

House Ratifies Open Meetings

AUSTIN (UPI) — An "open meetings" bill sought for years by Texas news media today secured only Gov. John Connally's signature to become law. The bill, by Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena and Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville, passed the House 144-3 Monday and minutes later the Senate voted 28-0 to accept changes written into the bill by the House.

It was the first time such legislation ever cleared both houses. During the 1960's anti-secrecy bills were killed in the House and in recent sessions the Senate killed them.

Connally was expected to sign the bill, but it normally takes his staff several days to study a bill and make sure there are no technical errors.

The bill prohibits governing boards of state and local agencies, including city councils, county commissions and school boards, from holding their meetings in secret. Public officials who violate the law can be fined $25 to $200 for a first offense and $100 to $500 for subsequent offenses.

Brooks' original bill exempted deliberations on dismissal of public employee, real estate acquisitions and security matters.

The House added exemption for legislative investigation committees, conferences between governmental units and their lawyers, agency staff conferences and deliberations on the employment of a public official.

The House removed an exemption that had been added in the Senate by V. E. Berry of San Antonio. The Berry amendment exempted agencies that are not supported by tax funds and do not spend tax money.

He said he was interested only in exempting a San Antonio public utility board, but Rapp said he feared the amendment would open other loopholes.

The House removed the Berry amendment without objection. When the legislation was returned to the Senate, Berry was not present, and the bill, minus the amendment, sailed through without debate.

Senate, Connally Disagree On Teacher Pay Hike Bill

Governor in Favor Of House Version

AUSTIN (UPI) — The stage was set today for a mighty clash of wills between Gov. John Connally and the veteran budget writers in the Senate.

The House was expected to approve the 1968 budget favored by Connally, but the Senate Monday voted 22-7 for its $2.4 billion bill, even though Connally had called it "woefully inadequate" in some areas.

After debating the appropriations bill about five hours, the Senate then passed 27-2 a $55.5 million teacher pay raise giving public school teachers raises averaging about $500 a year.

The teacher pay raise is the key to the dispute between Connally and the Senate. Connally wants less money for teachers — $25 million — and more for other state services he considers essential.

During the long debate Monday, the Senate added about $1.5 million to its bill, but ignored Connally's pleas to correct "glaring deficiencies" in the fields of health, welfare, juvenile crime prevention, traffic safety, public welfare, pollution control and water resources development.

The Senate made only one concession to the grievances Connally aired at a news conference last week: It removed a rider that Connally said would cost the state $10 million in federal welfare funds.

The House and Senate appropriations bills are expected to go into a joint conference committee, which must reach a compromise by May 29 or Connally would be forced to call a special session.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, Senate finance chairman and one of Connally's chief foes in the budget war, offered the Senate a chance to reject Connally's whole one-year budget idea and stay with the traditional two-year budget.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo said the one-year bill violates "the spirit and the intent of the constitution," and joined with seven other senators in voting to appropriate money for two years.

Psychiatrist To Be Picked For Huff Examination

District Judge Grainger McIlhenny and two Pampa attorneys will meet at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the judge's office here to choose a psychiatrist to give Ernest (Rusty) Huff, 32, insanity examination.

Huff, a Pampa man charged with the March 3, $19,014 robbery of First National Bank in Miami, has also been indicted by Roberts County grand jury on two other counts, car theft and assault to murder Hemphill County Sheriff Jim Cloyd.

Huff's wife, Mrs. Wanda Ruth (Carver) Huff, 27, also of Pampa, has also been indicted for robbery and car theft.

The Huff's trial started yesterday in Miami, but was continued until the week of June 6, at the request of District Attorney Bill Waters.

Waters made the motion for a continuance yesterday after defense attorney John Warner said he would try the case on the basis of Huff's sanity now and at the time of the offense.

Judge McIlhenny overruled Warner's objection to the continuance and agreed to meet with the defense and prosecuting attorneys to decide on a psychiatrist agreeable to both sides.

If Waters and Warner do not agree tomorrow on a psychiatrist to administer the sanity examination, Judge McIlhenny will appoint one, Waters said.

Huff and his wife were returned to Gray County jail here yesterday to await the trial in June.

In court yesterday, Judge McIlhenny granted a defense request for severance, for the two cases to be tried separately.

J. M. Martindale is the court appointed defense attorney for Mrs. Huff, Huff's attorney, Warner, is also court appointed.

Huff, wounded in a gunfight with officers after the alleged robbery, was hospitalized in Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo temporarily, and recently was treated at Worley hospital here.

MIG Base Knocked Out SAIGON (UPI) — American bombing raids have knocked the North Vietnamese MIG interceptor base of Hoa Lac, near Hanoi, out of action, U.S. spokesmen said today.

"As of now I would consider the base inoperative," a military spokesman told newsmen.

U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs struck the base 20 miles west of Hanoi Monday for the fifth time since a bombing run on the base was lifted April 24.

"There was lots of ground fire at our bombs appeared to be aimed accurately," said Major S. Dickey, 37, of Ashland, Ky., who piloted one of the Thunderchiefs against the base in the latest raid.

Ex-Poverty Worker Ired By Sex Quiz

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — A federal anti-poverty worker said today he was fired from his job in a training program because he did not ask applicants about their sex lives.

George Hickenlooper said a "social demographic" questionnaire for program applicants contains questions "with clear innuendoes that illegitimate sexual relationships exist in this person's family or household."

"I strongly object to such a form. This project shatters the trusting relationship on which this poverty war must be based," he said.

Statistics First — The federal anti-poverty people apparently are more interested in statistics than in serving the people of this area.

A spokesman for the St. Louis Human Development Corp., an arm of the war on poverty, said Hickenlooper's charges "are on quicksand."

"Washington requires that we gather this information," the spokesman said. "The government needs to know these things, for its planning program and to follow up on whether the applicants are being served."

The development corporation contends the personal information is kept secret and that Hickenlooper was warned about following incorrect procedures before he was fired last Tuesday, effective May 31.

To Appeal Dismissal Hickenlooper had been coordinator of the voluntary improvement program at St. Bridget of Erin Catholic Church near the large Pruitt-Igoe housing project. He said he will appeal his dismissal to the executive board of the Human Development Corp.

Hickenlooper said the questions to which he "particularly objected" are questions on marital status and the relationship of the applicant to each person in his household as well as questions on race and the amount and source of income.

Chamber's 'Blitz' Membership Drive Gets Underway

Phase one of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce "blitz membership drive" was completed this morning when uncontacted prospect cards were turned into the "dead cat" file.

The drive was launched yesterday at a luncheon at the Coronado Inn. Drive packets were handed out to chamber board of directors members who are heading up the teams. Each team is made up of four men.

The blitz drive is scheduled to end at 10 a.m. Friday. The drive should furnish the chamber with $37,000 for next year's operating expenses, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, Pampa Chamber of Commerce manager.

"We have $28,500 in membership fees which have already come in," Wedgeworth said. Wedgeworth pointed out that the chamber maintains a year-round program to attract new business and conventions to Pampa. In addition, he said, chamber committees are working for better transportation facilities and other benefits for the Pampa businessman, rancher and farmer.

"Every individual, firm and profession derives direct benefits in a growing, stable economy, said Wedgeworth. "Such an economy is the result of the chamber's efforts."

To provide incentive for the different teams, prizes will be (See DRIVE, Page 3)

Price to Speak At PPROA Meet

Bob Price, 18th District Congressman, will be the keynote speaker at the 37th annual meeting of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association underway tomorrow and Thursday at Holiday Inn West in Amarillo.

Over 300 persons are expected to attend, which includes approximately 60 from Pampa, according to William L. Arrington, Pampa, convention chairman.

Price will speak at the Thursday night banquet on "Oil Imports." Price is substituting for Senator John Tower who was originally scheduled to speak. Registration will get underway tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the inn.

PPROA represents over 100 oil and gas men and women in the Texas Panhandle. President of the association is R. P. Herrmann, Amarillo independent producer.

A golf session is planned for tomorrow afternoon. Directors of the association will meet at 2:30 p.m. to elect officers for the coming year. A membership meeting will follow at 5:30 in the Amarillo Country Club.

Wednesday's dinner will feature humorist Richard "Cactus" Pryor of Austin as speaker. Pryor has often entertained President Lyndon Johnson at his ranch in Texas.

Hoffa Asks Court For Dismissal Of Term, New Trial

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Teamsters Union head James Hoffa asked a federal judge today to dismiss his eight-year prison term and grant him a new trial on charges of tampering with a jury.

Hoffa, who since the weekend has been imprisoned in the Hamilton County jail here, was appearing before Federal Judge Frank Wilson for a hearing on his fourth motion for a new trial.

Wilson rejected the other attempts without a hearing. The current motion charges that the government used illegal wiretapping devices during the 1964 trial here in which he was convicted.

The motion, filed the day after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to rehear his case in February, was accompanied by 18 affidavits. However, Wilson curtailed the scope of the hearings to statements and affidavits attributed to Assistant FBI Director Cartha DeLoach and three other men.

Mothers spruced up their baby carriages for one of the season's most unusual protest demonstrations. They planned to descend on the prime minister's office, 10 Downing Street, in a "pram protest" Sunday aimed at preventing a maternity hospital in suburban Wimbledon from being dropped from the British National Health Program. A spokeswoman said the mothers would present Prime Minister Harold Wilson with a petition bearing 50,000 signatures and wrapped in diapers.

Supreme Court Justices Divided As Ever Over Obscenity Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nine justices of the Supreme Court are as divided as ever on the subject of obscenity — probably more so.

The latest demonstration came Monday on this question: how much must a bookseller know about the contents of a book before he can be convicted of selling obscene materials?

The justices heard arguments bearing on this issue last Oct. 10. After pondering the issue for seven months they decided to avoid the question.

Instead the court reversed the convictions of a New York City clerk and a Paducah, Ky., retailer on the grounds that what they sold was not obscene under the court's previously defined standards.

The clerk, Robert Redrup, working temporarily at a 42nd Street newsstand, had sold two books entitled "Shame Agent," and "Lust Pool." The Paducah man, William L. Austin, had sold two magazines, Spree and High Heels.

The court also had agreed to examine an Arkansas obscenity law under which certain issues of seven magazines were found obscene by a jury and barred from distribution. They were Gent, Swank, Bachelor, Cavalade, Gentleman, Ace, and Sir.

The law was attacked as vague and "a forbidden prior restraint" on freedom of expression.

But the court shrugged off these issues, too, and merely reversed the Arkansas Supreme Court ruling upholding the obscenity finding.

The decision noted that Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas feel a state is "utterly without power to suppress, control, or punish the distribution of any writing or pictures" on grounds of obscenity.

The decision noted that Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas feel a state is "utterly without power to suppress, control, or punish the distribution of any writing or pictures" on grounds of obscenity.

Justice Potter Stewart holds that a state must confine its restrictions to "hard core pornography," which he admits he might not be able to define intelligibly. "I know it when I see it," Stewart says.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices William J. Brennan Jr., and Abe Fortas favored a definition of obscenity which requires the material to be patently offensive, utterly without redeeming social importance, and having a dominant theme when taken as a whole that appeals to a prurient interest in sex.

Escaped Convict's Free Spree Ended

ADA, Okla. (UPI) — A towering convict whose escape began in a wheelchair and ended in a wrecked car faces six charges of kidnaping today. A total of 16 persons were terrorized or held hostage during his flight for freedom.

Emmett Ray McCarthy, 34, who stands 6-feet-10 and weighs 245 pounds, was held in Pontotoc County Jail pending the filing of charges in connection with his 150-mile spree through southern Oklahoma Monday.

He finally was captured after a wild car chase during which he lost control and crashed into a tree. A deputy held a shotgun on the fugitive and he gave up, a little more than six hours after his flight began.

Trial

The jury list roll was called yesterday in Miami, so the jurors could be paid for reporting for duty, but no jury was selected in the case, Judge McIlhenny said.

In an interview yesterday, Mrs. Huff said she had not thought about the continuance and Huff said "I just hope they'll give her probation."

Few spectators were in the courtroom yesterday, except for members of the defendants' immediate family and residents of the Miami area.

"I assure you," chamber president E. E. Shelhamer told the team members at the kickoff luncheon, "you don't want to be last on the totem pole," referring to the undisciplined last-place prize.

The three top prizes, however, did not offer a gloomy fate to their winners.

The winners on the first place team will receive an all-expense paid weekend at the George Cree Jr. Ranch in Oklahoma.

Second place prize will be 12 special-cut Top O' Texas T-bone steaks to each member, with six steaks going to each member of the third place team.

Minimum dues for individual membership are $25 and $36 for a business, according to George Cree Jr., membership chairman.

The second check-in meeting will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the CoC office and the final check will be Friday at the office, Wedgeworth said.

At 11 o'clock this morning, the teams of Mack Hiatt Jr. and Roy Sparkman were in first and second place respectively with Rayburn Thompson and George Cree Jr. teams tied for third place.

MALOUF ABRAHAM REPORTS
Things to be 'Wusser' At Texas House by May 29

Last week was our roughest week so far and they tell me I'll get "wusser" yet. They say that we will get done by May 29 but a lot of things will have to fall in shape. The first big battle was on Elmer Tarbox's bill called the Unfair Sales Act. You know he is from Lubbock but was originally from Higgins and was quite a football player at Tech. This is also his first time and he got a real baptism of fire. The has lastly about three hours and Elmer did a fine job trying to pass his bill. It was just about noon but he managed to sal-

Foreign News Commentary

By LEON DANIEL
 United Press International
SEOUL (UPI)—The United States has 55,200 troops in Korea, a commitment some say it can ill afford in view of the escalating war in Vietnam.

The reasons for the U.S. presence here are both military and political. The government of the Republic of Korea (ROK) vigorously opposes any withdrawal of U.S. troops, arguing that 45,000 Korean troops are fighting alongside Americans in Vietnam.

Of the two U.S. infantry divisions here, only one mans the Demilitarized Zone. The other has been in reserve for 14 years, training and waiting for resumption of the way which has not come. It is a lonely role, some say a useless one.

ROK officials say the goal of the North Korean Communists is to take over South Korea "when the decisive moment comes" and they claim any reduction of U.S. strength here would hasten that moment.

Also, they say, a reduction of U.S. forces would threaten this booming nation's political stability and discourage foreign investment.

Behind Troops
 There is practically no sentiment here for pulling two ROK army divisions and one ROK marine brigade out of Vietnam, Koreans, to a man, are proud of the excellent combat record their troops have achieved in Vietnam. And ROK government officials consider the combat experience their troops are gaining invaluable preparation for a possible resumption of hostilities with North Korea.

The United States is picking up the tab for the Korean military effort in Vietnam. This is the basis of the Communist charge that Korean troops are "mercenaries."

The Koreans don't see it that way. They figure they are repaying with their blood a debt incurred when 33,000 Americans died during the Korean war.

The Vietnam war has boosted the Korean economy somewhat but a recognition of a mutual debt by the United States and South Korea appears to be very real.

1st add 620 xxx very real.
 The longest military armistice agreement in recorded history began July 27, 1953 after three years of bitter fighting. There is no sign that a peace treaty ever will be made. Technically, the war is still on.

Believe Attack Possible
 The North Koreans and their Chinese Communist allies lost an estimated 1,465,000 dead during the Korean war but the ROK government believes the North Koreans would attack again if that "decisive moment" comes.

Knowledgeable sources here claim North Korea has reorganized its power structure and has been actively preparing for war, in addition to their efforts in aiding the Communists in Vietnam.

North Korea's relations with Russia have improved in recent years but the Communists to the north still believe the Soviets should take a tougher line with the United States. North Korea is ideologically closer to the rigid Chinese Communist line.

Both Russia and China have continued to pour economic and military aid into North Korea since the Korean war. It is known that the North Koreans have submarines, MIGs and missiles. They also have a 325,000-man army, a 20,000-man air force and an 8,800-man navy.

These figures are based on intelligence estimates.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps I was born in the wrong era. My daughter and son-in-law have been married almost 4 years. Believe me, she was "raised right" — wanted for nothing, and went to the finest schools, but something went wrong.

She has "fallen in love" with another man, which I suppose can happen. And it is all right with us if she would divorce her husband and marry the other man. But no, she stays married, and continues to "go with" her lover.

Her husband knows all about it and apparently doesn't care. Where is his pride? We have spoken to our daughter about it since she goes around openly with this other man, and there is talk. She says she "loves" them both. How can a woman love two men? This does not make sense to me. Should we close our eyes and just let them go on this way?

with this couple and enjoy it more.

CONFIDENTIAL to La Verne and Laigt on North Saltair; You two could give the world a lesson on how to succeed in marriage without even trying. Yours is a beautiful example of total commitment through unselfish love.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mothers of first grade children entering Stephen F. Austin School for the first time in the fall will be honored at a tea at 2 p.m. Thursday. This will be in conjunction with the final P-TA meeting of the 1966-67 season, according to Mrs. John Spearman, president.

Teachers of new first grade students will meet with the mothers at 1:30 in the auditorium to introduce themselves and give a brief outline of the next school year.

Installation of officers for the next school year will highlight the meeting. Mrs. James Gardner will install the officers and Mrs. Rufe Jordan will give the spiritual thought.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Good for a smile: A sergeant, drilling a bunch of recruits, saw that one of them was out of step. Going to the man as they marched, he said sarcastically, "Do you know Nud, that they're all out of step except you?"

"Well," was the retort, "You are in charge. You tell them." Heard of no damage from the hail storm the other night, but the rain was more than welcome. And another Friday morning, drove over to Miami Wednesday morning and the unrigged wheat was rather short, continued moisture may still help.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cullin last week was a nephew Preston Whitfield of California for a weeks visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley spent last weekend in Amarillo, visiting their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vaughn; also their grandchildren Joe Vaughn, Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lanham of Misty Dawn.

The Governor's Committee met Thursday night and some interesting plans are afoot in the near future for all citizens fifty five years and older. May have some interesting news for you later.

Mrs. P. G. Gates has moved to Apt. 3, 521 Montague, where her friends will find her.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Adair visited relatives and friends in their old home town of Tyler, Tex. last week. Mr. Adair took the flu and their son drove down and brought them home. Glad he was then able to be with us at The Center this week. Better luck next time, Mr. Adair.

Sorry Mrs. Martha Carter was not well enough to be with us this week.

Mr. Tucker has been released from the hospital, but was unable to be out yet. Mrs. Eckroat and Mrs. Cornelious were reported a Highland General Hospital. We wish for them all a speedy recovery.

The article in The News recently of Katie Vincent's and Tracy Cary's impressions of the black duster in the spring of 1935 brought back memories. We had just bought a home and moved into Pampa on Dec. 4, 1934. It was quite an experience. Had never seen anything like it before and am glad we have never had to experience another. In other parts of the plains country they were experiencing some of the same: after the long drought.

This first meeting of the month was hosted by the Altrusa Club with only two present have birthdays in May. The club presented them with gifts and the News took their pictures. They were Mrs. S. A. Barnum and H. C. Wilkie.

The serving table was graced with a beautiful centerpiece of pink gold and white snapdragons arranged by Ann Kay. The birthday cake was baked by Emily Coston.

Altrusans serving sandwiches, cake and coffee during the refreshment hour were: Mmes. Jay Flanagan chairman, Mabel Hukill, Marie Fitzgerald, Louise Sewell, Lillian Snow, Floy Heath.

Red Cross volunteers providing transportation were George Benham, A. D. Hills, Jess Hatcher.

See you next week? Remember, all 55 on up, are eligible, ladies and gents. Come out and enjoy the games; the more the merrier.

Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County Home Demonstration Agent, announced the program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on May 16 in Lee Junior High School.

It was also announced Mrs. C. E. Boswell will give a drapery workshop at 9:30 a.m. May 22 in the Annex. The next council meeting will be at 2 p.m. on May 22.

Members approved the estimated budget for 4H girls to attend the Roundup in College Station the first week in June.

Each club was instructed to elect a delegate and nominee for the Texas Home Demonstration Association chairmanship this month. The state convention will be held in Hotel Texas in Fort Worth on Sept. 19-20.

Mrs. Jack Howard gave the THDA report.

It was reported Mrs. Jack Benton, Mrs. Jack Howard and Mrs. Ray Robertson were delegates to the district meeting in Claude.

Mrs. N. A. Briden reported on the council's recent party for Senior Citizens at Senior Center in Lovett Memorial Library. She said there were 17 men and 37 women attending the party. Refreshments were served and two fruit bowls were given as door prizes.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — We have a straw rug made of individual squares that is several years old and well-worn in the main traffic areas. I have already re-sewed the rug to shift two worn-out squares to a less obvious spot. I am wondering if it is safe to wash this type of rug with water or another cleaner. It is beginning to look gray and has lost the shiny look it had when new. I know it would be a big job to either wash or clean this rug, but something has to be done.

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Martha that to clean a white felt hat I use white corn meal. Rub the meal in well with your hand, let it stay on a few minutes and then brush it off.

—MYRTLE
DEAR POLLY — The sky is the limit when decorating a young child's room. Paint the ceiling a darker color than the walls, perhaps midnight blue with light blue walls. After the paint has dried, stick on small silver stars, the sort that teachers use for marking first grader's papers. At night the gaint

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 10
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day of growing when logical thinking is the order of the day and you are now able to put your ideas across with more than usual ease and bounding facility, as well as make any sales or purchases that are important to you and to think through any problems facing you with more than usual acumen. Visit relatives and neighbors.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You are able to get right into those reports that have been difficult before this and make a good impression on higher-ups. Talk to associates so that you know exactly where you are headed. Be explicit.
Taurus: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Now you understand how to gain more abundance and have the backing of financiers who know your ideas. Problems. Confer with persons who can assist you to budget more wisely. Spend evening quietly with acquaintances.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Look up those good friends you have not seen in quite some time and you find wonderful new ideas and opportunities at this time. Get out to the social scene. Make new acquaintances, also. Do whatever secretive work necessary to further your legitimate aims in the future. Be more interested in interesting, narrative and happy. Be with one you love in the evening after all is quieted.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 23) — You have been planning to get together with powerful individuals and those you like, admire, and this is a fine day for such. Show that you have your wits about you and fine things happen. Have a sense of humor.
VIRGO: (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Find that higher-up who can give you the financial support you desire at this time. Use that clever system for handling your regular work much better. Get all operating like clockwork. Read some tonight.

LIBRA: (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Some new contact with ideas very different to yours can be the avenue by which you make greater progress at this time. Be sure to answer questions sent to you from out of town. Gain more support from them.
SCORPIO: (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — You can now see exactly how to handle all of your obligations without having to be so anxious and worried all the time. Collections also need to be so difficult. Find better way to get devotion from mate.
SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — You can certainly do a lot better by getting associates to cooperate more with your plans and suggestions, especially if you are more loyal with them. Much breaks into the open so you know how to proceed more intelligently.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Forget the frivolous and get into the work ahead of you since you are in fine fettle and can accomplish much. Coordinate efforts with co-workers who know just what should be done. Then you succeed.
AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — If you have the time, get into recreation. It gives you a spiritual uplift. You will find that you can then accomplish almost anything you set your mind to. Be of assistance to young people. Be wise.
PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Concentrate on making conditions at home much better with aid of his instead of getting out on a spree, etc. Bid yourself the whole, the outworn, and life will be easier for you. Streamline everything around you.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) —Purcell, Graham & Co. says the strong upward trend of the stock market seems to be intact and there are no visible signs of deterioration as yet. But the firm says an orientation in leadership seems to be developing, which is common to all bull markets. The company feels that in order to maximize return of capital, investors must be aware of such action and act accordingly.

Thomson & McKinnon says market psychology apparently has assumed a more optimistic stance with stocks spending little time in consolidation, ignoring unfavorable political and economic news and advancing in hopes of a second half economic revival. The company says the optimism "seems warranted as long as it is remembered that the seeds of excess and over-valuation usually are planted in the fresh soil of exuberance every time the Dow Jones industrial average makes a new high."

WOUND HUKS

MANILA, P.I. (UPI) — Philippine Constabulary troops reported they wounded at least four Communist Huk guerrillas in a brief but fierce gunfight Friday night near the Huk stronghold of Mt. Arayat, about 50 miles north of Manila. No government casualties were reported.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Pay Based on Productivity

A man may be paid by the hour, but he is not paid for the hour. In many industries, payment by the hour provides a convenient measuring stick for the people who have to make up the payroll, but the pay is not for the hours spent.

A million people could spend a million hours doing nothing and the net result would be exactly nothing. It would, in a way, be less than nothing, because the trillion manhours could never be recovered and would be lost to the world of man forever.

The only thing a man can be paid for is what he produces. In the manufacturing industry, this is equally true of a piece of machinery; it can sit on the plant floor until Doomsday and it isn't worth a penny until it produces something man can use and is willing to pay for. Same thing with the boss, if he doesn't come up with the right combination of men and materials and equipment to produce something people will buy.

The economic measure of man is his productivity which is increased through the efficient use of tools, which are paid for out of profits. The higher the productivity, the greater the opportunity for increasing profits, thus enabling an enterprise to compete and expand.

And the converse is equally true, as witness the case of the businessman who announced he was being forced to close his plant. "And how many people did you have working there?" he was asked. "About two-thirds of them," he replied sadly. When it comes to productivity and profits, the moral is clear.

Until very recent years, many manufacturing industries paid their employees on a "piece work" basis. Production quotas were assigned for each job and the employee who exceeded his quota was paid a bonus.

Those who didn't meet their quotas soon found themselves unemployed or working elsewhere.

The unions objected strenuously to "piecework" and, indeed there were inequities in the system, largely because the employer and his time-study experts could not, in some cases, rate each job properly.

Despite union objections, many employees preferred the "piece work" system because they were paid for being industrious and did not have to "carry" the sluggish who "worked" next to them on the production line.

In final analysis, all wages must be based on productivity or, if you will, "piece work." No employer can pay a worker for more than he produces. If he does, the employer goes out of business and the jobs his business created disappear with it.

Nobody Believes Aesop

More than 2500 years ago Aesop told a tale that many people, even today, can't get through their heads. It's the fable of the goose that laid golden eggs. Hoping to get gold faster, its owner twisted the bird's neck. End of gold reserve.

Bertie Powers, threatening still another strike of New York City's newspapers, seems not to believe Aesop. Neither does Walter Reuther, who is preparing to shut down the nation's automobile industry in a year when car sales are off, badly.

But New York City's finance director, Roy M. Goodman, may be getting the idea. The other day he was bewailing the fact that Fun City had lost $17 million in cigarette taxes in a single year because of "buttlelegz." This started when Mayor Lindsay doubled the tax on Fun City so that the smoker in Fun City now pays a total of 16 cents a pack in state and city taxes—on top of an 8 cents federal tax. With an inviting 16 cents margin to work with, petty punks began smuggling cigarettes into the city in truck-load lots. Then the Mafia moved in. Not only did the Mafia smuggle cigarettes, but it now appears that they moved in to take over some of the legitimate whole sale tobacco distributors. Sales of cigarettes through regular channels fell off sharply in Fun City — by a third. The city reported a total tax loss of $42 million, plus an additional $4 million in sales tax loss. The loss to the State treasury was $2.8 million.

In other words, everybody lost but the crooks.

How much did Mayor Lindsay learn from all this? At last report he was seeking to hike the tax on liquor by 90 cents a fifth. And that will revitalize a lagging underworld business in a hurry. Bootlegging has been on the decline, but that kind of tax will pep it up, be sure.

Americans have been more submissive to taxation than any people in history. But when politicians become too greedy, taxpayers find ways and means of circumventing the tax collectors. And there's always "Mafia" to reap the profits. This explains the practice of smuggling in almost every era of history. And it explains more than a few revolutions.

Maybe Aesop is just too deep for the politicians. And even a goose can learn to run and hide from an owner bent on twisting its neck.

Newspapers: Accentuate Positive

Newspapers sometimes are charged with shortcomings ranging from favoritism in photographic coverage to discrimination in the divorce and magistrate court transcripts.

One criticism is that they are preceptors of gloom, exploiting the sordid and the sadistic out of a desire to sell more papers.

Of course, the charges are untrue in most cases and grossly unfair to the industry as a whole.

Slung by repeated criticism of this type, one Midwestern daily studied, measured and catalogued its own total news lineage over a period of two weeks. The result, it gleefully reported, was that something like 70 per cent of all news printed was of a positive nature, of human accomplishments and encouraging in direction.

The much-maligned young by themselves fared every bit as well, and that didn't even count the school news, which accentuated the positive completely. The only real argument the average critic has is that sordid news sells papers, which is, in a way, a most encouraging fact. Because the unusual makes the real hard core news, the fat black headlines. The mean, the base, the ignoble are, fortunately, unusual.

As long as crime, violence and all manner of negative deeds are uncommon enough to rate top page play, it means kindness, courage and positive accomplishments are what is really making the world go round.

When the latter become so rare that they make the big headlines, readers will have something to worry about.

Wit and Whimsy

A little girl was telling about her stay at summer camp. Little Ellen — The first day I didn't have hardly any friends. The second day I had a few friends. The third day I had friends and enemies.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

The nation's airports, heliports and seaplane bases numbered 9,673 last year, 107 more than in 1965. A federal report shows that Texas still leads all other states with 853 landing facilities; California came next with 659; Alaska, 551; Pennsylvania, 441; and Ohio, 383. The total breaks down to 8,891 airports, 418 heliports and 364 seaplane bases. More than three-fifths of the nation's total are privately owned airports, but only 1,988 have lighted runways and only 9,849 have paved runways.

Today's smile: A woman called Weather Bute seeking a prediction for the morrow. Upon learning what was in store, she said: "But my corns tell me that it won't be clear and sunny." The weather forecaster replied: "Well, my corns tell me that it will be 'clear and sunny.'"

April was a rainy month in most parts of the U.S., but we didn't read that any records for heavy rainfall had been set. That means that Tatoosh Island, Washington state, still holds the distinction of having experienced the longest rainfall in the U.S. Some years ago it rained there for 48 consecutive days . . . We never thought of it, but a British historian is probably right. He says the reason Robin Hood stole from the rich was that he found out the poor didn't have any money . . . Statistics can always be made to prove anything. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports the income of the nation's farmers increased last year, but it neglected to say how much of the farm population income came from farming and how much from non-farm sources.

Thoughts while shaving: The 500-mile strip along the Atlantic coast from southern New Hampshire to northern Virginia will some day before the year 2000 become a single city called Magalopolis, according to government planners. That will mean the end of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and even Washington. Well, we'll believe it when we see it . . . One of the oldest and most popular attractions at any fair or carnival is the Ferris Wheel. It was first exhibited at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893 and was named for its inventor, George Washington Ferris, an engineer . . . Habits do change: Sniffing snuff does not rank with smoking and drinking these days, but back in the 18th century it was very popular. More than 200 brands of snuff were marketed and fortunes were spent on snuff boxes. If memory serves each U.S. Senator is still provided with a snuff box, but we haven't heard of a senator sniffing the pulverized powder in years . . . A Harvard-School of Public Health survey reveals older drivers have less serious automobile accidents than younger ones. The faults of the older drivers are usually pulling out improperly from the curb; failing to yield the right of way; and ignoring traffic signs. . . The Augusta (Ga.) HERALD carried a weather forecast: "Fair to partly cloudy and milk through Saturday." A Grade A prediction!

The Nation's Press

Look at the Applicant's Shortcomings (Southern States Industrial Bulletin)

Employers, particularly in the South, are going to be hit with another all-out Federal offensive to wipe out race and sex discrimination in hiring and in promotions. This, we gather from quotes attributed to Mr. Stephen N. Shulman, new chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

It would appear that the EEOC hasn't accomplished much to date, so Mr. Shulman is going to revitalize it, recruit dynamic young staffers, then evangelize employers by both persuasion and by swinging the big stick that the Federal government places in the hands of zealots. Of course, these must be zealots who follow the party line.

To nobody's surprise, the South will be the first geographical target area and the textile industry the first specific objective to be attacked by the EEOC's task force. We say "to nobody's surprise" because anytime a civil rights group, bearded beatniks, or a Washington commission dedicated to the Negro's uplift by law or bayonet — seeks a scapegoat — the South is it. Perhaps there was a time when that was the best way to gather the packaged vote in the great urban centers — but evidently some people haven't heard about last November's election results.

Anyway, on what basis do these Federal inquisitors — with their questionnaires, their interviews, their informants and other sources of information decide that an employer has discriminated against anybody? With the current manpower shortage, and with so many employables turning down job offers in favor of taxpayer — subsidized leisure, we think the investigators should REVERSE the process.

We think Mr. Shulman's bright boys should investigate complaints by employers that they can't get enough people to work — men or women, black or white. To be sure, Mr. Shulman's commission may take issue with certain requirements that some employers impose upon successful applicants — such as education, skill, experience, lack of police record, and general acceptability.

If Mr. Shulman ever had to meet a payroll, abide by a union contract, and answer Government forms, he'd understand that a sub-standard applicant is pretty much of a liability today.

There is also the impact of the recently expanded minimum wage law that now makes employers more reluctant than ever to take a chance on the marginal worker.

This country surely must be sufficed with commissions trying to tell employers whom they must hire — regardless of the product or service involved. Without exception, these investigative bodies hammer away at selection criteria — such as aptitude, intelligence tests, character and references. The poor employer is supposed to jettison those; if he does, he'll be poor in more ways than one.

As for dragging in the race question every time a Negro is turned down for a job — we think it's time that investigators take a look at the rejected applicant. In the South today, with its industrial growth continuing and manpower in short supply, we don't think the discriminatory factors are so much race and sex as a natural reluctance to pay Federally decreed excessive wages for performance received.

Backstage Washington

Subversives Infiltrated into U.S. via Havana-Miami Airlift Despite Close Screening, House Subcommittee Told

WASHINGTON — Fidel Castro is making the most of the refugee airlift to try to infiltrate hundreds of subversive agents into the U.S.

Since the program was launched in December 1965, the U.S. Immigration Service, assisted by other agencies, has detected and barred 660 "known subversives" seeking to enter from Cuba.

That means that one out of every hundred of the 63,000 refugees cleared by Havana for the Miami airlift were Castro agents. So far there have been 700 of these flights at the rate of two a day.

Despite the intense screening of the daily flow of refugees, U.S. authorities privately conceded some agents undoubtedly have slipped through. They have no idea of the number, but say it could be as many as 100.

Information on more than 50 Cuban subversives, including a suspected leader, now suspected of being in the U.S. has been turned over to the FBI.

MAKING CONTACT — In testimony before a House Appropriations Subcommittee, Director J. Edgar Hoover revealed that a number of refugees had informed the FBI that Castro agents tried to recruit them to gather intelligence.

While stressing that the overwhelming majority of refugees are loyal to the U.S. and came here to escape Communist rule, Hoover declared, "I think we would be very naive if we didn't assume that among them would be some Castro agents."

In recent months, Hoover further disclosed, Castro has increased his "diplomatic personnel" at the United Nations and at embassies in Canada, Mexico and Spain.

In addition to the 660 subversives, Immigration authorities have barred or deported several hundred others identified as narcotics agents or individuals with moral and criminal records.

Immigration authorities also are investigating a Castro smuggling ring operating between Havana, Prague, Madrid and the U.S. Some teenage Cuban saboteurs reputedly have product or service involved. Without exception, these investigative bodies hammer away at selection criteria — such as aptitude, intelligence tests, character and references. The poor employer is supposed to jettison those; if he does, he'll be poor in more ways than one.

MAKING CONTACT — In testimony before a House Appropriations Subcommittee, Director J. Edgar Hoover revealed that a number of refugees had informed the FBI that Castro agents tried to recruit them to gather intelligence.

While stressing that the overwhelming majority of refugees are loyal to the U.S. and came here to escape Communist rule, Hoover declared, "I think we would be very naive if we didn't assume that among them would be some Castro agents."

In recent months, Hoover further disclosed, Castro has increased his "diplomatic personnel" at the United Nations and at embassies in Canada, Mexico and Spain.

In addition to the 660 subversives, Immigration authorities have barred or deported several hundred others identified as narcotics agents or individuals with moral and criminal records.

Immigration authorities also are investigating a Castro smuggling ring operating between Havana, Prague, Madrid and the U.S. Some teenage Cuban saboteurs reputedly have product or service involved. Without exception, these investigative bodies hammer away at selection criteria — such as aptitude, intelligence tests, character and references. The poor employer is supposed to jettison those; if he does, he'll be poor in more ways than one.

As for dragging in the race question every time a Negro is turned down for a job — we think it's time that investigators take a look at the rejected applicant. In the South today, with its industrial growth continuing and manpower in short supply, we don't think the discriminatory factors are so much race and sex as a natural reluctance to pay Federally decreed excessive wages for performance received.

Face Lifting Does Not Halt Process of Aging
Q—In what way does a face lifting help? How would a person look a couple of years after this operation? Are most people satisfied after such an operation? Can you tell that a person has had one?

A—In the technique now widely used, an incision is made at the side of the face near the hair line and the excess skin is removed. This removes the wrinkles but does not halt the process of aging. The operation leaves you looking 10 to 12 years younger. Two years later you would still look good but after four or five years you might need a retreat.

Most people who depend for their living on making a pleasing appearance in public are satisfied with the results. When skillfully done, the scar is hardly noticeable but in women that is not so important because they can choose a hairdo that will cover the scar.

Q—I am 37 and have deep wrinkles in my face. Am I too young to have a face lifting?
A—Some persons have this operation in their 20s.
Q—My doctor says I have sarcoidosis or Boeck's sarcoid in my lungs. What causes it? Is it serious? What is the best treatment?

A—Sarcoidosis is a disease of unknown origin. Although it resembles tuberculosis in many ways, it is apparently not caused by an infectious agent. It may be due to an allergy to pine tree pollen, the dust of peanut hulls or some other allergen. In the skin and lymph nodes it causes a lumpy enlargement. It may occur anywhere in the body but the commonest location is in the lungs. The nodules may exist for years without causing any symptoms, depending on the part of the body involved.

Because of the benign nature of the disease, many doctors prefer a course of watchful waiting with periodic checks rather than vigorous treatment. Others prescribe X-ray treatment or such drugs as streptomycin, colchicine, hydrocortisone or chloroquine. The results with these measures are varied. The disease runs a harmless course unless a vital organ becomes involved and most vic-times live long enough to die of some other cause.

Q—Do human beings ever get the mange? If so, what would be the symptoms and the best treatment?
A—Mange is an infestation with an itch mite. Although the animal itch mite can be transmitted to man, in man it clears up in about 10 days without any treatment.
