

Russia Wants UN Session to Condemn Israel

Moscow Believes It Can Muster Majority

BULLETIN
UNITED NATIONS UPI — The Security Council was called to a session at 2 p.m. CDT today at the request of the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry has informed diplomats in Moscow it intends to call a special session of the 122-nation United Nations General Assembly to condemn Israel for its "aggression," reports from Moscow said today.
Russia was unable to push a resolution through the U.N. Security Council condemning Israel and demanding the victorious Israeli armies withdraw from the territory they captured in last week's six-day war-territory Israel says it will not return.

Guardsmen Stop Race Rampage in Tampa, Florida

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Roving gangs rampaged through a Negro section for six hours Monday night and early today sniping at motorists, throwing firebombs, overturning cars and looting stores despite a clampdown by heavily armed police and National Guardsmen.
Hundreds of riot-trained guardsmen sealed off the troubled area but the marauders still managed to set at least 11 fires, shoot at several cars and cause widespread damage in the second night of protest against the slaying of a Negro youth by a policeman.

No monetary estimate was made immediately but the scars of violence were numerous: broken glass littered the streets, garbage cans lay helter-skelter along sidewalks, store fronts were backened by fire.

Two Negroes were wounded, neither seriously, and at least 61 persons were arrested on charges ranging from disorderly conduct to carrying concealed weapons.

Gov. Claude Ricks, making his second visit to the troubled area since a Sunday night riot, personally patrolled the streets and went on television to ask the people to stay in their homes. He flew back to Tallahassee early today, admitting he was "disturbed" by the events.

Negro Protestors Halted by Guard

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—National Guardsmen threw up a wall of bayonets to turn back Negro protest marchers Monday night after Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan defied an order by Alabama Adj. Gen. Alfred Harrison that the demonstration be halted.

Mayor Earl James and Negro leaders angrily denounced the action by Harrison, heading a force of 350 guardsmen directed by Gov. Lurleen Wallace to keep racial peace in Montgomery and nearby Prattville.

About 300 Negroes, with a police escort of 50, marched toward the capitol to protest the falling without bond of 10 civil rights workers following a sporadic, five-hour gunbattle with police at Prattville Sunday night. Black power leader Stokely Carmichael had been jailed earlier Sunday at Prattville for disorderly conduct.

Carmichael Monday had refused to accept bond and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), of which he is an organizer and former chairman, announced it had "declared war" on Alabama. Four persons, including three policemen, were wounded in the Prattville melee Sunday night.

James and Sullivan rode in a car alongside the Montgomery marchers, led by several shotgun-armed policemen. Harrison drove up and stopped his car in front of the marchers. James and Sullivan got out of their car to confront the adjutant general.

"I don't want them to go any further," Harrison said. "We're going to let them march," replied Sullivan.
But two blocks further down the street, at Court Square, they were blocked by a force of between 50 and 75 guardsmen, their bayonet-tipped carbines in combat position.

Moscow reports said the Kremlin believed it could muster a non-vetoable majority vote in the assembly since many Afro-Asian nations have sided with the Arabs in the dispute.

The assembly meeting, if it is held, could be expected to be acrimonious. Gen. Moshe Dayan, the Israeli defense minister whose armies crushed the Arab's military might, warned today that Israel's battle to win the peace as well is just beginning.

"Those who sought to destroy us are defeated but have not accepted us," Dayan said in a victory celebration at the Wailing Wall in old Jerusalem. "Put your swords back in the scabbards, but keep them sharp and ready."

Threaten Oil Interests
Authoritative Communist diplomats hinted strongly today in London that Russia is encouraging Arab threats to "take over" Western oil interests in the Mideast in order to blackmail the United States and Britain into pressuring Israel to return territorial war gains.

In Cairo, informed sources said King Hassan of Morocco would fly to Washington shortly to plead the Arab cause against Israel as part of an all-out Arab diplomatic offensive in the East and West to try to wipe out Israel's military gains.

And also in Cairo there were reports Premier Mohammed Salah Soliman and his cabinet had offered President Gamal Abdel Nasser their resignation to give him a free hand in the country's postwar reorganization.

'Converted' Senator Speaks to City GOP

By WANDA MAE HUFF
News Staff Writer

Henry C. Grover, Republican senator from the 15th Senatorial district, said here yesterday Gov. John Connally's "book-keeping maneuvers are going to force Texas into passing a $100 million tax bill in a special session in 1968, or push the state into deficit spending."

Grover, the first Republican state senator in Texas in 40 years, spoke to about 25 of the 40 member Pampa-Gray County Republican Headquarters Committee last night in the Coronado Inn.

During the group's business meeting, George Cree Jr., Gray County Republican executive committee chairman, said tickets to the Rep. Bob Price appreciation dinner will be available at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Congressman Bob Dole of first district, a 52-county area in Kansas, will be guest speaker for the Price appreciation dinner at 7:30 p.m. June 24 at the Coronado Inn.

ISRAEL AND SYRIA "MEET" IN UN — Thrown side-by-side by the quirk of a seating arrangement, Israel's Gideon Rafael (left) and Syria's Georges Tomah maintain an air of indifference at the extraordinary session of the U.N. Security Council held the past weekend. The call came shortly after reports of renewed fighting between the two neighboring countries.

Committee Gives Dodd Benefit of Every Doubt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Ethics Committee gave Sen. Thomas J. Dodd the benefit of every doubt in its report on the 60-year-old Connecticut Democrat that the Ethics Committee's estimate was on the "conservative side" and did not include many expenditures which fell within a "grey area."

Wherever there was a doubt, we gave the benefit to Sen. Dodd, Bennett said in prepared testimony.

Lists Expenses
The Ethics Committee accused Dodd of using campaign

funds to pay country club dues, liquor bills, motel and hotel bills for friends, air fares to London, Jamaica and Curacao, and limousine charges for trips to a race track.

Acting as judge and jury, the Senate must decide whether to censure the silver-haired lawmaker for conduct the Ethics Committee found "contrary to accepted morals."

It was the first Senate censure proceeding since 1954, when the Senate condemned the late Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis. Only five senators have been censured or condemned in the history of the country.

Bennett told the Senate that "much of the basis of the censure resolution rests upon . . . admissions of fact by Sen. Dodd."

"He diverted over $9,000 in political funds to payments for improving his Connecticut home," Bennett said. "His son was given $4,900 out of campaign funds."

Pay For Trips
Bennett said $33,000 from a 1961 testimonial affair went for general, household, and personal expenses; $625 from a 1963 testimonial went for such

Jets Smash Key N. Viet Power Plant

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy jets smashed a key North Vietnamese power station with an explosion that made it look "as if the plant were filled with TNT," pilots said today.

The plant at Thanh Hoa was the third to be hit in three days in what officials called the systematic destruction of North Vietnam's power-producing capacity.

Military spokesmen said it took only a few minutes of bombing to smash what it had taken the Communists a year to rebuild after a previous attack.

Describes Holocaust
"It looked like the whole plant just blew up from the inside out," said Lt. James E. Killian of Boston, who was with one of the first attacking waves.

personal purposes as country club dues and limousine service to the race track; $5,700 from a testimonial account paid for trips to Florida, Illinois, California, and Texas; and $4,000 from campaign accounts went for airline trips to Jamaica, Curacao, Miami and London.

"And so the list goes," Bennett said.

In its report to the Senate, the Ethics Committee said Dodd diverted at least $116,083 in testimonial funds to his own personal use and double-billed the Senate and private organizations for travel expenses on seven occasions.

The panel charged that Dodd's course of conduct was "contrary to accepted morals, degrades from the public trust, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

Supreme Court Ends Session With Farewell to Long-Time Member

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ended its 1966-67 term by striking another blow for the Negro, broadening the defenses to libel and bidding farewell to a long-time member.

In a typical adjournment deluge of decisions and orders Monday, the court also granted another protection to criminal suspects and cast a suspicious eye at electronic eavesdropping.

The court ruled on 14 cases, but the individual views were so many and varied that 42 opinions were needed to express them all.
Chief Justice Earl Warren paid tribute to Justice Tom C. Clark, who is leaving his post after 18 years service to avoid conflict of interest with his son, Ramsey, now U.S. attorney general. The elder Clark, 67, a former attorney general himself, retired on full salary of $39,000 a year.

President Johnson is expected to name a successor who, if confirmed by the Senate, will probably take his seat when the court begins its 1967-68 term on Oct. 2.

Parking Meters To Be Removed On Trial Basis

Parking meters in downtown Pampa will be removed on a five-month trial basis starting Aug. 1.

Removal of the meter heads was authorized by the city commission today following a recommendation from City Manager Jim White.

The city manager explained the test will be made at the request of the Downtown Business Association.

White said the trial basis had been extended to five months instead of the requested four in order to get a rigid test of the plan during the Christmas shopping period. The five-month period would carry through Dec. 31.

City Atty. Bob Gordon was authorized to draw up the necessary legislation to put the new plan into effect.

The new legislation will permit two-hour parking from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. New parking tickets will be printed and the fee for overparking will be increased from the current 25 cents to $1. An accumulation of five or more parking tickets will result in arrest of the offender. Tires will be marked with chalk to spot overtime parkers. There will be strict enforcement during the test period, the city manager said. The new legislation also will make the parking regulations effective all day Saturday. Currently, parking is free on Saturday afternoons.

"The city is not removing the meters permanently at this time," White said. "This is merely a trial period to determine its feasibility."

The city manager said he did not believe the city should go backwards to a system used 30 years ago, but recommended during the trial period that a search be made for new methods of solving the parking problems and for obtaining more off-street parking facilities.

"We are not here to condemn," he said. "That is not within our power of authority. The only authority we have is to explain what the law is and to make suggestions as to how you can comply with it."

Your solution appears to be, from a suggested point of view, for you to close Carver School and desegregate into other schools; revise and disburse all of the Carver teachers into the school system. This way you would get the government out of your hair," the HEW representative said.

"Since Carver exists for students of one race, it is a Negro school. As long as it stays that way, you would not be eligible for federal funds since you are not complying with guidelines under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act. The dual-system must be eliminated."

One school trustee asked, "What do we do with Carver School?" Vernon answered it could be closed down for one year then re-opened as a special education school or the area could be rezoned to bring some white children into the school. This, he stated, would eliminate it as a Negro school.

Trustee John Gikas discussed at length the Carver community's pride in their school and the working relationship and understanding that now exists between student and teacher. Gikas explained the school is somewhat of a community meeting place, used for various activities and that closing the school would mean a loss of community pride as well as an educational center. Federal Agents 'Lay Down Law' to Board School Trustees Given 15 Days To Comply or Lose $250,000 Aid Money

The federal government handed the Pampa School Board an ultimatum yesterday to integrate its teaching staff with the beginning of the 1967-68 school year or face the loss of $250,000 in federal aid money and possible prosecution for violation of the Civil Rights Act.

The board was given 15 days in which to notify the Office of Health, Education and Welfare whether it will comply with the law and the "suggestions" offered by two officials from the HEW who met late yesterday afternoon with trustees and the superintendent of the Pampa Independent School District.

The ultimatum was given in the form of "suggestions for compliance" with Title VI of the amended Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The two officials who came to Pampa from Washington were Don M. Vernon and Jerold D. Ward, representatives of the Equal Education Opportunities Program of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Office of Education.

Vernon said they were responsible for compliance in Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico.

Vernon explained the immediate objective for 1967-68 was a "cross-over of teachers" in the public schools. This meant, he stated, an exchange of white and Negro teachers — Negro teachers in white schools and white teachers in Negro schools.

The next step, it was stated, would be the discontinuance of Pampa's all-Negro Carver Elementary School and the placement of its pupils in white elementary schools, or the attendance of white pupils at Carver.

Vernon said the reason for their visit to Pampa was to try to see what can be worked out along the lines of abolishing any segregation in the system.

"You are doing a good job student-wise, but you have done nothing with regard to faculty segregation."

Soviet's Venus Launch Beats U.S. to Punch

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two Soviet space probes raced toward space today on separate missions.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced today a Cosmos satellite was launched Monday shortly after an unmanned research craft rocketed toward the planet Venus.

The Russians beat the United States by two days in launching the latest Venus probe, Tass said. Venus 4 was blasted on a four-month voyage to the cloud-covered planet from an orbit around the earth.

The Cosmos satellite was the 165th in the series of fact-finding flights and the fourth to be launched this month.

It was the first large-scale Soviet space feat since cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov was killed in the crash of Soyuz 1 last month.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the vehicle was on a "flight to Venus" and was "functioning normally." There was no indication whether the craft would land on the planet or fly near it.

It carried a 2,433-pound research station, the heaviest Venus rocket ever launched, Tass said.

Mariner 5, the U.S. Venus probe scheduled to be launched early Wednesday, is to fly within 2,000 miles of the planet. The United States made the only successful Venus probe with Mariner 2 in 1962.

Venus 4 was flying "close to its estimated trajectory," Tass said. In-flight maneuvers were expected to put the vehicle on target.

"Its closest point, Venus passes within 25 million miles of earth. But Venus 4 was expected to cover more than 200 million miles because of the circular path it must follow to intercept the planet.

The craft was expected to near Venus sometime in October, just before Russia began celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

spending. It looks like to me, the governor is advocating spending now and taxing later, postponing the payments until after the 1968 election."

One of the reasons Texas may find itself in fiscal quicksand in 1968 is because "state institutions are allocated money on a formula basis. Once you up the formula, you raise it permanently and that's what we've done with Connally's one-year appropriation bill," he said.

Grover condemned the proposed blank check pay raise for state legislators, and said, "if that were done, the people would never know what their legislators were getting paid."

Condemning one measure after another supported by Connally, Grover said the four-year term bill, with no limit on the number of terms passed in the House, but was defeated in the Senate.

Grover said he opposed the city sales tax on an optional basis because "if we get a city sales tax going, it would preempt this field from the state and be another reason to force the state into a three percent state sales tax for revenue."

Commenting on the "administration's power structure, Grover described it as "Johnson, Connally, and Barnes because Connally is grooming House Speaker Ben Barnes as his heir apparent."

Grover, representing southwest Houston, is a native Texan, a Houston resident since 1939, and is an American history teacher in a Houston high school.

Mr. Vaughn, born Sept. 23, 1907, in Webb City, Mo., died at 12 noon Monday in his home in Miami.

He was an operator for the National Gas Pipeline Co. of America since November, 1963.

Mr. Vaughn was married June 16, 1929, in Barnsdall, Okla., to Vera Swan. They came to Miami from Gray, Okla. in 1956.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church, Miami; Miami Masonic Lodge; El Paso Consistory; and was a veteran of World War II.

Burial will be in the Ochutree Cemetery, Perryton, under the direction of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Home.

Survivors are his wife, Vera of the home; one daughter, Mrs. Roselle Wilson of Perryton; one son, Raymond E. of Hobbs, N.M.; and six grandchildren.

Minnie Bell Albritton
Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Bell Albritton, 715 N. Banks, will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Carmichael-Whately Colonial Chapel conducted by the Rev. C. R. Bridges of High and Baptist Church.

Mrs. Albritton died at 4:15 a.m. today in Worley Hospital.

She was born June 15, 1889, in Billingsley, Ala., and came to Pampa in 1942. She was the widow of William Albritton, who died in 1956 and was a member of the Bazzette Texas Baptist Church.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Ruby Parr Reeves of Mrs. Ruby Parr Reeves and Mrs. Louise Ellison, both of Pampa; one son, Willie of Amarillo; one sister, Mrs. Beulah Trayer of Duvals Bluff, Ark.; 12 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery with pallbearers W. E. Leith, Emmett Teakell, Coyle Ford, Rex Gage, Clarence Costner and Wade Gilbert.

MEDIA MIXUP
LONDON (UPI)—The newspaper Guardian reported today that Romania's Radio-Bucharest has been broadcasting pro-Arab news to the United States in Yiddish.

Damron Named To Committee

Dr. John B. Damron, superintendent of Pampa Schools, has been named to serve on an advisory committee for a Leadership Fellows Program established by the Ford Foundation. The program will be aimed at developing young leaders in education.

Damron is one of 10 educators from Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to serve on the committee.

The advisory group has scheduled an organization meeting Saturday in Albuquerque, N.M.

The intent of the project is to identify and develop individuals, classroom teachers and others in educationally related positions, who show promise of ability to exercise leadership in education during the next quarter of a century.

The kind of person the committee will be considering is someone making a significant contribution to education in his own school and community at the present time.

Schools

out that transportation could cause additional problems.

"In our travels throughout the three states, including Texas," Vernon said, "we have heard this argument time and time again, that these people want their school and they want it to remain, but the fact is there would be no compliance with the law if we were to listen to their complaints. It is not possible for the Negro to segregate himself any more than it is for the white person."

"One of the easiest ways to solve your problem," Vernon stated, "is to abolish Carver School as a Negro school. So long as it is identified as a one-race school, as long as that school exists, you are going to have to answer to the United States Government, because you are operating a dual school system."

Board member Gene Steel asked, "What has been your experience with other schools, who have not taken action?" The HEW official laughed and replied, "We have never lost a case."

Vernon continued, "You can ignore these suggestions and not comply with the Title VI amendment and it will be necessary to withdraw federal funds. Even though you don't act and lose the funds, you will still be subject to a hearing before the Justice Department."

Suggestions as to how to comply with the Civil Rights Act then took the form of an ultimatum with Vernon's summation: "We would like to hear within a reasonable period of time, say 15 days, some indication as to what you intend to do. We will not take any action in your district until we hear from you. But we must have something from you in writing as to what your plans are. If you do not comply, we have no alternative other than to recommend your federal funds be terminated and we will take such action."

Pampa Independent School District receives approximately a quarter of a million dollars in federal funds from the state that is disbursed in teaching salaries and materials for the PESO Reading Program; Library, Audio and Visual Aids; Vocational Agriculture Department, Home-making, Shop, and milk funds for serving Class-A meals in school cafeterias, as well as receiving government surplus commodity foods.

The HEW representatives were asked if they were visiting other school districts in the Panhandle and if the Washington office had received specific complaints regarding the local school district. To both questions, Vernon replied, "We are not at liberty to answer."

Pampa Commissioners Authorize Sale of Road Improvement Bonds

Pampa city commissioners today authorized the sale of $1,900,000 worth of bonds — the balance of a $2,900,000 bond issue approved by Pampa voters in March of 1966.

City Manager Jim White said the money is needed immediately for additional highway improvements planned for U.S. 60 and State highways 152 and 273 inside the city limits.

Included in the bond sale, for which bids will be received at 1:30 p.m. July 18, will be $750,000 for Pampa's filtration plant to handle water from Lake Meredith under the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

One million dollars of the 1966 bond issue now is being used in Pampa's overall street improvement program which includes approximately 180 blocks of new paving.

The commission today released eight more units consisting of approximately 20 city blocks. They were: Twentieth from Hamilton to Williston, Eighteenth from Coffee to Hamilton, Pennsylvania from Russell to Charles, Crawford from Farey to Hobart, Bond from Nelson to Hobart, Dwight from McCullough to Bond, Nelson from Bond to Crawford, and Sloan from Allen to Kentucky.

The commission set 8:30 a.m. July 18 to receive bids for traffic lights to be installed at Harvester and Duncan streets. City Manager White said Duncan will be made a through-north and south thoroughfare all the way north to Tarvester, starting from the traffic light at Browning.

Contract for purchase of oil and gasoline for city vehicles was awarded to Continental Oil Co., low of three bidders. Rockwell Mfg. Co. was awarded a contract to supply water meters.

Four resolutions were adopted to accept minute orders of the State Highway Commission for proposed highway improvements on East and West Hwy. 60 and StateHwys. 152 and 273. This included the commission's authorization for engineering estimates and right of way purchases.

Authorization was given for the transfer of $100,000 from the Water Fund to the General Fund and for the payment of $66,500 in city bills and $188.66 in library bills for May.

"On Wisconsin" was originally written by William T. Purdy of Chicago as a pep song for Minnesota from Bond to Crawford, and

Snyder Soaked By Cloud Burst

A five-inch rain Monday raised two creeks in Snyder, Tex., to torrents that flooded parts of the city with water 14 to 18 feet deep.

The water was 14 to 18 feet deep in the bed of Dry Creek, acting Police Chief A. E. Crowley said. "Seventy-five to 100 homes and business places were flooded."

Snyder, a city of 14,000 population in West Texas, was the city hardest hit in the state Monday by a widespread outbreak of thunderstorms.

Injured Boy Is Taken to Wheeler

A 17-year-old Wheeler youth was transferred from Worley Hospital to Wheeler hospital this morning, following a farm accident Monday evening.

Ruben Beavetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Benavies, Wheeler, was rushed from the J. Evans farm, 21 miles east of Pampa, by Carmichael-Whately ambulance.

The youth reportedly became dizzy and fell under the wheels of a fertilizer applicator at the farm and was run over by the machine.

He suffered a broken pelvis. Read The News Classified Ads

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I have a boyfriend who has three favorite sayings: "I'm starved," "I'm tired," and "I'm broke." I can not see why he should always be starved. He lives at home. And he shouldn't be tired as he sleeps every chance he gets and he shouldn't be broke either as he has a job.

He comes over every Friday night and when I ask him to take me to a show, he can't because he's broke. When I suggest going for a walk, he says he's too tired. I don't understand why I love him, but I do. What's wrong with him?

DEAR NITA: He needs someone who will feed him, give him an allowance, and tuck him in every night. (A mother.) He's for adopting — not marrying.

DEAR ABBY: Dennis and I set our wedding date and I asked his sister, Kay, a high school senior, to be my maid of honor. She accepted and we started making plans.

Then Kathy told me she was trying out for the lead in Fair Lady, the senior class play, and she thought she had a good chance of getting it, so I should ask someone else to be my maid of honor because they had to do a matinee of Fair Lady on my wedding day.

I asked my cousin and she was thrilled, even knowing she was second fiddle to Kathy. Well, Kathy tried out for Fair Lady and she didn't get the lead. Instead she was stuck in the chorus with a bunch of other kids, so now she wants to be my maid of honor again.

What should I do, Abby? Tell my cousin there was a "mix-up," and let Kathy be my maid of honor? I don't want my future sister-in-law mad at me. But it's not fair to my cousin either.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES DEAR BETWEEN: YOU be fair, Lady, and let your cousin be your maid of honor.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 10 years and have three small children. We purchased a three-bedroom house last year, and we are still in the process of furnishing it. Recently some friends who live in another city came to visit us. Not having a guest room, we gave them our bedroom and we prepared to sleep in the family room on the couch that makes into a double bed. It's an old wreck of a couch and not very comfortable.

Our guests insisted that they sleep on that old wreck of a bed and we stay in our own bedroom. They said they never give up their bedroom for guests and wouldn't permit anyone to do it for them. We felt just terrible, Abby, for they wouldn't listen to reason. It is our policy to make our guests as comfortable as possible. Weren't they rude to refuse the accommodations we offered them?

PERPLEXED DEAR PERPLEXED: If it's your policy to make your guests as "comfortable" as possible, you should have let them sleep where they wanted to without a fuss. Many a guest (including this columnist) would feel much more "comfortable" standing up all night in a broom closet than displacing the host and hostess.

Family, Friends Fete The Nottinghams On Occasion Of Golden Nuptial Date

Family and friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton S. Nottingham, 1513 Williston on Sunday afternoon to offer best wishes on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Hosts for the occasion were their son, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Nottingham of Midland; their former daughter-in-law and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Webster of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Mrs. Nottingham was presented with a corsage of yellow orchids. Mr. Nottingham wore a yellow carnation boutonniere.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with a cloth of Old English lace over gold centered with an arrangement of yellow roses, gladioli and chrysanthemums in a gold bowl. Gold tapers flanked the floral arrangement.

Mrs. Jack M. Nottingham presided at the punch service. Mrs. Jack W. Nottingham served from the three-tiered anniversary cake decorated with gold bells.

The honorees were married May 29, 1917 in Cordell, Okla. and have lived in Pampa 13 years moving here from Clinton, Okla. Mr. Nottingham retired in May, 1962, after working 43 years as a Santa Fe Railroad conductor.

In addition to the hosts, out-of-town guests included the honorees' grandsons and granddaughters, Jack M. Nottingham and wife, Linda, of Dallas; Kent and Hal Nottingham of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Janet and Felicia Nottingham of Midland; Tracy Webster of Oklahoma City; and a great-grandson, Jeff Nottingham of Dallas; Mrs. Nottingham's sisters, Mrs. Mary Pewters of Bryon, Mrs. F. W. Kelsey of Hollywood, Fla.; a brother-in-law, Jennings Freeman of Pauls Valley, Okla.

One grand-son, Dennis Nottingham, who is serving in Vietnam, was unable to attend.

Groom Pair Feted On Golden Date

GROOM — Mr and Mrs. O. P. Blackwell were honored with a 50th wedding anniversary reception at their home Sunday afternoon.

Hosting the occasion were their children and grandchildren which included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Payne, Beth, Teresa and Tina of Campo, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Black, Greg, Carey and Tonja of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Blackwell, Lanna and Guy Lynn of Groom; Mr. and Mrs. Page Blackwell, Laura Jean, Marcia and Danny; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blakeney, Gary, Janet, and Sharon.

The serving table was laid with a gold cotton cloth centered with an arrangement of gold roses. Mrs. Herschel Black baked the cake shaped as an open Bible with one page decorated as the family tree.

Presiding at the serving table were Laura Blackwell, Marcia Blackwell and Beth Foster. Registering the guests were Janet and Sharon Blakeney, Tonja Black and Lanna Blackwell. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blackstone, Jake Lacy and Jerry Thornton presented several appropriate songs for the honored couple and guests.

Guests attended the reception from the following towns: Joshua, Campo, Colo.; Hereford, Amarillo, Elk City, Oklahoma.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

We were pleased with the results of the meeting of the aged at the Pampa Hotel Banquet Room recently called by the Governors Committee for the purpose of forming groups for the various arts and crafts. There were about seventy-five present. Bob Alford was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Fidelity Yoder furnished background music on the piano. A committee of ten was appointed to meet and make plans for another meeting in the near future. Cookies and coffee were served.

Mrs. Elma Bailey spent several days last week in the mountains in New Mexico with her daughter and family. The Marvin Bowmans. They went sightseeing in Santa Fe, Taos and came back by way of Comanche dam.

Mrs. Myrtle Ball of Allentown spent Thursday night with her cousin, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock, and took in a movie.

Mrs. Fern Arndt of Durant, Okla., spent a few days with Mrs. G. E. Garland, leaving Thursday morning for home.

Mr. C. W. McMillan who has been spending the winter here with relatives, who comes regularly to Senior Center, says he will be with us again next week; then will depart for Pine Dale, Ark. to spend the summer with his daughter, Mrs. Helen Orr.

Charles Schwobe and his wife, Rosemary, of Oklahoma City, have been visiting in homes of Mrs. A. L. Prigmore; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Canaster; his sister, Mrs. Joe Taylor and family, and his mother, Mrs. Amelia Schwobe. Mrs. Prigmore is Rosemary's mother. They left for home Thursday morning.

Mrs. Irma Tubbs has returned home from a two month visit with her daughters, Mrs. Viola Wilson and family of Bakersfield, Calif. (where fishing was no good, she said and in Joplin, Mo. with Mrs. Wilma Southwick, where fishing was good. Mrs. Tubbs is one of our inveterate fishermen.

Which reminds me, Mrs. Rosalie Wedge a friend brought me a couple of nice fish from her fishing trip this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Barnard were houseguests last week in the home of his daughter and family, Mrs. Virgie Ingram at El Reno, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Smith of Longview spent Memorial Day evening with Mr. and Mrs. Sutton. Mrs. Smith is a niece of the Suttons.

Mrs. Hudgel was welcomed as a new member this week.

George Houston of Vancouver, B.C. came Monday to visit his cousin, Mrs. C. G. Miller and son, Bill. He had spent four months with a brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Houston at Cushing, Okla. Mr. Houston left Calif. where he will visit his brothers Fred and Tom and will visit his sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith at Sedro, Woolley, and Washington enroute home. This was the first time the cousins had seen each other since 1914 in Arkansas fifty-three years ago. Must have been a joyous reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Porter and children, Ruth and Richard, Shamrock visited Mrs. Porter's mother Mrs. C. G. Miller and son, Bill, a short

Washington Report

BOB PRICE

These Republicans in a solid block were joined by enough Democrats to vote down the President's request for a $20 billion increase in the public debt ceiling last week. The proposed increase was in addition to the $5 billion increase authorized by Congress less than 2 months ago and would have established a debt authorization of $35 billion.

Since 1961 the Democratic Administrations have embraced the philosophy of unlimited government spending and budget deficits. Budget subterfuge and gimmickry financing have become the trademark of the Great Society. In spite of repeated and urgent danger signals, the Johnson-Humphrey Administration has refused to place its fiscal house in order. It has consistently underestimated the cost of the war to avoid a cutback in nonessential spending.

In January 1966, the Johnson-Humphrey Administration submitted a $112.8 billion budget that proposed defense expenditures of only $60.5 billion. Immediately it became apparent that this was a totally unrealistic figure in view of the massive federal spending, but the Administration stuck to its original Budget. In fact, on September 8, 1966, the President not only reaffirmed the earlier Budget figures but assured the American people that total expenditures would be cut back by at least $3 billion.

It was not until AFTER the November elections that the American people were finally told the truth. In January 1967, when the Administration submitted its Budget for fiscal 1968, the Administration disclosed that fiscal 1967 expenditures would amount to $126.7 billion and not the $112.8 billion previously reported.

Incredible as it may seem, the Johnson-Humphrey Administration is again repeating the same misleading budgetary tactics. Last January, a deficit of $5.7 billion was forecast. Now the Treasury officially estimates that the deficit for fiscal 1968 will be $11 billion. However, the Administration is seeking borrowing authority to accommodate a deficit of $20 billion. Significantly the difference between the $11 billion estimated deficit and the $20 billion request is accounted for by the Secretary of Treasury in the following manner:

"But as I have mentioned, the deficit in 1968 is vulnerable to greater than usual uncertainties, and we must take account of these in determining a prospectively secure debt limit level to carry through fiscal year 1968."

One contingency is that Vietnam spending could bulge well above the current estimate.

Another is the timing of the passage of the tax surcharge. And still another is the possibility that corporate tax receipts would fall short of estimates."

It is more than mere coincidence that the "contingencies" alluded to by the Secretary of Treasury add up to $20 billion if the Administration is also unable to borrow an additional $5 billion through the sale of participation certificates.

Although the Administration is attempting to justify the fiscal plight of this country on the basis that the Vietnam War is a "costly war," the facts do not bear out this contention. The level of domestic spending in the administrative budget alone — wholly apart from our defense requirements in the war in Vietnam — has increased from about $46 billion for fiscal 1965 to approximately $66 billion for fiscal 1968. Two-thirds of the $20.3 billion increase in Federal expenditures from calendar 1966 through 1968 — as measured in the National Income accounts — is accounted for by nondefense spending. Moreover, as projected in the January 1967 budget message, over half of the proposed $37 billion increase in outlays from fiscal 1966 through fiscal 1968 is to be in non-defense programs.

Alarmed by the fact that "red ink" in the federal Budget could "burst all bounds," the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has stated:

"... We must continually re-evaluate existing expenditure programs in the light of a very objective measurement of the benefits which they convey and the costs which they will impose. Every new program should be viewed not in terms of its first year cost alone, but in terms of what its cost will be five years from now, ten years from now or perhaps fifteen years from now..."

The Republican Members of Congress and the Republican Policy Committee have repeatedly called for a cutback in non-essential spending and for honest reporting of anticipated government expenditures. We have opposed increases in the Debt Limit that did not provide basic budgetary reforms. In March of this year, a Republican Resolution was introduced, which would return the Budget to the President and request that he indicate the places and amounts where he believes that reductions can be made. It was noted that the passage of a similar Resolution during the 90th Congress resulted in recommended reductions of $1,342 billion in a Budget of $71.3 billion. Unfortunately, the Democrat-controlled Congress in 1967 has refused to grant this Resolution any consideration whatsoever.

It's important that the Johnson-Humphrey Administration place before this Congress — all accurate estimates of projected defense costs. In addition, the Administration and the Congress may have to find additional sources of revenue that will cut the deficit to a manageable level. A deficit of the magnitude that is now contemplated is intolerable. It would further escalate prices and interest rates in what is already a seriously strained domestic economy. In April, the cost of living increased 0.3 per cent. Another period of "tight money" similar to that experienced last Fall when interest rates soared to new heights is a grave possibility.

The ducking and dodging of the Johnson-Humphrey Administration which is typified by the vague and evasive testimony of the Secretary of Treasury must stop. Hard facts and realistic projections of future spending must be made available. If we are to avoid a runaway economy that may lead to governmental control of wages, prices and credit as well as further increases in taxes, there must be restraint in federal spending and an immediate implementation of expenditure priorities.

During debate on the bill, Rep. John W. Byrnes, ranking GOP member of the House Ways and Means Committee who led the floor fight against the debt increase, said Republicans would go along with an extension past the June 30 deadline of the present $305 billion ceiling, to enable the Administration to revise its budget and pay its bills.

It was the first time in history that the House had refused to grant a request for a boost in the ceiling. So at least the Administration must face up to the fact that Republicans mean what they say about fiscal responsibility.

Rives Remembers Last Years U.S. Open

By JON RICHMAN
SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (UPI)—
The U.S. Open draws 'em all,
somebodies and the nobodies,
and occasionally a few who fall somewhere in between.
Rives McBee, the 28-year-old former assistant club pro from Midland, Tex., probably belongs in the last group although he generally gives himself the worst of it.
"I was a nobody in last year's Open and I'm still a nobody,"
he said Monday at Baltusrol Golf Club where they'll start

this year's Open on Thursday.
"My aim is make the cut and just play the 72 holes."
Rives McBee, in case you've forgotten so quickly, is the young fellow who surprised
everyone, even the big boys,
with his record-equalling 64
during the second round of last year's Open at San Francisco.
Wise Money Wrong
"Don't worry about him at all," said all the wise money
after McBee's spectacular 64.
"By Sunday no one will ever remember him."

As so often happens, the wise
money was wrong again. Rives McBee was still around at the end of 72 holes a year ago and he finished in a tie for 13th place, which isn't half bad for a young fellow who had never played on the tour and was competing in his first Open.
"Things are a whole lot different now," McBee says rather solemnly. "I had a job to go back to last year. No more,
though. They hired another man to take my place. I've got to make my living right here on the tour now. A year ago I was swinging real free. I couldn't care less whether I won or didn't. I may be a little tighter this time. It matters much more."

That's the way Rives McBee talks. He holds nothing back. He lets you have it straight.
He readily admits that record-tying 64 in the Open
"opened some doors" for him,
but points out that people have a way of forgetting in a hurry.
"One month after I shot that

64," he laughs, "someone would come up to me and say, 'say, Mac, that was a great round
you had in the Open.' Three months later, I'd be introduced as the guy who led the Open after the first round (which he never did). After six months I'd hear someone say, 'That's the guy who nearly won the Open, and now a year later
people come up and ask me,
'What was the name of the tournament you played in last
year?'"
Rives McBee has a most unusual faculty, particularly among professional golfers. He doesn't take himself too seriously.

"I have no illusions," he says.
"I don't think I'll ever be a big Nicklaus or Mr. (Ben) Hogan. I just don't have the ability to keep concentrating for 18 holes.
Whenever I hit a bad shot, I simply say to myself, better luck next time."
That, of course, is not the prescribed way to the top and no one knows it better than Rives McBee.

"I'm not looking to set the world on fire," he says. "I'm merely looking to make a decent living for myself and my family and to enjoy what I'm doing."
Only 150 qualify
It almost sounds as if McBee
downgrades his own golfing ability, but that isn't the case at all.
"Not anyone can play in this Open," he says, with obvious pride. "At least 3,000 tried to qualify and only 150 got to play."

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Dick on Relief, Phillies Winning

By United Press International
Since Dick Farrell has gone
on relief again, the Philadelphia Phillies have begun a successful
war on pitching poverty.
Farrell, once the bullpen ace
of the Phillies and one of the best relief pitchers in the National League, had been primarily a starter for the Houston Astros for the past several years but has returned exclusively to the Phillies
last month.
The 33-year-old righthander
showed the fast ball that made him famous Monday night when he came out of the bullpen in the second inning to retire 18
Atlanta batters in a row and preserve a 7-4 Philadelphia
victory.
Scalps Seventeen Braves
Farrell came on in relief of starter Dick Ellsworth with two out in the second and retired

Hank Aaron on a fly to center
with two on. He then set down 17 more Braves in a row before Gary Geiger spoiled the streak with a one-out single in the eighth inning.
The big righthander set down
eight on strikes during his seven and one-third inning stint to notch his sixth victory in eight decisions.
In the only other NL games,
Pittsburgh beat St. Louis, 7-5,
and Houston, defeated San Francisco 5-2.
In the American League
Boston beat New York 3-1,
Minnesota whipped Detroit 11-5,
Baltimore walloped Kansas City
10-2, Washington edged Chicago
6-5 in 22 innings, and Cleveland
beat California 7-5 in 11 innings.
Allen Sparks Win
Farrell benefited from the biting of Richie Allen as the Phillies won their 10th game in their last 13 outings. Allen

crashed two doubles and a Aaron led the Braves' attack single and score twice. Hank with two hits including his 16th
home run of the year with two men
aboard.
Willie Stargell and Maury Wills drove in four runs between them with home runs as the Pirates snapped the Cardinals
five-game winning streak and helped Dennis Ribart to his second victory of the year.
Stargell's homer, his ninth of the season, came with one on in the second and Wills' blast, his second, capped a five-run rally
in the sixth that tagged southpaw Steve Carlton with his third loss in seven decisions.
On Jim Wynn's three-run home run, Wynn's hit enabled Larry Dierker to pick up his sixth victory against four losses.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Long Night for Sens, Chisox

By United Press International
It was baseball's longest night
but it was just barely long enough for Paul Casanova's
second chance.
Casanova caught the entire 22
innings of the Chicago White Sox-Washington Senators contest that was the longest night
game in major league history
Monday night and Tuesday morning.
But the Washington catcher wasn't too proud of the distinction as he walked back to the dugout for the bottom of the 22nd inning. He had gone 6-for-6
and had hit into a double play
with the bases loaded and one out in his last time at bat in the 20th inning.
Casanova got another chance,
however, in the 22nd when with one out Mike Epstein was intentionally walked to load the bases and bring Casanova up.
But this time he stroked a single off John Bushardt to give the Senators a 6-4 victory over the league-leading Chicago
White Sox in the six hour and 35-minute marathon that ended
at 2:45 a.m. EDT.
No night game in major league history had ever gone longer than 20 innings and the affair also snapped the time record for a night game of 5
hours and 33 minutes set in 1952
by the Cards and Astros and tied in 1954 by the Phils and Dodgers.
It was only the fourth
American League game to go into the 22nd inning and was just two innings shy of the 24-

inning loop record. The record for innings of 24 was set in 1920
by the Braves and Dodgers.
It was just 22 minutes short of the seven-hour Yankee-Tiger 22-inning game in 1966 that was the longest American League game ever. The Mets and Giants played the longest game
ever in 1964 when they battled 7
hours and 23 minutes over 23
innings.
The game also produced odd records — for example, the teams played the entire game
without an error to mark the longest errorless game.
Epstein also tied the mark for putouts by a first baseman with 34. Cudy York handled the same number when the Tigers battled the A's for 24 innings in 1945.
Both teams used six pitchers
and when Bushardt and Bob Humphreys were dueling at the end, the managers had virtually run out of pitchers. Both had Sunday for each team, one fourth out two had started Saturday and the fourth was the starter tonight.
Hank Allen started the winning rally with one out by walking. Cap Peterson singled him to third, Epstein was intentionally walked and Casanova
then ended it.
Missouri Scores Win
Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota drubbed
Detroit 11-5, Boston edged New York 3-1, Baltimore whipped Kansas City 10-3 and Cleveland
topped California in 11 innings.
In the National League,

Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 7-5
and Houston topped San Francisco 5-2.
Rich Rollins' grand slam
homer capped an eight-run third inning that carried the Twins to
victory.
Gary Bell scattered seven hits
and Russ Gibson hit his first major league homer to pace
Boston to victory over New York. It was Bell's second straight Red Sox victory since being traded from Cleveland.
Baltimore erupted for five runs in the fourth—two of the
on Luis Aparicio's triple—to club Kansas City. Pete Richert pitched a seven hitter to gain
his first victory in an Oriole
uniform.
Joe Azcue singled in two runs
with the bases loaded in the 11th to hand Cleveland its victory over the Angels. George Culver, the fourth Indians
hurrier, pitched two innings to boost his record to 4-0.

No Matter what you may

the world's American Legion
baseball race.
But the Rebels have the chance to go to the front Wed-

Park.
Pampa ran their record to 5-1
Monday night with an easy 10-6 victory over Canyon in a make-up game to stay a half game
behind league-leading Hereford,
who is 4-0.
The Rebels started things off
in a big way against Canyon scoring nine times in the first inning and adding a single in the fourth.
Al Gomez, making his first start and pitching in his first game in more than two months
won the distance to pick up the win. He held Canyon to six hits and his teammates had three errors behind him.
Canyon scored once in the third, two in the fourth and added three in the sixth to complete their scoring.
Gomez smacked two doubles
and Larry Stephens hit another as each drove in three runs to pace the Pampa hitting.

COWBOYS, COUGARS LOSE Second Round Today

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The
process of elimination was to start today in the 21st annual NCAA College World Series
after three closely contested games and one rout in first-round action Monday.
The Houston Cougars were to meet third-ranked and defending champion Ohio state at 11
a.m. with the loser knocked out of the double elimination tournament.
Also scheduled to battle for survival were Rider and Oklahoma State, which also took losses
in the double elimination meet Monday.
Tourney favorite and first-
ranked Stanford was pitted against second-ranked Auburn
in the 8 p.m. game with Boston College matched against Arizona State at 8:30.
The biggest surprise Monday
came when Stanford walloped Houston 12-1. Stanford was expected to win but not that easily.
The West Coast club rattled
out 17 hits and received superb pitching from 6-7 sophomore righthander Rod Potete. But

Clay Blasts WBA Decision

DETROIT (UPI)—Undefeated heavyweight Cassius Clay, 37, retired as world's champion by a World Boxing Association
(WBA) decision, said Monday.
"The American people are too
smart to have a new champion put over on the by a group of men who just sit around,"
Clay checked into town
Monday for an exhibition
against two unknowns Thursday night, and said he would work out for the fight in private.
Clay, who lost his world's championship because he refused induction into the Army,
goes on trial in U.S. District Court at Houston June 19 on draft evasion charges. He announced the exhibition June 2
and said all proceeds would go to Negro youth charities.
"We'll be able to judge by this exhibition about who the people really think the champion is," Clay said. "The American people are too smart
to have a new champion put over on them by a group of men who just sit around—the WBA."
"The American people are just too smart to accept a new champ from a bunch of guys
that I've already annihilated.
The fans just won't accept that."
Chuck Davey, Michigan's boxing commissioner, said he was ready to issue a license for the six-round exhibition by Clay
"For all intents and purposes
they already have it (the license)," Davey said. "Everything is in order. It's routine.
Unless somebody comes up with something wrong they'll be granted a license."
Davey said he received some telephone calls and letters protesting the exhibition. But, he said, the opposition did not appear heavy and had not come from Gov. George Romney or other state officials.

Frazier, Chivalo Bout Scheduled

NEW YORK (UPI)—Unbeaten Joe Frazier of Philadelphia,
the No. 2 ranked heavyweight
contender, today was expected to sign a fight contract to meet Canadian George Chuvalo at Madison Square Garden July 19
in what may be the first of the elimination bouts for Cassius Clay's vacant heavyweight
crown.
Frazier, who like Clay was an Olympic heavyweight champ, is undefeated in 16 professional fights, including 14 knockouts.
Chuvalo, on a comeback since losing a decision to Clay in a title fight, will enter the bout with a record of 12 consecutive knockouts.
Speculation by the fight crowd
lists former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson going against Argentinian Oscar Bon-avena in a Houston bout that is part of the elimination series.
The World Boxing Association
has called to select Clay's successor.

Houston helped Stanford by making six errors.
There were three other
sparkling pitching performances
Monday. Q.V. Lowe notched his 14th victory in 15 games with a five-hitter against Ohio State,
and Arizona State's Gary Gentry ran his record to 16-1 in the Sun Devil win over Oklahoma State. Gentry struck out 16 to tie a series mark for a nine-inning game and set the last 17 Cowboys down in order.
Boston College's Bill O'Brien
also was impressive in the victory over Rider.
The first four games drew 10,715, slightly below the opening day turnouts of a year ago. A series attendance record of more than 63,000 was set in 1965. Sponsors of the meet are shootng for a 70,000 mark this
year.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

'Sex Revolution' Isn't the First One

Miniskirts, bikinis, topless entertainment, the bolder treatment of sex in novels and movies, the Pill, the drive for liberalized abortion laws — a host of developments must convince the most casual observer of the times that sweeping changes are taking place in the American society.

Whether these changes add up to a Sexual Revolution, with the capital letters its chroniclers have endowed it with, is another question. It is a safe estimate that 90 per cent of the "revolution" must be discounted as taking place in the imagination, chiefly the male imagination.

Though the remaining 10 per cent is still a pretty significant figure, our age may not be as revolutionary as we like to think.

We forget that it was during the staid and prudish 19th century that free love communities were established in the United States. (today, even Playboys Hugh Hefner frowns on free love.)

In 1872, in fact, Victoria Woodhull, a free love advocate, who certainly had the wrong first name, became the first woman to run for president. And it was in the last century that polygamy was institutionalized in one state.

It is a good question who was or is the more unhealthily sex-obsessed or repressed — the Victorians with their denial that such a thing as sex existed on the one hand and their toleration of widespread prostitution on the other, or we with our enlightened talk, talk, talk about sex on the one hand and, on the other, the attitude shared by the modern bunny girl and her male admirers: "Look all you want but don't dare touch."

There ought to be a better choice than between a race of hypocrites and a generation of voyeurs.

Each age is certain that its problems are unique and that it is witnessing the final decline of morality. But psychologists and sociologists, who grind out volume after volume and article after article on the subject, are unable to point to any profound alteration of behavior among young people. Whatever change there is seems to be a freer acceptance of premarital relations between a man and woman — but that threatens society, only if accompanied by love and a strong sense of "commitment" to each other. And in this, we are merely catching up with a pattern that has always been present in certain otherwise conservative Old World cultures and was known even among our own ancestors who practiced "bundling."

Despite our surface enlightenment, many marriage counselors agree that sexual incontinence, often stemming from ingrained guilt feelings about sex, is responsible for more marriage failures than money or any other factor.

For all the emancipation of women, the double standard still reigns. The advice - to-the-lovelorn columns still emphatically teach that the girl who surrenders to the world, the flesh and the devil must pay for it. And, of course, she does, for society makes sure that she does.

Yet in a very real way society is changing. Americans are acknowledging and discussing this immensely powerful force in human life more honestly than they ever have. They are attempting to arrive at a more balanced acceptance of it, and often in their eagerness they push the pendulum too far to the other side.

But a revolution? It is only when people are comfortable enough with sex that they no longer feel they have to talk about it that we will know that the revolution has truly arrived.

The British View: 'Dirty Little War'

A perceptive analysis of the Vietnam war — and of American attitudes toward it — has appeared in a country that is taking no active participation in that war.

What is happening in Vietnam is "the first war of its kind," says a recent issue of the respected British journal, The Economist.

It is not the kind of war that can be explained in the traditional categories of American foreign policy. It is not a "war to end all wars," or a war for "the four freedoms."

"It is a dirty little war that has fallen to the lot of the only power that is in a position to try to contain the expansion of Asian communism."

Its novelty lies in the fact that it is an 18th-century war fought with the technology of the 21st century, says the magazine.

It is an 18th-century war in the sense that the United States is fighting for a limited objective, and the secret search for a diplomatic settlement goes on at the same time as the military action.

And it is a 21st-century war in the sense that it is the first war fought on television.

"The American draftee lives and dies on television screens watched by his parents. There has never been anything quite like it."

When Britain was the possessor of global power in the 19th century, public opinion in England never minded very much about professional soldiers being killed. It is different when young Americans are being drafted to do the job and are being killed on camera.

It is only a short step, declares the magazine, from the obvious conclusion that all wars are hell to the belief that America should not be fighting this one.

ment is strengthened for doing anything possible to destroy the enemy before more Americans die.

Even so, President Johnson would have fewer critics if he had done a better job of explaining the war to the American people, thinks The Economist.

The President "talks about Vietnam in a traditional, semi-religious language of absolute right and wrong that dates from an earlier period of American policy. Against this, the images of war on television are a powerful opposition that can lead people either to pacifism or to an increased bellicosity."

The magazine concludes, with British understatement, that unless the President can find his own way of describing, in simple language, the aim of American policy in the Far East, "the result will not be a victory for democratic methods of conducting government, or for his attempt to use global power with a mixture of firmness and moderation."

Perhaps we have become so bogged down in the jungles and paddy fields of Vietnam that we have lost sight of the overall terrain, and the more bogged down we get, the less clearly we see.

The tangerine is often considered an orange but is, properly speaking, a mandarin rather than an orange.

Forestalling Wider Trouble in Middle East Linked to Jealousy That Uncovered Red Spy Network

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is intriguing evidence that the inflamed Middle East would now be embroiled in a much wider conflict except for the fury of a woman scorned.

The jilted wife of a Soviet spy is being credited by members of the ruling Greek military junta with altering the course of history by uncovering a Moscow-directed plot to take over Greece and Cyprus, the strategic Mediterranean island.

Scheduled to take place simultaneously with Nasser's war-triggering moves in the Middle East, the Red coups were narrowly averted by the swift seizure of power by the Greek military, according to U.S. intelligence authorities.

The military's take-over and the resulting round-up of hundreds of Russian agents in Greece and on Cyprus followed the cracking of a Soviet spy ring in Turin, Italy, late in March.

The massive arrests, which included anti-monarchist leader Andreas Papandreu, stemmed from the seizure and confession of Soviet spy, Giorgio "The Flying Madman" Rinaldi-Ghislieri after he was fingered by his 52-year-old wife.

Broken-hearted over her 39-year-old spouse's affair with a younger woman, Mrs. Rinaldi-Ghislieri tipped off Italian intelligence authorities about her husband's covert activities for Moscow.

THE BIG PERFORMANCE — In between aerial shows in 1963, when he set an Italian record for free-fall parachuting, her husband set up a Mediterranean area espionage network for the Kremlin, Mrs. Rinaldi claimed.

The objective reportedly was to set the stage for Red coups in Greece and Cyprus as part of a double-pronged Soviet probe into the Middle East.

Once these governments were under Communist control, the Kremlin apparently planned to exert pressure on Turkey to help drive U.S. and British forces from the Eastern Mediterranean.

All was going as planned by Moscow until Mrs. Rinaldi decided to bare her soul to Italian authorities. After the latter confirmed her tale of international espionage by Rinaldi's own confession, they alerted high Greek military officials.

When these officers learned that hundreds of Soviet agents were involved, they decided that the only way to block the take-over was to stage a coup of their own. The Greek military acted with such speed and secrecy that they caught everyone by surprise.

LEAVING HIS MARK — Historians may also shed some light on the mysterious visit of Israel's General Moshe Dayan to Athens the day before the April 23 coup.

About all that is now known is what the general's novelist daughter, Miss Yeal Dayan, told British newsmen on

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Discouraging Defectors

I believe the administration missed one of the greatest opportunities that has come to this country to strike a deadly blow at Communism when it failed to grant immediate asylum to Stalin's daughter. If she had found a ready welcome, who can tell what other high Soviet officials would have followed her example? If Stalin's daughter had been willing to tell all she knew about communism, its cruelties and inefficiencies, it would have had a profound effect on world opinion concerning the utter failure of Marxism to make good on its promises.

This all goes to show what we have long contended; that our government is not interested in over-throwing Communism, but rather in budding up to it and in fact becoming more like it. There would seem to be no other apparent reason for the failure to extend an immediate hospitable welcome to Svetlana. To pretend that the policy of our government is against Communism while it hedges on giving asylum to high ranking defectors is transparently false. Encouraging defectors, especially those of high rank, is one of the most effective means of proving that Communism is a failure.

In view of the current purges taking place in China, who knows how many high ranking government people there would follow Svetlana's example if they could be sure of being received at once?

Now it appears that our policy is to discourage defectors, and to make it clear that we do not really want them because we prefer the friendship of the Soviet government. Of course we shall never get it for the Kremlin could not be a real friend of the United States without destroying Communism. That it will never do. It will pretend that Communism is a success, and it must vilify all Capitalist countries as the only means of retaining control of the people of the Soviet Union.

For the Soviet government to be friends with America, and to admit that we are not the villain that Soviet propaganda maintains we are, would make it impossible for the Soviet Union to control its own people. It can do this only by its hate propaganda against us. We may sacrifice our national interests in an effort to achieve friendly relations with the Soviet Union, but this cannot be done short of accepting Marxism. We have gone much too far in that direction already, and refusal to accept Svetlana initially makes it look as if our leadership is determined to go still farther, possibly all the way. This again underlines the remark which the top Communist official made to me in the Kremlin just a few years ago: "We don't have to fight you or urge you, we shall just sit here and wait for you to walk into our camp." And then in threatening tones he concluded: "We'll be over to finish the take-over of America sooner than you think."

Excision of The Mideast Cankers Stalled Too Long

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the United States had spent more time working on Middle East problems before they exploded, the Egyptian-Israeli war might not have occurred.

There's a lesson here that fits other sore spots around the globe.

Today's Middle East problems have been hot for more than two decades. For this whole period a state of war has existed between Egypt and Israel, with only an uneasy armistice usually in effect.

1. Something could have been done about the Arab refugee problem. A million or so Arabs lost their homes and farmlands when Palestine was created. Many of these poor people still live in refugee camps, without hope. They have been natural for recruiting raiders willing to infiltrate Israel.

This problem has drifted now for more than 20 years. It is a barb in the sides of Arab peoples.

Most men who have raided and terrorized in Israel from Syria in recent years were recruited from these displaced Arabs. These raids caused Israel to take reprisals in Syria and Jordan and to threaten more if the terrorist raids continued. These reprisals, in turn, gave Nasser a rallying cry to unite neighboring lands against Israel.

2. Something might have been done about Jerusalem. Arabs say it is a Moslem holy place, as well as Christian and Jewish. They want internationalization. Part of the city has been in Israel, part in Jordan.

In view of the religious history centered in Jerusalem, a stronger attempt at compromise would have been worth the effort.

3. Something more might have been done about Israeli rights in the Strait of Tiran-Gulf of Aqaba and in the Suez Canal. The Israelis are hurting because Egypt has kept the Suez Canal closed to their shipping this past decade. Like the Panama Canal, the Suez is an "international" passage way, though entirely in Egyptian territory.

The Israeli consider Egypt's Strait of Tiran blockade an act of aggression. It closes Israel's only sea route to the south.

For the past decade, the United States and the free world have known Egypt had plans for blockading the Strait of Tiran. As a temporary solution, the United States, Britain and other maritime nations in the late 1950s proclaimed the strait to be an international waterway based on a World Court decision on the Straits of Corfu; U.N. troops blocked Egypt from enforcing the blockade. No real attempt was made to find a permanent solution.

In the past 10 years, a determined effort should have been made to secure some sort of agreement on Tiran and Suez or some permanent international means of guaranteeing free passage through Tiran.

4. More could have been done to reconcile Arab-Israeli differences on the use of water from the Jordan River. The Arabs are angry over the amount of water Israel is withdrawing. Part of the water the Israelis are taking, the Arabs say, rightfully belongs to them.

This reporter was born in a western state which for years has been contesting for Colorado River water. Water rights arouse deep emotions.

There are some administration men who say these issues are not crucial in this crisis. They hold Nasser's actions resulted from his burning ambition to create and lead an Arab coalition and to recoup the status he lost in his quick defeat by the Israeli armies in 1956. They say he has fomented trouble with Israel to achieve his ends.

Be that as it may, if the above problems had been solved, Nasser would have found it more difficult to whip up his people and other Arabs to war, pitch.

Now comes news of a man, who says he will apply for a government loan to start a snake farm; to raise snakes for eating purposes for human beings. He says that the potentials are tremendous.

Did you ever hear of anything so disgusting? Of course, your reply would be, that if I don't want to eat snake steaks, just don't buy any. It really wouldn't work that way.

Imagine for yourself, that Pampa stores were to come out tomorrow with an advertisement that read: "Snake steaks on sale, twenty per cent off, double stamp day." Now whose ice box do you think would be filled with snake steaks, at twenty per cent off on double stamp day? See what I mean?

The man has some good in the idea as reprehensible as it is. There are all kinds of advertisement material that could be cooked up. For example like the following:

Try our Boss and our "Mocs". Good with drinks on the rocks.

Or this one: Our snakes are fed on tender chicken. Makes 'em tender and finger lickin'.

Or again: Rake this steak across your lips. You'll say, it's really the snake's hips.

Catchy, huh? Sure it's catchy. Not Longfellow stuff, but catchy. Again, I just thought of another — but, well this grows too long, I wonder if I could get a Government loan of the people's tax money to start me a snake producing farm for people eating. Really, the potentials are tremendous.

The Doctor Says:

Stomach Position Best For Tiny Sleeping Infant

I am often asked whether an infant should be allowed to sleep on his stomach all the time. This is the preferred position for an infant because, if he spits up any of his food, he will not in this position be likely to inhale it and have a fit of choking.

Furthermore, an infant in this position even from birth is able to lift his head and turn it from side to side thereby avoiding any obstruction to his breathing that might be caused by a bunched-up blanket. Babies who are placed on their backs may develop a flattened area on the back of the head.

You should, however, let your baby lie on his back when he is awake and you can be with him. When he is old enough to turn over from his stomach to his back he will choose the sleeping position that suits him and will change his position from time to time unaided during his sleep.

Q—Is powdered milk just as nutritious as regular milk for children? Ours get vitamin supplements daily. Would there be any advantage to using one-half regular and one-half powdered milk?

A—Powdered milk is just as nutritious as whole milk. Once the package is opened, however, it should be kept in the refrigerator. If your children are used to the slightly different taste of powdered milk, there would be no advantage in mixing it with whole milk.

Q—What is the cause of the Pym's ticks? What are the symptoms? Can it be cured?

A—This is a form of pericarditis (inflammation of the fibrous sac surrounding the heart). It is caused by an infection, usually rheumatic fever. The inflamed surface of the sac becomes adherent to the heart.

United States, Britain and other maritime nations in the late 1950s proclaimed the strait to be an international waterway based on a World Court decision on the Straits of Corfu; U.N. troops blocked Egypt from enforcing the blockade. No real attempt was made to find a permanent solution.

and interferes with the heart's action. The victim becomes short of breath on exertion and has a bluish tinge to the skin. The abdominal cavity becomes filled with fluid. This is a serious disease.

Bed rest and water pills are prescribed to reduce the accumulation of fluid but when this does not suffice it is necessary to drain the fluid from the abdomen and sometimes from the pericardial sac. An operation to loosen the adhesions is successful in many victims who would otherwise die.

Many far-reaching changes in the rules of criminal evidence in this country have been made during recent years—not by the enactment of laws but through decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court. One of the most drastic of these changes resulted from a court ruling that a voluntary confession by a suspected criminal cannot be used against him when he is brought to trial.

This is a wild distortion of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which provides that no man "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." A majority of the Supreme Court has ruled that any police interrogation of a suspected criminal which elicits a confession of crime is the same as compelling the suspect to be a witness against himself. This ruling, as a dissenting Justice declared, "unjustifiably fetters legitimate police investigation."

So it does, but the supreme Court majority has shown repeatedly that it is less concerned with society's welfare than it is in imposing on the country its own ideas of how the suspected criminal shall be protected. Meanwhile, crimes of violence are increasing at a rate about four times as fast as the growth of population.

Sixteen U.S. Senators have introduced a joint resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to prohibit the Supreme Court or any lesser court from throwing out a conviction based on a voluntary confession. It is to be hoped the proposed amendment will be promptly approved by Congress and submitted to the states. The necessity for curbing the Supreme Court daily grows more imperative.

WAC Private Is Home on Leave

WAC, Pvt. Linda M. Moore is home on a few days leave visiting with her family. Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Moore, Vicki and Jerry, 1153 N. Starkweather, Ft. Moore, Mo. Moore, who completed basic training March 10 at Ft. McClelland, Ala., has just completed training at Ft. Gordon, Ga. in the communications center and has been chosen to stay at Ft. Gordon as an instructor. She was the only WAC from a class of 287 to be chosen for this duty.

A 1965 graduate of Pampa High School, Pvt. Moore attended West Texas State University for one year before entering the Women's Army Corps. While in basic training, she served as a squad leader of her platoon and was among the top 10 graduates from basic training school. She was also assigned to the flag detail at Ft. McClelland, which is the only post in the United States which permits WACs to perform in the base flag ceremony.

Upon completion of basic training, Pvt. Moore was awarded an E-2 rating based on leadership, ability, scholarship and outstanding personality. She has just recently received an E-3 rating.

Pvt. Moore plans to enter Officer Candidate School when she acquires additional college credits.

Upon her return to Ft. Gordon, she will receive a Communications Center Specialist rating as an instructor.

"I'm almost afraid to ask this, but what would you like to hear?"

"I would like to hear Sonny and Cher doing their latest hit arrangement of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony."

"Oh, you would, would you? Where have you been for the last 48 hours? In the woodwork? That record happens to be three days old."

"Well, my girl friends and I want to hear it anyway."

"I didn't know you were allowed to have radios in the juvenile detention home."

"We are high school students and we are at my house studying for a math test."

"You sound more like a kindergarden dropout. If you ever learn to dial the phone by yourself, call me again sometime."

WAC Private Is Home on Leave

WAC, Pvt. Linda M. Moore is home on a few days leave visiting with her family. Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Moore, Vicki and Jerry, 1153 N. Starkweather, Ft. Moore, Mo. Moore, who completed basic training March 10 at Ft. McClelland, Ala., has just completed training at Ft. Gordon, Ga. in the communications center and has been chosen to stay at Ft. Gordon as an instructor. She was the only WAC from a class of 287 to be chosen for this duty.

A 1965 graduate of Pampa High School, Pvt. Moore attended West Texas State University for one year before entering the Women's Army Corps. While in basic training, she served as a squad leader of her platoon and was among the top 10 graduates from basic training school. She was also assigned to the flag detail at Ft. McClelland, which is the only post in the United States which permits WACs to perform in the base flag ceremony.

Upon completion of basic training, Pvt. Moore was awarded an E-2 rating based on leadership, ability, scholarship and outstanding personality. She has just recently received an E-3 rating.

Pvt. Moore plans to enter Officer Candidate School when she acquires additional college credits.

Upon her return to Ft. Gordon, she will receive a Communications Center Specialist rating as an instructor.
