Johnson Meets Kosygin In Small New Jersey Town

Rusk, McNamara In President's Group

GLASSBORO, N. J. (UPI) — President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin arrived at this little-known New Jersey college town today for their "big tow" summit meeting.

It was the first personal meeting of the two chief leaders of the free and Communist worlds and the first between an American President and Soviet premier since 1961.

They stood ready to discuss a wide range of thorny issues such as the Middle East crisis, the Vietnam war, nuclear arms limitations and ways of easing East-West tensions.

Johnson arrived after a plane trip to Philadelphia and a helicopter flight to Glassboro—a sleepy town that suddenly found itself as the scene of headline news throughout the world.

Kosygin motored to the site from New York. Although neither Johnson nor Kosygin had ever met personally, they both had corresponded during the Middle East war crisis via the hotline connecting the White House and the Kremlin.

The site of the meeting, population 11,600, was chosen mainly because it lies almost exactly halfway between Washington and New York where Kosygin has been attending the U.N. General Assembly session.

It gave both sides a chance to meet in a surface spirit of compromise at least. The conference was being dubbed the "Hollybush Summit" by some newsmen because it was held in the venerable home of that name which is now the residence of the head of Glassboro State College.

Indicative of the suddenness of the arrangements was the fact that Hollybush was air-conditioned overnight for the summit.

The U.S. resolution calls for peace talks aided by a third party and placed no blame for this month's six-day war. Of the 24 nations which have so far spoken in the assembly, most sided with the Arabs and giving their support behind the Soviet resolution.

United Nations Members Await Summit Results
UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The Glassboro, N.J., summit conference today eclipsed the work of the United Nations General Assembly in debating the Middle East crisis.

Informed sources at the world organization said some important delegations were avoiding tipping their hand until they can evaluate the results of the summit meetings between President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

The summit also tied the hands of smaller powers trying to work out a compromise resolution between opposing draft resolutions presented by the Soviet Union, which seeks to condemn Israel, and the United States.

Sen. Dodd Wants Only 'To Get This Over With'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bitterly exhausted Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, wanting only "to get this over with," today prayed that the Senate censure or acquit him.

Buffeted into an almost trance-like state by eight days of debate, the silver-haired 60-year-old Connecticut Democrat appealed to his colleagues to cut through the "parliamentary spiderweb" and begin voting on his fate.

As the ninth day of debate opened on the historic censure resolution, the verdict was clear—censure for diverting at least $116,083 in campaign funds to his personal use, and either acquittal or a reprimand on charges that he double-billed on travel expenses.

The Senate signaled its decision Thursday when it rejected overwhelmingly a proposal to "reprimand" Dodd and spare him from censure, the strongest punishment it can inflict short of outright expulsion. The vote was 87 to 9.

Later, Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., one of those who voted for the reprimand amendment offered by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., announced that he would vote for censure.

Despite the Senate's plain intention to censure Dodd for diverting campaign funds to such purposes as paying back taxes, fixing up his home and giving a gift to his son, the Senate was much less sure on the double-billing charge.

It was considered certain that a move would be made, possibly by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., to scale down the punishment on the second charge. There was also a strong possibility that Dodd's backers would try to kill the double-billing charge completely.

Terror Squads Invade Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Police investigating a rising tide of Viet Cong murder, maiming and kidnaping said today Communist man-and-woman assassination teams may have been moved into Saigon.

A terrorist hurled a hand grenade Thursday night into a police prowl car in the Chinese quarter of Saigon, injuring 30 persons.

The attack followed by less than 24 hours the gunning down of an American Army sergeant in the same area. The sergeant survived—unlike four others slain in similar attacks by young girls with flowing black hair and snub-nosed pistols. In each case a man drove the motorcoter on which the girl killer rode.

At a hamlet northwest of Saigon, an eight-man Viet Cong terror squad broke in and kidnaped the local chief and his security deputy. When government troops arrived, they found the chief bound with wire and shot in the head and his deputy missing, spokesmen said.

The rising tide of terror followed a record week of Communist mayhem. Government spokesmen said that last week the terrorists killed 173 persons, injured 263 and kidnaped 74—the worst week of such activity this year.

The Communist terror—especially in the Saigon area mushroomed after American troops began last week storming into longtime guerrilla stronghold jungles in the capital area, hoping to wipe them out.

On the fighting fronts, U.S. spokesmen said American jet pilots flew 121 missions against North Vietnam's key roads, rail lines and industrial plants near Hanoi and Haiphong Thursday. The pilots reported raking two trains, 35 cars in all parked near the Kep MIG fighter base about 31 miles northeast of Hanoi. Their bombs did heavy damage, they said. The pilots also said they destroyed or damaged four road and rail bridges and four railroad yards.

One Navy A4 Skyhawk fell to Communist ground fire, spokesmen said. The pilot was listed as missing. It was the 289th American plane reported lost over the Communist country.

Another U.S. bombing target was the huge Nam Dinh thermal power plant 46 miles south-southeast of Hanoi. It furnished power for much of the war industry around the North Vietnamese capital. U.S. bombs earlier destroyed the plant. The Communists rebuilt it.

The bombers returned to the plant Thursday to start the cycle over.

House Panels Head for Clash On Riot Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two powerful House committees are headed for a showdown over anti-riot legislation aimed directly at black power advocate Stokely Carmichael.

The bill, which would make it a federal crime to travel around the country inciting riots, was approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee Thursday and attached to an administration civil rights bill.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said the full judiciary committee would take up the combined measure Tuesday.

But chairman William M. Colmer of the House Rules Committee said his panel will also meet Tuesday to attempt to yank a simple anti-riot bill from the judiciary committee.

Colmer was critical of the judiciary subcommittee's decision to tack the anti-riot bill onto a measure strengthening federal protection of certain civil rights.

"It appears that the object of all this is to prevent the enactment of any anti-riot legislation," the Mississippi Democrat said.

While the anti-riot bill itself has attracted fairly strong bipartisan support, Colmer said he feared a package bill including civil rights legislation might wind up the victim of a Senate filibuster.

Two-Car Accident Kills Borger Girl

A two-car accident on Texas Highway 152, 8.5 miles west of Pampa about 9:30 this morning resulted in the death of Gaye Laughlin, 14, of 506 Alabama. Borger, injured were Mrs. Joyce Laughlin, mother of the deceased, and Norman Davis of Lubbock. Mrs. Laughlin was transferred to Amarillo.

A one-car accident occurring shortly after near the place resulted in injury to John Kramer, 71.

While the anti-riot bill itself has attracted fairly strong bipartisan support, Colmer said he feared a package bill including civil rights legislation might wind up the victim of a Senate filibuster.

School Teaching Staff Integrated by Board; Carver Action Delayed

Integration of the Pampa school system's teaching staff with the beginning of the 1967-68 school year next September was unanimously approved at a special meeting of the school board last night.

The action was taken on a motion by board member Gene Steel, seconded by John Spearman.

The board further agreed to set next Jan. 1 as a deadline for a decision on whether to integrate pupils at the Carver all-Negro elementary school or abandon it completely.

Board action was taken at the end of more than one hour of discussion among about 40 members of a Negro and white audience assembled in the library of Pampa Junior High School.

It followed on the heels of a meeting nearly two weeks ago when representatives of the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare told the local board it was dragging its feet on integration and gave members 15 days to reach a decision on compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 or face loss of $250,000 a year in federal aid and possible prosecution for violation of the Civil Rights Act.

Spokesmen from the Negro community told board members last night they did not want Carver School done away with; that it was a community center and would be a great loss to the people there if it should be closed.

"We don't want Carver School closed," the Rev. L. B. Davis, pastor of the Progressive Baptist Church, said. "That is all we have down here. It is the pride of our community. You ought to take this up with those government men who came in here and told us what to do."

He listed transportation problems that would be imposed on working mothers in seeing their children get to and from school.

Early in the discussion, James N. Howard and Samuel D. Motley, representing members of the Negro community, handed a letter to school board president H. Creel Grady and superintendent of schools, Dr. John Damron, signed by "Interested Negro Citizens."

The letter, read by Howard, follows: "We feel that compliance with the integration order could and should be done without closing Carver School. We feel that the best course of action for all would be to integrate both faculty and student body at Carver."

"Here are some facts that should be considered: "1. A school is a community asset and closing the school would affect community spirit and subject the building to vandalism and deterioration. Since the building is in good repair, there is no reason why it should not continue to be used."

"2. The majority of the parents of Carver students are economically depressed and cannot afford transportation or lunch expenses and cannot qualify for bus service. This would contribute to poor attendance."

"3. The Negro community should not be a target for all the changes resulting from integration as has been the case in the past. We are all in this together."

"4. We feel that problems will be posed in the assignment of Negro personnel. Experience in other places has shown that Negro teachers are usually either given assignments for which they are not trained, outright fired, or given 'figure-head' positions. We feel that the Negro teachers are as qualified as any in the system, if not why were they hired?"

"5. We can see no difference in Negro teachers teaching white students than in white teachers teaching Negro students."

"In conclusion, we would like to express our support for compliance with the federal integration order and believe that total integration of schools and other facilities is an important step toward solution of the racial problem in our country. We feel that total integration at Carver is the most far-sighted approach."

Howard prefaced the reading of the letter by saying "Pampa has a reputation of which it can be proud. The progress of its desegregation. Working relationships between the races are good here. If we apply ourselves to this problem with the right attitude, we can maintain that good working relationship."

Howard emphasized in his opinion, the "suggestions" made by the HEW officials should be followed in total rather than step by step. "It will be no easier to do one year from now than it is right now in the meantime. You are subjecting yourselves to needless pressure by both races," he told the board.

The board's decision to integrate the teaching staff of the district, still leaves Carver a one-race school and also leaves the door open for another visit from federal officials next year.

One lone voice, that of Jack S. Skelley, asked the question, "What would happen if we turn down the proposals and refused the federal money?" He added, "The government was set up originally for the service of the community. . . for us to decide what we want for our tax dollar. This does not entitle the government to come in and tell us what to do. It is a servant of the people."

Grady answered, "We are not concerned with the federal funds in our decision. We are trying to decide what is the best thing to do for the schools and the community. We would still not be complying with the Title VI See SCHOOL, Page 3"

Eye Bank, Donors Conquer Blindness With Cooperation

By WANDA MAE HUFF News Staff Writer

Pampans and others who work with the Eye Bank Association of America have learned one pair of eyes, pledged before death to an eye bank, can help six blind persons see.

The national group is divided into five regions and was started about seven years ago with eight banks. Joe Tooley of Pampa is president of the South-Central region, number five, which includes 13 eye banks in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Utah.

Tooley is also past president of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank Inc., which works with the national association in restoration of human sight and eye research to prevent blindness. The Hi-Plains group is one of 13 eye banks in the south-central region, and was chartered in 1961.

"Main objectives of the 58 eye banks in America are to educate people into signing donor cards and to arrange transportation of donated eyes to eye banks where ophthalmologists perform surgery for blind recipients on our waiting lists," Tooley said.

Lions Clubs of District 27-I sponsor the Hi-Plains group, which has its offices in Amarillo. Lions Clubs sponsor the group in Texas, but in other states, other groups sponsor the

Trustees Parley Building Costs

In a second-phase session last night, school trustees studied preliminary cost estimates for proposed renovation and new construction at Pampa High School and Pampa Junior High School.

Construction plans under consideration for the high school include new additions to house a vocational department, science wing, band room and renovation of existing facilities in the school proper.

Trustees reached a stalemate in coming up with an estimated cost for fieldhouse dressing rooms, football field lighting and track facilities and asked for a conference with the architectural firm of Brasher, Goyette and Rapier to clarify cost estimates for these additions.

Lengthy discussion centered around the feasibility of renovating the existing Pampa Junior High School or constructing a new building. Trustees tabled a decision on which course to take pending further study of the proposals.

Star of "Darling" Says She Loathes Miniskirts

NEW YORK (NEA)—Ever since she received the Academy Award for "Darling," Julie Christie has been the idol of the young crowd.

Although she is in her 20s, she is one of the few motion picture stars who influence the way teen-agers dress.

A leader in the miniskirt brigade, she has no doubt been responsible for many a mini-purchase by her admirers. Yet Julie never claimed to like the little rags. Months ago she said that she wears them because she is conventional, a slave to fashion and if everyone else wears a thing, she does, too. And now she has decided that miniskirts are on the way out.

You don't exactly get this message from her appearance in a micro-skirt on this year's televised Academy Award program, it's true. Perhaps she feels that minis are still O. K. when worn en famille. And that night she did spend with millions of families in their own living rooms.

"I don't pretend to be a fashion prophet," she said a few weeks ago, "but this style has run its course."

"At first I welcomed the freedom of a miniskirt. But now I admit I'm tired of showing thighs and trying to keep from showing a lot more. It's hard to know what brought about her change of heart on the night of April 10.

I've been reading in business columns and trade papers lately that manufacturers are bewailing the fact that the mod fad just didn't really get off the ground. And now, if one of its greatest champions is going to step out of her miniskirt forever, sure doom is predicted for that Carnaby fashion.

Perhaps Academy Award night was Julie's mini swan song. She certainly seemed to mean it when she told me, "Nothing works properly under miniskirts."

"Stockings sag at the knees, suspenders show unless you're very careful in sitting down and everyone looks knock-kneed."

Well, Julie may have appeared on television in what she herself termed a dying fashion, but we all must admit she, at least, didn't look knock-kneed. She pointed to a photograph in a London paper of two teenagers facing the icy challenge of a British winter with miniskirts above their knees.

"Not a very practical idea," she commented.

Miss Christie doesn't even think that miniskirts are sexy anymore.

When she appeared on the set of her new MGM picture, "Far from the Madding Crowd," filmed on location in England, she was most often seen in a pair of blue hipsters with flared cuffs, a checked woolen skirt and a wide leather belt. And the Crew thought she looked great.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Fashions in hairstyles of necessity must change frequently, but basic rules of hair care never change and all too often our hair is sadly neglected.

For enviable good looks your hair must be spanking, shining clean. There is a lightness and freedom of movement that only clean hair can have.

PRETTY COIFFS owe their good looks to healthy hair. Too many women are neglecting their hair but with the help of a new conditioner they can give themselves a full-bodied home treatment to restore damaged hair. This graceful hairstyle shows a deep side wave which melts into the brushed-under side to shape a soft curl. The ends in back show their flip side.

DEAR ABBY: About three months ago my wife started to work for a professional man. I am on the road a lot, and she wanted something to keep her busy.

She can't type. About all she can do in an office is answer the phone, but her take-home pay is nearly $600 a month. Last week she started fixing two lunches to take to work. One for herself and one for her boss. She says her boss likes to "get away" from the office for lunch, so they take a drive and eat in his car. I checked the coffee thermos, and it was full of martinis.

Her boss is a married man. Shouldn't his wife be the one to fix him lunch? I don't like the looks of this, but I don't want to make any false accusations. What should I do?

"MAC":

DEAR MAC: Tell your wife that you do not approve of her midday martini picnics, and if her boss likes to "get away" at lunchtime, he should "get away" with his own wife. And if you let them "get away" with this you ought to have your head examined.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old professional man, born raised, and educated in New York, but I am practicing in Los Angeles. I am a bachelor and I met a young lady. I am very much interested in marrying. Please don't think I am an idiot, but I have a "nose job" and I'm sure she doesn't know it because she met me with this nose.

The big question: Should I tell her I've had a nose job? I'm afraid she might think I'm just another California phony and change her mind about me.

NOSE JOB

DEAR JOB: Tell her. She might surprise you and "confess" that she's had one, too. Then you can start saving your prevent brittle dry hair, broken ends and lack of sparkle but if you've gone beyond that stage then you need a cure for this unattractive condition.

To embark on a coil cure program to revitalize dry, over-tinted or bleached and brittle hair you must add a conditioning lotion that adds body, bounce and manageability to limp strands, one that provides resiliency for springier sets.

An ounce of conditioning prevention after every shampoo is all it will take to keep your hair feeling and looking healthy. A good conditioner will help keep the natural moisture in your locks and if you use color it will pamper your new shade.

Teasing, one of the chief factors of breaking hair, is finally OUT, hopefully eliminating one of the many abuses.

Winding rollers too tightly destroys the hair's natural bounce. Sharp clips and bobby pins can literally cut the hair and often they cannot be removed without tearing.

Throw away all old and rusty clips and pins. They tend to discolor the hair in spots, especially blondes.

A HAND-ME-DOWN? This is one of the more novel creations of paper dress designer Edith Ryker, who puts a dash of pizzazz on each dress with paint and brush, to suit her customer's own ideas and personality.

The Mature Parent For Better or Worse, We Seek Mates Like Parents

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. I once had to stand by and watch a woman I know encourage a self-centered man to make a fool of her.

He gave her a promise of marriage but at the same time sabotaged its usefulness by insisting that they keep their engagement secret. If she visited friends for the weekend he accused her of sexual infidelity though he himself made violently indignant scenes when questioned about his own unexplained absences. If he misunderstood an arrangement to meet for dinner, it was her carelessness which had directed him to the wrong restaurant.

Nothing she could do or say was ever satisfactory. So you wondered and wondered what possible attraction she could find in him until you remembered how exactly he resembled her self-centered mother.

Never had her mother been mistaken either. Just like her self-centered man, her mother had habitually promised her desirable things, promises she promptly made useless either by forgetting them or giving her things she didn't want. And she was given to the throwing of violently indignant tantrums at any protest against her behavior.

Which is my probably unpalatable answer to the mother who writes, "Our 17-year-old son is so upset by the girl he is dating. She always puts him in the wrong. We know this because the phone is in the hall and we can hear him pleading with her whenever he talks to her. We've tried to tell him that she is making a fool of him, but he gets so angry if we try to talk to him about her..."

Sure he gets angry. He's convinced that she "loves" him. And the why of that conviction accused us. I'm sorry to be so

However, it's a "why" we often prefer not to see. Yet it must be said that we befuddled humans, regardless of age, tend to credit our accusers with "love" for us for only one reason — our parents have made love and attack one and the same thing for us.

Thus, when a member of the other sex tells us how unsatisfactory we are, we regard his criticism as evidence of passionate devotion. And love may have to remain accusation until it occurs to us that it wasn't felt by our parents when they accused us. I'm sorry to be so affection.

you can convince your befuddled boy that his accusing girl feels more resentment for him than affection.

DEAR ABBY: I thought when a new family moved in next door I was doing my neighborly duty by calling on them and introducing myself, but O, brother, was that ever a mistake!

From that day on, which has been six months ago, those people all but sleep at my house.

She knocks on my door every morning before I can even feed my family. She sits here until noon and I have to give her lunch or eat in front of her. She goes home for a few hours, then her husband and kids join us for supper and the evening, bringing maybe a package of marshmallows or some corn on the cob. (They have no TV.)

They have no phone so they use ours. Worse yet, they gave their friends and relatives our number, so we get calls all the time for them: Some relatives called collect from out of state, and when I showed them the bill, they ignored it. I put a stop to that by refusing all their collect calls.

My husband and kids and I can't discuss any family matters with these neighbors here all the time. I just hate hurting people's feelings, but something has got to be done. What? And how? Sign this...

Grand Jury Meets Again Here Today

Gray County grand jury was in session again here today to consider testimony in 17 criminal offenses in the 31st Judicial District Court's jurisdiction.

District Judge Grainger McElhany last week appointed N. Dudley Steele of Pampa as jury foreman. The jury began its deliberations last Friday but was unable to decide if any of the pending cases should be tried in court.

(Continued From Page 1) amendment if we took no action. We would still be liable for prosecution. We are dealing with the federal agencies... the HEW and the Department of Justice.

Prior to making his motion, Steel said, "I don't believe the board has been given enough time in which to develop the sort of plan I feel we need. We do not have enough facts to make an objective and wise decision that we must make. In trying to take all things into consideration for this next school term, we have no choice but to desegregate the Carver School faculty as the first step laid out by the HEW office."

The board's decision to integrate the Carver School faculty will affect the school's nine-member staff, consisting of six classroom teachers, a music teacher, a PESO reading teacher and the school principal.

At the conclusion of last night's session, which adjourned shortly before 11 p.m., Dr. Dameron said he had not had time to resolve the crossover ratio of white teachers to the Negro school and Negro teachers to the white schools. Don M. Vernon, one of the HEW agents, who met with the board on June 12, inferred that a crossover of one teacher would definitely not be satisfactory, but had inferred that possibly a crossover of three might be acceptable compliance.

Attending the session in the Pampa junior high school library were 18 Negroes and 10 whites the five-man school board, superintendent of schools and the school business manager. The board adjourned at 9 p.m. in the library and reconvened in the superintendent's office a few minutes later for a second study session on building improvements in the two junior high schools and the senior high school. to contact eye banks which are located in hospitals in every state.

"One of the reasons eye banks have developed rapidly is because ham radio operators operate an 'eye-bank' network coast to coast twice daily to relay information on donors, blind recipients, and emergency operations," he said.

Only persons suffering from corneal defects, scleral rupture and vitreous deficiencies can be helped by an eye transplant. Extensive studies are in progress on using other parts of the eye as an aid to blindness, but so far, work is not complete, he said.

"In Pampa, when a donor dies, the usual procedure is for the hospital, next of kin, doctor or whoever knows of the donor's wish to leave his eyes to call me.

"After I call the Hi-Plains Eye Bank in Amarillo, they contact the ophthalmologist for our district. By the time the eyes arrive at the hospital, he has his patient—recipient ready for surgery," Tooley said.

If the recipient is not in Amarillo, ham radio operators get on their nation-wide networks and within a few minutes can locate a recipient. Emergency eye surgeries get first call, but if there are none when the eyes are available, the first recipient on the eye-bank list is contacted, he explained.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan assists Tooley and the eye bank in taking a donor's eyes to the Amarillo eye bank. If they have to be shipped by air, they are placed in special containers and kept cool, Tooley explained.

An ophthalmologist should enucleate (remove) the donor's eyes as soon as practical, generally within three to six hours after death. Usually, corneal transplants (colored portion of the eye) are performed within 48 hours after death of the donor.

"No disfigurement is caused by removing the eyes," Tooley said. "And when you think of how much one pair of eyes can help others to see, it's worth it."

my mother-in-law, Mrs. Lola Harper, died a year ago, she had pledged her eyes.

"When she died, her eyes first went to Amarillo where they were used for a cornea transplant. From there they went to Seattle, Wash., where ham radio operators had told us two people needed the sclera (white part of the eye) operation. After Seattle, two other persons in Baltimore, Md. needed the vitreous (liquid part of the eyes) for surgery," Tooley said.

No charges are made for eye bank services and eyes are not bought. The ophthalmologist and hospital charge recipients a fee, but if necessary, the Lions Club which sponsors an eye bank will work out payments for the recipient. In Amarillo, the eye bank's 24-hour answering service number is DR-34004, Tooley said.

IN PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Head Hunters' Neighbors Visit Pampa on Missionary Furlough

By WANDA MAE HUFF
Pampa News Religion Editor

Two missionaries to the Philippine Islands are here this week explaining their mission work during special services of the Fellowship Baptist Church.

Services started Wednesday night and continue through Sunday at 7:30 p.m. daily. Speakers are the Rev. and Mrs. Bill Anderson who are in Pampa on one of their furlough tours.

They have already served two terms, eight and a half years, and will return in January, 1968 for their third term on the Philippine mission field. Missionaries since 1967, they have built two churches, one in the primitive mountain provinces of Luzon and another in Cavite City about 30 miles from Manila.

They work on the northern-most part of Luzon, one of 7,000 islands, 5,000 of which are inhabited by 33 million people.

The islands' government is principally democratic, since the United States has been a central figure in organizing the country the past 50 years, since the Spanish-American War.

"The country has 87 dialects, but the language is not a great barrier. Since the United States has established the educational system, and English is understood in every principal city," she said.

Since for 400 years, the country was controlled by Spain, the principal religion is Catholic. The Philippines are 92 per cent Catholic, and call themselves the only Christian nation in all Asia," Mrs. Anderson said.

bringing in a head. They celebrate their success with a party and wedding ceremonies for proven warriors.

Usually, the Ilongots concentrate their head hunting among Filipinos not of their own tribe, but they are not adverse to taking on an American as they did a few years ago, when two American men working in Manila visited the Ilongots' territory "to see what was there, and never came back," she said.

Before going to the mission field, Rev. Anderson was pastor of Bible Baptist Churches in Chanute and Elkhart, Kans., and at a Grace Baptist Temple in Salina, Kans. He joined the Bible Baptist Fellowship in 1950.

While the couple is in the Philippines, their four sons will remain at home. Springfield, Mo., where two of the oldest boys, Terry, 21, and Jim, 19, are attending Southwest Missouri State College. Their two other sons are Don, 18 and Monty, 17.

Most of the 300 converts in the Andersons' lowland church are youths, because the "older ones' minds are closed to new ideas. The youths readily listen to teaching and some would like to react more favorably, but they are afraid to go against the wishes of their elders and to follow their own consciences," Rev. Anderson said.

Because Catholicism is the state religion, the church has control over its members' economic, social, educational and occupational lives. A man who wants to change his faith and get out of Catholicism's grip faces losing his job, losing face in his society, and becoming an outcast, they said.

Besides his mission church work, Rev. and Mrs. Anderson have taught six years in the Baptist Bible Institute of Manila to train Filipino students for ministry to their own people. Their own four sons attended and boarded at the Faith Academy Missionary School outside Manila while their parents were on the mission field.

In January, Rev. and Mrs. Anderson will return for the third time to the Philippines to open new missions which can be organized into churches with Filipinos as church leaders.

"Our work is evangelizing and organizing local churches, training nationals at the Bible Institute and conducting children's Bible classes and gospel tract work," Mrs. Anderson said.

"We are not directly working with the Ilongot Tribe, the head hunters, but our mountain province church is only a short distance from their boundary. We know better than to mix with the Ilongots, especially during the July season of the blooming of the fire tree," Mrs. Anderson said.

While on furlough, Rev. Anderson has preached in 200 churches in 37 states and traveled more than 60,000 miles explaining the couple's mission work.

"Sin" The Disease Which Covers The World

1 John 3:4 Whoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law; for sin is the transgression of the law.

Sin is any thought, word, action, or desire, contrary to the law of God. Wherever sin is left to grow, it will soon enfluence all the surrounding. Sin is bold; it is persistent, it gets on the front page.

In the great News Papers of the world, Religion takes a second page or a middle or maybe a back page, but sin is splashed across the front page.

Sin is a master, he drives the greatest of men to insanity. He causes the honest to become crooks. He causes the virgin to become a harlot, he causes the Mother to become an adulteress, and he causes the father to become a whoremonger.

At first sin makes you bold, then caloused and then it breeds fear, and fear hath torment, then a person becomes miserable. This is one reason that we have so much unrest in the world today.

SIN BRINGS DEATH AND JUDGEMENT:

Ezekiel 18:4 All souls are mine, as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine, the soul that sinneth, it shall die.

Hebrews 9:27 As it is appointed unto man once to die and after this the judgment.

THE ORIGIN OF SIN WAS THE DEVIL

1 John 3:8 He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. The devil sinned in heaven and contaminated heaven and caused a third of the angels in heaven to sin with him. 2 Peter 2:4 For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment. Let us ask this question, "How shall we escape, which neglect so great a salvation?"

REMEMBER SIRE! The wages of sin is death. They that play with and practice sin, have only one course, death and hell. Psalms 9:17 - The wicked shall be turned into hell and all nations that forget God.

We are born in a world filled with sin, so we are born in sin. Psalms 51:5 Behold, I was shapen in iniquity; and in sin did my mother conceive me.

Many a family has been destroyed because of this disease of sin. Every thing seemed to be going fine, then one day Mom decides that Dad does not treat her as he should, or Dad decides that he wants to play the field. Then one sin leads to another. After a few years of pleasure and living in sin there is only one place left for Dad to go and that is to the junk heap. No one wants the responsibility of that which sin has wrecked.

Many people try to out smart sin, they think they are stronger than sin, can't get a hold on them. But just the same, there are millions that the serpent of sin has fangs in today.

This generation is being trained to sin, schooled to sin, even shown how to sin. Many T.V. programs show our young ladies how to break up a home, how to fall in love with a married man, and how to cause him to fall for them. don't show the children moving in with their grandparents, or into a foster home. On many of the programs, drinking, loving, and indecency prevails. So much of the advertisement as well as programs are so sex appealing.

Let some school fail to integrate, and the Government may send the National Guards to force them to integrate. Let fifty girls come up pregnant because of loose morals, and there will just be some whispering about it. They will almost start a war trying to get the negroes and whites together. But they will turn their head while our children go to hell because of the sins they are afraid to speak against.

We need more leaders with some virtue and principles. We need parents that have good eye sight, that they may see what sin is doing to their children.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

McGlothlin In All-Star Berth

By FRED McMANE, UPI Sports Writer

Ji McGlothlin had a trip to Las Vegas all planned for the All-Star break, but he's hit the jackpot sooner than expected and won't have to leave his own backyard.

The 23-year-old righthander, the onebright spot on the California Angels' otherwise drab pitching staff, clinched himself a berth on the American League All-Star squad Thursday night when he three-hit the Cleveland Indians 7-0 for his fifth shutout of the season.

McGlothlin, who never dreamed at the beginning of the season that he would even approach All-Star status, made reservations for the three-day All-Star break, but he and his wife will get no trip at all now. With this year's mid-season classic scheduled for Anaheim, Calif., the freckle-faced McGlothlin will be playing before Angel fans and not too far from his native Reseda, Calif.

All-Star Choice

Hank Bauer, manager of the Baltimore Orioles and the skipper for the AL All-Stars, will make his pitching selections next week and McGlothlin has got to be one of his first choices.

The talented righthander lowered his league-leading earned run average to 1.34 with his victory over the Indians and his route-gone performance raised his record to 7-1 and gave him seven complete games. The entire Angels' pitching staff has turned in only 10 complete games this season.

Singles by Lee Maye, Max Alvis and Joe Azcue were the only hits Cleveland could manage off McGlothlin as the youngster struck out six.

In the remainder of Thursday's major league schedule, Detroit beat Minnesota 5-2 in an Individual Crown Still a Question

SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE, Pa. (UPI)—The pressure was off the University of Houston today and on the brawny shoulders of a University of Florida youth who holds a one stroke lead in the individual title race for the National Collegiate Athletic Association golf championship.

Steve Melnyk, a 20-year-old sophomore who had an opening round of three under par 69, came back in the rain with a one under 71 Thursday to take a one-stroke edge over bidick Harris, Stanford University at 140, four under par after the second round of the 72-hole tourney at the Shawnee Inn.

Houston, the defending team champions, got three lucky bounces on the water to capture the school title for the fourth straight year, and the 10th time in the past 12 years. The Cougars' team total of 585 edged Melnyk's Florida squad by three strokes in the school battle which is decided after 36 holes.

Louisiana State was third with 591, Purdue fourth with 590 and Wake Forest was next with 597.

The team championship went down to the wire and it took an astounding drive by Houston's Hal Underwood on his last hole to push the Cougars in the lead.

Underwood, playing the back nine first, scuffed his drive on the par-three ninth, his finishing hole, but the ball bounced three times on the water of a creek and landed on a bank.

NICKLAUS TROUBLED

Yates Leads Cleveland

By United Press International CLEVELAND (UPI)—Young Wayne Yates of Atlanta may be relatively unknown on the pro golf tour, but he had most of the big swingers looking up at him today hitting into the second round of the $103,500 Cleveland Open.

The slender Yates carved out a neat 4-under-par 66 in Thursday's opening round at the rain-soaked 8,411-yard Aurora Country Club course.

That was one stroke better than Arnold Palmer and six less than U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus could manage in the rain-delayed first round.

"My whole game was really good, for a change," Yates said following his sparkling round, which featured six birdies, two bogies and was only one stroke over the course record.

Another youngster, Dick Lotz, of Hayward, Calif., along with 1965 Cleveland Open champ Dan Sikes and Palmer were right behind with 67s.

Dew Finsterwald, Lionel Hebert, Gardner Dickinson, Ray Floyd, Bob Charles, Ken Venturi and young Bob Stanton of Sydney, Australia, were all tied at 68.

Thirteen were deadlocked at 69 over the par-70 course, and defending champion R. H. Sikes was three over at 73.

While Palmer was satisfied with his round, Nicklaus admitted he had his troubles adjusting to the slow course, which was soaked by heavy rain Wednesday night.

"The course played fine, considering all the rain we've had," Palmer said.

"It's hard for me to play on a golf course that's real wet," Nicklaus said. "We've been playing on a course that was firm, and I guess I just didn't adjust very well."

MASTERS CHAMP Gay Brewer, who has a hot hand on the pro golf tour, belongs to the "offensive" school of golfers who charge the flag on every shot. When you're winning, some pros say, you're always on offense.

DOVER, England (UPI)—A team of Kansas teenagers postponed their attempt to swim the English Channel Wednesday because of blustery weather conditions.

They are expected to try again about one hour after day break on Friday.

Losing Austin, D-FW Hit Like Champions

By United Press International

The Austin Braves and the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs may be fighting for last place in the Texas League but Thursday night they hit like world champions.

Austin, in fifth place 12 games behind league leading Amarillo pounded out 17 hits to smother Albuquerque 17-6. The Spurs, 12½ games back in the cellar, got 13 hits to beat El Paso 10-4.

While the bottom clubs were belting the ball, Amarillo used good pitching to beat Arkansas 3-1 and increase its lead.

Joe Cisterna picked up the easy win for the Braves. Jim Roberts was the starter and loser for Albuquerque but left in the second inning when Austin exploded for seven runs.

Austin's Adrian Garrett hit a two-run homer in the second. It was his 17th of the season, tying him with Amarillo's Nate Colbert for the league lead.

Clarence Gavton also homered for the Braves, a three-run shot in the ninth, and Willie Crawford hit one for Albuquerque.

Larry Willson and Jim Saul hit homers to lead the Dallas-Fort Worth attack. Aurelio Rodriguez hit a solo homer for El Paso.

Sterling Slaughter, with help from Don Larsen, won his first decision for the Spurs. Paul Jaekel was the loser.

Matson Selected For All-American

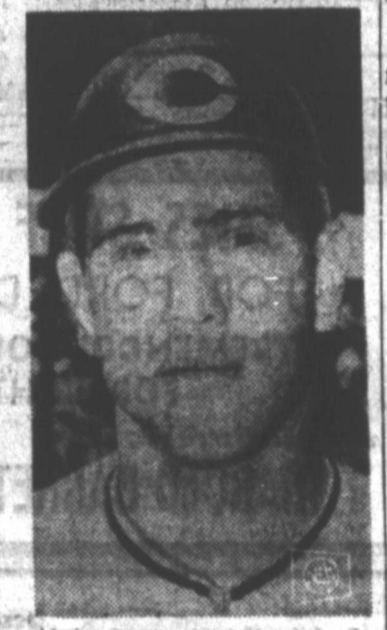

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—Breaking records and making All-America teams just come naturally to Texas A&M shotputter Randy Matson.

Matson, the world record holder in his event, did the latter Thursday. He made the All-America track and field team for the third time. The selection was announced by the NCAA rules committee.

Others selected for the third time were sprinters Charlie Greene of Nebraska and Tommie Smith of San Jose State and shotputter Neil Steinhauer of Oregon.

The Rains Came

Rain postponed AL games between Boston-New York and Kansas City-Baltimore and a NL game between New York-Philadelphia.

Home runs by John Werhas and Paul Schaaf aided McGlothlin's superb performance and helped the Angels beat the Indians for the ninth time in 11 meetings. Sam McDowell, who failed to go the distance for the 14th time in 15 starts, suffered his sixth setback in nine decisions.

Al Kalline drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Norm Cash added a two-run homer as the Tigers move to within three games of the league-leading Chicago White Sox. Joe Spasma went all the way to record his seventh victory against one loss while southpaw Jim Kaat was charged with his eighth defeat in 12 decisions.

Fifth Straight

Steve Carlton tossed a six-hitter as the Cardinals won their fifth straight game and increased their lead in the NL to two games. Lou Brock, Julian Javier, Mike Shannon and Ed Spiezio each collected two hits as the Cardinals tagged Claude Osteen with his seventh loss in 16 decisions.

Knuckleballer Phil Niekro checked the Giants on six hits in the opener as the Braves pinned the loss on Gaylord Perry. Henry Aaron and Woody Woodward drove across Brave runs with doubles while Willie Mays accounted for the Giants' run with his 10th homer of the season and 553rd of his career.

Aaron's two-run homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap enabled the Braves to sweep the four game series. Reliever Claude Raymond picked up the victory while reliever Frank Linzy was charged with the loss. Mack Jones also homered for the Braves.

Nancy Richey Advances To Tennis Finals

LONDON (UPI)—Nancy Richey of Dallas and Australia's Kerry Meville, who met in last year's U.S. women's semi-finals at Forest Hills, may be headed toward a meeting in the finals of the London Lawn Tennis championships.

Miss Richey, the lone American survivor in the London tourney, advanced into the semi-finals Thursday by turning back Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-3, 6-1 in the quarter-finals.

Miss Richey, absent from tourney play several months with a back injury, will now face Annette Van Zyl of South Africa in Friday's semi-finals. Miss Melville will be battling Australian Judy Tegart in the other semi-final match.

TUNED-IN NATION

Americans Exposed To Music Every Day

Americans listen to music an average of 3 1/2 hours a day. Whether it's singing TV commercials or symphonies on phonographs, rock 'n' roll on radio or atmosphere music in skyscraper elevators, it all adds up to an average of 210 minutes of music that the average John Q. Public hears every day.

Most of the music comes via the country's 250,000,000 radios, at least a fourth of them in cars, which makes America the most-tuned-in nation in the world, reports the National Association of Music Merchants. Opening its 66th annual Music Show in Chicago Sunday, June 25, the music dealers will have on display a total of 7,500 different products that add up to the never-ending sound of music that reverberates across the land.

Biggest trend in musical instruments, reports NAMM executive vice president William R. Gard, is to follow the lead of radio and go electronic. At the Music Show there will be an electronic version of virtually every instrument in the orchestra and even the basic learning tool for music, the metronome, has gone electronic, too. There is a new miniature battery-operated metronome about as long as a pencil. Called a Mininome, it beats time while kept in a shirt pocket.

"The wedding of music and electronics I guess was inevitable—and began the day that first began showing radios at our music shows back in the 20's," notes Gard. "Now the trend is reaching its ultimate with electronic musical instruments of every shape and type. It's part of the saturation of American life with music which has made us the most music-minded land on earth."

The U. S. has four out of every ten radios in the world, reports the NAMM. Following the U.S. in radio totals are Japan, Russia, England and West Germany—but America has twice as many sets as all four countries combined.

Music is "the prime item of radio programming" with teenagers being the most-tuned-in segment of the population. A total of 85 per cent of teenagers listen to the radio every day compared to 70 per cent of the overall population.

Of the total round-the-clock radio time, music is 90 per cent of all programming, the percentage going up in the past decade since soap operas faded from the scene.

Total sales of radios last year was in excess of 45,000,000 units, compared to 12,000,000 TV sets, 7,000,000 phonographs and 45,000,000 tape recorders.

"To most Americans music in its many, many forms ranging from folk and classic to rock 'n' roll and baroque is the most popular entertainment medium," the NAMM executive states. "American spending for music is higher than the rest of the world put together. Out of every $5 spent for recreation more than $1 goes for music and home entertainment."
