

FCC Challenges Merger of IT&T With Broadcast Co.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The proposed merger of the American Broadcasting Co. with the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been challenged from within the Federal Communications Commission, the agency that once approved it.

In preliminary findings filed Monday, the FCC's broadcast bureau argued the merger would not enhance ABC's competitive position in broadcasting, and consolidation would not be crucial to its growth.

Both were contentions stressed by high ABC and ITT officials during two weeks of hearings in April as the two companies sought to justify their plans to merge.

The sessions were called by the FCC after the Justice Department said the commission did not look far enough into the merger's consequences, particularly from the standpoint of reduced competition in the broadcasting industry, before it approved the marriage last year. The FCC stayed its approval pending the current review of the plan.

Anti-trust experts of the Justice Department joined the broadcast bureau Monday in questioning the "candor" and correctness of testimony given by some officials for the two companies, including ABC President Leonard Goldenson and ITT President Harold S. Geenen.

ROCKER FOR TWO went on display at the prototype furniture exhibition in London recently. Designed by David Goodship, the novel chair has plastic sides, reinforced cardboard tubes on each end and center, and is upholstered with polyether chip foam.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—William Colby & Co. says it is now adopting a highly defensive policy toward the stock market and is expecting a possible setback to the 840-85C range in the Dow Jones industrial average, where stronger support should materialize. The company believes, however, that this action should not affect intermediate term programs and could provide short term traders with a good opportunity for taking profits.

William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks, Hemphill, Noyes says "from a technical viewpoint, prospects point to a resumption of the advance on a broad scale next month."

Newton D. Ziner of E. F. Hutton & Co. says current selling pressure has been minimal, apparently indicating that the market irregularity is normal consolidation. But the analyst feels there is no indication the consolidation has run out of steam.

Astrological Forecast

By CAROL L. RIGHTER

FOR THURSDAY, MAY 25

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are likely to meet what you have carefully built up by making any changes at this time, so try to continue with steadfastness as the plans you have already worked so diligently upon. You have an innate readiness now that needs to be carefully controlled if you are to get the benefit of all this work.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You had better await a better time before making those radical changes you have in mind, particularly if it has to do with travel. Consider well. Plan how to improve your image with the public.

TARGETS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Follow through on expectations of good pals before you dash out to fun places with others, or look for some new outlets. Business obligations must also be discharged. Then off to the interesting.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — It is up to you now to be the considerate one with others, especially with sin. Avoid some argument that could start at home. A little child needs your support; be sure to give it.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Restlessness can cause you to act in too independent a manner with others and this could lead to trouble. Be more economical. Await a better time before doing anything about gaining personal aims.

CAPIRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — No need to become irate with others because you have some prickly problem to solve; just get into practical matters and you soon have the answer. Show gratitude to a loyal friend. Be kindly with others.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — It takes time to work out certain arrangements with a friend, so be patient. Someone may be very demanding but do not acquiesce, since this could be bad for all concerned. Make some sort of essential excuse.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You have some important matters to handle in the outside world, but it might be better to wait another day for best results. Others might disappoint you today. This could also include those close ties.

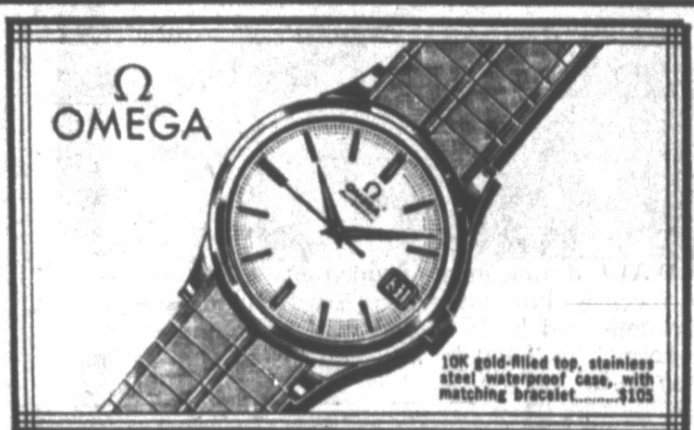

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be an extremely talkative young person with a million questions to ask, so it behooves you to answer in the most intelligent way since your progeny will not be footed. Teach early how to find information you cannot supply. Traveling in foreign countries, dealing with foreign philosophies brings success.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Plan your social activity for the p.m. before you delve right into that pile of work awaiting you. Wonderful new ideas assail you. Await leisure time to discuss them with co-workers. Be alert.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Pleasing those at home or of a close blood relationship is wise during a time. Then out to the outside that you like that can give you a true abundance. Leave nothing undone or you destroy your present secure position.

LINBA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — During the day there could be tensions in regard to fundamental security, so be on your guard. Avoid placid persons in p.m. Make better arrangements so that others around you are more pleased.

Living Cost Rises Again

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumer living costs rose three-tenths of 1 per cent in April despite a decline in wholesale prices for the month, the Labor Department reported today.

Lower grocery store food prices and decreases in new cars and appliances were offset by increases for clothing, house furnishings and furniture, the monthly index showed.

The consumer price level for April was 115.3 compared to 115 in March. The wholesale price index for April dropped four tenths of 1 per cent to 105.3.

Arthur M. Ross, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the continued decline in retail food prices reflected reductions at the wholesale level since last September.

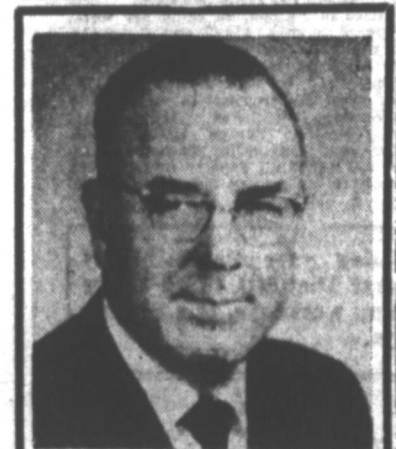

He said the declines were mostly the result of lower prices for meats, most fresh vegetables and eggs.

The increase in clothing and house furnishing prices, Ross said, was the result of "higher production and marketing costs being passed on in a favorable market situation."

Washington Report

BOB PRICE

In its first interim report, the House Republican Task Force on Crime recommended higher pay and other benefits for police officers as the foundation for better law enforcement.

As a member of that Committee, I agree that many police are not paid a salary or provided fringe benefits comparable with other occupations.

The foundation for a successful attack upon the problem of crime is better law enforcement requires the best police officers.

The President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice reports that in 1967 alone there will be 80,000 vacancies in police departments throughout the nation. The Commission also reports that the average starting salary for a patrolman in small cities is $4,600. In large cities the average is $5,300 and typical maximum pay is less than $11,000 more than the starting salary.

Fringe benefits customary with most jobs today such as life insurance and survivors' benefits are frequently not available to local law officers. And because police work is considered a hazardous occupation, insurance premiums are high and difficult to meet with a low salary.

The policeman, like the soldier, frequently lays his life on the line in carrying out his duties. Congress has provided generous fringe benefits to the military in recognition of the dangers of military life and local law enforcement officers should have similar recognition.

The Federal government cannot, however, inject itself directly into the correction of this obviously unjust situation confronting the local policeman. But the Congress can and often has stimulated local and state authorities by example. And Congress can provide compensation for the local police officer injured in enforcing Federal law or to his survivors if he is killed.

There are close to 20,000 Federal law enforcement officials in the United States but these officers rely daily on the support of more than 420,000 local and state officers. For example, local police may accompany postmasters to banks with large sums of money. FBI, Secret Service, Postal Inspectors, Immigration officials and many others depend on the assistance of local police departments in carrying out their duties. And local officers take an oath to uphold the U.S. Constitution and all Federal laws. The responsibility should be reciprocal.

A well-written law of disability and survivorship compensation could stimulate state and local governments to develop state laws for analogous local circumstances.

Under existing law, Federal officers are provided for in a number of compensatory procedures, including the Federal Employees Compensation Act which is administered by the Department of Labor for the benefit of disabled officers or their surviving wives and dependent children.

I agree with the Republican Task Force on Crime that we should guarantee equal treatment to local police who risk their lives to assist Federal officers protected by this program in such activities as apprehension of bank robbers, kidnapers and AWOL military personnel. The cost to the Federal government would not be large but the dividends to better law enforcement would be significant.

The plan would be a first step in improving the financial situation of the police officer and would be a real contribution to police morale and serve as an inducement to others to consider police work as a career.

Our local law enforcement officers are working under severe handicaps now as the result of Supreme Court decisions which have clouded the criminal law of the land with unnecessary confusion, doubt and uncertainty.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Even talk isn't cheap anymore. According to testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee made public this week, the per-page cost of the daily Congressional Record has jumped from $104 last year to $110 this year. At this rate, House and Senate members are expected to discuss their way through $3.6 million worth of the record this session.

Florida May Ease Press on Press

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—A Florida senate committee has decided news reporters should have the same protection afforded doctors and lawyers when it comes to shielding confidential sources.

The senate judiciary committee Tuesday approved a measure giving immunity from contempt to court threats when reporters decline to identify news sources.

The proposal embraces publishers, editors, reporters on newspapers and wire services, and radio and television station personnel on stations licensed by the Federal Communications Commission.

An amendment provides the confidential source must have given information "actually for news or news commentary purposes" or actually published in a newspaper.

Billboard Mark West Texas CoC Tourist Program

The tourist development program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is emphasized by a billboard program. As a part of this project large three-color billboards have been posted in 100 locations throughout West Texas.

Pampa residents can see one of these attractive boards on Hwy. 60 Southwest or on S. Barnes St.

Space for the local signs was donated as a public service by Pan-Tex Outdoor Advertising.

Featured on the billboards are the number of lakes, state and national parks, historical markers, museums and mountain ranges, items to which tourists are most attracted, according to tourism authorities.

Another phase will be the erection of tourist attraction signs for the individual cities. The latter will enumerate local tourist attractions.

The small signs are being manufactured and lettered at this time and are expected to appear within the next three weeks," according to Tourist and Travel Chairman Harlan Bridwell, Bridgeport publisher, who has led the WTCC group in this project.

Top O' Texas Life Underwriters 1967-68 Officers Are Installed

The secret of success lies in the fact that one forms the habit of doing things that failures do not like to do, W. J. Poyner of Odessa, president-elect of the Texas Life Underwriters Association, told members of the Top O' Texas LUA at their annual installation banquet last night in Coronado Inn.

The speaker outlined five points he said are needed to achieve success: creation, direction, motivation, intelligent planning and inspired determination.

"There is no substitute for hard work," Poyner said, "and you must have purpose and understanding of your goal."

Poyner installed officers of the local association which covers the eastern portion of the Texas Panhandle.

The new officers are Joe Cree of Pampa, president; Howard Pattillo of Borger, first vice president; Jerry Black of Pampa, second vice president; and Garland Davis of Pampa, secretary-treasurer.

Wheeler Due Two Doctors

WHEELER (UPI) — Dr. John Parker, who moved to Wheeler last November to give the town a doctor, said today two more doctors will join his staff soon.

The town has a new hospital and clinic, but residents pushed one pause button last summer when their only two doctors announced they planned to take their practices out of the small town and into the city.

Dr. Parker answered a "help-wanted" advertisement in a medical journal, came from the North to look the town over, and decided to take the position.

Now the situation is looking even better for the community. He has persuaded two others that the days of the small town doctor are not in the past.

Parker said Dr. George Neese of Spur, Tex., will arrive Thursday to supplement the staff as a general practitioner and Dr. Lewis Jolly of Madison, Ind., a surgeon, will come to Wheeler before June 1.

Television In Review

United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "A Christmas Memory" by Truman Capote and "Mark Twain Tonight," starring Hal Holbrook, have been cited for exceptional achievement in the past television season in the second annual "critics' consensus" poll.

In addition to the two programs, Holbrook was cited separately for his one-man performance, making a total of three "winners"—that is, nominations that received a two-third vote of the 15 participating television columnists.

"A Christmas Memory," which was an "ABC Stage 67" production, and Holbrook each gathered 12 votes. "Mark Twain Tonight" as a program received 11 votes. It was a CBS-TV presentation.

For Outstanding Achievement
The "critics' consensus" has no predetermined categories, and awards are not intended as "bests" for just this season, but as outstanding achievement in any year.

The poll was created last season in reaction, as "Variety" noted, "revised Emmy (Award) procedures... that seemed to be discarding the idea of quality for quantity."

In the first "critics' consensus" poll, there were only four winners, with "Death of a Salesman" the sole program cited.

The critics' poll includes columnists in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., St. Louis, Detroit, Miami, Houston, Memphis, Seattle and San Diego. This writer is a member.

Those nominations that narrowly missed two-thirds acceptance in this season's balloting—getting nine votes each—were CBS-TV's "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller, and Geraldine Page for her performance in "A Christmas Memory."

Eight votes were cast for "ABC Stage 67" as a series and for the national educational television documentary "A Time For Burning."

Fred Friendly, one of last season's four winners, was cited twice more in the latest poll. He received seven votes for his part in conceiving the "public dividend" of non-commercial television that could derive from a domestic satellite transmission system. He also got six votes for "public enlightenment" as a result of his book, "Due to Circumstances Beyond our Control..."

Among other nominees that gathered six votes was national educational television, for upgrading video schedules in general, and for its live interconnections, especially in covering the "state of the Union" address. Also: the Ford Foundation, for its domestic satellite proposals, CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason series was another entry that landed six votes.

Texas Feedlot Bigger Than French Farm

WAYSIDE, Tex. (UPI) — A French agricultural leader looked at a feedlot in this small Texas Panhandle community and said it was larger than the entire average farm in his country.

Henry Modiano of Paris, the president of France-Elevage, was among five farm leaders from Italy and France who looked briefly at the Panhandle feedlot and said they were par-on a tour of the United States. At Wayside, a town of 100 persons about 35 miles southeast of Amarillo, they looked at the feedlot and said they were particularly interested in seeing the sealed-storage silo units in operation at the yard.

Modiano said most French farmers have less than seven head of cattle. There are an estimated 20 million head in France. With Modiano on the tour to get a first-hand look at the U.S. livestock feeding industry were Antonio Cantagallo and Alfredo Lodigiana, both of Milano, Italy; Karl Nicolussi, director of Mannesmann-Agrotecnica; and Claude Jouin of Paris, a member of the French Ministry of Agriculture.

Foreign Commentary

By WELLINGTON LONG
United Press International
BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt are smashing precedent by agreeing to enter talks with the Communist regime governing East Germany.

Such a relationship with the Communists was rejected during the 14 years the late Konrad Adenauer was chancellor and during the three years Ludwig Erhard was at the helm.

All those years, Brandt's Social Democrats pressed for a more liberal attitude, and in the end began their own dialogue with the Socialist Unity party, as the Communists in East Germany call themselves.

At the last minute, it was the Communists who got cold feet, and cancelled plans for Social Democratic and Communist leaders to appear together in a series of "great debates," alternatively in East and West German cities.

Increase Party Influence

Although the Social Democrats remained second to the Christian Democrats in the 1965 federal election, they did increase their poll, partly because they had managed to make practical steps to overcome the division of the nation.

During the 17 years of the Adenauer and Erhard governments, every attempt of the East Germans to start a formal exchange was rebuffed.

When the Erhard cabinet fell, and it became clear his Christian Democratic party could remain in the new government only if it invited the Social Democrats in, too, Brandt's party exacted a number of promises. One was a more liberal attitude towards dealings with East Germany.

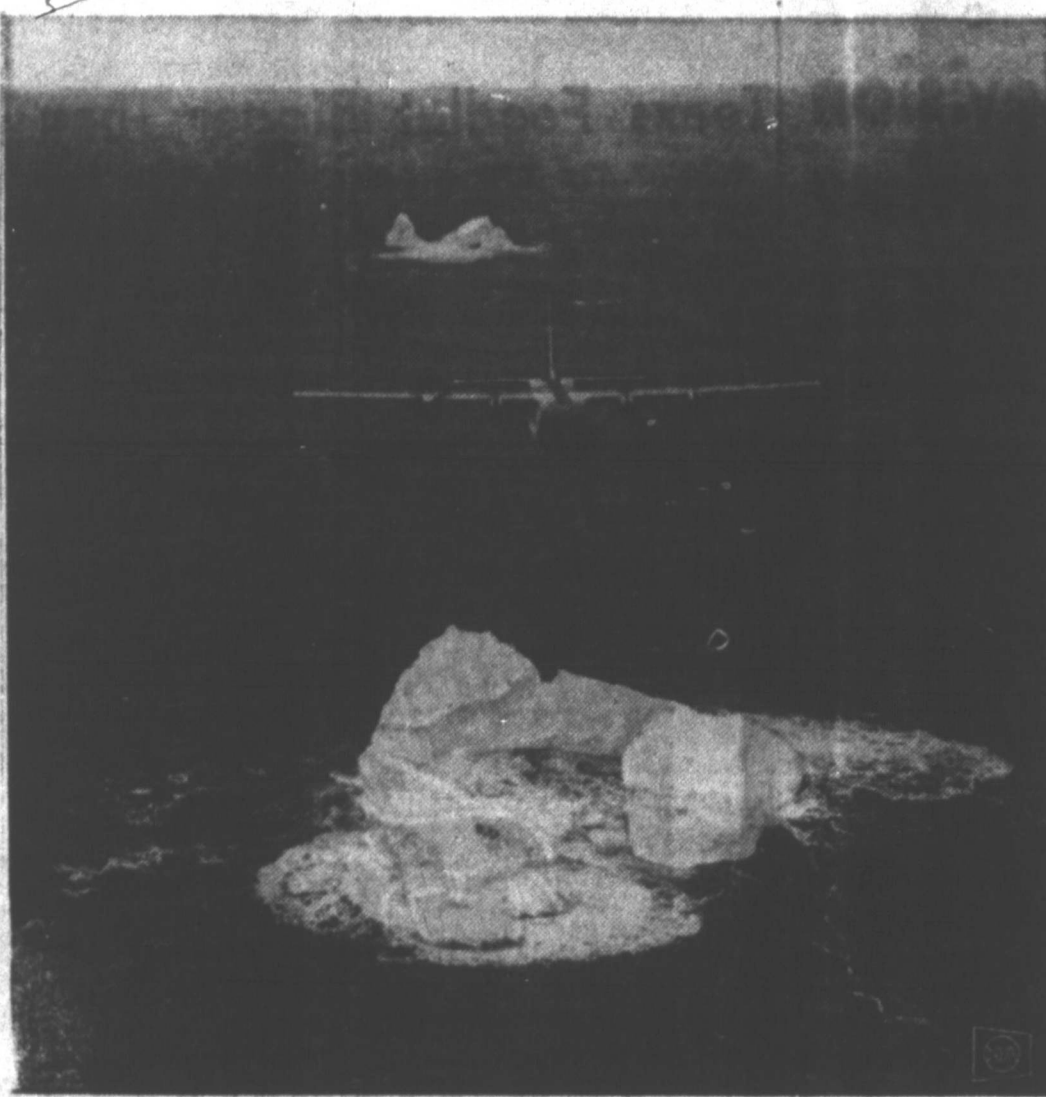

Of the various Christian Democratic candidates to succeed Erhard, only Kiesinger was prepared to go as far as the Social Democrats.

In his policy statement in December, Kiesinger said his government would do all it could to encourage human, economic and cultural relations "with our countrymen in the other parts of Germany."

No Recognition

"Where this requires the establishment of contacts between authorities of the Federal Republic and of those in the other part of Germany," he went on, "it does not imply any recognition of a second German state."

Since then, it has become clear Kiesinger and Brandt are prepared to permit "contacts between authorities" up to the level of ministerial state secretaries. Although they function as deputy ministers, state secretaries actually are the highest-ranking members of the civil service, and the government could argue that negotiations at that level, although

Two Former Pampa Boys To Graduate from Boys Ranch

Richard Morton and Wayne Turner, two of the nine former Pampa boys now making their home at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, will be among the 24 seniors who will be graduating from the Boys Ranch High School tonight in the Ranch dining hall.

D. D. Monroe, a businessman from Clayton, N. M., will speak at the graduation ceremonies. Dr. James Carroll of First Presbyterian Church of Amarillo, will deliver the baccalaureate address in the Boys Ranch chapel at 8 p.m.

Separate graduation ceremonies will be held for the 44 eighth graders who will graduate into high school. Mrs. Gene Harri-man, daughter of the late Cal and Mimi Farley, will speak at the 8th grade graduation at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Cal Farley gymnasium.

Young Morton, who has been at the Ranch for three years, has been active in intramural athletics and in vocational agriculture, one of the 16 skills offered in the Ranch's vocational training program. After graduation he plans to either enter college or enlist in the Air Force.

Turner came to the Ranch in 1955 and has been an active rancher. His biggest interest is vocational cooking, one of the 16 skills offered at the Ranch, and he plans to continue in this field after graduation.

Also at the Ranch from Pampa are Harvey Kelley, Jimmy Martin, Roy Martin, Hans Mills, Tommy Sells, Terry Van Sickle, and Calvin West.

Boys Ranch, since it was founded in 1939 by the late Cal Farley who died last February 19, has helped over 2,000 boys with 348 boys now calling it home. Virgil Patterson, chairman of the board from the First National Bank of Amarillo, was recently elected president of the famous home for boys.

Marijuana Profound Religious Experience For Timothy Leary

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Dr. Timothy Leary, perhaps the nation's best-known spokesman for hallucinogenic drugs, gets "a profound religious experience" from using marijuana, Leary's lawyer said Monday.

The lawyer, Joel Finer of Austin, asked the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to reverse a 30-year prison sentence and a $30,000 fine imposed Leary by a federal court in Texas.

Leary is a former Harvard psychology professor who was convicted of illegally importing marijuana through Laredo, Tex. and transporting it without paying taxes.

Finer contended U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Connally's charge to the jury in the Texas trial was prejudicial in several respects.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The writer who signed herself "Only His Mother" should have given up her son a long time ago. The day my children heard the words, "I now pronounce you man and wife," I relinquished my claims. I don't mean they are no longer my children, but the wife belongs to her husband, and the husband belongs to his wife. Our divorce courts would not be so busy if more parents let their married children run their own lives.

When we heard our son was coming home from Vietnam I wrote to him, "We will not be at the airport to meet you. We will keep the little people so you and your wife can be alone."

Our son never wrote asking us to let his wife meet him alone. He didn't have to. As his parents we knew our place. Sure, I love my son, and I love that darling wife of his, too. If my son were "in love" with me, he would have remained home forlorn. I am so glad to be "ONLY HIS MOTHER."

DEAR ABBY: "Only His Mother" should thank God her son is returning home from Vietnam alive. As for the "disgusting 2-day sex orgy,"—I wish the wife lots of luck. When my marine came home from Vietnam he spent a week in bed. Sound asleep!

ALSO A WIFE
DEAR ABBY: This is to the foghorn mother who was "hurt" because her son was coming home from Vietnam and wanted her to keep the kiddies while he and his wife had a second honeymoon. I am a mother, too, and if my son wanted me to take care of his children so he and his wife could be together, alone, I would have been the happiest mother on earth. My son didn't come home from Vietnam. He was killed there on New Year's day, 1967.

Yes, Mother, your son deserves to have his favor granted. Maybe one day he will let you know how much he appreciated your poor sacrifice.

"ONLY HIS MOTHER," ALSO
DEAR ABBY: Usually I have no sympathy for mothers-in-law because I have a real stinker myself. But my heart goes out to "Only His Mother," who was asked to sit with her grandchildren so her son and daughter-in-law could have a 2-day sex orgy to make up for lost time while he was in Vietnam.

When my husband was overseas in World War II, I missed him so much, I thought I'd die. Then our son went to Vietnam, and let me tell you, the pain, a mother feels for a son in the war and a husband are two different things!

Seeing a son come home alive is the greatest feeling a woman can experience. I wouldn't have missed it for the world. You should have told that mother to meet her son at the station with his wife and kids — and told them to take care of their own kids!

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Colavito Plays And Tribe Wins

"Don't trade me—play me," says underprivileged Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians.

The slugging rightfielder, who has filed a formal complaint to Cleveland general manager Gabe Paul concerning inactivity this season, proved that he was worthy of a starting position in the Indians' outfield by crashing a three-run 10th inning homer Tuesday night to beat the Washington Senators 4-1.

Colavito has been platooned with Leon Wagner this year by manager Joe Adcock and he feels that he deserves an explanation. As of yet Adcock has not given any reason for the change.

"I'm not asking them to trade me," Colavito said, because I love Cleveland and the people here. They always treated me fine and I want to stay with the Indians."

Minnesota 5-4 and California downed Kansas City 5-1.

Gary Bell was riding along with a two hitter in the ninth inning when pinch-hitter Cap Peterson smashed a home run over the left center field fence to send the game into extra innings.

Pile Up Wins

Frank Bertaina and Eddie Watt teamed up for a four-hit shutout and Andy Etchebarren drove in the only run of the game with a second inning single to give the Orioles their eighth victory in their last 10 games.

Home runs by Rico Petrocelli and Carl Yastrzemski provided Dennis Bennett his second victory of the season, against one loss. Petrocelli, blasted a solo shot off loser Mickey Lolich in the second and Yastrzemski blasted his eighth homer of the year with a man aboard in the eighth.

Winning Hit

Colavito was in the lineup Tuesday night because the Senators started lefthander Pete Richert. He was still around when righthander Bob Priddy was hurling in the 10th inning. "I was just going for a base hit," Rocky said. "All I wanted to do is win the game."

He might have won more than the balgame but he will have to wait and see if he proved his point.

Elsewhere in the American League Baltimore shut out New York 1-0, Boston defeated Detroit 5-2, Chicago edged among regular starters with a 1.43 ERA. He hasn't allowed a run in the last 23 innings and only three in his last five starts.

"I feel I have been going as good as ever," said Drysdale. "I reported to spring training weighing 212 pounds, eight less than normally and it's helped me considerably. I'm able to throw every pitch with the same velocity."

The Dodgers being in seventh place doesn't bother Drysdale much either.

"I still think we can win the pennant," said Drysdale. "We have too much potential on this club to stay where we are. I don't worry about early losses, things will look up."

Giants Edge Phils

In other National League games, San Francisco edged

Philadelphia 5-4 in 11 innings, Houston defeated Pittsburgh 8-3 and Atlanta downed St. Louis 9-6. Cincinnati at Chicago was postponed by rain.

Two Phillie pitchers struck out Jay Alou three straight times but Dick Farrell didn't have the same luck. He gave up a triple to the Giant leftfielder and Ollie Brown followed with a sacrifice fly and San Francisco had itself a 54 11-inning victory. The triumph went to Frank Linzy in relief.

Would you believe that Larry Dierker is the only .300 hitter on the Astro team? The Houston pitcher doubled and big Chuck Harrison struck a pair of doubles and it spelled 8-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Atlanta Braves collected

13 hits off three of the first five St. Louis Cardinal pitchers for a 9-6 victory over the second-place Cardinals.

Gonzalez Scores TKO in Eighth

HOUSTON (UPI) — Manuel Gonzalez of Houston scored an eighth round technical knockout over Jose Valenzuela of Gomez Palacios, Mexico Tuesday night in a welterweight bout in Sam Houston Coliseum.

Gonzalez weighed 140 and Valenzuela 147.

Bobby Dennard, 182, of Pasadena, Tex. decisioned Rocky Romero, 18, of Rayne, La. in 10 rounds of a companion fight.

HAWK SIGNS

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Joe Caldwell, who is expected to gain a starting backcourt assignment this season, became the first member of the St. Louis Hawks to sign his 1967-68 contract.

Caldwell, who played in all of the Hawks' games last year and averaged 13.5 points, is hoping to fill the vacant guard position left by the retirement of Coach Richie Guerin as a player and the loss of Rod Thorn and Tommy Kron in the expansion draft.

A TBS spokesman said that the Big Three of golfing would be paid $10,000 for the matches, three of which would be played as a threesome and three others against the top pros in Japan.

All-Stars Add Underwood Coach

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Harris Underwood, a longtime associate of football great Bobby Layne, was added Tuesday to the Texas staff for the Big 33 all-star game.

Layne is the head coach of the squad of Texas high school football players who meet a similar all-star team from Pennsylvania high schools Aug. 12 in Hershey, Pa.

A vacancy opened in Layne's staff when Doak Walker, former SMU all-America, accepted the head coaching job of the Akron, Ohio, Vulcans in the Continental Football League last week.

HAPPINESS IS ROGER MARIS

Drysdale Likes Mets

By United Press International

Through their six years of existence the New York Mets have been country cousins for many a pitcher, the Los among them.

Angeles Dodgers' Don Drysdale

The Dodger blazer has been a 20-game winner twice in his past 11 National League seasons but Tuesday night with a 7-0 victory, the Mets became the sixth team he has beaten at least 20 times.

None has made it as easy for him as the Mets. He is 20-3 against them. His log against the Mets is 17 complete games, six of which were shutouts.

Could Be Worse

About the only consolation the Mets can have is that Grover Alexander once beat the Cincinnati Reds 70 times in 19 seasons and Walter Johnson beat the Tigers 66 times in 21 years.

The Mets' other consolation might be that the big Dodger righthander is the stingiest pitcher in the National League

AFL Delays On Naming Cincy

By United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — "It's like getting married. You want to be sure of your partner before accepting her."

That's how Milt Woodward, American Football League president, summed up the delay in naming Cincinnati as the league's 10th team, starting in the 1968 season.

Cincinnati's hopes may be fulfilled today when the AFL expansion committee reconvenes at 10 a.m. EDT.

Woodward admitted the addition of Cincinnati was possible but added, "We're in no hurry."

Gov. James A. Rhodes and Eugene P. Ruehlmann, assistant mayor of Cincinnati, gave a presentation to the AFL committee Tuesday after flying here at the request of Pete Rozelle, pro football commissioner. They said they would be at today's meeting.

"We have no comment at all of what happened," Ruehlmann said not too happily after the day-long sessions broke up early Tuesday night.

Rozelle made the announcement that "No decision has been made by the AFL on Cincinnati." He added, "There's no timetable when the decision will be made. They still want to review Cincinnati's presentation. There will be more discussions tonight and tomorrow. The committee will review the stadium progress, the club's prospective ownerships and various other aspects."

Rozelle, who visited Cincinnati six weeks ago, said this was the first time the city had to make their presentation to the full AFL. Seven of nine AFL owners will have to approve the addition of a franchise, then the NFL will have to ratify it, Rozelle said at the opening of the four-day NFL and AFL meetings.

Three groups are seeing the Cincinnati franchise. They are headed by Paul Brown, former coach of the Cleveland Browns, Cincinnati attorney John Wiethe and Henry Trolie, a Columbus, Ohio, food packer.

Cincinnati is offering a new downtown stadium, capacity 50,000 that is currently under construction and scheduled to be ready in 1969. For next season, the city planned to play at the University of Cincinnati's Nippert Stadium, capacity 34,000.

Cincy Manager Likes That Country Music

CINCINNATI, Ohio (NEA) — Dave Bristol can appreciate the big leagues for more than the fact, the Cincinnati Reds led the National League after his first month as a formally appointed big league manager.

"Every town in the big leagues, I've discovered," says Dave, "has a radio station that plays country music."

This counts for points if you come from Andrews, N.C., you up in the highest Carolina Smokies where fellows like Buck Owens, Eddie Arnold and Johnny Cash turn on a country boy like Bristol.

Dave wears alligator shoes and cuffless trousers commensurate with his new status as a big league manager. He was an interim choice when the Reds fired Don Hefner last July, but they formalized his position last September.

Otherwise, however, he's the same guy who spent 15 seasons riding buses in such places as Welch (W.Va.), Hornell (N.Y.) and Palatka (Fla.) before arriving last summer in Cincinnati with a big plug of tobacco in his jaw.

When the Reds dropped a tough ball game to the New York Mets one night in Shea Stadium, Dave consoled himself the next morning with a trip to Macy's, where he heard Buck Owens and his Buckaroos. The glow was still on him after he returned to his New York hotel suite. That's another advantage of being a big league manager — you travel first class.

"Shoot," says Dave, "we traveled first class in San Diego, maybe," and his face crinkles in a smile, "the suites are bigger up here."

But back to Buck and his Buckaroos.

"No. 1," continues Dave, "they're the biggest. Wish I could play like them. I wore my fingers out trying to learn the guitar."

He pronounces it "GIT-tar." He also says "extree" — but don't let the diction fool you. While he was struggling in the minor leagues, Dave also spent eight years working towards a degree in history.

By United Press International

Tom Nieporte, Mike Fetchick and Harold Kneese headed the list of "name qualifiers" Tuesday in sectional matches for berths in the US Open Golf Tournament.

Nieporte, who won the Bob Hope Desert Classic last winter, shot a 72-74 on separate courses for a 146 to become one of 17 qualifiers at Glen Head and Glen Cove, N.Y.

Fetchick, a former Western Open champion, posted a pair of 72's for a 144 on the New York courses. Kneese, a veteran of the pro tour, qualified with two 75's for 150 at Charlotte, N.C.

A total of 60 golfers passed the local tests Tuesday, including 17 at the New York courses, eight in Charlotte, 10 at Atlanta, Ga., five at Camden, S.C., and 20 at clubs in West Orange, N.J. San Francisco featured a two-day qualification tests.

A record 2,680 golfers began qualifications Monday for the 564 berths in the June 5-6 sectionals. A total of 123

Kranepool Due an Apology

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) —There's a lady in this town who owes a ball player an apology.

The ball player isn't asking for it but it would go a long way toward restoring his faith in human beings.

The entire episode involves an eight-year-old boy, his mother and Ed Kranepool, the big, good-natured first baseman for the Mets.

The boy, a wonderful little fellow, loves the Mets and idolizes Kranepool in particular. He talks about him all the time and even has his hero's picture tacked up on the wall in the hospital where he has been lying two weeks following major

Sister Calls Mets

Unbeknownst to this spunky little boy, his 12-year-old sister called the Mets the other day and told them about her brother in the hospital and how much he loved Ed Kranepool.

Would it be possible for Mr. Kranepool to take time and visit her little brother?

The Mets said they would do everything they could.

They phoned Kranepool at home, where he was taking care of his wife who was ill, and told him of the little boy in the hospital.

They asked the first baseman whether he could make time to visit the youngster who was so crazy about him.

Ball clubs can not force players to make such visits.

Ball clubs can not force players to make other outside appearances, either. The vast majority of such visits and appearances become strictly a matter for the individual player to decide.

Kranepool was concerned about his wife's illness, but he decided to visit the boy in the hospital anyway.

The Mets did nothing to exploit their first baseman's visit. They did not notify any newspapers, television stations or radio stations. Nor did they make sure to send any photographers.

But when hospital officials learned Kranepool was coming through the perfectly routine manner of obtaining the necessary permission for his visit, they felt a little publicity wouldn't hurt.

Recognizes Idol

So contact was made with a newspaper, which sent over a photographer and a newsman.

The little boy in the hospital was wearing a fresh white patch over his right eye but he had no trouble recognizing his idol when Kranepool walked into the room and greeted him.

The boy's joy was indescribable.

He jumped up and down delightedly, reached out to touch the big first baseman and talked about 10,000 different things at once. He was in seventh heaven.

Kranepool felt good, too. Real warm inside, he says. Shortly before the visit was over, the little boy's mother arrived.

She saw the photographer, she saw the newsman and she saw Kranepool.

Mother Attacks Visit

"What are you trying to do," she asked the first baseman outside in the corridor, "capitalize on this for some publicity?" Kranepool didn't know what to say. He said nothing, but he didn't feel real warm, inside anymore. He left a moment or two later.

The big Met first baseman is only 22 years old and is not a parent yet. He understands, however, how anguished the mother must feel about her little boy. Because he understands, he isn't looking for any apology.

You keep thinking, though, how nice it would be if he ever gets one.

Sonics Lose Ground In Texas League Standings

By United Press International

The Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs took a long time to beat the Texas League-leading Amarillo Sonics, but once they learned how to do it they couldn't break the habit.

The cellar-dwelling Spurs lost the first seven games against Amarillo before upending the Sonics Monday night. The Spurs liked the feeling so much they did it again Tuesday night by a score of 4-3.

Arkansas with the aid of two homers by Joe Hague moved into second place with a 10-7 win over Austin, and Albuquerque tripped El Paso 7-4.

Amarillo moved out in front 3-0 in the top of the sixth inning on a three-run homer by Nate Colbert, his ninth of the season.

But Dallas-Fort Worth came right back in their half of the inning with four runs, the big blow being a two-run single by John Felske.

George Sherrod scattered nine hits to pick up his third win in five decisions. Paul Doyle was the loser.

Arkansas' win coupled with El Paso's loss moved the Travelers into second place, 3 1/2 games behind Amarillo.

Hague hit a three-run homer in the third and added a two-run blast in the fifth. Tom Smith also homered for Arkansas, while Adrian Garrett hit one out of the park for Austin.

Jerry Robertson, the third of five Arkansas pitchers, stretched his winning streak by picking up his fourth victory without a loss. Gene Garnell, in relief of Drannon Guinn, took the loss.

Albuquerque, paced by a two-run homer by Ken Washington, jumped off to a 5-0 lead after three innings and held on to win. Edward Everitt scattered eight hits in getting the win.

Jim Spencer and Larry Stubbs homered for El Paso. Felipe Leal was the loser.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Shot in the Back by Politicians

If you contract with a rug merchant to install new carpeting and he bills you also for new drapes and wallpaper, you've been misrepresented.

If you employ a school teacher to instruct your children in reading, writing and arithmetic, and that teacher undertakes to indoctrinate them in United Nations, the merits of LSD, or evolution, you've been misrepresented.

For in these cases, the correct relationship is clear; namely, that when you retain an agent you retain him for a specified purpose. If he exceeds the authority you grant him, at that point he ceases to represent YOU and instead is only representing himself. Once he steps beyond that grant, he is liable for any damage that he does.

Now, with that picture of where correct representation leaves off, let's take a look to see what your elected representatives are doing in Washington. The Wall Street Journal reports that a House committee voted 18-15 to go ahead on a $50 million loan to help Italy's Fiat Company build an auto plant in the Soviet Union. Perhaps you have a son, relative or friend in Vietnam, under these circumstances do you permit your representatives to make a $50 million loan for a Soviet auto plant?

If you didn't give them permission, then where did they get permission? Originally, elected representatives won the confidence of the American people by agreeing to act only as specifically authorized. Even at outset, the agreement was violated. As the years passed, moreover, the violations increased in magnitude until at length the violators were claiming their authority never had been limited, but could be stretched to legalize any act whatsoever. Even the murder of your son in Vietnam by a Russian-built bullet that American tax money paid for!

We say your elected representatives are misrepresenting you.

We say no elected representative can rightfully claim to represent you except on those matters you agree to be represented on.

There is some comfort here in the 18th Congressional District that our representative is currently taking a poll to find out what the people back home want him to do on major issues before the Congress. You ought to take time out to register your wishes on Congressman Bob Price's poll card and tell him how you want to be represented.

We say that if you decide not to be represented at all, the authority of ANYBODY to endeavor to do so against your consent, is reduced to zero.

True, the so-called elected representatives who pay your earnings over to the Soviet Union have power to do so, for the time being. They are like a confidence man who has won his way into your confidence. They have you over a barrel. There's little you can do right now except bear the pain.

However, on the brighter side, if you resolve here and now that no man henceforth shall enjoy your silent assent to represent you against your will, if you are determined to act at every opportunity to withdraw the excessive powers extorted from you by political fraud, then by degrees you will re-establish your control over your own affairs.

Representation can be made responsible. The process is slow, but the record of history demonstrates beyond a doubt that it is possible. We owe that much to the men in Vietnam. They are being shot in the back.

Political 'Charity'

Compassion is a purely personal emotion, and rare is the person who is incapable of experiencing it.

But that which excites the sympathies of one person may leave another cold. It is a matter of individual judgment.

Thus some have been moved to pity demonstrators who are demanding more handouts from welfare offices, and others have experienced a variety of reactions, from indifference to revulsion.

The sympathizers demand compassion, meaning give those who are demanding it the money—or at least its equivalent. The demonstrators will "buy" that—and you can call it whatever you please, but cut the hearts and flowers oratory to a minimum and get down to passing out the moola.

Some people would call it forced welfare or political charity. Therein lies the problem. If the plea were an appeal for true charity—a voluntary giving by the individual, and the only kind of charity in which there is any virtue—there could be no dispute about aid for the unemployed. Each would decide for himself whether he wanted to give and how much.

As it is, when the government has its nose in everybody's business and its hand in everybody's pocket there's a natural tendency to self-preservation that confines feelings of kindness to those loved and respected.

When the taxpayers are forced to contribute to the upkeep of others, without any consideration of the forced contributors' judgment as to whether there is any need, there is a tendency to shun any responsibility for the welfare of strangers. When that happens, people become calloused and indifferent to the misfortunes of others, and like those who demand to be placed on the welfare rolls, the forced contributors are likely to look upon it as the government's business—but with a difference.

Those demanding welfare assistance are prone to be dissatisfied with however much it is they manage to collect; and those from whose pockets the funds have been forced are prone to demand that those benefiting prove unquestionable need, since the more that's paid out the more the producers will be forced to contribute.

All this is further complicated by the fact that those demanding aid know that those who make the decisions on eligibility are not giving out of their own pockets, and why should they be so nosy about how much goes out and how it's used? The taxpayers, on the other hand, are likely to suspect that since the social workers are handing out funds from pockets other than their own they're probably being overly generous.

It's easy to see there isn't a lot of compassion in political "charity".

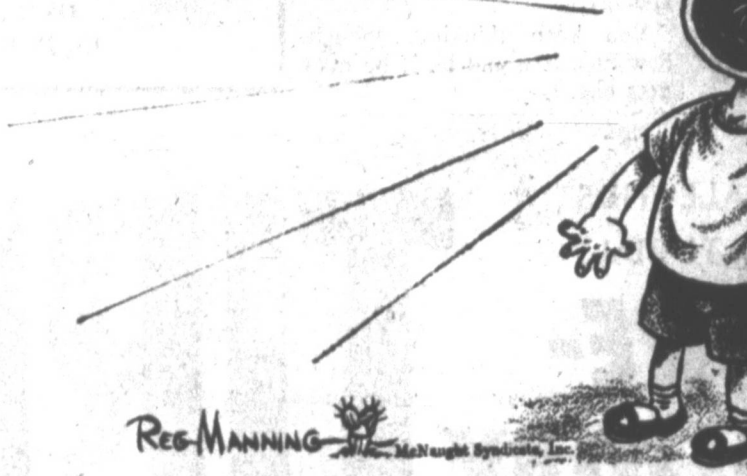

Except, of course, it makes everybody feel sorry for himself. The recipient, because he doesn't get enough; the contributor, because he's forced to shell out from his earnings funds to keep up the lazy and indolent as well as the truly deserving; the welfare director, because whatever he does one or both parties is going to be displeased with how he handles the money.

With everybody sniping at everybody else whatever the result, it can't be called Christian charity.

We do feel compassion for those who are unable to care for themselves, but it's hard to tell who they are.

We also feel sorry for those who find the struggle to provide for themselves increasingly difficult because so much of their income is taken from them and handed over to those who make

Strange Story on Source of Peking's Nuclear Tests Told by Defected Chinese Musician; Intelligence Checking

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — One of Communist China's leading musicians, who defected to the West several months ago, is telling a story as eerie as the sound of some of the oriental music he plays.

He is Ma Su-Tsung, China's foremost violinist and director of the Sino-Soviet Friendship Association, the Chinese-Indonesian Friendship Association, the China-Latin American Friendship Association, and vice president of the China-East Germany Friendship Association.

His tale of international intrigue is about Peking's nuclear capability and how it was acquired.

Ma's story, if true, is one of the most extraordinary to come out of China since Mao Tse-tung launched his cultural revolution and wall posters became a key source of news from that strifetorn country.

Ma's tale is costing U.S. intelligence hundreds of thousands of dollars in worldwide efforts to check its validity. As told by Ma, the story is as follows:

In addition to being a leading musician, Ma was entrusted by Peking with a number of important political tasks until he came under fire on charges of favoring unorthodox music.

Ma's political activities as well as his concerts brought him in close contact with Communist officials in both China and Russia. During visits to Peking, at social gatherings with leading authorities, he overheard conversations in which, according to Ma, they boasted that the West was being hoodwinked regarding China's nuclear capability.

In one discussion, Ma claims, he heard that all of China's five nuclear devices that had been tested had come from France and had not been produced in China.

THE FALLOUT — After Ma told this tale to former Representative Walter Judd, R-Minn., he relayed it to Secretary Rusk when they met at the White House dinner for Nationalist Vice President Yen.

To Judd's surprise the secretary of state replied: "We are getting reports of the same story from Europe. It is being carefully looked into."

Judd has repeated the story to former colleagues in the House, who are now trying to get intelligence agencies to confirm or refute it.

no effort to earn their own way. And we feel sorry for those who are lured by sly politicians into a career of cheating, lying and indolence by the beguiling promises of something for free. The pride and strength of character lost seldom are regained, and often the flaw is passed on from one generation to the next.

Air Conditioning Hikes Efficiency, Cuts Fatigue

About now, many persons are checking their air-conditioners to make sure they are in working order.

It is estimated that at least 17 percent of all American homes now have one or more conditioning units. Air conditioning in a primitive form was used 500 years ago by the Indians who hung wet blankets in their breezeways to cool the temperature in their sleeping quarters.

Long before air-conditioning units were used in homes they were used to stabilize the temperature and moisture in such industries as textile, candy and paper manufacturing.

Important as it is to cool and dehumidify the air in hot weather, it is essential that an air-conditioner permit adjustment of the temperature, fan speed and direction of air flow to prevent blowing directly on persons in the room.

In addition to the comfort provided by the cooling unit the air filter keeps out soot, dust, pollen and germs. Furthermore it has been found to increase the efficiency of workers in offices and factories. It is a distinct boon to persons with asthma and heart disease. It also helps prevent heat rashes and overfatigue due to loss of sleep.

About the only disadvantage to air conditioning is that it sometimes aggravates hay fever. The victims of this disease when exposed to air conditioning may show an increased tendency to develop respiratory infections.

Q—The doctor told my husband to take Darvon for his gouty arthritis. Is this drug harmful or habit-forming? The doctor told him not to take any aspirin. Why?

A—Dextropropoxyphene (Darvon) is not habit-forming and not harmful if taken as prescribed. Although aspirin and other salicylates have been used in the past in the treatment of gout they are no longer given because they interfere with the action of probenecid which is much more effective for treating this disease.

Q—My medical report reads "Transient cerebral ischemia a psychological central nervous system reaction. What does this mean and is there any treatment?"

A—Transient cerebral ischemia is a cutting off of the blood supply to the brain of very short duration. This would result in a reaction that was partly mental and partly physical on the central nervous system (brain and spinal cord). Since the condition was of short duration no treatment is required.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Sometimes the big money doesn't mean anything. Bob Hope asked and received $30,000 and expenses for headlining a show at Indiana University. He gave the $30,000 to the university to establish a scholarship in his name. The "expenses" consisted solely of a single airline ticket from Hollywood to Bloomington, Ind., and return.

Minnesota boasts about being the "Land of Lakes" and rightfully. There are 22 of them within the borders of metropolitan Minneapolis. That's one reason the city was aptly named. "Minne" is the Sioux Indian word for water, and "apolis" means city in Greek.

Today's smile: Art Moger, TV wit and author, tells a story about a farmer who suffered an accident while plowing his field. His faithful horse, noting his plight, somehow got free of the harness and plow and galloped to the nearest town and returned with a doctor. When the farmer recovered a friend observed: "You've certainly got a pretty smart horse." The farmer said: "Well, I'm not so sure. The doctor he brought back was a horse doctor."

One of the greatest repositories of world history in this century is the film library of the old Fox Movietone News in New York City. Something like 90 million feet of silent and sound movie film are catalogued there on every subject imaginable, every person of prominence since Queen Victoria, every big news event. Film segments from there are constantly being used in documentaries, TV specials, industrial and educational productions.

Thoughts while shaving: The U.S. must be suffering from a gigantic headache. Last year Americans spent $400 million for aspirin and 75 per cent of that went for the major advertised brands. Yet, all aspirin must have a basic standard so if you buy an unknown brand you're still getting top quality.

How would you like a $10,000 a year job that included feed, work clothing? Uncle Sam has openings for qualified personnel at weather observation outposts on the Arctic Ocean. Since there is no place to spend any money you can bank almost all of your salary. You'll notice we said "almost." You can bet Uncle Sam will first take a healthy bite through taxes.

General Israel Putnam, the Revolutionary War hero, is credited with introducing cigars in the U.S. He fought with the British at the capture of Havana in 1762 and brought a few boxes of choice stogies back home to Connecticut. Maybe he started the tobacco-growing industry in the Nutmeg State too!

Daylight Saving Time was originally suggested by Benjamin Franklin, but no one took his idea seriously. It remained for William Willet, a London contractor and builder, to advocate turning the clock ahead an hour in the spring and back an hour in the fall to save daylight time. No one paid much attention to him either, until World War I when the British Parliament thought it might be a good war measure.

The Cleveland (Ohio) PLAIN DEALER reported in a story: "Clad in a red bathrobe and slippers he dangled his fingertips from the window-sill of his apartment." Sounds like a "come-on" to us.

Country Editor speaking: "There may not be any exact formula for success, but you're surely headed for failure when you try to please everybody."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Aluminum was once a rare metal valued highly by royalty, says The World Almanac. Napoleon III of France used aluminum spoons and his infant son played with an aluminum rattle. Called the "silver from clay," the metal sold for about $545 a pound. Today, a pound of aluminum sells for about 25 cents.

U.S. Aids All Viet Injured And Ill, Even Viet Cong

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — An American nurse, in Can Tho for just a few days, was preparing to get back into the South Vietnam countryside. Her job was to go from village to village in the Delta, wherever they had a small hospital or first aid station and do whatever was to be done.

She helped whoever needed helping.

Her principal work was in an area where large sections were under Communist Viet Cong control. Presumably, a good many of the sick, injured and wounded were Viet Cong and men and women working with the Viet Cong. She didn't ask. "We don't know and we really don't care," she said. "If a person is sick we help them."

She is employed by the U.S. aid group in Vietnam.

Whenever the newspapers report people collecting first aid equipment for Hanoi or of men readying a boat to go to North Vietnam and volunteer as combat medics because of the bombings in the north, this nurse comes to mind.

The huge refugee stations in South Vietnam give medical aid to everyone, Viet Cong as well as men and women loyal to the government.

A major U.S. objective in South Vietnam is the establishment of a first aid station in every village. These care for all sick and injured without distinction.

Through the International Red Cross, free world nationals and organizations — including churches — are contributing considerable sums for aid to those hurt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

It is a terrible thing that civilians are killed or maimed in war.

(It is a terrible thing that soldiers get killed, too. They also are human beings. Their wives, their fathers and mothers and their children also cry.)

But those who speak too loudly about the plight of the North Vietnamese civilians and the Viet Cong as the result of bombings are not being honest with themselves or with the rest of us.

It's strange. The story of a Vietnamese hamlet burned when U.S. troops hit back at heavy shooting from houses within that hamlet is retold again and again. What's left out is that immediately afterward U.S. medics assisted the local wounded.

H. L. Hunt Writes

THIRTY-NINE STATES OF THE Republic would be severely penalized by adoption of the direct voting plan of electing the President.

These are the states whose votes, even under the present Electoral College system with its unit rule giving all a state's electoral votes to the high man, could be overridden by votes in the 11 largest states. But at present the 39 at least have one presidential elector for each member of the U. S. Senate and House. They would lose this advantage under the direct voting plan.

Great concern for protection of small states against the larger ones was expressed by the Founders of Freedom as they struggled to write a Federal Constitution. The Electoral College system they devised was based on principles they regarded as absolutely essential to the establishment of a Republic.

This system has been changed in practice from its original concept. But this does not mean that the Electoral College ought to be abolished, which would be the effect of direct voting, for President and Vice President. Reform, not abolition, is needed.

The Congressional District Plan is by far the best of any proposed for reforming the Electoral College. It would give the voter in the smallest state the same power — no more, no less — as the voter in the largest state. Every state, large or small, would have one Elector for each congressional district and two from the state at large. The voting on Electors would be by districts, and each candidate for President would receive only those electoral votes he won at the polls.

hundreds of hamlets — not by accident. They brag about it and the number of civilians they've killed and exaggerated the numbers. In their propaganda they boast that in four years they've "destroyed" 7,559 hamlets. They don't even claim to have aided the civilians they have wounded.

Walk through a Vietnamese hamlet that has been burned to the ground by the Communist guerrillas as an object lesson. Look at the dead and maimed bodies of men, women and children thrown out by the blast when a bus has been bombed by Viet Cong terrorists. These civilians were killed deliberately. The wounded have not been helped.

However, men, women or children die, they are dead. But it does make a difference how they die.

Bombers drop bombs accidentally on U.S. or friendly troops or friendly hamlets. They miss targets in North Vietnam and civilians die.

But when VC terrorists strike — he does it first-hand. He knows what he is doing when he burns a hamlet, a school, a first aid station or blasts a bus filled with women and children.

'Gagging' Is No Problem In Impression-Taking

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: "I need a partial plate but I gag so much it's impossible to take an impression. Is there a sedative I can take, or could I be given pentothal for a few minutes while the impression is taken?"

ANSWER — Gag reflexes are so pronounced in some patients that they are triggered by the slightest stimulus. Gagging may even begin at home by merely thinking about impression-taking.

But it has never been an insurmountable problem. Sedatives or tranquilizers taken the night prior to and the day of your dental visit are of great help. Of course, they should be taken only on advice of physician or dentist.

There are many technical things that dentists can do to prevent gag reflex from interfering with taking perfect impressions. An impression tray can be specially cut and fitted to the shape of arch, size of mouth and position of teeth. Only those areas to be reproduced by impression need be covered. Gagging areas are avoided.

Gagging areas, hard and soft palates mainly, can be desensitized by swabbing them with topical "novocaine." These topical anesthetics act quickly and sharply reduce feeling in these tissues.

Patients must be told exactly what to expect. Anxiety of patient can be relieved by reassurance that an impression can be taken accurately and quickly without causing them to choke or swallow impression material. Also important are instructions to patient in proper breathing, position of tongue, and making a conscious effort to completely relax.

Impression materials are now available that "set" in less than 30 seconds. Some are tasteless and some flavored slightly with spearmint or peppermint. They even look good. Someone said they look "good enough to eat," and "they'd make a delightful looking frosting on a cake."

Sitting patient in an upright position lessens actual and imagined feeling of choking and of impression material running down the throat.

Wit and Whimsy

The young doctor, a strong advocate of early ambulation, was explaining it to a patient about to have his appendix removed.

Dr. Black — A few hours after the operation, I want you to sit on the edge of your bed and dangle your legs. After lunch, I want you to stand on your feet for a few minutes. By dinner time, I want you to be walking about your room.

Mr. Jones (sighed wearily) — Doctor, do you mind if I lie down for the operation?

Humor is like a needle and thread — deftly used it can patch up just about anything.

Some blondes who can't add certainly can distract.
