Tucker Selected As United Fund Drive Chairman

The Pampa United Fund board's executive committee has named David Tucker, 2422 Christine, Pampa resident since 1962, as the 1967-68 United Fund drive chairman, according to A. A. Schueneman, Fund president.

Dates for the fall campaign are Oct. 5-19.

A power engineer with Southwestern Public Service Co. since 1948, Tucker is a native of Amarillo and graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a major in electrical engineering.

Tucker is president-elect of the Rotary Club for next year and is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church here. For four years he has served on the Rotary Club's board of directors.

A member of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, he is past president of the CoC's Top O' Texas Club, the membership relations committee of the CoC.

Last year, Tucker was a co-chairman on the United Fund commercial and industrial division. Fred Neslage was chairman. (See TUCKER, Page 3)

Armed Robbery Still Not Solved

Gray County Sheriff's officers and Pampa police today were still investigating the armed robbery at the home of C. C. Matheny, 1120 S. Hobart, in the early morning of May 26.

The sheriff's department said some leads were being checked but no new developments had come to light.

Matheny and his wife had retired for the night when a gunman hit Matheny on the side of the head and demanded his money, thinking Matheny kept large sums of cash in the house.

Matheny finally convinced the bandit that he only had $200 in a billfold and the robber tied Matheny with wire and fled out the back door of the home. Mrs. Matheny was not harmed.

Matheny did not report the incident for fear of reprisals because of threats the robber had made.

Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner said today his department was working on the case but had no leads and no suspects had been questioned.

Possible 31 Dead on Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The death toll has climbed to a possible 31 in the mistaken Israeli attack on the U.S. communications ship Liberty in the Mediterranean Thursday, the Defense Department announced today.

A Pentagon spokesman said nine sailors were known dead, 22 were missing and 75 wounded, 15 of them seriously. Some of the missing are believed trapped in the flooded forward compartments of the ship. It was not known whether any were lost at sea.

The new report on casualties were issued after the U.S. destroyers Davis and Massey and the carrier America rendezvoused with the Liberty in the eastern Mediterranean.

The previous report on casualties had been that 10 were dead and 100 wounded, 20 of them seriously. Before issuing the revised casualty figures, Pentagon officials reported that Israeli sea and air forces had launched two separate attacks on the U. S. vessel.

Two helicopters from the America reached the Liberty at 3:30 a.m. CDT, and the America itself reached the scene at 4:30 a.m. CDT.

All of the 15 seriously wounded were transferred by helicopter to the America. Twenty other wounded were scheduled to be flown to the aircraft carrier later.

The ships headed toward Souda Bay, Crete, at a speed of 10 knots. They were expected to reach Crete at about 5:30 p.m. CDT Saturday.

Officials said that Israeli planes attacked the ship first in a strafing raid. Twenty minutes later, it was torpedoed by one of three torpedo boats.

Israel notified the United States of the attack, apologized and said the raids were made by mistake.

The Navy Department, however, said the ship was flying the U.S. flag, had her name on the stern, and identification numbers on the bow.

Jets Scrambled
When Liberty first radioed word she was under attack, the aircraft carriers America and Saratoga, cruising in the Mediterranean southeast of Crete, launched jet warplanes to go to her assistance.

The U.S. planes were recalled when Israeli government acknowledged responsibility for the attack.

The White House disclosed that before it heard from Israel, the United States used the "Hot Line" teletype circuit linking Washington and Moscow to inform the Russians of the attack and to explain why U.S. (See SHIP, Page 3)

Two to Evaluate Desegregation in School District

Two representatives from the Washington D. C. office of Health Education and Welfare will be in Pampa Monday afternoon to confer with school officials, Dr. John D. Damron, superintendent of schools, said this morning.

He said the purpose of their visit is to evaluate the operation of Pampa Independent School District's desegregation program and to determine whether it is adequate to satisfy the requirements of Title 6 of the Civil Rights Act.

The school superintendent said the professional staff is not integrated but the auxiliary staff is, with employees in maintenance positions in the school system.

Violation of compliance with Title 6 of the Civil Rights Act could mean withdrawal of state funds which have a federal source, Damron said. The district receives approximately a half-million dollars in federal funds annually, he said.

Two Insurance Firms Selected for Teacher Annuity Program

Two insurance companies, instead of one, were selected by the Pampa Independent School trustees at yesterday's board meeting for the Tax Sheltered Annuities Program to be initiated for school employees.

The Western National Life, represented in Pampa by Clyde Carruth and Derrel B. Hogsett, will also offer an annuity program for teachers' selection along with the Great West Life Insurance Co. of Winnipeg, Canada, represented by Newt Secrest and Fred Thompson.

The two companies were named by trustees following recommendations made by an Oklahoma City actuary, which had been consulted by the board for appraisal of benefits offered.

Which Side Started Attacks is Mystery

By United Press International

Damascus Radio said today Israel had invaded Syria on a wide front in violation of a United Nations cease-fire that was thought to have ended the five-day-old war. A tank battle flared for several hours between Egypt and Israel on the Sinai Desert.

The reported invasion came in a Syrian demand that the U.N. Security Council meet at once to "halt the aggression and punish the aggressors." It spoke of "the wide scale Israeli invasion of the Syrian front."

The council was called into session in New York.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency in Cairo said Syria had been "subjected to a full-scale Israeli invasion with all types of weapons, including planes, tanks, artillery and infantry."

Syrian communiques told of heavy battles along the frontier.

Cables Thant
A Syrian cable to U.N. Secretary General Thant said the Security Council "and the world's conscience" would be held responsible for such "criminal aggression."

Which side started today's fighting was as much a question as who began the war last Monday.

Both Syria and Israel accused the other in communiques of launching large scale attacks this morning near the Sea of Galilee in upper Israel.

Israel reported Syrian artillery bombardments of Israeli villages and towns all around the Sea of Galilee in the area where a series of border attacks and incursions by Arab terrorists and saboteurs became a major factor in the third Middle East war in 19 years.

Syrian communiques said 13 Israeli tanks had been destroyed when they attacked frontline positions and that three Israeli planes had been shot down. They said Israel began things by launching a "wholesale attack" which had been beaten back.

Conflicting Reports
The conflicting battle reports indicated that Syria was feeling for the first time the might of the Israeli army which almost wiped out the Arab air forces on the first day of the war and then went on to crush the Egyptian and Jordanian armies.

Israel had committed most of its armored forces to the Sinai desert and its infantrymen and artillery to Jordan, so the Syrians apparently had met only with Israeli air power and artillery. Both sides agreed that tanks, infantry, artillery and air were involved today.

The Egyptian high command in a communique issued at 4 a.m. CDT said Israeli forces had attacked "west of the Suez Canal" and that Israeli planes were bombing targets in the Canal Zone itself. It reported the Sinai front quiet again at 6:30 a.m. CDT.

The Egyptian communique implied but did not specify that Israeli ground forces had attacked west of the canal in Egypt proper. Israel denied this and said neither planes nor troops had attacked across the canal.

Fighting Surprises Officials
By NICHOLAS DANILOFF
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials were caught by surprise today when fighting broke out anew in the Middle East after both sides had agreed to a United Nations ceasefire.

Both Israel and the United Arab Republic were claiming today, as they did when fighting first broke out Monday, that the other side initiated the new hostilities.

The State Department was keeping a close watch on the new developments, but said it had little firm information.

American officials had welcomed the ceasefire in the Arab-Israeli war Thursday with relief, but also with the somber realization that the road to true peace in the Middle East would be long and hard.

Just how long and how hard was illustrated by today's resumption of fighting.

The announcement Thursday that all parties had agreed to a ceasefire bore for at least a short time some brighter aspects.

One was what had appeared to be success by the Soviets and the U.S. in containing the conflict; another was the President's first-ever use of the Washington-to-Moscow "Hot-line."

White House Press Secretary George Christian disclosed Thursday that the hotline, established after the Cuba missile crisis of 1962, had been used during the week for the twofold purpose of transmitting high-level messages and of explaining to the Russians the sudden "scramble" of U. S. 6th Fleet fighters.

The urgent air action, which could have been disastrously mistaken by units of the Soviet fleet in the eastern Mediterranean, was in response to a mistaken Israeli attack on a U.S. communications vessel standing off the Sinai Peninsula.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL of the United Nations met in an urgent session this morning after hostilities abruptly resumed in the Mideast. The council discussed what to do to force observance of the UN cease-fire proposal. Seated at the head of the 15-nation council are, left to right, Liu Chieh of Nationalist China, last month's president; Secretary General U Thant and Hans Tabor of Denmark, president for June.

Urgent Session Of UN Security Council Called

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The Security Council was called into an urgent morning session today to cope with renewed Arab-Israeli fighting and Syria's charges of an Israeli invasion.

Council President Hans C. Tabor of Denmark ordered the 15-nation council to assembly at 9 a.m. CDT, five hours before an originally scheduled meeting which was to have discussed what to do to convert a cease-fire into a permanent peace.

Syria's Damascus Radio said the government had demanded a meeting of the council to take up a "wide-scale Israeli invasion."

Earlier, Israel charged that Syria violated the cease-fire it accepted earlier today and was shelling Israeli villages.

The council had been scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. CDT to try to buttress the cease-fire and start sending it into a lasting peace. Then the guns started again.

Late Thursday night Syria advised the Security Council it accepted the cease-fire. Israel, Jordan and Egypt accepted it earlier.

Only two of the remaining nine Arab nations involved in the war had responded to the cease-fire resolution. Tiny Kuwait officially rejected the resolutions and Algeria unofficially rejected them. Iraq, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, Morocco, Libya, Lebanon and Yemen had not replied by early today.

Informed sources said neither the Soviet nor the U.S. resolution had much chance for passage. The resolutions were introduced Thursday at a council session during which the war came to dramatic end.

The Soviet resolution saw the Kremlin revert to its original policy of asking for Israeli troops to retreat to positions behind the 1949 armistice lines and condemn Israel for aggression.

It was the Soviet position on Monday that any resolution should cite Israel for aggression and insist on Israeli troops pulling back to lines they occupied before the war started. However, as the Israeli victories mounted, the Soviets agreed to settle for a simple cease-fire resolution. Now they again sought an Israeli withdrawal.

Diplomatic observers saw the Soviet resolution as a final face-saving effort for its pro-Arab Middle East policy.

The United States introduced a resolution calling for talks between Israel and the Arab countries through the United Nations or any third party they might agree on.

It called for the talks to take up the "renunciation of force regardless of its nature, the maintenance of vital international rights and the establishment of a stable and durable peace in the Middle East."

The mention of "international rights" was aimed at securing the Gulf of Aqaba as an international waterway, sources said.

Red Guerrillas Launch Mortar Attack on Hue

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas made a brazen mortar attack on the heavily defended city of Hue today, virtually under the nose of a U.S. Marine force sent to clear the area of Viet Cong.

The 50-round bombardment caused little damage and only one casualty—a slightly injured American. But it succeeded in stirring up jitters in the university city, long a prime target of the Communists in their attempts to take over the key northern provinces.

In the air, American jets hit North Vietnam with 110 missions, targeting supply routes and anti-aircraft sites in the southern part of the country. Communist gunners shot down a supersonic F4C Phantom, the 576th American plane lost over the North. Both of its crewmen were listed missing and feared dead.

The U.S. command announced the conclusion of two Army operations which had accounted for 585 Communist dead since they started several weeks ago. Officials said 41 Communists were killed in scattered action throughout Vietnam Thursday, including 22 caught by helicopter gunships. Four Marines were reported killed and 21 wounded.

Three of the Marines were killed and 16 wounded when their convoy ran over a mine in their sweep south of Hue.

The sweep—Operation Colgate—began Wednesday in an attempt to dislodge Communist forces which have been terrorizing Hue for weeks.

The ancient, former imperial capital 40 miles south of the border with North Vietnam is the base for the Vietnamese 1st Division and one of the nation's foremost centers of learning.

The Viet Cong propaganda mill has been grinding reports that South Vietnam cede its two northern provinces to the North in exchange for peace settlement. Saigon authorities denied the report.

American officials estimate that, on top of Viet Cong forces, North Vietnam has five well-equipped divisions poised in or near the north provinces.

Drug Companies Face Subpoena in Senate Investigation of Pricing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some of the nation's largest drug companies faced the possibility today of being subpoenaed by Senate investigators to explain pricing policies for prescription drugs.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association (PMA) took off its gloves Thursday as the Senate small business monopoly subcommittee ended its second round of hearings on rising drug costs.

The panel has focused on the price difference between generic-name drugs and chemically identical—but more costly—trade name counterparts.

"Witnesses thus far have presented individual opinions and, in some cases, misstatements of fact which in our opinion severely distort reality," PMA President C. Joseph Stettler said in a letter to Chairman Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

But Nelson said representatives of three drug firms refused when asked to testify before the panel. Another subcommittee member, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., suggested compelling the companies to testify if they continue to refuse.

Although it insists the hearings have been distorted, the PMA was not willing to comment when asked by UPI if any of its 140 member firms would willingly appear before the subcommittee.

Nelson said the PMA would be invited to testify but added that he wouldn't fall "for that old game" where an industry association dodges important questions by claiming it can't speak for individual companies, only the industry as a whole.

Nelson may take formal steps next week to insure that companies figuring in the hearings appear to present their viewpoints.

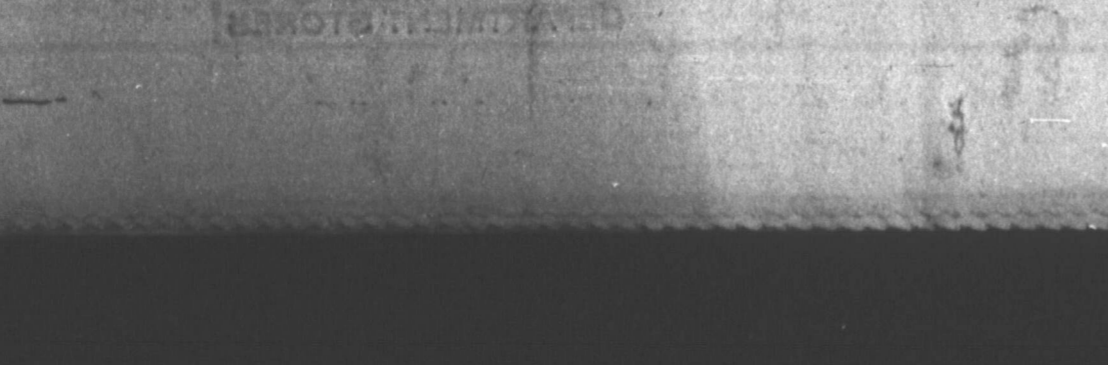

Another Attack
The drug industry position underwent an attack Wednesday by the National Formulary, one of two official groups which set standards for drug composition. Director Edward G. Feldmann said there was little scientific evidence that there was any substantial difference in therapeutic effectiveness of trade-name drugs and their generic-name versions.

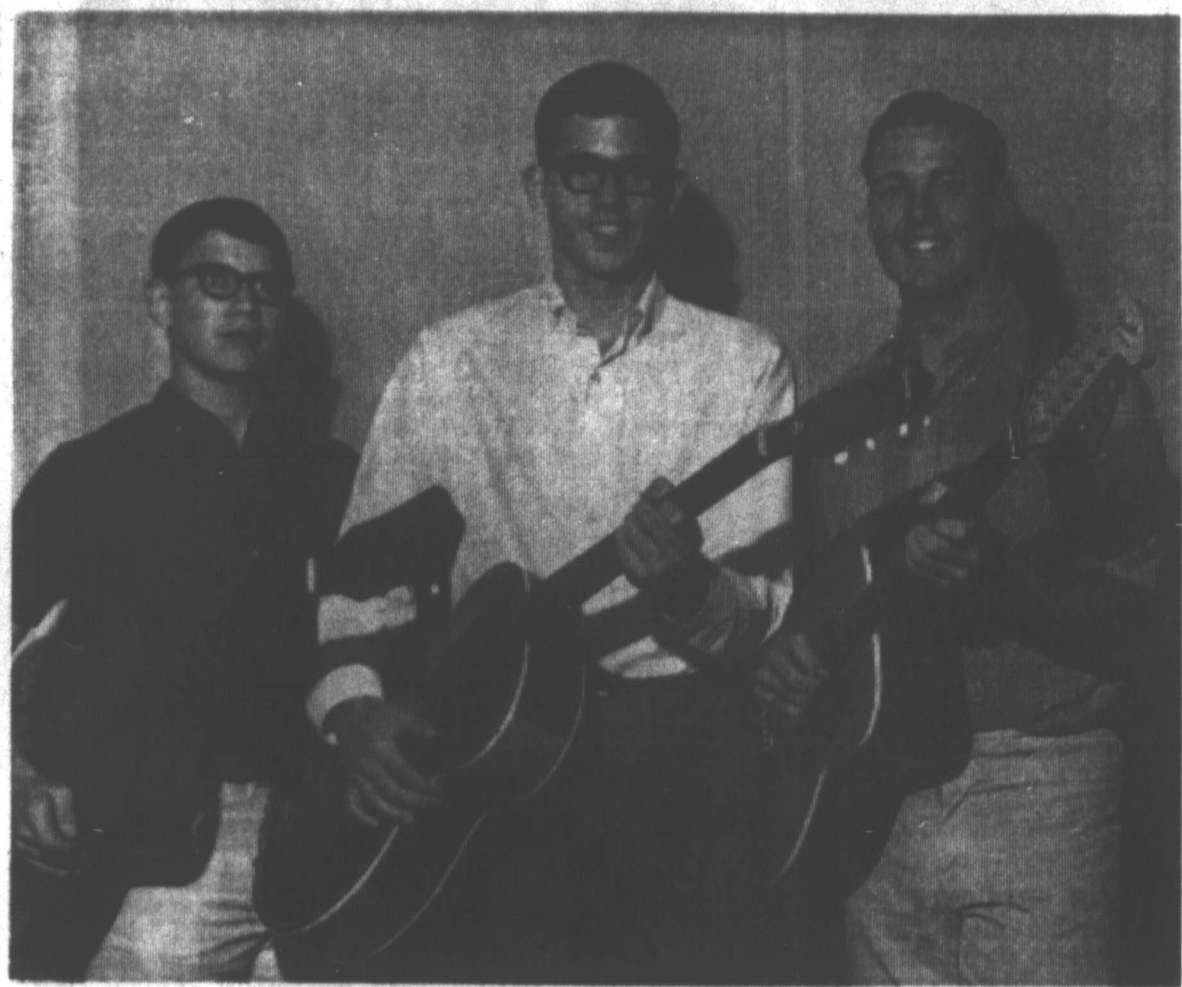

"This problem has been grossly overstated by those who would benefit by clouding the issue," Feldmann said. "The name under which a drug product is made available—whether brandname or generic name—is not really an important consideration. What makes MIDEAST ACTION — These Israeli troops, manning a halftrack, go into action during a skirmish in the Sinai Desert with Syrian forces.

HOOTENANNY MUSICIANS -- Three Pampa youths, left to right, Wyatt Earp, 15; Mark Turner, 14 and Bruce Hysmith, 18, get ready for a guitar practice session. The youths will perform Saturday night at the Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ youth hootenanny at Pampa High School Harvester Field House. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Earp, 1124 Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Don Turner, 2226 Duncan, and Mr. and Mrs. Olen Anderson, 310 N. Ward.

YOUTHS PLAN HOOTENANNY

Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ Starts Sunday

After months of preparations by Pampa ministers, lay leaders, businessmen, and others, the Greater Pampa Crusade for Christ will begin Sunday night and continue until June 18.

About 500 Pampa area youths will attend and participate in a special Hootenanny program at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa High School Harvester Field House.

Folk music performers for the hootenanny are Mark Turner, Wyatt Earp, Bruce Hysmith, Paula Skidmore, Linda Skidmore, Wanetta Bayless, Mr. and Mrs. John Brock and Mrs. Al Williams.

Steve Musto, music director for the crusade, will be master of ceremonies Saturday night, and will introduce the crusade evangelist Bill Glass.

Officers for the crusade youth committee are Sheila Givens, secretary; Kenneth Hagin and Robert Sandlin, co-chairmen, and Norman Burgess, chairman.

Committee members for youth work are Mrs. Betty Buck, Bill Fulcher, Bill Rash, Harlie Whitehead, Roy Taylor, Bill

McDonald, Doyle Hunter and Eddie Moultrou.

Three other special activities are planned for youths during the crusade.

A junior high school-age teen breakfast is slated at 7 a.m. June 14 at the south end of Central Park, with Glas conducting a question and answer period.

"If we have inclement weather, we'll move to the Optimist Club building for our breakfast," Burgess said.

High school age youths will attend a tea talk and date night program June 16 after the crusade service.

After Glas conducts his question and answer period, youths will see a movie on "The Moral Choice."

All teenage youths may attend the youth night service June 17 when the evangelistic team, Bill Carlson, crusade director; Glas and Musto will lead in group discussions.

All crusade services will start at 8 p.m. in the Harvester Field House, with 24 churches in the Pampa area participating.

Most denominations are represented in the crusade, either by their minister, or by lay leaders and youths of the church.

During the services, a 300-member voice choir made up of choirs from participating churches will sing.

The area-wide crusade will include representatives from almost every vocation, from school officials to farmers, businessmen, church leaders and pastors, youths, and civic workers.

The crusade evangelist, Bill Glass, is a professional football player, and is right defensive end for Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

A graduate of Baylor University, with a B.A. degree, he also received a bachelor of divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

An All-American in 1956, he played on the Detroit Lions team from 1959 until 1962 when he was traded to the Cleveland Browns.

Musto, the crusade soloist and songleader, was staff soloist four years for Young People's Church of the air, three years program director for a television station in Philadelphia, Pa. and organized an FM unit in Hammond, Ind.

He has had a football scholarship to Juniata College and received the Four Star Award from a magazine for his record album.

Barrett Baptist
Interim Minister
Preaches Sunday

The Rev. Dr. C. Gordon Bayless Sr., Barrett Baptist Church's interim pastor, will preach at the church Sunday after conducting services at Pine Bluff, Ark., and Tulsa the past two weeks.

In his morning sermon, he will discuss "The Man Who Stayed Out." Evening services will start at 6 p.m. instead of the regular time so members may attend the Pampa Crusade for Christ service. "Backslider's Prayer" is the evening message subject.

The church, a member of the Southern Baptist group, is located at 903 E. Beryl and conducts Sunday school and training union classes for every age. Sunday school starts at 9:45 a.m.

One of Pampa's religious singing groups, "The Melonaires" will sing at the 11 a.m. service at Barrett Baptist Church, 903 East Beryl, on Sunday morning.

Singing in the trio is Ann Winegeart, first soprano; Carolyn Hudson, second soprano and Lois Belote, alto, who is also spokesman for the group. Philis Cole is pianist.

As the service begins and the choir enters, "The Melonaires" will start the service and will sing again before the Rev. Mr. Bayless begins his sermon.

Help Plan Convention

Two Pampa residents were among some 275 representatives from nine area congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses who attended a convention planning meeting in Amarillo at the Stephen F. Austin Jr. High School recently.

Preparations were launched for a 4-day convention to be held in Amarillo June 29-July 2, which is expected to attract 7,500 delegates representing parts of a 5-state area.

According to Richard Fetter of 1137 South Christy, the assistant presiding minister here, the "Disciple-making" District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses may prove to be the largest convention ever held in Amarillo. The Tri-State Coliseum will be converted into a Kingdom Hall, where discussions and Biblical dramas will be presented.

Five congregations in Amarillo, along with Hereford, Dumas, Borger and Pampa, have started combining their efforts to arrange housing accommodations for thousands of delegates. Other Pampa residents will assist Mr. and Mrs. Fetter in pre-convention work.

Three centers will be open every day from now through the

Ruling Elder Sets
Topic for Sunday

W. A. Morgan, ruling elder, will preach at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church. His sermon topic will be "Responsibility to Act", with the 33rd chapter of Ezekiel, and the first chapter of James as the basis for his sermon.

Morgan recently spent a week in Portland, Ore., where he attended the 1967 General Assembly as a representative of Plains Presbytery. Sunday he will assist in morning services, actions and decisions made at the assembly.

Ruling Elder, Frank Smith will assist in morning services.

Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, church organist, will provide special music.

No Junior or Senior High Fellowship or choir meetings will be held during the summer.

planes were scrambling. A White House spokesman said the message was "an advisory that something had happened to one of our ships and we were sending planes in." The Pentagon said an undetermined number of Israeli jet fighters made about six strafing runs against the ship, which is armed only with four 50-caliber machineguns.

About 20 minutes later, three torpedo boats approached Liberty from her starboard side and fired at least two torpedoes. One torpedo passed 25 yards astern. A minute later, the second torpedo struck the ship. At least one of the Israeli torpedo boats also made a machinegun attack on Liberty.

The Pentagon said Liberty reported "extensive but superficial damage topside and some lower deck spaces forward destroyed," but was in no danger of sinking.

Pallbearers will be Jimmy Mack, Aray Willis, A. Z. Griffin, H. L. Porche, Rex Morrison and Clyde Medkelf.

State Approves Highway Projects

The State Highway Commission at Austin has given approval to four proposed street improvement requests of the City of Pampa, City Manager Jim White said today.

The city manager stated he received notice from the district highway office in Amarillo today that the state commission had authorized engineers to prepare plans and specifications for the improvement of SH 152 on Alcock St. from Faulkner to Price Rd. and West Hwy 60 from US 70 to the west city limits.

The commission also has okayed acquisition of right of way on East Hwy 60 from Barnes St. to the east city limits and on SH 273 from Brown St. south to Crawford St.

The requests for state approval were among those made last month when a Pampa delegation appeared before the state commission at a hearing in Austin.

County Officials Will Meet Monday

Gray County Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Monday to pay bills and discuss remodeling for the courthouse.

Remodeling four offices of the county annex, east of city, is in progress now and is expected to be completed later this summer, County Judge S. R. Lanning Jr., said.

Wheeler Resident Charged With DWI

Hiram Black Freeman, 54, of Wheeler, charged before Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson with driving while intoxicated, first offense, made a $1,000 bond yesterday.

Anderson explained that even though the offense is a misdemeanor, because Freeman is an "out of the county resident," bond was set at $1,000 rather than the usual $500 for a DWI, first offense, for a Gray County resident.

PProa Reports Appointment Of 3 Pampa Oilmen

R. P. Herrmann, president of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association, today announced the appointment of three Pampa oilmen as chairman and co-chairmen to key committees for 1967-68.

William L. Arrington, elected treasurer at the association convention in May, was again appointed chairman to both the Annual Convention Committee and the Railroad Commission Liaison Committee.

Robert T. (Tim) Dunigan, appointed at the convention to the Executive Committee, has been named co-chairman of the Membership Committee. During the 1967 membership drive in Pampa, Dunigan was credited as being responsible for most of the 38 new members added to the PPROA.

Vernon Watkins, who was re-elected secretary of the association, was appointed co-chairman of the Annual Convention Committee.

Herrmann stated that because such a large percentage of the association members are of the Pampa Area and much of the organization's potential is here, that the representation of the three men will be an asset to both the local area and the PPROA.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, when I was a teenager, I cut out your column on how teen-agers should act in order to stay out of harm's way with so many strange and sick people running around loose. In case you have forgotten it, I am sending you a copy. I think the teen-agers of today need to read and follow these words even more than we did. Please print it again. I benefited greatly and know others will. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,

DEAR "HELPED:" With pleasure. Here it is:
CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL TEEN-AGERS:

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, set down the following rules, which deserve to be read thoughtfully — and remembered:

1. IF ANY STRANGER — OR EVEN A SLIGHT ACQUAINTANCE — MAKES IMPROPER ADVANCES, TELL YOUR PARENTS IMMEDIATELY.
2. IF YOU KNOW OF ANY PORNOGRAPHIC PICTURES OR LITERATURE BEING PASSED AROUND, NOTIFY YOUR PARENTS IMMEDIATELY.
3. KNOW YOUR DATE! DO NOT GO OUT ON "BLIND DATES" UNLESS ANOTHER COUPLE IS ALONG — AND EVEN THEN BE CAUTIOUS.
4. STAY OUT OF LOVERS' LANES.
5. DON'T WANDER AWAY FROM THE CROWD AT PICNICS AND OUTINGS. STAY WITHIN CALLING DISTANCE.
6. DON'T ASK FOR TROUBLE — DRESS SENSIBLY.
7. BE CIVIL TO STRANGERS WHO ASK DIRECTIONS, BUT NEVER GO PART WAY WITH THEM.
8. BE VERY CAREFUL ABOUT ACCEPTING WORK FROM A STRANGER.
9. DON'T GO ABOUT THE HOUSE HALF-DRESSED.
10. NEVER, NEVER HITCHHIKE!

Obscene reading matter is a favorite habit of degenerates. If the authorities can run down the source and trace the material, they may be able to rid the community of danger before it starts.

If someone phones and says he's a friend of Jack Jones, tell him you'd be glad to have Jack Jones introduce him.

It's natural to want to be alone with your date, but experience shows that "Lovers' Lanes" are favorite haunts of sex criminals.

Provocative clothing may attract the attention of a potential sex criminal.

The "directions" trick is a favorite among sex criminals. They count on the natural helpfulness of young people.

This is another insidious dodge. Always make sure that the person is a respectable business man.

Mrs. Hope Roberts of Reno, Nev., first vice president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. will be the keynote speaker at the Friday session. A native of New York City, Mrs. Roberts is currently owner - manager of Roberts' Guest House in Reno. Her previous business experience includes fourteen years as executive secretary to a general agent of the Travelers' Insurance Company in New York, and assistant to the president of Gray Lines Scenic Tours in Reno.

Appointed by the president of the University of Nevada in February 1966 to the Advisory Council for the State Technical Services Act of 1965, Mrs. Roberts serves in an advisory capacity to the dean and general University Extension.

In private life, Mrs. Roberts is the wife of Sam Roberts, a pharmacist. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women," "Who's Who in the West," and "World's Who's Who in Commerce and Industry."

Workshops on Saturday's agenda will be under the leadership of Mrs. Charlene Berry,

(Fort Worth Personal Development); Mrs. Velda Wyatt (Fort Arthur Civic Participation); Dorothy L. Anderson (Taylor) World Affairs; Mrs. Gladys Barnes (Beaumont. Membership); Mrs. Geraldine R. Eidson (Fort Worth Finance); Mrs. Hermine D. Tobolowsky (Dallas) Legislation; and Frances F. Annin (Waco) Public Relations.

Mrs. Bonnie Merriman from Amarillo is to be installed as state president at the Saturday night banquet. Mrs. Merriman

MILDEST SHAMPOO

The process of straightening causes hair to become delicate, even more so than bleaching. For that reason it should be treated to the mildest shampoo possible. Be sure to rinse hair thoroughly and always use warm (never hot) water and set hair while it is still wet, using the largest rollers possible.

Dining With Flare Improves Appetites

By AILEEN SNOODY, Newspaper Enterprise Assn., NEW YORK (NEA) — A dining area with total personality certainly fits the mood of the breakaway generation. Although the swingers may cling to tradition via mooning over the '20s and '30s in clothes, furnishings and movie stars, they take quickly to dining with a flair. With or without a defined room for dining, space remains a decorating hang up. The problem of getting the most out of what you have got is solved through use of small-scaled tables, chairs buffet and hutch units. These serve many uses. For example, a buffet and hutch combination designed for Founders in pecky pecan and cane becomes a server, bar or salad mixing spot with little effort. By lowering the cabinet of the hutch two work spaces result — one from the shelf and the other from the buffet top. Two trays and two adjustable shelves in such a buffet offer storage space for silver, linen and china.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see the same. Only when man is free to control himself and his own resources, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of self no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and Declaration of Independence.

Intimidated Society

A few years ago a Presbyterian minister was shocked and dismayed in Princeton, Indiana, the town in which he lived and worked, was torn apart by a mob and vicious strike. He saw mob violence, assaults and shootings. A child was almost fatally injured by a bullet, presumably fired by a union goon. As frequently happens (the infamous Kohler strike being another particularly vicious example), law enforcement failed to function. For weeks the little town of Princeton lived under anarchy and terror. As he described his experiences and observations during the strike, this clergyman said that the people of the United States now live in "an intimidated society."

Our intimidations and anxieties stem not only from the flagrantly immoral and lawless acts inspired by irresponsible labor leaders. Other causes, of course, exist.

Thinking people are deeply disturbed by the reality of national bankruptcy, the cumulative result of irresponsible governmental spending and continuing mounting deficits which have resulted in fantastic indebtedness, in shrinking gold reserves and adverse balance of international payments.

The war in Vietnam, with the possibility of others to follow in an endless reaction of cause and effect, makes one wonder if civilization has slipped its moorings.

One need not look far for other reasons for deep and widespread concern. But, of this there can be no doubt, labor union leaders with far too much government granted power are one of the major reasons for unrest and conflict in our "intimidated society."

Louis Ruthenburg, former chairman of Servel, Incorporated, commenting in a recent issue of "Spotlight," publication of the Committee for Constitutional Government, Inc., observed:

"Labor union leaders, numerically an insignificant minority group, have become a dominant force in national, state and local politics. To a great degree, these princes of privilege dictate the course of our economy. Please read carefully," Ruthenburg asked, these "few quotations from one who speaks with authority:

"Collective bargaining has become collective coercion. . . the aim of industrial justice has become greed for industrial domination. . . Political influence, once sought to protect fair dealing, is now sought to accomplish personal political goals.

"The unions are powerful, aggressive organizations that are engaged in a continuing warfare against the maintenance of a free competitive economy.

"These evils will not be remedied until an overwhelming majority of free citizens realize that labor's economic monopoly and political power are preparing the way for communism far more effectively than the communists themselves.

"An intimidated society now submits to the rule of organized labor's princes of privilege."

Now, if those revealing remarks had come from the mouth or pen of a labor baiter, one would be inclined to discount at least part of their import. But that, as Ruthenburg's following statement makes clear, was not the case: "As a matter of fact," he wrote, "those paragraphs were written by the late Donald R. Richberg, who devoted many years to fighting for the rights of labor. Twenty years later Mr. Richberg courageously and realistically reappraised the real truth which had been produced by the seeds he had helped to plant."

When Noise Runs World

One of the vast untapped sources of energy in today's world is noise. Now electronics experts predict that sound will eventually be harnessed to control everything from electric mixers to automobiles.

One small step in this direction is a device called Sonus. As described by Quinto Lingo magazine, Sonus is a small box which, when activated by a slight clapping of the hands, will turn on your lights, television set, coffee percolator or any other appliance it is hooked up to.

There's also another gadget, says the magazine, that requires even less effort. It reacts to whistling or certain tones. If you come home with your arms full of packages or just simply have tired fingers, all you have to do is hum or whistle a happy tune and the lights will go on and — or the radio will start playing.

The device reacts to telephone rings, too. Which means that tomorrow's housewife will be able to call home before leaving the beauty parlor and, depending upon how many rings the thing is set for, will arrive to find the house lighted or supper cooking.

We suspect there may be a few bugs to be worked out before every home of the future is equipped with these marvels, however.

Can you imagine 10,000 percolators starting to bubble at 3 a.m. as the result of a boom caused by a passing supersonic jet? Or someone dialing your number and turning on your lights and who knows what else when you're away on vacation (you forgot to disconnect the sound box, of course), thus providing the local utility company with unforeseen additional revenue?

Prophet Ignores Ringing in Ear

According to far-out philosopher Marshall McLuhan of the University of Toronto, the wheel is an extension of the foot and the book is an extension of the eye.

But the invention of television, he avers, has now made books obsolete. Thanks to television, the whole world has entered a new tribal era in which everyone is in instantaneous electronic contact with everyone else.

Reviewing one of McLuhan's latest messages, which strangely comes in the anachronistic form of a printed book, Marvin Kitman of the New York Times reasoned that the telephone is an extension of the ear.

Rather than pay $10.45 for McLuhan's book, "The Medium is the Message" (implying that we are worked over by television commercials, perhaps?), Kitman suggested that his New York readers invest a mere 39 cents to call the prophet direct.

About 50 people tried to get through to McLuhan. No answer.

Wit and Whimsy

Many people who wouldn't dream of speaking with their mouths full, insist on talking with their heads empty.

In these inflated days, "thanks a million" isn't expressing very much appreciation.

Mr. Smith — Boss, I need a raise because of illness in the family. My wife is awful sick of my being broke.

You never hear a woman talking about "the good old days." She isn't going to date herself that way.

"So What Are You Going to Do About It?"

Between the Bookends

THE PENTAGON

Clark Mollenhoff, "one of Washington's . . . most respected investigative reporters" (Time Magazine's words) makes no pretense of lofty impartiality in his exposures of the workings of government.

His "Washington Cover - up" and "Despoilers of Democracy" are testimony to the indignation that is aroused in him by the facts he somehow seems able to dig out of the maze that is Washington.

He also has been one of Robert S. McNamara's severest critics. But in his new book "The Pentagon" (published by Putnam, 300 Madison Ave., New York 17, N.Y.; $7.95), he is carrying on no personal vendetta against our controversial Secretary of Defense. Rather he sees in the power which the Secretary has drawn to himself and which he can exercise, by reason of the tremendous sums of public money he has to spend, a serious threat to the very fabric of American life.

Americans always have been conscious of, and have tried to protect themselves against, the possibility of a military dictatorship. The supremacy in our system of civilian authority over the military is an accepted fact of life. But in protecting themselves against a possible evil, have they overlooked an actual one, particularly with the necessary growth of what has come to be known as the "industrial-military complex" — namely the potential implicit in a civilian defense chief who has and exercises untrammelled power over the lives and safety of every citizen?

This is only one phase, but an inordinately important one, of the whole Pentagon story to which Mr. Mollenhoff addresses himself in this fact-filled, revealing and sometimes frightening book. He gives us a history of our defense and its establishment from its beginning to the present day, and, as is perhaps inevitable when public officials (military or civilian) spend such great sums of other people's money, it is often a story of corruption, venality, disregard not only for the people's money but for their safety.

However, it would be wrong to get the impression that the author is in any way opposed to the strongest and best possible defense for his country. On the contrary, it is because he has seen the waste, the bad judgment, the outright graft, the terrible errors of omission and commission that are so hurtful to that best possible defense that, while sticking almost exclusively to the facts and the record, his indignation shows through — as should ours.

This is a big and all-encompassing book, so it is not possible to indicate its full scope. But an inkling of what it reveals may be gleaned from its coverage of the battle over air power, missiles and anti-missile missiles, the muzzling of the military, the use of "executive privilege" (started in the Army-McCarthy hearings and carried to unbelievable lengths since then) to keep Congress and the people from knowing what goes on in the Pentagon, the new management, the shocking story of the TFX contract award, conflicts of interest, the credibility gap, and much, much more.

As for Secretary McNamara, the author gives credit where credit is due, but the debts are so great and numerous that if Mr. Mollenhoff is only half right (and he is certainly no careless interpreter of facts) his book could turn out to be dynamite in the hands of an aroused public and Congress. For once, the jacket copy does not exaggerate when it calls this "An explosive and illuminating study of the structure and power of the Pentagon."

... Rosalie Gordon in America's Future

H. L. Hunt Writes

ONE-MAN, ONE-VOTE

The Congressional District Plan for reform of the Electoral College would truly be the application of the one-man, one-vote principle. When Congressional Districts become Electoral College districts, the necessity for proper apportionment of districts to total population and the proper delineation of the boundaries of the districts will become more apparent than ever before.

The importance of the districts as entities would not be merely doubled, for the effect of their being made districts for dual purposes would be cumulative. As dual districts they would become four or five times more important than ever before. Any misconception of these districts, such as gerrymandering, would no longer be tolerated by an aroused public.

The philosophies in these dual purpose districts would be more bipartisan than ever in history. The residents would take great pride in their Congressman and no less pride in their elector to the Presidential Electoral College.

The direct plan, sometimes called the popular vote plan, has too many serious faults and too little merit to win in the necessary campaign to change the present Electoral College system. The political necessity of appealing to pressure groups and well-organized minorities would be significantly lessened under the district electoral plan. Voting irregularities would be diminished as the controlled vote prevalent in the mid-city sections of large metropolises would become increasingly difficult to manipulate.

The Congressional District Electoral College Plan is the best proposal offered. Action on the resolution now before Congress for a constitutional amendment putting this plan into effect is in the interest of the people.

WANTED — MORE MILLIONAIRES!

It is difficult to place one's finger on the popularity of denouncing the rich. Assuming the wealth was attained honestly, just what is the justification, if any, for this feeling? Is it jealousy? Almost everyone has less material goods than some others he knows, making him easy prey for the political appeal to human envy. Sadly enough, the nature of the appeal is not designed to stimulate creativity and productivity in the so-called "have nots" so that they may become "haves." Instead, legalized thievery is the political call promising to take from the rich and to give to those who have provided for themselves less of life's material luxuries.

Purposely, I have declined to designate the latter either "have nots" or poor. In our time, in the mid- to - latter part of the twentieth century, even those persons in the lower economic strata of society are blessed with a proficiency of material goods undreamed of in all prior history. The source of these blessings are those unusual men of vision and untiring effort, who have made possible a long string of burden-saving devices, better clothes, foods, medicines, homes, and safer and more pleasant industrial conditions — not just for themselves, mind you, but for everyone. Rather than vilify and denounce these uncommon men, many of whom have become wealthy, we should all be thankful for the good fortune to live contemporaneously with them.

If one is unappreciative, he might do well to reflect upon that time on this American continent when no one could have been classed as wealthy. All were poor among the American Indians. It is unlikely that any Indian was inclined to disparage rich Indians, because there were none. The Indians lived in a collectivist societal arrangement. There was no individual incentive — no personal reward for achievement. Consequently, there was no unusual achievement.

When one is tempted to deprecate the rich, let him be reminded of the benefits he has received because a few capitalist millionaires have accomplished wonders that truly made them worth every single dollar. As a matter of fact, all of us could use many more of these uncommon dynamic persons, whose ingenuity and drive have made themselves millionaires and ourselves long-lived men and women living amidst the luxury and comfort of our time.

Confidence is simply that quiet, absolutely assured feeling you have just before you fall flat on your face.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Hiram Sibley, whose name is largely forgotten, was responsible for the U.S. buying Alaska from Russia for two cents an acre a century ago. Sibley headed Western Union in the 1860's and envisioned a world-wide telegraph circuit. He proposed to string a line up the Pacific coast from San Francisco through British Columbia and Russia America (Alaska), by underwater cable across the Bering Strait, to connect with the Russian line and the rest of Europe. His plan failed when they laid the Atlantic cable, but he had seen Alaska and figured it would be valuable to the United States. He convinced his many friends in the Russian nobility that the Czar should sell the real estate, which was only wilderness. The sale was accomplished and it turned out to be one of the greatest bargains in history. When the centennial is observed next October Sibley's name may not be mentioned. Yet, he was perhaps the single person really responsible for the acquisition of what is now the 49th state.

Today's smile: One of the best riveters on a building construction job walked into the foreman's office and quit. "What's the matter with you?" demanded the foreman. The fellow said the noise of the job was getting him down. He said: "I can't stand that fellow who works with me. He hums all day."

Housekeeping chores at New York's Radio City Music Hall are awesome to contemplate. Every day janitors must vacuum 11,000 square yards of carpeting. In addition, they must clean 145 wash basins, 706 mirrors and 2,800 ash trays, just to mention a few of the other details that need attention.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Is there such a thing as material security? If not, what is the best way for one to get the most material security?

ANSWER: We know of no way of having complete security. The so-called social security is in the long run un-security. It benefits some for a little while, materially, at the expense of spiritual loss, but it injures future generations. And no law should injure anybody.

The best way we can think of to approach material security is for a person to so live that if, in spite of his best efforts to provide for himself, he gets in difficulties and needs assistance, others will want to help him. That's the best approach we can think of for all people to get security. To the degree it is applied there will be more production and a higher standard of living and the man who has had respect for every other person's inalienable rights will get help when he needs it.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

Trouble has broken out once again — this time in the Middle East — and guess who is committing guess who's taxes and sons and husbands and everything else to bring "peace" to the area. Once again, the president of the United States is talking of his vast powers and his ability to commit large sums of confiscated money and large numbers of confiscated lives.

Just as in Korea and Laos and Vietnam and Panama, Americans are expected to be the world's policemen — rushing to restore order where someone else has failed to defend himself.

Perhaps "policemen" is not the proper term. It might better be termed "firemen"—for we are expected to answer the fire alarm, rushing all over the world to put out fires that other people have started.

Does it please you to know that your life is not your own? Does it fill you with exceeding joy to know that, at any moment, a crisis might occur somewhere in the world — a crisis that will require your resources, your loved ones, your life? What IS freedom?

Is it the right to be committed to every street fight and barroom brawl — just because the president of the United States believes that one side is less wrong than the other?

Either your life is yours or it belongs to the president. Your life is to be spent pursuing your happiness or it is to be spent pulling others out of trouble of their own making. If the people of South Vietnam care so little about their own freedom that they have not arranged to defend it, why must your 19-year-old son be sent there to die?

In the same way, I do not condemn those who refuse to become involved in street fights or to save women from attackers. I would act without hesitation to defend myself or someone who is important to me. But if I must be the protector of anyone who has failed to protect himself, then I have no life of my own. Any man can claim it just by getting himself in trouble.

The bell does not toll for me. I refuse to hear it. I ask no man to bail me out of my problems. I made them possible through MY decisions; it is no one's responsibility but mine to undo my mistakes.

And, in the same way, I refuse to accept the responsibility for someone else's life — whether in the Middle East or in Central Park.

My only chance for happiness is to concentrate on what must be done in my own life. I refuse to forfeit that chance.

Knock on Head Helpful to Ollie

Golby Sails To Early Buick Lead

By United Press International
GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI)—Bob Golby did something about the rough greens which everyone else was complaining about—he played over them instead of on them.

Many of the players had worried, after taking practice runs over Warwick Hill's recently renovated back nine holes, that the rebuilt greens would run rough. But Golby, by sinking 40 and 75-foot chip shots, saved himself the trouble of even putting on the 11th and 16th greens.

Bill Henry got the win for the Giants with one inning of relief work. "I don't know why he changed," pitching coach Mel Harder said. But manager DV Bristol said he thought he was tipping his pitches in his last start.

10th Homer
He continued his hot pace of the last two months Thursday night by clubbing his 10th homer of the season in the sixth inning and then singling in the tie-breaking run in the eighth to lead the Giants to an 8-5 victory over the league-leading Cincinnati Reds.

The victory moved the second place Giants to within three games of Cincinnati.

Sammy Ellis, who entered the game with a five-game winning streak, started the game for the Reds and went 6-23 innings although Gerry Arrigo was

Verbanic Likes Relief

By United Press International
When southpaw Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees' all time star, is beginning to wonder if Day, the Yanks dug deep to their Syracuse farm club in the International League and came up with Joe Verbanic to fill his spot on the roster.

made his first major league start last Saturday and pitched the Yankees to a 3-1 victory over the league leading Detroit Tigers.

McNerney cracked home runs to lead the White Sox victory in the opener.

Now American League batters are beginning to wonder if they wouldn't be better off with Ford still around.

Verbanic tossed a four hit shutout against the Washington Senators Thursday night to post his second straight victory and give the Yankees the American League lead in shutouts with eight as they posted a 6-0 triumph.

The Red Sox bunched five of their 15 hits in the second inning to score five times off Chicago starter Bruce Howard. Joe Foy's two run double was the big blow of the inning.

Pair Favored In Le Mans

LE MANS, France (UPI)—Bruce McLaren of New Zealand and Mark Donohue of Stony Brook, N.Y., shaped up today as the men to beat in the 35th edition of the gruelling 24-hour Le Mans Grand Prix auto race this weekend.

The two drivers piloting a Ford, became the fastest men on the 8.3 mile track in Thursday night's second and final trials when they scorched round it in three minutes, 24.4 seconds at a hair-raising average speed of 146.9 miles per hour.

GARY BELL first start

They cracked the time set earlier by Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mike Spence of Britain in Chaparral at 3:24.7 for an average of 146.7 m.p.h.

Both times were faster than the unofficial record set up by the late Lorenzo Bandini of Italy last April during the early Le Mans trials — of 3:25.6 at an average of 146.1 m.p.h. Bandini died following a crash during last month's Monaco Grand Prix.

HOME RUNS: R. Hendricks for Celanese.

Rick Reichardt cracked a two run homer in the sixth inning to give the Angels a come-from-behind triumph over the Orioles.

California took a 4-0 lead in the third on two run homers by Jim Fregosi and Jimmie Hall, but the Orioles collected two in the fourth and three in the fifth to take a 5-4 lead. Frank Robinson hit a two run homer, his 16th in the fourth.

AMERICAN NAZI PARTY

Rockwell Calls Movement 'White Guard'

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
ARLINGTON, Va. (NEA) — Fifty yards off Wilson Boulevard here, there is a roughly lettered sign nailed to a tall tree. It is decorated with skull and crossbones and reads: "No Trespassing. SURVIVORS will be prosecuted!"

HEADQUARTERS for George Lincoln Rockwell's so-called American Nazi party is a swastika-topped Victorian house located in Arlington, Va. That's Rockwell lighting his ever-present cornoc pipe.

Beyond the sign is a two-story frame house in need of paint. It is the home of the American Nazi party. When I visited it recently, there were several kids running about, a dog snoozing under the wheels of a dusty automobile and three flags waving in the unkempt courtyard — one with stars and stripes, one with the Virginia state seal and one with a swastika.

The room was ornamented with plastic busts of Adolf Hitler, party propaganda and a huge picture of George Lincoln Rockwell, "our leader," smoking a pipe.

There were two other Nazis in the room. One said his name was "Hughes" and mentioned his home as "somewhere around Detroit." The other was a rather dilapidated fellow whose chief duty seemed to be the making of coffee.

Also in the room were two young graduates of the Citadel military academy. Both had recently been commissioned second lieutenants in the United States Army — one in the Signal Corps and the other an engineer.

Suddenly, Rockwell strode hurriedly into the room. "ATTENTION!" the coffee maker cried out, and everybody, including the two Army officers, jumped up. Rockwell walked to the couch, reclined uncomfortably and bade everyone but me to sit down. I didn't have to sit, I hadn't stood.

"Be with you in a moment," the "fuhrer" said in my direction to the pair of second lieutenants. "You're from the Citadel are you?" he asked.

One of them said they were. "Only segregated military college in the nation," the other boasted. Rockwell puffed his pipe. "No kidding?" "We're all happy about it," Rockwell nodded. "Couple of niggers applied but we're hoping they're not accepted."

Rockwell grinned. "No telling what'll happen if they are," the visitor smiled back.

The three talked openly for about a minute more. Apparently the lieutenants were just curious visitors. Rockwell used them for another purpose, however. He knew I would remember the conversation and the setting in which it took place. He knew the young men's views gave credibility to what he has preached since 1959.

At length he stood up and shook hands with the officers. "Thank you for coming," he said. "Always glad to have good men like you drop around. Best of luck."

Rockwell turned to me with a gesture of his head. "Ready for you now."

We walked out of the room, past the Hitler busts, under the swastika emblems, by the guard and up into a cluttered study for an interview.

My job was just beginning. "But Rockwell's? Thanks to the young Army officers, his job was already accomplished. "Every white man in the country is a target," the cult leader insists. "The coons are bent on killing, looting and raping. They have declared a full-scale war!"

Rockwell's reference is to the increased rumblings of "Black Power" emitting from some Negro circles. He sees the term as "just the beginning" and uses every inflammable example of racial tension to stoke the coals of his own, admittedly carnivorous, cause.

"You think I'm imagining things?" he asks. "Every day blacks are being told how to immobilize police cars, how to sabotage power plants, how to make gasoline bombs, how to destroy major communication networks and how to poison reservoirs."

"They are almost ready now for their revolution and they make no bones about their intent. The day will come when they will go swarming by the thousands into white neighborhoods — spreading death, destruction and terror."

"They have given up on non-violence. They are plotting to break out in a hundred places at the same time. They are crying, 'Get Whitey!' And they will get us, too... unless we prepare now to defend ourselves in every way."

Never one to turn the other cheek (he presents Adolf Hitler medals to his men for stirring up violence), Rockwell is adequately prepared. Says he, anyway.

People? "I have 500 stormtroopers around the nation." Weapons? "We're all heavily armed with what we need." Training? "I'm not running a school for boys. My men are soldiers."

Despite his questionable boasts of Nazi strength, Rockwell confesses he could never stand alone against a Negro uprising. Thus he has initiated a new movement among "patriots" which he claims will save the country from "black apes" and the white race from "dirty mongrelization."

He calls the movement his White Guard.

"I'm asking every decent, red-blooded American to stand and fight for his own neighborhood," he says, "and I am willing to teach them how to do it. I am establishing training schools around the nation to instruct volunteers in combat arms."

"If there are enough people who are not afraid to do what I ask them, enough who still have the guts our forefathers had when they whipped the Indians, those black animals will be piled up like cord wood if they ever attack us."

None of this is surprising verbiage for Rockwell, an insatiable race-baiter who spends his energies furthering his bias with such things as the "Committee to Gas Martin Luther King" and the writing of hate propaganda which promulgates a "final solution" for his many and varied enemies.

One of the latter is a leaflet which advertises, for Negroes, "a free ticket to Africa on a boat shaped like a Cadillac with fins. All the bananas and choice cuts of missionaries desired. Plenty of wine, marijuana, heroin and other refreshments."

But though he has preached this noxious noise for the seven years of his party's existence, Rockwell admits that people have only recently begun to listen. Now, he claims, "The whites are frightened and looking for a leader with some courage."

He nominates himself as that leader, of course. "And when the time comes," he believes, "millions of Americans will fight with him under the sign of the swastika. As he puts it: "Every nigger hater is a Nazi at heart."

BUTTON BROKE

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actress Betty Hutton, 46, has filed for bankruptcy in federal court, listing debts of about $150,000. Her attorney, Irving Morris, filed the petition Thursday and blamed "injudicious investments" on Miss Hutton's financial difficulties.

In 1963, a sniper killed Negro civil rights leader Medgar Evers in Jackson, Miss.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although the current Congress hasn't accomplished too much in the way of legislation, it deserves high marks in rhetoric and elocution.

I have a little notebook in which I jot down the more quotable utterances that I encounter. On balance, I would say the phraseology of the present session is as rich, full-bodied and firmly packed as any in modern times.

Some specimens will surely live for as long as English is spoken. In particular I have in mind a sentence constructed by Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton, a Maryland Republican and phrasemaker.

Upon his appointment as a member of the House select committee on small business, Morton wrote: "Help Small Businesses. Perhaps we can dig down into the cement of the federal bureaucracy a bit and get the government back on the track of helping the small businessman rather than swamping him with obstacles and often times giving him the cold shoulder."

Pending certification by the International clbe society the record is only unofficial, but it appears Morton has brought the world's metaphor-mixing title back to the United States.

Despite their numerical superiority, however, Morton's figures of speech impressed me as being less vivid than the two employed by Rep. George A. Goodling, R-Pa., in belittling a presidential message.

The message was, according to Goodling, "a lot of hot air mixed with some watered-down proposals."

Closing one's eyes, one can visualize thermal vapors rising from the sodden suggestions of the moisturized message. Then the whole thing becomes enveloped in a cloud of steam.

As patriotic and chauvinistic as I may be, however, I cannot in all honesty say that America holds the lead in picturesque comments by public servants.

Pressure Builds To Stave Off Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pressures were building on the House Commerce Committee Thursday to decide whether to join the President and the Senate in a plan aimed at staving off a nationwide railroad strike threatened in just 11 days.

The House panel scheduled a closed meeting to consider ways of averting a strike, including the method recommended by President Johnson and passed Wednesday by the Senate 70-15.

The Senate passed bill, based on Johnson's "mediation to finality" formula, calls for a final 90-day mediation period during which a special five-man board would try to help the unions settle their differences.

If that failed, the board's recommendations would be put into effect during a no-strike period extending to Jan. 1, 1969.

A union walkout, now scheduled for 12:01 a.m. Monday, June 19, would paralyze 95 per cent of the nation's railroads, major carriers of raw materials and defense goods.

The unions, insisting that settlement would come quickly if they were allowed to strike, have denounced Johnson's plan as one-sided compulsory arbitration. The carriers have endorsed it.

The proposed postponement, if enacted by Congress, would be the third in this dispute since April. Earlier congressional actions delayed the strike by 20 days and then another 47 days to the present deadline.

Though the Johnson proposal could have its greatest trouble in the House, the two alternatives given greatest consideration by the commerce committee have received setbacks in recent days.

The idea of permitting a strike to occur appeared to have evaporated as a serious possibility in the wake of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's warning that such a course would be "unthinkable" in the light of the Vietnam war and the "dangerous unknowns" of the Middle East.

The other alternative—a form of seizure—was roundly defeated in two amendments proposed in the Senate before it passed Johnson's bill.

to inspire Her Majesty's government to greater heights. I have in mind the response of a palace spokesman, Maj. John Griffin, when asked if Margaret was pregnant. "You must use your own judgment," he replied.

Closing one's eyes again, one can visualize the British journalists weighing the fateful decision. Apparently their conclusions were negative.

In the United States, as you know, such matters are not left in the hands of newsmen.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. believes the 840 level of the Dow Jones industrial average proved to be a successful support level during the Middle East shooting and says that should be the situation "settle down to a controllable level," any ensuing selloff should be contained at this plateau. The company, however does not see any attempt at an assault on the 900 mark until more economic stimulus develops.

Goodbody & Co. advises investors not to liquidate securities at the present time because of the Middle East war and says it would rather hold "well selected common stocks" than cash.

Newton D. Ziner of E.F. Hutton & Co. says that to judge from the improved news background regarding the Middle East war, the possibility of a firmer tone for the stock market seems better at the present time than it has been for several weeks.

The Almanac

Today is Friday, June 9, the 160th day of 1967 with 205 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Born on this day in 1893 was American song writer Cole Porter.

On this day in history: In 1942 selective service officials issued a new order placing men with children last on conscription lists.

In 1943, Congress passed an act providing for "pay-as-you-go" income tax reductions, authorizing employers to withhold payments from weekly checks.

In 1966, 16 persons were killed and 450 injured as twisters swept through Kansas. A thought for the day — French scholar Jean de la Bruyere said: "To laugh at men of sense is the privilege of fools."

BLOODHOUND SEARCH
COCOA, Fla. (UPI)—Bloodhounds have been pressed into a search on Merritt Island south of Cape Kennedy for a man who fatally clubbed a teen-ager and robbed him of $1 while the victim's girlfriend watched in terror.

The 16-year-old girl said a man clubbed her boyfriend, William Frederick Hall, 17, of Cocoa, after the man approached their car on a deserted road, pulped a gun and forced her and Hall to lie on the ground.

GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL says he thinks Nazism in the United States is on the move. He says the strength of his following lies with the average "red-blooded American," but now it is white youth, too young to remember what the swastika symbolized during World War II, who appear to be picking up the banner.

BARGAIN NUDE

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—J. Warnock Walsh Jr. dropped into an auction of restaurant equipment in San Francisco recently, and was attracted by a painting of a voluptuous reclining nude with a cherub.

While others made bids on pots and pans, Walsh successfully offered $100 for the painting and took it to an expert who promptly identified it as an Eduardo Tjeltti worth $3,500. He said the frame alone was worth $250.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You now find you are under excellent aspects for anything that has to do with persuading others to see and do things you would like to have them by a well rounded argument that takes in every aspect of any situation. Make sure especially you get your romantic involvement on a better plane for more happiness.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — There are many problems to be handled at home and you would do well to concentrate on these during day, also in p.m. Be inspiring, helpful to kin. Improving security is your very best bet now.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Spend time wisely doing your shopping, stocking up on groceries, brightening up wardrobe with new accessories, etc. Have a more efficient system. Getting things pieced is wise. Do whatever is necessary.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — You have had good advice from experts regarding property and monetary matters; put it to good use now. Getting improvements to real estate. This can make it more valuable in case you ever want to sell it.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Recreation is important in your mind now and this is fine since good friends are anxious to go out with you and have a wonderful time. Be at your most charming best. Make an excellent impression.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Study problematical affairs carefully and you can turn them into advantageous alliances. Success. Your male attachment, now because you are so successful, now because you are so successful.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Arrange your affairs now wisely with persons you find difficult to contact during work week is fine. Get a different viewpoint. Contact those out of town and state your mind clearly.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Take care of responsibilities during day and then the evening is free for happiness with male and/or friends. Your perception, intuition are very good now. Make better use of latter.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Love carefully to what allows you to say and agree with their ideas instead of trying to force your own. Make big new deals. Then out to the recreation that you enjoy most with them.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You have a chance to assist a co-worker today, who is having very rough sailing. Be sure that you are the divinely helpful Aquarius for which you are noted. Take care of own affairs in p.m.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Fine Saturday to get into the recreation that means the most to you. Plan early and call your friends, congenial, on time so that they do not make other engagements, then have a wonderful time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY
 he or she will be very fine in any field of merchandising and it would be well to plant the education along such lines. There is much understanding where the emotions of others, as well as own, are concerned. A happy domestic life is very important here if the best work is to be done throughout the adult life.

Five Youths Win Honors in Music Contests At UT

Four Pampa youths in a saxophone quartet won first division honors recently in a solo and ensemble instrumental music contest at the University of Texas in Austin.

The quartet, composed of Gayle Miller, Donnie Hall, Terry Williams and Tommy Francis, qualified to compete at the Austin contest by winning first divisions in other solo and ensemble contests this year.

All four, members of the Pampa High School Band, won their first divisions in a regional University Interscholastic League band solo and ensemble contest at Canyon and at a UIL band festival in Enid, Okla.

David Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson of Pampa, and a West Texas State University music major, is teacher for the youths. Robertson will be a junior and assistant drum major at WTSU next fall.

Prudence Skelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Skelly, 918 N. Somerville, rated a division II in a flute solo at the Austin contest.

The saxophone quartet's Austin contest selection was recorded for further use by the university. One of every 100 selections which rated division I was chosen for recording.

Other contests in vocal music and piano were held at the same time as Austin solo and ensemble events.

About 3,500 from all over Texas attended the Austin contests, including Mr. and Mrs. Skelly, Mr. and Mrs. David Robertson, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller, parents of Gayle Miller.

In 1962, the American Medical Association labeled President Kennedy's proposed Medicare legislation a "cruel hoax."

Car Dealer Picked One Of Best

Harold Barrett Ford Inc. of Pampa has been selected as one of the nation's outstanding Ford dealerships and will receive Ford Motor Comment Award.

The Distinguished Achievement Award is presented "in recognition of progressive management, modern sales and service facilities, sound merchandising interest in rendering superior service to Ford owners."

Harold Barrett has been a Ford dealer in Pampa since 1961. The dealership is located at 701 West Brown.

Tourist Train May Be Put On Permanent Basis

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (SpI)—Modern train history was made recently when the Santa Fe Railroad ran a special excursion train from Albuquerque to Santa Fe, which is one of the most picturesque rides in the country.

While the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe is known as the Santa Fe Railroad, it has never operated the line into New Mexico's capital city of Santa Fe on a regular passenger service basis.

Boosters of both cities are pushing for another first—a regular tourist excursion train from Albuquerque to Santa Fe.

Hopefully, the train would operate on a regular schedule during August as a part of New Mexico's Fiesta Month.

By next summer, the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce Grain Excursion Task Force hopes to have a steam engine train excursion operating between the two cities.

NTSU Graduates Two Pampa Women

Cecilia Jean Love and Emma Emerald McCollum, of Pampa, were among 70 North Texas State University seniors graduating recently with bachelor degrees.

The university also awarded 124 masters and 13 doctorate degrees, and graduated 18 with high honors and 51 with honors.

Both Pampanos were graduated with honors and were named as two of the 60 honor graduates.

Lucius Amerson of Macon County is the first Negro sheriff elected in Alabama since Reconstruction days.
