

No Cows for Miami Cow Callers

By WANDA MAE HUFF Staff Writer
Oto Mangold of Pampa, "winner of the 22nd place" in the national Cow Calling Contest in Miami yesterday, was prepared to "milk the first cow that comes along," but in spite of the 32 callers, and 1,500 spectators, no cows snowed up.
Ed Daugherty, president of First State Bank, Miami, was master of ceremonies for the Miss Miami beauty queen contest, which preceded the cow calling event.
Mary Ann Stockstill, last year's Miss Miami, crowned Shirley Newman, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Newman, as the 1967 queen.
Miss Stockstill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stockstill.
Runner-ups were Nancy Paris, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Paris and Brenda Lacasse, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lacasse, all of Miami.
Five finalists for Miss Miami were Elizabeth Grantham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Grantham Jr.; Miss Newman; Miss Paris; Miss Lacasse and Pixie Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard.
After the 14 queen contestants paraded across the stage set up in Roberts County Park, 21 cow callers lined up to compete in the men's division.
With Daugherty introducing contestants by number, Charles Clark of Miami won the $50 first prize and Donald Jenkins of Miami, the $25 second prize in the mens division.
Women's division winners were Mrs. Lloyd Wilkins of Pampa, first, $50, and Mrs. Raymond Cowan of Miami, second, $25.
After repeatedly calling for the 22nd cow calling contestant in the men's event and finding there wasn't supposed to be one, Daugherty dubbed Mangold the 22nd place winner for his "optimism in coming equipped with overalls, milking stool and bucket, ready for the first cow that comes along."
About 1,500 Pampa area residents watched the cow callers take a stance by the microphone and cup their hands around their mouths before yelling loud enough to call any cows around but no cows were on hand to come.
Within yelling distance, the (See COWS Page 3)

88 Persons Perish After Crash of British Airliner

Tourists Die as Plane Goes Down in France

PERPIGNAN, France (UPI) — A British airliner carrying tourists to vacations crashed into a Pyrenean mountain peak and exploded Saturday night, killing all 88 persons aboard.
Police said there were no survivors among the 83 passengers, all believed to be British tourists, and five crewmen aboard the DC-4 operated by Air Ferry Ltd.
The plane, enroute to Perpignan to land its passengers near Mediterranean resorts along the Spanish Costa Brava and Southern France, hit Canigou Mountain only minutes before it was due to land.
The 9,130-foot mountain in the East Pyrenees is located about 36 miles from Perpignan's Labenerre airport.
Perpignan, long storied in folk songs and ballads, is a main air, rail and road staging point in Southern France for travelers to Spain.
Witnesses reaching the scene of the crash said the plane hit the mountain about 4,000 feet up broke in half and blew up. The sound of the explosion was clearly audible in a tiny village about a half mile away.
The weather at the time of the crash was clear but there was no moon and the crash area was in total darkness.
People in a nearby village said they heard the plane passing low overhead and then the crash as it hit the peak of Canigou.

COWS STAYED HOME — Mrs. Lloyd Wilkins and Charles Clark, first place winners in the annual National Cow Calling Contest, yelled loud enough for a whole herd of cattle to come running, but no cows were on hand yesterday to watch the callers compete in Roberts County Park in Miami.

STILL UNCERTAIN Pampa Guard May Get Reshuffling

The Defense Department's plans to eliminate 15 National Guard Army divisions may reduce the strength of the Pampa company, but an official here believes Pampa will still have a National Guard unit, even after the reshuffling.
Pampa's unit, Company B of the second Battalion, 142nd Infantry, is part of the 36th Infantry division, and according to 1st Sgt. Wes Langham, "a small part of the overall picture of Texas Army National Guard."
Pampa has 104 men in Company B, of the second battalion which also has units in Borger, Dumas, Amarillo, Tulla, and Canyon. All are under the command of Col. Boyce Phillips, second battalion commander, of Amarillo, Langham said.
"We don't know yet how this change will affect us, but it will affect all the National Guard units in Texas, I'm sure we will have a unit here, because the National Guard is the cheapest line of defense we have, and this unit has always had a good record," Langham said.
According to Langham, "the guard can send two men on active duty for six months at the same price as the regular Army can train one man."
Pampa has had a unit since 1948 and at one time had a battalion headquarters here with two units, until the reorganization about 1960. Since then, the company has averaged about 130 men.
"I think the idea of the reorganization this time is to have fewer and smaller units, but have units more combat ready with better equipment," Langham said.
The Pampa unit has been called out here three times to help in snow or tornadoes, in addition to its regular six months active duty, Langham said.
At a conference Monday, the troop listing announcing the cutbacks will be furnished to all state adjutants attending the annual states' adjutants conference in Indianapolis.
Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop, adjutant general of Texas, has said reserve units will have three high priority brigades with other battalion-size units added to the troop list. Bishop is attending the Indianapolis conference.
The re-alignment is not expected to include the Air National Guard, according to Brig. Gen. James M. Rose, assistant adjutant general for the Texas Air National Guard.

Another Delay Given to Huffs

Another postponement of the bank robbery trial of Ernest Huff, 32, and his wife, Wanda Ruth Huff, 27, both of Pampa, was announced Saturday afternoon by Judge Grainger McIlhenny of 31st District Court.
It had been scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday in Miami and now tentatively has been reset for the last week in August.
Judge McIlhenny said the new delay in the trial was necessitated after he had been notified Saturday by Dr. Hugh A. Pannel, Amarillo psychiatrist, that a sanity examination of Huff had not been completed.
Dr. Pannel said a physical examination had been made but that he needed to probe further into Huff's background and environment before reaching a final decision on his sanity.
The first trial continuance was granted early in May when Atty. John Warner of Pampa, Huff's defense counsel, asked for the sanity tests. Warner indicated that the defense would be that Huff was insane at the time of the robbery.
Huff and his wife were charged with theft of an automobile from Preston Poole, a Halliburton employe.
Huff was indicted by a Roberts County grand jury on a charge of attempting to murder a Hemphill County sheriff, Jim Cloyd, who, with other officers, arrested the couple east of Pampa shortly after the Miami bank robbery.
Huff and his wife were charged with the $19,000 robbery of (See DELAY, Page 3)

Israel, Arabs Pledge To Use Force if Necessary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Israel told the Security Council Saturday it is determined to make a stand on the Gulf of Aqaba in resistance to the Arab blockade of the waterway.
The Arab countries replied that if Israel alone, or with the participation of the United States, tried to force the gulf, the Arabs would defend it "with all the means at their disposal."
Saudi Arabia, at odds with the United Arab Republic over Yemen, declared that "if there is war it will be fought to the end, until all injustices have been rectified."
Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko also raised the alleged U.S. bombing of a Soviet vessel in the North Vietnamese port of Cam PHA, 50 miles from Halphong, which the Soviets said occurred Friday.
Fedorenko did not seek U.N. action on the case however.
Council President Hans R. Tabor of Denmark adjourned the 15-nation group until Monday afternoon but alerted the members to be available on an emergency basis.
The 10 non-permanent members planned to continue their marathon private talks on measures to meet the crisis during the weekend. They started with a late Saturday afternoon caucus.
Adib Daoudey, a high official of the Syrian foreign office delivered a stinging attack on the United States for its support of Israel.
"The U.S. Government has given up to Zionism," Daoudey said. "whatever Israel does certainly will be with the backing of the U.S. government."
Alfred T. Kirschner, 47, of Hoboken was sentenced by Hudson County Superior Court Judge Sol Schulman for the fatal stabbing of Robert Chambers, 32, of Jersey City.
Chambers was stabbed to death March 9, 1946. Kirschner confessed the slaying last Nov. 5 to Jersey City Police St. Dennis Corwley, a childhood friend.
He said he wanted to clear his conscience. April 6 he pleaded guilty to a downgraded manslaughter charge.

GOP State Chairman Says Myth Gone

AUSTIN (UPI)—A myth was destroyed by the 60th legislature.
Last year Gov. John Connally campaigned successfully against Republicans, contending his "team" must be elected in order to enact his program.
Most of the "team" members won in 1966, but in 1967 they did not perform as advertised.
In reality there is no team. The Democratic Party is torn between its conservative and liberal wings, between rural and city representation, and between politicians in pursuit of personal power.
The legislature bogged down in conflicts between the two houses and legislative logjams were created by the introduction of controversial proposals not mentioned in the 1966 Democratic platform.
Despite the Governor's prodding, the legislature failed to pass several priority measures, including constitutional revision and judicial redistricting.
The logjam forced the Governor to back away from his fiscal program April 19 when he steered the state into one-year financing.
This radical departure from proven fiscal policy will accelerate the increase in state spending. Few people realize that since 1963 Texas' population has increased by about 10 per cent while spending has jumped by 80 per cent.
Accelerated spending will surely lead to new taxes, probably an increase in the state sales tax or a state income tax.
Republicans in the legislature protested the new financing plan. They pointed out that three months' work on funding measures went down the drain and the governor's special session will cost $500,000 that could have been saved.
This session did produce some good bills which Republicans helped enact. Among these were salary increases for teachers and state employes, traffic safety, anti-pollution measures, criminal code revision, positive voting and the proposal for federal tax sharing with the states.
In fulfilling their role as minority party members, Republicans helped kill some bad bills, including unlimited four-year terms for statewide officeholders and the "blank check" requested by legislators to set their own salaries.
The only meaningful debate on the House appropriations bill was presented by Republicans who attempted to remove non-essential spending.
We again offered a fair congressional redistricting bill which conforms to the equal population ruling and gives the growing urban centers the representation to which they are entitled.
Too often self-serving or special interest bills were rushed through to the detriment of the legislative process.
The spotty record of the 60th legislature points up dramatically the need for a strong two-

Highway Users Pay 29 Per Cent Of State Taxes

DALLAS — Special levies on highway users in Texas totaled $367 million during fiscal 1966, or about 29 per cent of the state's total tax collections, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports. Nationally, highway - user taxes accounted for 23 per cent of total state tax revenues.

Association President W. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, said that state taxes on motor fuel, which amounted to $242 million, constituted the largest single item in the highway - user category. The state tax on gasoline is five cents a gallon, he noted. Other special taxes on vehicle owners include registration and drivers' license fees and motor carrier taxes.

Stine Named To Post On Oil Panel

DALLAS — The Texas Oil Information Committee has named R. H. Stine, manager of public relations, Shell Oil Co., Houston, as chairman of its Public Relations Planning Committee. OIC state chairman Charles F. Heidrick, Dallas, announced.

He succeeds Walter Sanford, public relations representative, Sun Oil Co., Dallas, whose term expired. Sanford will remain a PRPC member, Heidrick said. As PRPC chairman, Stine also becomes a member of the nine-man Operating Committee which is the top policy group of OIC of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. He has served on the PRPC for the past three years.

Stine joined Shell Oil Co. in 1945 and served as public relations manager in Detroit and Cleveland prior to assuming his present post in Houston in 1964.

TRUCKER'S REVENGE
RIDGEFIELD PARK, N.J. (UPI)—A truck carrying scrap metal spilled hundreds of fragments over a 11-mile section of the New Jersey Turnpike Monday, leaving about 70 cars with flat tires in its wake, police said. No accidents were reported as a result of the flats.

The turnpike authority sent out four sweepers, two equipped with electro-magnets, to clear the southbound section of the turnpike near here of the metal. Police were unable to find the truck which spewed the fragments.

The network of roads built by the ancient Romans had a total length of more than 50,000 miles.

Grave Decorations Must Be Removed To Permit Mowing

Families, who have grave decorations in Fairview Cemetery on the grass or attached to monuments, are asked to please have them removed by Monday morning, according to Ed Foran, cemetery superintendent.

Foran said it would not be necessary to remove decorations on stands or racks since these could be moved out of the way to mow the grass.

Pampan Member Of Group Probing Job Opportunities

AUSTIN (Spl) — Members of a special committee studying job opportunities in Texas, including Warren Fatheree of Pampa, were told here Saturday that the average 1967 high school graduate will have to be re-trained four times by the year 2000 to keep up with employment demands.

Fatheree participated in the first statewide meeting of the Republican Task Force on Job Opportunities and Economic Growth, one of eight groups formed by the Texas GOP to study state problems and offer constructive solutions.

Various reports on job re-training, job opportunities and economic climates in Texas were discussed by the 27-member group chaired by John Hurd, Laredo oilman and attorney.

Among the speakers at the meeting were Harold Townsend, chief of special programs, Texas Employment Commission; Harry W. Clark, executive director, Texas Industrial Commission; and Charles Hoover, manpower training program consultant, Texas Education Agency.

The pair also is charged with theft of an automobile from Preston Poole, a Halliburton employee.

Huff was not captured until he was injured in a gunfight with officers when they caught up with him. After being hospitalized in Veterans Hospital at Amarillo, Huff escaped from the hospital, stole a car and headed east on U. S. 80, apparently headed for Pampa. He was recaptured near Panhandle and returned to Amarillo.

He has since been treated in Worley Hospital here.

Huff and his wife were still being held in Gray County jail Saturday night.

Judge McIlhenny said the 80-member panel of jurors summoned to report at the Miami courthouse tomorrow all had been dismissed.

An entirely new panel will be summoned when the case comes up for trial again late in August.

Approval Made Of Five Miles Of F-M Roads

The Texas Highway Commission announced Saturday in Austin it had approved development of 5.0 miles of Farm to Market roads in Gray County as part of the 1967 Texas Farm to Market program.

District Highway Engineer Charles W. Smith of Amarillo said estimated cost of the work is $90,000.

The work will be under the supervision of T. R. Kelley, Senior Resident Engineer of Pampa.

The project involved extends from the end of RM 2857 2.5 miles northeast of RM 1321, north to join State Highway 152 and will consist of grading and structures.

The work authorized for Gray County is part of $49.3 million of Texas Farm and Ranch to Market Roads earmarked for development in the new program.

New mileage included in the program totals 623 miles. Other mileage was previously designated.

Cows

(Continued From Page 1) closest thing to a cow were steers and calves penned in an arena west of Miami for ropers to lasso in jackpot roping events late yesterday evening.

In the Saturday morning calf roping events at the Miami arena, Bob Clements of Dalhart won the first and third rounds and Sammie Whitley of Pampa took the second round.

About 20 ropers competed in the morning calf roping, and 33 were to compete in steer roping late yesterday.

Other events scheduled later Saturday, were a barbecue dinner in the park, and a dance in the county barn, with the Texans of Pampa furnishing band music.

A spectator at the annual cow calling commented, "looks like this is the biggest crowd we have ever had. I know we had more old timers register this morning at the Legion Hall, Mrs. Kent Philpott of Miami said."

The first activity of this annual pioneer roundup was a Gay Nineties Revue Friday night in Miami with a variety of musical acts from several Panhandle area towns.

SOUND WAVES are used to analyze eyesight, by use of this masklike instrument. With the rubber goggle over his eye, a sound beam not felt by the patient is projected into the eye. Measurement of the beam enables the system to detect and display front and rear surfaces of the cornea and lens, and the retina, choroid and sclera interfaces at the rear of the eye, yielding valuable information to the eye specialist. The device was built by Automation Industries, Inc., El Segundo, Calif.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked.

Q—I own a small business and had to file several tax returns. I just got a refund check and I'm not sure what it's for. How can I find out?

A—This year refund checks are identified by class and period of tax. For example, refunds on individual income tax are identified as TAX REF while corporation income tax refunds are identified as CORP REF. This identification appears at the right of the check just under the amount. Employment and excise taxes are also identified. The period covered by the check, either a year or quarter, is shown at the left of the check under the date the check was issued. A close examination of your check, therefore, will show which tax it covers and the period involved.

Q—I am planning to set up a neighborhood service business during school vacation this summer. I will mow lawns, wash windows, etc. Will I be taxed on what I make?

A—You will have to file an income tax return if your earnings are $600 or more for the year. You also may be liable for self-employment tax if your net earnings from the jobs you do are $400 or more. Keep a record of what you are paid and your expenses for equipment, supplies and so forth. This will help you determine whether you earned enough from this and other sources to be required to pay taxes.

Q—Whenever there's a big daily double payoff at the track you read stories in the paper about the IRS wanting the winner's Social Security number. Could you explain this to me?

A—Information requested from winners at the race track is the same as that asked for by payers of dividends and interest. The winner is required to properly identify himself so that the track can file an information return showing the amount paid and the name and the Social Security number of the taxpayer. This information can then be compared with what the taxpayer reports on his return.

Q—In a divorce, does it make any difference whether payments a man makes to his former wife are considered alimony or child support?

A—Yes it does from a tax standpoint. If the payments qualify as alimony they will be deductible to the payer and taxable to the recipient. If the payments are considered child support, they will not be deductible by the payer and will not be counted as taxable income to his former wife. However, they will count as support in determining who may claim the children as dependents.

Q—Both of my kids need dental work this year and I'm sure the expense will put my deductions way above what they were last year. Considering these expenses, can I have my withholding reduced?

A—If you have increased your withholding in the past by not claiming all of the exemptions to which you're entitled or by having additional amounts withheld, you can reduce your withholding to the legal minimum. File another Form W-4 with your employer claiming all of your exemptions and dropping any additional amounts that had been withheld.

In 1962, an Air France 707 jet crashed in Paris, killing 130 persons including 121 from Atlanta, Ga., who were on a European study trip.

In 1964, the Supreme Court barred prayers and Bible reading in Florida public schools.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — You don't hear too much these days about rebellious middle-agers, but there are quite a few of them. One of the ringleaders is Sam Blum.

Blum, senior editor of Redbook Magazine, currently is rebelling against the facts of life. Specifically, he is rebelling against the clinical, graphic, scientifically accurate sex formation that most children now have at their fingertips. When Blum was a lad, the facts of life trickled down through several layers of "myths, yarns, songs, half-truths, scrawls and conjecture." Every body was a walking encyclopedia of "technical ignorance and marvelous misinformation."

He didn't know for sure what sex appeal was, but "whatever it was, it would obviously interfere with baseball practice." Mystery of Life In contrast, the mystery is soon gone for the boys of today. By the time a kid reaches high school, he knows as much as the average gynecologist. Blum believes this is the main reason so many young men are experimenting with LSD and other psychedelic drugs. They are striving to compensate, through mind-expansion, for the myths they missed in childhood.

"In the days of my youth, our minds were already expanded to capacity by something the kid down the street claimed he knew to be true because his older brother told him," Blum said. To combat current emphasis on the factual aspects of the facts of life, Blum has written a book titled "what every nice boy knew about sex."

It is a collection of psychological and biological myths that used to circulate in the schoolyards and summer camps back in "the good olde pre-Spock days"

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

It's Monday morning and Judy has the sniffles. Should her mother let her go to school? Increasingly, physicians and virologists are saying she may, and without endangering either her health or that of her schoolmates.

Dr. Sumner Berkovich, a professor of pediatrics at the Downstate Medical Center in New York City, says that research does not indicate that it is wrong for a child to go to school with a cold, provided he is not a sickly child, has no fever and follows some basic precautions.

One school board has ruled: "Any child with symptoms which suggest a common cold and whose temperature by mouth is less than 99.8 degrees or 100.9 degrees rectally should be sent to school."

A physician who was on the board of education when this ruling was adopted in 1963, says the policy has proved highly successful.

Parents were concerned about it at first. They feared that with more cold-carriers in circulation the incidence of colds would skyrocket. This did not prove to be the case.

One of the world's leading virologists, Christopher Andrews, former head of the common cold research unit of Salisbury, England, says that so many cold viruses crowd the air of any public place that one more person throwing off germs does not add appreciably to anyone's chances of coming down with a cold.

"Moreover," points out Dr. Katharine H. Hain, a director of medical services for a pharmaceutical house, "though a mother may keep a child who shows cold symptoms home from school, that does not mean that his classmates are spared exposure to his viruses.

"The fact is that people with colds throw off viruses a day or two before the usual cold symptoms appear. So his classmates have been exposed before the child came down with the cold."

Each mother wants to know under what conditions it is safe for her child to go out with a cold. This, of course, is a decision which she must make with the advice of her personal physician. Regardless of technical advice, remember the comfort of the child.

Each school should carefully assess its policies and consult with the school physician to determine a reasonable procedure. Parents should be advised through a public relations program and the health office.

This entire matter might well be a valuable project for the PTA to review with the school administration.

In 1941, President Roosevelt proclaimed "an unlimited state of national emergency."

In 1981, Clara Barton organized the first American Red Cross in Washington and consented to act as its first president.

Checking In At Lovett Memorial Library

By BARBARA COCKRELL, Librarian

A large number of new books have arrived in the library this week, and among them are many that may be designated "for men only." What with the large number of books pertaining to rearing, the arts and so forth, it is feared men may think at times they, and their interests, are forgotten. However, this is not so. It is high time we call attention to those books that are primarily of interest to the men.

Librarians keep a watchful eye on the circulation records which reveal the reading interests of their many patrons, and it is found to be generally true that men are, first of all, engrossed in the ever-present task of making a living. Next their attention is directed to current affairs, history, sports and finally just plain adventure.

"The Strategy of Earning a Better Living," by Willing, tells how to increase your earning power, how to pace your career, how to request a raise, and even how to "play office politics."

The library also has the latest edition of "Career Facts" — an indispensable guide to available jobs and careers. Statistics reveal that if you are 20 years old, you have 40 years employment ahead of you, and you will hold five different jobs. "Career Facts" can help you plan for the future.

Two new books in the Texas collection are "The Road to Spindletop," by Spratt, and "The Memoirs of Pancho Villa," by Taylor. "Spindletop" is the story of Texas' phenomenal economic growth during the past 90 years. And who has not heard of the colorful character, Pancho Villa?

But no one can — nor should you — work and ponder serious questions every hour of the day. Play, recreation and relaxation are essential to the well-being of every individual, and so we call attention to books on sports.

Two new and outstanding books on football are "Football Texas Style," by Kern Tips, and "The Pro Quarterback," by Olderman. Both are handsome, fact-packed, photo-filled, large books on football are "Football love. New books on other sports are "Karate," by Nishiyama, "Horse Racing," by Woods, "Masters of Boxing," by Carpenter. And, of course, there are the new books on guns — pistols, rifles and hunting.

Those weary men who prefer to just relax at the end of day, — to do their sight-seeing via the comfortable old armchair — are not forgotten. A fine way of seeing Alaska, and being comfortable while doing so, is to read "The Cheechakoos," by Short. This is the true story of a family who moved to Alaska and lived like pioneers. Or you might visit Germany and learn how the German people live and think today. Did you know that the Germans are still blaming the Allies for allowing Hitler to rise to power, — That they do not teach the history of the Nazi era in their schools? Be sure and read "Germany Divided," by Prittie.

In response to numerous requests for books on chess, the library has several on order. One just received is "The Joys of Chess," by Reinfield.

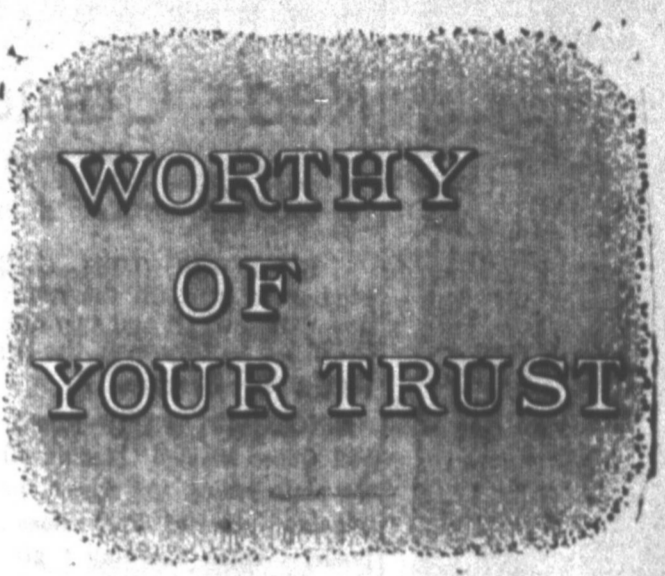

Once again, we would like to emphasize that the library strives to serve the interests of everyone in the community. If you fail to find the books you want — the books that interest you — please advise your librarian.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson Inc. says the issues making up the Dow Jones industrial list are suffering from neglect but individual performance issues respond as always to good news. The analyst notes that the bull market still is less than eight months old and doesn't seem to be "in any need of geriatric therapy yet."

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone Inc. suggests that investors. Give your library a chance to serve you!

Arthur Tepper of Stanley Heller & Co. says that the general market apparently has approached a short term overvalued position. Thus, the analyst says, an area of base building is at hand and a resumption of the primary trend probably is imminent.

Damascus Runs to Easy Belmont Stakes Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Preakness champion Damascus overtook Canadian champion Cool Reception in the homestretch Saturday to score an impressive two-and-a-half length victory in the $148,700 Belmont Stakes, longest of America's "triple crown" races.

The triumph, in the sparkling time of 2:28 4/5 for the mile-and-a-half run, meant that Damascus missed becoming the first Triple Crown winner in 19 years only because of his third place in the Kentucky Derby.

This time jockey Willie Shoemaker, who also brought him from behind in the Preakness, sent Damascus into a contending position on the turn for home and the bay colt caught Cool Reception with an eighth of a mile to go.

Cool Reception hung on to take second place by a half-length over Gentleman James. Proud Clarion, who won the derby in a stunning upset back in May, finished fourth after trying in vain to match Damascus' closing stretch drive.

The victory was the seventh in the Belmont for a member of the Woodward family—Mrs. Edith Bancroft, owner of Damascus, is the daughter of William Woodward, who won it five times, and the sister of William Jr., who won it once.

The victory was a popular one with the bettors as Damascus paid $3.60, $2.60 and $2.40. Cool Reception paid $4.20 and $3.60 and Gentleman James paid $7.00.

Jockey Shoemaker, winning the Belmont stakes for the fourth time, had Damascus in sixth place in the early part of the race and then moved up to fifth trail Proud Clarion who was racing fourth Shoemaker sent Damascus up to the front with a rush and, once the colt started rolling in the stretch, the crowd of 52,120 realized its favorite had the race at his mercy.

In duplicating the 1959 victory of his sire Sword Dancer, Damascus picked up a winners' purse of $104,850 that raised his lifetime earnings to $192,275.

Damascus was the seventh horse to win both the Preakness and the Belmont stakes. Man O' War and Pillory did not run in the Kentucky Derby but Bimelech Capot, Native Dan and Nashua won the Preakness and Belmont after failing in the Kentucky Derby.

THUNDERING HOME is Damascus, winner of the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes Saturday.

Cubs Stagger Cardinals 7-5

Reds Come Back To Take 8-7 Victory

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Bill Hands, the fourth Chicago pitcher to work in the ninth inning, struck out Mike Shannon with two on and two out Saturday night to preserve the Cubs' 7-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Reds 8, Braves 7

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Pitcher Mel Queen singled leading off the ninth inning and scored the winning run of Pete Rose's fielder's choice Saturday to give the Cincinnati Reds an 8-7 victory over the Atlanta Braves in a battle of five home runs.

The Reds' winning rally came after Cleve Boyer tied the game at 7-7 in the top of the ninth with his sixth homer of the season and the fifth homer hit during the game.

Queen, who picked up his sixth victory in seven decisions, with a 6 1-3 inning relief stint, touched off the Reds' winning rally with a looping single to left. He was safe at second when Boyer threw too late to Denis Menke after Chico Ruiz' sacrifice bunt. After Vada Pinson beat out an infield hit to load the bases, Rose hit a grounder to Menke whose throw to the plate was too late to nail Queen.

Home runs by Rico Carty and Hank Aaron off Billy McCool gave the Braves a 2-0 lead in the first. The Reds bunched five hits, including doubles by Floyd Robinson and Deron Johnson to chase Bob Bruce and take a 4-2 lead in the second inning.

Mets, Giants Split

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Back-to-back doubles in the 11th inning by John Lewis and Tommy Davis gave the New York Mets a 2-1 victory Saturday over the San Francisco Giants and a split of a doubleheader.

Juan Marichal downed the Mets for the 19th time of his career without a loss in the opener, 11-2, although giving up 13 hits.

Bob Shaw, who had lost his first five decisions of the season, went all the way for the Mets in the nightcap and had a two-hitter until Tom Haller smashed his sixth home run of the year with two out and none on in the 11th. Shaw then got Willie Mays on a called third strike to end the contest.

The defeat went to Bob Bolin (3-5) who duelled Shaw for 10 2-3 innings but was socked for three straight hits which meant the contest.

Twins 8, Angels 6

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Harmon Killebrew's three-run 430-foot home run — the first drive ever hit into the upper left field stands of Metropolitan Stadium — clinched a 8-6 victory over the California Angels.

HARMON KILLEBREW ... another homer maxed a four-run fourth inning Saturday and led the Minnesota Twins to an 8-6 victory over the California Angels.

Bosox 6, Tribe 2

CLEVELAND (UPI)—George Scott singled home one run and Hinton's two-run error in the third inning Saturday as the Boston Red Sox beat the Cleveland Indians for the fifth time in six tries, 6-2.

Yanks 3, Tigers 1

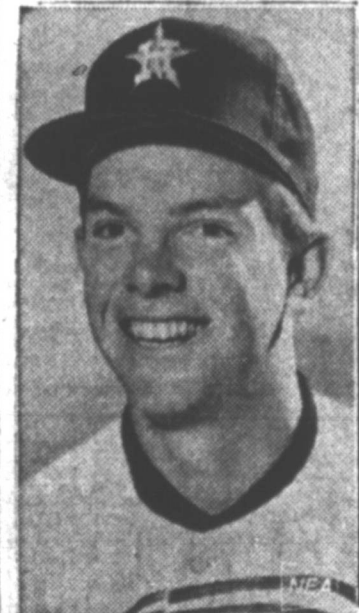

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Tresh, batting only .192, slammed a two-run homer to climax a three-run fourth inning Saturday and help righthander Joe Verbanic notch a victory in his first major league start as the New York Yankees beat the league-leading Detroit Tigers 3-1.

A's 3, Chisox 1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Winning pitcher Chuck Dobson started the Kansas City Athletics on a string of three consecutive hits in a two-run seventh inning Saturday, chasing star lefthander Gary Peters and producing a 3-1 win over the Chicago White Sox.

Phils 4, Astros 2

HOUSTON (UPI)—Righthander Jim Bunning scattered seven hits and outdueled Larry Dierker Saturday night to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

Larry Dierker

Bunning struck out six and walked one as he evened his record at 5-5 and went the distance for the fifth time.

Birds 3, Sens 2

Brown Acquitted Of Paternity Suit

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Former Cleveland Browns fullback Jim Brown was acquitted by a jury Saturday of being the father of a girl born to Brenda Ayres in March of 1966.

The jury of six men and six women voted 11-1 to acquit Brown.

Brown was due to return to Cleveland tonight. He had been making a movie in London and did not attend the trial.

Only nine votes were needed to acquit Brown of the paternity charge.

EVEN THE COACHES got into the act during the annual Pampa Country Club Partnership golf tournament which plays its final 18 holes today. Lee Junior High coach and former high school baseball coach Deck Woldt is set to tee off and his partner Weldon Trice, former Pampa high golf coach is next as a crowd gathers to watch.

TWO TEAMS TIED FOR SECOND Heath, Reynolds in Lead

A. L. (Tennie) Reynolds and partner Mark Heath moved into the finals of the Pampa Country Club's annual Partnership tournament today with a two shot lead.

Reynolds, a power driver despite his 5'6 height and Heath a weekend golfer only, came to the club house with a handicap round of 56 after 18 holes of play Saturday.

Heath has a 11 stroke handicap and Reynolds carries a 19 handicap.

Reynolds, a Pampa rancher and Heath, owner of a men's clothing store in Pampa, held their lead over favorites Buster Carter and his partner, David (Insurance) Fatheree and the team of R. E. Wright and Wayne Veal.

These two teams carded 58's with probably Carters and Fatherees rounds being the more spectacular since Carter carries only a three handicap and Fatheree an eight.

No. 5 hole, also a par 3. Eddie Duenkel pulled out an eagle, not counting handicap when he got a three on the par 5, No. 15, a 440 yard hole. Duenkel hit the green in two and then holed in a 50 foot putt.

Five shots back of the leaders with 61s are Tom Adkins and Malcolm Douglas, M. E. Webb, John Fritch, Fred Nesledge, Joe Donaldson and Tom Snow and Jim Brown.

Hills Widens Lead In Memphis Golf

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Steady Dave Hill fired a two-under par 68 Saturday to widen his lead to five strokes after three rounds of the $100,000 Memphis Open.

Hill, an unattached pro from Jackson, Mich., had a 54-hole total of 199—11 under par—and picked up one stroke on South African Gary Player who had threatened to narrow the gap, but finished with a 69 for a tournament total of 204.

All alone in third place was Dan Sikes, of Wildwood, Fla., who carved a 66 to put him six strokes behind the leader.

Hill turned an even par after taking consecutive bogeys on 7 and 8 when his tee shot strayed to the left but came back to birdie 9, 10 and 16 and put down Player's challenge.

Grouped in fourth place were Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., and defending champion Bert Yancey of Chipley, Fla., who were seven strokes back to 206. Harris carded a 67 Saturday, while Yancey had a 68.

NOTHING SACRED

DENVER (UPI)—Dale Long, Supervisor for a Denver vending firm, wasn't taking any break into his truck and swipe chances that someone would see the $500 in change he was carrying.

He hid the money under the truck seat, triggered the wire that sets off an alarm when someone opens the door and then locked the vehicle.

When he returned, the money was gone. Police said someone had slipped the latch on a vent window, rolled down the driver's window and crawled in without opening the door. The thief departed the same way.

Woodard Whiffs 17 as Pampa Halts Perryton

PERRYTON—Pampa's American Legion ball team, caught short with only nine players in the fold, won in their first outing of the season Saturday, 3-2 in 12 innings behind lefty Allan Woodard's 17 strikeouts.

Woodard, a Pampa Harvester junior star, went the distance, the longest stint he's pitched this year. He walked only two and gave up just one earned run on six hits, all singles.

The Pampa team hosts Spearman at 3 p.m. today in the first home game of the season at Optimist Club Park.

Mike Meeks also went the full 12 innings for Perryton but allowed nine hits, all singles and gave up just two earned runs. He fanned eight and walked only a pair.

The winning run came when Fran McGahen singled, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Gary Molberg's first hit of the evening. Perryton went in front 1-0 in the third inning when Tim Jones led off with a single, went to second on a ground out and scored on Jack Morehead's single.

Pampa made it 2-1 in the fifth when Alvin Achord led off with a safety and went to third when the Perryton shortstop threw wild on Ronnie Sanders ground ball with Sanders going to second, Achord scored on a McGahen ground out and Steve Summers singled home Sanders.

Perryton tied it in the eighth, when pitcher Meeks singled, went to third on a two base error and scored on Summers passed ball.

Coach Lloyd Summers found himself slightly short-handed with only nine players showing up for the game. Several players are working and two others are in Rockdale for a New York Mets tryout camp but were expected back for today's game.

HOWIE MANAGES

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United States Olympic speed skating committee announced today that George Howie will manage the men's and women's speed skating teams for the 1968 winter Olympics at Grenoble, France.

Full Schedule Slated For Legion Team

Pampa's American Legion baseball team opened the 1967 season Saturday (see story on page 1) and plays its first home game today, beginning at 3 p.m. with Spearman at Optimist Club Park.

Lloyd Summers, an astute baseball man, who played in the minors and majors, takes over the reins this year for the first time from Pampa High School coach Bobby Stephens.

Summers has a total of 16 games to get by this season and a roster that is still not completed.

Most members of the team are made up of youngsters who played high school ball in Pampa's 24-5 team in 1967.

Some are missing and there are a couple of new faces.

Not on hand are Larry Jones, the hustling Pampa first baseman, who cracked four home runs, Rick Foster, a pitcher, second-baseman, who hit 378 and had five home runs for the Harvesters.

Jones is in Houston and Foster will be 19 before Sept. 1, the deadline.

But, on tap are third baseman and clutch hitter Alvin Achord, Pampa's leading batsman, home run hitter, and RBI leader, shortstop-pitcher Gary Loberg even though catcher Larry Stephens, James Matney, who hit over 300 for Pampa this year and pitchers Dickie Henley, Al Gomez and Alan Woodard, who had three shutouts and a 4-1 record for the Harvesters. Also on hand are Harvesters, Steve Summers, Larry Turcotte, Gary Parrish and Fran McGahan.

Newcomers, who had sixth period PE-basketball are George Bailey and Dan Carlton.

Carlton is a fireballing pitcher who is expected to add quite a bit to the mound staff as is Bailey, who can throw 'em hard as anybody and sports a good batting eye.

After the Spearman contest the schedule calls for Pampa to meet Tascosa at 9 p.m. June 7 at Amarillo; Canyon at Canyon at 8 p.m. June 9 then Berger Hereford, Clarendon and Amarillo will be in Pampa for four straight home games. Berger is here June 11 at 3 p.m.; Hereford at 8 p.m. on June 14; Clarendon at 8 p.m. on June 17 and Amarillo at 3 p.m. on June 18.

The Legion then goes to Tulla June 21 at 8 p.m., Groom is scheduled for a June 20 visit but this game may be moved up.

Dumas, Caprock and Perryton visit for games on the 24th, 28th and July 1 then Pampa goes to Spearman July 2 for a 3 p.m. game, then Palo Duro comes to Pampa July 8 for an 8 p.m. game and Pampa closes the season with games in Dumas, July 9; Berger, July 12 and Caprock on July 15.

But, on tap are third baseman and clutch hitter Alvin Achord, Pampa's leading batsman, home run hitter, and RBI leader, shortstop-pitcher Gary Loberg even though catcher Larry Stephens, James Matney, who hit over 300 for Pampa this year and pitchers Dickie Henley, Al Gomez and Alan Woodard, who had three shutouts and a 4-1 record for the Harvesters. Hines Steals Track Show in California Run

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Texas Southern's Jimmy Hines stole the thunder from Jim Ryun's second fastest mile ever and Southern California's world record-equalling 440-yard relay Friday night in the Coliseum-Compton Invitational Track Meet.

Hines was voted the outstanding performer by sports writers after upsetting Tommie Smith of San Jose State in the 220-yard dash and also winning the 100-meter dash to become the Met's only double winner.

Hines and Smith were even to the halfway point in the 220 but Hines moved out front and finished a yard ahead in 20.5 seconds. Smith holds the world record of 20 flat. Hines ran the 100 in 10.2.

Ryun's time of 3:53.2 was remarkable because he had no one to push him. He was his own pacemaker. USC ran a 39.6 in the sprint relay to beat Texas Southern by five yards as Lennox Miller more than held his own against Hines on the anchor lap. TSU had a 40.0.

In the featured Compton mile, Ryun's time was the fastest in history except for his world mark of 3:51.3 set last year at Berkeley, Calif. For the last two laps, he was running all by himself about 50 yards in front of the pack. His lap times were 57.3, 60.9, 59.8, and 55.2.

John Lawson, a former Kansas University runner, was second with a time of 4:01.1.

Smith anchored the winning San Jose State team in the mile relay. The time was 3:07.1. The world record is 3:02.8.

He had no excuses for his defeat in the 220 by Hines, saying, "I just got beat. My start wasn't especially good but not that bad. Hines did get away from me on the curve. My race wasn't that bad though. Don't forget Hines is quite a runner. No matter how good you are, we're all beatable."

Hines said, "that was my slowest finish all year. Usually I'm very good with my finish. But really I'm not too dissatisfied because I didn't train much all week. I feel I can run 20 flat or under before the season is over."

Bob Bearson, the Texas Western star competing for the El Paso Track Club, beat world champion Ralph Boston in the long jump 26-3/4 to Boston's 26-1. Former McMurry star Bill Miller was fourth at 25-3/4.

John Hartfield of Texas Southern and the Houston Striders was fourth in the 220 in 20.8.

John Hartfield of Texas Southern was one of three to clear 7-0 in the high jump but finished fourth.

The Houston Striders were second to San Jose in the mile relay with a 3:07.6 clocking.

FIRST AMERICAN SINCE 1962 Sooner Wins British Golf

FORMBY, England (UPI)—Army-bound Bob Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., regained his putting magic for a brilliant stretch run Saturday to edge Walker Cup teammate Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, Calif., 2 and 1, for the British Amateur golf championship.

Dickson birdied three straight holes, one of them on a 45-foot chip shot, at the top of the back nine to take the first commanding lead in the grueling duel, but he needed a remarkable recovery on the 33rd hole to stave off Cerrudo's final challenge. Hitting over the green, the lanky 23-year-old Oklahoman came back to sink a seven-foot putt to keep Cerrudo from again squaring the match.

Dickson, who reports Monday for Army duty, then birdied the 34th hole with a 10-foot birdie putt and closed it out on the 35th when he pitched to the green and Cerrudo rolled past the pin in one last try for a birdie that would have kept the match alive.

It was not until Dickson sank a seven-foot putt for an eagle three on the 25th hole that he took the lead. He quickly lost it to Cerrudo but then came a relentless birdie barrage that stamped him the winner.

The match was even as the two Walker Cup birdies made their final turn. It had been even also at the end of the morning's 18-hole round. At this point, with nine holes to go, Dickson grabbed command. He sank a three-foot putt on the 28th and canned his 45-footer on No. 29 to go 2-up. He birdied No. 30 on a four-footer and that put him three holes ahead with six to go.

Dickson became the first American to win the British title since Dick Davies did it in 1962. It was also the first all-American final since 1959 when Deane Beman bested Bill Hyndmann.

First Major Triumph

This was Dickson's first major tournament victory.

"I sure hope it won't be my last," he said.

Cerrudo said the Oklahoman was "unbeatable."

Dickson, the son of golf pro Ben Dickson, said of the future, months are boots and rifles."

Ben Dickson, said of the future, "all I'll see in the next few weeks is Dickson and Cerrudo made it around Formby's 6,854-yard, par 72 course in remarkable time. They needed only two hours and 50 minutes for the first 18-hole round and made it through the final 17 in two hours, 25 minutes.

Clothes Make The Man, But Golfer?

By RON CROSS

If you didn't get out to Pampa Country Club Saturday to watch the players clomping across the fairways and roughs in quest of the championship for the annual Partnership tournament by all means do so today.

You might also want to shake the hand of a fellow out there who rivals Doug Sanders for colorful golf clothes and who has the distinction of being the only PCC member to team up with his wife in the partnership chase.

ling of the other wives and much kidded and maybe even slightly disliked name of the men.

Can't you just imagine one of the golfers going home after shooting a tough 18, in which his handicap didn't help, and hearing from the little woman, "Well, John, you'd just as well get used to the idea that next year it's gonna be you and me in that tournament, whether you like it or not."

This could start a whole new era in the world of golf. Maybe next year we'll even year by a single stroke.

"A lot of people may think I'm henpecked, Carlton said, but we've finished in money twice and I don't see how I could do any better with anybody else."

"Besides, Dottie likes to play as much as I do and we both work and as long as she wants me as her partner I'm willing."

In the 1967 tournament in which full handicaps are used and low ball was the order of the day Saturday and select drive today, are such prominent golfers as Buster Carter, a threat anytime he picks up a club, O. M. Prigmore, Max Hickey, Elmer Wilson and C. F. McGinnis.

On hand also are F. N. Hills and Lonnie Johnson who snared the title last year and Jim Triplehorn and Dr. Frank Kelley, the 1965 winners.

But all have different partners this year and a new champion will be crowned. Hills is teamed with Don Michael and Johnson with Jack Foster.

Triplehorn and Ralph McKinley are teamed up and Kelley is not entered this year.

Our pick, though, is Stu Youngblood and M. L. Hall, not to win the tournament but to just finish.

Besides his colorful clothes there is one other way to pick out Carlton.

He got two instructions from Dottie before the tournament started:

"Keep your head down and your mouth shut."

get a tournament where the wives versus the husbands or husbands and wife team up for a tournament.

This would be quite a boom to the golf game of the likes of Bob Baker, who's wife not only beats him on the golf course but at the bowling alley as well.

I don't blame her I wouldn't want to team up with him in this tournament either.

This will be the fourth annual club partnership event and in the three previous ones the Carlton's have finished in the money twice, just missing making it three of three last

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
Last week this column carried a report on the formation of a West Texas Water Association to expand area resources. The association adopted the name of WATER, Inc.

It was interesting to note several backers of WATER, Inc. were West Texas bankers. It was interesting to observe also they were big bankers. West Texas needs water and this means money to them. For West Texas to continue to grow we must have water and people.

The 2,000 plus attendance at the meeting in Lubbock May 24, was the largest meeting ever held on water problems in Texas.

Don't think for a minute the meeting was dominated by bankers and irrigation farmers. Oil and gas industry representatives were there in force. They too were going all-out in urging importation of water into the West Texas area. They do not have to be told West Texas has the best all-year-round weather in the nation. Absenteeism from work is almost nil. We have all the ingredients for a continued growth and prosperity if we are able to replenish our existing water supply. The Lubbock meeting served notice that West Texas intends to solve the water problem.

Lubbock Speaker May 24
Charlie Verner, president of the First National Bank at Lubbock, was one of the principal speakers at the May 24 meeting. Last week we carried a portion of that speech. This week we are carrying the following portion of what he had to say.

"Let's look for a moment at the impact of a lasting, adequate water supply and the difference it can make on this area's economy. One of the vulnerable points in our economy is our almost total dependency on cotton, grain and livestock. If those markets go bad, we're in trouble. However, a permanent source of water would allow us to diversify and add new fields — truck crops, fruits, expanded soy and castor bean production, and so on.

"A guaranteed source of abundant water also would encourage the development of industries — the further development of the petro-chemical industry, for example. Water also would encourage finishing our raw products right here, instead of letting the big money slip away.

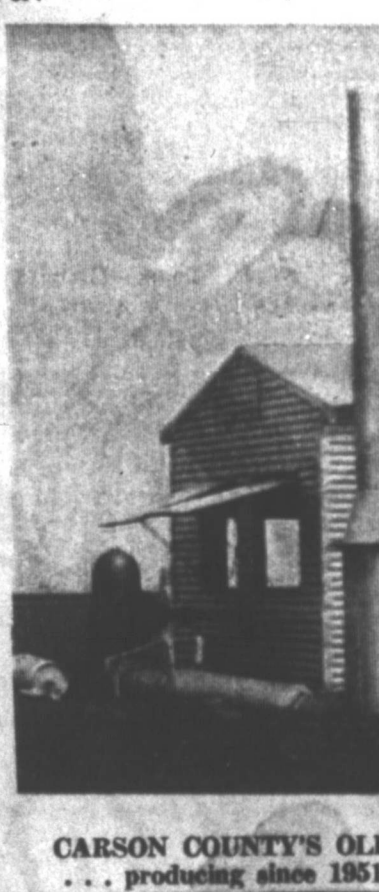

Chances for Economic Growth
"According to Dr. Gerald Thomas, Dean of Agriculture at Texas Tech, and Dr. Herbert Grubb, agriculture economist, one of the greatest opportunities for economic growth in West Texas lies in encouraging industries to process and develop final consumer products right here in the area from our own raw materials.

"At the present, the major portion of our agriculture products are sent to other areas of the state, the nation, and the world, where they are converted into the finished product — thereby passing us in the big profit picture.

"By using the multiplier factor, we see that the average value of finished cotton products is approximately $6.70 per dollar of raw cotton. West Texas only gets $1.20 of that $6.70 when the raw cotton leaves the farm area. By not having the processing and finishing facilities, we are losing $5.50 to outsiders. Our cotton already is worth $250-300 million to us, but by increasing the related cotton industries, we conceivably could realize as much as one billion dollars from cotton alone.

Water Attracts Industry
"Wheat has an even greater multiplier factor. The finished wheat product realizes $8.30. In the case of grain used for liquor production, the multiplier value is $34. Yet West Texas retains only $1.20 of those figures, making us lose to the processors $7.10 or $82.82 that conceivably could be kept in this area should we attract more industries to West Texas. But we can't attract them without water!

Conservationist Suggests Three Ways to Improve Pasture Land

Gray County Soil Conservation service officials reported yesterday three systems they recommended for range rotation deferred grazing to get more profit from rangeland.

William Sowers, soil conservationist here, said "range rotation deferred grazing is a system in which rangeland can be properly used and at the same time, deferred."

This system can be used on any rangeland that has two or more pastures with approximately the same potential for grazing, Sowers said.

There are three principal systems. The two pasture system has one herd of livestock. It takes two years to complete a cycle of deferred grazing. After two years, each pasture will have been grazed 12 months and rested 12 months, he said. "In the two pasture system, a rancher can use six - month grazing," he said.

On the three pasture system, a rancher usually has two herds of livestock, and takes three years to complete the grazing cycle.

"After three years each pasture will be grazed 12 months and rested 12 months," Sowers explained.

On the four pasture system, with three herds of livestock, it takes four years to complete the grazing cycle.

After four years, the rancher will have grazed his land 36 months and rested it 12 months. A five-year study of the Texas Experimental Ranch near Turockmorton in north central Texas, showed that calf weights are about 30 pounds heavier on a four - pasture deferred grazing system than the year long heavy rate of grazing.

It was also found that cows lost less body weight during the

Veterinarians Set Annual Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Worrell of Pampa will attend the 20th annual Texas conference for veterinarians at Texas A&M University June 14-16.

About 200 are expected to attend and hear addresses by three practicing veterinarians, Dr. R. D. Turk said. He is from the A&M College of Veterinary Medicine and is conference chairman.

Speakers are Dr. W. D. Ommert, horse practitioner at Monrovia, Calif.; Dr. R. P. Knowles, Miami, Fla., practitioner; and Dr. H. L. Marsh, a practitioner at Princeton, Ill. Dr. Ommert will discuss unusual radiographic findings and various hazards in equine practice. Dr. Knowles will describe surgical techniques, and Dr. Marsh will talk on approaches and observations in cattle and swine practice.

The Texas Veterinary Medical Association will meet June 14 at the conference. The president is Dr. R. C. Mallett, and the president elect is Dr. A. I. Flowers, both of Texas A&M.

Conference talks start at 9:45 June 15 with a welcome address by Dr. A. A. Price, dean of the A&M College of Veterinary Medicine. Other topics that day are care of chimpanzees in research, Capt. D. C. Corps, Holloman AFB, New Mexico; wildlife diseases, Dr. R. M. Robinson, Texas A&M; and mineral nutrition in cattle, Steele Wright, president of Texas Farm Products Co., Nacogdoches.

Others are immunologic procedures, Dr. H. P. Hobson, Texas A&M, and cardiac resuscitation in the dog, Major G. L. Arnstadt, USAF veterinary Corps, Brooks AFB, San Antonio.

Banquet speaker that night at 8:45 is James Gillie of Bartlesville, Okla., manager of feed ingredient sales for Phillips Petroleum Company.

Two Will Enter 4-H Conference

Two Pampa area 4-H girls will leave tomorrow to attend the annual 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University at College Station. Judy Cox of Pampa and Mignon Nickel of Lefors won a first place in the district contest and will represent Gray County and the district at the state contest at A&M.

The girls' demonstration entitled, "Happiness in A Shelter" is entering in the Civil Defense contest and explains the importance of maintaining high moral during times of disaster. In the demonstration the girls present a recreation kit planned to meet the needs of every family member.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Cox, 723 Deane Dr., and Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Nickel of Lefors.

About 850 4-H club members from every section of Texas will compete Wednesday in 31 judging and demonstration contests. Later in the year, state winners in several contests will represent Texas in regional and national contests. State winners receive expense-paid trips to National 4-H Club Congress held in November in Chicago, Ill.

A former Miss America, Miss Marilyn VanDerbur, will participate in state-wide 4-H events. Winner of the 1958 Miss America crown, Miss VanDerbur will arrive Wednesday, appear at several 4-H Roundup functions, and leave Thursday.

Miss VanDerbur, who was graduated from the University of Colorado with Phi Beta Kappa honors has appeared on several television shows. She has appeared on the Steve Allen, Ed Sullivan, Art Linkletter, "To Tell the Truth", "Candid Camera", and Bell Telephone programs.

Television hostess of the Miss America Pageant for five consecutive years, she recently was hostess of the Miss Teenage America Pageant.

She has spoken to thousands of groups as diversified as the American Mining Congress and the National Youthpower Congress, and addressed the Ohio 4-H Congress four years.

Miss VanDerbur has competed in swimming meets, broken and trained her own horses, raced in competition in ski contests and competes in organized golf tournaments.

She studied drama at the Musical Theater Academy in New York, played the organ for a long playing record, sings during personal appearances on television, and commentates numerous fashion shows in the United States and Canada.

Alert for Worms
As of May 13, 28 confirmed screwworm cases have been reported in Texas. Six cases were confirmed between April 30 and May 13, according to officials at the Screwworm Eradication Laboratory at Mission. A total of just over a quarter billion sterile flies were air - dropped during the same period. The officials continue to urge stockmen to be on the alert and to submit samples of any worms found in animal wounds to the Mission laboratory for identification.

On July 14 the Top O' Texas 4-H Riding Club will host the District One 4-H Horse Show and elimination contest at Recreation Park. About 135 4-H club members are expected to attend from the 22 county Panhandle District.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reeves are leaders of this active phase of 4-H work in Gray County. Alvin will also direct the District One elimination contest. Winners of events will earn the right to compete on the state level in August at Odessa.

Many hours of free time are donated by these two fine leaders in helping some 45 Gray County 4-H members learn the art of handling and caring for horses.

Alvin was also elected recently to serve as one of the organizational leaders of the Top O' Texas 4-H Club. We would like to salute these fine leaders for doing an excellent job. They are ideal leaders who have a genuine interest in the 4-H youngsters with whom they work.

Cattle Prices
Some real strength is beginning to show up in the Fat Cattle Market. There has been a lot of activity on the August, October, and December Live Beef Cattle contracts on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Apparently there is a big guessing game going on between speculators and hedgers of live cattle on the near by delivery months. Those months past December seem to be pretty stable.

Within the last 10 days the August contract has run up to as high as $27.90. Two weeks ago it was below $27.00. The price has been running up and down the scale in sharp rises and falls the past several days. It appears the speculators run it up to the top of the scale and the hedgers drive it back down.

Foreign News Commentary

United Press International... LONDON (UPI)—If Egypt's claims over the Strait of Tiran were applied internationally, access to the Black Sea through the Ruckish controlled Dardanelles could be blocked for Russian ships and the Baltic Sea closed by Sweden and Denmark.

This is the advanced by legal experts who point to the grave political dangers implicit in the current stand taken by U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser over rights of access to the Gulf of Aqaba.

It appeared especially pertinent following Istanbul reports 10 Soviet warships including missile-firing vessels will pass through the Dardanelles within a few days to reach the eastern Mediterranean.

Nasser's argument is that the Strait of Tiran controlling the access to the gulf are Egyptian waters and therefore under sole Egyptian sovereignty and control.

The West's interpretation is that the Strait of Tiran must be kept free for international navigation.

Since the Dardanelles were opened to allow access to the Black Sea two centuries ago the principle of free navigation was extended so as to end any possibility of one state being allowed to dominate another purely by such accidents of geography.

This principle was further endorsed in international law by the 1958 Geneva "convention of the territorial sea and contiguous zone."

The convention declares among others that there shall be "no suspension of the innocent passage of foreign ships through the straits which are used for international navigation between one point of the high seas and another point of the high seas or the territorial sea of a sovereign state."

Russia as well as the United States, Britain and 19 other powers subscribed to this convention. Egypt did not ratify it.

NASSER

Strongman of the Middle East for over a decade has been Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic. Beloved by most of the Arab world, he has sometimes been a puzzling irritant to the West. Britain went on military alert at the Suez Canal zone, right, soon after Nasser came to power and pressed for Arab ownership of the canal. Violence erupted in 1956 when he nationalized the canal and was attacked by the French, British and Israelis.

Ships sunk in the canal during the 1956 hostilities blocked passage through the famous waterway for some months, until they could be cleared. Below, Nasser confers with UN Secretary-General U Thant about the current crisis.

An adoring public has nearly mobbed Nasser on several occasions, as seen top left shortly before he was elected president in 1954. To the West's dismay, he has been friendly through the years with members of the Communist camp, such as Fidel Castro, with whom he is shown above. At right, 1967 has brought another mobilization of forces for the Arabs, as border difficulties with Israel resulted in a new rush of equipment into the Sinai Peninsula.

TOMMY ANDERWALD'S TAILWATER RECOVERY PIT IRRIGATES THIRD WHEAT CROP

Wasted Irrigation Water Causes Panhandle Fence-Line Quarrels

By WANDA MAE HUFF
News Staff Writer

Panhandle area farmers and ranchers have found one way of ending fence line quarrels over wasted irrigation water that runs into highway ditches and across their neighbors' fields.

This method, comparatively new in Gray and Carson counties, is called a tailwater recovery system. It picks up excess water from the "tail end" of irrigated crop rows, carries it in ditches or pipelines to a recovery pit, and transfers it to a field which otherwise would have to depend on the Panhandle's sporadic rainfall for moisture.

In Gray County, about 12 farmers of wheat, milo and other grain crops have put in tailwater recovery systems. Carson County has about 40 systems. About 60 are in the Panhandle Underground Water District which includes Gray, Carson and Potter counties, Felix Ryals, district manager, said.

"We are trying to get more irrigation farmers in this area to realize what they can save in fuel costs, irrigation well repairs and increased crop profits," Ryals said.

Cuts Irrigation Costs

Tailwater recovery systems that pick up water from irrigated, fertilized fields circulate the enriched water through-out an irrigation circuit. Tailwater, plain or enriched, is used four and five times, and helps cut irrigation costs, Ryals said. Costs of a tailwater recovery system vary with the system's size and complexity. Basic structure and equipment includes a pit dredged out deep enough to hold excess irrigation water, connecting trenches from the pit to irrigated field rows, and a water pump to siphon water from the pit through plastic or aluminum pipes and into another field or pasture.

In Gray County, wasted irrigation water usually winds up in the Red River by flowing over into road ditches, onto neighboring fields, and into draws leading to the river.

In other counties, wasted water often flows into playa lakes, Ryals said.

Waters Difficult Fields

Rex McKay's system, located on his Gray County farm seven miles southwest of Pampa, irrigates 45 acres of maize which, without tailwater, could not be irrigated. McKay uses a stationary pump with the basic recovery system.

Morley Doss, 13 miles south of Pampa, has a five-foot deep pit and a portable, electric tailwater pump in one corner of a wheat field. The recovery pit, put in three years ago, irrigates about 20 acres of wheat.

Don Smith, who operates the farm for Doss, said "since the pit's so small it runs over into the road ditch if we get much rain. Since we can make several irrigation circuits around the field with the same water, we plan to expand it later."

Irrigates Irish Potatoes

Bob McBrayer, owner of First State Bank and Trust Co., White Deer, and director of the Bank of the Southwest, Amarillo, has constructed a recovery lake four and a half miles south of White Deer.

McBrayer spent about $3,000 making a 30-acre recovery lake about six feet deep in most areas and 12 feet deep near the bank below his pump.

The lake catches tailwater from two irrigation wells, and when full, holds about 180 acre feet of water.

McBrayer uses part of his lake water to irrigate a pilot project of Irish potatoes, one of the few plots in the Texas panhandle, Ryals said.

Lansing Osburn has one of the newest tailwater recovery pits. Operated with a portable pump the six-foot deep pit was put in about two months ago on the Sheridan Estate lease, two and a half miles southeast of White Deer.

Operates Automatically

Byron Hodges, about three miles southeast of White Deer, has an automatically operated, water-cooled electric pump. It is connected to an underground pipe system that covers about a half mile of his irrigated wheat field.

"The automatic system operates with a float at the pit bottom. When water reaches the float, it kicks on a switch which starts the motor. The pump is butane operated.

"To keep the levee from washing out, concrete slabs are laced around its sides," Ryals said.

Tommy Anderwald, who leases 320 acres of irrigated farm land from Henry Harnly south of Kingsmill said he is getting his third wheat crop off a 12-foot deep recovery pit.

Crosses County Lines

Located across both Carson and Gray County lines, Anderwald's recovery system is equipped with a settling basin built around his pit. When water comes in to the pit through a conduit from the basin, it is almost free of mud and silt, Ryals explained.

"I'll try to get in 40 acres this year, the same as I had last year off the tailwater. It takes about 30 hours to empty the pit which is about 12 feet deep and holds nine feet of water," Anderwald said.

He estimated he had spent about $5,000 in pipe, ditches, waterway, pond and motor and said he uses some of the water four and five times, because what isn't soaked in each time

BUT WHAT was a good news story last Sunday regarding the 1917 graduating class is an even better story today . . . for it has brought to light the fact there were graduating classes before 1917 . . . a fact we were unable to establish until the story saw print . . . indeed, there were several classes graduated before 1917 from that dear departed little red-brick school house that once stood on the corners of Browning and Cuyler . . . and the class of '17 was not and could never be the first graduating class as it was erroneously labeled.

— dew —

LET'S BEGIN with the year Nineteen-Aught-Nine, which was the year bands were voted for the Little Red Brick School House, in which all classes were later housed . . . even the sophisticated seniors . . . prior to this students had attended a one-room schoolhouse, which later had two rooms added, and was located on N. Starkweather, where the Central Baptist Church now stands . . . there are those who say this little building is still around . . . attached to some home just off of Foster Street . . . it was in nineteen-aught-nine that DeLeo Vicars, Emmett LaFors and several others completed all high school subjects offered, but, alas, there were no formal graduation exercises . . . this class had just gone as far as the school could take them and that was that!

THEN AT the close of the school year, in 1911 or maybe it was 1912 . . . the Little Red Brick School House began turning out graduates . . . it was in one of these years that students were asked to assemble in the school auditorium, the principal made a "nice short talk and presented Austa Rhodes (dean.) a diploma of graduation," according to Mrs. Vera Sloan Davis.

JULY VOWS

Miss Virginia Grace Budd Mr. and Mrs. George E. Budd, 2223 Duncan, announce the betrothal of the daughter, Virginia Grace, to Thomas Eural Green son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Green of Astoria, Ore. The wedding is planned for Sept. 2 in the First Presbyterian Church. The bride-elect will graduate in August from Texas Technological College, where she will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics. Her fiancé received a Bachelor of Arts degree in finance from Texas Tech and will attend the University of Houston Law School in Houston in September.

Miss Sharyn Kay Tucker Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Tucker, 807 N. Frost, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sharyn Kay, to Richard Dale York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley York of Ladars, Iowa. The couple attended Northeast Missouri State Teachers College and are currently employed at Amnora Refrigeration. They have chosen July 22 as their wedding date.

BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length dress of white linen lace. Its sabrina neckline was outlined with a standing fold of white silk. Its cathedral sleeves were banded in the white silk. Her small coil was made of white organdy petals. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley on a small white lace-covered Bible trimmed with handmade lace and a pattern of seed pearls.

ATTENDANTS
The bride was attended by her twin sisters of Pampa and the University of Texas, Miss Cheryl Reeves, dressed in pale yellow, and Miss Sharland Reeves dressed in pale turquoise. Their dresses were of voile and had deep bands of white cotton lace at the hem and edging bell sleeves. Their white organdy headpieces were identical to the bride's.

They carried arrangements of white Majestic daisies accented with lilies-of-the-valley and English ivy. Tommy Kubalik of La Crescenta, Calif. and the Air Force in Georgia, served his brother as best man. Denny Kubalik of La Crescenta was groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Reeves wore a beige linen sheath, having insertions of dyed-to-match lace, with beige accessories and a carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Kubalik, was dressed in an oyster silk suit and accessories, with a corsage of carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the recreation hall of the church. The bride's table was draped in a white organdy cloth trimmed with bands of white satin. Satin swags at the tables edge were caught up at intervals with sprays of lilies-of-the-valley.

The table was centered with an all-white bride's cake decor. (See RITES, Page 19)

Burger-Fields Pledge Nuptial Vows

GROOM — The wedding vows of Miss Connie Louise Burger and Charles Donald Fields were solemnized in a double-ring service performed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church in Groom.

Miss Burger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean H. Burger, Rt. 3, Pampa. Mr. Fields is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fields of Groom.

The Rev. Russell G. West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Pueblo, Colo., officiated for the ceremony in an altar area centered with crystal candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Flanking gold candelabra and Emerald Palm branches formed a background for the White Princess gladioli and Snowball mums.

A White satin prie dieu beneath a large floral standard of all-white spring blossoms completed the nuptial scene. The bride was escorted down an aisle covered with a white satin cloth. Pews of honor were marked with silk ribbons.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was gowned in floor-length delustered peau de soie designed with a rounded neckline and long sleeves which tapered to bridal points over the hands.

The A-Line Skirt featured panels of Venice lace with a wateau train extending from the shoulders into a chapel sweep. The bride's gown was made by her mother.

Her shoulder-length veil of Bridal illusion was held to a Queen's Crown of seed pearls and lace.

She carried a slender cascade of white roses centered with a Cattleya orchid showered with white satin streamers. The arrangement topped a lace-covered Bible embroidered with seed pearls made by Mrs. Lyman Stubblefield, bride's cousin.

To carry out tradition, the bride wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom; a blue garter made by Mrs. Charles Fields, bridegroom's mother; a handkerchief her grandmother and mother had carried at their weddings.

Two red roses were nestled in the bride's bouquet, which she presented to her mother and the bridegroom's mother as she came down the aisle.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carol Ann Montague of Silverton, bride's cousin, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Sue Ashford of Groom, Kathy Davis of Pampa, Cathy Chapman of Amarillo.

They were dressed identically in gowns of Fiesta Pink crystalline and carried cascades of Blush Pink glamelias.

Richard Chumbley of Brownwood was best man. Groomsmen were Ken Burger, bride's brother; Bill Culver of Canyon, Dan Craig of Austin.

Seating wedding guests were Keith Fields, Mike Helton, both of Groom; Jack Fields of Claude; Larry Elledge of Pampa; John Wright, Fred Newberry, both of Brownwood; John Montague of Silverton.

Mike Montague, bride's cousin, of Silverton distributed bags of rice to wedding guests.

Miss Lori Lynn Harvey, bridegroom's niece as flower girl, was dressed as the other feminine attendants and carried a miniature version of their glamelia cascades.

Mrs. Marvin Montague of Silverton, bride's aunt, provided traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Mrs. Paul Reimer of Pampa as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt for the benediction on the white satin prie dieu.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Burger, selected a pink silk sheath topped with a pink lace coat and matching accessories. Her corsage was fashioned from pink orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Fields, chose a blue chiffon over taffeta dress designed with a lace bodice and matching blue accessories with a corsage of white orchids.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church in Groom.

The bride's table was appointed with a floor-length cloth of pink eyelet organza over bridal satin centered with an arrangement of pink roses and White Beauty asters. Silver candelabra with dinner tapers completed the decor.

Mrs. Joe Sadoris and Mrs. Dwight Stubblefield, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Don Elledge and Mrs. Bob Swope presided at the cake and punch service.

Mrs. Rose Helen Harvey of Amarillo, bridegroom's sister, was guest registrar.

A three-tiered wedding cake was served from a revolving cake table and was cut with a silver knife given to the bride by her maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. C. A. Delemege of Stockton, Calif.

Other members of the household were Mmes. Max Faulkner, Dan Ashford, Keith Davis, Lyman Stubblefield, Joe Burton, Loy Smith; Misses Lynn Stubblefield and Nancy Sadoris.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in Colorado, the bride traveled in a hot pink suit, made by her maternal grandmother, Mr. G. M. Brunner of Lockney. White accessories and a white orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

The bride was graduated from Groom High School this Spring and plans to enroll in West Texas State University this fall. The bridegroom was graduated in

Need Less Power

Ryals said because pumps need only about 500 RPM's to siphon water out of surface pits and an irrigation well pump needs 1,600 RPM's, a farmer can save both on his fuel costs and lengthen the life of his well by using tailwater.

John Harnly, president of the conservation district and another farmer whose property crosses the Gray - Carson county line, irrigates about 20 acres of wheat with his first recovery system. He has a 10-foot recovery pit.

His son, Henry Harnly, operates the farm, which is three miles south of Kingsmill in Gray County.

John R. O'Keefe has two tailwater recovery pits, both located three miles west of White Deer on both sides of U.S. 60.

Connected by conduits under dikes, the pits irrigated about 125 acres of wheat and another 300 acres of wheat for feeder cattle winter grazing.

Link Fields Across U.S. 60

Linked to fields a half-mile away by underground pipes from the lakebed, the two pits have been in operation three years. Both, a one-acre size pit and a 25-acre lake, are dredged out with dikes on all sides, and connect to fields on both sides of U.S. 60.

"O'Keefe said he thought costs of pumping water directly from surface lakes is one third the cost to pump from underground formations, and in three years, the pits have more than paid the expense of putting them in," Ryals said.

1964 from Groom High School and is a junior in WTSU where he is majoring in business administration.

COURTESIES

Pre-nuptial events honoring the couple included an Open House given by the bride's parents; a miscellaneous shower given by Mmes. Cecil Culver, Sr., Austin Crowell, Dan Ashford, Fred Brown, J. C. Brown, Bill Burgin, Meredith Kendrick, Trumer Kirby, W. C. Whatley, Wayne Kotara, Keith Davis, Max Ray Faulkner.

A shower given by Mmes. Earnest Rose, Bryce Hubbard, Joe Burton, Bob Swope, Bob Zimmerman, Johnnie Meadows, Wayne Jones.

A lingerie shower given by Misses Helen Aiyward, Janice Britten, Patricia Hunt, Susan Lovelace, Carolyn Stephenson, Cathy Chapman, Theresa Bichsell and Mary Sue Ashford.

A Rice Bag Party given by Mrs. Keith Davis and Miss Kathy Davis;

A bridal luncheon given by Mrs. Marvin Montague and Miss Carol Ann Montague; a rehearsal dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fields, bridegroom's parents; and a luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Brunner, bride's maternal grandparents.

Tailwater Saves Irrigation Costs

Ryals cautioned other irrigation farmers who plan to put in tailwater pits to screen the intake pipe from the lakebed, or their recovery pits will turn into fishing holes.

"Ducks, geese, or cranes landing on the lakes drop fish eggs and produce a fish crop. Several swam into the intake pipe in O'Keefe's tailwater lake and stopped up the pump. He had to tear it down and take the fish out, some of them about six to eight inches long. Ryals suggested farmers who want to create a fish pond could have their tailwater pit do double-duty by stocking it with fish.

POLLY'S POINTERS Suggests 'Hope Chest' Can Be Trash Can

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for brides-to-be. A few months before my wedding I bought a large garbage can. Each week I bought a few inexpensive but necessary household items to go in it. By the time the big day rolled around the can was full and quite a help when that first shopping trip was made. Also after stocking the kitchen shelves from it I had a much-needed trash can.

DEAR POLLY — My suggestion for Mrs. R. C. who wants to clean the rush seats to her chairs is that she first clean them with the brush on her vacuum. Apply a fresh coat of clear lacquer and they will look like new.

DEAR POLLY — My suggestion for Mrs. R. C. who wants to clean the rush seats to her chairs is that she first clean them with the brush on her vacuum. Apply a fresh coat of clear lacquer and they will look like new.

DEAR GIRLS — I have washed such seats and they "tightened" during the drying period. This would be done before varnishing or lacquering.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — My uncle's doctor has ordered him to use a bed that is raised at the head like a hospital bed. He slips down during the night and has fallen out of bed a few times. I do hope some of the readers have a solution for this.

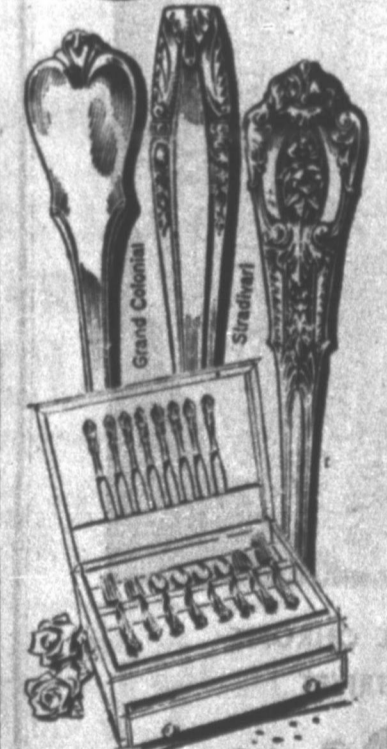

DEAR POLLY — Those with lace robes where the lace top and the lining are not fastened together will find that basting the lace to the lining with long stitches down each side will prevent the lace from doubling up and turning back.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

Neglected Geniuses Find Haven In Mansion-Turned-Schoolhouse

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
SANDS POINT, N.Y. (UPI)—Several hundred embryonic eggheads who trek to a mansion-turned-schoolhouse here have bright ideas popping out of every pore. Color them certified geniuses.

To enter the Sands Point Country Day School, or its academy, youngsters must have an IQ of at least 130—compared to the average 100. Many Sands Pointers have an IQ over 150. Some hit 190.

They're not morose. Rarely do they assume the posture seen in the statue tagged "The Thinker."

While they study 'way beyond their years, they have a rock 'n roll group, play baseball and have just as many schoolyard scuffles as any school.

Viewing one of these altercations, it's funny to hear one fellow, voice at full fury, scream at another, "you idiot!"

Neglected Genius

Dr. Marie L. Fetsch, who founded the school to help neglected geniuses, now wants to start a college for gifted students.

Sitting at her desk in the mansion's foyer and sipping orange juice, the plump and grandmotherly Dr. Fetsch explained her plan.

"What's going on in colleges today isn't so good," she said. "My college for superior, talented and gifted students will provide superior instruction to superior young men and women."

The small liberal arts college, as Dr. Fetsch figures, would turn out superior teachers to teach the gifted.

Nationwide, the very gifted child, according to educators, is shortchanged for a simple reason—a shortage of those qualified to teach the gifted.

Dr. Fetsch, wife of a retired electronics specialist of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, dug into a family inheritance to float the grade and high school for geniuses. She added large doses of pluck and determination.

The latter ingredients figure in her ambition to launch the college. In 1963, as a matter of fact, she put in a bid for the Sands Point Naval Training Devices Center—adjacent to the current school and due to be phased out by July 1.

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I read your column with interest and noticed particularly the letter from an older person who was thinking about going back to college but was afraid she couldn't make the grade.

I am 51, a grandfather, and expect to receive my master's degree in June—this after graduating from college 30 years ago. During the last three years I've taken evening classes, attended summer school for one month each year and worked all the while. Not only has this given me a tremendous amount of personal satisfaction but has resulted in a much better job. I, also, was afraid my ability to learn had diminished. I had heard that teaching methods had changed; the courses were more difficult, the instructors more demanding and other discouraging comments.

I can honestly say I've experienced no difficulty in adjusting to the classroom again. My power of retention appears to be as good as ever. I've found that 30 years of living have given me an understanding of many things that are of considerable value in college. I was quickly accepted by my classmates and have had no difficulty in making superior grades.

Recent research indicates that unless hardening of the arteries has set in, older people can learn just as well as the young. I would wholeheartedly encourage any older person who has the desire to go back to school. It will be most rewarding and in many unexpected ways.

Wedding vows will be solemnized September 2 in the First Baptist Church. The bride-elect was graduated from Pampa High School. Her fiancé was graduated from Amarillo High School. Both are attending Texas Technological College.

Skellytown Lodge To Conduct School

SKELLYTOWN — The Rebekah Lodge met recently in IOOF Hall with Mrs. Kenneth Fanning presiding as noble grand in the absence of Mrs. Gertrude Huckins, noble grand. It was announced Mrs. Bob Brummitt, district deputy president of Pampa, will conduct a school of instruction in the Skellytown Lodge on June 12.

Attending were Mmes. Everett Crawford, John Simmons, Kenneth Fanning, Clifford Coleman, Lela Matthews, Tommie Hill, Miles Pearson, W. S. Berry and Bob Heaton.

Following the business meeting, a program honoring mothers was presented with Mrs. Bob Heaton and Mrs. Pearson reading poems about Mothers. The serving table was appointed with a white cloth centered with an arrangement of red roses in a white milk glass bowl.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old, 6-foot, 200-pound son got a girl from a neighboring farm into trouble. She is also 15. We gave him strict orders to stay away from her, but it seems he didn't. Her people claim it's our fault.

I talked with a judge in the city, and he said there is a law that says if a man owns a bull he is responsible for keeping the bull locked up. And if the bull gets loose and goes into a neighbor's pasture and breeds his dairy heifers, the owners of the heifers can't sue for damages because they should have kept their heifers locked up. My friend, the judge, says the same law applies to people. Have we a case?

OHIO FARMER
DEAR FARMER: A man's son is not a bull, neither is his neighbor's daughter a heifer. I can't practice law, but I think your friend, the judge, gave you a bum steer.

DEAR ABBY: I am only the grandmother, but I want to know if I have to sit around and keep my mouth shut when my son-in-law abuses my 4-year-old grandson until it about tears my heart out?

I wouldn't mind if the kid had it coming, but his father watches him like a hawk, just waiting to pounce on him for any little thing.

I have seen that man knock the boy right off his chair with one slap in the face for "reaching" at the table. And he has raised welts half an inch high on the boy's back with a leather belt for leaving the bathroom water running. I am so afraid he will cripple the child for life. My daughter is afraid to say anything to him. He reads your column. Please say something. Maybe he will take the hint.

GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: Hint? The big bully should be hauled into court. They will order him to submit to a mental examination because no healthy, normal man behaves this way. If he refuses to voluntarily see a doctor, you should report him to your local police or sheriff. He needs desperately to have his head examined. And so should your daughter if she puts up with it.

DEAR ABBY: Recently one of my mother's friends told my mother that she saw me smok-

Pal Turns On 'The Power'

The script of George Pal's "The Power" sets the time of action as "Tomorrow." So you just can't shoot the location scenes anywhere — "today" might impinge.

They needed a location scene, a big building to serve as an office building of the future. Fortunately, close to MGM is the Culver City Junior and Senior High School, an ultramodernistic building built only a year or so ago.

After school was out, the company assembled to shoot a scene of Michael Rennie driving up. In the middle of the street they had put up a little security guard shack with the sign, "California Spaceways Research Institute." And hundreds of school children stood behind barricades to watch their school being immortalized on film.

George Pal, the producer, is famous for far-out films, made even more spectacular by brilliant use of special effects. "The Power" is more of the same.

Pal, a gentle, soft-spoken man, told about some of the things he is going to do in "The Power." There was a gleam in his kindly eyes as he spoke.

"I will have a few tricks," he said. "I'll go as far as I can with the camera and then use a few tricks. There is some business at the end, when 'The Power' takes control of George Hamilton. At first, he melts and then he freezes.

"When he melts, we'll see him melting — the skin, the muscle, the bone. And, the freezing — first icicles will form on his face and then he'll begin to break in to pieces.

"A few tricks like that."

Hamilton will also have a scene with a bird — not Lynda Bird. This is one of those trick toy birds that bend to drink water. The Power — whatever it is — first manifests itself in this scene, taking possession of the bird. We will see the toy bird come alive, and wink at Hamilton and then spit a stream of water at him.

"The story's loosely about ESP, and I asked Michael Rennie if he was a believer.

"It's difficult to know what to believe," Rennie said. "I happen to be a realist, not a believer in things I can't see. I'm a Virgo, and we have very analytical minds."

Director Byron Haskin was having a problem shooting the scene. Rennie was in the back of a big, black limousine, and the chauffeur was supposed to drive up and stop at the security guard shack. A few extras were assigned to walk along the sidewalk in the background.

The police had blocked off the street, so no cars could come along and get into the shot. But there was no one at the school's entrance, nor at the doors of the houses on the other side of the street.

STARTLED STAR breezing down a modern street is far from the sound of music in Salzburg or a missionary's hut in Hawaii, but she's still unmistakable as one of box office's biggest—Julie Andrews, shown here doing a scene for her latest movie, "Thoroughly Modern Millie."

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

MOST OF THE fellows and do with alleged cliques and some predicated hostility reportedly existing inside the department. . . Whatever it is, there needs to be clarification and steps should be taken to get the police department operating normally and without the innuendoes, backroom talk, etc., now associated with it.

WHILE ON the subject of the resignation of Lt. Robinson — he no doubt will go down in history as being the first Pampa police lieutenant to be fired for resigning. . . City Hall officials deny vehemently that he was fired. . . One said he was just let go because he had some "days coming" and "with his attitude" he wouldn't be worth much to the city, anyway.

THAT RUMBLE at City Hall as everybody knows now, started in the police department as evidenced by the resignation Wednesday of Lt. Bill Robinson who said he could no longer work under "existing conditions". City Hall officials charged the resignation off as the action of a "dissatisfied employe" who couldn't wait until things were straightened out.

Use Your Imagination!

By MILDRED PROGAR An important, even crucial conflict in the life of the individual is that of creativity versus destructive conformity. Standards adhered to without thought habit . . . are ultimately destructive to the individual. There is no challenge to the mind. The natural environment of the mind is to seek meaning in life and establish goals that will bring what the individual considers valuable to him.

PINE TREE FEATURES

by Robert Lefevre McNAMARA SNATCHED UP BY GOVERNMENT

One of the most difficult problems we have relates to history. Too many people think that if you know what has happened before, you can predict what is going to happen in the future. I know a number of sober sided men and some economists who believe that you can predict almost anything if you can just get enough statistics relating to past performances.

Well, the Edsel came out with all the fanfare of a three-ring circus being conducted during an amphibious landing operation. People were so crazy about the Edsel that they avoided even looking at it. The McNamara crowd kept saying, just wait and history will catch up. Well, it did. And the manufacturing company dropped both the Edsel and Mr. McNamara.

I saw a film the other day and the commentator in the film was talking about computers. He said that three fourths of all the computers in use are being used by government. Well, that seems about right because government is running about three fourths of all our affairs right now, including our private affairs. And the only way the government has of predicting the outcome of anything is to look at events through the statistical input of the past.

His imagination will go to work to consider other alternatives. Human beings have created the standards and circumstances that exist and have the power to change them. Individuals, in constructive self-interest, will make changes whenever it seems profitable to do so. Boundaries of knowledge are expanded as the mind is roused, old, possible answers discerned, to thought — questions are raised and judgment exercised.

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE Denture Adjustments May Overcome Speech Defects New dentures, especially upper, are frequent causes of speech defects. Most are temporary and easily overcome in a few days or weeks or as soon as tongue, lips and other mouth structures become accustomed to contours of dentures.

But some patients continue to be troubled even after weeks of practice and professional speech therapy. Why is this so? Why do some people adapt easily and others have such a hard time? Considering the radical changes in mouth space and surfaces with which tongue and lips must contend, it's amazing that denture patients can learn to speak at all properly. When they can't, something is obviously wrong. And unless their situation is complicated by defective hearing, dentures are at fault. Even though quite perfect in appearance and function, there may be flaws that must be corrected, or entire denture remade.

Denture areas most vital and most sensitive to proper speech lie just behind upper front teeth. If this area is too thick, it is difficult for the tongue to compensate, and many sounds are blurred. Other faults in denture construction can cause difficulties: too narrow arches may confine and limit movement of tongue; "open bite" (teeth that come together too soon); and "closed bite" (teeth that don't come together soon enough); rough surfaces or overextended borders may limit mobility of tongue and lips; thick palatal areas next to eye teeth; and sometimes teeth arranged to look natural, i.e. crooked or with spaces.

Position of front teeth is important. Teeth placed at too sharp an angle in the denture, or too straight, or in fact any change that is too far from the natural or previous position, can disturb speech. Your dentist knows the answers and can make proper adjustments. get answers geared to decisions you should have made yesterday. So, after thinking about it, I began to see what a computer was. It really is an historian. It tells you today what you should have been smart enough to figure out yesterday. And then by encouraging you to act in accordance, it gears us irrevocably to the past. Have you noticed how many old-time songs we are singing? Have you noticed the haircuts? The clothing styles? The jokes? Just about everything we have and are doing is tied to the past. Not a thing is new. The reason is that computers have gotten hold of all the old data and so we are going around the circle. Well, it sure gives you a comfortable feeling to know that we now have everything figured out and can repeat with conviction. A thought for the day—British poet and essayist Robert Browning said: "Every joy is gain, and gain is gain, however small."

Question Box

QUESTION: If the basis of freedom is voluntarism, how can we rely on any government agency to "protect" this freedom of choice? When government personnel do not allow the (tax) paying customer the right to accept or reject these services, nor the privilege of determining how much they are worth, I cannot see how the expansion of bureaucracy will protect us from "those who would victimize and forcefully steal from us." ANSWER: We do not see how any agency of coercion can "protect" freedom. And political agencies are coercive in nature. Coercion and freedom are diametrically opposed. Our only solution is to suggest that government be on a voluntary basis, so that each individual can make his own decision as to which government services he wants, paying for the services he seeks and not being coerced to pay for those he neither wants nor needs. Since an immediate cessation of all government activities probably would result in chaos, we suggest a gradual roll back, starting with the multitude of government business functions which compete with tax paying enterprises. The vast bureaucracy was not built in a day and it will take a long time to reverse the trend. If a reversal does actually occur. . . .

Meanwhile, individuals who believe in freedom can help by refusing where possible to patronize the government enterprises which compete with private activities. This in some instances may mean a personal sacrifice, as when one sends his children to a non-tax-financed school, while being compelled to help pay for state schools for others. But the dollar loss is counterbalanced by the satisfaction of taking a step toward self-responsibility by the individual seeking to live in freedom. Another way to help is to refuse to patronize those who are trying to destroy their freedom. This includes newspapers which instead of defending individual freedom spend their efforts toward increasing the size and power of political government.

How Can You Win?

Duluth (Minn.) Publicity Despite the fact that his plant was acquired by a housing authority and he was forced to close it, a New Jersey manufacturer has been accused by the National Labor Relations Board of "unfair labor practice" because he neglected to bargain with his union prior to shutting down. The ruling, regarded as one of the strangest ever handed down by the NLRB, was made against the Royal Plating and Polishing Company of Newark. In 1962 the Newark Housing Authority informed the company that it was taking over the plant as part of a housing development site. The company had no recourse, since the authority said it would acquire the property by condemnation if the company declined to sell. The owner was permitted to stay on the premises on a month-to-month tenancy, but with the understanding that the plant would have to be surrendered at the end of six months. With that in mind the employer refused new orders and began liquidating his business, gradually laying off employees. In three months the plant was closed. The NLRB ruled, however, that the company should have remained in business until the very last moment in the "hope that seemingly unsolvable problems" facing the company could be solved "however remote the possibility."

H. L. Hunt Writes

TO SERVE THE REPUBLIC A valuable by-product of the Congressional District Plan for reforming the Electoral College would be the bringing in to prominence every four years of nearly 1100 men and women capable of spearheading study and action on urgent governmental problems. Under the District Plan, presidential electors would be chosen by the people from each of 435 congressional districts and three electors from the District of Columbia, plus two electors at large from each of the 50 states. There would 538 winning nominees and 538 losing nominees, probably of equal stature. If the winners joined with the losers to form an unofficial committee to study governmental problems and make recommendations for their solution, they could perform a tremendous service to our Republic. A wide range of activities would be open to such a committee, and the prestige of its members would give significance to everything they did. They could grant press interviews on subjects of public interest, write articles, appear on public affairs programs on network television, and make reports to the President that would be more objective and helpful than those he receives from his advisors. The committee could name a spokesman for its membership in such fields as foreign affairs, agriculture, defense and other vital areas. Even the U. S. Supreme Court, if wrong, would not be so supreme in the event of a series of decisions favorable to communists and other subversives which the committee found obnoxious and not in the public interest or found unfavorable to continued survival of the Republic. This committee would be a great force for good.

thanks to the Salvation Army who gave the prayer. I just believe so many have forgotten so soon. It makes my heart feel sad of our boys in Vietnam so far from home paying tribute to their buddies, while we just can't get up. Our boys had no choice when the enemy charged, they went to meet them. I am sure they did not stop to see if it was 6:45 in the morning. So while we sleep they fought and died. But my heart did feel good as I saw our small group of men and women with their arms full of flags spread out over the cemetery in the wet grass and muddy road to place the Stars and Stripes in the markers of the 475 veterans. So I say thanks again to the few that were there to pay tribute to so many. Thanks Mrs. Harry Hoyler 101 N. Faulkner

You Should Know These FACTS About HOME BUYING
IN Today's Market . . .

WHY BUY NOW ?

HERE ARE 8 GOOD REASONS WHY:

1. Costs of Homesites Going Up — and Heading Higher

Figures from the Housing and Home Finance Agency show that the price of a lot for an average new home bought with an FHA insured mortgage was $1,887 in 1956; it was $3,442 in 1965. The line on the chart is headed up right now, and there is no end in sight.

2. Continued Inflation

A national firm that has been analyzing real estate trends since 1928 states, "You are not going to be able to avoid a very considerable amount of inflation in the next 10 to 20 years. With inflation it costs more and more to build new buildings." The majority of economists agree. Building a house is a great hedge against inflation.

3. More People in Home Buying Bracket

Not only is the total American population increasing, but the age group that buys the largest number of single-family homes — ages 30-40 will increase by far the most. Result? Higher prices.

4. Wage Increases

With minimum wage increase set at 1.40 February of this year and with future increases expected in next few years, this will ultimately be reflected in home prices.

5. Tax Deductions

When you rent, you actually pay for interest and taxes. But when you rent this money goes to the owner and is not deductible from your income taxes. When you buy you can deduct every penny of interest and taxes. This can be a very pretty penny.

6. Increase in Mortgage Buying

Interest rates went up last year as the money market tightened. Expectations are that your rates will eventually go up in the future.

7. Suburban Property Values Going Up Fast

According to U. S. News and World Report, it is estimated that "during the next 10 years nearly 3 persons will be added to the suburbs for each new person coming into the central city." This means that suburban property will become more valuable — and higher priced.

8. Did You Know?

According to a U. S. Government survey that after one year 20 per cent of the nation's population moves to another location. In two years the 20 per cent figure jumps to 30 per cent. In three it is 38 per cent. After 10 years 66 per cent of our population will have moved. NOW IS THE TIME TO SECURE A NEW HOME BEFORE PRICES SOAR UPWARD!

When You Put These Reasons Together You have An Overwhelming Case for buying a home Now. It Will Simply Cost You A Lot More to Rent Than to buy. (Waiting Will Cost You Money Each Month). NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY!
