Communists Kill 70 Americans

General Urges Troop Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress and the American people today that their strong support of fighting men in Vietnam was vital to winning a hard war.

The Vietnam troop commander, in an appearance at a joint meeting of the House and Senate, said the Communists are "far from quitting." But unrelenting military and psychological pressure could bring victory, he said.

The four-star general appealed for resolute support on the home front. The Communists believe "our Achilles heel is in our resolve," he said.

In an unprecedented appearance before Congress by a military commander while the campaign was still going on, Westmoreland told the lawmakers:

"When a field commander does not have to look over his shoulder to see whether he is being supported, he can concentrate on the battlefield with much greater assurance of success. I speak for my troops, when I say—we are thankful for (past) unprecedented material support.

"Your continued strong support is vital to the success of our mission."

Westmoreland declared at the

Fierce Action Near DMZ Wounds 190

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces launched mortar rocket and artillery attacks today against three U.S. Marine bases guarding against a Communist invasion through the Demilitarized (DMZ). They killed 13 Americans, wounded 190 and knocked out 30 helicopters and two transport planes.

The war blazed with new fury just below the DMZ and North Vietnamese regulars drove off a four-day Marine assault on strategic hill 861 near the Laotian border, killing 57 Marines, wounding 77 and shooting down at least two helicopters.

House Gets Word: Harlem Voters Want Powell In WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives gets the official word today that the voters of Harlem want Adam Clayton Powell to represent them in the 90th Congress.

The formal notification paves the way for a House vote next week on whether to allow Powell to take the seat denied him March 1.

The New York state Board of Canvassers Thursday certified Powell's landslide victory in a special election April 11. The certification was promptly dispatched to the clerk of the House.

There was no indication today that Powell is ready to return to Capitol Hill to claim the seat he held for 22 years.

But if Powell isn't ready to make his move, the House is. Leaders indicated today the arrival of Powell's certification will set up a vote next week on seating the Harlem Democrat.

One of Powell's attorneys, Frank Reeves, said Thursday all signs indicate the House is not ready to reverse its early decision to exclude the 58-year-old preacher-politician.

Reeves made the statement during oral arguments before the U.S. Court of Appeals. The court later refused Powell's request for speedy consideration of his court suit for reinstatement in Congress.

Thursday's order by the appeals court dimmed considerably Powell's chances for action by the Supreme Court on his case this term.

Pair of Sentry Satellites Are Launched by U.S.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The United States launched a pair of advanced Sentry satellites today to reinforce its watch for sneak nuclear tests anywhere from earth to beyond Mars.

The twin "atomic detectives" rode into space with three hitchhiking midget moonlets on the nose of a powerful Air Force Titan 3C rocket that had come within one second of blastoff Tuesday.

Besides patrolling the sky for bootleg violations of the nuclear test ban treaty, the space sentries may enhance America's ability to monitor secret atomic weapons tests in China.

The triple-barreled Titan 3C blasted into life at 4:01 a.m. CST and raced into the pre-dawn darkness atop a brilliant column of flame that illuminated the spacecraft. It was one of the most spectacular nighttime launches in years.

After shedding its two 1.2 million pound thrust solid fuel boosters with a bright flash of fire, the Titan dashed into its preliminary orbit, trailing a red and then bluish wake high over the Atlantic.

"Congratulations, we've got a good orbit," Col. Otto Ledford, commander of the 6555th Aerospace Test Wing, told the launch crew.

To get the glittering watchdog satellites into their proper orbits, reaching 69,000 miles high, the Titan tackled a difficult four-hour series of space acrobatics. The early stages of the five-in-one shot appeared flawless.

Equipped With Rockets

Each Sentry, shaped like a 26-sided Chinese lantern, carried its own rocket motor to zoom into its final circular orbit on command from ground controllers. The final maneuver was a program called for Saturday morning for the first satellite and Monday for the second.

The two 731-pound space sentinels are a key part of the Defense Department's Vela program which looks for violations of the treaty outlawing nuclear weapon tests everywhere except underground. The United States, Russia and 100 other nations signed the pact in 1963.

The other three spacecraft carried by the super Titan were eight-sided, 20-pound research satellites hitchhiking into space as a bonus to the main mission.

NOT QUITE RIGHT — Daylight Savings Time won't mean depositing time in a piggy bank is Miss Lyla Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gage, 303 Starkweather, is doing. Clocks should be set ahead one hour tomorrow evening. This will provide an extra hour of "daylight" each day.

Senator Long Would Vote Against Censure of Dodd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The No. 2 man in the Senate Democratic leadership said today he was inclined to vote against the censure of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, found guilty by Ethics Committee investigators of conduct that "tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

Senate Democratic whip Russell B. Long, D-La., reserved a final decision until he studies the Ethics Committee's report and hears Dodd's defense.

"But, frankly, I would be inclined to vote against censure of a man who stood contrite," Long said. "I voted to censure Joe McCarthy, but that was different."

The late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., was "condemned" by the Senate in 1954 for abuse of two committees which investigated him.

"It's hard to condemn someone for doing something that wasn't against the law at that time," the Louisiana Democrat said of Dodd.

Most senators declined immediate comment on the committee's resolution calling for censure of the 59-year-old

Connecticut Democrat for pocketing campaign contributions for his own use and double-billing on travel expenses.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Ethics Committee, introduced a resolution Thursday which said that Dodd "deserved the censure of the Senate; and he is so censured for his conduct, which is contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected from a senator; and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The resolution based its demand for censure, the strongest punishment short of expulsion the committee could find, on two grounds. The committee said that Dodd used the power and influence of his office:

"To obtain, and use for his personal benefit, funds from the public through political testimonials and a political campaign to request and accept reimbursements for expenses from both the Senate and private organizations for the same travel."

The Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service, which have been investigating Dodd's tangled affairs for about a year, also received specific instructions to look into evidence uncovered by the committee's 14-month investigation.

Only about a dozen senators were on the floor when the first censure resolution in 13 years was introduced. Dodd listened to its reading and then left the chamber to face a throng of reporters.

Composed despite his ordeal, he maintained "My conscience is clear" and said he would let Connecticut voters, when he is up for re-election judge him in 1970.

"If seems clear to me that my conduct is being judged by hindsight," Dodd said. "I still maintain I have done nothing wrong."

Coppolino Convicted Of Wife's Murder

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Dr. Carl A. Coppolino today was found guilty of second degree murder in the death of his first wife and was sentenced to life in prison.

The all-male jury returned the verdict shortly after resuming deliberation this morning of the charge that the suave retired anesthesiologist killed his wife, Carmela, with an overdose of an exotic drug.

DR. CARL COPPOLINO ... convicted

Circuit Court Judge Lynn N. Silvertooth pronounced sentence immediately, ordering Coppolino to Rutherford, Fla., prison "for the remainder of your natural life."

The verdict was strenuously objected to by the defense. Coppolino's attorney F. Lee Bailey said "the set of facts did not warrant that verdict."

Coppolino himself hesitated when the decision was announced, then whispered something into Bailey's ear.

It was Coppolino's second trial on murder charges. The first time, Bailey won an acquittal, clearing the doctor of a charge of killing retired Army Lt. Col. William E. Farber, the husband of Coppolino's one-time "love slave," Marjorie Farber.

Just prior to the sentencing at 8:33 a.m. CST, the defense moved for a new trial on the ground that it questioned the attitude of some of the jurors as the verdict was announced six minutes earlier. Silvertooth denied the motion, but gave the defense 15 days in which to file an appeal.

The prosecution contended that Coppolino killed Carmela on Aug. 28, 1965, with an injection of a drug used by anesthesiologists, motivated by her $65,000 life insurance policy and a desire to marry the wealthy widow, Mary Gibson, whom he took as his bride 40 days later.

Bailey stood at Coppolino's right during the sentencing and immediately afterward asked the court for a stay of the sentence.

"We've got a sick man here," the 34-year-old lawyer said. The state had accused Coppolino of faking a heart condition since 1962 to collect disability insurance.

FRIDAY SESSION

House Returns To Assess Farm Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — The House returned for an unusual Friday session today to deal with a bill to let farmers assess themselves for research and promotion and a series of other bills of a local nature.

The Senate quit Thursday for the weekend.

The farm bill, by Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock, received a crippling amendment when it first was brought up two weeks ago.

The amendment by Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria exempts producers of turkeys, rice, broilers, flax and soybeans, and requires other producers to sign certificates of participation. One supporter said the amendment made the bill useless.

Jones' bill was designed to let farmers vote upon themselves a one per cent assessment on sale of products to pay for crop research and promotion. The Texas Farm Bureau opposed it.

Other than the pending farm measure, members chose to hold their second Friday meeting of the session to dispose of a list of local and uncontested bills.

Since there are only four weeks left in this session, some members are anxious to push their local and special bills for feared they will die in the last-minute rush.

The House Thursday gave unanimous approval to a bill to revise the Criminal Code. It includes almost everything state prosecutors and police asked except more lenient use of oral confessions.

House members voted 78-70 against prosecutors' recommendation on oral confessions and left in the bill a more restrictive rule backed by defense lawyers.

The Texas District and County Attorneys Association said the section limiting oral confessions to those which lead to "the fruits of the crime" would "hamstring our law enforcement officers."

But Rep. Joe Shannon Jr. of Fort Worth said the same rule had been in force in Texas since 1907 "and they've been putting people in prison real well for 60 years. There are 13,000 people in the Department of Corrections who can vouch for it."

"The real answer to law enforcement is top notch law enforcement officers," Shannon said. "If you pay $9,400 a year, you get $9,400 men. If you pay $250 a month, you get $250 men."

Price Prefers Eliminating Weak Republican Counties

AUSTIN (UPI) — U.S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa said recently in a letter he would prefer to have two South Plains counties out of his 18th district, and a "fairly good Republican county," and be sure three other "southern Democrat" counties are not added.

Price's preferences were included in a letter to four Republicans in the Texas legislature. The information was revealed to an Austin bureau reporter by a statehouse source.

Price explained Thursday he wrote the letters in response to his telephone conversations with Texas Republican legislators concerning vote histories of counties in and near his district.

He said the letters concerned the redistricting bill which one of the Republican legislators is drawing in the state legislature.

Motley and Cottle counties are the two he would prefer eliminated from his 18th Congressional district, Floyd, Hardebeck and Foard are the three he wants kept out.

Explaining his reasons in the letter, Price said they all have "poor Republican voting records."

He also said if a county needs to be added, he would prefer Hale County, which has voted favorably to Republicans in the past.

Adding Hale County would find Price facing Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview in the 1968 congressional race.

Even if Hale County were not added to the 18th district, Price said, Wayne could still run in

AT HIGHWAY HEARING

City, County To Push For Local Projects

Pampa and Gray County officials will be in Austin next Wednesday to make a pitch for the State Highway Commission to authorize plans and state funds for highway projects in the city and county.

The hearing, originally scheduled for Friday, May 5, was moved ahead yesterday to the May 3 date. The Pampa delegation will be comprised of Mayor Jim Nation, City Manager Jim White, County Judge S. R. Lanning Jr., County Commissioner Clyde Organ, Chamber of Commerce manager E. O. Wedgewood and Fred Thompson, chairman of the chamber's highway committee.

Both the city and county will ask the highway commission to act on local projects.

Mayor Jim Nation will present a brief to Herbert C. Petty Jr., chairman of the state commission; State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer and Hal Woodward and J. H. Kultgen, members of the commission.

In his brief, the Pampa mayor will set forth a request of the City of Pampa to schedule the following programs:

SUMMER OF 1967

State Highway 152 and a portion of U.S. 60. A request for authorization and preparation of the plans and specifications for widening and improving State Highway 152 from Faulkner St. west to Price Rd., and a section of U.S. 60 from the intersection of State Highway 70, west to the city limit line. We request appropriation for construction funds so that project work can begin on these highway sections immediately after the completion of the plans and specifications.

Status: Most of the right-of-way for Highway 152 has been acquired. The balance of the right-of-way acquisition is under negotiations at this time and by July 1, 1967, all of the right-of-way for this project will be completed or it will be in the courts being acquired under the powers of eminent domain. All of the right-of-way for that portion of U.S. 60 scheduled in this program has already been acquired.

OCTOBER, 1967

U.S. Highway 60 and State Highway 273. A request for appropriation of funds for the acquisition of right-of-way for that portion of U.S. Highway 60 from the intersection of Barnes and Frederic Sts., east to the city limit line and the appropriation of right-of-way funds for the acquisition of right-of-way on State 273, from the intersection of Highway 60, south to the railroad crossing.

Status: The necessary right-of-way for U.S. 60, east to the intersection with Barnes St., has already been acquired.

SPRING OF 1968

U.S. 60 and State Highway 273. A request for appropriation of construction funds for the improvement and widening of U.S. 60 from the intersection of State Highway 70, east to the city limit line, and construction funds (See PROJECTS, Page 3)

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am 50 years old and have had my eye on this married man of 45 for more than 5 years. I have been married 24 years and my children are grown and married. My husband works nights and I get tired looking at the four walls practically all the time. About 3 years ago I called up this man to come and see me when I'm all alone. He's real nice and talks sweet, too. Well, at first he seemed to like me, and he'd come over about three times a week. Then all of a sudden he always had an excuse why he couldn't make it. He works at a garage and he wouldn't tell the guys to tell me he wasn't there when I called.

I finally got so mad at him I called up his wife and told her all about us. She said, "You aren't the first one and you won't be the last" and hung up on me.

I just can't forget this man, Abby. How can I get him back? CRAZY FOR HIM

DEAR CRAZY: You can't, so you had better try to forget him. And quit calling him! You have too much free time, lady. If you don't like night TV, find a job to keep yourself busy, or you're apt to find yourself out on the street with no husband.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law was brought up in Boston and she says it is "bad taste" or at best, "small-townish and provincial" to publish death notices reading "cherished daughter, beloved wife, or devoted husband, etc."

She claims if the person was "cherished, beloved or devoted" there is no reason to advertise it as strangers don't care what the family relationship was, and friends who know find and descriptions hilariously funny. What do you think?

A READER IN CINCY
DEAR READER: Your sister-in-law must have a peculiar sense of humor. There is nothing "hilariously funny" about a death notice in any language.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Only Her Fiance" — who was annoyed because his girl friend suddenly came up with contact lenses: He thought as long as he didn't object to her wearing glasses she shouldn't have bothered with contacts. Her "sudden vanity" made him suspicious. Well, may I say that contact lenses are not worn only as a cosmetic aid? They act as a "girdle" to the eye and keep the vision from worsening as quickly as it would have without lenses. Before I got my contacts I had my glasses' prescription changed 3 times in 18 months.

I've been wearing contacts for nearly 4 years and I haven't had the prescription changed once! And my vision is far better now than it ever was with glasses.

Planned Planting Pays Off

By Sheila and Allan Swenson
NEA Garden Specialists

Trees and shrubs should get first priority in home grounds planting. They are the permanent assets around which you can add the perennials, annuals and highlights for lasting landscape beauty.

Whether you are just starting to landscape or adding to your plantings, this check list can prove helpful. Begin on graph paper. It saves digging, heaving and transplanting.

Draw your lot. Then put in the house, garage, drives and walks in scale. Take colored paper, cut out sizes of trees and shrubs at maturity. Nursery catalogues as well as landscape books will give you sizes. Then, lay out your plan. Also do a front view, to see better how various trees and shrubs will make your home more attractive. Move cutouts around to get the best layout for your home.

To make your house look longer, plant shrubs and backdrop trees at the ends. Try pyramidal yews, hemlocks, dogwood. Plan to mask high foundation areas with low spreading shrubs, such as juniper and yews. Larger trees as background will also set the house off, as well as provide shade.

When you plan landscaping, consider upkeep work. Plant shrubs far enough away from the house so you can paint and repair when needed. Give shrubs room to grow without overhanging walks and drives. Select plants that require limited pruning. Your local nursery man is your best guide.

for State 273 from the intersection with U. S. 60, south to the railroad underpass. The brief states that "approval" of these requests will be of great assistance in the coordination between the City and the State Highway Department. The City must market the bonds that were voted for these improvements. Secondly, a contract has already been awarded and construction started on approximately 140 blocks of City streets. A second program of City street construction of approximately 100 blocks will be started in the early months of 1968. Some of these streets are in adjacent areas to the highway projects which we are requesting.

"The coordination between the highway construction and the City's improvements will allow flexibility in the drainage system designed for these areas which will permit the highway drainage structure and the City drainage pattern to complement one another. Your approval of these requests and the timing schedule of these projects will be of benefit to the City of Pampa in planning both our financing and the overall street improvements program which we now have under way. Better coordination with the State Highway Department can be achieved with approval of this schedule."

Mayor Nation said he will urge approval of the requests in order for the city and state to "plan the work together in a progressive and orderly fashion."

All three of the city projects were given voter approval for bond funds to pay the city's share of the cost $236,000 for SH 152 (Alcock St.) $595,000 for the city's share of U.S. 60 (Wilks Brown and Frederic Sts.) and $389,000 for the city's share of the cost to improve SH 273 (S. Cuyler and S. Barnes Sts. from Brown St., south to the city limits).

County Judge Lenning said he and Commissioner Organ were accompanying the group to the Wednesday hearing in Austin to support the City in its requests, and also to ask the Highway Commission for funds to acquire right of way necessary to complete the loop around Pampa from the intersection of SH 273 (Lefors highway) extending around the northeast corner of the Pampa Country Club, then northwest for a tie-in with U.S. Hwy. 70 about one mile north of the city limits.

"All the county is going to ask for at this time," Judge Lenning said, "is an appropriation for the right of way purchases."

Religious Leader, Scientist Deplore Apathy to Famine

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press International

Within the space of 24 hours last week, a scientist and a religious leader spoke out on the same subject. Neither rated more than a few paragraphs in the news, because what they said was not really new: it had been said before.

However, it needed to be said again. It may have to be repeated many times before the world begins to listen.

The scientist was Dr. Harrison Brown, professor of geochimistry at California Institute of Technology. The religious leader was Pope Paul VI. Their subject was starvation.

Dr. Brown warned the American Society of Newspaper Editors that mass famine is drawing inexorably nearer in many undeveloped countries.

Basic Problem

The basic problem, as nearly everyone must know by now, is that population is growing faster than food production.

It cannot be solved, Dr. Brown emphasized, merely by launching birth control programs in undeveloped countries. This is "the easy way out" which appeals to those who would prefer to blame the whole situation on the poor, for being so fertile, or on the Catholic Church, for opposing contraception.

"The poorer countries must, of course, do everything they can to secure the use of contraceptives on as wide a scale as possible," Dr. Brown said.

"However, that is not enough. We cannot look upon birth control as the 'quick fix.'"

Horrible Future

"Within most of the poorer countries, children represent the only real form of social security," Dr. Brown explained. "The man and wife who do not have children to support them in their old age face a horrible future."

And the grim experience of past generations has convinced them that "if they are going to have one or two male children who live long enough to support them in their old age, they must start with seven or eight children."

The only way to change this deeply-rooted attitude is to raise living standards in undeveloped countries at a fast-enough rate to convince parents that "their children will live in a better world." Only when they see that a child has a reasonable chance of living to maturity will they have the motivation to limit their families.

Less And Less

But the advanced countries in fact are "doing less and less each year" to reverse the trend toward famine. In 1950, the United States devoted 1.3 per cent of its gross national product to foreign economic aid. This year, it is investing less than three-tenths of one per cent of its total output of goods and services in combating starvation abroad.

Some Western European nations are doing a little better. But all of the advanced countries together are spending only about one-half of one per cent of their annual wealth to help others.

It is that figure which engaged Pope Paul's attention. He told officials of the United Nations world food program that the war against hunger is "doomed to failure" unless there is a "real change in the hearts of the world's people."

"It is," he said, "first of all a matter of pulling men and nations out of their selfishness, their greed, their avariciousness."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

"SEEK YE FIRST THE KINGDOM OF GOD"

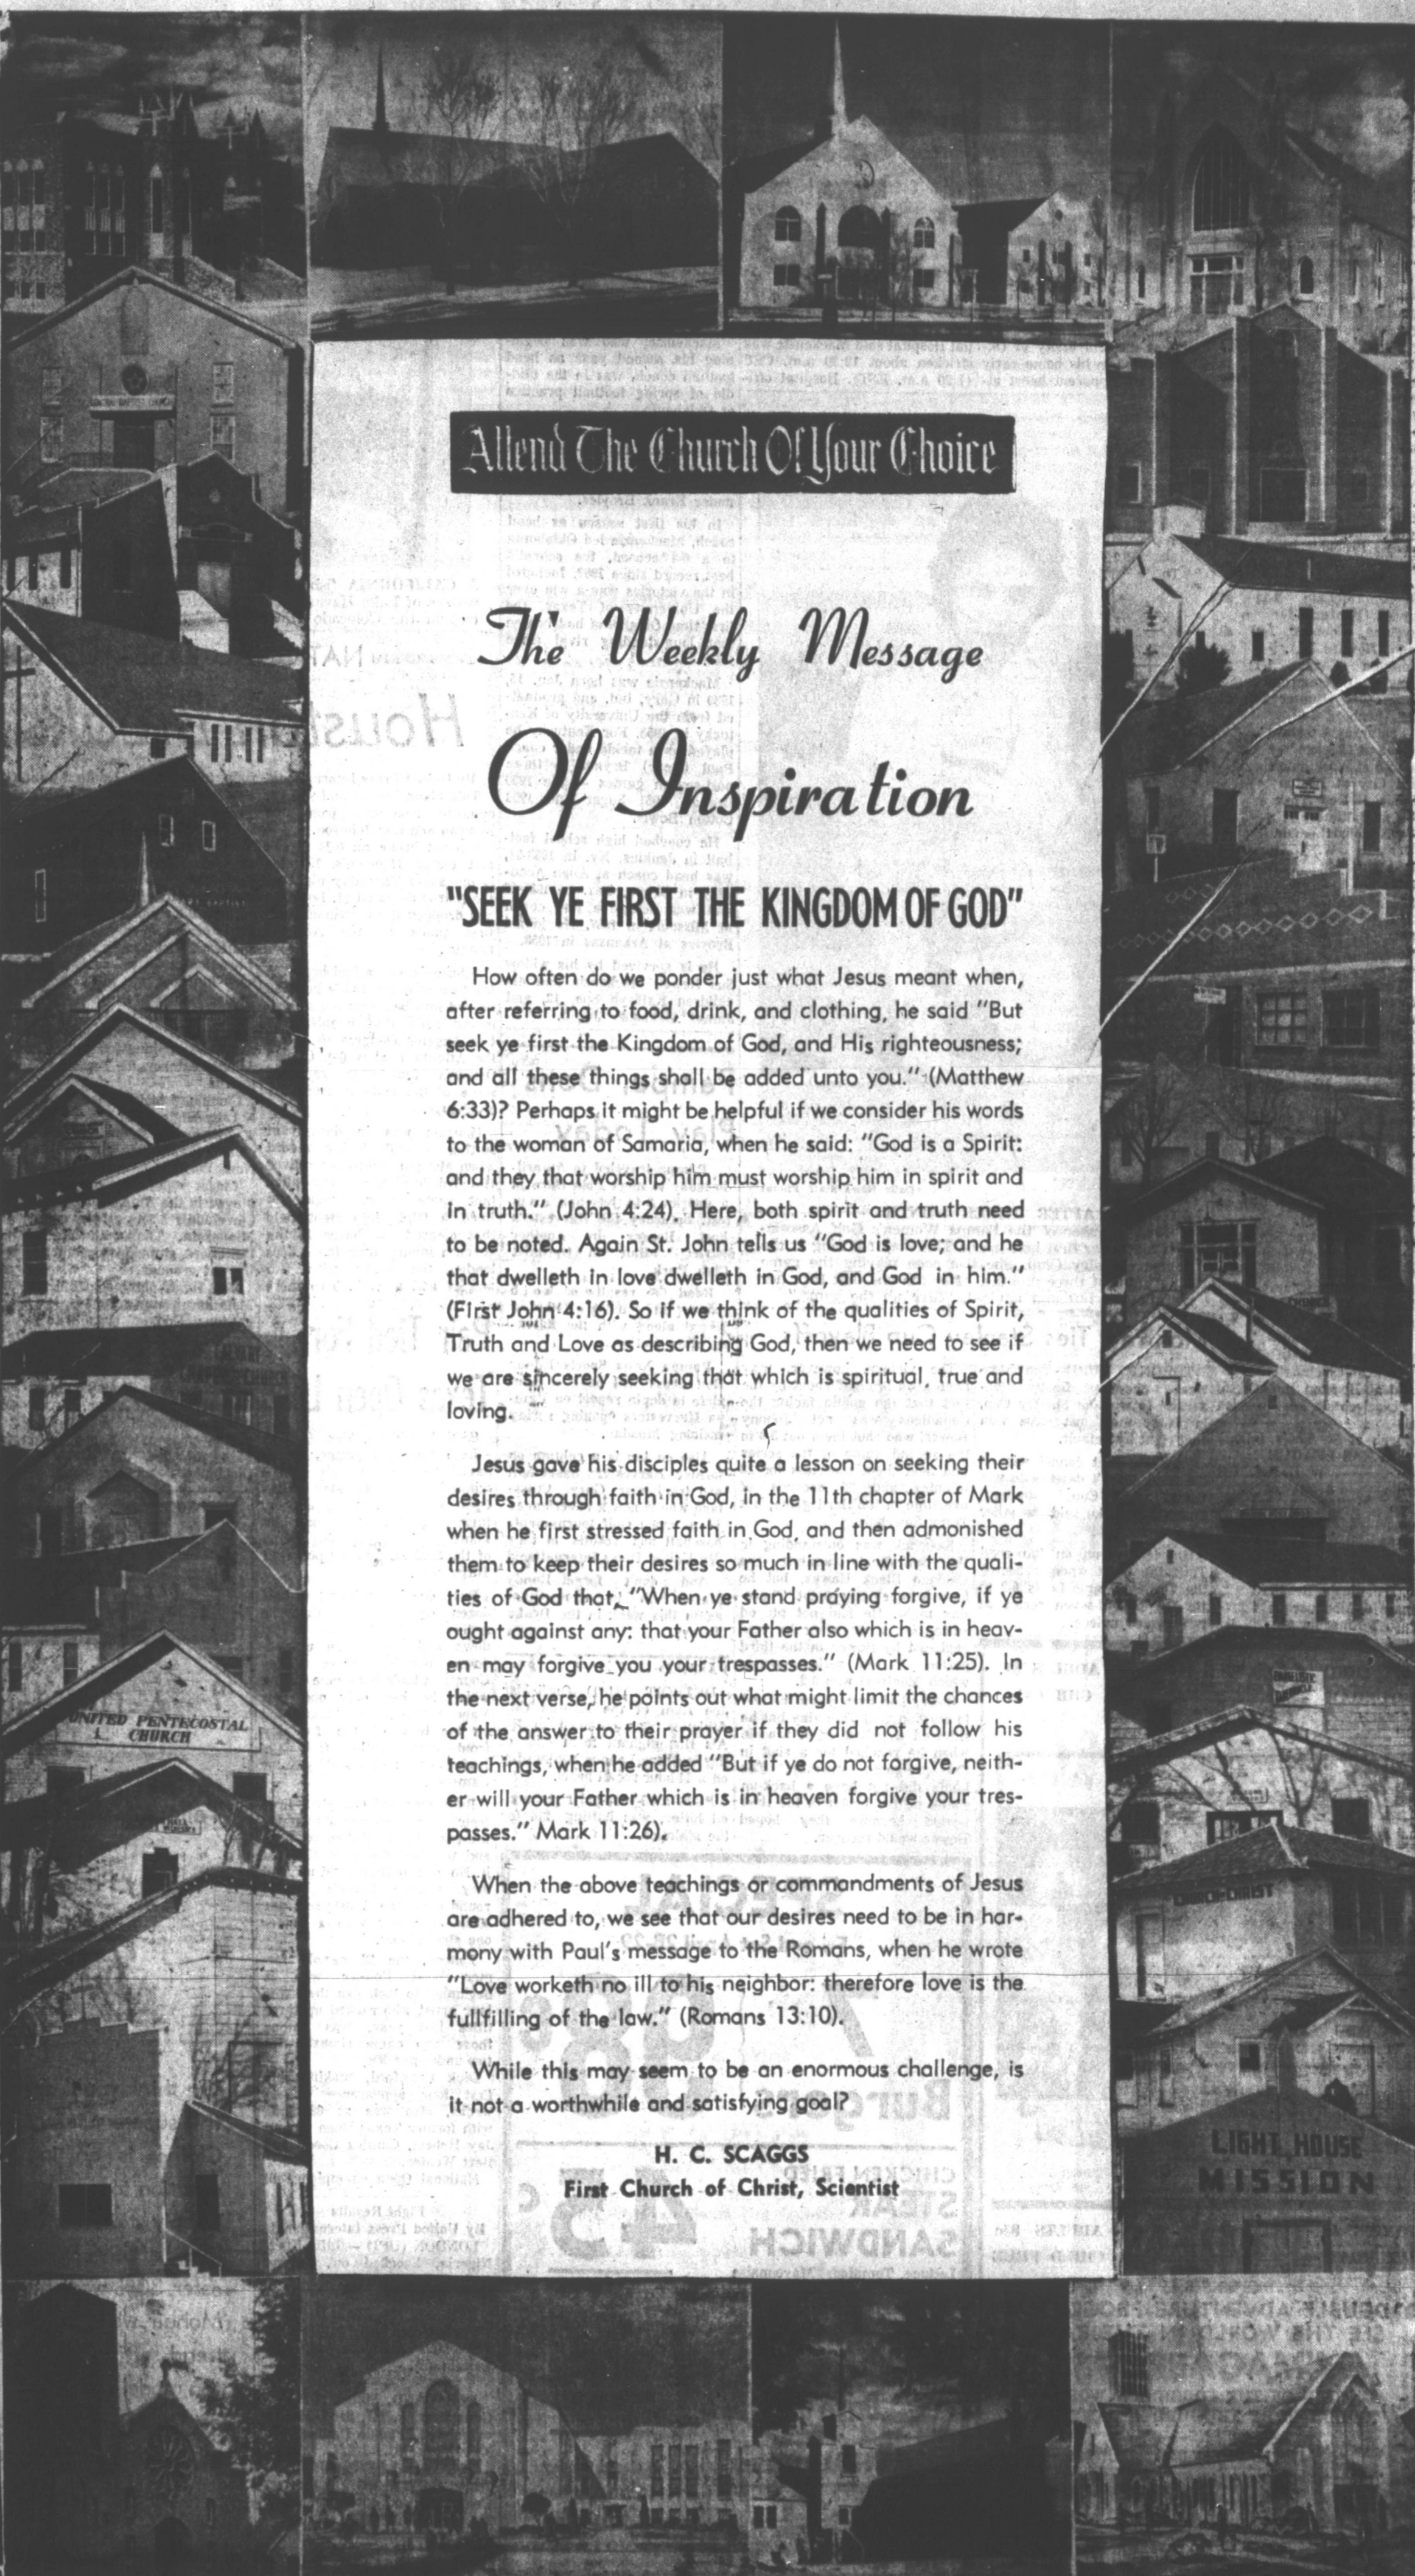

How often do we ponder just what Jesus meant when, after referring to food, drink, and clothing, he said "But seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matthew 6:33)? Perhaps it might be helpful if we consider his words to the woman of Samaria, when he said: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." (John 4:24). Here, both spirit and truth need to be noted. Again St. John tells us "God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him." (First John 4:16). So if we think of the qualities of Spirit, Truth and Love as describing God, then we need to see if we are sincerely seeking that which is spiritual, true and loving.

Jesus gave his disciples quite a lesson on seeking their desires through faith in God, in the 11th chapter of Mark when he first stressed faith in God, and then admonished them to keep their desires so much in line with the qualities of God that, "When ye stand praying forgive, if ye ought against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses." (Mark 11:25). In the next verse, he points out what might limit the chances of the answer to their prayer if they did not follow his teachings, when he added "But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses." Mark 11:26).

When the above teachings or commandments of Jesus are adhered to, we see that our desires need to be in harmony with Paul's message to the Romans, when he wrote "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." (Romans 13:10).

While this may seem to be an enormous challenge, is it not a worthwhile and satisfying goal?

AT LAST AFTER THREE MONTHS — Mrs. Jane Hoover, member of the Pampa Women's Golf Association made her first hole-in-one Thursday morning at the Pampa Country Club. Montreal Ties Stanley Cup Playoffs

TORONTO (UPI)—The Montreal Canadiens finally "deserve" to win the Stanley Cup, but they may just have won that right by default.

"A team that cannot win on the road doesn't deserve to win the Stanley Cup," Montreal Coach Joe Blake said the other day.

His team won on the road Thursday night when it routed the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-2 to tie the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

Officials at Norman Municipal Hospital said Mackenzie was stricken about 12:20 a.m. CST (1:20 a.m. EST). Hospital officials said he had not been ill before the attack.

Mackenzie, who was beginning his second year as head football coach, was in the middle of spring football practice at Oklahoma.

Mackenzie came to Oklahoma in the spring of 1966 from the University of Arkansas, where he had been an assistant coach under Frank Broyles.

In his first season as head coach, Mackenzie led Oklahoma to a 6-4 season, the school's best record since 1963. Included in the victories was a win over the University of Texas, the first time Oklahoma had beaten that long-standing rival since 1957.

Mackenzie was born Jan. 15, 1930 in Gary, Ind. and graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1953. For Kentucky he played as a tackle under coach Paul (Bear) Bryant in three post-season games — the 1950 Orange, 1951 Sugar and 1952 Cotton Bowls.

He coached high school football in Jenkins, Ky. in 1953-54, was head coach at Allen Academy in Bryan, Tex. in 1955-56 and was defensive line coach at Missouri in 1957. He joined Broyles at Arkansas in 1958.

He is survived by his widow Sue Newell Mackenzie and his children Kathryn Sue, 12, and James Alexander Jr., 5.

FARMED OUT

DETROIT (UPI)—Outfielder Joe Rudi of the Kansas City Athletics was optioned to the A's Birmingham farm club of the Southern League Wednesday on a 24-hour recall basis.

Rudi, a 20-year-old righthanded hitter, was batting .214 for the Athletics.

NATIONAL BASEBALL ROUNDUP Houston Breaks Slump

By United Press International

Talk about breaks and you get opposite reactions from Joe Morgan and Lou Johnson. Morgan broke an 0-24 streak and ended Houston's 10-game losing skid Thursday night as the Astros defeated St. Louis 6-4 and dropped the Cardinals from first place in the National League.

Johnson's was a bad break. A fracture of a left ankle bone as he slid into home during a first-inning rally that enabled the Los Angeles Dodgers to defeat the Atlanta Braves 6-0. Claude Osteen's four-hitter removed some of the sadness from the clubhouse.

Houston was in danger of setting a club losing record when Morgan picked out reliever Hal Woodeshick's second pitch that came in waist-high and lined a triple into right field that cleared the bases in the seventh inning after the Astros loaded the sacks with two singles and a walk. Two more runs followed on Eddie Mathews' double and a sacrifice fly. Predicts Good Season

"The rest should come easy," Morgan assured his teammates as he looked forward to continued good hitting that made him the 1966 N L All-Star second baseman. Morgan's hopes of continued success were shattered last season, however, when he broke a kneecap that kept him out for most of the second half.

Johnson will be lost to the Dodgers for 10-12 weeks as a result of catching his spikes in Atlanta catcher Joe Torre's shin guards. Cincinnati took the lead in the N L by edging San Francisco 3-2, Pittsburgh shaded Philadelphia 5-4 and Chicago shut out New York 3-0.

There was only one game played in the American League, Cleveland's 5-4 victory over Minnesota. The California at Baltimore game was postponed by wet grounds.

Ron Hunt, obtained from the Mets for Tommy Davis, drove in four Dodger runs with a single and a double as Osteen recorded his third win in four decisions. He walked one and struck out four. Denny Lemaster lost his first game.

Deron Johnson's sixth homer of the season with a man on base provided the punch for Cincinnati's victory over the Giants. Mel Queen, a converted outfielder won his third straight with the help of ace fireman Ted Abernathy's seventh save. Willie McCovey hammered his fifth homer for San Francisco, which couldn't prevent Gaylord Perry's second loss.

Clendenon Homers

Jesse Gonder, brought in as a pinchhitter in a seventh inning rally that tied the game slugged in the winning run for Pittsburgh in the eighth frame. Donn Clendenon powered his second homer of the year for the Pirates in the second inning. Pete Mikkelsen won his first reliever Dick Hall suffered his first setback.

Ferguson Jenkins fanned the side in the first inning and went on to add five more strikeouts as Chicago gained its first shut out of the season. Jenkins allowed the Mets only three hits. Lee Thomas drove in two Cub runs that helped bring about Jack Fisher's second loss. Jenkins won his third game without a loss.

In the lone American League encounter, Willie Smith, whacked a pinch-hit double in the eighth inning for Cleveland's winnin run. The Indians blew a four-run lead and were in trouble when Bob Allison hit a three-run homer in the sixth and Rich Rollins doubled home the tying run in the seventh.

Knicks Sign Bradley to Pact

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Bradley was back in England to pursue his studies at Oxford University today, and the New York Knickerbockers figured they might be back in the National Basketball Association race because they had his signature on a four-year, $450,000 contract.

The handsome, well-spoken Rhodes Scholar flew to New York Thursday to sign the contract at a standing-room-only news conference and ended two years of speculation over whether he'd ever play professional basketball.

The chase to get Bradley's name on the dotted line began while he still was at Princeton, where he led the Tigers to three consecutive Ivy League titles and into national prominence.

The Knicks gambled when they made the 6-foot-8 collegian their No. 1 draft choice in 1965 because he had said he planned to study in England for two years on a Rhodes scholarship and might never play for pay. But hapless New York apparently believed Bradley's credentials merited the risk.

The young Princeton player was a two-time TI-America, the player-of-the-year as a senior, a member of the 1964 Olympic squad and winner of the Sullivan Award as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete in 1965. He averaged 30.2 points per game, and his total of 2,508 points in 83 varsity games placed him third among all-time major college scorers for three-year careers.

Clay Induction In Army Today

HOUSTON (UPI) — Cassius Clay, faster foot than any other heavyweight boxing champion, will be asked to take one step forward into the U.S. Army today. Clay insists he will refuse and face a possible prison sentence.

Clay, scheduled to be inducted into the Army at 10 a.m. EST, has said repeatedly he will never take the step forward, signifying induction.

Two federal judges Friday dismissed Clay's last legal efforts to stay out of the Army. His 67-page petition to U.S. District Judge Allen B. Hannay said Clay cannot be a Black Muslim minister and a soldier at the same time.

His lawyers took the appeal to Judge John R. Brown of the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in a hearing at Brown's home late Thursday night.

Judge Brown also refused to issue an injunction to allow Clay to stay out of the Army.

"This is a hard and perhaps sad case," Judge Brown said. "A young American in the conscientious scruples of his own religion seeks injunctive relief . . . (in the contention) he is entitled to ministerial exemption."

"The risk he is taking is real and can be harsh," said Judge Brown. (since he can possibly be) adjudged not only to be wrong but a criminal if it turns out his contentions are unfounded.

89ers Up Lead In PCL Action

By United Press International

Earlier this spring Frank Kreutzer felt he had reached the end of the line in baseball after the Washington Senators declined to repurchase his contract from the Hawaii Islanders.

The 26-year-old pitcher was on the verge of giving up the game when he was coaxed into continuing. It was a good thing for Islander manager Wayne Terwilliger that Kreutzer decided to give it another try.

Of his three performances thus far in the young Pacific Coast League season, Kreutzer has done nothing to hurt his chances for another shot at the majors. He has pitched three complete games, winning all three and has been one of the big reasons for Hawaii's first place hold in the Western Division.

Kreutzer picked up his third win Thursday as he struck out 11 and scattered six hits in sparking the Islanders to a 7-3 win over Seattle. Only one run was earned.

The win put Hawaii one game up on Spokane, whose game with Tacoma was postponed because of rain.

Kreutzer got excellent hitting support from veteran Gene Freese, who drove in four runs on a three-run homer and a single. Jay Walrath also homered for Hawaii.

Oklahoma City and San Diego had a free-swinging contest with the 89ers coming out on top, 14-5. The winners pounded out 16 hits while the Padres countered with 12.

The winners exploded for five runs in the fifth to break a seven-inning tie and then capped it off with four run rallies in the seventh and eighth. Doug Rader collected three hits and drove in five runs while Ivan Murrell got the same number of hits and drove in four runs.

In other games, Denver handed Indianapolis its third straight loss, 6-4; Tulsa scored single runs in the sixth and eighth to top Phoenix, 3-1; and Lou Klimchok powered a two-run homer to pace Portland to a 3-1 win over Vancouver.

Ron Keller gave up eight hits, including a two-run four bagger by Jim Hicks, but tre tough in the clutch in the Denver victory. The loss was Indianapolis' eighth in nine games this season.

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Surveyor 3 used its robot television eye Thursday to scan the surrounding lunar terrain and peer at a pile of moon topsoil on one of its footpads.

The scattered pile of dirt was first thought to be a lunar rock when it was scooped up by Surveyor's steel-tipped surface sampler Wednesday morning.

The lump had been seen in earlier photos returned from the spacecraft after it was turned up in trenching operations.

On command from Earth, Surveyor extended its claw scoop and snatched up the lump from the lunar surface. Then the shovel arm retracted and the clod of dirt was dropped on one of the vehicle's three spider-like legs.

Scientists, looking through the television camera mounted on the robot, watched the cold splatter as it hit the footpad.

The sample was photographed through color filters which enhance picture quality when processed on Earth. The photos showed that the clod was only compressed dirt, similar to fine topsoil on earth.

Judge Brown said he still did not believe the law permitted the courts to take action in the case.

"If I was in the service I could not be teaching anything about the Holy Koran," Clay said. "I'd be going against it. I'd be a hypocrite."

Clay testified in his own behalf for an hour and 25 minutes Thursday, saying he planned to show up at the draft board today, but would not respond when his name was called.

U.S. Atty. Morton Susman said if Clay refuses to be inducted, he would face criminal prosecution. Susman said this could take months or even more than a year.

Clay's attorneys said they plan to continue their fight to keep the champion out of jail as well as the Army, but nothing could be done until after today's hearing.

Cites Ministerial Duties

Clay told the hearing Thursday he had preached as a minister in 15 mosques in the United States and in Christian churches in New York, Dallas and Louisville, Ky.

He said he had $1.5 million guaranteed for fights in Beirut, Lebanon, Tokyo and Los Angeles.

"Because of my religion, I have already given up $8 million and now it looks like I am going to give up $10 million more," he said.

Rockefeller Says No To '68 Candidacy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said Thursday he would not be a candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination under any circumstances.

Rockefeller questioned whether increased speculation that he might yet be a candidate came from elements in the GOP that sought to divide the party's moderate votes between Rockefeller and Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Rockefeller flew to Washington to testify before a House subcommittee to urge increased federal funds for control of water pollution. But at a news conference before the hearing, he was peppered with political questions.

He expressed the belief that Romney represented the kind of Republican thought that "commands the attention of the American people as the frontrunner" for the GOP presidential nomination.

GM Reports Drastic Drop In Car Sales

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., the world's largest manufacturer, recently became the second of the "big four" auto makers to report drastic drops in sales and profits during the first three months of 1967.

In announcing that its first quarter profits were down 24 per cent from a year ago and its dollar sales down 14 per cent, GM executives predicted an upswing in the auto market following a period of "consumer uncertainty" earlier this year.

Chrysler Corp. last week reported its first quarter profits were down 70 per cent. Ford Motor Co. and American Motors Corp. have yet to report their first quarter results.

GM said its profits during the first three months of 1967 totaled $390 million, or $1.35 per share, on sales of $4.9 billion. First quarter profits during 1966 were $495 million, or $2.07 per share, on sales of $5.7 billion.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, and James M. Roche, GM president, were optimistic that the 20 per cent decline in auto sales by the industry will be erased as consumers gain confidence in the future.

They blamed the lack of confidence, strikes at the Mansfield and Norwood, Ohio, plants and an unusually hard winter in the Midwest and East for the decline.

"With an economy that is basically strong and with the present consumer purchasing power, an increased consumer confidence should be evidence in increased automobile sales," Roche and Donner said.

Wright Investors' Service says a moderate price reaction in late May-June should be considered by investors as a constructive buying opportunity in a market that will almost certainly end the year in higher price levels.

PROTECTIVE COLORING

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland will spend about $60,000 to dress its 2,000 garbage collectors, rubbish crews and other service department employees in bright orange uniforms.

Service Director Robert J. Kelly said homeowners frequently mistake garbage collection for prowlers.

$150,000 Granted To Answer News Group's Question

NEW YORK (UPI) — A grant of $150,000 was announced recently to sponsor an impartial study of the question: Does crime news reporting prevent a fair trial?

J. Howard Wood, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, told a meeting of the 81st annual ANPA convention that the grant had been made from the Robert R. McCormick charitable trust.

Citing the Chicago Tribune's late editor and publisher as a leader in the fight for the freedoms of speech and of press, Wood said he and other trustees of the McCormick trust felt "there is no better way faithfully to discharge the stewardship placed upon us by the colonel than for his trust to finance a study that will objectively determine whether there is in fact any basis for the claim that crime news reporting prevents a fair trial."

He said the grant to the ANPA foundation would provide for an independent organization to answer the question.

9 Subsidizing Strikes

(The Wall Street Journal) Though unemployment insurance is intended only to partially replace wages workers lose during periods of involuntary unemployment, labor unions keep trying to stretch the idea.

In New Jersey, for instance, they are putting pressure on the Legislature to approve payments to workers on strike. Presumably the Jersey unions are a little jealous of their counterparts in neighboring New York, where strikers already are eligible for benefits.

From the unions' standpoint, the attraction is obvious. When strikers can tap unemployment compensation funds, there's less drain on union treasuries and less need to reach some sort of reasonable agreement with employers.

Unions aren't noticeably bothered by the fact that the ramifications are, to say the least, a little weird. Consider just one: Workers who collect benefits are supposed to report regularly to employment offices to seek new jobs; it's doubtful that the unions actually want to see strikes thus deflated.

While employers in most states pay the full cost of jobless compensation, in New Jersey the workers also contribute. Jersey labor leaders plainly think this strengthens their case for paying benefits to strikers, but it's hard to see how.

For the fact still remains that it's unfair to force employers to risk subsidizing strikes against themselves. And it's wrong to have the state compel workers, whether they have any stake in the dispute or not, to chip in and help pay the tab.

Mixed Marriage

Anatomy of a Collectivist

By BUTLER D. SHAFER, Instructor, Rampart College

There are, throughout the world, men and women who look about them and note numerous problems which plague mankind. Crime, water pollution, unemployment, hunger, urban decay, and hundreds of other areas of concern face virtually all men. Some individuals attempt to do something about these problems through programs of education, voluntary effort, and the like, while others seek the intervention of one or another government agency as a solution. Those employing the former means might be called "individualists," while the latter would be considered "collectivists."

The primary distinction between an individualist and a collectivist, then, has nothing to do with the ends sought, but with the means to be employed or reach a given end. Most collectivists self-righteously proclaim themselves to be "concerned" persons, while those who oppose their methods are labeled as "disinterested," and yet the real conflict between the two groups is over the means that are to be used.

Take the problems of conservation and pollution, for example. If you oppose government intervention as a means of conserving natural resources or of preventing the deterioration of air or water through pollution, then, to the collectivist, you are simply unwilling to do anything about these problems. And yet the bulk of the work that is being done in these areas is being done voluntarily by hundreds of individuals and firms. It is a matter of fact that lumber companies, paper mills and the like not only have programs for the protection of wooded areas, but actually go out and plant new areas with trees year after year. Why would they do a thing like this... and voluntarily?

Quite simple: The lumber companies have "discovered"—all without the assistance of the state—that they need trees to remain in business. If the trees disappear, their business disappears. Thus, out of a pure profit motive, individual firms undertake voluntary action to conserve natural resources.

The same holds true of the efforts being made by private firms to prevent pollution. There are numerous companies throughout the country that have, at very great expense, built pollution control plants for their firms to see to it that they do not pollute either the air or the water. One such company is Kimberly-Clark. At an expense of millions of dollars, Kimberly-Clark has seen to it that the water it returns to the rivers—at a rate of millions of gallons per day—is as clean as it was when received. Again, on a purely voluntary basis.

This approach is unsatisfactory to the collectivist, however. Not that it is not effective, for clearly it is. Rather, the collectivist's dissatisfaction stems from the fact that he prefers an involuntary approach. The basic characteristic of the collectivist mind is a compulsion to want to be in a decision-making position over other men.

He is a person impressed with the dynamics of power, and who imagines himself in a position of authority whence he can issue orders, edicts, regulations, and the like, and then sit back and watch men running about obeying him. Until this point is understood, I think the collectivist mind will never be fathomed.

Over many centuries, men have made a constant effort to free themselves from the authority of other men, and to get themselves into a position where they could make decisions over their lives and property. Man's history has, in fact, been a chronicle of the struggle between men desiring to be free and men seeking to control others. I dare say this struggle will never end: there will always be men seeking freedom, and those seeking tyranny over the human race. Into the latter category goes the collectivist, a man callous and indifferent to the desires of individuals, who seeks the satisfaction of his power-hungry by keeping his fellow man at the point of the bayonet.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Change That Clock Tomorrow Night

Pampa, the Panhandle, Texas and most of the rest of the country are going on daylight saving time Sunday.

So what? Seems to be the attitude of most people. The farmer, who has fought daylight saving time ever since it was invented, will have to adjust to the habits of his livestock, instead of them adjusting to the time change. We've never yet seen a milk cow or a chicken that understood daylight saving time. But how many people do you know who keep a family cow or flock of chickens these days?

This whole business of time is pretty artificial and arbitrary anyway. People have been tinkering with it for ages so that today any relationship to the sun is purely coincidental. Some smarties in Congress last year figured out a reverse twist that will put most of the country on daylight saving time April 30. They passed a law establishing daylight time for the whole country but left a loophole by telling the various state legislatures they could keep their states on standard time if they chose to do so.

The Texas Legislature, with most of our legislators changing their earlier stands to go along with the majority, voted down a bill that would have kept standard time through the summer.

The only true time, if there is such a thing, is sun time. In the days when sundials were the accepted means of counting the hours, sun time served the purpose. Today, however, it would be pretty inconvenient to have clocks in Pampa read 6 o'clock when it was 6:05 in Canadian and 5:30 in El Paso.

So, when we go to bed Saturday night at 10 o'clock, we'll set our clocks AHEAD to 11 o'clock. When we get up the next morning we'll be on Central Daylight Time. And then next fall... well, let's worry about that when the time comes.

There Are Two Sides to Coin

According to University of Toronto professor Marshall McLuhan, who is making some of the biggest splashes in the academic pool these days, "the medium is the message."

What this means, if we interpret his interpreters correctly, is that the way men communicate with one another determines the kind of society they live in—that the means of communication is more important than what is being communicated. In our electronic society, for instance, the dots that make up the picture on a television tube are more important than the picture itself.

Most people have failed to get McLuhan's message, however. They go on expecting something of value from television. They go on reading newspapers to keep informed. They go on buying and enjoying books, which McLuhan says are on the way out, though he has written three of them himself.

Others dispute his contentions vigorously. If the medium is indeed the message, says Arthur R. Murphy Jr., president of the McCall Corporation, then "the time has come to do something about the situation. For... unless we have meaningful messages to transmit via a medium, we had better close down our press or our transmitter right now."

The Pill: A Clean Bill

The results of the longest-term study of "The Pill" yet conducted could not be more encouraging. Of 1,300 women taking oral contraceptives, some for as long as 11 years, not one developed any serious side effects.

The study was made by a team of three scientists headed by Gregory Pincus, one of the developers of the pill. They report: "Not a single case of thrombophlebitis (vein inflammation) or thrombophlebitis with blood clot occurred in the entire period. (Ordinarily, one woman in a thousand can be expected to develop this circulatory problem.)"

—There was not a single case of other circulatory or heart disease among the pill users. —Not a single cancer of the uterus or breast traceable to the pill developed. Of five cases of such cancer found among the 1,300 women, all had originated before the women began using the pill.

—Of a total of 18 unplanned pregnancies during the 11 years of study, 15 were due to failure to take the pill as prescribed.

—Minor side effects, such as nausea, reported by some of the women were more frequent in the early months of treatment and disappeared with continued use of the pill.

living in, says Murphy, the primary mission of the communications media—newspapers, magazines, radio, television and anything else—is to seek out the facts and arrange them in a pattern that accurately and meaningfully presents the nearest possible representation of the truth.

But there is, he maintains, an "understanding gap" of serious dimensions in this country today. Americans have too little knowledge, and even less understanding, of what is going on in the nation and the world.

"We have put such store in proving how fast we can process material, how brilliant our color is, how much material we can put on the scene... that we have forgotten that the important thing in communication is not so much how we transmit information but WHAT INFORMATION IS TRANSMITTED."

We must not be seduced by the idea that "the medium is the message," he urges, but rather become devoted to the ideal that content is all important, and that the primary ingredient of content is truth.

"We must rededicate ourselves to the beauties and the revelations of the English language and learn again how to write it, read it and understand it—for it is the greatest communications medium of all."

World Almanac Facts

The English language is rich in words that derive from the languages of other countries, says the World Almanac. The British introduced a number of words from India into English. Among the more common are "shampoo," which comes from the Hindustani word "champo," "bungalow," which comes from the Hindi "banga" and "dungras," which comes from the Hindi "dungri."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Ever hear of the Tipperary cocktail? Well, its guaranteed to put a tired army on its toes. It was concocted at a bartender's competition for new and fancy drinks held at Detroit, Mich., in August, 1915, by John Fahey, known as the "Galway Man," who was then dispensing cheer at Narragansett Pier, R.I. Naturally, it's green with a creme de menthe foundation and the punch is produced with Irish whiskey in the proportion of one part in three. The old song says it's a long way to Tipperary, but after three of them it will seem a long way to anywhere.

Today is Friday, April 28, the 118th day of 1967 with 247 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Born on this day in 1878 was American actor Lionel Barrymore.

On this day in history: In 1942, the U.S. government ordered a World War II "dimout" after dark along the Atlantic Coast.

World Almanac Facts

Fishing is no longer a cheap sport where you can haul in the big ones with a bean pole rod, a cork stopper plug, and a bent pin hook. Visiting a swank New York sports goods store we were astounded at the ultra-ultra fishing equipment displayed, and the prices were even more surprising. One fly rod was priced at $179, complete with spinning reels. There were also $225 and $175 precision-machined reels. We sometimes wonder if the high-priced equipment really improves your chances of hooking a prize specimen, but then we tell ourselves that no matter what kind of equipment you may use, fishing is still largely a matter of luck. And, in our case, the big ones do get away.

NEW PROPOSAL TO CHECK THE SUPREME COURT

The constant abuse of power by the United States Supreme Court is becoming almost intolerable to thinking Americans. The Court is relentlessly striking down one after another of the safeguards a free people have established, under law, to preserve their freedom and protect the rights of the innocent. Known, confessed and convicted criminals have been let loose by the Court to rob and kill again. School authorities have been denied the authority to discharge known communists from teaching positions.

Thoughts while shaving:

A survey reveals that Americans drink only half as much tea when dining out as they consume at home. One of the reasons given is the inability of restaurants to match the flavor of the tea brewed at home, due in large measure to a lack of adequate tea-brewing equipment. We have found that fastidious tea drinkers disdain tea bags and much prefer to mix their own potions to suit their taste. The Kennedy family can chalk up another first. No other American family can claim the distinction of having a monthly newsletter published about their activities, but that's what's being done by a Detroit firm. Anyone can subscribe to the Kennedy Newsletter for a small fee and keep up to date the doings of the clan. It's no wonder there's a postal deficit. Recently a New York state resident put a quarter in a stamp machine at his local post office and out popped more than 2000 stamps. For a moment he thought he was in Las Vegas and hit the jackpot. There's no need for any New Yorker to miss an important phone call. There are more than 90,000 telephone answering services in the Big Town. For a fee they take your calls when you are out, keep a record of them, and pass them along to the subscriber twice a day, or oftener if nec-

The Indian scratched his head thoughtfully for a comment, then replied:
Big Chief—I reckon that all depends on how fast you're carrying the flashlight.

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge
See last paragraph

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.
2. Stealing is wrong.

It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law — only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntarism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.
2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal." Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: "... I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good political socialism," either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred, have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club—and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

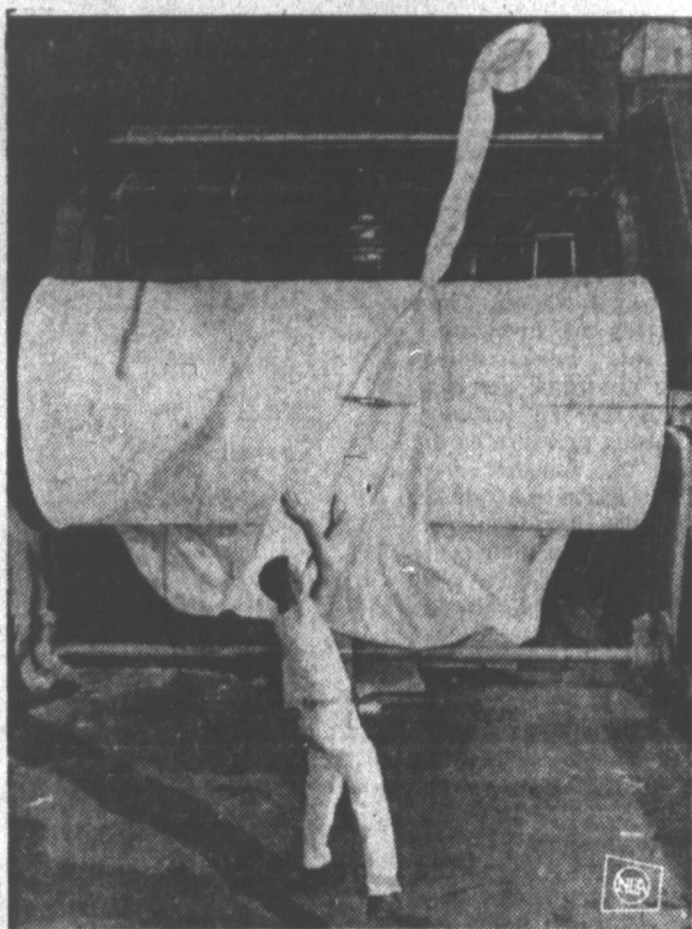

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

*Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

The light-emitting device would be used in an electronic system that would help eliminate accidents caused by unexpected stops and turnpike fatigue. Infrared signals reflected from the car ahead would indicate the relative speed and closing rates between the laser-equipped car and the one ahead, and the system would activate an audible signal. If this failed to alert the driver, the car's brakes would be applied automatically.
