BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—A documented Army report on ghastly atrocities by the Communists in the Korean War drew a swift demand today from Capitol Hill for "drastic punitive action."

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has laid before the world a documented indictment of Communist atrocities in Korea listing 6,113 Americans as probable victims. It tells how captured GIs were dragged on death marches, roasted alive, lined up and shot. The document, compiled by the Army's war crimes division and released last night, includes charts and graphs and photographs of bound, charred bodies.

A total of 29,815 "probable" atrocity victims of all nationalities were listed. The statistics weren't new. They closely corresponded to an official estimate of 6,000 released after Col. James M. Hanley of a war crimes investigation unit first brought mass Red atrocities to public notice in November 1951. But in the Army's new report, what survivors had to say was grim reading. For instance: "One of the boys had no head; it seemed to have been mashed or beaten and was laying all over the road. . . . The other GI had his eyes gouged out, and nothing remained where his eyes were except holes." The report indicated most of the atrocities occurred in the first year of the war when the North Koreans invaded South Korea. There was a smaller upsurge when the Chinese entered the war and hurried the Allies back from the region of the Yalu River. The Chinese were charged with 27.3 per cent, the North Koreans with almost all the rest. The Army said, "It is an interesting fact that the North Korean Peoples Army slaughtered most of its victims during September 1950. Of these, 14,602 or 84.6 per cent were slain in the last four days of the month."

That included the "Taejon massacre," where the Reds were said to have killed the occupants of the South Korean city in batches of hundreds at a time — among them 42 Americans. What was not spelled out in the Army's report was the reason for issuing the detailed account at this time. However, its issuance seemed related to a report to the United Nations three days ago by Dr. Charles Mayo, a U. N. delegate and famous American surgeon.

Dr. Mayo's report gave a scientific account of how the Reds compelled "confessions" from American war prisoners about germ warfare—a propaganda point often employed by the Communists. Spokesmen said the Army report was prepared and released for publication with the knowledge and cooperation of other government agencies, including the State Department.

Russia Once Had 25 Spy Rings In U.S., Ex-Red Says

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Russian intelligence officer says the Russians had 20 to 25 spy rings in this country before U.S. entry into World War II, and perhaps more during the war.

The onetime Red agent, Ismail Akhmedov, who now uses the name Ismail Ege, testified yesterday at an open, televised hearing of the Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind).

He said he quit the Red army after seeing "the true face of communism" and the "methods of the Soviet government."

He held the subcommittee information obtained by Red agents in this country was given to Amtorg, Russian trading agency disbanded some years ago, then relayed to Moscow through Soviet embassies here and abroad.

Asked if Red agents were using the United Nations now for the same purpose, he replied: "I'm sure of it."

In his testimony, Ege identified a man named Arthur Alexandrovitch Adams as a former Soviet agent who escaped behind the Iron Curtain in 1944.

A second witness called by the subcommittee, probing Soviet espionage, was Clarence Hickey, research chemist who worked on a wartime atomic bomb project at the University of Chicago.

He declined to answer whether, after he was called to Army service, he was visited by Adams—whether he is now or was a Communist party member in 1944.

The witness said he was sent to Canada and later Hawaii by the Army's chemical warfare division.

Asked if he had access to classified material during that time, he replied, "I wrote the classified material. That was the only material I had access to."

Finding Sgt. Brown Proving Difficult Task For Newsmen

SEOUL (AP)—"Find Sgt. John Brown" and still photographers in Korea got that order yesterday from their offices in New York.

Brown is the soldier-husband of television singer Dorothy McGuire. Singer Julius La Rosa, who was fired last week from Arthur Godfrey's TV program, announced he intends to marry Miss McGuire as soon as she can get a divorce.

Miss McGuire's parents said her husband is in Korea, but refused to say where, or in which outfit. "Find him and take his picture," the message ordered, urgently.

So the newsmen asked the 8th Army to check its director of personnel. A public information officer told 70—that's right, 70—Sgt. John Brown stationed at 8th Army headquarters, or in divisions on the front, on ammunition dumps or engineer units.

County Jail Fugitive Is Held In N.M.

Howard Van Zandt, escapee from the Howard County jail, was captured in Hobbs, N. M., last night, Sheriff Jess Slaughter reported today.

Deputies Jim McCoy and Miller Harris went to Hobbs today to return Van Zandt to the jail he fled Sunday, Oct. 18.

The escapee was arrested, Slaughter said, as a result of a stolen car report from Midland. Midland authorities Wednesday broadcast an alert for a car which was reported stolen from a used car lot.

Deputy McCoy had gone to Midland Wednesday to investigate a report that Van Zandt had been seen there. He returned to Big Spring after learning of the capture.

Van Zandt, who was being held on charges of forgery and passing, escaped the jail here by shugging a trusty who had opened the jail door. The trusty, Oscar Dominguez, was not seriously injured. He told officers he had opened the jail to secure a pan and coffee pot which had been used to feed the prisoners. He was struck with the pan.

An estimated 800 cattle and 40 hogs went through the ring. The market was steady to strong with some stocker cattle bringing as much as $2 higher.

A. L. Cooper, owner, said a record was broken in that number of cattle being processed in just three hours and 50 minutes.

Bulls brought up to 13.00, butcher cows from 7.00 to 9.50, fleshy cows up to 10.50 and fat calves and yearlings from 15.00 to 18.00. Choice stocker steer calves went for 18.00, heifer calves up to 16.50, good stocker cows up to 11.00 and top hogs up to 23.30.

CRMWD Letting Of Bids Postponed
Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District this morning postponed letting of contracts on electrical equipment and pumps for two pumping stations.

Bids were received and engineers were to check efficiency ratings of the proposed equipment prior to making recommendations. The proposals were received on equipment for the Big Spring pumping station at Lake J. B. Thomas and for a booster station at Morgan Creek.

A tentative operational budget for 1954 was approved and CRMWD Manager E. V. Spence was authorized to construct sanitary facilities at the lake.

Steps also were being considered for issuance of boating permits and authorization of other recreation. The board was in session here-

Sightseeing Advice Is Given Royal Pair

By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece took leave of the White House today and got some last minute sightseeing advice from President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

The royal couple, here on a state visit, left the executive mansion shortly after 9:00 a.m. after an overnight stay. It was raining hard but they went ahead anyway with a trip to Mount Vernon and to the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington Cemetery before returning to Washington for two receptions later in the day. "I hope you don't get rained out," Eisenhower told his departing guests.

As for Mount Vernon, the President said: "There's more to it than just going through the house. Be sure and visit the stables and take a look at the old slave quarters."

Numerous business and professional offices are due to complete the move into the new building during the weekend. Some already have started and one concern has completed the transfer of office equipment.

Cowden Insurance Agency was the first to move into new quarters and was "open for business" in the Perlmans Building today.

Work on the building is all but complete, except for the sixth floor which is being kept unfinished in order to arrange the office partitions, etc., to suit a single tenant.

Henry Wynnager, construction superintendent, said that "only odds and ends" of painting and cleaning up remain on completion of the building. Parking area on the south side of the building already has been paved, and shrubbery is growing in planters across front of the structure.

Big 3 Reported Ready To Urge Israeli Rebuke

Hagerty Asserts Ike Supports All GOP Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower favors the election of all candidates running for office on the Republican ticket—and that goes for Paul Troast, candidate for governor of New Jersey.

This came from presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, in elaboration on a discussion of politics at Eisenhower's news conference yesterday.

Hagerty said he has received numerous inquiries from newsmen as to whether Eisenhower was taking a slap yesterday at Troast or other party candidates.

The President was asked yesterday whether, at the time his picture was taken with Troast in New Jersey recently, he was aware that Troast had asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to parole New York labor racketeer Joe Fay from prison.

Eisenhower replied that at that time he had never heard of Fay, that he had gone to New Jersey to address a church group and had been asked to pose for pictures with another group.

This statement left unanswered the question of whether there would have been such a picture if Eisenhower had known about Fay or the letter.

Hagerty's elaboration today came in a warm exchange with Arthur Sylvester of the Newark Evening News.

Hagerty wouldn't say point blank whether Eisenhower now knows about Fay. But he declared: "You can understand English as well as I can. When the President said that at that time he didn't know, it is obvious he knew later."

Eisenhower said a week ago he wasn't going to use the presidency as an agency in partisan elections. Yesterday he told his news conference that to say he wasn't interested in retaining a GOP Congress was like saying he had no interest in drawing his next breath.

While he stuck to his statement he won't campaign for individuals, he said in response to questions he likes posing for pictures with candidates, may pat some of them on the back and will do his part, with in bounds, to publicize the GOP records to the voters.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, said in an interview that it is about all anybody could expect the President to do. "Nobody expects him to go out ringing door bells," Knowland observed.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), one of the first to back Eisenhower for the presidency last year, said that so far as they go the President's plans are fine. "But I think he will find as time goes on that he is going to have to dig deeper than that."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall confined his public comment to the observation that the President's statement was "entirely satisfactory to me."

Some other party members said avoided dislike for purely political activities might dissolve somewhat in the face of an expected strong Democratic threat to take over Congress.

Probe Witness

Panel Hears Key Witnesses Again

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A federal grand jury diving into the Greenlease kidnaping case today sought further information from two key witnesses who figured in the arrest of the abductors.

One was Louis Shoulders, St. Louis police lieutenant who arrested Carl Austin Hall, 34, and his woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old divorcee.

The other witness was John Hager, St. Louis taxicab driver credited with supplying the tip that led to the apprehension.

Both testified at length yesterday but U.S. Dist. Atty. Edward Scheufler asked that they return for further questioning.

The jury may indict Hall and Mrs. Heady late today.

Hall confessed kidnaping and slaying Bobby Greenlease, 6-year-old son of a multimillionaire Kansas City automobile dealer. Mrs. Heady admitted abducting the boy Sept. 28 from his private school. His body was found Oct. 7 in the yard of her St. Joseph, Mo., home.

Still missing is $300,000 of the record $600,000 ransom paid by Robert C. Greenlease, the father. Hall has said he believes it was lost during a drinking spree in St. Louis.

Yesterday Hager was in the jury room for more than four hours. He told newsmen: "I've been telling them everything—everything I know about the whole thing. But I didn't say anything I haven't said before."

Hager picked up Hall as a fare and drove him around St. Louis during his free-spending binge. Later he tipped off Lt. Shoulders and led Shoulders and another officer to Hall's room where nearly half the ransom money was recovered.

Shoulders declined to discuss his appearance yesterday before the jury saying, "There's been too much talk already."

He resigned last Saturday after 27 years on the police force, claiming he was a victim of character assassination during an investigation by top-level police officials. The police inquiry was called after reports the FBI had found discrepancies in police records of Hall's arrest and recovery of the ransom money.

Would Suggest Additional U.N. Truce Watchers

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Western Big Three were reported ready today to urge a U.N. Security Council rebuke against Israel for the recent border killings in an adjoining Arab village, and to call for more U.N. "watchdogs" in the troubled area.

Israel Chief Delegate Abba S. Eban also served notice he intends to go over the whole Middle East security question before the council today. Eban accused the Arab states last night of coming to keep up tension in Palestine. Western sources said Britain, France and the United States would submit a resolution to the council late today, denouncing the armed Israeli raid on the Jordan village of Kibya which cost 53 Arab lives. They said the resolution also would call for more truce supervisors in Palestine.

Disputes from London said the Big Three were considering asking for an automatic arms embargo against whichever side the council finds guilty of violating the truce agreements in the future.

One U.N. source said if truce violations were labeled formal aggressions the embargo would follow anyway.

The reported plan to increase the truce supervisors brought praise from the Arabs and sharp criticism from Israel.

Syria's Rafik Asha declared, "Anything that would lead to respect for the truce agreement would be welcome."

Eban said such a program would be "beret of statesmanship and wisdom." He declared the council was discussing the entire threat to peace in the Middle East and suggested it would do well to appeal to both sides to respect the 1949 armistice agreements.

He took issue with the report of Maj. Gen. Vagm Ben-Naim, chief U.N. truce supervisor, that "well-trained Israeli" soldiers were involved in the Kibya attack. The Israeli delegate contended that the attack was made by civilians.

Eban had no comment on the announcement that U.S. aid to Israel is being resumed as a result of the latter's agreement to halt work on a Jordan River project strenuously opposed by Syria. But he labeled "irrelevant" the U.S. pinpointing of the Syrian complaint as the reason for suspending aid in the first place.

Balking Prisoners May Have Agreed To Hear Red Coaxers

By FORREST EDWARDS
PANMUNJOM (AP)—The promise of a surprising announcement tomorrow touched off reports here today that balking anti-Communist Korean prisoners have agreed to abandon their stubborn refusal to attend interviews with Red explainers.

Communist demands that the Koreans be forced to attend—at gunpoint if necessary—have all but wrecked the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the deadlocked commission, touched off the speculation with a cryptic statement that he would have a "surprising" announcement Friday.

Neither Thimayya nor other Indian officers would amplify his remarks.

But a reliable source said the announcement would concern the reluctant 7,800 North Korean prisoners.

North Korean POWs they should attend.

Explanations have been stalled 10 days.

A surprising announcement could, of course take several other forms.

The Communist Polish and Czech members of the deadlocked NNRC could drop their demand that Indian troops use whatever force necessary to make the North Koreans attend explanations.

The Swiss and Swedish members could drop their opposition to using force.

Thimayya, who has consistently taken the position that force cannot be used on the North Koreans unless it is unanimously okayed by the entire commission, could change his mind, agree with the Polish and Czech delegations, and on a 3-2 vote declare that force would be used.

Any one of these could happen. But no one here believed they would.

The Communists also could decide to explain to 14,600 Chinese POWs while the North Korean POW problem remained deadlocked. That, too, was considered unlikely.

Dr. Logan Wilson Is Installed As UT Head

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Logan Wilson was formally installed as the 15th president of the University of Texas today. He promptly called for greater public support to boost the university to higher standing. "I think it would be fair to claim that we now rank among the 15 or 20 leading American universities," Wilson said. "Our common ambition now should be to pull Texas up among the first ten."

"Within two decades, it should stand among the first five."

The 46-year-old native Texan, a sociologist who left the vice-presidency of the consolidated University of North Carolina to assume the Texas presidency last Feb. 1, made it clear his administration will seek greater legislative appropriations.

"If the people of Texas and their elected representatives want to have a truly distinguished center of learning, then state appropriations should be maintained at a level sufficient to meet all ordinary needs," Wilson said in a speech prepared for delivery after his inauguration.

He was installed by Tom Sealy of Midland, board of regents chairman.

Wilson's call for improvement of the university's status was the central theme of his address on the role of the school and higher education in the second half of the 20th Century.

Representatives of almost 300 institutions of higher learning and learned societies were present in cap and gown and hoods emblazoned with their school colors to witness the inaugural ceremonies.

Also on hand were state officials. U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, faculty members, students, ex-students and others.

The general importance of a state university to the citizens who maintain it was elaborated on also by Dr. Harlan Hatcher, University of Michigan president.

A native of Huntsville, Wilson commended Texas for being "rightfully proud of Texas, its people and institutions."

"But for altogether too long," he continued, "we have been content with something less than the best in education, the most important of our collective endeavors."

"It is doubly important that the very capstone of our whole system of public education, the University of Texas, should become—as was intended over a century ago—truly a university of the first class."

"I want to express my firm belief that in time we can have to keep the moral and spiritual values of liberal education from being completely engulfed by the strong tide of vocationalism, specialization, and other currents generated by the materialistic forces of our society."

His Neighbors Like It

The moisture content of the cotton land of Ray Adams, west of Ackerly and up close to the Borden County line, is the envy of Adams' neighbors because of his closed-end terraces, a job that was completed before the good October rains came. Adams saved such of that rain as fell on his place. Some neighbors, and even other more distant farmers, who have seen Adams' terraces with the closed ends to prevent runoff, say they're going to fix their land the same way.

Riding THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

There are some folks living on the road running north from U. S. 80, about two miles west of the Martin County line, who can't understand why they don't have rural mail delivery, while fewer people living on a parallel north-and-south road, a little less than two miles to the east, or just over the Martin County line have two mail deliveries up that parallel road.

A carrier from Stanton goes north up that other road, and a carrier from Big Spring also goes up the same road, both of them within touching distance of the same mail boxes.

It's just one of those things that happens in Washington when some fellow behind a desk up there outlines routes for rural mail delivery in the open spaces of West Texas.

The way it happens is this. The Stanton carrier travels east on Highway 80, goes right past this road on which the complaining people live, for almost two miles and then takes the other road north toward the Big Spring-Andrews Highway. Then along comes the carrier from the Big Spring Post Office who comes north on Highway 80 from Lomax, turns west on Highway 80 until he reaches the same road that has been traveled by the Stanton carrier, and this second carrier travels it, too.

On the road less than two miles west, and a good road, too, as judged by road standards in that section, there are 12 houses, the occupants of which must themselves travel from one to two and one-half miles after their mail where they're presently required to place their boxes, which means roundtrips of from two to five miles.

To be added to this story of a double mail delivery is the fact that the carrier from Stanton, who apparently travels two miles farther east than he should be required to travel, after going about six miles north (over the same six miles as the Big Spring carrier) then turns back west again for another two miles to the same road up which some folks think he should have traveled in the first place.

Postmaster Nat Shick of Big Spring says that all he can see that is accomplished by the present arrangement is that it gives the Stanton carrier an extra four miles to drive a day, and it also accomplishes a great inconvenience for the families living along the south six miles of that road from U. S. Highway 80 that intersects the Big Spring-Andrews Highway at the Lewis Store between Big Spring and Lamesa.

Mrs. Jessie Clinton lives up that road. She has to make a round-trip of about two miles to get her mail down at Highway 80. In the next house is J. O. Hardin who has to make a roundtrip of about two and one-half miles. In the next house is A. B. Johnson who has to make a roundtrip of about five miles.

On up this road (a road that doesn't exist as far as the Post Office Department is concerned) another of the residents is W. D. (Doc) Bryant. To get his mail he travels toward the north, instead of the south, for about one mile to the point at which the Stanton carrier crosses back to the road he passed up in the beginning along Highway 80.

These people once prepared a petition and sent it to the Post Office Department but so far it hasn't done them any good. Now they're getting ready to try again. They're pretty much "gravated" because while there's no carrier at all coming up their road, there are two carriers paralleling them less than two miles to the east with one of these cutting back to the west and intersecting the road on which these people live at a point just north of the 13 possible delivery stops between that point and Highway 80.

Among those living on this six-mile segment of discriminated-against road are, as has been mentioned, Mrs. Jessie Clinton, J. O. Hardin, A. B. Johnson, W. D. Bryant, Luther Griffith, and others. On this section of road, also, are farms owned by J. W. Elrod and Dr. H. B. G. Cowper, both of Big Spring.

"We don't see any sense in this arrangement," say these folks, and the Grub Line Rider must agree that he doesn't either.

When we rode up to Hardin's place to talk with him about it, there and helped compile a list of the people who would be served if it could be arranged for one carrier to go up one road and the other carrier to come up this way, all of which would save the government four miles of travel a day and the folks along the road many, many more miles of travel the same days.

When asked how much rain he had gotten this month, the elder Hardin was happy to tell us. "It sounds good," he commented. "We've had 5.2 inches in October, more than I've had in three years." Hardin didn't produce a crop this year. He planted six acres of cotton, got it blown out and quit. If it hadn't blown out, and if any more had been planted, it would all have been lost to the drought. But now he's getting ready for 1954 production.

A. B. Johnson is fighting the drought through with a job at Webb Air Force Base. He planted a crop but the drought brought nothing more than immaturity. His crop resembles young cotton more than anything else.

Mrs. Johnson says she certainly hopes the matter of the mail route can be str lightened out. She is treasurer of the Lakeview Baptist Church of which the Rev. Don Perkins of Big Spring is pastor. Mrs. Johnson says that when she mails out church literature part of it goes to Stanton and through the Post Office there and back into the community, and part of it to the Post Office in Big Spring and then back into the community. It doesn't appear to be sensible to her. There's been a good rain on the Johnson farm, too, this month, and as much time as he can spare from his job at the Base, A. B. is putting in getting his land ready to resist blowing, to conserve moisture and to produce next year.

All these folks hope the drought is broken at last.

Doc Bryant is apparently doing better than some of his neighbors. He expects to produce about 10 bales of cotton from 270 acres and he only has to travel one mile for his mail, because two carriers travel the same road and none comes up his way.

Doc's house is on a high spot about 15 airline miles from Webb Base here at Big Spring. Late in the afternoon, when the sun is about an hour high, he says it's quite interesting to watch the jets cut their didos and fancy figures over the base as they flash in the day's fading sun.

But out in that community they can't figure out the perversity of the Post Office Department with one road traveled by two carriers and a nearby parallel road not being traveled at all.

Again they're going to try and get something done about it.

Hiram McGuire, 43, bartender in a Los Angeles tavern which three gunmen tried to hold up, stands with revolver in hand and stares at the body of one of the bandits, identified as Darrell Dotch, 16, whom he shot during a roaring gun battle. McGuire was shot in the chest and a patron was wounded before McGuire grabbed a gun and began firing. One of the other bandits was captured and the third escaped. Jerry Linder, Los Angeles Mirror photographer who was only two blocks away when the battle started, made this dramatic shot moments late. (AP Wirephoto).

No Decline In Food Prices Seen In '54

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retail food prices in 1954 will average close to this year's level, the Agriculture Department predicted today. And, the department said, farmers probably will receive about the same share of the consumer's food dollar—a share estimated at 45 cents for 1953. Food supplies about as large as in 1953 are in prospect for 1954, the department said. "With no marked change in prospect for consumer income, the demand for food is likely to continue strong," the department said. It made separate forecasts on the food situation and marketing costs. "The relative stickiness (slowness to fluctuate) of food processing and marketing costs will also tend to maintain retail food prices," it added. The estimate that the farmer got 45 cents of the consumer's food dollars in 1953—2 cents less than in 1952—is the lowest since 1941. But it is higher than in most pre-World War II years. Retail prices of food products in the January-August period this year averaged 2 per cent below the corresponding period of 1952, but charges for marketing these foods averaged slightly higher, the department said. Dairy Official Dies HOUSTON (AP)—Leon A. Prison Escapee Is Charged By FBI With Kidnaping

SHERMAN (AP)—Lloyd Clayton Lay, 18-year-old escapee from a North Carolina prison, was charged with kidnaping by FBI agents in federal court here yesterday. Lay was charged in connection with the abduction and robbery of a Houston post office employee, Herbert Hoover March. Lay was arrested in Hamburg, Ark., Monday. Officers say he was driving a car belonging to March. March told officers he was en route to Houston from Oklahoma last Sunday when he was robbed and tied to a tree near Lake Dallas. March broke free and made his way to Denton, where he told police of the robbery. Officers say Lay was serving a term for armed robbery. They said they were still looking for the other two men involved.

Airman Arrested In Connection With Lumber Yard Fires

HOUSTON (AP)—A 26-year-old airman was arrested here yesterday and questioned about the three lumber yard fires Sunday which caused close to $350,000 in damages. Police officers L. V. Dawson and J. B. Evans said they arrested the airman, who was at the scene of each of the fires, after he had made several remarks about the blazes. The airman was quoted as saying he came here from Washington, D. C., on a motorcycle, arriving Sunday. He is on leave. The fires all occurred within a period of eight hours. Rewards totaling $1,050 have been offered for information leading to the arrest of the person responsible for the fires.

Hilton Claims Foul As Bitter John Wayne Divorce Trial Ends

By JAMES BACON LOS ANGELES (AP)—No hands were raised in victory today in the bitter John Wayne divorce trial but Nicky Hilton claimed a foul. "I'm the loser in this fight," declared the former husband of Elizabeth Taylor. "This is ridiculous." He referred to the charge made by the movie box office king that Hilton was the other man in the Wayne's stormy domestic life. A peace-loving judge called a sudden halt yesterday to the Wayne fight. He granted a divorce to each party, applying the so-called "humane principle" of the California divorce law. This seldom used principle is reserved for cases where no concession is seen for either side. The double divorce came after Wayne charged—and his wife denied—that she was in love with Hilton. Both sides agreed—and so did Hilton—that the hotel heir spent a week as the guest of Mrs. Wayne at her home while the actor was in Honolulu. Wayne even charged his wife with doodling with the idea of marrying Hilton but Hilton angrily denied all this. "Everybody leaves out the fact that I was a guest of Betsy von Furstenberg, not Mrs. Wayne," Hilton told a reporter. "Betsy was my only reason for being in the house, not Cheta (a Mexican nickname for Mrs. Wayne, freely translated as Sweet Little Fug-nose)." Hilton said Miss Von Furstenberg, an actress and German countess who was Hilton's sweetheart at the time, also was a guest at the Wayne home. Mrs. Wayne, on the stand, upheld Hilton's contention that he was there with Miss Von Furstenberg. "Mr. Hilton had injured his head," Mrs. Wayne testified. "He was living in a hotel and Miss Von Furstenberg thought it would not look nice if she were to take care of him in a hotel room. So she asked could she bring him home to my house." But Wayne charged his wife with being more than a Good Samaritan to Hilton. He said he learned that his wife entertained a man during his absence but he didn't know it was Hilton until his butler handed him a memo pad on which were some of his wife's doodlings. The pad contained such doodlings as "Chata and Nick," "Mrs. Nick Hilton" and "Esperanza Hilton," the actor testified. "When I saw this, I vomited," Wayne testified. He explained: "Early in our romance and married life, Chata used to doodle with my name. I thought it kind of romantic. When she used Hilton's name instead of mine in doodling, I knew how she felt about him." Wayne denied that he had ever laid a hand on his wife except in self-defense. She had pictured him as a drunken husband who frequently beat her. He said the times that she accused him of hitting her were actually occasions when she got drunk and fell down and bruised herself. One night club scene he described had Mrs. Wayne dancing with another man and falling on the floor. "When I tried to pick her up," he testified, "she screamed at me that I had knocked her down." Mrs. Wayne said she was happy with the outcome of the trial and with her property settlement, reportedly $500,000 over a 10-year stretch.

Sinatra Is Back To See Gardner

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra is back today to talk over his domestic woes with Ava Gardner. The actress looked up a lawyer earlier this week but he said she hadn't come to any decision about seeking a divorce from the crooner. Sinatra, who completed a singing engagement in Las Vegas, Nev., Tuesday, flew to Los Angeles last night. He brushed past newsmen at the airport without commenting on his latest difficulties with his wife. Earlier, he said that their trouble was only a misunderstanding, enlarged by the press, and that he expected everything to be straightened out. Their dispute arose from Sinatra's failure to meet Ava on her return from Europe recently, a spokesman for the crooner said.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Shapely Mala Powers Has Diet Suggestions

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — The first time I met Mala Powers was shortly after she had made her debut as blond Roxanne in "Cyrano de Bergerac." Since then, she has played many parts including sexy Geraldine in the picture by that name. When I visited Mala on the "Geraldine" set at Republic, she was wearing the costume which you see in the picture. "It isn't very concealing," Mala confessed, "and I have to have my figure in good shape to wear it. One thing about the flat screen," Mala continued, "is that it makes everyone look heavier by as much as ten pounds. What is a normal weight is too much when I start a picture, so that just before I go to work, I go on a diet."

HERE'S YOUR DIET

Try Mala's diet. It might be just the one you've been looking for. But if you want an easy 7-day diet, listing food for each meal during the week, then you'll want a copy of leaflet M-32, "Gene Tierney's Seven-Day Diet." Get your copy by sending 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

"Then when you finish a picture do you have a grand spree to get back to normal?" I asked. "No," Mala said seriously. "I don't want to get into bad habits. When I was a teenager I didn't like any of the things which were good for me. My favorite place to eat was a soda fountain. Naturally with all those sweets I was overweight. Now, I am glad to say, I've broken that habit. "When I got my first part I was told to lose weight. I went to a doctor for a diet. He stressed three points which I still follow when I want to reduce. Very little salt, no liquids with meals or an hour before or after, and no meal after three o'clock. It's the food which you consume late in the day, food which is not being burned up with activity, which makes you gain the most.

"After I was so ill I needed to be built up and I remembered this and had a glass of milk and oatmeal cookies before going to bed." "But what about the reducing diet?" I asked. "Oh," Mala answered, "it goes something like this. Breakfast consists of either a boiled egg, one piece of dry toast or glass of juice and a cereal with skim milk and a sugar substitute.

"No fruit on the day you have the egg?" "Lemon juice in water when you get up, but that's all," Mala continued. "For lunch as large a steak as you wish to eat but be sure to cut all the fat off. You can substitute ground meat if you prefer provided it's all lean. You may have a green salad with lemon dressing and one green or yellow vegetable with a little butter. But this should be your last meal for the day, except that you may have half a grapefruit before retiring." "Don't you find this diet difficult?" I asked. "Yes," Mala replied, "but the first day is the hardest and you can lose so much so fast that I'd rather be strict for a few days than stay with a more lenient diet for weeks."

Mary Margaret

McBRIDE SAYS

One of the stories that members of my family are wont to tell with rueful laughter concerns the time at the annual Monroe County, Mo. fair, when my father was exhibiting Lyle, our handsome black stallion, in the ring.

After the pawing, prancing stallions had been thoroughly shown off, the judges came forth with the prizes. Papa won, but instead of the blue ribbon he had confidently expected, he was presented with the red, which meant second place. Furious he tossed the inferior trophy to the ground and stamped on it.

Those who tell the story are embarrassed because they sincerely deplore my father's breaking all the rules of good sportsmanship. On the other hand, they take some measure of pride in the McBride family temper because it always, so far exceeded in volume and violence anything else known in the county that it became a legend.

For at least four generations, it has furnished a theme for shocked conversation and at last, it seems, the McBrides have been, if not entirely justified in failing to restrain themselves, at least on the right track.

For everywhere psychologists and medical authorities are pointing to the dangers of concealing or storing up anger. Having inherited the famous or infamous temper, I've always been inclined, perhaps in self-justification, to favor sudden explosive outbursts of rage as against the disciplined containment of the seethe. I can make a pretty fine case for us, too. A quick temper, I tell myself and my victims, is a nice direct escape valve, injuring at most only those close at hand, while the seethe boils along sullenly, eventually shattering not only himself but innocent bystanders when the long delayed blow up comes.

A quick temper, violent as a thunderstorm ends as suddenly as the lightning. The rainbow and sunshine follows quickly. But when I, for instance, am ready to smile happily and carry on as usual I see to my horror that the seethe is sulking and silent. More serious too than what this does to me is that the bottled up person will eventually take it out on an innocent wife, secretary, child or pet.

It's when you unite a seethe and an exploder in matrimony, though, that you really get trouble. One such marriage I know was irrevocably dissolved last year. Jane never tried to control her quick anger. Tom was easily hurt but couldn't scream nor even talk out what he felt. After one of the scenes in which Jane always played the star role she usually headed for the kitchen humming blithely to bake a lovely cake while Tom swallowed stomach-settlers, over-disciplined the children and prepared for days of silent cold withdrawal. No wonder that when something had to give it was their marriage. Jane suffered, but her heart, stomach and blood-pressure today are in better shape than Tom's.

Yes, on the face of it, it looks to me as though the McBride temper is better for the McBrides, at least. Still, my conscience plagues me enough so that lately I've been trying to find something to take it out on besides people. A friend with a temper like mine, cleans house furiously when she'd like to wring little Johnnie's neck. A junior executive viciously wallops golf balls instead of his boss' head. A secretary I know tackles a weed patch with her bare hands when she wants to pull someone's hair. Myself, I like the idea of a little Wisconsin woman who saves all her old dishes to smash on the kitchen floor when she gets mad.

Try To Tap Brain's Memory Is Started

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter
ATLANTA (AP)—Government scientists have launched a new project striving to tap the secrets of the brain's memory process — as a by-product of a surgical operation to aid epileptics.

Dr. William H. Sebrell Jr., director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), Bethesda, Md., related this to the Southern Medical Assn., whose 47th annual meeting ends today.

He cited the project as an example of the type of work being done at NIH's recently opened clinical research center.

There, selected sufferers from various major diseases are given "the best possible" treatments — but only as a part of a broader effort to improve these treatments.

and to increase science's knowledge of the basic processes of life, both in sickness and in health.

Dr. Sebrell said that in recent years an operation was developed which has shown great promise in treating psychomotor epilepsy. That's a form of epilepsy which has proved much more difficult to treat with drugs than have the other two main forms of the disease.

The operation is now being performed at the clinical center he said, and affords unusual opportunities for research on the temporal lobe of the brain — site of the epileptic damage, and also believed to be the area playing a major role in the normal process of memory. The operation consists of cutting away damaged brain tissue.

Sebrell said that a Canadian scientist, Dr. Wilder Penfield, provided the first tipoff more than a year ago that the temporal lobe might be a big factor in the memory process, and he added:

"Our investigations are now concerned with following up this preliminary finding. We do not know which half of the temporal lobe, if not both, dominates the process of recording experience, and we are trying to find evidence of internal and surface nerve pathways responsible for memory processes."

Sebrell said similar projects have been launched in other laboratories in this country, Canada and abroad.

The NIH project will have these further objectives:

1. Improving surgical techniques and instruments used in the anti-epileptic operation.
2. Examining and analyzing epileptic tissue cut from the brain in an attempt to determine the "chemistry" of an epileptic seizure — and perhaps develop improved drugs for combatting or preventing such attacks.
3. Increasing basic understanding of the functions of the various parts of the brain.

'Weaker Sex' Declared Myth

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Weaker sex? Rubbish! says Dr. William G. Leaman Jr., Philadelphia heart specialist, who stunned Oklahoma Clinical Society delegates (mostly male) with the bold statement:

"Women are smarter than men."

This weaker sex "myth," he said, just permits the ladies to live a less exciting life and outlive their male counterparts by an average of six to seven years.

"The man beyond 50 can't resist the temptation to shovel snow," said Leaman. "Men like to show off, to prove they are big and strong."

He said by keeping alive the weaker sex idea women don't have to overexert themselves to prove they still have their old vim and vigor.

It is extremely rare, he said, to make a diagnosis of heart disease in a woman under 40 who has neither high blood pressure nor diabetes. However, when a woman does have the same heart ailment as a man, she tolerates it better.

Added proof to explode the age-old myth of female weakness was offered.

"Women can lose more blood."

"Women can stand more shock."

"They are far better drivers (sic)."

"They can go into a profession and hold their own provided men don't give them an inferiority complex."

"They can hold down a job, take care of a home and family, and at the same time, guard the supposedly stronger male."

As a finale, Dr. Leaman added: "It is a woman's world if she wants to admit it and claim it. But perhaps she would be unwise to do so."

Dr. Leaman is chairman of the department of medicine at the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Traffic Safety Is Urged Here For Halloween

Chief of Police E. W. York issued a warning to motorists and children today concerning "Halloween traffic goblins." And he was dead serious.

"Sure, I believe in goblins," Chief York said. "But don't get me wrong. I'm not talking about spooks. The goblins I fear are the traffic goblins who victimize kids as they go about their 'haunting' on Halloween."

The chief pointed out that youngsters are likely to let safety rules go by the board in the excitement of scaring and being scared on Halloween. He said many of the child fatalities of Halloween are caused by youngsters dashing out into the street, often dressed in dark costumes and wearing masks.

"Masks prevent the children from seeing clearly," he said. "And dark costumes prevent the motorist from seeing them. Parents should see that the youngsters wear some light color on their costumes."

Drivers should be exceptionally careful in observing pedestrians during the holiday celebration, he said. Chief York spoke in support of the night traffic hazards program which his department and the Citizens' Traffic Commission are conducting during October.

"The best way to keep the kids safe is to keep them off the streets. I know this isn't easy, but if parents plan home or community parties, it can be done." York urged parents to band together to see that sufficient parties and gatherings are provided in their neighborhoods to keep youngsters entertained.

The Citizens Traffic Commission also urged motorists to keep a constant look-out for children and to be especially careful when driving in residential areas.

City Commission To Resume Session

While at the meeting Whitney was elected president of the City Managers Association, and Morrison was elected second vice president of the City Attorneys Association.

Radio Network Sends Obscene Word On Air
NEW YORK (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System was deluged with phone calls last night after an obscene word was heard on the air during the radioact of a news program.

A network spokesman said an engineer in Washington, D. C., station WDCD failed to cut off a live microphone on time and the word was voiced by an engineer or an announcer at the station. The incident occurred during the 15-minute broadcast by Fulton Lewis Jr.

Car Burglarized
Report that a car was burglarized while parked behind the Settles Hotel was received by police Wednesday. B. F. Robbins, car owner, said that the car was entered after the latch was broken on the vent glass. A hat was taken.

DWI Charges Filed
Charges of driving while intoxicated were filed in County Court this morning against J. O. Fuqua and Thomas Edwin Jones. Both were transferred to custody of county authorities by city police.

BONFIRE PILE HAS EVERYTHING

Barney Lopez, city fireman, will see some of his possessions go up in flames if he attends the high school bonfire before the Big Spring-Breckenridge game.

For police found three tires on the bonfire pile which he had reported stolen from an "out-house" behind his home. With Lopez' permission, police closed the case.

Incidentally, the students have been diligent in their search for fire wood. They actually have an out-house on the pile.

TV Antennas Are Discussed Here
The antenna problems of television reception in fringe areas such as Big Spring were discussed Wednesday evening at the auditorium by Don Freeman, engineer for American Phenolic Corporation.

Freeman showed a movie dealing with television transmission and discussed the TV station at Midland now being built. Bill Buford, chief engineer of the Midland station who was scheduled to speak, was unable to make the meeting.

The Midland station is running into slight difficulties in construction, and the traffic pattern will not be sent on Nov. 15 as originally planned, it was announced. However, Freeman said it is his understanding that programs are still scheduled to begin Dec. 1.

The Midland station will work on very high frequency (VHF), and should have clear reception for 70 to 80 miles, it was pointed out. Big Spring, being 40 miles away, should have no trouble receiving the TV signals with the proper antennas, he said.

Biggest Tax Payment

Viola Robinson, Howard County tax collector, receives check for $77,239.42 from Ira Galloway, tax agent for Seaboard Oil Company. The check is in payment of Seaboard's taxes to the county, state, Howard County Junior College and the Gay Hill, Center Point and Vealmoor schools. Total of Seaboard's tax bill was $79,628.27 but payment in October resulted in the three per cent discount. Seaboard was the largest taxpayer in the county last year and Mrs. Robinson says she thinks the company will hold the record again this year. The tax was assessed against oil producing properties of the company.

Live-Virus Vaccine For Polio May Prove Likeliest Answer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Polio vaccine made from live virus may prove better than the widely publicized new vaccine made from killed virus, a scientist here believes. Dr. Edward S. Sulkin, chief of virus research at the University of Texas' Southwestern Medical School, said three different types of poliomyelitis vaccine are under study with some of the research on live-virus vaccine being conducted in his laboratories. Just returned from the International Conference on Virus Research, in Detroit, Mich., Sulkin spoke yesterday before a Dallas service club.

Vaccine under study, he said, included the three known polio viruses, Brunhilde, Leon and Lansing. The most widely publicized is made of polio virus grown in test tubes and then killed with formaldehyde, Sulkin said, adding that its degree of protection is not yet known.

The second, still experimental, is made from living virus, has been injected into animals along with gamma globulin, and "might be hazardous" for humans, the research scientist said. The third vaccine, the one Dr. Sulkin's laboratories are working on, would offer the most effective protection against polio, he said. It would be made of live virus passed through living tissue so many times that it would lose its disease-causing properties but retain its immunizing powers. Similar vaccines, he said, have worked best with smallpox and yellow fever.

This virus with a changed personality would be what scientists call a mutant of the original agent. Dr. Sulkin said that because polio virus can be grown in a test tube, research on vaccine is now much faster than formerly when it had to be grown in live monkeys. He said researchers at Pearl River, N. Y., already have developed polio virus mutants.

Much more work must go into the polio vaccines, he pointed out, before they are ready for general use, but he added: "Work is progressing rapidly, and I believe a safe and practical vaccine will be ready within five years—possibly within two."

1954 Clip Price For U.S. Wool Seen Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today that prices to domestic wool producers will continue firm for the 1954 clip—that is, slightly above the national average support level of 53.1 cents.

In a summary of the wool situation here and abroad, the department said average prices to domestic producers for the 1954 crop probably will not be greatly different from this year. The average for the 1953 season, it said, was estimated at slightly above both last year and the 53.1 cent support level.

Prices received by domestic growers for shorn wool during the first six months of the current marketing season, which began in April, averaged above last year, reflecting the generally higher level of world wool prices. The department said the mid-month averages for the first four months were above the national average support level, but for August and September were slightly below.

Prices of wool in Australia since the opening of the present selling season have fluctuated near the closing prices of last June and have been slightly above those of a year earlier. Quotations at Boston for domestic wools early in October were well above a year earlier. Quotations for most fine, half, and three-quarter blood and lower wools were at or slightly below loan rates.

Missing Girl Baby-Sat As Aid To Friend

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Evelyn Hartley is missing—probably dead—today because she did a favor on Saturday night for a girl friend.

The popular high school junior, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Hartley, has been the object of intensive search since her disappearance in mid-evening five nights ago from the home of Viggo Rasmussen. She was there only because a classmate at La Crosse High School asked her to substitute on a baby-sitting job.

"Evelyn had done no baby sitting for three months," said Dist. Atty. John Bosshard. "Her father tells us she filled in for Rasmussen's regular baby sitter so she could go to a football game. The chances are Evelyn was an accidental victim."

Bosshard declined to name the girl she substituted for. The football game, between La Crosse State College, where both Dr. Hartley and Rasmussen are professors, and River Falls State College, also was attended by the Rasmusens.

The possibility that a boy friend of Evelyn's might be involved in her disappearance was discounted by Bosshard. "All the boys she's ever gone out with—and there aren't many—have been cleared," he said. "She had few dates and no steady friend. We've even cleared boys who had asked her for dates and had been refused."

Bosshard discounted also a report from Milwaukee that a mysterious man described as being six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds might be involved in the case. The man being sought by Milwaukee police, led a bundle containing two blood-stained shirts at a railway station boothblack stand. The district attorney said it seemed unlikely to him that a man that size could have entered the 14-inch basement window of the Rasmussen home.

Still under investigation here are some 35 to 40 known sex deviates. Still being analyzed by the state crime laboratory at Madison are the stained white bra and panties found two miles outside the city and the man's trousers found some 12 miles farther down the highway.

Gen. Thompson Takes A Bride

AMARILLO (AP)—Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, and Mrs. Myda Bivins of Amarillo were to be married here today.

The ceremony was scheduled at 10:30 a.m. at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Amarillo. A breakfast was planned for later at the home of Mrs. Betty Childers, daughter of Mrs. Bivins.

The Bivins family is a pioneer one of Amarillo and prominent in the oil and cattle industries. Mrs. Bivins is the widow of Miles Bivins, who died in 1949.

Gen. Thompson is from Amarillo. Friends said the two planned to board a private plane for San Francisco after the breakfast and depart on the liner Lurline for Honolulu.

Thompson's first wife, the former May Peterson, died in October of last year. She was a former Metropolitan Opera Company and concert singer, daughter of a Methodist evangelist.

Thompson is the senior member of the railroad commission, has served on it since his appointment by the late Gov. Ross Sterling June 4, 1932.

Auto Stolen Last July Is Recovered Minus Its Motor

An automobile which was taken from a local car lot last July and later written off as a total loss by an insurance company has been recovered in Provo, Utah—minus the motor and transmission. Police said the car, a late model Chevrolet, was taken from the Gillihan, Hamby and Newsum lot by a man who was "trying it out" before purchase. He left a check totaling $495 which later proved worthless.

A warrant was issued by the county attorney for the man's arrest, but nothing was heard of the car until this week. Fidelity and Casualty Company had already paid off the car value to the used car dealers.

Park Hill To Have Carnival Tonight

ATROCITIES

fiendish torture, the flesh being perforated with multiple punctures, apparent, inflicted by sharpened sticks or bamboo spears. The prospect that any war criminals would be brought to trial is remote. Out of the accumulation of evidence, rumors, accusations and confessions by captured enemy soldiers the Army has prepared material for trial in 43 cases. But accused, as well as some witnesses, have gone from American hands. Some of them were released in the exchange of war prisoners last summer. Others disappeared in the mass breakouts from war prisoner camps last June. Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) in San Francisco now, is reported quietly picking up eyewitness accounts of Communist atrocities for use in televised public hearings to start in early December.

Dulles, Eisenhower Seem To Be Trying To Kill Big 4 Meet Idea

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles seem to be trying, slowly and painstakingly, to rid the free world of the idea that a top-level talk with Soviet Premier Malenkov might bring world peace.

As is obvious from repeated public statements, they regard the idea as a vain and dangerous illusion.

Eisenhower, at his news conference yesterday, sought to deflate the value of personal diplomacy—a value which has tended to grow in recent months, in part because of the repeated proposals of British Prime Minister Churchill for an East-West talk between chiefs of government.

Eisenhower has been asked questions about the possibility of such a meeting with greater frequency perhaps than questions on any other subject. Dulles similarly pressed for his views, has also had the problem as a diplomat of trying to dissuade Churchill from pressing the matter to a conclusion.

Together, Eisenhower and Dulles have had constantly to reckon with public opinion and the intense hope for a miracle of peace which creates political pressures.

especially in England and Western Europe. In the past the President has been inclined to take the positive line that he would be glad to meet anybody halfway around the world if he thought that would do any good for peace. Dulles tended to press a somewhat more negative

Dean Proposes Fresh Approach To Parley

By SAM SUMMERLIN PANMUNJOM (U)—U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean today proposed a fresh approach to the problem of arranging a Korean peace conference, but the Communists retorted with their angriest blast in four days of preliminary negotiations.

He told the Reds to "stop the nonsense" of demanding seats for neutrals at a peace conference and get on with the business of fixing a time and place for the political conference.

When that job is completed, he said, he'll be willing to talk about who will attend.

Despite the Communist tirade, he said the Communists showed a "good deal of interest" in his new proposal to sidestep the agenda, cut off debate on the neutrals and discuss a time and place for the conference immediately.

The Reds did not reply directly, but Dean noted that while they heaped angry words on him "they are outwardly polite and outwardly interested."

"Whenever the Communists are on a weak spot they hurl invective and abuse on the other side. You've got to expect it and leave your personal feelings out of the conference room," he told newsmen outside the conference hut in Korea's neutral zone. Dean opened the 2-hour 20-minute session with his appeal.

When he finished North Korean Foreign Ministry representative Ki Sok Bok leveled a stinging attack at him.

Yesterday, the American had called Communist China and North Korea "agents" of Russia and said the Soviets poured weapons into Korea during the war.

The Red delegate lodged a "strong protest" and insisted that he "retract this rude misstatement."

Dean told correspondents that what he said "is a fact. How can I retract it?"

Dean, striving to make progress in arranging for the peace conference, promised the Reds that if they would first agree on a time and place for the conference he then was "prepared in good faith to exchange views to the fullest extent possible" on composition of the conference.

A source, however, stressed that Dean's offer to exchange views is "no abandonment" of the United Nations position that only the belligerents, and Russia, if the Reds want her, should attend the conference.

"It still stands," said the source, that Dean "does not have any authority on his own" to change the U.N. stand on composition of the conference.

The Communist delegate repeated demands that neutral nations attend the peace conference and declared, "This is the firm and unalterable stand of our side."

South Korea's foreign minister, meanwhile, told a reporter he is optimistic over the chances for agreement in the preliminary talks and said his government will make a sincere effort to help the peace conference reach an agreement.

Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said South Korea still reserves the right to take independent action after Jan. 28—180 days after the Korean armistice was signed—unless a treaty is completed.

But his tone was conciliatory. In sharp contrast to violent threats he had made earlier.

Morse Charges White House In Proposal's Death

DETROIT (U)—Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) said today "the White House intervened to switch crucial votes" and thus helped kill a proposal to earmark offshore oil revenues for defense and education.

Morse, who bolted the Republican party in last year's presidential campaign, said the test was on an "oil-for-education" amendment to the continental shelf bill passed earlier this year by Congress. The law provides for federal development of mineral resources in submerged lands outside historic state boundaries.

The Senate originally adopted, 45-37, an amendment by Sen. Hill (D-Ala) which would have earmarked a share of any oil revenues from these lands for defense purposes for three years and for education thereafter.

Morse, in a talk prepared for the Detroit Metropolitan Teachers' Institute, declared that "the Senate Republican managers killed the amendment" in a subsequent Senate-House conference charged with compromising differences between the versions passed by the two branches.

When the compromise came up for final Senate approval, Morse declared, the votes of Idaho's Republican Sens. Dworshak and Welker were changed and "the Hill amendment lost by two votes."

Recorded Senate votes in Washington show Welker and Dworshak originally voted for the Hill amendment on June 24, but voted for the conference report, which dropped the amendment, on June 30.

Neither Idaho Senator could be reached immediately for comment. Morse, without going into detail, said: "Let there be no mistake about this: The White House intervened to switch crucial votes."

Negroes At LSU Ruling Is Reversed By Appellate Court

NEW ORLEANS (U)—A ruling that opened certain courses at Louisiana State University to qualified Negroes was headed back to federal district court today for action after reversal by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

"The appellate court yesterday handed down a two to one opinion reversing the ruling of Federal District Judge J. Skelly Wright who had ruled that Negroes could attend the combined arts and sciences and law courses at LSU.

The case was brought by A. P. Tureaud Jr., 17-year-old New Orleans Negro. His father, an attorney, asked for an injunction to restrain the board of supervisors at LSU from refusing to admit Negroes unless forced to do so by court order.

When the compromise came up for final Senate approval, Morse declared, the votes of Idaho's Republican Sens. Dworshak and Welker were changed and "the Hill amendment lost by two votes."

Recorded Senate votes in Washington show Welker and Dworshak originally voted for the Hill amendment on June 24, but voted for the conference report, which dropped the amendment, on June 30.

Steer-Buckie And Wichita Falls' Games Top Program

District Titles Are At Stake

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Assistant Press
A schedule of 220 games that include the most important battles of the year bring the Texas schoolboy football field into the championship stretch this weekend.
The big program started Wednesday night as Woodrow Wilson of Dallas took a stranglehold on the District 4 championship in Class AAAA with a 31-0 victory over Adamson of Dallas. It kept Woodrow Wilson in the fast-diminishing ranks of the unbeaten and untied—one of two teams in Class AAAA with this record. The other is Waco.

Face Blackwell Today

If Blackwell scores against Forsan in their District Seven six-man battle today, its backs will have to find some way to go around or through these individuals. The pictured Buffs are, left to right, Charles Camp, Darrell Gaskins, Red Draper and Butch Padgett. Forsan is unbeaten and a strong favorite to win conference honors.

Forsan Buffaloes Invade Blackwell Field Today

Waco figures in one of the headline games of the week, clashing with Wichita Falls at Wichita Falls Friday night.
Another top-flight engagement is Reagan (Houston) vs Lamar (Houston).
Other outstanding games are Breckenridge at Big Spring and McKinney at Gainesville in Class AAA; Spur at Floydada and Comanche at Weatherford in Class AA, and Clifton at Itasca, Rockwall at Richardson and Vanderbilt at Palacios in Class A.

But there are many more that will go a long way toward deciding where district championships are to fall. There are 79 district titles to be determined in the four classes that play through to state championships.

Half of the 26 undefeated, untied teams left in the state are in danger but it's definite that at least two of them will be ushered out because in two instances—both in class AA—teams with perfect records play each other.

These are the Floydada-Spur and Comanche-Weatherford contests in which district leaders meet to determine the undisputed top runs.
Mighty Waco, rated No. 1 in the state in most books, needs a Wichita Falls team that must take this one or fade from the picture. Lamar, undefeated but once tied and still ranked with the top teams of the state, will probably fall before Reagan if it is to lose in the district fight, which, however, doesn't appear likely.

Breckenridge, Class AAA defending champion, clashes with a Big Spring team that is unbeaten inside the district, and just might make trouble for the Buckaroos. McKinney, conqueror of hitherto unbeaten Sherman, and Gainesville, undefeated in district play, should put on quite a ball game. Richardson and Vanderbilt-Palacios struggles are affairs that will decide undisputed district leadership.

District champions in Classes AA and A must be determined by Nov. 21 with Classes AAAA and AAA having one more week after that.

Big Spring 11th In News' Poll

DALLAS (AP)—Texarkana and Breckenridge, East and West Texas schoolboy grid powers, hung to the top positions in the Dallas News' Class AAA football poll, but South Texas teams made the largest advance this week.
Edinburg, seventh a week ago, jumped to the third position; Edison of San Antonio went from eighth to fifth and Freepport (Brazosport) improved from 10th to sixth place. Sherman, third last week, dropped to 10th after being upset by unranked McKinney, 14-0.
The week's top 10:
1. Texarkana (4-AAA)
2. Breckenridge (3-AAA)
3. Edinburg (3-AAA)
4. Kigora (4-AAA)
5. Edison of San Antonio (7-AAA)
6. Freepport (Brazosport) (6-AAA)
7. Lufkin (4-AAA) and Temple (5-AAA) tied.
8. Corsicana (5-AAA)
9. Sherman (6-AAA)
The wide distribution of support for teams in all sections of the state also is shown by the second ten rankings:
11. Big Spring; 12. Harlandale; 13-14. Port Neches, Brownwood and Marshall tied; 15. Palestine; 17. McCallum of Austin; 18. Kingsville; 19. McKinney; 20. Sweetwater.

MAXWELL LEADS MEXICO FIELD BY SIX STROKES

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two Texans stole the golfing show here yesterday as the 28th National Amateur Championships opened.
Joani Brunl, Laredo, and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, were both medalists, heading the women's and men's classes.
Miss Brunl, the youngest participant ever to take part in the tournament, turned in a 75 for the low women's score on the 9,95-yard, par-72 course.
She led five other foreigners in the qualifying field of 10 for the women's title. The 13-year-old required special permission of the tournament committee to enter.
The 75 was the lowest score of her brief golfing career.
Wiffi Smith of Guadalajara carded a 78 without extending herself. Miss Smith has won the Women's Open Championship of Mexico three times but has never won this tournament. Earlier this year she won the Women's "World" Amateur

Beasley May Miss Friday Night Go

Polywogs Beaten

FORT WORTH (AP)—Baylor's Cubs, after piling up a 27-point lead in the first half, fought off a determined TCU Polywog counter offensive in the second half to win a 34-21 decision here last night.

Sauer Promised Writers Smith Would Be Star

By WILBUR MARTIN
WACO (AP)—They swear big James Ray Smith is so modest that when he ambles across the campus at Baylor University only a handful of students know who he is.
But ask any of the players on the football teams of California, Miami, Arkansas, Vanderbilt or Texas A&M and they'll tell you—easily.
Smith, the 215-pound, 20-year-old junior who's a one-man wrecking crew on Baylor's unbeaten team, yesterday was named "Linenman of the Week" by the Associated Press for his magnificent play against Texas A&M last week.
It was the accuracy of his extra-point kicking—and all-around play—that gave the Bears a 14-13 victory and third place in the Associated Press National football rankings.

Smith grinned with pleasure when told of the honor, but promptly said he didn't deserve it.
"I don't believe it is quite fair to single out any individual when it was necessary for every one of us to fight hard to win against a very fine team like Texas A&M," he said.

He was in the minority. Everybody else around Baylor said it was only fair, but it would have been a downright shame if he hadn't been selected.
Before the season, Coach George Sauer told sports writers Smith would be an "All-America" tackle this year.

"I think he's the same type as Eddie Weir, a Nebraska All-America in 1924 and 1925," Sauer said. "Only I think Smith is faster than Weir." Weir is now track coach at Nebraska, where Sauer was an All-America fullback in 1933.
Smith has already convinced a lot of people he is by averaging 53 minutes of play, handling the extra-point kicking, and kicking off.

Against Texas A&M, Smith threw the key blocks that made possible long runs by L. G. Dupre, Baylor's star. He recovered a fumble that led to Baylor's winning touchdown and, then, of course, kicked the all-important extra points.

A blonde giant who's studying business, Smith is exceptionally fast for his size.

A fullback in high school at West Columbia, he was switched to tackle at Baylor. Last year, as a sophomore, he was on the offensive platoon. This year, he's been one of the stalwarts of Baylor's "Fur-cuts Fifteen," the little band of players who've carried most of the burdens for the Bears in their first five games.

Yearling 11's Play Snyder

The Seventh and Eighth Grade Yearlings go to Snyder this evening for return engagements with footballers of that city.
Darrell Flynt will send his Seventh Graders into action at 6 p.m. Last time out, his team scored in the final moment to defeat the Snyder team by a touchdown.
The Eighth Graders, coached by Roy Thurston, play immediately afterwards. That band of Yearlings lost to Snyder last time out.

TEDDY ON WAY BACK

Davis And Araujo Tangle Friday

SUMMIT, N. J. (AP)—For seven long years, sad-faced Teddy Davis stumbled along at a 500 clip in the featherweight class. He fought the best in their own back yards but nobody paid much attention.
At the end of 1952, he had just slipped back to .500 after losing a return bout to Percy Bassett at Philadelphia. His career record of 47 victories, 47 defeats and 2 draws.
Now he is riding high, winning five of six starts this year and is ranked No. 2 challenger in the 125-pound division. Tomorrow night he boxes George Araujo, third-ranked lightweight, at Madison Square Garden.
What happened?
"The first manager I had knew nothing about managing," he said yesterday at Ehsan's training camp. "He threw me in with anybody ready or not. The 10th fight I had was with Sammy Angott, who used to be the lightweight champ. I thought I was ahead until I got busted up."
Davis, called "Red Top" because a publicity-conscious former manager once talked him into dying his hair to attract attention fought them all. He was a "road" fighter, taking on all comers wherever there was a payday.
Camden, Wheeling, Zanesville, Holyoke, New Bedford, Fall River, St. Louis. He knew them all, winning some and losing more. After a while it must have seemed it didn't make much difference.
"I was down," he said. "Ready to toss in the sponge. Along the way I fought Willie Pep three times so I sat down and wrote him a letter. I was working on a construction job in Ohio at Zanesville. I couldn't get a fight any place."

BSQC Will Meet At 7 O'clock

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will hold its meeting at 7 p.m. rather than 7:30 tonight, it has been announced.
Members will gather at the High School Cafeteria to witness action film of the TCU-Texas A&M and Big Spring-Vernon games. Members of the Texas A&M Club will screen this former game.
Business session of the BSQC will be brief.
Meetings of the organization have been moved forward from 7:30 to avoid conflict with school activities.

Musky Salow, who now manages Davis, picked up the story.
"I was in Hartford with Willie when we got the letter," said Salow. "I was going good so I pulled out a $50 bill and told Willie to sent it. Willie pulled out $25 and said 'Okay, we'll be co-managers.'"
"So about two days later Davis shows up in Hartford. Pep and I managed him. The fighter never knew how to train before. Never did any road work."
"Last year after Teddy boxed Charley Riley in Providence, Willie asked me if I wanted to buy him out. He said he wanted no more managing but was going back to fighting and wanted to drop all the outside business."

Most SWE Clubs Wind Up Scrimmages For Week

Light workouts, the forward pass and casualty lists were the big talk about the Southwest Conference grid camps Wednesday.
Several of the "have" clubs closed out their scrimmaging for the week. The "have nots" took it out on the dummies and worked on new defenses, looking to stop the enemy of the week with skull-duggery.

Southern Methodist, generally the optimist's camp, had trouble with its air arm. Quarterback Sammy Stollenwerk was sharper than Duane Nutt, first team field chief, but both boys will have to be sharper against Texas in the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Backs Hal O'Brien and Bill Crisler were on top of the injured list. O'Brien, flashy runner, worked in sweat clothes. He may make it against the Longhorns.
Texas, on the other hand, had a good day. New plays were worked into the offense and sophomore quarterback Charley Brewer clicked on his long passes.

George Robinson, who led the club in ground gained last week, was moved up to the No. 2 backfield. Robinson ran against Rice for 33 yards and takes over Chester Simcik's spot. In another move Ed Kelley takes the injured Billy Quinn's right half position. Quinn is out for the season with a bum elbow.

The No. 2 left end spot—left vacant by Malcolm Kitchens' broken hand—will be filled by Bob Tucker of Houston or Don Jones of Lubbock.
Baylor's unbeaten Bears, a "have" squad, wrapped up the rough part of the week with a long scrimmage. The accent was on the forward pass.

A long session was turned over to pass defense and for good measure backs Cotton Davidson and Billy Hooper, prime offensive weapons, worked on their passing accuracy. They'll be ready should they be forced to open up Saturday against TCU.

The Frogs, on the other hand, won't be ready and probably won't be deep. Word in the Fort Worth camp was that Malvin Fowler, part-time No. 1 quarterback, was benched with a muscle spasm in his back. Fowler has alternated with Ray McKown as the first quarterback.

Fowler, trainer Elmer Brown said, may miss the Baylor game. He is TCU's second casualty this week on the starting team. End Johnny Crouch had a hand operation earlier this week. He'll be out three weeks.

The Frogs did not scrimmage. Texas A&M, rugged speller in this year's conference power balance, held the week's last scrimmage. The Aggies go to Little Rock to have-out Arkansas Saturday.
Razrback Coach Bowden Wyatt treated his squad to a day of light scrimmages. The club ran full speed only about a quarter of the time against the freshman club. Wyatt says his team is in good shape.

Sensational New Aid To Cooking Now On Sale

How often hasn't the housewife brought home a fat, juicy piece of steak with high hopes of a delicious meal ahead, only to have her hopes dashed to the ground when the meat reaches the table and her husband takes one bite and says: "It's tough!"

Those days are now gone-for with Adolph's Meat Tenderizer even the toughest of meats become tender and palatable. This sounds like a cooking miracle, but actually the explanation is very simple. Adolph's Meat Tenderizer contains a specially processed enzyme made from the tropical papaya melon. Scientifically controlled for activity, stability and uniformity, Adolph's acts on the tough connective tissues of meat much like pepsin digests protein foods in your stomach. A easy to use as salt, it costs less than a penny to tenderize a pound of meat. For more news of this amazing new product, listen to KTXC-1490 on your dial-for details and ask at your local grocer who will be featuring Adolph's Meat Tenderizer this coming week. (Adv.)

Civil Defense Man Warns Of Air Danger

HOUSTON (AP)—A Texas state defense official said yesterday that 100 well-aimed atomic bombs could cause 11 million casualties in the United States and that he hopes that President Eisenhower will soon tell the public the truth.

W. L. McGill, state co-ordinator of defense and disaster relief said he hopes the President's "Operation Candor" will be expanded so the public will know the facts about the danger to the civilian population.

McGill pointed out that American cities might have no warning at all of an attack or they might have a warning up to 15 minutes.

McGill spoke to 370 representatives of government agencies concerned with civil defense and industries. The group, representing five states began a two-day rescue operations school at the University of Houston.

McGill stressed the fact that steady progress in defense has been made in Texas in the past six months. He said that Texas averages 14 tornadoes a year and that more than half of the state's 254 counties have had experience dealing with one or more major disasters in the past six years.

Drab Jones, Waco city engineer, and John Rauch, chief inspector of the Waco Fire Department, will describe the rescue work of the Waco tornado at today's sessions. In May of this year Waco was struck by a tornado that caused widespread destruction.

Wormser Tells Mining Industry Building Sound Policy Challenge

EL PASO (AP)—The economy of the United States is conditioned today by "the unpredictable actions taken by the Soviet aggressor," a high Interior Department official said.

He was Felix Edgar Wormser, assistant secretary for mineral resources, Department of the Interior, who spoke today at the International Mining Days Conference here.

In a speech prepared for 1 p.m. delivery, Wormser told delegates to the 52nd annual meeting that with such fickle markets as today's "it is no wonder that mining has its ups and downs."

"It is a credit to the mining industry," he said, "that it has continued to prosper despite the many handicaps surrounding its operations."

"You are in a period of uncertainty now when no one in either public or private life can predict what the turn of events may be. During this gray period, many of you have poured capital into exploration for development ventures and have expanded production facilities under an impression that the future requirements of this nation would insure a ready market for your output."

"Now, instead of shortages we have burdensome surpluses in certain commodities and prices are depressed to a point where profitable operation in these metals is well nigh impossible."

Wormser named four ways mining industrialists might be protected:

1. Subsidies to domestic producers.
2. Quotas on imports.
3. Higher protective tariffs.
4. Adjustment of the tax structure.

Subsidies and import quotas, he said, invited government control of the mining industry, he said and added:

"I hope that you will not be too disappointed when you do not hear from me a promise of ready solutions to your difficulties."

Development of a sound mineral policy is a challenge to American leadership, Wormser said.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Game Guy Still Cheerful Despite 10 Years In Bed

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Pedford asked the airline he was working for in 1943 for a six-months leave of absence, got it, and went to bed with rheumatoid arthritis.

He's been in bed ever since, but don't sell the game guy short despite ten years of torment. He can't lift a telephone, but he uses a headset he can wear

Back of that headset's mouth-piece, many magazine subscribers never guessed that the man they did business with had been crippled and flat on his back for ten years.

"It's his spirit and cheerfulness," said Mrs. Shirley Whitley who plans to take orders at the airport here for Bob's Christmas card line.

Perhaps in return for all the things Bob has missed in the last 10 years, says the former air line hostess, "Bob has won a philosophy and patience many might envy."

"Take his attitude about cortisone," she explained. "It's the wonder drug that gets so many arthritic cripples out of bed. But Bob has been taking it for a long time and it is still bed-ridden."

Bob, between telephone calls, listened and his eyes sparkled.

"Some folks wonder why I'm not bitter," he smiled. "But cortisone actually has done wonders for me. It's eased the pain a lot, and given me an appetite. I've gained from 77 to 112 pounds since starting the drug."

"And besides, there's something about cortisone that just makes you feel happier."

And, say Bob's friends and family, there's something about Bob Pedford—a game guy in torment for a decade—that would give anybody a large supply of Christmas spirit.

Po River Valley Threatened With Flood; Rain Falling

MILAN (AP)—Volunteer workers frantically sandbagged the banks of the mighty Po River in northern Italy today as its waters rose to menace thousands of acres of rich farmland. Rain continued to fall in many areas.

Sandbags were being piled up by the thousands along the banks of the Po between Polesella and Guardia Veneta, about 40 miles from the broad delta where the mouth of Italy's biggest river empties into the Adriatic Sea.

On the Po delta itself, several hamlets already were flooded and their farm families evacuated. The Polesella area was the center of the disastrous floods of 1951 when 94 were killed. Along the northern sweep of the

Move To End New York City Milk Strike Seems Imminent

NEW YORK (AP)—An end to the four-day-old milk strike in the New York metropolitan area seemed imminent today when a mediator announced the "most troublesome issues" in the wage-hour dispute had been resolved.

The strike has cut off fresh milk from about 12 million persons in the New York City area and northern New Jersey. Hospitals and schools have been supplied throughout the walkout.

Thirteen thousand AFL teamsters struck 200 milk plants last Sunday over a union demand for a $15 weekly wage raise and a 35-hour work week. The companies have offered boosts up to $2.10 a week.

Reports of progress toward settlement of the dispute were made yesterday. Union and company negotiators, aided by federal mediators, went into continuous session starting last night.

Retail stores and restaurants in the affected areas were sold out the day after the strike started. Milk depots, despite rationing, ran out of supplies by Tuesday.

Since the strike started, sales of evaporated and powdered milk have jumped 400 per cent above normal.

For the past two days, Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri has announced he was ready to intervene in the strike. But both Tuesday and yesterday, negotiators asked the mayor to hold off a "little longer" since they apparently were making progress toward settlement.

Abilene Trail

That meant American citizenship for A-I-C Mogens Jacobsen, an X-ray specialist at Webb Air Force Base. He hit the West's famous trail recently and received his final U. S. citizenship papers and took the oath at the U. S. District Court in Abilene. The Danish-born airman first applied for citizenship three years ago. (Official USAF Photo)

Jake Jacobsen Now An American Citizen

To Texans the Abilene Trail is an important chapter in their state history. To the well-versed fans of Western novels, it's a familiar setting for rip-snorting, lead-slinging stories. To Mogens Jacobsen, it's American citizenship.

When Danish-born Jacobsen, an airman first class and X-ray technician in Webb's Medical Group, hit the "Abilene Trail" recently, he became a United States citizen to culminate a story which began over five years ago.

Quiet-spoken, 23-year-old "Jake"—nicknamed in true American tradition—journeyed to Abilene while the U. S. District Court was in session. There he received his final citizenship papers and took the oath from Judge Whitefield Davidson a little more than three years after submitting his first application.

With him as witnesses were S-Sgt. William E. Nipp and Thomas J. Gill, also of Medical Group. This memorable event—becoming a U. S. citizen—followed on the heels of another, that of "airman of the month" in Medical Group.

The "Abilene Story" actually began in 1948 when an uncle, Kurt Brammer, left his Farmington, Mich., home to visit his native Denmark.

When Uncle Kurt visited the Jacobsen family in Nyborg, located on an island 70 miles west of Copenhagen, young Mogens made up his mind that a jaunt to America was a "must" for him.

In 1950 he applied for a visa at the American Consulate in Copenhagen and on March 31 of the same year he had his first glimpse of America.

With Uncle Kurt as his sponsor, "Jake" first applied for citizenship papers the following August. At the same time he resumed his education, enrolling in a pre-med course at Wayne University in Detroit.

Resuming his education is putting it mildly. In 13 years of school in his native Denmark, including the University of Copenhagen, Mogens learned no less than six languages. In addition to his two native tongues—English and Danish—he also speaks French, German, Swedish and Norwegian.

These languages came in handy. After Mogens completed junior college he toured Europe, visiting Germany, Holland, France, Belgium and England. At least 1,000 miles of this extended trip was by bicycle.

While pursuing his medical studies at Wayne, the Korean conflict broke and Mogens enlisted in the Air Force in August of 1951.

After receiving his basic training at Sampson AFB, N. Y., he was assigned to the school of radiology at Toledo University, Ohio. From there it was to Webb in March of 1952 for his first military assignment. That makes him one of the few remaining "pioneers" at the Big Spring base.

Meanwhile, he continued his campaign for U. S. citizenship. His trip to Abilene brought the campaign to a successful close three and one-half years after he stepped on American soil for the first time.

After completing his tour of duty in the Air Force, Citizen Jacobsen will continue his medical studies at Wayne.

Although too young to serve in the Danish Army in World War II, "Jake" well remembers the German Occupation.

"Since Denmark is primarily a dairy country, we had plenty of food," Mogens said, "but we were low on clothing and fuel.

One of Mogens' younger brothers, Poul, is now in the Danish Army. "Jake" has an idea that Poul, who is one year his junior, would like very much to follow his older brother's footsteps to the American continent, and maybe over the Abilene Trail.

Conservative estimates by local veterinarians indicate that the dog population of Big Spring is somewhere between 2,500 and 5,000. The figure could not be pinned down any closer.

Policemen and street department workers declare that a good percentage of the dogs are strays. Each month about 160 dogs are picked up and taken to the city dog pound. Also a large number of dogs killed by cars and other causes are picked up every month.

The city pound is located on West 4th Street behind the veterinary hospital of Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach. Some 20 to 25 dogs can be found there daily.

Dr. Schwarzenbach estimates that 100 of the dogs picked up each month are put to death. Only about 60 are reclaimed. By far the majority of dogs placed in the pound are strays, Dr. Schwarzenbach says. Of the 60 reclaimed, some go to new owners wishing to acquire a dog.

"There seems to be a plentiful supply of dogs in Big Spring," he said. "Just as soon as one group is put to death, another group comes in."

Job of hauling the stray pups to the pound goes to H. V. Foresyth, head of the city street department. Five or six dogs can be found in his truck daily. Dogs are picked up whenever a call is received.

According to law, not even dogs that are licensed or vaccinated can be left to roam at large. But judging from the small number of canine licenses issued at the city hall this year, quite a few dog owners ignore the law.

Only 196 licenses have been issued for the four-legged pets this year. City law calls for all dogs to be licensed annually. This means that only 196 out of some 2,500 or 5,000 dogs have a legal home.

Another annual requirement is that dogs be vaccinated for rabies. Dr. Schwarzenbach estimates that he vaccinates only around 600 dogs per year. And Dr. Akin M. Simpson estimates his vaccinations at about 250 per year.

This means that only about 850 dogs in Big Spring are "definitely" safe from rabies. This is just a drop in the bucket to the overall total.

The law states that any dog found running at large without a tag should be taken into custody and kept for 72 hours. If not reclaimed by the owner in that time, it is killed in the most humane manner possible.

Before Dr. Schwarzenbach will let a dog out of the pound, the owner has to furnish a certificate showing the dog was vaccinated against rabies. The owner can have the dog vaccinated at the pound and then buy a license (which costs a dollar).

Dogs with licenses can be picked up too if they are running at large. The owners in such cases are guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction can be fined up to $100.

Some dogs are placed in the pound five and six times, and the owners automatically know where to go if these dogs are missing.

Although the law says dogs may be killed after three days confinement, they are usually kept for a week at least. Sometimes they are kept for two weeks before being killed. The average is 10 days.

Both veterinarians believe the dog population is growing, though neither would hazard a guess as to how many there are.

At any rate there's enough to make a sizable problem in Big Spring.

Facilities now are being installed for service to Stanford Park and when these are completed in the next few weeks virtually all of the "waiting list" will be eliminated, Fisher said.

The telephone manager said a considerable number of requests still are being made for a change from multiple-party to single-party telephone lines. These changes are being made as rapidly as possible, but there still aren't enough one-party circuits to meet the demand.

Another sizable project on the telephone company's schedule is the provision of telephone service for the new Permain Building. Cable to serve the office building is being installed and telephones probably will be put in, in most cases, the weekend of Oct. 31-Nov. 1, according to Fisher.

Butter eaters in Big Spring are definitely in the minority, according to the sales reports of various grocery stores here. Anywhere from 10 to 50 pounds of oleomargarine are sold for every pound of butter, dealers estimate.

Reason given by grocers for the popularity of oleomargarine is the price.

"People can get oleo much cheaper, and it serves the same purpose as butter," one dealer said.

Oleo ranges from approximately 15 cents per pound up to about 35 cents. Butter on the other hand costs almost a dollar per pound for the top grade products, although some can be purchased here for around 68 cents per pound.

Grocers point out that nearly all cafes purchase oleo rather than butter. "When they buy in bulk, the saving is evident immediately," it was explained.

Smaller establishments here sell around 10 pounds of oleo to one pound of butter, and some of the larger ones sell about 20 pounds to one. These stores with exceptionally heavy business report a sales ratio of about 50 to 1.

Although nationwide surveys show that the better grades of butter are selling at the highest price in a year, such is not the case in Big Spring. Butter prices have been steady here for some time.

There Is Secret To Real Spanish Rice

Cooking secrets are fun—to give away. Want to know the secret of preparing real Spanish Rice? It lies in one simple process: lightly browning the rice in fat before you ever add the tomato sauce. It's this little transaction with the sauceman or skillet that gives the nutty flavor connoisseurs of Spanish Rice hold in such esteem. So many ways you can vary this good rice dish, so thrifty for family meals. Make it with that fine product — pre-cooked rice — and deck it with tuna and eggplant so it will be a hearty supper dish.

SPANISH RICE WITH TUNA AND EGGPLANT

1 servings:

1/4 cup bacon drippings or butter or margarine
1/4 cup thinly sliced onion (one medium size)
1-3 cup diced green pepper (1/4 medium-size)
1 1-3 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 1/4 cups hot water
2 eight-ounce cans tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 1/2 cups one-ounce cans solid pack tuna (drained and flaked)

1 medium eggplant
1 egg (well beaten)
1 tablespoon water
Fine cracker crumbs
Shortening
Parsley

Method:
Melt fat in sauceman or skillet. Add onion, green pepper and rice; cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add water, tomato sauce, salt and pepper. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil. Cover tightly and simmer about 10 minutes. Add tuna fish and heat thoroughly. Meanwhile, wash and peel eggplant. Cut into slices about 1/2 inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Mix egg and water. Dip eggplant slices into egg mixture, then into cracker crumbs. Brown both sides in shortening over medium heat. Drain on absorbent paper. Arrange eggplant on platter and top each slice with a mound of the rice. Garnish with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Sugar, added to yeast bread, gives color to the crust.

Disguise Leftovers

Leftover beef can make its re-appearance at the dinner table under a completely different guise to please your family. Try combining ground cooked beef with whole kernel corn, cracker crumbs, onion and seasonings and stuff the mixture in parboiled green pepper cases. Bake until the stuffing is lightly browned and heated through. Leftover meat loaf heated in gravy and served over freshly baked biscuits makes a "quickie" lunch for hungry youngsters.

Cubed leftover beef roast combined with diced cooked carrots, peas, celery and onion, in a well-seasoned gravy, are all the filling needed for a hearty meat pie. Simply top with a flaky pie crust and bake until it is heated through and lightly browned.

Cooked In Liquid

Corned beef and fresh beef brisket are two popular beef cuts which are cooked in liquid. Fresh beef brisket may be browned, if you like, however, corned beef need not be browned. Completely cover the meat with liquid for uniform cooking and season with herbs, spices and vegetables, as desired. Cover the kettle and simmer slowly until tender, never boil, since this will shrink the meat and make it dry, less flavorful, and difficult to carve. If the meat is to be served cold, let it cool and then chill in the stock in which it was cooked. This will add to its flavor and juiciness.

Fixing Canned Ham

Remove ham from can. Save jelly surrounding ham for soups or sauces. Slice ham into 1/4 inch slices. The slices together with string. Place on a sheet of aluminum foil and spread orange marmalade over top surface. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Bake 1 1/2 hours at 350 F. Remove string and serve hot.

Popcorn Balls Keep Witches, Spooks Away

For her little goblins, Dianne, 7, and Russ, 4, Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr., 809 W. 14th, is making up mountains of popcorn balls. They're guaranteed to keep the tricks away.

Mrs. McEwen has lots of experience with the trick-or-treat set. Besides having two youngsters of her own she is an active P-T-A member and a member of the Girl Scout Council. She also belongs to the 1948 Hyperion.

Here's how to copy the sweet-tooth satisfying popcorn balls.

POPCORN BALLS

Ingredients:

1/2 pound popcorn
2-3 cup corn syrup
2 cups sugar
2-3 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons cream of tartar
2 tablespoons vinegar

2 tablespoons melted butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/4 teaspoon baking soda

Method:
Pop corn. Place in large pan. Combine syrup, sugar, water and vinegar. Heat to boiling. Add cream of tartar. Boil to soft crack stage (mixture cracks when a small amount is dropped in cool water). Remove from heat. Add butter, baking soda and flavoring. Pour over popcorn. Form into balls. Cake coloring can be added to the mixture for a gay effect.

Another treat that is quickly made is caramel apples. Mrs. McEwen suggests the recipe found on the back of a package of popular caramel candy. It amounts to melting the candy and covering the apples with the resulting sauce.

Use Ground Beef And Cabbage

All wrapped up! That's the situation with these ground beef rolls. The ground beef is loosely formed into rolls, then wrapped with cabbage leaves and slowly baked until tender. It's wise to plan on at least two rolls per serving.

CABBAGE MEAT ROLLS

Ingredients:

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup grated onion
1/2 cup rice or barley
1 loose head of cabbage
3 cups water

Method:
Combine meat, seasonings and rice or barley. Shape into 12 loosely formed rolls. Remove core from cabbage and steam until the leaves begin to wilt. Separate cabbage leaves and wrap each meat roll with a leaf. Place in baking pan and cover with water. Cover, and cook in a slow oven (300°) for 1 1/2 hours, or until rice or barley is done and meat is cooked. 6 servings.

Make Pretty Cakes With No-Cook Icing

Want a dream-easy way to make a cake icing that spreads like a dream and tastes divine?

A new "no-cook" icing recipe is being introduced by a leading shortening manufacturer. This icing fixes easily and swirls or peaks exactly as you want it to, report the company's home economists. It has as a base a creamy shortening already pre-whipped 2,000 times in the processing.

The people who developed this icing recipe say it is a never-fail icing a person just stirs together. Make it chocolate, vanilla or orange flavor, whichever liked best for the cake. Each one comes out delightful and delicate tasting, yet so creamy and smooth it stays spreadable for days. Does not get sticky or hard either.

Another point is, the icing is fine for pretying up cakes. A person can write with it, draw with it and decorate with it to make the loveliest cakes imaginable. It always used to seem hard to decorate a cake—but not with icing that really behaves.

These fall days when women are looking for simple ways to make food look handsome for gatherings of friends or for the family, easy No-Cook Icing is a help. It is the base for the quickest way we know of to doll up cake for fall suppers or for the holidays.

Here's what you do. You create simple outline designs, such as a flower or tree pattern, then put them on the cake with a decorating tube. Or make a tube in a jiffy with just a square of clean paper. And then see how easy the icing spreads on the cake and helps you fashion a pretty cake top.

CREAMY CHOCOLATE ICING

Ingredients:

1 pound confectioners' sugar, sifted
1/4 cup Snowdrift
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
4 to 5 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled

Method:
Blend confectioners' sugar with Snowdrift and salt. Stir in vanilla, cream and chocolate. Enough for large two-layer cake.
Creamy Vanilla Icing: In basic recipe above, simply omit chocolate.
Fresh Orange Icing: Omit vanilla, cream and chocolate. Add two teaspoons grated orange rind and 4 to 5 tablespoons orange juice.

JACK O' LANTERN PIE... Brazil nuts provide the features

Jack O' Lantern Pie Is Halloween Treat

Kids carving Jack-o-lanterns out of pumpkins? While they're busy and out of the way, surprise the small fry by making Jack-O'-Lantern Pie. It's a pie that will delight the hearts of hobgoblins and other imps on All Hallow's Eve!

There's a special feature to this recipe that older celebrants of Halloween will enjoy. It's made with low calorie nonfat dry milk powder instead of cream. You whip the nonfat milk and fold it into the spiced pumpkin filling and achieve a texture that's smooth as velvet. Such a light and airy dessert tops off a holiday meal delightfully.

The vanilla wafer crust of this pie is so easy to prepare, and nonfat dry milk powder is also used in it too, to step up nutrients. Or use a standard graham cracker crust or Brazil nut crust. The Jack-O'-Lantern face is made of Brazil-nut slivers.

JACK-O'-LANTERN PIE

Ingredients:

1 envelope of unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup mashed pumpkin (canned)
6 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons molasses
1-3 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-3 cup nonfat dry milk powder
9-Inch Vanilla Wafer Crust
Brazil nut slivers.

Method:
Sprinkle gelatin over 1/4 cup cold water to soften. Mix pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, salt and molasses in sauceman. Cook over medium heat until mixture begins to boil; remove from heat. Add softened gelatin; stir until gelatin dissolves. Chill mixture until slightly thickened. Pour 1-3 cup water and 1 tablespoon lemon juice into a one-quart bowl; sprinkle nonfat dry milk powder over surface and beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff, about 5 to 10 minutes. Fold whipped nonfat milk into slightly thickened pumpkin mixture. Pour into chilled Vanilla Wafer Crust; chill until firm—2 or 3 hours. To make hobgoblin face on top of filling, use slivers of Brazil Nuts to outline eyes, nose and mouth.

VANILLA WAFER CRUST

Ingredients:

1 cup finely crushed vanilla wafer crumbs
4 tablespoons nonfat dry milk powder
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Method:
Mix vanilla wafer crumbs, nonfat dry milk powder and sugar. Stir in melted butter, blend well. Press mixture evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pie plate; chill.

The whole creation is organized to avenge wrong doing. God has so ordained it. You and I would do well to leave vengeance to the State, to natural forces and above all to God. Vengeance must never be taken into our own hands. "The Lord avenge me of thee."—Joshua 10:13.

Something About An Old Timer In These Parts—Horned Lizard

Texas Game and Fish, magazine of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, presents an article in the October issue by Wayne McAllister on the "Horned Symbol of Texas." It says "the horned lizard is as Texas as cowboy boots."

And "horned lizard" is right. This entrancing little creature, McAllister explains, is really a member of the lizard family, and is thus more closely related to snakes and reptiles than to toads and other amphibians. All the same, Texans for generations have called it a horned frog or a horned toad, and probably will go on calling it that way.

U. N. Should Press To Fix Truth About Germ Warfare Fabrication

All efforts of the U. S. and other Western members to set up a U. N. commission to investigate Communist charges of germ warfare against United States airmen were blocked in the U. N. last year by Russia's delegate Jacob (Take a Walk) Malik, who had personally leveled the original charges against the U. S. To any fair mind unclouded by Communist deceit and chicanery, the charges are investigated by a competent and unbiased commission was evidence enough that the germ warfare accusation was a lie out of the whole cloth.

Nevertheless, Communist propaganda succeeded in convincing even some friendly-disposed people that the charges were true. This week the controversy took a new tack. In the U. N.'s Political Committee Dr. Charles W. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., member of the famous surgical family and a U. N. delegate himself, bluntly charged Russia with direct responsibility for the germ warfare lie and accused the Russians of taking a direct hand in torturing American pilots into false confessions of guilt.

Mine Workers Wage Their Own Battle Against Red Unions

The effort of Communist unions to hold their control of segments of labor is encountering opposition in the rank and file of the workers. Among the many fights on this question is that in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. The "Miner's Voice," a publication issued by miners in Butte, Montana, has been sent to me and right on the front page is the heading "Fight on for Free Unionism." That is an accurate and correct phrase, "free unionism," for under Communism there is no free unionism, the workers are slaves in the hands of an elite controlled by a political party.

did show that the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. was raided in 50 properties this year. In a word, the workers are leaving another Communist-controlled and dominated union. Not business, not the government fights these enemies of our country, but the workers leave them, joining other unions or taking their locals elsewhere. The Butte union asks: "Why did Mine-Mill lose nearly half of its former membership? Why did several dozens of local unions leave Mine-Mill from 1947 to 1950? Why did Mine-Mill then have to fight off raids by C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions almost in every section of its jurisdiction in the United States and Canada? Why all the dissension, fights, secessions, expulsions, controversies, investigations, costly legal battles, raids, election losses, resignation of opposition officers, undermining and firing of persons who differ in political opinion and other orders which took place in Mine-Mill during the past few years?"

Reds In Korea, With Some Help From U. S., Take Psychological Beating

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communists in Korea, looking worse every day by their own doing—but with some assists from the United States—are taking a beating in the psychological war. Humiliated by their own countrymen who refused to return home after being captured, the Communists by a nakedly cruel proposal gave a good insight into why so many Red prisoners rejected repatriation.

The Indian troops sought to bring them before the "explainers." The Communists, professed lovers of mankind, demanded that the North Koreans be brought before them. The Indian custodians, who might have had to kill hundreds, refused. The Swiss and Swedish members of NNRC also were opposed.

The U. N., in what seems like a shrewd maneuver, hadn't tried to talk to a single U. N. prisoner captured by the Communists. The U. N. may have decided to hold back while the world concentrated its attention on the Communists' humiliation. This week the world got a scientific explanation of Communist barbarism. Dr. Charles Mayo Army called "all the sickening de-famous surgeon and American tails of horror."

Ringing Toast Offered To Man's Ally, The Hat

NEW YORK (AP)—I was going to let National Hat Week pass by this year with no more than a tip of my beret. Then I received the following letter from the Hat Research Foundation: "All over the globe white men, brown men, yellow men, black men are . . . accumulating the hidden things that are processed into the hat. They are shouldering through sandstorms in Australia to trap rabbits; snow-shoeing under the frozen birches in Siberia in search of white hare; herding sheep for wool and hat leathers in Argentina; raising mulberry leaves for silkworms in China; scraping twigs for shellac in India; and felling tall poplars for our hat blocks in the Tennessee hills."

So, gentlemen, a ringing toast to one of man's oldest allies against sun, wind and weather—the hat. Some folks, including those who hate to fork out two bits to park their pork-pie every time they go to a night club, say the hat is going the way of the vest and high button shoes and even magicians will have to find something else to pull their rabbits from. But a few figures tend to knock this theory into a cocked hat. Hat manufacturing in America alone is a 125 million dollar a year industry. More people in the world still wear hats than shoes. The dog may be man's best friend, but the best friend of men's hats today is the American woman. A poll of 100 women, says the Hat Research Foundation, showed that 84 believed a man should "wear a hat at least some of the time." A majority thought he ought to wear one to work.

Famous people sometimes popularize hats, and hats sometimes popularize people, including presidents. His "Rough Rider" hat helped make Teddy Roosevelt famous. A brown derby did the same for Al Smith. President Eisenhower's hamburger this year replaced in public favor the top silk hat, which had reigned for 150 years. You may wonder what Eisenhower has under his hat next, but it's no secret the size is 7 1/4, the same as Woodrow Wilson's.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP According to one version, on or about this day in 1807 the first wave of Coushatta Indians crossed the Red River and settled in two villages on the east bank of the Trinity River. The Coushattas petitioned the governments of Texas for a grant of land, and finally in 1856 a legislative measure provided the red men with a tract of 640 acres, but the land was never located. Gradually they moved in with the Alabamians on their 1,250-acre reservation. The red men did not receive formal title to this land, however, until 1881. During the Civil War the red men suffered greatly at the hands of ruthless whites who robbed them of both crops and livestock. In 1918 they received some relief from the federal government and ten years later the Coushattas, after 120 years, finally had a home of their own. A federal appropriation purchased the reservation they now occupy near Livingston in Polk County. Though maintaining their racial purity, the Coushattas have abandoned the red man's customs and dress.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE

The Sun Is Younger And Much Cooler Than Everybody Thought

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

A late report on the feverish old sun-bath makes way for more speculation on possible destruction of the earth by chain reaction. And it could put the sun right next to Russia among things the hydrogen bomb people have to worry about. The report is that old sol isn't running nearly the temperature as has been thought—less than half. In fact, Body temperature of the sun is a mere 13 million degrees, instead of 28 million as previously calculated. Which could mean that we've got to keep our bombs "cool." Else they might set off one of those chain reactions that wouldn't stop until the earth was burned plumb out.

and we earthdwellers would be furnishing light and heat for Mars or somebody. I don't recall reading how hot an atom or hydrogen bomb is supposed to get, but it's something fierce. The blasts in Japan burned even shadows into concrete paving, like a photograph. But I'm in favor of being careful. That brings to mind another hot possibility. Suppose we got into a war with Russia, and exercised all the care in the world to keep from blowing up the earth. Then, in the final stages of the conflict the Russians saw they were getting licked. Not being able to stand the loss, they would rig up a tremendous hydrogen bomb somewhere in Siberia. Instead of retiring to a cellar and shooting himself, Malenkov would hike to Siberia and blow the top off the world. There's also space for a more cheerful outlook as a result of the discovery that the sun is cooler than was thought. The fact that it's cooler means it also is younger, the physicists say. And being younger, it likely will last two or three billion more years, instead of just a billion. Now, ain't that a relief? —WAYLAND YATES

Washington Calling — Marquis Childs Kansas Congressman Suggested As Successor To Ezra Benson

WASHINGTON—Unhappy Republicans looking for a way to calm the farm revolt believe they have an answer. Privately and with no public fanfare they are seeking to substitute a new Secretary of Agriculture for the beleaguered Ezra Taft Benson. What is more they have a candidate who seems to be what the political doctor ordered. He is Representative Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. A modest man and loyal to his party, Hope has given no encouragement to this move. In fact he continues to speak discreetly of Secretary Benson, urging critics to give the Administration time to come up with a workable farm program. But Hope, who toured the country with his committee for a first hand reconnaissance of farm discontent, knows how extensive the revolt against Benson is and how serious the consequences can be for the Republicans at next year's election.

action. Benson has given many indications that he favors such a transfer of power. So loud are the protests over the reorganization that the Secretary could be forced to withdraw it. One consequence has been a further demoralization in the Department of Agriculture. Republican Congressmen complain that they cannot find out what is going on when they telephone the department. The problem at Agriculture is not unlike that in other Government departments. The Secretary has around him a small group of trusted advisers, most of whom he brought in with him. They work closely together in carrying out Benson's orders. But the liaison with the level just below—with the great mass of civil servants who must actually execute the orders—is faulty to the point of being non-existent. Much of Benson's trouble goes back to the speeches he made shortly after he came into office. To business audiences he talked of the need of freeing farmers from the shackles of governmental control. He apparently believed that acreage limitations and other controls, which must go along with price supports, were really repugnant to the farmer. His mission was to free American agriculture. In recent weeks the Secretary has taken a different line, promising a better program with more supports. If he were to walk into the President's office tomorrow and say, "Mr. President, unfortunately I believe my usefulness is over and I wish to resign," his resignation would probably be accepted. But with a deep conviction of his own rightness, Benson is not a man to quit under fire.

Delivery Service

MILL HALL, Pa. (AP)—The Kiwanis Club of this Central Pennsylvania community has set up a "GG Pony Express" to operate in case there is a polio outbreak. Upon learning there was no way of getting Gamma Globulin—the polio preventative serum—from Philadelphia, 60 miles away, the local service club swung into action. Now all a physician has to do when he needs GG is to contact one of the Club officials and a member will be dispatched to drive to Philadelphia with authorization for the serum and deliver it to the physician.

Dog In Penthouse

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP)—Frank Hequen-borg's dog Gick has a penthouse home atop his master's house. He reaches it by ladder. And Gick can walk the plank anytime, too. It leads from the Hequenborg roof over a backyard lake. Gick enjoys the 30-foot dive. But he's a canine prima donna. He won't dive unless there's someone around to applaud.

I. Q. For Eggs

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Eggs get I. Q. tests as a part of the Hunterdon County Egg Laying Test. The I. Q. in this case stands for "interior quality"—a major item in the year-long contest. People sometimes say that their hair, or the hair of someone else, "stands on end." This is supposed to happen in time of fright. If hair really does stand on end, electrical action seems to offer the best way to explain what takes place. The human brain gives off electric waves, and these can be measured with a scientific instrument. Scientists have made hair stand on end by using electricity. In one case a young woman was placed on a platform and was told to touch an electric generator. The generator sent static electricity into her, and her hair stood up (or out) in several directions. It may be suggested that the young woman's hair stood out because she was afraid of the electricity! Actually she felt safe enough, because the professor had made sure that all would be well. A test of that kind goes along properly

Add flaked canned tuna to a tomato aspic and serve on salad greens with mayonnaise for a delicious luncheon salad. In cold weather, preface the salad with a hot soup.

Plan to use disposable but colorful Halloween napkins, paper cups and plates. Makes it easier on the hostess.

All this will make a clever setting for that pumpkin pie you'll probably bake.

Various Toppings Can Make Doughnuts Into Desserts

There are many delicious ways to serve the simple doughnut as dessert.

DOUGHNUT SUNDAY: Top a doughnut with a ball of vanilla ice cream; pour on chocolate sauce; sprinkle with nuts.

DOUGHNUT SANDWICH: Split a doughnut; fill with cream cheese and marmalade.

DOUGHNUT COFFEE CAKES: Split doughnut; butter cut surface; sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar, then chopped nuts. Brown under broiler.

DOUGHNUT DESSERT: Place a doughnut on each of 4 serving dishes; pour on lemon flavored rennet dessert made with light cream instead of milk, called for on the label. Top with shredded coconut.

FROSTED DOUGHNUTS: Frost cool doughnuts with Coffee Glaze; Add 1 tablespoon double-strength coffee to 1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar; beat well. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract.

BUTTER PECAN DOUGHNUTS: Slice six doughnuts in half, crosswise and spread each half with 1/4 teaspoon butter or margarine. Sprinkle 1/4 teaspoon brown sugar and 1/4 teaspoon chopped pecans over each half. Heat in shallow pan in oven of 400F for five minutes.

Stew Meat Special Is Economical Dish

In a quick check list of the more economical beef buys on the market, beef stew meat always is included. With beef in abundant supply and lots of lean, economy beef coming to market, beef stew meat is likely to be a frequent special at your meat counter.

Cubed beef need not always end up in a beef and vegetable stew. There are many other uses for the thrifty meat. One is braised beef on rice: Brown beef cubes, add a small amount of water, salt and pepper, celery leaves and any desired seasonings. Then cook, covered, until nearly tender, adding more water as needed. Add some catsup or tomato sauce and continue cooking until tender. Season to taste with soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce or curry powder and serve over hot rice.

Art To Serving Fruit As Dessert

There's an art to serving fresh fruit for dessert. Apples should be washed and rubbed with a soft towel until they are shiny. Pears, too, should be rinsed and then lightly polished with a towel.

Grapes should be rinsed in cold water, dried on a soft towel and then cut into serving-size bunches. If you have a grape scissors to place on your fruit bowl, it is not necessary to pre-cut the fruit. Ivy or huckleberry leaves around the edge of your fruit bowl will make it most attractive.

Origin Of 'Sirloin'

Handed down through generations is the story of the knight of the loin by an English king. King Charles II was said to have been exceedingly pleased with a platter of beef which was served him at a banquet, in his honor. Drawing his sword above the roast, he is quoted as saying, "A noble joint, it shall have a title. Loin, I dub thee knight...henceforth, thou shalt be Sir Loin."

Packing food too closely into the refrigerator prevents cold air from circulating and reaching all parts of the food compartment. Use up leftover food quickly—don't put it in containers, shove them to the back, and forget about them!

Cooking Cabbage
Cooked green cabbage tastes best if it retains some of its original crispness and color. Butter or margarine, melted and mixed with a dash of Worcestershire sauce, makes a sauce that complements this vegetable's flavor.

Under the direction of Dr. George Morey of the NTSC School of Music, the orchestra is presented a number of times each year in Denton and in cities and towns in the area. First performance of the group this fall will be Nov. 3 in Denton.

Evans, a junior student majoring in piano, is also a member of the AFROTC.

Tyler Women Keep Offices For State's Congressman At Large

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The staff of Rep. Martin Dies, Texas congressman at large, must deal with matters in all parts of the state.

Mrs. Helen Holmes Kayser of Tyler is running Dies' office here during the Congress recess. Gladys Flanagan, also of Tyler, is in charge of his interim office in Lufkin, the Dies' home.

Mrs. Kayser is widely known in East Texas for helping start the Tyler Rose Festival in 1933.

The widow of Lawrence Kayser has worked at the capitol for 15 years. She previously was with former Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi and others.

"There's variety in the job working for Mr. Dies, and I like it," she commented.

A veteran among the male secretaries serves for one of the five West Texas congressmen.

He is Zeno Phillips, right hand to Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson. He is now running Burleson's Abilene office.

For years Phillips was with Ed Gossett when he represented the Wichita Falls district. When Gossett became counsel for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., he persuaded Phillips to go with him. After two years away from Washington, Phillips returned to Congress work as Gossett's top aid. Phillips interrupted his work to serve with the Navy's Sea Bees in the Pacific during the war.

Working in Burleson's office during the recess are Miss Kitty Cunningham and Cornelia Van Horn. Both are residents of Washington.

The head of the staff is Rep. Walter Rogers of the Panhandle is Dee Dodson of Pampa. Dodson was court reporter in Pampa for five years before coming to Washington in January, 1931, when Rogers entered Congress. Dodson was in the Army and later secretary to one of the three American commissioners when the Allied forces moved into Hungary.

Born near Plainview, he became a court reporter there before moving to Pampa.

Also on Rogers' staff are Mrs. Florence Fletcher of Amarillo and Mazie Bledsoe, a reserve lieutenant commander in the Navy WAVE.

Mrs. Marita Fanning of El Paso heads the staff of Rep. Ken Regan of Midland. A son, Pat, is with an oil company in Midland. She has a daughter, Mrs. Robert Pinson, in Dallas.

In charge of Regan's Midland office is Mrs. Gertrude Ruff. Mrs.

Glenna Loughran, formerly of Pecos and El Paso, does work here for Regan.

Miss Dorothy Van Pelt of Lubbock heads the staff of Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City. She is in his Lubbock office during the recess. Working there with her is Miss Savannah Tunnell of Tahoka.

Running the Washington office are Miss Martha Enochs of Lubbock, Miss Helen Boyle of Washington and Mrs. Mary Francis of Texarkana.

Joseph Swanner of Brownwood is top aide to Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo.

His wife, the former Regina Brooks of Brownwood, works for Rep. John Lyle of Corpus Christi. They met at Howard Payne.

Others on Fisher's staff are Mrs. Lillian Kelly Benedict of Pampa and Miss Stella Guggenheim of Washington.

Program Spotlights Legal Profession

Law as a profession opens many avenues of service to its members, Gil Jones declared in a brief address to the Lions Club on Wednesday.

Jones, an attorney and member of the club, made his remarks about the legal profession prior to projecting a sound movie prepared by the State Bar Association. Like other professions, law may have its bad apples but the overwhelming number of attorneys are the type who give a man pride in his profession, Jones said. He paid tribute to the abilities of other members of the local bar.

News From Webb Air Force Base By A-2C FERD BORSCH

Brigadier General Henry "Russ" Spicer, commander of Nellis AFB, Nev. will be guest speaker at formal graduation ceremonies in the Academic Auditorium, 3:30.

Attendance at the graduation will be by invitation only, because of limited seating capacity in the Academic Auditorium.

Class 53-G is composed of 101 student pilots. The first third of the class, 53-G1, will total 11 student officers, 11 aviation cadets and 10 MDAPs. All these men will receive pilots wings at graduation.
