Winds, Tornadoes Lash Panhandle

Mobeetie, Perryton Suffer Much Damage

Thunderstorms Forecast Tonight
By Larry Hollis and Ken Leach
More scattered thunderstorms are forecast for Pampa and surrounding areas after high winds, tornadoes and hard rains damaged several towns and knocked out power and communications in approximately 20 Panhandle communities last night.

Mobeetie suffered great damage after a tornado passed over the town, and hurricane winds hit Perryton.

Thunderstorms and strong winds are expected to hit scattered parts of the Panhandle area until Wednesday afternoon, according to the United States Weather Bureau at Amarillo.

Virtually every building suffered some damage from the wind storm and tornado that hit Mobeetie, east of Pampa, last night. First State Bank and the Lee Building were totally destroyed.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from Amarillo, working with highway patrolmen and Wheeler County sheriff's department, closed the town to sightseers. At noon today, barricades still were set up at the main highways, and highway patrolmen were allowing only persons with immediate business in Mobeetie to pass through.

Money in the bank, according to bank vice-president J. T. Johnson, was buried under debris inside the time vault. Agents were keeping a vigil on the demolished building, awaiting the arrival of heavy equipment to clear away the wreckage.

Windows in the post office were knocked out and portions of the false ceiling were torn away.

Mrs. Mary Ruth Morris, clerk in charge of the post office, waded through a half-inch of water to check the contents of the building.

First checks revealed no damage to mail or other postal supplies. The building had been rocked by the high winds and materials in the store room had been knocked to the floor.

Two late model trucks parked by the Lee Building were damaged by falling bricks.

Part of a beauty shop wall was torn away, and the plate glass windows in the store front were blown out.

Flooded conditions at Recreation Park made necessary the postponement of Pampa's annual fireworks display scheduled for tonight.

No heavy damage was reported in Pampa, but limbs and twigs littered many streets. Citizens Bank and Trust received some damage to the outside of the building.

A roof was reported blown off a house at 15th and Dogwood, and a fairly large tree was blown over on Terry Road. Several television antennas were knocked down or bent by the high winds, and some windows were broken out.

Part of the south wall being constructed for the new Levine's store near Gibson's Discount Store was reported being blown down by the high winds.

Reports of rain varied throughout the city, ranging from an inch to 1.90 inches.

High winds and slight hail was reported in Lafora by Mrs. D.C. Reed, with 1.75 inches of rain

N. Vietnamese Stop Marines' Mercy Mission

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Marines sent on a mercy mission to remove the bodies of fallen comrades north of embattled Con Thien came under heavy North Vietnamese fire today and lost 21 men killed and 40 wounded.

The North Vietnamese opened up with artillery, machine guns and small arms against Marines fanning into the battlefield just below the Demilitarized Zone dividing the two Vietnams. The Americans called in the support to pour bombs and napalm on Red positions.

Four hours after they set out on their mission, the Leathernecks withdrew. They were unable to remove the bodies of the men who had fallen in fighting in the area since Sunday.

Marines took their own toll of North Vietnamese in a series of probes. They killed 71 Red soldiers with pin point artillery fire and wiped out a 148-sampan guerrilla fleet.

U.S. commanders said the Leathernecks' Fourth of July action further blunted frantic North Vietnamese attempts to sweep into South Vietnam's strategic northern provinces and crush American military might there.

Just below the North-South Vietnamese border Marine patrols caught three North Vietnamese units crawling back toward the Leatherneck bastion of Con Thien that repulsed a 2,500-man Communist assault Sunday and Monday. The Leathernecks threw the Communists back.

"I stood in the cellar door and watched until it got so rough, I couldn't stand it anymore." All communications and power in the town were disrupted when the storm hit.

Two trucks were crushed when a vacant building collapsed and trees fell on several automobiles.

In Wheeler, a trailer house owned by Bennie Richey was overturned by the high winds. Richey was out of town and there was no one in the trailer at the time of the incident.

Next door to the Richey trailer, eight members of the H. B. Guynes and Virgil Jamison families were in a storm cellar when the car port of the Guynes trailer was ripped loose. The wind carried the car port 58 feet and dropped it on top of the cellar. No one was hurt.

Heavy tree damage was reported throughout the area.

As many as four twisters were reported outside the city limits of Perryton. Winds estimated at 90 miles an hour struck the city itself and dumped five inches of rain.

A dozen homes were unroofed, store windows were broken, trees were uprooted and house trailers were overturned.

A twister struck the Perryton Airport. Two hangars were smashed and at least 10 airplanes received heavy damage.

The high winds blew out windows in the First National Bank of Perryton and knocked down power lines. Phones were out of service last night, but were restored this morning.

No injuries at Perryton were reported.

Israel Accuses Arabs Of More Truce Breaks

United Press International

Israel today accused the Arabs of fresh Middle East war cease-fire violations. The Arabs warned of returning to full battle. The United Nations General Assembly, possibly unable to agree on a peace formula, hunted for some action to save its prestige in the crisis.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli military spokesman said Syrian troops opened fire on the cease-fire line in Syria near the city of Kuneitra Monday. He said Israeli troops fired back and the clash lasted only a few minutes. Egyptian troops also fired recoilless rifles and machine guns across the Suez Canal at Israeli troops Monday, he said.

The Arabs, denying Israeli charges, claimed Israel's troops were starting the cease-fire violations and talked of renewed full scale fighting against the Jewish state.

Five Resolutions
At the United Nations, the 122-nation assembly weighed five rival resolutions on the June 5-10 Arab-Israeli war, and as delegates mustered for a Fourth of July vote, could guarantee none the needed two-thirds vote approval. Diplomats said the world parliament's chief concern appeared to be finding some way to show it was not a do-nothing body.

The assembly's task was harder because the resolutions given any chance of passage at all called on Israel to withdraw from occupied Arab territory. And Israel had announced it likely would reject any resolution calling on the Jewish state alone to make concessions for peace.

Even the leading contender, a non-aligned nations' resolution, appeared certain to irk the Israelis.

It would call for them to evacuate the Arab lands they occupied and set down a U.N. truce force and send in a peace commission. In Jerusalem Monday Israeli Information Minister Yisrael Galilee said his nation likely would not accept a resolution that calls only for concessions by Israel.

At Cairo, Egypt's most influential newspaper, Al-Ahram, warned fighting may return at any moment. An editorial said, "The imperialist aggression for which Israel was used as the spearhead cannot be ended by a mere denunciation. This may require the return to the battlefield, an existing possibility that might come at any moment."

King Hussein of Jordan, visiting Paris today for talks with French President Charles de Gaulle, told newsmen at London airport Monday, "If the present situation persists there is grave danger that it (war) will occur again."

A swirl of diplomatic coming and going did little to add hope to a quick peace in the Middle East.

At Cairo, representatives of 50 Afro-Asian nations Monday night condemned Israel as a "treacherous aggressor" and urged their governments to sever relations with the Jewish state. Led by such men as India's western-baiting Krishna Menon, they voted to urge Arab nations to "continue their heroic struggle."

Guardsmen Corral Rampaging Youths

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (UPI)

—Hundreds of youths who came for a beer-swilling good time and stayed to tear up four small lake resort towns, had their tempers cooled today by cold steel.

National Guardsmen, their rifles tipped with bayonets, staged a mass roundup late Monday night and stood watch today as roadblocks and massed police left the revelers with no place to go.

Through the years, Lake Geneva has become known as the place to go during the long Fourth of July weekend. The teen-age grapevine said this is where the action was—beer, girls and good times.

Wisconsin has a state law permitting legal beer drinking by 18 years olds but local communities can raise that limit at will. Lake Geneva did, several years ago, setting the stage for the violence this weekend, said Mayor Emilio Johnjack who blamed the destruction on resentment.

Lake Geneva officials Monday put into effect an undeclared state of martial law and backed it up with shotgun-toting police men and combat-ready National Guardsmen ordered into town by Gov. Warren Knowles.

Stopped in Lake Geneva, the youths formed auto caravans and staged hit-and-run raids on three other lake communities and "tore hell out of the place" Monday night.

The youths rampaged through the towns of Williams Bay, Fontana and Delavan. At Fontana, they broke into a beer truck, stole 21 cases of beer, drank the contents and smashed the empties on the streets.

Windows of Fontana business establishments were smashed.

Racial Disorder Erupts Again In Cincinnati Area

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Roving bands of Negro youths stoned automobiles, smashed store windows and looted early today in the city's predominantly Negro Avondale section where National Guardsmen quelled racial disturbances three weeks ago.

Police riot squads, armed with riot guns and bolstered by off-duty police officers, put an end to the disorder shortly after the marauding Negro gangs went on rampages.

Eight Negroes were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Several juveniles also were detained by police.

The disturbance broke out shortly before midnight when the youths began pelting automobiles, including police cars, with stones.

Fire Calls
A rash of fire alarms were turned in during the racial trouble. The fire department said it had 26 calls but said only four of the fires were being investigated for arson. None of the fires was blamed on firebombing.

A four-alarm blaze destroyed a 600,000 square-foot warehouse of the Cincinnati Sash & Door Co. on the fringe of the Avondale District.

L. E. Peters, president and general manager of the company, estimated damage at $1 million. Authorities did not disclose whether there was a possibility of arson.

Firemen responding to a fire at a savings and loan company building were pelted with rocks as they attempted to douse the flames.

Negroes Blamed
Safety Director Henry Sandman said Negro juveniles were responsible for the disturbance. "The situation is bad," Sandman said at the height of the disorder shortly after midnight. "It's more than just scattered incidents." But he said the disturbance did not accelerate "as it did three weeks ago."

Fireworks Show Postponed Here

The annual Fourth of July celebration originally scheduled at Recreation Park for 9 p.m. today was postponed, shortly before noon and will be rescheduled at a later date.

Chamber of Commerce officials inspected the park grounds late this forenoon and said it would be too difficult to set off the fireworks display because of the wet grounds.

Officials of the Burnett Fireworks Co. of Enid, Okla., arrived here today to put on the display, but agreed with chamber officials the ground was too muddy for the presentation.

Chamber officials said a meeting would be held later to set the fireworks program date.

Color Variety Does Not Lessen Patriotism Shown Toward Flag

By PHILIP JUSTIN SMITH

CHICAGO (UPI)—Take another look at the American flag that bedecks the front of your house this Fourth of July. What color is it?

If you say red, white and blue you're only approximately right.

If you were more precise, you might have said bright red, navy blue and brilliantly clean white. Some might have said, however, that their flag is pink, powder blue and gray-white. Many would say something in between.

All would have been legally correct.

Flags can — and do — vary widely in their representation of the red, white and blue which America salutes today.

Old Glory's history of imprecision in matters of color, design, size and shape began on June 14, 1777. The Continental Congress that day passed this resolution:

"Resolved that the flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be 13 stars, white on a blue field representing a new constellation."

They forgot to mention that stripes can run horizontally or vertically, that a blue field can be in the center of a flag and that there are many different shades of red, white and blue.

Variety resulted.

The flag fluctuated in color and design through the years and through rounds of congressional legislation. It wasn't until Oct. 29, 1912, that an attempt at exactness was made.

President William H. Taft on that day handed down an executive order strictly prescribing the proportions and design of the banner. He ordered the Navy Department to make a blueprint showing all people how the flag should look.

But he forgot about the colors. Variety in color still exists, both legally and in reality, flag manufacturers say.

Williams Dwiggin, vice president of Annin & Co., New York, the nation's largest flag manufacturer, said:

"Many flags will fade over the years. Also, no two fabrics dyed with the same color give the same appearance. For example, the government's specification for blue is called Old Glory Blue. With six different fabrics you strive for Old Glory Blue."

The official specifications Dwiggin refers to are produced by the government's General Services Administration, but they apply only to government flags.

The specifications for flag colors use a system of code numbers called "cable numbers." Each shade of red, white and blue has a certain "cable number."

So precision would dictate that you salute today a flag colored Flag Red-Cable No. 70156, Pure White-Cable No. 70001 and Old Glory Blue-Cable No. 70075."

Road Death Rate Nearing Record

By United Press International

Americans bent on spending the Fourth of July holiday somewhere other than in their own backyards, today appeared to be setting a record for traffic deaths during a holiday weekend.

As the period headed into the final 24 hours, six motorists were being killed an hour, said the National Safety Council which predicted a holiday traffic toll of more than 700.

The most hectic time on the roads still lay ahead. Tonight, millions who went away for the long weekend that began Friday night, will fill the roads to overflowing.

A Safety Council spokesman detected a slight reduction in the rate of traffic deaths today and said it appeared the final toll would be about 700.

The largest holiday traffic toll ever recorded in the United States was 720 deaths over the three-day Christmas weekend of 1965. The highest toll ever recorded for an Independence Day weekend was 577 during the 1966 three-day holiday.

At 10 a.m., CDT, a United Press International count showed 559 traffic fatalities since the 102-hour holiday began.

The Breakdown:
Traffic 559
Drownings 138
Planes 40
Miscellaneous 69
Total 806

Texas led the states with 60 traffic deaths. California had 45, Ohio and New York 33 each and Illinois 31.

Multi-fatality deaths raised the toll in most states.

At Flagstaff, Ariz., five persons were killed Monday when a car collided with a truck.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Looks like it is going to be a long hot summer, as you know who said. Seems it is unusually hot, so early.

Mrs. Lulu Bell Smith left Thursday morning with her daughter and family for Red River and Raton, N.M.

Mrs. Ruby Stovall and Mrs. John Shelton attended the Sewell - Sovall wedding in Dallas Saturday evening.

Mrs. C. L. Adams visited Mrs. Ruby Robinson in Borger last week. While there, she visited the Senior citizens party and enjoyed it very much, she reported. She invited them to visit our meetings some time. Mrs. Kempa accompanied Mrs. Adams and also visited the Robinsons for a few days.

Mrs. Pearl Erwin's ninetieth birthday was last Monday the 26th. Her son, Ruel Erwin and wife, came up from Odessa for the celebration. Mrs. Erwin's daughter, Mrs. Lyman Wade, also came up from Snyder, and brought the birthday dinner.

Mrs. Lloyd Harper of Goodland, Kan., and nephew, Harold West and family of Houston, visited the H. C. Wilkies over the weekend.

Mrs. Mildred Ditts of Bell Gardens, Calif. is visiting her mother, Mrs. Edith Ditts, and visited the Center with her mother Thursday.

Mrs. Noma Mitchell is home from a four week visit with her daughter at Turrell, Oklahoma.

Max Swain left this weekend for Clarendon to spend the fourth of July and attend a barbecue, in his old hometown.

Mrs. Martha Carter is still in the Worley Hospital, and no report from Mr. Tucker. Hope they are doing ok.

Your reporter took Mrs. Rosalie Wedge over to Mrs. Katie Vincent's home Sunday morning to deliver some apricots from Mrs. Wedge's apricot trees. Katie said she just loves apricots.

Mrs. Ada Olson's brother is seriously ill in a hospital in Odessa.

Mrs. Myrtle Ball of Allanreed was a dinner guest of her cousin, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock, recently.

W. A. Miller of Norwood, Oklahoma passed away last week in an Elk City, Okla. hospital after a long illness. Mr. Miller was the eldest brother of Mrs. C. G. Miller, who attended his funeral. Quite a coincidence that Mrs. Miller married a man with the same name as her maiden name. It is a rare thing.

Mrs. Cecil Fitzgerald went to Oklahoma City recently to visit her brother, Evert Duncan and wife. She took Mrs. C. G. Miller to see her sister, Mrs. W. J. Basinger and companion, Mrs. Rorey Cox and Mrs. Miller's brother, Jessie Miller and family. They returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Langley recently went through the Scott and White Clinic in Temple for a check-up.

Mrs. Mary Puckett and son David Stroup and Mrs. Rosalie Wedge went to Rita Blanca Lake near Dalhart on a fishing trip recently. They camped out and report a good time and a good catch. Mrs. Puckett and son are leaving July 29 for Riverton, Wyo.

One of life's amusing little coincidences happened to me recently, which I would like to share with you. I like to watch Bill Cullen's Show just before noon. I was downtown recently and in a hurry to get back home in time for the show. I ran into one of the stores to pick up a package and was not gone more than a few minutes. When I came out there was a parking ticket on my car. I had forgotten to put in a coin. So it upset me no end.

I went over to the Police Department to explain and talk them out of the quarter if I could. No go, they said they no longer handled it. They sent me up to the Traffic Court, but there was no one there with any authority. So, being in a hurry, I left the quarter and came on home. Bill Cullen was on the air soon after, so I listened and watched a while.

During the program, Bill asked the question, "Where goes a woman park her car?" The woman contestant chose the No. 1 slot which came up "Police Station." This gave me quite a kick for that is where I had just been! (Editor's Note: The Downtown Businessmen's Association's trial plan to abolish parking meters beginning Aug. 1 can't come too soon for our columnist, Mrs. Wagner.)

Door prizes at last Thursday's Senior Center party went to Mrs. Nolen and Jay Evans.

Hostesses during the social hour were Women of the Moose, Mrs. Meta Klaerner, Marie Fitzgerald, Agnes Flowers assisted by Misses Jo Lyn Flowers, Shirley Moore, Barbara Moore and Donna Moore. They served sandwiches, cookies, crunchies and coffee.

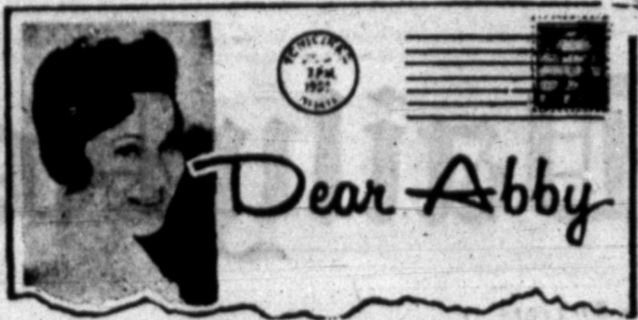

Red Cross Volunteers providing transportation for Senior Citizens to and from the Center were Mmes. Lee Harrah, Jess Hatcher, A. D. Hills and George Benham.

Assisting hostesses during the afternoon were Altrussans Jay Flanagan, Marie Fitzgerald, Lillian Snow and Lena Pearl Hobbs. This Thursday's meeting will be the monthly birthday party honoring all Senior Citizens with birthdays in July with Altrusa Club of Pampa as hostess. See you next week?

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I have three healthy, normal, wonderful daughters, ages 6, 4, and 3. The eldest is an exceptionally attractive child with a head full of red curls, enormous big cherry eyes, and long dark lashes. I know she's pretty... and so does she—and her sisters, who are very ordinary.

My problem, Dear Abby, is the well-meaning idiot who stops me in the supermarket when I am with all three and says, "My what a GORGEOUS child! She should be in the movies. Or, 'O, boy, what a heartbreaker that red-head will be when she grows up!" She is 6, and she's already asking me when she is going to start breakin' hearts!

Please put something in your column about people who single out a child in the presence of brothers and sisters. It makes it hard on the mother. If you have any suggestions as to how I can handle this, I'd be grateful.

A MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: There is no help for the idiot. You can only hope to shut him up by signaling with your face, your hand, or your foot—if necessary. But I'll print this in the hope that the thoughtless stranger who is overwhelmed by the beauty of a child will think twice before he speaks, leaving the mother to deal with the problems that are sure to follow.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single working girl, age 18. The other day a saleslady told me that I should start my silver and china before I get married. I told her I wanted to wait until I was engaged so my fiance could help me pick out the pattern. Her answer was that most men don't have very good taste, and if a girl doesn't get these things started before she is married, she may never get them at all.

Do you think it would be foolish to start my silver and china even though I am not even engaged?

WORKING GIRL DEAR GIRL: A man's taste is no worse, or better, than a woman's, but most young men are about as comfortable in a china shop as the proverbial bull, and when asked for an opinion, reply, "Whatever SHE wants if she with me." For the girl who is silver-and china-minded, however, starting young and buying a piece at a time is good insurance for having it later.

DEAR ABBY: To the worried parents of the 12-year-old boy who put a price on all useful acts, and would ask, "What's it worth to you?" when mom asked him to carry out the trash: I have a suggestion which worked in our case. For example, when our boy asked, "Mom are there any cookies?" I would reply, "No, but I can make some. How much is it worth to you?" Or, "Mom, I don't have a clean shirt to wear." I would say, "I can wash and iron one for you right now. What's it worth to you?"

The list is endless. Try it for a few days. It won't take long for the boy to catch on.

4H Girls To Stage Fashions A Go-Go

By DORIS E. WILSON Women's Editor

Tomorrow is Fashion A Go-Go Day in Lovett Memorial Library. Gray County 4-H Club girls, who have been busily engaged in sewing projects for the past few weeks, will don their newly-made garments and model them for judges.

For girls in Units I and II, who are beginning sewers, it will be a day of experience for them to learn how to improve their skills. But girls in Unit III are casting hopeful eyes towards winning the local dress judging competition in order to become eligible for the district dress revue contest to be held July 11 in Amarillo. Only senior seamstresses are eligible for the district contest, but winning juniors may go along as models.

Mrs. Carlos Nunez, assistant Gray County Home Demonstration Agent, said Miss Vivian Warminski of Spearman, Hansford County Home Demonstration Agent, assisted by an adult worker will judge workmanship on garments, as well as the model's personal grooming and her 4-H Club records; all will be on the line for judging tomorrow.

Mrs. Nunez said records will be judged at 10 a.m. and judging of the dress on the model will be at 1:30 p.m.

A tea for friends and families is planned for 3 p.m. and will be followed with announcements of winners in all categories.

First place in each of the three groups, Units I, II, and III, will receive $5 gift certificates donated by local merchants; other winners will receive three yards of fabric.

Adult leaders of the sewing projects have been Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs. H. B. Taylor Jr. and Mrs. Boyd Smith. 4-H club girls, in a practice session last Friday morning, received grooming and modeling tips from Mrs. Glyn Baker, Pampa High School Economics teacher.

Phyllis Atwood of Pampa and Elaine Webb of Lefors will narrate the fashion show. Miss Atwood is a Pampa High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Atwood. Miss Webb is the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Webb of Lefors.

Committee members in charge of tea arrangements are Cathy Taylor, invitations and program chairman, serving with Regina Atwood, Mary Margaret Spearman, Phillis Atwood and Melinda Spearman with Mrs. John Spearman as advisor.

Miss Vicki Cochran of Lefors is decorations committee chairman serving with Elaine Webb, Nona Nickels, Debbie Sailor, Susie Williams, Belinda Brooks and Mrs. Luther Welborn of Lefors, advisor.

Miss Marcella Brooks is in charge of the refreshment committee composed of Vicki Greer, Theresa Sailor, Cara Thomas and Mrs. Bill Studebaker, advisor.

When buying furniture, inspect it. Try doors, drawers and all movable parts. Sit in sofas and chairs. Check inside, underneath and backside for construction details. Rock furniture to test sturdiness.

WHEN PACKING your young camper's trunk don't forget a toilet kit containing an extra toothbrush, enough fluoride toothpaste and shampoo, the latter in a plastic bottle. Good grooming habits should be continued at camp and a plastic soap dish, tissues, talcum powder and nail clippers are some items that may slip mother's mind.

HEMMING HER IN - Moms are allowed to help a little... at least with measuring the hem-length, which Mrs. Wayne Brooks is pictured doing for her daughter, Marcella. When all costs are totaled material and pattern, the dress will have cost Miss Brooks approximately $4.78, exclusive of accessories, which will also count points in the judging of the total fashion ensemble.

A Pox On Dress Designers Stripping Women of Allure

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n. Within the certain future, say the statisticians, the world's population will be almost entirely composed of adolescent people.

However, this utopian day has not yet arrived that we don't go about stark naked is a major tribute to our ingenuity. For there are no women's clothes today. None.

So I am delighted to quote New York City Judge Milton Shalleck on male fashion designers. Said he the other day, "You've got a Rudi Gernreich and an Yves St. Laurent (whose proclivities, it is rumored, would not receive the approbation of all men) who mock women, mock them by their design of garments which make women look like anything but women."

And designer Gernreich, only too happy to agree, has announced his intention of continuing to make us look like "school-boys, kindergartners or gangsters."

It is this woman - destroying purpose, of course, to which the miniskirt "hippies" are quite unhip.

So they rejoice in the exposure of their thighs and in the Gernreich sweater necklines which plunge below their navels. They are too young to know that their feminine throats are being cut. They're utterly unaware of what any strip-teaser could sell them - that if female appeal is largely noted by male imagination. Ignoring that these babies allow female-hating fashion designers to strip them of all feminine promise by stripping them as close to the buff as possible.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 5 GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until mid-12:15 likely to be in a state of high alert and it is wise to study instead of something very vital to you. Recreation with new comers is fine for tonight. Be charming. SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) - Don't fall for any persuading from... who wants you to put some project in motion early in the day when you are not quite ready. Take care of that vital matter and please closest lie. Evening fine for carrying through with plans. SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) - During day associates can be quite demanding, but by evening all works out just fine. Avoid getting into an argument during day your mile may be needing you. You find that evening can then be very enjoyable. CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) - Get into your work with enthusiasm so that you can look forward to a fine evening's entertainment. Don't be annoyed with an overeager co-worker. He or she, rolls down later and all is fine. AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) - Show others that you are more than willing to cooperate in carrying through with their good ideas. Even though the work in a day may be quite to your liking, it may be the best way to get ahead now. Keep busy. PISCES: (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) - Await the evening before jumping into that plan with others whose terms you may not like in a.m. Be more than understanding with his overworked trouble ensues. Talk it easy in the evening; don't get excited. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those fascinating youngsters who may have the habit of staring one thing and then going into another without completing the first. Teach early to finish that. In start-to-stop there may be the proverbial rolling stone. He who gathers no moss. Procrastination, selling are fine here.

Ethiopia Mounts Sudan 'Invasion'

CAIRO (UPI) — Ethiopia mounted an air, tank and infantry "invasion" of the Sudan press reports from Khartoum said today.

The Egyptian newspaper Al Akhbar printed an article from the Sudanese capital saying that about 6,000 Ethiopian soldiers advanced 18.2 miles inside the Sudan eastern border.

There was no official confirmation of the report. The Al Akhbar report supported an earlier dispatch by the Middle East News Agency (MENA).

The Ethiopian attack was supported by tanks, armored trucks and planes, the reports said.

New Building For Church of Christ Near Completion

A 45,000 brick veneer structure is under construction here for the Pampa Church of Christ's sanctuary in the 700-block of McCullough St., east of Hobart.

When the new church is complete, the minister and 120 members congregation plan a dedication service and a special week of activities.

Speaker for the Aug. 6 dedication service will be Lyndon Lathan, minister of Fairlane Church of Christ, Amarillo. Special guests will be the elders of the Churches of Christ in Tulla, Ballinger and the Fairlane Church of Christ who helped with financing construction.

Since the church was organized a year ago last February, it has held services in the Carpenter's Union Hall, 710 W. Foster. Hutton, its first minister, moved here from Amarillo where he was minister of Anna Street Church of Christ for a year.

He received his applied arts degree in Biblical language at LCC in 1965.

2,000 Watch Jayne's Burial

PEN ARGYL, Pa. (UPI)—Jayne Mansfield, the movie sex symbol, was buried Monday in this town in which she never lived.

Two thousand persons—her admirers and the curious—lined the one and one-half mile route from the Pullis Funeral Home to Fairview Cemetery. Hundreds had gathered in the early morning with picnic lunches to assure themselves of good vantage points.

"We just wanted a little privacy," said Mickey Hargitay, one of Miss Mansfield's three husbands. "Why couldn't the people have left us to weep in peace?" he asked.

LBJ Issues Independence Day Plea

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson today reminded Americans celebrating the Fourth of July that the men dying in Vietnam still are paying the price for those who love freedom.

The Chief Executive spent the holiday with his family at the LBJ Ranch. In an Independence Day statement, he was deeply mindful of the Vietnam war although he did not mention it by name.

"As fireworks flash in our skies, let us remember the cannons flaring across the seas," he said. "As we fly the flag before our homes, let us remember the sons of Americans who carry it in battle. As here men parade and proud bugles sound, let us remember the place where the parade is a careful march across a mined field, and the sounds are of dreadful battle."

"These bitter contrasts and their meaning—should be in the mind of every American this day," he said. "For the freedom we celebrate is ours only because of the valor of brave Americans who were—and are willing to die for it."

Police Question Juveniles In Four Pampa Burglaries

Police officers reported today a series of burglaries committed here in March and April have been solved with the arrest and questioning of six Pampa juveniles.

The boys, "all under age," according to Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner, broke into the Service Liquor Store, March 8; Heavy's Liquor Store, March 8; Club Bar, March 25 and Oasis Bar, April 1.

The investigation is incomplete, Conner said, but the youths told officers they had broken a window at Service Liquor Store and taken several bottles of whiskey. Two bottles of wine were taken from Heavy's liquor storeroom.

At the Oasis Bar, officers said youths admitted taking two cases and four bottles of beer and a gallon jar of weiners. At the Club Bar, beer, potato chips and a coke were taken.

Other police reports today included four stolen hub caps, a shoplifting incident and "a burglary in progress."

David Gruben, 917 Terry, called officers about 11 p.m. yesterday to report a "burglary in progress."

According to the report, someone had broken into Gruben's house and was there when he arrived. Investigating officers said nothing was missing, and "if anyone was in the house, he left when Gruben went across the street to call police."

Norman Fritzer at J. C. Penney's reported at 16-year-old shoplifter to police yesterday afternoon. The youth was released to his mother pending further investigation, officers said.

Charles Gurley of 531 N. Wells reported four hub caps valued at $48 were taken from his car Monday night.

Policeman, Girl In Collision Here

A city police car, driven by Patrolman Charles LaFever, was in collision last night with an auto driven by Miss Connie Jo Yeager, 16, of 1924 N. Zimmers. Neither driver was injured.

According to LaFever, he was driving north in the 1700-block of N. Hobart about 9 p.m. and Miss Yeager's car had stopped in the traffic lane on Hobart to turn onto 18th st.

LaFever stated in the report "wind and dust were blowing badly and it was raining just enough to mess up the windshield, so I could hardly see. I was driving 15 m.p.h. and when I first saw the car, I applied the brakes and slid into the rear of Miss Yeager's car."

Neither Miss Yeager nor Officer LaFever were cited in the accident, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

According to the report, the patrol car was not damaged, but the car driven by Miss Yeager had a broken license plate light and a broken backup light. Damage was estimated at $10. Mrs. Betty Word, 1924 N. Zimmers, mother of Miss Yeager, is owner of the car.

Winds

(Continued From Page 1) attributed to the storm, but Roy Lawrence of Perryton died of an apparent heart attack just before the storm struck. His car was found on U.S. 70, 15 miles south of the town.

A member of the Ochiltree County sheriff's department reported, however, that damage in the town itself "was not too extensive."

Three tornadoes were sighted near Dalhart, but all funnels went back into the clouds before any damage resulted. A tornado touched ground between White Deer and Skellytown in an open field, but did no damage.

Heavy rains and 60 mile-an-hour winds did heavy damage to farms and crops in Hansford County, but the sheriff's office at Spearman said there were no injuries.

A heavy rainstorm hit Darrouzet shortly before 8 p.m. Electricity was knocked out. A tornado south of the town was reported about the same time.

Betty Word, 1924 N. Zimmers, mother of Miss Yeager, is owner of the car.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

'Baby Bull' Is a Hitter; Acts as a Peacemaker

By GREG GALLO
 UPI Sports Writer
 Orlando Cepeda is a hitter not a fighter. Nicknamed the Baby Bull because of his brute strength, the National League's leading batter acted as a peacemaker in a wild fifth inning free-for-all Monday night in a game that saw the St. Louis Cardinals defeat the Cincinnati Reds 7-3. Cepeda, who's hitting .348, two points better than teammate Tim Lincecum, was minding his own business when things got out of control. After Tony Perez had fled out, he crossed the diamond and said a few words to pitcher Bob Gibson about a pitch which had Cepeda tried to hit me, he was just trying to stop me. Lee was wrong." The Cardinal first baseman summed up his feelings by saying, "fighting is for Cassius Clay and the birds." In other National League action, New York beat San Francisco 5-3, Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 5-2 and Chicago bombed Atlanta 12-6. In the American League, Minnesota blanked New York 3-0, Detroit nipped Cleveland 2-1, and Boston routed California 9-3 and Baltimore edged Chicago 1-0 in 14 innings. The Cardinals wrapped up the game in the first inning when they scored seven times. Lou in the eighth when Art Shamsky homered. Bill Mazerowski knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Willie Stargell slammed his 11th home run of the season, a 450-foot shot over the center-field scoreboard, as Tommie Sisk pitched a four hitter to lead the Pirates over the Dodgers. Ed Kranepool crashed a three-run homer to give all-star bound Tom Seaver his seventh win of the season and move the Mets out of the cellar. Seaver was hit for three early runs, but then settled down to retire the final 12 Giants he faced. Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Randy Hundley each homered brushed back the Redleg third baseman. When the two players looked as though they might tangle, Cepeda got between them and before anybody knew what was happening both benches and bullpens had emptied and the melee was in full swing. Big Bob Lee led the Cincinnati charge from the left field bullpen and he ran right for Cepeda.

Brock opened the inning with a double and after singles by Curt Flood, Roger Maris and Cepeda and a sacrifice fly by McCaver, Dal Maxvill drove home the final two runs with a double. Gibson, who struck out 12 and walked just one, lost his shutout during a six-run first inning as the Cubs surged to their seventh straight victory and 14th triumph in the last 15 games. Glenn Beckert added a three-run homer in the sixth for Chicago while Rico Carty hit a pair of homers and Felipe Alou a solo shot for the Braves.

Birds Start Fourth With Bang; Defeat League Leading Chisox

By FRED McMANE
 UPI Sports Writer
 Despite a lack of fireworks the Fourth of July started with a bang for the Baltimore Orioles.

The slumping Orioles, mired in seventh place in the American League standings, got a head start on the Independence Day festivities Monday night when they took four hours and 18 minutes to defeat the league-leading Chicago White Sox 1-0 in 14 innings in the first game of a crucial four game set.

pick up his sixth victory of the year against no losses. The triumph moved him to within five of Johnny Allen's league record for most consecutive victories.

Elbin Decries PGA Extortion Request

Three Hits
 Chicago, which saw its lead reduced to three and one-half games over Detroit, Boston, and Minnesota, never threatened in the game and were held to just three hits by Phoebus over the first nine innings.

The White Sox used six pitchers in the game with John Buzhardt suffering the loss. Buzhardt surrendered successive singles to Luis Aparicio and Paul Blair in the 14th and both runners advanced when Tommie Agee misplayed Blair's hit. Brooks Robinson then lofted a sacrifice fly to score Aparicio with the decisive run.

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—The president of the Professional Golfers Association said Monday the organization "has backed up to the edge of the cliff" and that disgruntled pro golfers' demands are "approaching extortion." "There is no room for another backward step," said Max Elbin. "At this moment the tournament players appear determined to reject every effort by the PGA of America to reach a reasonable settlement of differences which arose over administrative control of the PGA tour." A group of players wants the PGA to relinquish its veto power over tournaments and has threatened to boycott the PGA championship in Denver, Colo., July 20-23.

In other AL action, Minnesota blanked New York 3-0, Detroit edged Cleveland 2-1 and Boston topped California 9-3. Kansas City and Washington were not scheduled. Chicago beat Atlanta 12-6, St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 7-3, Pittsburgh topped Los Angeles 5-2 and New York edged San Francisco 5-3 in National League games.

Casper's 65 Scuttles Wall

MONTREAL (UPI)—Billy Casper shook hands with opponent Art Wall Jr., wished him well, and then proceeded to beat him by four strokes with a brilliant six-under par 65 Monday in an 18 hole play off for the Canadian Open Golf championship. The 43-year-old Wall, still shocked over blowing the title Sunday on the final hole, salvaged his feelings today with second money of $18,500 while Casper, 36, took home top money of $30,000. Casper's victory came just a year and a day after his latest tournament triumph at Indianapolis where he now heads to defend that title Thursday and it was just a little less than 11 years ago that Casper won his first pro tournament here in Quebec City. Counting today, the once portly Californian has now won 34 events, including the U.S. Open twice. Wall admitted the "ghost of Casper" lingered on after Sunday's stunning change of events when Wall, with a two shot lead and one hole to play, suddenly found himself in a playoff. "That was the turning point," Wall admitted, "the 18th hole Sunday." Casper wasted no time showing some 2,500 galleryites when he birdied the first hole the shape of things to come Monday. Though Wall caught him momentarily with a birdie on the fourth, Casper moved ahead to stay with a birdie-two on the short 5th hole. From there on Casper got increasingly stronger while Wall vainly played catch-up. Casper made the turn with a three-under 32 for a two shot lead and it was the next hole which he termed the "touring point." Wall was on in two and putting for a birdie while Casper came out of the sand, chipped poorly and left himself a 25-footer for a par. "I was thinking that Art might birdie it and I might three-putt for a bogey and instead of a two-shot lead the match would be all even." Instead, Wall two-putted for a par and Casper, his magic putting touch working to perfection, holed out and he still was two shots in front.

Defending Gal Champs Favored At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Defending champions Billie Jean King and tiny, dark-haired Rosemary Casals of San Francisco were favored to sweep their matches today in women's quarter-final action of the Wimbledon tennis championships. Mrs. King was a 6-4 betting choice to defeat eighth-seeded Virginia Wade of Britain and go on to win her second straight all England title. The 18-year-old Miss Casals, already the tourney's "giant killer" in women's singles by virtue of her triumph over three-time champion Maria Bueno, was a 9-2 favorite to beat Judy Tegart of Australia.

Sonics Beat El Paso, Retain League Lead

By United Press International
 The Amarillo Sonics entered the Fourth of July—that crucial day in baseball lore—with a whopping 8 1-2 game lead over El Paso and threatening to tear the Texas League apart. Legend has it that the team in first place July 4 will win the pennant. But Monday night, the Sonics did not need superstition, black cats or broken mirrors. Amarillo used old-fashioned solid pitching and timely hitting to beat El Paso twice, 4-3 and 9-2. Amarillo scored twice in the bottom of the eighth and twice more in the ninth to wipe out an early 3-0 El Paso lead. Starter Bruce Von Hoff and winner Ron Cayl combined to limit El Paso to six hits. Paul Jaekal was the loser. Rick Pierini went the distance, scattering eight hits, to win the second game. Pierini, the biggest winner in the league, ran his record to 10-1. Don Wilkinson homered for El Paso.

In other action, Albuquerque's John Duffie shut out Arkansas 3-0 and the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs broke a five-game losing streak with a 3-2 win over Austin. Duffie gave up five hits in picking up the win. Danny Jaster took the loss. Duffie got all the support he needed when John Butler and Ted Johnson que in the fourth. The Spurs collected only two hit solo homers for Albuquerque to erase an early 2-0 Austin lead. Dave Dixon, in relief of George Sherrard, was the winner, and Gary Neibauer took the loss. Amarillo plays at home today against third place Arkansas, Albuquerque travels to Austin and El Paso is at Dallas-Fort Worth.

Buckpasser Tries to Win Suburban Leg

NEW YORK (UPI)—Buckpasser attempted to emulate his sire, Tom Fool and his dam, Busanda, as a winner of the Suburban Handicap when he went postward today in the second leg of the New York Handicap Triple Crown at Aqueduct. Busanda won the Suburban in 1951 and Tom Fool followed the lead two years later. The track weight handicap, however, made it a little more difficult for the four-year old Buckpasser to accomplish the feat. Ogden Phipps' colt carried top weight of 133 pounds in the 81st running of the one and one-quarter-mile test. Tom Fool won the Suburban under 128 pounds and Busanda under 104 pounds. The 133 pounds is three pounds more than Buckpasser has carried in victory. He won the Metropolitan, the first leg of the Handicap Triple Crown, carrying 130 pounds. When he was eighted at 135-pounds for the running of the Bowling Green 18 days ago, Buckpasser finished a disappointing third. The loss snapped a 15-race winning streak and cost him a trip to France. Buckpasser, with Braulio Baeza up was listed at 1-2. Rated at 6-1 and second in weight assignment at 118 was Reginald N. Webster's Amberold, winner of the Wood Memorial, Belmont States and Queens County Handicap last year.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

On This Day—191 Years Later

Today being the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, we had thought to editorialize pointing out how far we, as individuals and as a nation, have forgotten and departed from the concept and love of freedom which motivated the writing and signing of that document a short one hundred and ninety-one years ago.

Instead, since the wording of that document has been largely forgotten and with many youngsters having never seen a copy of it, we are reproducing here the text of the Declaration itself. As you, our readers, ponder the following text we would suggest that you keep in mind that the people of the Thirteen Colonies were not motivated by any desire to overthrow or take over the government of George the Third of England, but by the conviction that they, as free men, were not fit objects for the chains of tyranny. And as you read and ponder we would suggest, too, that you reflect, individually, upon the total apodictic, categorical meaning of the phrase: "... Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." Read and ponder. The hour grows late.

Declaration Of Independence

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws of Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. In every stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms; Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people. Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native Justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

He has made Judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our Legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws, giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:—For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;—For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States;—For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world;—For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:—For depriving us in many cases of the benefits of Trial by Jury;—For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses;—For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies;—For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:—For suspending our own Legislatures and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravished our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

Texas to Be Major Target of Republicans in 1968 Congressional Elections

WASHINGTON — Republicans are singling out President Johnson's home state as a major battleground for next year's congressional elections.

Of the 111 "target districts" selected for 1968, 17 are in Texas, 15 in California, and 10 in New York, with the others scattered throughout the country.

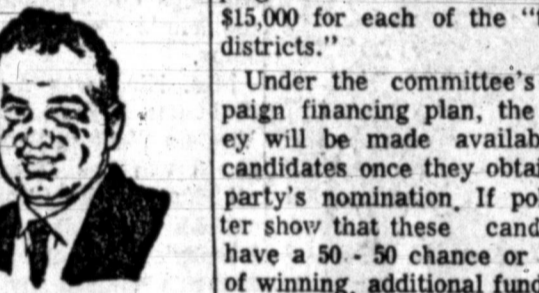

These are districts lost to Democratic congressmen in 1966, but located in states where Republicans succeeded in electing a U.S. senator and/or governor.

Other states with four or more "target districts" on the Republican's priority campaign list are Massachusetts and New Jersey, with seven each; Florida, six; South Carolina five, and Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan and Pennsylvania, four each.

By concentrating additional funds and manpower in these districts the Republicans believe they can win the 31 seats needed for them to win control of the House. Significantly, GOP candidates in 22 of these districts lost by less than 10,000 votes in 1966.

In reporting the adoption of this campaign strategy to House colleagues, Minority Leader Gerald Ford, R-Mich., forecast bright GOP prospects, stating: "Our chances of getting one-third of these districts are very good. This would be enough to take over control of the House provided that we can hold the seats we won in 1966. We should be able to do both."

POLITICAL STRAWS — According to members of the GOP House Campaign Committee, the congressional districts in Texas are being singled out as prime targets mainly because of Senator John Tower's smashing victory last year.

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

PLANNING FOR 1968 — Despite his preoccupation with foreign affairs, President Johnson has begun making his political plans for 1968.

First unannounced decision was to pick Postmaster General Larry O'Brien as his campaign manager.

The President made this choice known to Democratic members of Congress who accompanied him to Los Angeles recently for a party fund-raising dinner.

In response to a question about O'Brien's future role in the administration, the President replied: "Larry's major task next year will be to manage my campaign. I've already tapped him for that role. When it comes to politics, he is the best now in the business."

One of the architects of President Kennedy's victory in 1960, O'Brien also played a major role in President Johnson's 1964 campaign.

POLITICAL NOTES — The split among Democrats in the House is growing deeper. Representative Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who years to become House majority leader, is opening a new campaign against the Democratic leadership.

PINE TREE FEATURES

FREEDOM OR TYRANNY?

When men live in what Rousseau, Locke, and other early writers called a "state of nature," they don't worry about freedom. In this presumed or imaginary state every man is free and can do as he pleases. The difficulty is that this condition, assuming it to exist in this "state of nature," isn't particularly gratifying or satisfactory. In such a primitive condition, the important thing is for men to learn how to do things so that production can begin. Nature will never support us if we forage for a living, to the degree that we can support ourselves in we produce for a living. The difficulty with production is that it requires carefully organized effort. Men have to submit to discipline, either of their own or of some other man's in order to perform the highly specialized and difficult tasks of production.

Projecting our thoughts backward in respect to this "state of nature" concept again, it is probably true that, given this condition and a desire to produce, organizing human energy took two forms right from the beginning. Some people voluntarily came forward to assist in production for the rewards they were promised or could visualize. Others were probably compelled to come forward by some patriarch or king.

Being an ambitious, restless, acquisitive species, once we began to produce we wanted more and more. It is conceded by most scholars that man's wants and desires are insatiable. So the organizational methods pushed gained in popularity over which relied on force and compulsion. It seemed more reliable to trust in the weight of your armaments than in the voluntary good judgment of your neighbor.

Out of this procedure grew the modern state. And with it came oppression, enslavement, confiscation of property, the draft and tyranny. And as these recognitions came, came also the realization that freedom, that abstract core of both life and reason, was on the wane. When we are free we don't think about freedom. As the well run dry, the vital character of life becomes more precious.

Once we are in the grip of the Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: In the final analysis, isn't the foundation of earning one's living (business) the fact that one proficient in his line of work saves the do-it-yourself time of the user of his desirable services in exchange for the occupational talent of that consumer? Within this definition, how could one classify the sprawling bureaucracy, with its autocratic demands upon productive citizens' time for form filling, standing in lines, etc., contributive to saving that time which today's expedient society places such a high value upon? (It is understood that goods are the results of labor time.)

ANSWER: We would say the questioner has adequately described the basis for success in a free enterprise economy. Success is based on satisfactorily exchanging one's time and energy for the time, energy and talents of others. It is voluntary.

However, the "sprawling bureaucracy" need not make an exchange based on need or desire of its "customers" for its "service." The bureaucracy first decides — or has legislators decide — that there is a "need" for its services. All of the people then are charged for their needs and desires. Then come the form filling, standing in line, etc.

Granted some of the services performed by the bureaucracy have value to some persons, the fact that they are based on coercion eliminates the voluntary exchanges in which each person agrees to give up the equivalent of some of his time and energy for what represents time and energy of others, because he believes he is profiting through the recipient of the governmental service may believe it has some value, he may very well wonder if he is required to "pay too much for his whistle."

The Nation's Press

ONE WAY TO PACK A COURT (Southern States Industrial Bulletin)

Appointment of Thurgood Marshall to the United States Supreme Court came as a surprise to few and a shock to many. Opponents of the President's action will inevitably be branded as bigots, racists, or Southern reactionaries. To us, however, the naming of a Negro to the nation's highest court is not an issue. The reasons for naming this particular Negro are an issue.

The cynical may say that all Supreme Court appointments are born of political considerations, but this one smacks of politics in its rawest form. The legal knowledge possessed by the appointee is unquestioned, his technical qualifications are proved and his manner persuasive — and the same can be said of thousands of other distinguished barristers throughout the United States. But most of them are white and naming any one of them to the Supreme Court would hardly garner many Negro votes for the Chief Executive.

Virtually every biographical sketch of Marshall includes his slave ancestry and a string of victories before the U. S. Supreme Court in civil rights litigation. Much is made of his masterminding the "landmark 1954 Supreme Court" decision which outlawed segregation in public schools.

It is precisely his inextricable identity with the civil rights movement in a legal capacity that creates alarm at the thought of his sitting on the highest court. It is much like having a defense attorney serving in an appellate capacity when his own client's case comes up for review.

As for his box score in civil rights matters adjudicated by the Supreme Court, we aren't unduly impressed. Noting the composition of the court, we think such victories are akin to a union lawyer getting favorable decisions from an N.L.R.B. trial examiner.

Within the past few years we have seen the tragic impact of Supreme Court decisions upon countless aspects of the American way of life, its traditions, and the free enterprise system. Much of this came from the new theory of judicial experimentation espoused by the Warren Court. Dominated by liberals whose decisions repudiated precedent established by earlier and more esteemed members of the high bench, we've seen chaos and anarchy sweep across the land.

Significantly, at the very moment Marshall's appointment was announced, communiques from battle fronts abroad and at home were filling the press. Negro mobs have been resorting to arson, looting, vandalism, and mayhem in cities from coast to coast. Shooting at policemen, firemen, ambulance drivers and innocent bystanders against a flaming backdrop of ransacked liquor stores and other flaming establishments has become part of the American scene. The crime rate generally has soared — and one Supreme Court decision after another has given more privilege to the rioters, more protection to the criminal, less protection to society.

When the President of the United States discovers the Negro vote, then appoints a Negro when that tribunal's most important decisions are related to civil rights matters, we can't help but suspect the motives behind such an appointment.

MMM's Disease

(Tyler, Tex., Courier-Times-Telegraph)

No more suicidal mental agony has ever gripped the American mind than what might best be diagnosed as "Municipal Magnitude Mania."

The coveted cure for side-effects of "MMM" seems always to take the form of money — money imported from remote regions where currency, like cotton and corn, is reckoned to grow manna-like — unhindered and in unlimited amounts.

Abrupt mental spasms seem to blot out any value handy metropolitan funds might have in checking "MMM" symptoms.

Already, Supreme Court rulings have given the cities the nation the legislative votes to raid state treasuries. And the raiding has begun. But mayors of these same problem pits are crying out the other side of their mouths for direct federal aid.

At last year's U.S. Senate hearings, federal department heads found it impossible to agree on just how much federal aid New York is now receiving. The discrepancy was only $9 or $10 billion annually. But it could be agreed that the dollar remedy had only given Gotham enough vitality to re-incubate its old problems.

With entire states now strapped to the monetary transfusion table, the endless process of replenishing the problem-potential of these seas of humanity can go on into the 21st Century until the nation has exhausted itself striving to attain the ultimate dream: At least one Manhattan Jungle for every state and two or three for the "lucky ones."

SETS SAIL FOR ENGLAND — William Willis, a 74-year-old mariner who has conquered the Pacific alone, holds up a bagel presented him by a well-wisher prior to the start of his solo voyage across the Atlantic in an 11-foot skiff. Fourth Bloody Across Nation

By United Press International — The 191st celebration of U.S. Independence was a star-spangled time for joyous patriotism and a record number of deaths on the highways.

For the first time in memory, the number of accidental deaths from traffic, plane crashes, drownings and other causes, climbed to more than 1,000.

A United Press International count at 9:30 a.m. CDT showed at least 717 persons killed in traffic since the start of the 102-hour period Friday night.

Texas Leads Nation In Highway Toll

By United Press International — Texas finished the 102-hour Fourth of July holiday weekend leading the nation in highway deaths and easily surpassing the road toll prediction of the State Department of Public Safety.

A United Press International survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday listed a total of 109 violent deaths—71 in traffic, 11 in homicides, one in a fire, 22 in drownings and four in miscellaneous ways.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the DPS, had predicted 55 persons would die on the highways in the period. An automobile-motorcycle smashup 15 miles south of Hempstead, Tex. killed two persons and was one of the last highway fatalities in the long weekend.

Car-Cycle Collision
The dead were L. L. Dinkins Jr., 21, of Houston and Karen Carne, 20, of Houston. Their motorcycle collided with a car driven by Brick Upton Dimer Jr. of Brookshire, Tex.
More than a score of persons drowned during the holiday period and slayings accounted for 11 other fatalities.

Among late fatalities:
Emilio Granada, 74, of Navasota, who was struck down by a car Tuesday night in Navasota.

Dies of Injuries
—Otis Ballard, 50, of Paris, Tex., who died in Dallas Tuesday of injuries suffered in Dallas in a two-car collision Monday.

—Windell C. McCall, 20, of Ocala, Fla., who was killed in a two-car collision three miles west of Killeen on U. S. 190.

—Cynthia L. Arnold, 20, of Houston, killed in a two-car smashup five miles north of Queen City, Tex. on U. S. 59 Tuesday.

—Joseph C. Teague, 43, who drowned in Possum Kingdom Lake near Mineral Wells Tuesday.

—Virginia R. Walton, 20, of Hawkins, Tex., who drowned Tuesday in a boating mishap on Lake Hawkins near Mineola.

Cincinnati Race Violence Erupts For Second Day

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Roving bands of Negro youths set fire, smashed store windows and looted today in the second day of racial violence which fanned out from the riot-scarred predominantly Negro Avondale district.

Negro youths pelted firemen with rocks as they attempted to douse some of the fires at business establishments and abandoned homes.

The youths spilled out from the trouble district of Avondale, where National Guardsmen quelled racial disturbances three weeks ago, and smashed store windows and looted at a shopping center in the predominantly white suburb of Roselawn. Many of the youths were arrested.

Violence Spreads
It was the first time racial violence extended beyond the fringes of Avondale in the current outbreak of disorder.

Store windows in another shopping center in Roselawn, four miles north of Avondale, also were smashed and police said cameras, watches and jewelry were taken from a jewelry store.

There were no immediate plans to call in the National Guard.

The Fire Department said 26 alarms, most of them in Avondale, were turned in between 9 p.m. CDT Tuesday night and 1 a.m. today.

Firemen said nine were false alarms.
"A number were set, we're certain," said Asst. Fire Chief Edward Avey.

He said firemen were pelted with rocks and stones while battling a blaze at a dry cleaning store in Avondale where damage was estimated at $6,000. Fire officials suspected a fire bomb may have triggered the blaze.

General Assembly Says Annex Illegal

By WALTER LOGAN, United Press International

Israel defied the United Nations today and said it will never give up the old city of Jerusalem it annexed after last month's war with the Arabs. The Roman Catholic Church strongly protested and there were angry outbursts from Russia and the Arabs.

"The world must reconcile itself to the fact that this city has at least returned to the nation that founded it and that turned it into a holy city," Israeli Labor Minister Gen. Yigal Allon told UPI correspondent Joseph W. Grigg in Jerusalem.

In Vatican City, the official magazine L'Osservatore Delpa Domenica condemned the annexation. It renewed Catholic Church demands of all Jerusalem be internationalized and "be no longer an apple of discord but a place of encounter, accessible to all . . ."

In Moscow Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev turned his wrath again on Israel and said "the aggressors are behaving like the worst of bandits" and committing Hitlerite atrocities. But without specifically mentioning the Soviet setback in the United Nations he said Russia had steered a correct course in the Middle East.

Defeat Proposals
The U.N. General Assembly voted Tuesday night 99-0 with 29 abstentions, including the United States, that annexation was illegal. The 122-member body defeated Russian-backed proposals condemning Israel and telling the Jewish state to withdraw her troops from occupied Arab soil.

In Tel Aviv, Premier Levi Eshkol expressed open joy at the failure of the U.N. resolutions demanding a return to the pre-war status quo and said "I never believed that immoral resolutions could triumph so easily, even in 1967. I am glad that some justice is within reach these days."

The voting wrecked the Soviet Union's massive drive to win Arab friends by leading an anti-Israeli campaign in the General Assembly emergency session the Kremlin called for that purpose.

Some Arab newspapers and radio broadcasts said the U.N. defeat for them threatened renewed Middle East warfare.

Mobeetie State Bank Reopens in Grocery

MOBEETIE — After the safe and two vaults were uncovered from underneath brick and rubble the First State Bank of New Mobeetie reopened here today in a new location.

The bank building was destroyed by a tornado that swept over the small town Monday night and damaged nearly every building in the town.

Bank vice-president J. T. Johnston announced that the bank is operating in the same building with W. H. Adkins grocery store, located up the street from the remains of the building that had housed the bank for 37 years. The First National Bank of Pampa was sending equipment to aid the new operations of First State Bank.

Workmen used a crane Tuesday to clear the rubble and recover the safe, containing between $15,000 and $20,000, and the two vaults. The materials were uncovered early Tuesday afternoon.

As the bank had planned on a holiday for July 4, the time lock on the safe was set to open at 9 a.m. today.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from Amarillo had come to Mobeetie to observe the actions surrounding the clearing of debris from the bank. Working with highway patrolmen and members of Wheeler County sheriff's department, they guarded the bank Monday night and Tuesday.

A barricade was set up around the town to prevent curious sightseers from entering the town. Only those with immediate business were allowed to pass the barricades.

Throughout the town, people were making efforts to clear away broken glass, fallen bricks, tree limbs and other rubble left in the wake of the storm. Many of the buildings were heavily damaged by the soaking rain, and attempts were being made to mop up the floors.

It will take at least several days, and probably weeks though, to repair the damage caused by the Monday night storm.

WEATHER
PAMPA AND VICINITY—Partly cloudy to cloudy with widely scattered thunderstorms, turning fair tomorrow. High in mid-90s, low in mid-60s. West-northwest winds 10-20 mph, stronger near thunderstorms. Thirty per cent probability of rain tonight, 10 per cent tomorrow. Outlook for Friday: clear to partly cloudy, very warm.

SAIGON (UPI)—Dogged U.S. Marines braved murderous Communist artillery fire that had stopped them once and retrieved the bodies of fallen comrades today from a bloody battlefield on the North-South Vietnam border.

The Leathernecks, defying a 20-hour barrage by North Vietnamese howitzers, rockets and mortars, brought back all but six of the Marines who fell Sunday when they thwarted a cross-border invasion by 2,500 Communist troops.

The Marines first went out for the bodies Tuesday but the Communists laid a Fourth of July trap. Waiting until the Leathernecks were within 200 yards of the bodies, they opened fire and killed 21 Marines and wounded 40 more.

But today, while gathering in their own dead, the Marines even took time under fire to count more Communist bodies. Their report sent casualty figures on both sides soaring for the past three days' bitter fighting.

According to U.S. spokesmen, 106 Marines have been killed, 201 wounded and six were still listed as missing. The Leathernecks counted 190 Communist bodies and estimated another 200 North Vietnamese had been killed.

The battlefield lay just below the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and along a string of Marine fortresses. Tuesday night and until past dawn today the massive Communist barrage poured down.

U.S. spokesmen reported little damage. But American artillery, warships offshore and planes overhead replied with shells, bombs and fiery napalm aimed at Communist positions in the DMZ and on the southern fringe of North Vietnam.

American firepower made itself felt in other action. U.S. spokesmen said Leathernecks defending the 5th Marine Regiment command post 50 miles below the DMZ were hit by Communist mortars and troop assaults today.

The Communists killed 13 Marines and wounded 43. But the Americans found 39 bodies the Communists left behind.

In the air war, with U.S. jet pilots flying 115 missions against North Vietnam on the Fourth of July, pilots reported how a Soviet-made surface to air missile (SAM) backfired on the Communists.

The pilots struck the 12th time the Kep MIG interceptor base 31 miles northeast of Hanoi and nearby rail and road targets. They left fresh craters on the airfield, damaged heavily.

its buildings and ignored two MIGs who did not dare come close to the American raiders, spokesmen said.

Then the Americans dive bombed a SAM site 31 miles southeast of Hanoi. Pilots said their blasts set off two of the big SAMs.

Several other buildings were heavily destroyed during the storm. The post office, east of the bank, had windows blown out and portions of the ceiling torn away. Mrs. Mary Ruth Morris, clerk in charge of the post office, reported that the mail and other postal supplies were not damaged.

Thelma's Beauty Shop, owned by Mrs. Thelma Harrison, had its windows smashed, and the contents inside had been thoroughly wet by the driving rain. She reported that the equipment was not damaged, however.

Some of the injured were standing beneath the scaffold when it plunged eight feet to the pavement. No one was believed seriously hurt.

A policeman only minutes earlier had warned the spectators, part of an estimated 350,800 who saw the "Salute to America" parade led by comedian Bob Hope, to get off the scaffold.

Around 200 other spectators scrambled off other scaffolds after the accident. The scaffolds had been erected in front of several buildings under construction in downtown Atlanta.

Ambulances had to thread their way through streets clogged with traffic and spectators to get to Grady Memorial Hospital with the injured, most of whom suffered lacerations and bruises.

Hope already had passed the spot just off Five Points, the city's business hub, and a float containing a lion was passing when the scaffold collapsed.

"Some kids started jumping up and down on it . . . and it caved in," said Harler Carr, 18, one of the scaffold occupants who was not hurt.

Carr's father, H.M. Carr, 47, was beneath the scaffold.
"I heard someone screaming and then I was crawling out from under," he said. "There were too many people up there." He suffered a head cut and a foot injury.

Youth Rampage In Wisconsin Subsides

By DENNIS CONNOR — LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (UPI)—Many of the parents who came to pick up their sons and daughters and simply, "We didn't know where the kids were."

They had been part of an estimated 5,000 youngsters ranging in age from 16 to 24 who came to this southern Wisconsin resort area for the long Fourth of July weekend and turned from beer-drinking participants in the age-old boy-girl game to destructive marauders.

At the height of the rampage, thousands of youths were pushed out of Lake Geneva by a 5 p.m. curfew Monday—a curfew backed by shotgun-toting police and combat-ready National Guardsmen.

The youths formed car caravans and struck at three neighboring towns — Fontana, Williams Bay and Delavan—where windows and public buildings were smashed and police were stoned.

500 Arrested
From Friday night when the first of the teenagers arrived through the holiday itself, more than 500 had been arrested, most of them after the hit-run raids were staged on the neighboring towns.

Gov. Warren Knowles called in the National Guard, which, with its bayonet-tipped rifles, was largely instrumental in returning law and order to the area.

Authorities facing much the same situation that officials in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., have faced each Easter for years, were in a quandary.

"I'm positive we're going to have to take more preventive measures," said Lake Geneva Mayor Emil Johnjack. But he said he had no idea of what the "measures" might be.

Home For Riot
Weary National Guardsmen went home late Tuesday. Spec. 4 Timothy Smith, 24, lives in Lake Geneva and said he was happy to spend his holiday weekend at home even if it meant straightening out his hometown and helping "bring a better class of people back to our town."

The youths who drove into Lake Geneva were typified by an 18-year-old blonde from Elgin, Ill., who spoke to reporters just after getting out of the Walworth County Jail Tuesday.

The girl, declining to give her name in order to keep her parents and friends in the dark, was among the nearly 200 arrested at a road block outside Lake Geneva Monday night.

"Since I was arrested for not doing anything and it cost only $100, I'll be back and I will do something next time," she said.

Man Wounded In Shooting Here

Marvin Washington, 37, of Pampa, was in satisfactory condition today in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. Washington is being treated for a bullet wound he sustained in his left eye late last night.

Pampa police officers said today a woman suspect is known, but has not been arrested yet and no charges had been filed up until noon today.

Washington was first taken to Highland General Hospital here by Clyde Durham of 415 Oklahoma. After emergency treatment Washington was transferred to Amarillo.

According to police records, Durham told Pampa officers he was turning into his driveway when Washington ran up to him and asked him to take him to the hospital.

Washington told officers he did not know who shot him, that he was walking down the street and someone shot him from a car.

The case is still being investigated today. A charge of assault with intent to murder was drawn in the case, according to District Attorney Bill Waters, but a suspect has not yet been arrested and arraigned.

Troops Retrieve Fallen Comrades

Panel Chairman Calls for Cut In U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman William Proxmire of the influential Senate House Economic Committee today called on Congress to reduce federal spending rather than raise income taxes.

"If the government has to allocate more of the national resources to defense purposes, we should cut down on the government's other claims on resources," the Wisconsin Democrat said in a statement.

"Why should the government go on consuming more than ever when it asks the private sector to consume less?"

Proxmire's comment came as the Johnson administration neared a decision on how much of an increase in personal and corporate income taxes it will ask of Congress, and what date to make the increase begin.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Nicholas deB Katzenbach, undersecretary of state, plan to fly to Saigon this week on a mission that is expected to provide an answer to how many U.S. troops will be sent to Vietnam above previously planned and budgeted levels.

Proxmire estimated sending 100,000 more troops than previously planned to Vietnam would send defense spending about $5 billion above the $22.4 billion currently budgeted for the war during the next 12 months.

The administration contends a tax increase is needed to meet more of the war's costs on a pay-as-you-go basis, and to hold down inflationary trends its economic advisers are forecasting for later this year.

President Johnson recommended last January that a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes during the 12 months starting last Saturday be enacted to do both jobs. But no such legislation was ever introduced in Congress, and now the administration is hinting it may ask for more.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, told Proxmire's committee last week that the legislative request in the offering would ask for "at least" a 6 per cent surcharge.

Johnson appears to face a formidable task in getting any tax increase out of Congress at all. Proxmire is representative of a sizeable number of Democrats in Congress who have misgivings on raising taxes, and there is almost solid Republican opposition to a tax increase not accompanied by strict economy measures.

New Mexico Rebel Gives Up to Police

CANJILON, N. M. (UPI) — Baltazar Martinez, allegedly the most dangerous of the band of rebels who attacked the Tierra Amarilla courthouse a month ago, surrendered to police without incident at his mother's home Tuesday.

Martinez, 23, was brought into custody after his mother negotiated his surrender with an off-duty Albuquerque policeman on a fishing trip. She said she did not want to see her son harmed.

Martinez, who at one time had dynamite strapped to his chest and was described as "the most dangerous in the bunch" by State Police Chief Joseph Black, was not armed. He offered no resistance when Albuquerque Det. Fred Gallegos met him in the home of his mother, Mrs. Auerilla Martinez.

His capture left only one member of the alleged band of members of the political confederation of free city states still sought by police in connection with the June 5 attack. That man was Cristobal Tijerina, brother of the band's leader.

SERVICE CLUB OFFICERS — New officers who will head up service activities of the Altrusa Club of Pampa for the 1967-68 club year were installed recently at a dinner meeting in the Coronado Inn by Mrs. Lala R. Wilkerson, Information Chairman. Mrs. Lora Dunn, seated center, was installed president to serve with, seated right and left, Mrs. Willard Henderson, recording secretary and Mrs. M. Q. Wilson, vice president; standing from the left, Mrs. Leah Behrman, Mrs. C. C. Fitzgerald, Miss Vermell Meador, directors and Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, treasurer.

This Year's Marriage-Gap Stalls Altar-Bound Girls

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Newly married women face a "marriage gap" this year that could stall about 800,000 of them on the way to the altar.

"The Population Reference Bureau says there are now in the United States 3.6 million women aged 19 and 20, the ages when most women marry, and only 2.8 million men aged 21 and 22, the age bracket the girls prefer."

Woe is the young single girl with the odds like that of her soon hearing: "Blest is the bride the sun shines on." Great must be the rejoicing among those among the 2.8 million who want to avoid the tender trap.

Not only is the news ominous for the 19-20 year old girl, but women of other ages will be affected too, perhaps more than a million in the 1965-75 decade, says the bureau.

The "gap" results from the baby boom after World War II, says the bureau. The girls outnumbered the boys and now those post-war babies are the marryin' kind.

For whatever comfort it is to the girl with a diamond, a wedding march and a vine covered cottage in her dreams, the bureau says that the marriage gap "is not an unresolvable problem."

A girl can choose an older man (he's in better supply), make a match with a man her own age instead of the preferred two years older, postpone marriage, or choose to enjoy permanently the life of a bachelorette.

Or, she can move to where the most men are, geographical.

Current statistics point to spinsterhood for many women, but they've had to face through the centuries obstacles in that "man chases a girl until she catches him" race.

As early as circa 300 B.C., Menander was writing, "Advise none to marry or to go to war." Some say the two are the same.

As P.G. Wodehouse put it in 1939, "Marriage is a battlefield and not a bed of roses."

"The course is marriage," said William Shakespeare in the 17th century, "... yet 'tis destiny unshunnable like death."

But to the girl about resigned to spinsterhood, there are the comforting words of Ambrose in 1906. His definition of a bride—"A woman with a fine prospect of happiness behind her."

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When our 16-year-old daughter went to the school prom, she had to have a fancy garter to wear that night so she could give it to her escort as a souvenir afterward!

We suggested she give him a ribbon from her hair, or a flower from her corsage as we have always considered garters as a part of underwear.

Maybe the next move will be for the boy to ask his date for her girdle or bra!

What is happening to our young people anyway?

LACKAWANNA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Giving ones escort her garter for a souvenir is not new, and really not very wicked. Don't worry about the other. Were a young man to ask for a girdle or a bra, he'd probably wind up with a snappy comeback.

DEAR ABBY: Last year we put in a swimming pool and we told all our neighbors they could come to swim any time.

Most of them have, on occasion, but they have all had the good sense to phone first.

Our problem is young mother. She came every morning, her two small children and their lunches. They stayed all day. Not once did she phone to ask if we were having guests, etc. When we were not home, she'd come anyway and use our kitchen and bathroom. (Our housekeeper told us.)

Then the rainy season set in and we didn't see her for 4 months.

Today, the first nice day, she is back! And from her conversation, she plans to spend the summer around our pool again.

I suppose we should have said something to her long ago. But we didn't. Now what do we do?

POOL PROBLEM

DEAR ABBY: Say something now! If you object to her coming without phoning first, say so. If you'd rather she did not use your pool when you were not home, let her know it. The same goes for your "facilities."

Since you made no ground rules when you invited all your neighbors to swim "any time," you're lucky she's your only problem.

DEAR ABBY: Lots of people read your column, so maybe if you put this in the paper, they will see it and learn something.

Some people think it is a big joke to say, "He can't even get elected DOG CATCHER." Like dog catcher is the worst job in the world.

Well, my father is a dog catcher, and he wasn't elected. He had to pass some very hard tests from the Civil Service commission.

I hope lots of people will see this and quitaughting at dog catchers. Thank you.

DOG CATCHER'S DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: My husband reads your column faithfully, so maybe if you put this in the paper with your answer, it might settle the argument.

My husband is a very intelligent man, but he always uses a toothpick at the table. He says it's O.K. in your own home. I say it's positively nauseating.

Could we have your opinion?

NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: — Any practice that is "nauseating" to those around him is, in my opinion, highly inconsiderate, and therefore bad manners.

Ohio-Born Brunette Wears Many Bonnets As An Artist

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Sheila Smith wears many hats literally and figuratively.

The Ohio-born brunette is actress, currently the standby-by for Angela Lansbury in the musical hit "Mame," dancer, singer, violinist, pianist, sometimes writer, a milliner and her own best model for her designs.

To keep the pace calls for some fancy scheduling of time.

"I'm quite an organized girl," said Miss Smith. "They say any child of a railroad man is, and I can do about anything. I can fix a leaky faucet, change a tire. I'm a list maker. My lists run wall to wall."

One time-saver is the fact that she reports only briefly to the Winter Garden Theater each night. In case either Miss Lansbury or Bea Arthur, who plays Mame's friend Vera Charles, is unable to go on, Miss Smith is free to leave after the first act. Usually she heads to her mid-Manhattan apartment and starts cutting and sewing hats.

Hats started as a fun thing, making them for her friends in and out of the theater. Now she's about to go commercial.

She's incorporated as "Meese Smeese" and is negotiating with a manufacturer to produce her designs.

The leggy Clevelander already has done hats for one fashion trade show, given by the leather industry, and will make and wear hats as well as perform for the Millinery Institute's show in New York July 9 for the nation's fashion reporters. They will be in the city for 10 days of reporting on all facets of fall and winter women's wear.

Miss Smith, the daughter of a retired Q & O executive, studied music and dancing from childhood. She attended Kent State University, near Akron, on a scholarship, majoring in violin and speech.

Her first professional years were with the Cleveland Playhouse, the oldest professional repertory theater in the country.

Her first experiments with headgear were at the playhouse, when the wardrobe department asked if she could "run up 35

Cleopatra wigs." She used "ingenuity, a pot of black dye and some Spanish shawls" to make them.

Her first hat was what she now calls "old hat," a soft, easily draped number she used to hide her mussed hair after three daily performances at the New York World's Fair in "To Broadway with Love." Since she has made about 125 "old hats" for herself and friends.

The actress-milliner has been a "Mame" stand-by since last October, and has played the vacations for the Misses Lansbury and Arthur. Theater World named her one of the year's most promising actresses.

What's happening to legs?

Legs Are Having A Fashion Ball

NEW YORK (NEA)—Ever since the mini-skirt nudged the neckline of the fashion stage, the bosom can't compete with legs as a focal point of interest.

Legs are having a fashion ball. They are sheathed in the weirdest, wildest, most wonderful get-ups seen in many a moon.

The trouble is trying to keep pace with what's "in."

For most of us it's not a simple thing, for example, to dash into the nearest hosiery shop and buy purple stockings with orange dots. First we must do a bit of soul-searching. This could take a week or two. And so, by the time we reach the moment of truth and say, "Why not?" It's all in fun, hot pink with a navy ribbon strips is what everyone is wearing.

Now you take this all-white kick the fashion magazines were pushing a few months ago. For years no woman would be seen in white stockings unless she was a nurse. But suddenly she was chic only if she did look like a nurse from mid-thigh to foot—and a nurse young enough to wear white patent leather Mary Janes, to boot.

You could safely wear white fishnet hose or white ribbed hose or white patterned hose. The thing to remember was WHITE. You know all about that and you're going to try it? Well, do not. For snappy little up-to-date Flo Nightingales are already out. What's in now is opaque purple, navy and brown.

See what I mean? If you do not take the fashion plunge real quick these days, you have to build up the courage to take an altogether different plunge. It all changes so quickly.

Remember when you looked askance at an elderly lady's lisle stockings as you cast an admiring glance at your own sheer nylons? Well, the elderly lady was years ahead of you in fashion.

This season lisle is for you—a delicious color menu of orange, oatmeal, chocolate, lemon and lime.

With skirts little longer than wide belts, tights will take the risk out of fall breezes. And they come in Roman stripes, squares and dots.

Mary Quant does them in solid shades with an openwork checked pattern stripe down both sides of the leg.

For evening you can really give your legs a treat. Onehosier manufacturer has vacuum-vaporized real 24-carat gold, sterling silver and real aluminum on polyester and stretch nylon. So throw out your fake glitter and the gen-u-wine article before it, too, goes out of style and crunched diamonds come in.

Boots get higher as skirts go up. And the new stretch boots fit like stockings. Shoe heels stay low and chunky. In fact, the lass who looks most like a refugee from a side show is the girl who wears the colorful new hosiery with high heels and a short hemline. She teeters on the brink of a fashion limbo because she has distorted the proportion of the total look—which is the whole point of the new hosiery.

Hose has become a real fashion item simply because the short skirts make perfect proportion from head to toe a must.

The break above the knee where the hemline stops is real-ly an ugly spot. And fashion hosiery, boots, low heels all give a continuity of silhouette that

Benjamin W. Wilkins

Funeral services for Benjamin W. Wilkins, former Brownfield resident, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in Duengel Funeral Chapel conducted by the Rev. Earl Maddux of the Fellowship Baptist Church.

Mr. Wilkins died shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday in St. Anthony Hospital, Amarillo, where he had been a patient for eight days. He moved here in February to make his home with a daughter, Mrs. Raymond Lash, 1117 Huff Road.

Born June 23, 1891, in Russellville, Ky., he was a retired employee of the Tennessee Oil Co. The body will be taken to Bridgeport, Ill., for burial.

He is survived by four other daughters, in addition to his daughter in Pampa, Mrs. Manuel Limon of Bayfield, Ohio, Mrs. Monroe Gray of Odessa, Mrs. Bob Carmichael of LaPorte, Mrs. Kenneth Faught of Ardmore, Okla., 32 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Firemen Answer Two City Alarms

Pampa firemen answered two alarms yesterday, one to extinguish a motorcycle fire and administered first aid for burns and another to check a smoke alarm. Central station firemen administered first aid to Bob Meador, 1910 Grape, yesterday after his motorcycle caught on fire from a flooded carburetor. The motorcycle was heavily damaged by the fire.

North station firemen answered an alarm at 1100 Seneca at 2:35 p.m. yesterday and checked the house for smoke damage. Units were back in service by 3:15 p.m. Cause of smoke in the house was unknown, firemen said. Owner of the house is Evert A. Revard.

Pampa Police Investigate Burglary, Mischief Cases

Pampa police had no holiday July 4 for they were called out on three malicious mischief offenses and a burglary here last night.

Dennis Combs, 1238 S. Dwight, reported two cases of beer were taken from the Pizza Hut freezer last night when burglars used a key to get into the Pizza Hut and pried open the freezer with a hammer.

Police were investigating three incidents of malicious mischief by Pampa juveniles. A pickup truck bed was set on fire in the 300 block of E. Foster, at 5:45 p.m., but was put out before it caused any damage, officers said.

Rod Holcomb of 706 N. Zimmers told officers two boys threw a smoke bomb into his car and burned the carpet last night.

John Hawley of Pampa reported yesterday children had knocked holes in two ceilings of a vacant house at 1300 Hamilton and broke a light fixture. About $150 in damages were done in the incident, which officers said occurred sometime last week.

PHS Instructor Attending NDEA Session in Ohio

Earl Deaver, 2216 Lynn, Pampa High School shop instructor, is attending a National Defense Education Act (NDEA) summer institute for advanced study in industrial arts at Kent State University, Ohio.

He, with high school teachers from 22 other states, are participating in a five-week program, supported by a federal aid grant of $34,973 from the United States Office of Education.

The institute, in session from June 19 through July 21, is directed by M. William Bates, instructor in industrial arts and technology.

Distribution Of Rodeo Posters Underway Here

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce office has started distribution of posters announcing the annual Top of Texas Rodeo and Kid Pony Show, scheduled for July 25-29 at Recreation Park.

Members of Pampa's Top of Texas DeMolay chapter are distributing the posters in downtown Pampa and will work next week to display the posters in surrounding towns. Bill Atkinson is chairman of the poster distribution subcommittee for Top of Texas Rodeo Association.

Merchants' tickets for the rodeo are on sale at rodeo headquarters in the CoC office, according to Mrs. Lois Stewart, ticket secretary. Merchants may pick up employe and customer tickets at the rodeo office.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 years. Reserved seats are 50 cents extra.

Winds Lash Marshall

By United Press International

Thunderstorms lashed wide areas of Northeast Texas Tuesday night with 80 mile-an-hour winds, a tornado, hail and torrents of rain. Prospects were for more thundershowers and thunderstorms in every part of the state today.

A squall-like storm whipped Marshall, in East Texas, with winds estimated at 80 miles an hour Tuesday night. A huge tree was uprooted and hurled across a high-voltage power line.

Parts of Marshall and a good section of Harrison County were without electricity for several hours.

Thunderstorms whipped the Texas Panhandle again Tuesday night. Hall fell in an area to the east of Dalhart but the storms carried none of the turbulence of Monday night, when more than 20 tornadoes were reported, along with heavy hail and rains of more than five inches.

The dapper little man on the platform at New York's Waldorf-Astoria told his audience of American Businessmen, "Korea is yesterday's Vietnam."

And it is true that Americans seeking a ray of hope in the dismal gloom of the war in Vietnam can find it in Korea, divided as is Vietnam and like Vietnam the victim of a war between pro and anti-Communist forces that before its end 13 years ago cost close to 500,000 South Korean lives.

The speaker on the Waldorf Platform last March was Choong-Hoon Park, South Korea's minister of commerce and industry, who came to the United States to tell a success story which 13 years ago would have seemed impossible.

This writer served as a correspondent in Korea during that war and has had a similar role in South Vietnam.

Saw Shattered Korea

I first saw Korea in that awful winter of 1951, the stacked-up bodies of the frozen civilian dead along the road to Suwon south of Seoul, the capital, and finally Seoul, the shattered dome of the capitol building, the shanties of the refugees, the orphans and the ruin of war.

In that war, after the Chinese came in, there were many times when it seemed it would be endless. The Chinese have not yet come into this war, and it seems doubtful now that they will. But it is fought by the North Vietnamese Communists with the same doggedness of purpose and it, too, oftentimes seems endless.

But in Seoul last week a proud President Park Chung Hee took oath of office for a second four-year term and pledged his administration to an Asian version of the Great Society.

It is a human frailty to turn one's back on the unpleasant but Park did not turn his back.

Americans Bumped Out of Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—John Newcombe of Australia, the only seeded player left in the men's singles, hoped to turn the upset jinx to his favor today when he met Nicola Pietrangeli of Yugoslavia in a semi-final match of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Hometown favorite Roger Taylor matched strokes with Wilhelm Bungert of West Germany in the other semi-final.

For the first time in many years, no American was among the final four. This was also the first time in 40 years no U.S. player was seeded, although Americans did account for the departure of three seeded stars with upset victories.

Newcombe, the 23-year-old third seed, was in strong position to take advantage of the most wide open men's championship in recent Wimbledon history if his game holds up. He would have been in line to meet second seeded compatriot Roy Emerson today, but Pietrangeli upset the former Wimbledon champion, a less ominous obstacle.

Newcombe Favored
The bookmakers installed Newcombe as the 9-4 favorite to grab the title won in 1966 by Spain's Manuel Santana, who was knocked out this year in an opening-day shocker by Charles Pasarel of Puerto Rico.

Taylor, who could become the first British finalist here since 1938, was next in the line at 9-2 while Bungert and Pietrangeli were quoted at 8-1.

Newcombe relies on a big service and is capable of driving opponents off the court with his whirlwind placements. Under ordinary circumstances, he would be considered a heavy choice over Pietrangeli, a 27-year-old butler's son who prays for guidance during matches.

Bungert, a 28-year-old left-hander, was appearing in his third semi-final while Taylor, also a southpaw, has been succeeding with a wicked serve.

If there was little cheer among the U.S. men's contingent, it was offset by an unexpectedly strong showing in the women's division, where Americans claimed three of the four semi-final berths.

Billie Jean King of Alhambra, Calif., the No. 1 seed and defending champion, had been expected to survive this long. But Rosemary Casals, a San Francisco teenager and the new darling of Wimbledon, and pitted Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., came from a pack to win semi-final placings.

Miss Casals, proving her Saturday upset over second-seeded Maria Buena of Brazil, a three time Wimbledon champion, was no fluke, came back Tuesday to beat Judy Tegart of Australia, 7-5, 6-4, and Miss Harter, 20, knocked off sixth-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

Mrs. King disposed of eighth-seeded Virginia Wade of England, 7-5, 6-2, and the other semi-final berth went to Ann Haydon Jones of England, the No. 3 seed, who defeated Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5. It was the sixth time Mrs. Jones reached the semis in this tournament.

The pairings for Thursday's semi-finals will be Mrs. King vs. Miss Harter and Miss Casals vs. Mrs. Jones.

The last American men playing in any championship competition—Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill.—were eliminated from the men's doubles on Tuesday by Australians—Bill Bowery and Owen Davidson 6-1, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, in the quarter-finals.

CUBS KNOCKOVER REDS -- Those amazing Chicago Cubs climbed one rung higher in the National League recently by knocking over the Cincinnati Reds, 6-3. During the 5th inning of the game, Reds SS Tommy Helms (19) and LF Pete Rose competed for catch of Ron Santo's high fly (at left), Helms made the catch but collided with Rose (center) and the two went down apparently hand-in-hand with Helms still in possession of the ball.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Leo Shrugs At Old Wives' Tale

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Leo Durocher didn't appreciate the holiday drama of "the tale of two brothers" Tuesday but he's even less impressed with that "old wives' tale" about the Fourth of July.

The crusty Durocher, who has driven, cajoled and sweet-talked his amazing Chicago Cubs from the cellar to a contender in one season, sent a brother to pitch as a starter against a brother for the first time in major league history.

But Durocher had the wrong brother and the Braves swept a day night doubleheader, 8-3, 4-2, to knock the Cubs one-half game behind the St. Louis Cardinals on the Fourth of July—the traditional halfway point.

The old saying is that the team in first place on the Fourth of July will win the pennant—although San Francisco was a year ago and didn't win the National League pennant.

Joe and Phil

Durocher started Joe Niekro in the first game against his older brother Phil, who was given the assignment by Atlanta manager Billy Hitchcock. It was the only time brothers have started against each other and the last time brother pitched against each other in the National League was on May 3, 1927. Jesse Barnes of Brooklyn beat his younger brother, Virgil, of the Giants at the Polo Grounds that day.

The older brother had it this time, too, as Phil threw a four-hitter at the Cubs while Joe was lifted after three innings for a pinch-hitter—with the Cubs trailing 4-2. Phil is now 4-4 while Joe is 3-3.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis lost to Cincinnati 1-0, New York nipped San Francisco 8-7, Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 9-7 and Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Houston 9-0 and 4-3.

St. Louis First

Gary Nolan held the Cardinals to three hits to give Cincinnati its victory. But St. Louis gained first place despite the loss because Chicago lost its doubleheader. Deron Johnson doubled in Pete Rose in the ninth for the loss on Larry Jaster. Nolan, who is just 19, now has a 7-2 record.

The Mets finally caught up with San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who went into the game with a 19-0 record against them. The Mets collected 14 hits and eight runs in 5 1-3 innings to beat Marichal. Jim Ray Hart's error that opened the gates for three unearned runs in the first inning and a two-run single by Ro Swoboda in the sixth inning were the key plays.

Pittsburgh snapped a 7-7 tie in the eighth on Jose Pagan's Clemente's fourth hit to beat the Dodgers. The Pirates pinned the loss on Bob Miller after the Dodgers had rallied for four in the eighth off Juan Pizarro and Al McBean to tie the game. Roy Face worked one inning to gain the victory.

John Collison singled in Johnny Briggs off Barry Latta in the 11th to complete the Phils' sweep of Houston. Houston had rallied to tie the game 3-3 in the eighth with two of the runs coming on Jim Wynn's 19th homer off Jim Bunning.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Twins Make It Seven Straight

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins celebrated a declaration of their own on July 4th.

The surging Twins, who won the American League pennant two years ago, streaked to their seventh straight triumph Tuesday by sweeping a doubleheader from the New York Yankees 8-3 and 7-6 and made it clear the pennant.

The reason for the Twins' optimism stems from the return to form of righthander Jim Grant and outfielder Tony Oliva, both of whom played such an important role in the Minnesota pennant of 1965.

Grant, pitching his first game since June 19, tossed a complete game in the opener while allowing only eight hits. Two of the hits were home runs by Mickey Mantle which put the Yankee slugger ahead of Mel Ott and into fifth place on the all-time home run list with 512.

Five and Six
Grant, however, was virtually untouchable through the first eight innings as he won his fifth game in 11 decisions this year. The strong showing by the Twins' righthander now gives Minnesota five good starting pitchers with Dean Chance, Jim Kaat, Dave Boswell and Jim Merritt already in the rotation.

The double victory pushed the Twins into undisputed possession of second place and only three games behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

Chicago blanked Baltimore 4-0. Detroit topped Cleveland 6-1. California nipped Boston 4-3 and Washington beat Kansas City 4-3 before losing 4-0 in other AL action.

In National League games, New York edged San Francisco 8-7. Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles 9-7. Atlanta beat Chicago 8-3 and 4-2. Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 1-0 and Philadelphia took two games from Houston, 9-0 and 4-3 in 11 innings.

String B'oken
Tommy John stopped Baltimore on two hits and ended the White Sox' string of 30 consecutive scoreless innings with a run-scoring single in the fifth inning as Chicago held its grip on first place. John gave up both hits to Luis Aparicio and bested Pete Richert in the duel.

Earl Wilson allowed only two hits and batterymate Bill Freehan hit a two-run homer as Detroit remained three and one-half games off the pace. Dick McAuliffe also homered for the Tigers, who tagged Steve Hargan with the loss.

Tom Satriano's two-run single highlighted a three-run second inning and carried the Angels to victory over the Red Sox. Ricky Clark, with ninth inning relief help from Minnie Rojas, won his fourth straight game and helped the Angels into the first division.

Frank Howard's three-run homer, his 20th of the season, climaxed a four-run fifth inning and enabled the Senators to win the first game, but Jim Nash hurled a six-hitter in the nightcap and prevented the A's from falling into the cellar.

'Firecracker' 400 Victory Goes To Cale Yarborough

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The stocky little man in the snow white basketball shoes grinned to beat the band. He was feeling foxy—about 41 years worth.

"I knew I couldn't win by running in front, so I let him pass me and waited until the last lap. Then I passed him."

Cale Yarborough, decked out in his white racing jumper and soft-soled shoes, told racing writers Tuesday how he hung back and watched the favorites grind each other down in the "Firecracker 400" stock car race. Then he sneaked home to win in a 1967 Ford.

That running behind business may sound like a fool way to handle things, but the little North Carolinian from Charlotte is $15,725 richer today thanks to his "after-you-sir" plan.

Yarborough tore over the finish line ahead of young Dick Hutcherson, Camden, S.C. also in a 1967 Ford, after he "let" Hutcherson take the lead in the last 10 miles of what was probably the longest race in NASCAR history.

Thirty nine drivers took the green starting flag over the high-baked Daytona International Speedway for the $68,000 race at 9:25 a.m. CDT. More than seven hours later, after a five-hour rain delay, Yarborough made his move with 40 miles to go. By then, most of the 48,000 spectators were gone. Yarborough fought back and forth for the lead with Hutcherson, David Pearson, Spartanburg, S.C. and fellow Charlotte resident, Darel Dierker, all in Fords.

Mays, Eight Others Added to All-Stars

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Wondrous Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, who failed to earn a starting berth in this year's All-Star game for the first time since 1966, was added to the National League squad along with eight other players today.

Mays, who has a lifetime All-Star average of .379, started in 14 games from 1957 through 1966. He finished fourth in this year's balloting for outfielders behind Pittsburgh's Roberto EMENETE, Atlanta's Hank Aaron and Lou Brock of St. Louis. Willie holds All-Star records for most hits (22), runs (19), triples (3), stolen bases (6) and putouts (47).

Also named by Los Angeles Manager-Wait Alston, who heads the NL team for the annual classic July 11 at Anaheim, Calif., were veteran first baseman Ernie Banks of Chicago, infielders Tommy Helms and Tony Perez of Cincinnati, outfielders Pete Rose of Cincinnati, Rusty Staub and Jimmy Wynn of Houston, and catchers Tom Haller of San Francisco and Tim McCarver of St. Louis.

Banks, enjoying one of his best years at the age of 36, is second in seniority among the added players. The Cub star has compiled a .290 batting average.

Helms, Perez, Wynn and Staub made the team for the first time. Haller, McCarver and Rose will be appearing in their second All-Star game.

Rose, shifted to the outfield this season, made the squad as a starting second baseman in 1965. McCarver was one of the heroes in last year's 2-1 NL victory. He led off the bottom of the 10th with a single, advanced to second on a sacrifice and scored the winning run on a single by Maury Wills.

In addition to Clemente, Aaron and Brock, the starters on the 25-man squad selected by the players were catcher Joe Torre, Atlanta; first baseman Orlando Cepeda, St. Louis;

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

'Local Control' Spook Put To Rest

Man, the individual, is a strange and perverse creature; and, especially so, when it comes to ideas and evolving knowledge. One side of him hungers to know that which is objectively true. The other side fiercely resists new knowledge with a vigor akin to desperation even in the face of overwhelming evidence showing prior convictions to be irrational spooks on the mind in conflict with the world of reality.

Pet theories, possibly once valid but now impossible under changed conditions, at other times amounting to no more than ancient shibboleths, "the things we know that are not true" and never were, are given up, if at all, most reluctantly.

Such a pet theory, now lacking even a modicum of basis in fact, is the widely held conviction that control of public schools remains at the local level, even in the hands of the parents and taxpayers concerned. Despite a U.S. Supreme Court ruling several years ago to the effect that the federal government would control that which it subsidizes, and the fact that public schools everywhere are accepting "federal aid" hand over fist, the illusion of local control persists. It is wishful thinking, no less.

In the early days, when schools were organized and financed directly at the local level; when teachers and board members were likely to be one's next door neighbors; before the advent of county and state boards of education; prior to the formation of the National Education Association and Department of Health, Education and Welfare and nationally controlled Parent Teachers Associations, the "local control" claim was valid, to some extent at least.

But, after the advent and formation of the aforementioned, and when schools began accepting financial support from first the county, then the state and, finally, the federal government,

People: The Problem Kids

A population expert has stated publicly what many an individual specimen of our booming population has thought to himself:

"People would be better off if it weren't for people!"

The population explosion is all very well for business, Dudley Kirk, director of the Population Council in New York, told a North American Wildlife Conference in San Francisco recently, but it does have its drawbacks.

The beauty of California, for instance, said Kirk, has been "smothered by smog, scarred by bulldozers, corroded by subdivisions, and put out of bounds by fear of fire and trampling human feet."

Yet, he pointed out, all this unpleasantness has brought profits and a good living to many people.

It adds up to a tough problem—especially since humans have not come up so far with a really effective plan to stop humans from producing humans so prodigiously.

It brings to mind the oft-quoted discovery that most of the people who favor birth control have already been born.

It also proves again that people are more capable than anyone of outsmarting themselves.

What to Do?

Auto manufacturers say the government is being much too fussy about making cars safer. And industries which are charged with polluting the air and water feel the same way about federal efforts to have them get rid of the impurities.

Some of them hint, in fact, that they just can't comply with Uncle Sam's demands.

The Psychology of More

Asked why his shop always had more customers than his competitor, a British candy store proprietor replied:

"Nothing to it. In the other place they always put too many sweets in the scales and then take some away. Here we put in too few and then add some."

The overseas airlines advise travelers to "travel light" for if their baggage weighs more than regulations stipulate they must pay extra for it. However, things are probably different for royalty. When Thailand's King Bhumibol and his Queen Sirikit arrived at New York's Kennedy Airport recently for a short visit in Manhattan their party of 66 departed from the plane with 9,000 pounds of luggage. Of course the King could probably afford to pay the tab for the extra luggage out of the $400 million in foreign aid Uncle Sam has given him. One New York newspaper reporting the arrival quipped the royal pair and their entourage looked like the cast of "The King and I."

During our school days we excelled in geography, but today we'd flunk the course. The State Department periodically issues booklets giving information on countries of the world. Out of the latest batch of 13 we can only identify five of them. See if you can mentally locate the land, people, history, government, economy, foreign policy and relations with the U.S. of Afghanistan, Botswana, Brazil, Ceylon, Chad, HonkKong, Lesotho, South Africa, South Arabia, South West Africa, Swaziland, Yugoslavia. If you can hit all 13 you should be working for the State Department writing such booklets, or teaching geography.

Thoughts while shaving: Statistics show that when a 17-year-old couple marry in this country their chances are even for celebrating their 50th, or Golden Wedding Anniversary. The chances are one in four when both marry at 25 and drops to one in ten when they marry at the age of 31. One of the most often misquoted passages in English literature is the opening line of Congreve's "Mourning Bride": "Music hath charms to soothe a savage breast, to soften rocks or bend a knotted oak." It is generally quoted as "Music hath charms to soothe a savage beast." ... A baby's first shoes are often treasured mementoes for the proud parents. We recently heard about a hospital that offers an even better service. They make a tape recording of the infant's first cries as it greets the new world and its first gurgles. The tape is later presented to the parents. They should also make a tape recording of the new father's first utterances when he is presented with the bill. That, too, would make another treasured memento. ... The Newark-(N. J.) EVENING NEWS reported in a story: "Television and movies are restricted. The theater is the only place today where the minds of men are changed." Maybe they forgot that most men's minds are changed in the state of matrimony too.

Country Editor Speaking: "Baseball is okay, but a college football game is the only place you can go with a pretty girl on one arm and a blanket on the other without getting yourself talked about."

Soviet Youth Recruited As 'Volunteers' For Reconstruction Work in Arab States

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin is organizing its own "red guard" for duty in the strife-torn Middle East.

Thousands of young Communists are being ordered "to volunteer for reconstruction work" in the Arab states.

These international brigades are being formed in the Soviet Union from the 23-million-member Young Communist League and from the Communist World Youth Federation in the Eastern European satellites.

The executive body of the Communist World Youth Federation also is reportedly considering a Moscow plan to seek volunteers outside the Soviet bloc. This recruitment could include young Communists in the U.S.

While civilian technicians and administrators are being enlisted in the drive, the prime reason of this "volunteer" youth army is believed to be paramilitary.

Most of the Soviet bloc recruits have or will receive military training before their departure for the Middle East, according to U.S. intelligence sources.

Reconstruction work in the Arab states, these sources point out, could mean driving Israel from territories occupied during the recent fighting and helping the Arabs nationalize U.S. oil operations.

Soviet military advisers also are pouring into Egypt and Syria in large numbers. First report of their activities indicates that priority is being given to the expansion of Arab commando-guerrilla units.

"WAR OF LIBERATION" — This ominous military development appears to be closely linked to formation of new international brigades of communist youths.

Since taking over as Russia's ambassador to Syria, Anatoly Barkovsky, a high ranking official in the Soviet Secret Police (KGB), has urged the formation of these units to train and operate with the Palestinian Arab refugees. He stressed that 50 per cent of the 1.2 million refugees were 18 and under and easily trained as terrorists.

Israel's occupation forces inside Syria and Jordan now are logical targets for these commando-guerrilla units, whose bases are located in Syria's rugged mountains.

The recent appearance of the Soviet bloc youth at the Syrian bases with Russian military advisers is taken by Israel intelligence as a clear indication that Barkovsky's strategy has been adopted.

Syria's far-left leaders—from Baath Party strongman Maj. Salah Jadid to Algerian war veteran Premier Youssef Jouayden—have confirmed this development in recent statements.

Both officials reported Russia was helping to arm Arab refugees so the ceasefire line with Israel could be turned into "another Vietnam."

The Doctor Says:

Summer Camp Fine, But Not for All Children

Before you decide whether to send your children to summer camp you should consider the following: He will be better off at home if he is highly creative and full of enthusiasm for projects of his own devising, if most of his friends will be available to play with, if you yourself can arrange an outing or two for him each week or if you have investigated the local day camps and are not satisfied with their facilities, sanitary regulations, programs, etc.

On the other hand, your child will derive great benefits from a day camp if there is no suitable place for him to play outdoors near your home, if he needs encouragement to meet new friends or to engage in outdoor sports, or if his friends will be attending and he has his heart set on it.

There are other factors that may influence your decision but the important point is that no general rule can be made to fit all children—Your child is an individual and what was best for his brother or sister is not necessarily what will be best for him.

Q—As a result of some horseplay my 8-year-old son got chewing gum in his eyebrows and hair. I couldn't get it out. What would you suggest?

A—You have a choice of three proven methods. (1) You can cut away the gummy hair, (2) you can apply ice cubes direct from the freezer to the gum, making it brittle enough to be easily removed, or (3) you can rub in some warm milk chocolate, allow it to dry then wash it out with soap and warm water.

Q—My son, 5, has a man-sized colon and has trouble having a bowel movement every day. Will he outgrow this condition or should he have some sort of treatment?

A—In persons with this inborn defect it is normal to have one very large bowel movement every three to nine days. Studies should be made to determine whether or not normal nervous control of your son's colon is present. If not it may be necessary to have the involved segment removed. In any case, he will not outgrow it.

Q—I have been making an egg drink every day for my son because otherwise, he would not take enough nourishment at breakfast. Although I don't use cracked eggs I wonder if there is any danger of his getting Salmonella poisoning from this.

A—There is no danger. Non-alcoholic eggnog is liquid custard and is an excellent food for persons of any age.

H. L. Hunt Writes

CRIME IS BAD FOR BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., the city that belongs to all Americans, should be a model for the nation. It is far from being that.

Terrorism by criminals is making it unsafe to operate businesses or even to walk the streets in Washington. That statement does not come from an "extremist." It was made recently in an address by the president of the District of Columbia bankers association.

This man told a meeting of his organization that law-abiding citizens in Washington fear for their homes, their livelihoods and their businesses. He called attention to the fact that merchants of the district appeared before recent meetings of the Senate Small Business Committee to testify about their own experiences with criminals actually worse marks because of their fear of reprisals if they were identified.

It is the shame of our nation that in its Capital City citizens are afraid to open their business doors or even take a walk.

Close on the heels of this speech came the news that serious crime in Washington increased during the first three months of this year at more than twice the national rate— which itself was the highest since the FBI started publication of quarterly crime figures in 1958.

Crime is bad for business in Washington, D. C., and everywhere else. Criminals have not been discouraged by court rulings that help them to "get away with it." Businessmen in every community should take the lead in supporting law enforcement agencies. It is simply good business.

When all the demands for "rights" and power are boiled down to their essentials, isn't it true that all you really want is the right to be left alone—to pursue your own happiness unmolested and unmolested?

That is all I am asking for myself.

There are other occupations, too, where a man may sign a contract to work for a term of years; he may, for example, sign on for five years as a geologist to work in Arabia. But he is allowed to quit; he may be considered a moral leper if he thus breaks his contract; he may be blacklisted by other firms hiring geologists; but he is not incarcerated for doing so.

Contrast, then, the armed forces with a very similar kind of occupation: the local police force. A man is free to quit the police force any time he wishes; why then should he not be free to quit the army as well? The armed forces will be centers of slavery not only so long as the draft exists, but even further, so long as a man is forced to stay in the army for any length of time after he decides he would rather call it a day.

No man is free if he does not have the right to quit his job. No one denies the right in every occupation—but one: in the armed forces, where this quitting is called "desertion" and met with imprisonment or even the firing squad.

If we would call ourselves a free country, this system must be abolished.

In 1885, bacteriologist Louis Pasteur inoculated the first human being, a boy who had been bitten by an infected dog, and the youngster did not develop any infection.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

If I take care of my own savings account—providing for my own retirement—will this hurt you?

If I see to it that the children for whom I am responsible are educated—at my expense and with no demands upon anyone else—will this upset your life?

If a business associate and myself arrange the details of an exchange between us to our own satisfaction—an exchange that involves only our own properties—will this create chaos in your life?

If my friends and myself choose to select our own medium of exchange—rather than accept worthless pieces of paper—would this inconvenience you in any way?

If I refrain from molesting you or your property in any way, should it bother you what I do with my own property?

If I pick out the things I want in life and work to obtain them with my own resources, should this be a problem for you?

If the answer to these questions is "no"—then you agree that there is a great deal wrong with the laws that govern our social structure. For you are rejecting the concept of compulsory schooling and school taxes, the gold laws, commerce regulation, licensing laws, zoning laws, and a host of other interferences with an individual's control of his own life and property.

When all the demands for "rights" and power are boiled down to their essentials, isn't it true that all you really want is the right to be left alone—to pursue your own happiness unmolested and unmolested?

That is all I am asking for myself.

Washington Report

BOB PRICE

This week's Report from Washington is an effort of two young men... Ken Starr of San Antonio, is a student here at George Washington University and worked part-time during the spring semester.

The other, Lyn McClellan of Gruver, is a student at Texas Tech and a full-time summer intern.

Ken has enrolled for a summer course at Harvard University but before he left, I suggested that he and Lyn write their impressions of a Congressional office. Following is their unedited report:

FROM THE BOTTOM UP

Working in a Congressman's office for a short time has already proved to be an interesting and worthwhile experience. Our vies of a Congressman and his work has been greatly changed due to this experience.

A first impression looking from the bottom of the office totem pole is the different sense of responsibility that exists in a Congressional office. Rather than a spirit of clock - watching until 6 p.m., rolls around, there prevails a feeling of working for a cause - working for a man because of what he is and what he stands for and believes in. Then, there is the sense that your job is to serve over 400,000 people by helping them in ways such as working through the maze of red tape when dealing with the bureaucracy. Many of the tasks aren't earth - shaking and never find their way into the headlines, but each one contributes to serving the needs of the folks at home. Attempting to get mail to a captured pilot in North Vietnam; working with Panhandle boys serving in the armed forces to make their tours of duty away from home a little brighter; securing a wheelchair for a wounded veteran or "Population Clock" from the Census Bureau for a fair - all these are parts of the overall responsibility to serve people as best you can.

Another impression concerns the job of U.S. Representative itself. Like all tasks carrying huge amounts of responsibility, it demands a special sort of person. Even from the vantage point of student assistant, it doesn't take long to discover how much a Congressman must give up of the small things we all take for granted. The Representative serves as a living example to people in the way he acts and speaks - he and his family live in a glass house where all can see. Also, the job demands great effort and sheer endurance. Congressional sessions that last until late evening or on into the early morning hours are not infrequent.

It seems to us that one of the biggest problems that faces a Congressman is determining the criteria for making his decisions. There may arise an issue that means he has to choose between what is best for the district and what is best for the country, and the choice is not an easy one to make. And then there are those times when a Congressman cannot conscientiously vote a particular way even though he knows that this is what is expected of him, for like all men, he is at some time called on to make an unpopular decision that he knows he must make if he is not to violate his conscience. To paraphrase Abraham Lincoln, one cannot do what he knows within himself to be right if his only concern is to flatter and please those around him. In short, the position of U.S. Representative is complex, exhausting, but always fascinating.

Girl Says Policeman Spanked Her

MEMPHIS (UPI)—A teen-aged girl said Monday a police radio dispatcher scolded her for parking on a lonely road with her boyfriend and then "jerked my panties off and spanked me."

Asst. Police Chief W.W. Wilkinson said Warren Ernest Luttrell, 23, was suspended indefinitely pending an investigation of the association. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

Wilkinson said the 19-year-old girl picked Luttrell from a line-up.

"He was the one all right. I don't think I could forget that face," she said.

The high school senior, who was not identified, said a man approached the car and waved a flashlight and "something in his hand" which is presumed to be a badge.

"Do you know you could be arrested for this?" she said the man asked her.

But he told her, she said, that she could choose between arrest or spanking. He said he had daughters of his own and would rather they be spanked than arrested, the girl said.

Plains Rain Slows Harvest

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rain has helped crops in the northern third of Texas, the Texas Crop Reporting Service said Monday.

Rainfall on the High Plains during recent weeks has slowed wheat harvest and weeds are becoming a problem in some fields, the weekly report said.

Cotton along the coast, in south and south central sections is suffering from lack of rain. Cotton on the high and low plains is generally later than normal and some fields will not be planted due to the lateness of adequate moisture.

Cotton harvest is becoming active in the Rio Grande Valley. Growth generally is satisfactory in the blacklands, but bollworms and weevils are building up in some fields.

Soybeans made satisfactory progress over the state. The rice harvest in Southeast Texas is becoming active.

Rains on the High Plains also delayed onion and potato harvests. Work will resume this week as soon as fields dry. Onion harvest is about over in the Fort Stockton area.

Watermelons are about all harvested in the Winter Garden area. Onions are ready at Brackettville. Carrots, cucumbers and peppers are being harvested around San Antonio.

The East Texas tomato harvest continued. Watermelon harvest is over in South Texas, and is becoming active in Central and East Texas.

Sorghum in the northern third of the state is making satisfactory progress, but prospects were poor in the southern third due
