U.S. Bombers Strike Hanoi; Pause is Near

SAIGON (UPI) — American bombers struck the Hanoi area today for the second day in a row, Communist reports said. In Saigon the Allies announced four days of cease-fire and a bombing pause for the year end holidays.

A South Vietnam government announcement also said the four days of truce could be extended if they might lead to "fruitful results" in talks with North Vietnam.

"Fruitful results" was not defined in the foreign ministry statement. It appeared to mean peace talks, observers said.

The statement said the allies will observe a one day truce at Christmas, one at New Year's and two days at the Asian lunar new year late in January. The Viet Cong sought a 13-day truce period.

Includes Bombing Pause
The truce includes a controversial bombing pause over North Vietnam, the statement said.

The announcement said that during the truce allied troops will fire only when fired upon in South Vietnam. American jets will pause in their bombing of North Vietnam, a move strongly opposed by many allied strategists who argued the period will only give the Communists more time to muscle up their war effort.

The truce announcement came amid reports of battle in South and North Vietnam.

U.S. spokesmen said two battles were raging in the South. In Binh Dinh province 300 miles northeast of Saigon, in one fight, U.S. troops were battling about 200 Communists on the spot where 510 North Vietnamese were killed in a six day battle that ended four days ago. In the new fighting, six Communists were reported killed with American reinforcements pouring into the battle.

HH Government's Outpost

At another point in the province, U.S. Army armored units were reported battling North Vietnamese who overran a government outpost. American commanders reported 55 Communists killed so far with three GIs killed, and 10 wounded.

In the air, Communist reports said American jets struck the Hanoi area of North Vietnam in two waves today.

More Sleet, Snow Forecast for State

By RON CROSS

The Amarillo-Weather Bureau issued new travel warnings today for Panhandle motorists. Gray County Highway Patrol units asked motorists to travel with extreme caution if they had to travel at all.

In their 11 a.m. forecast the Weather Bureau said the Panhandle could expect cloudy and cold weather with sleet freezing rain and snow, some late tonight and Saturday.

An official at the bureau said that travel was dangerous over all the Panhandle with snow becoming deeper in the west and slicker in the east.

Pampa recorded a high temperature of only 25 degrees Thursday and an overnight low of 18 degrees.

Weather has been attributed to the death of seven persons in the state, three of them in a grinding two-car head-on collision seven miles west of White Deer.

Two of the three were from Pampa and one from Hereford. Killed in the crash was Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Savage of Pampa and Don Warrick of Hereford.

The collision occurred about seven miles west of White Deer on highway 60 on a sleet-slick curve.

Two other persons met death in almost the identical spot about two months ago.

The Savages were returning to Pampa from Amarillo while Warrick was traveling west on the highway when the collision occurred.

Wreckers were called to pry the two cars apart and ambulances from Panhandle and Pampa were also sent to the scene.

Savage was born Feb. 6, 1928 in Paducah and moved to Pampa in 1929. He was a member of the Central Baptist Church and was a crane operator for Cabot Corp.

Survivors include one son, Phillip, one daughter, Susan, his mother, Lillie, all of Pampa; two brothers, Kenneth, Pampa, and Jim, of Borger; his grandmother, Lizzie Burns, Pampa.

Mrs. Savage was born Nov. 7, 1926, and was a member of the Hobart Street Baptist Church and also worked for Cabot Corp.

Her survivors, other than her two children previously mentioned, include her father, Al. (See ACCIDENT, Page 3)

UAW, General Motors Still in Marathon Session

DETROIT (UPI) — Negotiations between General Motors Corp. and the United Auto workers passed the 24-hour mark today in a marathon session designed to eliminate the threat of a January strike that could hobble the nation's economy.

The round-the-clock talks were aimed at virtually completing the most expensive contract negotiations in auto industry history.

The session approached the length of the next-to-last meeting between UAW and Ford Motor Co. negotiators, which recessed after 31 hours when two negotiators collapsed. A subsequent 18-hour session at Ford produced the first agreement this year on a three-year auto industry contract, and ended a seven-week strike.

Chrysler Corp. settled last month along the same lines as Ford. Talks with American Motors Corp., the mid-tier of the industry, were in recess until Jan. 3.

The GM talks were free of the strike pressures that marked the Ford and Chrysler settlements. The Chrysler agreement came only four hours before a strike deadline.

At GM, negotiations continued past a midnight target deadline for agreement on a national contract to cover 406,000 production workers into 1970.

The deadline, set by the UAW, was a preliminary step designed to force concentration on a settlement before Christmas.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said earlier the union would set a strike deadline for some time in January if agreement was not reached on the national contract. It would be a single deadline for settlement of both the national contract and the thousands of local issues.

Both sides agreed to the basic economic package before the "news blackout" was put into effect Dec. 5. It reportedly was patterned after the $1.02 per hour wage and fringe benefits package the UAW won for its members at Ford and Chrysler.

MAY BE RETURNING TO GREECE

Constantine, Foes in Contact

United Press International Deposed King Constantine of Greece was reported today to be in contact with the military regime he tried to overthrow. There was speculation in Rome he may be seeking some means of returning to Greece.

Greek Foreign Minister Panayotis Pipinelis arrived in Rome from the NATO foreign ministers conference in Brussels and went immediately to the Greek Embassy where Constantine was staying with his Danish-born Queen, Anne Marie.

Pipinelis is the only senior civilian minister left in the Greek government which is now headed by Col. George Papadopoulos, mastermind of the April 21 coup which brought the junta to power. The civilian premier fled Greece with the king.

UPI correspondent Ernest A. Lottio reported from Athens that one informed source said "something is definitely afoot to bring the two opposing sides together."

In Paris former Greek Defense Minister Petros Garoufalas offered himself as the possible head of a new government to reconcile the king with the ruling junta. "If either the king or the military regime called me I would accept my duty to the Greek people," the 66-year-old politician said in his Paris hotel. He said any government he headed would follow a political course "aimed to restore normal life in Greece."

Garoufalas confirmed reports he had been in contact in Paris with former Premier Constantine Karamanlis who lives in exile there. But he said he was surprised by reports Constantine had wanted to name him premier of the government the king had hoped to set up after overthrowing the junta.

In Rome, informed sources told UPI that Constantine held lengthy talks with Greek Ambassador Antonis Poumpouras, who then conferred with junta leaders in Athens.

Constantine was today shuttling back and forth between a borrowed Roman villa and the high-walled Greek Embassy in the eternal city.

Constantine fled to Rome Thursday morning after the Greek army failed to rally to his call for the overthrow of the colonels who have ruled Greece since seizing power April 21. The colonels promptly announced Constantine was deposed.

ACCREDITATION AT STAKE

School Board Urged To Upgrade System

Unless the Pampa school board takes definite steps to improve its district in six major areas by the 1969-70 school year it faces possible loss of accreditation.

Loss of accreditation would mean that graduates of Pampa High School would find difficulty in acceptance by fully accredited college and universities, according to Pampa school officials.

H. E. Phillips recently visited the Pampa school plant on an unofficial tour from the Texas Education Agency's Division of Accreditation. Phillips' report, submitted in yesterday's school board agenda, will be studied in a called meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

According to the report, the school program is "not fully meeting accreditation standards because, an imbalance in educational opportunities exists between the two junior high

Reward Offered In Death Of Baylor Coed

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—A reward fund for information leading to the murderer of a popular coed is growing rapidly, and police today hoped it would add incentive to anyone who may have information.

Jill Brown, 19, was found savagely beaten to death a week ago. She commuted to Baylor University from her Crawford, Tex., home.

Police report they have run the full circle of what they had to work on and are back where they started.

The Waco Police Association Thursday added $100 to the reward fund, which could reach $10,000.

Sheriff Brady Pampin of Marlin, Tex., was one of the first contributors to the fund with $100. The city council has pledged $5,000 in matching funds to the drive.

Illegitimate Births on Rise

By United Press International Texas' rate of illegitimate births increased 166 per cent over the last 26 years and 50 per cent from 1960 to 1966 alone. State Health Department figures indicated today.

Most of the increase was in the 20-to-29-year-old age bracket rather than among the younger generation usually blamed for "the new morality."

The state figures showed there were 29.6 illegitimate births out of every 1,000 live births in 1940 in Texas and 78.8 in 1966. The illegitimacy rate was 52.2 per 1,000 in 1960. The illegitimacy rate among Negroes was higher than among whites — about one out of four Negro births was illegitimate in 1966 in the state. But a sociologist said the illegitimacy birth rate upon upper-class Negroes was lower than among upper-class whites.

Sociologists listed a number of reasons for the increase. The figures themselves may not be completely accurate, however, they said, since the number of reported illegitimate births may be nowhere near the true figure.

Guy Shuttlesworth, professor of sociology at Baylor University, said current methods of reporting are more efficient than ever before and more women are willing to seek help from social welfare agencies and therefore become part of the records.

Dr. Walter Grey, professor of sociology at the University of Texas at Austin, said part of the explanation might involve movement from the country where everyone knows what his neighbor is doing, to the anonymity of the city.

Dr. Edward Rydman of Dallas, executive director of the National Association of Marriage Counselors, said he was not sure there has been a wholesale breakdown in social controls. He said perhaps there has been a change in attitudes, however, so that it is possible for a woman to have a baby out of wedlock now without being ostracized.

Shuttlesworth added there has been a "sort of relaxation of the more harsh measures of social control" and a woman who has an illegitimate baby can now "come back to the community." But all three experts questioned the validity of the statistics.

Rydman said among upper class Negroes the illegitimacy rate has been lower than for whites. He said this was probably because upper class Negroes are "upwardly mobile" or improving their social status. Rydman said a Negro girl in college who becomes pregnant faces a more traumatic experience than does a white coed.

Arguments Heard In $200,000 Civil Suit

The defense opened its arguments this morning in 31st Judicial District Court in the $200,000 civil suit filed by an Amarillo man against Montgomery Ward Company here.

Counsel Harris E. Loftus stated his case for the plaintiff at 3:30 p.m. yesterday as the trial finished its second day. Loftus has spent much of the last two days interrogating witnesses Don Cain, county attorney; C. K. Webster, credit manager for Montgomery Ward; and plaintiff David Miles. Miles' wife was called to testify yesterday afternoon.

The plaintiff, David Miles, former Pampa man now living in Amarillo, charges in his suit at Montgomery Ward maliciously accused his wife Edith "swindling with a worthless check in partial payment on a garage account."

The suit further alleges that as a result of a warrant issued for the arrest, she was "confinement in jail, booked as a criminal, fingerprinted, photographed and in all respects treated as a criminal."

Miles charges in his suit that the Montgomery Ward Company acted in violation of Texas criminal statutes which forbid instituting a criminal proceeding for the purpose of obtaining payment of a debt.

Miles' attorney, Harris Loftus, contended in the presentation of his case that since no merchandise was received, the swindling with a worthless check charge was invalid and violated the statutes forbidding the collection of debts by instituting criminal proceedings.

Miles testified Wednesday that he was told by C. K. Webster, credit manager for Montgomery Ward, that if he would wire $30 to cover the worthless check, the charges would be dropped. He said he wired the $30 and his wife was released from an Amarillo jail after spending approximately three hours there.

The Gray County chapter of the March of Dimes will kick off their drive Jan. 1, it was announced after an organizational meeting held this forenoon.

The drive will last for three weeks and will be climaxed Jan. 22 with the traditional door-to-door Mother's March.

Don Loshier, president of the Gray County chapter of the March of Dimes, announced committees this morning at the organizational meeting.

Named chairman of the county drive was Gene Martindale, Cameron Marsh, principal of Pampa High School, was named to head the Pampa drive.

Other committee chairman are: Ruth Osborne and Mary Howard, Mother's March; Georgia Mack, Youth Group; Gene Hollar, Civic Clubs; Weldon Trice, Bucket Brigade; Don Loshier, Laymon Stevill and Charlie Powell, Film Presentation; Mrs. Inga Pratt, Public Schools; and Jerry Sims, Auditor.

Past drives have usually netted around $4,000 county-wide. The proceeds are used locally for immunizations and other programs and national contributions are used for research on crippling diseases.

Phillips' report also stated: "The Pampa Independent School District has operated a well-managed school system guided by good planning over the year. While the basic program has been of good quality and is still of highly acceptable quality in many areas, changing times require a reassessment to make sound decisions to guide future operations. The decisions to be made should not be just in terms of meeting accreditation standards, but should be based on present and future educational needs to provide a sound educational program for each pupil."

Pampa school board members will study the detailed report of Phillips' survey and are expected to make recommendations at the open called meeting Tuesday night which will establish priorities for completing Phillips' recommendations.

They are expected to study possible building programs, curriculum changes, and other procedures necessary to remain a fully accredited school system, school officials said today.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Meaning of a Dollar

A dollar is worth one of two things: whatever it will buy in goods or services at a given moment, or whatever labor or service you are willing to perform in exchange for it at any given moment. When all is said and done, that's what a dollar is. A dollar is a piece of paper. It has value only as you trust it to buy a known value in goods or services.

It doesn't make an iota of difference what one Swiss banker, or Charles De Gaulle, or a German industrialist thinks. It makes no difference what Henry J. Fowler or Lyndon B. Johnson says. The test is will the corner grocer accept the piece of paper in payment for four loaves of bread? The test is: will you work eight hours for 20 such pieces of paper?

So long as you are able to buy four loaves of bread for that paper dollar, or are willing to work eight hours for 20 paper dollars, the dollar is going to hold its value. And so long as you can buy four loaves of bread with a paper dollar, Big Charlie, the German industrialist and the Swiss banker are going to scheme and sweat to get their hands on dollars.

But the day the grocer and the landlord lose confidence in the dollar—that is the day the French, the Germans and the Swiss will stop wanting it.

Ethical Decisions in Medical Gains

That first successful transplant of a human heart, in Cape Town, South Africa, is a historic, medical triumph.

Surgeons have been perfecting the techniques of the operation for years, using animals. Its achievement with humans was only a matter of time. It will be repeated in other hospitals.

Whole-heart transplantation may remain a rarity, however, because of work that is going forward in the field of artificial hearts. Here, too, it is probably only a matter of time before a completely artificial heart can be successfully placed in a human body—though most research today is aimed at the repair of the existing heart by replacing parts of it, such as worn-out blood vessels and valves.

But the news from Capetown lends new drama to a matter that is already of concern to medicine. It seems certain that the transplantation of other tissues, like the kidneys and the liver, will have become a com-

We Won't Buckle Down

Safety, like morality, is difficult to legislate. Or so a nationwide survey by the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee would seem to indicate.

Nearly two-thirds—85 per cent—of the more than one million cars checked were equipped with seat belts. Yet barely more than half the drivers questioned said they always use them on long trips, and only 38 per cent said they always use them in local travel.

This represented a drop of 5 percent in the "always use on long trips" category reported in a similar survey in 1966.

The committee notes that in 1963, before seat belts became required equipment on new cars, only 9 per cent of the cars surveyed were so equipped. But nearly three out of four drivers questioned said they always used them on long trips.

Another startling finding was that the percentage of persons stating that they "never wear" seat belts nearly doubled in 1967—up to 17 per cent from 10 per cent in 1966.

Evidently, more and more people are finding seat belts more and more uncomfortable to sit on, but fewer and fewer are adopting the simple and sensible solution—to buckle them.

Question Box

QUESTION: How can a person test another's beliefs to determine whether he is 100 per cent for honest capitalism and free trade, nationally and internationally, and 100 per cent against all forms of state socialism and the welfare state?

ANSWER: To determine if a person is 100 per cent for honest capitalism and free trade and 100 per cent against all forms of state socialism and the welfare state, see if he can answer without evasion or contradiction the following question: "What is the difference, other

REWARDING THE GOOD GUYS

I was listening to the radio the other day and the commentator was telling about some new laws that were being considered at the federal level. They related to the business of obtaining "clean" meat.

Parenthetically, I've been hearing the same report for several days since, and it is certain that the propaganda mills in Washington are churning away to convince everyone that some new federal laws are necessary.

The reason the commentator gave was this. It seems there are ten or eleven states that have no state laws governing "clean" meat. In one or two instances, the report had it, some unscrupulous rascals proceeded to pass off a bad product on an unsuspecting market. Therefore, federal intervention is required. All states have health laws and sanitation laws, of course, but that point was missed. The commentator seemed to be unusually well-informed.

He pointed out that in one state where state laws did exist, some ingenious dealer had substituted horse meat for beef and even the inspectors hadn't caught it. It was quite so that quite a few people had been buying horse meat without knowing the difference. The meat was clean enough. It was just good, clean, horse meat.

Well, if the state inspectors hadn't caught it, it was quite likely that federal inspectors wouldn't either, federal inspectors being just as fallible as state inspectors. And then the commentator added that because there were a few bad boys operating around the country, it seems that all of us have to be imposed upon by still another federal agency and bureau, with increased taxes and further curtailments to our freedom.

This observation started a train of thought. If there is to be any justice, then certainly it must follow that only the lawless, the criminal, the vicious should be made to suffer from lawlessness, criminality and viciousness.

The way we have it worked out in this country, the situation is exactly the reverse. A few malcontents and rather low-level mentalities seem to operate on the basis of taking advantage of others. Most people don't do that. But those who behave themselves are taxed and regulated in order to curtail the actions of those who won't. The result is that those who misbehave simply find loopholes in the law, and those who behave properly are punished. And because they are fundamentally honest, they don't find the loopholes, until driven to it.

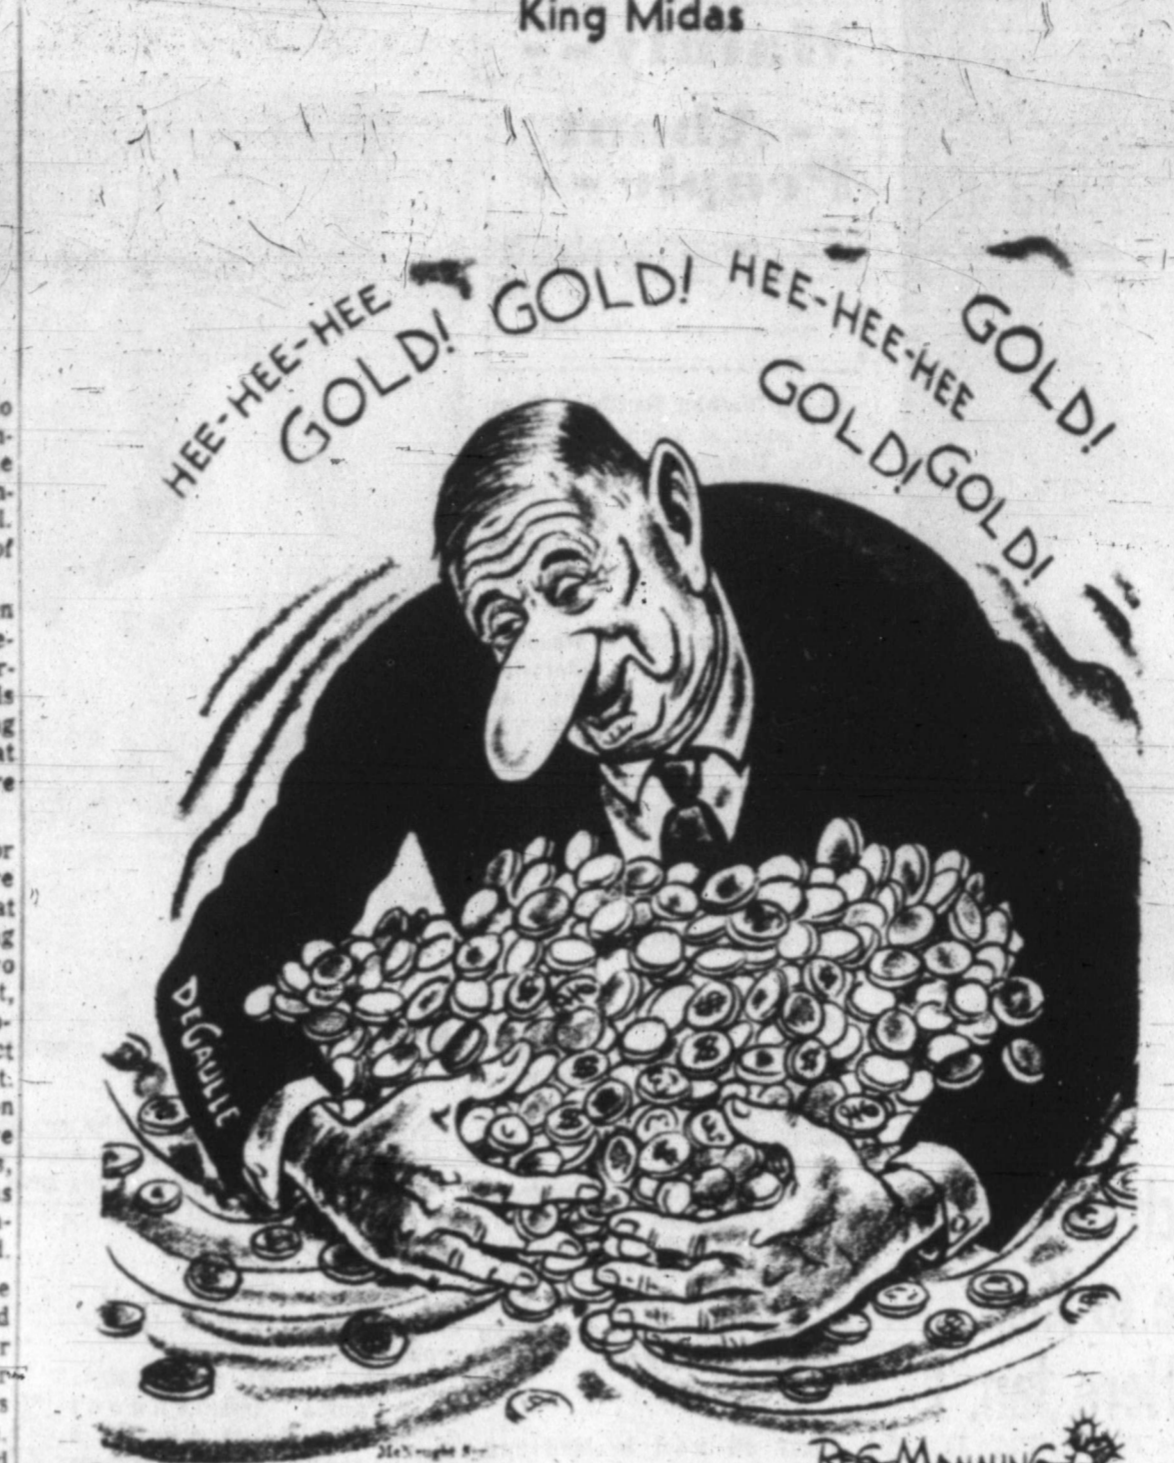

Thus, the dishonest are not caught or punished and the law protects them. Meanwhile, the honest are treated as though they were real or potential criminals and justice is not only blindfolded but hogtied.

It strikes me that a bold new departure here would be to create an area of tax and regulation exemption for the good guy with a demonstrated record of proper behavior. Millions of people simply don't cause any difficulties. How about exempting them from taxes and regulations? If they step over the line, there would certainly be time enough to crack down if necessary. But if a man knew that by proper behavior he could avoid taxation and regulation, what an incentive that would provide toward correct behavior!

It might take a while to initiate such just procedures, but it seems to me that this is the desirable way to move. I favor tax exemption for all but the wrongdoer. And certainly a man who regulates his own affairs so that he does not injure another, requires no external authority to keep him in line, because he is in line. These people should all be exempted. They could be known as "free men." They have earned and continue to earn their liberty.

What is done with the others is of minor interest to me. Except that it seems, by the starting of this line of thought, there would be a noticeable thrust toward not only acceptable, but meritorious and even noble behavior.

With this kind of reward held out, it is even likely that many bad guys would get to be good guys in a hurry. And what would be wrong with that?

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Shakespeare was not only the greatest of all dramatists, but he was also one of the most prolific. During his brief career as a play-wright the Bard of Avon turned out 37 plays. They contain 106,007 lines and 814,780 words. His plays include 1,277 speaking characters of whom only 157 are females. Hamlet is not only the greatest of all of Shakespeare's plays, but it is his masterpiece. The leading role of the melancholy Prince is a wordy part that keeps the character or stage most of the evening, but if he's a Richard Burton or Maurice Evans you can take it.

Today's smile: A shipwrecked sailor on a desert isle was overjoyed when a passing steamer dropped anchor in the bay and sent a small boat to shore to rescue him. An officer of the ship greeted him and handed him a batch of newspapers, saying: "The captain suggests you read these and see what's going on in the world and then you can decide whether you want to be rescued."

It's amazing how political slogans are attributed to a man who never uttered them. An example is "He Kept Us out of the War." It gave the greatest boost to Woodrow Wilson's campaign for re-election in 1916, yet Wilson never really promised he would keep this nation out of World War I. The slogan was the brain child of Robert W. Wooley, publicity director for the Democratic National Committee that year. And he earned his year's pay on that alone.

Thoughts while shaving: A Jersey public health official has found a way to arouse public interest in air pollution. His solution: simply prove it affects a person's sex life. Pro hockey is one of the roughest of all competitive sports and any player who goes through a season without collecting his share of cuts and bruises is considered lucky. However, the all-time champ was Ching Johnson. He acquired 685 stitches for wounds received during his quarter century in the pro hockey ranks. . . . And speaking of games, did you know why dice used in shooting craps are often called "bones"? Well, the Huns learned the game from the ancient Romans and fashioned their own dice from the knucklebones of goats and sheep. . . . We sometimes wonder what President Calvin Coolidge would have thought about today's easy credit buying through credit cards that cover everything from purchasing a newspaper to an automobile. Cal once said: "There is no dignity quite so impressive, and no independence quite so important as living within your means."

And, he's one man who practiced what he preached. . . . You often hear the familiar phrase about "the other side of the tracks," and it always makes

President Needs New Key Leaders For 1968 Convention

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's growing political problems within the Democratic party are being complicated by the unannounced decisions of two of his most loyal congressional backers.

Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., and House Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., have notified the President that because of legislative pressures and personal reasons they do not wish to take on the added responsibilities of serving in two of the most important positions at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

McCormack, who three times headed the party's platform committee, served as the convention's permanent chairman when President Johnson was nominated without opposition at Atlantic City in 1964. Representative Albert was chairman of the convention's platform committee the same year.

Since by long tradition the Speaker, if a Democrat, presides over the party's presidential nominating convention, McCormack's request for a replacement caught the White House by surprise.

A substitute for Representative Albert, because of his heart trouble, had been under consideration by the President for several weeks.

The President is also looking for a new keynoter. Senator John Pastore, D-R.I., keynoter at the 1964 convention, is out of favor at the White House because of his public call for halting the bombing of North Vietnam.

NEED FOR COMPROMISE — Under normal conditions, President Johnson would be able to fill all three convention positions with party leaders favorable to his candidacy because of his tight control over convention arrangements.

However, Senator Eugene McCarthy's challenge for the party's nomination and Senator Robert Kennedy's opposition to his Vietnam policy make these choices more difficult.

us wonder what's wrong with people who live on that "obnoxious" other side. We've known a lot of them and they didn't appear to be different from their neighbors who might have had more money, but certainly no more integrity and morality. . . . The Los Angeles (Calif.) TIMES headlined a story: "Caring for Birds Doesn't Come Cheap." Well, it's not exactly chicken feed.

Country Editor speaking: "The honeymoon is over when he calls to say he will be late getting home and she tells him not to hurry because she'll be out for the evening at her bridge club."

Popular Misconceptions
According to the old song, "tis the season to be jolly." This being so, or at least widely believed, the question arises: Are you the type who needs to take several drinks to be jolly? If so, after these drinks, do you always say, "Of course, I'm sober enough to drive?" If this is the case, the season may not be as jolly as you had anticipated.

Because so many traffic accidents are the result of drinking, this seems to be a good time to review some popular misconceptions about alcohol. For example, the belief that you will get more intoxicated if you mix your drinks (gin after whisky or vice versa) is completely false. It is the amount of alcohol you consume in a unit of time that causes intoxication, regardless of the type of drink.

If you think you can safely drive when two hours have elapsed since you had two highballs, you should revise your thinking. You might make it home without an accident, but a wait of three hours, too. The modern chemical test for alcohol in the expired air is specific for alcohol. And don't forget that your ability for self-criticism is lost before there are any obvious signs of intoxication.

Do you take a shot of liquor to warm you up when you have to go out on a cold night? Don't do it. The alcohol will warm your skin by dilating the surface capillaries but the total effect will be to cause your body to lose heat more rapidly.

Do you always accompany your alcohol consumption with eating onions or garlic chewing cloves to fool police? If so, you will lose hours is safer.

The old notion that an alcohol acts as a stimulant and makes you more alert is false. Alcohol depresses nervous system. Some sons, aware of this danger, drive more carefully than would otherwise but, in an emergency arise, their reflexes would be a little less than normal.

Q—My doctor gave me a tanol for a sore throat. Is it?
A—This is a sulfa drug to suppress the germs sometimes responsible for sore throats. It should not be taken by pregnant women, or sons with liver or kidney ease, diseases of the cells or allergies.

TELEPHONE POLLS

My interest in public affairs extends to a curiosity as to the electorate will vote on any issues and in political races. I have been curious about results of pending elections even when I had little or no preference regarding the come. I have decided that do not know the answer to question, the best way for to satisfy myself is to ask, in this case, the voter, if she could be reached with question.

Needless to say, the simplest and easiest way to reach a voter is by telephone and simply posing the question by phone. In polling by phone, no pressure is exerted and if it were, it would do the accuracy of the poll. pollster is also not making nuisance out of herself. If she took the time to do so, she would get little polling data. The pollster must not put answers in the mouths of those she is polling and must be careful not to influence the answers by vocal mannerism or suggestion of the voice.

A highly gifted lady whom I have long been acquainted seemed to be able to give an impartial and unprejudiced view on issues which we wondered about. During the past year, we have missed more than 3 per cent only once in polling an election. A telephone poll taken prior to Dec. 5, 1967, on the 1 percent City Sales tax election in Dallas, Texas, showed these results: Undecided 14 percent; of the remaining 86 percent, 71 percent were for the sales tax; 29 percent against. The election results were: 73 percent for 37,963; Against 27 percent or 13,809.

A campaigner for more constructive government cannot carry out a telephone poll accurately. However, they can make a list of those who are either undecided or who answer by giving a choice but seem to be hesitant. The name, address and telephone number of these "non-committed" can be furnished the campaign committee for the constructive side. This will be an invaluable list of the ones for the campaign to send literature and visit.

The Almanac

Today is Friday, Dec. 15, the 349th day of 1967 with 16 to follow.

The moon is between the first quarter and full stage.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1957, a series of earthquakes struck western Iran, killing almost 1,400 persons.
A thought for the day—British poet Letitia Elizabeth Landon once said, "Were it not better to forget than but remember from persons wanting to discuss his candidacy or campaign. There have been hundreds of these."
One caller for a group of Democrats in California woke him at 4 a.m. to check out a rumor that he was being used by the CIA.
"We understand your candidacy was inspired by the CIA to keep college students off the streets and from participating in demonstrations and riots next summer," the caller stated.
"Oh, no!" replied the half-awake McCarthy. "If you take time to read any of my statements about the CIA, you would know that I would ever pick for such a mission."
After that explanation, the caller hung up.

Wit and Whimsy

A group of congressmen were conferring. Said one:
Congressman Bell — We've got a one hundred and twenty million dollar appropriation to spend which will get us each thousands of votes.
Congressman Bell — I've got an idea on how to spend it. How about building a bridge over the Mississippi River, lengthwise?
Hal — It was so cold last night I just lay there and shivered.
Cal — Did your teeth chatter?
Hal — I don't know, we don't sleep together.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a mother-in-law (Hubby's Mom) who is generous to a fault? We have been married 2 years now and all this time we have been trying unsuccessfully to fight off lavish gifts, free trips, etc.

We want to be independent and would rather have less than always be saying "thank you" for this and that. My mother-in-law is a very extravagant person, and when she buys for us in the same grand manner that she buys for herself, it's my poor father-in-law who has to pay the bills, and Abby he is not that rich.

We have told her over and over again that we don't want anything, but she won't take no for an answer. Please tell us what else we can do.

LOSING PATIENCE
DEAR ABBY: The "no" that seems to be posing a problem is not the one your mother-in-law won't take for an answer. It's the one you and your husband seem unable to make stick when you try to refuse her gifts. No one need be the recipient of a gift he really does not want. Put a little more conviction into your "no"—and if she gives you the gift anyway, give it back.

DEAR ABBY: They say that worry kills more people than work. Is this true?

WORRIER
DEAR WORRIER: Undoubtedly. Because more people worry than work.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 47-year-old bachelor with a problem like I'm sure you've never been asked to solve before. I can't make my mind up between Hazel, a 30-year-old divorcee, and her mother.

I started going with Hazel and thought I was in love with her until I met "mamma." It was love at first sight with mamma. She is 48, but you would never know it. Abby, I am going nuts between these two. Mamma and I started seeing each other on the Q.T. because we didn't want to hurt Hazel, but Hazel found out about it and she threatened to kill me. Now they are both on my neck to make up my mind. I feel like a rat, but I can't help it. Is Hazel too young for me? Is mamma too old for me? They both have their good points, but I really prefer mamma. Can you tell me what to do?

DOUBLE TROUBLE
DEAR DOUBLE: If you prefer her marry her. But don't accept any dinner invitations at Hazel's unless you take along a food taster.

Fashion Takes Cues From Hooded Cardigan

By JUDY LOVE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Fashion takes its cues from a wide world of sources. The clothes you knit for yourself and your family are inspired by art, sports, motion pictures—even politics.

The sweater is the fashion noted most popular by knitters in all precincts. The landslide victory of sweaters over all other handknits was started—can you believe it—by a political action! In the early days of World War I, the British government took over some Scottish mills as part of the war effort. The mills were needed to assure the manufacture of jerseys for the military forces.

As a result, members of the military were introduced to the comfort of knitted garments. When the war was over, the only things the soldiers missed were the knits. They then made cardigans and pullovers popular for civilian wear, and women didn't take long to follow suit by voting for sweaters and skirts on their own fashion ballot.

Since then sweaters have won the majority of all knitters' votes and the campaign has gained support from celebrities through the years. In the '30s, Greta Garbo cast her vote for a fisherman's knit pullover in "Anna Christie." The Irish-inspired toppers still are a top fashion contender. Audrey Hepburn backed the Black Bohemian turtleneck in "Funny Face," and Brigitte Bardot helped send the poor boy on its way to international fame.

Today, I have a new winning ticket for you knitters—a pair of toppers with wide v-necking appeal. Both sweaters have come all out in favor of rich textures and stand-out patterns. Best of all, the patterns on each sweater run in vertically striped effects, the better to slim you.

The hooded cardigan is designed for knitting in either Bear Brand or Fleisher's Giantic yarn in sizes 12 to 18. The second style, knitted in your choice of three yarns, forms a classic cardigan shape with the all-outdoors look of an Irish fisherman's knit pattern. Knit it in sizes 10 to 16.

Directions for both sweaters are included in a leaflet which you may order by sending 50 cents to Stitch'n' Time, in care of The Pampa News, P. O. Box 503, Radio City, Station, New York, N. Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for leaflet No. S127 and include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS.

Even the best of knitters drop a stitch now and again. So, you novice knitters needn't be bashful to own up to dropped stitches. The error can be corrected easily. Use a crochet hook in picking up the stitch. With the hook, catch the loose stitch. Keeping it up on the horizontal thread of each row in its turn until you reach the row you are working on.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROL R. RIGHTER

For Saturday, December 16, 1967
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's full moon certainly is good for anything of a forced nature now you trying to work any sort of obvious angle to get what you desire but it can be best left to advantage by quietly going whatever you have promised and by carefully studying the right way and means by which to gain data you need.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)—If you dash around too fast you find that you can get into a good deal of needless trouble. Be well advised. If you refrain from arguing, you can take advantage of fine situations around you. Be clever.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)—Care must be taken to stay within your budget where recreation is concerned. Spending too much money for fun is a dis-advantage. It takes in more wholesome and inexpensive pleasures that leave you feeling happy.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Getting out early in the fine so that you avoid any possible arguments that could come up in that realm of your life today. By evening all is fine. You have wonderful talents and should put them to good use.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—If you give serious attention to some big problems you have without confiding in others, you find the correct solution. Your intuition is not accurate. Rely exclusively on good mental judgment.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23)—Getting together with good pals is fine, but be more willing to go along with their ideas instead of expecting them to do what you want. You have plans that are best working out alone. Then you become successful in them.
VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23)—Anything of a civic or outside nature is best done another day, since others are apt to be acting in an unpredictable way. Others are apt to criticize a good deal. Also, they take offense very easily.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23)—Any long trips or railroad changes you have in mind should be studied at greater length or postponed, or given up altogether. Listen to the ideas of others. These could prove to be most valuable to you.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—The conditions around you seem almost more than you can bear, but if you work quietly and steadily, you get all nicely cleared up. Carry through with whatever you have planned to do with a co-worker. Avoid those who are unreliable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Showing associates that you will meet them more than half way is wise right now, since you rid yourself of annoyances also. Avoid arguments with a competitor. This could lead to real trouble later on.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Investigating privacy into the manner and means to get along better with others is fine, but do less talking and be more active. Schedule your activities intelligently. Then you accomplish more.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Plan early with good friends for the evening's entertainment. Then get busy with business, creative matters. Others are in excellent form and give you the support you want.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—You may be perfectly right in feeling that you are getting little or nowhere with business and family matters, so be sure to concentrate more on such now. Get some personal and private matter handled satisfactorily, also. Be active, enthusiastic.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be a very logical young person, though restless and all too eager to study avidly anything that comes to his, or her, attention. Give the finest classical education you can and bring out the wonderful talents in this potent chart. The field of psychology, teaching, etc., are fine here. Give spiritual training.

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELL
UPI Religion Writer

One way to keep Christ in Christmas is to add one or more good religious books to your shopping list.

If you can't think of anyone to give them to, you can always read them yourself.

Beware, however, of books which publishers and bookstores promote as "suitable for Christmas giving."

Most of them are meant to be thumbed through and displayed on the coffee table—not read. They often are unrecognizable expensive.

Choose Carefully
You'll get a lot more for your money—and your gift will be far more appropriate to the season—if you choose books that can really feed a person's spiritual hunger, and lead to new insights about the human condition.

The ideal book for Christmas giving is the Bible. This year, there are two new versions of the scriptures which can be highly recommended.

One is the today's English version TEV of the new testament, produced by the American Bible Society. You can buy it in paperback from American Bible Society—branch office, and at many local churches, for the unbelievably low price of 35 cents a copy or three for $1. It's called "good news for modern man."

The TEV translation of the new testament also is available in a flexible vinyl cover by American Bible Society, $1.00 and in a hardcover edition by MacMillan, $3.95. The latter should be available through regular trade bookstores.

This is perhaps the most readable of all modern translations of the Bible, and it has broken all publishing records by selling more than eight million copies in its first year.

If you want to pay more, the famous Jerusalem Bible, produced by French scholars, is now available in a handsome English edition published by Doubleday. The entire Bible costs $16.95, or you can buy the new testament portion for $9.95.

Not new, but still one of the finest editions in existence, is the Oxford annotated Bible, for $7.95.

As a gift to ministers or Sunday school teachers, you might consider Zondervan's "The New Testament from 26 translations," an edition which gives alternate readings for each verse. It's priced at $12.50.

Zion Lutheran Sets Special Children's Christmas Program

The Children's Christmas Service of Zion Lutheran Church will be presented Sunday at 7:00 p.m. A Christmas tableau will be presented this year under the direction of Mrs. M. G. Herring. The cast and choir will be composed of members of Zion Lutheran Sunday School. The Rev. M. G. Herring will be the narrator. The congregation will also join in the singing of several Christmas hymns and carols. Christmas sacks will be presented to all children present for the service. The public is cordially invited to the service.

Calvary Baptist Slates Cantata For This Sunday

A Christmas cantata entitled "Night of Miracles" will be presented by the Adult Choir of Calvary Baptist Church during the 11 a.m. morning service Sunday.

The Rev. Joe Hawn, pastor, will preside. The Youth Choir will sing Christmas music from 10:45 a.m. until 11 a.m. preceding the cantata.

LAMAR FULL GOSPEL ASSEMBLY

The Lamar Full Gospel Assembly will present a Christmas play entitled "Stranger in a Manger" at 7 p.m. Sunday night, the Rev. Wesley Pollet, pastor, has announced. The church is located at the corner of South Sumner and Bond streets.

HARRAH METHODIST

Harrah Methodist will observe the Christmas season with a special threefold service at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, the Rev. Walter G. White, pastor, has announced.

TRANSPORTATION STRIKE

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI)—Drivers of taxicabs, buses and truck fleets went on strike Wednesday, virtually paralyzing transportation in Accra and its twin city of Tema. The workers were protesting what they said were high insurance premiums by state-owned companies. Some commuters walked as much as six miles to work.

DIPLOMATS KILLED

CAIRO (UPI)—Two Soviet diplomats were killed Wednesday in an auto accident in Yemen while driving from Taiz to Sana, the Middle East News Agency (MENA) said. The dead were Vladimir Makov, the Soviet embassy's first secretary, and a secretary identified only as Sobissiv. MENA gave no details of the accident.

SLOTS IN PARLIAMENT

LONDON (UPI)—A manufacturer installed banks of slot machines in the House of Commons Thursday to acquaint parliament with "the intricacies of gaming and amusement machines." The firm said it was trying to show parliament it is foolish to import foreign "one-arm bandits when we can make them ourselves." Gambling is legal in Britain.

First Presbyterian Sets Christmas Eve Services at Church

Two Christmas eve services have been scheduled at the First Presbyterian Church.

The first service will be held for the young people and their parents and friends at 7:30 in the sanctuary, "One Holy Night," under the direction of Mrs. N. Dudley Steele will be presented at that time. Those assisting Mrs. Steele will be Mrs. E. L. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Ellison, Mrs. Bill M. Roots, Mrs. Joan Dingman, Mrs. J. Stanley Hill, choir director, and Miss Harriet Henderson, organist, the Junior and Sr. High Fellowship groups and the Rev. Martin Hager.

The east will include David Irwin and Jay Losher as narrators; the Jr. Choir of the First Christian and Presbyterian Churches with Mrs. Hill directing; Renee and Becky Seccre, Lynn Lunsford, Gayle Wilson, Cynthia Sidwell, Debby Ferrer, Mario Garriga, David Cory, Frank Henderson, Bruce Brown, Lee Losher.

The Rev. Hager will bring the Christmas message to the congregation at the annual Candlelight Service at 11:30 p.m., Dec. 24, Christmas Eve.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon Set

"The universe is created and governed by God" is emphasized in the lesson-sermon entitled "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

One of the correlative statements that will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy included in the lesson is: "The universe, like man, is to be interpreted by Science from its divine Principle, God, and then it can be understood. . . Adhesion, cohesion, and attraction are properties of Mind. They belong to the spiritual world, and support the equipoise of that thought-force, which launched the earth in its orbit and said to the proud wave, 'Thus far and no further.'"

Jehovah's Witnesses To Be Visited By Circuit Minister

The presiding minister of the Pampa congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has announced the tri-annual visit of a traveling representative for the Watchtower Society.

Charles Regal, local overseer, said that the circuit minister would make his inspection Tuesday through Sunday. The visit is described as part of an advanced training program for Jehovah's Witnesses.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when Gerald D. Grizzle, circuit minister, will observe the ministry school and service meeting conducted by local ministers. He will also give a 30-minute critique of congregation activities.

Wednesday through Sunday, Mr. Grizzle and his wife will join local ministers in making calls on residents in the community. This is part of the regular door-to-door ministry and training program of Jehovah's Witnesses, according to Regal.

Saturday evening a special program will be presented at 8 p.m. with an audience participation Bible question period conducted by Grizzle. The circuit minister will also speak on improving personal ministry.

Highlight of the week will be at 9:30 a.m. Sunday when Grizzle gives the public talk, "Finding Courage in a World Full of Fear." A congregation Bible study will follow his talk, using the "Watchtower" magazine, main journal for the Witnesses. The new circuit minister for this area will conclude the visit with closing remarks Sunday at 11:30 a.m. All meetings will be held at Kingdom Hall, 944 South Dwight and interested persons are welcome with no collections to be taken.

Foursquare Gospel Church
The annual Christmas Play, sponsored by the Foursquare Gospel Church, 712 Lefors Street, will be held at 7:30 Wednesday night. All persons have been invited to attend.

First Christian Sets Special Sunday Program

Rev. J. W. Duke will fill the pulpit for the morning worship hour of the First Christian Church. He will be assisted by the associate minister, Rev. C. M. Grow.

The anthem will be presented by the Adult Choir under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor and accompanied by Mrs. John Gill.

For the evening worship, a Christmas program entitled "An Old-Fashioned Christmas" will be presented by the young people of the church. They will be assisted by the Junior Choir under the direction of Mrs. J. Stanley Hill. Immediately following the Christmas program, children will go to the Fellowship Hall to visit with Santa Claus.

The Snack Supper will be held at the regular time.

Other activities planned are pastor's classes under the direction of the Rev. C. M. Grow starting tomorrow morning at 9:30. The pastor's cabinet will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 20 in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The church organist, Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, will provide the accompaniment for the Chancel Choir as well as prelude and postlude selections. She will present the Offertory, "He Shall Feed His Flock" from Handel's "Messiah" at both services this Sunday.

The Junior Choirs of the First Christian and Presbyterian Churches will meet at the First Christian Church at 4:00 p.m. Sunday for choir practice.

The Junior High Fellowship will meet at 5:30 p.m. to go caroling, and afterward will gather in Fellowship Hall for a party. The Senior Highs will meet at 5:30 in the Youth lounge for their fellowship.

The pastor will hold an open house for the college students who are home for the holidays in his home, 1712 Holly Lane, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday evening.

First Presbyterian Services Are Set For This Sunday

The Rev. Martin Hager, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church will preach at both worship services, 8:30 and 11:00 a.m., this Sunday. His sermon topic will be "What Do You Expect?" Rev. Hager will take his text from Matthew 11: 2-10.

Ruling Elder David Tucker will serve as pulpit assistant this Sunday at both services.

At the 11 a.m. service, the Chancel Choir will present the special anthem, "Over Bethlehem's Town" by Mueller. The Choir is under the direction of Mrs. J. Stanley Hill, who also directs the Junior Choir, composed of children of the First Christian and Presbyterian Churches. These children will present a special choral program at the First Christian Church at 7:30 p.m. this Sunday.

The church organist, Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, will provide the accompaniment for the Chancel Choir as well as prelude and postlude selections. She will present the Offertory, "He Shall Feed His Flock" from Handel's "Messiah" at both services this Sunday.

ADVENT CHRISTMAS

At this time of the year we find ourselves preparing for the two comings of our Lord Jesus Christ. During Advent (which means "to come") we prepare for Christmas, the coming of the Son of God as the Babe of Bethlehem — and for His second coming. This coming is so often ignored by those of us who call ourselves Christians, but it is so often referred to in the New Testament.

We find ourselves, then, in a season of joy, but most of us in this community and throughout modern civilization are, as usual, being much too gay much too soon. The time has not arrived yet for us to talk about "The Joy of Christmas." We cannot truly appreciate its joy until we understand its meaning.

Some will ask "why be so serious, so solemn?" The answer comes directly: we have to be serious, solemn and quiet within to get ready for no less than the Coming of the Son of God. For His birth to strengthen us and pacify us — and to be something we want more than anything else to share with others — which is what Christianity amounts to — we have to prepare. For His last coming, to bring fully and gloriously that Kingdom of God, to be that event to which we truly look forward more than anything else — we have to prepare. And there is no simple and easy way I know of.

To prepare can mean many things, among which would be to change. If we want within ourselves and in our world, and not just with the cheap and plentiful words most of us use, to observe Advent and to prepare for the two comings of Christ, we are to be willing to change. Let us change our lives so that in them there may be a holy place for the Holy Infant to be born again and a penitent place where He returns to our world He may find room.

PHS Hosts Monterey Tonight

By RON CROSS
Pampa and Monterey do battle tonight for undisputed possession of first place in District 3-4A's basketball race in Harvester Fieldhouse. Tipoff is 8 p.m. with coach Bill Brown's Shockers getting action underway with a game with the Plainsmen's Junior Varsity at 6 p.m.

Both Monterey and Pampa stand 2-0 in league competition while the rest of the district's teams have at least one loss each. Monterey is 12-1 for the season and Pampa 9-1. The Harvesters will be working on an eight-game winning streak while Monterey has clicked off six straight wins, averaging 19 points per contest. Pampa will have a slight height advantage over the team that has given them more trouble in district play than any other. Both clubs have three players each averaging in double figures with Monterey's Ricky Dyer, a 6-2 senior, averaging balanced scoring attack with 6-2 senior George Bailey leading the point parade with a 23.0 league average, good for second place among district 3-4 scorers. Third is the Harvesters' Bo Lang, 6-5 senior forward who has 20.1 average. Guard Johnny Carlos has scored 10 points in each of the two league contests while other guard Jim Cornutt tallied only three points against Plainview and saw his average dip. Big 6-7 center Beau Bond is averaging just under 10 points per contest while reserve forward Jim Hollis is averaging an even nine points per contest. Through their 10 season games Pampa has averaged 65.2 points per contest and given up an average of 48.3 per game. In league play the Harvesters are averaging 76.1 points per game while defensively giving up 54.1 per contest. Defense has been Monterey's strong point as usual. The Plainsmen have given up an average of only 47.1 points per contest in league play and 52.8 for all 13 games. Offensively Monterey is averaging 60 points per contest in league play and 65 per contest in season play.

By Saturday night, Texas will have four new schoolboy football champions, with Tidehaven, Abilene Cooper, Plano and El Campo figured to be the most likely candidates for the throne roofs.

Abilene Cooper and Austin Reagan both bring unblemished marks into the action Saturday afternoon at Fort Worth, and both have proved to possess potent scoring machines.

The Oakland Raiders, cast as spoilers in Sunday's game against the New York Jets, may have a little more than just spoiling on their minds. The Raiders, who clinched the American Football League's Western Division title last week, have lost only one of 12 games this season—27-14 to the Jets at Shea Stadium in October. They would like nothing better than to demonstrate their complete superiority over AFL opponents by beating the Jets.

The Jets are in the unenviable position of having to play the Western Division's top two teams, Oakland and San Diego, back to back in the last two weeks of the season. Raider team that has won eight in a row since its loss to the Jets. Emerson Booser, who sparked that upset with 98 yards rushing in 13 attempts, is lost for the season. Oakland's leading rusher, Clem Daniels, also is out for the year, but Pele Banaszak and Larry Todd have proven to be outstanding replacements.

The Raiders have another objective in mind. With victories over New York Sunday and Buffalo next week, they could become the winningest team in the eight year history of the AFL. No AFL team has ever gone through a season with only one loss.

Rams Secretary Eyeing Defense for Baltimore

By United Press International
Deacon Jones, in his new role of secretary of defense, is preparing to escalate his private war against Johnny Unitas.

Jones, the mammoth and marvelous defensive end of the Los Angeles Rams, is being drafted for the position currently held by lame-duck Robert McNamara by a group of Ram fans who last week decorated the coliseum with the banner, "Deacon Jones for secretary of defense."

Deacon, who is as quick with his tongue as he is with his feet, facetiously acknowledged the support but hastened to say he would accept the position only on one condition. "We got to get to Johnny U," he quipped. "Maybe then I'll take the job as secretary of defense."

Unitas, as triggerman of the Baltimore Colts' explosive offensive machine, and Jones are expected to be the key figures in the last major battle of the National Football League season, one which will determine the Coastal Division champion. Jones only "got to" Unitas once in the previous game between the clubs as Baltimore and Los Angeles battled to a 24-24 tie. The Rams (10-1-2) must win Sunday to clinch the title with the Colts, Baltimore, the only undefeated team in the NFL with an 11-0-2 mark, can afford to settle for a tie this time.

Aaron Slug Takes Title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves won the National League's slugging title for the third time in his career this year and equalled three major league records in runs scored and total bases.

Aaron collected 184 hits, including 105 singles, 37 doubles, three triples and 39 homers, in 600 official at bats. Slugging percentage is computed by dividing at bats into total bases.

Unitas is without a doubt the toughest passer in the league to beat," acknowledged Jones. "He isn't cute. He doesn't scramble. He simply pulls his blockers around him, gets set to throw and dares you to stop him. Just when you've clawed your way in and throw out your arms, sure you've got him, he fires—and more often than not it's a completed pass."

Raiders Take Second In Row

By United Press International
The Texas Tech Red Raiders, paced by Jim Nelson's 18 points defeated Centenary 53-79 Thursday after the Shreveport, La., team closed to within two points with 20 seconds left. The lead changed hands three times in the game.

Richie Allen of the Philadelphia Phillies ranked second with a .566 percentage, Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates was third with .554, Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants was fourth with .535 and Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals, the league's unanimous most valuable player award winner, was fifth with .524. Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs with .512 and Jim Ray Hart of the Giants with .509 were the only other sluggers over the .500 mark.

Team honors were taken by the Pirates with a .360 mark followed by the Cardinals at .379, the Cubs at .378, the Braves, Reds and Giants at .372 each, the Astros at .364, the Phillies at .357, the Los Angeles Dodgers at .332 and the New York Mets at .325.

Space Experts Meet to Probe Moon Landings

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Another kind of countdown, perhaps secondary only in importance to the Apollo space flight itself, is beginning here today.

Experts from four spacecraft centers are meeting to whittle down the number of potential moon landing sites from eight to five.

These sites will remain potential moon landing spots until just after the launch date is set.

Then, said a spokesman, three of the five sites will be selected as moon targets of the Apollo spacecraft.

The latest Lunar Orbiter and Surveyor pictures of the moon will be used in the selection.

All the sites are in a narrow band across the center of the moon.

The Sinus Medii area, near where Surveyor 6 landed, is likely to be one of the sites, informed sources said.

Other likely spots are two sites on the right and two on the left of that area.

One target to the right and left of the central area will be eliminated as a landing site about 30 days before the flight, sources said.

Three targets for each space flight are wanted by Apollo officials because of the angle of the sun as it moves across the surface of the moon.

Scientists figure with each site about 26 degrees apart, lighting will be right for a landing first on the right-hand site.

Two days later, lighting will be favorable on the central location, and a landing could be made on the left-hand site in another two days.

This would allow two delays in the planned launch date before the flight had to be scrapped for a month.

Maj. Gen. Samuel Phillips will head a site-selection board of 12 persons from Space Agency headquarters in Washington, Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va., and the Houston center, a spokesman said.

FBI Places 2 Murderers On 10 Most Wanted List

By SAM FOGG
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI today placed two accused murderers on its list of 10 most wanted criminals—Zelma Lane King, an alleged Black Muslim from Chicago, and Jerry Reep Peacock, an escaped robber from California. Peacock is a native of Kilgore, Tex., a King, who professes a violent hatred for whites, is sought in connection with a triple slaying in Chicago last May 6 in which his landlady and two others were shot to death over an argument over the sale of a refrigerator.

Peacock, who with a fellow prisoner escaped from California state prison at Soledad in October, 1966, has been charged with beating a man to death in Hollywood last January.

Both newcomers to the 10 most wanted list are described as armed and extremely dangerous.

Peacock, 29, was serving a term of five years to life at the time of his escape. He was sent up for robbing an armored car. He had previously served an armed robbery sentence in Louisiana.

After their escape, he and his colleague are believed to have robbed and kidnaped a rancher near Greenfield, Calif. Peacock is 5-foot-8, weighs 200 pounds, has a fair complexion, blue eyes and receding brown hair.

There are scars on both wrists and on the back of his right hand. He often wears horn-rimmed glasses and probably a heavy mustache to conceal a lip deformity.

Peacock walks with a marked athletic bounce and speaks slowly with a slight southern drawl. He likes to play the guitar, is a heavy reader of fiction as well as books on science and agriculture, and is an avid television viewer.

In the past, he has worked as a skill, carpenter, service station attendant, laborer, truck driver and welder.

Salvation Army Yule Fund Still Running Behind

A Christmas party for 16 elderly persons was held this forenoon at Salvation Army headquarters.

The elderly guests, all of whom were on the indigent list, each received individual gifts that were needed.

Money to purchase the gifts came from Salvation Army Christmas fund contributions. Transportation from their homes to the Army headquarters was provided by volunteers who also assisted with the party.

Capt. Jess Duncan said contributions still are running behind last year for the annual Christmas cheer program for Pampa's needy families.

Clothing and toys will be supplied at Christmas time to children of poor families and Christmas baskets will be delivered to families in need.

"We are issuing another appeal to Pampans to share their Christmas cheer with those not so fortunate," Captain Duncan said. "A check mailed to headquarters or a contribution to the Army's kettles will do it."

Autopsy Ordered In Youth's Death

An autopsy was ordered today in the death of a nine-year-old Pampa boy who died, apparently of natural causes Friday morning.

The youth, Randy Ketchum, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ketchum, 608 N. Wells, was dead on arrival at Worley Hospital after being taken there by Duenk ambulance.

The youth had apparently been ill several days. His father administered artificial respiration until ambulance attendants arrived in an attempt to save his son's life.

Gray County coroner E. L. Anderson ordered the autopsy after the boy's doctor requested it.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Duenk Funeral Home.

The youth was born Dec. 3, 1958 in Ponquitch, Utah, and moved to Pampa in 1959.

Survivors other than his parents include three sisters, Vicki, Sandra, Jeannette, and one brother, Larry, all of the home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wyles, of New Mexico and his grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Ketchum, Pampa.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Experience gained by Filipino reconstruction teams in the jungles of South Vietnam is being put to use by President Ferdinand E. Marcos in his fight against his own home-grown Communist huns.

It will stand him in good stead.

For the tactics used by the hukbalahaps, or Huk for short, are not unlike those used by the Viet Cong who only days ago virtually wiped out with bullets, grenades and flame throwers a village which had given its loyalty to the Saigon government.

Marcos declared his war in earnest against the Huks on Nov. 30 after the killing of six soldiers and two civilian members of a military paymasters team in central Luzon.

Assassin Caught

The seven assassins and two of their women were trapped and killed five days later.

But the Huks had accepted the government challenge.

From another ambush, they trucked back, killing two soldiers and wounding two others.

This week the government disclosed the slaying of two government informers, their heads neatly severed, in the same area.

The Huks are a throwback to World War II, and draw their name from a Filipino phrase meaning "People's Army to fight the Japanese."

After the war, they turned quickly to the anti-democratic

Groveton Wants 'Doc' Brown to be Released

GROVETON, Tex. (UPI) — Groveton is a flat little East Texas town of 1,187, but it is about to blow as high as Mt. Vesuvius over a 43-year-old ex-convict it never knew six months ago.

The townspeople in the Trinity County seat and those who live in the surrounding piney woods think their "doctor," Reid Brown, is about to be persecuted.

Not one of Brant's patients has ever complained of his making a mistake, according to Sheriff Lee, Bock, McDonald and Roland Smith, president of the First National Bank.

Bock said Brant treated about 40 patients a day working from 7 a.m. until as late as 10 p.m. seven days a week. He was always available for house calls at only $5 each. Office calls cost only $3.

Doctor Says Imposter Never Worked With Him on Patients

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Dr. Reid L. Brown, Chattanooga, said today that Freddie Brant, charged in Texas with falsely testifying he was a physician, using Brown's name, had never taken part in any practice of medicine in Chattanooga and had never assisted him nor worked with him. Brown was instrumental in exposing Brant when he contacted Texas authorities after learning that a man of the same name had ordered supplies from a pharmaceutical house.

Brown knew Brant when both were employed at the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital here. Brown as a doctor and Brant as a laboratory technician. Brown left the hospital, which since has closed, in 1962 to set up his own office.

Brown denied the claim, made by Brant, 43, in Texas, that Brown had permitted him to assist with deliveries, surgery and examinations and that he had worked for Brown as technician.

Brown denied that he had schooled Brant in any way and said he knew him only through their employment together at the hospital.

"He definitely had no part in any practice of medicine in Chattanooga or in any connection with me," Brown said. "He was not employed by me and he did not work with me in the practice of medicine."

Brown said Brant's statement about working with him is "completely untrue."

"He was never an assistant in examining, operating or the delivery room. He was strictly a laboratory and X-ray technician and his functions were strictly limited to those areas," Brown said.

Dr. Brown, who really is Freddie Michael Brant, a one-time Louisiana bank robber, came to this doctorless community in July, and immediately was adopted.

He doctored the sheriff, city officials, businessmen, farmers, loggers and welfare patients, and everybody thought he was the best thing that had happened since Dr. Galen Steeg moved to the Dallas-Fort Worth area nine years ago.

But last Friday, Sheriff C. M. Dick Lee arrested him as being an imposter. He was charged with fraud and forgery in Kaufman, Tex., 137 miles northwest of Groveton.

The arrest hit Groveton with varying degrees of shock, dismay and fear.

"My God, man, what am I going to do?" asked Will Hutson, 89, the former county tax collector who is almost out of emphysema medicine.

"The patients are just like mad foxes," said L. G. McDonald, who owns a car agency.

"They are so scared they don't know what to do."

"They come in crying, afraid, with tears in their eyes," said druggist William Bock. "There is no doctor they can get. I've had seven or eight hard ship cases since last Friday, but what can I do?"

"There are people like poor Mrs. Cowert here," Bock said pointing to a thin stunted woman. "She lives alone, has no relative and can't get 20 miles to a doctor. And Allen Ashworth and his wife, they are both sick and don't have a car and can't drive. How can they get to a doctor?"

With Brant out of business, the closest doctors are in Trinity 20 miles west, Crockett 20 miles north and Lufkin 20 miles northeast.

Many in Groveton preferred "Dr. Brown."

"My wife has been sick 14 years," said J. M. (Bud) Lee. "We've been to doctors in Lufkin, in Crockett and in Trinity and he did her more good than any of 'em."

"She was all drawn up, bent over, you ought to have seen her," said Lee, a farmer who lives six miles south of Groveton. He's brought her up and she is milking cows and everything.

"She said she would walk up there if they would let him go. I told her it would take her a year, and she said she knew it, but she said she would go."

"He's the best doctor what's ever been to Groveton," said the 73-year-old Lee who has lived in the community all of his life. "It's a pity. If I can cure you and know how, you ought to do it," Lee reasoned.

N.M. Poverty War Head Defends Policy

SANTA FE, N. M. (UPI) — New Mexico's poverty war chief, Robert Garcia, Wednesday declared he never had worked with land grant seekers in the state and defended his statements on politics and poverty.

Garcia appeared with state planning officer Arthur Ortiz before the state-Legislative Finance Committee Wednesday to answer charges from State Atty. Gen. Boston Witt of conspiracy with the June 5 courthouse raid at Tierra Amarilla.

He also was charged with incompetency in office by Witt and was called on to defend the hiring of two California consultants and the use of a Texas university sociologist to help resolve land grant problems in northern New Mexico.

Legislative leaders following the hearings said there was a strong possibility in the 1968 session of the legislature that the state Office of Economic Opportunity would be abolished.

Ortiz said Garcia at the time of the June 5 raid in Tierra Amarilla thought his action was proper and could possibly help to relieve tensions through improved communications.

Ortiz referred to Garcia's action of dispatching a state plane to El Paso, Tex., to bring Dr. Clark Knowlton of the University of Texas at El Paso to New Mexico in the hours following the raid.

"At most it could be referred to as an error in judgment," Ortiz said. "As far as we are able to determine, the decision to bring Dr. Knowlton was that of the director and no one else."
