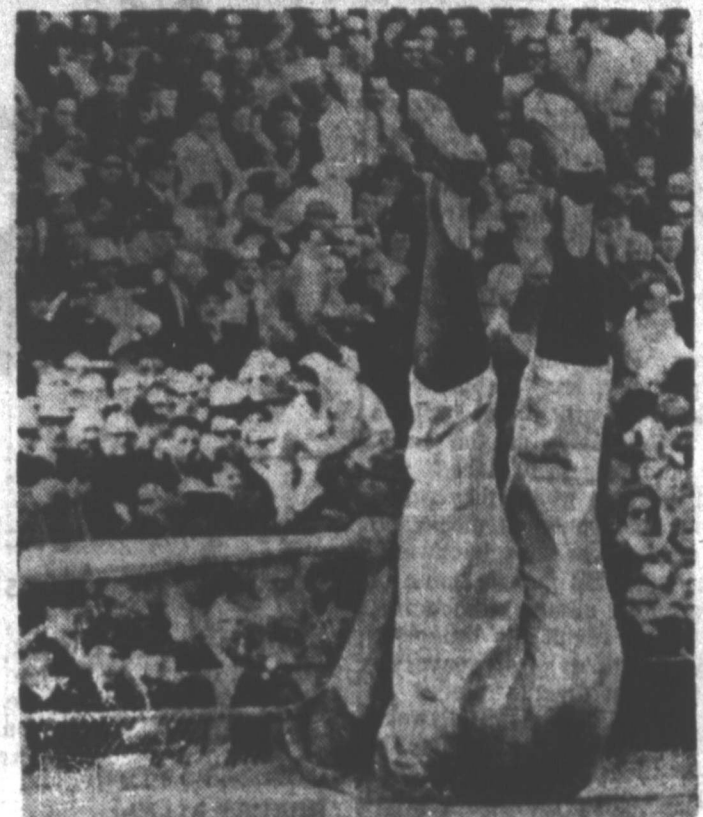

The Mets-Pirates game was the only one played in the majors Monday. The other scheduled National League contest, Chicago at Philadelphia, was postponed because of rain.

The only two games listed in the American League, Washington at New York and Cleveland at Minnesota, also fell victim to inclement weather conditions.

Cardwell gave up eight hits and four earned runs, but with a 9-3 lead by the fifth inning he didn't have to press too hard to avenge an opening-day defeat to the Pirates. The 6-4, 210-pound hurler was removed from Monday's game in favor of Ron Taylor following a two-run homer by Willie Stargel in the eighth inning.

Cardwell's homer came off loser Vern Law with a man on base in the second inning and went high over the wall at the 400-foot mark in left center. Don said he believed he "might have hit one that far before in Chicago in 1960 or 1961."

Ed Kranepool drove in three runs with a pair of singles for the Mets, who won their second game in six starts. Pittsburgh has an identical 2-4 record.

BOTTOMS UP could be Bob Bailey's thought as he takes the quickest route to avoid a fastball aimed right at his head. Bailey, formerly with Pittsburgh, is with the Dodgers now.

With the season entering its second week, only the St. Louis Cardinals still have a perfect record with four consecutive victories. St. Louis, which was scored the fewest runs of any the weakest-hitting team in the National League last year, has

The Dodgers, minus Sandy Koufax, have lost four straight and tonight are at home to the streaking Cincinnati Reds, who are 5-1.

In the American League, the world champion Baltimore Orioles are carrying on as expected. They lead the circuit with a 4-2 record and have gotten strong performances done a complete turnaround thus far with 36 runs and 56 hits. Lou Brock has been the chief architect of this offense with five home runs and a .476 batting average.

The San Francisco Giants, who host the Cardinals tonight, find themselves on the reverse side of the treadmill, having lost five of six starts. Willie Mayes, the $125,000 center fielder, has been out of action since the third game with a muscle injury in his left leg and Juan Marichal, the $100,000 pitcher, has been beaten twice.

Strangely, or perhaps not so strange, the only team without a win is the National League champions from Los Angeles.

from two of their question-mark pitchers, Jim Palmer and Steve Barber. Barber, who was sent to Rochester when the season started, pitched a one-hitter upon his return Sunday. Baltimore is idle today.

The Minnesota Twins, picked by many to challenge for the pennant, are in the cellar with a 1-4 record and two of the losses were incurred by Jim Kaat, who won 25 games in 1966. The Twins also get a day off.

In American League games today, Washington is at New York, Boston at Chicago and California at Detroit. In the other National League contests, New York is at Pittsburgh, the Cubs at Philadelphia and Houston at Atlanta, all at night.

TWO DOWN, BARRY HOBBLED 76ers Go for Third Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sunday at Philadelphia's Convention Hall, site of the first two games.

The San Francisco Warriors, down 2-0 in their best-of-seven playoff series with the Philadelphia 76ers for the National Basketball Association championship, were hopeful today playing before the homeown fans in the third and fourth games will get them back in the running.

But, with star point-maker Rick Barry hobbled by a sore ankle, Fred Hetzel at best a part-time performer and center Nat Thurmond bothered by a painful hip bruise, the Warriors set a near collapse by the 76ers to make that come true, starting with the third game at the cow palace tonight.

The fourth game also will be played at the Cow Palace on Thursday—and a fifth game, if necessary, is scheduled for

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sunday at Philadelphia's Convention Hall, site of the first two games.

The Warriors, called by many the best team ever in the pro ranks, used outstanding shooting to beat the Warriors in the first game of this set and then showed they are equally effective in a defensive type game to beat the Warriors last Sunday in the second game.

Wilt Chamberlain, the former Warrior super star, has been a bear on defense in the playoffs. In Sunday's game, he picked off 26 rebounds in the first half to set a record and time and again turned away San Francisco shots which looked like sure baskets. Philadelphia won by 31 points, 128-95.

"That was one of Wilt's best games," said Philadelphia coach Alex Hannum, who last year was fired by the Warriors because he could not devote 12 months of the year to running the team. "I'd have to say his play has been the big difference."

Bill Sharman, who replaced Hannum as San Francisco coach, said just about the same things about Wilt, whom he played against a few years ago.

"Wilt simply killed us on the boards," said Sherman of the big center's performance in the first two games.

Track Buffs In Marathon

HOPKINTON, Mass. (UPI) — This quiet central Massachusetts community was bustling down its hatches and clearing its streets today before the start Wednesday of the 71st Boston Marathon.

The marathon, a 26-mile, 385-yard grind which winds from here over every conceivable bump, wrinkle and hill en route to Boston, attracts the wildest crew of track buffs and bugs.

The world's top marathoners rub shoulders, kick shins and trade expletives—in several languages—with several hundred over-ambitious teenagers, health addicts and middle-aged track has-beens—or never-wases.

About 600 runners—a staggering 732 entries have been awarded starting numbers but even the sponsoring Boston Athletic Association (BAA) doesn't expect that many to show up for the start of the long-distance stampede—are expected for the race. It's a scene Cecil B. DeMille would love.

Jockey for Position
 A blob of humanity, most of it in its underwear and sneakers, piles together to await the starter's gun. There's a little jostling as the start grows near—like money was being thrown away nearby.

Jock Semple, the Scottish BAA trainer who considers it his personal duty to marshal the combatants into a pack containing a respectable amount of dignity and class, stalks the restless crowd.

"Stay on the r-r-r-road," he yells. "Keep your r-r-r-place. Cut out that r-r-r-rowdiness."

number on upside down. It rarely cost the runner his life as the rugged kinsman, annoyed that anyone might desecrate the race by wearing an upside down number, tossed him out of the starting pack.

It took a few minutes to straighten out the mixup before the runner, sporting a re-adjusted number, got back in with the rest of the Hopkinton herd.

The Madding Crowd
 Once underway—some waving and smiling, some already puffing and a few earnestly headed for Boston's Prudential Center—the mob chugs down the side street before entering the dippy-doodly haul to route 135 in Framingham. Once their picture is taken by a relative or friend, some will drop out; others take a deep breath and plod on.

Down 135 through Natick to Wellesley, then Newton's famed Heartbreak (huff, puff) Hill on to the fringes of Boston, and finally the Pru. For those who can keep it down, there's a beef stew dinner.

The Japanese have taken up where the Finnish entries left off, winning the last two races after Belgium's Aurele Vandendriessche won in 1963 and 1964 to smash a four-year hold by the Finns.

GRIFFITH LOSES TITLE Italian New Champion

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nino Benvenuti, who brought the middleweight crown to Italy for the first time Monday night, held court immediately after his unanimous 15-round victory and decreed that vanquished Emile Griggith should have another chance.

The officials' decision couldn't be disputed, but Benvenuti, still stary-eyed over being given a chance at the title, promptly said, "I'll be glad to give him a rematch. I'll fight anyone."

The partisan crowd of 14,251, including 500 fans who followed their idol here from Italy to cheer him to victory with the chant "Ni-no, Ni-no," swarmed toward the ring even before the official decision was announced. They jammed into the ring to congratulate Benvenuti by climbing over the press section.

Benvenuti had come out like a tiger in the first round, and in the second he decked Griggith with a stiff right uppercut to the jaw. The 28-year-old Italian also suffered a cut on the bridge of his nose in the second round.

Crimson Mask
 Until the ninth round the cut cascaded blood, covering Benvenuti's face with a mask of crimson. His cornermen finally were able to stop a flow of blood in the 10th, but the challenger's vision apparently was not hampered.

But Benvenuti's attack bogged down in the third as the squat Griggith, weighing 153 1/2 pounds compared to 159 for Nino, scored heavily with well-raising body punches. In the fourth, Griggith had his moment of glory by knocking down the Italian for a five count.

Benvenuti, wobbling from the punch, shook his head in amazement as he climbed off the canvas, and Griggith moved in for the kill. But the Italian, winning for the 72nd time in 73 pro bouts, shook off the effects and took the next three rounds in courageous fashion.

Not Hurt at All
 "The knockdown is the only punch that hurt," Benvenuti, a 12-5 underdog, said later. "I never saw it coming. The rest of the fight, he didn't hurt me at all."

Griggith then won the eighth, ninth and 10th, but that was his only flurry until he managed to launch an attack in the 14th. By that time it was too late to pull out the victory, however.

"When he'd come back to the corner," said Griggith's manager, "we'd tell him he was behind," said Griggith's manager.

Sonics Add Game to Lead

By United Press International
 Amarillo remained unbeaten and added another game to its Texas League lead Monday night when Don Arlich three-hit Dallas-Fort Worth 3-0.

Austin and El Paso who had been only one game behind, fell a game farther back by losing Monday. Arkansas used one big inning to defeat Austin 5-3, and Albuquerque shut out El Paso 6-0.

Arlich gave up only three singles and walked no one in picking up his first victory of the season. The Sonics scored one run in the second inning and two more in the third.

Ron Law gave up eight hits and walked while going the distance for Dallas-Fort Worth. The game was played in only one hour and 35 minutes.

Arkansas trailed 3-0 going into the bottom of the seventh, but exploded for five runs that frame on two homers, one with the bases loaded.

The grand slam home run was hit by Bill Wolff, following a solo homer by Joe Hague. Adrian Garret hit a bases-empty home run for Austin.

Clay Wrong, Nino Keeps His Cool

NEW YORK (UPI) — A delicately featured, shaggy-haired, 28-year-old first fighter, who looks like the lead in one of those Italian movies, has proven rather conclusively that Cassius Clay doesn't know what he's talking about.

The debonair, continental-type young man who did all this is Nino Benvenuti, and if you haven't been keeping abreast of such things, he's the new middleweight champion of the world.

Clay, who is about to leave us, says that when he goes boxing will be dead.

He'd never say that if he had been at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

He'd never say that if he saw how Benvenuti climbed off the canvas after a fourth round knockdown to paste Emile Griggith from ring post to ring post and snatch the crown off his head.

And he'd certainly never say that if he heard the Niagara-like ovation which greeted Benvenuti at the end or saw how his ecstatic Italian countrymen rushed up into the ring to hug and kiss their new hero.

"I never heard a reception like that in my whole life," said one of the 14,251 patrons who witnessed the excellent contest.

The patron who made the remark happened to be an expert on such matters. He was Rocky Marciano, who has heard a few cheers himself in his time.

Benvenuti, winner of 72 of his 73 fights, may have done the same thing for boxing that a fellow like Joe DiMaggio did for baseball. Everyone seems to love this guy.

"Nee-no" . . . "Nee-no" . . . "Nee-no" came the cry time and again at the Garden Monday night. At first it came chiefly from a delegation of Benvenuti's admirers who traveled here from his home in Trieste, Italy, for the express purpose of urging him on.

But before the evening was over many of the other Garden customers also joined in the general cheering and some even borrowed miniature Italian flags from the visitors across the sea so they could wave them also.

Griggith, the lyrical, little Virgin Islander who always was ready to explain his victories, didn't crawl into any shell simply because he lost. He was ready to explain that, too.

His eyes were puffed, his heart was heavy and his mouth must have felt as if it was stuffed with cotton, but he still had to have his say.

"I lost my title to a good man and I'm not gonna complain, and I'm not gonna complain," he declared. "I had my chance and I didn't do it, that's all."

Over in Benvenuti's quarters, most of his interrogators were lost because the new champ speaks Italian but no English.

"A destra . . . A destra," he said, explaining it was his right hand which sent Griggith spinning to the floor in the second round.

The only mark on Benvenuti's face was a cut on the bridge of

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Wrong Solution For P. O.

Even Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien recognizes at the Post Office Department not doing the kind of a job it could. So Mr. O'Brien has proposed that the department be stripped of its cabinet status and that it be converted into a non-profit government corporation.

Some folks will have a good laugh at Mr. O'Brien's suggestion. After all, it is a non-profit organization. It's worse — a losing organization.

Mr. O'Brien says his proposal has to be the most extensive proposal ever made in the history of the American postal service.

Well, we are inclined to doubt if Mr. O'Brien's plan is the most extensive.

There was another man who was postmaster general back in 1889-93, who had a rather extensive proposal. John Wanamaker, the merchant and pioneer in establishing modern department stores, is credited with having instituted a number of technical improvements in the service. The story goes that the post office then was losing something like a million dollars a year. So, Mr. Wanamaker offered to buy the whole bureaucratic kit and kaboodle for a million dollars, saying he would put it on a profit-making basis under free-enterprise methods. Rejected by the politicians of the day, he returned to use his business methods in making money in the department store.

Mr. Wanamaker was quite an innovator. Some people called him a gambler. Why, of all things, way back in 1865 he instituted a revolutionary policy of guaranteeing customers their money back if they were dissatisfied with his company's product or service.

And remember "The father of cheap postage in America?" Lysander Spooner's best known venture was his private mail business, the American Letter Mail Co. It competed successfully against the federal government's post office, but was driven out of business by an act of Congress which became effective July 1, 1845. The post office, as a government business, continues to operate in the red.

The suggestion that the department's cabinet status be removed is perhaps a good idea. For quite a few years the position of postmaster general has been a means of giving cabinet status and pay to individuals who have served as campaign managers for the presidents, frequently with the title of chairman of the national committee of the party in power.

We think the idea of setting up a non-profit government corporation is poor. It still would be a politically controlled organization, and it still would be bound down with the usual government red tape, as demonstrated by the Postal Regulations.

Mr. O'Brien expresses a desire to achieve "superlative postal service." The way to get it is to let private enterprise do the job. If there were competitive postal services, we suspect they would be trying to outdo each other in providing the best possible service.

But a government monopoly won't do it, whether it is a department in the president's cabinet or a government non-profit corporation. Only if the operator thinks he has a chance to earn a profit will he truly offer and provide superlative service with a money-back guarantee.

A Mother's Protest

The plight of individuals attempting to live as best they can while saddled with constantly increasing taxes is described by Mrs. William Smith of Colorado Springs, Colo. Mrs. Smith recently wrote a letter addressed to the tax gatherers, which was published in the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph, a sister paper of The News. She wrote:

I have three children and am trying to support them on the money I have left after I pay you. I have never thought of us as a poor family as we make over six thousand dollars a year, but you are taking more of our income than I can afford.

The two thousand in taxes that you are taking is too steep, let alone all the taxes you have hidden away. My children need new shoes and suits for Sunday School. One of them is going to have a birthday soon and I am trying to save for it. My county wants a new court house and my city is going to raise my water rate 70 per cent. My governor wants to beautify my highways at a cost of several million dollars. My president wants to raise my income taxes 6 per cent. My senators have voted to raise my social security taxes. You are taking the little I have left over every month and in another year I won't be able to save for my children's birthday presents.

Now you are thinking, no doubt, that it is poor management on my part. But we owe few bills and we pay as we go. You see, we couldn't afford to pay them if we bought on time. I could go to work, but my children need a full-time Mother. But you are pushing me. We have gone to powdered milk and to staying home with books.

If the coming tax goes through we may spend our vacations at home, too. We have stopped taking the children to plays or cultural activities as they are beyond our income means.

I am cutting drastically to be able to afford you, but there isn't much cutting room left. I could stop paying for car insurance and life insurance, but then I couldn't drive and I would have to depend on you in my old age.

Now I have a wonderful idea. Why don't you do some cutting of your own so I can afford you. I can cut no more, so it is your turn now.

Next time you think of making America beautiful, think first how terrible it is going to look to have ragged children in your beautiful schools.

When you go spending us deeper in debt, think first who is going to pay those debts if my children can't afford to go to college and are living on welfare.

You have, indeed done a beautiful job of spending my money, but if you don't mind I'd like to spend a little of it myself.

I say to you, I have cut to powdered milk and to one new dress a year and, until I can afford my family, I can't afford to take care of you anymore. My back is to the wall, I can't afford to be nonchalant about your spending any more.

The women protested the prices of food and the prices of food came down. When Mrs. America starts fighting for shoes and whole milk and her children's right to a decent future, you may find yourselves spanked and put to bed with your allowance taken away from you.

Nature's Hit-and-Skip

April is usually regarded as the start of the tornado season, but these frightening storms can occur in any month.

In fact, in January of this year, normally a slack month for the twisters, 26 tornadoes peppered the eastern half of the country. This was a record for that month, reports the Environmental Science Services Administration.

And although tornadoes are most common in the Central Plains (especially central Oklahoma), they have occurred in every state in the Union. Last year, only seven states—

Pull Up A Chair

A member of the Canadian Parliament fed up with advertising phrases like "economy quart" and "large-size half pint" introduced legislation there to force manufacturers to quit using such come-ons. He said, "A quart is a quart and no adjectives will make it any different." There's a man who wants to be the housewife's friend. . . . The numerals are placed just opposite from where they would be on a conventional clock and the mechanism runs backward. Harry's clients include some of the greatest names in show biz, and as a result his timepiece frequently turns up in conversation in such diverse places as Las Vegas, Miami, Hollywood and even the movie studios in Rome. "Everything is hunky-dory" goes the old expression meaning "everything's all right." It derives from the low Dutch word "honk" meaning "safe" in a game like baseball. A man who scored was said to be "hunky-dory." That meant he was okay.

We are learning more about tornadoes all the time, but they remain the most unpredictable of all weather phenomena. None of Mother Nature's other temper tantrums can compare to them for sheer concentration of violence. Anyone who thinks his community is immune to tornadoes, says ESSA could be in for a deadly surprise.

Asking Agency to Review Any New Evidence In Kennedy Assassination Under President

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — For the first time since the Warren Commission published its findings, President Johnson is seriously considering designating a federal agency to receive and examine any new evidence turned up on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Under a proposal discussed in the White House, the Justice Department, with FBI assistance, would be empowered to study and pass on new information.

Authority for such a review and the issuing of reports and findings by the Justice Department would be included in an executive order to be issued by the President. This order, it has been suggested, might be promulgated in connection with the National Freedom of Information Act enacted by Congress last year and due to become effective July 4.

This law requires the President to determine which of the still-classified records of the Warren Commission on file at the National Archives should be made available to the public.

Approximately two-thirds of the commission's estimated 28,000 documents have been declassified since it published its findings on Sept. 28, 1965. The remaining one-third, which include several hundred documents believed to have significant new value, are still barred from public scrutiny.

As interpreted by the Justice Department, under the new law government documents can be kept secret only if the President rules that is necessary "in the interest of national defense or foreign policy."

THINKING IT OVER — Pending decision on what to do about the proposed plan, the President has asked Attorney General Ramsey Clark to review the still-unpublished Warren Commission documents and recommend which should be declassified.

The President also plans to discuss the proposal with the seven members of the Warren Commission. One of them, Representative Hale Boggs, D-La., has suggested that Attorney General Clark examine the X-rays of President Kennedy's body made at the time of the autopsy.

It has been charged that the Warren Commission did not study these X-rays. This is flatly denied by Boggs. Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and other members, they say, emphatically the commission did have the X-rays and examined them.

Under arrangements between the Kennedy family and the Justice Department, the X-rays and other photographs taken during the autopsy for a five-year period, can only be seen by "persons authorized to act for a congressional committee or government agency vested with authority to investigate the assassination."

House, the President has been urged to have Clark, a trusted personal friend, study the X-rays and advise him what should be done regarding them. At the President's request, the attorney general also is keeping him informed on the assassination inquiry being conducted by New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison.

MEXICAN DOCUMENTS — Among the Warren Commission documents awaiting the President's decision on whether they should be declassified is a file submitted by the Mexican government covering its investigation of Oswald's visit to Mexico City before the assassination.

Some of the material from the Mexican government is included in the published report of the commission. But one document dealing with Oswald's visit to the Cuban embassy in Mexico City is still secret. He went there to try to get a visa to Cuba, but without success.

Reportedly, this document relates that Oswald showed to a Senora Silvia Tirado de Duran, Mexican citizen employed at the Cuban embassy, a membership card in the Communist party.

This Communist party card reportedly was found among Oswald's possessions after his arrest. If it actually exists, it has never been made public.

At the time of the commission hearings, Arnold S. Johnson, an official in the American Communist party, who visited Moscow only last October, voluntarily testified under oath that Oswald was not a member.

FBI and CIA reports concerning Oswald's "CP card" also are among the still secret documents.

Among published Warren Commission records are a number of identification items that Oswald had with him on his trip to Mexico City seeking a visa to Cuba. They include: . . . A Spanish-English dictionary; an address and telephone number book; his 1963 passport and the one he used to go to Russia in the late '50s; his correspondence with the Communist party and the Soviet embassy in Washington, some of it in Russian; marriage papers; newspaper clippings concerning his arrest in New Orleans for activities in behalf of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee; and work cards given him as a defector in Russia.

THIRD PARTY ADVOCATE — Sokely Carmichael, militant "black power" leader, is a little-publicized speech in Montreal, declared, "The time has come for Negroes to organize a third party to form a solid base from which to negotiate. People say we can't do it because it has never worked in America. They say it will lead to black isolation. In fact, quite the reverse will be true. The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Uterine Fibroids Do Not Always Require Removal

Q—What symptoms are caused by fibroids? Is it necessary to have them removed? Is the usual procedure a hysterectomy?

A—A uterine fibroid causes no symptoms unless it becomes so large that it causes pressure on the bladder or rectum and thereby irritates these organs. In women of childbearing age a large fibroid may interfere with conception. If pregnancy occurs, it may cause premature delivery or it may necessitate a Caesarean section.

Surgeons are not as likely to advise removal of fibroids as they used to be. Even a fibroid as large as a grapefruit need not be removed unless it causes uterine bleeding or pressure symptoms. Most fibroids stop growing and some actually shrink after the menopause.

When a fibroid does have to be removed, the entire uterus is removed. This is a hysterectomy.

Q—What causes uterine fibroids? Do they become cancerous?

A—The cause of these tumors is not known but, whatever it is, it affects about 20 per cent of all women who are over 35. Fibroids are benign tumors and do not become malignant.

Q—Following an operation for what was thought to be a cancer, the pathologist's report indicated that the growth was not malignant but idiopathic retroperitoneal fibrosis. What is the cause and what is the treatment?

A—Idiopathic means of unknown cause. In this uncommon disease a fibrous mass forms in the retroperitoneal tissues — the tissues in back of the rear wall of the abdomen and pelvis. The mass may obstruct the ureters leading from the kidneys to the bladder. The treatment includes surgical repair to free the ureters, deep X-ray therapy to shrink the fibrous mass and hydrocortisone to relieve any accompanying inflammatory reaction.

Q—What is ascariasis? Is there any cure?

A—This is infestation with roundworms. The new drug, thiabendazole (Mintezol) is very effective against this and many other worm infestations. It can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription.

Q—Is an operation for gallstones necessary or can they be dissolved?

A—There is no way to dissolve your gallstones. If they are causing typical attacks of gallstone colic your gall bladder should be removed.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK and RED CHINA

The strange and tumultuous news coming out of mainland China during the last few months should lay to rest a great many myths that have been carefully nourished over the years since the fall of the Chinese mainland to the communists.

We were told that the Red Chinese regime was solid, unshaken and lasting, and certainly in no danger from popular upheaval. But it is now clearly, deeply divided among several contenders for supreme power and popular uprisings continue all over China, some in support of one or another of the contenders for power, some apparently in opposition to all of them. We were told that Red China might be wooed into sweet reasonableness and even a degree of cooperation with the West, especially if Peking's ties with Moscow could be loosened. But now Peking's ties with Moscow are virtually broken and the Red Chinese leaders are more fanatically anti-Western than ever.

Above all, we were told that Chiang Kai-Shek and his Nationalists of Free China, based on Formosa, were finished historically and could never make a comeback. For years the supposedly all-knowing "experts" advising on our Asian policy, in the State Department or affiliated with it, have openly scoffed at the notion of Chiang Kai-Shek ever returning to power.

As mainland China descends deeper and deeper into turmoil and chaos, the return of Chiang Kai-Shek is becoming a very real possibility. With more consistent support from us he might have returned already. In any case, his great opportunity is at hand, and so is ours, to regain China for the free world.

WASHINGTON:

Cuban Exile Tells of Life As Prisoner

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Concentration camps, whether in Castro's Cuba or Hitler's Germany, have one thing in common. Inmates frequently never know exactly why they are there.

This was the experience of a Cuban engineer we shall call Jose Ortega, who has just arrived in the United States.

Ortega was picked up by Castro's military one day and put on trial. He never did find out what he was supposed to have done wrong.

The camp was a weird mixture of men — criminals released from prison, homosexuals and also a good many men like Ortega who had never been accused of crime.

But all the prisoners had one thing in common. They had never been told why they were at the camp. They spent a good deal of time speculating on what their offenses had been.

There was a secretary to President DORTICOS who had once said Raul Castro was effeminate. There was a baseball pitcher who, after a game played in Canada, had said something against the Castro regime. There was a boxer who had been in the Olympic games. He said he had gotten drunk while in Germany and may have said something the Castro regime didn't like — but he did not remember.

There was a doctor that some said had been living too high. There were employees of an airplane line. So far as anyone knew they hadn't done anything. But a passenger had once unsuccessfully commandeered by force one of the company's planes and after that every man in the company who hadn't proven his loyalty was rounded up and sent to a camp.

Men were constantly being moved. After a month, Ortega was moved to another plantation camp. It was similar but cruder. A month there and he was moved to still another camp. Here, instead of going to the cane fields daily, he reported to a factory that needed engineers. He was there a week.

Then, one night about 11, everyone in the "factory" camp was called out. A soldier read a list of names, announced that these men would be taken away by truck. He didn't say where or why. In two days, the truck came. Ortega and about 10 fellow prisoners were picked up. There were also men from other camps in the trucks.

Ortega was left off at the military headquarters in Santiago. He was told to go home, that he was being released provisionally "on condition that you behave."

He was told to stay off the main streets and not to talk about what had happened to him.

He was told he should be grateful to the Castro regime because he had been released despite his sins.

Some of the younger men on being released, were told to report to the regular army to fulfill their military obligations.

Ortega then proceeded to find a way to leave Cuba. He was never given a permit. But he found a way. He left illegally. But to tell how would shut a gate that others are now using and cost the lives of some men and women who want to escape.

Ortega never did learn why he had been imprisoned. He never learned either why he was released from the concentration camp. But he's not going back to find out.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not insure answers.)

QUESTION: I agree with you that passing a law to legalize theft does not change the basic moral premise that stealing is wrong, and the act can still rightfully be called theft. By the same premise, if killing or murder if you prefer, of an individual is wrong, doesn't it remain equally wrong even though a law has been passed declaring it legal, as in capital punishment?

Didn't Christ say that the old "eye for an eye" retribution was no longer to be practiced? Wasn't execution for "witchcraft" proven wrong?

ANSWER: The only justification for the death penalty is for defensive purposes. If an individual has demonstrated he has such disregard for the lives and property of others that he commits a premeditated murder and satisfies those hearing all the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that he committed murder as specified, he can be executed in order to prevent him repeating the offense against others. It is a proper use of defensive force.

If the death penalty is used as a means of punishment or retribution, it cannot be justified in our estimation. In the minds of a great many persons, there are far worse methods of punishment than death. Some men who have been deprived of liberty for long periods of time have said they would prefer death to the long confinement.

We repeat, if it is not a defensive measure, the death penalty for willful and deliberate murder is not justified.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Hibernation is more than just a deep, long sleep. Although scientists know relatively little about the phenomenon, they have observed that hibernating animals' body temperatures may drop to near freezing and heart beats are much slower, says The World Almanac. A hamster, while in a state of hibernation, may exist half-frozen, with about 50 per cent of the water in its brain turned to ice. The heart beat of a ground squirrel may slow to three times a minute compared with a normal rate of 360.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) - Coinciding with President Johnson's trip to the Punta Del Este conference, Sen. Allen J. Ellender the Senate's most intrepid globe-trotter, brought forth his 12th annual travelogue. The coincidence was unfortunate because both happened to involve our Latin American policy. Whatever that is.

We in the United States may rock along for months at a time without hearing anything about our Latin American policy. Then for a few days we don't hear of anything else.

This tends to create the impression that our Latin American policy. Or at least not during odd-numbered years in months that have an "R" in them.

Sunny Policy

Actually, of course, the sun never sets on our Latin American policy. Or at least not more than once a day.

Ellender traditionally makes a trip to distant places during the congressional adjournment period to gather information about U.S. foreign operations. His most recent odyssey was to Central and South America.

It would have been better if he had flown Louisiana to a certain far-flung Louisiana Democrat had waited a few weeks to release his report on the journey. That way it wouldn't have been so overshadowed by the President's trip.

But what's done is done, and we shall have to make the best of it.

Ellender writes a report the same way he makes shrimp gumbo. He throws in little geographical, historical and social tidbits that add flavor to what might otherwise be a sticky mess.

Eye Catching Items

A keen observer, he notices things the average congressional aide-funder might overlook.

In the section on Mexico, for example, he dutifully reports that Mexico City "is the capital of the country." Such information helps make our foreign operations more efficient.

As we travel along with Ellender we learn that the mayor of Maip, Chile, "speaks fluent French;" that the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Pardo Satayana of Uruguay "is knowledgeable in animal husbandry."

We learn that it took a man in Nassau about nine years to train a flock of flamingoes to perform in public.

You didn't get details like these in the reports from Punta Del Este. Which may mean that President Johnson needs more travel experience.

COLD-SINUS Miseries

Is your head pounding — nose running — are your eyes watering and are you sneezing—sneezing—sneezing? Have you blown your nose until it's raw? We're sorry you're suffering, and because obviously you're not aware of our product SYNA-CLEAR and this is our fault.

SYNA-CLEAR is the original timed tablet that gives you up to eight hours of relief from head cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses.

We do not have millions to spend on T.V. to tell you about SYNA-CLEAR just this small ad. We do not gimmick our advertising and product by offering twelve hours of medication. What is medication without relief? SYNA-CLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours of relief per tablet or your money back in full.

We could go into detail how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SYNA-CLEAR. The druggist at the stores listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula. SYNA-CLEAR costs more ($1.50 and $2.00 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks.

Try SYNA-CLEAR as soon as possible—you know—all your head cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses are all you can lose.

This little ad has an awful big job to do—to get you to buy SYNA-CLEAR as a bonus, we...

Introductory Offer Worth $1.50

Cut out this ad—write your name on it and take it to your favorite drug store. Purchase one box of SYNA-CLEAR 124 and receive one more absolutely FREE. If you have time to tell us about the results SYNA-CLEAR gave you we would be pleased to hear from you.
