Twinkles Speaking again of speeding, Shippy (the family pup) says that these bicycles with motors attached are surely hard to chase.

Now that Ginger Rogers is an admiral in the Texas navy, surely the Jaycees will take action to make the North Fork navigable.

It's the Rio (river) Grande, and not Rio Grande river, in case any Centennial visitor should ask you.

The "world war" obviously isn't over; only an armistice was "won"; this generation may never know the outcome.

Eating crows is now claimed to prevent one from getting over-stout and maybe a skunk a day would simply melt the fat away.

Musing of the moment: Deciding on what to plant and whether to plant vegetables has many Pampans in a dilemma.

Personally, we'll never get away from a boyhood hankering to wrap ornamental gourds and by planting the growing fruit distort it into caricatures.

And castor beans always were intriguing to us, except in liquid form.

BUFFALO BILL NO UNION SPY, CLAIMS SOLON

Nebraskan Declares Cody Was Scout For Yankees

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Rep. Stefan (R., Neb.) challenged the Bonnie Blue Flag chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy today to prove that Buffalo Bill Cody was a Union spy.

"I've heard enough about the spy charge," said the congressman, "and I think it's time for it to stop. I'm prepared to go on the floor of the house to do it if necessary."

The U. D. chapter, located at Dallas, Texas, objected recently to a proposal to erect a statue to Buffalo Bill at the Texas exposition art gallery, claiming the Indian fighter once served the federal forces as a spy.

"This spy business came up once before," said Stefan, "it was about the same time that some scandal monger was saying that Custer was a coward. We had a convention of some old timers who really knew the facts to discuss both issues."

The "convention" was held in Stefan's home, Norfolk, Neb., June 16, 1927.

Pawnee Bill Quoted. "I asked Pawnee Bill," (Major Gordon Lillie) said the congressman, "what he knew about Bill Cody being a spy, and if anyone would know, Pawnee Bill would have."

After all," said Stefan, "congress appropriated $3,000,000 of the people's money for the Texas celebration this year. This means that the money of people all over the United States is being spent on this thing."

Governor Alf Landon of Kansas will be invited to attend the Pampa Centennial Exposition and Oil Show when local Jaycees attend a regional convention of the Junior chamber in Topeka, Kans., Thursday.

A cowboy string band has been formed under Jaycee sponsorship to advertise the Centennial.

Jaycees endorsed a proposal for asking the State Highway commission to start improvement of the Pampa-Borger highway.

Dates of the Centennial here have been definitely set for June 2, 3, 4, and 5.

H. S. Shannon Is Candidate for Constable Here

H. S. Shannon today authorized THE NEWS to announce his candidacy for re-election as constable of Precinct 2, Gray county, subject to action of the voters of the precinct in the Democratic primary on July 25.

Mr. Shannon is asking reelection on the record of his tenure in office. He believes he has faithfully fulfilled the duties assigned to him and will continue to serve the people of the precinct to the best of his ability.

'BIG PUSH' IS ORDERED WHEN PARLEY FAILS

METROPOLITAN AREA IS AFFECTED IN NEW CAMPAIGN

By TOM HAGENBUCH Associated Press Staff Writer NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Under the opening salvo of the building workers' "big push," William D. Rawlins, executive secretary of the realty advisory board on labor relations, said today his group "is ready to accept any reasonable agreement which will work to eliminate abuses and sub-standard conditions in the industry."

Rawlins declared that "the union is no longer fighting for the men but for power to crush the city."

Seven thousand men, union leader James J. Bambrick estimated, walked out during the two hours.

Bambrick set the figure of total buildings affected at 4,200, which was far in excess of police estimates. He estimated that 2,200 buildings had settled with the union, about half conceding the closed shop clause of the agreement and the rest granting a "pre-emptive shop," the re-hiring eventually of only union men.

At the same time Bambrick issued an ultimatum announcing that the old demands of a closed shop, $2 a week raise, and 48-hour week would become effective again.

"This is the union's answer to the realty board," Bambrick declared as labor's "flying squadrons" started ordering workers from buildings in the Grand Central area, the heart of the city.

Pickets patrolled streets before many banks and insurance offices.

Several large office buildings on Broadway, Fifth avenue, and Madison avenue were tied up by initial sorties of the strikers.

Office employes groups in libraries and on the curbs, awaited replacements to man abandoned elevators.

The long-delayed thrust at the Grand Central area resulted, the city officials said.

Dallas Must Be Biting Her Nails As Rose Raves on

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Billy Rose looked forward to a $100,000 job today and planned a "Texas Frontier Centennial" exposition at Fort Worth that "will make 'Jumbo' look like a peep-show."

Rose, creator of "Jumbo," the mammoth indoor circus that packed New York's remodeled Hippodrome all winter, said that he had signed a contract to manage the exposition at $1,000 a day for 100 days and would leave here Wednesday to take over.

A three-ring circus, a livestock show, a frontier city, and a swimming pool 100 yards square is just the start of Rose's layout.

Prayers Heard In Churches Of French Border

BY CHARLES FOLTZ. (Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press.) STRASSBOURG, France, March 10.—Praying women and children, stirred by reports that resurrected regiments of Kaiser Wilhelm are on the march in the Rhineland, crowded the parish churches of French frontier provinces today.

As France poured thousands of new fighting men into the Maginot line of fortifications and manned great anti-aircraft guns along the frontier hills from Belgium to Switzerland, the people of Strassbourg heard rumors that old imperial regiments, stationed in Alsace before 1914, have been revived in Adolf Hitler's Rhineland army.

Parish churches in villages such as Drusenheim, north of Strassbourg, were crowded with prayerful folk. Here, where many residents still speak German, the historic Strassbourg cathedral found uniformed officers and soldiers mingling with the citizens.

Many peasants, gazing at mile-long columns of troop-laden trucks rumbling through their placid villages, contented themselves with the blunt comment: "This time we are prepared!"

Tension heightened overnight upon reports that a Nazi airplane had flown over the French fortress at Thionville. The plane, with French pursuit craft on its tail, roared back over the border, authorities at Metz were told.

How many new troops had joined the 100,000 already in the Maginot line remained a secret at Paris headquarters. But French officers said 30,000 of Nazi Germany's fighting men had entered the rearmend Rhineland Monday.

FRENCH FAIL TO GET ASSISTANCE OF BRITISH

(By The Associated Press) Declaring that "The future of European peace is at stake," France's premier, Albert Sarraut, appealed today to the members of the League of Nations to join "in a fight for peace."

His plea came after Great Britain, seeking to conciliate the troubles between France and Germany, had turned down the French request for immediate assistance in driving the Nazi troops out of the reoccupied Rhineland zone.

(Britain previously had pledged its assistance to France and Belgium if the German troops crossed the borders.)

The Belgium government expressed gratification at England's reaffirmation of support. A government statement read: "Belgium knows she can rely on the good faith of Great Britain."

Going before the chamber of deputies, Premier Sarraut declared that if Adolf Hitler was justified in violating the Locarno pact, "then we must turn resolutely toward military alliances and armaments races."

His words were followed with the prediction the Franco-Soviet pact of mutual assistance—assailed by Hitler in his denunciation of the Locarno pact—would be quickly ratified in the French senate. The chamber of deputies has already done so.

Obviously referring to Hitler's proposal for negotiations looking toward a new western European security pact, Sarraut declared: "Signatories fail."

"France does not refuse negotiations that make for peace in the future, but she cannot retreat when dominated by violence and when signatures are repudiated."

Taking his cue from Hitler, "who spoke to the French people over the head of their government," Sarraut talked "to the German people."

He asked the Germans "if you would have confidence in France signing new treaties if she had just torn up old ones? How, then, can the French have confidence in the fresh negotiations that Germany proposes?"

The deputies burst into cheers when Sarraut referred to "the profound impression of horror" France had received from the world war.

By the time the government had declared their "positive" settlement of the Saar Basin territory, returned to Germany by plebiscite, was "the last important difference between France and Germany."

Flamand Falls Then, Sarraut began on, two months later the renegade had denounced the arms clauses of the Versailles treaty.

The premier declared that what Hitler had done "no nation could accept so long as there is justice." By the time the government declarations were completed, both deputies and senators were cheering.

For three hours Pierre Etienne Flamand, French foreign minister, fought in a conference of the League of Nations.

Another Slash In Light Rates Will Be Made

A revision of Pampa light and power rates downward is in the making, it was revealed last night in a statement of officials of the Southwestern Public Service company to the city commission.

J. M. Collins, local manager, and Jack Cunningham, former Pampa who is now district manager, said that now lower rates would be effective on consumption immediately following the meter readings closing March 24, and would be reflected in billings of May 1.

There will be a substantial reduction, they stated, but the exact schedule cannot be announced until a survey of the use of electric refrigerators in the last nine years. The new rate will be of especial interest to the fourteen local refrigerator dealers and to the thousands of persons who own electric boxes and to all other users of electricity here. It will be the ninth rate reduction in the last nine years.

Local photographers appeared before the commission to discuss the license regulations and to determine what constitutes a local establishment. The matter was placed in the hands of John Sturgeon, city attorney, for study and a report.

Numerous bills were considered and ordered paid.

GASOLINE EXPLODES BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 10 (AP)—Explosion of a 10,000-gallon tank of gasoline at the Texas company's distribution plant here today caused a fire that resulted in $40,000 to $50,000 damage and overcame two firemen during the fight to control the blaze. The blaze started shortly before 10 a. m. and more than three hours later still was roaring as nine other tanks were ignited.

EDITORIAL

READING FOR BETTER BOYHOOD

Boys' Life, the Boy Scout magazine, is at its 25th anniversary. Primarily, its service during this time has been to provide better reading for boys. It is not essentially a "shop talk" magazine—Scouting has other publications for specific purposes.

Dr. James E. West, editor of Boys' Life, is one of the "grand old men" of Scouting. He conceived the idea for the magazine when a lad, noting that articles and books for boys were not all that could be desired, either by the boys or their parents. When the idea was conceived, Dr. West was a crippled boy in an orphan's home in Washington, D. C. There was no library available to the boys, and such books as there were in the institution were kept locked. Young West induced the authorities to open the book room. But the other children did not care to read the dry volumes. West offered them a penny for each book read, hoping in this way to show the need for a library.

In later life, Dr. West became chief Scout executive and immediately persuaded the board to publish a Boy Scout magazine. Boys' Life, already a struggling publication, was purchased and adapted to the Scout idea of what is good reading for boys. The magazine has enjoyed a steady growth and has been available to the general boy readers. Unfortunately, there are many Scouts who are not able to subscribe, but most of these have access to the magazine.

Stories from Boys' Life are regularly translated into foreign languages and re-printed for boys in other lands. The magazine, however, is just one example of the many ways in which Scouting provides wholesome reading. The scores of merit badge tests open to boys a vast literature on useful living. A boy may find in Scouting information which will make him exceptionally well informed, useful to his fellows, a life-saver in emergencies, a clever writer and speaker.

Editing the joke column of Boys' Life has for 18 years been the duty of Francis J. Rigney. His "Think and Grin" column has been one of the most difficult assignments on the magazine. Only 7 per cent of the jokes considered were thought to be bright enough yet clean enough for boys to read.

Choosing literature which appeals to boys yet does not distort their minds and ambitions is a task worthy of the best minds. There is much competition, moreover, for boys' time these days, and reading is a matter both of choice and of substitution for less worthwhile activities.

Today's urban youth has access to more books than any other generation, but many rural boys and girls are still underprivileged in this respect.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—The need for additional state-owned buildings to accommodate Texas rapidly expanding government will be illustrated at the next session of the legislature when appropriations are asked to pay rental for space in office buildings.

The board of control has leased approximately 10,000 square feet in a building being erected at an annual rental of about $18,000. The space was needed to relieve congestion in the department of public safety and the Railroad commission.

Through the arrangement all divisions of the safety department will be brought under one roof. The highway patrol, intelligence and identification divisions in the highway building and the drivers license bureau in still another. The safety department is so crowded it was necessary to start a night shift of stenographers.

The growth of the state government in the past six years is shown by the number of departments forced to seek quarters in private buildings despite construction of the large highway building and acquisition of the old Travis county court house which was remodeled into an office building. The highway building the board of water engineers and the reclamation service in addition to the highway department.

The highway department also has its equipment, testing and field laboratories in other state-owned buildings.

Departments housed in other than state buildings are the Centennial Commission of Control, the gas utilities division of the Railroad commission, a portion of the attorney general's department, the state board of barber examiners, the state planning board, relief commission, the board of hairdressers and cosmetologists and the old age assistance commission.

Several federal government offices also are located in private buildings but this will be remedied somewhat with completion of the new federal building.

Rep. Otis Dungan of Gilmer was assigned drivers license No. 2 in recognition of his work in sponsoring the legislation requiring all motor vehicle operators to obtain state certificates. No. 1 was assigned to Governor James V. Alfred.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Important speeches by New Dealers pass through several hands before reaching the stage of final draft.

In nearly all cases the utterances of Roosevelt, Ickes, Wallace, Farley, Tugwell, and the rest are the result of suggestions, deletions, and embellishments by groups of subordinates who pass on the original outline—often the work of a ghost writer—before White House Secretary Steve Early affixes his final O. K.

Apparently the custom isn't peculiar to America. The following story, now being circulated in London, will almost surely be passed around here soon as something alleged to have happened in Washington:

After the British cabinet had met to consider the king's speech at the opening of Parliament, Premier Baldwin scribbled with pencil on the draft the words, "Important refer again to A. G."

The document was rushed by a secretary to the attorney general, who sat up late studying it for possible changes from a legal standpoint. He didn't find much to do and eventually returned the draft to Baldwin, who was exasperated. All he had meant was that the speech should contain a further reference to "Almighty God."

Miss Mildred Dilling, the lovely blond harpist who recently played at the White House, has taught many others to play the harp, including Harpo Marx, to whom she refers as a "highly talented, serious student, totally absorbed in the harp when he is playing it."

She was telling about a performance in New York at which Harpo played a number:

"When he left the stage there was much applause. It continued; grew louder. Still he did not return for an encore, nor to take a bow. After a long time the audience realized he wasn't coming back.

"Later I asked him why he hadn't responded to the tremendous applause. 'I couldn't,' he replied. 'I was out in front helping to keep it up.'"

Congressman Sisson of New York, discussing the law fathered by Blanton of Texas, which forbids mention of Communism in District of Columbia schools: "One teacher in physiology taught that the blood was a fluid in the body made up of white corpuscles and 'the other kind.'"

Rexford G. Tugwell, under-secretary of agriculture-resettlement administrator, is sometimes puzzled, not to say depressed, by persistent attacks on him by conservative enemies of the administration. He would have quit the New Deal long ago if Roosevelt hadn't insisted that he stand by as a symbol to liberals and progressives that the administration was on their side of the fence.

"Only trouble with you, Rex," Senator Hugo Black of Alabama told him recently, "is that the reactionaries realize you've got brains."

"That's a cockeyed explanation on the face of it," Tugwell replied. "It must be perfectly obvious to anyone that if I had any brains I wouldn't be here."

"Alaskans to eat reindeer insteaf of beef." Next Christmas dad can tell the kiddies that Donner, Blitzen, etc., were parboiled by mistake.

New Yorker jailed for stealing a bathtub to buy liquor. To many people, since prohibition, liquor doesn't taste right unless mixed in the bathtub.

Indiana man tells his bride he married her just "to get revenge on her old man." It gives dads of grown daughters a new technique; insult their suitors.

BIG PUSH FOR LONDON BEGUN BY HAMILTON

PRIMARIES WILL BE HELD TODAY IN N. HAMPSHIRE

BY LEONARD B. SHUBERT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The beginning of a big push for Governor Alf M. Landon—with redoubled John D. M. Hamilton in the role of field marshal—today added interest to the race for the republican presidential nomination.

The political scene also was enlivened by the first state-wide primary—being held today in New Hampshire—to select national convention delegates—and pre-primary activity elsewhere by members of both major parties.

Party financing matters also were to the fore. Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the republican national committee is out to get $1,000,000 from 1,000,000 Americans to help finance the forthcoming campaign against President Roosevelt.

The committee will sell $1 "participation certificates." Fletcher expressed hope the plan would become a permanent method of financing the party by "rank and file" contributions.

Hamilton, executive assistant to Fletcher, announced his resignation from that post yesterday in order to tour the nation for Landon, Kansas governor. This move was widely regarded as heralding a more aggressive drive to garner convention votes for Landon.

Hamilton, who will remain in office as the committee's general counsel, was one of the first Landon-pledged delegates from his home state of Kansas. He now plans a tour as "national organizer for the voluntary committee" working for Landon support.

He declared the campaign for Landon's nomination "is shaping up splendidly."

The supporters of Senator Borah of Idaho also were hastening their pre-convention strategy. The New York state Borah-for-president committee, headed by W. Kingsland Macy, filed a certificate of incorporation.

The Idahoans also entered the Pennsylvania presidential preference primary and laid plans to take to the hustings soon in Ohio and Illinois.

Supporters of the president and his foe, Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, will lock horns again tomorrow in another presidential primary test. The forthcoming vote in Barrow county, Ga., follows recent balloting in Seminole county, where the president defeated Talmadge by a 5 to 1 margin.

In Pennsylvania the president will be pitted against Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago and Manchester publisher, co-in-a-d's support of most of the unpledged republicans. Former Senator Geo. H. Moses declared himself "personally and politically" committed to Knox candidacy.

Movie Romance

Jack Donohue, famous young producer of dancing spectacles, put an effective halt to rumors that he would marry Wendy Barrie when he announced his impending marriage to Tuta Rolf, Scandinavian film star, with whom he is pictured in London. She was his dancing pupil in Hollywood.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

By Deck Morgan

"I'm a little worried about you on this cruise," he said suddenly. "That man coming to your room last night. Other things, those mobsters on board. I think you are in danger."

She looked up at him and smiled. "Why do you tell me?"

He brushed a strand through his blond hair—with a gesture of perplexity. Jane thought, "I—I suppose I love you," he said.

He leaned over and kissed her, and Jane laughed softly in the darkness.

Chapter VIII

On the morning of the third day Dirk told her they had passed a ship and some islands in the night. "We're over the Gulf Stream now!" he said. "Just look at the phosphorescent colors in the water."

But Jane saw that he was observing her, not the brilliant colors in the water, this morning. He gave her profile a good appraising glance, from the bronze ringlets of hair on the nape of her neck to her freshly rouged mouth. She had spent hours adjusting her make-up to the new tropical glare, just to make him notice her!

She had liked him irresistibly last night. The personality she had discovered in his lips lifted her to new, strange heights. It was far above the vague terrors which had enmeshed her a few days before in the cold and slush of the city.

They had gone to the ball last night and danced until 2 in the morning, and he was a marvelous dancer! But of course, she thought a little unhappily, a young man who spent all his time playing in the snow at Lake Placid ought to be a good dancer.

She still wondered if Dirk had seen through her pretenses, and if knowing she was only a girl from the workaday canyons of the city, it would make any difference to him. She had been a little foolish leading him to believe she was studying for the stage. Later in the day, she promised herself, she was going to tell him the truth.

They swam, and took long sun baths before retiring to their deck chairs for the morning. At intervals of perhaps 10 minutes Snowshoes passed them in his solitary promenade around the deck. They joined him for a few laps, and to Jane his observations were as dark as they were amusing. The poor detective couldn't take his rest as long as there were human beings at odds on shipboard.

"She came down to dinner last night," he said.

"Who came down to dinner where?" Dirk begged.

"Nora Lane, the actress. And she wore the Kokorin diamond on her throat. It was as big as a hen's egg, and you should have seen the people's eyes."

Jane said, "Why doesn't she have it in the ship's safe?"

"She may, for all one knows. But who do you think followed her out of the dining salon?"

"I'll bet five to one, Snowshoes, that it was you!" Dirk put in laughing.

"Me and somebody else! I followed him. Just as casually as you

It wasn't that sardine king you were talking about. A man's money wouldn't mean a thing to a swell girl like you. You're the tops!"

"I had in mind an opera singer!" she said, her eyes aglow, not realizing the hurt she now inflicted on him. "You know—the kind who are always crossing the Atlantic on big liners. He would sing to me under the moonlight, and tell me such a lot of romantic lies about kisses in the moonlight on Lake of Como."

Dirk laughed uncertainly and reached out for a moon which was not there. The night was black. He felt strangely abashed before her desire.

"I wouldn't qualify," he said. "There's nothing of romance about me. If I'd been born on the plains I'd have been a plow jockey, with the reins around my neck and my big hands on the plow handles. But as it happened, I was born a peck animal. All my family, including me, have carried the mails in the High Sierra on skis. Until a year ago I had never seen a building higher than the saloon in Truckee. When they found out I was a champion jumper, they took me everywhere at no expense to me. You know, I circos performer. I don't mind a live to jump! But when I hurt my leg I lost my chance to go to the Olympic Winter Games. I got this free trip instead. A sort of booty prize."

When he had finished this talk, the longest she had heard him speak at any one time, there were tears in her eyes. Her throat hurt her.

They had both been engaged in a game of pretending.

"All right," she said, "now you tell me what sort of romantic person you expected to meet on shipboard. Be honest. I know it wasn't a little girl who has lost her job, who is saving a free ride on a cruise ship simply because the boss couldn't pay her off any other way."

"No," he said. "I'll admit I had a sort of romantic notion about this cruise. I expected—"

"I never saw a ski," she scoffed. "But I'd rather not talk about myself. When I came on board I wanted to have a good time, a fling. When this is over I'm going down to the state of Mississippi, and turn out skis in the sawmills down there. It's just the job I want. I like to do things with my hands. I've developed a new type of ski."

His eyes were suddenly aglow. "Did you know all the good skis in the world come from the hickory that is found in Mississippi?"

"I never saw a ski," she scoffed. "But I'd rather not talk about myself. When I came on board I wanted to have a good time, a fling. When this is over I'm going down to the state of Mississippi, and turn out skis in the sawmills down there. It's just the job I want. I like to do things with my hands. I've developed a new type of ski."

HOUSE GROUP APPROVES TAX PLAN IN PART

EXPERTS ARE BITTERLY OPPOSED TO ANY MODIFICATION

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON, WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt's corporation tax program moved forward today with the approval of the democratic majority of the house ways and means committee.

But the committee majority informally approved the plan with the understanding that it should be modified to protect corporations in laying aside sufficient reserves to "cushion" the concerns in lean years.

This proposal was bitterly opposed by administration experts who insisted the program as originally presented did not prevent corporations from building up reserves for a rainy day.

With the committee majority's approval, a sub-committee set to work today to draft the president's recommendations into bill form, and to work out a system of moderate taxes for "cushion" reserves.

The president recommended a sliding scale of taxes on undistributed corporation profits in place of the existing corporation income tax, excess profits tax, and capital stock tax. He estimated the additional yield at $620,000,000 a year.

Treasury experts recommended several sliding scales for the undistributed profits taxes, ranging from 20 to 40 per cent, but all averaging to 33 1/3 per cent, with no exemptions.

Despite administration opposition, the ways and means sub-committee was considering several proposals for permitting corporations to lay aside "cushion" reserves without paying high taxes on them.

Much discussed was a proposal to graduate the tax scale according to the percentage of annual profits turned into surplus. Thus a corporation might keep 10 per cent of its profits in surplus without paying more than the present corporation tax of about 16 per cent on it.

Speaker Byrnes and other administration leaders were opposing this plan. They argued that even with a tax of 33 1/3 per cent, a corporation could keep half its profits in surplus without paying more total taxes than at present.

Cross Children May Need Simple Laxative

When children are cross and touchy, give them Feen-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint begins its pleasant effect as soon as you start chewing it. For its stomach-setting mint brings a clean, fresh taste to the mouth. As you chew out the laxative ingredient which is absolutely tasteless, the flow of digestive juices is increased. The laxative is mixed with these juices and carried into the system evenly and gently. Feen-a-mint doesn't gripe, nauseate or cause upset and is non-habit-forming. It passes through the stomach and into the bowels so scientifically that the action is wonderfully easy and thorough. Try the pleasant, refreshing Feen-a-mint way. Doctors prescribe this laxative agent for both children and adults. Sold on a money back guarantee. Generous family size packages 15c and 25c.

Germans Bring Heavy Artillery To Cologne Area

COLOGNE, Germany, March 10 (AP)—German corps commanders began their first inspection of troops in the re-occupied Rhineland today as confirmation emerged gradually that the reich's army on the Rhine was more than a mere assemblage of toys.

One Cologne newspaper published a photograph of a battery of heavy artillery, being kept in a slaughter house yard of a Cologne suburb.

These guns were not drawn through the city, and the disclosure of their presence lent strength to statements by foreign residents here that Germany's army had come prepared to put up a stiff defensive fight if called upon to do so.

How many more batteries were brought into the Rhineland zone, demilitarized by the Locarno pact and the Versailles treaty, could not be determined because of the official secrecy.

One machine gun company was known to be garrisoned at Bonn, the city on the Rhine above Cologne.

Black Assails Liberty League In Lobby Probe

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Assailing his critics as "those who want to work in darkness," Chairman Black (D-Ala) of the senate lobby committee today carried his inquiry into new fields.

Committee members said a considerable number of law firms are being investigated in an effort to determine the nature and extent of influences directed at legislation.

Black made a radio speech last night, defending his committee's actions, a few hours after the senate had called for an explanation of one phase of the Black investigation.

On motion of Senator Borah (R-Ida) the chamber called on the federal communications commission to tell what aid it has given the Black committee. There has been reports that the commission's employees copied thousands of telegrams and handed them over to the committee for scrutiny.

Controversy arose over the committee's action in subpoenaing a large mass of private telegraphic correspondence. Joutet Shouse American liberty league president, assailed the "seizures" as "government terrorism."

Black replied last night that the league fought the administration's utility holding company control bill and then tried to keep its activities secret.

Mrs. Glen Pool has returned from a visit to Dallas and to her mother in Wichita Falls.

Black Draught's Good Reputation

The confidence people have in Black-Draught, built up from satisfactory use so many years, is shown in its being handed on from one generation to another. It must be good to have such a strong following.

Here is a typical reference to Black-Draught by a satisfied user: "We have used Black-Draught for twenty years," writes Mr. Fred Richardson of Hartshorne, Okla. "My mother has used it for fifty years. It is the best medicine I know anything about. I take it for sour stomach and constipation, or when I feel sluggish and bad. Black-Draught is splendid to regulate the bowels, cleansing them of waste matter, ridding them of constipation. I expect to use it twenty-five more years if I live and it gives satisfaction as it has always given." (Ad.)

Modern Life is a strain on DIGESTION

Faster—faster—faster goes the modern rush. People are "always on the go." No wonder indigestion visits so many from time to time. People can't seem to pause for proper eating. But here's one simple step every one can take! Smoke Camels for the sake of the positive beneficial effect

Camels have upon digestion. Camels stimulate and promote natural processes of digestion. They restore a feeling of well-being. And above all, with their matchless blend of costlier tobaccos, Camels bring a supreme enjoyment of mildness and flavor that you can know in no other way!

Smoking Camels Helps to Ward Off Indigestion Caused by the Breathless Pace of Modern Living

THERE'S NOTHING MORE THING than the shove and bustle of shopping. Remember that Camels during and after meals help digestion. They set you right.

THE MORRISSEY during an Arctic expedition. H. McCracken, leader, says: "Stomach upsets are a constant hazard. I learned that smoking Camels at every meal and after helps digestion."

BETTY CHASE, star figure skater: "Camels make food taste better and help digestion along. And certainly smoking a Camel is one of life's most agreeable experiences."

Modern life in one of its most attractive phases—the beautiful Trianon Room (above) at the Ambassador in New York, as seen during the dinner hour. Louis, maître d'hôtel at this celebrated dining place, says: "Our guests come to the Trianon Room from New York and from all over the country. It is interesting to see how they agree in preferring Camels. Those who enjoy dining here also appreciate the delicate flavor of the finer tobaccos in Camels. Camels are an overwhelming favorite at our tables."

TWENTY MEMBERS OF GORILLA GRIDIRON SQUAD ARE AWARDED LETTERS IN CHAPEL PROGRAM

Many Are in Spring Training for Fall Campaign

Members of the Gorilla football squad received their sweaters Tuesday morning in assembly. Twenty boys won awards. They were Doyle Blaine, captain, Leo Cotham, Burton Reynolds, Cleve Drake, Junior McKay, Chester Hunkapillar, Erdus Deidman, J. P. Matthews, Glen Dull, John Henry Nelson, Laforia Wait, Carl Watts, J. W. Graham, Jimmy Hamml, Woodrow Clements, Harold Wisley, Melvin Turner, Norman Cox, and Jim Arndt and Mickey Ledrick, managers. Coaches E. N. Dennard and W. N. Anderson presented the sweaters to the players in the assembly proper.

Lewis Jones, Buck Haggard, and Leon Crane, although playing enough to receive letters, failed to get their sweaters because of incomplete scholastic requirements.

Many of these boys have reported for spring training. J. P. Matthews and Burton Reynolds are showing great promise in the line, while in the backfield Doyle Enloe, Cleve Drake, and J. W. Graham are outstanding in the group from the squad.

AIDS IN TEXAS HISTORY STUDY ARE AVAILABLE

Illustrated Folders on Various Topics Offered

Nine illustrated folders on Texas subjects have been prepared by the Public School Division of the Texas Department of Public Safety for which they are being kept in the divisional headquarters in Dallas. Cent for cents in stamps should accompany all requests for the series complete folders, to cover mailing charges.

These folders are 8 1/2-11 inches in size and perforated on one edge so that they may be kept in students' notebooks for further reference.

Subjects illustrated and covered by the text include Explorers in Texas, Indian Tribes of Texas, Historical Sites and Landmarks, Texas Missions, Texas Emblems, Texas Cowboys, and biography of Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston, and Mirabeau B. Lamar. Each folder also includes Centennial information.

These folders are being used by teachers to aid students in acquiring a more comprehensive knowledge of Texas history. They were written and illustrated with the idea of interesting students in the history of their state.

PHS Band Plays For White Deer School Program

The Pampa high school band went to White Deer Wednesday to play for the high school assembly there at 2 o'clock.

Among the numbers the band played were "Largo" from New World Symphony; "Lisiel Overture"; "E. Pluribus Unum," march; and "Princess of India" overture. "Miami Moon," a clarinet solo with variations was played by Borden March.

Songs were sung by Colleen McMahon and the high school quartet who accompanied the band on the trip.

The band members plan to make more of these concert trips this spring.

Picnic for Juniors Planned This Week

The junior class will have a picnic sometime this week, according to Elmer Watkins, president of the class.

No definite date or place has been decided upon. Juniors who wish to go should pay Ruth Clay, class secretary, 15c.

Cars will be used for transportation.

Among New Books

Neno, a young country boy, journeys on foot to Florence, the medieval city of the Medici, in search of his adventure-loving father, who had deserted his family four years before.

They boy is drawn into the life of the beautiful, dangerous city. He meets a brave, lovely girl, Clarice, and her not so admirable brother, Everardo, and becomes involved in murderous quarrels and long journeys. He returns after faithfully doing his duty, only to be thrown into prison. There are love affairs and the book ends just right. But read it for yourself!

"The Apprentice of Florence," by Anne D. Kyle, is the tale of an ambitious young boy's rise in old Florence. This book is a new one in the school library; also gives interesting sidelights on Florentine life in medieval times. Christoforo Columbus, as a boy, figures in the fortunes and misfortunes of young Neno.

Students Enter Essays in Tooth Hygiene Contest

Many of the high school students have entered the essay contest on the "Preservation of Teeth," according to Miss Kathleen Milhan.

A local student who wins the contest here will have his paper entered in the state contest. Cash prizes will be given for the winning themes.

Although only students in the high school are entering in the essay contest, the local ward schools took part in the contest by making posters and pamphlets.

All entries must be in by Thursday, March 12. Posters were in last Friday so as to be put in drug store windows to advertise the contest.

Students are being urged to enter the competition.

Recent Volumes Discuss Lincoln, Texas, New Deal

The vivid and romantic past of the Lone Star state has been told in a new book received by the library. "Texas History," by George O'Brien John, relates many Texas tales.

The New Deal, about which there has been so much debate, is discussed fully in "A History of the New Deal," written by Louis M. Hacker. This book is being catalogued by Miss Latimer, high school librarian.

Another book received by the library is the biography of one of America's greatest men. He is the man who issued the Emancipation proclamation, who fought the South in order to make all men free and equal, and who was called "Honest Abe." "Abraham Lincoln" is the title.

These three books, with one book of fiction, "Jeremy," by Walter, will be received by Miss Latimer and will be ready for use soon.

Centennial Club Pins Obtainable

Tri-colored pins, bearing the flag of Texas and encircled by the words, Texas Centennial Club 1836-1936, are now available to schools without cost from the Public School Division of the State Department of Publicity, Centennial Headquarters, Dallas.

Orders for these pins must state the exact number of members in the organization and must be signed by the sponsor or some officer of the club.

Centennial clubs have already been organized by students in many schools. Some of the organizations have been set up as extra-curricular activities, while others have been organized as part of the curriculum in history and other subjects.

Mimeographed forms of suggested activities for Centennial clubs have been prepared by the Public School Division. These suggestions may be obtained, at the same time as the pins. This material is being offered as a part of a general program which has as its object the encouraging of students to acquaint themselves with their native state.

Dreams Need Not Be Idle

A lad once asked Mozart how to write a symphony.

Mozart said, "You're a very young man. Why not begin with ballads?"

The aspirant urged, "You composed symphonies when you were 10 years old."

"Yes," replied Mozart, "but I didn't ask how!"

This story, related by Channing Pollock, illustrates the attitude of a great many people who wish to start at the top instead of at the bottom. They wish to be like great men of the present and past, but do not desire to work, strive, and wait for success.

We must learn that what is worth having is worth working for. Most of us are great dreamers, but unfortunately most of us dream idly. Thoughts and dreams must be translated into action if they are to be meaningful.

This is as true in school as it is in life after school. Our ambitions are high. There is no one who does not cherish some thought of what he might do or be.

The answer is obvious—action—and action now.

Committee Chosen To Select Jackets

A committee of five band members has been selected by Winston Savage to determine the kind of jackets the band members will get this year.

The band members recently decided on jackets instead of the customary sweaters they have had in the past.

On the committee are Ross La Nell Williams, Arvo Goddard, Borden March, Bob Mann, and Ann Sweetman.

Teachers Urged to Finish Club Plans

Teachers were urged yesterday by Mrs. Hol Wagner to complete their organization plans immediately so that the activity pictures for the annual may be sent off by April 1.

The annual staff is working on the snapshot section now, and members have asked that students turn in as many pictures as possible.

All of the activity pictures have been taken except those in activities which are not yet fully developed. Interscholastic league contestants will have their pictures made as soon as they have been made.

Every effort is being made to speed up production so as to insure early delivery of the yearbook.

RADIO TRAINING IS OFFERED TO PHS STUDENTS

KPDN Staff Extends Chance to Get Experience

An opportunity to gain experience in various phases of radio work by actual participation in the activities of station KPDN under the direction of staff members was offered to high school students Thursday by Bob McKenzie, manager of the Pampa Daily News station which will be opened here this month.

Mr. McKenzie talked to the group of students who responded to the announcement of the meeting and explained the various types of work offered. Program production, continuity work, and technical operation were among the types of work mentioned.

The KPDN manager explained that students who took part in the station's activities would not only be interested in working, but also would be assigned definite duties and would bear their share of responsibility for the successful conducting of station work.

Students who attended the meeting expressed themselves variously as interested in working, as performers, announcers, continuity writers, and technicians. Mr. McKenzie answered the students' questions and arranged for later work with the students.

Mr. McKenzie stressed the point that work done by the students will be of a practical nature which will be of definite value.

Senior Officers Are Re-Elected

J. R. Green was re-elected president of the senior class for the second semester at an election held last Wednesday morning. Holt Hamlett and Evelyn Bicknell were re-elected vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

After the election, plans were made for a picnic to be held sometime this week.

Study of Education By Radio Is Planned

A three-months' study of planning and producing radio programs, with a view to further development of the educational possibilities of broadcasting, was recently launched under the auspices of the General Education board, founded by John D. Rockefeller in 1902.

The experiment will be conducted by three members of the board: Arthur W. Cooley, of the University Broadcasting council of Chicago, Luke L. Roberts, manager of station KQAC, operated by the Oregon State System of Higher Education, and Stanley P. Young, author, dramatist, and critic, of Westport, Conn.

The Ocean

The ocean seemed vast and wide As I watched the incoming tide. It was like a huge sparkling jewel Just taken from a mine, fresh and cool.

And, as I lingered, the sun went down, Reminding me of a golden crown. It left the ocean almost dark, Except for an occasional tiny spark.

Oh, great mighty waters of mystery, So different from our lone prairie. What great miracle has been wrought Giving us this beauty for our thought?

—Betty Horner.

Slow Students and Small Classes

Teachers and parents who have long complained at the lack of a solution of the troublesome problem of securing a high grade of reading ability in many students have been interested in a recent report on WPA program which has stepped up reading ability by several years by the simple expedient of placing the students in five-pupil classes.

The High School Fortnightly, in a recent issue, reported that through a simple method of individual instruction WPA teachers, many of whom had no teaching experience had succeeded in greatly advancing the reading ability of a number of retarded high school students.

In many cases students who were placed in remedial reading classes, each of which included only five pupils, advanced in reading ability by several grade levels.

It was said that the greatly increased opportunity which was thus afforded for individual help enabled teachers to draw out shy, sen-

COMMENCEMENT INVITATIONS CHOSEN BY CLASS SPONSORS; STUDENTS MUST ORDER SOON

The commencement announcements for seniors have been chosen, Miss Zenobia McFarlin, head senior sponsor, announced yesterday. Seniors were urged to begin at once their lists of persons to whom they will send announcements, so that orders can be placed soon.

The invitations are based on the Texas Centennial theme, commemorating Texas' independence. A small picture of the Alamo adorns the front.

A sample announcement may be seen at McCarley's jewelry store in about two weeks. Seniors have been asked to see the announcements and to ascertain the number they will need, at the rate of seven cents each.

Group Plans to Attend Meet of Hi-Y in Amarillo

About 42 boys were present at the Hi-Y and F. F. A. meeting at Wednesday night. It was the largest attendance at any one meeting this year. At the meeting the boys, together with their coaches, J. L. Lester and A. E. Frazier, discussed plans for the annual Hi-Y convention to be held in Amarillo, April 3-6.

Travis Gee was elected to represent the club as council delegate at this conference, and J. G. McConnell was elected to speak in the contest as representative from the Pampa high school Hi-Y club.

The F. F. A. boys discussed plans for the annual Hi-Y judging contest Friday. Much interest is being shown by the boys in judging this year, and the sponsors are taking advantage in training the boys along this line of work.

Boys Take Part in Groom Stock Judging Contest

Two classes of Guernsey cows were judged by a large group of Pampa high school agriculture students who went to Groom Friday for practice in judging.

Hereed cows were also judged by the boys. According to sponsors, J. L. Lester and A. E. Frazier, the boys made excellent grades on both placings and reasons in judging the animals. The boys had an opportunity to see some of the best animals grown in the Panhandle-Plains area of Texas. Mr. Lester said, "Forty-six best animals were entered in the contest from several counties of the state area."

Boys who took active part in the judging were J. G. McConnell, John Edwin McConnell, Elmer Vandenberg, Harold Wisley, Barnes Kinzer, C. W. Smith, Rex Shearer, Charles Shelton, A. C. Cox, Claude Coble, Farrington Lewis, Jimmie Frick, Freeman Sullivan, Grover Townsend, Jim Hill, J. C. Morris, DeWitt Henry, W. J. Brown, John Henry Nelson, Leo Cotham, and Leo Moore.

PHS TEACHERS ATTEND MEET OF EDUCATORS

All teachers in the Pampa school system were in attendance Friday at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education held at Canyon under the auspices of the West Texas State Teachers college. Many members of the local faculty were also present at the sessions held Saturday in the final day of the conference.

Many other Pampa citizens were present at the conference, which was designed to bring educators and the public together in the consideration of educational problems. Superintendent R. B. Fisher presided over the general session held Friday afternoon. Mr. Fisher served also as a member of the committee on educational progress.

Other Pampa citizens who were members of committees were Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, of the committee on public relations, and Olin E. Hinkle, of the publicity committee.

Among the speakers who appeared at the convention were Frank W. Hart, of the University of California; Bradford Knapp, president, Texas Technological college; J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers college; Willard W. Beatty, superintendent of schools, Bronxville, New York; D. D. Jackson, of Texas Technological college; D. M. Wiggins, president, Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso; and L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction.

NEW CLUB IS ORGANIZED BY YOUNGER BUSINESS WOMEN

CHARTER ROLL WILL BE MADE AT NEXT MEET

COMMITTEES NAMED TO SELECT NAME AND DRAW RULES

Younger business women of the city organized a club for social activity and information on current affairs, when they met last evening at the Vincent studio.

Organization was sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club after a survey had shown the wish for such a club among employed girls. The new club will not be affiliated in any way, however, with the sponsoring group.

A committee headed by Miss Clotilde McCallister was named to draw up a constitution, and another headed by Miss Lorene Nicholson to submit a list from which a club name will be chosen.

Miss Luella Wade served as temporary chairman and Miss Kitty Walker as temporary secretary. They will serve until the constitution is adopted and permanent officers elected. At the next meeting, to be called the last of this month, charter members will be enrolled.

Members present last evening were Misses Sonia Racy, Mary Kay Martin, Floy Stanard, McCallister, Walker, Wade, Jewel Binford, Pearl Anderson, Nicholson, Ethel Nunn, Hildred Brake, Natha Tinnin, Reba Baird, Elsie Johnson.

Those attending from the Business and Professional Women's club were Lillian Jordan, Mildred Over-all, Gladys Robinson, and Irene Irvine.

Panel Speakers

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, above, will represent the state Parent-Teacher congress; and Mrs. Claude Lard, below, the county Parent-Teacher council, at a panel program which Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association will present this evening at the school building.

M. E. CIRCLES MEET MONDAY WITH MEMBERS

Study in Homes Is On Missions of Americas

Lessons on Latin-American countries proved interesting to circles of First Methodist Missionary society, new members, and visitors yesterday afternoon. In each circle, refreshments were served in a social period after the study.

Mrs. H. E. Boynton was hostess to circle one, which had Mrs. C. O. Seeds as a new member and Mrs. Frank Showell as a visitor. Mrs. S. A. Hirst gave the opening prayer; Mrs. H. B. Carson conducted the devotional and business session.

Topics on the program directed by Mrs. W. Purviance were: History of Paraguay, Mrs. H. W. Kiser; History of Uruguay, Mrs. E. J. Hubbard; History of Argentina, Mrs. F. C. Carrington; Brazil as an Empire, Mrs. Roy Tinsley; Brazil as a Colony, Mrs. Hurst; Brazil as a Republic, Mrs. Bob McCoy. Twenty-one members attended.

Circle Two.
Two visitors, Mrs. A. L. Burge and Mrs. J. B. Swinehart, met with 17 members of circle two at the home of Mrs. Siler Faulkner. After the business session in charge of Mrs. Walter Daugherty, Mrs. W. C. House led the lesson.

The prayer was by Mrs. R. M. Lane. Mrs. C. C. Cockerill discussed Education in Mexico, Mrs. J. M. Turner the "Apra" Movement, and Mrs. Lee Harrah Communism in Mexico.

Circle Three.
Fifteen members of circle three and a visitor, Mrs. Bert Roberts, met with Mrs. J. E. Foster. Mrs. Sam Sheppard conducted the devotional and gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. J. E. Kirshman was leader of the study on Brazil. Mrs. J. B. Hesse outlined the history of that country and described the Oenta mountains. Mrs. A. L. Patrick gave a picture of Rio de Janeiro.

Circle Four.
Mrs. Al Lawson and Mrs. J. I. Howard were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Lawson to circle four. Roll call was answered with current events by 24 members. Mrs. S. C. Barrow was enrolled as a new member.

The devotional topic, Steadfastness, was presented by Mrs. A. W. Babin. Mrs. B. Fisher, assisted by Misses O. D. Stover, Fred Radcliffe, C. R. McConnell, and Farris Olden in discussing the lesson on Trade and Peace in the Americas.

Webb P-TA Ready To Entertain for County Council

Mrs. P. B. Krazier, president of Webb Parent-Teacher association, plans are being perfected for entertaining Gray County Parent-Teacher council Saturday.

Luncheon will be served the visitors at 12 o'clock. A board meeting, with Miss Elizabeth Kennedy presiding, will start at 11:30.

This is an important meeting, as officers are to be elected. Comprising the nominating committee are Mrs. Claude Lard of Pampa, Mrs. Breining of LeFors, and Mrs. Evan Sitter of McLean. A report of this committee has been sent to all local presidents in the county.

As the other schools have to produce the most growth before next spring.

COUNTY WOMEN PLACE 3RD IN MEAT EXHIBIT

FIFTY ENTRIES SENT TO CANNED MEAT DISPLAY

Gray county placed third in the canned meat division of the Amarillo Stock show, it was announced yesterday after judging was completed. The county exhibit consisted of 50 entries by home demonstration club women.

Randall county took first place and Potter county second ahead of Gray.

Winning entries from this county were: Roast pork, second place, Mrs. Fred C. Fischer of Meriden club; fourth, Mrs. O. G. Smith, Kingsmill; Sausage, fifth place, Mrs. J. M. Daugherty, Priscilla club.

Swiss steak, second, Mrs. C. P. Couls, Hopkins.
Beef roast, third, Mrs. J. L. Stroope, Priscilla.
Meat loaf, third, Miss Donnie Lee Stroope, Priscilla.

Boned chicken, second, Mrs. Lella Blankenburg, Kingsmill; third, Mrs. Alva Phillips, Meriden; fourth, Mrs. G. L. Roberts, Kingsmill; fifth, Mrs. M. Rake, Meriden.
Ground chicken, fourth, Mrs. Fischer, Meriden.
Mrs. Clyde King of Bell club and Miss Stroope, members of Gray county exhibit committee, assisted Mrs. Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, in arranging the display at Amarillo. Mrs. E. B. Oiler also assisted in checking the entries.

Other visitors from this county were Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Otis Brinkman of Kingsmill. An entry which attracted much attention was a jar of sausage preserved in refined oil, entered by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde King. Staff members who recently have advocated this method of preserving meats, as well as visitors were interested in the experiment.

The four tables were appointed in St. Patrick note. Mrs. C. J. Richter received high score award, Mrs. W. Young second high and the floating prize, and Mrs. Ed Hughes consolation for members. Mrs. Hugh

MUSICAL TOUR OF SCHOOLS TO BE TOMORROW

CLUB WOMEN INVITED TO HEAR PUPILS SING

All club women of the city are invited to make a tour of the schools tomorrow afternoon, to hear pupils in choral singing of Centennial songs.

The tour, conducted by Supt. R. B. Fisher, will start at Sam Houston school at 1 o'clock, and progress to other buildings. It was arranged by Mr. Fisher to acquaint club women with the program of Centennial songs being stressed in Pampa schools, as in other cities of the state, this year.

Since women's clubs here are sponsoring the program in the county, he planned this afternoon to allow members to hear songs by the pupils who will later this spring join all other school children in the county in a songfest at Harvester park.

Sister, Mrs. E. W. Meadows, the past week.

Game Tourney Is To Be Sponsored By Women's Club

Mrs. E. A. Shackleton was hostess for a business meeting of Priscilla Home Demonstration club Friday afternoon, when a game tournament was planned for Friday the thirtieth. Proceeds will send a delegate to the state short course this summer.

Bridge and forty-two will be played in the tourney, at Hoover school building. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided by club members, who will have tickets for sale this week.

Mrs. Joe Lewis, president, was in charge of the meeting. Roll call was answered with current events.

After the business hour three tables were arranged for bridge with white and green covers, centerpieces of pot plants and favors of diamoncks. A traveling prize, wrapped to harmonize in the St. Patrick's theme, was awarded to Mrs. J. L. Stroope.

Sandwiches, pastries, and punch were served to Misses Marvin Daugherty, Guy Farrington, Lewis, Albert Lockhart, Frank McAfee, R. A. Kennedy, Stroope, C. A. Tignor, Roy Tinsley, Ira Spearman, Norman Walberg, and Miss Donnie Lee Stroope.

Training School Opens Monday in Baptist Church

An opening enrollment of 88 was reported from the B. T. U. training school which will be in session all week at First Baptist church. Increased attendance is expected this evening.

All three Baptist churches of the city were represented for all the first meeting yesterday. Classes have been formed for all age groups, and others are invited to enroll. The school will continue through this week, with examinations on Friday evening.

Mrs. Hattie Bush, Training union director of First Baptist church, is in charge. Teachers are the Rev. J. A. Howard and Mrs. Howard, the Rev. O. E. Lancaster, Mrs. John O. Scott, and Mrs. H. T. Cox.

Sermon Series at Skellytown Due to Begin This Evening

Beginning today, a series of sermons conducted by the Pentecostal Church of God at Skellytown will be preached by the Rev. M. C. Mitchell of Borger. Services will be in the building across from the New Deal filling station.

The general subject is The Church. Questions that will form discussion topics are: What is the Church? When Was the Church Founded? Who Organized the Church? How Many Churches? Who Are the Members? What Is a Sect?

WHEN BLADDER IRRITATION WAKES YOU UP

Strike at the cause. It's nature's way of saying "Danger Ahead." Make this 25c test. Use Buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., to flush out excess acids and impurities. Work on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. You are bound to feel better after this flushing and you get your regular sleep. Get Buchu, juniper oil, etc., in little green tablets, called Buketes. In four days if not pleased your druggist will refund your 25c.—City Drug Store, Fathens Drug Co., Adv.

TREE CONTEST WINNERS FROM SCHOOLS NAMED

Pupils in Colored School Are Given Young Trees

Winners in the contest sponsored by the Garden club among school children in caring for young trees were announced this week by Misses J. M. McDonald, C. P. Buckler, and R. B. Fisher, committee in charge.

D. B. Jameson produced the tallest tree of Sam Houston pupils, Leatrice Winton in B. M. Baker school, Donald McGregor at Horace Mann school, and Carl Gilchrist at Woodrow Wilson school.

They were first grade pupils last year, and received seedling trees from the Garden club in compliance with an annual custom. The trees are planted and cared for by the children, then measured by the club and awards made to pupils securing the best growth.

The committee is distributing trees to this year's first graders. Trees this spring are year-old elms secured through courtesy of the Clayton Floral company. All students at the Hayden school for colored pupils will be given trees this year for the first time, and will compete

Preface To History Of Pampa Is Included In Girl's Centennial Essay

(History of early Pampa, unearthed from many sources by pupils who are writing Centennial essays, is being compiled in a form that will be familiar to the city's past.)

(The following essay, report of an interview with Mrs. T. D. Hobart, was written by Meredith Moorhead, 11-year-old girl in the sixth grade at Woodrow Wilson school.)

"Yes, Meredith, I shall be glad to give you an appointment," came the voice of Mrs. Hobart over the telephone in response to my question for an interview.

After cordially receiving me, her conversation turned immediately to statements of fact in which she knew I was interested.

In 1883 a cattle boom hit the west, she said. Bankers and land companies became interested in larger cattle herds and more Panhandle plains and canyon lands. In 1887 the Santa Fe and Denver railroads were built through the Panhandle. A siding was made, named Glasgow, near the site of Pampa.

The New York and Texas Land company owned 613,000 acres. Geo. Tyng was manager for the company until Mr. Hobart took over this work in 1904. In 1902 the original town-site of Pampa was made and named for the grassland of South America—the pampas.

Sam Case. Then the Holland hotel, built by George Tyng in 1890 also is standing as a part of the Old Schneider hotel.

The two main streets were Guyler and Foster, named for two gentlemen interested in White Deer lands. Other streets were named Starkweather, for a Santa Fe superintendent; Browning, for a general oil timer; Francis, for the youngest son of George Tyng, Kingsmill, for an uncle of Mr. K. Brown.

In 1903 the first school was built and began with 10 pupils, one as small as four years old. Miss Townsend, a sister of Mrs. Case, was teacher, then Miss Carrington. John Thomas also taught several years. Mrs. Rider was the first music teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart directed the organization of a union church and Sunday school which served the community for several years. The Methodist organized the first denominational church.

"Amusing," said Mrs. Hobart—"I remember Mr. Thomas giving my Freddie a problem. It was to find out, by himself, the number of people in Pampa. He worked the problem; there were 45. Freddie was six years old."

Cattle came to this county in 1883; first land was broken in 1900; in 1925 was the opening of the Panhandle oil fields. Today Pampa enjoys a population of 10,000.

Building of schools, churches, county and federal building, beautiful modern homes, paved roads, and city facilities have marked its progress.

Visiting Band To Play for Chapel At Sam Houston

Music by the White Deer school band directed by Mr. Armstrong will open the chapel program at Sam Houston school tomorrow at 9 a. m., when the sixth grade will be in charge.

A group of sixth grade boys will sing cowboy songs, accompanied by Catherine Watt on the violin. The singers are Gene Anderson, James Rose, Melvin Arbeland, Johnny Garman, Stanley Forker, Archie Burrows, Richard Trenary.

Beginning of Texas Missions, a play set in Laredo in 1716, will be presented by George Kemnitz, Melvin Arbeland, Ted Stewart, Betty Blank, John Garman, Robert Stewart, and James Rose.

Another Texas history play, Dr. Long's Fort, will be given by June Rose Hodge, Catherine Watt, Joan Sawyer, Raymond Harrah, and James Green.

Fourth grade pupils will present a dramatization, Belling the Cat, with a cast including Jean Chisum, Dee Burba, Clarice de Cordova, Dora Taylor, Billy Nell Rice, Norma Jean Turner, John Bob Low, Reginald Bridges, Junior Fry, Ray Jackson, Harris Lee Hawkins, and Tola Daniels.

Shower Is Given As Surprise for A Recent Bride

Mrs. C. R. Welton, who until her recent marriage was Miss Margaret Hildreth, was complimented with a surprise shower at the home of Mrs. C. N. Baggerman Jr. Thursday.

Mrs. R. D. Berryman was co-hostess. Guests registered in a green and pink heart-shaped booklet, which was presented to Mrs. Welton. After games conducted by Miss Bertha Baggerman, a wagon decorated with pink and green hearts brought in a load of gifts for the surprised honoree.

Gifts were inspected, then a dessert course was served to Misses A. C. Crawford, N. L. Welton, A. A. Neal, John Haggard, W. J. Russell, L. G. Blanton, Bush Haggard, Geo. Ingram, O. D. Myatt, E. G. Frasher, O. S. Epperson, D. F. Keesh, Miss Elgin Frasher, and the honoree.

Gifts were sent for the shower by Mrs. L. E. Ing, Mrs. J. M. Welton, and Miss Geneva Welton.

Class Party Given For Intermediates
A party was given recently for girls of First Methodist intermediate department in the class taught by Mrs. H. L. Wilder. Eleanor Ruth Gillham was in charge of games, and the refreshments of jello, cookies, and candy were served by Mary Lee Morris, Rita Lee Eller, and Byron Dodson.

Others present were Vera Sackett, June Rogers, Frances Koonce, Norma Dickinson, Margie Coffey, Dorothy Jarvis, Annabelle Lard, Heidi Schneider, Mrs. Wilder, and seven visitors.

Garden Surplus Is Shared With Hungry Children

"Sharing our large quantity of surplus carrots with the children of B. M. Baker school has given us a great deal of genuine pleasure," said Mrs. J. C. Browning, Meriden Home Demonstration club woman, as she told of a gift to the school cafeteria.

"We first thought we could never find a place for all the carrots from our garden, but when we read of the hungry children, we knew there would be a real use for the vegetables."

Mr. and Mrs. Browning took enough carrots to the school to furnish many meals for the underprivileged children who are given lunches daily in the cafeteria.

Tourney Series To End Tomorrow

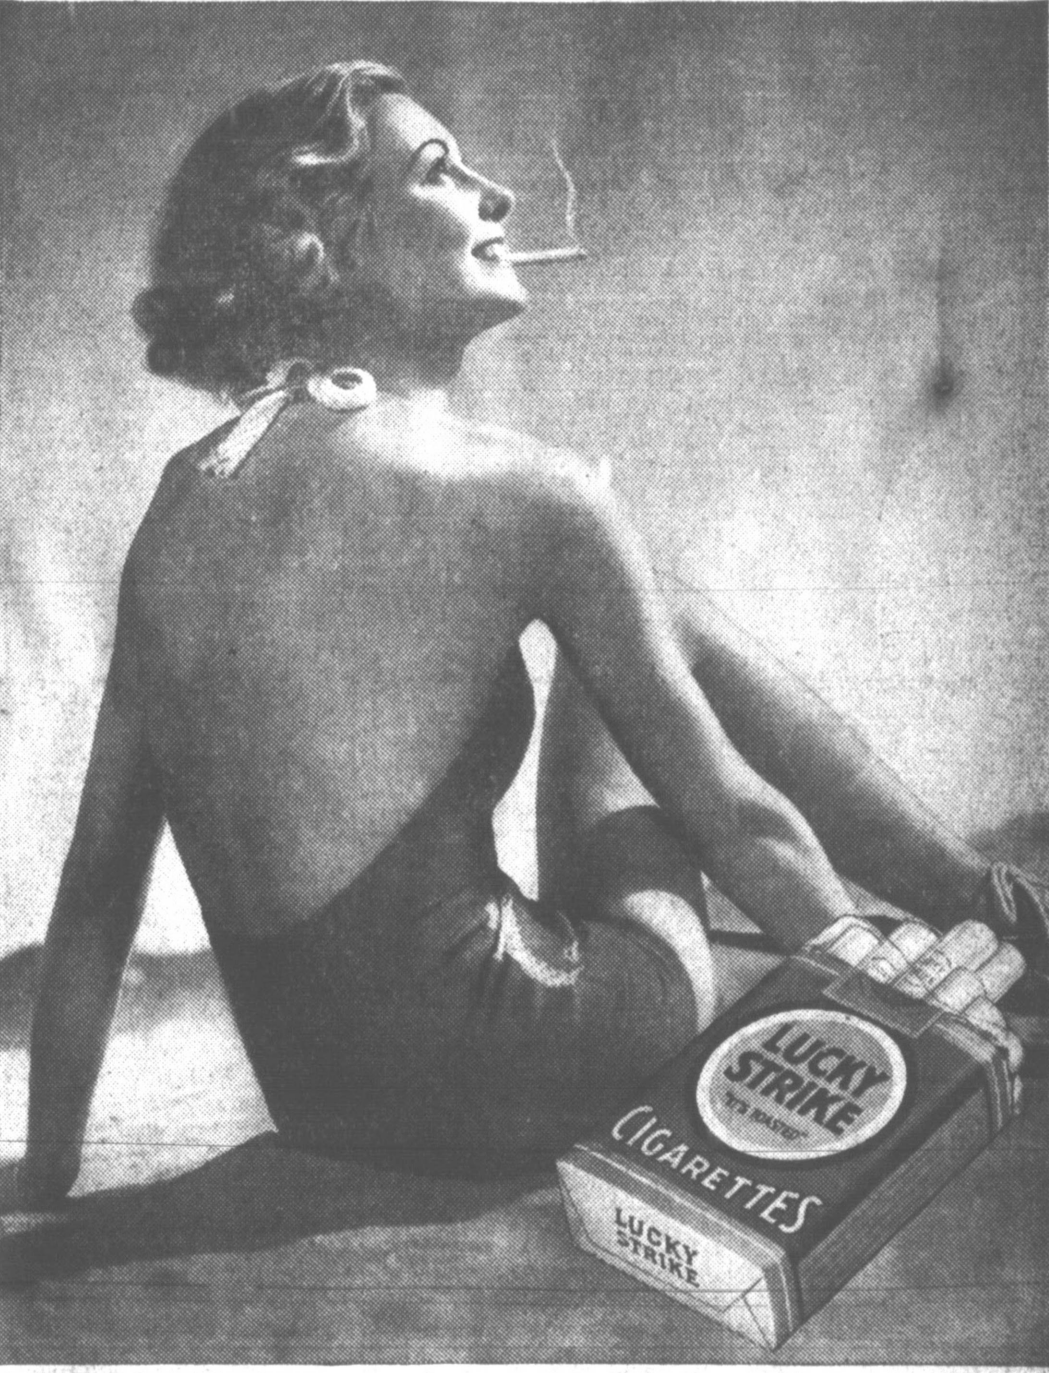

Grand prizes will be awarded tomorrow evening at the close of games in the Business and Professional Women's club bridge tournament, the fourth in a weekly series.

Both contract and auction is played in the tournament, and small prizes have been given each week in the two divisions. As the tournaments close tomorrow, the regular prizes and grand prizes are both to be awarded. The public is invited for the games, in city hall club rooms.

Use only one level teaspoonful to a cup of flour for most recipes.

Each Puff Less Acid A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the highest heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product. All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Laborite Asks England Accept Hitler Proposal

BY G. H. ANDERSON (Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press.) LONDON, March 10.—A labor party member of parliament today called on the British government, in a house of commons debate, to accept Reichsfuehrer Hitler's proposals of peace.

A few hours earlier, King Edward had received the leaders of his government in conference on the critical international situation brought about by Germany's moving troops into the long-demilitarized Rhineland.

The dean of Westminster Abbey announced: "In view of the developments at the moment, a service for the intercession of God's guidance for the representatives of the nation will be held in Westminster Abbey at 6 p. m. Thursday."

The laborite was Arthur Greenwood, who declared: "If this chance is lost, it will be a fatal and disastrous thing for the human race."

"Nobody believes there is a danger of war tomorrow. Everybody knows there is time to talk."

"It is idle to say that Hitler's statements are insincere. This particular quarrel ought to be settled upon without a day's delay for a free and full discussion with all the nations in the world of the outstanding problems so as to recreate an effective League of Nations backed by a sound system of pooled security."

Girl Sentenced

On her plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated, Billie Lewis was given a 30-day jail sentence in 31st district court yesterday and prohibited from driving a motor vehicle on the public roads for 2 years.

District court will open in Miami Monday for a 2-week term. A 2-week term in Lipscomb county will follow, then there will be a 7-week term in Wheeler county.

Election Is Seen. Notices have been posted for the municipal election of April 7, when a mayor and two commissioners will be elected. H. L. Ledrick will be judge of the election. Political activity has been quiet this year. A petition is being circulated here by J. N. Duncan and others asking the present mayor and commissioners to offer for re-election. Ordinarily the candidate list is closed and ballots printed about 10 days before a city election. It is being assumed that the incumbents will stand for re-election. Whether there will be other candidates is not yet known.

Lawn Rate Popular. More than 200 Pampans have signed applications for the summer lawn rate, which has been offered earlier than usual. It is necessary to apply at the city water department before March 20 to obtain the special rate for water now being used.

Permits Gaining. Local building permits last month amounted to $44,500, a sizeable increase over recent months. New permits include: Odus Mitchell, $4,000 residence in Buckler-Wilks addition; R. C. Rudruff, $3,000 store on Lot 8, block 10, West End addition; Pampa Ice company, $1,000 for remodeling of front of plant.

Charter Received. The charter for the auxiliary of the Pampa chapter, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been received and will be presented at tonight's meeting in the American Legion hut on West Foster Avenue. Mrs. Hamp Waddell will be in charge.

Former Pampans Here. Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Brown of San Antonio, former Pampa resident, are here on one of their many visits "back home."

Board Meets Tonight. The county child welfare board will be in regular session in the county courtroom this evening at 7:30, and will consider any problem brought before it as well as routine business. Mrs. W. R. Ewing, the board's new chairman, will preside.

Will Not Meet. No meeting of the Young Democratic club is to be conducted this week, but the postponed program will be presented by women members and visitors Wednesday evening of next week. Women representing various national organizations here will give short talks.

Club Will Meet. The Townsend Old Age Pension club is to meet this evening at 7 o'clock in the district courtroom. A musical program will precede the business meeting. Visitors are invited.

TEN MEN BURNED. CORPUS CHRISTI, March 10. (AP)—Ten men were injured—five of them critically—at the Humble refinery at Ingleside today when gasoline vapor in a 30,000-barrel tank ignited. Workmen said the explosion was caused by a short-circuit in an extension cord attached to a light by which they were working.

CHAMP NOT RECOGNIZED. CALVESTON, March 10. (AP)—Dan O'Mahony's asserted "run-out" on a wrestling match with Jack Humberto a few weeks ago led today to the announcement that Dick Shikat would not be recognized in Texas as the world's heavyweight wrestling champion.

Labors Commissioner F. E. Nichols, here for a hearing on the O'Mahony-Humberto case, said Texas couldn't recognize any winner over O'Mahony, since the wrestler was suspended immediately after he failed to appear on the engagement with Humberto. Shikat won from O'Mahony a few nights ago.

TO APPEAL CASE. MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 10. (AP)—Attorneys for Arthur Gooch, convicted kidnaper, have announced plans to carry the fight to save him from hanging to the United States Supreme Court, where they will attack the constitutionality of the Lindbergh kidnap law.

Gooch's conviction and sentence to die was upheld yesterday by the circuit court of appeals at Denver.

THIRD REICH GRATIFIED BY BRITISH ACTS

GERMANY EXPECTED TO PRESS FOR LOST COLONIES. BY A. D. STEFFERUD (Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press.) BRITAIN, March 10.—The third reich expressed gratification officially today over Great Britain's attitude toward the German march across the Rhine and willingness to consider the new treaty proposals which accompanied the violation of the Locarno pact.

The public pronouncements of Britain's prime minister, Stanley Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were declared by foreign office spokesmen to be a cause for satisfaction after responsible German officials first took an opportunity to study yesterday's house of commons debate.

"The main thing is that the British cabinet will seriously consider the German proposals," a high foreign office official said.

"We have full understanding of the fact that the British government is not alone master of its decisions and the whole apparatus of the League of Nations must be set in motion before Britain's final answer can be given."

"This we have often enough observed in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, when it was evident frequently that the British government was ready for a course of action, but it had to go through the whole gamut of league instances before complete action could result."

MRS. DIZZY TO TAKE CHARGE OF SITUATION

CARDS MUST PAY BACK SALARY, CLAIMS MRS. DEAN

BRADENTON, Fla., March 10. (AP)—The Dizzy Dean hold-out situation became so acute today that Mrs. Dizzy personally assumed command of future maneuvers.

"I'll be right there when and if Dizzy goes to sign and I'll give him the o. k. before he sets his name down," said Mrs. Diz.

"And furthermore, if they make him 'sit out' this season, it'll cost them double. The Cardinals will have to come through with this year's back pay before he'll sign for 1936."

"That's right," put in Dizzy, "we will fix 'em."

The Deans (Mr. and Mrs.) still insist Jerome Herman will not so much as throw a ball for the Cardinals unless he is paid $40,000 for the year's work.

"It's their own fault," said Dizzy. "Branch Rickey (vice president of the club) started this thing and now he can't finish it."

"Last fall when President Sam Bronston asked me to sign, I asked him for a raise. Rickey came into the room and Bradenton told him I was no piker when it came to salary demands."

"Rickey said, 'Babe Ruth held out for $80,000; Dizzy ought to hold out for half that, anyway.' So I said 'All right, gent, $40,000 is my price.' And it is."

"Last year I was paid $18,500. Rickey wanted to give me the same salary. He said: 'In 1934 you won 30 ball games and we gave you a nice raise. Last year you won 28, so we're going to give you a break. We're going to pay you the same money we paid you for winning 30 games. Can you tie that?'"

As for brother Paul's difficulties with the Cardinals, Dizzy says he knows nothing.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

The question of whether the average club golfer who has become accustomed to scores of 90 to 100 can't get his game down in the low seventies by every-day practice under a professional is answered in Louisville, Ky., by nine of the game's determined hopefuls.

The long grind that is to end in June may result in some of them entering the state amateur tournament. The "dubs" started in December and have practiced despite the bitter cold and snow. Few actual rounds were played during January's unusually low temperatures, but from 10 a. m. to noon hardly a day passed that the club did not get out and practice form.

Gubernatorial Pace-Setter The idea came to Earl Ruby, golf writer on the Louisville Courier-Journal, when Kentuckians boasted last December that their new governor, A. B. (Happy) Chandler, and his lone score of 74 made him the premier golfer among state executives.

A check-up showed practically every other governor who played the ancient game explained that lack of time prevented him from becoming an expert. Most of them admitted they bragged a bit when they broke 100.

Ruby interested Courtney Noe, the pro at the municipal Cherokee Park links. Noe agreed to give lessons free to the class. Lumbering up exercises, and then day-after-day practice followed. The dubs were drilled on how to swing, how to turn the body, how to cock the wrists and all the multitudinous details that make up the "form" of the outstanding player.

Nine men responded to a call and agreed to practice two hours daily until June, and were joined by Ruby, whose game was in the nineties. After three days, one of them, a feather-goods salesman, quit, but the others stuck to the grind.

Play Proves Practice Howard Noe, a husky mail clerk—not related to the pro—shot a 109 on December 12, an even 100 a week later and 98 on three different days in January. The Rev. W. C. Bryant, a 145-pound clergyman, posted 101 the first week and had 92 twice since then. Carl Russell, a 208-pound architect, needed 113 when he started; but by mid-January he got as low as 97. Palmer Van Arsdale, a law graduate, soon dropped from 98 to 94.

Ed Dean, a 160-pound ex-baseballer, now selling real estate, cut 10 strokes off his 110. Bill Early, a former restaurant owner, quickly moved from 111 to 102. Earnest Klingenfuss, a telephone transmission man, scored 98 instead of his usual 110. Earl Biasi, an engraver, whose average had been 95, scored 88 once in early practice, but since has found himself back to 95. Ruby got down to 91.

Snow and ice drove the men indoors on several occasions and then they practiced in an unused airplane hangar at Bowman Field, the Louisville municipal airport.

THE OLD FOX CONCENTRATES HIS 'FLOCKS' FROM MINORS AROUND WASHINGTON CAMP

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Clark Griffith, the Old Fox of the Potomac, has literally surrounded his Washington Senators with minor league talent for the duration of the spring training period.

All the Washington chattels are concentrated now in a small area, unlike last year at this time when the Senators and their two farm clubs, Chattanooga and Albany, were scattered over a hundred or so miles apart.

While the Senators train at Tinker Field here, the Lookouts have quarters at Sanford, 10 miles away, and Albany is lodged at Winter Garden, 10 miles off in another direction.

Facilitates the "Once-Over" Stationing of his "flock" as he terms his group of hopefuls, in the immediate vicinity is pointed out as an important move in the effort to make Washington a pennant contender in the American league.

"It means," Griffith says, "that we can run around from club to club, bring a player up or send him down. It means I can watch those rookies, both with the 'team' and with Chattanooga or Albany."

Griffith, while driving and putting around the golf courses here, awaiting the arrival of his players made two decisions on material. In both cases he strengthened Chattanooga by sending Leon (Lefty) Pettit, veteran hurler, and Alex McColl—both with Washington in 1935—back to the Lookouts.

A score of Senators headed by Manager Bucky Harris comprised the first contingent, followed a week later by the veteran slabmen, including Earl Whitehill, Jack Russell and Ed Lanke.

Together, Griffith has 10 rookie hurlers in tow. He says: "If we have as good a pitching staff as I think we will have (and I know we will)—we'll be in that race for the pennant this year."

OLYMPIC GAGE TOURNEY WILL OPEN TONIGHT

TEXAS, ARKANSAS AND LUMBERJACKS TO COMPETE

HOUSTON, March 10. (AP)—Arkansas will play Texas and Rice will meet Stephen F. Austin of Nacogoches tonight in the opening games of the Southwest district Olympic basketball tournament.

Finals will be played tomorrow night.

Arkansas, boasting one of the tallest cage teams in the nation, won the Southwest conference title and Texas and Rice tied for second honors. Stephen F. Austin won a tie for first place in the Lone Star conference.

Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas are in the Southwest district. The winner will play the southeast district tournament winner for the right to compete in the finals in New York City.

An epidemic of measles weakened the Rice quintet. Kelley, regular center and one of the mainstays on the team, and Owen, first-string guard, still were in the hospital. It was hoped Orr, star forward, and Witt, guard, would be able to play at least part of the time.

Negro Slayer of Deputy Will Be Tried Thursday

TAMOKA, March 10 (AP)—Elmo Banks, negro, under an indictment charging murder in connection with the slaying of Deputy Sheriff F. E. Redwine in a jail break last Friday, will go to trial in district court here Thursday.

The negro has been secretly held since his capture Sunday 14 miles south of Tamoka, although Sheriff B. L. Parker said he felt sure any feeling of mob violence had died down.

The sheriff said Redwine expressed the desire shortly before he died that the law be allowed to take its course.

Redwine was fatally wounded by his own pistol when he attempted to take a negro prisoner in his cell.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—The scrape of steel on steel is heard from one end of Hollywood to the other. Rapier and dagger flash and clash. Romantic heroes cry "En Garde!" and thrust. And villains die by the sword.

It is another era of prosperity for Fred Cavens, fencing master, actor, director. Costume romances mean more work at his favorite sport for this Belgium-born son of French parents, a fencer since the age of 12, and fencing instructor to Hollywood since 1921.

Cavens lists more of the great swashbucklers of the films among his pupils. He taught Douglas Fairbanks, John Barrymore, Ian Keith, Rod LaRocque, the late John Gilbert and Milton Sills, and Errol Flynn of "Captain Blood," to cite a few.

Now he is concluding work with Leslie Howard, Basil Rathbone, Reginald Denny, Ralph Forbes, and again John Barrymore, for "Romeo and Juliet."

Feminine movie stars also have been taught to thrust and parry by Cavens. Jean Muir, Norma and Constance Talmadge, and Bebe Daniels were pupils. Although women learn quickly, Cavens insists fencing is "too strenuous" for a girl's sport.

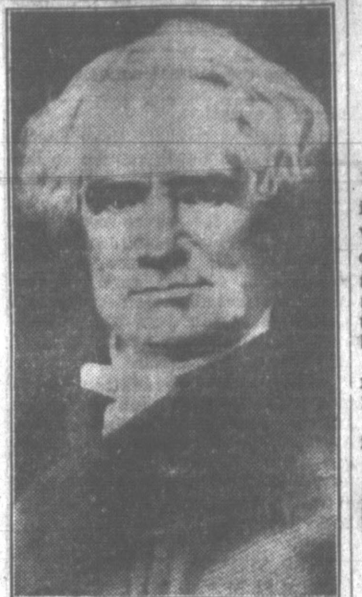

Many fans believe that the thrilling duels they see on the screen are "faked" by doubles. Cavens says he would rather instruct an actor in fencing than to use skilled fencers in these scenes. And that is what he does, if he is granted time to train the actors. Lacking time, he is willing to do the scene himself—but he is an actor, and director, and he knows how movie fencing should be done.

"If skilled fencers fight for the camera," he says, "they have certain reflexes, result of long training, that must be overcome. Their work is too fast, too to register. Actors are not burdened by these reflexes, and they remember to act, which is important."

Cavens had eight weeks to prepare Howard, Barrymore, et al., for the many duels of "Romeo and Juliet." He found all of them good pupils—and all of them are doing their own dueling.

A movie duel, under Cavens' direction, is "broader" than a real encounter, but technically correct as to all the fine points. The "broadness" permits the opponents to register dramatic reactions.

Texas' Friend

This is a reproduction of one of the finest remaining portraits of George Mifflin Dallas, vice president of the United States under James K. Polk. His part in negotiating the annexation of Texas to the United States in 1845 caused the city and county of Dallas to be named after him. He died in Philadelphia in 1864. Special commemorative tribute will be paid to him at the Texas Centennial Exposition opening in Dallas June 6.

FIRST DOWN -AND THEN SOME BY HARRY GRAYSON

The winter books on the Kentucky Derby now are in the making. Before long, commissioners will be receiving thousands of dollars from bettors who are taking a far greater gamble than odds quoted by bookmakers indicate.

Already stories of the prowess and training of Hollywood are going around and plenty of people are regarding him as the winter book favorite for the classic at odds of 8 to 1. That quotation has been made by a St. Louis keeper of the tomes.

These aren't particularly generous odds in view of the fact that you can find plenty of gamblers who will give you the same or better odds that Hollywood, or in fact any horse you want to name, will not start in the Derby, let alone win it.

The Derby is the hardest test of horseflesh in the world. It comes so early in the year that it is sometimes impossible to get the nags ready. Those that do go to the post often never get to top form again, and a large share of the Derby horses either go wrong preparing for the race or break down shortly afterward from the strain of preparation.

Usually more than 100 are named to start only a matter of months ahead of May, yet by that time the percentage of horses that go wrong or fail to measure up in class is startling. Look back over the years and remember that Equipse failed to get there, as did Top Flight, Universe, Burning Blaze, and Chance Sun.

A number of the better known handicappers elected to get out on the limb by making up experimental handicaps, in which they tried to rate the 2-year-olds according to worth. Apparently all of them have forgotten to mention the distance the horses are to run.

Similar handicaps last year had Omaha rated from fifth to 11th on the lists, and the majority of the horses that headed him never have been any better than sprinters.

Now as to Hollywood's suitability to head the Derby lists, one might express grave doubts. That he was a good 2-year-old goes without saying. That he will be a great 3-year-old is harder to prove.

Consider his breeding. He is by the former sprint marvel, High Cloud, out of the famed Mandy Hamilton, by John O'Gaunt. Thus, he is a half brother to the stallion, Supreme, by Ultimius, and High Cloud was himself by Ultimius.

Ultimius never got anything that could race over a mile. He was inbred to the Domino line of speed horses, and all his offspring, and theirs—excepting Sarazen—have been sprint horses. Supreme, despite that Mandy Hamilton blood, was a sprinter. So what does that portend for Hollywood? Yet you are already reading that he will be able to run all distances.

The Whiteneys, watching their horses break down from Derby preparation—today was last year's casualty in the Eaton blue and brown cap—haven't named Red Rain. Coldstream might be there, but judging from St. Bernard and Top Dog, he will have to prove

Phillips Will Play Oilers In Skelly Tonight

The Phillips 66 Oilers, Panhandle independent basketball champions, will probably play their last game of the season tonight in Skellytown, meeting the Skelly Oilers in the rubber game. Each has a victory over the other. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Phillips, however, has the better record in games won and lost with 17 victories against two defeats. Fainsworth, in Ochiltree county, is also claiming the Panhandle title and Phillips is trying to match a game with them to decide the question. Up to the present, however, no game has been scheduled.

Both teams will be at full strength for tonight's game. Phillips will have Smith to help Tip Windom on the forward line. Slim Windom will be a center and Bacus and Christian at guard positions.

NEYLAND LEAVES MIMIC WARS TO DIRECT VOLUNTEER RAIDS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A year ago Maj. Robert R. Neyland was mopping his brow down in the tropical Panama and handling an army battalion in mimic warfare.

Now he is back at the University of Tennessee mapping a campaign of football warfare for the next five years.

The tall, 23-year-old army engineer left Tennessee in 1934 for an army assignment in Panama. He had been the Volunteers' coach nine years and during that time built up a nationally known football machine. His teams marched over 76 opponents; they were defeated seven times and tied five.

Neyland was stationed at Corozal with about 2,500 officers and men. The first months he commanded a battalion in army maneuvers. In April the whole regiment marched 150 miles into the Republic of Panama and made a military map of 1,500 square miles. It took three months. July and August were spent on the target range.

Then came September and football season broke in the states. Neyland's thoughts turned to his old team back at the University of Tennessee, 3,000 miles away.

Those results were discouraging. Tennessee, for the first time in nearly a decade, was losing football games.

Neyland could stand it no longer. He got a month's leave from the army and landed at New Orleans last October 9.

"I was back principally to see if I could check football out of my life," he said. The next few weeks he saw big football teams in action from Texas to New York, then went back to the Tennessee campus.

His decision was made. He accepted a five-year contract to return as head coach of the Volunteers at an annual salary of $12,000, and retired from the army after 24 years of service.

"And I'm completely through with army life," he says. "It's football from now on."

The Old Routine Neyland, with his former aides, Maj. Bill Britton and Col. Paul B. Parker, back to help him, is busy again, planning how to defeat Alabama, Vanderbilt and Duke next fall.

He is digging out the charts and scouting reports of his plays and games of former years. The football boys, as of former days, are dropping by his office to argue plays.

Neyland carries 600 assignments in his head, and he's brushing up on them.

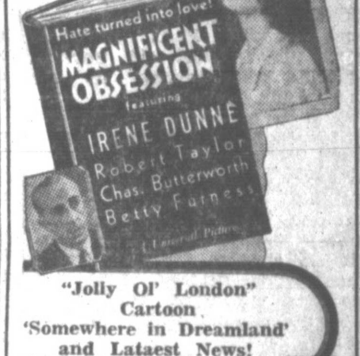

That imported Bulldog is getting more than sprinters. You might be justified in looking for a horse of Fair Play blood for your winter book favorite. Balancing that—with the fact these horses mature late, you'd still find that Grand Slam, conqueror of everything in sight last year, when the going was muddy, pretty nearly would fill the bill.

This department wants none of the winter book, anyway, even if the favorite were Grand Slam and the odds on him were 20 to 1.

TEACHER WINS RACE SAN FRANCISCO March 10 (AP)—Red-headed Norman Bright of the San Francisco Olympic club emerged today as an outstanding hope for a 5,000-meter victory in the Olympic games. The sturdy-legged high school teacher from Sunnyvale, Calif., won the 5,000-meter feature race of the indoor track and field meet here last night, leading "Irish" Joe McCluskey of the New York Athletic club to the tape by 15 yards.

4,000 SEE BOWLING CONGRESS GET AWAY TO FLYING START

INDIANAPOLIS, Mar. 10. (AP)—The 36th annual convention of the American Bowling Congress was away to a flying start today with more new records for succeeding conventions to aim at.

A record first night crowd of an estimated 4,000 persons crowded the coliseum at the fairgrounds to see the colorful opening ceremonies ushering in the month long convention which runs until April 14 without interruption.

Governor Paul V. McNutt, who officially opened the convention by rolling the first ball, later returned as plain "P. McNutt" to roll as lead-off man on the executive staff booster team from the statehouse.

Team honors for the opening evening, which saw only 64 teams in action, went to Rotary No. 2, which marked up totals of 894-778-848-2,518 and individual honors to A. Prick, rolling on Rotary No. 1 who struck out after the fourth frame for a 231 total.

Boosted teams such as those on the alleys last night will dominate the bowling until Saturday when the vanguard of the out-of-state bowlers, some of them coming from as far away as Hawaii, will start coming in to bombard the pins in earnest.

A total of 15,000 persons will have competed for the $108,500 in prize money before the last pin falls April 14.

STAR'S WIFE WINS

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Gregory Mangini's wife today was to retain the men's national indoor tennis championship as easily as Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn won the women's title last night. Mrs. Van Ryn, youthful wife of the Davis cup internationalist and ranked fifth in the nation, defeated former champion Norma Zahn in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

Mangini is scheduled to defend his third-year crown tonight against Leonard Hartman, former Columbia University basketball star.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

(By The Associated Press) ST. PETERSBURG—Charley Ruffing, Yankee right hander and Ben Chapman, the fly chaser, are adding grey hairs to the head of genial Joe McCarthy, manager. Nearly everyone feels that their salary difficulties will be straightened out eventually but their conditioning is being seriously retarded meanwhile.

AVALON—Manager Charlie Grimm was busy today revising the Cubs lineup for the opening of the series with the White Sox on Friday. Gene Lillard, Los Angeles recruit, was at third for Stan Hack, who was called away by the death of his mother. Frank Demaree, absent because of the illness of his father, will be replaced by Tuck Stainback or Johnny Gill in left field.

ST. PETERSBURG—Hal Lee, the last of the Boston Bees holdouts, has signed. He came to town yesterday, talked with Bob Quinn and caused Quinn to remark afterward: "That fellow gave me the toughest battle I've ever had signing a ball player."

SARASOTA—Joe Cronin of the Red Sox says he will work his youngest pitcher against the Senators at Orlando Saturday and against the Reds at Tampa Sunday. He wants to see what Manuel Salvo, Jim Henry and Lee Rogers can do under fire.

WINTER HAVEN—Arrival of outfielder George Watkins has completed the Phillies' squad. Rain halted an intra-camp game yesterday, and Jimmy Wilson, taking stock, pronounced the club "stronger than last year." He said the outfield was the biggest problem.

INSTANT RESENTING LUBBOCK (AP)—Three weeks ago burglar nicked Gus Schantz for $80, and just when he was about resigned to the loss up popped an anonymous special delivery letter with 44 one-dollar bills. Grateful enough, Schantz holds hope for the other $16.

Allred Addresses Cattlemen's Meet

AMARILLO, March 10. (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred donned cowboy boots and a 10-gallon hat here today to address the annual convention of the Texas and southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

The governor credited the association with "contributing much to law and order" in Texas during its 60-year-old history. "It is time for us to rededicate ourselves to the principles of patriotism exhibited by those who won the freedom of the republic and those who steered the state through its cattle kingdom days to its present eminent position in the eyes of the nation," he declared.

The cattlemen's association, meeting here in conjunction with the Amarillo Fat Stock show, opened its three-day convention this morning.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)
