

Civil Rights Unrest Boiling into Violence at Negro Colleges

Editor's Note: Negro college students have formed the backbone of the civil rights movement since the sit-ins and "freedom rides" of the early 1960s. These demonstrations were off campus and directed at businesses and civil authority. Now a new unrest is boiling into violence at a number of Negro colleges in the South with school administrations as its principal targets.

South examined the situation. This is their report.

By O'NEIL HENDRICK
ATLANTA (UPI) — The Negro minister was pensive, his thoughts on the Texas College campus where Negro students had fought a pitched gun battle with police.

ago. You are now talking about war," said the Rev. Bill Lawson at Houston.

Benjamin Brown, 23, was fatally wounded at Jackson, Miss., last week when students at all-Negro Jackson State College charged police barricades on a street cutting through the campus.

It represents a new—and uneasy—turn in the racial situation in Dixie, which had become relatively quiet since the "Meredith march" in Mississippi last spring.

been off campus and directed against white businessmen and civil authority. Now, there is an added target: the administrators of Negro colleges. The new battleground is the campus.

ties — paternalism prevalent since their conception," said Jay Greene, a law student at Howard University in Washington.

Police Question TSU Students

HOUSTON (UPI) — Police today questioned 16 persons "more thoroughly for possible charges" resulting from a gunbattle at Texas Southern University in which students fired from dormitories, killing one policeman and wounding three other persons.

Five students at the predominantly Negro school were charged with felony rioting, punishable by up to 40 years imprisonment. But most of the nearly 600 persons arrested were freed on bond.

One of the five was also charged with burglary and carrying a pistol. Two of the five charged were still in jail.

Police set up a command post near the University Wednesday night after students milled about the campus. But there was no further trouble.

City officials and police sought to find out what caused the students to open fire, killing rookie patrolman Louis Kuba and wounding two other police.

Police said the arrest of a Negro youth by two policemen whose car was hit by a piece of watermelon may have set off the hour of violence early Wednesday in which a student also was shot.

Police also said they heard a recurring theme about the shooting of a boy. Actually, a white child, Kel Dean Carroll, 6, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Carroll of Houston, was accidentally wounded Tuesday by another youngster. But the rumor spread that he was a Negro child and that he had been killed by police.

Whatever it was, it culminated in a pitched battle between hundreds of policemen and hundreds of students at the predominantly Negro school.

That was the atmosphere when patrolman Raymond G. Blaylock, 37, and J. O. Norris

Search For Missing Boys Is Abandoned

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UPI) — Hope was nearly gone today. Hundreds of searchers had failed to turn up any trace of three boys missing since they embarked on a Mark Twain adventure more than a week ago.

The boys were believed dead — trapped underground or drowned in the river.

One by one would-be rescuers combed the myriad tunnels and caves that dot the dirt bluffs in and around this Mississippi River town. The search cost an estimated $1 million in man hours, supplies and equipment.

By today the hundreds of searchers had dwindled to little more than a dozen men. And they operated with no sense of urgency.

"There's no reason to hurry now," said geologist Gregory Yokum who directed the excavation of caves in which the boys — Joe Hoag, 13, his brother, William, 11, and Edwin Dowell, 14 — might have been trapped.

GUN BATTLE ON THE CAMPUS of predominantly Negro Texas Southern University took the life of one police officer and wounded two others and a student. More than 600 policemen stormed TSU dormitories and arrested about 500 in quelling the violence, said to have been triggered by arrest of a student.

Frenchmen Go Back to Work

PARIS (UPI) — Ten million Frenchmen went back to work today after a crippling one-day general strike protesting President Charles de Gaulle's bid for special powers. Parliament prepared for three days of heated political debate.

The strike, biggest in France in three decades, paralyzed heavy industry, slowed public transportation to a crawl, shut schools, and left tens of thousands of homes and businesses without gas and electricity for most of the day.

Labor leaders claimed more than 25 per cent of the workers in some industries heeded the call by France's four major unions for a show of unified opposition to Premier George Pompidou's bid to rule the country by decree on social and economic matters for the next six months.

Pompidou was scheduled to go before the National Assembly later today to explain the reasons why the special powers are needed and to appeal for support from within and without the Gaullist factions.

Hong Kong Rioters Threaten Governor

HONG KONG (UPI) — Hong Kong's Communist mobs, spurred on by a Peking demonstration by a reported million Chinese, today took their anti-British campaign to the residence of the colony's governor.

"Hang him!" they shouted of Gov. Sir David Trench. "Come out, Trench!"

The demonstrators were coolly but politely received by an aide to Trench, who solemnly accepted their petitions from behind a sign marked "protests."

About 300 chanting Chinese youths slipped Communist posters on the walls of Trench's books containing quotations of Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung.

The New China News Agency (NCNA) said a million Chinese marched past the office of the British charge d'affaires in Peking to protest police action during a week of savage Communist-led riots in Hong Kong.

'68 State Budget in Hands Of Senate Conference Committee

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The 1968 state budget today was in the hands of a House-Senate conference committee, where Lt. Gov. Preston Smith has all the control that Gov. John Connally tried to take away from him.

Despite an intense effort by Connally to make the Senate accept the $2.4-billion House budget, the Senate voted 21-9 to reject the House bill and appoint the traditional Appropriations Conference Committee.

Although Smith declined to claim a victory, Connally forces considered it a clear-cut defeat for them. As he has done all along, Smith maintained that it was not a political question, despite his plan to run for governor in 1968.

Connally's unsuccessful attempts to bypass Smith created considerable bitterness in the Senate.

U.S. Viet Deaths Pass 10,000

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces assaulted key American fortresses on the North-South Vietnam border today with one of their greatest rocket and mortar barrages of the war. It pushed American deaths in the Vietnam war to more than 10,000.

The death toll this far in Vietnam was higher than the combined total of Americans who fell in four wars—the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Mexican War and the Spanish-American War. The combined toll in the four earlier wars was 8,813.

U.S. spokesmen said a record rocket and mortar assault on Dong Ha, Marine headquarters base in the battle for the border, alone killed at least 11 Leathernecks and wounded 41.

From Jan. 1, 1961, through Saturday, a total of 9,916 Americans died in combat, American spokesmen said. Reported losses in the fight against five North Vietnamese divisions' units on the border and other action this week pushed the total killed over the 10,000 mark.

American commanders sent flights of jet fighter-bombers streaking over the border's Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and the North Vietnamese territory beyond, striking the Communist artillery units that bloodied the Leatherneck defense line.

Spokesmen said Dong Ha, seven miles south of the border, took at least 110 rocket rounds plus mortar shells. At the same time Communist gunners hit the Marine bastions of Gil Lnh, Camp Carroll and Cam Lo, strung out only two miles below the DMZ.

It was the third attempt by the Communists since April 28 to knock out the Leatherneck fortress chain.

Spokesmen said the U.S. jets dealt a severe blow to the Communist border buildup of artillery in Wednesday's raiding. Air Force and Marine F4 Phantoms and F105 Thunderchiefs slammed 500 pound bombs onto the Red guns. They reported destroying or damaging 11 artillery positions and wiping out 17 anti-aircraft sites.

F105 pilots reported finding one artillery battery hidden in a grove of trees just inside the DMZ northern boundary. Their fire touched off a massive orange fireball that rose 300 feet, spokesmen said.

Hungary Defector Strains Relations

U.S. Viet Deaths Pass 10,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hungary's top diplomat in the United States was a sophisticated, non-dogmatic Communist who was expected to become his country's ambassador to Washington and a key man in the bridge building between East and West. Today, he is a defector in seclusion and a new irritant in U.S.-Hungarian relations.

U.S. officials took pains not to exploit the propaganda possibilities of the defection to avoid aggravating Hungary's Communist regime.

Janos Radvanyi, Hungarian charge d'affaires in Washington, had been known here as a new-style Communist diplomat — one who could discuss touchy topics like Vietnam without using dogmatic phrases like "imperialist" or "genocide."

In a brief announcement Wednesday, the State Department said Radvanyi "has decided that he wishes to become a permanent resident of the United States."

It was the first defection to the West of a Communist envoy who headed a diplomatic mission. It followed the defection of Svetlana Alliluyeva, daughter of the late Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin, by only a few weeks.

The State Department said Radvanyi gave "personal reasons" as his grounds for requesting political asylum in a telephone call Tuesday.

"Our position will, of course, be in accord with the American tradition of extending refuge to those who seek it," the State Department said.

Radvanyi, who is 44, was in seclusion with his wife and young son at an undisclosed location in the Washington area today under the protection of U.S. officials.

Arab Republic Demands Removal Of UN Forces

CAIRO (UPI) — The United Arab Republic has demanded the withdrawal "as quickly as possible" of the United Nations peace-keeping forces from Egypt and the Gaza Strip on the tense Israeli border, Cairo Radio reported today.

The broadcast came as sabers rattled across the Middle East with rival Arab and Israeli armies rushing reinforcements into frontline positions.

The latest Middle East crisis blew up over alleged plans by Israel to launch aggression against Syria. The U.A.R., Jordan, Iraq, Lebanon and Kuwait have pledged to support Syria.

While tensions mounted, Foreign Minister Georges Hkim of Lebanon summoned U.S. Ambassador Dwight Porter to the Foreign Office this morning and told him the U.S. 6th Fleet is not welcome in Beirut at the present time.

(The U.A.R. has charged that the American fleet in the Mediterranean is actually a protective force for Israel.)

The radio said U.A.R. Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riyad sent a cable to Thant Wednesday night telling him the government had decided to terminate the presence of the U.N. emergency forces in the United Arab Republic and the Gaza strip.

"Please take necessary steps to withdraw these troops as quickly as possible," Cairo radio quoted the note to Thant as saying.

It quoted Riyad as saying the 3,400-man, seven-nation U.N. force in Egypt along the 117-mile Egypt-Israeli border was there only at the approval of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government. Riyad said its continued presence depended entirely on U.A.R. approval.

The cable to Thant "ended the presence of U.N. forces on the Egyptian frontier with Israel and in the Gaza strip," Cairo radio said.

Nasser Tuesday asked the U.N. peace-keeping force to withdraw to the Gaza strip, on the Mediterranean, in light of increasing tension. But today's order apparently sought to have them removed completely from the area.

Van Shoubrouek is president of the Pampa Shrine Association.

Work Will Start On Courty Annex

Remodeling work on the Gray County Courthouse annex is expected to start next week. Part of the office workers involved in the annex's $9,500 remodeling project are expected to have their offices cleared by Tuesday.

Within the next few days, personnel in the county school superintendent's office, and the agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office are expected to get ready for their move. Bert Nuckols, the school superintendent, will be moved from offices eight and nine to offices one and two.

The ASC offices, now in rooms 13, 14 and 15, will move to rooms seven, eight, and nine, and to two storage rooms, which will be converted into office space.

Soil Conservation work unit, now in rooms six and seven, will move to 13 and 14. Weights and measures of Highway Patrol now in office no. 2, will move to the Courthouse, third floor, where other highway patrol offices are located.

Office No. 15 will be converted into a utility room. State welfare office will remain where it is, in rooms three, four and five.

"By the time work is finished in July we'll have 16 offices instead of 15," County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. said. The low bid of $9,750, submitted by White House Lumber Co. of Pampa, was approved Monday by county commissioners. While annex offices are being reshuffled and remodeled, all other interior walls and ceilings will also be painted, Judge Lenning said. Since not all the $30,000 budgeted for remodeling was used, commissioners expect to let bids on remodeling the courthouse but first will have to get cost estimates from Merriman

Astrological Forecast

By CARROL L. RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you have a wonderful chance to get almost anything you want as well as see that those about you get their ambitions — by making the word "cooperation" your keyword for today and tonight when most everyone is more than usually willing to listen to what others have to say and help them get their desires.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Associates comprehend your ideas and will cooperate easily and quickly, but you must show you have a real interest at heart as well. Cannot better relations and future becomes brighter. Be clever.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — By really taking care of whatever is most valuable, like rare paintings, furniture, etc., you add to their value. Be sure privacy is safe. Show true friendship for those who labor by your side. Gratitude, alas.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Your newspaper is the best means through which you choose form of recreation you want later. Find right place that brings you greatest happiness. A charming companion will accompany you willingly.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Talk with your kin should be done to have greater security right now. Write your own plans, ideas. More generosity is necessary where a gift for money or love is concerned. Choose wisely, too.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Look for the right person who is most interested in having you get on in your regular work and you can join efforts wisely. Real prosperity is possible. Correspond, make out reports, etc. Keep busy and grow.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Doing whatever will give you a sufficient income so that you have no abundance and getting home immaculate is fine now. Give more attention to property, furnishings. Their value can be better appreciated.

LIBRA: (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — You are very dynamic and should see those who can extend favors, either in a personal or a business way. Sell what you do ideal. There are those personalities you have wanted to meet for some time within easy reach.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — You have every opportunity to get that investment done now in a most easy way. Arranging to work together with others is speedily handled and Romantic life is in a wonderful mood tonight. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Sociability is fine during the day and evening since there are in a most favorable mood. Know what it is you want to accomplish. Then it should be in a very methodical way. Drive when you can.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 31) — Discuss with higher-ups how you can become more successful in both personal and business matters. This is especially true if you are in political life. Glad about security and be pleased with others.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 31 to Feb. 19) — You can be inspired now through the kind support of love contacts in whatever may be your fate. Your closest tie will also give fine ideas. Be more broad-minded about everything for greater happiness, success.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Ideal day for handling all business, insurance, social securities, etc. Be sure to give loved ones the benefit of your suggestions and ideas. This could bring true harmony between you at long last.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those extremely charming youngsters that others will want to spend time from. The fact of this would be had. Teach early that whatever is earned by the sweat of the brow is the only lasting and enjoyable happiness. There is much wisdom and provision here and success can be considerable.

Area Delegates To Plan Airline Schedule Surveys

Two Pampa representatives attending an area meeting in Amarillo last night learned a survey will be made of all area towns to determine the type of airline schedules needed to provide better air transportation. Jimmie McCune and E. O. Wedgworth represented Pampa at the meeting called by Jim Eubank, head of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce transportation department. The 12 area representatives attending the session decided to meet again in June to make a definite plan for conducting the survey of present services and airline schedules from Amarillo.

Oil Allowable Set For June

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission today set the state's June oil allowable at 3,946,218 barrels daily, the same as the current maximum permissive crude production. Commission Chairman Jim Langdon said the regulatory body decided to hold the allowable at its present 33.8 per cent of potential production despite slight increases in nominations. "The Bureau of Mines estimate of demand for Texas crude is up 50,000 barrels and nominations are up 24,092 barrels daily," Langdon said. "But stocks on hand seem to be somewhat excessive at this time, and the commission decided to keep the production at its present 33.8 per cent," he said.

CoC Sets Deadline For Reservations To Noon Meeting

Pampa Chamber of Commerce officials will accept reservations until 10 a.m. Monday for the May membership luncheon scheduled for noon Monday in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room. Frank Patterson of Phoenix, Ariz., luncheon speaker, will conduct a sales training clinic here in June, sponsored by the CoC. Winning teams in the CoC membership roundup campaign will receive awards Monday.

High School Play Slated

Pampa High School drama students will present their prize-winning play, "A Company of Wayward Saints," at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the high school auditorium. The comedy, winner of the local, district and regional levels of University Interscholastic League competition, won second place on the state UIL level in 4-A this year.

FBI Agent Warns Of Crime Rate

"Our crime rate is increasing six times as rapidly as our explosive population," J. Gordon Shanklin cautioned Rotarians yesterday in the Coronado Inn. Shanklin of Dallas, is head of the north and eastern division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He spoke earlier in the day to the Pampa City Club. He said that we must combat this trend by developing more respect for law and order amongst our youngsters. He added that people would become better citizens if they became more involved in law and order. Club president Lee Fraser introduced Rotary scholarship winner, Robert Karr, to the membership. A high school senior, young Karr is vice-president of the National Honor Society, a member of the Key Club and participated on the Harvester basketball team.

Police Investigate House Burglary

Pampa police were investigating today the burglary of a residence at 804 1/2 N. Gray. Joe D. McMicheals, who lives at the address, told police Wednesday night that he and his wife had been visiting friends from about 7 until 11 p.m. McMicheals said upon their return, they found the front door had been kicked in and a half loaf of bread and four eggs were missing. A used 6:70 by 15 tire and wheel and a used muffler were also taken.

Unrest

(Continued From Page 1) they're getting," ventured Walter Jackson, a Negro senior at the University of North Carolina. It is linked with a "Communist effort to influence American youth," FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told a congressional committee. Black Power. It is the result, many southern white officials contend, of the "black power" preachings of Stokely Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). Whatever the reason, there is a fostering discontent on many Negro college campuses, in the North as well as the South. Howard sociology Prof. Nathan Hare, a black power leader, said Negro colleges have "awakened and next year will be the real test—the administrators will have to change." He said the "new blacks" at Negro colleges have lost faith in the old way of doing things and that administrators are from the "old generation."

In Two Words Always mentioned prominently in any conversation with southern authorities regarding the unrest are two words: Carmichael and Snick (SNCC). They note that Carmichael had made a series of appearances in Nashville and had given a speech the night of the Fisk uprising.

Democrats Hear County Attorney

Gray County attorney Don Cain, speaker recently for the Gray County Democratic Club meeting in the county annex, discussed the new Texas hot check law and his observations of the current political scene. Introduced by Harold Comer, club vice president, Cain said the political scene could be described as "fluid", that it was yet too early to comment on potential national, state or local candidates. Cain remarked Democrats need to remember their party has diverse interests, as is shown by the number of candidates in Democratic primaries, but Democrats should be able to reconcile differences and support the party's candidate before the general election in November, 1968. He stressed Democratic victory in November, 1968, depends on voter registration turnout and 1966 Republican gains were from the light voter turnout, particularly among Democrats. County officials attending the regular meeting were District Attorney Bill Waters, District Clerk Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson and Sheriff Rufe Jordan. Leroy McBride is club president.

School to Award Annual Honors

Pampa Junior High School students will receive scholastic and citizenship honors at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in the annual awards assembly. Awards will be given to the best boy and girl citizen, best boy and girl all-around student, three high-ranking students and several honor roll students, according to Paul Payne, principal. Cheerleaders and the mayor and vice mayor will be honored and the school will receive awards won by teams and individuals for the school. Two non-school sponsored awards for citizenship will be for a boy, from the Sons of the American Revolution. The Business and Professional Women's Club award is for a girl.

CLOSED SUNDAYS SO THAT OUR EMPLOYEES MAY ATTEND THE CHURCH OF

DEAR ABBY: My wife is 37 and is expecting her fourth child. We have two sons, 11 and 16, and a daughter, 12. My problem is something I hesitate to even discuss with her doctor, but the time is drawing near and I can't put it off any longer. My wife wants our children to witness the birth of her baby. She says our daughter should see what it is like to bring a life into the world, and it won't hurt the boys either.

I told her I didn't think the hospital would allow it, but she said if they didn't, she'd arrange to have her baby at home because she wants our children to learn the facts of life as they really are.

Have you or any of your readers ever heard of anything like this? Maybe I am wrong, but I can't go along with it. What should I do?

DEAR ABBY: I recently borrowed a glass flower vase from a friend. When I went to her house to return it she wasn't home, but her neighbor volunteered to see that she got it, so I left it with this neighbor. Well, the neighbor's little boy accidentally knocked it over and broke it. It can be replaced, but it is rather expensive, so I told this neighbor that I thought she should pay half and I would pay the other half, but she said she was only trying to do me a favor and she didn't see why she should pay anything. Who is responsible in this case?

DEAR NEVER: You are.

HER HUSBAND
DEAR HUSBAND: Ask your wife to tell her doctor about her plan and let HIM handle it. I am sure he will agree with you. With ideas such as this, I'm surprised your wife would surmise with the "birth." Why not the "conception"? It's preposterous.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently released from a mental hospital where I spent a year and a half. Now that I am out, my friends are driving me (if you will excuse the expression) "crazy," carefully avoiding every reference relating to mental illness.

If someone slips and says "nuts" or "crazy" he becomes so embarrassed, he embarrasses ME. Abby, I know I have been ill, and when others treat me as though I don't know where I've been, I feel as though maybe I should be back there again.

Here's a big thanks to a friend who recently said of me in the presence of other friends, "O, don't listen to her — she's crazy as a loon!" It made me feel that he really thought I was all right or he wouldn't have said it. I hope you print this for what it's worth.

OUT BUT NOT REALLY "IN"
DEAR OUT: If your experience left you with absolutely no sensitivity to remarks relating to mental illness, you are indeed an exception. However, I would not advise anyone to use the expression "crazy as a loon" or anything resembling it in the presence of one who had just spent a year and a half in a mental hospital.

Sauce Turns Plain Chops Into Wink-Quick Dinner

What's the focal point of any meal? The main dish, of course. And finding something different to do with the usual top-10 meats is always a problem. Once your meat dish is settled, it's easy to add a vegetable, salad, bread, and dessert.

The main course need no longer be a problem. For example, a new complete cooking sauce can turn plain pork chops into a superb main dish. The sauce contains sixteen ingredients — herbs, spices, mushrooms, red peppers, milk, and so on — especially blended to enhance the flavor of pork. You simply brown the chops, pour the sauce over the meat, cover and cook until done. This sauce is designed to cook with the MEAT for a subtle blending of flavors. It's not a sauce you add later.

- 1 cup cooked rice
- 2 tablespoons cut-up green pepper
- 2 tablespoons cut-up onion
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 can Compliment for Pork Chops...

Cut pork chops for stuffing. Mix rice, green pepper, onion, salt and poultry seasoning in a 2-quart bowl. Stuff chops. Brown chops in hot shortening in a 10-inch skillet. Put chops into a shallow 2-quart baking dish. Add Compliment. Cover. Bake in 350 oven (moderate) 45 minutes, or until tender. Serves six.

Mix confectioners' sugar and water to paste consistency and use to make commercial cake and cookie decorations stay put. If you like matched or coordinated instead of clashing colors in your wardrobe, bring items to be coordinated with you when shopping for new items. Check colors in daylight.

Excess salt in soups can be absorbed if a peeled potato is added and simmered briefly with the soups. Remove the potato before serving, if desired.

Make A Date With Honey Date Bread

Like to invite the neighborhood ladies in at the spur of the moment for Fancy-Dan luncheons? Well, try this elegant Honey Date Bread if you do. Prettied up with a topknot of icing, it's a delicious partner for fruit, vegetable or seafood luncheon salads. This is a moist bread, thanks to the delicate sweet-tasting honey that goes into it. It's rich, too, with the honey, walnuts and dark pieces of dates. And, does it taste good!

Even if making bread is new to you, don't hold back from attempting this honey loaf. It is a quick bread that goes together in no time at all, and what satisfaction you'll feel when the loaf is taken, fragrant and piping hot, from the oven. While the bread is baking, you can be readying a salad for your guests. A crisp bed of lettuce topped with fresh fruits or, perhaps, a colorful array of vegetables marinated in tasty sauces might be the answer. Or serve bowls of bite-sized pieces of lettuce, shrimp, hard-cooked egg, tomato and artichoke tossed in a zesty dressing.

Honey helps to add that special taste to foods that makes everyone sit up and take notice of an otherwise simple dish; so use it often and with a generous hand. And while you're at it, better make two Honey Date Bread loaves. Dad and the children will want their share come dinner time, served either as bread with the main dish or as dessert.

HONEY DATE BREAD

- 1½ cups chopped dates (½ pound)
- ½ cup sugar
- 1-3 cup honey
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup boiling water
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 beaten egg
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine first 5 ingredients; cool thoroughly. Sift together the dry ingredients. Add egg to cooled mixture. Stir in dry ingredients only enough to mix well. Stir in walnuts. Bake in a well-greased 8½ x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan at 350 degrees for 55 to 60 minutes or until loaf tests done. Remove from pan onto a wire rack. Spoon Honey Icing down center of bread and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons graded orange rind. Makes 1 loaf.

Honey Icing: Blend ¼ cup confectioners' sugar with 2 tablespoons honey.

Covered Chuckwagon Chicken

High food prices got you down? Plan a delicious barbecue meal around the king of the economy meats — chicken.

Chuckwagon Chicken moves the entire meal out of milady's kitchen and into the backyard where the man of the house can display his culinary skills. The secret of his success, even if he is an amateur chef, is indirect cooking by the reflected heat of a covered barbecue kettle. He will turn out perfect covered Chuckwagon Chicken every time, not to mention his covered rib roast, leg of lamb, or even suckling pig, when budget permits such gourmand indulgence.

Chuckwagon Chicken

- Whole broiler-fryer chickens, 2½ to 3 pounds each (Allow 1½ pounds for each adult)
- Peanut oil
- Sherry wine
- Melted butter
- Frozen whole kernel corn
- Large Bermuda onion
- Idaho baking potatoes

Select plump, whole chickens, trying for uniform weight. Allow chickens to reach room temperature and rub well with peanut oil, salt and pepper inside and out. Into the cavity of each chicken place equal parts of melted butter and sherry wine. Place 25 charcoal briquettes to each side of the lower grill in the covered kettle. In the center place an aluminum foil drip pan, open vent dampers of kettle, and start the briquettes. Wait until the coals are gray before placing food on grill.

Select several large Bermuda onions, peel off outer skin, trim tops and bottoms, deeply dice ends, salt and pepper, and add a cube of butter on top of each onion. Wrap securely in aluminum foil and place around the edges of the upper grill together with foil wrapped Idaho baking potatoes and foil wrapped frozen whole kernel corn.

Position chickens near center of grill directly over drip pan, put on kettle cover and start to cook. Allow 1 hour 45 minutes cooking time; after one hour add eight briquettes to each side of lower grill. Twenty minutes before chickens are done, baste with remainder of melted butter and sherry wine.

Don't Throw Out Old Iron Utensils

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have an old iron Dutch oven which I use a great deal. But someone told me ironware is not safe to cook in. Is that true?

A—No. Well-wrapped, wonderfully clean food, cooked in plastic bags or nonmetallic pots has its advantages. But it has disadvantages, too, according to Dr. Philip L. White, secretary of the Council of Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

"Iron cookware, once a tradition, is rapidly disappearing from the American scene. Disappearing along with it is a rich source of dietary iron. A large amount of very desirable iron is dissolved when acid foods are cooked in ironware. The available iron in food can increase by as much as 100 to 400 per cent. This is of considerable significance to children and women with a high requirement for iron," Dr. White states in April issue of Today's Health.

Q—When a recipe calls for one cup of eggs, how many eggs does that mean?

A—It depends on the size of eggs you use. It takes 4 extra large, 4 large, 5 mediums, and 6 smalls to fill an 8-ounce measuring cup. If you want whites only, you'll need 6 extra large, 7 large, 8 medium and 9 small. For yolks only, use 12 extra large, 14 large, 17 medium and 19 small.

Top cup cakes with marshmallow. Ten minutes before the cup cakes finished baking, place a marshmallow on top of each; when finished baking, the cakes have a tasty "icing."

Hot tea, when poured into a glass with ice, to make iced tea, is less apt to crack the glass if the metal spoon is in the container.

PAPAL STATUE LISBON (UPI)—A bronze statue of Pope Paul VI will be erected at the Fatima shrine to commemorate the pontiff's visit there last week, church sources said Wednesday. The cost of the statue will be raised by public subscription, the sources said.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Moody's Investors Service says the recent stock market advance apparently was based on optimism concerning the resurgence of the economy. Now that certain statistics seem to indicate a slower rate of growth, the analyst says, price levels seem to have "outrun fundamentals, creating a 'credibility gap,' and the stock market must now adjust to a more modified set of expectations.

Bache & Co. says the stock market now is poised above the 875-880 level of the Dow Jones industrial average, which is considered a strong support area during any decline. The company feels the market's ability to remain above this area will provide an important clue to the near term outlook for the market.

Sylvan Epstein of Thomson & McKinnon says another week or two of consolidation of recent gains could lend enough strength to the stock market to launch a possible advance to around the 940 level on the Dow Jones industrial average.

You, Your Child And School

By DAVID NYDICK
—UPI Education Specialist
How long are you going to continue avoiding the role of leadership with your children? Too often parents overdo being democratic. They think being good parents is allowing children to do anything they please.
Nothing could be further from the truth. Children are not prepared to make completely independent judgments. They need guidance, direction and control. There is a need for parents to use good common sense in their desires to be democratic.
Proper standards have to be set based upon the child's age, understanding and ability. The three year old is not ready to make a choice as to whether or not he needs a bath. The thirteen year old should be involved in planning his weekly schedule of activities but he still needs guidance. The eighteen year old should be ready to decide his own bedtime. This does not mean a parent should keep quiet when the decision is wrong. There is still a responsibility to set limits when the child's decisions are leading towards problems.
Perhaps the best way to look at a parent's role is to remember that children are human beings who can learn from mistakes but can also be hurt by mistakes. If a young child wants to run in the street before he understands the dangers of an automobile, that child should not be given the freedom to make his own decision. In the same way a young teen-ager is not ready for an unsupervised date. An older teen-ager may be ready to be unsupervised but the parent still has a responsibility to know where the child is and what he is doing.
No one can say the job of bringing up children is easy. There are no perfect rules which will work or are even correct for all children. All the advice given must be adjusted for the particular child and the particular parents. No one is perfect nor should perfection be expected. All it takes is reasonable understanding and judgment. Parents should maintain their responsibility for leadership. Control is a part of this leadership which may be relaxed as the particular situation requires.

Sparma Gunning in AL

By United Press International
In 1965 Joe Sparma was pegged as the new "Yankee Killer" and now he seems ready to run down the entire American League.

Sparma, who took over Frank Lary's mastery of the Yankees when he won his first four decisions against them as a rookie, isn't playing any favorites this year.

The 25-year-old righthander turned back the Washington Senators 8-1 on just three hits Wednesday night as he registered his fourth straight victory of the season. Sparma, who has been the Tigers stopper so far this year, broke a three game Detroit losing streak. He had, snapped a two game losing skein earlier in the season for the second place club.

Elsewhere in the American League Cleveland outslugged New York 8-7, Baltimore bombed Boston 12-8, Chicago squeezed by Minnesota 5-4 and California drubbed Kansas City 7-3.

Sparma, who struck out 10 and walked only three, allowed two of his three hits to Fred Valentine, one a homer in the fourth to account for the only Senator run.

Leon Wagner's grand slam homer in the second inning carried the Indians past the Yankees. Fred Whitfield added the final two runs for Cleveland with his 22nd lifetime homer against New York in the fifth.

The Yankees erupted for five runs of their own in the seventh inning when Tom Tresh belted his third homer of the year and Mickey Mantle followed with his 501st career home run. Joe Pepitone had driven in the first two Yankee runs with a second inning homer.

The Orioles smashed four home runs in a nine run seventh inning in their slugfest with Boston. Andy Etchebarre Boog Powell, Sam Bowers and Dave Johnson all connected for the distance in the outburst.

Three earlier home runs by Paul Blair and Frank and Brooks Robinson combined to set a club home run record.

Carl Yastrzemski belted two homers for the Red Sox and Don Dameter added one. All but two of the 20 runs scored in the game resulted from the home runs.

Joel Horlen got relief help

from Bob Locker in the eighth inning and was aided by a three-run triple by rookie catcher Duane Josephson as he picked up his fifth straight victory for the White Sox.

Horlen got into trouble in the eighth when Harmon Killebrew homered and Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles singled. Locker permitted the final Twin run to score on Ted Uhlaender's in-field ground out before saving the win.

Jim Kaat took his fifth loss of the season against one win after winning 25 last year.

Rick Reichardt hit his third homer of the year and Don Mincher added three hits to give Jack Sanford his second victory in four decisions as the Angels whipped the A's. Reichardt's two-run shot came in the third to give the Angels a 3-0 lead. Mincher drove in a run with a single in the first and knocked in another with a triple in the sixth.

TRACK STARS WARNED

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Good Attitude Is Going for Cincy

By United Press International
The Cincinnati Reds, a team which finally learned how to play without Frank Robinson, now look like a club destined to play against him.

The Reds, shaken a year ago by the trade that sent Robinson to Baltimore, slumped to seventh place even though they'd been rated a pennant contender.

Picked to go no-where this season, Cincinnati is suddenly playing like a team fated to go against Robinson's world-champion Orioles in the World Series. In fact, the Reds now seem like a better bet to make it than the Orioles, who are struggling in the American League's second division.

The Reds completed a three-game sweep of the Pittsburgh Pirates—the winter book favorites for the National League pennant — by a 3-1 score Wednesday night. It maintained the Reds' four-game lead over second place St. Louis and stretched their margin to five games over the Pirates.

Bad Attitude

Explaining the Reds' collapse last season, centerfielder Vada Pinson remembers, "We started last season wondering who was going to replace Frank and then other question marks started popping up. We just had a bad attitude in the first half of the season, there was too much fussing and too much dissension."

Pinson added, "the guys seemed to be playing for themselves instead of for the team."

Summing up the new attitude on the team, Pete Rose claims, "we're a 25-man team now."

The Reds are so strong that manager Dave Bristol, who replaced Don Hefner last year, hasn't been bothered by the loss of two starters by injuries. Deron Johnson and Tommy Helms, Tony Perez has moved to third in place of Johnson and Lee May has taken over first. And Chico Ruiz is filling in for Helms at second.

Other Scores

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 3-2, Atlanta nipped New York 4-3, Los Angeles blanked Houston 7-0 and San Francisco turned back Chicago 4-2.

Sammy Ellis, a major disappointment last year when he lost 19 games, scattered nine hits to pick up his fourth victory of the season for the Reds. A walk to Rose and singles by Shamsky and Perez gave the Reds their first run in the first and Ruiz scored the deciding run in the third on Rosa's groundout.

Joe Torre led off the ninth inning with his ninth homer of the season to break a 3-3 tie and give Atlanta the triumph over the Met's Tom Seaver. Hank Aaron and Denis Menke also homered for the Braves.

Homer Wins It

Pinch-hitter Tim McCarver led off the ninth with his third homer of the year to snap a 2-2 tie and hand St. Louis its victory over the Phils. The Cards had tied the game with single runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Tito Fuentes, batting .153, doubled in a pair of sixth inning runs that gave the Giants the victory over the Cubs. Frank Pinzy pitched 2-2-3 innings of shutout relief to save Mike McCormick's win.

Don Sutton pitched a six-hit shutout for his first victory of the year as the Dodgers whipped the Astros. Jim LeFebvre doubled in two runs off loser Mike Cuellar to highlight a three-run first inning.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Billy Casper, owner of last year's fattest bankroll among the touring pros but dragging his heels this year, feels the time has come to make his move in the $115,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament opening today.

"I'm starting to hit the ball good again," the once roly-poly Casper said. "It's about time some of those putts started dropping again."

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Is LBJ Hiding Truth of Red Gains?

There seems to be conclusive evidence that Cuba's Fidel Castro is exporting subversion right and left in South American countries and with a measure of success.

Trouble is, everybody seems to know it but those people in a position to do something about the situation. Like President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and a few others in authority in Washington.

However, in all probability, LBJ and Co. get a daily running account of what is going on South of the Border, but choose not to recognize the danger in public utterances. It's been a long time since the President has had anything to say about Castro and his mischief makers. Maybe he's trying to wish him away.

This business of ignoring the Russian satellite stronghold 93 miles off the coast of Florida won't get rid of it and a lot of people are in a quandary about the President's silence on the matter. As a matter of fact, LBJ's policy doesn't make much sense. Here we are fighting a war against Communism 15,000 miles from home on the other side of the world and look the other way while a bearded little revolutionary mobilizes forces in our back yard to communize the Western Hemisphere. Not many Americans understand that kind of thinking.

The policy of the United States toward Cuba since the Cuban missile crisis in 1962 has been unclear. Probably muddled would be a better word in this instance. President Kennedy announced after his confrontation with Nikita Khrushchev that the Russians would dismantle their missile bases on the islands and Castro would cease and desist forthwith and refrain from exporting subversion. But it did not turn out as announced. Last word we had was that Russian missile bases dot the island and the exportation of subversion has been stepped up manifold.

Also at the time there was a persistent report that Kennedy and Khrushchev had made a secret agreement under which the United States was to pursue a hands-off policy toward Cuba. In retrospect, the Kennedy - Johnson policy of ignoring Castro would seem to lend credence to the report.

British Paper On Vietnam

Our British allies in other wars have been criticized soundly in this country for their "we'll sit this one out" attitude toward our war in Vietnam while all the time shipping strategic supplies to our North Viet enemies.

Under these circumstances, it's interesting to know how they regard our bombing of Hanoi and other targets in the North. Surprisingly, one such opinion is a lot more moderate and makes more common sense than those expressed by a lot of United States "doves" in and out of the government.

Here's what the London Daily Telegraph had to say on the matter in a recent editorial, titled "Where The Blame Lies": Military installations in North Vietnam have been bombed by the Americans; there is no controversy about this. Have civilians been killed and wounded? The Americans may have believed not; they may have taken every conceivable precaution against it.

"Yet, alas, military targets and civilian residential areas may be inextricably mingled. Even where they can be distinguished, human or technical error remains possible. On a more profound level, it is legitimate to doubt whether in modern warfare, which Hanoi is wilyly waging, a firm line can be drawn between military and civilian activities at all.

"In view of all this, the Americans are surely wise to withdraw from untenable assertions that their quarrel with North Vietnam can be conducted in a humane way by ensuring Henry J. Taylor, writing in Human Events of May 13, said LBJ and other chiefs of state were warned of the invasion of South American countries by Castro agents at the recent Punta del Este conference. Still no comment from our President. Funny, isn't it?

Here are excerpts from the Taylor article: "Venezuelan President Raul Leoni reported that the Soviet has increased its financing of the Castro subversion organization, the General Directorate of Intelligence (DGI), expanding it to 43 training camps. These supply complete courses in sabotage, political action, street demonstration techniques and urban guerrilla methods.

"President Leoni also reported on the recent assassination of Julio Iribarren, the brother of Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ignacio Iribarren and former director of Social Security. He offered the report of Interior Minister Reinolda Mora:

"The subversion springs directly from the recent Tricontinental Solidarity Conference (Red delegations from 83 Afro-Asian - Latin - American countries) in Havana. Julio Iribarren was cruelly tortured before being shot and pamphlets of the 'National Liberation Front of Venezuela' covered his body, the standard intimidation signal in Castro's terror strategy."

Bolivia's president said famous Castroite French Communist Jules Regis Debray commands the guerrillas in the terrorized Yacunday district.

Colombia President Carlos Lleras Restrepo estimated that thousands of Cuban-backed infiltrators in the universities, cultural centers, communications media, transport facilities and labor unions. He had been forced to declare martial law and to arrest Red leader Gilberto Vleyra. Colombia police actually discovered clandestine arms being made in Colombia's ministry of public works.

Guatemala Vice President Clemente Marroquin Roja's message was: "Guatemala could be next to fall. We have been in a state of siege for nine months, with no end in sight."

When are we going to get the true Cuban story from our own government?

There who is not directly and actively involved against them. "With this withdrawal the facts become clearer and more credible. The moral issues, however, remain to be discussed. "If war is evil, the bombing, which is part of war, must be evil, too; so also, incidentally, must be the terrorism of the Viet Cong. Yet, if there can be just wars there can also be just bombing - at least if bombing can ever be shown to hasten victory of the just.

"Whether it can ever do so is a technical question - a question on which, it must be admitted, the technicians have often been wrong. Yet if in this case the American technicians are right (and they have all the knowledge of past errors to guide them) then bombing will have been justified as having hastened the return of peace. Is this not to be desired?

"Surely it is; but it is still legitimate to ask why innocent people should suffer for a good end. The answer is perhaps a harsh one: that those who actively support a passive acquiescence in the aggressive aims of the North Vietnamese government cannot be considered wholly innocent until these aims have been abandoned; or can the retribution which they arguably deserve be confined, unfortunately to them alone.

"The North Vietnamese government put its citizens at stake; those who, support it and their loved ones, their wives and families, at stake. Doubtless, like the Nazis before them (the comparison need be taken no further), they hoped to con-

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

To Young People: The beats and zens, "peace-niks" and hippies, bitterly complain about "the world we never made." Poor dears. Too bad they don't have the chance in life Abraham Lincoln, Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and George Washington Carver had.

Why does anybody owe you an education, security or anything else, except a chance? Life is not a cafeteria. Too many American youngsters get everything and give nothing. American teenagers have more cars, motorcycles, TV sets, stereos, amplified guitars, discontentment and crime than do all other teenagers in the world combined. The teenagers' main problems are too much too soon, permissive and submissive parents, privileges without responsibility.

Neither your parents nor government owe you entertainment or a living. You owe your parents and your country something.

Your parents should do nothing for you which you can do for yourself. The federal government should do nothing for us which the state or local government can do as well or better - and that includes practically everything. No government should do anything for us which can be done as well or better by private organizations and individuals - and that too includes practically everything.

"But there are no more frontiers!" some exclaim. An open mind is a frontier. Obstacles exist to be overcome. Your opportunity today is unlimited (except by government). Eighty percent of the world's knowledge is only ten years old and doubles every ten years. Of all scientists since Aristotle, nine out of ten are living today.

Nobody "has everything" and nobody "has it made." Keeping it is harder than getting it, and continuing to enjoy it is harder still. Nobody is invincible. "There never was a horse that couldn't be rode, and there never was a rider who couldn't be thrown."

Believe in faith not fate. Faith separates the enthusiast from the cynic. Enthusiasm is one of the greatest passports to success. Don't keep your cool when you should be warm.

As any failure can tell you, success is just a matter of luck. Calvin Coolidge said, "Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent; unwarred genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts."

"It's not what you know but who you know!" say the cynics. Right! And the most important person you could possibly know is Jesus Christ.

John Morley said, "The great business of life is to be, to do, to do without and to depart." And let us add, to live again.

Probably the most difficult task of business today is to find, not college degrees, but people who want to give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay; to find people who ask "what can I do for you?" instead of "what can you do for me?" To find people who ask "what's the opportunity?" instead of "what's the security?"

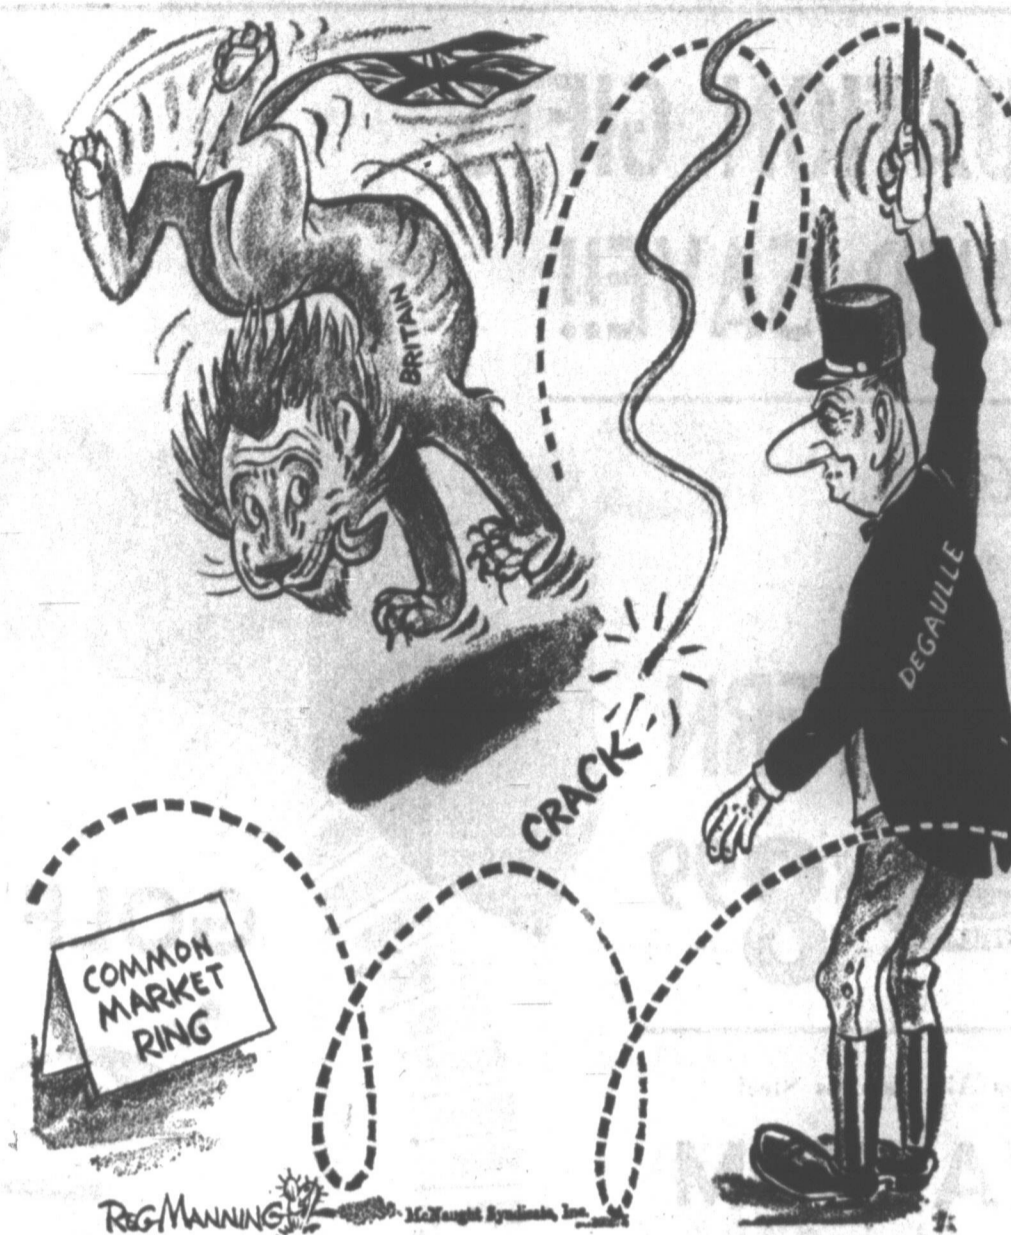

People, like ships, arrive at the ports to which they chart their courses. But only about one person in twenty even bothers to chart a course. That's like playing a football game without any goal lines. If money, position and government are your only hope for independence, you will never have it. The only real security is inside you.

God could have made man secure. Instead, He made man free. Freedom is not free. It's not even cheap. Throughout history the greatest enemy of man has been government. Men fought, bled and died for centuries for freedom - God-given, individual freedom. You may have to do the same. The time to be a pacifist is behind the wheel. More Americans are killed on our highways every year than have ever been killed in any war.

Tom Anderson
quar bloodlessly, by bluff alone. Alas, their bluff was called as Hitler's was, and irresponsible aggression must face its nemesis.

"This is sincerely deplorable; but let us be clear that the blame for the shedding of innocent blood lies not in Washington but in Hanoi."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

The name "candy" derives from the Persian word "kandisafid," which in that ancient language meant sugar. Incidentally, candy makers have a language all their own. Square chocolates are called caramels; oblongs are nougats; and round pieces, are called creams. The swirly script on chocolates was not put there for ornamentation. That's the way the candy maker identifies his products. "P" means peppermint, "R" stands for raspberry, "C" for chocolate and "V" for vanilla. Notice the swirly ornamentations the next time you open a box of candy.

Today's smile: A fellow reminded his boss that when he's hired the boss promised him a raise every year. The boss said: "Well, I did promise you a raise every year, didn't I?"

At this late date we learn that in the original version of Cinderella the slipper was not made of glass. It seems that in its transition from the French to the word "verre" meaning glass, was mistaken for another word. That means that millions of kiddies grew up believing that Cinderella wore a glass slipper to the ball. Incidentally, we never quite understood how Cindy could trip the light fantastic in a glass slipper anyway. We hope this debunking of childhood tales won't be carried to the extreme where little Jack Horner will flee from his corner or Little Miss Muffet will forsake her curds and whey.

Thoughts while shaving: Performing our do-it-yourself chores around the house we found that we wear out the righthand work glove much faster than the left glove, simply because we happen to be right-handed. Sort of makes us wonder why the work glove manufacturers don't turn out gloves in sets of three instead of the traditional pair. We think two righthand gloves and a single left would see fellows like ourselves through a summer of gardening and putting. The latest thing in fire extinguishers is an automatic sprinkler system that turns itself off after soaking a blaze. That's progress, but we are waiting for one that will put a fire out before it gets started. The silly season is with us once more. A New York restaurant reserves a table each noon for the British Prime Minister, who dines about 3,000 miles away. They keep hoping he'll drop in, but it's a safe bet he won't. Although the historical odds are against Vice-Presidents like Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon making the White House on their own, it was interesting to note the nation's newspaper editors at their recent Washington conclave picked Nixon as the next Republican nominee. If hard work and diligence are the prime requisites for gaining the nomination, you must agree that Nixon deserves it. He's never stopped running. Latest figures show that despite heavy

Two Senate Leaders, Ethics Committee Urge Action "Unmistakably" Condemning Purling of Dodd Documents

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON - One aspect of the Dodd case is due to get a lot more caustic attention in the Senate's impending consideration of the Ethics Committee's censure recommendation than has been accorded in published and broadcast accounts.

This is the extraordinary action of the four dismissed Dodd employees in rifling and leaking thousands of documents from his files.

The Ethics Committee's severe condemnation of this "reprehensible" conduct has been either completely ignored or only passingy referred to. In almost all instances, the heavy emphasis has been on the censure pronouncement.

But two top Senate leaders intend to do quite a bit of talking about the curiously disregarded denunciation of the four one-time Dodd employees. Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and Democratic Whip Russell Long, La., propose to discuss at length the background and operations of the two men and two women.

Because of the singular musing of the coverage of them, it is not generally realized that the Ethics Committee issued what is in effect a separate report and findings on them.

Titled "Supplement: Unauthorized Removal of Documents from Senator Dodd's Office," this report castigates the four employees as harshly as Dodd in the main judgment. The committee also directed that their antics be submitted to the Justice Department for possible legal action.

Following are the committee's little-known stern findings: "While the committee recognizes the duty of every senator, or officer or employee of the Senate, to report wrongdoing to the responsible authorities, the committee believes that the unauthorized removal of papers from a senator's office by employees and former employees is reprehensible and constitutes a breach of the relationship of trust between a senator and his staff, is an invasion of what must be considered privileged communications between a senator and his correspondents, and is a threat to the orderly conduct of business of a public office.

"Since the subject employees warnings three out of every 10 women and six out of every 10 men in the U.S. smoke cigarettes regularly. About one man in five smokes cigars and one in six smokes a pipe.

Bland Diet Helpful As Gastroenteritis Control

Q-What is gastroenteritis? What is its cause and cure?

A-This is an inflammation of the stomach (gastritis) and intestines (enteritis). The chief symptoms are vomiting and diarrhea. It may be caused by laxatives, irritating foods, excessive intake of alcohol, various types of food poisoning and infections of the digestive tract. The treatment would be to remove the cause. You should eat a bland diet until the acute phase has subsided.

Q-What are the symptoms of gastric cancer? What is the treatment?

A-The symptoms are varied. Unfortunately, the disease may progress to a fairly advanced stage without causing any symptoms. In some victims there may be a mild distress or feeling of heaviness in the pit of the stomach but this is by no means diagnostic of stomach cancer. If the tumor obstructs the outlet of the stomach there will be nausea and vomiting. When the disease is discovered, and the diagnosis is certain, the only effective treatment is removal of the stomach.

Q-My husband has stomach spasms. What would cause them?

A-If by stomach spasms you mean attacks of colicky pain in the abdomen, the most likely cause is colitis. The cause is usually a combination of irritating foods, laxatives and nervous tension.

Q-I have been taking drops of hydrochloric acid with each meal for 12 years. Is it necessary to take these drops when I eat tomatoes or citrus fruits?

A-The acid in the foods you mentioned (citric acid) does not aid in the digestion of your food. Hydrochloric acid, although not essential to digestion, is an aid and apparently helpful to some persons whose stomachs do not produce this acid in sufficient quantity.

Q-Is it more common for a person who is nervous and high-strung to have a sour stomach than a person who is calm and collected?

A-A sour stomach is usually the result of eating too fast, getting an excess of greasy foods or the presence of a peptic ulcer. Nervous tension is definitely a contributory cause.

Q-I have such a nervous stomach that whenever I am invited out for dinner I can't eat a thing even though I'm hungry. Is there anything I can do for this?

A-Nervous loss of appetite is mittee to pass on the question of the legality of what they did, but this was sidestepped and put in the hands of the Justice Department.

The committee is also split on how far to go in the ethics code in requiring a personal financial accounting from all senators.

Some members want to make such a statement mandatory once a year by both senators and their wives. Others favor putting it on a voluntary basis and covering only senators. There is also sentiment this should be dealt with by a law for all members of Congress with penalties for violation—and not in a toothless code of ethics.

PREDICTIONS - President Johnson's once much-touted bill to promote East-West trade is dead as far as this session of Congress is concerned. It has not got a chance of being passed - or even considered by either the House or Senate. The President knows that, because he has been told it bluntly by both Democratic and Republican leaders. . . Dr. James Shamon, long-time director of the world-famed National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., will retire this year. He built the Institutes into the largest and most renowned medical research center in the world. His successor is already being sought. . . Former Governor Orval Faubus will run against Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., next year. Faubus, re-elected six times, will oppose Fulbright on the Vietnam issue. Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is a leading Vietnam critic and increasingly bitter toward the Johnson Administration on other matters. . . The Sixth U.S. Fleet will not make its regular semi-annual visit to Beirut. Because of powerful backstage pressure from UAR dictator Gamal Nasser and his satellite regime in Syria, the Lebanese government has quietly asked Washington to cancel the Beirut trip scheduled for May 25-26.

fairly common. It may help you to take a tranquilizer before you go to a dinner party. If this doesn't work, you should have some form of psychiatric treatment.

H. L. Hunt Writes

IT'S OUR FLAG

Not long ago an American Flag was publicly burned in New York City during a so-called peace march. More recently, a professor at a college in Indiana burned a Flag before his students. Pictures have appeared in newspapers and on television screens showing individuals kicking or otherwise desecrating the United States Flag.

The vast majority of Americans undoubtedly are shocked and saddened, disgusted and angered by these incidents. Most will agree wholeheartedly that such incidents must not be allowed to continue. The American Flag is the symbol of our Republic. It is deserving of great respect by all who call themselves Americans.

Our nation rightly is proud that the Constitution lays down the right of free speech and free assembly. These are among the rights characterized as inalienable by the Founders of Freedom in the United States. But these rights do not include the right of anyone to desecrate our National Banner.

At present there is, strangely enough, no national law providing punishment for the offense. That lack can be remedied. A number of Congressmen have introduced legislation to protect the Flag. Committee hearings on these bills will be held in the near future. It is to be hoped that the committee will report favorably on a measure to provide fitting punishment for those who desecrate the Stars and Stripes - and that favorable action by the whole Congress will follow shortly.

Any American has a right to disagree with a government policy. No American has a right to trample upon or otherwise profane the Flag of the United States.

THE FRUITS OF LABOR LEGISLATION

Many years ago, Congress passed a law, the National Labor Relations Act, that changed a union member into a privileged person. Henceforth, it was possible for employees to walk off their jobs without losing their employment status.

Instead of the employer being faced with the choice between hiring new employees or waiting out a settlement with the old ones, he now had to continue to deal with the employees - whether he wanted to or not. He had to meet with union representatives on a prescribed basis, he had to abide by dictates of the National Labor Relations Board. In effect, he no longer owned his company.

None of the suppliers of his materials, services, parts, etc. can deal with the businessman on such a privileged basis. But the union leaders can.

As a result of this, we have seen a tremendous amount of power settle in the hands of union leaders. Some alarmed observers call for unions to be restricted by anti-trust legislation and other new laws; when, truly, the only requirement is that their privileged status be revoked.

A symptom of the problem is revealed in Sylvester Petros new book "The Kingsport Strike" (published in Arlington House, 51 Centre Ave., New Rochelle, N. Y.; $5.00). In this dramatic account, the author describes the three-year old strike from all sides. Petro, a renowned expert on labor law, researched the strike as a reporter, rather than an academicalian.

The Kingsport Strike contains all the familiar elements - mass picketing, name-calling, "scabs," etc., and Petro does an excellent job of narrating the excitement. It is a good case history in present-day labor complications.

But one is brought back continually to the realization that such things would not happen if Congress had not passed that law.

LOVE TRAGEDY
BRISTOL, England (UPI) — Someone looked into the crashed car and said, "she's dead."
The woman's husband, Colin Iles, 23, heard the remark. He staggered from the car, went home and shot himself to death, police said today.
But his wife, Carol, 22, was not dead. She only had been knocked unconscious in the Tuesday crash and suffered a broken leg.

Mrs. Iles mother said the couple had been "like love birds."
Police said they were investigating the incident to see if the remark about Mrs. Iles was made with malice.

Foreign News Commentary

By JOHN LAWTON
United Press International
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syria's near-Marxist regime is in a bitter struggle with the country's powerful religious hierarchy and merchant class. It could seriously weaken the country.

The government charges that the current crisis convulsing Syria is the work of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), conservative Jordan, equally conservative Saudi Arabia and Syria's perennial enemy, Israel.

The crisis has much deeper causes.

Ever since the Baathist party seized power in March, 1963, its socialist policies have been resisted by the country's religious leaders and merchants.

Sought Holy War
In April, 1964, bearded religious leaders barricaded themselves inside mosques at Hama in central Syria and called for a "holy war" against the then regime of Lt. Gen. Amin Hafez.

Hafez's troops shelled the mosques, crushing the revolt. But five months later, fresh trouble broke out between Baathists and the ulama (Moslem clergymen) in Damascus.

The policies of the present rulers, who ousted and jailed Hafez in a bloody inter-party coup 15 months ago, are far more extreme than those of their predecessor.

The current government has brought a closer cooperation with Moscow, systematic elimination of the "middle class" type of official, and a sort of "Red Guard" militia of workers.

An article attacking religion sparked the present crisis.

Denies Knowledge
The government denies all knowledge of the article which it claims was "planted" by the CIA in a weekly newspaper of another of its para-military organizations, "The Peoples' Liberation Army."

It is difficult to believe, however, that the article could have appeared in the government controlled publication without the regime's blessing.

Several of the country's leading religious leaders have been jailed for calling for demonstrations and strikes to protest the article and the businesses of 70 prominent merchants in Damascus, Aleppo and Duma seized because the owners went on strike.

By openly declaring war on religion, Syria's rulers may have lost—or could lose shortly—the little sympathy which their deeply religious subjects have for them.
