

Tokyo Gasp for Breath

The largest city in the world is proud of its growing reputation as one of the top industrial giants, but it hangs its head and coughs slightly in reference to one of life's most natural acts—breathing. The air in Tokyo is consistently more poisonous than New York or Los Angeles, and has a marked effect on the health of its 11.1 million inhabitants.

City officials have set up smog-watching stations measuring the amount of pollution at all times. Above, a city office worker checks a graph which reports collective data from five smog checkpoints. Yet the city lacks the power and influence to enforce the stiff requirements needed to cut down the pollution problem significantly.

A Tokyo city worker checks specimens coming from an industrial chimney. If too heavy in pollutants, the city can recommend improvements, but cannot enforce them.

So heavy is the pollution that traffic policemen do two-hour stints at busy intersections, then quit to recuperate by breathing oxygen, as shown at left. Some coffee shops offer two-minute whiffs of pure oxygen to shoppers, for 25 cents.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary
Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. V. J. Drew in the loss of her husband this past week. Mrs. Drew has worked with the Red Cross as chairman of Volunteers last year and has spent many hours working for our organization.

Mrs. A. J. Edwards came by the Red Cross office and took some of the ditty bags made by the Home Demonstration Club and put the tags telling where the bags came from for us. We do thank Mrs. Edwards for her help. We have the red and green material for making the Christmas Ditty bags for the servicemen in Vietnam so if any of our friends can make them for us, we will be grateful. Just come by the Red Cross office and we will furnish the material and the pattern for making the bags. Deadline is Oct. 15.

Another surprise came when Mrs. Harley G. Smith came by the Red Cross office and gave us a new current map of Vietnam this week. Mrs. Smith has a son in Vietnam and she has long been a friend of Red Cross.

The Red Cross board met Tuesday, Aug. 8 with 11 members present. Although many of our board members were on vacation, we thought we had a good meeting. The following committees were appointed: General Administration Committee will be made up of chapter chairman, John S. Skelly with vice chairman, D. V. Biggers, secretary, Mrs. A. D. Hills and treasurer, Adell Myers. Disaster committee members will be: V. E. Wagner, chairman, with S. R. Lenning Jr. and R. M. Samples. Services to Military Families with Mrs. Jack Foster, chairman with Herman Whatley on the committee. Youth Red Cross committee members are Dan Johnson, chairman, with Polly Wagner

A free South Vietnamese election, deemed by President Johnson to be more important than military victories, is not going to take place if the present government continues its "repressive" tactics, according to most of the country's civilian candidates.

With balloting set for Sept. 3, seven of the ten civilian presidential candidates and all 10 civilian vice presidential candidates had not begun their campaigning. They said they would not begin until the ruling military junta guarantees them transportation, crowds and security and stops intimidating prospective voters.

Asked if he would sign a statement making such a guarantee, which the candidates have requested, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky replied, "No sir, I have nothing to answer." Ky, an air force general, is the running mate of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, an army general.

The campaign trouble developed when the 17 civilian candidates started off this week on a joint tour of 22 cities in 22 days. When they arrived at their first stop in Quang Tri, there was no one there to meet them. The enraged candidates flew back to Saigon.

The civilian candidates claimed the government had sabotaged their tour and were threatening a mass withdrawal from the election.

JERUSALEM—A strike by Arab shop owners in the former Jordanian sector of Jerusalem against the Israeli occupation closed Arab businesses for one day and brought the arrest of two Jordanians.

WASHINGTON—The House accepted President Johnson's plan to reorganize the government of the District of Columbia, making it more representative of the city's disfranchised citizens of whom two-thirds are Negroes, by providing a mayor and a city council.

Opinions Divided As To Cause of Detroit Rioting

Editors Note: A team of UPI reporters investigated the rioting in Detroit recently and found an element new to racial disturbances—insurgent whites and Negroes acting in concert. "Integrated looting," one Negro leader called it. They found also a division among Negroes, at all levels, over whether Detroit's ordeal was a race riot or plain anarchy.

By RICHARD F. FONTANA
DETROIT (UPI)—When the first slave slipped across the Detroit river into Canada as the last stop on the underground railroad, Detroit made its entry into the field of civil rights.

In the last quarter century, Detroit has done more than most cities to make civil rights a reality. It has made efforts to provide education, jobs, recreation, all costing money—$42 million since 1964.

The efforts, Detroit Negro leaders say, have been far too little and much too late. Even though the nation's fifth largest city was looked upon as a model in inter-racial relations, Detroit paid a dear price last week—the most costly civil upheaval in this country's history—for what had not been done.

From Sunday to Thursday, 37 persons were killed, more than 4,000 injured—including 58 policemen, 19 National Guardsmen and 29 firemen hospitalized—and 3,053 were arrested. Unofficial estimates placed the damage from fires and looting at $500 million. The long-range estimate of damage to Detroit's economy was $1 billion.

Entire blocks were burned down in Detroit. Up to 1,700 businesses were looted. Many of them will never re-open, their owners ruined.

The Heart of the Detroit riot area is 200 square blocks in the West Side, four miles from downtown, reaching out from 12th street and Clairmount Avenue. There also was violence, to a lesser degree, on the East Side. The terror infected the entire city.

Unlike Newark, Hough and Harlem—where Negroes live stacked one atop the other in rotting tenements—the ghettos in Detroit are in one, two and four-family dwellings with front and backyards on tree-lined streets. Many areas of the city are integrated.

Hornung Was Hero, Donnie's a Pledge

Donnie Anderson

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor
CHICAGO (NEA) — Jerry Kramer remembers what it was like to have Jimmy Taylor playing fullback for the Green Bay Packers.

...sive guard to Jimmy's fullback, also remembers what it was like to have Paul Hornung playing halfback for the Green Bay Packers.

The Packers, still respected as the most powerful team in professional football, will start the 1967 season depending heavily on two second-year men, Donnie Anderson and Jim Brabowski, to team with holdover Elijah Pitts in a revamped backfield.

A symptom of the new approach outlined by Gregg was revealed in the fourth quarter of the Packers' rout of the Colts booted through the line and past the Stars' secondary for a 22-yard touchdown burst that made everybody on the field look like a spectator.

excited by Anderson's breakthrough prospects. In personality, projection and performance, Donnie comes closest to replacing the magic spark that Hornung provided for the Packers.

The intangible element that Anderson and Grabowski can't provide is leadership. "Whether they give us the inspiration value Paul and Jimmy did is a question," admits Kramer.

"But one of the great things about the Green Bay Packers is that we've got the pride of winning, and fellows like Max McGee or Fuzzy Thurston can step in as leaders. Of course, coach Lombardi is no slouch in that department, either."

The club championship last weekend was a great success with 92 people participating in the tournament.

Max Hickey played two real steady rounds in posting a 71-70-141 total to win the championship cup. Elmer Wilson, the little giant, walked away from the field in the net division with an unbelievable 62-66-128, with two rounds of super golf.

SHORT NOTES—Gene James shot the country club track in 39-36-75 to post his best ever.

High School basketball coach Terry Culley had his best score yet with a 38-38-75.

Dr. Julian Key had six birdies in posting a fine 38-35-73 round, also his best.

David Parker and Max Hickey had 67's, two real fine rounds. Next day Dave threw in a 68 for good measure.

Peg Kastein, a pretty good golfer, fired it around in 42-38-80.

Hart Warren's last 3 rounds have been just short of fabulous, would you believe 65, 68, 65?

Grid Giants Are Counting on Fran

By DICK JOYCE
UPI Sports Writer

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—The pressure is on Fran Tarkenton to revive the New York Giants' offense and pull them from the depths of the National Football League.

Behind Tarkenton, the Giants have a fine backup signal-caller in Earl Morrall, sidelined by injuries most of last season.

Running ace Tucker Fredrickson is another key to the offense. He must bounce back from a knee operation after sitting out last season.

Defensive end Jim Katcavage at 32 is the lone bright spot on the defensive line.

Tackle is the sore spot where Sherman has his pick of Jim Moran, Glen Condren, first year flop Don Davis, Roger Anderson and rookie Fred Freeman.

Defensive line—good, probably the strongest part of the team because of big veterans like Doug Atkins from the Bears, Jim Garcia from the Giants, Earl Leggett from the Rams and Mike Tilleman from the Vikings, all 250-plus.

Defensive backs — Steve Stonebreaker and Jackie Burkett from Baltimore and Dave Simmons from St. Louis provide experience.

Records Smashed In AAU Swim Meeting

CHICAGO (UPI) — Opening day at the National Amateur Athletic Union's outdoor men's swimming championships was a world record day.

In the 400. Mike Burton of the Arden Hills (Calif.) Swim Club was second in 4:12.3. John Nelson of the Jack Nelson Swim Club, Pompano Beach, Fla., was also in 4:12.3 on a judges' decision.

Two world records were broken Friday as defending champion Mark Spitz, the 17-year-old Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club flash, won the 100-meter butterfly in 56.7 seconds and Greg Charlton of the Los Angeles Athletic Club streaked the 400-meter freestyle in 4 minutes, 9.8 seconds.

Defending champion Charles Hickox of the Indiana University Aquatic Club won the 200-meter backstroke in 2:12.3.

Spitz' clocking at the West Suburban Oak Park Rehm Pool broke the world AAU and American record and came within four-tenths of a second of equalling his pending world mark of :56.3.

Charlton's feat in the 400-meter freestyle topped the existing mark of 4:11.1 but failed to match Spitz' pending mark of 4:08.8.

Defending champion Don Schollander of the Santa Clara Swim Club finished a tired fifth out Friday when he turned down a request from the New York State Athletic Commission to furnish protection for fans when Carlos Ortiz defends his title against Ismael Laguna next Wednesday night.

Pro Eagles Coach Has Crying Towel Out

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI)—Everyone has problems, but don't try passing yours on to Joe Kuharich.

The Philadelphia Eagles football coach will weep you off your feet.

Not exactly with tears, but with the doleful expression of an Emmett Kelly as he ticks off the problems interrupting the training camp program by which he hopes to put together a team to equal—or hopefully surpass—his 9-5 record of a year ago that sent him into the playoff bowl.

Problems like nursing burlly Mike Ditka through the recovery from foot surgery which will keep the all-pro end out of action for at least three more weeks.

Waiting For Snead

Or waiting the return of quarterback Norm Snead from a tour of military duty, and at the same time seeing five of his six defensive backs, along with fullback Tom Woodshick just starting tours which will keep them out of this chocolate town camp for the next three weeks.

Joe Scarpati, Nate Ramsey, Aaron Martin, Al Nelson and Ron Medved, with Woodshick, leave this week as Snead returns.

"It really throws a harpoon into our secondary," Kuharich said. "It will hurt us getting our defense to jell. It will cost the timing and cohesion, both with the offense and the defense, that means everything in this league. It won't let us progress as quickly as we should."

"Won't Be Ready"

"I'm really afraid it will cut the overall efficiency, and we won't be ready."

But, tossing off the gloom, Kuharich said he believed his team as a whole would be better balanced than last year, that he's hopeful for a little more depth.

Kuharich lost some fine talent from his 9-5 team of last year, fellows like All Star end Pete Retzlaff and hustling guard Ed Blaine, both retired, hard hitting Earl Gros, traded to Pittsburgh; and scampering quarterback Jack Concannon, traded to Chicago.

But he figures Ditka, brought here from the Bears via the trade route, and pass catching perfectionist Gary Ballman, who came from the Steelers in a trade, can pick up the slack left by the Retzlaff retirement.

Veterans Aplenty

Each is a tested veteran, and it will be veterans all through the offensive and defensive teams. Snead and King Hill will do the quarterback chores and either is more than adequate when on target. Timmy Brown and Izzy Lang, along with Woodshick, will be the backs. All pro Bob Brown at tackle with veteran center Jim Ringo anchor the offensive line. Floyd Peters, the best lineman in the pro bowl, Wells, Dave Floyd and Mike Morgan are the defensive linemen.

Kuharich is satisfied some sparklers may come out of the score or more of rookies in camp. Harry Jones, a back from Arkansas, and guard Jon Brooks of Kent State, the number 1 and 2 draft choices, didn't report until last Sunday because of All Star game commitments.

Early eyecatchers were backs Harry Wilson of Nebraska and Dan Berry of California, along with flanker Chuck Hughes from Texas Western and lineman Mel Tom of San Jose State. Jim Kelly of Notre Dame, who missed last season through Marine service, caught a touchdown pass in the season's opening exhibition game with the Browns.

Cepeda Keeps Cool To Push Cards by Giants

By United Press International

Orlando Cepeda didn't lose his cool and that's why Gaylor Perry lost.

Cepeda, the odds-on favorite to win the National League's Most Valuable Player award, returned to the St. Louis lineup Friday night after sitting out a two-day suspension for getting involved in a hassle with an umpire Tuesday night.

Cepeda was fuming at an umpire again in the sixth inning when Willie McCovey was called safe at first because umpire Harry Wendelstedt ruled Cepeda pulled his foot off the bag too soon.

But Cepeda just walked away from Wendelstedt and didn't start a shouting match. Instead, he hit a two-run homer off Perry in the last of the inning to give the league-leading Cardinals a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Perry and Nelson Briles of the Cards had been locked in a scoreless duel until Cepeda homered and handed the Cards their fourth victory over Perry this season.

Cepeda got his suspension and a $100 fine after he became involved in an argument with umpire Stan Landes during a game with the Los Angeles Dodgers and was ejected.

When Wendelstedt called McCovey safe, Cepeda was not too happy about it but he said, "I thought about the other night and I just walked away from him. Anyway, Wendelstedt is a good umpire."

Cepeda has been a Cardinal since May 8, 1966 when the Giants traded him for Ray Sadecki. Cepeda never seemed happy playing in Willie Mays' shadow and the Giants weren't too happy with the length of time it took Cepeda to recover from some injuries.

But in St. Louis, Cepeda is the top slugger on a team leading the league by 8½ games and he's never seemed happier.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia edged Chicago 2-1, Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 5-0, Atlanta edged Houston 6-5 in 16 innings and New York nipped Pittsburgh 3-2.

Jim Brewer and Ron Perranoski combined on an eight-hitter and Lou Johnson hit a two-run homer in the sixth as the Dodgers blanked the Reds. Brewer gave up four hits in the first seven innings and Perranoski allowed four more in the last two complete innings.

Joe Torre, hitless in his first six at bats, homered off reliever Barry Latman with one out in the 16th to give the Braves the win over the Astros. Felipe Alou's homer tied it in the last of the 13th after Eddie Mathews had singled in a run in the top of that inning.

Danny Frisella, with relief help from Don Shaw in the seventh, picked up his first major league victory as the Mets topped the Pirates.

Frisella allowed just six hits in 6-2-3 innings and Shaw blanked the Pirates without a hit over the final 2-1-3 innings. Frisella, who flew to California right after the game for a weekend of National Guard duty, scored the deciding run in the third on a passed ball after knocking in the second Met run with a single.

Bill White drove in the deciding run with a sixth inning single and Jim Bunning pitched a seven-hitter for his 13th victory as the Phils beat the Cubs. White also had a triple and a single as he collected three hits.

OUT OF UNIFORM by order of the National league was Orlando Cepeda, who watched from the St. Louis Cardinals press box after being suspended two days for remarks made to an umpire. Cepeda is the leading hitter for the first-place cards.

Chance Pushes Twins Closer to Top of AL

By United Press International

Dean Chance and Jim McGlothlin, two pitchers indirectly responsible for the other's success this season, have kept the American League race into a wild free-for-all that doesn't figure to end until late September.

The fun-loving Chance and the freckle-faced McGlothlin, both of whom are leading candidates for the Cy Young Award, each turned in a clutch winning performance Friday night that brought the first five teams in the league within three games of each other.

Chance hurled a six-hitter at the league-leading Chicago

White Sox as the Minnesota Twins scored a 3-2 victory and McGlothlin stopped the Boston Red Sox on three hits while hurling the California Angels to a 1-0 triumph. The Twins' victory enabled them to climb within one and one-half games of the White Sox while the Angels' victory moved them to within three games of first place.

In other AL action, Detroit split a doubleheader with Baltimore, losing the first game 5-1 and winning the nightcap 5-2. New York swept a doubleheader from Cleveland 5-3 and 4-1 and Kansas City edged Washington 3-2 in 10 innings.

Chance, after winning the Cy Young Award in 1964, slumped to 12-17 last season and was reportedly unhappy in California. The Angels, needing punch in their lineup, unloaded him for sluggers Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall and the trade has worked out nicely for both teams.

It also gave McGlothlin a chance to prove himself. The 23-year-old righty had pitched in only 19 games last season with an earned run average of 4.50, but once given a shot at the starting rotation he quickly developed into one of the league's best pitchers.

McGlothlin struck out four and allowed no Boston batter past first base as he notched his 10th victory against four losses. Hall scored on a wild pitch by loser Lee Stange in the fourth inning for the only run of the game.

Coasted To Victory

Brooks Robinson and Dave Johnson each drove in two runs in the opener as the Orioles coasted to victory behind Tom Phoebus. Mickey Lolich snapped a personal 10-game losing streak in the nightcap with a five-hitter as the Tigers salvaged a split and crept to within two and a half games of first place.

At Downing survived a pair of solo homers by Don Demeter while notching his 12th victory in the Yankees' opening game victory and Mickey Mantle triggered a three-run, ninth-inning rally with a run-scoring double in the nightcap as the Yanks swept their third doubleheader of the season.

Mike Hershberger's bases-loaded single off reliever Dave Baldwin scored Danny Cater with the winning run in the 10th as the Athletics edged the Senators. Joe Coleman, who loaded the bases in the 10th, was charged with the loss while Lew Krausse picked up the win with one inning of hitless relief.

Injuries Slow 'Big D'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Big Don Drysdale unfolded his lanky frame from the bench in the Dodger dugout, climbed stiffly up the steps to the field and said, "I think I'll see if I can throw a few, Harold."

"Harold" who is Harold (Lefty) Phillips, Los Angeles pitching coach, shook his head and muttered, "Take it easy, Don. You don't have to throw today."

After Drysdale was out of ear-shot, Phillips said, "That guy gives it everything he's got. He's hurtin' right now. He shouldn't take his next turn."

Phillips was right. That same evening last week in the Dodger clubhouse Dr. Frank Jobe, a team physician, examined Drysdale and found he had a "severely sprained" back and also a chip fracture on the index finger of his left hand. Jobe recommended two or three days in bed.

"Big D" hurt his back running the bases in a game against the New York Mets July 27. He was coming into third after walking and pulled up sharp.

"Something snapped in my back," he said. He left the game after pitching seven innings and was not involved in the decision.

Despite the bad back, he started in his regular turn against the Philadelphia Phillies July 31 and again went seven innings without a decision. It was in that game that he fractured his finger making a tag on Dick Ellsworth in a fast play at first.

Drysdale was left home when the Dodgers headed east last Thursday for one of the few times in his 12 seasons with the club.

He was supposed to pitch Saturday against the Pittsburgh Pirates but missed his turn for the third time.

In 1961 he missed his turn when he was suspended for five days by umpire Dusty Boggess for hitting Frank Robinson, then with Cincinnati, with a pitch.

In another season (Drysdale can't remember when) he delayed his turn for a day because of a fractured thumb on his pitching hand.

"It wasn't bad, he recalled. "Just a hairline fracture at the base of the thumb. It didn't bother me."

Drysdale's record this year is 8-11 but he's got a decent ERA of 2.43 with a second-division club. He's appeared in 25 games, never missing a turn until last weekend.

His lifetime record is 185-145. His best year was 1962 when he won 25 and lost 9. He received the Cy Young award as outstanding pitcher in the majors for that year.

Drysdale had a losing record last year, 13-16, when the Dodgers won the National League pennant and he got a boost to about $105,000 on his contract.

He can't explain either the Dodgers or his own record this year and he doesn't appear bothered by what could be embarrassing questions.

"There's not a lot you can say," he smiled. "You do your best—that's all—win or lose."

"Sometimes your best is not good enough. Injuries have hurt us of course, but that's something every club has to put up with."

Drysdale has a well-rounded life off the field. He owns property in the suburban San Fernando Valley, has an interest in a restaurant, does a little television work as a cowboy actor, and lives on a ranch at Hidden Hills with his wife, Ginger, and daughter, Kelly.

He's started a racing stable and now has a dozen thoroughbreds including two brood mares and hopes to see the Drysdale colors consistently in the winner's circle one of these days.

That goes for baseball too and at 31 he's in his prime, so the wheel of fortune may turn his way any day.

Scouts Make Final Report On Idaho BSA Jamboree

Editor's Note: Two Pampa Scouts from Above Walls Council attended the 12th Boy Scouts World Jamboree in Farragut State Park, Idaho, which ended Wednesday. The boys, John Kar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Karr, and Mark Getting, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Getting, are expected to return home today.

By JOHN KARR
Boy Scout World Jamboree Correspondent

Sunday evening we had two German boys eat with us. We were very interested, because on their tour of the U. S. after the Jamboree, they will go through Amarillo. There is a possibility that we could see them.

Sunday night we had our troop World Brotherhood Campfire in conjunction with troops from all over the world. Our scoutmaster told us how and why Lord Baden-Powell started the Boy Scouts. After the campfire we had Fellowship with a Japanese troop.

Monday morning my patrol along with the buffalo patrol of the Dutch troop, hiked the "High Point" trail to a rock formation overlooking the entire camp. It was quite interesting, marching and singing in English and Dutch and just have a great time.

The Texas football team extended our win streak to two games by beating the Hawaii-California team, 12-6. Today (Wednesday) Tezans will take on New Jersey.

Monday night we held our final subcamp campfire. Parts of our campfire conversations were translated into French and Spanish. Our senior patrol leader from New Mexico served as the Spanish interpreter.

We were entertained by troops from Jamaica, Holland, England and Germany singing in their native tongues. The Japanese danced and the Mexicans performed an Indian dance and the Swedes presented a comedy-drama. A special treat was the Columbian troops singing "Hand on Sloopy" in Spanish. An American troop sang, "This Land is Your Land," inviting our scouts friends to come back to our country.

The campfire was closed by an international choir made up of Dutch, Swedish, Jamaican, Canadian, English, Japanese, German and Mexican scouts singing "Kum-bah-ya."

Tuesday night Vice-President

Hubert Humphrey visited the Jamboree. He urged Scouts everywhere to make the Jamboree's "For Friendship" theme live beyond the end of the Jamboree.

Wednesday night will mark the 12th World Jamboree. The program will include fishing, boating, canoeing, plus various exhibits and a closing arena show.

We will leave for our return trip Friday at noon and arrive in Amarillo at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked.

Q — I disagree with what your agent proposes as a result of my audit. Is there any way I can have someone else review the case without making a court case out of it? The amount involved is only several hundred dollars.

A — You should inform the examining agent that you do not agree with his proposed adjustments and desire a district conference. A conferee will consider your side of the story as well as the examining agent's and attempt to reach an agreement on the basis of the facts and law involved. No formal or written protest need be made to obtain such a conference where the amount of the tax liability in question is up to $2,500. The previous limit was $1,000.

Q — I plan to sell some property I inherited from my grandmother. How do I tell whether I have any profit to report?

A — The basis to use is the fair market value at the time you inherited it. If you obtain more than this value when you sell, then you will have to report the difference as income. Don't forget, however, that you may deduct expenses you have in connection with the sale to determine whether you have a gain or loss.

Q — My teenager has earned almost $600 this summer. If he goes over that figure will we lose our exemption for him?

A — No you won't if he is under 19 or is a full-time student. The other dependency tests must still be met, however. Your son will have to file a tax return in his income. does reach $600 or if taxes have been withheld from his wages and he wants to obtain a refund.

Q — Is there any difference between a pension from the government and one from a private company when it comes to taxes?

A — If the government pension is from Social Security it will not be taxable. Civil Service pensions and those from private companies will be taxable depending on how long it takes to recover the amount of your contributions to them.

The original territory of Virginia was established in 1609.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wright Investor's Service believes last week's call for a tax hike will have several far reaching effects on the stock market. It says profit taking in market leaders probably will mount until the end of the year, the market's advances will fall short of the 1966 high and a significant price decline will take place by early next year. The company recommends taking profits in fully priced issues, making highly selective commitments in quality stocks and holding a cash reserve for later investment after the reaction.

Dinner Begins Fiscal Year For American Business Women's Assn.

American Business Women's Association began the fiscal year at the monthly dinner meeting Tuesday evening in Jackson's Cafeteria. Mrs. T. A. Mastin, president, presided with a newly elected executive board.

Guest speaker was Joe Tooley, pharmacist and owner of Richard's Drug. Speaking on pharmacy, Tooley explained five steps in reading a prescription. He mentioned that Rx is a Greek symbol meaning "Take thou of." The mortar and pestle is the emblem of pharmacy.

Tooley said that a degree of pharmacy, which takes five years of study to obtain, is required to become a registered pharmacist at this time.

After an answer and question period, Tooley concluded by advising the members that one should never offer another person any of one's prescription or medicine. He said what is prescribed to help one person, may have a bad effect on another with the same ailment, because of the difference in chemical makeup of the body.

Tooley has been a pharmacist for 40 years and is a member of the House of Delegates in the pharmaceutical field. He is now serving as president of the High Plains Eye Bank, sponsored by the district Lions International Club.

Mrs. Vernon Graham gave a vocational talk. She said that her first work, after finishing high school, was as a cook in a college boarding-house. She later worked in various schools as secretary to a superintendent and principal. Mrs. Graham is now employed as bookkeeper and secretary at Bruce and Sons Moving Co.

Mrs. Maxine Nabors, tea chairman for the fall Hand of Friendship Tea, slated for Sept. 17, suggested all members turn in their guest list to the membership chairman by Aug. 21.

The national convention, scheduled for Oct. 20-22 in Las Vegas, Nev., was discussed. Several members plan to attend. A delegate will be selected at the September meeting.

Ways and Means Committee plans to have a rummage sale the last Saturday of August. They also checked out boxes of tea to be sold to supplement the scholarship fund.

Guests included Mrs. Joe Tooley and Mrs. Sandra McKinney. Members attending were Mmes. T. A. Mastin, Ben Organ, C. P. Redd, James Culpepper, Homer McNeil, Alta Mae McElreath, Eunice Maddox, T. J. Worrell, Shirley Nichols, Allen Buske, John Furr, Horace Prince, James Quarry, Carl Thomas, Danny Malone, Maudie Voyles, J. J. Rance, Ed Wylie, Vernon Graham, O. G. Smith, C. A. Herd and Miss Maxine Nabors.

Slipcovers Set The Stage for Redecorating Job

Slipcovers can set the stage for a complete redecorating job in any room, says Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent. They can dictate color scheme, add interesting patterns and textures, or introduce bold new color.

Slipcovers can be designed to call attention to certain furniture pieces, while putting others in the background. Covers in similar fabrics can be used to tie together unrelated pieces of furniture.

They can add style and flair to an uninteresting room and at the same time, protect delicate fabrics and hide worn ones.

Firmly woven fabrics are recommended for sturdy slipcovers. There is a wide choice of colors, textures and weaves from which to choose. Your choice should fit in with your decorating scheme, so decide on the mood or character you wish to create in the room before selecting fabric.

Choose light, clear colors for a lively, lighthearted room; smooth fabrics, such as polished cottons and damasks, for a feeling of elegance; and rugged fabrics in strong colors for a room where furnishings receive hard wear.

On the practical side, preshrink the fabric before you start making slipcovers, and be sure the fabric is colorfast. New finishes that repel both water and oil-borne stains and resist wrinkles are desirable.

Pay attention to details of slipcovers. The trim or extra touch can make slipcovers distinctive and individual.

Grease Monkey's Suit, Modified A Bit, Shows Up in Ladies Fashions

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI)—Grease monkeys of America, take a bow.

That suit you wear in the pit showed up Tuesday, modified a bit, in the fall and winter collection of award-winning designer James Galanos.

The west coast designer's offering imitating that silhouette was in black velvet. Lace rimmed the neck.

Babes in rompers and visions of World War I soldiers also apparently influenced the designer. For evening he showed metallic striped one-piece rompers, short as they ever could be, and worn under a floor length cape, also glittery.

The trench coat silhouette, nearly to the shoe tops, was among offerings for after five wearing and came in somber tones—grey, for example.

His daytime clothes came on strong with few bosomy accents, widened long sleeves, high necks plus muffling. Hats and scarves showed only a touch of the hairline or none at all. Belts defined a lot of the waistlines.

His skirts, several inches above the knee, had penals, pleats and gores to widen them. Apron looks were achieved by rimming the panels with contrasting color—red or black, for example.

Stockings caused excitement. Sample: Black stockings or tights with a two-inch wide stripe up the side of just one stocking.

Meanwhile Norman Norell, award-winning designer whose clothes are copied widely through the fashion industry, cinched his fall and winter collection.

He put belts on skimmer silhouettes — emphasizing the waistline in a way that's going to mean bending exercises for those who have forgotten that they're supposed to have one.

Norell is copied in every price range.

The fashion giant also used plenty of fur to trim day costumes and fabulous evening dresses.

He drew some inspiration from dad's old bathrobe—imitating the silhouette, complete with shawl collar and tie belt for late day and evenings.

Galanos also had some bathrobe silhouettes but they seemed inspired mostly by the long flannel ones found in lingerie departments.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
There are some events occurring down state that could affect ground water of the High Plains and Panhandle area. Frank Booth, executive director of the Texas Water Rights Commission, recently recommended the commission concentrate on the Rio Grande from Zapata to Del Rio as the first phase of water rights adjudication.

In a recent appearance before a civic club at Laredo, he spoke on the subject of water rights. The Water Rights Commission has scheduled several cancellation hearings on water rights along the Rio Grande between Zapata and Laredo that will be watched with interest from other areas of Texas.

Water Rights Hearings
Booth, the executive director of the commission, believes water rights subject to cancellation should be handled by hearings rather than by the adjudication procedure. According to Booth, the next step would be to initiate by petition, or otherwise, the administrative adjudication in that portion of the Rio Grande.

District courts in Webb and Hidalgo Counties have complicated the problem for the commission in those two counties by assuming jurisdiction over water rights upstream from Falcon Reservoir on the Rio Grande.

To clear up the tangle, the commission plans to ask Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to file a plea in abatement in those two courts, to get a decision on whether the new adjudication law supercedes a pending lawsuit that has been in the making for several years.

Water Rights Regulations
In a recent talk at San Antonio, Booth commented again on water rights regulations. He stated conflicts developing between agricultural and municipal-industrial use of ground water indicates ultimately there will have to be some sort of general ground water regulation. He emphasized those using ground water cannot survive on present laws because of the tremendous growth of Texas and the growing demand for water.

The Texas Supreme Court has set an Oct. 25 hearing on the Sun Oil Co. versus Earnest Whitaker and others on the water case from Hockley County. The case, involving a question not yet decided by the Texas

Supreme Court deals with the free use of Ogallala water in secondary oil recovery operations. The district court and the appeals court ruled against Sun Oil Co., holding that water flooding was not known in Hockley County until the 1950's.

Ogallala Foundation
The lower courts also established the Ogallala is the only source for domestic and irrigation water in the area and the source is only replenished by rainfall which is irregular and relatively insignificant.

Findings and decision of the Texas Supreme Court is going to be of particular interest and importance throughout the Ogallala area of West Texas. The outcome will decide the land value that has a tremendous investment at the present time. Land value now depends a great deal on quantity and availability of fresh underground water.

In a recent meeting the Railroad Commission delayed the no-salt-water-pit for Nueces County from Nov. 1, 1967, to May 1, 1968. On Aug. 7, 1967, the Commission held a hearing on a no-pit order for Eastland County.

WDB Staff
Improved salary levels which will be available Sept. 1, 1967, has enabled the Water Development Board to add several people to its staff. One recent addition to the Development Board Staff is Col. John Beeson, who took an early retirement from the U.S. Corps of Engineers and is working in the Project Planning and Review Division.

Agricultural Magazine Warns Against Falling Farm Prices

WACO (Sp)—Growing alarm over disparity between farm and retail food prices is a feature article subject in a recent issue of "Texas Agriculture," official publication of the Texas Farm Bureau.

"Farmers and ranchers are increasingly concerned about continued low prices they receive for their products and constant increase in production and living costs," the publication stated.

"In the post-World War II period," the article continued, "overall costs have risen more than a third while farm prices have fallen below the level of 20 years ago."

"Producers of our nation's food and fiber are beginning to ask, 'How long can this continue?'"

Recent public statements by state and national farm leaders point up the economic plight of America's farmers, the article stated.

Cong. H. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, chairman, was quoted:

"Farm prices in March and April were 74 per cent of parity. In only one other month since 1934 have prices received by farmers for what they produce been so low in relation to the prices they must pay for the machinery, fertilizer and other materials they must have to make crops, grow livestock and live on the farm. Farm prices have dropped eight per cent since last August."

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the nation's largest farm organization, said recently:

"The administration is pursuing a 'cheap food' policy which is hurting farmers and not helping consumers. Government farm policy coupled with government inflationary fiscal policy has resulted in lower market prices to farmers and higher prices to consumers."

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau, C. H. DeVaney of Waco, was quoted as saying:

"History has shown that farmers have actually subsidized consumers. I believe that it is an economic fact of the future that consumers will have to pay more than they are paying now in order to be assured bountiful supplies of foodstuffs."

"Texas Agriculture" uses statistics released recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to show farm and food prices. The USDA figures show that farm prices in 1966 were two per cent below the 1947-49 average; that retail food prices last year were 35 per cent above the same 1947-49 period.

TEXAS-SIZE TOMATOES can grow here in Pampa, as demonstrated by F. L. Holler, 300 Miami. Holler planted some tomato vines in April, and they have now reached a height of about 10 feet. He is holding some of the fruit he picked off the vines. Several of the tomatoes weigh around a pound each and are about a foot in circumference. Holler grows the plants in his back yard as a hobby.

Agent Suggests Fertilizing Time For Fall Wheat

The time is once again approaching to consider plans for fertilizing wheat to be planted this fall, according to Gray County agricultural agent Foster Whaley.

Since most soils vary in their ability to supply plant nutrients, the most logical starting point for determining fertilizer needs is the soil test, Whaley said.

By sampling early, the report will be received in time for making the final decision as to what kind and how much fertilizer to apply.

Nitrogen is the fertilizer element likely to be in shortest supply, pointed out Whaley. "Organic matter as measured by soil tests is one of the guides for determining how much nitrogen will be needed. However, such factors as the amount and stage of decomposition of previous crop residue, physical condition of the soil, ability to irrigate adequately and intended grazing practices will all influence the nitrogen need of the crop."

Data at the South Plains Research and Extension Center indicates where wheat is grown in Pullman soils for grain only, the time of nitrogen applications is of little importance.

"When wheat is to be grazed, all or part of the nitrogen should be applied pre-plant to stimulate early growth. Adequately fertilized wheat forage can contain 20 per cent protein or three per cent nitrogen on a dry basis," he said.

"Insufficient phosphorus can also limit wheat production, the agent pointed out. Profitable response has long been evident on many of the sandy and mixed land soils. Yield increases have also been noted on Pullman soils shown to be deficient by soil testing, he explained.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
County agricultural agents and their families from over 205 Texas counties attended what has been described as the biggest and best state association meeting ever held in the history of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association. More than 500 people were registered.

Highlighting the meeting was a bus trip to Palo Duro Canyon, a barbecue in the canyon, and seeing the musical drama "Texas." All were impressive to our visiting county agents from 200 Texas counties. Nothing but highest praise was spoken of the area, local people and convention arrangements.

Many agents from East and South Texas were heard to remark, "It was worth driving 500 miles just to see the historical musical drama." Gifford-Hill-Western and Pioneer Seed Company sponsored play tickets. The State Farm Bureau paid for 10 chartered buses to take the rather large delegation from Amarillo to the Canyon Museum for a brief stop over, and on to Palo Duro Canyon for the barbecue. The barbecue was sponsored by the Farmers' State Bank of Clarendon and the American National Bank of Amarillo.

The noon luncheon meeting Monday was sponsored by Producers Grain Corp. and Southern Farm Supply. Tuesday's move appreciably with soil moisture, it must be placed in the soil where it will be within reach of the permanent roots. Therefore, preplant application is recommended. Wheat plants utilize much of the phosphorus when they are young," he said.

Whaley reminded all wheat growers to send in soil samples as soon as possible. Complete information on sample collection and mailing is available at the county extension office in the county annex bldg. east of city.

Soil Scientist Trainee
Gray County Soil Survey Books are now available from the Soil Conservation Service Office at the County Agriculture Building on Highway 60 east of the city.

The survey includes a brief description of geology, climate, and physiography of the county as well as soils maps.

A thorough study of soils and their general arrangement into soil associations has been made and is described by the survey. Soil scientists made this survey to learn what kinds of soils are in Gray County, where they are located, and how they can be used.

The scientists traveled over the county observing steepness; length, and shape of slopes; sizes and speed of streams; kinds of native plants or crops; kinds of rock; and other facts about soils.

They dug many holes to expose soil profiles. A profile is the sequence of natural layers or horizons in a soil and extends from the surface down into parent material that has not been changed by leaching or by roots of plants. This information was then recorded on aerial photographs of the entire county.

A general soils map is included for a general view of soils in the county. Detailed soils maps are included for the farmers and ranchers who want to know what kinds of soil are found on his land and what the capabilities of these soils are.

"Texas" than any single thing that could be done. We wonder if some thought has been given to this on a state-wide basis. People would buy package tickets to these productions and travel all over the state. One would compliment the other.

No-Nonsense Lee Bailey Takes To The Television Tube

By JOAN CROSBY Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — He has the shrewd, no-nonsense, cold-blooded manner of the perfect criminal lawyer. Whether he has the warmth and charm of Edward R. Murrow, the public will decide. He is F. Lee Bailey, the country's most celebrated defense attorney (among his clients Drs. Sam Sheppard and Carl Copolino and the alleged Boston Strangler), who will become a television star on Thursday, Sept. 7, when his program, Good Company, premieres on ABC-TV.

Bailey must be compared to the late Murrow because his program bears a great similarity to Murrow's popular Person-to-Person. Both programs were created by John Aaron. The major difference: Murrow conducted his interviews from a studio. Bailey will visit the homes of his guests. You wonder why an eminently successful, 34-year-old lawyer who has a full legal calendar, takes on the added burden of a weekly television series. So you ask. His mouth twists slightly into the Bailey version of a smile.

Legal officer in the Marine Corps. It is not necessary to have a law degree to be a defense counsel in the service. "When I got out of the service, I went right to law school. A month after I got my license, I wound up with a capital case. No one has brought me anything else since then." Bailey does not agree that actors and lawyers have much in common, except for a sense of drama and the ability to face an audience. "Good lawyers don't have to be actors. A very good actor might not be able to handle anything that is not written out. An attorney might do very badly reading the written word. A television camera is not so bad as a live audience in a small room."

Reynolds Finally Gets Hit Role

By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — William Reynolds, a veteran of three unspectacular television series in the past, joins Efrem Zimbalist Jr. in the third year of "The FBI" this season, happy to be associated with a hit.

Reynolds, once a model and actress herself, has decorated the house with Italian furniture, much of it old provincial pieces she has redone herself. Her pride and joy is a 185-year-old grandfather clock which still bongs the hour and half-hour.

Air conditioning is a must in their section of the valley, and it is a hot half-hour drive from home to Warner Bros. studios where the ABC-TV series is filmed. Fortunately, much of the series is filmed at night on exterior locations in and around Los Angeles. On occasion the show takes Bill to Palm Springs or San Diego where the company may spend three days at a time on location. When "The FBI" is moving around it's necessary for Bill to arise at 5 a.m. to be prepared to leave the studio at 6:30.

TV NOTES NEW YORK (UPI) — Don't look in the mirror for a while after digesting this information — the CBS "Lassie" program is about to start its 14th season on television. Somehow that dog grows younger every year. It is good news that NBC will have "Wild Kingdom," with naturalist Marlin Perkins at the controls, back again beginning next Jan. 7. The day is the same, Sunday, but instead of the usual late afternoon time, the show will start at 7 p.m. That should make for more viewers for this very fine program.

Ethel Merman will be seen as — who else? — Ethel Merman, stage musical star, in one of the episodes on ABC's "That Girl" early in the new season. The story centers around heroine Mario Thomas getting a part in a fictional revival of "Gypsy," one of Miss Merman's great successes. Paula Prentiss and Richard Benjamin, who play man and wife in the new CBS "He & She" series, are man and wife. The third principal of the series, Jack Cassidy, is on his own; his screen star wife, Shirley Jones, is not a member of the cast. However, I wouldn't want to bet against the chance of her showing up as a guest star in one episode. The Broadway production team of Cy Feuer and Ernest Martin, which has an enviable record of stage hits, including "Guys and Dolls" and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," to mention two, has a deal with MGM-TV to create video specials based on MGM properties. — Jack Gaver DEADLY DRINK MADRAS, India (UPI) — Madras is a "dry" city, so the people in one slum area turned to varnish as libation for a New Moon Festival day celebration. As a result Tuesday, 28 persons were dead and doctors struggled to save the lives of 84 others. American families today are using almost twice as much hot water as they did 10 years ago.
