Students Granted Awards to Attend Music, Art Camps

Midwestern Music and Art Camp officials have recognized eight Pampa students by awarding them scholarships to attend the camp, June 18-July 30, at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kans.

Richard Louis Tarrant, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Tarrant, 1000 Huff Rd., has received a $200 scholarship to attend the camp's music section.

He has also been named to attend a Youth Seminar in Tulsa, Okla., June 9-11, at the Oral Roberts University campus.

Tarrant plans to attend West Texas State University this fall and major in aerospace engineering.

He played baritone in Pampa High School band and made all-state band in the Texas Music Educators' Association contest this year.

Others planning to attend the music camp are Andy Wilks, winner of a $150 scholarship; Judy Stephens, $125, and Danny Fennell, about $90.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stephens, 2536 Mary Ellen; Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Wilks, 1201 Charles; and Mr. and Mrs. Luke Fennell, 608 E. Kingmill.

Theresa Blakesloe, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Olds, 1505 Hamilton, will attend the camp under a $90 art scholarship.

Others who have received awards to attend the arts camp are Glenn Lewis and Gail Donaldson. Prudence Skelly re- (See STUDENTS, Page 3)

Fire Traps Tower In Dallas Suite

DALLAS (UPI)—A fire trapped Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., in his hotel suite today and he had to smash a window with a chair to get air.

Tower, 41, of Wichita Falls, escaped injury. But Norman Newton, his Texas assistant, said Tower almost lost his life.

"When I first looked at him, it scared hell out of me," Newton said. "He was as black as pitch from head to foot."

Newton said Tower had bathed and gone to sleep in another suite. He refused to let Tower be awakened again immediately.

Newton gave this account of the fire on the 26th floor of the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel:

"We got to bed late—around 2:30 or 3 a.m. About 4:30 a.m. Sen. Tower was awakened. He found the bedroom filled with smoke. The fire was in the sitting room. He went to the bedroom window—it had one of those little vent windows in it—and called for help.

"There was no reaction. He ran into the bathroom, wet a towel and put it across his face. Then he checked to see whether anybody was under his window, grabbed a small chair and threw it through the window."

Shrine Circus Rigs for Show

As dawn's pink fingers touched into today's sky, the first contingency of the Shrine Circus arrived at the Top O' Texas Rodeo Grounds.

Assembly of the rigging for the three-ring show started at 8:10 this morning in order to be completed for the 2:30 matinee. The second show will start at 8 tonight.

Tickets for this evening's performance will be on sale at the entrance to the Rodeo Grounds. All tickets for tonight performances are $1 each.

The two and a half hour show, produced by the Carden-Johnson International Circus, is being sponsored here by the Pampa Shrine Association.

Pampa's two performances of the show are the first of four engagements in the Panhandle. Later this summer, the same show is scheduled for performances in Amarillo, Dumas, Perryton and Borger.

Thousands of free tickets for children were given away for the matinee performance. These tickets were sponsored by Pampa businessmen.

Featured with this year's circus and with Shrine shows for the last 30 years, will be the Lemke family of chimpanzees which appeared on the Jackie Gleason Show.

Other acts include the Great Arturos who perform a high wire act. They execute some of the most dangerous and hazardous routines, performed today, according to a circus spokesman.

Also, the Rodos Troupe will bring to the show one of the oldest art forms known to show business—acrobatics. The nine members of the troupe came to the United States from Germany.

Teacher Salary Increase Topic At Meeting of School Trustees

The minimum salary schedule increase for Texas school teachers, passed by both houses of the state legislature and now awaiting the governor's signature, was the breakfast-table topic at a called meeting of Pampa School Board this morning in Coronado Inn.

An allocation of $48 million was made recently by the state legislature to increase the minimum salary scheduled for Texas teachers, which locally would entail a $180,000 minimum salary increase for teachers in the Pampa Independent School District, according to Homer Craig, school business manager. Of this amount, the state would pay two-thirds with the remaining one-third, or $60,000, to be provided by the local district.

The decision facing school trustees is the method to be resolved for providing the additional funds to meet the state minimum requirement.

Astronaut Dies In Auto Crash

PEARLAND, Tex. (UPI)—A midnight crash on a sharp curve that has claimed a number of lives in this little town near the Manned Spacecraft Center killed one of America's newest astronauts today, Air Force Maj. Edward G. Givens.

He was part of the team trying to put the first Apollo astronauts into space next year—one of the three astronauts assigned to support the prime and backup crews for the first manned Apollo flight.

Ewo other Air Force officers with Givens were injured, one critically.

Several avenues were explored by the four trustees and two administrators attending this morning's meeting. Suggested solutions revolved around a general property tax increase or possibly seeking new tax sources.

The board will meet in regular session on Thursday.

Red Mortar Attack Fatal to 8 Marines

SAIGON (UPI)—Eight U.S. Marines were killed and 13 wounded today in Communist mortar and ground attacks against a base at Khe Sanh and a nearby radio relay station, U.S. military spokesmen said.

About 20 rounds of mortar fire hit the Khe Sanh outpost, about five miles east of the Laotian border about 300 miles north of Saigon. Other Communist troops attacked a relay point atop Hill 950, seven miles to the north, about one hour later.

The Marines called in air and artillery strikes against the attackers but the results were unknown.

American tank crewmen today drove their vehicles into a blazing ammunition and fuel dump to rescue other GIs pinned down by flying shell fragments and searing flames.

A spokesman said possibly one American soldier was killed and 15 injured in the blaze

Israel Forces Streak Toward Suez Canal

Jerusalem Captured By Advancing Troops

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

Israel today reported the capture of the old city of Jerusalem from Jordan and the Egyptian city of Gaza. Columns of Israeli tanks streaked toward the Suez Canal against what appeared to be crumbling opposition.

Egypt closed the Suez Canal and said it did so because of what it called American and British intervention in the Middle East on behalf of Israel. But the Israelis were less than 70 miles from the waterway.

Rusk Denies Arab Charges of U.S. War Involvement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States today accused Egypt of making malicious claims about U.S. involvement in the Arab-Israeli war to stir up trouble for Americans in the Middle East.

In a statement at the White House, after meeting with President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk displayed his annoyance at claims by the United Arab Republic that U.S. warplanes were helping Israel.

"There is just no word of truth that United States aircraft have taken part in any of these operations in the Middle East," Rusk said.

"We don't like this," he added.

Rusk met with Johnson and Defense Secretary, Robert S. McNamara at the White House National Security Intelligence Center before the President conferred with congressional leaders. Rusk then read his statement to reporters.

He said the Egyptian charge appeared to have been "invented for some purpose not fully disclosed." He suggested the claims were part of a propaganda campaign to "create difficulties for Americans in the Middle East."

The Egyptian Ministry of Interior banned all demonstrations in what it called an attempt to curb the "victory spirit" of its people. It asked Egyptians to attend to their business "in consolidation of the home front."

The Israeli campaign to force President Gamal Abdel Nasser's armies out of the Sinai and lift the blockade of the Strait of Tiran was developing with such speed military sources in Tel Aviv expressed surprise.

Israeli sources said Egyptian troops have been driven back more than 30 miles from the borders of Israel since fighting broke out in the Negav Desert and the Sinai Peninsula.

Israelis today captured the Sinai stronghold of Um-Katef, bypassed the fortified hill of Aby Ageila and now faced only the junction of Milta Pass before the Suez. The pass is 25 miles from the canal.

A news blackout shrouded operations, if any, at Sharm el Sheikh, the Egyptian heights fort guarding the Strait of Tiran entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba. Cairo Radio said it was heavily bombed Monday.

With the conquest of Gaza city all resistance ended in the Gaza Strip except for mopping up operations in the 26 by 7 mile coastal area administered by Egypt.

Security Council Struggles Again

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The U.N. Security Council struggle for a cease-fire formula in the Middle East conflict today turned into an American-Soviet tug of war.

The 15-nation council was meeting with U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg pressing for a simple cease-fire order and Soviet envoy Nikolai T. Fedorenko demanding the order include a mandatory withdrawal of opposing forces.

The meeting was convened at 10:30 a.m. CDT. Observers said Goldberg had eight votes on his side. They said the Russians had five. Nine votes are needed to pass such a resolution.

But even with nine votes Goldberg faced a likely Soviet veto.

The United States and most other Western powers argued the withdrawal order favored by the Soviets would favor the Arabs.

The Soviets would have both sides fall back to positions held Sunday before the shooting started. That would leave Egyptian forces blockading the Gulf of Aqaba against Israeli shipping, an Arab move that helped inflame the Middle East crisis into a war.

The Americans and their allies argued that any withdrawal should pull back Arab and Israeli forces to the positions they held before the U.N. Emergency Forces (UNEF) was ordered withdrawn May 18 and before the Gulf of Aqaba was blockaded.

ISRAELI INFANTRY is shown marching toward position near the Gaza Strip prior to the outbreak of hostilities in that area.

National Guard, Police Pursue Revolutionaries

TIERRA AMARILLA, N.M. (UPI)—A band of fighting mad Spanish-Americans, claiming title to millions of acres of land under ancient land grants, shot their way into the courthouse of this northern New Mexico village Monday, wounded two policemen and held 20 persons hostage an hour and a half.

Then they fled to another town nearby, and most of them managed to elude National Guardsmen and state troopers through the night.

The countryside took on the appearance of a battlefield. The National Guard, called out hastily by acting Gov. E. Lee Francis, sent 250 men and two tanks into the area.

An estimated 50 of the Spanish-Americans, armed with high-powered rifles, hid in the hills after nightfall. The guardsmen and police kept alert, but waited for dawn before launching an all-out assault.

Their key target was the leader of the revolutionaries, Jerry Reyes Lopez Tijerina of Albuquerque, N.M. Tijerina commanded the group when it stormed the courthouse Monday afternoon following a court appearance on unlawful assembly charges by several members of his organization, the Political Confederation of Free City States.

In effect, the strong-arm group laid siege to the town of Tierra Amarilla, population 500. "They took over filling stations and stores for lookout posts," said UPI newsman Larry Calloway, one of those taken hostage. "This was a Latin American revolution—even if I thought it couldn't happen here."

Calloway was locked in a room at the courthouse with 19 others during the siege. When the insurgents abandoned Tierra Amarilla and headed for nearby Canjilon, they took Calloway and Deputy Sheriff Pete Jaramillo along in a stolen car after tying them with electrical cord.

They met a roadblock thrown up by the state police outside Canjilon, and the captors held their pistols to the heads of Calloway and Jaramillo.

Calloway managed to work his bindings loose, and he grabbed the gun away from one of the men. Then police moved in and nabbed the rebel. Jaramillo was freed a short while later.

The storming of the courthouse took nearly everybody by surprise. But it was only the latest in a series of disturbances by Tijerina's group. Last fall the organization, formerly known as the Federal Alliance of Land Grants, briefly took over part of a national forest in northern New Mexico and "arrested" two U.S. Forest Service men for "trespassing."

Price Believes Congress in Dark On Middle East

WASHINGTON — Rep. Bob Price of Pampa, a first-term Republican congressman, believes "as a whole Congress is not informed" on the Middle East crisis.

Price commented yesterday he was "afraid they (Israelis and Arabs) have gone too far for a cease-fire."

After saying he does not think the administration is supplying enough information on the Middle East war for congressmen to make an intelligent analysis, Price added, "I guess they have their hands full, like anyone in an emergency."

Price was to attend a State Department briefing today, the first since the Mid-East crisis for congressmen not directly connected with military affairs. Other Texas congressmen who have been allowed to attend high-level, closed briefings were more hopeful than Price that a cease-fire could be effected.

Rep. George H. Mahon of Lubbock, House Appropriations Committee chairman who has attended some closed briefings, said, "It is unthinkable that all the major powers are not interested in working for a cease-fire."

Rep. Omar Bureson of Anson, a member of House Foreign Affairs committee who had attended a briefing agreed with Mahon that a cease-fire is possible. U.S. Sen. John Tower, member of the Senate Armed Services committee, believes the United States would not become involved militarily, and if it did, only with U. S. Naval forces.

Another U. S. Senator, Ralph Yarborough, also hopeful for a cease-fire, said he would support President Lyndon Johnson's view to uphold Israel's independence.

Investigators Seek Cause of Blackout

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Nine large utility companies and a federal investigating team today were trying to pinpoint the cause of a power failure Monday that left 13 million persons in four Eastern states without electricity for several hours.

Traffic lights went out, gas and water pumps stopped, electric trains were stranded and elevators stuck between floors in the nation's worst electric failure since the November 1965 blackout that plunged 40 million persons into darkness in the Northeastern United States.

The blackout Monday affected practically all of New Jersey, including Newark, Philadelphia and as far west as Harrisburg, Pa., and south into Delaware and Maryland.

Federal Power Commission (FPC) investigators were seeking to find the cause of the mammoth short circuit. FPC Chairman Lee C. White was expected to shed some light on the matter during testimony today before the Senate Commerce Committee in Washington.

White said there was no evidence of sabotage and held out the possibility that the added strain of numerous air conditioners switched on in the first warm weather or even an errant squirrel falling into a transformer might have snapped off the power in the four-state area.

A spokesman for the utility companies later denied that the failure was caused by any sudden strain from the use of air conditioning.

New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes also named a special task force to probe the cause of the power failure and said he was alarmed that statements following the 1965 blackout that the chances for another major failure were remote proved erroneous so soon.

Astrological Forecast
By CARROLL RIGHTER
FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is one of those days when you can engineer conditions far more to your liking than is usually possible and you find that most everyone with whom you have any contact whatever is able to see you in a better light and realize you are able to carry through any plan under consideration in a very inventive manner.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — By explaining to others what you have in mind precisely, you get them to cooperate with you in some constructive plan. Have all facts and figures at hand. Meeting with success comes easily then.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Those in monetary circles who are experts can give the aid you want now for some prospective plan you are considering. Get savings account built up. Add wisely to any property you may now own.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — You are very charming and clever today so seek about and show your talents to be most worthwhile to have as a friend. Get to meetings and make excellent new contacts. These can help you tremendously in professional life.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — If you go to the right sources you will be able to get data you need confidentially, but be very diplomatic about it. Be a little more original and pleasing in romantic life. Be serious.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Show those you like in either personal or social life that you are most devoted. Admit them greatly. Plan how to repay social obligations in the near future. You have been rather obtuse regarding them lately.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Don't procrastinate in contacting persons of influence and gain much backing and advice. Then show real interest and appreciation in a civic nature. You can increase popularity and be far more active in the future.

LIBRA: (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — If others have certain ideas that are good which you can use in own operations, do so. Be more broad-minded. Some correspondence you receive can be helpful in your plans for expansion.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — You are now able to take care of obligations in a more modern way and take advantage of opportunities around you. Be more willing to do whatever will please your mate. Some artistic outlet could prove to be very enjoyable.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Associates appreciate your intelligence and finest skills, so be sure you do the same right now. Come to a fine understanding. Make arrangements for any outside affairs that are important to you.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Plan early whatever it is you want to do, and then busy yourself carrying through with your plans. Be enthused. You have some excellent contacts and you should renew them without loss of time.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — An ideal day to get into recreational activities that please you most and with right congenials. You like young people and are in a position to help them greatly. Getting into some youth organization could be just your cup of tea.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — It is much easier now to get home affairs arranged more intelligently, harmoniously. There may be some situation that is puzzling. Use this as a chance to do something that will get you results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he, or she, will be one of those fascinating young people who know intuitively what others want from some joint alliance and will go far, though plus the fact that the gift of gab is truly amazing. Teach early to complete what is started in order to have success. Otherwise there can be failure here.

440 Register In Summer Term At High School

About 440 Pampa High School students registered yesterday for summer school classes, which started today and end July 21.

About 425 attended last year, including 283 in drivers' education, Cameron Marsh, high school principal, said.

The 12 drivers' education teachers this year will have 331 students.

A breakdown estimate of other summer term enrollment includes three English classes, 100; social studies, 120; related math, 75; typing, 50; health 60; home furnishings, 17; and home economics, 100.

No tuition is required for home economics because it is an off-campus, home study course and because the home economics teachers are paid on a 10-month basis by the state instead of nine months like other teachers, Marsh said.

The $25 tuition for drivers' education is to help pay upkeep on the 12 cars which teachers and students use in the course.

For other courses, $17.50 is required tuition, Marsh said.

2 Pampans Attending Chamber Convention

E. O. Wedgeworth, Pampa Chamber of Commerce manager, and Mrs. Wedgeworth are attending the annual Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Galveston and will return home Monday.

Delegates planned to discuss problems they face in promoting industry and other developments in Texas cities.

Obituaries

Mrs. Ernestine Hart Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Ernestine Hart, 815 N. Russell.

She was the wife of Robert Hart, a Cabot employe. The Hart family was in Sarnia, Ontario, Canada, where Mr. Hart was temporarily assigned.

Survivors include one son, Tim, and two daughters, Patsy and Debbie, of the home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Opal Tresa Gilbert

Funeral services are pending for Mrs. Opal Tresa Gilbert, 61, who died of an apparent heart attack in her home, 716 E. Browning, at 6:30 a.m. today. She was born in Braman, Okla., on May 26, 1906, and was married to W. I. Gilbert on Nov. 10, 1947. She had lived in Pampa for 22 years, and was a member of St. Paul Methodist Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by one son, Jerry Bray of St. Louis, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. Edgar Giddens of Pampa, Mrs. H. B. Johns of Perry, Okla.; one brother, Chan W. Winchell of Dallas.

Arrangements will be announced by Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home.

Agnes E. Manning

Funeral services for Mrs. Agnes E. Manning, 64, mother of Rev. J. R. Manning Jr., will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in Central Baptist Church conducted by the Rev. T. O. Upshaw, pastor, and the Rev. Carroll B. Ray, Top of Texas Area Baptist Missionary.

Mrs. Manning died at 9:30 a.m. Monday in Highland General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery beside her husband, J. R. Manning Sr., who died June 9, 1955.

Pallbearers will be Paul Keim, Gerald Sims, Jess Goad, Preston Bailey, Jim Conner and Verl Hagaman. Arrangements are under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home.

But the reported capture of the old city of Jerusalem was the most dramatic event of the day. The report in Tel Aviv that Jews were once more standing at the walling wall—a remnant of Solomon's temple—sent a wave of rejoicing throughout the country.

Israel forces aimed at eliminating the Jordanian bulge at Israel's narrow waist first surrounded the Jordanian sector of the Holy City of Jerusalem in an effort to win it without bloodshed.

But Jordan fought back with what the Israelis called "sporadic fire" and what the Jordanians described as "street to street fighting."

The Israeli armored forces were reported moving through the Sinai Desert toward the canal zone faster than in 1956 when they reached the waterway in a 100-hour drive.

They captured and bypassed the main Egyptian defenders and were moving with unchallenged Arab superiority.

Arab anger continued to mount and much of it was directed against the United States and Britain. It was being inflamed by a series of Cairo broadcasts saying U.S. and British carrier-based planes attacked Arab states and by reports U.S. Embassy personnel in Beirut fired on a mob.

Issue Denials
Both the United States and Britain issued heated denials but the Arab nations charged formally the U.S. carrier-based planes joined the "Israeli aggression." Observers attributed the charges either to setbacks or an effort to involve the Western powers with Pro-Arab Russia.

Mobs in Alexandria burned the U.S. consulate and attacked the British consulate. The Middle East News Agency said mobs stormed the U.S. Embassy in Beirut and set the building on fire and that "American Embassy members opened fire against the demonstrators." It said a number of Lebanese were wounded by the Americans.

In Washington a State Department official telephoned U.A.R. Ambassador Mostafa Kamel at 3:45 a.m. EDT to lodge a stiff protest against "inflammatory and false" Egyptian charges U.S. planes were involved in the war. The British Defense Ministry called the Arab claims "absolute rubbish."

Hospital to Take Nursing School Applications Here

Highland General Hospital officials are taking applications today through June 13 for the 1967-68 School of Vocational Nursing.

Applicants should register between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily, and must be between 18 and 55 years old, Bill Robertson, hospital administrator, said.

The nursing school is state accredited, which means that it has met requirements set up by the State Board of Nurse Examiners.

Applicants for the 12-month course for 40 hours a week must have also completed the 10th grade of high school or its equivalent, be a United States citizen, pass the aptitude test and have good physical and mental health, Robertson said.

A $10 application fee is accepted. If applicant is not accepted, the fee is refunded, Robertson said.

Indian Organization Sets Barbeque Plans

Pampa Southwest Indian Organization members will meet at 8 p.m. today at 208 W. Browning to complete plans for the second annual barbeque, which will be held here June 25 at Hobart Street Park.

Guests at the barbeque will be chiefs and representatives of the five Indian nations; Tulsa, Okla., Indian Woman's Club; Mrs. George Anne Robinson, president of the national Congress of American Indians; other representatives of the Cheyenne tribe, and Osage Day Princess Jan Neel Robinson.

Tickets will be on sale Wednesday. The public is invited to attend.

William Wildcat, a Pampa Cherokee Indian, has designed and made an Indian headdress which will be presented at the barbeque.

In 1949, a decree in Bonn, Germany, designated the western government as the federal Republic of Germany.

Police Investigate Two Burglaries

Pampa police today were investigating two burglaries that occurred overnight.

Officer Freddie Brown discovered a break-in at Curley's Place, 2218 Alcock, about 3:41 a.m. today. An unestimated amount of cash and beer was taken.

Police received a report this morning that Dottie's Place, also on Alcock St., had been broken into. No estimate of money or beer taken was given.

Kiwanis Club To Provide SCO Cards

At a called meeting of the Top of Texas Kiwanis Club last night, A. D. Conway, president, recommended the club provide membership cards for the Senior Citizen Organization of Pampa.

The senior group is in the process of being organized following a meeting of the Governor's Committee on Aging, held Sunday in the Pampa Hotel. The Senior Citizens group will select a slate of officers and a name for its organization in the near future, according to the Rev. C. M. Grow, committee member.

VOTE SLATED TUESDAY

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas and Tarrant counties vote Tuesday on a proposal to build a giant regional airport that would be designed to handle the area's aircraft traffic to the year 2000. If voters approve, the authority will be the first such body in Texas. The airport would cover an 18,000-acre tract near Grapevine.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years they said it couldn't be done. But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
The war in the Middle East may be summed up as the result of bad diplomacy, bad advice and bad timing.

For the United Nations it is a signal failure, demonstrating that the body entrusted with safeguarding world peace cannot even prevent or stop a war among third and fourth rate powers.

For the Israelis it is a war against extinction as declared by the Arabs themselves.

But for U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser it also is a war for survival. For until the shooting broke out, he had won every hand. He controlled the Gulf of Aqaba, thus blocking Israeli shipping from the Red Sea, and he had regained leadership of the Arab world.

All Or Nothing
Now, unless some new miracle occurs to halt the fighting, he must win it all, or lose everything.

And it cannot be said that time is on his side.

The unity which has brought the forces of Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Jordan into common cause against Israel is a marriage of convenience.

Kuwait and the Sudan, which also have declared war against Israel, scarcely can be said to count.

In the early hours of the fighting, the most pressing next question remains unresolved.

That is the ultimate roles to be played by the United States and Russia.

The Russians clearly have declared their sympathies and support for the Arabs. Most of the arms to be used by the Egyptians and Syrians have come from the U.S.S.R.

President Johnson has declared the United States committed to the territorial integrity of all nations in the area. Thus what the United States seeks is a return to the status quo, including Israel's free use of the Gulf of Aqaba, which existed before United Nations Secretary General Thant's pull-out of U. N. forces guarding the gulf's mouth.

It seems certain that both superpowers will do their utmost to avoid a direct confrontation.

History's Decision
Other questions must be decided by history.

One will be a determination between the conflicting claims of Israel and the U. A. R. as to who started the shooting on the sandy Gaza Strip abutting on Israel's southern border.

Another will be the responsibility which Thant must bear for his one-man decision to bow to Nasser's demand that he pull out the U. N. forces from their oldest peace-keeping operation whether he should have stalled for time or whether he was correct in his interpretation that the U. N. forces remained on Egyptian soil only by permission of Nasser.

Still another will be the role of U. S. Ambassador to the U. N. Arthur J. Goldberg, and crisis must not bear some whether U. S. vacillation in the which finally erupted.

The Mature Parent: Love My Child, Love Me Not Based In Reality

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

paper Enterprise Assn. MRS. LAWRENCE: I am a snippy neighbor who dis-likes me for some reason. Yet she is very nice to our 9-year-old boy. She has a son of her own around Paul's age and though she never lets him come over to our house to play, she's always calling on the phone to invite Paul over to hers. When she doesn't know who I am, she just says, "May I speak to Paul, please?" I don't think I should let him be friends with the child of a woman who is so snippy to me. . .

ANSWER: Why must she like you, for goodness sake?

An auto accident might put you into a new house. The poor house.

Not enough insurance protection could leave you in debt for years. Why take a chance? Your Sentry man will give you auto coverage that's made to order just for you. Call him today.

Her liking isn't important to you. She isn't your child, your husband or your husband's employer. Her feeling about you could not matter less than it does. She's just a person who happens to live near you and wants to use your child to companion hers. Instead of craving her liking, do what she's doing — use her youngster to companion yours. And know that is what you're doing. If you do, her snipiness will begin to amuse you instead of hurting you and when she phones and pretends not to know who you are, you'll want to giggle instead of wanting to rear up in all the dignity of your motherhood.

You're not one of these people who must command universal approval, are you?

I hope not. Because the job of commanding universal approval is an arduous self-assignment. If we're parents, commanding ourselves to acquire everybody's liking is particularly foolhardy. Because sooner or later, someone is bound to like our child while at the same time she dislikes us. And if we feel obliged either make her like us or deny the child all association with her and hers, that child is going to have to ask himself:

"What's the matter with this woman that she has to horn in on my friendships? Aren't her own friends satisfactory? If they aren't, why the dickens doesn't she hunt up some new

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: That letter about the sisters in West Virginia who couldn't get their aging mother to bathe regularly hit home with me because I have such a mother.

The poor soul is in her late seventies and is forgetful and somewhat childish. She is very heavy (about 250 so I coax and tease and jolly her while I undress her. Then with the help of my good husband we get her into the tub and give her a good scrubbing. Then we get her out of the tub, dry her, and give her a good going over with some nice-smelling dusting powder.

I'm sure the baths we give her are the only ones she ever has. Even though they're only once every two weeks, they are better than none.

SAME PROBLEM SOLVED

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to see that someone else had trouble getting her mother to take a bath because I really was ashamed to tell anybody that I had the same problem with my own mother. I guess it was no secret until I learned how to handle her.

Mamma was 74 and stubborn as a mule. When she'd come to visit me I could smell her coming a block away, and after she left I used a can of spray to freshen the house. Finally I realized she was just like a child so I used the same tactics I'd use on a little kid and it worked.

I made a tub of soapy water, made a tub of sudsy water, put little rubber swans and ones instead of pushing in on mine?"

We're not our children, you see. We are different persons, different in age, different in inheritance, different in experience. And these different persons are bound to arouse different responses in other people.

ducks in it, and I said, "Come on now, Mamma, it's wa-wa time." I even got her to let me shampoo her hair. I poured plenty of scented bath oil into the tub, and she loved it.

While she was splashing around in her bath I'd run her clothes through the automatic and I added bath oil to them, too.

Much to my surprise, every time she came to visit she asked for her "wa-wa time."

HAPPY NOW

DEAR ABBY: As a newly ordained minister, my husband has been asked to officiate at many marriage ceremonies, so why do they send us an invitation to the wedding? They know my husband will be there, but they send an invitation with an RSVP anyway. Do you suppose they expect some sort of a present I can't figure this out.

MINISTER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I'm sure a present is not expected. You are sent an RSVP invitation because those in charge of arrangements probably want to know whether your husband is bringing you and staying for dinner.

DEAR ABBY: My 14-year-old daughter does a lot of baby sitting, and she wouldn't think of going to sit anywhere if she herself had a cold or wasn't feeling well.

However, parents who call sitters do not mind exposing the sitters to children who are coughing, sneezing, and running a fever.

This is the fourth day my daughter has missed school this week. And all because she was called to sit with a sick child.

Abby, please remind sitters hiring parents that their sitters are also somebody's child and shouldn't be exposed to sickness.

SITTER'S MOTHER

Senior Center Corner By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

"Roses are red and violets are blue, sugar is sweet and so are you." Ever look over your old school books and read the verses we used to scribble at the end of the year? My school days were a long time ago, but it is a lot of fun to read them and bring back memories of childhood friends. Wonder if kids do that these days?

What brought on the thoughts is, looking out at the beautiful flowers and heavy foliage on the trees makes me feel that life is still worthwhile, when it rains. The roses are especially beautiful this spring.

Mrs. Ruby Robinson and Mrs. French of Berger visited in the home of Mrs. C. L. Adams, 508 N. Frost, recently.

Mrs. Mollie Hethcock visited her sister-in-law Mrs. Julie Bell in Booker, Okla., for a week. She arrived home Wednesday night in time to be present at the meeting Thursday. Mrs. Hethcock is one of our most faithful members. In her eighties, she still loves her weekly games of Forty Two.

Mrs. George Higgins is doing well in the Highland General Hospital and sent a "thank you" note for the flowers.

Mrs. George Benham, one of our Red Cross Volunteers, returned home Monday from Monahan, where she spent two weeks visiting her son Milton and family, and attended the graduation of her grandson Randy Benham from high school there.

Another new member was welcomed this week, Mrs. Anna Gowen, of 436 N. Warren St.

Mrs. Nettie Cornelson left Friday for Tuba City, Ariz., to visit her son Aris Cornelson and family. Mr. Cornelson manages an Indian Trading post there, I understand.

Mrs. Amelia Schwoppe returned May 17, after spending three and a half months visiting relatives at Lawrence, Kan. and other points in Kansas and Eustis, Neb. She reports a very enjoyable time. Was good to have her back with us this week.

Mrs. Mollie Hethcock spent a week with her granddaughter Mrs. Patsy VanHoss of Wichita Falls, and attended the graduation of her great-grandson Terry from high school there recently. She reports he was a scholarship.

Mrs. Earl Eckroat visited R. W. Tucker in the Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Wednesday and reported he was doing well, but is rather weak yet, after undergoing surgery recently. She said he would be glad to get back with us soon, he hoped, and said to tell all hello.

Mrs. Lillian Wade of Snider, returned home Wednesday after a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. Pearl Irwin, in Pampa, one of our members.

The Altrusa club who sponsors the Senior Center was hostess this week for the birthday party which is always the first meeting in each month. The following honorees were present and received nice gifts from the club: Mmes. Margaret Conley, Pearl Irwin, Stella Henderson, George Nolen, and Elsie Walker. Refreshments were served during the social hour of dainty sandwiches, ice cream, cake and coffee by Mmes. Jay Flanagan, Louise Sewell, Ruth Sewell, Mabel Hukill, Lillian Snow.

Red Cross Volunteers serving with transportation and assisting were Mmes. George Benham, Jess Hatcher and A. D. Hills.

GS Unit Leaders Needed For Summer Camp

A staff of 35 will be required this summer for the Girl Scout Camp to be operated by the Quivira Girl Scout Council located near Canadian.

Jobs to be filled include unit leaders and assistant unit leaders with age requirements 18-21 years of age and camping experience.

Women interested in Girl Scout camp jobs may call or visit the Quivira Girl Scout office, second floor City Hall, Pampa, or write Mrs. John Porter, 423 W. 12, Shamrock.

Mrs. Norma Whitely, council field adviser, said the camp gives girls 16 through 17 a chance to live, work and play in the out-of-doors.

She listed basic requirements for counselors as love of children, adherence to the objectives and philosophy of Girl Scouting, good health, enthusiasm, patience and adaptability. "Previous Girl Scout or other camping experience is helpful, but not essential. Salaries vary with the assignment and with the candidates' experience, qualifications and training," she said.

In 1812, President James Madison advised Congress that a second war with Britain was inevitable.

Dave Has Confidence

By United Press International
Gains Confidence... Monday night Giusti not only had all that confidence going for him but a pretty fair fast ball, slider and change-up too as he stopped the St. Louis Cardinals on seven hits while carrying the

Yet he's calling it his best year ever.

At this point in each of the last two seasons, Giusti had racked up 6-3 records, and was building a reputation as a standout pitcher—for the first two and a half months of the season.

June always seemed to be the beginning of the end for the science teacher from Syracuse, N.Y. He wound up 8-7 in 1965 and struggled to a 15-14 mark in 1966. And now he is 3-5 for 1967 which isn't bad when you realize he was 0-2 and a half weeks ago.

But more important to Giusti is the fact that he's gained confidence.

"It's 80 per cent of pitching," says the chunky righthander, "and I've never had it before in either the majors or the minors."

DAVE GIUSTI
... nips Cards

Houston Astros to a 5-2 triumph that breaks the team's three-game losing streak.

Giusti stifled Cardinal rallies and struck out 10. Julio Gotay led the Astros' offense with two singles and a double batting in two runs and scoring a third. Elsewhere in the National League the Dodgers held on for a 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves and the Chicago Cubs pounded out a 13-3 decision over the Phillies.

In American League play, the Yankees whipped Washington 4-2. Detroit took Kansas City 3-2 in 11 innings, the California Angels took Baltimore 3-4 and Minnesota beat Cleveland 5-4.

Osteen Marks Seventh
Claude Osteen scored his seventh victory for the Dodgers although he was relieved by Phil Regan when Rico Carty and Cleo Boyer hit consecutive homers. Len Gabrielson's two-run homer and a double by Willie Davis were the big blows of the eight-hit Dodger attack which tagged Tony Cloninger with the defeat.

NEW DOLPHINS
MIAMI (UPI)—Norman Thomas, a running back, and Wendell Jones Jr., a tight end, have been signed as free agents by the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League. Thomas played with Edmonton of the Canadian League in 1965, and Jones is a graduate of the University of Utah.

Epstein Gets First Home Run

By United Press International
For Mantle it was routine, for Epstein it was ecstasy and for the Yankees it was a question mark.

The two sluggers met for the first time at Yankee Stadium Monday night and each contributed a homer, Mantle his 500th career blast leading off the eighth that won the ballgame 4-2, and rookie Epstein his first major league round tripper that gave the Senators an early 2-0 lead.

Mantle, who said he was tired after playing a doubleheader on Sunday, explained that he was just trying to hit the ball. His winning blow, a line drive into the right field stands, came while he was hitting righthanded against reliever Darold Knowles.

Top Race Horse Is Destroyed

BELMONT, N. Y. (UPI)—Cool Reception, who gamely finished second in the Belmont Stakes on Saturday despite breaking his right foreleg in the final strides, was destroyed Monday after an operation was performed to save his life.

The surgery appeared to be successful until the chestnut Canadian colt put his weight on the injured leg and it buckled under the strain. Dr. William O. Reed had placed three pins in the 3-year-old's leg to repair the broken cannon bone and said he "good chance" of recovery.

"We took a calculated risk," Reed said. "His chances appeared good." Cool Reception had a Cool Reception, owned by Mrs. Margaret Selts and Mrs. Joan Reid, led most of the mile and one-half Belmont, final test of the Triple Crown classics, but favored Damascus took the lead in the stretch. Cool Reception's foreleg snapped just a few strides from the finish line but he held on to finish second ahead of Gentleman James.

The son of Windy Answer by Nearctic was dismantled by Johnny Sellers after staggering under the wire and left the course in the horse ambulance. Cool Reception's courageous second-place finish in the Belmont was worth $25,000 and boosted his career earnings to $153,477.

Verwey Cinches Berth in Open

By United Press International
It was only a qualifying round, but for South African Bob Verwey it marked his greatest day in golf and for veteran Ed Furgol it was the bitter disappointment in the twilight of a courageous career.

Verwey, best known as the brother-in-law of Gary Player, who is his strongest supporter, fired an eight-under-par 62 to set a course record at the Colonial Country Club in Memphis Monday during the first day of sectional qualifying for the U.S. Open.

He chipped 100 feet for an eagle on the 18th hole to close the fantastic round, which started with birdies on the first two holes and included a 50-footer for a birdie on the fifth.

Furgol, meanwhile, missed in a bid to qualify for his 22nd consecutive Open with rounds of 75-77 for a 152 total at two courses in New York. Furgol, who gained fame and fortune as a golfer despite a crippled left arm suffered in a childhood accident, won the U.S. Open in 1954, the last time it was staged at the Baltusrol Country Club, the site of this year's tourney June 15-18.

The final qualifiers for the field of 150 will be decided today at seven sites across the country. A total of 67 places were filled at seven sites Monday and another 56 are at stake today. These 123 qualifiers will join the 27 men who received automatic exemptions for the tournament proper.

A lot of the big news Monday was made by big names who failed to qualify. Among these were Allen Henning, Lionel and Jay Hebert, Tommy Aaron, Dan Sikes, Bruce Crampton, Dave Ragan and Jack Burke, all at Memphis; Doug Ford, winner of the PGA in 1955 and the Masters in 1967, and British Amateur runner-up Ron Cerrudo at New York; and Dow Finsterwald at Cincinnati.

Regular members of the pro tour took their qualifying action at Colonial, scenes of last weekend's Memphis Open, and one stroke behind Verwey was New Zealander Bob Charles with a 124.

Rebel to Face Tascosa Wednes

Pampa's American Legion Rebels take to the road for the second time Wednesday and will be in quest of their third victory in as many outings this season.

Despite having only 11 players out to date manager Lloyd Summers has seen his baseballers sack up two victories, over Perryton Saturday and Spearman Sunday.

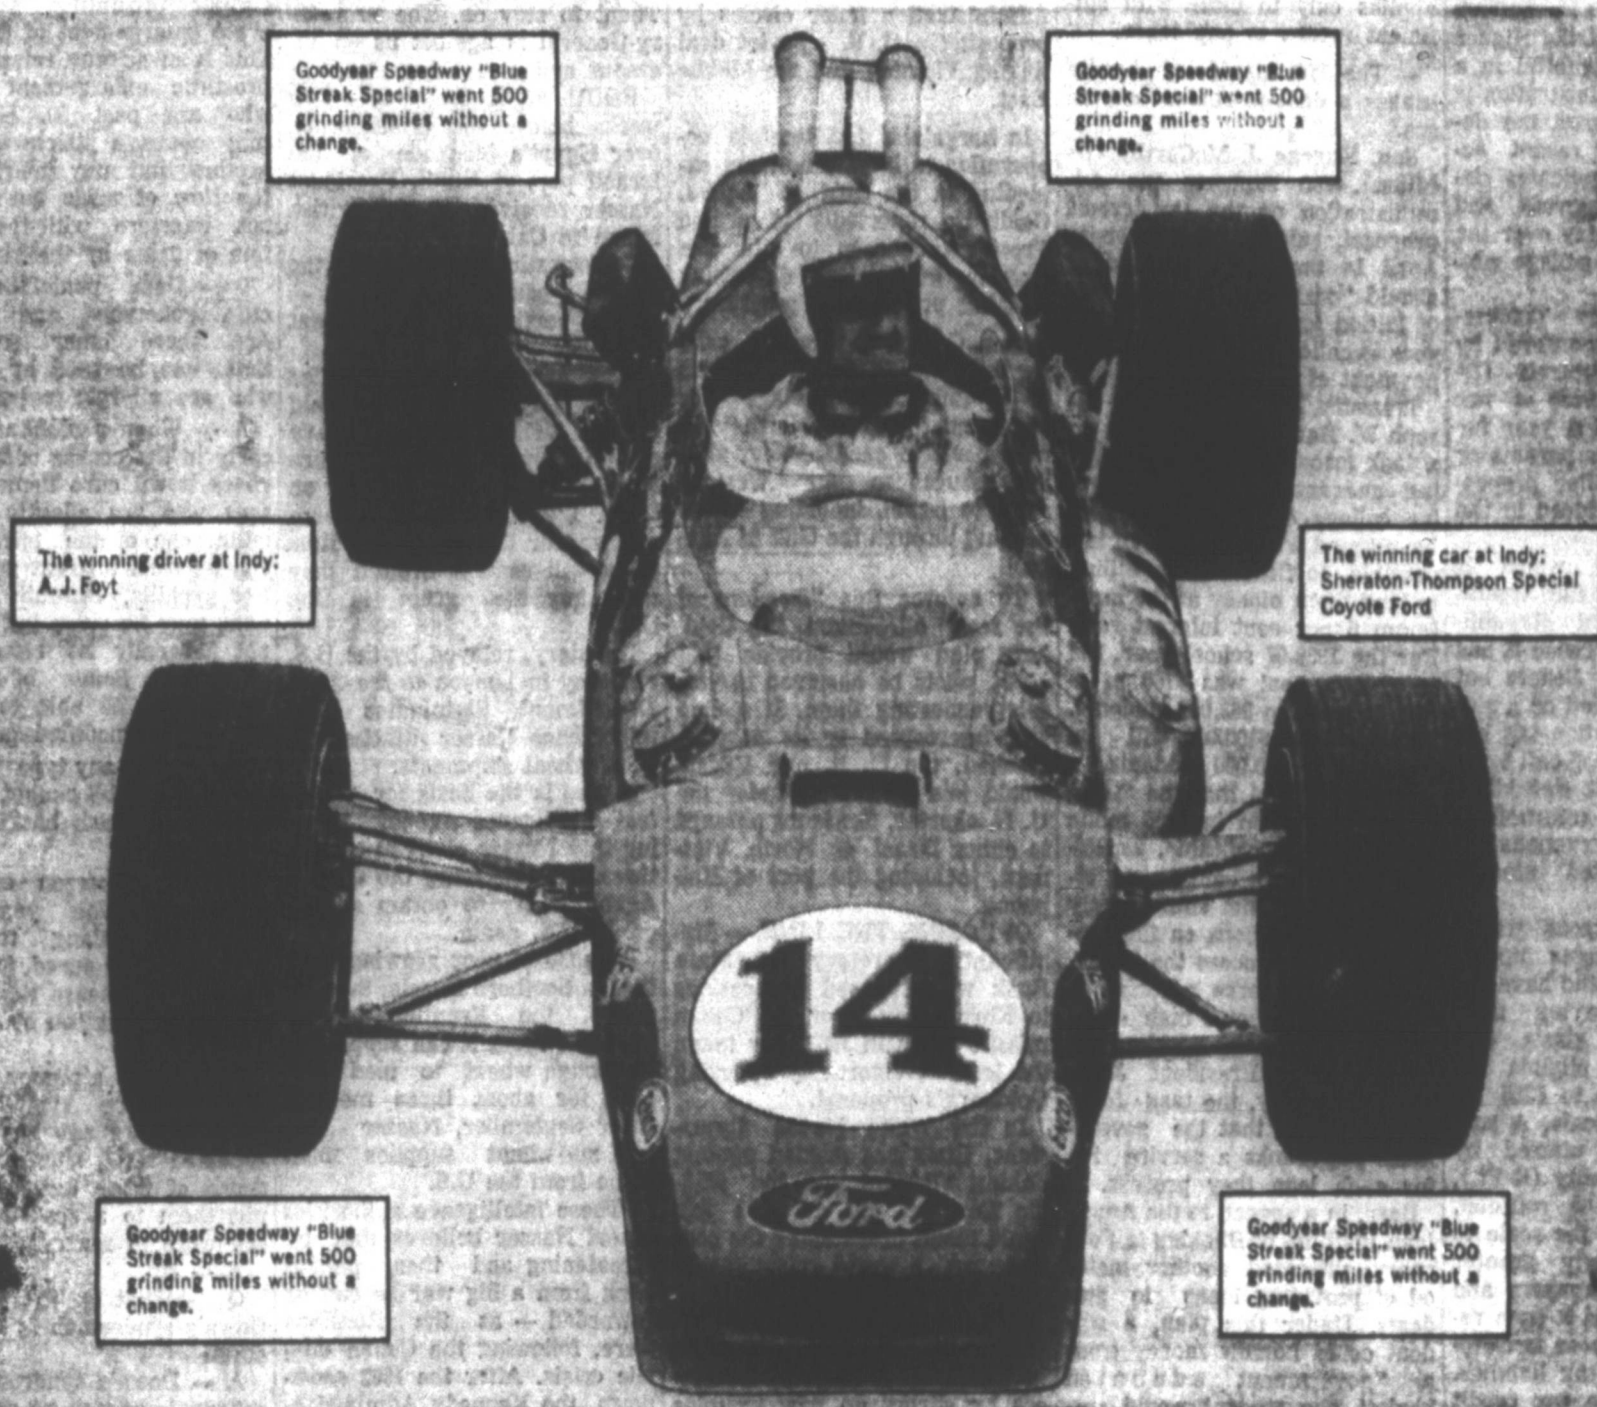

The Rebels will play Tascosa at Amarillo at 9 p.m. Wednesday in their third game of the year.

Thus far Summers has gotten some going performances from Alan Woodard, against Perryton Saturday and Dickie Henley, Sunday against Spearman.

A.J. Foyt wins "Indy" 500 on Goodyear Tires

New speed record... no tire change

A. J. Foyt rolled his Goodyear tires to victory at an average speed of 151.207 miles per hour. A new track record. Some people consider the Indianapolis 500 the toughest race in the world. For man, for his machine. And for his tires. It takes a lot of tire to take the "500"... Goodyear's "Blue Streak Speedway Specials." Goodyear developed this ultra wide-tread racing tire. This years triumph at Indy proves its success as A. J. Foyt sped all the way without a tire change.

For your kind of driving, Goodyear introduces another winner: "Wide Boots." Goodyear's new Wide Tread tires for your car. With a tread almost one-third wider than the tread on most passenger car tires. Get "Wide Boots." They're built a lot like racing tires. Low. Broad-shouldered. They start faster. Corner safer. Handle surer. Stop quicker. And they look great.

"Wide Boots" Look Just Great. Price Start at Only $35.95. 870-24 (8 3/4 x 14) 100 or 110psi. Price $1.82 Plus Tax. See the Best Old Tire.

Bigger Subsidies For Students?

Why Johnny can't go to college is often simply that he can't afford it.

The average cost of attending a state university, considering all the expenses involved, is nearly $2,000 a year. For a prestige private school, it's more than $3,000. And even for a local community college, the cost runs, more than $1,000.

Four out of five youths from high-income families go on to college. But only one youngster in three from a low-income family ever makes it.

The Federal government, beginning with the GI Bill after World War II has moved into the field of helping undergraduates meet their expenses. The government, through the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) of 1958, financed loans for college students. It added the work-study program in 1964 and scholarships and guaranteed loans in the 1965 Higher Education Act.

Several proposals for additional help to college students are before Congress this year. Passage of any proposal, with the exception of certain amendments to NDEA and the Higher Education Act, is doubtful in a year when the Administration is intent on holding down the domestic budget. But recent action in the Senate indicates rising concern in Congress and throughout the country over the burdening cost of a college education.

The most widely discussed proposal, a bill sponsored by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.), would provide a tax credit of up to $325 a year for a college student, his parents or his benefactor. Similar proposals have been introduced in the House.

The Ribicoff bill, which is strongly opposed by the Administration, has official Republican party backing. Twice it has been beaten in the Senate but this year it was added as a rider to an Administration tax bill April 14 on a 53-26 roll-call vote. Eleven days later it was killed when the bill was returned to committee with instructions to reëvise all unrelated amendments.

Under the bill, persons whose taxable income ranges up to $57,000 a year and who have the responsibility of paying their own or someone else's way through college are eligible for a tax credit of up to $325 a year on a sliding scale. A substitute amendment offered by Sen. Winston L. Prouty (R-Vt.), defeated on a 16-63 roll call, would have altered the scale to give a proportionately greater credit to poorer taxpayers and would have provided a cash refund for persons whose tax credit exceeded their tax liability.

Proponents of the tax credit argue it would be the most effective way to help students meet college expenses. The loss of tax money to the government would be more than repaid in years to come, they contend, since the educated recipients could be expected to earn a higher income and thus pay higher taxes. Ribicoff and his supporters further said the tax credit would encourage persons not related to a student to help one through college since they could claim a tax credit. It would, they said, free graduates of the indebtedness that causes many to take jobs on the basis of immediate pay and would encourage teachers to go back to school.

The administration opposes the tax credit on four grounds:

—The Treasury estimates it would cost the nation $1.1 billion in lost taxes in the first year and up to $1.5 billion within three years. In face of anticipated budget deficits of nearly $10 billion this year and next, the nation is said not to be able to afford the additional revenue loss.

—The Ribicoff bill amounts would not be helped in the long run because institutions would immediately increase tuition charges beyond what they now feel they can demand.

—The Ribicoff bill amounts to "class legislation" because it applies only to those with sufficient means to pay taxes.

—The 3% maximum hardly makes a dent in student expenses.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.), who supports the Administration on the tax credit proposal, said in Senate debate April 14 that the government should "assist in the payment of tuition for every student who goes to college, similar to the GI payment of tuition."

Treasury Under Secretary Joseph W. Barr in January set up a task force to study the faltering guaranteed loan program for college expenses. Students have found it difficult, if not impossible, to find a bank willing to lend them money at the maximum 6 per cent interest rate. For the 1966-67 school year, the program's goal was $700 million in loans to 963,000 students. Instead, only $400,000 will be available to 480,000 students.

Banks contend that the "tight money" situation in 1966 made such loans unprofitable, especially because the banks must often hire additional staff merely to answer questions on the program and to process the forms. Barr's task force reported in March to another high-level group studying the problem at the request of President Johnson. Reportedly, the task force recommended that the government pay banks a service fee for each loan they process.

Barr, in a speech to the American Institute of Banking in February, proposed another method of providing loans to students. Under this plan, a student could borrow money from a "government education bank." The student would repay the loan by adding a specified percentage to his federal income tax during his productive years, say to age 55.

The plan, Barr said, has "the name 'common stock' approach of making all of us partners through our federal tax system in the economic career of any student who is educated through this device."

Another bill, introduced by Sen. Claiborne Pell (D-R.I.), would establish a scholarship of up to $1,000 a year for the first two years of college "as a matter of right to all students admitted to a college or university."

Pell said the bill would benefit not only the "brilliant student" but also the "hardworking C student or the late bloomer," who often finds aid hard to come by.

This much is certain: federal control will follow federal money. The Supreme Court has said it has to.

Anyone for the Grand National College, tuition free, and owned and operated by the government of the United States?

In spite of the Supreme Court's decision, as long as there are exams in schools, there will always be prayers.

Goldberg Plan Linking Middle East Blockade To Vietnam Port Access Stirring Administration Controversy

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — U. N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg has touched off a heated debate in Administration inner circles by proposing a U. S. - Soviet deal linking Vietnam and the Middle East.

In bargaining for Russia's cooperation to keep guns from exploding in the Gulf of Aqaba, Goldberg reportedly is urging President Johnson to offer the Kremlin concessions disturbing to other presidential advisers.

The Goldberg proposal calls for the U. S. to offer guarantees of continued safe passage for Communist ships to North Vietnam ports in exchange for similar assurances for Western ships to Israel, including those passing through the Gulf of Aqaba.

To enforce this "freedom of the seas" agreement, the Goldberg plan would provide that U. N. pilots be assigned to vessels requesting them. If a ship was intercepted or its passage blocked, the U. S. and Russia would join in action, under the U. N. charter, to assure passage to either Israel or North Vietnam, including the port of Haiphong.

OPPOSING THE LINK — Significantly, Secretary of State Rusk who opposed concessions to Khrushchev after the Cuban missile crisis in 1962, has taken the lead in vigorously opposing Goldberg's proposal.

In the White House discussions, Rusk has argued against linking Vietnam and the Middle East on the grounds this could result in widening the conflicts into a world crisis should negotiations fail.

Also, Rusk contends the Soviets, if granted this concession in Vietnam, would press for others by stirring up new troubles in Berlin, Cuba, and Korea.

Although making clear that he still opposes a U. S. naval blockade of North Vietnam, Rusk stressed that this option should be left open for the President. He pointed out that a blockade might become necessary if China and/or Russia should send "volunteers" to North Vietnam.

The secretary also urged to President Johnson that the job of the U. S. representative at the United Nations is to carry out policy — not to try to make it.

OPEN QUESTION — While President Johnson hasn't yet taken sides in the Goldberg-Rusk dispute, administration insiders are betting he will eventually back his secretary of state.

Ever since Ambassador Goldberg talked him into urging U. S. support to accept another term as Secretary General, President Johnson has turned more and more to Secretary Rusk for advice on U. N. matters.

When a member of the House remarked at a White House affair recently that he was going to New York to discuss a U. N. issue with Ambassador Goldberg, the President told him: "Take it up with Secretary Rusk. You will get the best advice from him. I should never have listened to Goldberg when he asked me to persuade U. Thant to stay on. The Secretary-General is against us on Vietnam and everything else."

FOOD AS A WEAPON — Two weeks before the crisis broke over Egypt's blockade of the Israeli port of Elath, President Nasser received an old British friend in Cairo.

Conversation ranged over the regime's economic problems — and in particular the wheat shortage.

"Our granaries have supplies left for only two weeks," said Nasser. "The Americans have cut off supplies to put pressure on me, but it will backfire on them. I will get it from them one way or the other. The Russians will send it even if they must buy the grain in the U. S."

The story, relayed by the U. S. embassy in London to the State Department, illuminates the importance Nasser attaches to U. S. wheat shipments. It also is the basis for a Central Intelligence Agency warning that Nasser plans to use his threat of blockading the Gulf of Aqaba to try to obtain a payoff in U. S. grain.

Because of poor growing weather in Southern Russia, the CIA states, the Kremlin has informed Nasser it can supply only enough wheat to feed the UAR for about three months. After September, Nasser was told his wheat supplies must come from the U. S.

These intelligence authorities assert Nasser believes that by threatening and then pulling back from a big war he can be rewarded — as the Russians were, following the Cuban missile crisis. After the 1962 showdown, the Kennedy Administration approved a massive sale of wheat to Moscow.

Nasser's troublemaking in Yemen and Aden was the reason the U. S. decided to stop wheat shipments earlier this year. Since then Nasser has defaulted on $1.8 million of principal and $900,000 in interest owed on loans made through the U. S. Export - Import Bank for past food shipments.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Forty-seven generals and five vice-admirals have been purged from the high command of China's armed forces. This first authoritative count of casualties of military officers in Mao's "cultural revolution" has been compiled by the CIA. In addition to the removal of General Lo Jui-Ching (formerly Mao's secret police chief) as chief of the Army General Staff, two of his seven deputies, his director of military operation (General Lei Ying-fu) and deputy, and three other vice-ministers of defense are now known to have been sacked. The navy commander (Senior Admiral Hsiao Ching-kuan) remains, but he has lost three of his six deputy commanders and also the navy's political commissar and deputy. There has been virtual-

THE MAGICIAN AND THE MOUSE

There is an old fable about a magician and a mouse. It seems that a famous magician once came upon a mouse who was simply a quiver with fear. The mouse was shaking all over, trembling in terror, so immobilized with fright that it couldn't even run away from the magician.

"What is the matter with you?" asked the magician. "Something has obviously scared you very badly."

"It's the cat," whimpered the mouse. "I'm deathly afraid of cats."

"I can see no cat," said the magician.

"That is what frightens me," said the mouse. "Not seeing him makes me even more apprehensive. He might jump out at me any second and I can't even see him."

"Oh, tush," said the magician, beginning to be bored. "I shall do you a favor and change you into the very thing you fear. That way, you shall have no reason to fear."

So the magician made a few magic passes and uttered the mystical word that only he and the Ombudsman of Ajerban could ever pronounce. Immediately the mouse vanished and in its place was a magnificent cat. The difficulty was that the cat was crouching, its ears laid back, its tail twitching. Even its whiskers were a-twitter and a-tingle.

"What is the matter with you?" asked the magician. "Don't tell me you are afraid."

"Oh, yes, indeed I am," said the cat. "I am terrified of the dog."

"What dog?" asked the magician, beginning to be nettled. "There is no dog here."

"But there could be at any moment," protested the cat. "And he would bark and growl and I am simply faint with anxiety as to what I should have to do to protect myself."

"This is ridiculous," said the magician. He made a magic pass and behold, the cat vanished and in its place was a magnificent dog. But the creature was whining and sinking in its fear.

"Don't tell me you have something to fear, also," challenged the master of legerdemain. "Oh, mighty magician," said the dog. "I am terrified of the king of beasts. Only the lion scares me. But I am so frightened of the lion that I am about to swoon."

"Very well," said the magician. "Surely the king of beasts will suffice." Once more the magic word and the mystic signs. The dog vanished and a great, black-maned lion stood in its place. But the lion crouched in fear.

"You are also fearful, I take it," said the magician with a sigh. "Indeed I am," sobbed the lion. "Man, the hunter, can come upon me at any moment. With his guns and his snares, I am no match for him. I fear for my life."

The magician wasted no time and quickly produced a man in place of the lion. But the man was craven and shaking with fear.

"What is it you fear?" asked the magician. "My wife," replied the man. "The female of the species is more deadly than mere male. I am terrified of her."

"Pshaw," said the magician. "Shame on you, a big fellow like you!"

The man vanished and in his place was his wife, dainty and demure. She promptly climbed upon a stool and began to scream.

"What are you screaming about?" asked the magician. "I am afraid of mice," cried the lady, "and one could come upon me unawares."

"Have done," cried the magician in great wrath, and once more the mouse stood before him.

"You must overcome your own fears," he said to the mouse. "For it matters not at all what magic forces are entreated. If you have the heart of a mouse it will be with you at all times and circumstances cannot be created that will change your heart for you. Nonetheless, you can change it for yourself any time you please, if you stop thinking of those who might hurt you and instead remember to protect

Question Box

QUESTION: To me, the political and economic philosophy of your editorials hardly leaves any would-be opposer a leg to stand on. They are composed of flat, unemotional statements which are just as axiomatic as that one about the whole being bigger than any of its parts, as far as I'm concerned. (And I'm not aware of anyone taking up any of your frequent challenges.)

So . . . why are people who are recognized as being well-educated and intelligent — and who have no ax to grind — taking stands and views so remote from yours? You can't, for instance brush off a "brain" such as Bertrand Russell.

ANSWER: We are not qualified to say why other persons have views other than ours. Possibly it is because they have not had the opportunity to be exposed to the pure, clear air of freedom. These persons may have many years of school attendance and classroom instruction, but they may not be truly educated to understand that freedom is indivisible, that unless one is willing to concede it to everyone else he cannot be free himself. Those without tolerance might be inclined to say these persons are foolish, we say they are mistaken.

Nearly everyone we know wants peace, happiness and improved economic conditions for others. But they fail to see that the best way to help one's fellow man is to let him alone and encourage him to help himself, not to force him into a pattern of behavior which will be unnatural to him. Long years of acceptance of a program of government paternalism seems to have numbed the natural independent spirit of too many individuals, who seem willing to accept the theory that those in government know what is best for their "subjects."

Wit and Whimsy

Two Irishmen had landed in the U. S. and had taken a room in a seaside hotel. To their surprise, they were attacked by mosquitoes, an insect new to them.

"That night as they turned out the light and crawled under the sheets, two fireflies flitted in the window.

"It's no use," one groaned to the other. "They've come back with lanterns lookin' for us."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Men's socks are among the oldest of wearing apparel. They were worn by the Aegeans and Mesopotamians, who favored the bright colors of today. In medieval times knights wore full-length foot and leg coverings made of wool. In the 18th century they were just above knee-length so they could be tucked under pantaloons. However, styles haven't changed much since the 1700's when men started wearing trousers and found they could get along nicely with calf-length socks. Their biggest trouble through the centuries has been finding someone who would darn them.

Today's smile: A patient told his psychiatrist: "Doc, I've really got a problem. I keep losing umbrellas." The headshrinker asked: "When do you discover you've lost them?" The patient replied: "When I start to close them."

So saying, the magician departed toward the east and the mouse was left to ponder his meaning.
