Israeli Troops Break Arab Gulf of Aqaba Blockade

Armored Columns Reach Suez Canal

By WALTER LOGAN

United Press International

Israel announced its troops captured the Egyptian fortress of Sharm el Sheikh today and broke the blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba. Unofficial reports said swift moving Israeli armored columns reached the Suez Canal while other troops seized the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem.

A spokesman said Israel spearheaded a drive to the southernmost tip of the Sinai Peninsula in a swift movement that employed both ground and air forces—airborne had covered nearly 150 miles in less than three days.

Capture of Sharm el Sheikh and destruction of the bulk of Egyptian armor in the Sinai Desert meant that Israel had achieved two of its prime objectives in the war against the Arabs which began at 9 a.m. (1 a.m. CDT) on Monday. The third objective was securing of her borders from which Arab infiltrators struck into Israel on terror and sabotage missions. Israel forces were deep in Jordan in a drive aimed at the Jordan River, and were hitting Syrian troops to the north. Attacks from the Gaza Strip ended with its capture.

Joyous Victory
The most joyous victory to the Israelis was the occupation of the ancient city of Jerusalem, closed to them by the Jordanians for more than 20 years. Gen. Moshe Dayan, the conqueror of the Arabs, rode triumphantly into the town. Dayan went directly to the wailing wall, a relic of the ancient Jews, and offered prayers. Hundreds of his troops, dirt-caked, sweaty, tired, stood silently in prayer at the wall which has been a symbol for the Jews for 2,000 years.

The Soviet Union, which backed the Arabs in the fight with Israel, called today for an emergency meeting of the Security Council and it was expected to meet in a matter of hours. The Russians had grown increasingly dismayed as the United Arab military command began collapsing. There was no official confirmation of reports the Israelis had reached the Suez Canal in a record-breaking dash across the Sinai Peninsula, but the high command announced earlier the Israelis had captured the Sinai desert town of Rumana, only 21 miles from the canal, and were driving along the Mediterranean coast.

Other Israeli forces today completed the conquest of the Jordanian part of Jerusalem after a brisk battle. Authoritative diplomatic sources in London said hard-pressed Jordan had asked the Western powers to intervene to halt the fighting.

The United Arab Republic, in its most serious admission of setbacks in the three-day old war, admitted that its troops (See ISRAELI, Page 3)

Israel Military Might May Force UAR Cease-Fire

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel's price for settling the Middle East war may be a slice of Arab territory, informed sources said today.

They said Israel also will want Arab recognition that she is here to stay and an end to the three factors which produced the Holy Land crisis—the U.A.R. blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, raids by Arab terrorists, and the threat of attack from across the Sinai Desert.

Israel leaders believe they erred in not demanding and getting these national security goals after defeating Arab armies in 1948 and 1956.

Brig. Gen. Hayyim Hertzog hinted at the Israeli war aims Tuesday in briefing correspondents. The official military spokesman indicated Israel may claim the west bank of the Jordan River from King Hussein's Jordan.

Israel always has felt the Jordan River is a natural frontier of its country and that she will always remain vulnerable as long as the west bank lies in Arab hands. Hertzog, in his broadcast briefing, also indicated Israel may lay claim to the whole of Jerusalem. Before the crisis she shared the holy city with Jordan.

Rain Sinks Circus Acts

One of Pampa's heaviest rains in recent years rained out the evening performance of the Shrine Circus last night before it even got started.

The performance was cancelled just before showtime when it appeared that there would be no let up in the weather.

The show has been rescheduled for two shows on Wednesday, Aug. 23, in the Top O' Texas Rodeo Grounds.

"All tickets that have been sold for the Local Shrine organization, will be honored at the rescheduled show," Jerry Sims, general circus chairman for the Local Shrine organization, said. This will include the free children's tickets, according to Sims.

"We feel that this will be the best for everyone," said Larry Carden, co-owner of the Carden-Johnson International Circus. "There would have been a lot of tickets gone unused had we put the show on," he said.

At the time the show was cancelled, there were an estimated 300 people waiting in cars outside the gate.

"We want to give the people their money's worth," said Fred Van Shoubrouek, "and you can (See SINKS, Page 3)

UAR Expels Americans

CAIRO (UPI) — Americans calmly left Cairo today with mobs jeering them and radio broadcasts calling them "blood-suckers."

The United Arab Republic government asked them to get out of the country, blaming U.S. and British warplanes for mauling Israel's "aggression" against the Arab world.

Bitter anti-American sentiment erupted with the semi-official newspaper Al Ahran reporting Israeli forces advancing well into Egyptian territory and heading for the Suez Canal.

The newspaper said in a headline, "Our forces make heroic stand in face of American-British-Israeli offensive."

At the railway station, with bomb-like explosions echoing during an air raid alert, about 500 Americans and other foreigners stepped through screaming Egyptian crowds and boarded a train that rumbled four hours to the port of Alexandria.

U.S. ambassador-designate Richard H. Nolte remained in his embassy and was expected to leave in a few days following Cairo's diplomatic break with Washington. The embassy was not burned, despite news agency reports that a mob set it afire.

Despite other news agency reports, cable service from Cairo remained open even for the dwindling Western press corps. The Egyptians ordered out 17 of the 22 American newsmen here including Eric Pace of the New York Times and Garven Hudgens of the Associated Press.

Cairo Radio blared insults unprecedented even in the often stormy relations between America and Egypt. "Americans are pirates! Bloodsuckers! Twentieth Century Criminals! Conspirators!" it said.

Al Ahran quoted Jordan's King Hussein as saying "American planes have hit my palace with rockets."

It said Hussein and Gen. Abdel Moneim Riad of the Joint Arab Command "saw the American air sorties with their own eyes on powerful radar screens which detected two carriers in the Mediterranean from which one wave after another of American war planes took off."

GERMAN VISIT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger will visit the United States July 7-8 for talks with President Johnson. The trip will be Kiesinger's first American visit since he succeeded Ludwig Erhard as chancellor last December.

Her husband was introducing his American bride of 30 years ago to her royal in-laws and his former subjects officially for the first time since he abdicated the British throne to marry "the woman I love."

The occasion was minor, unveiling a small wall plaque to the late Queen Mary, the duke of Windsor's pother, at Marlborough House, a two minute royal carriage ride from Buckingham Palace.

But the ceremony moved to undo three decades of polite but stern ostracism for the Baltimore divorcee for whom King Edward VIII became the duke of Windsor.

Never before had Queen Elizabeth II and her family appeared in public with the 69-year-old duchess. Never before had Britons seen an American or a divorced person standing in the royal circle.

Federal Court Acquits Eight In Racial Violence

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—A federal court jury acquitted eight white men, including a justice of the peace, Tuesday night of charges of attacking Negro students at desegregated schools in Grenada, Miss., last fall.

The verdict by the all-white jury came after three hours and 12 minutes of deliberation at 10:05 p.m. CDT.

One defendant, Archie Larry Campbell, 19, danced a jig outside the courthouse to show his elation over the decision. Other defendants embraced relatives and friends. Justice of the Peace James Richard Ayers walked arm-in-arm from the courtroom with his wife and two sons.

The eight had been charged with interfering with U.S. District Judge Claude Clayton's order calling for desegregation of two formerly all-white schools at the small north Mississippi town of Grenada. Maximum penalty upon conviction would have been one year in prison and/or a $1,000 fine.

During government testimony, Negro students described attacks by an angry mob of whites Sept. 12-13 when they tried to enter the schools.

Order was restored when Gov. Paul Johnson sent a large force of state troopers to the town. Grenada, target of a long civil rights project by Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, had been relatively free of incidents since then.

Other defendants included Donald Wayne Bain, a Memphis sheet metal worker who lived in Grenada at the time of the violence; Duke Reynolds, William Bryant Flanagan, Clyde Perry, and Jerome Shaw, all of Grenada.

Ayers had been identified by three Negro students as a red haired man who pulled a pistol from beneath a trenchcoat and threatened them.

Troops Set Kill Record in May

SAIGON (UPI)— American Marines today reported killing a record 2,752 Communists in May during fierce fighting against an estimated five North Vietnamese divisions and other Communist units.

There was no immediate information on Marine casualties during the month.

Marine officials said most of the Communists fell in heavy fighting along South Vietnam's northern border and in Leatherneck sweeps to protect vital supply lines in the beleaguered northern provinces.

The previous record for Communists killed by the Marines in a single month came last March when the Leathernecks reported slaying 2,159 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

U.S. intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese have infiltrated five divisions—possibly more than 30,000 men—into the Demilitarized Zone separating the Vietnamese and the northern provinces.

The fighting in May was highlighted by a series of Marine assaults on key hills overlooking American bases along the northern coast and the border.

An American spokesman reported terrorists killed an unidentified American civilian aid worker, a district chief, the chief's wife and three South Vietnamese soldiers in an attack today. The terrorists hit the hamlet of Ben San, 15 miles south of the American air base at Ben Hoa.

In the air, U.S. jets smashed key rail links on both sides of Hanoi. F105 Thunderchief pilots said their bombs ripped out a section of track near the Bac Giang railroad yard 50 miles northeast of Hanoi.

ASPEN FALLS — While Tuesday evening's torrent of rain that created a waterfall in miniature pouring off of Duncan St. into Aspen Park Creek may not become a permanent tourist attraction, while it lasted, it created a great deal of interest for cruising Pampa motorists and for the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Musgrave, 2200 Duncan pictured above from the left, Kevin, Jessie and Rickey.

Rain Drenches Pampa Farmers

Even the cows and horses needed umbrellas and raincoats here yesterday — as Pampa and surrounding farms were drenched under rains that measured up to five inches.

The most rain reported was 15 miles northeast of Pampa at the John Harnly ranch, where 4.75 inches fell in "a downpour of rain from two different showers," Mrs. Harnly said.

"I guess we got the most of anybody around here. It rained in sheets, first from the south and then east in two different showers. There wasn't any hail or wind damage here to amount to anything," Mrs. Harnly said.

Further east at Miami, Mrs. Harnly reported two inches of rain fell in the 5 p.m. thunder and lightning storms.

Another gauge five miles north of town at the W. F. Taylor farm showed more than two inches of rain fell in "an extremely hard, stormy shower."

"In the first one we got 1.1 inch and later, in another storm, another inch," Mrs. Taylor said.

"It was the first time we've had a rain like this. The first was just like a fog it rained so hard, but the last one was a steady downpour," Mrs. Taylor said.

At Laketon, east of Pampa, Mrs. Floyd McLaughlin reported that 1.8 inch of rain poured water in the lakes and "started the frogs croaking."

Water was standing everywhere east of Pampa, Mrs. H. H. Keahy said, but no one was flooded out in the 3.7 inches that fell in the two and a half hour cloudburst.

"A mile and a half north of us, at the D. W. Swain ranch, they reported 4.1 inches. Most of our rains started about 5 p.m.," Mrs. Keahy said.

Southeast of Pampa, rain reports in Lefors ranged from two inches at the rain gauge of Gray County Commissioner Joe Clark to .70 of an inch at Ed Vincent's farm south of Lefors. No hail or wind damage was reported, according to Mrs. D. C. Read of Lefors.

Circling south of Pampa at the Emil Urbanczyk farm house, last night's showers released 1.90 of an inch. In the last three days, Urbanczyk said they received a half inch Sunday night and .20 of an inch Monday night.

At the Urbanczyk ranch six miles south of Pampa, 3 1/2 inches of rain started the creeks running, she said.

"Rains must have lessened up as they went further south, because (See FARMERS, Page 3)

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 8

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening after a couple of very good days, to make sure you sidestep any tensions whatever that arise since you, as well as others, are apt to break promises made or to feel under such tensions that you can do what you wish you would behind the eight-ball. Keeping cool, calm, poised, controlled avoids such.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Be extremely careful in motion or there is bound to be trouble. Don't start an argument with anyone because you have some suspicion that is unfounded. Be sure of facts. Get off the beam and all is fine.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You are apt to be foolish or extravagant with your money today, as you are tempted to do. Be sure that you are of a cheerful, light-hearted mood. Show your generosity and help one who is in real trouble. Show your generosity and kindness.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Don't be forceful with others just because you feel frustrated. Be very tactful instead. Light entertainment is excellent for you. However, be sure that you are of a cheerful, light-hearted mood. Show your generosity and help one who is in real trouble. Show your generosity and kindness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Instead of showing that you are a creature of mood, be dignified in all your actions. Be wise and you avoid getting into difficulty of one sort or another. Be prompt in business affairs. Impress others with your good judgment, and be more serious with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Avoid acting such a way that you irritate those around you and those with whom you do business. Wordly matters need special attention right now. Show that you can be most diplomatic.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Making drastic changes where your routine work is concerned would be most unwise, since you are pretty much inexperienced in whatever is new. However, you can study into new avenues of expression. Be sure that you are of a cheerful, light-hearted mood. Show your generosity and help one who is in real trouble. Show your generosity and kindness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You need steady hands and calm. Other chances that are strictly your own responsibility and this would be most unwise. Backbite loyally. Some idea of or she has could be most profitable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You can come to a fine understanding with some big personalities if you listen to what they have to suggest instead of forcing your own ideas on them. Clear up quickly some business affair that is vital, be clear-headed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You need steady hands and calm. Other chances that are strictly your own responsibility and this would be most unwise. Backbite loyally. Some idea of or she has could be most profitable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Instead of running off on some tangent or other, show close ties that you are devoted and loyal. Although you think you are the tips in your own line of endeavor, you really need more practice, experience. Get it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — A more modern modus operandi is necessary especially in finances if you want to really please kin. Get down to basics. Give your consideration to several deals and you find out right now, you have made mistakes.

YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — If he or she will be one of those highly sensitive youngsters who easily require more rest than others and should be placed and people in the outside world who like to argue and fight. Then the child becomes a successful one, since the use of the hands is very good as well as having a simple, clever mind.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. Inc. says that in view of the Mideast conflict and its ramifications a test of the key 840 area of the Dow Jones industrial average may develop in the days ahead. The firm, however, says that in view of "downside risk" it is "more sanguine" regarding action of the Blue Chips comprising the average than it is toward "the highly vulnerable" glamor-issues.

Newton D. Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. Inc. says that strictly from a technical standpoint, the market is close to its low for the "intermediate decline" that started four weeks ago. At the same time, according to the analyst, the near term trend will be guided by developments on the international front.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. Inc. says prices of many issues are at levels from which fresh advances could be justified. The firm says it feels the low in corporate earnings and the business cycle already has been reached and that earnings may begin to expand within the next few months.

A thought for the day... British statesman John Morley said, "It is not enough to do good. One must do it the right way."

County Agents Plan State-Wide Meeting

Texas County Agriculture Agents will have their annual state-wide convention in the Panhandle this summer, the first time in the organization's 40-year history that the state-wide meeting was held in this area.

Convention headquarters will be Holiday Inn West, Amarillo. Gray County Agent Foster Whaley of Pampa, finance committee chairman, said "We've been planning this convention for our area, district one, for three years and extensively over the past year. Our three-day meeting is set for Aug. 6-8."

During the convention, about 450 county agents, their wives and special guests will attend business sessions and hear addresses by regional agricultural leaders and legislators and honor outstanding county agents and Texans who have contributed to agriculture.

E. L. Dysart, Hartley County agent, and the association's vice president, is convention chairman. Gaines Franks of Amarillo, Potter County agent, is convention vice chairman.

County HD Agen Plans Workshops On Dressmaking

A pre-workshop meeting for home demonstration club members, 4-H leaders and other Gray County residents will start at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Recreation Park auditorium.

Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County Home Demonstration Agent, will discuss plans for setting up dressmaking for five weeks.

workshops three times a week. To participate in the workshop, each person will make a cotton dress, with beginners in one group and advanced seamstresses in another, she said.

Price Backs Flag Mutilation Bill

WASHINGTON (SpI) — American flag burners can look forward to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine if a bill reported out of the House Judiciary Committee today becomes law.

Congressman Bob Price said the bill he and other congressmen had introduced would make it a federal offense to mutilate, deface, defile or trample any American flag.

Price said it is the hope of the sponsoring congressmen that the bill will be voted into law on Flag Day, June 14.

(Continued From Page 1) cause about six miles from our house, George Dillman called this morning and said he got about 40 of an inch," Mrs. Urbanczyk said.

South of Pampa about 13 miles, Bob Blalock said he received 2.9 inches of rain, and reported "practically a flood in Skellytown."

"On the way to Borger last night, I noticed creeks running through Phillips Park were about 100 feet wide. I guess Phillips got about an inch of rain with a small hail storm about 5 p.m. About 1 a.m. today, it was still sprinkling as I came back into town," Blalock said.

West of town about 2 1/2 miles, Mrs. R. J. Sailor reported 1 1/2 inches of rain.

Mrs. Foster Whaley of Pampa is one of four women directing children's activities. Others are Mrs. Gaines Frank, Mrs. Elwyn Dysart and Mrs. John Brazzil of Canyon, the Randall County agent's wife.

General assembly speakers are House Speaker Ben Barnes of Austin; Dwight Somerville, president of the Southern Region of National Association of County Agricultural Agents, and Mrs. Ann B. Sonner of Sherman, president of County Home Demonstration Agents Association.

Events officially start with registration and a vesper service Aug. 6. George Rice of Nacogdoches, association president, will direct general assembly meetings Aug. 7 and 8.

Amarillo Air Force Band will perform Aug. 7 for general assembly.

During business sessions Aug. 8, agents will elect 1967 officers, hear committee reports and vote on resolutions, Whaley said.

John E. Hutchison of College Station, director of Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will speak Aug. 8.

During an awards banquet Aug. 8, six county agents from odd-numbered districts will be honored and six persons from even-numbered districts will be recognized for service to Texas agriculture, Whaley said.

Warren Pickens of Canadian, in Hemphill County, will be district one's agent honoree this year.

Other special events Aug. 7 include a chartered bus trip to Panhandle - Plains Historical Museum at Canyon, a tour of Palo Duro Canyon State Park, a barbecue in the park, and a performance of "Texas," in the amphitheater, Whaley said.

About 450 people, including agents, their wives and special guests, will participate in the tour, he said.

City firemen answered only two alarms yesterday, both caused by lightning striking near Pampa homes.

Al Hines, 2133 Coffee, reported lightning hit a power line and set an electric clock on fire, North Station firemen said.

Within one minute after Hines' report, Minnie Hines, 617 Yeager called Central Station firemen when her lights went out. They found burned out light bulbs caused by the lightning's overloading of an electric power line.

Telephone service in Pampa was not stopped by the lightning storm, but in McLean, telephone repairs were out from 5:23 p.m. to 8:20 p.m. to restore service.

BETWEEN AIR RAID ALERTS, people of Cairo gathered in the streets to hear news reports of the hostilities on car radios. Cairo radio urged all Arab nations to "rise up and fight" and also appealed to workers in vital industries to "burn the enemy," referring to United States resources, such as oil, in the area.

On Egyptian Sell

Egyptian civilians learned for the first time earlier today Israeli forces were on Egyptian territory.

There were no details on the reported capture of Sharm el Sheikh, which the Egyptians reported heavily bombed on Monday when the Arab-Israeli conflict began. Israeli paratroopers captured it in 1956 in a similar blitzkrieg.

Amman Radio said today Jordan had accepted the cease fire asked Tuesday night by the United Nations Security Council. Egypt rejected it despite the series of disastrous military losses and reported its troops still fighting valiantly.

Again Egypt blamed its setbacks on the United States and Britain and said its armored forces in the Sinai were victims of a joint U.S.-British-Israeli offensive.

The United States and Britain have denied the charges as malicious lies aimed at fomenting Arab hatred against the West.

● Hatred Shows

The Arab hatred was quick to show. Most Arab nations broke relations with the United States and Britain, cut off their oil, demonstrated in front of or set fire to their consulates. Egypt ordered Americans to leave the country.

Amman Radio said Jordanian Premier Saa Jum had notified U.N. Secretary General Thant of his government's decision to accept the cease fire. If correct, it was the first crack in the united Arab front against Israel and the first acceptance.

But moments after the announcement King Hussein of Jordan himself was on Aman Radio urging Jordanians to fight on. The Israelis have reported Jordan shelling on settlements inside Israel and fierce resistance in the old city of Jerusalem.

Manhunt Continues For Revolutionaries

TIERRA AMARILLA, N.M. (UPI)—It had all the elements of a Latin-American civil war: The wild band of revolutionaries raided the seat of government in a burst of gunfire. Two policemen were shot. Twenty persons were taken hostage as the insurgents commanded the courthouse. Then they fled to the hills, and the army rushed in and began a massive manhunt to flush the guerrillas out of hiding.

The short-lived "coup" occurred at this little northern New Mexico town Monday. By this morning, the National Guard was still searching the rugged mountains for the treacherous group of 15 Spanish-Americans bent on taking by force the vast area of land they claim is theirs under ancient land grants.

The countryside, a few miles south of the Colorado state line, took on the appearance of a battlefield. Five hundred guardsmen in full battle gear were in the area, and their orders were "shoot to kill."

They brought tanks, cannons, tear gas.

At the conference, Texas chapter presidents reviewed the year's programs, including a new project to encourage the people of Texas to express their appreciation and moral support of our fighting men in Vietnam.

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — The Dominican Republic may have achieved at last a measure of political maturity.

This is the consensus of many veteran diplomats and long-time residents here who have seen this Caribbean island-republic careen through five governments, three coup d'etats and a major revolution in the five years since the assassination of Rafael Trujillo, whose 30-year tenure as Dominican dictator is still looked upon as one of the most repressive in the hemisphere.

Now that Joaquin Balaguer is finishing his first year as president there is hope that some stability—Dominican style—has come to the republic.

Stability in Santo Domingo is measured almost solely on the government's ability to stay in power. Balaguer's government seems to have that ability.

Crisis Seemed Inevitable

Starting on April 28, a series of 13 terrorist attacks, most against government officials, swept through the country. Santo Domingo at the beginning of May was buttoned up like an overcoat and military patrols were virtually the only vehicles moving after dark.

Balaguer's major opposition, Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary Party (PRD), walked out of the National Assembly, claiming the terrorism was aimed at its members. They called for a solid front of opposition groups to unite under one banner against Balaguer.

A major crisis seemed inevitable, but strangely, although this was the type of situation which would have brought a coup d'etat two years ago, nothing happened this time. The terrorist attacks ceased and the PRD initiated negotiations to see how it could rejoin the National Assembly without losing too much face.

Tough Speech

Balaguer made a tough speech condemning terrorism and extended peace feelers to the opposition, thus cooling the situation completely.

In retrospect, the main tempering influence during this near-crisis was the attitude of the people, that they were at last fed up with violence as the solution to political problems.

This change in the people's attitude is directly reflected in the weakened position in which the Communists in the country now find themselves. That the Communists pose no real threat to the security of the Balaguer government is a significant fact in a country that only two years ago was almost "another Cuba."

Twenty-nine members attended.

Meeting dismissed with Friendship Circle and Song.

...That Oily Hair Problem

Long straight hairstyles are ideal for women with dry or normal hair but can be a problem for those with oily hair. Excess oil causes hair to separate, making it difficult to maintain the smooth look essential to the beauty of straight styles. So that oily hair isn't too much of a problem, be sure to shampoo frequently using a mild shampoo. Wash hair twice, making certain it's squeaky clean after the second rinse. Try a thorough brushing before each shampoo, using a brush that has a thin piece of gauze wrapped around the bristles. This helps to eliminate excess oil.

Flowers Play Important Role In Modern-Day Eve's Life

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — It started with Eve, and ever since women have used flowers to flatter their looks and win a man's fancy.

According to the script of the Broadway musical, "The Apple Tree," Adam had no sooner

Sparkle in the Rain

Sparkle plenty from top to toe in the rain. Marvelous vinyls are madly attracted to each other this season. We start with helmets, sou'wester (with or without see-through window... on a rainy day you can see forever or the peaked fireman's helmet. Coats steal stripes, flowers, tattersalls, bubble dots and can be had in classic or belted trench coat styles. Throw in slick-up gaiters to match the coats and end it all with a shiny tole to match.

built a makeshift hut of three boards when Eve filled the house to overflow capacity with fresh flowers.

Cleopatra, to, made lavish use of blossoms. When Mark Anthony came to dine with the Queen of the Nile, he walked on floors covered a full foot deep with fragrant flowers.

In ancient Egypt, necklaces of blossoms were seen at all times at the best parties and now, today, the newest fashion gems for summer are fresh floral earrings.

Florists report a blossoming business in real-flower earrings, button or drop, for fair-weather fashions. Take a pair of your favorite earrings to your florist and ask him to add fresh blossoms for today's new pert look in jewelry.

Daisies and tiny orchids in colors keyed to your costume are favorite fashion jewels. For candlelit evenings stephanotis or lily of the valley combined with cascades of pearls provides a romantic effect.

Bracelets, to, look pretty ringed with blossoms. And a single tiny bloom can be set into a ring.

Try a pair of "scatter pin" flowers on your suit or dress to get into the swing of the new look in floral gems.

With the pretty, little-girl look so important for the summer season, flowers add the final feminine touch.

DEAR ABBY: Nearly 6 months ago a group of us men were lunching together at our club when a man (I'll call him Mr. Duck Hunter) said, "I've had a fantastic season and have some ducks put away for all of you."

Another man (I'll call him Mr. Big Shot) spoke up and said, "My wife is an expert at preparing wild duck, so why not send all the ducks to my house and she'll prepare a duck dinner for all of us? Everyone agreed it would be great."

Months passed and no duck dinner. Finally Mr. Duck Hunter asked me if I'd ever been invited to Mr. Big Shot's for that duck dinner. I told him I had not. Then he said he had sent 12 ducks to Mr. Big Shot's house per promise.

My question: Shouldn't someone ask Mr. Big Shot what happened to the ducks? And if so, who should ask?

DUCK LOVER: DEAR DUCK LOVER: Yes, Mr. Duck Hunter should ask him. Either the idea of the duck dinner was just ducky with everybody except Mr. Big Shot's wife, or the birds ended up in the craws of Mr. Big Shot and all the Little Shots.

In any case, let this be a lesson to you. A bird in the hand is worth two in somebody else's freezer, so next time someone offers you a gift, don't let a go-between fowl you up.

DEAR ABBY: When introducing my 25-year-old son who has been married and divorced someone is sure to say, "You mean you have a son this good looking and no girl has snapped him up yet?"

Then I say, "He's been married. He's divorced now." Well, my son says this embarrasses him no end, and all I should say is, "No. He's single."

Well, I just can't see it his way. I say once you are married, you are never single again. You're a divorcee. Please answer this in the paper so other mothers can get it straight.

TRUTHFUL: DEAR TRUTHFUL: If one is "single" it means he is simply unattached, and it's really nobody's business how he got that way. It isn't necessary to make an issue of your son's marital history but if you are asked outright and want to answer, answer honestly.

Hill, of Borger, District 19 PTA president, are among the approximately 250 PTA leaders from across the state who are in Austin this week for the association's annual June Leadership Seminar, scheduled Wednesday through Friday noon in Kinsolving Dormitory on the University of Texas campus.

Themes of the 1967 seminar is "PTA and Changing Communities."

PWP Organizes Pampa Chapter

The recently organized Pampa Chapter of Parents Without Partners, Inc., elected officers to head up its activities as a national educational organization devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children.

Mrs. Floy Crites was elected president to serve with Mrs. Juanita Stephens, secretary and Mrs. Bonnie Gardner, treasurer.

The local chapter received recognition as a chapter from the Amarillo Chapter of PWP.

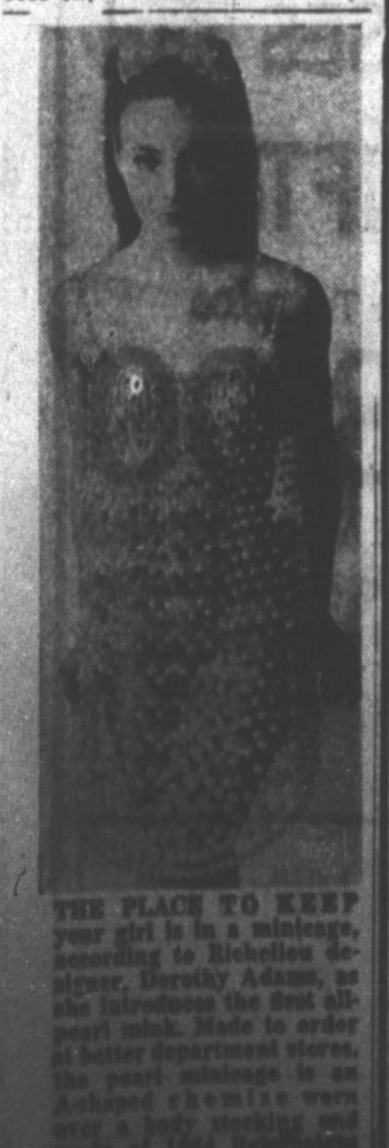

Mrs. F. Crites attended the Canadian River party held recently for PWP members and their children. June activities will include a party, box supper and wiener roast.

A special PWP Sunday School Class has been organized to meet at 9:45 a.m. Sunday mornings in the First Baptist Church. All interested persons of any denomination are invited.

Dr. Emily Hicks was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the group on the topic "Living In Four Dimensions." Additional information about the local chapter may be obtained by contacting any of the officers.

Helpful HDA Hints

by Jimmie Lou Wainscott
Home Demonstration Agent

Careful pressing is a must if a garment is to have a professional look when finished, reminds Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent.

Every dart should be pressed before a seam crosses it, and every seam should be pressed open before being crossed by another seam.

Some fabrics are more difficult to press than others, and some extra equipment is helpful when pressing particular fabrics. For example, a needle board is helpful when pressing nap and pile fabrics. If a needle board is not available, you can press such fabrics as velvet, velveteen, corduroy, wool, broadcloth, etc., by placing a heavy terry towel or leftover piece of the fabric on the ironing board. Place the garment gently over the ironing board, wrong side up. Press with a steam iron.

Short seams in napped or pile fabrics can be pressed over a stiff brush. Turn the bristles up. The nap interlocks with the bristles and the fabrics can be pressed without marking.

Matelasse is another fabric in which the technique is different from regular pressing. To press this fabric, let the iron stand on its heel, and move the wrong side of the seam across the base of the iron horizontally as you hold the seam open. Darts can be slashed open and pressed the same way.

The painting of masonry surfaces can cause many problems if the correct type of paint is not used, warns Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County Home Demonstration Agent.

Masonry, whether it is brick, stone mortar, concrete blocks, or stucco, is quite alkaline. Although the alkalinity decreases with age and weathering, best results come from using alkali resistant paints on old masonry.

The expected exposure of the surface will all determine the type of paint selected. There are several types of alkali resistant paints available today which give the assurance of satisfactory results.

Latex paints are made from emulsions of resinous materials in water, and are water thinned. They are inherently resistant to alkali. Read the label to be sure it is recommended for masonry surfaces since there are several types of latex paints on the market; but any latex paint designed for use on masonry may be used with confidence. Alkyd emulsions are not alkali resistant and should not be used.

Rubber base paints contain a synthetic rubber-type resin and are thinned with an organic solvent. They provide an excellent resistance to alkali and water penetration.

Portland cement paints are purchased as dry powders and are mixed with water before use. They contain very little organic material and are not subject to attack by alkali, making them successful in use on masonry.

Oil base masonry paints have resins added to them to improve alkali resistance, but they are the least resistant. Again, be the resins have been added.

Construction of Natural Gas Pipeline Now Underway

Construction of a 369-mile natural gas pipeline by Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha, Neb., across the high plains of Texas is now underway.

The $47 million project will snake northeastwardly from Kermit, Texas, to Beaver, Okla., carrying natural gas from the Coyanosa, Gomez and Reeves gas fields in the Permian Basin to the Northern Plains states.

Northern, one of the five largest natural gas transmission companies in the nation, estimates the 30-inch pipeline will be ready for service about November.

Prime contractor for the massive undertaking is R. H. Fulton, contractor, Lubbock.

The pipeline will go under some 20 major highways and across countless rivers and streams that cross its path. One of the most formidable natural obstacles in the pipeline path will be the 7½ mile crossing of Palo Duro Canyon southeast of Amarillo. All crossings will be underground.

Pipe will be laid in 80 foot sections, in all but 115 miles on izing retirement groups in gardening, arts and crafts, music, visiting shutins, community service, games, sewing, church work and attending lectures.

THIS MAP traces the route of the 369-mile gas pipeline being constructed from Kermit in Texas to Beaver, Okla. The pipeline will pass to the west between Pampa and Skellytown and on to Perryton in the Texas Panhandle.

The southern end of the job where lengths will be 60 feet long. Two hundred and fifty-four miles of pipe arrived from the manufacturer in 40 foot sections and is being double-jointed at nine pipe storage sites along the route. The Hood Corp. of Whittier, Calif., and Fulton are double-jointing the pipe at various locations at the present time.

In addition to the huge pipeline, Northern will also construct four compressor stations to move the gas through the pipeline.

Each station will house a 9,300 horsepower turbine engine and will be located at Kermit, Plainview, Claude and Seminoe. Construction of the stations is to begin at once.

The compressor stations will be what's called "unattended stations" — their operating function being carried on by automated equipment — but will require four to five full-time employees for maintenance and other duties.

Two of the stations are expected to be finished at the end of 1967. The other two earlier in 1968.

Project headquarters for the entire construction program is Plainview. Four other subordinate offices will be located along the line.

Northern last year delivered 681 billion (b) cubic feet of gas to 73 utility and four other pipeline companies in the Northern Plains states. The company currently operates 21,638 miles of pipeline extending from 50 miles north of the Mexican border to within 50 miles of the Canadian border.

Speck May Have Many Years Left

JOLIETT, Ill. (UPI)—It may take years before Richard Speck pays for the murders of eight student nurses with his life, if he ever does.

The 25-year-old drifter was sentenced Monday to die in the Illinois electric chair and was taken immediately to the fortresslike prison diagnostic center here for testing before he is transferred to nearby Stateville Penitentiary.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen followed the recommendation of the jury that had found Speck guilty of killing eight young women on the night of last July 13-14 in a townhouse apartment on Chicago's South Side. Sitting before the packed courtroom in Peoria, Paschen returned the sentence: death in the electric chair Sept. 1 pending final order by the Illinois Supreme Court as provided for by state law.

Lane Attending State Meet Of Cancer Society

Don R. Lane, of Pampa, Gray County Cancer Crusade chairman, is attending the mid-year meeting of the Texas Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society, which ends today in Fort Worth.

The 110 members of the state board considered the budget for the coming year, which will emphasize expansion of the public education program of the ACS. Specifically, the board was to evaluate the fleet of Cancer Mobil Exhibits — small trucks with several audio-visual presentations that are being used at fairs, schools and community gatherings. A dozen trucks are on Texas roads already, and the state board has authorized construction of a dozen more.

Service to cancer patients will require an increased budget this year when the board considers allocation of additional funds for the laryngectomy rehabilitation program (teaching people to speak after their voice-boxes have been removed).

Retirement Group Plans To Organize

A steering committee was appointed to make plans to organize a retirement group following a meeting of the Gray County Committee on Aging held Sunday in the Pampa Hotel banquet room.

Named to serve on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hogsett, E. L. Henderson, Mrs. Bill Hughes, Mrs. Roy W. Williams, Mrs. Charles Grow, Mrs. J. J. Rance, Joe Tooley and Mrs. Georgia Mack.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the banquet room of the Pampa Hotel to make organizational plans.

Approximately 75 persons attended the meeting Sunday with 55 evidencing interest in organ-will once again require an increase in the budget to cover costs of medical meetings and training films.

Progress of the annual Crusade Against Cancer was to be reported to the board. Texas' goal of $2,000,000 will be reached before the end of fiscal 1967, it was predicted, since over 80 per cent of the total was received in May.

WASHINGTON REPORT

The House Republican Task Force on Crime has endorsed a bill sponsored by the Republican leadership and others, including myself, which would prohibit all wiretapping and electronic bugging EXCEPT by court authorized Federal, state and local law enforcement officers engaged in the investigation and prevention of organized and certain other specified crimes.

The Task Force finds the Administration's proposal which bans all wiretapping and electronic bugging except in an undefined and unreviewable area of "national security" cases, to be both a dangerous threat to individual privacy and an unwelcome limitation on law enforcement officials who need such equipment to combat the growing problem of crime in the nation.

The Task Force believes that the Congress must act — and act quickly — to preserve the privacy of all Americans. New and sophisticated electronic bugging devices are used today with few restrictions and little restraint. The Federal statutory law is silent on electronic bugging. All who have examined the existing law on wiretapping agree that it is inadequate, confused and often self-defeating. The Federal wiretapping statute — enacted in 1954 — neither protects privacy nor promotes effective law enforcement.

The Task Force, on which I serve, has also recommended that Congress establish a Joint Committee on Organized Crime. And I am gratified that the President's Crime Commission has endorsed this proposal which is already in the form of a bill introduced by Rep. William C. Cramer (R-Fla.).

It is surprising that although the United States has had a serious problem with organized crime since the 1920's, knowledge of its structure and its economics remains relatively limited.

The President's Commission Special Report pointedly commented that little study and research have been done in the field of organized criminal activity. But the effects of organized criminal activity are well known.

Organized criminal activity is no longer confined to providing illicit goods and services to the public. Today the grave danger from organized criminal activity flows from the enormous profits from gambling, loan sharking, narcotics, labor racketeering, prostitution, and bootlegging. This in turn permits investment in legitimate enterprises as well as such illicit activities as stock market manipulations, bank takeovers for looting assets, price rigging and monopolistic practices.

There are no firm figures on the funds available to organized crime — only educated guesses. The Commission Report on Organized Crime estimates the annual income from gambling alone ranges from $7 billion to $50 billion. The disparity between these figures emphasizes the lack of real knowledge of organized crime. Income from loan sharking, second only to gambling, is unknown but thought to be in the multibillion dollar range. Revenue from other activities is of a significant but lesser magnitude. And little if any tax is paid on these funds. If the higher estimate is correct, income from organized crime exceeded the combined gross annual sales of the four largest corporations in the United States: General Motors, Ford, Standard Oil (N. J.) and General Electric in 1965.

It seems clear that the diversion of $50 billion from the productive economy, under any other circumstances, would long since have had the attention of the Congress. Similarly, if any other industry or economic activity avoided taxes on such a scale, the Congress would certainly have taken action.

It is time that the Congress realize that organized crime is a national problem of the highest priority and as such deserves the attention of a Committee devoting full time to the development of information and legislative proposals to control its effects and impact. The creation of such a Committee would serve notice on the leaders of organized crime and those they have corrupted that the U. S. government means business.

And a Joint Committee of the House and Senate could focus the attention of the American people on the dangers to our nation from organized criminal activity and destroy its essential anonymity — a necessary step in enlisting public cooperation in support of legislation to combat criminal syndicates.

Arkansas 'Monkey Law' Ruled Constitutional

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A 1928 Arkansas law prohibiting the teaching of the theory of evolution in the schools is constitutional, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday.

Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, said the ruling created more problems than it solved. In a brief order, the court ruled the anti-evolution law was constitutional and "a valid exercise of the state's power to specify the curriculum in its public schools."

Terry Knows It, He's Through as a Pitcher

By MILTON RICHMAN... NEW YORK (UPI)—Ralph Terry was never the pushy sort. He knew there was a rule against "unauthorized personnel" in the Yankees' dressing room and although they don't consider him that, he chose to stand outside the door.

Mickey Mantle came out the door, noticed Terry, broke into a big smile and stopped to chat with him the other night.

So did Mel Stottlemyre, Tom Tresh, Hal Reniff and several others who had been his teampates only a couple of seasons ago.

"Thinking of making a comeback?" someone hollered at Terry in the stone corridor outside the Yankees' quarters.

"No," laughed the boyish-looking, 31-year-old Oklahoman who had pitched the Yanks to a world championship only five seasons back. "I guess I've had it as far as baseball goes. I'll most likely go into golf now."

In Good Shape Terry, in far better physical shape right now than 75 per cent of the pitchers in the majors, probably ranks as the most avid golfer ever to make his mark in baseball. That includes Sammy Byrd, who used to fill in for Babe Ruth in the Yankee outfield during the late innings and later tried his hand on the professional golf circuit.

His love for golf is such that Terry voluntarily became one of the original "backers for the Roxiticus Golf Club in Mendham, N.J., not too long ago.

When he still was playing baseball, they warned him he was paying too much attention to golf but Ralph, a 23-game winner with the Yankees in 1962, insisted it wasn't interfering with his pitching.

Something was though: The Yankees began feeling it might be the other teams' bats so they peddled Terry to the Indians after the 1964 season. From the Indians Ralph went to the A's and finally the Mets, who released him last May 11.

His wife, Tanya, remembers he returned from Shea Stadium that evening and knocked on the back door of their rented home in White Plains. Ralph was holding a golf trophy he had won a week or so earlier and his wife recalls how odd she thought that was at the time.

"Did you hear the News?" Terry smiled and asked his wife.

"No, what?" she replied.

"I was released."

"You were what?"

"Released," Ralph repeated, still smiling and holding onto his golf trophy.

Tanya Terry had trouble getting her husband's words to sink in.

Honest To Goodness "We have a little saying in our family," she explained Tuesday. "Whenever we want to make doubly sure, we always ask, 'Honest to goodness?' When Ralph told me he had been released, I said, 'Honest to goodness?'"

Terry swallowed hard that evening before answering his wife again.

Finally he said: "Honest to goodness."

He then walked into the living room and showed her the golf trophy he had won a week or so before and had stored for safe keeping in his locker at Shea Stadium.

On Monday night he returned to Yankee Stadium for the first time since last year.

"I saw all the boys," he told his wife when he came back home. "Gee, honey, I had a nice time."

ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE Snead Trying For First Open

By United Press International... the Baltusrol Country Club, Sam Snead is finding the U.S. Open title not only elusive, but darn near impossible.

In his younger days, it was quiet to smile at Snead's futile attempts to win the Open. After all, no one really expected that the big one could continue to slip away from the golf master.

Now he is 55, and it appears more and more evident that Snead never will add the U.S. Open to his fantastic record.

The country boy from Hot Springs, Va., failed for the second consecutive year to qualify for the Open Tuesday when he shot 73-75—148 at the Tam O'Shanter Club in Detroit. Snead was dejected at his showing, but indicated he would try again next year.

Try Football... "I could've putted better by kicking the ball," Snead said. "I never hit well but I have never hit worse irons since I turned pro."

The field for the 67th edition of the Open was brought to its full strength of 150 as 56 players, qualified at seven sites Tuesday. The Open will be played at

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Mets Find Formula

By United Press International... The New York Mets have finally found a friend in ace relief pitcher Elroy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Wes Westrum's hitless no-runners, who managed to lose seven of their last eight road games and were scoreless for 27 innings, pushed across a run in the 10th inning off Face to squeak out a 1-0 victory in the first game of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday.

In the nightcap, Ron Swoboda blasted a homer in the 10th inning to slap Face with his second defeat of the night as the Mets won 3-2.

Bad Start... The Mets had been blanked twice on Sunday by the Giants and when Dennis Ribant pitched nine straight shutout innings in the opener it seemed as though the Mets might continue their horrendous streak. A sacrifice fly by Ken Boyer finally broke the ice.

Face, who brought an 0.38 earned run average into the first game, had been doing a great job coming out of the bullpen.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia downed Chicago twice 8-6 and 9-8, Houston tripped St. Louis 3-2, Cincinnati edged San Francisco 3-2 and Atlanta beat Los Angeles 3-2.

The Mets rallied in the 10th inning of the opener when Tommy Davis led off with a single and was replaced by pinch-runner Cleon Jones. Jerry Buchek's single sent Jones to third and Boyer's fly to center allowed him to score easily.

Callison Sparks Win... Johnny Callison's two-out, two-run single in the eighth inning gave the Phils their victory in the opener before pinch-hitter Phil Linz stroked a key double and later singled home the winning run in the nightcap. Bot Uecker, who was

AMERICAN LEAGUE RESULTS

Birds Blefary Finds Right Remedy, Hits

By United Press International... Curt Blefary wrote his own prescription to cure a serious ailment.

To Blefary, nothing on a baseball field can be more upsetting than a batting slump. When he fell into one, he started looking for remedies.

The Baltimore slugger qualified for a doctorate in medicine Tuesday night when he drove in seven runs with three homers, including a grand slammer, as the Orioles routed California 16-4 in the first game of a doubleheader. Blefary added nightcap, won by Baltimore 11-three more RBI's in the 1.

Blefary said he solved his problem by borrowing a light bat from catcher Vic Roznovsky. The six-ounce difference from his regular stick enabled him to whip it with vigor.

"I got off to a quick start early in the season and I guess it made me a little gay because I went into a slump," Blefary said. "I was trying for the long of dropping my shoulder in front of my body."

The double win only enabled third-place Baltimore to keep pace with the American League leading Detroit Tigers, who also swept a doubleheader from Kansas City by scores of 11-1 and 7-1. Detroit leads second place Chicago by two games and the Orioles by four and one-half.

The White Sox beat the Boston Red Sox 5-3, Cleveland and Minnesota split a doubleheader, the Indians taking the 10-inning opener 6-4 and the Twins rebounding 7-1, and the New York Yankees beat the Washington Senators 7-1.

Paul Blair contributed four RBI's in Baltimore's first-game rout, getting a triple, single and bases-loaded walk. Cookie Bill Dillman, with relief help from Moe Drabowsky, stretched his record to 3-0.

Tom Phoebus helped his own cause in the nightcap with three

BIG DECISION IMPOSSIBLE?

Sutton's Ball Is Always Dry

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

NEW YORK (NEA) — Don Sutton, who's 22 years old and fantastically devoted to being a good man on earth, made a soul-searching decision last fall after the baseball season. He decided not to throw any more spitballs.

The spitball is that illegal device of wetting a baseball so that it does fancy tricks just before it reaches a batter, like dropping off a table. In fact, it was illegal before Don Sutton was born.

By conservative estimate, 75 per cent of the pitchers in the major leagues have fooled with it, and the other 25 per cent would have trouble bridging the credibility gap.

Sutton is different in that he has fessed up to the crime. Years ago, Preacher Roe also admitted he threw a spitball, but the statute of limitations had run out on the Brooklyn left-hander — he was already retired. Besides, he was paid $2,000 for telling all.

"I'm in baseball for different reasons than other guys," said Don, who is a deeply religious pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers. "First, if I could make enough money between seasons doing something else, I would play baseball the rest of the year for nothing. Second, God has endowed me with the physical abilities that has enabled me to be an influence through baseball on other youths."

To wit, Sutton does not drink or smoke because "if a boy took just one drink because of me and later became an alcoholic, I would feel 100 per cent responsible."

By the same logic, Don doesn't want the youth of America—that segment of it which stings baseballs—spitting on its hands and thereby "breaking legalities."

"I feel," said Sutton, "I should be able to get by with what the Lord has given me. A fast ball, a curve ball, a slider and a changeup."

Of course, a sizable delegation of major league pitchers has a no such compunction against augmenting their natural talent. Included are a couple of Sutton's teammates on the Dodgers, which explains how a rookie with only a year's experience in organized baseball came up to the major leagues last year and quickly learned how to "load" a spitball.

"It's easy," confessed Don. "If you've got good teachers. It is an easier pitch to learn than a curve ball. Now I didn't throw it five, six times an inning. Maybe I averaged three spitters a game."

But generally, he reached back for the wet one when he had two strikes on the batter in a crucial situation and needed something extra to ease the pressure. Not many 21-year-old rookies win 12 games for a championship ball club and strike out 209 men in their inaugural season, as Don did.

But his conscience dictated that Don abandon the illegal pitch, just as Al Worthington, a veteran pitcher whom he much admires, stired up a big fuss years ago by revealing the Chicago White Sox snatched the other team's signals by hiding a man with binoculars in the centerfield scoreboard to spy on the catcher.

There's been a few times this season," Don admitted, "I could have used it. But my strikeout pitch is a curve. I have faith in it. Besides, I've learned more about pitching. Last year, I had the idea I would try to strike out every man who came to bat.

It all sounds great until you get to the subject of Don's record the first month and a half of the new season. The young righthander, who was supposed to pick up a lot of the slack left by the retirement of Sandy Koufax, said, "I'm better than 1-5 (His won-lost record at the time) and 4.60 ERA (earned run average)."

Yeah, but such a showing might drive some other guys to

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Why Get So "Worked Up"?

A man of our acquaintance asked the other day why newspapers get so "worked up" over local problems when the world is but a push-button away from destruction.

Why comment on such trivia as internal disorders in a city police department when the world is on the brink of total war and there are more serious things to be concerned about, he argued.

He pursued the point by asking: Why bring misery down to the local level and stir up the people when they already are miserable enough worrying about what's going to happen to them because of uncivilized decisions by so-called civilized world leaders who are incapable of settling international affairs that affect the fate of every world citizen?

Our answer to that was that the button has not yet been pushed. Until it is, we have to go on living normal lives locally as well as nationally or internationally.

We need to be concerned about things at home as well as over the rest of the world.

To brush aside local matters and consider only those outside our own vale would be to let things go to pot.

This is like the old saw so often advanced by many politicians and public officials that the only way to keep harmony is not to do, say or write anything that might interfere with the official processes of whatever political group may be holding the reins at the time. Never suggest the possibility that what they are doing may not be the best for the community. That would be contributing to what could result in a divided citizenry and bad publicity.

They forget that bad publicity can stem from their own inner circles because of what they are doing, or what they are not doing.

They forget that they are the creators of what they term bad publicity or good publicity. It can be either one. The decision as to which it shall be usually rests with those in the power seat. It is their choice, as public administrators, to do or not to do.

That was our answer to the man who thinks local problems should be forgotten and made to look rosy in the face of today's international turmoil.

This newspaper believes there is room for wide-angle observation at all levels of public administration.

Rural-Urban Balance?

The professional planners, who seem to think they know more about how people should live than the people themselves know, are worrying about the "rural-urban balance."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, whose farm program seems to please neither city dweller nor the farmer, had this comment recently:

"A policy of rural-urban balance is desperately needed if this nation is to fulfill the American dream of opportunity for each man to develop his talents to the fullest possible degree, to achieve personal excellence."

Freeman seems to fear that Americans will continue to jam into "super cities," which the planners have been referring to as a trend toward megalopolis, strip cities or something else.

Freeman proposes to spread the cities across the land, achieving less concentrated population and industrial growth and thereby bringing the country to the people and jobs to the country. He says such a policy would solve problems of smog, "ghettos," shortages of "essential services" in rural areas, services which some regard as inadequate in mushrooming urban areas, and of course, not enough natural beauty for all.

Since people thus far have been moving from place to place voluntarily, there apparently is only one way to solve it. The politicians will tell the people where they must live and work. That's the only way they will get people to live as the all-wise planners think they should.

Incidentally, as we read Mr. Freeman's comments, we thought they sounded familiar. So we looked at a publication of 1848. It suggested in part:

"Combination of agriculture with manufacturing industries; gradual abolition of the distinction between town and country, by a more equitable distribution of the population over the country."

The authors were Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. The statement is the Ninth Plank of the Communist Manifesto.

Who was it said something about freedom being a 19th century philosophy?

LBJ's Taxpayer Club

Big Brother is waving his club over the taxpayers' heads again. The Johnson-Humphrey Administration wants the taxpayers to pick up the tab for the astronomical increase in both war and domestic spending that has the government drowning in a sea of red ink. The war will be blamed, of course, but the real culprit will be domestic spending.

U. S. News and World Report says that officials now are talking of a tax increase of from 8 to 10 percent. And the same government officials, for the first time, "are warning that government controls over wages, prices and credit will be required if there should be no increase in income taxes."

The magazine says Great Society officials are becoming worried about the strength of the dollar as inflation sets in again and it quotes one highly-placed figure as saying: "We should not go around bragging about how our economy is rich enough to fight a war, push the race to the moon, engage in a war on poverty and project huge new programs all at the same time. The fact is that we cannot do all these things without putting severe strain on government finances."

The plot is plain. The Administration will tell Congress that if taxes aren't raised, controls will be applied. The authority for price and wage controls is already vested in the President, if he wants to use them. The Executive Orders have been published in the Federal Register, ready to roll out on short notice. What LBJ has been "doing for the people" will now have to be paid for by the people — but you will hear little bragging about what LBJ is doing to the people.

Wit and Whimsy

Visitor (at a dude ranch) — I have never ridden a horse before.

Foreman (reassuringly) — Oh, that's all right. I've got a horse that's never been ridden. Both of you can start off together.

You can't tell. Maybe a fish goes home and lies about the size of the bait he stole.

Worried about what to give his girl for her birthday, my grandson asked his mother for help.

Young John — Mom, if you were going to be 16 tomorrow, what would you want?

Her reply was: Mrs. Black — Not another thing!

Comment — Your hair is getting pretty thin on top.

Reply — Well, who wants fat hair?

26 Unmanned Russian Satellites Orbiting to Date in 1967, Including a Dozen Suspected 'Spy' Vehicles

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union's satellites are more numerous than ever over the U.S.

So far during 1967, the Russians have orbited 26 unmanned satellites — all without advance announcement, or any details of size or mission.

That's an average of about one every six days.

In comparison to this new Soviet launching record, the U. S. has orbited 17 satellites during the same period.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has launched seven satellites and provided launch vehicles for four non-NASA missions this year. The Air Force has orbited six others.

While all of the Communist satellites are being tracked around - the clock, the missions of only half of the Soviet craft are known to U.S. authorities.

A dozen of the Russian vehicles are believed to be "spy" satellites because of their low perigees — about 120 to 130 miles — and their precise trajectory.

From French scientists who were permitted to watch on a launching from Turin, which is used also for manned Soviet space experiments, it was learned that another is a communication satellite.

The mission of the remaining 13 satellites still baffles U. S. authorities, although there is unconfirmed evidence that several of the orbiting vehicles are actually prototypes of nuclear weapons carriers.

This ominous possibility is being carefully checked by U. S. space experiments. After the Russians launched three satellites in a five - day period at the start of the Middle East crisis, the Air Force orbited one of its detection vehicles on May 22 from Vandenberg Air Force base in California.

THE MISSION — Mission of the Air Force satellite was to find out if there were nuclear materials aboard the three Soviet satellites.

To the great relief of intelligence authorities, none was detected by the sensitive Air Force satellite, which can pinpoint atomic weapons or other nuclear materials by the rays they emit in space.

Close-up photographs did show that the three Soviet satellites were remarkably like the two the Russians shattered into a number of pieces over the U.S. last year.

These "break-up" satellites were part of a carefully planned and controlled Soviet military-space experiment for the development of the MIRV — the multi-warhead independent re-entry vehicle.

In non-technical terms, the Russians were testing the separation in flight at a pre-determined time and location of a "cluster of satellites," each capable of carrying a nuclear warhead.

Such a menacing accomplishment, according to U.S. military-space scientists, would enable the Soviets to launch a satellite set to reach a certain point over the U.S. and then direct nuclear bombs at targets across the country from New York to California.

Because of this possible Soviet break-through, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended that studies be started immediately to design a satellite to be used to destroy enemy warheads in space.

... Procurements by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the first six months of fiscal 1967 amounted to $2.78 billion — up $6 million from the same period in fiscal 1966.

REPORT FROM MOSCOW — President Johnson will receive a firsthand report on the latest thinking of Soviet leaders on Vietnam and the Middle East when McGeorge Bundy, former White House foreign-policy specialist, briefs him later this month.

Now president of the Ford Foundation, Bundy visited Moscow and several other foreign capitals recently on an exploratory mission for President Johnson.

Although his assignment was to find out whether there could be joint studies on solving some of the problems confronting modern cities, Bundy's talks with the Soviet leaders covered the waterfront after the crisis broke in the Middle East.

As for what he learned, Bundy is being tight-lipped until he confers with the President. Only information cabled to Washington about Bundy's visit by the U. S. embassy in Moscow was that the former assistant to the President was writing a report.

STRANGE CRISIS — Egyptian pilots have flown Soviet-built MiGs over Israel's southern command headquarters at Beersheba without drawing fire. According to a report from the U. S. Embassy in Tel Aviv, the flights were ignored on orders from "the highest authorities in Israel." The MiGs were apparently on a picture-taking mission. . . . Israeli airforce Globemaster transport aircraft are running a "shuttle service" to Great Britain. At airfields near London, they pick up arms recently purchased there. The Kuwait Government has pri-

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Salt Intake Reduction
Blood Pressure Treatment

Although high blood pressure is usually considered a disease of persons who are past 40, it may occur in children. When it does it is important to determine the cause. The most common type is that associated with acute nephritis. Other causes include congenital narrowing of the aorta, overactivity of the thyroid and tumors of the adrenals.

When no cause can be found the condition is called essential hypertension. The blood pressure in a child with this symptom is usually subject to wide fluctuations — high when the child is excited or apprehensive and normal when he is calm. If the sight of a doctor or a blood pressure apparatus makes him apprehensive, it may be difficult to get a normal reading except when he is asleep. Such a child is likely to have a high blood pressure all his life unless it is treated.

The first line of treatment is to remove the cause if possible. This should be combined with treatment to keep the diastolic pressure or lower reading within normal limits at all times. Cutting down the salt intake is an important part of the treatment of these children.

Q — My son 12, had a bad case of poison oak on his face last October. Our doctor said the spots would fade out in time, but they haven't done so, and my son is very sensitive about his appearance. What can we do?

A — The poison oak has left your son with a chronic contact dermatitis. A Pragmat ointment, obtainable only on a doctor's prescription, is often successful in clearing up the inflamed areas. If this doesn't work, a skin specialist should be consulted.

Q — Is there any cure for spina bifida occulta? Would surgery help?

A — This is a birth defect that results when the right and left halves of a part of the spinal column fail to come together. The seriousness of the condition depends on many factors. Some cases require no treatment. Others can be helped by surgery which could be deferred until the child is at least 3 years old. Still others cannot be helped even with an operation. These are matters your doctor must decide after a careful study of the child.

Q — I have a parking lot in a good place to scrape up an acquaintance.

A prominent Russian newspaper announces that it is running a contest for the best political joke. First prize is 20 years.

WASHINGTON:

U.S. Mideast Involvement Could Slow Vietnam Supply

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — An effect on war in Vietnam is likely if the United States gets into even limited military operations in the Israeli-Egyptian conflict.

This assumes the United States would go into the Middle East only as part of a United Nations or other multilateral task force.

Troops would not be a problem in a limited U. S. participation. Two airborne brigades are available. These could be put into place in quick time. Fleet units with Marines are in the Mediterranean. Other troops are in Europe. Air transport would be no problem.

The bugaboo would be naval ships and supply. Suppose the U. S. task force were to help keep open the Gulf of Aqaba and the Strait of Tiran, which the Egyptians are guarding and reportedly have mined.

The geography of this area, the ruggedness of the islands and the coastal areas, the positioning of the islands, the narrowness of the deep channels and the shallowness of much of the water, would make the supply and patrol problems very difficult.

Certainly, at a minimum, any such Middle East operation could involve one or two aircraft carriers. This would mean a delay in sending a needed aircraft carrier to Vietnam waters.

Such operations would also require the diversion of cargo shipping needed for the Vietnam supply routes and an assortment of other naval vessels which will be required in Vietnam.

A limited U. S. participation of the type talked about here would certainly not bring disaster in Vietnam. The slowdown would not be great. In prospect, however, it appears large enough to worry some of the generals who would have to solve these problems.

The supply problems of Vietnam are already enormous. Though this U. S. supply to Vietnam has been handled well, it has been a headache. It promises to become more difficult, in any event, as the pacification program grows on top of the sustained military effort, now pushing ahead at a very rapid pace.

The problem is simply this: A drain into the Middle East would further complicate these logistics.

The problems anticipated, however, are not so great that the military men are advising the political leadership to go slow in participating in whatever Middle East military tasks the administration believes to be in the national interest.

Nevertheless, for international political reasons (and because it does not want to get involved too deeply in too many places at once), the State Department is attempting to work out a Middle East solution which would not involve U. S. forces.

U. S. diplomats reason that the Middle East would work better and cause less worldwide tension if they are composed of troops from small countries. Many nations would be suspicious of the motives of large countries participating, even if they supplied only small numbers of troops.

Whether a solution that does not involve U. S. forces is possible is not at all certain. If there were fighting which involved international troops, almost inevitably the international group would call on the United States for sizable aid.

BRIBERY AN BLUDGEONRY

A peculiar notion around is that if a particular city's authorities believe their city is in need and they are unwilling to ask the citizenry to support that need, the federal government should be tapped for the money. The excuse is that their city cannot afford the expenditure. Take Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and even Wink, here in Texas, as examples. None of these cities can afford what they want (or so they say). So they pool their lack of resources, call their pool the federal government, and suddenly there is apparently enough money to go around for everybody and enough left over for Poland, Algeria, the Congo, Egypt, Syria, Jordan, and you name it.

The more than $335 billion debt of the federal government is of no consequence to them. That the government's sources of funds are only the people of these cities and their rural neighbors is of no consequence either. Educated men think up these schemes; men who have studied enough arithmetic to know it does not all add up and also who should recognize simple instances of right and wrong. Despite the evidence the schemers are much more clever than it might seem. They take it upon themselves to decide what is good for us but, fearing we would be unwilling to pay the price, they package it all up neatly, appropriate the money beforehand, and then tell us we would be crazy to pass up such manna from heaven. If we will but put up ten percent of our own money they will "give" us the other ninety percent. That way it costs us only a hundred percent, plus their salaries, which is what they really were after in the first place. And we fall for it.

In renewal deals there are other discouraging aspects. There was once sufficient respect for a man's property that eminent domain was invoked only for rigidly defined public purposes. With semantic gymnastics the Supreme Court has made it possible to take almost anything of anybody's, under almost any pretext, with payment made as decided in court. That the owner may not have wanted to sell matters not. These things are done largely with horror about alleged instances of power plays by so-called industrial barons of the late 1800's.

It is to be expected that an overly powerful government will run rough-shod over a man's natural rights to liberty and property. The tragic part of it is that we cooperate merrily, with no compunctions whatever, as though it all were a matter of right.

Actually we need not blame the schemers. Elected officials simply mirror the wishes of the electorate. Unless we, as individuals, regain respect for the rights of all individuals, the complete disintegration of our once free society is a certainty.

In politics, if it's against you, it's a machine. If it's for you, it's an organization.

To the greatest riddle: How we all have to give it up.

BERRY'S WORLD

By M. N. THOLAL
(Indian Liberation, Bombay, India)

In an on-the-record interview with UNI, our former Defence Minister, Mr. V. K. Krishna Menon, gave expression to his views on the problems facing the country, not without regretting the "deterioration" that is setting in with "failure of purposefulness".

time — that Nehru had been a total failure? Any wonder that Mr. Menon, the chief executioner of Nehru's foreign policy finds that "decisions inside the Congress Party are being dominated more and more by elements who oppose what I consider I stand for?"

Any wonder he finds that as an individual he can "make very little impact"? In any other country, a man like Mr. Menon, after a performance like that of Mr. Menon, would have been hounded out of public life.

Neo-Imperialism

What were the contents of that paradise? Slogans and shibboleths like Asian solidarity, Afro-Asian solidarity against colonialism and neo-imperialism, denunciation of the latter and repudiation of the former.

Mr. Menon truly says: "The so-called refusal to give me a ticket represents the perceptible changes inside the Congress".

But obviously no Congress leader could forget the Chinese invasion or the "why" of it. Some were foolish enough, like Chandra Bhan Gupta, then Chief Minister of Uttar Pradesh, to say, "Our foreign policy has failed."

The voluntary resignation of the Chief Minister of Madras, Mr. Kamaraj, gave Nehru the idea. All ministers were to resign to show the country how full they were of the spirit of self-sacrifice and Nehru was to select a few among them for "party work".

Invasion Remembered

But the Chinese invasion could not be forgotten, nor the utter failure of the Congress policies which it implied. There was a sudden revulsion against Soviet Russia which greeted the Chinese invasions with the words: "India is our friend but China is our brother."

Is it any wonder that Mr. Menon, who had to resign after the Chinese invasion — he was our Defence Minister — has discovered that "the centre of decisions in the Congress was shifting more and more towards people who did not believe in what I believe and what I had done to believe the Congress stood for?"

Any wonder that soon after Nehru's death Congressmen began saying what they were afraid of whispering to his lie-traced their steps? What India should be condemning in the Vietnam is the aggression by North Vietnam, instead of asking the USA to stop bombing North Vietnam.

Mr. Menon also criticizes the fact that policy-making in India has been entrusted to a cadre in the administration "which performs policy-making functions".

What it really does, as in all advanced countries, is to suggest policies and the reasons therefor. No Government can allow its policies to be settled for it by some of its servants.

Whims and Fancies

Apparently Mr. Menon wants the country's policies to be determined by the whims and fancies of a few individuals like him, rather than demonstrably in the country's interests, as shown by facts and the realities of the situation.

What has prevented the worst from happening in his case is the political immaturity of the Opposition parties (excluding the Communists to whom he belongs) and the fact that Mr. Menon could not possibly be exposed for what he is and was, without the great leader of the country Nehru himself being exposed at the same time.

Mr. Menon thinks it is a mockery to repeat the word "non-alignment". "We are not a non-aligned country any more," he says, and in consequence "there is sadness, on the one hand, and ridicule, on the other among our friends or former associates abroad."

Which of the friends to whom Mr. Menon refers, stood by us on the Chinese invasion — except Malaysia, and Mr. Menon can hardly be referring to that honest country. Standing by us apart, did any one even offer his sympathy by condemning China for the invasion?

We had to throw away the judicial legacy. Any wonder that "much that had been done and accomplished in the first 12 years of independence is being undone?"

Does he want the nation to forget that the only country which offered "agreed" words to a better word — in came to our aid on the Chinese invasion was the USA and that it was as a result of the impending arrival of the American Army and Air Force in India that the Chinese took to their heels and Society for the Elimination of Exclamation Points was formed recently. Members are people who are no longer surprised at anything.

Crime Control For Non-Criminals?

(The American Rifleman)

Two measures now before Congress, the Dodd Bill (S.1.) and the Celler Bill (H.R. 1384), both would repeal the Federal Firearms Act as a preliminary to prescribing other laws.

So let us look at what these bills would substitute for the law they would repeal. The Federal Firearms Act, passed in 1938 and amended later, makes it unlawful for any person over sentenced to prison for more than a year, or any fugitive from justice, to receive or possess even as much as an unloaded .22 rifle or a single pistol cartridge transmitted through interstate commerce.

Under the act, mere possession of any kind of firearm or pistol ammunition by a criminal was presumptive evidence of guilt and criminals caught with such items had to prove they did not obtain them through interstate commerce. The Supreme Court of the United States knocked this very sharp "no" out of the law by declaring "presumptive evidence" unconstitutional. (Tel. vs. U.S., 339 U.S. 481.)

One thing, however, can be said for the Federal Firearms Act even now. It is clearly directed at criminals.

By contrast, the Dodd-Celler Bills appear to be aimed at gun owners in general.

You as a gun owner do not have to have a criminal record, or commit any offense with a firearm, to be convicted under the proposed law.

You could, under the Dodd-Celler proposal, be sent to Federal prison for 10 years even if you do nothing except obtain a firearm through interstate commerce.

All that is necessary to jail such a gun owner would be to show to the satisfaction of a Federal court that he "intended" to commit some serious offense with the gun. If unable to prove that, the prosecution need only show that he acquired the gun "with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe" that a serious offense "is to be committed therewith".

A firearms owner who obtains a gun through interstate commerce and is convicted of intent, knowledge, or belief that it is to be used in a crime could be sentenced to as much as 10 years and a $10,000 fine.

Under the Federal Firearms Act the maximum sentence possible is 5 years and $1,000, and that applies only to known, previously convicted criminals.

Anyone wishing to swallow the hard lump of the Dodd-Celler Bills can console himself by supping that the Supreme Court, having knocked out "presumptive evidence," will likewise rule out charges against firearm owners based on "intent, knowledge or reasonable cause to believe" that a gun crime is contemplated.

HOW'S BUSINESS

Index Shaded Downward in May

By ROGER BABSON STAFF

Business activity, as measured by the Babson Composite Business Index, shaded downward in May to 150.9. This compares with a reading of 151.0 for April and 152.9 for May 1966. In the first five months of 1967, the barometer has declined 2.1 per cent.

Home goods production also remains disappointing, due to the drag in sales in the retail level. Appliances, television sets and furniture all are experiencing tough sledding. But the downward trend in the economy is not confined to consumer-related lines.

The most encouraging aspects of the economic picture are the well-maintained levels of employment and personal income. While consumer buying is still on a restrained basis, continued favorable employment and income rates could lay the groundwork for stronger sales ter on. The economic outlook is strongly tied to defense-related business. At this juncture, it looks as though defense needs may increase rather than decrease, particularly in view of the flare-up in the Middle East. This should help to bolster sagging general business and hasten the inventory adjustment process. Thus, while industrial activity may still show a little more, the danger of a deep recession is now diminishing.

AUSTIN — Six proposed changes in the Texas Constitution were approved by the 60th Legislature for submission to the voters this fall—Nov. 11.

These proposals are as follows:

SJR 6 authorizing counties to pay medical, doctor and hospital bills of county law enforcement officers injured in line of duty.

HJR 12 providing for a $74,000,000 parks development fund bond issue.

HJR 17 reviving the Veterans' Land Program and authorizing a total of $400,000,000 in bonds.

HJR 3 allowing counties to put tax money in one general fund.

HJR 27 permitting state officers and employees to hold other non-elective positions under the state or U. S. governments

Rip Van Winkle couldn't sleep with nagging backache

Nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets, or everyday stress and strain. If this nagging backache, with restless, sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills — an analgesic, a pain reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache is often the answer. Get Doan's Pills — not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size.

where there is no conflict of interests and where the state might actually benefit.

HJR 37 allowing cities and other units within hospital districts to levy taxes for participation in mental health and mental retardation community centers.

Fourteen additional amendments were approved by the Legislature for voters' consideration on Nov. 5, 1968. These include the following:

SJR 14 giving the legislature power to authorize cities and counties to issue revenue bonds to build industrial plants for operation by private concerns.

SJR 3 revising provisions for investment of the state employees retirement system and changing provisions for its administration.

SJR 4 providing for contributions to teacher retirement system on the basis of full salary of members (contributions now are limited to $504 a year).

SJR 24 permitting the legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxes equipment used in air or water pollution control.

SJR 32 abolishing the state property tax by 1976.

SJR 37 allowing Dallas County to issue road bonds on vote of a majority of property taxpayers.

SJR 41 raising state welfare spending ceiling from $60,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year.

HJR 16 providing for ad valorem tax exemption for property in temporary custody at a warehouse.

HJR 20 altering investment procedures for University of Texas permanent fund.

HJR 22 specifying that legislators will not be ineligible for other offices because their terms extend a few days into January.

HJR 49 eliminating the requirement that the governor, secretary of state and comptroller approve contracts for printing and paper.

HJR 50 authorizing the legislature to provide for refund of tax on cigars and tobacco products sold at retail in Texarkana.

HJR 60 permitting consolidation of offices and governmental functions in El Paso and Tarrant counties.

HJR 61 raising legislators' salaries from $4,800 to $8,400 a year and extending per diem expense allowance from 120 to 140 days of the regular session.

SPECIAL SESSION? — Legislators knew their job was little more than half finished when they adjourned at midnight May 29.

Governor John Connally cheerfully reminded them that he would "see them in the fall or next year", meaning that that is when the 1969 budget and a balancing tax bill must be written.

Later, Connally told reporters that it is highly unlikely he will call the special session before next year. He hinted that next year's tax bill may be $200,000,000 and he does not intend to recommend an increase in the general sales tax rate.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court reversed a 43-year-old rule requiring a property owner to warn employees of a sub-contractor of hidden dangers on the property. Case involved a Nueces County welder injured in an accident. Court said injured worker's own employer and foreman should have warned him of threats to his safety.

In another case, the Supreme Court upheld a decision of the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals that questions of usury and unreasonable collection methods should be considered together. Case dealt with a $42-a-week yardman's suit against Pacific Finance Loans and Bond Finance Company.

Ward County District Court judgment that salinity content of water furnished by a water district caused $16,344 worth of damage to a milo maize crop also was sustained by the higher court.

FUNDS FOR AGING PROGRAM APPROVED — A $140,774 program to develop community programs of direct service to the aged in Lubbock, Big Spring, Fort Worth, Mercedes and San Antonio have been approved by the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Contracts went to Texas Tech College, Lubbock ($3,786); Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Advisory Council, Inc. ($50,122); Tarrant County Community Council ($27,000); Hidalgo County Committee on Aging ($14,946); and Senior Community Services, Inc., San Antonio ($44,920).

AIRPORT FUNDS AVAILABLE — Legislature appropriated $475,000 for building and improving small town airports. Big Bend National Park will get $150,000 plus federal aid for new airport. Lake Whitney State Park, $40,000, and $25,000 will go to aviation research at a higher education institution.

Texas Aeronautics Commission Director Charles Murphy estimates that 40 per cent of these applicants for state aid will share in available funds:

INTERIM COMMITTEES — A record - breaking list of interim committees, some 70 in all, have been appointed to serve until the next special or regular session of the Legislature begins.

Committee will deal with about everything the Legislature considered during its recent session. In fact, there are more interim committees than there were standing committees during the 60th session. Total then was 44 in the House and 24 in the Senate.

Among the special committees are those dealing with state and local tax policy, law enforcement and crime prevention, state Constitution, general investigating, slum problems and clearance, causes of poverty, renovation and maintenance of Governor's mansion, parking problem around state capitol, state college faculty pay and benefits and unessential state government expenses.

Others relate to the importation and grading of eggs, prices of fruits and vegetables, industrial entertainment promotion safety regulations for school buses and home improvements contracts.

Also, selection of a state poet laureate, and return of the Alamo flag from Mexico.

SHORT SNORTS—Sen. Ralph H. Hall of Rockwall and selected president pro tempore of the Senate for the interim between legislative sessions.

Texas Highway Commission adopted a $75,500,000 budget for maintaining Texas' highway system during the next fiscal year — up $12,500,000 over present level.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said a county officer of Harris County who is authorized to sell abandoned and unclaimed property may hire a person to conduct an auction in his behalf.

Former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson is head of a new Republican task force on crime and law enforcement.
