Racial Tension Grows In Five Heated Cities

Gangs on Rampage Defy Ohio Guard

By United Press International
Negro gangs rampaged through areas of Cincinnati, Ohio, in defiance of National Guardsmen Wednesday night, and Negro youths in Dayton, 40 miles away, smashed shop windows after a speech by a black power leader.

About 350 to 400 Negroes marched to the Alabama capitol at Montgomery, demanding to present their grievances to Gov. Lurleen Wallace, and at Tampa, Fla., scene of three nights of racial violence, Negro "youth patrols" helped police keep the peace Wednesday night.

In Cincinnati, a white youth was shot and critically wounded, a Negro youth was less seriously shot and a doctor, driving to a hospital to treat persons injured in the violence, was critically injured when a brick smashed his windshield and caused the car to wreck.

Youths Shot
Police said the white youth, James Shirk, 15, was an innocent bystander, apparently struck by a bullet fired by Negroes shooting at a fire station from a speeding car. Ollie Ingram, 17, a Negro, was wounded by shotgun pellets fired in the tense West End riot area.

Almost 200 persons have been arrested in the Cincinnati rioting and damage exceeds $1 million from more than 100 fires. More than 50 persons have been injured. About 1,000 National Guardsmen were ordered into the city by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

There also was a possibility the guardsmen would go into Dayton, where they had to quell racial violence last September. Negroes smashed windows and threw rocks Wednesday night after a speech by Rap Brown, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

March Halted
The march at Montgomery was stopped by police at barricades erected near the steps of the capitol. The Negroes demanded that Gov. Lurleen Wallace see them "or relinquish her seat." They marched away after several speeches by Negro leaders, but they would be back Thursday night.

Administration Scrambles For Rail Plan Votes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrat leader called in their political IOU's today in an all-out drive to keep intact the administration's plan to prevent a national railroad strike next week.

They were preparing to fight off a determined effort to make the Senate-passed bill more to labor's liking with amendments providing for such items as wage improvement and federal seizure of the railroads under certain circumstances.

House changes in the bill would require Senate concurrence and possibly a conference between negotiators for the two chambers.

The administration fears this would prevent final congressional approval of the measure before the strike deadline set for 12:01 a.m. Monday.

The main threat to the administration's cause was a group of rebellious liberal Democrats. They have assailed the bill as one-sided in favor of the railroads and as a precedent-setting measure that would destroy the collective bargaining system.

The bill would provide for a first no-strike 90-day period during which a special five-man board would try to help the railroads and unions involved settle their wage dispute voluntarily.

Failing a settlement during the period, work and wage terms recommended by the board would take effect during a new no-strike period running until either the parties reached agreement or Jan. 1, 1969, whichever came first.

House Republican leaders announced their "reluctant" support of the bill Wednesday, but it was believed some GOP members—perhaps enough to put the administration's position in jeopardy—would not follow their leaders.

Administration officials have warned that a railroad strike would imperil the nation's ability to function at home and abroad.

U.S. and Allies Kill 262 Reds

By EUGENE V. RISHER
United Press International
SAIGON (UPI) — American and allied troops killed 262 Communists in a bitterly fought drive to smash guerrilla battalions harassing Saigon, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

Units of the U.S. Army 1st Infantry Division stormed in helicopters into swamps 50 miles north-northeast of the capital and in four hours Wednesday killed 60 Viet Cong. The Americans lost three men killed and 11 wounded and drove ahead in the guerrilla sanctuary called War Zone D in hopes of trapping 2,000 more Viet Cong.

In the lush Mekong delta 85 miles southwest of Saigon, two Vietnamese companies—about 200 men—ran into about 600 guerrillas. They stood fast in the rice paddies until U.S. and government planes and artillery arrived. The allied firepower killed 202 Communists.

The South Vietnamese captured 19 more. Government losses were reported as light. Maj. Gen. John Hancock Hay, 1st Division commander, told UPI in the field he aims at not only killing Communists in War Zone D but cutting off their supply lines.

"We're going to clean out our own backyard by destroying base camps and mapping out the area," he said. American troops never before set foot in the treacherous watery jungle where they fought Wednesday. "We expect to find concrete bunkers and permanent type base camps. Charlie (Viet Cong) has a maximum ability to stay there and he won't give up," the general said.

Hay's helicopters whirled his men into jungles just between War Zone D and its sister Communist sanctuary, War Zone C which sits on the Cambodian border. The Viet Cong supply line runs from North Vietnam, through Laos and Cambodia, into War Zone C and into Zone D.

"We're in a position to interrupt that flow of supplies," Hay told UPI correspondent Virgil Kret.

U.S. troops have slain more than 4,000 Communists the past 18 months in War Zone C. But the area is the size of Massachusetts. And, while the war has raged on the North-South Vietnam border for the past few months, the Viet Cong has rebuilt its camps and battalions.

It showed in a growing tide of terror and guerrilla raids around Saigon, Wednesday night, for example, the Viet Cong set fire to a major U.S. Army Special Forces ammunition dump just north of the city. The dump still burned at dawn today.

Four Major Oil Buyers Ask For Allowance Hike

AUSTIN (UPI) — Four of the major crude oil buyers in Texas today asked for an immediate increase in the amount of oil they can buy to help offset a shortage created by the Middle East war.

The Texas Railroad Commission adjourned for 90 minutes to study the unusual requests. The oil companies told the commission they have a firm commitment to sell over 2 million barrels of Texas crude this month, but will be unable to do so under the present allowable which was set before the Mideast crisis.

They asked for increases in the amount of oil they can buy both during the present month and for July.

John Yeager of Humble Oil and Refining Co., the state's biggest oil buyer, told the commission his firm has an immediate demand for 705,000 barrels of Texas crude during the last two weeks of June.

Yeager also said Humble has a demand for 2.25 million barrels for the month of July "which could increase substantially depending upon the reopening (of oil production) in the Mideast."

Yeager said Humble's July oil nominations "could go as high as 4.5 million barrels or more." He said Humble's earlier July request for 455,000 barrels daily, only a slight increase over the June requests, reflected only normal conditions. He said they had to be revised upward due to the Mideast crisis.

New Draft Law Near Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress today was on the verge of approving a new draft law far different from what President Johnson envisioned earlier this year.

The only step left was ratification by the House of a "compromise" version worked out by a joint conference committee.

The Senate Wednesday passed the revised draft bill on a 72-23 vote and the House was set to act on the measure either late today or next week.

Though technically a compromise, the measure is considerably closer to the bill passed by the House May 25 than to what the Senate approved May 11.

The Senate for the most part went along with the administration, which asked Congress simply to extend the Selective Service Act for another four years beyond June 30 when it expires.

The President intended to use his broad authority to institute some of the reforms he had in mind—a draft lottery.

He also had under study a proposal to eliminate student deferments.

But the House Armed Services Committee, under the chairmanship of Rep. P. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., fashioned a bill that takes away much of the President's discretionary authority and guarantees student deferments to college students able to maintain passing grades.

Another section of the bill prohibits a draft lottery by directing the President to continue the current system of choosing eligible young men by the order of their birth dates.

Congress did agree, however, with some changes sought by the President. He will still be able to draft the youngest eligible men first—a reversal of the present order of induction. He also will be allowed to eliminate most graduate school deferments.

Dodd Denies Profit From Public Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of the Senate had an opportunity today to question Sen. Thomas J. Dodd about charges he used campaign funds to take trips to the Caribbean and limousine to the race track.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., whose Ethics Committee served as sort of a grand jury in recommending that Dodd be censured, planned to cross-examine the Connecticut Democrat.

Dodd delivered an impassioned plea Wednesday in his own defense—a plea some colleagues called his best speech in the eight years he has sat in the Senate.

In a deep voice ranging in pitch from a near shout to a barely audible whisper, the silver-haired senator told his colleagues that "by any honest accounting I have not profited one penny from public office."

Emotional Plea
Scanning the faces of senators, he said: "I've talked with you, I've walked with you, I've lived with you more than eight years.

"Does any one of you know that I have ever lied to you? That I ever cheated? That I have done any dishonorable thing? That I have ever given you my word and done something else?"

Then his voice rising almost to a shout, Dodd asked: "Is there any here who say I lied? Get up! If I lied, if I cheated you, get up and say so!"

None of the more than 80 senators present moved. As a direct consequence of that speech, a move developed in the Senate today to force separate votes on the two charges contained in the censure resolution.

Total Assessed Property Value Is Up for 1967

Pampa's total assessed property valuation for the 1967 tax year is up more than $1,500,000 over 1966, according to a final report released today by City Tax Assessor - Collector Aubrey Jones.

Jones said the city board of equalization had finalized its work and submitted the property valuation figures to the tax office.

They show that Pampa's 1967 personal and property assessed valuation for tax purposes totaled $49,064,710. This compares with $47,433,130 for the 1966 tax year.

The 1967 real estate valuation is $39,146,930. In 1966 it was $37,908,220. Business and personal property valuation was set at $9,917,780 for 1967, compared with $9,524,910 last year.

Real estate assessed valuation shows an increase of $1,238,610, or 3.267 per cent. Business personal property valuation is up $392,970 or 4.126 per cent, and the total assessed property valuation within the city limits increased $1,631,580, or an average increase of 3.696 per cent.

ACTION MAY ROUSE FURY

Israel to Begin Annexation of Jerusalem

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International
Israel today was expected to begin formal annexation of Jerusalem's holy old city, informed sources said.

They said Premier Levi Eshkol's cabinet was considered sure to decide during the day to ask the Knesset (parliament) for a special bill making the old city an integral part of Israel.

Any such action was expected to rouse the fury of the Arabs, especially Jordan from whom Israeli troops seized the old city in bitter street fighting during last week's Middle East war.

The annexation movement reports came as the Soviet Union appeared certain of getting the United Nations General Assembly emergency session it wants in its drive to have Israel named the aggressor in the six-day war.

ISRAEL'S MAN OF THE HOUR — Defense Minister Gen. Moshe Dayan, who masterminded Israel's decisive victory over Egypt in the six-day war, inspects the old city of Jerusalem after his troops took it over. The latest word from Jerusalem was that Israeli military victories nullify previous armistice agreements and Israel does not intend to return to earlier frontiers.

FOURTH IN 3 WEEKS

Police Force Hit By Another Resignation

The fourth resignation to hit the Pampa police department in three weeks has sent Police Chief Jim Conner into the advertising business. He's advertising for policemen.

Lt. Bob Crouch, a veteran officer, submitted his resignation to Conner Wednesday night and, combined with the resignations of Lt. Bill Robinson three weeks ago; traffic and records clerk, Marilyn Erickson on Monday and Patrolman Jim Robertson Tuesday, the city is now short five persons on the police department roster.

The resignation of Crouch, who said he plans to devote full time to farming, will become effective June 21. Robinson and Robertson both already have left the department and Mrs. Erickson will leave Friday.

Lt. Crouch has been with the department three different times, having returned the last time in February of 1960.

The resignations of Lieutenants Crouch and Robinson leave the department with only three sergeants as highest ranking officers, other than a Chief Conner.

The three sergeants are George Wallace, Bill Seawright and Preston Bailey. The department is now functioning without an assistant chief, a captain and two lieutenants. One of the police sergeants currently is in charge of each of the three shifts.

Police were to be in a called meeting this afternoon where, according to City Manager Jim White, "organizational and personnel policies" were to be discussed.

The meeting was called by Chief Conner in the Commission Room at 4 p.m.

"I meet with people in the various departments quite often," White said, adding, "We just let them know what's going on and discuss personnel policies. This will be the second time I've met with the police department."

B58 Bomber Crashes In Darrouzett Field

DARROUZETT, Tex. (UPI) — Gary Schepp, 17, manning a combine for Braun Bros. custom wheat cutting service out of Newburg, N. D., heard a roar and glanced up in time to see a needle-nosed plane spiraling downward out of the late afternoon sun.

Clyde Pugh, driving a tractor plowing a field recently harvested

ed of wheat just north of the Oklahoma line, saw it too. "It went over me—not more than 20 to 30 feet, it seemed like," Pugh said.

"It was in trouble, flying crazy," he said.

The plane, a 1,300-mile-an-hour B58 Hustler from Bunker Hill Air Force Base, Peru, Ind., struck the ground on the James Cook farm 8 miles southwest of this northeast Panhandle community.

It skidded perhaps 300 yards and exploded and burst into flames.

Capt. William R. Bennett of Lakeland, Fla., the navigator, was killed. Maj. Clinton R. Bessent of Dallas, the pilot, and Capt. Gary M. Cecchetti of Irwin, Pa., the defensive systems operator, parachuted to safety.

A. C. Calbritton, manager of the airport at nearby Gage, Okla., said the plane radioed it was in trouble.

"He radioed the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) he was in trouble," Albritton said. "He said, 'I have a J79 (jet engine) flamed out' and later, 'we are ejecting.'"

The plane was an hour and 55 minutes into a training mission from the Indiana base and had been flying at 28,000 feet. Boiling thunderstorms extended to 56,000 feet in the Panhandle at the time but the weather was not believed to be the cause of the crash.

Foreign Commentary

By THOMAS M. Brown

HELSINKI (UPI)—The Kremlin drive to dominate the Middle East may have suffered a severe setback in the Arab-Israeli war. But Russia's efforts to secure its northern flank continue to be an almost unqualified success.

Through an intensive diplomatic and propaganda campaign the Soviet Union is attempting, with considerable effect, to neutralize all of Europe north of Germany.

Finland and Sweden already are neutral. Though Sweden's relatively large and well-trained forces—particularly its air force—would be a factor to reckon with in any conventional war, the Swedes possess no nuclear weapons. Finland, its standing forces restricted to 41,000 by treaty and bound to Moscow by a mutual assistance pact, is at Soviet mercy.

Only bases in Norway and Denmark, both NATO members, offer the only western bases in the north. Both have consistently refused to allow nuclear weapons to be stationed on their soil. And there are growing indications both may reconsider their relationship with NATO when their treaty obligations expire in 1968.

So, some circles believe, Russia is gradually winning through sweet reasonableness a goal she has failed to win through war.

Strategic concepts have changed radically with the advent of nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles. But the Russians continue to devote considerable time and energy to neutralizing the north.

The approach has been different for each of the four Nordic countries.

Finland lost its last two wars with Russia and since 1944 the Kremlin policy has been to tie the Finns close to the Soviet Union without unduly arousing the suspicions of other Scandinavians.

Admire Neutrality... The Soviets have tried to convince a suspicious Stockholm that they genuinely admire Swedish neutrality and have no desire to tamper with the affairs of their neighbors.

Soviet policy toward the Norwegians and Danes for years was based mainly on rocket-rattling induced by frustration. The reaction was particularly violent when it became apparent that U.S. spy planes were using Bodoe, Norway, as one terminus for flights over the Soviet Union.

Commissioners Name Firm 1 For Courthouse Remodeling

Gray County Commissioners have retained Cantrell & Co., architects from Amarillo, to draw specifications for air conditioning the district and county courtrooms and lowering the 31st district courtroom ceiling. Commissioners have authorized County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. to advertise for bids on courthouse remodeling in about 30 days.

Cost of courtroom remodeling is estimated between $11,000 and $13,000. Funds were already budgeted this year for remodeling. We'll have about $18,000 left for the permanent improvement fund after we get through with remodeling the courthouse annex," Lenning said.

The White House Lumber Co. of Pampa is remodeling the annex for the low bid of $9,752.48. A breakdown of annex costs included $8,761.98 for plumbing, heating, air conditioning, and electrical and painting work; $345 for painting halls, vestibule, lobby and recreation room, and $645.50 for painting the exterior.

At the annex, located east of city near Recreation Park, workmen are converting 15 office spaces into 16 offices. Remodeling is expected to be complete at the annex by mid-July, Lenning said.

The office of George Broughton, the Texas Department of Public Safety License and Weight Patrolman, has been moved from the annex to the courthouse's third floor. His office is located with the Department of Public Safety's Highway Patrol units.

The only other bidder for an annex remodeling was T&M Construction Co. of Pampa with a $13,700 bid.

Plans and specifications for the annex were made by Merriam and Barber Consulting Engineers, 117 N. Frost.

Police Seek An Intruder

Pampa police were looking today for a man who might have entered a house possibly by mistake, or possibly with purpose.

Police received a report this morning from a woman on Huff Rd. who told them she awoke about 2:30 a.m. today to find a man standing over her.

The woman said she had fallen asleep on her divan in the front room and her husband and children were asleep in bedrooms.

She said she awoke to find the man standing over her and she jumped up and asked the man what he was doing in her house.

The woman said the man, described as about five feet, seven inches tall, medium built, about 35 years old with light brown hair, a crew-cut and wearing a brown sport coat and brown pants, told her he was supposed to pick up a friend on Prairie Drive and must be in the wrong house.

"He was very apologetic and left very quickly," the woman said.

Police had received a report earlier of a prowler on the same street and in the same block.

Veteran Oilfield Supply Man Dies

Tom B. Bliss, 74, a veteran in the oilfield supply business and former Pampan, died at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Hendrix Memorial Hospital in Abilene shortly after undergoing surgery. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Friday in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Abilene. Mr. Bliss has been associated with Dunigan Tool and Supply Co. since that firm was established in Breckenridge during the oil boom days of 1921. He was best described as the company's "ambassador at large".

Seemingly in excellent health he had entered the hospital for a check-up Monday. Tuesday the doctors discovered the vascular problem and performed surgery Wednesday morning. He suffered a heart attack in mid-afternoon and died a few hours later.

Surviving him are his wife, one son, Lowell G. Bliss of Abilene and four grandchildren.

Mr. Bliss had worked in every major oil boom in Texas since coming to the state during the West Texas oil discovery. As a young man he followed the oilfield activity to Oklahoma where he became associated with E. J. Dunigan Sr. and his son, Jim Dunigan, and worked with the Dunigan Co. in Breckenridge, Cisco, Ranger and Amarillo. Later he came to Pampa and went to Houston in the 1940s. He had resided in Abilene since 1950.

A former All-American at Baylor, Glass is now a member of the Cleveland Browns as a defensive end. He is also the evangelist for the Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ currently underway.

Preceding Glass's talk, Steve Musto, music director for the Crusade, sang "How Great Thou Art".

Glass was introduced by Ex-Pampan and pro-footballer Buddy Cockrell.

Pampa police were looking today for a man who might have entered a house possibly by mistake, or possibly with purpose.

Police received a report this morning from a woman on Huff Rd. who told them she awoke about 2:30 a.m. today to find a man standing over her.

The woman said she had fallen asleep on her divan in the front room and her husband and children were asleep in bedrooms.

She said she awoke to find the man standing over her and she jumped up and asked the man what he was doing in her house.

The woman said the man, described as about five feet, seven inches tall, medium built, about 35 years old with light brown hair, a crew-cut and wearing a brown sport coat and brown pants, told her he was supposed to pick up a friend on Prairie Drive and must be in the wrong house.

"He was very apologetic and left very quickly," the woman said.

Police had received a report earlier of a prowler on the same street and in the same block.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I must write this while I am still in a state of near hysteria.

My husband eats so fast, it's ridiculous. Abby, I spend hours preparing a tasty meal, setting a nice table, and it's practically wanted because he's finished with his meal in five minutes. It's not due to boredom, either. We always have plenty to talk about, but he races through his meal and rushes me so that he can have his coffee.

It finally got my goat so I asked him what his problem was and he said to ask Abby. So I'm asking you.

MRS. P.

DEAR MRS. P.: It's probably due to habit. At one time your husband acquired the habit of bolting his food, and he continues to do so even though there's no need for it. If you can subtly remind him to slow down without starting a civil war, do so. (It will be better for his digestion.) And for Father's day, get Old Speedy an electric coffee maker, set it on the table and let him help himself to coffee while you're still cooling your soup.

DEAR ABBY: Since most of the younger set are preoccupied with sex, here's an old timer's rating of the facts of life after 27 years of marriage and a slew of kids:

Sex . . . 0
Comfort and companionship . . . 100

Guys, find a girl you enjoy talking to. One who likes to cook and keep house, and if she looks like a gunny sack full of pumpkins, so what? Life with a beautiful woman is sheer purgatory, they tell me. I wouldn't know, and I'm glad of it.

HARRY (VALLEY CITY, N.D.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a very nice electric clock. It's a small one in an attractive wooden case and I keep it on a drum top table in the living room, but my wife says that according to Emily Post, it is not permissible to put a clock in the living room.

I enjoy it for my own pleasure, and it's handy so I don't have to go elsewhere for the time. I am 78 and my wife is 74. May I have your opinion? I thank you.

F. A. W.

DEAR F. A. W.: A clock belongs where it affords the most convenience. Leave it in the living room and tell your wife that Abby says it's all right.

DEAR ABBY: People who crab about television commercials give me a royal pain in the neck.

Don't they realize that it's the commercials that make it possible for us to get all that entertainment on television for free?

These complainers would really howl if they had to put a quarter in the slot every time they wanted a few hours of television.

So tell these grumblers if they don't like the commercials, to sell their sets, but not to stir up something that might make it tough for the rest of us.

Now That School's Out

Learning To Cook Perfect Answer To 'What To Do?'

GOOD COOKS START YOUNG — Now that school is out, a lot of young ladies will be learning some of the simple art of cooking this summer with their own copies of "My First Cookbook" from Imperial Sugar Company. Written especially for beginners, ages 6 to 12, the cookbook features easy-to-read recipes, such as "Cutout Cookies."

Now that school is out and children have fewer planned activities, summer is a good time for letting them practice some of the homemaking arts.

Young girls enjoy helping in today's happy kitchens where pushbutton cooking is an expected convenience. An occasional morning or afternoon devoted to cooking is one of the best ways to help develop their interest and skills.

A little girl's enthusiasm for learning more about cooking comes with having a cookbook of her very own. Because of her, a sugar company is offering "My First Cookbook", prepared especially for beginners, ages 6 to 12, and to help mothers guide their efforts.

"My First Cookbook" presents a variety of recipes in easy-to-read steps. Twenty-eight recipes are presented both pictorially and in easy-to-follow primer style. This enables the beginner cook to prepare the recipes with little or no adult supervision.

The 36-page book includes salads, main dishes, vegetables, muffins and biscuits, as well as the candy, cake, cookies and other sweets that children enjoy making most of all.

"My First Cookbook" explains cooking terms, shows how to measure and how to use utensils. It gives important safety steps and helps to establish good cooking habits.

Let your young helpers start with a simple recipe or the preparation of part of the meal. As cooking skills develop, let them try managing a whole meal occasionally. Later they may help with the meal plans and shopping. This provides an opportunity to acquire growing knowledge of good nutrition and money values.

"Cutout Cookies" is typical of the recipes included in the book.

CUTOUT COOKIES

Flour, salt, cream of tartar, baking soda, nutmeg, cinnamon, shortening, granulated sugar 1 egg, milk, vanilla.

LATER: 1 egg white. Large mixing bowl, measuring cups and spoons, sifter, rolling pin, bread board, cookie cutters, pastry brush, pot holder.

1. Sift flour and measure 2 1/2 cups. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Sift together.
2. In large mixing bowl, cream 1/2 cup shortening with 1 cup granulated sugar. Add 1 egg and beat till creamy.
3. Stir in 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and flour mixture. Chill in refrigerator about 2 hours or till easy to handle.
4. Turn on oven and set at 375 degrees. Grease baking sheets.
5. Sprinkle flour on bread board, cookie cutters and rolling pin. Roll dough out to 1/4- or 1/8-inch thick. Cut cookies out and place on baking sheet.
6. Slightly beat egg white and brush lightly over cutout cookies. Sprinkle with granulated sugar.

7. Bake at 375 degrees about 10 minutes.

"My First Cookbook" is being distributed now through a free offer to users of Imperial Pure Cane Sugar. Readers may obtain a copy by sending the name, address (zip code must be included) with the red block marked "Pure Can" from any Imperial Sugar package to Department P, Imperial Sugar Company, Sugar Land, Texas, 77478.

Canned shrimp that have been pre-chilled tend to hold shape and texture better when added to hot mixtures. Rinsing in the can firms the meat, helps shrimp stay curled, plump, pink, and unbroken in the can until ready for use. If you rinse the shrimp before using, always use cool rinse water.

Highlights and Sidelights From Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — A task force of federal officials, here for a conference on federal-state relations, got an earful from disgruntled state agency officials who complained of poor communication between Austin and Washington.

Gov. John Connally opened the conference by telling the men from D.C. that the federal grant system is characterized "by misunderstanding, disharmony and, in some instances, utter confusion."

Other state officials got down to specifics when the conference broke up into small groups to discuss intergovernmental coordination, health and welfare, education, water development, outdoor recreation, economic opportunity and manpower development.

They said they want to be consulted in advance about proposed programs; they want federal agencies to work through state agencies on local programs; they want block grants which would give state agencies greater latitude in tailoring federal programs to fit local needs; and they want specific, unconflicting instructions from Washington as to what is expected of them.

Since the federal officials had been through similar sessions in 35 other states, they took the criticism without flinching.

ENOUGH OIL? — Texas Railroad Commission is keeping an eye peeled on the Middle East Crisis in case it becomes necessary for Texas to help make up for crude oil shortages growing out of the hostilities between the Israelis and the Arab nations.

Commission Chairman Jim C. Langdon said Texas has enough reserves to meet any emergency; but while increasing oil allowances is easy, overcoming logistical problems would require ingenuity.

INSTITUTE OF TEXAN CULTURES — Newest state office to open in Austin is the Institute of Texan Cultures. Its task is to assemble educational exhibit material for the ITC building at the HemisFair in San Antonio.

After HemisFair '68 closes its six months' run, the educational program by the State of Texas will be continued there as a permanent feature.

Institut is under the direction of H. Henderson Shuffler, former West Texas newspaper man who has been heading the UT Texana programs for the past five years. Exhibits will portray the colorful history of Texas in terms of the people who made that history.

COURTS SPEAK — Supreme Court will hear arguments July 19 on whether parents can collect damages for premature birth and subsequent death of a child due to injury of the mother in an accident.

In other questions the high court:

—Agreed to review the $200,000 judgment favoring a workman who was burned when his bulldozer burst an underground pipeline in Brazoria County.

—Upheld a trial court decision awarding damages to a woman who lost her hair from application of a lanolin ointment on bleached hair (extending doctrine of strict liability to cases other than foodstuffs).

—Found parents of injured child who poured kerosene on smoldering stick are not barred from suit against an oil company which allegedly adulterated fuel with gasoline.

AGRICULTURE AND THE URBAN LEGISLATURE — Although the lawmakers turned down a proposal for creation of a coordinating board to study problems in agriculture, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White was given the job — and the money — to make the sort of studies envisioned for the proposed super-board.

In the appropriations bill, funds were earmarked for studies on ways to expand marketing outlets for Texas commodities and research on boll weevil eradication, aflatoxin control, peanuts, plums, peaches, dairy products, fire ants, eastern beans, vegetables, cotton, mohair, wool and statistics on county farms.

In addition, appropriations were bigger and better than ever for the Texas Animal Health Commission, A&M's Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, salaries for teachers of veterinary medicine and the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Texas gas and oil production taxes do not apply to gas and oil which is severed in Texas, but produced from reservoir located entirely out of state. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held.

In other opinions Martin concluded that:

—"Cable tv" concerns are not required to pay gross receipts tax charged telegraph message companies.

—Parks and Wildlife Department has authority to control and protect mink, sand, shells, gravel and oyster-bed resources and to seek court action to protect fish and shell-fish breeding grounds against disturbances (except those necessary to navigational purposes).

—Lamar County Hospital district may pay private institutions located within its district for medical care rendered to needy and indigent in district's own facilities.

—State Board of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists has authority to refuse to issue a license for operation of a business which has same name as one previously licensed and still in operation.

—Sharpstown State Bank can purchase a building in Sharpstown Center, Houston, with legal limitations governing bank investment of capital.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS' SALARIES — By increasing salaries for classroom teachers, the Legislature also raised the pay of administrators, principals and counselors whose base pay is what they would make if they were classroom teachers.

Depending on degrees earned and years of experience, a classroom teacher may, under the new law, be paid anything from $3,132 to $6,222 for nine months.

With the same conditions applying, administrative personnel get the same sums, but spread over 12 months for superintendents, 12 months for principals and 10 months for counselors.

On top of the base pay, each superintendent gets a 20 per cent to 40 per cent increment, depending on the size of his school system; each principal gets a 20 per cent increment, and each counselor gets a 6000 increment.

Under the new law, the lowest possible salary for a superintendent is $5,011.20 and the highest possible salary is $12,902.40. Principals can earn as little as $4,500.00 and as much as $10,137.60. Salary scale for counselors will run from $3,780 to $7,900.

POLLUTION BOARD TO VETO — President's Water Pollution Control Advisory Board will visit Texas June 26-29 to survey state pollution problems first hand and study solutions being undertaken.

Nine-member board will visit Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Galveston and Houston. Trip will be climaxed June 27 by a public meeting at the Rice Hotel in Houston.

PAYROLLS — Governor Connally is keeping state employees and legislators guessing as to whether he will veto a bill which would improve retirement benefits for both.

Connally has made known he is giving serious consideration to a veto because lawmakers tugged benefits for themselves onto a bill designed originally for state employees.

While retired workers would get a 10 per cent hike in their pensions, credit for five years military time, disability provisions and benefits for widows and dependent children, legislators would receive a 50 per cent hike in their retirement compensation under the tampered bill that passed late in the session.

Connally resented the manner in which the legislators' extra compensation was written into the bill in conference committee rather than by open floor amendments. Bill would raise legislators' retirement from $100 to $150 a month for eight years' service. Also, it increases longevity additions from $10 to $15 a month for each year of service beyond the 10-year mark.

Speaker Ben Barnes has urged the governor to veto the bill. If he does, he will probably submit the employee retirement benefits proposal at the special session next year.

JULY DRAFT QUOTA — Texas draft boards will be called on to furnish the Army 974 men during July. Selective Service Director Col. Morris S. Schwartz has announced: National call will total 19,900.

Monthly calls from January through June ranged from a low of 674 to a high of 1,110.

In July 155 local draft boards will forward 5,015 men for draft pre-induction examination. It's an increase from 4,600 in June.

AIRBORNE BRIGADE PLANNED — National Guard reservists will bring Texas a new airborne unit and two other brigades.

Adjutant General Thomas S. Bishop said the all-volunteer airborne brigade assignment (originally slated to go to Alabama) still is subject to approval by U.S. National Guard Bureau.

Under reorganization, Texas 49th armored and 39th infantry divisions will be replaced by a new mechanized infantry brigade and high-priority 36th infantry brigade. State also will get an army aviation group.

SHORT SHORTS — Highway Commission has approved new farm-to-market road program which calls for development of 949.3 miles of secondary roads in the state, including 228 projects in 106 counties, covering 623 miles at a cost of $24,600,000.

Parks and Wildlife Commission is weighing the merits of setting the deer hunting season as November 1 through January 15 and will announce its decision in July after public hearings have ended.

Highway Department tourist bureaus have extended their hours from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in preparation for an expected number of out-of-state visitors.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. feels the stock market may be ready to attack the Dow Jones 900 level after having made a good showing in the 840-850 zone but that the perplexing economic and international picture might act as a restraining influence on any near term attempts on the resistance above 900.

The company believes although a second half rebound is in sight the fourth quarter can be expected to demonstrate more strength than the third.

Hayden, Stone says the market's recent comeback from an over sold position and the rails ability to post a new 1967 high has offset last week's disappointing breakthrough of the 850-860 Dow Jones support level. Another 2 or 3 weeks may be required to overcome uneasiness over the Middle East situation during which time Dow industrials could hold within a 45-point trading range above 850, meeting resistance at 880-890.

Moody's Investors Service feels the heat of the Arab-Israeli conflict has served to evacuate most potential selling and perk up buying interest. The market's subsequent snapback, which has persisted during cease-fire negotiations, has set a floor under the industrials, temporarily at least they feel.

Astrological Forecast

By CAROL R. RIGTER

FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 15

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and night of cooperation in your relations with all others, to make a special point to let them know they have to say and then try to put into effect some course that can bring you in a greater accord with them. A smile easily dissolves what would be harsh opposition.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — Everyone seems to be in a odd mood today, so be sure you control your temper. Otherwise there could be many arguments, much trouble. Soothe them as well. Give support to those who are in need.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Add the bite-a-bite, etc. that will make your home, office, etc., more inviting as well as efficient, comfortable. Be sure you find all duties quickly. There you have time for the social. Add recreational that pleases.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Assist those who are your good friends in whatever is important to them and you gain their cooperation for your own projects. A tip-off to some worthy young person could be greatly appreciated. Be wise.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Make your home more comfortable and beautiful than it has been in the days past and invite them there. You need good allies to assist you with problematical affairs. Ask for their advice.

LEO: (July 23 to Aug. 22) — Consider how to be really operative in your daily work; get some mechanism that could be most helpful. Take all factors into consideration. You are probably doing just about one-half of what you are capable of.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Now that your home and office are in fine order, plan how to increase your income intelligently. First get rid of unnecessary expenses. Get expert to give you some wondrous new idea and be sure of details thereof.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Endeavor to be diplomatic with others in furthering your ideas instead of being overly dynamic with them. Some delay is also necessary. Use that special charm you have and delight everyone.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) — These are certain perplexities that seem to have you baffled, but earnest study clarifies them. The evening is not so good for romantic love. Make it is a somewhat nervous, angry mood. Be kind.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — If you are in any way demanding with good pals, you can turn them away from you, so use diplomacy, kindness. Await a better day to ask for favors. Avoid the social. This could really disappoint you.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — It would be wise to study some new system thoroughly before you put it into operation. Be very familiar with it. Higher-ups can be very irritated, but don't take harsh remarks personally.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Some intuitive urge could take you to the realm of real trouble if you follow on it. Follow good judgment. Consult the realm you really trust if you follow through on it. Follow good judgment. Consult with trusted friends before you come to any serious decisions.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: ... he or she will have such a wonderful personality that others will want to spoil your property early in life. Teach early in whatever is personally earned is most appreciated and is lasting. Also teach to keep promises meticulously, and be as efficient as possible at all times. Precision requiring precision is fine.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Parents are naturally most interested in those things which directly affect their children. It is also important to consider some of the broad issues which affect education in general. Obviously, these issues eventually affect each individual child.

There is a major revolution on the scene. Extensive interest and money is being directed towards the education of pre-school and primary grade children. There is a great deal of evidence that these are the most productive years in the development of social and academic attitudes. It is felt that these are the years which may determine the child's future success or failure.

The result is that a great deal of money is being poured into programs for children at the pre-school and primary school levels. The programs seem to be designed around the ideas that children need a variety of experiences and self-confidence if they are going to be successful students.

There are some important questions which should be answered regarding these programs. There is little doubt that practically any program will have some value if it provides many rich experiences and opportunities for children to successfully participate. The real questions are more basic and will need well organized research to find the answers.

What are the real differences between the children who learn with relative ease and those who have difficulties? Before we can successfully meet the needs of children from disadvantaged homes and areas, we must identify the specific things which are lacking. A connected question which must be answered is whether or not the school structure and instruction is the cause of the problem.

All children have experiences regardless of their family background. The child who comes from a poor home in a city slum has experiences which the child from a middle class suburban home may never have. Perhaps the problem develops when both of these children arrive at a school and the program is planned for the middle class child. The books include stories about events and things which a city child may never have seen. The arithmetic problems concern things which a city child cannot picture in his mind because he has never seen them.

Maybe the answer to many problems of learning can be solved by new methods of instruction. It appears that the present trend is to give additional instruction similar to that which has always been given.

If advantage is to be taken of the present interest and money, there is a need for some good answers to these and other basic questions.

Next: A Just And Lasting Peace

Thanks to Israeli military brilliance, the opportunity for lasting peace in the Middle East is greater than at any time in the past two decades.

Yet at the same time, this war, like the Suez war of 1956, has sown seeds from which could sprout an even greater conflagration in the future.

The immediate fruit of Israel's lightning desert victory, which confounded all the experts, odds makers and angle weathers on both sides of the Iron Curtain, has been to end, at least for a few years, the threat of a war of extermination by the Arabs against Israel.

The Israeli sword has cut the Gordian knot that Western diplomats agonized over for weeks: How to contain Nasser, how to establish the international right of free passage into the Gulf of Aqaba, how to preserve Israel without drawing East and West into a fateful confrontation?

Though hardly beaten, in the sense that Germany or Japan were beaten in World War II, the Arabs have temporarily lost the means, if not the will, to make war, and Russia has been shown to be embarrassingly unable to do anything about it.

But humiliation and this is a mild word for what the Arabs have suffered is a poor base on which to build peace. Humiliation can lead only to more fanatical dreams of revenge, to the rise of new Arab leaders even more irresponsible than Nasser. Imagine another Mideast crisis, perhaps 10 years hence, with one or both sides having acquired a nuclear bomb or two.

The present war cannot be allowed to end on the same note of uncertainty and inconclusiveness as its 1956 predecessor. The mere cessation of hostilities is no great gain if the factors causing these hostilities are allowed to go on operating.

Nothing less than a full-dress international peace conference is in order—a conference which with or without the participation of the Soviet Union, will not only reaffirm the national sovereignty of Israel but will finally take up such long festering questions as compensation for the Palestinian refugees, the sharing of Jordan River water, the status of Jerusalem, the civil rights of Arabs living in Israel, the right of all nations to use the Suez Canal.

Both sides must make concessions and right wrongs in a spirit of magnanimity and mutual respect.

An explicit and iron-clad guarantee must be made which will insure that any act of aggression in the future by Israeli against Arab or Arab against Israeli or Arab against Arab will be met by the concerted force of the rest of the world.

There will be no true peace in the Middle East for generations, not as long as bitterness, hatred and jealousy remain. There will be no true peace, but there can at least be the impossibility of recurring war.

Lesson for Arabs: Israel Will Live!

For the third time in less than 20 years, the Arab world has been shown in the most unmistakable way possible that the nation of Israel is a fact and that it is determined to remain one.

Will the third time be the charm that convinces not only the Nasserists, the Husseinis, the Faisals, but the common people of the lands they rule, that nothing is to be gained and very much is to be lost by their contorted, obstinate refusal to accept that fact?

There is no denying the truth of the Arab view that Israel is an alien entity that was forced upon them, the product both of the natural dynamism of the Jews and the political pragmatism of the Western powers—that much injustice to the native Arabs of Palestine accompanied the establishment of this nation.

But what a waste of human energy, of resources the Arabs can ill afford to expend in war, the attempt to reverse history. The money both sides have invested in armaments would make rich men of each of the 60 million or so Palestine refugees — if there were a will to live and help live between Arab and Jew.

Surely there is room amid the vast area of the Middle East for this tiny country. Surely there is room among 100 million Arabs for two and a half million Jews.

The Israelis have transformed the minuscule piece of real estate they have conquered. They are making a garden of areas that for eons have remained but arid wastes. They are forging a modern civilization in a land that for centuries stagnated in the backwaters of history.

For that alone, forgetting the horrors that were visited upon them by the Nazis, they earned the respect and admiration of men.

The Arabs have much to learn from the Jews — much more than the fact that they can fight. Both have everything to gain from co-operation with one another.

It is inconceivable in this day and age, said Israel's ambassador to the United States, that one nation — Egypt, acting in league with others — should declare that its intention is to destroy another nation.

Unfortunately, it is not inconceivable. It is just a tragic, tragic waste.

Good Name Is Priceless Commodity

If Shakespeare, a cagey businessman as well as poet, were around today, he might well write: "Who steals my purse steals trash, but he that filches off copies my trademark enriches himself with the benefit of my good name and potential customers."

Last year 27,633 trademark applications were filed at the U.S. Patent Office, reports the United States Trademark Association. In addition, the Federal Trade Commission recorded 1,745 company mergers or other name changes.

Once registered, a trademark of name or slogan is a jealously guarded property. Hundreds of conflicts over infringements of alleged infringements fill the courts every year.

One tribunal in 1966, for example, enjoined a defendant from using the slogan "Extra Strength Pain Reliever" because it had become identified in the public's mind with a particular product.

In another case, the Court of Claims and Patent Appeals found that the makers of "Three Feathers" whisky had just cause to protest against the name "Two Feathers" which a fruit processing company had tried to register.

The CCPA also frustrated an attempt by a pharmaceutical manufacturer to acquire sole use of the nickname "the pill" for one of its products on the grounds that it had come up with the first oral contraceptive tablet. In other litigation, however, it was held that no confusion was likely to result from the concurrent use of "Pop Tab" and "Pop Top" for two different self-opening beer cans.

Among the many rulings by various courts last year were the following:

"Alive" face cream was too similar to "Come Alive" hair coloring to be permitted. "London Leather" men's toiletries was out of luck; the name had been pre-empted by "English Leather." "Transonic" radios infringed on "Transoceanic" radios. "Cora" phonograph records smashed too much of "Coral"

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

Probing into the death-by-fire of the three astronauts, investigators have come up with some gory details that shed further light on the nature of government.

The Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) News has pointed out that an evaluation board of 200 technical experts had chosen the Martin Company to build the Apollo capsule. But the NASA Administrator and a few of his colleagues overruled the board and gave the contract to North American instead.

Why North American? The plot thickens. Clark Mollenhoff has revealed that Bobby Baker (you remember Bobby Baker — the friend of Lyndon that's-his-name) received a $2,500,000 per-year contract to handle the food vending business at all North American plants. The contract was issued during the same month as the Apollo contract.

In addition, North American agreed to an extensive building and expansion program in Oklahoma along the Arkansas River project which was being pushed in the Senate by the late Senator Robert Kerr.

Kerr, it turns out, was the NASA administrator's former boss. And after Kerr died, it was revealed that his family and one of his business partners had purchased 1,100 acres of land at a key point on the Arkansas River project.

The net outcome was that Baker got his vending machine contract, North American got the Apollo contract, and Senator Kerr made a pile on the land deal. This is what you might call a "mutually-profitable exchange" — except that all came about at the expense of the taxpayers, none of whom had any choice in the matter.

When Senator Kerr died he was widely eulogized as a "statesman" who was above party and personal gain. Well, now we know what he was. Like everyone else, he was interested in himself — and when taxpayer money was put within his reach, he took advantage of it.

There are no statesmen. There are only profit-seeking individuals. Some are evil and some are good. But when you place large sums of unearned money at their disposal, the scales are tipped in favor of evil.

In this particular transaction, the awarding of the Apollo contract was made on the basis of political power, rather than quality. No wonder that North records. "Hi-Dry paper tissue, however, was found to be acceptable in the same field as "So-Dri" and "Shur-Dri" tissues. "Pepp-up" barbecue sauce won the right to live alongside the well-known soft drink of similar name. And a maker of mobile home units was allowed to use the name "Mustang" despite the existence of the popular sports car.

If, after the above, you've figured out what principle or bureaucratic formula the omnipotent ones used to arrive at their decisions, you're one up on us. One thing is sure, though, people dependent upon pleasing the consumers for a living are concerned that their good name not be injured.

Between the Bookends

AN EXCITING NEW NOVEL

It is a thrilling experience to read a novel by a new author and realize that a new source of ideas and literary entertainment has been discovered.

Such is the reaction you will probably get when you read "The Journal of David Q. Little" by R. Daniel McMichael (published by Arlington House, 81 Centre Ave., New Rochelle, N. Y.; $6.95). Here is a book that has an exciting plot, a profound message and is liberally sprinkled with ideas to give the reader insight into himself.

In the tradition of "Atlas Shrugged," McMichael's first book is set in the future. An Australian publisher releases, in 2223, the diary of a man who lived through the last days of the United States of America in the 1970s. A "treaty of friendship" between the United States and the Soviet Union paves the way for a takeover of the U. S. by the World Order of Nations (successor to the United Nations).

As the hero slowly, but surely, discovers the true nature of the internationalist crusade, he also discovers the true nature of himself as a human being. And, in the process, he utters some pretty profound words:

"I face two distinct worlds, each in growing, more violent conflict with the other. The one outside these basement walls, demands that I give myself up to its will, while the other—this inner world—lures me by its comforting solitude to seek Truth, surely the best reward of all. The one says I am and that I must search out why. So, here in this small room the fight rages."

As the hero grows in understanding, he painfully throws off each of the clichés that have so long guided his thinking. He realizes not only his own worth, but the importance of his own mind. As he says, "Always there have been guidelines to tell me when I am right or wrong. Now they are no longer there. . . . and he must discover them for himself.

The author brings to his first novel the polish of a veteran. His characters are carefully chosen and well-defined, his plot is suspenseful, logical and moving. His superficial theme — warning of a Communist takeover — is overshadowed by his more subtle theme of the individual discovering himself.

Let's hope the book sells well so that we may see more of R. Daniel McMichael in print.

Harry Browne

Q—What is the best treatment for asthma?

A—One of the antihistamines will relieve the asthmatic attack but identifying the allergen that causes it and avoiding it is the best treatment in the long run. In some victims this requires an exhaustive search.

Q—I have had asthma all my life. My three sons have it but my daughter doesn't. Is it hereditary? My doctor is giving me Amesec for my asthma. Are there any side effects?

A—Hereditary undoubtedly plays an important part in the allergy of many asthmatics. Aminophylline compound (Amesec) should not cause any undesirable side effects if the dose is properly regulated. Too large a dose may cause irritability, nervous tension, nausea and skipped heart beats. The chief reason not to take this particular compound for a prolonged period is that it contains a barbiturate and is, therefore, habit-forming.

Q—I have arthritis in my wrists and knees. Will drinking beer aggravate it?

Cannel At Bay By Ward Cannel

Crime Pays . . . For Honest Folks

NEW YORK (NEA) — A girl we know who works in television — a very sweet girl and so awfully rich — confided in us the other day that she could not stand her job much longer.

"Honestly, it's absolutely demeaning," she said. "You ought to see the sort of people I have to take orders from. Why, my father could buy and sell them. . . ."

Naturally, we tried to set her straight on this matter by pointing out the error in her logic.

Her father, we reminded her, had made his money by very acute investments. And while it was probably true that he could buy all these television people, it seemed quite doubtful that he could sell them again.

"Be reasonable," we said. "How much do you really think Dr. Stanton or Gen. Sarnoff would bring on the open market?"

"Well," she said, "it's absolutely demeaning to work for people and know that your father could buy and sell them."

There did not seem to be any profit in analyzing the transaction again. And so, on that promissory note, the conversation came to an end.

We have recited this event because it illustrates clearly how people suffer undue anguish and disappointment because they refuse to understand the basic elements of simple economics.

The lady who lives next door to us, for example, is convinced that the U.S. Air Force has captured two flying saucers, and at this very moment has four Martians in a refrigerator in Washington.

We cannot recall the number of times we have tried to explain to her how prohibitively expensive such a refrigerator would be. But she simply will not listen and continues to fret about the U.S. policy toward Martians.

This lack of understanding about basic economics, we note sadly, also extends to Washington and the men who run the country.

As of this writing, there are six separate bills in Congress aimed at studying, curbing and eventually curbing crime. And our information is that sooner or later this sort of law will be enacted — regardless of its disastrous effects on the nation's economy.

We know from sad experience that it is futile to talk about economics to people who will not listen. But a fellow has to live with his conscience. So, for that reason, we would like to go on record with the caution that curing crime can lead only to a depression.

If this nation's streets, homes and businesses were to become safe tomorrow, the relief would be filled with FBI agents, prison wardens, probation officers, district attorneys, food and drug inspectors, weights and measures testers, and the entire Securities Exchange Commission.

If crime were wiped out, 34 magazines would fold, television entertainment shows would stop, social work schools would close, the movie industry would dry up, and the nation's 40 million insurance agents and investigators would have to turn to well, what?

In New York alone, a cure for crime would mean immediate unemployment for 30,000 policemen, 31,000 locksmiths, 12 electronic alarm manufacturers, 65,000 private detectives and guards.

On our block, an end to crime would throw six of our neighbors out of work — a criminal lawyer, a salesman of paper bags of the sort used by bank robbers, a bank robber, and a 8-year-old boy who writes true detective stories in his spare time.

In the interests of brevity, we have left out scores of other sectors of the economy that would fall in the face of a non-crime wave.

Suffice it to say that full employment comes first. Of course, you cannot get that through the heads of these dogooders who want to stamp out crime, mental illness, world tensions and the common cold.

PINE TREE FEATURES by Robert Lefevre

PATRIOTISM and BLOODSHED

In this secular age there is probably nothing more emotive than love of country. In one sense, this is a kind of affection some have for real estate owned by others. But most people who evince great patriotism don't have simply the real estate in mind.

True, they may go for long drives in the country in which they pass the farms and ranches of others, look at mountains and forests, many of which are privately owned, and they will "ooh" and "ah" about how great it is to live in America, which has all this lovely scenery. I've been unable to detect whether more patriotism is expressed in areas where the government owns most of the real estate or in areas where the real estate is nearly all under private ownership.

But, of course, it isn't just the land. People like to connect the geography to the history. If they happen to know of certain events that have occurred in certain places, these places are bound to attract the people, who now look at the real estate with some recollection of what they think took place there. Of course, much of history is merely the same kind of thing we get in the newspapers, magazines, and radio, except that it's more inaccurate. But the lack of validity of an historic event never yet prevented someone from a thrill of vicarious pleasure in thinking of the hardships others experienced which he has avoided. But the biggest cause of patriotism is a recollection of the wars we have fought, usually in places outside our own country. The early wars we fought against the Indians and against our own countrymen in the Civil War do not bring up much enthusiasm anymore, except among the children. We still cling to the Revolutionary War as an indication of what patriotism is made of. But the places that really grab us are mostly outside the patria. We get misty-eyed about the battles in Korea and World War II. And if we're old enough, we still champ our cigars and flick ash over the Marne and the Chateau Thierry. But World War II and the Korean War and the Vietnam affair, and now the possibility of still more war in the middle east, has our patriotic nerve endings a-tingle.

As one young man observed the other day when he was making a speech about patriotism, everywhere that blood has flowed in the world, there is where you'll see the American flag. He rather spoiled the effect of that observation, however, by going on to show that it really wasn't the Americans who had shed all the blood. He said God had done it. But there was no mistaking his meaning that the creator had a special love for Americans who have been so effective in carrying their flag wherever blood flows in the world.

The story originally was that the United Nations was supposed to prevent bloodshed and that was the reason the organization was set up. But it's hard for people to get patriotic about the UN unless they've been born on land owned by the UN. And the way things are going now, it's unlikely that very many people are going to be born in the UN building there in New York. The times are too uncertain.

I haven't seen much of a decrease in patriotism in current weeks and months, although there seems to be quite a bit of emotion running through channels concerning the report that Americans aren't as willing to die for patriotism as they used to be.

Nearly everyone I've heard about in Vietnam comes out in favor of patriotism as long as a reporter is standing by to record his words. And that pretty well sets the stage for what is probably going to be an unblemished record.

So, what do we do about it? We disarm. And the Pentagon and State Department deny that there are missiles in Cuba. Let's go in and find out.

DEVIUS ESCAPE PARK RAPIDS, Minn. (UPI) — The deer knew how to escape barking dogs and the dogs were smart enough not to try to follow.

The deer bolted through the rear glass door of an apartment on Main Street, walked up two flights of stairs, clumped down the hallway, went down two flights of stairs in the front of the building, pushed open the front door without breaking the glass and left town, observers related.

There is an American Dr. Spock? Senator Dodd says that his "conscience is clear."

That's the worst thing about him. If General Westmoreland does not be a good boy and quit insisting on winning the Vietnam war, he will be kicked upstairs, according to Washington scuttlebutt. The rumor mill also has General Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, being dumped soon because Mack the Knife McNamara resents Wheeler's opposition to McNamara's thesis that we should not build an anti-missile defense system.

Russia has built such a system while we build "bridges of friendship."

Responsible witnesses have testified before Senate investigators that the Kremlin has converted Communist Cuba into a base for long-range nuclear-tipped ballistic missiles. These missiles are identified as 70-foot long intermediate-range ballistic missiles, capable of firing nuclear warheads 800 to 1,500 miles. (So if you live west of the Rockies, why worry?)

Paul Bethel, a former U. S. foreign service officer in Havana, has told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that more than 60 Cuban refugees have described the long missile builds.

So what do we do about it? We disarm. And the Pentagon and State Department deny that there are missiles in Cuba. Let's go in and find out.

On The Sell-Out Front
Comments on the News:
Thomas W. Braden, CIA man, says he gave United Mine Workers head Walter Reuther $50,000 in taxpayers' funds for use in European labor unions.

That's like paying $50,000 to Stokely Carmichael to use in the Wallace for President campaign.

The leftwing National Student Association, in spite of recent sensational disclosures, is still getting not only CIA money but such additional morsels as a $250,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and an $80,000 grant from "our" State Department.

Lyndon Johnson's Great Secret Society is working on Secret treaties to surrender the Panama Canal.

So, what's new?
Senator Robert F. Kennedy recently told a group of Columbia University students that if he were of draft age he would not be willing to be a pilot and bomb North Vietnam.

He didn't say whether or not he would be a pilot and bomb South Vietnam.

The national secretary of the leftwing Student for a Democratic Society, Gregory Calvert, has reportedly proclaimed: "We are working to build a guerrilla force in an urban environment. We are actively organizing sedition."

And I say again, don't ever give up your firearms, folks. The time to buy a gun is the time when it becomes unlawful to own one.

According to testimony at defense appropriations hearing, our forces have destroyed or damaged more than 9,000 trucks in North Vietnam in the past two years.

So we are helping build a truck plant in Russia so the enemy can replace the trucks we've knocked out. Fair enough? But our traitors in high places have not yet figured out a way whereby anybody can replace mother's sons being needlessly sacrificed every day by our Superintendents of Surrender.

Wonder if Russia sends the same material we give and sell to her allies, Red Cuba and the Viet Cong or does she send Russian-made equipment and supplies? Wonder what the American people would have done if President Roosevelt had built "bridges of friendship" to Germany in 1940?

The last Sunday edition of the union-murdered World Herald Tribune contained a book review titled "The Russian Dr. Spock."

Is there an American Dr. Spock?

Senator Dodd says that his "conscience is clear."

That's the worst thing about him. If General Westmoreland does not be a good boy and quit insisting on winning the Vietnam war, he will be kicked upstairs, according to Washington scuttlebutt. The rumor mill also has General Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, being dumped soon because Mack the Knife McNamara resents Wheeler's opposition to McNamara's thesis that we should not build an anti-missile defense system.

Russia has built such a system while we build "bridges of friendship."

Responsible witnesses have testified before Senate investigators that the Kremlin has converted Communist Cuba into a base for long-range nuclear-tipped ballistic missiles. These missiles are identified as 70-foot long intermediate-range ballistic missiles, capable of firing nuclear warheads 800 to 1,500 miles. (So if you live west of the Rockies, why worry?)

Paul Bethel, a former U. S. foreign service officer in Havana, has told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that more than 60 Cuban refugees have described the long missile builds.

So what do we do about it? We disarm. And the Pentagon and State Department deny that there are missiles in Cuba. Let's go in and find out.

$1,000 Per Plate Dinner Planned

AUSTIN (UPI) — A peace demonstration is planned Friday night at a President's Club Ball where 1,500 well-heeled Democrats including President Johnson, are expected to contribute about $750,000 to party coffers.

Although the President's attendance was not confirmed by the White House, he was to be at the LBJ Ranch over the weekend, and his daughter, Luci, is expecting her baby this week. The President was to enter-

Cattle Feeders Group Announces Office Location

Texas Cattle Feeders Association officials have announced their new office will be located in the American Amicable Life Building, 800 W. 9th, Amarillo, according to Jack Carrothers of Friona, president.

The new association was officially organized three weeks ago for Texas cattle feeders and is the first statewide organization for feeders.

The only other Texas organization for feedlot operators is a division organized six years ago in Texas, the Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, with headquarters in Fort Worth.

As well as regular membership for cattle feeders, the new organization offers associate memberships to persons in businesses related to cattle feeding business, Carrothers said.

The group named Lloyd Bergsma of Amarillo as executive secretary to direct the headquarters office and wire service facilities with LFM News, Inc., of Kansas City, Kans.

The wire service facilities will provide members with daily livestock, feed and market information on a special southwestern circuit.
