Farewell Dinner Held for Pampa SA Commander

Pampa said an official farewell to Capt. and Mrs. Robert Tritton, Salvation Army commanders here for the past two years, at a dinner last night in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

Captain Tritton has been transferred effective Aug. 1 to the Army's officer training school in Atlanta, Ga., where he will be an instructor.

Lt. Col. Paul Thronburg, S. A. commander in Texas, attended last night's affair and announced that the Trittons' successors in Pampa will be the Capt. and Mrs. Jessie Duncan who are being transferred to Pampa from the Oak Cliff Army post in Dallas.

Thronburg, in a brief talk in which he expressed confidence the Salvation Army's building program in Pampa would be completed, presented a plaque to David Fatheree whose team raised the largest amount of money in the recent building drive. The team turned in $18,000 in cash and pledges, or 140 per cent of its goal. Fatheree gave a history of the local Salvation Army since it first came to Pampa in 1929.

David Tucker, representing the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Pampa, presented Captain and Mrs. Tritton with Top O' Texas certificates of appreciation.

Rev. Harry Vanderpool, former Pampa minister and now pastor of the Polk St. Methodist Church in Amarillo, was the principal speaker.

Vanderpool stated that while there is very little good news and so much bad news in the world today he still believed it is a good world.

"I believe this still is a good world and that there still is hope," he said. "There is still hope when someone is concerned and when one is willing to contribute his energy to make it a better world."

He pointed to the Salvation Army as a prime example of someone being concerned. "The world is in awful shape," (See FAREWELL, Page 3)

Death Toll Rises To 23 in Riot Torn City

DETROIT (UPI) — Federal troops took control of the nation's fifth largest city, ravaged by its worst racial disturbance in a generation. Snipers firing from the smoking ruins of Negro riot areas were answered with salvos from tanks and machineguns.

The death toll in the three day riot stood at 23 — at least three of them twice — and more than 1,500 persons were injured. The wounded included police and National Guardsmen arguing a force of 1,500 paratroopers who moved into the city Monday night under orders of President Johnson.

Another 3,200 Army regulars were on standby alert at Selfridge Air Force base 30 miles outside of town.

Authorities today struggled to bring a semblance of normalcy to Detroit, but the state of emergency imposed by Michigan Gov. George Romney remained in effect. That included an all-night curfew and a ban on the sale of beer, liquor and gasoline.

Brilliant sunshine with temperatures in the 60s broke over the city where the devastation of racial insurrection began Sunday morning with a "routine" police raid on a Negro after-hours saloon.

Before the federal troops moved in, bands of Negroes opened fire on four police precinct stations and a National Guard command post. One of the rioting wolf packs rattled away with machinegun fire.

A National Guard officer said Detroit's insurrection was changing from mass destruction and looting to armed combat waged by Negro outlaws.

Today, vast sections of the Motor City appeared to have undergone air raids. Little of the city's 139-square-mile metropolitan area was unaffected. Damage was estimated at more than $200 million.

Sporadic sniper fire was reported during the morning. But the thousands of police, guardsmen and paratroopers of the 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions for the first time were answering the hidden gunmen bullet for bullet.

Cyrus Vance (former deputy defense secretary and civilian chief of the federal troops here, toured the city early today and said that "on the whole things appear to be relatively quiet."

Romney remained in the downtown area. The city opened its borders with Canada for the first time since the rioting began. The bridge and tunnel linking Detroit with Windsor, Ont., across the Detroit River were operating normally.

Most small businesses remained closed and traffic into the downtown section was light. Paratrooper truck convoys joined private automobiles moving along the John C. Lodge Expressway linking downtown with the suburbs.

A white man was shot and killed as a sniper when he ignored a National Guardsmen's order to stop as he climbed down from a rooftop. At least one white looter was also killed. Some whites have been seen looting and hurling firebombs in Negro areas, but police said the vast majority of rioters were Negroes.

Early today, snipers fired into an East Side street from a building. "I'll give you 10 to get out of the building," shouted a Guard commander—aboard a tank.

No one emerged. The guardsman counted loudly and quickly, then opened up with heavy machinegun fire. Bullets shattered the building and five men walked out and were arrested.

Racial disturbances also erupted Monday night and early today in nearby Pontiac, in Flint, and in Grand Rapids, Mich. Trouble also was reported in Toledo, Ohio, 70 miles to the south of Detroit.

Two Negroes were killed in Pontiac, 30 miles north of Detroit, one by a state legislator protecting his store with a shotgun. In Flint, about 70 miles north of Detroit, Negro Mayor Floyd McCree joined police in attempting to quell sporadic rock throwing and fire-bombing.

Authorities in Grand Rapids, the state's second largest city about 150 miles west of Detroit, banned the sale of liquor after roving gangs of Negro youths went on a rampage over a wide

HOW WILL IT ALL END? — Nobody knows for sure and scenes like this one in Detroit, where over 23 persons have been killed since Sunday are growing more prevalent every day. Race riots have taken their toll throughout the United States.

Poor Eyesight, But What a Way To Watch TV

LONDON (UPI) — Independent television commentator Henry Blodgett, announcing a cricket match Monday, told viewers there was a man on a balcony overlooking the ground wearing only a bathing costume.

"That's the way to watch cricket," he said. The cameras zoomed in for a close look. Then fellow sports commentator Crawford White said, "careful Henry. That's a woman."

At that moment, the beautiful blonde sunbathing in a topless suit dashed inside her house.

Kid Pony Show Kicks-Off Rodeo

First activity in the 23rd annual Top O' Texas Rodeo celebration is the Kid Pony Show and miniature rodeo. When entries closed in the rodeo office before noon today, 160 youths were entered from several area towns.

Tickets for the youths' 7:30 p.m. performance today at Recreation Park are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults, and may be purchased at the gate after 5 p.m. An earlier matinee performance was free.

Youths are entered from Pampa, Amarillo, White Deer, Phillips, Borger, Canadian, Wheeler, Shamrock, Mobeetie, Miami, Morris, Stinnett, Spearman, Panhandle and four Oklahoma towns, Elk City, Vinson, Reynold and Mooreland.

Kid Pony Show directors are Tennie Reynolds and Bill McIntire. Announcer for the show is Warren Hasse.

Contestants in the annual rodeo parade should meet at Coronado Center at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow for the parade to start at 4 p.m. Parade route will be from Hobart St. at the Coronado Center to downtown Pampa.

Top O' Texas rodeo events will start at 8 p.m. at Recreation Park with Cy Tallon of Denver, Colo., as announcer for the cowboy and cowgirl contests tomorrow through Saturday nights.

The rodeo dance will start at 9 each night in National Guard Armory with rodeo headliner Judy Lynn and her band to play dance music.

City Okays Contract To Sell First Lake Water

Pampa today entered into its first contract under the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to sell water acquired from Lake Meredith.

The city commission at its regular meeting this forenoon approved an agreement to sell raw water from the Pampa line to the Dorchester Gas Producing Co., located on the Borger Hwy. about 12 miles west of Pampa.

Under the agreement, the company will take not in excess of 150,000 gallons per day at a cost of 13 1/2 cents per thousand gallons.

The term of the contract will extend from Jan. 1, 1968, through Dec. 31, 1972. The company will have an option to extend the agreement for five consecutive one-year periods.

Dorchester will pay the city $615.93 a month on a monthly basis beginning next Jan. 1.

The company also is to bear all expenses of making connection to the Pampa line under CRMWA and city supervision.

Mayor Jim Nation said today, while the Dorchester contract is the first entered into, city officials are engaged in the "talking stage" with several other companies for the sale of Canadian River water.

Final reading was given today to two ordinances for removal of parking meter heads and establishing time limits and parking zones in downtown Pampa.

The new parking regulations will become effective Aug. 1 and run on a trial test basis through Dec. 31 this year.

Bids were opened today for the purchase of water mains, valves, fittings and sewer pipe and for the purchase of traffic lights and accessories to be installed at Harvester and Duncan Sts. A dozen bids were received on the waterworks equipment and three for the traffic lights. Contracts will be awarded at the next commission meeting in two weeks.

Authorization was given to the mayor to enter into contract with the State Highway Department. (See CITY, Page 3)

Mao's Regime Is Facing Collapse

LONDON (UPI)—The regime of Mao Tse-tung in Peking was reported today in "very serious trouble" and in danger of outright collapse.

Diplomatic reports said the authority of the central government was fading fast, threatening the country with relapse into war-lord rule and even civil war.

The cultural revolution—a strange and undefinable phenomenon—has gone wrong, and authoritative quarters have warned that the next two months may bring its all-out failure—that could mark the collapse of the Mao regime.

The army on whom Mao has relied as the crucial element in his strange battle appears to have let him down. Its intervention has proved markedly cautious and ineffective and latest reports suggested that the army was in effect taking up a virtually neutral attitude.

Sources in Hong Kong today said Red army troops at the birthplace city of the modern Chinese revolution appeared on the brink of full revolt against Mao.

Mao's Peking Radio admitted it is a "serious situation."

Its broadcasts said Mao's supporters at the central China city of Wuhan are defending their leader in the national power struggle "at the cost of their lives and blood."

Military intelligence analysts at this Western listening post said the main military faction there is led by the district Red army commander, Gen. Chen Tsai-tao. Chen was reported strongly resisting the party-government-military purge Mao is waging.

Electric Data Center Is Being Planned for Personal Labeling

Much more is known about the personal affairs of each and every resident of Gray County than they would imagine.

In the official records of Federal, state and local bureaus and in the private files of other organizations is a mass of data covering the social and economic lives of each local person.

Where he was born, how much education he has had, his marital setup, his earning capacity, where he lived previously, whether he owns his home or rents, whether or not his wife works, if he owns a washing machine, his police record, if he has one, how much he pays in taxes—these and many other facts about him are all in the records.

What brings this matter to the fore at this time is a plan, now under consideration in Washington, for an electronic data center that would bring together and put into computers the wealth of information that is now spread among many governmental agencies in Washington and elsewhere.

One such agency is the Social Security Administration. Its files contain information on the earning and employment records of some 17,200 local people who are now holding jobs, or are self-employed or are retired.

Another source is the FBI, which has the fingerprints of approximately 14,600 residents of Gray County on tap. Included are the fingerprints of government employees, of men and women who have served in the armed forces, of people who have been charged with felonies and of many others.

Much information concerning local individuals has also emerged from the surveys made by the Census Bureau. The 534 people in the area who have been divorced and the 180 who are foreign-born are thus pinpointed.

This data would be fed into the computers, together with the mass of other facts about the local population.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — W. E. Hutton & Co. says it expects the Dow Jones industrial average to run into "heavy resistance" at the 915 level and doubts that even the current market momentum can achieve a "successful breakthrough" this summer. The investment firm says it has turned "less aggressive" regarding trading recommendations.

Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis says recent market strength probably reflected anticipation of a business upturn in the last half of the year. The analyst, however, says that while investors probably have discounted disappointing 1967 corporate profits, they might not have discounted a tax hike of more than six percent, a prolonged auto strike and escalation of the Vietnam war.

Bache & Co. Inc. observes that the country's "real" economic growth, based on an analysis of the gross national prospects of an accelerating anticipated and strengthens the prospects of an accelerating October December economy. The company says this growth has helped fuel the move into the cyclical blue chip stocks and should be the major impetus for further market improvement.

Death of Anti-Vietnam Demonstrator Political?

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A 24-year-old anti-Vietnam war demonstrator police dragged away from appearances by Vice President Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk last spring was shot to death Sunday.

Some fellow peace demonstrators termed it "a political killing." But police and the mother of the victim said it appeared George John Vizard IV was slain by a bandit who robbed the grocery where Vizard worked.

John Moses, a backer, although not a member of the Students for a Democratic Society, said he would take a delegation today to the police station to ask what progress had been made in finding the killer.

Tickets for Price Barbeque Go On Sale Tomorrow

Tickets for the Saturday barbeque honoring Congressman Bob Price will be on sale outside the Top O' Texas Rodeo gates this week, Jean Martindale announced.

The barbeque will be held from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the County Barn prior to the last night of the rodeo.

Following the barbeque, Con. Price will lead the Grand Entry of the rodeo.

The schedule has been arranged so that people can eat, meet their congressman and see the rodeo, according to Martindale, vice president of the Gray County young Republicans who are sponsoring the fete.

The county barn is within easy walking distance of the Rodeo grounds, he said.

Tickets will be available at the door and children under 11 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Nostalgic About 1967?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This may be difficult to believe, but some day people will feel nostalgic about 1967.

Playing an old record by "The Rolling Stones" will evoke the same bittersweet sentimentality that Glenn Miller and Tommy Dorsey now arouse in you and me.

Rheumy-eyed old soldiers will reminisce about Vietnam, visitors to museums will gaze fondly at exhibits of mini-skirts and veterans of the New Jersey riots will hold annual reunions. But I think the really big moment will come when members of the current generation begin having grandchildren who will crawl upon their knees and say "Gramps, tell us about the hippies."

Popular Movement
"Well, son," old gramps will say, "when I was a young man there were bands of hippies roaming freely about the United States."
"If you visited one of their watering places, like the Haight Asbury section of San Francisco, you might see thousands of them milling about in the streets and parks."

"Mostly they were concentrated along the West Coast and casern seaboard. But I once spotted a big male hippie as far inland as Wichita, Kan."
"How could you tell it was a male, gramps?"
"Its draft carú was still burning."
"Were hippies dangerous?"
"Not very. They looked pretty wild, but actually they were more frightened of us than we were of them. If you approached downwind you could get as close to them as from here to that wall. A few would let you walk right up and pet them."
"What did they live on?"
"They lived on pot and LSD. There was an abundant supply in those days. When one pad got busted, they would move on to another."

Natural Enemies Win
"What caused the hippies to disappear from their natural habitats?"
"The fuzzi, mostly hippies and the fuzzi were natural enemies. Besides that, property owners didn't want hippies roaming around loose. They claimed it was unsanitary."
"Didn't anybody start a save-the-hippies movement?"
"Oh, sure. Conservation officials warned that if harassment of hippies didn't stop they would become extinct. So a bill was introduced in Congress to establish hippie reservations. It was felt that if they were confined to reservations they could become self-sufficient."

Simplicity in Life Keynote In Service for Poet Sandburg

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (UPI)—Simplicity was the keynote of the golden years of Carl Sandburg. Simplicity in life marked his final rites Monday.

Only a few select friends and close relatives were attending funeral services at 1 p.m. CDT at St. John in the Wilderness Church in this small mountain town where Sandburg lived in seclusion.

America's "poet of the people" and Pulitzer Prize-winning biographer of Lincoln died quietly Saturday at the age of 89. Death was caused by an apparent heart attack.

Sandburg's body lay in state Sunday in the community where he raised goats and spent the last years of his life.

Following the private funeral services, the body of the poet will be sent to Atlanta for cremation. Burial will take place later in Galesburg, Ill., where Sandburg was born on Jan. 6, 1878.

Sandburg's widow, Lillian, was at his side when death came.

Sandburg was eulogized in many churches Sunday in the Blue Ridge Mountain communities surrounding Flat Rock.

In his native Illinois, where he was poet laureate, Gov. Otto Kerner said Sandburg's death "leaves a void in the cultural world that can never be filled."

President Johnson said the poet "needs no epitaph."

"It is written for all times in the fields, cities, the face and the heart of the land he loved and the people he celebrated and inspired," the President said.

Sandburg's best known poems were "Chicago" and "Fog," both classics to American schoolchildren. He won the Pulitzer Prize for history in 1940 for the last four volumes of his six-volume biography of Abraham Lincoln.

Taylor, Clifford Confer on Viet War

SAIGON (UPI)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and fellow White House adviser Clark M. Clifford conferred with American leaders at the start of an Asian tour reported aimed at raising allied troop strength here and sounding out a Vietnam war summit conference.

Clifford, chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, told newsmen upon the pair's arrival from Washington earlier today, "We are here to convey back to the President the views, suggestions and opinions" of U.S. allies in the war.

He said they are "possibly looking forward to some further meeting of heads of government at a later date."

Taylor, a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs and a former envoy to Saigon, said, "We are not asking anything from anybody." But he said it was obvious troop strength would be discussed in his talks here, and in Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and South Korea.

According to official reports, the allies have more than 1.1 million troops in Vietnam including 460,000 Americans and 610,000 South Vietnamese. The generals want more.

U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara visited Saigon two weeks ago. After his report in Washington, President Johnson was said to have agreed to a limited increase in American troops. Australia and the Philippines promptly indicated they probably would not increase their forces.

GUARD FACES JIBES — Negro youths in the Plymouth Avenue area of Minneapolis hurl taunts at National Guardsmen brought in to keep the peace after three nights of rioting and looting. Some 600 to 700 Guardsmen have been mobilized to back up police in preventing further violence in the Twin Cities.

Congress Not Convinced Tax Increase Coming

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has failed so far to convince Congress that a tax increase is absolutely essential. A UPI poll of the 25-member House Ways & Means Committee and the 17-man Senate Finance Committee discloses that Johnson has not yet got the votes to win congressional passage of a tax boost. A majority of members on each committee said they want to be convinced that a tax increase is necessary. Unless both committees are persuaded, passage of a tax bill is impossible.

Of the 15 Democrats on Ways & Means, only five who responded to the survey said—with qualifications—that they would vote for an increase if Johnson submitted a bill. Of the 10 Republicans on the key House committee, eight demanded cuts in domestic spending before even considering whether a tax hike was necessary.

Hard To Avoid
Rep. Joel T. Broymill, R-Va., said, "I don't see how a tax increase can be avoided with a $20 billion deficit facing us." But Rep. James B. Utt, R-Calif., said he was opposed to a tax increase and believed the administration could reduce spending to avoid one.

Only three members of the Finance Committee, Senators Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., and Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said a tax hike was needed. Of the other 14 who responded, 12 said they were either generally opposed, wanted more information from the administration, or had not made up their minds.

At a July 18 news conference, Johnson issued another call for a 6 per cent across-the-board surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes. But he added there may have to be "adjustments."

Those adjustments could mean an income tax proposal calling for a higher surcharge, perhaps as much as 10 per cent. Congressmen Hold Out

The UPI survey brought out into the open what many congressmen have been saying privately: that Johnson has not sold them yet on a tax hike despite a budget deficit that some administration officials say could go as high as $24 billion.

Many Democrats on Ways & Means follow the lead of their chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who wants to examine thoroughly the administration's arguments for higher taxes before committing himself publicly.

Nearly all the members surveyed said that a buildup in troops in Vietnam—standing alone—was not reason enough for a tax increase.

Among those who are not convinced on the need for higher taxes is Senate Democratic whip Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee.

"I'm not at all convinced a big tax increase should be voted," Long said. "But I'm not committing myself."

Cut Government Spending
Rep. John W. Byrnes, Wis., senior Republican on Ways & Means, said, "I've never foreclosed the need for a tax increase. Raising taxes is not the only answer, though it's half a step. It's essential that, if we're going to ask our people to tighten their belts, particularly regarding expenditures on Vietnam, the government should tighten its belts on services and domestic spending."

Traditionally, congressmen are never for a tax increase and when they do vote for one it's reluctantly. Several felt the economy was not strong enough to sustain a tax increase, which probably would not take effect until next Jan. 1.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., saw "no evidence that the economy is strong enough to sustain a tax increase at this time and I see no evidence of a necessity for a tax increase."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Victor and vanquished in the Middle East are learning the high cost of war.

If United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser had won, he would have had the Middle East at his feet.

As it is, he probably owes the fact that he continues in office to new, massive aid from the Russians who in turn face increased grumbling among other members of the Communist bloc against their share of the cost.

As for the Israelis, they also face mounting problems but in the main theirs are happier ones consisting of jammed hotels, a tremendous influx of visitors whose buses clog the highway between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem and others attendant upon union of the old Jordanian and Israeli parts of the city.

Cost Soviets Dearly
The cost to the Soviet Union also has been high. Losses in Soviet-supplied equipment, either as battle casualties or to Arab misuse, have been estimated as high as $2 billion in the U.A.R. alone.

Cairo reports say that by acting quickly to replace an undisclosed percentage of U.A.R. losses, the Soviet Union has regained much of the Arab good will it lost when it refused to intervene militarily in the conflict.

Up until a year ago when the U.S. program of food aid to the U.A.R. expired, it was estimated that half the caloric intake of Egypt's city population came from American supplies of wheat, chickens and other farm products.

Faced with a mounting stream of abuse from Nasser, the United States did not renew the agreement and Nasser was forced to dip into fastdwindling supplies of foreign exchange to buy food elsewhere.

Current estimates place his deficit this year at around $500 million with no way to cover it.

Reserves Are Down
Foreign reserves are said to be down to around $100 million. So long as the Suez Canal remains closed, Nasser is losing $575,000 a day. Huge losses also will be incurred in tourism which in better times brought in $70 million annually.

Since Nasser has more than exhausted his Western credits, that seems to place it squarely up to the Soviets and their allies.

Their grain crops were better than usual this year but probably not all that good and certainly not so good that vast food shipments can be sent to the U.A.R. without serious grumbling at home.

Among East European nations, this grumbling already has begun. The nations which blindly followed Soviet policy in the United Nations now are having second thoughts, and are said to have told the Russians so at the recent Communist summit meeting in Budapest.

For the moment the Russians are playing along with Nasser, but neither they nor Nasser have yet received the full bill.

No Solution Seen To End Air Crashes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is "no single dramatic solution" to the problem of aircraft collisions, an administration aviation expert told congressional safety investigators.

David D. Thomas, deputy chief of the Federal Aviation Administration, gave this assessment as the House Commerce Committee opened hearings on the collision of a jetliner and a private craft over North Carolina last Wednesday.

Thomas said it would be about five years before all commercial airliners could be equipped with anti-collision devices and because of high costs, even longer before most smaller craft would be using them.

He said it would take several years and cost several billion dollars—in airplane equipment, ground facilities and personnel—to bring all air traffic under radar control.

"There are quite a few things that can be done, but there is no single dramatic solution."

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — We take you today to a special clinic being held for sports announcers and commentators of the XYZ television network.

The guest speaker is that great, all-around, former college and professional athlete, "Four-fingered" Wilson, who is deeply loved and admired because of his clever use of bad grammar, his nostalgic stories and his loyalty to the teams he covers.

No one will ever forget the time he lost his right thumb in a bar-room brawl that began when a fan demanded to know why he didn't stop buttering up the teams and players and report the truth instead.

We give you good old Wilson, the pride of athletes, team managements, networks and sponsors everywhere:

Lesson For Newcomers
Good afternoon. I suppose the reason I am addressing you today is that I have lasted so long in this business and I have a few lessons to pass on.

The first and main reason for my success is that I have never forgotten that fine old line: "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing."

This thought, this design for living, has sustained me in times of stress. Whenever fans, viewers and newspaper writers have criticized me for covering up a golfer's bum shot or a third-rate football game or a dull baseball contest, I am renewed in my purpose by reminding myself of that line: "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing."

It has given me a good life: expensive cars, beautiful homes, fine foods and liquor—all the things that count. If I have had to give up a few personal beliefs along the way, well, it is a tough life and I have tried to put those thoughts behind me, and it has been worth it.

Not A Reporter
After all, I am not a reporter anyway. I have never been paid by a newspaper to cover the news. My money has always come either from the team I was talking about, or from a network that was trying to sell the event to the public to get a good rating and be able to charge advertisers more money. So I keep remembering: "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing."

I suggest that you fellows never forget that you are not in the same boat as sports writers. After all, they are not responsible to networks, to teams, to sponsors, to athletes. All they have to do is tell what really happens, and that's a whole lot easier than what we have to do.

In short, if I were you, I wouldn't think of myself as a reporter. That could lead to danger. I don't really know how to describe what we do. I wouldn't exactly call it publicity. Not exactly. But on the other hand, I wouldn't forget that fine old line: "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing."

Hearing on LBJ's Civil Rights Bill Is Called Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first hearing on President Johnson's 1967 civil rights bill was called off Monday by a Senate subcommittee because the chief witness, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, was too busy with the Detroit riot crisis.

A spokesman for the constitutional rights subcommittee expressed hope Clark could appear as the leadoff witness Tuesday.

ON THE TOWN
LONDON (UPI) — Lynda Bird Johnson strolled into London's Soho district Sunday, with a U.S. Secret Service bodyguard on one side of her and a Scotland Yard agent on the other, it was reported today.

She went into a well known Italian restaurant and the bodyguards moved to another table as friend George Hamilton, the actor, actor Peter Lawford, singer Sammy Davis Jr. and others joined her.

CATTLE ROAM
SEGUIN (UPI) — Six head of cattle ran today from a locker plant and roamed the downtown area until police and locker plant employees rounded them up.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are a retired couple with grown, married children. About a year ago we took a 3-year-lease on an expensive apartment. The main reason we took it was because they won't rent to anyone with small children, and we like it nice and quiet.

Across the hall lives another retired couple. They have a married daughter who has two little wildcats for kids, and every time this daughter has a fight with her husband, she packs up and runs home to Mama with her wildcats. She has been at her mother's more than with her husband lately.

They just left yesterday after a six-day stay, which nearly drove my poor husband crazy. Those kids started yelling and screaming at 6 a.m., and didn't stop until 10 p.m. Now my neighbor tells me her daughter and her husband have smoked the peace pipe and are going on a second honeymoon for 3 weeks, so she (the grandmother) is sleeping the wildcats.

I complained to my landlord, and he said the children are "guests," not tenants, so there is nothing he can do about it. Please give me some advice.

GOING CRAZY DEAR GOING: Talk to a lawyer and let him look over your lease. If it has a loophole large enough for two wildcats

Group Celebrates Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hogsett, 712 S. Finley, had a family reunion recently in the home of their son Derrel B. Hogsett, 2356 Aspen Drive.

All seven of their children and 27 of their 30 grandchildren attended. The family game of Rook was played. Each member of the family was given a mimeographed copy of the John Hogsett, Wesley Jacobs, and the Ada Lang family trees.

A family bridal shower was given recently for the Hogsett's granddaughter, Judy Gern Hon, and her fiance Ricky Harmon who are to be married Sept. 3 in the chapel on the campus of West Texas State University in Canyon, where both are students.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Your columnist had the misfortune to have a bad fall Saturday in the kitchen. It was a few hours before I could locate a doctor and get to Highland General Hospital for X-rays, which showed no bones broken, but the hip joint was badly sprained. After staying several days in the hospital I was able to get around pretty well, and am at home and improving slowly.

The girls down at the Senior Center were kind enough to get some news for me Thursday for the weekly news to go out as usual. Thanks, girls.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lawrence spent a weekend attending the Veterans of World War I state convention in Brownwood.

Guests last week of Mrs. Myrtle Enloe were her daughter, Mrs. Anna Sue Davies and grandchildren, Drew, Mark, and Donna Elizabeth Davies. This week, Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Anna Sue Davies and children are visiting in Harlan, Ky., with Mr. Davies relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchins and sons visited Mr. and Mrs. Lee Meadow and other relatives.

Mrs. Myrtle Enloe left Friday by bus for a weekend vacation and was expected to return Monday.

Mrs. Elma Bailey spent July 4th holidays visiting her son, Bob Bailey and family in

Area Residents Attend Reunion

SKELLYTOWN — Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Beigle, Patricia and Melvin Wayne of Skellytown, recently spent a week end at Iowa Park where they attended a family reunion honoring her mother, Mrs. L. L. Chesher on her 81st birthday. All of her children attended.

Others attending were Messrs. and Mrs. Frank Hewitt of Skellytown, Howard Patton of Pampa, Bob McClure of Afton, W. B. Vestal of Iowa Park, and George Chesher of Electric.

to squeeze through for an indefinite period of time, you are out of luck. Otherwise you may have a case.

DEAR ABBY: I get sick to my stomach every time I look out of our window and see the little 6-year-old neighbor boy mowing their lawn with a power lawn mower. And with SNEAKERS on no less!

These people would not take kindly to any warnings from well-meaning neighbors.

Perhaps if you were to point out the dangers, it might get their attention, and save their child the loss of a foot. Or perhaps even his life. Thanks, Abby.

DEAR FAN: Small matter whether your neighbors would "take kindly" to your warnings. Warn them anyhow. And warn the boy, too.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is on the road 3 or 4 days a week, but he is always home on the week-ends. We have a year old baby and another on the way. I have been warned by good friends that I had better travel with my husband if I want to save my marriage.

I suppose my mother would keep my child if I asked her to, but I don't think that would be right. And if I were to go on the road with my husband, it would be hard for me in my condition to go from hotel to hotel and do all that traveling. My husband thinks I should stay close to home. I would appreciate your advice.

DEAR MIXED: I agree with your husband. I don't know what your "good friends" are trying to tell you, but if you have to go on the road with your husband in order to "save" your marriage, that road will be a blind alley.

The Pampa Daily News All About Women TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1967 60th YEAR

Miss Nidiffer, Robert Brogdin Wed in Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Nancy Jo Nidiffer and Robert L. Brogdin pledged wedding vows in a 7:30 p.m. double-ring service performed July 8 in the First Christian Church by the Rev. J. W. Doka, pastor here.

Miss Nidiffer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Nidiffer, 2205 N. Christy. Mr. Brogdin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Brogdin, 913 S. Sumner.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white Bridal satin and lace topped with an over-embossed of lace edged with crystal beads. The high rounded neckline featured pearl trim with long sleeves tapering to petal points over the hands.

The white satin bell skirt was accented with pearl - applied lace roses and featured a lace chapel train edged in crystal beads. The dress was designed and made by the bride's mother.

Her elbow-length tulle veil was held to a lace rose head-piece edged with pearls. She carried a bouquet of blue lipid white orchids and stephanotis with white satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS Mrs. Dana Epperly, matron of honor, was gowned in a blue crepe floor-length shift accented with lace panels. Her bouquet was bunches of blue grapes surrounded with white carnations.

Other attendants, the maid of honor, Miss Ruth Ann Bedford, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Donna Nidiffer, the bride's sister-in-law, wore dresses similar to Mrs. Epperly's and identical flowers.

Monte Brogdin, the bridegroom's brother, attended as best man. Ushers were David Brogdin and Billy Nidiffer. Groomsmen were Cleo Meaker and James Nidiffer, the bride's brother.

The church altar was flanked by wrought iron spiral stands holding white candles and trimmed with lemon leaves and baskets of white gladioli.

Organist, Mrs. Wanda Gill, played traditional wedding processional music, and Trumpet Tune, by Purcell.

The bride's mother was attired in a peacock blue silk shantung A-line dress with beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a powder blue bonded lace, two-piece dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

RECEPTION For the reception in the church Fellowship Hall after the ceremony, the bride's table was decorated with the bride's cake, made by her aunts, Mrs. Chester Wyker and Mrs. Earl Henderson. Other appointments were a crystal silver punch bowl and crystal candle holders with bridesmaids' bouquets.

Mrs. Floyd Sackett served cake. Another who assisted was Mrs. Pauline Henderson of Carrollton, Mo., the bride's aunt, who served at the bridegroom's table.

The bride's traveling costume was a white knit two-piece dress with black pattern accessories. Her orchid corsage was a gift to the bride from Dr. W. L. Campbell of Pampa.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hayes of Phoenix, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hayes, Gary and Loyce Ann of Tucson, Ariz.; Mrs. Chester Wyker, Pam Wyker and Connie Scott, all of St. Marys, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Geisinger, Roger and Mark, all of Overland Park, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henderson of Carrollton, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Thompson, Patricia, and Rickey of Houston; Mrs. Ken Sacke, Shaun and Corby of Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brooks of Hammond, Ind.; Mrs. E. H. Shoultz and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Frazer, all of Oklahoma City, Okla.

CORRECTION The Pampa News wishes to correct a typographical error in names published in Sunday's edition in connection with the Miss Nancy Jo Nidiffer and Robert L. Brogdin wedding. The corrected article is published on today's Woman's Page.

POLLY'S POINTERS Upholstery Hints On Leather Hassocks

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY — I learned how to repair a leather hassock in an upholstery class. Sew it in a zigzag fashion, which means taking a stitch first on one side of the seam and then one on the other. Draw up the thread and the stitching is inside and will not show. We always used nylon thread.

DEAR POLLY — I had the same problem as Mrs. L. H. K. so when I had a chair reupholstered I bought extra material to match the chair, cut a piece large enough to go all around the hassock, ran elastic around the edges. I put a little foam rubber on the top to make it soft and smooth.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. L. H. K. should go to any upholstery shop and buy a curved needle before starting to repair her torn hassock.

AN UPHOLSTERER'S WIFE DEAR POLLY — A braided carpet became mildewed as a result of an accumulation of water in our basement. I sent the carpet to the cleaners and the mildew is gone but a terrible odor remains. Do I have to throw away this almost new carpet? Louise Sewell and Mabel Hukill.

Thanks for the beautiful red carnations, cards and calls, and hope to be able to be with you Thursday.

Miss Black Honored With Bridal Shower

Miss Earlene Black was honored recently with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. F. E. Dyer of 2100 N. Zimmers. Hostesses were Mmes. Dyer, George Clark, Raymond Shannon, Frank Totty, John Pierce, Harvey Rochelle, J. M. Grange, H. L. Biggers, Ralph McGee, A. Neel and C. R. Everhart.

The centerpiece of blue tinted daisies arranged in a gold pedestal bowl was placed on a white crocheted cloth over blue cloth. The sheet cake was decorated with blue bell, white icing and white roses.

Other decorations were small napkins printed with silver wedding rings and the name "Earlene and Dee."

The bridegroom elect is William Doyal Yates Jr. of Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Doyal Yates of Stinnett.

The wedding is planned for 10 a.m. Saturday in Harrah Methodist Church, 639 S. Barnes.

Others attending were Mmes. B. T. Clemens, Ed Stroud, Bill Moreland, Edith Beigle, Hollis Stout, Frank Genett, Ed Moseley, Clarence Kaiser, Howard J. More, G. W. Hapeman, Jewel Wallace, Clara Black, Myrtle Hunter, T. E. Ammons, Lorene Price, Joe Jacob, Mearl Black, Ruby Denton, Scottie Billington, and Misses Etha Ruston and Beverly Moseley.

Those not attending but sending gifts were Ralph McGee and Harold Dawson, and Mmes. Johnnie Everhart, Ton Price, Lola Black, Laura Ann Dougherty, Buster Black, Freda Brown, Clovis Shelton, Francis Lambright, Carl McAdams, Oveta White, F. W. Hendrix, Tempist Adams, Letha Kenner, Kenneth Gray, Lela Pearl Reed, J. C. Jarvis and Leona Black and Miss Pat Lambright.

Miss Reva Gail Barnett, sister of the bride registered guests, Miss Karen Tyler and Miss Wilma Tyler, cousins of the bride, served the cake and punch.

Guests attending were Mmes. Kenneth Carter, Walt Barnett, Don Carter, Roy Paul Thurmon, Eimer Nichols, Kelli and Richard, M. L. Mills, Jackie Cooper, Clint Freeman, Dorothy Watson, Sharon Andrews, Gary Gortmaker, Richard Mills and son Sammy, Walt Tyler, Clifford Coleman, J. M. Grange, Clarence Kaiser, Ralph Fox, Barbara Beck, Virginia Mounity, Larry Brown, Bill Thompson and Marie Parks.

Others were Misses Vicki Mercer, Reva Gail Barnett, Betty Johnson, Ruthie Giesler, Ramona Giesler, Karen Tyler, Wilma Tyler, Gayle Allen, Renee Allen and Debbie Allen.

Hostesses Honor Mrs. Rocky Lucas

CANADIAN — Mrs. Rocky Lucas was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. R. E. George. Co-hostesses were Sue Lynn George, Mrs. Zona Clark, Mrs. Pat Roberts, Mrs. Creed Petree, Mrs. Earl Dames, Mrs. Elvin Spicer, Mrs. Cletus Collins and Mrs. Paul Malcolm.

The bride was assisted in opening her gifts by her mother, Mrs. Boyd Perkins of Matador. Refreshments were served from a table draped with a white linen cutwork cloth. The centerpiece of blue and white carnations was flanked on either side with candles.

Among those present and sending gifts were 15 guests from Perrytown and 53 other guests from Panhandle towns.

Astrological Forecast By CARROL R. RIGHTER

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 26

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many new ideas are coming through your mind and your imaginative qualities are high and interesting but don't force them on others or push them forward just yet or you can get yourself in quite a pickle. Show you are able to discuss your new plans without criticism of others and their disagreeing standpoints.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — Advice given you and you love to be at odds with what professional adviser has to say, or you have to contend with another's jealousy. Get everything straightened out according to your best judgment. Be calm.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Don't get into trouble with several persons. Consider their ideas, also be more willing to listen to what important contacts have to say. Then coordinate efforts wisely.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You have to take a different view of whatever is of a constructive nature as be more in study further into it. Don't express views until you are sure of your facts. Round out ideas with ingenuity.

MOONCHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Business matters are most vital right now, but you have to be discreet in getting ideas accepted by others. Be sure to get suggestions from that wise executive you know. Follow through on them.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Fine new situations arise that are opportunities to advance, but you must stand deliberately taking right action on them. Those of different experience in June, KIVA's right advice. Follow it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — New systems are starting to be used. Get your property, if you don't give them up when the people seem to be getting a little rough. Persever and you come to better understanding with partners, also. Others respect your loyalty in male.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — You have an opportunity to show partners you support them loyally and see what you can do for them in the day ahead. Coordinate efforts better so that you also gain own aims. Then out in social fun together.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Study is important as you want to be more clever in your special daily job and you soon see the results thereof. Cowardice also ideas that you should listen to each fully. Then all goes like clockwork.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Showing devotion to congenials is wise right now, since they are somewhat depressed. Do something that will please them. Then get that special talent to work that will make you rich and famous in time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You have fascinating ideas but you must have a different attitude if you want to cooperate with you in putting them across. Operating on a large scale will lead to much greater success. Be sure of yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Consistent regular partners that your ideas are practical and practical systems you being used are good, will get their fullest cooperation in the future. Listen to what a veteran pal has to say. Fine ideas are proffered.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Certain persons with whom you have financial dealings have fine new ideas that had not occurred to you. Listen carefully and follow through on them. Get your property brightened, beautified. Be more contactable, happy.

AUTUMN OUTLOOK

Parisians Predict Fall Fashions

By ROSETTE HARGROVE Newspaper Enterprise Assn. PARIS (NEA) — When the Paris fashion collections for fall '67 opened Monday, skirt lengths were short, long and in between.

But the hemline won't be the biggest news. For several seasons now we have seen enough tents to bivouac Napoleon's army. And now the waist is back.

Even belts will be worn at the natural waistline — not up under the bosom or slung around the hips. And women will have to relearn to tuck in their tummies and do something about the bulges which the tent so conveniently masked.

Generally speaking the silhouette for fall will be more wasp-shaped than tent-shaped and completely feminine.

Natural shoulders, belts, long sleeves, covered knees, fancy hose and slimmer heels tell the rest of the story to be unfolded during the couture collections here.

The new shape may spell the passing of the Twiggy figure, too. For the mannequins selected by the couturiers all are the outdoorsy type rather than ethereal wraiths.

At Dior, head designer Marc Bohan says his leit-motif is "femininity at all costs, plus a great diversity." Length of skirt? "Well, this will depend entirely on the function of the dress. But the straight skirt is definitely replaced by a graceful, swinging line."

Michel Goma, who designs for Jean Patou is on the longer-than-miniskirt side of the fence. "Knees will vanish and I suggest different lengths for different occasions." His daytime clothes will be functional and easy-going with belts on nearly everything. Hose will harmonize with the ensemble. He will show a lot of black, rich brown and white.

Pomarede at Jacques Heim has opted for the feline, mysterious woman, far removed from his cutlet type of last season. Pomarede, who is Madame De Gaulle's couturier, has gone to the cathedrals for his color card—burnt brown, Chartres purple, crimson and cypress green—all inspired by church windows. New is a Touareg blue, deep and somber.

Gerard Pipart for Nina Ricci has worked on three principal lengths for skirts—all longer than mini—definitely underlined waistline and muted colors. Daytime skirts will hit the knee, sports skirts will have longer hems in the good old British tradition and all lengths will turn up for evening.

Every collection will feature blouses. Soft, fluttery and feminine, they will replace the twin sweater set which has become a sort of uniform for so many women.

The Tutankhamen exhibition here for which people have been lining up from dawn to evening for the past five months is an influence which will permeate the collections with all sorts of Egyptian inspirations—especially in jewelry.

All told, it looks as though the long hidden feminine figure will once more come into its own when the curtain goes down on the Paris fall fashion collections this time around. So it's time to start the battle of the bulge. We've had it easy in loose clothes long enough.

'Best Loser' Is Named By Club

Mrs. Leon Brown was recently crowned Queen of the Month by the Lota Pounds Off TOPS Club for having lost the most weight. She was presented with a check, a club pin and crowned for "being the best loser of pounds."

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Gene Leigh, president, Mrs. Thelma Thomas was elected vice leader.

Mrs. Mona Spencer of Plainview, during a recent visit in the area, was guest of the Lota Pounds Off Club and the Pounds Pirates Club explaining how the club works and its requirements for membership.

At a recent club meeting Mrs. Joe Keel of the Keel Rock shop displayed rocks and demonstrated the art of making jewelry from rocks.

The Lota Pounds Off Club meets every Monday at 7 p.m. in the basement of Central Baptist Church. Anyone interested in joining is invited to call MO 4-4339 or MO 4-4181.

Shift Dresses May Be on Way to Dump

PARIS (UPI)—The 1967 winter lady may be wearing clinging clothes that show off more of her figure instead of the old easy shift dress, according to advance reports of the Paris fashion shows opening today.

Thirty-two members of the Chambre Syndicale fashion organization plus another 10 outside designers will unveil to the press and buyers their ideas that will influence what women wear throughout the world.

Designers showing today included Jacques Esterel, Serge Lepage, Jean Louis Scherrer, Michel Telli, Madeleine de Rauch, Clomber Surs and Beni Savadori.

Advance tips indicated Paris will show hemlines any place midlady wants them—mini-length, kneetop, midknee, covering the knee, dangling at mid-calf or sweeping the floor.

Salon sources indicated that the natural waistline, marked by belts or darts and tucks, definitely would make a comeback.

Long sleeves, lots of brown wool satin, wide-brimmed hats, high boots with heels and wide belts reportedly were other trends to be seen during the two weeks of fashion openings.

Andre Courreges invited the press to see his wares for the second time since he came out of seclusion last January. Store buyers and manufacturers, however, were not invited in line with the designer's war against copies of his designs that he does not control himself.

LABOR TALKS FAIL

DALLAS (UPI)—Talks between union clerks and Safeway representatives over the weekend failed to work out a solution to a 7-week-old strike, but a federal mediator said bargaining would probably resume Thursday.

Federal mediator Walter C. White said talks Sunday between Safeway and the Retail Clerks Union which has struck groceries in 22 Texas cities "came pretty close."

FREEDOM SWIM

BERLIN (UPI)—A 20-year-old East Berliner Sunday swam the Havel River to West Berlin unnoticed by Communist guards along the city-dividing anti-refugee border, Western authorities said.

DeGaulle Asks French Canadians to Join Him

QUEBEC CITY, Que. (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle predictably opened his Canadian visit with a bang by encouraging its six million French-speaking people to take their destiny into their own hands and warning Canada to guard its independence from the United States.

De Gaulle's speech stopped just short of advocating political sovereignty now for the province of Quebec and it lived up to the apprehension of the federal government that he would stir up already troubled relations between the English and French descendants of Canada.

Wolfe's Cove, Quebec City Sunday morning.

The first day was climaxed by a formal banquet at the Chateau Frontenac.

The controversial French president struck out at the Canadian government.

"What is emerging in Quebec is not only a more and more asserted popular and political entity but also a particular and growing economic reality," De Gaulle said in a toast.

"Refusing to be subject any longer to the prevalence of influences alien to you in the fields of thought, culture and science, you must have your own elites, universities, laboratories.

"Instead of letting outside concerns put to use your territory's vast resources, you intend yourselves to discover, organize and exploit them."

SPEEDY AIRCATS are among the latest watercraft in the Army inventory for fighting in the shallow inland waterways of Vietnam. The small boats have an aircraft engine and propeller mounted in the rear and are capable of speeds up to 48 m.p.h. They mount a .30 caliber machine gun and can carry five infantrymen besides.

The 77-year-old general today heads along the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, the 160 miles from Quebec City to Montreal, on the second day of his five-day visit. He was scheduled to reach Montreal about 7 p.m.

Cheering crowds waving Tricolor and Fleur de Lys flags greeted de Gaulle everywhere he went after his arrival in

Pampa-Where the Cowboys Ride

By RON CROSS

Pampa is tabbed by the Chamber of Commerce as the place "Where the Wheat Grows and the Oil Flows."

Wednesday through Saturday of this week you can stick a line onto that and say the place "Where the Cowboys Will Ride."

Wednesday night the 23rd annual Top O' Texas Rodeo will get off to a roaring start for four days and the top cowboys on the circuit will be in town.

They began arriving today, some flying in, some driving in but none riding in by horseback. Those days are gone forever.

More and more cowboys (those who can afford it) are flying and riding in two rodeos each day. Such will be the case here.

The cowboys will not only be competing here but in Cheyenne, Wyoming at the annual Cheyenne Frontier Days. They did the same thing last year.

One of the cowboys who can afford to fly, and does, and owns two planes, is the top one on the circuit last year and so far this season.

Larry Mahan owns two planes, well actually one and a half, and he is due here to try to add to the $29,401 he has won already this morning.

The Brooks, Ore. bull, saddle bronc and bareback rider, is well ahead of the pace he had at this time last year when he closed out the season with over $40,000, the most any cowboy had won in 10 seasons.

Jim Shoulders, an Oklahoma cowboy won $43,000 in 1956 and only three other cowboys have ever broken the $40,000 barrier, including Casey Tibbs.

Mahan, who's actually never had it as easy as Stony Burke, will be limping more than the other cowboys. He has a bona fide injury. A broken foot.

Mahan had a bull step on him July 1 in St. Paul, Oregon. Later on he lost one of his two airplanes, luckily he wasn't in it.

Ed LeTourneare, who besides being a bull rider, is also a practicing vet, had agreed to fly Mahan's single engine plane from Ft. Worth here, also complete with injury is the Panhandle area's Lee Cockrell.

Lee was driving a diesel from one part of his ranch to another (and that's a long way) when the steering knuckle broke, causing the diesel to flip over pinning Lee underneath.

But being the big fellow he in ninth place in the roping standings.

Other cowboys who'll be here include Bill Cornell, the 1963 Bull riding champion and who is in fifth place this year with $7,015 and steadily climbing and Paul Mayo the defending bareback riding champion, Clifton Smith from Tell, Texas who leads the calf roping and Phil Hatcher, Okemah, Okla. who leads the steer wrestling competition.

The top bull rider for the year will be here in the person of Bill Stanton, an Oregon cowboy who has salted away $17,724 in the most dangerous event the rodeo has to offer.

There will also be a fellow here who would rather ride bulls than participate in riots, Myrtis Dightman, one of the few Negroes on the rodeo circuit.

Dightman has been making a name for himself the last couple of years as one of the better bull riders in the country.

The Houston cowboy has taken in $10,338 in prize money for the season.

While Mahan is the Mickey Mantle or Willie Mays of the rodeo world there are such things as Rookie-of-the-Year awards and the top one around will be in the Pampa rodeo.

Mel Hyland, an 18-year-old saddle bronc rider has won $7,142 in his initial season. Hyland, from Port-Kell British Columbia joined the circuit during the last half of the season last year, thus making him still a rookie.

There must be something to rodeoing besides the money. A professional golfer, football player and baseball player and bowler will make more in a shorter season than the top A11-Around cowboy and won't face death every night.

Tennis anyone?

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Culp Silences Cardinals

By United Press International

Ray Culp's tongue depressor had a silencing effect on those loud St. Louis Cardinals' bats.

Culp, the young righthander, whose job it was to pitch the Chicago Cubs into a share of the National League lead by hand-cuffing the hard-hitting Cards, performed his assignment with the utmost of finesse Monday night despite a singular lack of cooperation from the elements.

Pitching in an almost constant rain that at one point interrupted play for 51 minutes, Culp managed to overcome the difficulties caused by a muddy, slippery mound with a wooden tongue depressor and hurled a five-hitter as the Cubs clipped St. Louis 3-1 and pulled into a dead heat for first.

Aids Balance

Culp, who carried the unusual "baseball instrument" in his back pocket, put it to good use in cleaning his spikes throughout the game, thereby maintaining his balance on his delivery.

Houston edged Philadelphia 2-1 in 11 innings and Los Angeles nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 in the only other NL games scheduled.

There were no American League teams in action.

The Cubs game was halted temporarily in the sixth inning. When play resumed, Culp was untouchable, retiring the Cards in order in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings.

In evening his record at 8-8, Culp struck out six and walked two. He lost his shutout in the sixth when Lou Brock singled and scored on Orlando Cepeda's double.

Santo Scores Twice

Ron Santo singled and scored the Cubs' first run in the second on Ernie Banks' double and drove in the final tally in the fifth with a forceout after singles by Glenn Beckert and HE'S OUT — Duncan's Deryl Danna is tagged out at the plate by Celanese's Ricky Smith in the first inning of Monday night's City Little League baseball tournament finals. Duncan went on to win, 9-1.

SEEING THINGS? Not really. True, that is Joe DiMaggio crossing home plate and Yogi Berra trailing behind. Just like the old days with the New York Yankees. Only this time the two were performing in an oldtimer's game at Shea Stadium. Actually Joe and Yogi scored on a double by Bob Cerv, another ex-Yankee.

Lloyd Joins Paul In Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — Red Ruffing and Lloyd Waner spoke for themselves at Monday's Hall of Fame induction ceremonies but nobody tried to speak for Branch Rickey.

"This is one of my big thrills," said Ruffing, who won 273 major league games plus seven World Series contests. "I love baseball as much as I ever did."

"It's the greatest thrill of my life," said Waner, a spray-hitting outfielder who compiled a .316 lifetime average. "I want to thank all my friends in baseball, the fans all over the nation and anyone else who helped me get into the Hall of Fame."

Putting Wins PGA For Don January

DENVER (UPI)—Don January has been a flop in playoffs in the past—but this time "I had luck on my side all day."

Perhaps it was luck, or maybe just sheer skill, but Dallas Don knocked in a 35-foot birdie putt from the fringe on the 10th hole and made some remarkable recoveries from the rough that propelled him to his first PGA championship.

January won his duel in the sun with fellow Texan Don Massengale by two shots Monday in only the second playoff ever staged to determine the PGA champion. He shot a three-under-par 36-33-69 to Massengale's 36-35-71 over Columbine Country Club's 36-36-72 layout.

January was steady, methodical and aggressive as he made up a two-stroke deficit on the front nine and then got that big one on No. 10—"the kind of shot you just don't make very often."

Surprised at Putt

"I only wanted to roll it up—I didn't think it would drop," he said.

When he birdied the 15th to go two-up, that was the ball game. "I've been here before," he remarked, recalling the three other playoffs he has been in—and lost. The most notable was that other PGA playoff—in 1961—when he was beaten by Jerry Barber by a single stroke, 67-68.

"I feel kinda numb," January said. "I had this once before and lost it and didn't want to lose it this time. I tried to shoot a score. I didn't try to play Don. I thought I had a better chance against Barber than against Massengale."

Against Barber, January had two-stroke leads twice, but was beaten by some long distance putting. This time, he played it safe. But his ability is attested by his scores—he was the only player in the field that failed to go over par at least once, shooting 71-72-70-68 for a 72-hole total of seven-under-par 281. And he did not three-putt a single green in 90 holes of play.

Duncan Runs to Victory in Pampa Little League Meet

Duncan Insurance swept the Pampa Little League City baseball tournament Monday night in Optimist Club Park in a big way.

The Insurancemen ran to an easy 9-1 victory over Celanese for the Championship.

Shane Lie was the winning pitcher and struck out 12.

Duncan earned their way to the finals by first downing Flint Rig. 3-1; Cabot, 16-2 and Bruce and Son, 8-6.

Celanese had earlier beaten Rotary, 1-0, VFW, 4-2, McCathern, 4-1 and Holmes, 9-2.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Go Western, Young Man (and Lady)

It's rodeo time again in Pampa.

This afternoon and tonight, as is the custom each year, were set aside for the Kid Pony Show when the mini-cowgirls and cowboys from 8 to 16 go through the paces that could make them the rodeo stars of another year.

The big RCA-sponsored rodeo gets under way with a 4 p.m. parade tomorrow and then four night performances starting at 8 p.m.

Many of the nation's top cowboys will be here for the competition at Pampa's 23rd annual rodeo event.

This year's show features the traditional arena clowns and will have as additional attractions a bloodless bullfight and specialty acts, all topped off by the appearance of the famous Judy Lynn Show.

Miss Lynn will be featured at each night's rodeo and her orchestra will play for dancing in the National Guard Armory after the rodeo.

So, get out the ten-gallon hats and the four-quart boots and go western for the rest of the week.

Birth Rate Down; Population Up

Demographers — professional people counters — are happy about the nation's steadily declining birth rate, which this year will reach a record low.

But, characteristically, they unhappily warn that it's too early to celebrate our escape from becoming a totally urbanized, congested nation.

We are continuing to grow in number. Sometime around January 1, 1968, U.S. population will reach 200 million. Even taking into account the falling birth rate (the number of live births per thousand of population), one estimate is that at the turn of the century it will be 340 million.

One reason for the present birth rate decline, according to David Goldberg, University of Michigan sociologist, is the numerical disproportion between marriageable young women and marriageable young men.

Most women marry between 18 and 21, and they generally marry men between 21 and 24. But since 1956, there have been fewer men than women looking for them.

Learning From Barnacles

Ever since man has been going down to the sea in ships, he has been coming up with barnacles. As any sailor who has ever chipped a hull will attest, the little marine organisms manufacture what must be the best glue on earth.

So strong is barnacle adhesive, in fact, that removal of a barnacle from ship's hull actually requires removal of a microscopic layer of the steel itself.

Reasoning that if you can't chip 'em, join 'em, biologists at the University at Akron are raising a crop of the pesky creatures in an aquarium in hopes of discovering the secret of the adhesive and eventually synthesizing it.

The scientists believe that if they can make the stuff in the laboratory, they may come up with a substance that will provide a permanent adhesive for fillings for teeth — as well as closing one more cavity in human knowledge.

Pressures in the Primary

Children in the first year of school actually experience many of the same pressures and tensions that plague the modern day business executive.

In fact, many children develop an illness which greatly resembles the "executive syndrome" of later years.

So claims German child psychiatrist Hubert Harbauer, as reported by Rodale's Health Bulletin.

Parental pressures share the blame with school pressures. Harbauer told the third European Child Psychiatry Congress in Wiesbaden recently.

Parents really believe that the first years of school are crucial to their child's entire future. As a result he said, they make their children spend these early years in an atmosphere of "insecurity and conflict-inducing overemphasis on grades and reports."

THE LESSON OF NEWARK

Several days in Newark, N. J., running from July 12 to July 17, 1967, saw rioting, arson, looting and murder almost unparalleled in the history of American cities. A UPI story on Saturday morning July 15 said, "Gov. Richard J. Hughes declared a state of emergency and roaming bands of Negroes battled police and the state militia."

The story proceeded to say, "In declaring the state of emergency, Hughes called the situation 'very dangerous' and deteriorating. Hughes said earlier the rioting and widespread looting 'can only be classified as open rebellion — just like wartime.'"

The story that morning went on to say, "Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes said a third of the city was under siege, cordoned off by police and National Guardsmen and in the grip of what he termed 'criminal insurrection.' He declared it a disaster area, in an attempt to enforce rules to quell the lawlessness."

Street mobs built up in size before sundown after a wild daylong orgy of looting, and police sharpshooters duelled with rooftop snipers."

Gov. Hughes went on to say, "This amounts to criminal insurrection against society. . . There is no order to shoot and kill but police have the authority to defend themselves."

It was right here, perhaps, that Gov. Hughes made his worst mistake. Looting has traditionally been recognized as one of the worst crimes that can be committed, because those engaged in looting are not only breaking secular and religious law by stealing, they are at the same time through mob rule preying upon the misfortunes that have befallen others.

It has been traditional in this country, therefore — where the rights of individuals are protected — for the mayors of the cities and the governor of the state to give the police and the militia orders that when they find looting taking place, they are to shoot first and ask questions later. This order would apply regardless of race — black or white — and it is to be believed that such an order is more likely to prevent looting and stop looting than any other order that might be given.

But what happened in the case of Newark? The Saturday morning story went on to say, "Looters moved openly and defiantly in and out of smashed and burned stores, beneath the gaze of the governor. The Governor said he was appalled by the bizarre holiday air of the indefatigable looters — surging gangs of laughing men, women and children. They hauled food, clothing and furniture from smashed stores."

The story said that Hughes invoked the state's emergency defense law which "permits him in a civilian role to lay down any rules needed to protect life and property in an area of natural or man-made disaster. It differs from martial law, which would grant Hughes similar power, but in his role as commander in chief of the National Guard. It was understood that Hughes considered the civilian measure less likely to further inflame Newark Negroes."

It is this attitude of hesitancy, this attitude of fear on the part of city and state rulers that enables them to look on with equanimity while looters "laughingly" steal the property that belongs to the store owners and their stockholders. This attitude cannot continue in a city or in any state of the union if we are to remain a nation that respects law and order. In other words, if we are to remain a civilized nation, law and order must be observed by all people alike.

Only to the extent that the mayors of our cities and the governors of our states have learned their lesson from what happened in Newark, N.J., can we be said to have made any progress toward a more peaceful and a more just nation.

Administration Trying to Block Bipartisan Bill To End Importation of Nasser's Egyptian Cotton

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Johnson Administration is quietly doing its utmost to block House consideration of a bipartisan bill to cut off imports of extra-long staple cotton that since 1959 have netted Gamal Nasser more than $200 million.

Last year these imports exceeded 44,000 bales for some $15 million.

No official figures are available on how much was shipped here this year prior to Nasser's severing diplomatic relations on the phony charge that "imperialist" U.S. aided Israel in the smashing defeat of his air force and army. It is estimated Egyptian sales were around 20,000 bales.

If no legislative barrier is enacted, the way will remain open for Nasser to continue to unload his cotton for U.S. dollars — which he desperately needs.

The law permits the importation of 83,000 bales of this specialty cotton annually. Since 1959 Egypt has heavily dominated this market, with sales ranging from 44,000 to 69,600 bales in 1964. Peru and the Sudan have absorbed the remainder.

The bipartisan bill to ban Egypt's imports was approved by the House Agriculture Committee 22 to 2 despite strenuous administration opposition. If the measure can be brought before the full House, it is certain of equally overwhelming adoption.

That's what the Johnson administration is trying to prevent by vigorous backstage maneuvering and pressuring.

As a consequence, a head-on clash has developed between the administration and a powerful coalition of Republicans and Democrats that sponsored the legislation and put it through the Agriculture Committee over vehement State Department dissent.

THE LINEUP — Graphically indicative of the nature and significance of this behind-the-scenes struggle are the number and importance of the measure's sponsors. Seventeen Democrats and eight Republicans joined in introducing the bill, among them the following:

Representatives W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman, Agriculture Committee; George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman, Appropriations Committee; Olin Teague, D-Tex., chairman Veterans' Affairs Committee; Omar Burleson, D-Tex., chairman, Administration Committee; Thomas Morris, D-N.M., Appropriations Committee; B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., Rules Committee; George Andrews, D-Ala., Appropriations Committee; Albert Quie, R-Minn., Education and Labor Committee; Don Clausen, R-Calif., Public Works Committee; John Rhodes, R-Ariz., Appropriations Committee; Page Belcher, R-Okla., Agriculture Committee; Ed Reinecke, R-Calif., Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

In the senate a similar bill also has influential bipartisan sponsorship, including Senators Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., chairman, Aeronautics and Space Committee, and Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., Labor Committee.

CALLING THE TURN — Despite Nasser's long record of virulent hostility toward a and provocative denunciations of the U.S., the administration is basing its opposition to the bipartisan legislation on the argument it would hamper peace efforts in the strife-torn Middle East, and strengthen Soviet designs to dominate the Arabs.

Undersecretary of State Eugene Rostow expounded this claim at length to the House Agriculture Committee. He got short shrift from Chairman Poage and from Representative Morris, who has been battling the State Department for years over large-scale imports of Egyptian extra-long staple cotton.

"Your position is unsound," Poage told Rostow. "In my judgment the way to get people to respect the U. S. is to make it costly to insult us."

Morris contended the time has come for the U.S. to become self-sufficient in this type of cotton — which, he pointed out, can readily be achieved. The only reason it isn't is a 1938 law limiting production to 70,500 acres in four states — Texas, Arizona, California and New Mexico.

"What valid reason," Morris told the committee "is there for us to help support Nasser, who has declared the United States an enemy of the Arabs, who has made outright lies about our alleged involvement in the recent hostilities, and who has viciously preached against and attempted to extinguish the only democracy in the Near East."

"This crisis has made the people of our country realize that we cannot depend on nations as unstable as Egypt to provide raw materials for our defense. We can produce all the extra-long staple cotton we need, and our farmers will be very pleased to do so if given the chance — as they should."

At present, Morris pointed out, the government has 232,000 bales of this cotton stockpiled, worth some $58 million. Domestic consumption is approximately 150,000 bales annually. Extra-long staple cotton sells for some 50 cents a pound in the U.S., as against about half that for other types.

The stockpiled cotton is sold abroad because the government's price is higher than the domestic rate.

"Our bill," said Morris, "would permit an increase in production by American farmers to fill the market previously supplied by Egypt. This would virtually double U. S. production of around 70,000 bales a year. Our cotton can match the finest grown in Egypt or anywhere else."

Also noted by Morris is that Nasser has unloaded his cotton in the U.S. at a few cents less per pound than the government's support price.

The Doctor Says:

Cancer Virus Suspected But Contagion Unproved

Q—My doctor says I have had a virus in my blood stream for several years. I have a fever most of the time that may reach 103. How can I get rid of it?

A—Although some viruses may remain inactive in the body for several years before causing an acute illness, I know of no virus that will cause a fever to persist for more than a few weeks without causing death or immunity. What kind of virus does your doctor say you have?

Q—How is ECHO Virus transmitted? How can one avoid getting a relapse?

A—The ECHO viruses are discharged from the intestines and may be transmitted through contaminated food or water. Once they enter the body they may affect the digestive tract, respiratory tract or the nervous system. Recovery is usually complete but, although the attack confers some immunity against the virus type responsible, a person remains susceptible to other types of ECHO virus.

An attack with a different ECHO virus would not, strictly speaking, be a relapse. Hydroxyzine, benzimidazole and quinidine are effective against these viruses. No specific preventive measures have been worked out as yet since the recognition of these viruses is fairly recent.

Q—Since some kinds of cancer are caused by a virus, how can you be sure it isn't contagious?

A—Viruses are of many kinds and act in many ways. Although leukemia is believed by many to be caused by a virus, careful studies have failed to show that it is transmitted directly from one victim to another. How it is transmitted has not yet been determined.

Q—Is there any difference between depression and insanity? Is there any help for severe depression?

A—Although depression is a prominent symptom of two types of mental disease—the melancholia of old age and manic-depressive psychosis with its violent swings of mood—a mildly depressed mood affects everyone at times. There are many causes of depression and several drugs that are helpful in selected cases. Before any drug is given for it, however, the type and cause of the depression can be overcome without drugs by getting more exercise, more rest and becoming involved in the service of others.

WEALTHY PERSONS AS SOCIALISTS

A question often asked is this: Why are so many wealthy persons socialists? One possible reason stems from the high rate of federal taxes combined with exemption from these taxes of some socialized production of goods and services. Bonds sold by other units of government, to go into business and even to pay losses from operations, are given the privilege of tax exemption.

A wealthy person may rant and rave against socialism in the abstract but he often buys the bonds that set it up in business and keep it going even at a loss. He does this for private gain, for the following reasons:

Let us say that Mr. A is in the 75 per cent federal income tax bracket. He is wondering where to invest his money. At today's quotation, a good example of a tax exempt bond for a socialized business offers him $4.01 yearly return on a $100 bond. Were Mr. A to invest, instead, in bonds of a private business, it would have to pay him $16.04 so as to leave him $4.01 after taxes. Yet private bonds now pay only about 6 per cent. So he buys the bonds to finance socialized business.

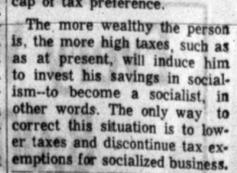

But that is not all of the story. Let us assume that Mr. B, a private businessman, is trying to sell a bond to finance the same type of business. He, too, could get $4.01 tax free from the socialized bonds. Being in the 25 per cent tax bracket, he has to earn $5.30 before taxes. Before he can get that, he has to earn enough in the corporate business to pay the corporation's "double tax" on profits. In order to pay all the taxes involved for the corporation, as well as both Mr. A and Mr. B, use of the borrowed $100 for the private business must yield about $27 each year.

Private enterprise, under these assumptions, must be more productive than socialized business by about seven times in order to overcome the handicap of tax preference.

The more wealthy person is, the more high taxes, such as at present, will induce him to invest his savings in socialism—to become a socialist, in other words. The only way to correct this situation is to lower taxes and discontinue tax exemptions for socialized business.
