Price to Visit Vietnam, Japan On Ten-Day Trip

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa announced at a news conference in Amarillo Saturday that he will leave Washington Jan. 2 for a trip to Vietnam, Thailand and Japan.

The tour on which Price will be accompanied by several other congressmen is being sponsored by the House Agriculture Committee.

Detailed information on the group's itinerary was not released because of security reasons, it was stated.

The overseas trip will end in about ten days and the Panhandle congressman will return to Washington on Jan. 13.

The 90th Congress will reconvene on Jan. 15 after the Christmas and New Year holiday recess.

Price left Amarillo airport late Saturday for the return trip to his home in Alexandria, Va., where he will spend Christmas and the holiday week with his family.

The Saturday press conference-long tour of the Panhandle for Town Hall meetings in 17 cities and towns.

His final Town Hall meetings were on Friday when he met with constituents in Tulia, Kress, Olton and Earth.

The congressman said before leaving Amarillo airport late yesterday he plans to return in January or early in February for visits to Pampa, White Deer and other towns in the Pampa area.

Greek Political Prisoners Due To Be Released

ATHENS (UPI) — Premier George Papadopoulos announced Saturday the military regime was releasing most of its 2,500 political prisoners in a Christmas amnesty to "restore unity and brotherhood among Greeks."

Only "former Communist convicts and post-revolution saboteurs" will remain in jail, Papadopoulos said.

Those to be released included Andreas Papandreu, son of former Premier George Papandreu and Mikis Theodorakis, composer of the music for "Zorba the Greek," along with Communists who tried to overthrow the monarchy in 1965.

King Constantine said he hoped it was a sign "all Greeks soon will have the opportunity to express themselves freely. Constantine said in Rome he was "especially grateful for amnesty for those who, in good faith and for the sake of their country, supported me in my efforts to hasten the day when Greece will be a democracy again."

Papadopoulos announced the amnesty as he received a draft of a new constitution for Greece that leaves King Constantine's powers more or less intact but "clarifies" them.

"If humanly possible," a national vote on the constitution will be held April 21, 1968, Papadopoulos said. But he said it could be delayed until Sept. 15.

The premier said among those who would not be released were "many Communists sentenced to death."

Two former premiers, George Papandreu and Panayotis Kanelopoulos were among those to be released. Both have been under house arrest.

It was believed the amnesty also applied to Mrs. Helen Vlachou, the anti-regime publisher who fled to London Thursday, and her husband,

President Goes To Rome After GI Visit

ROME (UPI) — President Johnson conferred with Pope Paul VI Saturday night on his role as a possible mediator in the Vietnam war and said the United States would agree to any peace proposal "that will substitute the word and the vote for the grenade and the knife."

The President and the Pope met for about an hour as Johnson dropped into the Vatican by helicopter on the last leg of his around-the-world Christmas mission. He said he and the pontiff "agreed that an honorable settlement was still possible" if both sides would exercise "mutual restraint."

Johnson said the Communists had refused to accept such a policy of restraint despite five separate halts in American air raids against North Vietnam. He said a new halt would be ordered if Hanoi showed a

Holiday Traffic Death Count Continues to Soar

By United Press International

Homeward bound holiday travelers mingled on the nation's highways Saturday with last minute Christmas shoppers and the weekend traffic death toll soared toward the 200 mark.

Hazardous driving conditions in northern New England and snow southward to North Carolina made highway travel difficult.

A United Press International count showed at least 182 persons dead in traffic since the holiday began.

The breakdown:

Traffic	18
Fires	10
Miscellaneous	3
TOTAL	195

Pennsylvania led the nation with 19 traffic deaths. New York reported 17 and California 15.

The death toll was swelled by multiple death traffic accidents in a number of areas.

At Wellington, Kan., four members of a Forney, Tex., family en route to visit relatives in Kansas for the Christmas holiday were killed Saturday when their car struck a bridge pillar on the Kansas Turnpike. The lone survivor, a 9-year-old (See TRAFFIC, Page 3)

City To Launch Legislation for '68 Spring Paving

First step will be taken by Pampa's city commission Tuesday to get the city's 1968 spring paving program under way.

An ordinance has been drawn for first reading declaring the necessity to pave approximately 75 more city blocks in the second phase of an overall $1,000,000 street improvement program under a voter-approved bond issue.

The 1967 summer's first phase of the paving project included approximately 140 blocks.

Other business on the Tuesday agenda will include opening of bids for paving of the Santa Fe parking lot west of Cuyler and south of Atchison, approval of the release of $8,758.93 in escrow funds to Texas Securities Corp., and purchase of $100,000 in U.S. Treasury bills from the 1967 Street Improvement Bond Fund.

U.S. Troops Prepare For Last Strike Before Truce

SAIGON (UPI) — American troops, buoyed by President Johnson's assurance that the Communists "cannot win now in Vietnam," moved into defensive positions Saturday night in last-minute preparations for a brief and uneasy Christmas truce.

GIs stuck tiny Christmas trees atop bunkers and strung "Merry Christmas" signs between microwave antennas as fighting ebbed in the last hours before the allied 24-hour holiday truce went into effect at 6 p.m. today (4 a.m. CST).

The Viet Cong announced plans for a cease-fire starting earlier, just after midnight, Saturday night, and lasting 72 hours, the U.S. Mission said.

In some of the last major fighting before the cease-fire newly-arrived paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division got their first taste of battle, killing 14 Viet Cong. They ran into 35 miles north of Saigon while they were out on a training mission.

At Phu Kuong, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, Viet Cong troops hit an outpost manned by 100 government troops Saturday morning and inflicted heavy casualties before being driven away by artillery and air strikes.

In pre-truce air action, U.S. helicopter gunships and fighter bombers killed 39 Communists hiding in a cave along South Vietnam's northern coast. Over

Heart Surgeon On TV Today

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. Christian Barnard, who performed the world's first successful heart transplant operation three weeks ago, flew toward the United States Saturday, complaining he was tired.

Barnard spent 30 minutes at London Airport changing planes for Washington. He sent word to waiting newsmen he was "too tired" to meet them.

The 44-year-old surgeon looked drawn and weary but smiled. Barnard was to be interviewed Sunday on a U.S. television network.

Barnard led the historic five-hour operation Dec. 3 in which the heart of a woman killed in a traffic accident was transplanted to the body of Louis Washkansky, 55, a wholesale grocer.

Washkansky died Thursday of pneumonia but Barnard said the loss of the patient did not discourage him and that more such transplants were planned early in 1968.

A retired rabbi volunteered Friday to undergo Dr. Barnard's next transplant operation.

Rabbi Meyer Eidelman, 61, of Johannesburg, South Africa, said he was willing as long as the operation was performed by the same surgical team that operated on Washkansky.

"I am willing to offer myself at a month's notice as the next patient," the rabbi said.

Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a dentist, has been mentioned prominently as the possible next transplant patient.

A LITTLE GIRL WALKS

It's Shriners' Christmas Present To Child Who Had Faced Life As a Cripple

By TEX DeWEESE

This is a Christmas story. It is the kind of Christmas story you like to write. It is about a tiny Pampa girl who, with her parents, possibly will have the happiest Christmas of all.

And it will not be because of the usual gifts of dolls and toys, stockings filled with candy and oranges and the other traditional yule presents Santa Claus will leave in abundance tonight under Christmas trees in homes across the city.

This particular little girl will have the God-given obligation of being able to walk, run and play instead of going through life as a hopeless cripple.

Her name is Kimberly (Kim) Dyer. She is the nearly two-year-old daughter of Johnny and Gail Dyer who reside at 715 1/2 N. Frost in Pampa. She has a three-year-old sister, Deborah. They are a very happy family on this Christmas Eve.

It will be a Merry Christmas for all of them because Kim can walk. She can run. She can play and take part in childhood pleasures that — bring to all children.

There was not always this outlook for Kim. She was born with a crippled right foot. She would never be able to walk on it, the parents were told.

This could well have been true had it not been for a friend and a fraternalized group of local men — the Pampa Shrine Association — who are dedicated to spending every last effort to see that "miracles" are performed.

This particular "miracle" has been more than a year in happening.

The case first was called to the attention of the Pampa Shrine by a friend of the Dyer family. The friend contacted a Shriner on Nov. 8, 1966. The case was investigated and the application for Kim Dyer to enter the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas was executed two days later.

The prime requirement for admission to the hospital is a rehabilitative need on the part of the child, and a contemporaneous inability on the part of the parents or guardians to give treatments at a "par."

Kim and her parents of the city's pharmaceutical Co-ordinator. Money is spent among various salaries of Royalty and who travel about the city informing doctors (V. CHRISTMAS IS HAPPINESS — Two-year-old Kimberly (Kim) Dyer is shown here running across a room in the home of a Pampa Shriner. After more than a year of treatment and operations, the crippled right foot she was born with is no longer there. The rehabilitation, made possible by the Children's Committee of the Pampa Shrine Association, has brought little Kim Dyer a priceless Christmas gift.

THE MAD RUSH ENDS

Pampans Come to a Halt for The Observance of the Joyful Christmas

Frazzled store clerks and last-minute shoppers turned it off Saturday night as Pampans made final preparations for the annual Christmas celebration.

The mad rush known as the Christmas shopping season came to an end with empty store shelves and depleted toy departments.

That portion of the yuletide holidays came to a dead stop in the late hours before midnight.

The populace now turns to the more meaningful aspects of Christmas — the annual visit of Santa Claus tonight and tomorrow's joyful commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of the Christ child.

On this morning of Christmas Eve the scene was the same in Pampa as around the Christian world. They will be rejoicing in the churches as choirs and congregations raise their voices in the anthems of Christmas.

There will be special Christmas Eve and candlelight services in some of the churches. Pastors will deliver special Christmas sermons this morning.

The weather outlook all through the Christmas weekend and Christmas day was for clear and mild. No snow was in sight. The weather forecasters said last night Panhandle residents could put aside any hope for a white Christmas. Travel conditions in the state were reported to be excellent.

Christmas visitors and relatives of many Pampans arrived in the city yesterday and last night and others were scheduled to come in today.

A United Press International dispatch from the North Pole last night said Santa Claus had finished his packing and was ready for the annual Christmas Eve take-off on visits to homes of boys and girls around the world. A spokesman for jolly Kris Kringle said his schedule called for him to be over Panhandle rooftops shortly before midnight.

So— On Prancer and Dyer and Blitzen, and four!

To the wizenheimer who wrote in at the last minute and asked: Q: Is there REALLY a Santa Claus? A: You'd better believe it, Mac!

Panhandle Water District News County SCD News

By FELIX W. RYALS
About two years ago the most comprehensive study ever undertaken was completed on the economy of the Texas Panhandle. All counties parallel with and north of Childress county and Palmer County were included in the study conducted under the guidance of Texas A&M University and the Agricultural Extension Service. James Murphrey served as the coordinator for the project. Upon completion of the economic study a number of meetings were held in key locations in the Panhandle to acquaint people with the results of the study. After looking over the study and its recommendations, this writer came to the unshakable conclusion that the Panhandle Economic Program study was the most valuable study ever done in the Texas Panhandle. The specified areas of the potentials for the Texas Panhandle are listed below:

—Utilizing water for crop production that is now being lost by runoff, playa lake evaporation, tailwater and an excess of undesirable plants can increase income by $20,000,000 annually.

—Timely and accurate application of irrigation water can conserve sufficient water on 2 1/2 million acres to increase the value of agricultural production by $25,000,000 annually.
—Increased irrigation development can increase income from sale of agricultural products of $100,000,000 annually.
—Proper cropland use, within capabilities and with proper rotation, can increase income by $8,000,000 annually.
—Double cropping 700,000 acres of irrigated wheatland with soybeans and other crops can increase sale of agricultural products by $50,000,000 annually.
—Improvement in resource allocation, profit combinations and more efficient management can increase net income from farms and ranches in the area by $10,000,000 annually.
—Value added to area agricultural products processed and manufactured in the Panhandle can increase income from these products by $350,000,000 annually.
—Optimum farm and ranch tax management can increase income to the area by an estimated $10,000,000.
—Effective estate planning can result in an estimated $20,000,000 saving on federal estate taxes and state inheritance taxes.
—Application of improved practices in beef, cow-calf and stocker production, with proper range and pasture management and optimum forage production, can increase the income from calves and stockers by $35,000,000 annually.

—Application of "least cost" nutrition in the cattle feedlot can increase income by $1,000,000 annually.
—Increased feeding of cattle, swine, and sheep can increase income from livestock sales by $20,000,000 annually.
—Optimum use of fertilizer on crops can increase income by $10,000,000 annually.
—Application of known technology in weed control can lead to higher yields, higher quality products, savings on water and plant nutrients and reduced costs that can increase income $40,000,000 annually.
—Application of optimum plant populations and planting patterns can increase yields and quality, conserve water and alter the effects of climatic conditions to increase income $10,000,000 annually.
—Development of resources adapted to production of fish, wildlife and recreational activity can increase the economic activity $3,000,000 annually.
—Application of sound consumer buying practices and improved home management practices can reduce cost of living by $25,000,000 annually.
—Every community in the Panhandle has the opportunity to make numerous improvements that can add invaluable to the net worth and utility of private and public investments.

By William M. Sowers
Now is a good time of the year to consider how sorghum residues will be managed for the remainder of the year to protect the land from wind and water erosion. Valuable crop residues should be left on the surface of the land through the critical erosion season which will end about April 1st this year on sorghum residues. Residues may be left undisturbed, shredded, mowed or knocked down by a stalk cutter. Usually, loose residues need to be "tucked in" by tillage to keep them from blowing away. Standing residues will usually catch and hold more than plowed residues.
On irrigated land, it is usually desirable to shred the stalks in late winter and disk them into the soil surface. This will help protect the land from blowing following late winter rains and spews. It also gets the land in much better condition to take up water.
Soil Conservationist
The Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District is one of the more active districts in the Panhandle. The supervisors have worked hard to improve the program in Gray County. Much of this work goes unnoticed by the general public because they do not know the district or the work that they do.
A Soil and Water Conservation District (S&WCD) can be compared to a public school district. However, a S&WCD cannot levy taxes as does a school district. It is comprised of local landowners and operators within the designated district boundaries. The S&WCD is a legal sub-division of the state government, with five elected supervisors who direct the S&WCD. The Secretary of Agriculture, when formally requested, executes a memorandum of understanding with a S&WCD to furnish technical assistance through the Soil Conservation Service (SCS). SCS technicians assist the S&WCD in promoting an overall soil and water conservation program.
The Gray County Soil & Water Conservation District consists of: Robert Sallor, Secretary; James Clift, Vice Chairman; Curtis Schaffer, and Sam Bowers were elected last October. Landowners in their areas should contact them

Four persons perished Saturday when another auto crossed the center line of Indiana 62 near Evansville, Ind., and collided with their car. Two other passengers in the death car were seriously hurt, but the driver of the other auto escaped serious injury.

Two sisters and their brother-in-law were killed Friday night when their car was struck from behind by a truck on a highway near Breezewood, Pa. A third sister was critically hurt.

The National Safety Council had estimated that from 625 to 725 persons would be killed in traffic during the 78-hour holiday period, which began at 6 p.m. local time Friday and ends at midnight Christmas Day.

The highway death toll over the 1966 three-day Christmas holiday was 600. The record traffic slaughter for a Christmas holiday period occurred over the three-day 1965 weekend when 720 persons died on the highways, the safety council said.

Christmas Mail Volume About Same As in 1966

Mail volume at the Pampa post office during the Christmas season was very near the same volume handled last year, in the corresponding holiday period, acting postmaster R. W. McPhillips Jr. said Saturday.

The figures for incoming letters for 1967 and 1966 are nearly identical. There was however a slight decrease in the number of incoming as well as outgoing parcels. The largest difference in the two years was noted in the number of outgoing letters where an increase of 3.7 per cent, or about 17,000 pieces, was recorded.

McPhillips also reported that Christmas mail received prior to carrier departure time Saturday was delivered.

High temperatures today and tomorrow are expected to be in the mid-60s. Low temperatures both days will be near 30. Winds both days will be light and variable.

Pampa Optimists Helping Prepare Float For Annual Rose Bowl Parade January 1

Announcement was made Saturday by John McGuire, president of the Optimist Club of Pampa that the local group would be represented in the Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's Day. Cooperating with the International organization

Pampa Optimists will join with Optimists everywhere in presenting to the one and a half million who personally view the spectacular event in Pasadena, Calif., and to an estimated 100 million television viewers, a gigantic float that is 17 feet high, 20 feet wide, and 55 feet long. It's unique construction and subject matter will be in keeping with the parade theme this year, "Wonderful World of Adventure."

Plans for their organizations' entry passed the rigid inspection of the Pasadena Float Committee.

President McGuire said that float designs are closely guarded secrets almost up to parade time but all reports from those who have viewed the scale model, indicate that the Optimist entry will be one of the most outstanding.

Kim was fitted with corrective shoes — a pair to walk in and a pair to sleep in. Her last visit to the Dallas Scottish Rite Hospital was on Dec. 6 when she went in for a check-up. She will go back again on March 5 for another check-up.

It is estimated the cost of Kim's treatment to date, based on "pay" hospital costs, is in excess of $4,500 including travel and living expenses of a parent. The Pampa Shrine Association sends 80 per cent of its orthopedic cases to the Dallas Scottish Rite Hospital because it is nearer to Pampa than the nearest Shrine Hospital. Both are Masonic organizations.

The Scottish Rite and Shrine hospitals are supported by annual membership assessments and bequests.

The Shrine has 18 orthopedic hospitals in the U. S. and in 97 years of existence has treated upwards of 115,000 children under 15 years old. Its 843,000 members have contributed more than $4,215,000 this year to the hospitals' operational fund.

The Shriners also have a $10-million investment in three Burns Institutes in Galveston, Boston and Cincinnati where patients with critical burns are treated.

The Pampa Shrine Association raises money to finance its share of the cost of treating burned and crippled children, regardless of race, creed or color, by operating its now-famous Catering Service and barbecues and through the Shrine Circus.

The Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North America, organized in 1870, today has 158 temples in the U. S., 9 in Canada and one in Mexico. Their 843,000 members all help in carrying on the same kind of work for crippled and burned children as do the members of the Pampa Shrine Association.

Pampa has more than 200 Shriners and the local association is affiliated with Khiva Temple, Amarillo.

And, of course — those 200 Pampa Shriners also are enjoying this Christmas season, happy in the knowledge of little Kimberly Dyer's good fortune and the other 100 to 125 burns and crippled children cases in which they have assisted.

Next time you eat barbecue at an event catered by the Pampa Shriners — you'll know where your money goes. The Shriners will be grateful for the help you are giving them to rehabilitate children who otherwise might not receive help.

But, back to the current Christmas story. The wonderful thing about it all is — Kim Dyer, destined never to walk as other children, not only walks this Christmas Eve but she can run and play.

Bridge Victims Being Sought

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (UPI)—Residents of this grief-stricken town flocked to the river bank Saturday and watched in subfreezing weather while cranes dredged for more victims of the Silver Bridge collapse.

Huge cranes removed large pieces of entangled steel from the submerged wreckage of the bridge which gave way under bumper-to-bumper traffic Dec. 15. Several vehicles were spotted below the wreckage on the bottom of the Ohio River.

There still was no official estimate on how many vehicles remained to be salvaged.

The number of known dead stood at 32. State Police listed 18 others missing. They raised the missing figure back to 18 after having reduced it earlier to 13.

Rescue workers had not recovered any additional bodies since Thursday.

Volunteers in small craft were forced again Saturday to suspend dragging operations for a time after temperatures fell into the teens and low 20s.

Churches planned silent prayers Christmas Eve for the dead and missing.

Santa's Helpers Protest Viet War

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some 300 demonstrators calling themselves "Santa's Helpers," mingled with Fifth Avenue Christmas shoppers Saturday to protest the Vietnam war.

The antiwar demonstrators passed out leaflets reading "Peace on earth—including Vietnam," made speeches, and sought to engage last-minute shoppers in conversation about the war.

About 150 policemen were on hand in the event trouble erupted, but no incidents were reported.

It is commonly thought by most that the pharmaceutical industry, the manufacturers of the medications that are carried by your druggist, depends for its existence upon the medical profession.

to-date on pharmaceutical advances. The money is spent in payment of the salaries of representatives who travel about the country informing doctors of the latest progress on the medical scene.

Drug manufacturers also send large annual sums in bringing medical information to the public via television, radio and other methods of mass communication.

Actually, the two professions are interdependent, or instance, the drug industry spends between 250 and 300 million to keep physicians up-to-date on pharmaceutical advances. The money is spent in payment of the salaries of representatives who travel about the country informing doctors of the latest progress on the medical scene.

Pampan, Princess Have Sentimental Visit

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Dally News Staff Writer
For Pampa Attorney Ross Buzzard the visit of a self-exiled Rumanian princess to his home last week had special significance.

Like others who were shot down over the Balkan country of Rumania during WW II, he regards her as something of a guardian angel.

During the 1943-1944 raids over oil-rich Ploesti, Princess Catherine Caradja met and aided over 100 of the over 1,000 airmen shot down.

But most importantly she exerted her influence to hold the Americans and allies in Rumania and not let them be sent off to Germany. Hitler's captives, wherever captured, were usually sent to stalags in Germany.

Not Lush, Not Lousy
The difference, Buzzard points out, may have been "Between life and death." For the earlier prisoners of the low-level raids as it turned out, however, the cage was often gilded. POWs lived in camps ranging from a former resort hotel to a former girls' school. Compounds often had Russian prisoner cooks, kitchen hands and orderlies, and American officers received the equivalent pay of their rank in the Rumanian Army.

Later prisoners, however, often incurred the bitterness of the native populace as non-military targets were inadvertently hit. POWs from the later, 1944 high-level raids never suffered mud, lice or misery, Buzzard said, but they were never treated with the consideration the first group of prisoners had received.

Though he never personally met the Princess while he was a POW, Buzzard says she was even then something of a legend.

Manager of a 1000-acre estate 10 miles north of the oil center of Ploesti, from an old Rumanian family which traced its beginnings to the Christian campaigns against the Saracens, educated in England, and the overseer of a foundation responsible for 3,000 orphans, she was a remarkable woman.

Anti-Russian
Though sympathetic to the Allies, she was allowed to visit the prisoners to indoctrinate them against the Russians—which she zealously did while looking after their comfort.

Her first contact with the Americans came in 1943 when scores were downed in the first Big Ploesti oil raids.

Ploesti, site of one of Europe's greatest oil refinery complexes and called "the taproot of German might" by Winston Churchill, supplied half of the oil for Rommel's armor in Africa and a third of the fuel for Hitler's other warfare.

In the Spring of 1942 when Rommel was pushing toward Cairo and the German war machine was pushing toward the rich Russian oil fields in Baku, the Ploesti oil fields became a prime objective.

The first raid on Ploesti took off on June 11, 1942, when 12 B-24s tried to raid the refineries. They had little or no luck and the raid was not publicized by the Allies.

The most widely publicized—and daring—raid came on Aug. 1, 1943 when 178 B-24s took off from their North African base on a secret 1,200 mile flight in which they were to come over their targets at zero altitude to avoid detection and heavy flak.

The raid was costly to both sides, but the complex of oil refineries around Ploesti continued to operate.

The Tide Turns
The tide of the war, meanwhile, began to turn. The Allies had taken Sicily and were logging up the Italian boot. The Russians were driving slowly—but inexorably—westward toward Germany and the Balkans.

A long peace ensued over Ploesti. The 15th Air Force in Italy stacked up hundreds of new bombers at its new bases and prepared for an all-out assault on Hitler's oil source.

The anti-aircraft defenses around Ploesti, meanwhile, became the most heavily concentrated in the world, reinforced by several hundred fighters.

The Second Round
By the Spring of 1944 the Allies were ready for the second round on Ploesti, and early in May 485 B-24s and B-17s smashed at the refineries and railway yards.

Among the raiding force was 20-year-old bombardier Ross Buzzard.

The young lieutenant suffered a slight head wound from flak but was pronounced fit to fly another raid over the refineries later in the month. It was to be his last combat flight.

Hit by flak near the Ploesti refineries complex, the plane was forced out of formation and was forced down by about a dozen Focke-Wulf fighters.

All eight crew members survived, none of them seriously wounded. They were imprisoned in a former girls' school in Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, not far from Ploesti.

By mid August, 1944, almost four months after Buzzard was shot down, Russian troops began to stream into the country and the Allied aerial campaign on Ploesti came to an end.

Simultaneously, King Michael and Allied sympathizers overthrew the Nazi government as the Rumanian Army collapsed in apathy.

The senior U.S. prisoner of war undertook to get the 1,274 American and Allied personnel out of Rumania. He got permission from the new Rumanian government to radio the 15th Air Force in Italy, but they refused to discuss anything over the radio, and instructed the senior POW to report personally to Italy.

Princess Caradja's cousin volunteered to fly the officer to Italy in a Messerschmitt single-seater. The officer was folded into the empty radio compartment and they took off, landing in Italy a few hours later after almost being shot down by Allied planes.

Fifty B-17s were outfitted in history's first large-scale air evacuation—to a point 550 miles inside enemy lines.

No broadcast could be made of the rescue attempt because German fighters were still in the area. A courier was sent to Rumania to spread the word by mouth.

Buzzard said he first got the word at the Black Sea port of Constantza, about 100 miles from Bucharest. He and several other men had gone there in an attempt to escape via the Black Sea and on to the Mediterranean. A Rumanian officer located them and instructed them to go back to the airport in Bucharest for the rescue.

The Redeemed
In early September, 1944, the Ploesti men became the first Allied warriors to be redeemed on masse from POW camps.

For Lieutenant Ross Buzzard, it was back to the States for a comparatively easy desk job, termination of his service stint in 1946, and then law school and civilian life again.

For Princess Catherine Caradja it was the beginning of an ordeal. Their paths were not to cross for almost 23½ years.

The Princess continued her work as head of the orphanage foundation originally established by her mother until the Soviet-dominated government took over in 1949. They also confiscated the estate which had been in her family for several hundred years.

In 1952, after several unsuccessful attempts to escape, she got out of the country with her daughter's help and fled to France. There, and in England, Algeria and Morocco, she went on speaking tours of "Life Behind the Iron Curtain." She was also a regular speaker on Radio Free Europe programs.

Comes to U.S.
In 1955, she came to the United States and has since spoken in all the states and in Canada. She has also visited 90 of the POWs she aided personally and about 70 of the other, later-fallen ones including Ross Buzzard.

She is 75 years old now and "still a remarkable woman," Buzzard said.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost invariably when Christmas as my bank account running parallel with Twigg's bust line, some unexpected new expense will arise.

This year, having cringed through most of December with only a predictable drain on the exchequer, I was beginning to think I might escape the traditional catastrophe. Then it happened.

My son Tad lost his first tooth.

If you fail to comprehend how that constitutes a financial disaster, it means you haven't had any dealings with the good fairy lately.

Believe me, Old Paint, those days when the good fairy flew tooth-collection missions for a dime are as dead as the days of the $75 Rembrandts.

Trap Set
"Look," he said, adopting the same tone Walter Reuther uses with General Motors, "My tooth is loose."

"Why so it is," I said, falling into the trap. "Do you know what that means?"

"Yes, when it comes out I can put it under my pillow and the good fairy will come in during the night and wave her magic wand and the tooth will turn into ..."

He named a figure roughly comparable to the average annual income of an olive pitter in east Upper Bangdoria.

"Who told you that?" I gasped, aghast.

He ticked off the names of several kindergarten colleagues vowing that each had been enriched by the good fairy by precisely that sum.

Word has been received that over 21,000 families had received assistance from the Red Cross from Hurricane Beulah.
A quarter of a million persons received emergency help during the 6 days after the hurricane had struck. In the recovery peri-

Authority in Right Place Lacking in System

By RON CROSS
 EDITORS NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles on a survey report made up by a Pampa Sports Committee designed to compare Pampa's Athletic Program with schools of similar size.

The article will deal with the committee's report on administration in the eight other schools visited and how theirs compare with ours.

In their interviews with other schools the committee found that they have definite administrative patterns designed to outline the responsibility and authority of the schools administration.

Concerning athletics, the function of an athletic director must be performed, and was executed by someone in each school included in this analysis.

The individual having the particular assignment varies. In some systems the function is performed by one designated athletic director while in others the superintendent, principal in the high school, or head coach performs the specific assignment.

In the Pampa school system the duties are divided and undefined. The Junior Highs consider themselves to be independent from one another and from the high school.

The attitude of independence applies to athletics, therefore, the principal of each school serves in part as Athletic Director.

The absence of a designated athletic director has led to certain adverse complications being placed upon specific programs at each Pampa school which has prevented the development of a co-ordinated program. Each school feels it has a co-ordinated program, but there is no overall direction and there is a specific lack of concern or interest in such an overall program by some principals.

Packers Steal Gabriel's Harp

By ED SAINSBURY
 UPI Sports Writer
 MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Bart Starr passed for one touchdown and set up two others with his classy passes Saturday to lead the Green Bay Packers to a 28-7 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams to win the National Football League's Western Conference championship.

The Packers, three point underdogs after losing to Los Angeles on a last minute blocked punt and last second touchdown two weeks ago, gave the Rams first blood Saturday and then worked with merciless precision to come from behind and dominate the battle.

The 20 degree temperature didn't bother Starr's precise pitching before 49,861 fans. He completed 17 of 24 pass attempts for 220 yards and every time the situation became crucial he bailed the Packer's out of trouble with his passes.

The Packers go ahead touchdown came on a 17 yard pass to Carroll Dale. The third came on a six yard plunge by Chuck Mercein after Starr had completed a 25 yard pitch to Don Anderson to put the ball on the Rams 12.

Prep Gridders Bigger, Better

By United Press International
 When youngsters used to walk out of circus after its final performance in their town, they would hear the ringmaster shout to them:

"Come back next year. We will be bigger and better than ever."

That ringmaster could well have been standing on the damp turf of Baylor Stadium in Waco last week when the final high school game of the season was unreel between Plano and Randolph, a game that decided the Class AA championship.

Texas high school football will be better next year. It is always better. But it will also be bigger — much bigger.

League Growing
 The population explosion has created a giant boost in high school construction, and the first wholesale participation of Negro schools in University Interscholastic League play last season added several more teams.

As a result, Class AAAA, the largest classification in Texas high school football, will expand from 16 to 32 districts next year. Twenty three schools will be playing in Class AAAA for the first time, including eight schools who will be fielding a football team for the first year.

Twenty-nine schools will move up into Class AAA, 34 will move a step higher into Class AA and 36 more will advance into Class A.

With the revamping of several districts perennial champions will be thrown in against some rough competition next season, and the results will be interesting.

District Champs Advance
 Seguin and South San Antonio, both district champions this year in Class AAA, will move into Class AAAA. Both teams will be up against other schools from San Antonio, with Seguin in district 2B-AAAA and South San Antonio in District 29.

The two teams that have dominated the Class AA championship picture for the past three years — Plano and Sweeny — will both be moving up into AAA.

Plano will be in district 6-AAA, which contains McKinney, one of Class AAAA's semifinalists this past season. Sweeny will be in district 11-AAA, along with El Campo, which gained the finals before losing to Brownwood.

Del Valle and Elshop, two more district winners in Class AA this season, will also make the big move to Class AAA.

Nine Going Up
 No less than nine of the 16 district winners in Class A this year will be moving up to Class AA next season.

They include Canutillo, Keller, Brownsboro, Troup, Orangefield, Waller, Judson, George West and Zapata.

Keller and Orangefield will be in for the roughest tests.

Keller will be in district 10-AA along with Decatur and Jacksboro, two of the state's toughest teams last year, and Orangefield will be in the same district as Hull-Daisetta and Kountze. Those two clubs won districts last season, but under the new alignment they will be tossed into the same district.

Colorado Bumps Miami, 31-21

By DARRELL MACK
 HOUSTON (UPI)—Bob Anderson, who sat on the bench most of the first half, pulled Colorado from behind twice in the second half with touchdown runs of two and 38 yards to lead the Buffaloes to a 31-21 victory over Miami in the ninth annual Bluebonnet Bowl game.

Anderson, a sophomore quarterback who was unable to start because of a sprained ankle, took over the Colorado attack in the second half with the Buffs losing 14-10. He directed an 80-yard drive and scored from the second quarter on a two-yard dive and Jimmy Dye, a 151-pound safety playing with a broken jaw, intercepted a pass and returned it 77 yards for a go-ahead touchdown.

Jerry Darron scored the other Miami touchdown on a nine-yard pass from reserve quarterback Bill Miller who took over for David Olivo after he failed to move Miami in the second half.

John Farler kicked a 31-yard field goal in the second quarter for Colorado.

Anderson, who was named the game's outstanding back, gained 106 yards in 17 carries and completed five of 10 passes for 49 yards, despite not playing until the last minute of the first half.

He had been held out because of the ankle injury, which he suffered in Colorado's final regular season game. But he showed no effects as he dodged Miami's all-America end, Ted Hendricks, to score his first touchdown and then ran away from Hendricks on his 38-yard scamper.

Hendricks was named the game's outstanding lineman. But the top defensive player was Dick Anderson, Bob's older brother and the Colorado monster man.

Dick was all-over the field, thwarting Miami backs for losses in their backfield and covering potential pass receivers 30 yards down field with equal ability.

After Miami regained the lead 21-17, Anderson romped 38 yards down the sideline for the winning touchdown.

Wilmer Cooks scored in the final minute of the game on a two-yard dive for an insurance touchdown.

Larry Plantz scored Colorado's first touchdown with a seven-yard run in the first quarter after the Buffaloes had recovered a Miami fumble on the Hurricanes' eight yard line.

Joe Mira, younger brother of San Francisco 49er's George Mira, tied the score in the game's outstanding back, gained 106 yards in 17 carries and completed five of 10 passes for 49 yards, despite not playing until the last minute of the first half.

He had been held out because of the ankle injury, which he suffered in Colorado's final regular season game. But he showed no effects as he dodged Miami's all-America end, Ted Hendricks, to score his first

Jets, Cowboys Eyeing AFL, NFL Titles Today

By United Press International
 New York Jet title hopes are resting on an awful lot of "ifs" — and just as many "nevers."

With less than 24 hours to go on Coach Weeb Ewbank's five-year plan that was supposed to build a winner in New York by 1967, the Jets are in a harrowing situation as they prepare to meet the rugged Chargers in today's season finale at San Diego.

They can only win the American Football League's Eastern Division title if the Johnny-come-lately Houston Oilers, who only moved into sole possession of first place last week, lose to erratic Miami and if the Jets themselves can whip the Chargers, and then only if New York tops Houston in a playoff battle. If the Jets lose today or if the Oilers win or tie Joe Namath & Co. are out of business.

Consider the "Nevers" But to get by even some of the ifs, the Jets first have to come to grips with a trio of "nevers":

1. There has never been an AFL playoff for a division title. 2. The Jets have never won a title. 3. Most important, the Jets have never beaten the Chargers in San Diego.

New York will be attempting to combat the forces of mathematics and tradition the same way they have all season, with plenty of passes and little else.

Namath, who last Sunday broke the AFL single season passing yardage record in the 38-29 loss to Oakland, needs only 83 yards against San Diego to set an all-time pro mark, eclipsing the 3747 yards rung up by Sonny Jurgenson of the NFL.

Hobbs Meet Next for Harvesters

High scoring Pampa will meet Midland at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in Hobbs in their first round game of the Hobbs Invitational basketball tournament.

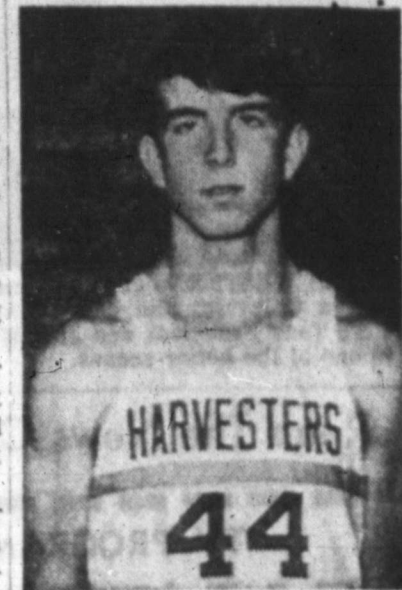

Pampa will go into the tournament as the second seeded team with El Paso Jefferson favored to win the annual affair. Jefferson is an all senior club and will have the tallest player in the tournament, a senior who measures 6'11.

Pampa and Jefferson have the best records with the El Paso team having a 14-1 mark, losing only to Midland Lee.

Jefferson and Abilene Cooper will start the tournament off at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday followed by Odessa and Lovington at 8:15 p.m.

The Harvester-Midland affair will kick off Thursday action and last year's tournament winner, Hobbs (4-1), meets Lawton, Okla. at 8:15 p.m.

A Pampa victory Thursday would pit them against the Jefferson-Cooper winner at 8:30 p.m. Friday and a loss would mean Pampa would play the Hobbs-Lawton loser at 3 p.m. Friday.

The Harvesters first round opponent will take a 5-6 record into the tournament with a 59.2 offensive scoring average and a 55.2 defensive average.

Midland has played two 3-4A clubs, Monterey and Lubbock High, losing to the Plainsmen and clipping Lubbock.

Coach Jay Spears has an all senior ball club with a couple of high scorers.

Jodie Mayes, a 6'1 senior is the leading scorer with a 14.6 average while Robert Jackson, who measures an even six-foot, is carrying a 13-8 average.

Spears will be able to welcome back Eddie Wilson, a 6'3 senior and the tallest man on the squad who has missed the last several games because of a leg injury. He carries an 8.6 average.

Terry Minke, 6'1 senior and Lyle Cannon, a 5'6 junior, round out the other starters. Minke has a 4.6 average and Cannon a 3.2 mark.

Mayes is the only returning starter while Jackson started on a part-time basis last year.

The Harvesters will be well remembering what happened to them last year in this tournament.

They hit the finals against Hobbs, (which had been scoring over 100 points per game), played their best game of the season and lost by 10 points, 102-92.

But Pampa is a much better club this year.

The Harvesters are 12-1 for the season and lead the district with a 4-0 mark.

They are averaging 84.4 points per game with 1,103 points scored and have a 33.5 defensive average in conference.

In conference action Pampa has dropped in 115 of 227, 50.6 per cent.

Defensively the Harvesters have been good with opponents hitting only 28.5 of 816 shots, 34 per cent. In conference action they have hit 106 of 279, 38 per cent.

The second and third quarters have been the best for Pampa, scoring wise. The Harvesters have dropped through 33 points in the second quarter and 270 in the third.

Player-wise three Harvesters are averaging in the double figure bracket and guard Jim Corrott is closing in fast.

George Bailey, who also leads the district in scoring has totaled 334 points for the season and is in eighth place among all-time Pampa scorers. Bailey has a 25.7 average.

Bo Lang has seen his average dip a bit the past couple of games and has scored 196 points, good enough for a 15.1 average.

Beau Bond, the Harvesters' 6'7 center has come along so well it's almost unbelievable. Beau has totaled 136 points, good for a 10.4 average.

Corrott has been getting ever stronger in his last three games and has poured in 122 points and a 9.3 average while other guard Johnny Carlos has scored 103 points and carries a 7.9 average.

In conference action Bailey has a 23.5 average scoring 94 points in the four games while

Lang has a 20.3 average on 83 points scored.

Carlos has pumped in 41 points and has a 10.1 average while Corrott has 42 points and a 10.2 mark.

Coach Bill Brown's Shockers have ended pre-Christmas play with a 10-3 record and Thursday night-hit the 101 mark against Tulsa.

Two of the three losses have come in conference play.

Louis Brantley and Jim Gallman, although both have faltered lately, still lead the Shockers in scoring.

Brantley carries a 12.3 average on 159 points scored while Gallman has scored 132 points and has a 12.0 average.

Only one other Shocker is scoring in double figures, Ronnie Lang has 132 points and a 10.2 average. Lang has scored only eight points in his last four games.

The Shockers have scored 883 points, an average of 67.3 per game and have given up 707, an average of 54.5 per contest.

Lang has a 20.3 average on 83 points scored.

Carlos has pumped in 41 points and has a 10.1 average while Corrott has 42 points and a 10.2 mark.

Houston Rebounds Provide 81-76 Win

Unbeaten Houston controlled the backboards Friday night and trounced the University of Arizona at Tucson 81-76.

Arizona was outrebounded 51-36 and Elvin Hayes and Theodis Lee accounted for more than a fair share with 15 each.

The Cougars, using a zone defense in the first five minutes, went to a 7-0 lead. Arizona managed to break the zone and stormed the Houston goal to take the lead midway in the first period.

The lead changed hands several times but Houston came on strong in the second half and led by as much as 12 points.

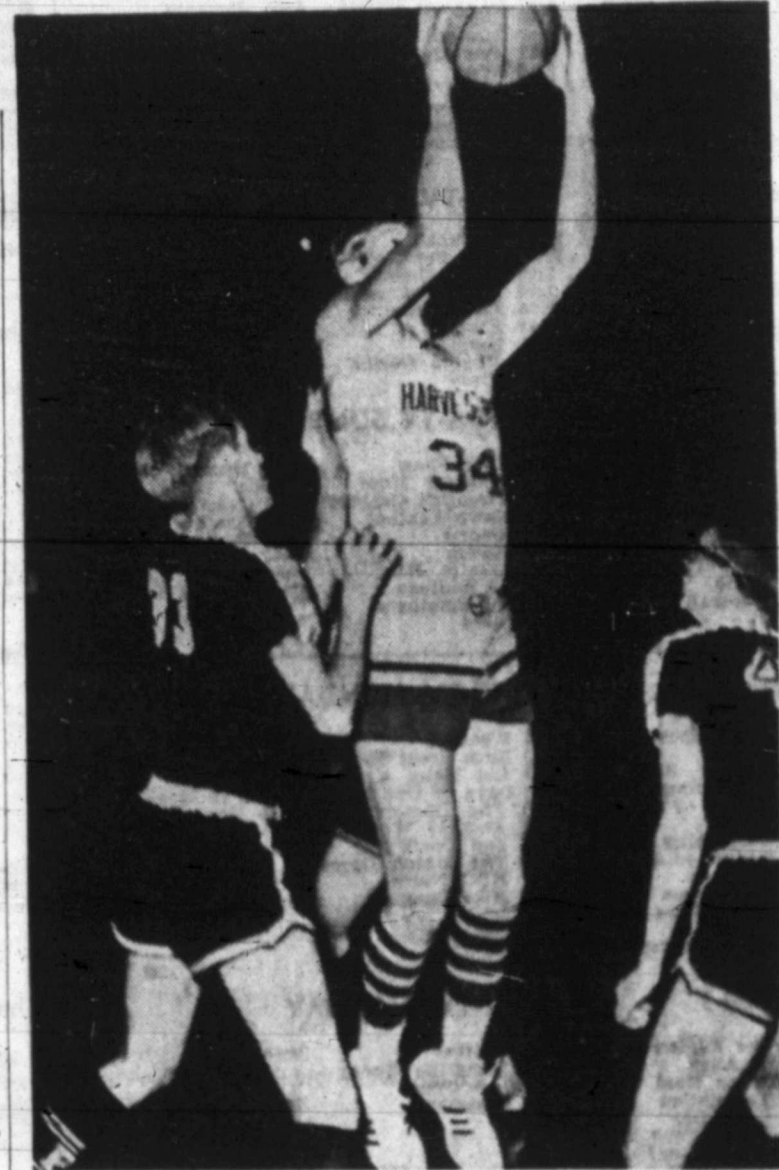

The Wildcats came within three with eight minutes left but were unable to keep in step with the Cougars.

Hayes hit 28 for the Houston club and Mickey Foster led Arizona with 17.

Meanwhile, the University of Texas at El Paso was taking the top honors in its own Sun Bowl Tournament.

The Miner defense stopped San Francisco University for four minutes Friday night and by the time the Dons got another point on the board the game was out of reach as the Miners downed the California team 81-61.

El Paso took top honors in its Sun Bowl Tournament along with the win and coach Don Haskins said the tournament may have moulded his young team into a single unit. But El Paso hasn't done too badly to this point, single unit or not. The Miners are 6-1 on the season.

LONG AND TALL -- Bo Lang is Pampa's second leading scorer and leading rebounder. He is averaging over 20 points per game in conference play.

UCLA Getting Good Homework

By United Press International UCLA is confirming what everybody knew all along—the powerful No. 1 Bruins are better than last season and with no stretch of the imagination could beat the record of 60 straight victories set by San Francisco from Dec. 17, 1954 through Dec. 17, 1956.

The first to admit the existence of this improvement is All-America Lew Alcindor, below his scoring average of 1966-67, but the pivotal force in UCLA's plans to crack the mark this season that a San Francisco team, led by Bill Russell and K. C. Jones established a decade ago.

Alcindor scored only 13 points Friday night as UCLA routed previously unbeaten Bradley 109-73 for the Bruins' 38th consecutive triumph. They have 22 more regular season games to play and by sweeping the balance of the schedule would equal the 60 record. Then there are the NCAA playoffs that could put UCLA over the top.

"We've got a better chance to go undefeated than we did last year," the 7 foot, 1 1/2 inch Alcindor maintains as he praises the all-round ability of his teammates. "I hope I've improved too."

The balanced UCLA attack that broke Bradley's tight zone defense was led by 5 foot, 10 inch guard Mike Warren with 24 points. Mike Lynn contributed 22 points and Lynn Shackelford added 18 as Bradley's eight-game winning streak ended.

Joe Allen, the nation's field goal leader, had a game high of 31 points. Three potential baskets were knocked away by splay-fingered Alcindor.

Second-ranked Houston defeated Arizona 81-76. No. 3 Vanderbilt vanquished Satehel Hall 85-67 and eighth-rated Kentucky squeezed past Dapton 88-85 in other games involving the top 10 teams.

Racing Homer Is Proud Aristocrat

By A. P. COOMBES

The Racing Homer is the proud aristocrat of the pigeon world. He is not like our commercial and fancy pigeons, nor our so-called common or wild pigeons.

All Pigeon fanciers take measures to assure their birds of good health and clean lofts, that are parasite free. These pigeons, like the Dove, are strict vegetarians and will not eat insects. They are fed a special grain mixture, are sheltered from the outside world, and know nothing about how to fend for themselves. Therefore, pigeon fanciers learn to hate the messy, wormy, and lice carrying common pigeons and would like to trap and ship them out.

The Homing Pigeon is our racing bird and has a natural instinct to return to its own home. We only train them to HURRY home.

We read that our Homer is the descendent of the wild rock pigeon that once abounded on the continents of Europe and Asia. Their homing instinct has been developed and stimulated over several thousand years for the purpose of carrying messages. They were traced to the Egyptians at about 1350 B. C. The Persians were known to have kept a regular pigeon post for more than 100 years. We later find that the pigeon, now known as the carrier pigeon, was used by the ancient Romans to carry military messages.

The Belgians began using the Homer to race as a sport, and they did much to develop our present day racing pigeon. It's my opinion that the Belgians did more to develop the racing strain than any other group.

All over Europe pigeon racing is a great and recognized sport, and in Belgium, where there are more than 350,000 fanciers, it is the National Sport.

There are several racing organizations in the United States and the sport is growing fast. The American Racing Pigeon Union alone has over 15,000 members. Other organizations probably have as many.

The stiff competition of racing causes fanciers to constantly improve their strains through selective breeding in order to win over their competitors. This same competitive spirit helped to raise national heroes in the pigeon world such as "Cher Ami" of World War I and "G. I. Joe" of World War II. Perhaps this is why our State and Federal Laws protect Homing pigeons. Under the Texas Penal Code No. 1377-A, each pigeon has a permanent identification band and belongs to his owner the same as a branded cow.

What causes the Homing Instinct and what helps the pigeon to return to his own home over hundreds of miles of foreign country? We don't know and neither does our government, even though we have numerous theories. Many experiments have been, and are still being conducted by our Universities and our government, as well as by thousands of individuals, in an attempt to discover How and Why.

Any pigeon fan enjoys raising, knowing and training his birds. We all try to improve the strain and hope to raise the fastest and strongest of the species, but I believe the greatest thrill any pigeon racer could have is watching his birds trap in early on race day.

We are proud of our club, our sport, and of the trophies and certificates our pigeons win.

Beau Bond, the Harvesters' 6'7 center has come along so well it's almost unbelievable. Beau has totaled 136 points, good for a 10.4 average.

TV NOTES

NEW YORK — NBC has set Feb. 17 as the air date for this season's re-run of that movie classic, "The Wizard of Oz."

In previous years, CBS has been the outlet for this two-hour film starring Judy Garland.

CBS-TV and Universal Television, a division of Universal City-Studios, Inc., have agreed on production of two-hour feature motion pictures that will have their initial release on the network.

For the fourth year NBC-TV will broadcast live-as-a one-hour special the annual ceremony for the Golden Globe Awards in Los Angeles on Feb. 11. Singing star Andy Williams again will serve as host. The awards are presented by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association for excellence in the field of motion pictures and television in this country and abroad.

"European Eye" is a prospective one-hour video series for 20th Century-Fox Television. The pilot episode will be filmed in London and Switzerland on location. Mark Miller stars as a young American detective with headquarters in London.

Latest recruits to the cast of the NBC musical special, "The Legend of Robin Hood," are Bruce Yarnell, Steve Forrest and Arte Johnson, joining Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Walter Szrak, Roddy McDowall and Neel Harrison.

Prima and Satchmo Still Wowing 'Em With Performances

By William D. Laffler
NEW YORK (UPI) — Louis Prima and Louis Armstrong have many things in common and in the overall assessment the greatest connecting link, perhaps, is their ability to communicate through artistry.

Prima and Armstrong are products of New Orleans. They play the trumpet. They sing with gravelly voices. They know how to pick their numbers.

Armstrong was already an established performer when Prima made his name overnight with a chorus on a song called "Mr. Christopher Columbus."

In recent years Satchmo has been very much in evidence while Prima has appeared on the scene only now and then. Even so, Prima always leaves behind the feeling that he is a fine performer.

His latest recording, "Louis Prima on Broadway" (United Artists UAS 6506), is a showcase for this man with the voice and a horn.

On good playback equipment, Prima's voice doesn't sound as harsh as it did a few years ago but it has not lost its imprimitiv.

Prima's voice was tailored for such songs as "Mame," "Carabell" and "Hello, Dolly." Prima wasn't in Mitch Leigh's mind when he wrote "The Impossible Dream" for "Man of La Mancha" but Louis sings this difficult number with an assurance that nothing is impossible for him.

Prima's trumpet solos on all the numbers are clean and clear. This is a fine album that belongs in a discriminating collector's library.

In 1941, for the first time, a British Prime Minister addressed a joint session of Congress. Winston Churchill discussed the war in Europe.

Nudie Westerns Make Their Debut

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) "A Man Called Gannon" is, on the surface, another Western. But in its way it's blazing a trail. What it has that no other Western has had is a couple of nude love scenes.

It was inevitable, I suppose, that the current trend toward nudity would mosey over into the Western field. The only thing left is cartoons; maybe somebody will remake "Snow White" with sweet little Miss White cavorting naked with Dopey.

But back to "Gannon." Judi West, the cookie of "The Fortune Cookie," drew the assignment of making wild, passionate, unclothed love in this one. There are two such scenes—one following the other. Tony and Mike were full of praise for Judi. It is embarrassing to say the least, for a girl to go through a day like that. But she managed, they said, with good spirit. And she didn't even catch cold.

Sarrazin is the young Canadian who scored so heavily in "The Film-Flam Man" with George C. Scott. In "Gannon," he has something of the same sort of relationship with Franciosa he had with Scott—a youth, idealizing an older man.

"I've been playing that same kind of role for 10 years now," says Sarrazin, who is 27 years old. "I think it's time for a change—I'm ready to play my own age."

And, also, after doing several Westerns and Western-types, he would also like to change to a contemporary story. He thinks he'd like to do a movie in Europe.

"I like Westerns," he says, "but I have no feeling for horses. I don't actively dislike them, but I don't like them, either. I feel for horses like I feel for that wall over there—no feeling."

Directing "Gannon" is another of Hollywood's bright young directors, James Goldstone. Like so many of the new hopes, he came out of television.

"This is the age of the young director," Goldstone says. "And there's a reason for it. Young directors understand young audiences, and 60 percent of the tickets to movies are bought by people in the 18-25 age bracket. I think I understand how they think and feel, and what they want to see."

Goldstone also has a unique, but logical, theory that the young television-trained directors are almost better equipped than the old, movie-only directors.

"We have more experience than the old-time movie director," he says. "It's funny, but true. In the seven years I directed on TV, I've directed more feet of film than the old-time directors who have worked on features for 30 years. I've worked with more actors, handled more different scenes, been up against more problems."

But he never did a scene for television like the ones with Judi West in "A Man Called Gannon."

HIGHER TOW FEES.—FORT WORTH (UPI)—Wrecker services may be allowed to charge higher fees for towing and storing cars. A city council vote next week would put such an ordinance into effect. Councilmen tentatively agreed on the measure.

Death Ends for Rancher In Western Type Brawl

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—The fight which claimed the life Sunday of Antonio Villegas, 66, was more than just a barroom brawl.

Involving members of two Alton area ranching families, and slugged out gang fashion at a tavern north of Mission, it flew the colors of an old-world vendetta—colors which remained in view Wednesday with the cautious surrender of the man wanted for the slaying which climaxed it.

Jesus Botello, 46, charged with murder with malice in the shooting of Villegas, gave himself up to Edinburg attorney James Bates. He posted $5,000 dollars bond, and promptly dropped from sight again.

Bates, who will act as Botello's defense counsel, said he had been negotiating for the surrender for the past 24 hours, and that Botello had been "visiting relatives" since fleeing the tavern in the company of his son and a friend.

"I told the sheriff that I would bring him in," said Bates, "but I felt it best that he remained with his relatives until reasonable assurance of his safety could be made. After all, two families are involved here."

Villegas was killed at the climax of the fight which apparently erupted from an argument

Personal Contact Is Needed With the Poor

By TOM TIEDE,
NEA Staff Correspondent
WELCH, W. Va. (NEA) —

The war on poverty in Appalachia is being waged on so many diversified fronts that the financing of it has been characterized as "the thin green line."

Programs abound. Expensive programs. In the West Virginia Office of Economic Opportunity alone there are fully 31 staff-stuffed programs.

There's the Arts, Crafts and Recreational Program. There are the Legal Service Program, Loan Program, the Sheltered Workshop. There are the Social Services, the Community Action, the VISTA, CC, C&A, FMC, T&E, et cetera.

And there are more to come. Many more.

"What we'll have some day," says one joking poverty worker, "is ultimate bureaucracy. That is, a program set up to program all the other programs."

Even the funding OEO is mildly disgusted with all the agencies and activity. State OEO Director Jefferson Monroe, when asked about the overall worth of so many programs, just rolls his eyes and shakes his head.

"We miss the point with programs," he says. "Programs are impersonal things. What we need now is a very personal contact with the poor."

But even though they may miss the point, the program profusion continues, multiplies and gives birth to new ways to spend Appalachia poverty funds.

Some of the programs, frankly, are complete flops.

One, the Home Economics plan, is a well-meaning but naive attempt to increase home-making efficiency in poverty families. Everything from nutrition to casserole creation is taught to bored, dull-eyed mothers.

"They teach you modern things in modern kitchens," says one woman, 23, mother of six. "But I live in a house 75 years old. I got a wood stove with two legs off'n it. I don't even get running water part of the time."

gram is on a $26,000 budget. It's too small an amount to do much good... but too large an amount to waste on failure.

There are other examples of petty program waste. The Arts and Crafts Program spends $63,000 a year in West Virginia to weave baskets. Library programs spend $12,000 and are poorly equipped duplications of regular book lending institutions. Social Services spent $10,000 to reach a few and benefit fewer.

To be sure, many here realize these programs should, for the sake of fiscal efficiency, be carved out of the poverty pie. But they probably won't be.

"Nobody likes to admit their program has failed," says an OEO staffer. "Instead, they just blame the poor for not co-operating and make a political plea that their baby be given one more chance."

Very often, the baby is not only given another chance, but is enlarged and re-emphasized to jar loose reluctant citizen participation. This means, possibly, a larger staff, more branch offices, and, naturally, more money.

And the thin green line stretches valiantly on.

In fairness, certainly, all poverty programs are not failing. Some, in fact, are providing the only measurable progress in Appalachian assistance.

One in particular is fruitful: Education.

Operation Headstart, for example, is especially encouraging. It's a preschool plan for 5 and 6 year olds and, in a state where the law has never set up kindergartens, it is a $4 million-a-year absolute necessity.

Five thousand West Virginia residents participate in the classes, and are told to "have at it." They get crayons, paints, easels, blocks, companionship. The kids do. "I like it swell," says 5 year old Mary Saunders.

Teachers, too, feel Headstart is valuable. One, Roberta Hodges of McDowell County, says that she's observed "marvelous" results since fall opening. "When we started," she says, "the kids were in such a bad shape I felt like just bawling. You know some of them never ate hot meals before? But they have changed since. We help them. We even give them a big lunch."

RAY KNUCKLES, 60, father of five, unemployed and on welfare, is one of 250 residents living in pestilence and privation in Bottom Creek, W.Va.

Crop, Livestock Prices Show Decline in Nov.

By PAUL ANDERSON DALLAS (UPI) — U.S. farmers fell one-third of 1 per cent for the month ending Nov. 15, but Texas farm prices rose 4.6 per cent for the same period, statistics showed. Carey Palmer, agricultural statistician for Texas, said rising cotton prices were largely responsible for the higher Texas figures.

In October, the cost of living rose two-tenths of 1 per cent to 117.5. The September figure was 117.1, based on the 1957-58-59 average of 100. Since Jan., 1960 the cost of living index rose 35.5 points.

True Price Unshown
Ralph Pickett, a Dallas County farmer, said last month's cotton prices may be true but they do not show the true price. He said most crops in the area are harvested in the spring and summer and, since most farmers do not have storage facilities, they must be sold at that time. The present cotton prices does not show the price received by most farmers.

Cotton prices, USDA figures showed, averaged 22.5 in mid-November, 18 in mid-October and 17.3 in mid-November, 1966.

The USDA reported mid-November national farm prices stood at 250 per cent of the 1910-14 base period. In mid-October, farm prices were 251 and 259 in mid-November, 1966. The Texas farm price index was 245 in mid-November compared with 234 in mid-October and 241 in mid-November 1966.

Although prices were up, especially in cotton, this did not mean that farmers would actually make more money. Pickett said the farm program on cotton "will actually net the farmer less than last year."

Texas Increase Down

Texas agriculture figures showed the total Texas farm income for the January to September, 1967 period was down about 10 per cent from last year. Last year the total farm income for this period was $1,697,448,000. The average income for individual farmers is also expected to drop. The average gross farm income for 1966 was $16,345 with a net income of $6,120. In 1965, the same figures were $14,093 and $4,622.

Although national farm prices declined, the cost of farm purchases rose. In mid-November, the cost of farm purchases was 344 per cent of parity. In mid-October, 1966, these purchases were 337 per cent of parity. Parity is a price which, in theory, gives the farmer a fair return in comparison with his costs but does not reflect direct federal income supplements payments to farmers.

Assistant Dallas County Farm Agent Paul Jenkins said, "farm-

Miss Hughes, Michael Powell Repeat Marriage Vows in Methodist Church

The sanctuary of the Methodist Church of White Deer was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Sarada (Susie) Marie Hughes of White Deer and Michael Vance Powell of Perryton. This date also marked the anniversary wedding date of the bride's parents, the bride's paternal grandparents, and the bride's maternal great grandparents.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Hughes, White Deer, and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Powell, Perryton.

The candlelight double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Oland M. Butler, pastor of the White Deer Church.

Vows were pledged before an altar decorated with baskets of pink gladiol, flanked by candelabra holding pink tapers and framed by Emerald palms. On the altar beneath the cross was the opened Hughes Family Bible, marked at the Book of Ruth with a single pink rose. The reserved pews were marked by ribbon bows of the bride's chosen colors of vibrant rose to bluish pink.

Candlelighters were Billy Dan Hughes, Lark, and Miss Karen Hinton, Happy, cousins of the bride. Playing a pre-nuptial prelude was Miss Ida May Powers of White Deer, organist. She also played the traditional processional and recessional; and was accompanist for Ray Hinton and J. Henry Hinton, Floydada, cousin and uncle of the bride, as they sang "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us".

After the parents of the couple were seated, Miss Powers accompanied Miss April Volles, Perryton, who sang "Whither Thou Goest", "O Promise Me" and as the benediction "The Wedding Prayer".

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight bridal gown, styled in princess lines with sweetheart neckline, the traditional petal point sleeves, and a full skirt extending into a chapel sweep, made and worn by her mother for her wedding 26 years ago. An edge of re-embroidered French lace was sewed to the veil of silk illusion by seed pearls and iridescent sequins and held in place by a crown of white pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pom pom chrysanthemums centered with the going away corsage of a white cattleya orchid and wore the traditional sixpence in her shoe which was brought to her from England by her bridesmatron. For something borrowed she used her sister's diamond earrings, and for something blue the traditional garter. Her only other jewelry was a heart shaped locket, a gift of the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Jean Hughes, White Deer, was her sister's maid of honor; and Mrs. Roy Lynn Stollings, Canyon, was bridesmatron. Bridesmaids were Miss Jo Ann Thomason, Seminole, and Miss Cynthia Hubbard, White Deer. All attendants wore floor-length empire styled gowns, in shades of pink satin, featuring Bishop sleeves scooped necklines and accented with short white gloves and white satin muffs adorned with pink nosegays. Their headpieces were Dior bows with bouffant veils.

Best man was Jim Powell of Perryton, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Larry Don McEntire, Perryton; H. Wayne Hughes of White Deer and brother of the bride, and Paul Curlee, Aspen, Colo., fraternity brother of the bridegroom. Sharing usnery duties were Charles Kelly, Scott Sanford and James Anderson, all of Perryton.

Mrs. Hughes chose a street length couturier-designed dress of emerald green overlaid by blue brocade, with matching accessories. Mrs. Powell selected a champagne beige suit, accented by matching accessories. Both mothers wore glabella corsages of complimentary colors.

Flower girl was Nada Mae Lyles, Hale Center, cousin of the bride, wearing a party dress. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals, tied with a lavish pink bow, and wore a wristlet of frenched pink carnations. On the guest registry table was a single lighted Victorian rose candle. Mrs. Jerry Stevens of Pampa greeted and offered each guest a wedding program.

RECEPTION

Fellowship Hall of the church was the setting for the reception following the wedding rites. The bride's table was covered with a white organdy cloth atop an underskirt of white net. An overdrape was caught up at intervals with pink satin rose buds and ribbon.

The table was centered with the bride's bouquet surrounded by those of her attendants, pink candles and appointments of crystal and silver, including the silver ladle belonging to Mrs. B. O. Bentley and a crystal punch bowl.

The three-tiered white cake was topped by a silver Christian cross; decorated with pink confection roses which were made by a family friend, Mrs. Austin Morgan of Franklin, La. Hostesses at the serving table were Misses Kay Justice and Judith Reimer, both of Perryton, and Miss Melinda Powell of Guyman, Okla., cousin of the bridegroom.

Playing piano selections of the bride was Kim A. Wheelley, White Deer, a friend and classmate of the bride.

The bride changed into a blue ocean spray sheer wool dress, trimmed with jeweled neckline and wrists, and complemented by tapestry slippers, purse and gloves. The orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet accented her costume.

Following a wedding trip of a tour of the southern states the couple will live at 624 Concord St., Davidson, N. C., where Mr. Powell is a candidate to receive his Bachelor of Arts degree in June. Mrs. Powell plans to enroll in the University of North Carolina for the spring semester.

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How does a girl entertain a visiting male from out of town without getting stuck with the check?

We live in San Francisco, which seems to be the crossroads of the world, and someone is always calling me to say "hello" from a friend, and I feel that I am expected to entertain him in some way.

I never know if he can afford to take me out, and if so, where he can afford to take me. An out-of-town visitor usually likes to see the sights, and it's up to the "native" to suggest places to go, but I hate to suggest a place that may be too expensive for him.

And since I'm showing him around, there's always the chance that he thinks I am treating HIM, and I don't want to get stuck with the check. How does one get around this? I can't keep driving around the city.

SAN FRANCISCAN
DEAR SAN FRANCISCAN: You could save yourself a lot of speculating by simply asking the visitor exactly what he had in mind. If he indicates that he would like to sample one of the better restaurants, recommend one, and let him be the host. If he says he just wants to "see the sights," show him Chinatown, Alcatraz, and the Golden Gate bridge. But eat first!

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion on something that I consider to be very poor taste and lack of judgement. Why do they play our National Anthem at a meal where 90 per cent of the people are in their seventies and eighties?

Most of them have had to be brought there in wheelchairs, and the others could hardly make it with their walkers and canes and crutches, yet when they played The Star-Spangled Banner many of them struggled to get on their feet to show respect.

ALMOST EIGHTY
DEAR ALMOST: Unless there is a reason for playing our National Anthem at such a gathering, another patriotic song, which does not require the listeners to stand, should be substituted.

DEAR ABBY: I recently found a big box of old postcards and envelopes that already had the stamps on them. Can I cut the stamps off and use them for postage on other things, such as packages?

I don't see why I can't, as the stamps are unused and good as new. Please answer in your column as my husband opens all the mail if he gets it first, and I don't want him to know how dumb I am.

"44-YEAR-OLD DUMMY"
DEAR "44": First, I think your question is a good one and I do not consider you a "dummy." Postal regulations prohibit using stamps cut from postcards, envelopes, and aerograms.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ABBY: I am with you. I've always been a little wary of people who treat dogs like people and people like dogs.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For the public consideration, the Center offers two membership plans. This plan is for those persons over 8 years of age including adults with only 1 or 2 in the family. This plan costs $5 for six months or $8 per year. The other plan is the family plan. This plan covers every member of the immediate family including college students. This plan sells for $12 for six months or $20 per year.

To purchase any of these memberships, you need only come to the reception desk as you enter the building, pay your membership dues and membership cards will be issued to you. You get a full six or 12 months use of the membership.

WOMEN'S SWIM TIME: This information concerns only the women, so you men, do not read this. The Center has scheduled a swim time for only women. This informal swim time is on Monday and Fridays from 10 to 11:30 a.m. There is no one here but you women. Participation is by membership only and memberships are available at all times. If you are further interested in exercising, there is a small group of women participating in an informal exercise class at 9:30 on these days.

TEEN DANCES: Welcome home all you college young people. The Center has scheduled several special dances to school students through this holiday season. Two dances in particular are still in the offing. On Tuesday night Dec. 26 from 8-11 p.m. the Cords from West Texas State Univ. will be here. This is a proven band of high caliber music. Then on Dec. 29 the fabulous Jekyl and the Hydes from Lubbock will be here. They have a very good group and have one of the few Vox Echo Chambers. Tell all your friends to meet you at the Youth Center on Tuesday and Friday night.

To start the new year the Center is bringing in some new talent. On Jan. 5 the Luv Explosion, recording artists, will perform. They too are from Texas Tech. On Jan. 12 the band rated No. 1 in Amarillo, the Hysterical Society, will play. The Hysterical Society has two records out and was on the Five Americans show this summer. Jan. 19 everybody's favorites, the Motifs, will return for an engagement. They have added the big full size organ and have one of the finest sounds around.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE—Most of the teams are taking the holiday break with only two games scheduled this week, and two the next. After two weeks of play the leaders look like this. Div. I First National Bank 1-0, Coca Cola 1-1, Gibson's Discount Center 0-2 and Meco Constr. 0-2. Div. II Curtis Well Serv. 2-0, Celanese 2-0, Richard Drug 1-1 and First Baptist Church 0-2. Div. III Cock O Walk 1-0. The Top O' Texas Independent Basketball Tournament will be held on Feb. 26-Mar. 4. Entry is open to all church, company, independent teams around. Entry fee is $15 per team. Soviet Spy Brags About Sabotage Job

MOSCOW (UPI)—Harold (Kim) Philby, the Briton who turned spy for the Soviet Union, said that he personally torpedoed a U.S. plan for an anti-Communist revolt in the Balkans 16 years ago.

Philby said he actually sat in on the planning of the coup. Philby said in a sensational interview with the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia that for that service, among others, he got the Soviet Order of the Red Banner.

It was believed the first interview Izvestia ever printed with a Kremlin spy.

It marked the 50th anniversary of the State Security Committee (KGB), the Soviet secret police which employs Philby and a further Soviet attempt to discredit British intelligence.

Izvestia said the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) once planned a counter-revolution in a Communist-ruled nation in the Balkans. It did not name the country but said the plot was planned in the spring of 1951. An Izvestia editor said later by telephone, however, that August, 1951, was the correct date.

Philby then headed British intelligence liaison mission to Washington and sat in on the planning talks.

The revolution was supposed to touch off revolts in other Communist countries, Izvestia said.

Philby approved the plan, Izvestia said, "and made a number of amendments. He was an expert and the CIA realized it. But this operation, which is still hidden, ended in disaster."

"All possible theories were analyzed—except one—that a regular officer of the Soviet intelligence service was sitting in on the conference," Izvestia said.

Philby, 55, was a Soviet spy for 30 years, until the day in 1964 when he fled from Beirut to take up residence in the Soviet Union.

TAMWORTH, England (UPI)—The town council sent back a proposed coat of arms for the city, complaining of inclusion of mermaids in the design. One councilman described the mermaids as voluptuous, but the council said that was not why they were rejected. Tamworth is 70 miles from the sea, the council said, and mermaids would be inappropriate.

DALLAS (UPI)—The arrest and imprisonment Sunday of a man suffering from a stroke is expected to bring a substantial claim against the city of Dallas. John E. Holland was jailed on a drunk charge but later was found to be suffering from a stroke. Holland's wife said she expected the claim to be filed soon.

19 Supreme Court Rules Against Sunkist Growers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled that Sunkist Growers, Inc., the citrus pro., is not the kind of cooper., that is immune from a suit charging conspiracy to restrain trade.

The Capper-Volstead Act of 1922 freed farmers from this type of liability when engaged in cooperative activities in growing and marketing crops.

Sunkist sought to take advantage of Capper-Volstead in an antitrust suit brought against it by Case-Swayne, Inc., a manufacturer of juices. Sunkist produces citrus fruits in California and Arizona.

But in an opinion by Justice Thurgood Marshall, the court ruled Sunkist has members who are not growers and therefore cannot be saved by the 1922 statute.

The $6.6 million suit had been dismissed in federal district court in Los Angeles as to the conspiracy section of the law and also as to another section which makes it an offense to monopolize trade or commerce.

Poverty: Penniless People as Far as You Can See

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent
BOTTOM CREEK, W. Va. (NEA) — There are some 250 residents living in pestilence and privation of this dilapidated coal community and a good many of them are of the bitter opinion that the place is well-named.

Bottom Creek, they say, is the low water mark in United States society. It is 80 largely forgotten families living in 50 sagging shacks and it is a few dozen outhouses so overfilled that a convenient stream has been pressed into service. It is a pair of torn trousers per child and no glass in the windows.

Bottom Creek is another era. Daily newspapers are rarely read here. Women wash with scrub boards. Wood-burning kitchen stoves are turn-of-the-century vintage. The stark, dim and danglecord light bulbs look like Edison originals.

Places like this — some even worse — blemish these far-flung hills like festering boils. This fact is, of course, no revelation. Appalachian poverty have been public record for 100 years but what is noteworthy — or should be, at least to the taxpayer — is that the pockets continue to exist (even grow worse) despite massive transfusions of federal and state money designed to eliminate them.

way, hardly a dollar's worth of progress will be felt. "I hear they're spending plenty just to build new roads around the state," says one unemployed coal miner. "Well, what for? I ain't even got a car."

Indeed, the sophisticated planning of state and federal poverty agencies fails miserably to impress the really poor of Appalachia. Families without running water just can't comprehend the long-range programs of bureaucracy.

no small or large improvements "but it's not the real solution. All it does is make the poor more and more dependent. What we have to do is begin to make them less and less dependent."

Here in Bottom Creek, the poverty needs are mostly all like Mrs. Mitchell's... so fundamental as to possibly be incomprehensible even to dedicated poverty officials.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Best At Christmastime

Merry Christmas, everyone! The most exciting, personally involving, family participating and individually exhausting day of the year is at hand. Each year as the Christmas season comes upon us we wonder if it will be as madly compelling as prior years have been. It always is. There is something about Christmas which makes it the festival of all festivals.

Shrill childish prattle amid the crackling of wrapping paper. Oohs and ahs of delight as ribbons are cut and bows untied. The sparkle of Christmas tree decorations and the calmly gleaming lights of myriad colors.

The magnificent voices of choirs and choruses intoning the old tunes with majesty and enchantment. The smells of Christmas dinner filling the house, stimulating the appetite, reminding us of delectable moments soon to come.

The smiles and voices of those familiar to us, drawn together in the family circle for the glad occasion.

All of this and more is wrapped up in this package that is Christmas.

The human species may be full of faults and failings. But any species that can plan and execute so momentous an occasion of joy cannot be all bad.

And the single characteristic which runs through the entire invigorating event is the fact that Christmas is not centrally planned.

At Christmas, perhaps more than at any other time of the year, each of us pursues his individual bent. There are sly whispers and knowing glances, furtive trips in and out of back doors; expressions of bland innocence.

Yet, all the while each of us is, individually, plotting on how to please someone else, how to delight the kiddies, how to comfort and encourage the old folks.

Imagine the results if Christmas were a government project. Protect us from the thought. A bureau to undertake the advancement and promotion of joy at Christmas time would be a major disaster. As it is, during this season, we turn away from government and look to the market place to fulfill our earnest wishes for others.

And the managers, the clerks, the delivery man, how they strain and labor in an effort to anticipate, to make attractive, to perform that extra service which brings a glow to cheeks and a sparkle to the eyes.

Ah, if only this reliance upon the market place could be more generally encouraged and supported throughout the year. But no, we are prone to criticize and blame the market place for every possible shortcoming. Worse, during much of the year, millions turn to the government as though it were a sort of perpetual Santa Claus. If we have problems, instead of trying to solve them we clamor for a new law, a new "benefit" and a new subsidy.

During the year we act as though we are children, unable and unwilling to solve our own problems. But at Christmas time, we manfully shoulder our own responsibilities. We may even run into debt to make the occasion a little brighter for someone, though we labor into March to pay the score.

It seems to us that Christmas usually brings out the best in people. And it isn't the fact of giving, in itself, which heralds the delight. It is the fact that whatever is to be done, we must do it, openly, gladly, or at least with an outward show of an emotion we may only dimly feel.

It is this assuming of individual responsibility which makes us stand a little straighter, brings out an unaccustomed grin, causes us to appreciate our fellow man the more.

All hail the spirit of Christmas, for this is it. And let us strive to keep that spirit alive during the other days of every year.

Eve of Gladness

Almost every year we hear the accusation made that Christmas has "gone commercial." Some even contend that the commercial, advertising spirit has quite obliterated the "true spirit" of Christmas.

We hope you are not among those who decry the magnificent Christmas in America. Truly, it is one of the most remarkable and inspiring observances ever participated in by any people of any country at any time in the history of the world.

As we view it, the modern "commercial spirit," so often decried, is what has really made the occasion. Imagine Christmas eve in Russia, or some other country not blessed by our marvelous free market system.

Where would the glorious strings of Christmas lights be? They would be non-existent. The streets of cities, towns and villages would be dark and somber, only occasional gleams of light penetrating the gloom.

Who strings those lights and who pays for them? Why, it's the merchants, urging you to remember every child and every friend you ever had so they can share with you your feeling of gladness. Is that feeling anti-Christmas?

Listen to the carols, the sleigh bells, the jingle coming from the Salvation Army pots; peer into those gayly decorated store windows.

Imagine the windows blank and dark, staring soullessly into deserted streets. That's the way they will look in countries where commercial development has not been tolerated. Imagine the silence to descend on Christmas eve in any land under a political yoke so oppressive that all production and all dis-

The Season of Joy

Americans have been busy buying presents for friends and family and preparing for the holiday festivities. It is truly the season of joy in this—what ought to be—happy land of ours. During the year, we hear a great deal about what is wrong with the United States. The Hippies say that they want to "drop out" of American society. The militant protesters apparently prefer life in North Vietnam to life in the USA, though they don't show any desire to move across the Pacific.

The Manion Forum

By MARILEN MANION

Brute force won a battle the other day over civilized law and order. The battle was merely one incident in a growing war that is raging across the nation. On one side in this peculiar war are the members of the "New Left," who believe, among other things, that we should get out of Vietnam. By mere coincidence, the Communist Party, U.S.A., shares the same belief.

Eve of Gladness

tribution is a matter of government rather than individual control. Think about these things before you condemn commercialism out of hand. Why, it's the free market system that has made Christmas for us. Before we got our enterprise and our production underway, Christmas was a time like any other, of solemnity and poverty and hardship and cruel oppression. Now, thanks to industry and investment, to finance and production, we have so much that we give presents to every member of the family and we reach beyond the family—border to extend our love and blessings to even distant, brief acquaintances.

The Manion Forum

The particular battle in this case took place at the University of Wisconsin. On November 17, according to an Associated Press dispatch, "The Central Intelligence Agency and the Air Force today called off plans to conduct job interviews on the University of Wisconsin campus. Communist aggressors conspired to steal it away. The charity Americans engage in at this season is the only really valid kind of charity, meaning private, voluntary charity from the heart. Socialists who see themselves as apostles of social justice think that they are being charitable when they propose redistribution of property—other people's property. But this kind of forced division of property is not what was envisioned by the Babe of Bethlehem when he grew to manhood. State socialism, instead of representing a Christian way of doing things, is but the modern version of Herod's ruthless rule over the Holyland.

Yes, we have truly happy Christmases in the United States. But to continue to have seasons of joy, we need to open our ears and our minds to the principles and ways of doing things that will provide continuity for the good life and the decent life. Christmas in a communist country is but another day in a brutal system that prevents the full development of the human being. The impact of socialism on the spirit of Christmas is a cramping and distortion of hopes and feelings. Under socialism men are compelled to do that which under our free system we do by free, individual, meaningful choice.

When adults give presents to their children, they would do well to bear in mind what is perhaps the greatest present of all—personal freedom. Many gifts last only a few months or a few years or so. They wear out, rust or otherwise become useless. Freedom is a present that lasts as long as it is used. It is truly a priceless gift. For almost two centuries, Americans have celebrated Christmas in freedom. They have been able to eat Christmas dinner without fear of a police state official hammering on their door.

Every good American wants to be sure that he gives the gift of freedom to his children and to his children's children. But all during the year we have to work to pay for the gift of freedom. We pay by struggling against the forces antagonistic to freedom—against the power-hungry groups and movements that would change our country and destroy its strength.

At Christmas, we should count our blessings and determine that the gift of freedom will always be available in our great nation.

Merry Christmas
TO ALL OUR FRIENDS

Silent Night.. Holy Night

As we listen to the beloved hymns and carols of Christmas, our thoughts travel to another time, another place.

With the shepherds, we hear the heavenly host announce the glad tidings...with the Wise Men, we follow the Star of Bethlehem...with Joseph and Mary, we gaze in wonder at the Holy Babe. He is born again in our songs...and in our hearts.
