

Viet Objector Facing Possible Court Martial

CLOVIS, N.M. (UPI)—An Air Force investigator who heard testimony Thursday that Capt. Dale Noyd refused to obey an order was expected to decide in about seven days whether the Vietnam objector must face a court martial.

The former Air Force Academy psychology instructor did not dispute charges he refused to obey an order to fly a training mission with a Vietnam-bound student, but questioned whether the order was lawful and his refusal was willful in light of his repeated plea to be classed as a conscientious objector to the war.

The U.S. Supreme Court earlier this month refused to hear the fighter pilot's appeal until he had exhausted military channels—presumably the court martial. Noyd, a 32-year veteran of the Air Force, is the first person to seek to be classed as an objector to a specific war rather than to all wars.

Lt. Col. Lewis V. DiDonato, of the judge advocate's office at Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex., heard testimony Thursday from four of Noyd's superior officers here at Cannon AFB and arguments from attorneys for both sides, including Noyd's attorney from the American Civil Liberties Union, Marvin Karparkin.

Noyd, who has not been restricted since the order refusal earlier this month, did not testify.

DiDonato, expected to make his recommendations next week to Cannon Commander Col. George Doerr, had three alternatives.

He could recommend a court martial, dismiss charges, or require a non-judicial punishment that could call for loss of one month's pay. Doerr, however, could call a special court martial if DiDonato does not recommend the general court martial.

Karparkin said whatever type of punishment, if any, is levied on the 35-year-old captain, would enable him to return to civilian courts with their appeal under the Supreme Court's ruling.

"Generally I was pleased and satisfied with the proceedings," Noyd said following the hearing and a press conference. "We expect a recommendation to come within seven days, but how long it will take after that (for a decision), I have no idea."

Karparkin said the charge against Noyd was "willful disobedience of a lawful order." He said the defense in effect was conceding the facts that the order was given, understood and refused by Noyd as his conscience compelled him and as he had informed his superiors on many occasions.

"But that's a far cry from willful disobedience of a lawful order," he said. "The real issue is not a fact, it's going to be the lawfulness of that order."

Karparkin was aided by two Air Force defense attorneys, Lt. Col. John Ranking of Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, and Capt. Bruce Anderson of Cannon.

UAW Ratifies GM Pact; Wages Up $1,700 by 1970

Anti-War Sailors In Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Four young American sailors who deserted ship in Japan to protest the Vietnam war arrived today from Moscow seeking political asylum. They said they had $4,000 and wanted to start a newspaper to continue their denunciation of the war. The money was given them by a Soviet peace organization, they said.

A Swedish spokesman said the sailors would probably be given temporary residence permits valid only for a few days while authorities make a decision on their asylum request.

"The police chief can, of course, put the Americans on a plane back to Moscow without ceremony, but this is very unlikely," the spokesman said. He said their only papers were "passports" issued by the Soviet Red Cross.

Sporting goatees and wearing Russian-made winter coats, Richard Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla., John Barilla, 28, of Catonsville, Md., Michael Lindner, 19, of Mt. Pocono, Pa., and Craig Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif., talked briefly with newsmen after their Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) flight.

"We hope to get permanent visas in Sweden," they said.

They said they were looking forward to getting jobs here and eventually planned to start a newspaper.

"We will go on protesting against the war in Vietnam," they said. "We regard it as a most immoral engagement."

The four were taken in two police cars to a police station where they will be detained until they are granted by the government provisional or permanent residence permits, or refused permits, in which case they would be returned to Moscow.

The four deserted the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid in Japan. They said repeatedly in a pacifist film and in Soviet newspapers and television interviews that they deserted because of their opposition to the Vietnam war.

Whether they will be allowed to remain in Sweden is up to the Swedish Aliens Commission, which was expected to decide later today.

INSTEAD OF SUNDAY

New Year Eve Gaiety Is Set for Saturday

Although New Year's Eve falls on Sunday this year, Pampa social clubs and organizations will celebrate tomorrow night instead of Sunday night.

The Pampa Country Club and the Pampa Club at Coronado Inn both are scheduling special New Year's Eve parties.

Night spots and public lounges around the city also will go into the wee hours of Sunday morning with their New Year's Eve observances.

Sunday night, New Year's Eve, will be quiet and just the same as other Sundays insofar as liquor laws are concerned. Liquor stores will close at 9 p.m. Saturday a usual.

Only Sunday observance will be watch-night parties in many Pampa homes and special midnight services in some of the churches.

City, county and state offices will be closed New Year's Day and re-open at the regular time on Tuesday.

Practically all stores and business offices will be closed

Monday. Most food and service establishments will be open, however.

The postoffice will remain open until noon Saturday, but will be closed all day Monday with exception of service to box patrons. There will be no residential mail deliveries Monday.

Public and parochial schools will not resume classes until Tuesday morning after being closed for the Christmas holidays.

Police and sheriff's departments today issued their annual warnings to Saturday night's New Year's Eve celebrants—use caution and don't drive after drinking.

WEATHER

PAMPA AND VICINITY—Scattered light snow this afternoon, tonight and Saturday. Cloudy and continued cold, with the low tonight near 20, high Saturday near 30. Winds northerly and gusty tomorrow.

American Motors Is Only Holdout

DETROIT (UPI)—Members of the United Auto Workers Union ratified a new contract with General Motors Corp. today that will boost the annual pay of the average auto worker by $1,700 by the end of 1970.

With ballots counted from all but one of the UAW's 168 bargaining units at GM, the UAW declared the pact ratified and effective Jan. 1.

Negotiators agreed on the settlement Dec. 15.

Production workers approved the contract by a 5-1 margin, and skilled trades workers by a 7-2 margin, UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said. Skilled trades workers had veto power this year for the first time.

Ratification ended a four-month period during which about 380,000 UAW members worked without a contract with the No. 1 automaker. It all but completed the current round of auto industry negotiations, that won't recur until 1970.

UAW members of the Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. ratified similar contracts this fall. Only American Motors Corp., the smallest of the automakers, still was negotiating with the union.

Men and machines struggled to clear the snow and ice-packed highways of Boston, Mass., today while more snow fell. Traffic was clogged there Thursday, travelers to Logan International Airport were stranded and a woman motorist was killed on a treacherous, glass-slick street.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said Pennsylvania, New York and New England early today were getting an inch of snow an hour on top of their already crusty mantle of ice and snow.

The Wilkes-Barre, Scranton (Pa.) airport reported seven inches of snow during a six-hour period that ended at 1 a.m. EST; Albany, N.Y., and Portland, Maine, got five inches each during the same period.

Wind-driven cold stabbed the nation's heartland, sending freezing temperatures all the way to the central Gulf Coast. The mercury dipped below zero in portions of the upper Midwest, with Wausau, Wis., recording 10 below at 2 a.m.

Before the sun rose, it was 12 at Denver, Colo., 15 at St. Louis, Mo., 16 at Detroit, Mich., Chicago and Minneapolis.

Cambodia May Not Stop US Border Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials today were studying unexpected word that Cambodia would not intervene in certain circumstances if U.S. forces cross its border in pursuit of Vietnamese Communists. It was a diplomatic development that could ease the growing dispute over denying the enemy sanctuary.

As late as Thursday Cambodia's position had been that any crossing of its border by American forces would be met with armed resistance accompanied by a call for material help and manpower if necessary from Red China, the Soviet Union and other allies.

But in a copyrighted cable interview in today's Washington Post, Chief of State Norodom Sihanouk modified that stand.

He said his position now was that Cambodia would not intervene militarily if American forces entered the country to fight Vietnamese Communists illegally present in "outlying and uninhabited regions."

Protests would be lodged with both sides in that case, he said, but military force would not be resorted to unless incursions or bombings took place in inhabited areas of the country.

If military intervention had to be initiated, Sihanouk said, Cambodia would at the same time take its case to the U.N. Security Council.

Sihanouk opened another unexpected avenue to better relations with the United States in the interview by saying he would welcome an envoy from President Johnson to discuss the rising controversy over use of Cambodia as a sanctuary by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces.

Stanley Karnow, the Post's Hong Kong correspondent, asked in his cabled questions whether Sihanouk might invite U.S. Ambassador Averell Harriman or Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Britain Plans Military Pullout

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today appeared headed toward a complete pullout of its military forces from East of Suez within three years.

Its defense role after 1970-71 appeared likely to be limited to Europe.

The British Labour government was reliably reported to have reached this drastic policy decision in an effort to achieve sweeping defense spending cuts.

These were expected to constitute the major part of a $1.92 billion slash in government spending ordered by Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The Wilson government pledged cuts of this magnitude as one of the conditions for obtaining massive United States and other foreign financial support for the pound in the wake of last month's devaluation.

Announcement of the government's defense cuts was not expected until after Parliament reconvenes Jan. 17. But the basic decisions were reliably reported to have been taken at a meeting between Wilson and key cabinet ministers Wednesday.

The most important of these were reliably reported to be:

A sharp speedup in plans to pull out 40,000 British troops and 40,000 civilian employees of British armed forces in the Far East. This now was expected to be completed by 1970-71 in place of the earlier target date of 1975.

Early withdrawal of all British forces from Persian Gulf areas soon after the Far East pullout.

Winding up of all British defense commitments east of Suez and a military pullback into Europe by the early 1970s.

Cancellation of a $72 million retrofit for the aircraft carrier Ark Royal and early phasing out of the carriers Hermes and Eagle. Wilson announced Nov. 22 that a fourth carrier, the Victorious, will be scrapped at once.

Acting by one-half a $600 million order for 100 American built Phantom jets for the Royal Navy. The remaining 50 will be transferred to the Royal Air Force.

1 Per Cent City Sales Tax Passes In 5 of 7 Towns

By United Press International
Five of seven voting towns passed the 1 per cent city sales tax Thursday and the measure faces only one more election this year.

The tax was approved by voters in Carthage 406-102, Nixon 106-7, Crystal City 486-55, Sulphur Springs 731-133 and Sweetwater 776-22.

Midland defeated the measure 4,944-2,090, and Kermit voters turned it down 1,225-146.

A total of 157 cities have now passed the tax. It has failed 22 times.

COUNCIL STUDY SHOWS DECLINE IN NONVIOLENT APPROACH

Tomorrow's Negro Teen-Ager Expected More Aggressive, Militant Than Today's

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Negro teen-ager of tomorrow will be far more aggressive and militant in his demands for equality than the current black power advocates, the Southern Regional Council said today.

In the first major study of the Negro teen-ager in 27 years, the council said only a slight majority of the current group of high school age youngsters feels nonviolence the best approach to civil rights advances.

Although by a narrow margin the current feeling among teens is for nonviolence, "it seems unlikely," the council said, that the next generation of Negro teen-agers will favor moderate means to gain equality.

Dissatisfaction and a feeling of "confusion and transition" will move tomorrow's Negro teen-ager to more forceful means of obtaining goals, the council predicted.

The research project was conducted among 688 high school students in five all-Negro schools in Atlanta. The SRC, a private research group with headquarters here, attached national implications to the report.

It said the last such study was made in 1940 by the American Council on Education. The SRC report, "Black Youth in a Southern Metropolis," made these conclusions:

—About half the teen-agers opposed Negroes' fighting in Vietnam.

—About 45 per cent do not feel whites can usually be trusted.

—Only 51 per cent of the teen-agers agreed with the statement, "Nonviolence is always the best approach for Negroes to use."

The SRC report recommended a "national undertaking" to study the nation's Negro youth.

Answer Questionnaires
Teachers and counselors at the Atlanta Negro high schools distributed an 11-page questionnaire. Student responses were analyzed by sociologists from Emory University, Atlanta University, city school officials and SRC researchers.

About 94 per cent of the students were between 14 and 18, in grades nine through 12; 80 per cent were natives of Atlanta; 42 per cent were living in "abnormal" family situations, mostly with only a mother.

The teen-agers expressed widespread dissatisfaction with basic city services in their neighborhoods, including recreational facilities, police protection, garbage collection and the condition of sidewalks, streets and sewers.

The study said such dissatisfaction "bodes ill for the future," and said these same conditions appeared to be basic causes of most urban riots or violence in recent years.

The students cited as the "most important Negro leaders in Atlanta" Martin Luther King, Georgia state Sen. Leroy Johnson, state Rep. Julian Bond, a former leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Stokely Carmichael.

The report said that at present, the students "are not strong believers in black power, nor do they think the situation would be improved if Negroes were more separated from whites."

However, it found that 21 per cent advocated carrying guns while protesting and 22 per cent felt civil rights demonstrations accomplished nothing.

FOR SATURDAY, DEC. 30
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a very strange day and evening and unless it is handled in the following days with much care, real trouble can follow. It is wise to accept delays and obstacles philosophically but studies into better ideas and methods for getting ahead during the coming year are a must if the finest results are to flow easily.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Sitting down with the most efficient fellow worker you have and getting the benefit of his or her ideas could lead to advancement. Study whatever is holding you back. Be honest with yourself regarding them.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be encouraging with others and get into some new hobby if you want this strange day to work out satisfactorily. Get rid of that limiting condition that keeps you from getting ahead. Go forward with enthusiasm in a positive fashion.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Look to one at home for the right idea and advice for getting ahead. Use some of those talents that you have not even tapped as yet.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Better get busy with year-end monetary figuring statements, etc., instead of jumping into a car, plane and off to some trip without proper preparation. Listen to what an advisor has to say. Follow ideas, instructions.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married for a second time, thinking I would have companionship for the rest of my life, but I was wrong. All Ben wanted was a cook and housekeeper. He only wants to go to visit his children and grandchildren. Never mine. Not only that, but he is very close with a dollar. He has a lot more than I have, but he doesn't spend any of his. Only mine. We live in MY house, and I pay the taxes and upkeep while he hangs onto his money which he will leave to his children. At age 64 would you advise a separation?

NETTIE
DEAR NETTIE: I would advise a separation — of money, first. If Ben has money, let him spend it. Talk in money syllables. If he isn't any happier with this arrangement than you are, then separate everything else.

DEAR ABBY: I am practically engaged to a guy whose last name is absolutely ridiculous. It has 14 letters in it and nobody can pronounce it. Very few people can remember it, and nobody can spell it, which can not help but be a handicap in business. He would be doing himself a tremendous favor if he changed it to something shorter and easier to pronounce. I have hinted about this several times but he hasn't taken me seriously.

THE FUTURE-MRS. DEAR FUTURE: First, let him change your name to his, then point out the advantages of changing it to something shorter and simpler.

DEAR ABBY: You said that if blondes do have more fun, maybe it's because they're easier to find in the dark. Well, if that's the case, our Physics teacher is right. He says, "Where there is light, there is heat."

TEXAS STUDENTS

DEAR ABBY: When someone wrote and asked you why blondes had more fun, you answered, "Because they are easier to find in the dark." Well, that was kind of cute, but you could also have said, "Blondes have more fun because boys get tired of squeezing blackheads."

College Students Approach To Sex Hasn't Changed Much

NEW YORK (UPI)—Despite a widespread belief to the contrary, the approach of college youth to sex has changed very little in certain fundamentals over the last 25 years, a leading sex scientist said today.

Dr. Paul H. Gebhard, collaborator of the late Dr. Alfred Kinsey in the now celebrated statistical studies of male and female sexual behavior, was revealing bits of a new, still unpublished "Kinsey report."

Back in the 40's and 50's Kinsey and Gebhard made a statistical count of the first sexual-intercourse experiences of 1,200 representative college students.

Gebhard, carrying on in Kinsey's place as head of the Institute for Sex Research at the University of Indiana, is now completing a 1967 count of 1,200 present college students, half male, half female.

The age of the first experience has changed a very little; he said at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Then as now the time usually is the last year of high school or during the first two years of college.

Then as now the female is in love with her first sexual partner—"she equates love with sex," Gebhard said. There now is a tendency for the male to have "emotional involvement" with his first sexual partner but by and large this first experience is with "casual pick-ups," as it was 25 years ago.

The trend now is for male and female sexual neophytes to be of the same age whereas it used to be the male was several years older, at least than the girl. "It no longer is older male exploiting younger female," Gebhard said.

"Sex is more fun now," he added. "It used to be traumatic and guilt-ridden, particularly for the female."

He said he could give no more of the conclusions of the new study because his computer has not yet finished tabulating the statistics. The full report should be ready by next fall.

Burglar Misses Money, Takes Only Bottle

A thief who broke into Service Liquor Store No. 1 at 600 W. Foster sometime between Wednesday night and Thursday morning and took only one bottle of wine, may have been a "wino who needed a drink pretty bad," a Pampa police report said.

The police report said the burglar did not go into the office or even look in the cash register. Approximately $100 in the cash register was undisturbed.

The burglar gained entry by smashing out the glass on the east door of the store.

Non-Working TV Taken at Store

Claude Smith, owner of the Singer Sewing Machine Company store in Pampa, reported that a thief took a TV from his store sometime during the Christmas rush.

According to a Pampa police report, Smith did not notice the set missing until yesterday. Smith said the TV was on a display rack and that he believed the thief just picked it up and walked out with it.

Smith said in the police report, however, that the TV did not work and that parts would be difficult to find.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Man Bites Dog

When a United States Senator admits that he is unable to fulfill his duties and responsibilities, it is at least as newsworthy as the classic touchstone, "Man Bites Dog." Listen therefore, to the lament of the Honorable William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat.

It seems that Mr. Proxmire is Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, ranking majority member of the Banking and Currency Committee, member of the Appropriations Committee, and a member of five subcommittees of the Appropriations Committee. The latter has seven other subcommittees and the Senator says he seldom has any occasion to analyze or appraise their budget programs. "This is inevitable in view of the tremendous demands on a Senator's time. He cannot do all he should in one working day."

Being inoculated with the bureaucratic virus, it does not occur to the worthy solon that some of the programs might be eliminated, nor that some of them might be returned to the locality where they originated and where they might be given careful and knowledgeable attention by the people who are to be served, if any. This was a system that worked exceedingly well for a century and a half in this country.

But bureaucracy's remedy for its ills is more bureaucracy. So, Senator Proxmire, under his bill, S.2032, would set up a government commission to evaluate programs. "It would review both old and new Federal programs for the purpose of determining their cost effectiveness."

Shades of Robert McNamara. Does anyone dream that a government commission could ever eliminate anything without substituting something to take its place? Or maybe two things.

The fact that no Congressman or Senator is able to give adequate attention to all of the matters on which he must pass judgment is responsible for many of the nation's ills. Special interest legislation and otherwise just plain bad legislation result. Senator Proxmire is not to blame, nor is the Congress as a whole. It's the system which is at fault, and there is a simple solution.

Return to the State and the local communities the responsibilities they once administered effectively, and at less expense.

All in Same Boat Known as Earth

Fourteen ships of eight nations are still stranded on Great Bitter Lake in the middle of the Suez Canal, where they have been since the canal was blocked during the June 1967 installment of the Arab-Israeli War.

Though their crews are in different ships, they are all in the same boat, and they are reacting as men always do when confronted with a common predicament.

It wasn't planned this way, but the ships represent the whole current international ideological spectrum — from Communist Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Poland to Britain, France, the United States and West Germany to neutral Sweden.

An American freighter was caught on its way back from South Vietnam. Near it is anchored a Bulgarian freighter that was en route to North Vietnam. Their missions are now suspended indefinitely and both crews have joined the "Great Bitter Lake Association," which it is hoped will become a permanent club with its own emblem, tie clips and badges and annual reunion.

Polish seamen built a floating Christmas tree near their ship, around which the men gathered in boats and sang carols. Then on Christmas Day, visits and dinners were exchanged.

Perhaps someday there will come a time when men the world over realize that although they sail in many different ships, bearing different national, racial, religious and ideological flags, they are all really stranded on the same small (and increasingly smaller) lake we call the earth.

Missing-the-Mark Protest

There wouldn't seem to be much left to demonstrate against, but 10 young people in Allentown, Pa., came up with something new. They picketed a dog food manufacturing plant to protest the fact that dogs in America are better fed than many people.

According to the report in Rodale's Health Bulletin, the demonstrators ate cans of dog food as they carried signs opposing the use of beef in dog food while entire nations are starving.

The demonstrators are to be commended for their compassion, which is only exceeded by their naivete.

The most starving nation in the world — India — has hundreds of millions of tons of beef walking around on the hoof that can't be touched because of a religious taboo.

Even assuming that India, or any other food-short nation would even accept the kind of "beef products" that go into dog food, and ignoring the fact that only American generosity has kept and is keeping millions of people from starvation, the solution is not the taking of food from the haves to give to the have-nots.

It is to help these nations learn how to feed themselves and to control their runaway populations which, if unchecked, will eventually be able to eat up all the food several Americas could provide.

There once was a little boy who got tired of being told, like millions of other little boys, to "Eat your supper, Tommy. There are starving people all over the world who would be glad to have it." He finally said, "Why don't you send it to them?"

His parents told him to shut up and stop acting smart.

We don't tell these Allentown demonstrators to shut up. We merely suggest to them that if dogs didn't eat dog food, nobody else would either.

Sex? Read All About It

Unless you are the observing type, it may have escaped your notice that some attention is being paid to sex these days.

This was brought home forcibly to a man who stood in front of a small news display recently in the lobby of a motel.

This rack displayed current issues of six national magazines for the reading pleasure of those who might wish to kill a few moments in the lobby.

Featured on the covers of these family-type magazines, to give the potential buyer and reader a glimpse of the intellectual and cultural goodies inside, were these titles:

"Sex Before Marriage."

"6,733 Doctors Reveal What is Really Happening to Women Who Take the Pill."

"How Long Can a Man Stay Physically in Love?"

"Keeping the Lower Instinct Alive After Marriage."

"The Pedagogy of Sex."

The sixth magazine displayed text and settled for a full cover

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Automobile racing was first popularized in the U.S. by a promoter named Joseph M. Gaites and the Witmark brothers, New York music publishers, in the early 1900's. One of their "stars" was Louis Chevrolet, whose name was perpetuated in the present-day General Motors car. They hit the jackpot, however, with Ralph De Palma, one of the all-time greats, when he did a mile in 54 seconds at a Coney Island track. Another race driver of that era was the famed Eddie Rickenbacker, now head of Eastern Airlines, but he quit the auto racing gambit to become a flyer in World War I.

Today's smile: A co-ed said: "I understand Joe asked you to marry him. I'll bet you didn't know he once proposed to me." "No," said her pal, "but he did tell me there were some things in his life he was ashamed of."

The longest reigning champ in sports' history was Willie Hoppe, the world's No. 1 billiard player for 46 years. He trained for his matches much like a prizefighter trains for a bout. Hoppe did his roadwork every morning to build up his stamina, calisthenics to tone his muscles and keep him supple, and followed a rigid diet to maintain his weight. He always maintained his splendid physical condition had much to do with his success as a championship billiard player.

Thoughts while shaving: The song writers were not exaggerating when they mentioned a fellow's heart skipping a beat when he meets a pretty girl because scientists have determined that a human heart skips a beat under emotional stress. They say what actually happens is the heart's normal rhythm is interrupted so that one beat crowds another and there's a longer pause before the succeeding beat. The important thing is for the heart to continue to beat. Otherwise, it's curtains! ... Vodka is the "in" drink these days mostly because (as the ads tell you) it leaves you breathless. Yet, it is one of the newer liquors on the U.S. market. Its popularity began to climb in 1952. Just when we started to love Russia more.

The present calendar was introduced in 1582 by Pope Gregory XIII. It wasn't adopted by Britain and the English-speaking world until 1752. Prior to that date New Year's Day, now observed on January 1, was variously celebrated on Christmas Day, Easter Sunday, March 1st and March 25th. ... But the giving of presents on New Year's day dates back to the ancient Greeks and Romans. Until 1290 it was the custom to bribe magistrates with New Year's day gifts. Then it became unlawful for everyone but the monarchs to receive gifts at that time and they continued that custom until it was abolished by James II in the 17th century. ... The Detroit (Mich) FREE PRESS headlined a story: "Take Evasive Action Or Face Baby Boom." Think what will happen if you take the pill and what will happen if you don't.

Country Editor speaking: "Years ago folks thought of Santa Claus as a jolly old fellow with white whiskers and a red suit who rode in a sleigh drawn by eight tiny reindeer. These days they think of him as being Uncle Sam."

Now, with this kind of coverage (actually, the night club dancing cuties weren't too well covered in the cover photo, there is no excuse for anyone old enough to vote to have to ask, "Sex? What is that?"

And in case you hear someone ask it, you might suggest that he consult his favorite family-type magazine, which is probably doing a pretty fair job of trying to answer the question in detail.

KNOWLEDGE VS. STATUS

It is becoming increasingly clear that Americans don't want an education. What they really want is recognition, whether they have an education or not. This is the inescapable conclusion to be drawn from current trends. And it reveals why the various accreditation committees around the nation (of which there are six) have such a potent hold on the entire academy.

Parsons College provides a case in point. When the college was at its height about a year ago, it had an enrollment of about 5,000 people. It was known as "Flunk-out U" for the reason that students who'd been dropped by other institutions of higher learning could re-enroll at Parsons with the hope of ultimately winning their degrees.

Then, in June of last year, the North Central Accrediting Association removed the institution's accreditation. Immediately the enrollment dropped to about 2,000 and as many of the professors as could manage it packed up and fled to more promising berths.

But before the professors fled, the institution offered just as high a degree of education as before. And let it be noted that Parsons had a distinguished team of professors, some of the best and highest paid in the country. But the minute accreditation was removed some 3,000 students, who might have gotten really good educations at Parsons, pulled up stakes and went elsewhere. They didn't want an education; they wanted the Greek letters that confer public recognition.

And there's the malady in a nutshell. Students around the country are working for grades, not for knowledge. They want recognition rather than competence. Education, which should be an exciting and even an exhilarating experience, is merely a kind of game played between student and professor in which the former tries to impress the latter and, if possible, to obtain a high degree of recognition.

Why? We have developed a shallow veneer of culture by means of which to varnish over our failures. And, with a few exceptions, the big thing is to be thought of as educated.

In this particular the government and even business have contributed to the trend. If you have the proper degree you can get a good job without having anyone check too thoroughly to find out what you really know. This is certainly true in government, where politics rather than performance determines a person's status. But it is increasingly true in big industry, where the major firms vie with one another for college graduates with the appropriate degrees.

So it turns out that many hundreds of major firms today

The War on Poverty

Who's Winning?

It is quite the "in" thing today to be against war.

But not all war. Certainly not the War on Poverty.

To be in, one must wholeheartedly support the poverty war. Poverty must be destroyed. (Moderation must be avoided in this case.)

Anyone who dares criticize this war is out. If that doesn't bother him, he is also cruel and heartless. How, cry the ins, wringing their hands in anguish, can one begrudge giving his money to halt starvation?

Well, here's how. One might so begrudge if he or she knew that the money wasn't helping the poor. One who knows just that is Mrs. Shirley Scheibla, Washington Correspondent for "Barro's Weekly," who appeared on a recent Manion Forum radio program. Some of her findings:

"The role of the anti-poverty workers in fomenting riots is the most appalling part of the Poverty Program. One of the most startling examples of this was in Newark. I have affidavits which show that a Community Action organizer there was haranguing people and inciting them to riot, and that immediately after his emotion-filled speech, a bottle was hurled against the side of the building. It was that direct action which led to the riot in Newark."

"Nashville had riots and OEO there was financing a so-called 'hate school' that stirred up animosity between the races which, of course, couldn't help but contribute to the outbreak are hiring incompetent men who have Greek letters and who, after hiring, have to be put through weeks and months of instruction before they are worth even a percentage of their starting salaries.

I shall reserve my laudos and wild roars of applause for the major firm that first decides to forego college recognition in favor of demonstrated competence and a desire to work. After all, if the firm wants good men, but has to train them anyway, it might just as well begin with men who don't have recognition but who have a real understanding of what business is all about and are willing to learn and to work for their pay.

Of course, it is true that men who obtain good training in the physical sciences in school are that much ahead if they are planning to do research in chemistry or physics in the business and industrial world. But an astonishing number of them, in spite of their technical know-how, aren't really worth much except in snob appeal when they climb into their highly paid sinecures.

Perhaps some industrial giant will lead the way in showing that a good man who is willing to learn is more valuable than a poor man with all kinds of college recognition. In fact, for business and industry to survive, a move in this direction is indicated. I'm going to predict that twenty years from now we'll have reversed the current trend.

So much for the way in which the Federal Community Action Program is spending your tax dollars. Mrs. Scheibla knows some things about another federal "fight-poverty" program that may shock you, too.

"I think we should judge the Job Corps on the number of jobs it has produced. During the first two years of the program there were 13,253 graduates. Of these, 5,167 had obtained jobs. Thus, since the Job Corps cost the taxpayers $720,000,000 during these two years, the average cost per job created by the Job Corps was $128,182."

"Yet, when I investigated to determine what kind of jobs had been found for boys and girls, my findings were really dismal. For example, I was told that one of the greatest successes of the Job Corps, a concrete example of what it would really do, was the employment of nine graduates of the Job Corps Center at Charleston, W. Va., as electronic assemblers at a midwestern plant."

"I contacted the electronics company which employed the girls. They said their normal probationary period which would determine whether an employee could handle a job was three months. Not one of the girls had met their standards during that period. They then extended the probationary period an additional month, and at the end of that time were forced to discharge all nine of them for inability to perform tasks required. (These girls had been trained for the task by the Job Corps.)"

If you, after reading this testimony, feel out, if you resent the government's throwing your money away, try writing your Congressman. It may not do any good, however. What elected official would be willing to come out against the war on poverty?

Operation "Travel Gap" is a task force that is trying to get more people to come over here than there is people going over there.

It's a effort to switch the "dollar drain." The trouble is, when someone comes over here he gets a loan and the dollar drain is in worse shape than it was before.

I say we should put an embargo on foreign dignitaries until we get our heads above water. But that wouldn't work unless we put a harness on our traveling senators. They would only go over there and beg them to take more money.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Cooking Destroys Part

Of Food's B.C. Vitamins

Q—Which foods contain vitamins A and B?

A—The foods richest in vitamin A are carrots, spinach, turnips, liver, sweet potatoes, squash, cod liver oil and apricots. Vitamin B is supplied by liver, dried brewer's yeast, milk, whole wheat bread and lean meat, fish or fowl.

Q—What are the symptoms of poisoning from too much vitamin A and D? Some vitamin capsules contain 10,000 international units of vitamin A and 1,000 of vitamin D. Is that amount harmful if taken daily?

A—Vitamin A poisoning causes loss of appetite, itching, loss of hair, bleeding under the skin and joint pains. Vitamin D poisoning causes peevishness, nausea, weakness, headache and inordinate thirst. Since the daily requirements of vitamins A and D are 2,500 to 5,000 and 400 units, respectively, the amounts cited are excessive for daily use. Capsules that contain such amounts are used for quick restoration of persons suffering from vitamin deficiencies.

Q—I am told that our soil in California is so depleted we need to take vitamin capsules every day. Which vitamins can be stored in the body and which cannot? Do you have to take vitamin A in order to have vitamin B do its work? What effect does heat have on vitamins?

A—The soil depletion myth dies hard. Fruits and vegetables grown on soil so poor as to deplete their vitamin supply would be so inferior in appearance that they would not find a ready market. Vitamins A and D, the fat-soluble vitamins, are the only ones stored in the body and hence the only ones that can cause poisoning.

SUPREME COURT AGAIN

The founders of our nation created the Supreme Court to apply the Constitution and the laws to the facts of particular cases before the Court. They certainly did not intend that the Court itself would write laws and violate the Constitution which the justices were sworn to uphold. Yet such is the result of a recent Supreme Court decision which struck down a section of the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950.

In this decision, the Court said that no employer has a right to bar members of "communist action" organizations from work in a "defense facility."

The members of the Court stated that the Act abridges "freedom of association" protected by the First Amendment. This is not a matter of free association. It is a question of whether or not an employer may fire a subversive communist. Also, if a communist cannot be fired, he cannot be refused employment for reason of his subversive activities alone. The Court in this decision, then, has in effect written a law that guarantees communists a "right" to jobs in critical defense industries, where they can be ready to commit sabotage on command from their leaders.

Ironically, while claiming to protect someone's "freedom of association," the Court has abrogated the rights of any employer to determine, freely, who he will be associated with in his business.

The Court has put itself in the business of manufacturing "rights" for some which violate the Constitutional rights of others. In this one decision, the Supreme Court has undermined both the security of our country and the freedom of its citizens.

scene of the crime. Helms will be supplied and you may participate in the looting.

"For doodle collectors: visit congress in session. Afterwards, our guides will steer you to the corridors where lobbyists are pushing Bills through Birds."

"Everyone will be furnished a button stating 'I am not a senator.' This will prevent getting your arms twisted off. On the other hand you may wish to omit the button."

"One tourist had left his button in the hotel room and received an unexpected reward. As he was standing in the corridor some fellow ran up and slipped an envelope into his pocket which contained several thousand dollars."

Although all the essential vitamins are necessary for proper body functioning, there is no specific interdependence of one vitamin on another. Cooking destroys a part of the vitamin B and C content of foods. This effect is due to the heat, exposure to air and the dissolving of the vitamins in the cooking water. This is a good reason for saving the "pot liquor" for use in soup.

Q—I have been taking nicotinic acid and rauwolfia for several years. My doctor says I must take them the rest of my life. What are they for? Will they have any harmful effects?

A—Nicotin (nicotinic acid) is given for pellagra and to lower the cholesterol level of the blood. Rauwolfia is a tranquilizer and blood pressure reducer. When taken under medical supervision they may be taken indefinitely without harm.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

The best way to reduce the exploitation of man by man is to embrace Christianity. Christianity, not handouts, is the hope of the world. Christ was not a Socialist. Christ believed in the profit motive. He recognized that three men had different talents and abilities in varying degrees. Some gained more talents with what they had, and these were rewarded with more talents. However, Christ took away the talent of the man who did nothing and gave it to the man who had ten talents. He congratulated those who profited.

Christ challenged the slavery system and declared that man is the creation of God and is, first of all, responsible to God. Christ preached the freedom and dignity of the individual and his God-given right to come and go freely, to enjoy the fruits of his own labor, to work for himself or to sell his labor for pay, and to own things.

We spend billions in the U.N. denying Christianity and promoting the brotherhood of man. "Brotherhood" in a one-world, raceless, classless society is the new goal. The Fatherhood of God is "old hat." It is difficult enough for Christians to work together—but we are supposed to be "brothers" in this godless, Utopian dream-world. "World Government" is a man-made Kingdom on Earth ruled not by God, nor even by man, but by the devil and Russia.

The collectivists planners have created, through "liberal" press and networks, the impression that people who oppose "the brotherhood of man" are hate-mongers. Christians crusade not because they hate but because they love.

The Bible tells us to love our brothers and our enemies, but the New Testament, which I believe, admonishes us to love Christians above all.

Loss of faith in God is our nation's—and the world's—most serious problem. When men lose God, they turn to the State. When men lose God, they compromise, appease, lie, steal and make war. The collectivists, anarchists and atheists must "destroy" God to take over the world. Unless we can recapture our religious spirit, reestablish our Christian values, we will soon lose our freedom of choice with respect to life's values.

Some defeatists say we can't win, that it's all over; that these are the last days, that Armageddon and the millennium are imminent; so why oppose Biblical prophecy? Who has the temerity to say that he knows these are the last days? Where does the Bible say that when the end approaches, you are to quit? We can win and we can't quit.

A. G. Heinsohn, a courageous Christian and Council member of the John Birch Society, was told by a friend: "Once a nation is sliding down the toboggan of degradation as we are, it never stops 'till it hits bottom. Why do you struggle against the inevitable?"

Mr. Heinsohn replied: "Because it's unthinkable not to." What can one small voice do? Multiplied, it can work wonders. Let's remember, "I am only one, but still I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. And I will not refuse to do the same thing that I can do." What can you do? "Pray as if it were all up to God and work as if it were all up to you."

World of Religion

By DAVID POLING

Since the future is an extension of the past, let us carefully note these events as highpoints in the New Year:

1—Pope Paul VI will announce that, although many are asking, pleading, demanding changes in the Vatican's historic position on birth control, tradition prevails. No sweeping alterations. No allowances in the regulations concerning abortion. Further study required concerning the Pill. Result: The average family will continue to make its own decisions, with or without approval from Rome.

2—The war in Vietnam will become the most divisive issue in the churches of America. The National Council of Churches will be at the forefront of this debate, provoking old enemies and enlarging the field of controversy. Officers of the council are fully aware of this but feel they must press for an end to the war and the beginning of a negotiated peace settlement in Southeast Asia.

3—Father James E. Groppi, the militant civil rights priest in Milwaukee, will succeed (by Easter), in securing a fair housing bill in that city. Although Father Groppi receives about 25 telephone threats an hour, he has gained something else that guarantees Negro rights — the absolute support of not only his bishop but the aid and comfort of every solid Protestant denomination in the country. National church executives and aides who have been all the way with Father Groppi, told suburban congregations to rally around and will not yield to any half-hearted compromises. These white men will not speak with forked tongue.

4—The World Council of Churches meets in Uppsala, Sweden, in July. We predict that this will be the widest session the council has ever known. They will gather thousands of delegates from every corner of the globe and consensus will be hard to find. The international conflicts in the Middle East, Vietnam, South Africa are going to be high on the discussion list. World Population control is another blockbuster. Conservatives from the American church usually become the most vocal critics (at international affairs). A deposed Presbyterian minister from New Jersey will picket the assembly with his hired hands.

5—The tax squeeze in metropolitan areas will become so acute this year that churches, tax exempt foundations, universities, and religious centers will be invited to help out. In New York City, $15 billion of real estate is tax exempt. With a third of the city off the tax rolls and inflation on the churches are going to have to face up to their "fair share."

6—The election year of 1968 will not have any religious fireworks. Some Washington experts see an attempt to revive the prayer and Bible reading (in the public school) controversy. That is one that neither church nor state can win. After one or two mentions, it will quietly pass away for this session of Congress. Religious affiliation of candidates will cause no flurry or alarm. Mormon Romney and Christian Scientist Percy do not stir up the theologians or the politicians. It looks like a Protestant year for candidates.

Church World Service Sends Cash, Food, Aid To Earthquake Victims

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Earthquake victims of Maharashtra State in India are recipients of a million pounds of food and 3,600 pounds of blankets, and children's clothing made available through U.S. churches, according to word received from Douglas Cook, Church World Service representative stationed in New Delhi.

CORAGS, relief agency of the National Christian Council of India, is feeding 2,700 of an estimated 5,000 homeless persons from three field kitchens set up in the disaster area. Mr. Cook cabled, Episcopate of the village of Koyana Nagar, 150 miles south and slightly east of Bombay.

In addition to food dispensed from the field kitchens, food and cooking utensils are being distributed to families by CORAGS. Tents also have been made available. Medical assistance has been organized and is being dispensed through two local hospitals.

Church World Service made immediately available $5,000 in cash for relief purposes. CORAGS has further requested a sum of $20,000 for relief and rehabilitation of disaster victims.

Rev. Spivey has served two terms as association moderator for the Pan-Fork encampment and is currently the president. He has also been an active member of the Lefors Lions Club.

Rev. Spivey's new church in Wichita Falls, the Eden Hills Baptist, is 18 months old and has an enrollment of 180. It serves the Sheppard Air Force base area.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The accidental death of Prime Minister Harold Holt demonstrates anew that even government leaders cannot control events. Moreover, there is no way of foretelling their effects (hopefully for good) upon world affairs.

Could fate mark a turning in the road toward Asian peace on this eve of Christmas?

Certainly the free world was shocked and saddened by the drowning of Australia's government leader. Holt was a staunch supporter of the American position.

More than protocol formalities were involved. True, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey already was committed to leave Dec. 29 on an African goodwill trip and it would have been awkward to interpose the Australian journey upon him. But there were many other factors involved in Johnson's decision to make a personal trip.

First, there is an affinity between the United States and the land "down under." Just as pastoral New Zealand reminds of England, so Australia with its American music, its fine beer, its independence and Texas-like "outback" country reminds one of the U.S. American servicemen learned it first hand during World War II.

Then, too, halfway around the world from Britain or the United States, Australians have reason to feel remote and to welcome visitors. When Vice President and Mrs. Nixon visited them in 1953 they were still talking about Eleanor Roosevelt's wartime stopover. Some of their women, reflecting the commonwealth tie with the English throne, affectionately called Pat Nixon "the queen."

If President Johnson needed no other urging, all of these would have influenced his decision to go.

There are secondary reasons which could have fateful side effect. Dropped into Johnson's hand, at a time when hope for any negotiation with Hanoi seems dead, were these opportunities.

A chance for personal discussions with leaders of six nations which have forces in South Vietnam. (The very informality of such talks could be most important, especially to get the South Vietnamese government's feelings about the President's urging that it begin "informal talks" with the National Liberation Front.)

An opportunity for a quick Christmas-time visit with some of the American troops in Vietnam. (This would be a plus for the President both on the battle front and on the home front, as well as a lift in morale for servicemen.)

Men, women and youth in greater numbers than five years ago were turning to the church because "they realized the solutions to the world's severe problems were spiritual and required involvement," said Rev. Edwards, pastor of Port Arthur First Baptist.

The ministers in Port Arthur and El Paso were encouraged by youth's interest in the church today but Kilpatrick said in Austin the "youth are poorly represented."

Experimental Period
The council director said that young people go through a period of experimenting and rebelling in high school and college years. After marriage, however, they returned to the "norms and ideals" of the parents—and to church.

The Rev. Don L. Forsman, of El Paso Grace Methodist, disagreed. "The thinking youth were coming to (church) because of the unsettled times. They think they will find something in worship service that will help them."

"Bearded rebels," said Rev. Edwards, have taken the lime-light away from more dedicated and committed young people who are found in churches in large numbers today.

The Rev. Edward C. Christian, rector of the Amarillo Sacred Heart Cathedral, said more men volunteered for the liturgical work of the service and also for church choirs.

While greater attendance was reflected in spiraling budget outlays, few churches at year's end were counting left over monies in the coffers.

Harvesters, Cooper Meet Tonight

HOBBES, N.M.—It took Pampa and Midland a long time to get a basketball Thursday night but when they finally did, neither team had trouble making points with it.

The only trouble was, for Midland, that Pampa made more points and walked off with a 79-67 victory, the Harvesters 12th in a row.

In running their season record to 13-1 the Harvesters did not play well, turning the ball over 14 times on mistakes.

The feeling is they'll have to do better tonight when they meet Abilene Cooper at 7:30 p.m. (Pampa time) a 63-52 winner over first seeded El Paso Jefferson Wednesday.

The Harvesters got a remarkable effort for the second straight game from guard Jim Cornutt who finished the night with 18 points, 16 of them in the first half which saw Pampa battling for their very lives.

The same was true for Midland for had it not been for senior guard Robert Jackson the Bulldogs would not ever have been in the game.

Jackson led both teams in scoring with 27 points, 19 in the first two periods. George Bailey led Pampa scoring with 25. Beau Bond had 11 and Bo Lang finished with 10 despite having his worst night from the field this season, hitting only five of 19 shots.

The New Mexico officials whistled 41 fouls, 19 on Pampa but Midland had the only players foul out, two.

The lead changed hands 19 times and the game was tied nine times with Bailey's bucket putting Pampa in front 40-38 with 2:21 left in the half and the Harvesters never trailed again.

Pampa trailed by as much as five and led by as much as 16 points in the exciting contest.

Midland led 21-19 at the close of the first period on the shooting of Jackson who tal-led 12 points in the initial eight minutes.

Pampa had trailed 18-14 just 1:08 from the end and led 26-23 with 6:33 left in the half before Midland pulled back to a 27-26 lead with 5:39 to go.

Pampa led 34-29 with 4:56 left, Midland tied it 38-38 but after Bailey's go-ahead shot, Cornutt followed with a pair of free shots, Bailey's go-ahead shot and Pampa led 46-40 at halftime.

Lang broke loose for four straight buckets in the third period and Bailey sank four free shots and Pampa had pulled away 57-44 with 5:11 left in the third stanza. The Harvesters led 60-56 when the period ended.

Neither team showed much in the final period with Pampa missing their first six shots from the field and making only two of 11 shots in the period.

Midland wasn't much better, hitting only three of 12 for 11 points in the quarter to Pampa's 10.

For the night Pampa hit 27 of 56 for 48 per cent, below their season average while Midland, now 5-7 hit 40 per cent on 25 of 62.

Defense Held Victory Key

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers and Dallas Cowboys will match two of the National Football League's most prolific offenses in Sunday's championship game.

But despite the striking power of such players as Bart Starr, Don Meredith, Bob Hayes, Travis Williams, Don Perkins and Carroll Dale, most of the principals expect a defensive battle.

If they're correct, the seven points odds saying Green Bay will become the first team in history to win three consecutive crowns seem about right.

The Packers led the league in seven defensive categories during the regular season, the Cowboys in three. And comparing strengths, on paper at least, presents some interesting matchups.

Dallas and Green Bay both averaged 40 yards per rush. But the Packers were easier to run on, surrendering 4.3 yards per running play to only 3.2 for the Cowboys.

"We haven't been as successful stopping the run as we should. That means we'll need extra efforts to stop the fine backs they have, like Don Perkins and Dan Reeves. And Craig Baynam, their rookie back, looked great against the Browns."

Green Bay proved it could run against the Los Angeles Rams, vaulting "fearsome foursome," racking up 165 yards in last weekend's Western Conference playoff. But the Packer offensive line faces another big challenge in the mobile Dallas front four of George Andrie, Bob Lilly, Jethro Pugh and Willie Townes.

Three-Mile Backfield, Repeats Headline NAIA All-American

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Four repeaters and a backfield that gained more than three miles in total yardage headline the 1967 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' All-America football team announced today by the NAIA.

The holdovers, all linemen, were offensive tackle Fred Davis of Doane, Neb.; defensive tackle Eddie Joyner of Lenoir Rhyne, N.C.; defensive end Al Beauchamp of Southern, La.; and middle guard John Peterson of Pittsburg (Kan.) State.

Quarterback Marlin Ericson of Omaha, who hit 56 per cent of his passes for 2,283 yards and 25 touchdowns and rushed for 354 yards, headed the backfield, which also included fullback Jackson Leblanc of California Western and halfbacks Jim Nicholson of Willamette, Ore., and Charles Williams of Arkansas A&M. Jackson Leblanc netted 1,340 yards rushing and Nicholson, one of five juniors named to the first team, gained 1,138 yards rushing. Williams, a 5-7, 155-pound speedster, rushed for 807 yards.

The 23-man first team, including a punter, as selected by the NAIA Football Coaches' Association:

Tomorrow's Games Start Big Football Windup

By United Press International Four games kick off the big weekend college football Saturday, winding up with the four major bowl games on New Year's Day.

In what is expected to be the closest game Saturday, Penn State and Florida State each played seven-game winning streaks on the line in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., before a crowd of 70,000.

The 30th annual Blue-Gray classic takes place at Montgomery, Ala. East meets West in the annual Shrine game at San Francisco and Mississippi meets Texas in the Sun Bowl at El Paso in other Saturday contests.

On Monday, Southern California is a 14-point choice over Indiana in the Rose Bowl; Louisiana State is favored by seven over Wyoming in the Sugar Bowl; Tennessee is six over Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl night contest, and Alabama is picked by six over Texas A&M.

Strong Passing Attack Florida State presents a potent passing attack in quarterback Kip Hammond and flanker Ron Sellers. Hammond, completed 140 of 241 passes for 1,991 yards and 15 touchdowns in guiding Florida State's Seminoles to a 7-2-1 record. Sellers, a 6-foot-4, 225-pounder, grabbed 70 passes for 1,228 yards and eight TDs.

Penn State's Nittany Lions displayed a balanced attack in running up an 8-2 mark, but have lost Don Abbey, their first string fullback and placekicker. Quarterback Tom Sherman enters the game with impressive credentials—104 of 205 completions for 1,616 yards and 13 TDs this season.

John Schneider of Toledo, fourth in the nation in total offense, will start at quarterback for the favored Blue. John Scovell of Texas gets the nod as signal-caller for the Gray, which also has a top pass-catcher in Bob Goodridge of Vanderbilt.

The nation's football television addicts are already looking forward to the extravaganza on New Year's Day with about nine hours of football on TV covering the four major bowl games.

Possible Upset

The Sugar Bowl has the nation's only unbeaten team in Wyoming, which posted a 10-0 record during the regular season. But the Cowboys are underdogs to LSUP which lost three games during the regular season but by a total of six points. If it's a close game, the Cowboys could easily spring an upset since they have an excellent field goal-kicker in Jerry DePoyster and the LSU kicking has been erratic all year and has been a major factor in the Tiger losses.

Tremblay Hat Trick Paces Canadien Win

By United Press International Gilles Tremblay waited eight years for his first National Hockey League hat trick—and then turned the trick in less than four minutes.

The veteran Montreal left wing, who entered the NHL with the Canadiens in the 1960-61 season, waited until Thursday night to collect his first hat trick.

Tremblay accomplished the feat in one short outburst against North Star goalie Gary Bauman to pace the Canadiens to a 6-2 triumph. Tremblay's first goal came at 14:03 of the second period and the next two came at 15:04 and 17:44 of the same period. He now has 11 goals this year.

In the only other NHL game Thursday night, the Detroit Red Wings snapped a three-game losing streak by edging the Philadelphia Flyers 5-3.

Tremblay also had one assist besides his three goals to give himself four points for the game. He assisted on Claude Provost's first period goal.

Jean Elicheau, playing on the line with Tremblay and Provost, assisted on all three Tremblay goals and also on Provost's goal to also pick up four points in the game.

The loss left Montreal in a tie for last place in the Eastern Division with Detroit, which shook off its slump by downing Philadelphia. The loss left Philadelphia tied for first place in the Western Division with the Los Angeles.

Sharp Curve Takes Race At Santa Anita

By United Press International Sharp Curve, sent off at odds of 9-1, outraced Nevada Marga and Peggy's World to capture the $20,000 added feature race at Santa Anita Thursday.

The 3-year-old bay daughter of Fleet Nasrullah toured the six furlongs in 1:03 3/5 and returned $20.00, $8.40 and $5.00. It was her sixth victory in 21 starts this year and second consecutive success.

Jorge Velasquez, the 1967 riding champion, added three more winners at Tropical Park, bringing his total to 435. He scored with Darlins Bob ($9.20) in the second race, Flying Object ($13.50) in the fifth and At First Rush ($6.20) in the 10th. Alvaro Pineda also rode three winners. He now has 419 on the year.

To Sum It Up: Some Changes Need to be Made

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles dealing with the Pampa Sports Committee's survey and report presented to the Pampa School Board on Pampa, its athletic program and how it compares with eight other schools visited.

By RON CROSS

The job the Pampa Sports Committee did on their report was first class. But it had to be, for they were dealing with a first class subject. The decline and fall of football in Pampa and the decline and fall of the minor sports in the school system.

The committee visited schools in Amarillo, Borger, Dumas, Hereford, Lubbock, Perryton, Plainview and Abilene.

One interesting thing they found was that the head football coach in Pampa makes less in salary than every one of the schools visited.

When he was football coach Eural Ramsey was paid $10,110. The head coach in Borger, who was Rusty Talbot, received $10,600; Dumas' coach received $11,095; the coach at Monterey, $11,200; Perryton, and Abilene Cooper, $11,330.

All of these schools have first class coaches, all, with the exception of Borger, had winning records and have had for quite some time.

Coach Ramsey had been in the Pampa school system nine years, three as head coach while the Perryton coach had been there only one season and the Abilene Cooper coach only two and one-half years. Yet, both were paid higher salaries.

Basketball has flourished in Pampa for many moons, many of them under the direction of Terry Culley. Yet he is the lowest paid coach of any of the schools visited.

Culley receives only $8,804, while Borger pays $9,700; Dumas, $9,159; Monterey, $1,850 over base pay, Perryton $10, 000 and Plainview, $11,800 to coach basketball.

Culley has been in the Pampa system 16 years, yet the Plainview coach has been there 17 years but makes nearly three thousand dollars more than Culley.

The Borger basketball coach has been at his school only two years but draws nearly a thousand dollars more than Culley. It might be fair to point out that only at Perryton does the cage coach have to coach anything else.

Examine now, if you will, facilities some of the minor sports, in Pampa have to work with.

Baseball: The Pampa practice field, located just west of the football field was described in "poor" condition in the committee report. This was not a good description. Terrible would be more like it.

Only 40 boys were out last year and the high school has to use Optimist Club park for their games. Optimist park is one of the best in the state and the Optimist members are very considerate to let the high school use it.

Borger: Their park is city owned and the upkeep on it is done by the coach and players.

Dumas: Baseball field is owned by the city and used for all city baseball activities.

Lubbock: New modern field provided. Thirty to 35 boys now participating in successful program for both varsity and junior varsity.

Perryton: No baseball program in high school.

Plainview: Uses old Pony League park.

Pampa has only one baseball field for high school, same as Amarillo, but Amarillo schools use Potter County stadium.

Borger has two fields, same as Dumas.

Considering track facilities, you almost have to laugh when you look over Pampa's facilities for this most important sport.

The committee listed in comments that Pampa had practically no facilities. Those available were built by players, coaches and school maintenance. Dressing areas are used as they are available.

Amarillo Tascosa: All feeder junior highs use same facilities. Meets are held at Dick Bivins stadium. Basketball dressing area used.

Borger: Dressing area used in fieldhouse with adequate facilities. No conflicts.

Dumas: Facilities are excellent. Track program is most important. Track and basketball boys use same dressing area with no conflicts.

Lubbock Monterey: All high schools in Lubbock have modern cinder tracks with separate dressing facilities. Track program includes scheduled training for boys in and out of season. Current off-season program involves 83 students.

Perryton: Track program considered very important, to both football and basketball. School feels cinder wrong construction because of high cost of maintenance. Cost estimated is unrealistic because local contractor under bid to his loss.

Only comment from Plainview was that track adds considerably to a good overall program.

There are only a few differences in Pampa's golf program and the programs of those schools visited.

In Pampa approximately 12-15 are in this five month program. Some participation from the junior high level. Off season duty for present coach.

Amarillo Tascosa—Approximately 15 boys in this program with full time coach.

Borger—Approximately 24 boys participate. Also golf in junior high.

Dumas—Athletic department makes sure golf has season tickets to all games.

Hereford—Twelve boys participate.

Lubbock Monterey—Participation with sufficient boys involved to have a junior varsity.

Perryton—Club membership purchased for five boys. Club management is co-operative but new city course is to be built soon.

Plainview—Each member purchases a special club membership for $60. Coach paid $1,000 over base and has membership furnished.

It was found by the committee that Pampa's tennis program is almost as inadequate as the track program.

In Pampa there is very minor participation. No regular qualified coach. Used mostly by girls.

Amarillo Tascosa: Approximately 42 boys in program.

Dumas: Three courts located at high school and two at junior high.

Lubbock Monterey: Strong program including active participation by girls as well as varsity competition with qualified coach.

Perryton: Good program. Won district in 1966 and interest is high.

As far as intermural programs are concerned Pampa has no program. Playground and tennis court are the only facilities.

Tascosa has volleyball, touch football and use the same facilities as varsity sports.

At Perryton the program is sponsored by the student council and includes volleyball and basketball open to both sexes.

The Pampa School Board is apparently still studying the report for the only action made public that they have taken is to fire head football coach Eural Ramsey.

It has been almost three weeks since the report was submitted.

The school board meets in January so let us hope they will do something concrete at this meeting on the report or say they plan to do nothing.

To improve the facilities for athletics in Pampa, the board must make a decision soon. If they choose to do the right thing then they will have to follow the recommendations set forth by the committee and follow them letter perfect.

Seat Belt Use Is Urged by Highway Patrol Sergeant

Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol supervisor for the Pampa area, said today that experience in previous Christmas and New Year holiday periods and other statistical factors indicate 100 persons will be killed in motor vehicle traffic accidents during the two week-end holiday season.

Sergeant Wilson encouraged the use of seat belts in driving during this most dangerous time of the year. "Of course, a seat-belt cannot prevent an accident," he said, "only safe driving can do that, but in accidents, which can happen to a good driver through no fault of his own, the seat belt has an outstanding record for preventing serious injury and death."

A recent study of 250 traffic fatalities indicates that 100 would have survived if they had been wearing seat belts and 130 if they had been wearing seat belt and shoulder belt combinations, Wilson stated. It is estimated, on a national scale, the use of seat belts alone might have prevented more than 10,000 of last year's 53,000 traffic deaths in this nation," the sergeant stated.

In re-emphasizing the use of seat belts, Sergeant Wilson said approximately 20 per cent of the predicted 100 deaths, due to traffic accidents, during this holiday season, can be saved by simply buckling seat belts when driving.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—When we come to the end of a perfect year, we find ourselves in a retrospective mood.

Not that 1967 was totally sublime, but any year you can manage to muddle through must be regarded as having a measure of perfection, including the parts that were perfectly dreadful.

Anyway, it is customary at this time to look back on the 12 months just passed and pick out the year's most significant events. Here are three I think certainly belong on the list:

1. In international affairs, the most significant event was the emergence of North Carolina peanuts as a force for world peace.

It seems that Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, took along sample bags of home state peanuts when he went to New York.

Recently, he received a letter signed by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and his staff. It said:

"We wish to thank you for sustaining the 11th floor throughout the long negotiations in regard to the Middle East crisis and now the Cyprus crisis. These negotiations are invariably conducted during hours when there are no restaurants open. Without your North Carolina peanuts, we could scarcely have survived." Gad! That was a narrow escape. If peanuts made the difference between war and peace over the Middle East, I hope that next year someone will have the foresight to supply the U.N. with a few pretzels and some cheese dip.

2. In politics, the most significant event was the boost that President Johnson received from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. The Minnesota Democrat announced he would run against Johnson in four presidential primaries next year. Shortly afterwards, a national poll showed the American people favored LEJ over McCarthy, 3 to 1.

This was about the only time all year that the President came in first in a national poll. It undoubtedly gave him a big psychological lift.

3. In Congress, the most significant event was the emergence of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., as a great national leader.

A motion picture titled "The Night They Raided Minsky's" is now being filmed and in the cast is a stripper named "Evvy Dirksen."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. notes that during the final week of the year stock prices usually make steady, if not dramatic, headway. The company says economic news continues to be favorable for the market and it anticipates a carryover of the year-end rally into the 1968 market.

Tessel, Paturick & Ostrau, Inc. says although most issues on the list appear to be "marking time," many are beginning to show upward tendencies after a long period of consolidation. The company feels a continuation of this pattern could have bullish implications for the coming year's market.

Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. feels the 1968 stock market will remain in a narrow range since most of the good business news already seems to be incorporated into the present market. Also, since it is an election year, it is not likely a major collapse will occur. The analyst feels most opportunities for aggressive investors will be highly selective.

FISHERMEN KIDNAPPED

SEOUL (UPI)—The South Korean government will protect its fishermen working in waters near the North-South demarcation line with added patrol boats and reconnaissance planes, a spokesman said Tuesday. The announcement followed a Christmas Day kidnapping by North Koreans of five fishing boats and 30 fishermen. The spokesman said 39 boats and 339 men have been kidnapped this year.

ICE BLOCKS DANUBE

BELGRADE (UPI)—The Danube River is blocked to navigation by a 6-mile ice barrier 100 miles east of Belgrade, the Yugoslav news agency reported recently. Two Romanian ice-breakers have attempted to cut a route through the ice which is as deep as 26 feet in some places, the agency said.

DOUBLE COLLISION

MIESBACH, Germany (UPI)—A bus carrying skiers from Munich to a Bavarian resort skidded off an icy road near Miesbach and struck a tree recently, injuring 23 persons, three seriously. Twenty-five minutes later, a head-on auto collision in the same area injured six children and five adults.

One horsepower represents the power required to lift a weight of 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute.

The Weekly Message

Of Inspiration

Rev. Albert Maggard, Pastor
First Pentecostal Holiness Church

YOUR CHURCH

Your church is more than a building. It's more than a minister and his helpers. It's more than the place to which hundreds turn on Sundays for worship and on every other day of the week for friendship and counsel.

Your church is the institution which has been a bulwark against evil and a defender of those simple decencies which make life possible. It is the inheritor and bequeather for each new generation of these convictions and hopes which are the sinew and glory of the civilization we call Christian. It is the place where the most precious achievements of the past and the imperative needs of the future meet in vital fashion to make the present significant. It is the place where these brief lives of ours are exposed most effectively to the eternal values. It's the place where men of good-will unite to keep good-will alive in themselves and in the world.

Your church is the place where, from birth to death, you can find not only such love and courage and peace as human beings can give to each other, but also such love and courage and peace as only God can give.

It is the place where your children and your children's children are lovingly welcomed and given glimpses of some of life's nobler highways. It is a fellowship of men and women, old and young, rich and poor, who believe in God and in one another and who wish to live in the light of the teachings of Jesus. It is God's foothold in this place. It is the lengthened shadow of the Greatest Soul that ever wore the garment of flesh.

The many fine churches pictured on this page stand ready to minister to your spiritual needs. Don't deprive your soul of the joy that comes to those who, in the midst of time, link their lives to the things that are timeless. Go to church next Sunday; you'll be the richer for it.
