SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines smashed again and again today at North Vietnamese hilltop positions near the North-South Vietnam border despite heavy losses. In the air, U.S. planes shot down four MIGs in some of the biggest raids of the war.

A U.S. military spokesman said Communists striking from the twin peaks of Hill 881 on the edge of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) killed 49 Marines and wounded 156 others—the heaviest losses suffered by the Leathernecks in one action since last summer's Operation Hastings.

The spokesman said the Marines had killed 186 North Vietnamese in the fighting which began Sunday and was still raging today. Operation Hastings broke the back of a 1966 Communist attempt to take over South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces. Today's battle was almost a repeat of that effort.

At the same time, a spokesman said North Vietnam had sent a new elite unit of soldiers into the area south of the DMZ—troops better armed, trained and disciplined than previous units. Marines who ambushed a group of them said they were four inches taller than the usual Communist troops and carried Soviet assault rifles.

U.S. planes striking from 7th Fleet carriers, from the Marine base at Da Nang and from Thailand carried out 133 missions Sunday—the greatest raid in six months and one which threw an estimated 500 to 600 planes against the Communist North.

U.S. Navy jets struck again today at the MIG airbase of Kep, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi, in a follow up to Sunday's strike against communications by 133 missions—the greatest raid in six months and one which threw an estimated 500 to 600 planes against the Communist North.

New air records were set in South Vietnam as jet planes lashed the dug-in Communist positions on the jungled twin peaks of Hill 881 where at least two U.S. Marine battalions (more than 3,000 men) were attacking near the border of Laos. A spokesman said 377 sorties were flown Sunday.

One Phantom jet was lost over North Vietnam with its two man crew. Eight more Americans were killed when two helicopters collided in flight at the Bien Hoa airbase 15 miles north of Saigon.

The Marines battling in one of their bloodiest fights in months had driven the same elite Communist force from Hill 861 two miles to the west with the aid of air strikes and artillery and now were storming the Communist caves and bunkers right at the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The hill with its twin fortified peaks commands the invasion routes from North Vietnam into the South through the mountains of Laos, six miles away. It is there the Communists have massed up to five divisions for a major offensive across the border.

B52 Stratofortresses operating from nearby Thailand dropped thousands of pounds of bombs on the Communist positions carved out of the rocky hill but during the bombing pauses the enemy troops—identified as the veteran 241st Battalion rose from their hideouts to hit the Marines with a murderous fire.

U.S. fighter-bombers bathed the hilltop in flaming napalm and struck 10 miles north of the DMZ where North Vietnam has installed Soviet-built surface-to-

Guardsmen Called To Clear Rubble

WASECA, Minn. (UPI)—National Guardsmen today joined stricken Minnesotans in clearing the rubble of tornadoes and savage winds that killed at least 16 persons and injured an estimated 100 Sunday night.

Spring's second onslaught of lethal tornadoes struck Iowa and Southeast Minnesota just nine days after a band of twisters took 55 lives in northern Illinois.

At least 10 tornadoes chewed up farmland in the Fort Madison, Iowa, area and then roared into Minnesota, ripping and slashing apart at least eight communities.

They struck last and most viciously at this county seat town of 5,900 where five persons died and an estimated 50 were injured. Albert Lea, close to the Iowa-Minnesota border, counted two dead and close to 50 injured. There were two dead in Owatonna, Minn., and one each in the towns of Alden, Freeborn and Clark Grove.

Away from the tornado belt, on the shores of Lake Superior at Duluth, the same storm system claimed four more lives, three boys who had been carried away by savage waves sweeping the waters and a Coast Guardsman who died trying to recover their bodies.

The twisters, spawned by the collision between a Minnesota-to-Texas cold front and warm humid air in the Mississippi Valley, hit at least five points in Minnesota's Freeborn County, of which Albert Lea is the county seat, and at the town of Myrtle, Minn., and east of Austin, Minn.

National Guard units turned out in Waseca and Albert Lea to guard against looters and to assist the homeless. The American Red Cross set up a shelter in an armory for victims in Albert Lea, where authorities estimated 60 to 100 homes were destroyed or damaged.

Romney Invades South to Pick Up '68 Support

ATLANTA (UPI)—Michigan Gov. George Romney was in Atlanta today in an apparent move to mend some political fences and pick up support for his possible candidacy for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Romney has been cagey about his 1968 intentions but is nevertheless regarded as a front runner for the GOP nomination. He says he is taking a "long hard look" at seeking the Republican nod.

He was to address a Rotary Club luncheon and Morehouse College here and meet with students at Emory University in an informal session today.

The speech at Morehouse was seen as an attempt to win the general support of Negroes. Romney, a devout Mormon, has been criticized because his church does not allow Negroes to become priests.

The governor and his wife arrived Sunday night at Atlanta Airport and were greeted by local Republican officials.

They had come from Little Rock, Ark., where Romney spoke to nearly 3,000 Republicans at a birthday celebration for Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller Saturday night.

A Romney aide said the governor was "highly pleased" with the reception on his first political foray into the deep South.

Romney's swing through the South was seen as an effort to cut into conservative support for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon or California Gov. Ronald Reagan. Some national polls indicate Romney could beat President Johnson.

Georgia went Republican for the first time in a presidential election in 1964 when Barry Goldwater polled 94,000 more votes than President Johnson.

Ice, Snow Hit Midwest

By United Press International

A rare May Day blizzard piled up to two feet of snow in the upper Great Plains today. Its icy breath touched off killer tornadoes and hurricane-force winds.

The strong, cold winds swept heavy snow across the Midwest. Two feet of snow mounted in the Black Hills of South Dakota, where temperatures dropped into the teens.

Screaming winds were clocked at 78 miles an hour in Rapid City, S.D. Visibility was zero for 10 consecutive hours, and the snow kept falling.

The blizzard spawned from an intense storm drifting northeast across the northern plains.

Behind the devastation caused by the wind and fury of the spring storms lay winter-like desolation.

Born in the Rockies, the storm moved out of Colorado and Wyoming Sunday and into the Dakotas. North Dakota Gov. William Guy declared a state of emergency so restricted highways would be open to heavy and out-sized vehicles carrying repair crews.

South Dakota had blizzards in the western part of the state, hail, rain and high winds ripped the center, and in the east, dust storms and tornadoes swirled through 80-degree temperatures. Funnel clouds were sighted at Mitchell and Salem, S.D.

Twenty inches of snow fell in the Black Hills of western South Dakota. Ditches south of Bettysburgh, S.D., were filled with up to three feet of hail whiped downward by 80 mile per hour winds.

Snow drifts measuring 10 feet deep choked roads in southeastern Montana where travelers had to be towed into towns. Temperatures in the area fell to the 20s. Stockmen feared losses to livestock would skyrocket.

The snowstorm caused snowfall records for April to be broken in many Montana cities. Helena's April snowfall was the highest for the month since weather records were begun.

Four-foot snowdrifts smothered sections of Colorado and Wyoming, which were whipped by 30 mile an hour winds. Highways, including Interstate 90 in Wyoming, were closed. Sixteen inches of snow fell in Togwotee Pass, 10 inches at Sheridan, Wyo. Winds gusted to 51 miles per hour.

TERMS ARE STIFF

Probation No Joke For 'MIP' Violators

By RON CROSS (Second of three-part Series)

Two young men, both seniors in high school, stood before Corporation Court Judge John Warner with heads bowed, their parents at their sides, and listened carefully to the terms of probation for a minor found in possession of an alcoholic beverage.

These two boys, both from middle-income families, both athletes, both members of a church, both known and recommended by their pastors and school leaders as "good kids", had been arrested some three weeks earlier with an alcoholic beverage in their possession.

Warner told the young men he had talked with their ministers and school teachers and was convinced that this wasn't something they normally did. They had never been in trouble before.

After explaining the terms of probation, Judge Warner told the boys to think them over carefully.

The violator has the choice of probation, if approved for it, or may pay a fine.

Before deciding whether to place someone on probation for this offense, that carries a fine up to $100, Judge Warner attempts to find out a lot about the person.

This includes name of parents, occupation, number of children in the family, length of residence in Pampa, years in school, grade average, favorite teacher, favorite subjects, church and car ownership, among many others.

After studying his fact sheet and deciding that the youngster should be probationed, Warner sets forth the following terms that must be met by the violator.

Obey all orders of the court and probation officer and commit no offense against the law of this or any other state.

Minor traffic offenses would be exempted as a probation violation.

Avoid injurious or vicious habits that include use of narcotics or habit-forming drugs and alcoholic beverages.

Avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character, including places where intoxicating beverages are sold.

Report to the judge of the Corporation Court between the first and seventh day of each month. Permit the court judge to visit him at home or elsewhere.

Work faithfully at suitable employment subject to the approval of the court.

May not change employment or place of residence without permission of the judge of the court.

Remain within Gray County unless permitted to depart by the court.

Support dependents.

Pay a fine, if one is assessed, and make restitution in any (See PROBATION, Page 3)

Russian Missile Might Show Warns of 'Plots' by America

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Kremlin sent 70 mighty missiles rumbling in clouds of blue exhaust smoke through Red Square in a May Day parade today and warned they are needed to defend Russia against America's "sinister plots."

The rockets, tanks and artillery pieces raced over the cobblestones at 35 miles an hour past Communist party leaders massed atop Lenin's Tomb where Marsial Andrei Grechko sounded the warning in his first public appearance as defense minister.

"The U.S. ruling circles are increasingly expanding the criminal war against the people of Vietnam and are hatching sister plots to spread the aggression to new areas of the globe," he said in an order of the day.

But the Communists, whose May Day thundering at America is standard practice, also lashed their comrades in China. Grechko attacked Peking's go it alone policy within the Red bloc.

He said, "It can be said confidently that the hours of the failure of the imperialist aggressors' gamble in Vietnam would approach much quicker given the united action of all socialist countries, including China, in rendering help to the fraternal Vietnamese people."

In Peking, the bad feeling was mutual. Peking's official Communist newspaper Peoples Daily said in an editorial on May Day eve Communist China will never cooperate with the Russians in united action in the Vietnam war.

In some of the starkest language of the Peking-Moscow feud for dominance in the Communist world, the party organ said, "Let us tell the Moscow gentlemen sternly—under no circumstances will we take any united action with you who are a pack of rank traitors to the Vietnam revolution, shameless scabs serving as advisers to U.S. imperialism and No. 1 accomplices to the U.S. gangsters..."

It said the current Kremlin leadership is worse than ousted Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, formerly Peking's chief Russian target.

When Grechko lashed Peking, two Chinese Communist diplomats stalked from the diplomatic reviewing stand, U.S. diplomats led by Minister Counselor John Guruhis stayed to see the rockets despite Grechko's anti-American remarks. U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson skipped the parade and spent the day in the countryside.

For the first time since Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was given the honor in the 1945 after-war glow, a Western military leader was invited to join the Kremlin elite atop Lenin's Tomb for the parade. Today visiting French Chief of the General Staff Gen. Charles Ailleret stood near Grechko.

Bandits Hijack Gold Shipment

LONDON (UPI)—A gang of bandits hijacked a shipment of $2.1 million in pure gold bullion today after temporarily blinding the driver and two guards of a panel truck with ammonia.

The theft of the 140 gold bars—untraceable once it is melted down—was the second biggest robbery in British history. The biggest was the $7.3 million great train robbery of 1963.

The gang threw ammonia at the driver and two guards and beat up one of them. All three were taken to hospitals after they were found tied up in the back of the abandoned van.

The bandits overpowered the three men in the London district of Islington. They drove off with the truck and dumped it after removing the bullion. Passersby found the van after hearing noises from inside.

Two of the crew suffered eye injuries and one had head and chest injuries.

The gold belonged to a merchant bank, N. M. Rothschild and Sons.

The bank confirmed the value of the bullion was 750,000 pounds ($2.1 million).

House May Hike Age For Drivers

AUSTIN (UPI)—The House will consider legislation to strengthen Texas drivers license laws today, including a controversial move to increase the minimum age to 16.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. David Crews of Comroe and Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview, is part of Gov. John Connally's traffic safety program.

It would raise the minimum age for obtaining a license to 16 for those who have not taken drivers' education, and to 16 for those who have. A learner's permit would be available at 15, but no one would be able to drive at 14, as is possible presently.

The measure would also provide laminated licenses complete with photograph, and licenses of a different color for minors. Connally called for this as an aid in enforcement of the state's liquor laws.

The license would be good for four years, instead of the present two, and would cost $6 instead of the present $3.

The lower chamber also was to consider a measure to place commercial drivers' training schools under the supervision of the department of public safety, another part of the governor's program.

CIVIL DEFENSE LESSONS

Pampans Practice Radiation Detection

By WANDA HUFF News Staff Writer

The 18 Pampans taking a radiological monitoring course here are looking for something they "can't see, can't feel, can't taste and can't smell," but which is fatal in large doses.

Don Andrews of Amarillo, Department of Public Safety patrolman and dispatcher, was here two days last week, returns today and again Wednesday to complete the monitoring course in City Hall commission room.

The "something" students look for in their lessons is a small amount of radioactive material which is used to see if the students are learning how to use the radiological monitoring equipment, Bill Leonard, civil defense director, said.

The Civil Defense office in Washington, in cooperation with Department of Public Safety, is working to train monitoring operators to detect radiation contamination after a nuclear explosion.

As Capt. Robert Young, a Pampa fireman taking the course, said, "If more people were aware of the effects a nuclear explosion can have on them, they would take steps to protect themselves."

The monitoring course is a part of a seven phase operation which started here in 1962 when Pampa was included in a Army Corps of Engineers survey to determine which buildings could be designated as possible fallout shelters, Leonard said.

After the survey, eight Pampans (See RADIATION, Page 3)

As club projects, members approved sending a cash donation to the Papago Indians in Arizona and to buy reference books for Lovett Memorial Library.

The plans were approved at a recent meeting held in the home of Mrs. A. L. Wagner with Mrs. N. Dudley Steele as co-hostess.

Announcement was made concerning the Home Arts Tour on May 7 and the Arts and Crafts Fair, May 12-14 in Coronado Center sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association. Members were asked to contact Mrs. Steele for tickets.

For the afternoon's program following an introduction by Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, Mrs. Weldon Carter discussed the lives of President John F. and Jacqueline Kennedy; President and Mrs. L. B. Johnson as a concluding chapter in the club's course of study for this year.

She traced the Kennedy Family back to their origin in Ireland to the present Kennedy family in Boston. Informatively and interestingly, she related amusing anecdotes of the Kennedy and Bouvier families.

Following a brief description of the lives of the current President and his lady, she concluded by telling of a recent trip she made to the famous LBJ Ranch near Austin.

BSP Commemorates The 36th Anniversary Of Founding

"Openness to experience, trust in human nature, and in your own nature, courage to choose what seems right to you, inner honesty, these are a few of the ways offered by psychologists as a means to being oneself."

"Becoming yourself, the self you are today and will become tomorrow, is opening the door to a treasure house. The endowments that await you are those of awareness, understanding and enjoyment unending."

"So this, my friends, is a Beta Sigma Phi, and this, accordingly, is Beta Sigma Phi," so read a message from Walter W. Ross, founder of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at a luncheon Saturday in First Methodist Church, when Pampa's six BSP chapters met to commemorate the 36th anniversary of the founding of the international sorority.

The message sent to each of the 8,000 chapters in 15 countries was read by Mrs. James Schaffer after lighting three symbolic yellow tapers representing Beta Sigma Phi.

Highlighting the Founders' Day luncheon was the naming of seven Girls of the Year for their outstanding contributions and service to their individual chapters during the year.

Their identities, kept secret until the luncheon, revealed the following members for the honor: Mrs. James Schaffer, Upsilon; Mrs. Coyle Winborn, Phi Epsilon Beta; Mrs. James Holcomb, Xi Beta Chi; Mrs. George Massie, Xi Beta Chi; Mrs. Don Stafford, Rho Eta; Mrs. Raymond Williams, Xi Theta Iota; Mrs. Ralph Esson, Preceptor Chi. Each was presented with a gift.

In a Yellow Rose Ceremony, Mrs. Georgia Mack, Woman of the Year for 1966 and current sponsor of Rho Eta Chapter, installed the following BSP City Council officers for the 1967-68 sorority year: Mmes. Raymond Williams, president; Mrs. Dorothy Francis, vice president; Robert Lyle, treasurer; Norman Ross, corresponding secretary; Jim Manley, recording secretary; and Jack Byrd, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Faye Price outlined the accomplishments of the six chapters during the year; which included gifts of food and clothing given to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas; contributions to the Gray County Association for Mentally Retarded Children; to the March of Dimes; to the Muscular Dystrophy Drive; to the United Fund; sponsoring girls in junior high school and high school; providing a Beta Sigma Phi Scholarship to a high school girl; contributing to the Heart Fund; entertaining with a Kick-Off Breakfast in the fall to start off the year's activities; a Fall Dance; Valentine Dance; Woman of the Year Tea; and the Founders' Day Luncheon.

Mrs. Jack Vaughn, outgoing council president as toastmistress extended a welcome to luncheon guests and introduced new members, transferes, bees and pledges.

Among the honored guests in addition to Mrs. Mack were Mrs. M. McDaniel, 1966 Woman of the Year; Mrs. Thelma Bray, 1963 Woman of the Year; and Mrs. D. B. Jameson, 1967 Woman of the Year; Mrs. Jay Leith of Almagordo, New Mexico. Mrs. Bob Comaster introduced entertainment provided by Miss Donna Flynt, soloist and her accompanist, Miss Celesta Duncan who presented "Unchained Melody," "On the Street Where You Live" and "The Lord's Prayer."

To conclude the anniversary luncheon, Mrs. Grant Cambern sang "The Beta Sigma Phi Song" with closing Ritual of Jewels by Miss Lana Givens and Exemplar Ritual by Mrs. Raymond Williams.

El Progreso Told Moral Check Needed

"A Time to Check Our Morals" was the subject of a speech by Mrs. R. J. Bray at the El Progreso club meeting in the Pampa Country Club.

"We Americans are faced with moral decisions today with which we can hardly grapple," she said.

"If you are in doubt about a moral issue, use the Ten Commandments or the golden rule as your yardstick. Try thought control, if you block the thought that leads to an immoral deed you will block the deed itself. Speak out for what is right and be yourself. Conformity is one of the most basic dishonesties."

"This is the time to check our morals," Mrs. Bray concluded, "we must shape a moral code that will fit the needs of the society in which we live. We have the power to do so and we must now find the courage."

Mrs. Kermit Lawson presided at the meeting which opened with Mrs. Tom Perkins leading the club collect.

Mrs. Carlton Nance introduced the guest speaker.

DEAR ABBY: I have a son-in-law who is nearly 30 years old. He is wonderful to me, but he gets on my nerves when he is at my house, which is quite often. The problem is, he wrestles with my daughter (his wife) on the living room floor. She gets angry and tells him to quit, but it does no good. Easter Sunday they tipped over an end table and smashed a lamp, and then he broke the leg off a dining room chair. He said he was sorry and tried to fix it. He doesn't act like that over at his mother's place, so why does he do it here?

I don't say anything. I just ignore it as I wouldn't want to hurt his feelings, but I wish I knew why he acts this way in my house.

MOTHER-IN-LAW: DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: Your son-in-law is smothering still a "big baby," who wants attention, and this is his way of literally "getting the floor." He doesn't act that way at his mother's house because she wouldn't put up with it. Don't ignore it. Tell him to "work out" his aggressions in a gym and leave your daughter alone, or the next "leg" he breaks could be hers.

CONFIDENTIAL: To "Whom-ever the shoe fits!" I can't help but doubt the sincerity of a man who is forever speaking of his "deep humility." For the moment he mentions it—he negates it. If a man has something about which to be proud, let him be justly proud, and accept his accolades as a man. "Humility" in the face of ability is hypocrisy.

Barber, the oft-brilliant, until there was but one out left forever-unpredictable southpaw in the game and combined with of the Baltimore Orioles, Stu Miller to pitch the first no-courted disaster for 8-2-3 hit game of the major league breathless innings Sunday season.

Tigers, hit two and finally threw away his golden chance at immortality, not to mention the game, which the Orioles managed to lose 2-1.

Detroit in First
Detroit also won the second game of the doubleheader 6-4 to take over undisputed possession of first place in the American League. Elsewhere, Washington swept a pair from Minnesota 3-0 and 7-3, New York Beat California 4-1 in 10 innings, then lost 4-2, Chicago edged Cleveland 4-2 in the second game after dropping the opener 2-1 and Kansas City blanked Boston 1-0.

Barber, scatter-armed all day, opened the fatal ninth by walking Norm Cash and Ray Oyler, who were sacrificed to third and second by winning pitcher Earl Wilson. Barber got pinch-hitter Willie Horton on a popup. He went to 1-and-2 on Mickey Stanley but, with the chance to seal his first no-hitter, bounced a pitch in the dirt and pinch-runner Dick Tracewski scrambled home from third.

Seconds later, Barber walked Stanley. Miller was called in and Don Wert greeted the relief ace with a sharp grounder through the box that shortstop Luis Aparicio gloved behind second. He flipped to Mark Belanger for the force at second base but the rookie dropped the ball as Jake Wood, another pinch-runner, crossed home with the winning run.

It isn't football season, but the Kansas City Athletics have come out feet first with white baseball shoes that are the sensation of the American League. Rivals have even kicked about them. Here pitcher Tony Pierce tightens his laces before going to work.

Board, Kheel Hear NCAA, AAU Arguments

NEW YORK (UPI)—A sports arbitration board, headed by famed labor mediator Theodore Kheel, will begin hearings today to settle a six-year feud between the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) over control of amateur athletics in the United States.

Kheel and his arbitration board, appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and composed of Archibald Cox, solicitor general under the late President Kennedy; Thomas Vail, publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; and Ralph Metcalfe, Chicago alderman and former Olympic medal winner, have been working for almost 16 months to settle differences between the two powerhouses of amateur athletics.

Kheel says the board will act, and if it is unable to mediate, it will establish a binding ruling, delegating authority and presumably ending the feud.

The final arguments from both sides were scheduled to be presented today before the board for its final decision. At stake with the group's final judgement is the power and prestige of running the nation's track and field program.

The squabble between the AAU and the NCAA has hurt a number of innocent athletes caught in between and the determined to see the situation reach an end.

"These people," said Kheel on entering negotiations, "make the Teamsters look like undernourished doves."

"The public is sick and tired of this dispute. It just doesn't understand why grown men have a conflict interfering with boys and young men in athletics."

"There is still hope for a mediated settlement. But if mediation doesn't work, we will render a decision loudly and forcibly."

The basic aspect of the situation is that the AAU is recognized as the sole governing body of track and field in the United States by the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF), the international ruling committee.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Pizarro Likes Work

By United Press International Juan Pizarro thrives on hard work and as long as the Pittsburgh Pirates keep him occupied they might win themselves a pennant.

Pizarro made his second start of the year Sunday and limited the hard-hitting St. Louis Cardinals to just four singles as the Pirates extended their winning streak to four games with a 2-0 shutout victory.

The 30-year-old Puerto Rican lefthander was sold to Pittsburgh by the Chicago White Sox last November 28th. Pizarro won 75 and lost 47 in six years with the White Sox and had his greatest season in the majors in 1964 when he posted a 19-9 record. But the following year he injured his arm and was used mainly in relief in 1966.

In other National League action, Philadelphia overcame Atlanta 6-4 in the first game of a doubleheader and lost the second 6-3, New York shut out Cincinnati 2-0 before the Reds gained a 3-2 victory in the nightcap. Chicago downed Houston 4-1 and San Francisco topped Los Angeles 5-1.

Chi Chi Pockets Texas Open Cash

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, all 116 pounds of him, packed too big a wallop for his rivals Sunday and turned a sizzling final round four-under-par 34-32—66 into a $20,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament title.

The mighty mite from Puerto Rico turned on the heat midway into his final four and over a stretch of eight holes from the eighth through the 15th he carved out six birdies to wrest the lead away from New Zealand's Bob Charles, who had threatened to make it a runaway.

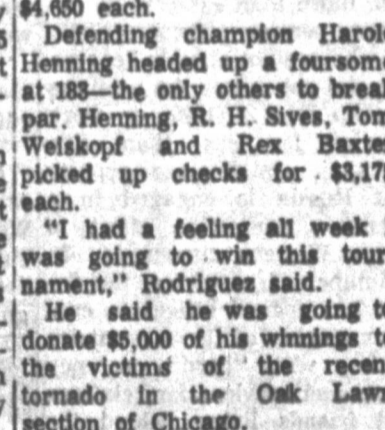

Rodriguez's seven under par 277 over the 7,100-yard par 36-36—71 Pecan Valley Country Club course—site of next year's PGA championship—gave him a one-stroke margin over Charles and Bob Goalby, who won $9,750 each with their 278s.

Charles started the final round with a string of three successive birdies and built his lead to four strokes by the seventh hole. Then, Rodriguez started his surge and caught Charles at the 14th hole and went ahead to stay at the 15th.

Charles finished with a 33-34—67 and Goalby shot a 35-33—68 as they nosed in four shots ahead of National Open champion Billy Casper and Miller Barber, whose 282s were worth $4,650 each.

Defending champion Harold Henning headed up a foursome at 183—the only others to break par. Henning, R. H. Sives, Tom Weiskopf and Rex Baxter picked up checks for $3,175 each.

"I had a feeling all week I was going to win this tournament," Rodriguez said. He said he was going to donate $5,000 of his winnings to the victims of the recent tornado in the Oak Lawn section of Chicago.

Juan Rodriguez

in his first appearance against the Cardinals since 1960, was backed up by batterymate Jerry May's timely hitting.

The Pittsburgh catcher singled home Bill Mazeroski in the second inning and belted his initial homer of the season in the fifth to account for all the Pirate runs.

Rookie Rich Nye pitched a four-hitter and Ron Santo hit a three-run homer in the first inning to lead the Cubs to their second straight victory over the Astros. Houston, losing for the 13th time in its last 16 games, scored its run when Ron Davis doubled and Sonny Jackson singled in the sixth.

Two consecutive pinch hit doubles by Don Lock and Gary Sutherland gave the Phillies a come-from-behind victory in the opener of a doubleheader. Home runs by Felipe Alou, his second of the day, and Hank Aaron and three errors by Philly third baseman Richie Allen enabled the Braves to split the twinbill.

Don Cardwell snapped the four game winning streak of league leading Cincinnati by spinning a three-hit shutout. The Mets managed only two safeties off Billy McCool and Ted Abernathy, but one, a home run by Ron Swoboda provided the Gary Nolan outpitched fellow rookie Tom Seaver to gain the win in the nightcap. The Reds scored the winning run in the sixth on singles by Vada Pinson, Lee May and Deron Johnson. Tommy Davis accounted for both Met runs with his second homer of the year.

The Giants erupted for three runs in the seventh inning on four singles to sweep their series with the Dodgers. Ollie Brown drove in the tie-breaking run with his infield single and pinchhitter Jim Davenport followed with a hit to knock in two more runs.

Ryun, Matson Pace Success at Drake

By United Press International Jim Ryun and Randy Matson rose to new heights for the Drake relays while a star "fell" on the new $200,000 all-weather surface used in the Penn relays.

Ryun, the world mile king, celebrated his 20th birthday in spectacular fashion Saturday when he ran his 17th sub four-minute mile in leading Kansas University's distance medley team to a world record of 9:33.8. The super miler was clocked in 3:55.5 as the anchor man. On Friday Ryun ran the last leg of a four-mile relay in 3:39.1.

Matson, the world record shot putter from Texas A&M cracked his own meet mark with a heave of 88 feet, 8 1/4 inches.

Dave Patrick, considered Ryun's closest rival for national mile honors led Villanova to victory in the distance medley and four-mile relay, but collapsed when he attempted a "Big three" in the two-mile relay in the Penn events. He fell flat on his face and was unconscious for a brief spell when he collapsed at the finish line.

Times for Drake relays in Des Moines, Iowa, were slightly superior to the big events at the Penn relays, staged in Philadelphia. The Midwestern carnival wound up winning four comparable events to three in the East.

Ryun's classic kick in the distance medley providing the 9:33.8 clocking for Kansas State that bettered Villanova's 9:39.6 rung up with Patrick's help in the 2 1/2 mile event.

Also at Drake, Texas Southern posted a 39.9 second clocking in the 440 that topped the 40.6 of Florida A&M at Penn; Texas Southern was faster than Johnson C. Smith, 1:23.9 to 1:24.5 in the 800 and Southern U. was timed in 3:17.3 for the sprint medley compared to Tennessee's 3:17.8 in Philadelphia.

Lower clocking were recorded in three main relays at the Penn carnival.

Rice was 3:06.9 in the mile that bettered the 3:07.4 by Iowa at Des Moines, Villanova topped Kansas in four-mile comparisons, 16:39.7 to 16:43 and Fordham's meet mark of 7:21.4 in the two-mile event was far ahead of Georgetown's 7:29 in the Drake games.

CAPROCK HERE TUESDAY

Monterey Keeps District Lead

Monterey has things going their way in the district 3-AA baseball race but the Plainview and Tascosa are far from claiming the district championship.

Pampa kept pace over the weekend winning a couple of squeakers. The Harvesters beat Palo Duro, 2-1 Friday and then edged Berger, 1-0 Saturday.

Monterey leads the league with an 11-2 mark while Pampa and Tascosa have no games left with the league leaders. The Rebs and Harvesters are tied for second at 9-3.

Monterey still has Lubbock, Coronado, Palo Duro, Amarillo and Plainview to contend with and all are in the bottom half of the standings.

Pampa still has two games left with Tascosa, one a makeup game and the game each with Lubbock, Coronado and Plainview.

Caprock, 7-6, in fourth place in the standings and losers of three straight games, will be in Optimist Club Park Tuesday for a 4 p.m. encounter.

Of the remaining foes the Harvesters have beaten Lubbock, Coronado but lost a close one to Plainview here in Pampa. Coronado, who had their troubles here, have now won three of their last four.

Caprock was tied with Pampa for third place at the start of last week but lost to Amarillo, Lubbock and Monterey, with the Lubbock and Monterey losses by one run each.

The Harvesters take their second road trip Friday, playing Coronado at 4 p.m. game and then meet Plainview at 1 p.m. Saturday. Pampa winds up in Amarillo against Tascosa.

The makeup games with Tascosa and Caprock have not been rescheduled as yet.

Coronado is in fifth place, tied with Plainview with both owning 6-5 records. Berger is next at 5-8 followed by Lubbock at 5-8 and Palo Duro and Amarillo, each with a 3-10 reading.

For the season the Harvesters have the best record at 21-3 followed by Monterey, 20-5; Tascosa, 17-6; Caprock, 14-6; Plainview, 14-10; Coronado, 14-14; Amarillo, 10-14; Berger, 7-14; Palo Duro, 7-17 and Lubbock, 7-19.

The Hoax of Vietnam

"Never before in history has the United States waged war with so great cost and so little effect. What irony that this should be the crowning achievement of our cost-effectiveness Secretary of Defense."

So begins the chapter entitled "Maximum Cost, Minimum Effect Measure McNamara's War," in the booklet "Vietnam - Observations on American Policies," written by Major General Thomas A. Lane, U.S. Army, Retired.

Warming to his subject, Lane really zeroes in on the hapless secretary as he continues:

"Secretary McNamara inaugurated new cost-effectiveness methods and standards in the Defense department to end the legendary waste of military operations and assure the taxpayer value for his dollar. Now, after six years of war by computer, we can assess the result—

"We are fighting an impoverished nation of some 16 million people.

"We have strffered more than 40,000 casualties.

"We have lost more than 600 planes in battle.

"We have spent more than 20 billion dollars on the war and are now spending at a rate of two billion dollars per month.

"We are using artillery at a rate approximating that of World War II.

"We have used as heavy a tonnage of bombs as we used in the entire Pacific theatre in World War II.

"Yet, the enemy is stronger than ever. When Secretary McNamara took office in 1961, the Viet Cong strength was estimated at about 20,000. Now its strength in South Vietnam is about 280,000.

"Actually, there wasn't any war in South Vietnam when Secretary McNamara took office. The first American to be killed by hostile action died later that year. Americans had been training the South Vietnamese Army for seven years . . ."

Lane's assessment, published in February of this year, goes on, page after page, to document the bumbling, fumbling, criminally inept way the war is being managed; and he leaves no doubt that, to his way of thinking, McNamara is the responsible culprit.

Now, although McNamara is certainly not one of our favorite people, we think Lane, in making the secretary the scapegoat, overlooks some obvious facts. Among which are:

1. President Johnson, not McNamara, is the armed forces commander in chief. Upon his shoulders, not those of fumbling Bob, rests the final responsibility for conduct of the war. Since Johnson has not removed the secretary, it is likewise evident that McNamara's actions reflect Johnson's policy.

2. Nor is Congress, itself, to be relieved of its full share of responsibility and blame. Since it, in controlling monetary appropriations, has the power, by withholding such monies, to either change the conduct of the war or to compel the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam altogether, Congress, along with Johnson and the secretary, is due a full measure of censure.

Lane's apparent bone of contention with McNamara is that the secretary will not authorize all out warfare with no holds barred. As a professional military figure, with a vested interest in the growth in size and prestige of the military establishment, his viewpoint, although not shared by this newspaper, is at least, understandable.

However, what concerns a growing number of people, is a question which, not only has not been asked, but has been religiously avoided.

And this is the question: What in the name of reason, in the name of every moral and even practical consideration, is the United States, a nation of 200 million people, the most powerful, militarily and industrially, the world has ever known, doing making war on Vietnam, "an impoverished nation of some 16 million people?"

Perhaps, in his next analytical literary effort, Major General Lane will address himself to the question.

Bureaucrats and Safety

Now that there is a new federal bureau supposed to be looking out for the safety of motorists, there is a variety of reactions.

Some of the state people already are unhappy at regulations being laid down by the federal bureaucracy, and it no doubt is going to get worse.

You see, the federal government is taxing motorists for the gasoline they purchase. It was supposed that this tax money would be parceled back to the various states in order to speed up the construction of the interstate highway system. But now, the federal bureaucrats are attaching various strings before they will return the tax money. If the state doesn't adopt certain safety or beautification rules, some of the money allocated for that state will be held back.

And now, we note, Dr. William Haddon Jr., head of the National Traffic Safety Agency, is teeling off on the fact that sometimes there is difficulty getting ambulances to victims of traffic accidents. He expects soon to have "a final set of medical aid standards for us in state highway safety programs." It sounds like a threat that if states do not install the kind of program he thinks they should have, he'll just see that the states' portions of highway funds will be withheld again.

It's no wonder some of the state officials are getting concerned. But they should not be surprised. That is the way bureaucrats function.

Just as Dr. Haddon has done, in the matter of safety requirements on automobiles, bureaucrats substitute their judgement of what is good for the people, then order it done with complete disregard for whether it is practical or financially feasible.

Spurred on by the writings of such as Ralph Nader, the federal government has established its National Traffic Safety Agency. And Dr. Haddon has ordered the manufacturers to turn the interior of automobiles into something resembling a padded cell so that motorists who drive negligently and fall to use seat belts will be less seriously injured in collisions. The fact that the manufacturers had already toolled up for 1968 automobiles seems to have made no difference to the bureaucrats.

The fact that some manufacturers have tried some of the safety devices in earlier autos and have found the public unwilling to buy the gadgets also seems to have no influence on the chief of bureau.

We are in favor of safety. But we are convinced that most deaths and injuries in traffic are the result of negligent driving or disregard of the drivers for the limitations of the machines they have.

If the public really wants safer automobiles, the industry will manufacture them and the people will buy them. But bureaucratic edicts will not bring safety.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

If you needed any further proof that we are a nation of "collectors" you can dismiss your disbelief with the news that there is a National Association of Timetable Collectors with headquarters in Mechanicsburg, Pa. The members collect, as you may have already guessed, old and new railroad timetables. . . And as most husbands know, the nation's housewives are avid stamp collectors without being philatelists. They collect the trading stamps given with grocery purchases in supermarkets. During last December they redeemed more than 25 million items for Christmas gifts in exchange for more than an estimated 100 million filled stamp books.

Today's smile: A business executive arrived home in the wee hours of the morning to face his irate wife and said: "Of course you won't believe me, but we had a late meeting at the office and my secretary had to take notes at it. I drove her home afterward and she invited me in for a nightcap. After two of them I fell asleep on the divan in her apartment and she awakened me an hour later. That's why I'm so late." "Of course I don't believe you," thundered his War Department. "You're just giving me a wild excuse for playing poker with the boys."

Columnists have been far less popular with our Presidents than the political cartoonists who caricature them on the editorial pages of the nation's dailies. Frankly, we don't think the jibes, wisecracks and criticisms written by the columnists are nearly as devastating to a Chief Executive as the skillful drawing of the artists. Most voters have a mental picture of FDR's jutting jaw, Richard Nixon's five-o'clock shadow, and Lyndon Johnson's sombrero from the pen-and-ink drawings they see every day.

Thoughts while shaving: We'll believe Jackie Gleason, who fancies himself a top pool player, is really good at knocking the ivory balls into the table pockets if he can tie the record run of 322 made by Willie Mosconi years ago. . . VARIETY, the show biz trade paper, has been rightfully credited with adding many words and terms to our language. One of the most popular is "soap opera" which identifies the tear-jerking daytime serials of radio and TV. . . Despite their fast-growing numbers the teen-agers haven't yet outdistanced the oldsters in the nation's population. A last count here are about 20 million persons over 60 as against 18 million in their teens. And the oldsters spend upwards of $40 billion a year. . . KLM Royal Dutch Airlines is the only air carrier line that boasts trained personnel to handle the transportation of wild animals. They say race horses are more difficult to transport than lions or elephants because they get jittery when aboard a plane. . . Understand that physicians are now writing prescriptions for "memory pills" which aid persons to recall past events. We'll bet many lawyers wish they could get some forgetful witnesses to take 'em. . . The Boston (Mass.) TRAVELER headlined a story: "Senior Citizens Outnumber Teenagers." Someone should call that to the attention of Senator Bobby Kennedy.

Country Editor speaking: "When you look at some of the guys other girls married you'll have to admit your wife was a good judge of brains, personality, masculine charm and good character, wasn't she?"

Slash of 1-5 Likely in President's Foreign Aid Budget If Critical Democrats in House Committee Join GOP Opponents

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's $3.125 billion foreign aid budget is headed for certain sharp slashing.

Last year he asked for $3.38 billion, which the President sonorously described as a "bare bones" budget. He wound up getting $2.94 billion — nearly $500 million less.

The outlook this year is that Congress will wield an even tougher ax. It's very likely new foreign aid funds will be cut to a record low of $2.5 billion.

Significantly indicative of the deep undercurrent of hostility that prevails in this Congress toward continued large-scale foreign aid spending is the caustic criticism that has erupted in the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

This committee, now considering the bill authorizing the President's new multi-billion dollar budget, has been a foreign aid stronghold in the past. It has steadfastly backed the White House in resisting cuts.

But the situation is notably different this time.

A number of top Democratic committee members have denounced key aspects of the measure and made it clear they favor drastic pruning. Even Representative Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman and an administration stalwart with a long record of resisting foreign aid reductions, has evinced disapproval.

The 36-member committee consists of 21 Democrats and 15 Republicans. A switch of only four Democrats would enable the Republicans to steeply slash the President's budget.

They will try to pare it to around $2.5 billion.

The GOP has a good chance of doing that if Democratic Representatives Wayne Hays, O., Armistead Selden, Ala., Leonard Farnstein, N.Y., L.H. Fountain, N.C., and Edna Kelly, N.Y., vote with them. All have been outspokenly critical during the hearings on this legislation.

PENTAGON GRAB — Chairman Morgan tangled testily with Defense Secretary McNamara over a provision giving him control of a large part of the proposed military aid.

In questioning McNamara about this, Morgan intimated one reason behind it was the Defense chief's reputed dislike of appearing before congressional committees. The revealing exchange between them is as follows:

"Last year you requested $917 million for military assistance," said Morgan. "This year you are asking for $986 million. Also, you are transferring military assistance for Laos, Thailand and NATO to the Defense Department budget, with the result that there is a much smaller amount for military aid in the foreign aid budget."

"I have heard through the executive grapevine that there is going to be an attempt to switch all military assistance to the Defense Department budget. You have already made substantial progress in that direction. Will we come here some morning and find that all military assistance has become part of the Defense budget?"

"I consider it logistically inefficient and politically undesirable," McNamara replied, "to try to finance military assistance expenditures for Laos, Thailand and NATO in the military assistance program. It seems to me far more desirable for the Defense Department to handle it."

"There is a further rumor," continued Morgan sharply, "that you are tired of appearing before so many committees on Capitol Hill, and that if you can get all military assistance funds incorporated in the Defense budget, you would then have to appear only before the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees."

"I have the impression that eventually you, Secretary Rusk and foreign aid director Gaud are going to arrive at the conclusion that wherever we have American troops overseas, all military assistance funds should be in the Defense budget."

McNamara deftly sidestepped that charge. He told Morgan, "All officials involved would be consulted before reaching a decision." And as far as wanting to avoid appearing before the committee, he said: "I enjoy testifying before congressional committees," said McNamara suavely, "and I am sure they like having me come before them."

Morgan eyed him unsmilingly and said nothing.

MORE COMPLAINTS — Representative Wayne Hays, a ranking Democrat, opened fire on the bill at the first hearing. The Ohioan waded into foreign aid administrator William Gaud on a number of counts.

A provision to create a so-called national advisory board "to review and evaluate aid programs in various countries" was assailed by Hays as useless and unnecessary. He bluntly predicted it would be stripped from the measure.

"If there is anything we don't need around here it's advisory committees," he snapped. "And I can tell you another thing. The American people are getting fed up with financing India and Pakistan in their war with each other, and feeding those thousands of 'sacred' cows running around India. The time has come to put a stop to these sort of things."

Representative Leonard Farnstein heartily agreed.

"Some of the foreign aid programs are a can of worms," he told Herbert Salzman, an assistant foreign aid administrator. "Others are a waste and some of the new ones are downright dangerous."

Representatives Edna Kelly and L. H. Fountain challenged the wisdom of giving considerable amounts of foreign aid to Middle East and Latin American countries "where Russia is matching our spending." These countries include Brazil, Algeria, Turkey and Nigeria.

Secretary Rusk defended this policy as necessary to offset Soviet "economic, political and possibly military penetration." This drew a snort of derision from Hays.

"I have heard," he said, "that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is not even going to take the trouble to hold hearings on this authorization bill. They are going to wait until we act on it, and then start cutting it down the day it reaches them. Maybe that's what we ought to do, and save ourselves a lot of time and trouble."

No one in the committee disputed Hays' suggestion.

FLASHES — Word is going the rounds that Defense Secretary McNamara has been offered the presidency of Stanford University to succeed Dr. Wallace Sterling, who is retiring this year. President Johnson reportedly has strongly urged McNamara to remain in the cabinet. . . Nearly 50 per cent of the Army's officers are ROTC graduates. They include 143 generals; 26 of 69 recently promoted brigadier generals are ROTC graduates. . . Representative Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., is pressing legislation to ease the requirements for a pension for widows of veterans of the Civil War. He explains: "It may come as a surprise to many to learn that there are a number of these widows. At the end of 1966, more than 1,000 were receiving pensions. There are others who are not eligible because they did not marry the veterans prior to June 27, 1905, or were married for less than five years."

Intelligence reports that Russia is engaged in a strenuous worldwide effort to obtain Western currencies. In a number of countries, the Soviet has opened offices to enable nationals of these countries to buy with "hard" currency goods and services for relatives and friends living behind the Iron Curtain.

PREDICTIONS — President Johnson will issue an executive order putting an end to post-graduate educational draft deferments. This is strongly favored by the military services and Selective Service Director Lewis Hershey. . . Despite Adam Clayton Powell's re-election by an overwhelming majority, he will not be seated in the House regardless of what the courts rule on his expulsion. The New Yorker's partisans in the House have been unable to muster the votes to reinstate him. . . The prime interest rate will be cut to 5 per cent by June 1. However, it's likely to rise again in the last quarter of the year if the inflationary trend quickens. . . Russia will display more missiles than ever before in the annual May Day parade in Moscow on Monday. Included will be several new missiles. . . Representative Laurence Burton, R-Utah, will seek the seat of Senator Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, if Bennett doesn't run for re-election next year — because of uncertain health. Bennett, 69, is finishing his third term. Burton, 46, is now in his third term in the House.

Confused Youths Entitled To Clearer Viet War View

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — No

one knows how many young men have run off to Canada to escape the draft. Estimates run from 400 to 2,000.

Not all are happy with their decision to run.

From where he lives in Canada, one of these draft dodgers wrote to President Johnson. His letter follows:

"Recently I read that you have offered draft dodgers a second chance to fulfill their military obligation. I am one who would be most willing to accept parole into the service. I want to return to the United States to serve in Vietnam. What must I do?"

"It is clear to me now that my emigration was due less to any strong moral objection to the war in Vietnam than to a horror which most men feel — the horror which most men feel. I have erred in basing my decision on feeling rather than reason. In the confused debates of my university life, I mistook my own confusion for true doubts of conscience. I do not mean that I have all the answers even now. I mean only that I am now convinced of the correctness of my country's intentions in Vietnam."

"Please, give me this chance to serve."

Other young men have declared themselves conscientious objectors. Their claims have been verified and they have done work (or are doing work) in lieu of military service. These are excerpts from a letter by one of these men:

"For the past two years I have been serving in the capacity of a teacher in the American School of Leopoldville, Congo. . . (doing work in lieu of military service).

"Originally, I claimed exemption from the military service because I felt it was wrong to engage in war and to destroy lives. Upon completing my term in Leopoldville and after seeing many people miraculously rescued from the atrocities of rebel hands (who were nothing more than fiendish men with evil intentions of all sorts), I became convinced that I could not be honest to God nor myself in claiming the freedoms we hold so dear to us unless I, too, placed my life in jeopardy. . . I need be, to help the many less fortunate peoples in this world — like others have already done for me.

"I still believe that peace is the best answer to our world conflicts and that war is the worst answer, but I can not claim peace, security and freedom for myself unless I am willing to stand and protect them. It is a shame that men are destroyed by war, but it is a far greater shame for me if I do not play my part in helping the many enslaved peoples of this world out of their problems. . . I am requesting a change in classification from I-O (conscientious objector) to I-A (available).

A thought for the day — American colonist and lawyer William Penn once said: "Truth suffers more by the heat of its defenders than by the arguments of its opposers."

ble for military service, so that I can do my part in supporting the rights and freedoms we hold so dear.

"As an American, and as a Christian, this is the only choice I can make and be honest to myself and to God."

These two examples suggest there should be more debate on Vietnam and the draft, not less.

Because exhibitionists, "kooks" and Communists oppose U. S. actions, it does not erase the fact that some sincere, patriotic young men and women are deeply confused and worried.

It is only fair to the nation and to these young people that their doubts and worries be honestly and thoroughly discussed.

Most young people, like most older people, want to do the right thing.

Only give-and-take discussion will end the confusion.

Editor:

"Too busy" was the implied response given by the President's Office following a series of requests since July, 1966, for delegates of the Mothers' Crusade, joined by Mothers or Servicemen, to meet with President Johnson "at his convenience" and presently during their Washington, D. C. Mothers' Crusade Rally on May 4th.

The Crusade policy and beliefs are spelled out by Mrs. Bea Ziegler, national president, Mothers of Servicemen, South Pasadena, Calif. (P.O. Box 53), who states: "We are neither Hawks nor Doves, but like the American Eagle our Crusade members and associates fully support our American Servicemen . . . therefore, we find completely unjustified our Government's present policy of trading with the Communist enemy, her Satellites, and countries supplying Hanol."

Fortified with signed petitions requesting legislation to "Stop all U.S. Aid and Trade with Communists," Mothers' Crusade delegates will assemble at the Capitol and present our petitions in a banner-decked room to a group of Senators and Representatives at 9 a.m., Tuesday, May 4. Such legislation, they believe, CAN win the war NOW!

At 2 p.m., the Crusade members will reconvene at the northwest corner of Constitution Avenue and 15th Street, N.W. Promptly at 2:30 p.m., we will walk one-half mile to the White House to present a petition of grievances addressed to the President. The Rally will continue for an hour or more.

Crusade mothers and friends will then proceed to Arlington Cemetery, where a wreath will be placed at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. A brief memorial service following this tribute will conclude the rally, with the heartfelt hopes that Mothers' Crusade members have helped build the spirit of a winning bridge from Washington to Vietnam, by which their courageous sons can soon return.

Mrs. Dale Mooring, President Mothers' Crusade, Mesa, Ariz.

The Lighter Side. By DICK WEST. United Press International. WASHINGTON (UPI)—The name of the game is "There ought to be a law."

Another danger is found in the fact that most citizens feel they could do a better job in Congress than the present incumbents.

It is right and proper that we should feel that way. A superior attitude toward those in power is one of the cornerstones of democracy.

OLEN'S TUNE-UP Brake & Electric is the place to take your car for correct wheel balancing and all front-end work. Wheels can hardly be balanced if they are not turning to show just where corrective balance is needed. Olen's Alemite wheel balancer takes nothing for granted but pinpoints the exact point for the weights to be applied. Let Olen's check your wheels today.

Olen's Tune-Up, Brake, Electric Will Balance Wheels Correctly

Olen Anderson, owner and operator of Olen's Tune-Up Brake and Electric, 310 N. Ward, says now that all are doing more driving, shouldn't you see to it that your car is in proper condition?

If your wheels shimmy and shake, then you should drive right in to Olen's and have him check the balance of your wheels. Tires that are not corrected will wear out in a few hundred miles. Whereas properly balanced tires may last years. Wheel balancing and front alignment are two things that you or I just can't look at and say they're alright. A specialist like Olen has to put them on his special equipment. You will enjoy driving more after you have seen Olen.

Tires that are wearing unevenly also endanger your family's life. As your tires are being dragged sideways, heat is being built up and that is just asking for a blowout. Heat is the biggest villain as far as your tires' life is concerned. More tire failure is caused by overheating than any other cause. When this is minimized, you are increasing the life of your tires.

It is estimated that seven out of 10 cars have front ends out of alignment. Come in today and have Olen check the front end alignment of your car with his Alemite Cross-Sight Wheel Aligner.

To eliminate all guess work as to the performance of your car, Olen can put it on the Dyna-Vision Analyzer. This electronic machine tells all about the electrical operation of your engine... plugs, generator, timing, all the points that need to be "tuned" for a better running car. A perfect tune-up will be the result.

Stop in at Olen's Tune-Up Brake & Electric, 310 N. Ward, and have Olen put your car back into first class condition.

Carson County Voters Approve Lateral Road Tax

PANHANDLE (SpI)—An election for a proposed lateral road tax set up in Carson County, passed yesterday with a 368 to 66 vote by Carson County property owners.

The vote was necessary because of the depletion of funds from the Pantex housing west of Panhandle, according to officials. For the past 20 years the county had been getting about $20,000 to $30,000 a year from the units.

Since the Amarillo Air Force Base is to be phased out, about 200 of the units are vacant.

The election was held at the county's nine precincts, Skellytown, White Deer, Groom, Panhandle, Lark, Conway, Liberty, Pantex and Abel, an elevator west of Panhandle.

FASHION TRAVELS

LONDON (UPI)—What is a motique? It is a boutique on wheels.

British television personality Barbara Kelly today announced she is stocking a truck with the latest women's fashions and sending it off to suburban streets like an ice cream wagon.

"We'll buy our stock in small quantities every morning and the motique will visit housing developments and residential areas in the afternoons when mothers aren't so busy," she said.
