Kosygin En Route To New York City

Soviet Chief Talks With DeGaulle Today

PARIS (UPI)—A grim-looking Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin stopped off today in Paris for talks with President Charles de Gaulle on the Middle East crisis. Informed sources said Kosygin would try to persuade De Gaulle to join him at the special U.N. General Assembly meeting in New York.

France and the Soviet Union had adopted similar positions on the Arab-Israeli dispute and Kosygin was reported anxious to have De Gaulle's personal support for the anti-Israeli drive before the world body.

Policemen Of Detroit Call In Sick

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit policemen went on 12-hour shifts today as hundreds of fellow officers continued a "sick call" strike in an effort to force the city to give them a wage boost.

By early today, 300 policemen of the city's 4,780-man force had called in sick with what has been nicknamed the "blue flu." More were expected today. A spokesman for the Detroit Police Officers Association DPOA warned the number of sick policemen would jump to 1,000 by Monday.

The Michigan State Police and National Guard were alerted for possible duty if the reported illnesses showed any signs of sharply cutting the effectiveness of the Detroit Police Department.

The Wayne County Circuit Court late Thursday ordered the DPOA to immediately halt the unauthorized strike and work stoppage. A DPOA spokesman said the ruling would be appealed and said it had not been decided whether to appeal.

A decision by de Gaulle to attend the assembly could result in a Big Four summit. Reports from London said Prime Minister Harold Wilson will go to New York if a summit conference was arranged. But there was no indication yet whether President Johnson would attend although talks with Kosygin were not ruled out.

The Soviet premier flew in from Moscow with the 50-man delegation he is leading to the U.N. to spearhead the anti-Israeli drive before the world body.

He was scheduled to continue his flight to New York and the United Nations tonight arriving early Saturday.

Secretary General Thant called the special assembly session for 8:30 a.m. CDT Saturday after Belgium became the 62nd nation to vote for the meeting.

A majority of the 120 nations was all that was needed to convene the assembly as requested by the Soviet Union.

In Moscow it was considered virtually certain Kosygin would hold summit talks with President Johnson. The White House said Thursday Johnson would be "happy" to talk to any of the foreign dignitaries who came to the U.S.

The undeclared strike was believed the first police walkout against a major city since the Boston strike of 1919.

If Kosygin and Johnson meet here it would be the first as was unofficially predicted Soviet-American summit meeting since ousted Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and the late John F. Kennedy talked in Vienna in 1961.

USSR Wins Bid For U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Over U.S. opposition Russia today won its bid for an emergency session of the 122-nation General Assembly to try to regain for the Arabs by diplomacy what they lost to Israel by war.

Secretary General Thant called the session to convene at 8:30 a.m. CDT Saturday. Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was en route to the United States to head the Soviet delegation at the meeting.

Belgium became the 62nd nation to vote for a session providing the simple majority the Russians needed to have the meeting called.

The first meeting will be procedural. Not until Monday will the delegates actually get down to the issue of Russia's charge that Israel is guilty of aggression and must withdraw from Arab territory to 1949 boundaries.

The United States voted against the session in a poll taken by Thant's office. It said the issue of the Mideast war was before the Security Council and no assembly session was needed.

Russia thwarted in the council pressed for the session of the veto-free assembly and brought in its biggest gun Kosygin glanked by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Population variation between the largest and smallest districts will be reduced from 26.4 to 24.2 per cent under the redistricting bill.

It eliminates 11 floratorial districts as well as the West Texas district of Rep. Jesse George of Levelland. Dallas gains a seat, while Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth remain unchanged.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Richard Slack of Pecos, and rewritten in a committee headed by Rep. G. F. Mutscher of Brenham.

The veterans' bill was sponsored by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and Rep. John Hannah of Lufkin. Veterans who served more than 180 days after 1955 are eligible for free tuition if their regular GI benefits have expired.

Oil Allowable Is Revised Because Of Mideast Crisis

The Texas Railroad Commission, citing an urgent need for more oil due to the Middle East crisis, yesterday increased the June allowable percentage factor from 33.8 per cent to 35.1 per cent, retroactive to June 1.

Jack O. Miller, director of the commission's Panhandle district, said here today he had received notice of yesterday's action clarifying first reports on the increase.

The increase was made retroactive, Miller said to allow producers who had been producing the first half of the month on the 33.8 per cent of potential to up their production during the last half of June.

The state commission's new order would increase production for the month by 2,269,000 barrels, according to a United Press International report from Austin.

The railroad commission also delayed setting the percentage factor for July until it has a better idea what effect the Middle East situation will have on Texas oil.

Price says U.S. Does Not Need Mideast Oil

WASHINGTON (SpI)—No other country in the world would permit displacement of its most vital defense industry, Rep. Bob Price told House colleagues Wednesday in a special order on oil import legislation.

Price and 26 other Congressmen introduced bills last week to write the present Mandatory Oil Import Program into law.

"We may yet rue the day," Price warned, "that we unnecessarily and yet deliberately See PRICE, Page 3"

U.S. Hopes To Retain Wheelus Air Force Base

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials expressed hope today that Libya will not press the United States to withdraw from its $100 million Wheelus Air Force Base near Tripoli.

Libya, at the prodding of Egypt, served another eviction notice Thursday on the last American military base on Arab soil.

Administration sources said it was hoped anti-American sentiment in the Arab world would ease and evacuating the base would be forgotten.

In 1964, under similar pressure from her Arab neighbors, Libya asked the United States to pull out of Wheelus but never pressed the issue.

Wheelus was built under a 1954 agreement with Libya. It cost $76 million, but is valued at more than $100 million today.

The base is used to provide gunnery practice for U.S. fighter squadrons based in Europe. Libya is ideally suited for this with its year-round flying weather and large unpopulated areas.

Under the 1954 pact, the United States agreed that Wheelus would not be used in conflict with Libya's international obligations, including those "to the League of Arab States."

Racial Peace Is Restored

By United Press International

Peace returned Thursday night to several racial battlefields across the nation.

National Guardsmen patrolled Cincinnati streets in jeeps mounted with machine guns enforcing an uneasy calm after three nights of arson, looting and sniping.

Earlier in the day Negro workhouse prisoners went on a brief rampage at Cincinnati breaking windows and shouting obscenities to protest maximum sentences meted out to 12 men on charges of violating the riot act Wednesday night. A force of 100 police and National Guardsmen quickly restored order with tear gas.

At Montgomery, Ala., 125 Negroes staged a protest rally at a housing project after a civil rights leader was denied an audience with Gov. Lurleen Wallace to discuss a 10-point list of grievances. They marched 15-minute rally and disbanded five blocks to the project, held a without incident.

A few small bands of Negro groups roamed the west end of Dayton Ohio Thursday night throwing rocks and starting small fires. Police said the situation was under control. About 15 policemen patrolled the area and a city official said the show of force prevented major trouble.

In Lansing Mich. about 70 Negro youths in three groups swarmed through a west side neighborhood throwing rocks and bricks at automobiles for the second consecutive night. More than 50 policemen sealed off the area near the state capitol. A woman was injured by a brick thrown through the rear window of her car. About a dozen youths and two adults were arrested. The area experienced two violent outbreaks last summer.

SHIFT CHANGES DELAYED

City Manager Advises Police To Try for Better Human Relations

By RON CROSS

Advice to work for better human relations among themselves and with the general public was given by City Manager Jim White to members of the Pampa police department at a meeting late yesterday afternoon in City Hall.

The policemen, assembled for the session in the City Commission room, also were told by the city manager and Police Chief Jim Conner there would be a delay in making shift changes and that any promotions in the department would have to be earned.

Chief Conner said, "It takes time to make shift changes, working out days off, vacations, etc., and it will be a while before we do it."

White asked for a show of hands from the 15 policemen in attendance who would welcome a change in shifts.

Only three raised their hands. All three work the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift.

One officer joked, "There is only one reason I want it, these grey hairs in this old head"

Five vacancies exist in the department. Four patrolmen and one clerk are needed. Three officers and one clerk have quit within the past three weeks.

The department is short an assistant chief, a captain, and two lieutenants with three sergeants now the highest ranking policemen on the force besides Chief Conner.

White was asked by a reporter if promotions to fill the vacancies would come from within the department.

White opened the meeting by telling the officers he hoped they wanted to be promoted and would ask to be promoted.

The city manager then advised them to work for better human relations among themselves and the people of Pampa.

"If you are giving someone a ticket and you think you might be wrong, admit it," White said, "be wrong, admit it," White said.

It was also announced at the meeting that police officers would again be allowed to transport one another from home to the police station and vice versa.

"This policy was stopped sometime ago," White said, "but by going and getting the man who is to relieve you it is possible to catch him up on what has been going on and what you have been working on. This way he won't have to come to work completely in the dark."

The city manager told the officers that new uniforms had been ordered for them and that, "We want our officers to be the best equipped anywhere. We want this city to be proud of you."

American Land, Sea, Air Forces Hammer North Vietnamese Troops

SAIGON (UPI)—American land, sea and air forces hammered at Communist units struggling to make a comeback in South Vietnam's embattled northern provinces, military spokesmen said today.

South of their Da Nang bastion thousands of Marines stormed into Communist strongholds and killed 60 guerrillas in two fierce battles, spokesmen said. The Leathernecks suffered 15 men killed and 31 wounded.

U.S. warships and planes teamed to pound Communist targets along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing North and South Vietnam.

At the same time, U.S. army troops pushed an armed convoy through a 60-mile section of guerrilla-infested highway from their base camp at Duc Pho to the U.S. Marine base at Chu Lai. They opened the vital road link for the first time in two years.

In the fiercest fighting of the day Thursday, the Communists fought back with mortars and automatic weapons from fortified bunkers as the tank-supported Marines thrust forward in two infantry sweeps.

'Dear Lyndon' Letter Shakes Dodd Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Assistant Democratic leader Russell B. Long promised to introduce new defense evidence today in Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's fight against Senate censure on misconduct charges.

A "Dear Lyndon" letter, however, appeared to have shaken Dodd's defense.

The letter, injected into Senate debate Thursday, would seem to contradict Dodd's assertion that donations to a series of 1963 testimonial gatherings were personal gifts to him rather than campaign contributions.

Long, before beginning his address to the Senate today, promised to present evidence the ethics committee "had leads about but never followed up."

There were indications he planned to attack the credibility of several former Dodd aides who stole 4,000 documents from Dodd's office. Copies of the documents were used as the basis of charges that led to the ethics committee's investigation of the Connecticut Democrat.

The committee, in unanimously recommending censure, said Dodd used at least $116,063 in campaign funds to pay personal bills and collected twice for travel expenses on seven occasions.

But Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., read a letter on the floor of the Senate Thursday which appeared to indicate that in 1963, Dodd considered the testimonial political events.

The "Dear Lyndon" letter from Dodd to then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said, in part, "first of all allow me to thank you again for your generous offer to come to Connecticut to assist me in my forthcoming campaign."

"I wish I could convey to you how very enthusiastic everyone is about your visit and how much it will assist us in getting my campaign underway."

After reading the letter, Percy asked Dodd if he had written the invitation to Johnson—who spent the entire day of Oct. 26, 1963, in Connecticut with Dodd.

Dodd acknowledged writing the letter. He did not elaborate. Sen. Spessard L. Holland planned to follow Long's speech with a motion to separate the campaign fund and double billing charges and force censure vote on each.

The senate parliamentarian has advised that the vote on the political funds would come first.

Four Booths Still Left For Rodeo

Bidding was light and, with one exception, uncontested Thursday night when the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association awarded contracts for use of the concession stands during the rodeo here next month.

Four of the 12 booths were not bid upon and will be up for grabs in a special bidding session next Wednesday.

Use of the booth is limited to local youth organizations, and their sponsoring body, according to Bill Tidwell, president of the rodeo association.

Both the Pampa Optimist Club and the Top O' Texas Chapter Order of DeMolay bid for the number 10 booth, the largest of the 12 offered. The DeMolays outbid the Optimists by $72.75.

The Optimists were successful in obtaining two booths, however. They will sell cotton candy from booth 2 and 3, plus hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee and soft drinks from booth 12.

Boy Scout Troop 22 will offer gum, candy, cigars, cigarettes, pop corn and peanuts for booths 6 and 11, plus rent cushions from booth 7.

The DeMolays will sell hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee and soft drinks. The other two booths are booth 4, which vend novel ties and souvenirs, and booth 5, which sells snow cones and ice cream.

Sealed bids for the unsold booths will be opened at the rodeo office in the Chamber of Commerce at 5 p.m. Wednesday, June 21, and must be submitted before that time, according to Tidwell.

Information concerning the booths can be obtained at the rodeo office.

Capt. D. C. Stowell, master's degree

Pampan Receives Master's Degree

Captain Dibrell C. Stowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stowell, 1951 Evergreen, was graduated June 9 from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y., with a master's degree in Engineering Management.

He graduated from Pampa High School in 1952; from Texas Technological College with honors; and has just completed his 10th year in the United States Air Force.

Captain and Mrs. Stowell and daughter, Sheryl Ann, are expected to arrive in Pampa this week for a visit with his parents before reporting to Nashville, Tenn. Following briefing in Nashville, he will be stationed in the Philippines flying supplies into Vietnam.

Grand Jury In Session Here Today

The Gray County grand jury was in session here today to hear testimony and consider indictments on 17 criminal cases in the 31st Judicial District courtroom.

Cases on the docket are one murder case; two driving while intoxicated, second offense cases; two burglaries; six forgery cases; one fondling; one theft by false pretext; three swindling with worthless checks and one destroying property of another, according to District Attorney Bill Waters.

Sister of Pampan Dies in Oklahoma

Interment rites for Mrs. Mary Evelyn Kay, 52, of Oklahoma City will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Oklahoma City. Burial will follow in Rose Hill Cemetery under the direction of Smith-Kernke Funeral Home. She was the sister of Everett Leiland, 104 N. Nelson.

Mrs. Kay died Thursday night following a stroke.

In addition to her brother in Pampa she is survived by her husband, one daughter, her mother, one sister, one other brother and three grandchildren.

Price

Price pointed out that the Soviet Union imports no oil while the U.S. brings in 2.5 million barrels daily which, together with tanker charges and added to foreign military oil purchases, add up to a $1.8 billion a year dollar drain.

The Texas Panhandle congressman said, "We should welcome the denial to us of Middle East oil which we fortunately do not need."

As a "country on wheels" and with the greatest military machine on earth, Price said the U.S. has a stake as no other nation in preventing dependence on oil beyond its control.

By drilling 500 wells, the Middle East and African oil producing countries added 70 million barrels of new reserves for each well drilled compared with 80,000 barrels of reserves for each of 38,000 wells drilled in the U.S. last year.

"This illustrates," Price said, "why we must have effective oil import restrictions. . . since we cannot hope to offset this almost unbelievable economic advantage by 'competition' it can only be softened by reasonable and realistic limitations on oil imports."

Price said U.S. oil security could be guaranteed only by legislative action and accused administrators of the oil import program of "frittering away" security by use of the oil import program. "To solve . . . social, economic, foreign policy, and 'environmental' problems not related in any way to our security."

Crusade Services Will End Sunday

The Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ will have its final services today through Sunday at 8 p.m. at Pampa High School Harvester Stadium, with Bill Glass, evangelist and pro-football player as preacher.

After the crusade service tonight, all high school age Pampa area teenagers may attend the youth night discussions. After the Rev. Glass conducts his question and answer period, youths will see a film on "The Moral Choice."

The body will be taken by Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home to the Mason Funeral Home for graveside services at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Gooch Cemetery conducted by the Rev. Bruce G. Field. Burial will be beside her husband Oscar P. who died in 1946.

Glass, Bill Carlson, crusade director and Steve Musto, music director, will conduct a special youth night service tomorrow night.

Highway Patrol Investigates 13 Rural Accidents

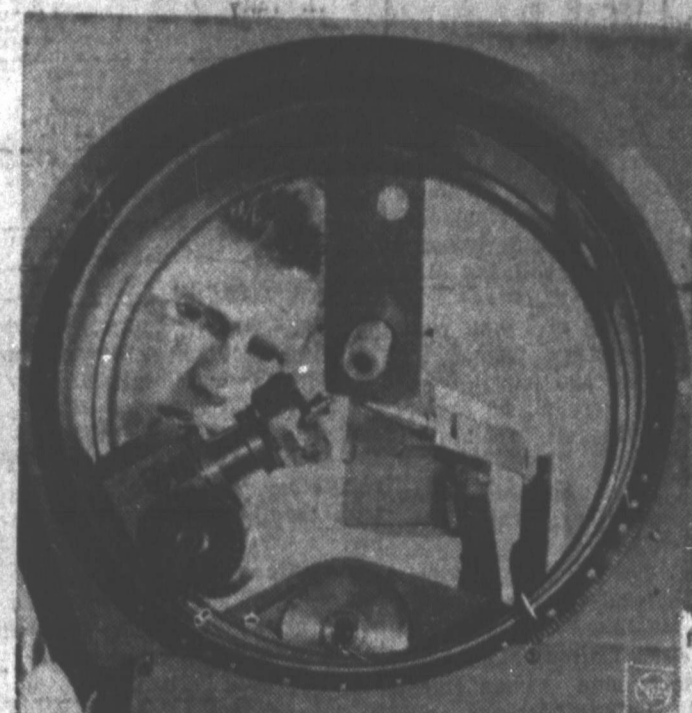

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 13 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during May, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson Highway Patrol supervisor in the Pampa area.

The crashes resulted in one person killed, eight injured and an estimated property damage of $9,420.

The rural accident summary for Gray county during the first five months of 1967 shows a total of 68 accidents resulting in two persons killed, 47 injured and an estimated property damage of $57,675.

"The vacation season is now in full swing," Wilson said. "This means more traffic and many drivers going for long hours without sleep. In many areas harvest is in progress which means slow moving farm machinery on the highway oftentimes poorly lighted or not lighted at all."

Sergeant Wilson cautioned motorists to watch for the dozing driver and to be alert for slow-moving vehicles.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary to a factory executive and I drive 17 miles to work and back every day. To help pay for my gas, I accepted as passengers two men and two women. All are married, but not to each other. They were strangers until they started to ride with me.

Everything was fine the first few weeks. Then one of the men began giving one of the women "back massages" and "neck rubs" to ease her tensed up nerves, he said.

The idea clicked, but good. Now all the way to work and back these characters are giving each other back and neck massages, which turn out to be more mauling than anything else. Two sit in front and two sit in back. They switch around so each one gets to maul someone different.

I don't know anything about their private lives, but whatever troubles they may have I don't want treated in my car. And on a busy highway yet. I've told them to cut it out, but they ignore me. What is your advice?

THE DRIVER

DEAR DRIVER: Ask the two ladies (?) to sit in the front with you, and the two gentlemen (?) to sit in the back. That should put a stop to the "group physiotherapy."

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a middle-aged divorcee who has her parents announce her engagement in the newspaper to a middle-aged man?

The middle-aged man happens to be my ex-husband and the father of my two teen-age children. He didn't even have the decency to tell his children that he had marriage plans. The youngest cried bitterly when she saw it in the newspapers. Your opinion would be appreciated.

DEAR EXWIFE — Perhaps your ex-husband was as surprised to see the announcement in the newspaper as your children were. Don't judge him until you know his side of it.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a wedding gown can jinx a marriage? I am being married soon, and my aunt has offered to let me wear her wedding gown which is beautiful, just like new, and fits like it was made for me. I really can't afford to buy a wedding gown, and this one would be perfect.

My whole family is up in arms. They say that wedding gown is "jinxed" because my aunt's marriage ended in divorce. My grandparents say if I wear that gown they won't attend the wedding. I would really like to wear it, and I don't believe in jinxes, but I just don't know what to do. Can you help me?

LILY OF THE VALLEY

DEAR LILY: I don't believe in jinxes either, but I would not wear the gown for other reasons. The criticism of your relatives obviously affects you, or you would not have written. If you can't afford a new gown, borrow one from a "winner."

Confidential to "Mother of Daughters": Yes, I will tell mothers to teach their daughter how to cook, iron, and keep house properly. But I will also tell them that there is something even more important in a good marriage. Girls should be taught to cuddle a man, listen to him, entertain him, laugh with him, forgive him, and make his home a "happy" place to come home to.

Many divorced women say, "But I always kept a nice house and had his meals on time, and the rat left me."

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dress Designer Offers Proof That Women Dress For Women

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—An authoritative voice of fashion says it is foolish to argue that women dress to please men.

"They dress for other women," says Helen Rose, who has designed clothes for some of the world's most beautiful women. "Women dress for impression, not expression."

"If women dressed to please men," the Academy Award winning designer added, "They wouldn't do half the things they do."

For instance, Miss Rose said, men love black. So what are women wearing? A riot of colors. Men love the tiny-waisted, belted look in women's clothes. So what are the women wearing? Unbelted tents and chemises.

Miss Rose, who's had a long career designing clothes for film stars, now is creating clothes for non-movie types with twice-yearly wholesale collections sold to leading stores around the nation.

Miss Rose has some belted dresses to offer. She believes other designers also will revive belts.

"I don't think they'll mean we're going back to constrictive," she said, "but men consider five uncomfortable clothes," tiny waists sexy. I can remember when the stars would vie for the smallest waist. Vera Ellen was 18 inches, Kathryn Grayson was 19, and we got Elizabeth Taylor into a 20."

Miss Rose, whose factory and showrooms are in Los Angeles, talked about fashion changes during a trip to New York to meet with eastern store buyers.

Her movie wardrobe years were spent with MGM, with an occasional loan to another studio. She "dressed" 232 films, was nominated 10 times for an Academy Award, and twice won the "Oscar." Such stars as Elizabeth Taylor, Grace Kelly, Jane Powell, Lauren Bacall, Ava Gardner, Cyd Charisse, Doris Day, Shirley McLaine, Lana Turner and Debbie Reynolds wore Rose designs on screen and selected her designs for their private wardrobes.

She made the $9,000 wedding gown which MGM gave Grace Kelly for her marriage to Prince Rainier. The gown now is in a Philadelphia museum.

Miss Rose started her own business because of changing methods of movie production. "Used to be," she said, "that the stars acted, the writers wrote, designers designed. Now the stars and the producers think they're also fashion experts. The excitement has gone."

Long or short, hair looks soft and uncontrived, yet very pretty. The large bushy head is out. So is the little curl. Ditto for stick-straight hair. So says Kenneth, New York hair stylist. He's for the small head with bouncy lines, says it looks modern, graceful, free.

IF YOU ARE one of the lucky girls approaching engagement or wedding time, chances are you'll also be facing a camera. To insure perfect results for your portrait, makeup and a simple hairstyle are important. Classic clothing and self-confidence are equally important and since this photo will probably grace the family piano or someone's desk you'll want it to be the very best.

Brides Should Put Best Face Forward

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you plan on putting your best face forward for camera close-ups, following a few important tips will insure the prettiest portrait possible.

This is the time of year that engagement and wedding portraits are taken and you'll want the camera to capture your best assets.

Whether you're having a formal photograph taken or a 2x2-inch passport picture, these are the things to remember for the best results:

Models and actresses have little tricks that flatter as they fool the eye and you can use them, too. You can camouflage laugh and frown lines or blemishes by covering them with white eye liner or shadow stick.

If features are less than perfect, try posing with your face at a slight angle to the camera, with head up and chin lifted. Don't wear exaggerated make-up. Wear a medium tone foundation and powder, and a medium shade of lip stick, accented with lip gloss for sheen. Don't wear very pale lipstick for a picture because it won't show up.

Moderation is the word for eye make-up if you want a naturally expressive eyes. Eyes laden with false lashes and overstated styling will date any portrait. Another trick models use to emphasize natural sparkle is to apply eye drops before applying eye make-up.

If you wear glasses you've got to be especially artful in applying your eye make-up because the lenses enlarge the eye area.

Your hands and nails quite often are also included in a formal photograph. Nails do not have to be long but they should be carefully shaped from cuticle to tip.

When applying nail polish for a photograph, avoid dark shades because they will appear black. A colorless or pale shade is the most flattering.

An elaborate hair style, a distracting print and a jumble of jewelry all detract from you. Classic clothing, coiffure and accessories are preferable.

Killebrews Fill Their House With Clocks

By LARRY HOLLIS
News Staff Writer

When one wants to know the time at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Killebrew, 1130 N. Christine, some confusion may result.

There are at least 13 different clocks in the front part of their house — some work and some do not. And most of them are antique.

And on the hour, chimes sound throughout the house, but not all at the same time.

Besides the clocks, the Killebrews have at least nine pocket and chain watches, plus one ring watch, in various states of repair. In addition, they have

The wooden body is hand-carved, and many parts of the clock itself were fashioned by hand.

"It's crude looking," Killebrew said. "I imagine the old boy had plenty of time to work on it, though."

"It has to be fairly old," Mrs. Killebrew explained, "because now they (prisoners) could get the manufactured parts."

Another clock, made with silver and copper-colored metal, has a Grecian lady leaning on a harp and standing beside the clock; the base is black onyx. Made in France and patented in 1882, "it also" is still working.

Though not especially very addition, it has a wooden case for storage.

This watch was made by George Prior in London. He operated from 1765 to 1810, so the watch is approximately 200 years old, Mrs. Killebrew said.

The ring watch, found in a junk shop in Amarillo, has a cover of a dark brown stone surrounded by clear gems. The cover flips back to reveal the tiny watch underneath.

"Many manufacturers are now beginning to make more of them, copying the older ones," Killebrew commented.

The Killebrews also collect other antiques. Among these are various pieces of glasswork, including "black" glass and an old brown medicine jar with the original cork, used by some doctor who used to mix his own prescriptions.

Also among their collection are some antique metal fastenings and handles from the doors of an old church in Minneapolis, Minn. When they first found them, the fastenings had been covered with green paint.

"How anyone could cover them with green paint is beyond me," Mrs. Killebrew exclaimed.

At their ranch, Killebrew said, is an old projector that used kerosene to provide light. It used painted glass slides to project pictures.

Killebrew has been collecting antiques for "18 or 20 years."

"He's actually the collector," Mrs. Killebrew said, "but he's gotten me really interested in antiques in the last two years."

When asked where he collected the various items, Killebrew said it is "according to wherever I find them." Both have found antiques in Minnesota, Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and Texas.

PRISONER'S CLOCK—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Killebrew, 1130 N. Christine, stand beside one of their grandfather clocks. This one was made by a prisoner at Joliet, Mo. The case, made of oak, was hand-carved, and many parts of the clock itself were fashioned by hand.

"about 35 more" clocks at a ranch near Canadian.

Some of them are very ornate. One, which is of gold gilt resting on a black base, depicts a Roman soldier resting beside a large clock. Patented in 1881, it is still running.

"It's said to come from the governor's mansion in Virginia," Killebrew commented.

One of the more interesting clocks in their collection is a large, dark brown stained-oak grandfather clock, made by a former prisoner at Joliet, Mo.

Victory Demanded In War

DENVER (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, former commander of Marines in South Vietnam, called for a "full victory" in Vietnam Wednesday after returning to his home state of Colorado.

The 54-year-old Marine officer, home after nearly two years in Southeast Asia, made the comments shortly after leading a flag day parade down Denver's streets. About 20,000 persons turned out to watch.

Walt, citing the American flag as a "symbol of help, freedom and brotherhood" in South Vietnam, said, "anything less than victory would be an error."

"The biggest mistake we could make now is to settle for anything less than full victory in Vietnam," he said. "We've got to defeat the Communists in Vietnam or we'll have to face a lot tougher enemy closer to home a few years from now. I guarantee that."

The former Colorado State University football star, now director of personnel for the Marine Corps in Washington, was to return to his hometown of Fort Collins, Colo., today for another parade and more speeches.

A few minor incidents of war protest were reported as Walt, commander of more than 70,000 marines in Vietnam, led the Denver parade.

Two youths got into the line of march carrying a banner which read: "Killing is a Drag, Baby, Parade for Peace." A policeman forced the two off the street and tore the sign.

As General Walt, accompanied by Colorado Gov. John A. Love, arrived at the statehouse, another protester laid down in front of their car.

MADE IN FRANCE—Above is one of the many clocks in the collection of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Killebrew. Depicting a Grecian lady leaning on a harp and standing beside a clock, the time piece was made in France and patented in 1882.

"Most of the antiques used to be up north," Mrs. Killebrew said, "but now a lot of them are in this area of the country."

"And now the people up north are trying to get them back," Killebrew added.

Cleveland Picked As Working Model For Civil Rights

NEW YORK (UPI)—In a rare display of unity, the nation's major civil rights organizations have pledged their resources for a concentrated attack on participating organizations said today it was hoped the summer activities in Cleveland would provide a "working model" for coordinated programs in other urban racial trouble spots in the United States.

The joint effort was agreed upon earlier this week at a secret "summit conference" of Negro leaders held at a motel located about 35 miles northwest of New York city.

A spokesman for the nine participating organizations said today it was hoped the summer activities in Cleveland would provide a "working model" for coordinated programs in other urban racial trouble spots in the United States.

NUCLEAR TEST

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—France was to detonate its second nuclear weapon of the 1967 test series today at Mururoa Atoll, 800 miles southeast of Tahiti, informed sources said.

The atomic test was part of series of four designed to perfect a trigger for the hydrogen bomb France hopes to test next year.

The first French test of 1967 was a low-yield device exploded June 5 from a balloon over Mururoa.

RE-TRIAL DENIED

CHICAGO (UPI)—A Chicago magistrate Thursday denied self-proclaimed American Nazi Party leader George Lincoln Rockwell a new trial.

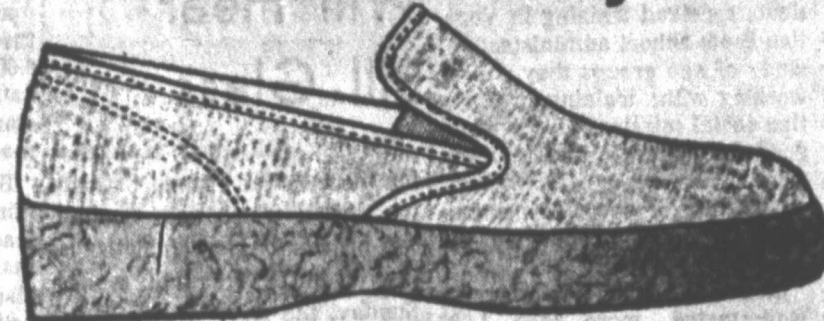

Rockwell, who presented his own defense before Magistrate Maurice B. Lee, was convicted May 15 of obstructing a law officer, disorderly conduct and criminal trespass after his arrest outside the Cook County sheriff's office.

AS INVINCIBLES

College Students Plan Mission Work

One group of college age youths in Texas is foregoing leisure hours and money-making endeavors this summer to serve as summer missionaries.

The students, known as "Invincibles," are Christian youths sponsored by the State Sunday School Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The name "Invincibles" was given to these young people because of their faith in God's power to overcome and do the impossible.

After a four-day orientation period at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth last week, 123 students began arriving this week at locations across Texas, Wisconsin and Minnesota where they will work for the next 10 weeks.

Invincibles will conduct Vacation Bible Schools in Baptist churches and missions needing assistance; pioneer with vacation Bible Schools in the Rio Grande area; and assist with church leadership in other work assigned.

Invincibles are elected by the state Sunday School Department, of the Southern Baptist Convention and the state Baptist Student Union.

During the intensive orientation period just completed, students received training in Vacation Bible School administration; study of age groups they will be working with; training in Christian social missions (for work in goodwill centers); and survey work.

A faculty of about 25 denominational leaders conducted the orientation period.

Since 1940, when the program was started, more than 1,780 students have served as Invincibles. They have conducted more than 5,400 Vacation Bible Schools with a total enrollment of 350,000 boys and girls. More than 18,200 have accepted the Christian beliefs through the program.

Many who have served as Invincibles are now serving on the foreign mission fields and home mission fields as Baptist missionaries.

"We're expecting to have over 250 Vacation Bible Schools this summer with an enrollment of over 20,000 boys and girls," William R. Cox, associate in the state Sunday School Department of the BGCT and orientation coordinator, said.

Cox said the student summer missionaries are "well accepted" by people of the communities where they work.

Christian Scientists Slate Lesson-Sermon

Christian Scientist Church members will hear a lesson-sermon at 11 a.m. Sunday on the value of an awakened spiritual understanding to a person's experience.

Verses from Romans in the New Testament and explanatory passages from the Christian Science textbook will be included in the lesson.

REV. BILL GLASS preaches Sunday

Methodists Will Hear Bill Glass

The Rev. Bill Glass, evangelist for the Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ, which ends Sunday, will preach for Harrah Methodist Church in its 10:55 a.m. service Sunday, the Rev. Walter White, pastor, said.

The Rev. Glass is also defensive end for the Professional football team, Cleveland Browns, and is a member of the National Football League. He has played for the Browns since 1962, and was on the Detroit Lions team from 1959 till 1962.

He received his B. A. degree from Baylor University and his bachelor of divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Peggy Patrick will direct youth and adult choirs in anthems Sunday at Harrah Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend the services at 638 S. Barnes.

Crusade services are held daily at 8 p.m. in Harvester Stadium at Pampa High School.

Seminarians Ponder Question Of Ordained Graduates' Faith

By LOUIS CANSELS United Press International—Should a man be ordained to the ministry if he rejects, or is agnostic about, some of the basic tenets of the historic Christian faith?

That may strike you as a far-fetched, hypothetical question. But it's a real and agonizing one for deans and professors at many Protestant seminaries.

It's their responsibility to certify that a seminary graduate is ready for ordination. This is easy when the candidate is a committed Christian whose faith has been deepened and matured by three years of theological study. Most of the 6,000 seminarians being graduated from accredited Protestant theological schools this month fall into that category.

But there is also a substantial minority—in some seminaries, teachers say, it includes more than a third of the graduating class—who are not Christian believers in any traditional sense of the term.

They don't contend that God is dead. But neither do they share Jesus' concept of God as one who can be confidently approached in prayer as "Our Father." They feel much more at home speaking of God in abstract, impersonal terms such as "ultimate reality."

They admire Jesus as a great human teacher and want to emulate His example of unselfish dedication to the service of others. But they do not believe that He was, in any unique way, the son of God. Nor do they believe that He rose from the dead.

They are attracted to some portions of the Bible, particularly those in which Jesus and the prophets attack social injustice. But they don't believe that the Bible has any special authority as the word of God.

Theological views such as these would raise no problem if the seminary graduate were going into the ministry of the Unitarian-Universalist association. But a question of integrity arises if he intends to be ordained in a Protestant denomination which is supposed to be committed to the doctrines of the Apostles' Creed.

Some candidates shrug off the question on the grounds that Doctrines are unimportant. What really matters, they say, is for the church to get dynamic young leadership that can make the most of its potential for social service.

A seminary faculty can also give reasons for granting the certifications which permit hundreds or thousands of agnostics to enter the Christian ministry each year. The church desperately needs clergymen. Perhaps they will grow into faith after they're up against the hardships of the ministry.

Without impugning the sincerity of these arguments, one may wonder what theologians would say about a medical school that awarded an M. D. degree to a student who doubts the existence of germs.

Crusade Director To Speak Sunday In Pampa Church

W. T. Carlson, director of the Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ, which is being conducted this week at Pampa High School Harvester Stadium, will preach for the 11 a.m. service Sunday at the Church of the Brethren 600 N. Frost.

Crusade services start at 8 p.m. daily at the stadium, with the Rev. Bill Glass, evangelist and professional football player, as the preacher.

Stuart Cook Missionary

Stuart D. Cook, missionary from Johannesburg, South Africa, will be the guest speaker at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hi-Land Christian Church, 1615 N. Banks, according to an announcement by Gene Segroves, minister of the local church.

Cook is currently on a nationwide speaking tour of Christian churches in preparation for an extensive evangelistic crusade in Johannesburg this fall. The public is invited to hear this presentation concerning the controversial country of South Africa.

Amarillo Minister To Preach Sunday For Presbyterians

The Rev. A. J. McConnell of Amarillo will preach at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services at First Presbyterian Church Sunday. For his sermon topic, "Stewards of Manifest Grace," he will use the Fourth chapter of Peter's first letter as sermon text.

The Rev. McConnell is a retired Presbyterian minister and has served as pastor in Indiana, Ohio, Iowa and Illinois Presbyteries.

A native of Xenia, Ohio, he is a graduate of Muskingum College and Xenia-Pittsburg Seminary. The Wednesday Bible Study group will meet at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. A. D. Hill, 1911 N. Russell. The Thursday Bible study group will meet at 7:30 a.m. in the Youth Lounge of First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Duke To Preach In Berger

The Rev. J. W. Duke, First Christian Church pastor here, will be guest minister Sunday at the First Christian Church in Berger, since the minister there, the Rev. Ken Jones, is recovering from a heart attack he suffered in Santa Fe, N.M.

The Rev. Charles M. Grow, associate minister of First Christian Church here, will preach in the morning service in Pampa on the topic, "World Without Christ." Text for his sermon is John 8:66-68.

The Pampa Chl Rho youth group will not meet Sunday because 12 of the Junior High Group are going to Ceta Glen Christian Camp with the Rev. Grow as sponsor.

No Sunday night services will be held at the Pampa church until Sept. 3.

Church Members Sponsor Summer Bible Classes

First Baptist Church Vacation Bible School commencement exercises will start at 7 p.m. today at the church. Guests and parents of children in the school are invited to view the VBS projects.

The school started Monday with 111 attending the first day. Principal of the Bible school is Ruthie Giesler. The Rev. Murie Rogers told the character story to junior aged children after opening exercises Monday.

During the week, daily programs included recitation of the call to worship, motto and pledge allegiances to the American flag, Christian flag and the Bible.

Today at noon, Bible school directors planned a picnic in a Pampa park.

Rev. Dan Cameron To Preach Sunday At First Baptist

The Rev. Dan B. Cameron, First Baptist Church pastor, will preach for the 11 a.m. services on the subject, "Two Mule-Loads of Dirt."

The Chancel Choir will sing a special arrangement of "We are Marching to Zion" by Waring, Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "A Time of Worship" by Sandon for the offertory.

After Training Union meets at 8 p.m., the congregation will attend the Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ with Bill Glass at the Harvester Stadium at 8 p.m.

"Man in the Fifth Dimension," a Billy Graham film, will be shown at the 10:45 a.m. service at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. The public is invited to this premiere showing of this film in this area.

A food converter unit has meat grinder and ice crusher attachments. Additional available accessories include a salad maker, can opener and knife sharpener.

PLAY FAIR

Football is like life -- not everyone plays fair.

I have found that I must play fair with myself, with others, and with God. This is the only way to win in life. I chose to play fair with God when I got on the team of His Son, Jesus Christ. You may say, "Boy, is that different -- a pro football player and yet an outspoken Christian."

I make no apology for being a Christian. I have found that playing fair in life means facing up to God and His claims on me.

When did all this begin with you? When did you first choose to play on this team, Bill?

Well, it all started with me when I was about sixteen. I came face to face with one whom I could not sidestep. He said to me.

"I am the way, the truth, and the life. No man cometh unto the Father except by me."

I knew then that the fame was already lost if I didn't meet this challenge.

I began to play fair with God when I accepted His Son as the Lord of my life. Then it was that God put meaning and purchase into my life. I had experienced the popular philosophy which says that life has no meaning. Jesus Christ came to say, the opposite of this. He says there is great meaning, there is great purpose in life. God rescued my life from meaninglessness by giving me a task.

Clay Leaves Ring for While

DETROIT (UPI) — Cassius Clay, the unbeaten champion without a title, said goodbye to boxing Thursday night for at least a couple months—maybe for a couple years.

"There are other things I have to do—more important things," Clay said. "I have to study for my ministry and I have a lot of invitations for speaking engagements."

One invitation he didn't mention was the one coming up Monday in Houston, Texas. He goes to federal court there because he refused to enter the U.S. Army on the grounds of being a conscientious objector.

Clay, who prefers his Muslim name, Muhammad Ali, toyed with a popular young Detroit fighter—Alvin "Blue" Lewis—and another unknown—Orvil Qualls of Chicago—for three rounds each Thursday night in his final fight for what he says will be some time.

Even Fleckman Surprised

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (UPI)—The amateurs, in the person of an ice-cold young Texan named Marty Fleckman, who has played in several Top of Texas tournaments, have had their amazing day and now Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and their fellow pros are expected to take over the U.S. Open golf championship.

Even the 23-year-old Fleckman, who isn't sure he wants to be a golf pro, was surprised to find himself leading the field into the open's second round with a 67 that gave him a two-stroke margin.

"I expect my dad is going to ask me when I will start playing my regular game and shoot 80," said Fleckman, the first amateur to lead at any stage in a U.S. Open since Billy Joe Patton led the first round in 1954. No amateur has won since Johnny Goodman in 1933.

Hammering hard on Fleckman's heels were 1966 champion Casper and 1966 runner-up Palmer and five other pros tied with them at one-under-par 69—Chi Chi Rodriguez, Gary Player, Deane Beman, Don January, and 43-year-old Art Wall.

At 70, only three strokes back of the amateur leader, were five more pros—Kel Nagle, George Archer, Davie Marr, Gardner Dickinson, and 57-year-old wonder E. J. (Dutch) Harrison.

Just about all the spectators lining the 7,015 yards of the Baltusrol golf course will be surprised if most of all these stars don't catch young Fleckman before the day is over.

But first, of course, they'll have to do it—and Fleckman, a student of one-time golfing great Byron Nelson, isn't about to give up on himself any more than Nelson ever did.

Surprised But Confident
Admitting that he was surprised to be out front, the calm young Port Arthur, Tex., amateur went on to add that he is "very confident."

"I'll just tee it up today and play the best I can," said the young man, whose chief claims to golfing fame before Thursday were victory in the N.C.A.A. college championship in 1965 for the University of Houston and membership on this year's winning U.S. Walker Cup team.

Casper, as quietly competent as ever, was in fine position to defend his title after the first round—and might have been all alone in second place but for an incident that occurred on the final green although he himself refused to use it as an alibi.

The champion laced a three-wood second shot within 16 feet of the cup on the 542-yard, par-five 18th hole and was putting for an eagle that would have given him a 68. Twice he lined up the putt, and twice he straightened up and walked away to look at some television cameramen who were talking and moving equipment nearby. He then 3-putted.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Wynn Wins for Houston

By United Press International
Houston Jimmy Wynn is nearly halfway to his seasonal goal thanks largely to the fund raising efforts of the San Francisco Giants.

The 25-year-old outfielder, sidelined a good part of last season with a broken wrist, set his sights on 30 home runs and 100 runs batted in this spring and with the midyear All-Star break still four weeks away, he is almost halfway to those totals.

Wynn, on a hitting rampage of late, has found the Giants pitching especially to his liking. He blasted a three-run homer to beat the Giants Tuesday night and enjoyed the best game of his career Thursday night when he hit three consecutive runs to help the Astros to a 6-2 victory over San Francisco.

The three-homer outburst boosted Wynn's total for the season to 14 and his three runs batted in lifted his total to 43, third best in the league. The homers also raised his total to five off giant pitching this year and enabled him to become the first man ever to hit consecutive homers in the Astrodome.

Wynn, who was well on his way to a big season last year before breaking his wrist, now has hit six homers in the last seven games.

In other NL action, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 4-1 before bowing 5-2 in a two-night double header and Los Angeles blanked Chicago 5-0 in an afternoon game.

Minnesota beat Detroit 6-4, Kansas City edged Baltimore 6-5 in 11 innings, Boston topped Chicago 2-1 in 11 innings and New York shut out Washington 2-0 in American League games.

Wynn's hitting made things easy for southpaw Mike Cuellar to notch his eighth victory against two losses. Cuellar, who now has won six in a row, scattered eight hits and struck out 10. Bob Bolin suffered the loss.

Richie Allen drove in three runs with a single and two-run homer while helping surprise starter Dick Hall to a victory in the Phillies' opening game triumph.

Hall, given his first starting assignment since 1963 at Baltimore when scheduled hurler Jim Hunning was taken to the hospital with a case of bronchitis, surrendered a run on three singles in the first inning but blanked the Pirates on six hits the rest of the way.

The Pirates scored all their runs in the first inning of the nightcap as they chased southpaw Dick Ellsworth. Winning pitcher Steve Blass and Donn Clendenon contributed two-run singles to the rally. Blass went the distance for the first time this year, allowing seven hits, including a homer by Clay Dalrymple.

Wes Parker's two-run homer and a solo blast by Ron Hunt highlighted a four-run seventh inning that carried the Dodgers to their second consecutive victory after eight straight setbacks.

Left-hander Jim Brewer, whose stiff elbow forced him to retire after five innings, combined with Don Sutton to set the Cubs down on four hits. Brewer, who gained his second victory in three decisions, also contributed a run-scoring double to the Dodger attack.

CONCENTRATION has always been the key to golf success for Ben Hogan, who is after his fifth United States Open championship this weekend. Bantam Ben, now 54, still shows his intensity while belting a practice tee shot at New Jersey's Baltusrol Golf Club, scene of the Open.

THE LONGEST NIGHT game in major league baseball history ended on this play, seen by very few fans in Washington's stadium. It was almost three in the morning June 13—6 hours, 38 minutes after the game began—when Paul Casanova singled to end the misery and give the Senators a 6-5 victory over Chicago in the 22nd inning.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Stanky Gets Bad Protection

Eddie Stanky received the protection he demanded from the Boston fans but nobody was able to save him from Tony Conigliaro.

Four ushers and two policemen were assigned to protect the brash, outspoken Chicago manager during Thursday night's game after he had labelled the Red Sox fans as "bush" and threatened to instigate a $3 million law suit for "inadequate protection" at Fenway Park.

As it turned out, however, the only one who needed protection was Conigliaro, who was nearly torn apart by his exuberant teammates after he drove a two-out, two-run homer into the left field screen in the 11th inning to present Boston with a 2-1 victory over the White Sox.

Stanky wasn't even around to see the dramatic blow, which touched off a wild celebration on the field and in the clubhouse by the suddenly spirited Sox.

The Chicago skipper had been ejected for the second successive evening in the 10th inning vehemently protesting a swing ing strike to Dick Kenworthy with runners on first and second.

after the Phillies had won the New York blanked Washington 2-0 and Kansas City edged Baltimore 6-5 in 11 innings and the only other night games on the American League schedule. Minnesota defeated Detroit 6-4 in daytime action.

In an abbreviated National League schedule, Jimmy Wynn's three consecutive home runs powered Houston to a 6-2 triumph over San Francisco. Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 5-2 after the Phillies had won the opener of a two-night doubleheader 4-1 and Los Angeles shut out Chicago 3-0.

Only hours earlier, Stanky said he had instructed his wife to sue Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey, the American League, and Player Association president Marvin Miller for $1 million apiece "if I am killed or maimed." That was in reference to an incident during Wednesday night's two-night doubleheader in which he was bombarded with debris by several unruly fans around the dugout.

"I might have been killed or maimed because of the inadequate protection here," he commented. "Mr. Yawkey thinks more of the deer and the pheasants on his farm in Carolina than he does of human flesh here on his ball field."

Mickey Mantle hit a towering, 462-foot homer, his 13th of the season and the 509th of his career, in the sixth inning and set up an insurance run in the ninth with a double as the Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre posted his fourth shutout of the season. Stottlemyre limited the Senators to five hits.

Rookie Reggie Jackson singled home John Donaldson, who had opened the inning with a triple, in the 11th as Kansas City handed the world champion Orioles their third successive defeat. Jackson previously had doubled home a run in the A's five-run eighth inning which wiped out a 5-0 Baltimore lead.

Harmon Killebrew's 17th home run featured a four-run seventh inning rally by the Twins that overcame a 3-2 Detroit advantage. Killebrew's blast followed a single by Rod Carew, who extended his hitting streak to 14 games. Ron Kline notched his third victory in relief while Tiger relief ace Fred Gladding was charged with the loss.

By United Press International. CARDIFF, Wales (UPI)—Vicente Saldivar, 125½, Mexico, outpointed Howard Winstone, 125, Wales (15)—(Retains world featherweight title).

Greene Equals 100 Dash Record

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—The big name stars lived up to expectations but it was confident Charlie Greene of Nebraska who was getting most of the praise today as the NCAA track and field championships moved into the second round.

Greene provided the biggest thrill of the opening round Thursday night by equalling the world record in the 100 yard dash with a clocking of :09.1.

His effort capped a great evening for sprinters in Brigham Young University Stadium as they took the play away from the more heralded distance and weight men.

An opening night crowd of 7,900 fans sat in 56 degree weather to watch Greene tie the mark held jointly by Bob Hayes, Jim Hines and Harry Jerome.

San Jose speedster Tommie Smith, shotput superman Randy Matson and lanky Jim Ryun, the great miler from Kansas, all qualified for the finals with a minimum of difficulty.

Spith, who elected to run in only one event, ran the 220 in :20.2 for a new NCAA meet record. The old NCAA mark of :20.5 was held by Henry Carr of Arizona State and Bob Yages of Florida A. and M.

Houston, A-St. To Try Again

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Cougars of the University of Houston tangle with the Sun Devils of Arizona State tonight in a do-or-die battle for the Houston squad in the 21st annual NCAA College World Series.

If the Cougars lose, they will be out of the double elimination tournament. The field was cut to three teams Thursday night when Stanford got past a stubborn Auburn team, 4-3, in a rain-abbreviated game.

Arizona State, which beat Stanford, 5-3, Wednesday night, is the only unbeaten club left from the eight teams which started the series Monday.

The game between Stanford and Auburn had to be called with one out in the top of the eighth when a heavy rain halted action.

The Houston-Arizona State game, originally slated for Thursday night, had to be postponed until this evening.

Stanford, a pre-tourney favorite to emerge as champion, capitalized on two Houston walks and three errors during a four-run fourth inning against Auburn.

The only hit in the inning was a two-run single by Jeff Rohlfing.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Down to Earth, You Rebels

A recent report of the American Medical Association states that the majority of drug abusers in this country are young people under the age of 30.

Coincidentally, but not accidentally, one of the slogans of these young people is, "You can't trust anyone over 30."

Even if we view the thing in the best possible light—change the word "abusers" to "experimenters" and grant that the younger generation has good reason to be dissatisfied with the world they are scheduled to inherit—much of the youth protest movement is basically self-defeating.

Short of killing themselves or wrecking their minds—as some of them are doing—today's youths will survive the all-too-fleeting years of their 20's and wake up one day to find themselves in the not-to-be-trusted category. What will their slogan be then?

Neither can the social rebels reject the present world and build the brave, new and beautiful world they talk so much about strictly from scratch. "No one," says Dr. John A. Logan Jr., president of Hollins College, "can live without a knowledge of history in the broadest sense unless he is prepared to repeat all the mistakes of the past."

"No one can live entirely by reference to present problems and concerns. Perspective is everything."

We can't know where we are going without a knowledge of the probable consequences of our acts, and only some reference to the accumulated experiences of mankind can provide that knowledge.

The hippies, the acid-heads, the grass-smokers—lotus-eaters all—say they are involved in a search for their "real selves." But, says Logan, each of us needs to answer not only the question, "Who am I?" But also, "Where am I?"

We all live at a certain point in an evolving continuum of time. No quest for personal values can be successful except by reference to where our present standards came from and how and why they developed as they did.

"St. Paul is as relevant as Sartre, and Thomas Jefferson has at least as much to tell us about our society as Ayn Rand," Logan says.

Fortunately, the under-30's can't stop the calendar. It is to be hoped that the inevitable passing of time will bring them not only age and cooling passions but the wisdom to enable them to reëtte their youthful dreams to the world as it is, and perhaps change it for the better.

A grasp and application of, not meaningless slogans, but enduring principles, is needed.

Time for Honeymoon to End

In view of the propaganda defeat suffered last year, we rather suspect that the omnipotent ones of Foggy Bottom On the Potomac would like to let the matter quietly subside. We believe, on the other hand, that those responsible for the sneak attack on chain stores and supermarkets last fall should eat their full share of crow.

It is now a matter of almost general knowledge that holding retail merchants, or any other segment of the market place, responsible for rising prices is something like saying wet streets cause rain.

Last year's consumer strikes against food distributors were the result of factors over which retailers have no more control than they have over the weather. The retail distribution system of the United States, especially the chain retailing organizations, operate under a merchandising philosophy that is the logical counterpart of mass production. That philosophy is simple. It rests on the premise of moving the largest volume of goods possible at minimum prices.

The chain stores led the way in developing the distribution system that grew out of this philosophy. The result is that consumers in the United States pay smaller percentages of virtually incomes for food than virtually any other country in the world. In reality, the consumer strikes marked the opening of a new era.

As a spokesman for the food retailers observed: "It is sobering to realize that the total world food production in 1965 was about the same as it was in 1964. But in 1965 there were 63 million more mouths to feed than there were the year before. . . American consumers have grown accustomed to low food prices based upon surpluses that are simply no longer with us. The honeymoon is over."

Government induced inflation and "Foreign Aid" induced food shortages in other parts of the world have had their inevitable effect on prices. The best hope of American producers and consumers lies in strengthening our mass-production and mass-distribution system—as well as the free market in which they both operate.

Yes, the false honeymoon of government subsidized food surpluses is over. Due, also, for an abrupt termination is the honeymoon between business and bureaucracy. When someone has announced his intention of cutting your throat, it takes a fool indeed to hand him a knife.

Safety On The Rails

During the long controversy over featherbedding in the railroad industry, one of the main arguments of those opposed to the gradual elimination of make work jobs was based on the question of safety. Every effort was made to convince the public that lives would be lost if firemen were removed from freight and yard locomotives. Under the aegis of regulatory approval, work rules were changed and firemen, with no fuel to handle, are gradually being displaced with a minimum of dislocation and hardship.

Featherbedding and safety are proving to be wholly unrelated. Safety data on the railroads released by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the first 8 months of 1966 show that casualties to employees on duty is continuing its downswing even though the tempo of operations has been steadily increasing. Such casualties were down 4.7 per cent from the same period in 1965 and 10.7 per cent from 1964. Reduction of fatalities to employees on duty was even greater than the reduction in total casualties. In the first 8 months last year, there were

Can't We Find This Girl a Safer Home?

ROSS LEVINS, THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

Question Box

QUESTION: What is the real meaning of education? . . . of instruction or training?

ANSWER: Education includes some training and instruction, but training and instruction does not produce an educated person. An educated person must be instructed to some extent, but it is not rational to say that an instructed or trained person is an educated one. An educated person, as Plato says, is one who always tends to see things as they are. . . the one who never permits his views to be directed by the conventional; by hope or advantage; by arbitrary authoritarianism. He allows the current of his conscience to flow in perfect freedom over any object that may be presented, uncontrolled by prejudice or a prepossession formula. Thus, we may say that there are certain integrities at the root of intelligence, which are highlighted by moral as well as intellectual attributes.

One person may instruct or train another, but he cannot educate another person. All the teacher can do is to stimulate the other to have an intelligent curiosity and the desire to continue to understand more of the moral and natural laws. And as Albert Schweitzer said, there are three ways of accomplishing things—one is by force; another is by logic (and very few people are logical); and more people are influenced by the third example. The best the teacher can do is to be a student himself and be always trying to learn and set a good example for the pupils. If the teacher has no will to learn and to grow and develop, he cannot be of much use to a student. Ernest Renan, a French author and critic, said that "countries which, like the United States, have set up a considerable popular instruction without any serious higher education, will long have to expiate their error by their intellectual mediocrity, their superficial spirit, their failure in general intelligence."

Albert Jay Nock remarked, "This is very hard language, and I do not propose, for the moment that we should undertake to say how far its severity may be fairly regarded as justifiable. It may, however, ask you to notice two things; first, the distinction which M. Renan draws between instruction and education, and second, his use of the word intelligence. So in gradually building up an expression of our idea of education, we find the distinction drawn by M. Renan especially useful. Perhaps we are not fully aware of the extent to which instruction and education are accepted as being essentially the same thing. I think you would find, if you looked into it, 11.3 per cent less employee fatalities than in the same periods of 1965 and 1964.

A spokesman for the rails notes, "Job safety on the railroads for employees at work is growing better every day. . . the presence or absence of a fireman has nothing whatever to do with the safety of train operation. . . And, as far as passenger safety is concerned, there are fewer safer places on earth than a seat in a train.

for instance, that all the formal qualifications for a teacher's position rest on this understanding. A candidate is certificated—is he not?—merely as having been exposed satisfactorily to a certain length of instruction for a certain length of time, and therefore he is assumed eligible to a position which we all agree that only an educated person should fill. Yet he may not be at all an educated person, but only an instructed person. There is a great difference between instruction and education. An instructed person may have no integrity, but an educated person has integrity. He sees that stealing as an individual or group or government, is harmful to all in the long run.

DO CHILDREN HAVE RIGHTS? Recently I was explaining to an acquaintance that my children are being taught to respect the principles of private ownership of property. I told him that in our home everything is owned by a particular person. Nothing is owned collectively, by "the family." In this way we are able to demonstrate the rights of ownership: only the owner may decide how his property will be used, consumed, or destroyed. The children each own their toys, of course, and my husband and I are careful never to violate their complete autonomy in this area.

Somewhat skeptical, my acquaintance challenged me to explain what I would do in a "problem" situation, which he posed as follows:

What if the child owned a toy hatchet and wanted to use it to chop up my living room table? If I stopped him, wouldn't I be limiting his property right to use his hatchet as he saw fit? Wouldn't I be curtailing his freedom? How would I prevent him from damaging my table without violating his property right? What would I do?

My answer? Well, I can state with assurance that I WOULD NOT take away the child's hatchet. The hatchet in his and that cannot change. But I won't let him bring it into my living room until he offers me some assurance that my property is in no danger from him. The living room and everything in it belongs to me. I don't impinge upon his freedom when I protect my own property, because he has no right to use HIS hatchet to destroy MY table.

And I made this observation: senseless destruction is not engaged in by people who respect their own property, and expect others to do the same.

A child first views himself through his parents' eyes. If they communicate to him that he is a valuable human being whom they respect, he will begin to value and respect himself. He will look upon himself

Lion is a Pussycat Without Its Teeth

Colin Wilson, author of "The Outsider," was proclaiming the other day that among animals and men a 5 per cent group was dominant. In every stratum of jungle and human society, these were the leaders.

No U. S. prisoners captured by Chinese during the Korean war escaped, he said, even though they were not under heavy guard. Why? Because the Chinese, after careful scrutiny, determined which were the leaders, and these were separated from the rest and placed under maximum security. The docile rest were free to roam, but without leaders were content to remain where they were, causing little trouble for their captors.

Wilson was alluding mostly to dominance of mind; a determination, a strength, that the few have to assume control, to lead, to push ahead. Of course, many characteristics, physical and mental, often conflicting, produce such a person or animal.

But one characteristic of the dominants have: TEETH. Why is the lion king of beasts? It has to be his teeth. He has the biggest teeth and most powerful jaws in the jungle. How far do you think he'd get with out those long, pointed, fearful teeth? He'd just be a pussycat. Could there have been a Hitler with false teeth? Is it possible that he could have shaken the world if he wore artificial dentures? Even if he used epoxy to glue them in place they couldn't have withstood the wild, screaming harangues which were so much a part of his scare technique.

It's difficult to imagine any master criminal with false teeth. Recently it was reported by the N.Y. Times that Joseph (Joe Banana) Bonano was restored to leadership of Cosa Nostra. Do you think for one minute that Bonano puts his teeth in a glass of water when he goes to bed at night? Henry the Eighth, master gourmand of history, could never have built his undying reputation with toothless mien.

George Washington is the classic exception to this reasoning. According to reports he couldn't wear any number of false teeth that were made for him. Yet he continued to be a power without teeth. It must have been because he was the father of our country and in those days fathers had recognized, unchallenged authority. The obvious lesson in all this is that if you want to be a leader, preserve your natural teeth. Brush them three times a day like the top man in the Cosa Nostra and see your dentist twice a year.

As a good person. If his parents show him no respect he'll get the idea that he doesn't deserve their respect. And when they violate his right to his property, they teach him that respect for ownership is not important, or even desirable.

By refusing to violate my child's property right, I have used the most effective teaching method—that of example.

Sensing The News

By THURMAN SENSING
Swimming in Red Ink

When 1967 began, economists thought the national economic situation had a dangerous pallor. Now the pallor has deepened, and the patient seems in real trouble. Unless the right medicine is given, the United States could face a terrible economic illness in the next fiscal year—the worst case of "deficititis" since the end of World War II.

The new year began with President Lyndon Johnson's estimate of an $8 billion deficit in the fiscal year commencing July 1. In recent days, however, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler gave a $11 billion forecast for the deficit when he asked Congress to hike the debt ceiling to $365 billion.

Mr. Fowler's forecast is based on the assumption that business activity will accelerate rapidly and that the Congress will approve the six per cent tax surcharge sought by the President.

The calculations of the Secretary of the Treasury could prove to be overly optimistic. Some economic observers are of the view that the deficit could pass the $20 billion mark. If this stupendous deficit develops, the American people will really feel its impact in terms of runaway inflation, tight money, whopping taxes, and, in all likelihood, unwelcome price and wage controls.

"Doves" in the country are quick to blame the war in Vietnam for the deficit. Certainly, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made poor calculations as to the cost of the war. He grossly underestimated the expenditures required—hardly the kind of performance one expects of an official described as a human computer. But defense spending is not the villain. After all, expenditures for national defense are necessary expenditures for the safety and survival of the American people. Americans are ready to double defense spending if the security of the Republic is at stake.

The fact is that in recent years non-defense spending has climbed faster than defense spending. Six years ago, spending on defense amounted to $44.7 billion. In the current fiscal year, defense spending totals $68.7 billion, or an increase of 54 per cent.

But consider the other side of the picture. In 1961, non-defense spending was $36.8 billion. Today it totals $58.7 billion, or a rise of 59 per cent.

In May, moreover, President Johnson pledged to carry on the Great Society's lavish programs and to augment them. He refused to cut back on the wasteful War on Poverty, which hasn't helped the poor. By promoting the Great Society at this time, he apparently hopes to regain favor with radical groups such as Americans for Democratic Action, which have condemned the effort in Vietnam.

Mr. Johnson refuses to make a gun or butter choice. He intends to buy the gun, but he also intends to give away a lot of the highest grade butter—in the form of welfare subsidies of one kind or another. He gives "renticare" and "headstart" programs high priority, despite the pressing need for cutbacks in this area in order to assure adequate funds for defense and stability in the national economy. The Office of Economic Opportunity is screaming for more money to spend in the nation's big cities this summer—a form of federal tribute designed to appease protest groups.

Unquestionably, the American economy is very strong and sound. The U. S. potential for strengthening free enterprise is a modern miracle. New ideas and hard work by skilled managers and employees result in new processes, new services and new goods. But even the strongest economy cannot withstand irresponsible spending.

If war imposes a strain, then it is essential to remove other strains—such as the federal government's commitment to welfareism.

If President Johnson refuses to acknowledge this economic fact of life, he will have the American people swimming in red ink by the time he ends his term in office. Overspending on welfareism is what has wrecked Britain. The U.S. should take note of this horrible example and turn away from the brink.

Reductions in non-essential spending have never been more essential. A moving-picture actress has had her legs insured for a million dollars. To the film star, of course, this is mere pin money.

Arabs Feel Soviets Reneged With Their 'Footsie' Game

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Moscow may have overplayed its hand in the Middle East war.

Instead of increasing its influence, the Soviet Union may show up as a paper tiger. Things don't appear that way now.

Arab countries are taking over American, British and other oil interests. Some have asserted they will not ship oil to the West.

Rock-throwing Arabs have marched on U.S. embassies, consulates or libraries in Lebanon, Syria, Tunisia and Egypt.

The Arabs speak of the Soviet Union as their great protector and friend. Several Arab nations have cut diplomatic relations with the United States.

So it would look as though the Soviet Union were riding high regardless of the turn of the war.

Now comes the reckoning. The Soviet Union supplied the Arabs with arms and promised economic help. It encouraged the Arabs with statements.

But the Israelis are winning. Arabs need planes, tanks, other weapons and military advisers and some sort of Russian action or Russian "volunteers" to stem the tide. The Russians are in no position to deliver.

The Egyptians need food in this crisis. The Russians don't have the food to spare, except in token amounts.

As things already stood before the Egyptian-Israeli war, the Russians, as well as the Red Chinese, were suffering a serious loss of face because of their inability to come effectively to Ho Chi Minh's rescue in Vietnam.

Moscow apparently believed a Middle East crisis—or war—would take some of the heat off Ho in Southeast Asia. It hasn't had a chance to.

Reports in scattered countries around the world indicate that local Communists and other Russian "allies" are beginning to lose faith in the Russians as well as the Red Chinese as "protectors."

Partly, this is because Russia and Red China didn't come through sufficiently in the Congo and other African battles or in Vietnam. Partly, it's because of the weaknesses exposed.

In many countries our embassies are only a stone's throw from the people.

Episcopalian Bishop Wants One Authority

Religion in America
By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International
Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers of San Francisco was speaking for a rather small minority when he called upon Anglicans and Protestants to acknowledge the Pope as "the holy father in God of the universal church."

Bishop Myers made his startling ecumenical proposal last Sunday in a sermon preached before an overflow congregation in San Francisco's Grace Cathedral. In a troubled and war-torn world, he said, Christians urgently need one leader "who can speak and witness to the whole human race" as "chief pastor of the Christian family."

The sermon made newspaper headlines across the country. But that's about as far as it's likely to go, at least for the present.

It is generally agreed among those closest to the ecumenical movement—Catholics as well as Protestants—that the time is not yet here, nor even distant in sight, when the papacy can become a rallying point for Christian unity.

VI in a talk before the Secretariat of Christian Unity in Rome last month. The Pope said, ruefully, that the papacy today is clearly "the gravest obstacle in the path of ecumenism."

Some Protestants, and many Anglicans and Eastern Orthodox Christians, have indicated in unity discussions their willingness to accord the Pope a "primacy of honor" in recognition of the historic importance of the Roman See. But they have made clear that accepting the bishop of Rome as "first among equals" does not imply a readiness to acknowledge his authoritative jurisdiction over the whole church.

Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, Presbyterian theologian who served as a Protestant observer at the Vatican Council, said recently that "the fundamental hard-core problem" is the Catholic claim that the Pope is infallible on matters of faith and morals.

A radical departure from the miniature watches popular with women for many years is this bold design with a large, engraved bracelet.

Switzerland is virtually synonymous with watches. Not only does the Alpine country sell its own timepieces throughout the world, its design innovations influence the products of other countries. High point of the Swiss watch year is the International Watch and Jewelry Salon showing. These award winners from this year's show at Zurich may be the new international pace setters.

First prize winner was the men's gold "integral" design above, with watch and bracelet joined. Squares of suede fill spaces between the gold links of the men's watch below. Four panels over the watch itself are of quartz.

The unusually long case of this narrow, curved men's watch is intended to ensure a perfect fit on the wrist. The yellow gold case is engraved.

Spencer Tracy Is Remembered As An Actor Without a Peer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Spencer Tracy. He avoided even discussing acting. He felt he never really mastered it himself.

Thought more honors were bestowed upon him than a ny actor of his time—two Oscars, eight nominations—he seldom attended the awards. He was unlike the Richard Burtons, Frank Sinatras and Marjorie Brandos of stage and screen.

He did not discuss his long and tender relationship with Katharine Hepburn. Many Hollywood historians consider their friendship of 25 years one of the great untold romances. But respect and affection of friends stifled gossip from public scrutiny.

As one of the last newsmen to talk to Tracy two months ago on the set of his final picture, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," I sat and talked with both of them. Miss Hepburn's admiration was beautiful to see.

"He is the best actor I have ever seen or worked with," she said. "I'm still learning things from Spencer."

Tracy grumbled at her affectionately and said, "She doesn't know what she is talking about."

Tracy was that sort of man. His presence inspired awe. Yet he would crinkle that marvelously mobile face into a laugh or a scowl, proof that he, at least, did not take himself seriously. Tracy was no angel. For a time he was a twofisted drinker who could drink with the best. But he never made a public display of himself.

Most of all, Spencer Tracy was a warm, gracious man who will be remembered by those who knew him even as superficially as I, as an actor without peer and a man who enriched those of our lives he touched.

He despised interviews. But if they helped promote the movie—not himself—then he would suffer through them.

I was ill once during an interview and Tracy was far more interested in the nature of my illness than anything he could say about himself. It was typical. Tracy disliked discuss-

The Lighter Side

United Press International... WASHINGTON (UPI) — My wife and children went south leaving me in the footloose and fancy free role of the summer bachelor.

I believe that in a situation such as this, a man owes it to his family to kick up his heels a bit. Sow a few wild oats. Get it all out of his system, so to speak.

For about a week I set a mad pace, going out to movies or baseball games almost every evening. Finally a friend brought me to my senses.

"You've got to get a grip on yourself," he warned. "Otherwise you'll keep sinking lower into debauchery until eventually you'll be sneaking around letting air out of tires and stuff like that."

I realized then that I was on the brink of perdition, being by nature hot-blooded and given to wild impulses, I had let my baser self get out of hand.

For the next couple of evenings I stayed at home and watered the geraniums. I was the picture of middle class, middle class, suburban, head-of-the-family, PTA-going respectability.

Then one night the moon turned red and I found myself out of control again. I don't know yet what came over me but I was suddenly seized by an overpowering desire to become a vegetarian.

Something like that is impossible to analyze. Man and boy, I suppose I have eaten more different kinds of animal flesh than almost any man or boy you might mention.

I have eaten roast elephant and hippo, fried rattlesnake broiled seal flippers, among other things. What is more, I enjoyed them all. So obviously I was not rebelling against meat. Probably the best guess is that I was rebelling against middle age, middle class, suburban, head-of-the-family, PTA-going respectability.

Anyway, my friends and neighbors were shocked beyond measure by my plunge into vegetarianism.

Friends and neighbors will forgive you if you quit smoking, although they may keep changing the subject. They will even forgive you if you quit drinking, although they may not ask you to any more parties.

But I soon found that if you quit eating meat, you are real ly ready for expulsion.

By RAY F. HERNDON
United Press International
KUALA LUMPUR (UPI)—Malaysia and the United States see eye-to-eye on practically everything from containment of Communist China to prosecution of the Vietnam war. But their romance is on the rocks over rubber.

Malaysians feel, rightly or wrongly, that the United States is hitting them where it hurts the most—in the pocket. According to some Malaysian estimates, U.S. policy hurt them in the amount of 92 million Malaysian dollars (U.S. $30.7 million) over the past year.

Natural rubber is the life blood of Malaysia, accounting for 40 per cent of the nation's income. With annual production running over one million tons, a drop of just one Malaysian cent (one-third of a U.S. cent) per pound costs the young southeast Asian federation about $6.4 million a year.

The unpalatable fact for Malaysians is that the average price of first grade rubber has fallen more than 12.5 Malaysian cents per pound over the past year. And rubber dealers are not predicting a comeback for years.

Unless there is a sharp rise in the natural rubber price, the same exports will earn $60 million less in 1967 than they would have at the price in early 1966.

How does the United States fit into the picture?

According to Malaysian Finance Minister Tan Siew Sin, the major reason has been American stockpile releases. Even though it is not a producing country, America's stockpile releases amount to roughly five per cent of the natural rubber available on the world market.

And while this is a small proportion, rubber producers point out that the U.S. stockpile sale of 157,000 tons in 1966 changed a natural shortage of 70,000 tons into an unnatural surplus of 87,500 tons on the world market.

Tan says he asked the United States to cut her stockpile releases by half but "the Americans have so far refused to make even this small gesture."

He rejects U.S. reasons for disposing of stockpile rubber: "The reason given—that they require the ready cash represented by rubber stockpile sales for the purpose of the war in Vietnam—does not stand up to close examination. This amount of rubber would bring in 30 million U.S. dollars... (which) would pay for about half a day's fighting in Vietnam."

TORNADO ALLEY

It is the name given a handful of Central Plains states, shown in black, where tornadoes are most common. But every state has felt the wrath of the deadly winds at some time. Last year, tornadoes also raked the shaded states while only seven—those in white along Alaska and Hawaii—were untouched. Figures indicate the number of tornado alerts posted in each state. The 579 tornadoes that actually struck during 1966 caused 100 deaths and a quarter-billion dollars in damage.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROL R. RIGHTER

FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 17
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful Saturday — both day and evening — for better with your associates and for making everything about you more attractive by adding some beauty, color or culture thereto and for what ever does require toning up and being made more attractive. Be romantic, happy.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — A time for working efficiently with associates at fascinating outlets. Reconciling with the opposition is a wise idea, also. You then gain their respect and become far more successful.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You are now able to make your surroundings as attractive as the Child of Venus really wants them to be. You deserve better than you have. A co-worker will be most anxious to assist you in this. Be happy.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Showing others that you are wise enough to make life of those you love more effective, happy, serves as an inspiration to them, also. Make new friends via the social or recreational channel. Strive for popularity you deserve.

NOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Look about your home and decide what should be done to make it more comfortable, clean and charming. There have nice persons in for dinner, and make a good impression. A good day to invite the boss in, too.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Morning is best for your shopping and getting other Saturday chores nicely handled and you then have time for being with children. Be somewhat dramatic in supporting allies. Please them no end.

VIRGO: (Aug. 24 to Sept. 22) — Plan how to increase income and discuss new ideas with an expert in hygiene. You can be far more successful than in the past. Repairing property now can save you much money in the days ahead.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Ideal day to make big strides along social lines, accomplish what has been impossible to you before this. You will be able to get support for some big project — you have in mind. Bigwig will be amenable to your suggestions.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Energetically get into personal duties that are important to you right now, as well as interesting. Plan your affairs so that you have greater happiness in days ahead. Be most romantic in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 31) — Comrades know what your greatest needs are and will gladly assist you in attaining your aims. Be willing to accept right favors. Good day to repay social obligations that have long been overdue.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Ideal day to get civic duties performed, as well as comb in contact with the industrial and then complete tasks at hand. Doing some favor for another will gain you backing. Be interested in their ambitions.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Doing something that will help new contact to warm up to you in good, as well as those whose ideas differ to yours. Some investigating into new philosophies may be very helpful, also. Make this a productive day.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Your hunches are precise now you can do much to get both personal and business affairs on a much better basis. Be resourceful. Be devoted to closest tie. This can bring harmony that was difficult before.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he, or she, will be such a delightful child that others will want to spoil your progeny, but teach early not to accept favors without showing gratitude and repay kindnesses in some ethical way, the others may not want it that way at all. Teach to be cooperative with fellow men and not be demanding. Then success is fine.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stanley Heller & Co. believes a looming market consolidation may prove a stumbling block for the popular indicators in establishing a new 1967 high. It feels, however, that new peaks will be hit by a rapidly expanding number of secondaries.

Wright Investors Service feels that high quality equities are likely to hold their value after a brief second half recovery in 1967.

E.F. Hutton & Co. feels a pause to consolidate some of the stock market's recent gains would not be surprising but they see no indications the current upswing has run its course.
