LBJ Given Seven Weeks to Settle Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With a seven-week breathing spell assured by Congress, President Johnson set out today to fashion a legislative formula for heading off the twice-postponed railroad strike.

Congress acted Monday, at the President's request, to provide a 47-day extension of the strike deadline, originally set for 12:01 a.m. Wednesday. It was the second postponement. The lawmakers previously had approved a 20-day stay.

The President, who promised to send Congress a legislative proposal on the strike "within a few days," must now come up with such a plan. Congressional leaders were expecting it today or, more likely, Wednesday.

Some Republican spokesmen complained before Monday's Senate and House action that the rail emergency would not have arisen if Johnson had fulfilled an earlier promise to submit general proposals for settling such national emergency strikes.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, N.Y., recalled that the President promised such proposals in his State-of-the-Union message a year ago.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., said he was voting for the postponement only because the President had assured congressional leaders last Friday that he would recommend both a solution to the strike called by six railroad shopcraft unions and a permanent provision for such crisis strikes.

Informed sources reported, after approval of the postponement resolution, that the President had not yet decided what action to propose to head off the strike of 17,000 railroad shopmen when the deadline rolls around again.

Speculation centered on proposals involving compulsory arbitration of the disputes or seizure of the railroads while an agreement is negotiated.

men reported today. In the South, U.S. Marines drove elite Communist forces from Hill 881 in a significant victory.

But the air war was growing costly. The 700th U.S. plane was shot down by the enemy was lost today over South Vietnam, an F100 Supersabre.

Air Force and Navy pilots spotted 21 MIGs parked on North Vietnam airfields at Hoa Lac, 24 miles southwest of Hanoi, and at Kep, 37 miles north of the capital, and destroyed eight of them. They shot down three in dogfights reported Monday and two others were listed as probably destroyed.

The Air Force also disclosed the loss of three American jets and four fighters over the North on Sunday. Another 623 planes and 813 helicopters have been lost.

Tragedy also struck near Da Nang when a big U.S. Marine Seahawk helicopter carrying wounded Marines to a hospital ship, crashed into the South China Sea Monday night when an engine failed. Rescue teams found nine survivors but eight others aboard were listed as dead.

Sanity Plea From Vessels Turned Down

CANYON — District Court Judge Gene Jordan turned down today convicted rapist Thomas R. Vessel's appeal for a sanity hearing.

Jordan ruled there was not sufficient evidence to warrant the sanity hearing.

Vessels was sentenced yesterday to three years in jail on an assault with intent to murder without malice an Amarillo housewife.

Vessels' court-appointed attorney J. Ray Martin of Amarillo said Vessels would be sentenced in 10 days, and there would be no appeal made by him (Martin) in the case.

"I advised my client that he was given a fair hearing and fair sentence, and no appeal will be made by me," Martin said.

In the assault case Monday, the woman told a jury of 10 men and two women that she found Vessels in her home and he told her, "If you scream, I'll kill you."

She said she screamed, he (See VESSELS, Page 3)

U.S. to Withdraw 35,000 Troops From German Duty

Pullout Is Expected In January of '68

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today announced plans to withdraw 35,000 military personnel and four squadrons of combat planes from West Germany.

The State Department, in disclosing withdrawal plans, did not say when the pullout would begin. But it was learned that it would start next January.

The department said the plan, worked out in a series of talks by American officials with Britain and Germany since last October, had been submitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council in Paris.

The withdrawal is part of an overall plan to reduce the dollar drain on the United States in an effort to balance its international payments.

In addition, West Germany has agreed to purchase $500 million in "special medium-term U. S. government securities" during the coming fiscal year. Bonn also will continue buying American military equipment to help defray the costs of maintaining a large American force in Germany.

The American plan calls for removing two of the three brigades of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, together with supporting elements. Involved are about 20,000 combat troops and 7,000 Air Force and other personnel.

U. S. officials said the troop withdrawal will save the United States almost $100 million a year.

The board met a week ago today and went over property valuations assessed by the city tax department. Some valuations were increased and some were lowered.

Notices will be placed in the mail Thursday to all property owners whose assessed valuations were increased.

The hearing on May 15 will be to hear complaints from any not satisfied with the increased valuation figures.

"The tax department is ready to counsel or talk with any taxpayer prior to the May 15 hearing," Tax Assessor - Collector Aubrey Jones said today.

George Scott, chairman of the equalization board, stated the hearing will be for persons whose assessed valuation was raised or for anyone else interested in proceedings at the hearing.

Other members of the equalization board are L. L. Sone and R. M. Samples.

At the close of the one-day hearing the board will make its final determination and fix all valuations in both categories—real estate and business personal property—situated within the Pampa city limits.

AVIATION ADDED — In observance of Civil Air Patrol Week, which will begin May 7, Pampa's Senior Squadron of CAP donated 30 books and magazines on aviation and aerospace to Lovett Memorial Library last night to initiate an aviation section in the library. The squadron will add two books every month hereafter. Shown making the contribution are Capt. Ralph Prock, Pampa squadron commander; Barbara Cockrell, librarian; Lt. Col. Gerald Nash, Group 1 information officer from Amarillo; 1st Lt. Suzi Wilkinson, squadron information officer, and Col. Pete Minden, Group 1 commander from Amarillo.

Voting Light In Runoff Election

Voting in today's runoff election between Leon Holmes and Joe Taylor for Ward 3 city commissioner was running about 25 per cent lighter at noon than it did in the general city election April 4.

At that hour less than 300 votes had been cast in the four city wards. Nearly 400 votes had been registered at the same hour in the election a month ago.

The noonday vote count today showed 118 in Ward One, 104 in Ward Two, 36 in Ward Three and 22 in Ward Four for a total of 280 votes cast city-wide in the first four hours of balloting.

The noonday vote total in the April 4 election was 357. When the polls closed in the general election the total city-wide vote was 1,761.

Political observers were guessing, on the basis of the noonday count, the total vote in today's election would be around 1,200 to 1,300.

Thirty-three absentee ballots were cast in today's election. Voting was expected to pick up during the noon hour and later today when workers leave their jobs for the day between

N. Viet Invasion Threat Subsides

WASHINGTON (UPI)—South Vietnam's northern provinces are expected to be the scene of some bloody and bitter fighting in the months ahead.

But U.S. defense experts say there will probably not be a mass, conventional "invasion" through the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) by North Vietnamese troops, despite the recent buildup on the Red side of the line.

U.S. military officials think it far more likely that any Communist offensive will come from forces infiltrated over mountain and jungle trails to await "targets of opportunity."

About nine North Vietnamese divisions already have been infiltrated into South Vietnam during the war. Four are located in the five northern provinces of South Vietnam, known as I Corps area.

One of these divisions is located in the mountain-jungle area of Quang Tri province, just below the DMZ, near the Laotian border. It is here that U.S. Marines, trying to capture a strategic ridge, were engaged in heavy fighting Monday. Military officials report that the division in Quang Tri is being reinforced by infiltration to a probable strength of a division and a half.

There also are a number of North Vietnamese army divisions north of the DMZ, the six-mile wide belt separating the two Vietnams.

High administration officials outside the Pentagon recently reported four divisions there. Most military officials speak of three divisions and elements of a fourth "located in the north of the zone."

A North Vietnamese division normally contains 10,000 men, but it usually is understrength—often at about 8,000. This could add up to 28,000 to 35,000 Communist troops in the area, although the Pentagon says variations and complexities in organization of units makes it hard to estimate the actual number of men.

The U.S. Marines have 78,000 men in the northern province area, so the North Vietnamese are heavily outnumbered. But they probably need a victory for morale purposes and are looking for opportunities to attack American forces.

Chicago Dairies Lock Out Drivers In Retaliation

CHICAGO (UPI)—Millions of housewives today turned to powdered milk and margarine or drove miles to do their shopping after Chicago area dairies dried up the supply of fresh milk by locking out truck drivers.

Within hours after the lockout stopped deliveries Monday, stores were forced to place "one to a customer" limits on all dairy products. Some housewives made nearly 100 mile round trips to stores outside the metropolitan area.

Stores also began rationing powdered milk, placing a "one box per customer" on the whole milk substitute.

The cutoff of milk deliveries affected nearly four million residents of the Chicago area. Fresh milk began disappearing from market shelves after a contract between the huge Dear Foods Co. and Local 753 of the Milk Wagon Drivers Union expired at midnight Sunday and the drivers went on strike.

About 40 other dairies joined Dean in its fight by locking out their teams or drivers.

The strike against Dean and the resultant lockouts were similar to the activity that has tied up much of the rest of Chicago's trucking industry and delayed settlement of a nationwide International Teamsters Union settlement with the nation's trucking industry.

Thomas Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of Local 753, asked Mayor Richard J. Daley to mediate the dispute.

Haggerty, who estimated that 1,000 of his union's 5,000 members were working after contract signings with smaller dairies, said his organization is filing suit in circuit court asking for $250,000 damages and $50 million in punitive damages on the grounds the lockout by two dairy associations was illegal. He also called for a National Labor Relations Board injunction against the lockout.

Center of the dispute between the Teamsters affiliate and the dairymen centered on the number of milk deliveries per week. The dairymen want to cut the number of deliveries for "more efficient and inexpensive methods of distribution" but the union fears a loss of jobs.

SEVERAL SOLUTIONS

Parents a Factor In Youths' Drinking

By RON CROSS

(Last of a three-part series) Better supervision by parents is the major plea by local law enforcement officials to discourage drinking among minors.

Pampa and Gray County law officers feel that parents are not keeping good enough track of their children, thus making it easier for them to drink.

Pampa Chief of Police Jim Conner said that most of it goes back to the parents.

"A lot of the time parents do not know what their children are doing. They may think they do, but they don't," Conner said.

"Youngsters see their parents drinking and think it's alright for them to do it, too. The parents need to talk and explain these things to their youngsters," the chief said.

"I wouldn't begin to try to tell parents how to raise their children but a better understanding at home could be a big help," Conner concluded.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan said he also believes closer supervision at home would be a big help.

"I know that parents can't follow their children around all the time," Jordan said, adding, "but they do need to actually know what they are doing and if their kids are doing what they say they are."

"I still think that the youngsters who are doing this are in the minority," Jordan said.

"I also think that we all need to work closer together on this and other problems," Jordan stated.

Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard had another idea: "To me it's up to the young people to use their own judgment. They know whether or not they should do this," Leonard said.

"What I mean is that they should set their own moral standards. Where you have a strong family unity, you have stronger moral standards," the officer stated.

One worker in the Pampa Police Department said that young people are afraid to tell where they get it because one youth is (See DRINKING, Page 3)

REPORTING AWARD OVERRULED

Pulitzer Prizes Go To Louisville, Milwaukee Journals

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisville Courier-Journal and the Milwaukee Journal have been awarded the 1967 Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service.

Pulitzer Prize winners also included Edward Albee for drama and Bernard Malamud for fiction.

The trustees of Columbia University made the choices Monday after meeting nearly 90 minutes to study the recommendations of an advisory committee.

Announcement of the prizes almost immediately set off a controversy concerning the award for international reporting. A 4-1 recommendation by the Pulitzer Prize jury that the award go to the New York Times' Harrison Salisbury for his reporting from North Vietnam was overruled by the advisory board. The board gave it to R. John Hughes of the Christian Science Monitor for a series on the massacres in Indonesia following the abortive 1965 coup there.

The advisory board's decision to reject the recommendation of the jury was made public by Joseph Pulitzer Jr., grandson of the founder of the annual awards. Pulitzer, editor and publisher and board chairman of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and chairman of the Pulitzer advisory board, made an impassioned plea that the award be given to Salisbury, Columbia Prof. John Hohenberg, secretary to the board, declined to comment on the controversy.

Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of the Times, indicated he was unconcerned about the board's decision. "Pulitzers come and go, but the newspaper business goes on," he commented.

The Courier-Journal was honored for "its successful campaign to control the Kentucky strip mine industry." The Milwaukee Journal was cited for its "successful campaign to stiffen the laws against water pollution in Wisconsin." It was the second such award for the Milwaukee Journal. It won the meritorious public service award in 1919.

Albee won his Pulitzer for his latest Broadway production, "A Delicate Balance," and Malamud won a prize for his best-selling novel, "The Fixer." Journalism prizes are $1,000, except the award for meritorious public service for which a gold medal is given. Prizes in letters and music are $500.

Other 1967 Pulitzer Prize winners are:

National reporting — Stanley Penn and Monroe Karmrin of the Wall Street Journal for "their investigative reporting of the connection between American crime and gambling in the Bahamas."

Local reporting (general) — Robert V. Cox of the Chambersburg (Pa.) Public Opinion for "his vivid deadline reporting of a mountain manhunt that ended in the killing of a deranged sniper."

Local reporting (Special) — Gene Miller of the Miami Herald, "Whose Initiative and investigative reporting helped free two persons wrongfully convicted of murder."

Editorial writing — Eugene Patterson of the Atlanta Constitution for his editorials in 1966.

Music — "Quartet No. 3," by Leon Kirchner.

phant of the Denver Post for cartoons during the year as exemplified by "They won't get us to the conference table . . . will they?"

New photography — Jack R. Thornell of the Associated Press' New Orleans bureau, for his photo of the wounding of James Meredith by a roadside sniper in Mississippi.

History — "Exploration and Empire: The Explorer and Scientist in the Winning of the American West," by William H. Goetzmann.

Biography — "Mr. Clemens and Mark Twain," by Justin Kaplan.

Poetry — "Live or Die," by Anne Sexton.

General non-fiction — "The Problem of Slavery in Western Culture," by David Brion Davis.

Pampan To Head A&M Directorate

COLLEGE STATION (Spl) — David Wilks of Pampa, a junior mechanical engineering major, has been named president of Texas A&M's Memorial Student Center Directorate for the summer term.

The MSC Directorate directs student activity programs which Wilks claims will be much more varied than in past years.

"We hope to sponsor bigger and different functions," he said. Wilks said he needs 25 persons who are willing to work in promoting a summer speaker series and a small-scale Town Hall series. Professional entertainers perform for Town Hall performances.

Other programs outlined by Wilks include activities for married students, such as bowling leagues and game parties. Another innovation planned includes a street dance on campus.

Wilks, a graduate of Pampa High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Wilks, 121 Charles, Pampa.

MALOUF ABRAHAM REPORTS

There's a Lot to Get Done In Four Remaining Weeks

Only four more weeks to go and a lot to get done. We've really been putting our noses to the grindwheel. We just got through passing the revisions to the Criminal Code in the House that will plug up a lot of the loopholes in favor of the criminals. The Senate is still wrestling with versions but ours is supposed to be a lot better for the honest people. Then the two bills will go to a joint study committee to get worked out.

I just about decided that trying to predict what happens in politics is harder than predicting the weather. Just about everybody thought the Governor's Liquor Bill was dead as a doornail when they suddenly brought it out of Committee by a 10 to 7 vote. They swung three members over and four of them were not at the hearing. Now they are working hard to round up enough votes on the floor. In spite of the fact that they have amended the original bill, I do not believe it will pass.

The Highway Department has come out with a beautiful brochure for our visiting tourists. It is called Texas Visitor Industry Report 1966. I am sure you can get a copy by writing the Highway Department. The reason I bring it up is that on page 7 is a big picture of the hunters taken near Canadian that also appears on the new Highway maps — the heck of it is they don't tell them where it was taken. I also received a brochure and book that American Airlines has put out advertising Texas Tourism. This is fast becoming one of our biggest industries and one that we should all exploit.

We received our proposed House Budget this week. It's about as thick as a couple of Sears catalogs and is about $250,000,000 more than last year, not including any teachers' pay raise and some other necessary increases. Haven't had a chance to do any analyzing on it yet.

There are still hundreds of bills to be acted on and the authors are afraid they won't see daylight before the session is over. This would sure be a good thing for a lot of them that I've seen. Made a fast trip back home last weekend and got to see a lot of you. Real refreshing to get to visit with you but it sure is a long way from here to there and back in a hurry. The coming week ought to bring a lot of interesting happenings.

Terry Dwaine Scoggin, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Scoggin, 1816 N. Wells, was recently initiated into the membership of Phi Theta Kappa, National Junior College Honor Society, at the spring installation services in the auditorium of the Fine Arts building on Frank Phillips College campus.

Lighted candles, symbolic of knowledge and white roses signifying purity and beauty of life were handed to each new member.

Phi Theta Kappa seeks to promote scholarship, to develop character and to cultivate fellowship among the students of junior colleges of the nation. A 2.3 average grade point is required for membership.

Highway Department Lists Gray County In Road Improvements

The Texas Highway Department listed Gray County as one of 31 included in low bids for road construction Monday.

The Gilvin-Terrill Inc., Amarillo, bid was for Texas 70, from 9.5 miles south of Pampa to 91.7 feet south of Farm 2477, 9.1 miles of base.

The State Highway Department's total tabulation of bids for all counties was $18,473,975. In 1963 to raise funds for education, New Hampshire approved the first legal sweepstakes lottery in the United States since 1894. The first lottery was held the following year.

Buttens Howard of Fortales, N.M., and Bowie Wesley of El Dorado recorded the fastest time late Saturday night in a jackpot roping event sponsored at Recreation Park by Pampa Roping Club.

First place winners were a father and son team, Sam Whaley and Sammy J. Whaley of Pampa. They roped four steers in a total of 57.6 seconds.

Second place went to Charles Walker of Mobeetie and Glen Green of Amarillo and third to Walker and Billy Joe McFalls of Pampa.

Wesley and Howard's team time for steer roping was 8.4 seconds. In the calf roping event, Wesley and Howard took first place with 23.1 seconds for two head.

About 43 teams participated Saturday in the roping contests, Bill Caswell, president, said.

The club practices roping in events open to the public each Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Another open steer roping is set for May 27 at Recreation Park, Caswell said.

First military post to fly the Stars and Stripes was Ft. Schuyler in New York.

COMMITTEE APPROVAL

Horse Betting Bill Cleared for House

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Parliamentary horse race betting today enjoyed its brightest prospects in years, with a possibility that both houses of the legislature will vote on it before the session ends May 29.

The House Counties Committee Monday approved the house version of a local-option part-mutuel bill, clearing the way for a house vote whenever the rules committee sees fit to put the legislation on the calendar.

The Senate bill also is out of committee and eligible for a floor vote, but Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg has made no move to bring it up.

Passage Unexpected — Despite committee approval of the bill in both houses, most observers would be surprised if the bill passed both houses this year.

The House bill, by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville, came out of committee on voice vote. It would allow part-mutuel betting in any county if residents of the county gave their approval in a local-option election.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, chairman of the Counties Committee, amended the bill to let all counties without race tracks have a small share of the revenue from those that do. $5,000 Fine

Clayton also wrote into the bill a provision fixing a $5,000 fine and three-year prison term

Kosygin, Wife Play Out Marriage Like Good Soviet Soldiers Should

MOSCOW (UPI)—Alexei and Klavdia Kosygin played out their marriage like good Soviet soldiers. The premier stoically stood atop Lenin's Tomb for Monday's big May Day parade while his wife died of cancer.

"We all knew well Klavdia Andreyevna and highly appreciated her devotion to the cause of the Communist party, her modesty, kindness and responsiveness," said a published testament from party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Kosygin's other Kremlin comrades.

For the tall blonde who was the premier's wife it was rare public notice. In the Soviet power elite, as in gentler days chased her with a knife, pushed her to the floor and held the knife close to her. Her daughter went next door to telephone police.

Vessels testified that the woman actually grabbed him. He said a friend offered him $50 to steal a movie projector from the woman's home. He said when he went into her home, she grabbed him and pulled him to the floor.

He said he opened his pocket knife to frighten her. "I was begging her to turn me loose for two or three minutes," he said.

Huff Taken To Hospital

Accused Miami bank robber, Ernest "Rusty" Huff was in Worley Hospital today after being taken there last night complaining of stomach pains.

Miami Sheriff Cy Carr said today that Huff was examined by a Pampa doctor yesterday morning and was taken to the hospital about 7 p.m.

"We don't think it's anything serious," Carr said, adding, "But you can't tell. Tests are being run on him and he'll probably be here until sometime Wednesday."

Huff and his wife, Wanda Ruth, have been accused in the March 3 robbery of the Miami bank. They were caught a few hours later by a host of law officers just outside Pampa.

Trial of the pair is expected to be held this month.

Drinking

from other youngsters. "It's hard to find out where they get it because one youth is afraid to tell because he's scared some of his buddies might bust him or do something to his car," the worker said.

"Education," said Corporation Court Judge John Warner, "could be a big help."

"None of these youngsters realize what effects drinking can have on their bodies and minds. They don't realize that drinking can cause heart and brain damage," the judge said.

"I see these alcoholics come up before me every day, some were college professors, coaches, ministers and wives of leading citizens. It's just sickening."

"Our young people must be made to realize the consequences that drinking can bring about. Drinking among teenagers is considered the thing to do. It seems to be a test of manhood, but it's a false test," Warner concluded.

What about the people who sell to minors or the people that buy liquor for minors? As pointed out before, it isn't always easy to tell if some of these youths are minors or not. Some have forged identification, officials said.

"We know of instances where someone of age will buy beer or liquor for a minor and put it in a car, then the minor takes it out of the car, thus the buyer can say he's not guilty," Conner said.

In the United States in 1966, over one-half million people became alcoholics, many of them under the age of 21. How to stop the problem? No one really seems to know.

EARL DEEVER ... at Institute

Students will spend three hours per day in class and three hours daily in research, class participation, seminars, laboratories, field trips and other activities.

Criteria for admission include a bachelor's degree with major in industrial arts, a minimum of three years teaching industrial arts, meeting qualifications for admission to the university's graduate school, evidence of a teaching contract for the 1967-68 academic year and other recommendations and academic records.

Participants will receive six quarter hours of credit in the graduation school after completion of the course.

County Officials Plan Remodeling Of Courthouse

Gray County Commissioners yesterday authorized County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. to advertise for bids for remodeling and repairing the courthouse.

The county has about $30,000 budgeted for courthouse remodeling and repair. The only thing necessary now is to decide what needs it the most, Lenning said.

Bob Richardson, a property owner here, represented the state highway department in the meeting yesterday and discussed possible improvements for the Bowers City road.

The $35,000 involved in improvements would pay for moving pipelines and acquiring rights-of-way, Lenning said.

The commission also authorized payment of traveling expenses for District Clerk Helen Sprinkle and County Clerk Charlie Thut to the state district and county clerk's state convention at Galveston in June.

A letter from Claude Shelton of the Texas Securities Corp. was presented to commissioners in which Shelton discussed the county's paying part of the city street paving program which extends outside the city limits in south Pampa.

Commissioners agreed to pay $798 for improvements on South Harlem street in unit 44 of the current paving project.

Commissioners also set May 15 as the date to open bids on remodeling offices in the courthouse annex east of city, near Recreation Park.

Seventh Graders Hear Attorney, Sheriff Jordan

About 225 seventh graders of Pampa Junior High learned yesterday in an assembly what the sheriff's duties are and how law enforcement works in comparison with school regulations.

Gray County Attorney Don Cain spoke to the youths on the need to obey rules and regulations, to conform to society's restrictions whether one likes them or not.

He compared school regulations to those expected of the students by law enforcement officers and other officials of society.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan spoke on the duties of a sheriff and invited the students to visit his offices.

The 40-minute assembly was conducted in connection with annual Law Day, a program of the American Bar Association, Paul Payne, principal said.

Tim Doke, Pampa Junior High School mayor, conducted the program and presented the address he entered in the Optimist Clubs Americanism speaking contest. Doke won third place in the Optimist district contest in Amarillo.

Boutique Boomlet Provides Outlet For Trapped Women

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI) — The boutique boomlet provides doors of opportunity for trapped housewives.

The little shops in department stores, along country lanes, at suburban shopping centers, are jammed with unusual odds, mostly handmade. Samples: A barbecue mitt studded with fake gems; earrings made out of pretzels; a flit gun paved stem to stern with sequins.

"Walk into any boutique and you'll find more than half of the gifts that tickle your imagination have been designed or made at home by wives and mothers seeking to extend their creative abilities," said Mary Bass, for 18 years executive editor of "The Ladies Home Journal."

Mrs. Bass discovered the impact of boutiques on the homemaker with a yen to do something profitable at home while preparing for her new "at home" activity — co-producing a television series with Bob Meyer of Radio Television Films Corp.

The "Success Story" program will feature women producing unusual things or performing services for pay without leaving home.

Such activity, she learned in a survey, is the answer to the trapped housewife as well as the older woman who has been left with an empty nest.

"I find the money the women make varies from pin money to a sizeable income in cases where items are taken over by manufacturers for national distribution," she said.

Sara Stein of Lewisboro, N.Y., is one example of a young married whose homemade toys are being distributed nationally. She had never made a toy, used a jib saw or studied art.

With pluck and luck she made little hinged creatures that moved. Whimsy entered and presto: There's a cat that disgorges a Jonah, and a chicken that produces colored eggs.

In her continuing talent search Mrs. Bass found many women got the idea to do something at home while pregnant for the first time, and after giving up a satisfying job.

"I know there is a reservoir of immense creative energy that can be tapped, that the housewife can both earn money and gain a self-image that is as exciting and glamorous as her career girl sister," she said.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: — I am 23 and will graduate from college soon with a degree in Business education. My problem, believe it or not, is that I have never registered for the draft. I kept putting it off until I am 5 years delinquent. I would like to register now and serve my country, but I am scared stiff. What do I do now? I don't want to go to prison for "draft dodging." Sign this

NOT REGISTERED. DEAR NOT: Report immediately to your local draft board, but prepare yourself for a reception befitting one who arrives 5 years late for an appointment.

Failure to register within 5 days of your 18th birthday without a valid reason (in hospital, etc.) constitutes a federal offense which could mean imprisonment, a fine, or both. However, delinquents who have turned themselves in and volunteered for service have been accepted with their "delinquent" status erased.

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a man who had been married before. His ex-wife sent us a bouquet of wheat on our wedding day. It was all done up like flowers. I didn't know what she was trying to get across until my husband told me that wheat was a sign of fertility. (My husband was married to this woman for 6 years and they never had any children. What would you do if you were I?)

NEWLYWED. DEAR NEWLYWED: I'd send her a bunch of sour grapes all done up like — sour grapes.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine handed me a 8-page note during class. She said it was very personal and I was the only one she could tell this to. I started to read it when the teacher saw me and took it away from me and put it in her purse. I tried to explain how important that note was to me, but she wouldn't give it back. If the teacher reads that note, my friends reputation will be ruined.

ed. Did the teacher have the right to take it away from me? Do you think she'll read it?

WORRIED. DEAR WORRIED: A teacher has the right to confiscate "disturbing" reading matter which is being read during class. Your friend's "very personal" 8-page note qualifies. If kids knew how little interest teachers have in their "personal" lives, they would be hurt.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about sending out birth announcements for the fifth baby? I mean those little fill-in-announcements you buy in the variety stores. I feel rather silly sending them because some people might get the idea that we are asking for presents. Yet we have a lot of friends and relatives out of town who might be put out if we didn't notify them about our new baby.

INFANTICIPATING. DEAR INFANTICIPATING: If you have any doubts about how your announcements will be received, write the out-of-towners a personal note.

Panhandle Prairie Chickens Fading

WHEELER (Sp)—Riding remnants of once numerous lesser prairie chickens in the northeast corner of the Texas Panhandle are being counted on ancestral breeding grounds now, reports Richard DeArment, Panhandle project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Each year DeArment silently approaches two established lesser prairie chicken booming grounds in Wheeler and Hemphill Counties in the dim light of early morning to count the number of the rare chickens assembled there. These are study areas and used for population trend data.

The surveys began as early as 1941 but were curtailed during the war years and resumed again in 1950. Since that time there has not been a break in records.

Except for minor increases in prairie chicken numbers following the drought of the 50's and during the past three years, a general decline has prevailed. Biologists attribute this to the loss of tall grasses and sagebrush nesting areas plus the widespread use of herbicide and insecticide sprays.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON

United Press International
Claude Kirk's plans for the state of Florida deserve more attention than they are likely to receive from anyone who does not live in the state. Kirk is the first Republican governor of Florida in nearly 100 years. He was elected in 1966.

Kirk is trying to do something about the cost of Florida state government, including the cost of education. His problem in Florida is similar to the problem which confronts Gov. Ronald Reagan in California. Their approaches to their problems are similar.

Republicans should be especially aware of Kirk. Republicans talk a lot about reducing costs of government, local, state and national. They don't do much about it. If there ever was a vital, valid political issue which also was almost homeless and seeking a place to move in and be loved, it is the issue of spending for government.

Spending Pays
The Democrats are spenders and they have made it pay, politically. The Republicans lack the courage to lead in the opposite direction. Democrats don't have much courage, either. Not much is needed by a party with a national record of being ready to bankroll almost anything desirable regardless of funds available or urgency of need.

Kirk touched the matter of political courage in a speech last week which unfurled his basic program for better government at less expense. He said:

"Every governor likes to be a nice guy. It's easy to say 'yes' with other people's money. It's so very tempting to ride along on the momentum of spending that has been built up over the years."

Republican and Democratic politicians in almost equal numbers succumb to that temptation. Conservatives of both parties would close the gravy sluice if they had the political muscle to do so. Combined, they may be able to bring it off some day. But that day is far in the future.

Long Odds
Kirk, like Reagan, is a cloud in the spenders' sky. The odds against fiscal sanity, however, are long in states and in the nation. There is a demonstrable payoff on big government spending.

If the payoff is substantial, likely to be sustained or, even, to increase under the prevailing political management, that management is most likely to be retained in office to assure that the gravy sluice gates will remain wide open or open wider.

There is not much evidence of any beckoning political future in government economy.

All of this relates to Kirk who has begun to make like a courageous no-man. Some time must elapse before it can be known (a) whether Kirk has the courage to stick with his economy plans, and (b) whether he can impose those plans or is to be bulldozed by a Democratic legislature.

Honors Banquet Scheduled May 9 For Junior High

Pampa Junior High School students who made the honor roll at least one six weeks will be honored in a banquet at 7:30 p.m. May 9 at the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. J. W. Dokes, pastor of First Christian Church, will be banquet speaker. Tim Dokes, the Rev. Dokes's son, will be master of ceremonies.

Paul Payne, Pampa Junior High School principal, will present the honor roll students with their pins.

In the junior high school awards assembly May 19, honor roll students will receive certificates.

Groups Plan Beef Cutting, Cooking Program in May

The Gray County Program Planning Family Life Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. May 6 at Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria to discuss beef cutting procedures.

Paul Crouch of the Panhandle Packing Co. will demonstrate procedures by cutting up a half beef. Mrs. Mildred Prince, home service advisor of Southwestern Public Service, will demonstrate beef cooking.

Anyone interested in becoming a better beef consumer may attend. Jimmy Lou Wainwright, Gray County home demonstration agent and Foster Whaley, county agricultural agent, said.

UNDER FIRE

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) —It was a strange way to test the new Roman Catholic cathedral's acoustics, but it apparently was the best way.

A policeman in the cathedral, scheduled to open May 14, fired 12 blank pistol shots inside the building. The echoes died away in 12 seconds—perfect, said officials, for services.

House Committee Chairman Wants Military Unleashed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee claims the Vietnam war could be ended in a year "if we were to give the military the green light to bring these people to their knees."

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said he agreed with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, "that we should keep the pressure on in all areas, economic, psychological and military... let him (the enemy) know that aggression does not pay."

The South Carolina Democrat, a leader of the Hawks in the House, said Westmoreland would need more troops "because of the increased pressure he is applying and he is wanting to apply."

He would not estimate how many more would be needed than the 430,000 already in Vietnam, but said that eventually there would be more than 500,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam.

He made the statement in Meet the Press interview on NBC-TV.

Rivers said he thought a U.S. military victory is possible in Vietnam but "I think the full potential of the Navy and of the Air Force will have to be employed more than they are now."

He said, "The bottom could drop out of this thing overnight with the program the Joint

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

ON-KEY OFF-KEY VACATIONS GROWING: This summer over 140,000 young people will strum, blow, bang and beat musical instruments (including vocal chords) in some 300 happy harmony camps coast to coast, staffed by 9,000-plus music teachers. This new note is being struck by U.S. music camps, an idea wistfully sprouted 15 years ago by a handful of musicians. In 1967, most of this musical merriment will be created by teen men and girls (though preteens and collegians also flock to this vacation tune tooting). On summer dog days, almost every shape and size of musical instrument will be taught, going up and down the scale from Bach to Beatles — string, woodwind, brass ensembles, orchestras, concert bands, marching bands, as well as instruction in individual instruments, folk singing or other musical study. The melodious camp season lasts from one to eight weeks... costs from $20 up to $100 a week... and usually mixes sports and fun with test tutoring. If you feel an urge toward this do-re-mi kind of vacation... check with the director of your music department or nearby college.

MORE QUICK FROZEN FACTS TO SINK TEETH IN: Only a few years ago (mom will remember) guys away from home dreamed of mom's apple pie. Unlikely today... because guys now are used to loading up on them, quick-frozen. Mom may feel guilty about this, but you don't. Teen shoppers favor frozen food purchases... not just anything... you're selective and, at the same time, adventurous. For the latest year there's full data (1965), frozen food consumption throughout the United States rose 17 per cent — which meant on the average a total of 60 pounds per person. Biggest jump was in frozen meats next in prepared foods, then juices and concentrates (you gurgled down the biggest gallonage of these). You devour your mighty share of arctic tidbits at the five big bashes you average yearly in your home and the two small informal ones each month (and at family meals that tend to pick up your frozen food fancies). Some random, quick-frozen facts about your average icy intake: 39 per cent of you go for frozen meat pies; 40.7 per cent fish that's frozen; 35 per cent frozen duck; and 59.5 per cent for high-toned quick-frozen rock Cornish hen. You're building up quite an eating cool in the frozen-food field.

HOW TO MOP UP TELL-TALE MESSAGES: Supposing two of you go out... he is decorated with an adhesive gaudage... she with lipstick... both drink soft drinks (sloppily!). Some hours pass and stains from each of these things get generously smeared on. Here's the solution for each of these messes: the adhesive goo — apply kerosene then wash in warm suds; so, what if he smells like an outboard motor?; lipstick — soften in glycerin, then laundry in hot suds (equally effective for cheek of shirt collar); soft drink — since even the colorless ones tend to turn brown, soak with cold water or half water and alcohol, then rub with glycerin... later launder in suds. Presto! all gone!

TO DATE OR NOT TO DATE: Depth studies of "average" and "normal" boys in a suburban Chicago high school by Dr. Daniel Offer come up with the following dating patterns (how do you, or guys you know, compare?). By the time high school freshman year had ended 45 per cent hadn't gone out with girls; by the junior year 77 per cent were dating; and by the end of the senior year 95 per cent were. Dr. Offer finds that a myth "is being perpetuated by the public and lay magazines about the appalling increase in dating and sexual behavior among high school students."

Highlights and Sidelights From the State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — State participation in the most far-reaching public welfare program since the advent of the social security system has been approved by the Texas Legislature.

Texas House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved enabling legislation which will assure medical care for 350,000 Texans on welfare rolls under the new Title 19 or "Medicaid" benefits.

Proposed appropriations will assure payments totaling nearly $130,000,000 for needy aged blind, disabled and their families with dependent children.

Where Medicare applies only to the aged, this new program will bring hospital care, doctor's services and a variety of other benefits to welfare enrollees regardless of age.

Legislation is broadly drawn to make another 230,000 "Medically needy" Texans eligible when sufficient state funds are appropriated.

Federal government provides approximately four dollars for every dollar put up by the states under Medicaid.

Appropriation bills by the Texas Legislature call for state spending totaling $25,700,000 on the program in 1968. This would attract about $104,000, in federal assistance.

Included in the new program are in-patient and out-patient hospital care. This covers diagnosis, nursing home services, laboratory and X-ray charges, physician's services, treatment and prevention.

Funds also are applicable to pay the required "deductibles" of medicare.

Texas Department of Public Welfare will administer the program. First payments under the act will be effective September first.

BUDGET ADVANCED — House Appropriations Committee voted out a proposed $449,300,020 general fund budget bill for 1968 in response to the call by Gov. John Connally for single-year financing. Totals of all funds is $2,300,000,000.

Bill provides these general revenue allocations as compared with the present spending level:

—Judiciary, $7,100,000, new $6,200,000; up $900,000;

—Public Health, Hospitals, Special Schools, Youth Institutions, $198,200,000, new $171,600,000; up $120,600,000;

—Executive and Administrative Departments and Agencies, $78,500,000 new $83,700,000; up $24,800,000;

—Education, $250,700,000, new $179,800,000; up $70,900,000;

—Legislature, $4,700,000, new $3,900,000; up $800,000.

If adopted in its present form, this bill would leave an estimated surplus of $34,800,000 for teacher pay raises and other

AUDEN HONORED

NEW YORK (UPI) — W. H. Auden, poet, playwright and essayist, will receive the 1967 national medal for literature in a ceremony next fall.

The National Book Committee Sunday named the English-born author as winner of the prize, which is accompanied by $5,000 for his over-all work.

Auden, who became an American citizen in 1946, published his first volume of poetry in 1932. He won the Pulitzer prize in 1947 for "The Age of Anxiety: A Baroque Eclogue."

THE PLUMBING may be primitive, but the shower is still effective for a trooper of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division using the equipment at hand during a rest period in Vietnam.

AUTO RATES ALTERED — A new scale of Texas auto license plate fees is fixed in a bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

While the bill would lower rates for about half of the cars, it would raise them considerably for very small imported vehicles. Tags would cost $12 for all autos under 3,500 pounds, $20 for those 3,500 to 4,500 pounds and $28 from 4,500 to 6,000 pounds.

A minimum fee of $5 would be charged for all motorcycles, boat trailers and other light vehicles.

OPEN MEETINGS — Bills to require open meetings of governmental agencies received approval of both House and Senate committees and were placed on floor calendars.

House State Affairs Committee approved the measure by Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville. Senate Education Committee recommended passage of similar provision by Sen. Chet Brooks of Harris County.

LIQUOR BILL MOVES — House Revenue and Taxation Committee passed the liquor-by-the-drink bill by a close 10-7 margin, with four members absent.

Committee added these major amendments: —Separate local option elections will be necessary before mixed drinks can be sold anywhere. (Originally, the bill sought to legalize liquor by the drink in presently all-wet precincts unless voters specifically rejected the change in referendums.)

—Sellers of alcoholic beverages could be held financially responsible for property damage and injury caused by intoxicated persons who purchased beer or liquor from them. Limits of liability are fixed at $25,000 for damage to property and injury or $50,000 for death or loss of means of support.

—Permit fees would be reduced from $1,000 to $100 for non-profit veterans and fraternal clubs which have performed substantial charitable or benevolent work over a period of five years.

While the first two amendments obviously were intended to attract some wavering supporters from dry areas, they had the effect also of scaring off some original supporters of the bill.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION — A "compromise" plan for revising the state constitution has received clearance from the House State Affairs Committee.

A concurrent resolution by Reps. R. H. Cory of Victoria and Randy Pendleton of Andrews would establish a constitutional revision study commission with a 20-man citizens advisory commission.

Governor, lieutenant governor, speaker of House and Supreme Court chief justice would share in appointments of commissions. Study commission's recommendations will be turned to the 1969 Legislature for its approval. Final approval will be up to the voters.

Legislature could revise the work of the commission, add to or reject it.

LUBBOCK GRANT REQUESTED — State agencies have approved and forwarded to federal authorities an application for a $285,000 grant for a mental health center in Lubbock.

Grant will go to St. Mary of the Plains Hospital for construction of a psychiatric wing on the $4,000,000 hospital planned for the city. Center would offer 15-bed psychiatric unit, emergency service and day or night care facilities for patients who need to spend only part-time there.

COURTS SPEAK — Testing and licensing of the detector operators was upheld by the State Supreme Court in an Amarillo case where a polygraph technician sued to get his license after he flunked the test prescribed by a 1965 law.

High Court refused the appeal of an Ennis mother to prevent the clearing of public park for use as a parking lot. Park had been dedicated to her son and other war dead.

A previous ruling of the Supreme Court in a complex Beaumont suit against Jensam Corporation was in part reversed. Suit involves property leased from the city for 99 years.

SHORT SNORTS — Code of Criminal Procedure revision mainly pleasing to law enforcement officers was passed by House; Senate revision also was readied for final vote.

Senate Committee on State Departments and Institutions favorably reported the $1.25 minimum wage bill, after the Senate earlier voted 16-14 to take the bill out of the unfavorable Labor Committee.

House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing the governor to establish and administer a statewide traffic-safety program which would bring Texas into compliance with federal safety standards, as included in the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966.

Bill to give Texas colleges, universities and junior colleges the authority to police their own grounds has been signed by Gov. Connally and goes into immediate effect.

House State Affairs Committee favorably reported out a bill which would authorize school boards to enter into professional consultation contracts with their teachers.

State Republica: Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. has called on party leaders to make Sen. John Tower their favorite son candidate for president in 1968 and to concentrate on candidate recruitment, raising money and strengthening local leadership and organization to be in position to "have a highly successful year in 1968."

Governor Connally named William R. Shaver of Lubbock as 72nd district court judge and R. T. Swilling Jr. of Whitney to Tri-County Municipal Water District.

Nine Seeking Bid in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Nine Kentucky Derby candidates get last-ditch chances to qualify for Saturday's running of the turf classic when they race today in the $15,000 added derby trial at Churchill Downs.

Already set for the Kentucky Derby were eleven 1-year-olds, headed by Mrs. Edith Bancroft's Damascus, the favorite. Getting a chance to join those whose prep racing was all behind them were Lightning Orphan, Cool Reception, Glengarry, Second Encounter, Castle Rullah, Baro's Delight, Magic Bud, Betemight and Sleep Pat. It will take a "big race" by most of them to encourage their owners to run them Saturday in the 92nd running of the Kentucky Derby.

Cool Reception, jointly owned by Mrs. Vincent Seltz and Mrs. William Reid of Toronto, was a 2-1 favorite in the trial. Salter Blum rides Canada's 1966 2-year-old champion who has won his last two races but failed in three straight stakes races before that. If Cool Reception does not satisfy his owners and Lou Lavalaris, North America's leading trainer last year, Blum will ride Reason to Hail for Patrice Jacobs in the Derby.

Successor, Rukon, As the Fare, Diplomat Way, Dr. Isby, Dawn Glory, Gentleman James, Proud Clarion and Field Master were the others awaiting the first of the Triple Crown classics with Field Master the latest to join the field. Balouf and Free Tumble were possible starters.

Pro Cage Teams Wait to Choose College Players

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seattle and San Diego finished scarping the bottom of the National Basketball Association barrel today and waited to collect additional mediocre talent in Wednesday's raft of college players.

With only a handful of star material available from the 1966-67 college crop, Seattle and San Diego will pick sixth and seventh in the first round of the college draft. They get no privileges as expansion clubs in the opening phase except for that concession.

Detroit chooses first and it's a foregone conclusion the Pistons are eyeing Jimmy Walker of Providence as a backcourt companion for NBA rookie of the year Dave Bing. Following the inverse order of finish from worst to best will be Baltimore, Chicago, Los Angeles and New York. But Los Angeles had to send its No. 1 pick to Detroit when the Rudy La Russo deal backfired.

Then Seattle and San Diego, St. Louis, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Boston and NBA champion Philadelphia close out the first round picks.

The major names selected by the Seattle superstars from Monday's pro player draft were Tom Meschery of San Francisco and Richie Guerin of St. Louis. The San Diego Rockets tabbed Paul Neumann of San Francisco as one of their better-known choices.

This trio may never reach the stage of wearing expansion uniforms however. Meschery is a Peace Corps candidate. Neuman announced his retirement to become freshman basketball coach at Stanford and Guerin decided to retire as a player and devote full time to coaching the Hawks.

Guerin has twice come out of retirement to become a player-coach for the Hawks so Seattle selected him just to force him into permanent retirement. He'll now have to do all his coaching from the sidelines.

There's still a big question mark whether Meschery really plans to retire and a Seattle spokesman said he thinks the Sonics can talk him into playing.

St. Louis Losses

The team hurt the most in the draft was St. Louis, which lost three guards, Guerin, Tommy Kron and Red Thorn. The only two guards left on the St. Louis team are Len Wilkens and Dick Snyder.

If Seattle is able to talk Meschery out of retirement, it seems the Sonics did better than San Diego in the draft because they received the two players they wanted the most—Walt Hazzard and Thorn.

O'Dell's Coming Back

By United Press International
It took the doctors a long time to diagnose Billy O'Dell's illness and it's taking the National League batters an even longer time to diagnose his pitches.

O'Dell has the somewhat only major league player suffering from Addison's Disease—but he's taking his pills and leaving the worrying to the hitters.

Making his first start of the year Monday night, O'Dell went 7-13 innings and allowed just four hits to pitch the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the fifth straight victory for the Pirates, the winter book favorites for the pennant who are now in second place, and O'Dell has won two of those games.

It's been quite a start for O'Dell, who beat the Phils last Tuesday with a 5-13 inning relief job in his first 1967 appearance to earn the starting assignment. Less than three months ago, O'Dell was more concerned about getting out of a hospital bed than getting in the starting rotation.

Describing the disease, he said, "it's a malfunction of the adrenal glands and it makes a person lose weight, get nauseated and dizzy. You also lose your appetite and have trouble sleeping."

The illness caused O'Dell to miss the first part of spring training and he remained behind when the team left Florida and didn't rejoin the team until two weeks ago.

"As long as I take the proper medication, I'll be fine," O'Dell said.

In the only two other games in the majors, the Boston Red Sox blanked the California Angels 4-0 and the Baltimore Orioles rallied for an 8-7 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The New York-Minnesota game was rained out.

O'Dell and the Pirates were breezing to a 7-1 victory when he walked two batters in the eighth to boost his walk total to seven and manager Harry Walker decided to give O'Dell help. But the help wasn't too effective as Pete Mikkelsen and Roy Face gave up four runs before they finally ended it.

The first six batters in the third inning singled to give the Pirates a 4-1 lead in the third and knock starter and loser Al Jackson out of the game. Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer and Gene Alley a solo homer in the fifth and Manny Mota hit a sacrifice fly in the ninth to give him three RBIs and account for the rest of the Pirate scoring.

Joe Adcock and Hank Bauer tried to outthink each other in Cleveland—and Bauer came out the winner. With a 1-0 count on pinch-hitter Russ Snyder, batting for Andy Etchebarren, Adcock pulled George Culver for Bob Allen in the eighth. Bauer then sent up Woodie Held to bat for Snyder and he hit Allen's first pitch for a three-run homer that wiped out a 7-5 deficit and won the game for the Orioles.

Dennis Bennett pitched a six-hitter and hit a three-run homer to give the Red Sox their victory over California. The Red Sox collected 11 hits off four Angel hurlers including starter and loser Jorge Rubio, who gave up all four runs in the fourth. George Scott hit a solo homer to account for the other run.

Pampa Hosts 'Horns Today

Third place Pampa played host to fourth place Caprock at Optimist Club Park today in a district 2-4A baseball game.

Other teams in the League were busy also with front running Monterey, 12-2, playing host to Lubbock Coronado, 8-8; Borter, 5-3, hosted Amarillo, 2-10; Tascosa 10-3 was at Palo Duro, 3-10; Lubbock 5-9 was at Plainview, 7-7.

After today the Harvesters have only three regular season games plus two makeup contests left. Friday Pampa is at Lubbock Coronado and Saturday journey to Plainview. Tuesday the Harvesters play at Tascosa.

Jim Lang, Pampa's winningest pitcher at 7-0, was scheduled to take the mound today with Rick Foster scheduled to pitch Friday and Allan Woodard Saturday at Plainview.

The Harvesters were gunning for their fourth straight victory today and a 22-3 season record.

Sonics Lose To Dodgers

United Press International
El Paso's Sun Kings vaulted back into the Texas League lead Monday night, ousting Amarillo's Sonics, who were run down by Albuquerque.

Rain forced cancellation of the scheduled game between Dallas-Fort Worth and the Arkansas Travelers.

El Paso, in second place after Sunday's action, beat Austin 11-5 with a 15-hit attack led by Jarvis Tatum's two-run homer in the second.

Albuquerque pounded Amarillo 12-1, getting 12 safeties in the process.

What Is It With Former Phils Star?

NEW YORK (UPI) —Robin Roberts sat there in the clubhouse and made this one solemn promise.

"They'll never have to tell me when I'm through," he said.

"The one thing I'll never be is a hanger-onner."

That was a nice little speech. Roberts made it in the spring of 1961 when he still was with the Phillies for whom he had a 1-10 record that season.

They sold him to the Yankees that same October and the following April the Yankees released him before he even pitched an inning for them.

Over The Hill
"I'd still like to play some more," Roberts said that day. Time marches on and here it is five years later. Roberts is now 40 and well past his prime.

They'll never have to tell him he's through, you understand, and he's never going to become one of those guys who merely hangs on, so how come he's still bouncing around with Reading of the Eastern League?

The fact that Williamsport roughed him up for six runs on nine hits in four innings Monday night is beside the point.

Those who know him and like him in baseball are wondering what he's trying to prove.

Not For Money
They know he's not doing it for the money because if he hasn't made it by now, he's certainly never going to in the Eastern League.

selves strapped for pitchers. Then, they figure, Roberts hopes they'll come after him.

They may and then again they may not. Either way, the people in baseball shake their heads a little sadly and say:

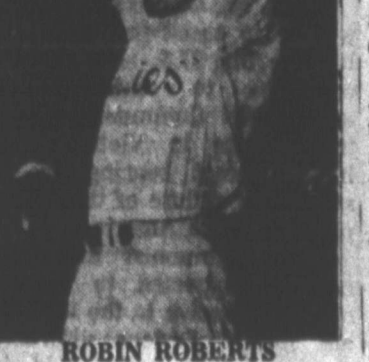

"Poor Robin Roberts. He just don't know when to quit."

He isn't alone, though. Warren Spahn nearly had to be hit over the head with a hammer before he hung 'em up and no one's ever gonna accuse Hoy Wilhelm, Stu Miller or Curt Simmons of premature retirement either.

But Roberts is a breed apart. You've heard of those people who never give up? Well, after they finally do, Roberts is about ready to start.

He was released twice last year, once by Houston in mid-season and again by the Chicago Cubs at the end of the year.

When Houston let him go,

Slim Chance of Viet Peace

In a posthumously published article in Horizon magazine—entitled "Two Thousand Years of War in Vietnam"—historian Bernard Fall provides a valuable perspective on the long and bloody history of this ancient land—a history that promises to be no less long and bloody in the foreseeable future.

Professor Fall, one of the most distinguished commentators on Vietnamese affairs, was killed by a Viet Cong booby trap in February.

Vietnam's geographic location has always made it a melting pot of cultures, chiefly Indian and Chinese, his article observes. "The history of the south has been shaped by the kind influence of Buddha; that of the north, where China has always prevailed, by the far sterner philosophies of Confucius and Lao-tse."

Vietnam also has been a battleground for foreign ideologies. It began at least as early as 111 B.C., when the Chinese overran what is now North Vietnam. Their occupation lasted for 1,050 years, until A.D. 939. During those 10 centuries, a Hinduized people in the south called the Chams were exterminated by Vietnamese invaders from the north.

After the ouster of the Chinese, the Vietnamese settled down to what Fall describes as "their favorite national pastime—bitter quarrels among themselves in general, and between northerners and southerners in particular."

By 1613, "the two Vietnams" had broken apart and were only reunified in 1802 after years of savage civil war. Then came the French.

The first troops landed at Da Nang in 1858 ostensibly to protect Catholic missionaries and converts, nearly 130,000 of whom had been murdered between 1827 and 1856. This persecution carries over in the present-day mistrust between Catholics and Buddhists. The French remained as a colonial power for nearly 100 years.

Today, wrote Fall, north and south again have diverged under the influence of China and Russia in the north and America in the south. Meanwhile, a "third Vietnam" lives in the battle-torn countryside of the south—the Viet Cong and its northern allies.

Fall recalls a prophetic observation made by a young Vietnamese author in 1931. "We are a people who are looking for a country and have not yet found it."

Thirty-six years later, he concludes, that search is still going on, more desperately than ever.

From the perspective afforded by this history, it appears unlikely that any outside power, either from the East or West, can bring about a lasting peace in Vietnam. Recent statements by the governments of both North and South Vietnam seem to indicate that neither is anxious for a settlement as is the United States.

A Generation Gap On the Book Shelf

Seniors in 116 high schools around the country were asked by the National Council of Teachers of English to list the 10 books they thought were the most significant they had read. There was nary a "Macbeth" or "Silas Marner" or "Tale of Two Cities" in the bunch.

Instead, they chose these: "Lord of the Flies," "Catcher in the Rye," "1984," "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Crime and Punishment," "Gone With the Wind," "The Robe," "Black Like Me," "Cry the Beloved Country" and "The Bible."

While all the schools in the study were considered to have outstanding English departments, of the dozen literary works most commonly taught in their courses, only two—"The Scarlet Letter" and "Return of the Native"—were mentioned by any of the students. Some of the schools, however, offer contemporary works on elective reading lists.

But at least half the books chosen by the students have been banned by some schools and some teachers have been dismissed for teaching them, according to J. N. Hook, professor of English at the University of Illinois, in a preliminary report on the study.

What this study has to say about the quality of English education in American schools, or the fact that most Americans never touch a book once they leave school, we leave to the educators and sociologists to ponder. But it is not surprising that an adult population reared on 19th-century classics is sometimes bewildered—or worse, frightened—by the ideas and opinions of its 20th-century offspring.

How many parents have read any of the modern books listed by the students, or even bothered to ask their own children what books they have liked?

Parking: Matter of Attitude

Big city dwellers with parking problems might take some comfort in the knowledge that folks in small towns get even more upset when they can't find a place to park their cars, says Highway User magazine.

The publication reports on a study made by Allan Goodwin, an associate professor at Orange County Community College in Middletown, N.Y.

lems common to cities of 40,000 or less population, he found that the difference is largely one of attitude. Small city residents depend on their cars more than those in larger cities.

"The large city resident is usually grateful for any parking space," he says, "while the small city resident demands that he be able to park near his destination."

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

The prevalence of beards and mustaches as hirsute facial adornments among the collegians and beatniks these days is nothing really new. After the Civil War young men, particularly Army officers, would not be seen in public without a goatee or an imperial. They copied the styles set by such heroes as U. S. Grant and Robert E. Lee, both of whom sported beards and whiskers. After World War I in France many of the young soldiers started wearing short close-cropped mustaches that came to be known as "Pershing stubble." That came about because General John J. Pershing wore one. It was the kind of mustache a busy man could grow because he didn't have to waste time twisting and curling it. Looking at today's beatniks it would appear that they have gone back to Biblical times.

Today's smile: A teacher asked one of her pupils: "Johnny, where is Brazil?" Johnny, stalling, asked: "Where do you think it is?" The teacher said: "I don't think I know." Johnny then said: "I don't think I know either."

When President Lyndon Johnson receives his pay check it is almost a formal ceremony. The check is sent to the White House from the Treasury Department, which is sent to the next building on Pennsylvania Avenue, by a special courier. He presents it to one of Mr. Johnson's closest aides, who is required to sign a receipt book, and the aide presents it to the President. Don't know how Lyndon handles such matters, but Harry Truman used to walk to a nearby bank and deposit his to his account. That always shook up the Secret Service detail charged with protecting the Chief Executive.

Thoughts while shaving: The average amateur photographer uses about 10 rolls of film a year. Yet the photographic boom continues to grow and camera sales zoom. We think the high cost of color prints and processing of color slides curbs the enthusiasm of many would-be home photographers. . . . Volka was originally made from potatoes, but the principal ingredient in the U. S. version is grain. Russia and Poland claim to have invented it and we're content to let them settle their own dispute. We have always believed it to be a European offshoot of that ancient Irish liquor called poteen. . . . A survey of engineering graduates from one of the big universities revealed that bringing electricity into the average American home was considered the most important contribution of that profession to our way of life. Second was the mass production of clothing, third, automatic kitchen equipment; and fourth, the invention of frozen foods. . . . Americans spend $500 million a year on dog food, which is just about double what they spend on baby food. Maybe the dogs eat more than babies. . . . A TV comedian wisecracked the other evening: "Medicare is wonderful because it makes expensive illnesses available to poor people." How true. . . . Temperatures plays some funny tricks. For example: The Eiffel Tower in Paris grows about six inches in height every summer because its steel frame expands in hot weather. . . . The Albuquerque (N. M.) JOURNAL reported in a story: "All I remember was a right-leg on the chin, Foley said." That's enough to remember, isn't it?

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Medical Sleuths on the Trail of Disease Sources Every doctor must be part detective but the job of tracking down the cause of mysterious outbreaks of unfamiliar diseases requires a staff of specially trained medical sleuths, otherwise known as epidemiologists. Such a staff is maintained by the U.S. Communicable Disease Center (CDC) in Atlanta.

A few years ago a group of 14 Air Force officers suddenly developed hepatitis. These men had had little social or professional contact and the source of their infection could not be determined by the doctors assigned to the base. Responding to a call for help, two investigators from the CDC flew to the base and questioned the victims about every aspect of the preceding two months of their lives. They also checked their flight records and places visited during that period—the usual incubation period of the disease.

The only common factor uncovered was that all 14 had eaten in the same mess hall at some time during a single 24-hour period. Study of that day's menus and further questioning revealed that the potato salad was the only item eaten by all of them. Since it was impossible to recover any of the salad for laboratory tests the investigators located the salad chef. He was found to be harboring the virus of infectious hepatitis and one more case was solved.

Such investigators, known as shoe-leather epidemiologists, are backed up by the most modern of research laboratories and experts in the statistical interpretation of data. The services of the CDC are available to state and local health departments throughout the United States.

Other achievements include tracking down the source of an outbreak of malaria that afflicted 35 girls in a camp in California. This time a soldier who had returned to this country from an area where malaria is still prevalent and who was stationed nearby was found to be the unwitting culprit. He had, of course, been aided by a swarm of anopheline mosquitoes.

Expressing reluctance to go into further detail, General Porter assured the legislators, "Intensive reconnaissance measures are being taken to determine the nature and type of this new Soviet military build-up."

HARD INFORMATION—Members of General Porter's staff later explained that he was not able to tell the committee any more because of a high-level ban on talking. It was intimated this silence

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON—A sudden and mysterious large increase in the number of Soviet bloc ships has been arriving in Cuba.

More than 70 vessels—the largest number since just before the October 1962 missile crisis—docked at the island's major ports in a seven-day period late last month.

Large quantities of military supplies and thousands of additional Soviet personnel were unloaded from these ships, which included several with wide hatches capable of transporting intermediate range ballistic missiles.

All unloading was done usually at night and under tightest secrecy, with numerous troops guarding the docks and roads leading to them.

In direct response to this apparent big armament build-up, the U.S. has doubled the number of high-level reconnaissance flights in an effort to obtain additional information.

So far, efforts to ascertain whether the shipments include missiles have been unsuccessful.

Cuban refugees, who sounded the first alarm about the increased military shipments, claim they do include missiles. Under discussion in inner White House councils are possible low-level reconnaissance flights to obtain more precise photos of areas where missiles might be stored.

NEW BLACKOUT—As happened in the Kennedy administration in 1962, the Johnson administration is keeping a tight secrecy lid on this latest foreboding Cuban development.

Members of Congress got the first hint of the matter more or less accidentally when General Robert Porter, head of the U.S. Southern Command, testified on the new $3.126 billion foreign aid appropriation at a closed-door meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

When asked "What is going on in Cuba now," he replied: "We are doing everything we can to find out. Intelligence is deeply concerned over the increased number of Soviet bloc ships arriving at Cuban ports in recent weeks. During one seven-day period, between 70 and 75 vessels arrived with vast amounts of military supplies and additional Soviet troops."

"This traffic represents the largest number of Soviet bloc ship arrivals in Cuba since the 1962 crisis."

Expressing reluctance to go into further detail, General Porter assured the legislators, "Intensive reconnaissance measures are being taken to determine the nature and type of this new Soviet military build-up."

Sudden—Still Mysterious—Increase in Shipments From Soviet Bloc to Cuba in Recent Weeks

was imposed by Pentagon authorities.

This column can report that U.S. reconnaissance planes have taken dozens of pictures of Soviet bloc ships. Also the Defense Intelligence Agency has received startling information from Cuban refugees. The reliability of these reports is in the process of being checked.

One, reportedly an eye-witness account, claims that in one week the refugees saw 15 Russian ships in one Cuban port, nine in another, and eight in a third port. These refugees, recently arrived from Cuba, also asserted they saw several large tractor-trailer type trucks transporting large missiles on a road some 20 miles from Havana.

When the refugees were spotted by Cuban troops guarding the highway, they were ordered to turn around and go in another direction. They did that, and shortly thereafter encountered a long truck convoy with hundreds of newly-arrived Soviet military personnel.

Another recent Cuban refugee reported that he worked for several months in northwest Cuba building missile-launching platforms, silo blocks and installing wiring equipment for missile installations.

ANOTHER MENACE—Although sharply restricted in what he could relate about the sinister Soviet build-up, General Porter was able to fully brief the House committee on Castro's expanded efforts to send guerrillas and terrorists to other Latin American countries.

"Efforts to stimulate, coordinate and unify the Communist movement, subversion, and terror activities in Latin America are aggressively underway," said Porter. "A permanent apparatus—the Latin American Solidarity Organization (LASO)—was established as a by-product of the 1966 Havana Tricontinental Conference. LASO's operational base is in Havana and its objective is to encourage, support and coordinate Communist subversion in the hemisphere. LASO is actively pursuing the goals for which it was created."

"Cuba has already trained several thousand terrorists and guerrillas who are prepared to initiate and support disorders, riots and insurgency whenever the situation is ripe, and that may be very soon."

Asked what might be expected in the near future, General Porter replied:

"One of Castro's objectives will be to assist the Viet Cong by diverting U.S. attention and resources to other critical areas. The Communists know that events in Vietnam will have a direct bearing on the success or failure of their campaign in Latin America."

"The Communist movement can be expected to become more aggressive in the immediate future. Serious disorders, riots and insurgency could de-

The Connally Act

By HOWARD E. KERSHNER

Published announcements state that the National Council of Churches will start a "drive to repeal the so-called Connally Act." This undoubtedly refers to the resolution providing for the adherence of the United States to the World Court of the United Nations. The Connally resolution provides that our country cannot be brought before the World Court unless our government gives prior consent to the action. It is not generally known that no communist nation adheres to the World Court yet every communist nation may have one of its nationals elected to serve as a judge on that court. There are 15 judges and 9 constitute a quorum. In case there were 9 judges sitting, 5 could render a decision. It might well happen that all five would be communists.

What would happen to our country if we were tried by a World Court having a majority of communist judges? Suppose the USSR should claim Alaska or Mexico should claim the southwestern part of our country. These territories formerly belonged to Russia and Mexico. Communist judges would of course authorize their return. Suppose we were hauled before the court charged with aggression in Vietnam. Suppose China brought an action in the World Court for the return of Taiwan, accusing the United States of seizing that portion of her territory. As long as we have the Connally resolution we need not submit such cases to the jurisdiction of the World Court. But if that resolution is repealed, we would be the victim of the court's decision, not only in those cases, but in any other case that our enemies chose to bring against us. If the Connally resolution is repealed, our country might well be dismembered and our sovereignty destroyed. The maintenance of that resolution is essential to the safety of the United States of America and its people.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Sanctuary for Spies

We have said it before but it needs to be said over and over that giving the U.S.S.R. permission to open up consulates in our cities is merely giving them additional sanctuaries from which to carry on their subversive and spying activities without fear of having to suffer any penalty therefore. No matter what one of these spies working in a consulate might do, we could not impose any penalty beyond insisting that he leave the country. Our citizens or defecting citizens from the Soviet Union could be kidnapped and held within these consulates entirely beyond the reach of our law officers. They could be spirited out of the country, as has been done before, and we might never know what had happened to them.

No reason of any importance has been advanced as to why these consulates should be opened, while many reasons have been brought forward showing the dangers that they will create for the safety of our country.

One rarely mentioned reason for not granting permission to the U.S.S.R. to open these consulates is the fact that, up to now, the Soviet Union has no consulates anywhere in North, South or Central America. Our Latin American neighbors to the south have so far resisted all pressure to permit Soviet Union consulates to be opened in their countries. If we now grant this permission to the Soviet Union it will be difficult, if not impossible for our Latin American neighbors to continue to refuse it. They will undoubtedly succumb to continuing pressure and the communists will therefore acquire sanctuaries all over the Western Hemisphere from which to carry on their subversive activities. We ought not to help them in their efforts to overthrow western civilization either in our country or in the Central of South American countries.

H. L. Hunt Writes

GRAND TOTAL OF GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Friends of freedom and personal enterprise can never repeat often enough the simple truth that no government—ever has anything to offer that was not first taken through taxes from productive individuals. The truth must be much more widely understood before many of our people will fully realize that no service government provides is or can be "free."

Very few intelligent persons would argue that government is not needed to provide some indispensable services, such as police protection and defense. But every activity of government which could be accomplished by personal enterprise is an additional burden upon the taxpayer and the producer. That burden is growing greater every year.

Nowadays there is a great deal of juggling with statistics to try to prove that the cost of government is not rising as rapidly and as alarmingly as in fact it is. With bewildering agility, spokesmen for the administration in Washington shift from one budget to another in the face of criticism. Frantic efforts are made to conceal the full amount of spending by channeling it through state and local governments.

The one best measure of the burden of government upon the taxpayer is its total cost, at the local, state and federal levels. This grand total of government spending as reported by the Tax Foundation is $254 billion, an all-time record, during the current fiscal year. This is an increase of $29 billion in a single year and amounts to an estimated $4,305 each year for every American family. Far from being "free," government is clearly the most high-priced commodity we pay for.

velop rapidly in a dozen Latin American countries. Bolivia, Colombia, Guatemala, Panama, Haiti and the Dominican Republic are all immediate targets."

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Born on this day in 1904 was American singer-actor Bing Crosby.

On this day in history: In 1865, President Andrew Johnson offered a reward of $100,000 for the capture of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

In 1945, the allies announced the unconditional surrender of Nazi troops in Italy and southern and western Austria.

In 1960, Caryl Chessman, who had won eight stays of execution after a 1958 conviction of robbery, kidnaping and rape, died in the San Quentin gas chamber.
