NEAR MISSILE SITE

Tornadoes Hit, Injuring Thirty

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Two tornadoes slammed into this missile city and surrounding towns for the second time within weeks today, killing two persons and injuring more than 30 others. Floodwaters sent other residents of north Alabama fleeing their homes.

Striking from an electrical storm that dumped heavy rain on the area, one twister struck the southern edge of Huntsville and another hit the eastern fringe before skipping to other communities.

Police said one man was killed when winds bowled over trailers in a mobile home park on the South Side and another died in the Lacey's Springs community about eight miles south of Huntsville.

A tornado damaged Huntsville Nov. 24. But it and the twisters today spared the huge Marshall Space Flight Center and the Redstone Arsenal in western Huntsville. Only last week, tornadoes raked the Alabama gulf coast and the Florida panhandle, killing two persons and injuring more than 250 others. Around 700 were left homeless in the gulf coast twisters, where damaged may exceed $12 million.

Downed power lines had isolated the community of Big Cove briefly, but rescue crews reached the scene and reported only two injuries.

The Madison County Sheriff's Office said there was "severe flooding" in some parts of the city. "One trailer park is underwater," a spokesman said.

Some families were from low-lying sections of Penhook creek and water was knee-deep in Decatur and Athens.

125 Sailors In Hospital After Carrier Fire

MANILA (UPI)—Acrid smoke from 1,000 burning airplane tires today felled 125 U.S. sailors who ran low on oxygen while battling a three-hour fire aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Kitty Hawk.

There were no deaths but a Navy spokesman said one of the men was in critical condition, eight were in serious condition and 22 others were hospitalized. The rest were treated and returned to duty.

The spokesman said they were overcome when their oxygen tanks, containing only enough air for 30 minutes, ran low as they fought to control the blaze. He said all the injuries involved smoke inhalation and there were no burns.

Hours after the fire was declared under control officials said it was still "smoking and smoldering." The pungent odor of burned rubber hung heavy over Cubi Point Naval Air Station, where the carrier was moored.

The spokesman said the fire began in a storage bin for airplane tires beneath the flight deck near the center of the ship. He said 1,000 tires were destroyed but structural damage was slight and no airplanes were destroyed.

HOPE GIVEN UP FOR HOLT

McEwen Named to Post

PORTSEA, Australia (UPI)—Deputy Prime Minister John McEwen was named tonight to succeed Harold Holt as prime minister. Holt vanished Sunday while swimming in shark-infested waters off this summer resort and was presumed drowned.

The emergence of McEwen as prime minister is expected to signal no change in major policy including full support for the allied war effort in Vietnam. The lost leader championed the Vietnam cause under the campaign slogan "All the way with LBJ."

Lord Casey's action came when Australian officials gave up hope of finding Holt. "I think our last hopes have drained away," Press Secretary Tony Eggleston said.

Memorial services were expected to be held Friday in Melbourne or Canberra, the capital.

Casey was expected to swear in Deputy Prime Minister John McEwen as Holt's replacement until a permanent leader was picked.

Chief contenders for a permanent new leader appeared to be Treasurer William McMahon, 59, External Affairs Minister Paul Hasluck, 62, Defense Minister Allen Fairhall, 58 or Education and Science Minister John Gorton, 56. The leadership fight was expected to be bitter.

But politics took a back seat in Australia today. "Down under" was very down. The 59-year-old Holt was a popular man despite his tough campaigning.

He went about with no necktie. He drank beer by the mug. He fished, played tennis and swam. His wife, a college sweetheart who married another, was divorced and came to Holt in his 40's, recalled he liked to sing in the shower, a song she called "Saturday Night is the Happiest Night of the Week."

Today, Zara Holt and her three daughters were personally thanking the searchers who had spread their hunt 50 miles across the gray sea sprinkled with white tops and topped by a cloudy sky.

"Clearly hope is running at a very low ebb. But I think we would at least hang on to some hope for the balance of the day," Holt's press secretary, (See HOLT, Page 3)

Price on Tour Of 18th District

Congressman Bob Price came back to the Parhandle this morning and immediately took off on a five-day barnstorming tour of his 18th District.

Arriving at Amarillo airport, Price stopped briefly and left for his first stop at 10:30 a.m. for a Town Hall meeting in Vega.

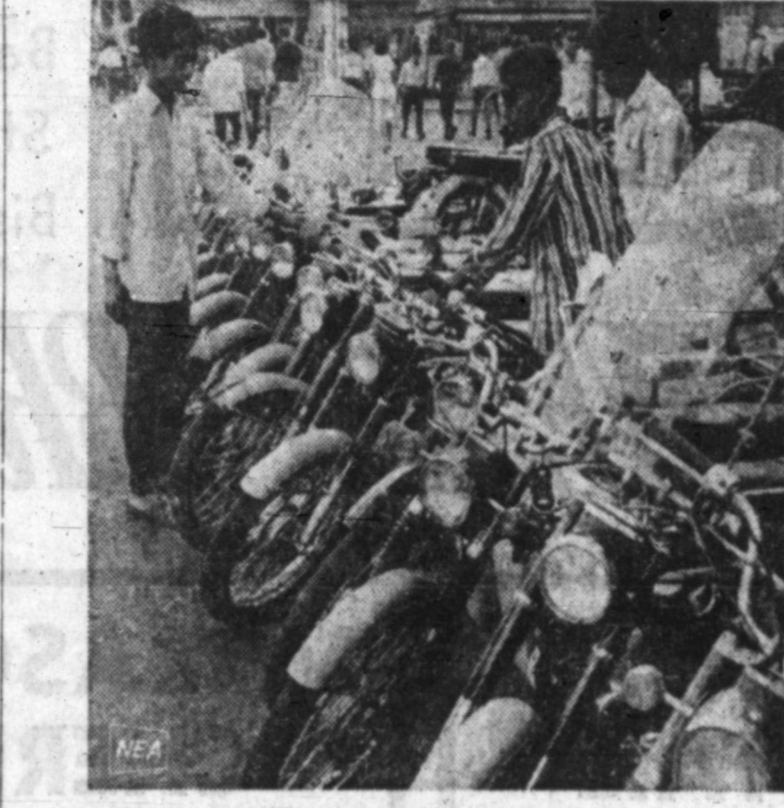

He will visit 17 towns and make reports on activities of the 90th Congress before returning to Washington next Saturday to spend Christmas with his family in Alexandria, Va.

He attended a luncheon this noon at Boys Ranch, went on to Channing and Hartley for afternoon meetings and an 8 p.m. Town Hall meeting in Stratford.

Most of Tuesday from 9 a.m. until noon and 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Price will meet constituents in his office at the Amarillo Post Office Bldg. The morning is reserved for those with appointments and the afternoon will be open on a first come first served schedule. Tuesday noon he will meet with a citizens advisory committee for lunch.

Soviets Accuse Two of Spying

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet counterintelligence caught two U.S. Embassy attaches "peeping" at military objects in the Ukraine and detained them, Pravda said today.

The two men identified by the Soviet Communist party newspaper were Lt. Col. Robert E. Lichow, assistant Army attaché, and Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Bathurst, assistant naval attaché. Both left the Soviet Union earlier this year.

The American Embassy had no immediate comment.

Pravda mentioned Lichow and Bathurst in a long article about Soviet counterintelligence activities, as part of the 50th anniversary Wednesday of the state security committee (KGB), the secret police and counterparty organization.

It said the two assistant attaches were in Orsha, a Ukrainian city, "got near a military object and were impudently peeping at it through the fence. Both were detained for such curiosity."

Pravda gave no more details.

Two American Planes Shot Down in Battle

SAIGON (UPI)—American jets struck a "massive" blow against the North Vietnamese capital today in the fifth day in a row of bombing the Hanoi area, Communist reports said.

From Hanoi, the Soviet news agency Tass reported the northeastern sector of the city under heavy bombing and strafing attacks.

"A new barbaric, massive strike followed Sunday in which American pilots flew through 'everything they could throw at us' and hit two main North Vietnam airbases in the greatest raiding in a month, U.S. spokesmen said today. Communist MIGs destroyed two American jets and groundfire downed another pair Sunday, the spokesmen said.

U.S. pilots reported one "probable" downing of a MIG in the Hanoi-Haiphong area raiding Sunday that even Hanoi radio acknowledged was a "major" blow.

The American pilots bombed Phuc Yen, North Vietnam's air defense nerve center, and a second MIG base, Kep, in the 145-raid assault, U.S. spokesmen said. They took advantage of a continued break in the monsoon clouds to strike the North Vietnamese war machine heart for the fourth day in a row.

But the Communists were waiting for them.

"We got a chance to see everything they could throw at us today—MIGs, SAMs (Surface to Air Missiles) and AAA (antiaircraft guns)—the whole works," said one Navy pilot from the 7th Fleet carrier USS Ranger.

Hanoi radio claimed nine American planes were lost, five shot down by MIGs.

Over North Vietnam's southern panhandle U.S. pilots raked roads, bridges, truck parks and supply dumps of the Communist transport route to its forces on the South Vietnam border.

In Sunday's losses, three airmen were rescued, wounded and shaken but alive. But six were reported lost.

The losses came as the U.S. pilots aimed for one of their favorite targets, Phuc Yen, the keystone base of North Vietnam's antiaircraft and MIG defense system.

Phuc Yen bosses the tracking system that warns of approaching American planes. Its vast radio-electronic gear coordinates air and ground defenses.

Only Sunday, the Soviet military newspaper Red Star in Moscow said openly Russians are showing North Vietnamese how to man their missile defense in the Hanoi area, even during American raiding.

Search Continues For Missing in Bridge Collapse

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (UPI)—Divers and searchmen today scoured the depths of the Ohio River in search for more victims of the collapse of the "silver bridge." Experts sought the cause of one of West Virginia's worst disasters.

Four cranes equipped with steel claws designed to lift 200 tons dipped into the murky waters. The cranes Sunday dredged up four cars and a tractor-trailer, the first vehicles the river yielded since the 100-foot-high, 1,750-foot-long suspension bridge collapsed at dusk Friday under heavy commuter and Christmas shopper traffic.

Workers who used the bridge daily to get to their jobs took detours today.

Sixteen bodies have been recovered, eight of them Sunday, and the three early today. The first five victims were recovered within hours of the catastrophe.

State Police Sgt. H.E. Parks said another 40 were unaccounted for. State Police Commissioner T.A. Welty said the eventual death toll could exceed 80.

Said Paul Crabtree, executive assistant to West Virginia's Gov. Hulett Smith: "Frankly we do not know the cause of the collapse.

"But we are working on it. We may never know. But at this time it appears that the slippage started on the Ohio side of the bridge."

Lee Statler, a deep sea diver and underwater demolition expert from Nashville, Tenn., called the twisted wreckage the worst he has seen in 15 years.

"This is the worst I've ever got into," he said. "The water's cold and rough. She's real swift. The bridge (at the river bottom) totally a mess—steel cables, concrete, and the current is terrific."

Robert Oswald Feels Lee Was Acting Alone in Plot

DALLAS (UPI)—Robert Oswald said Sunday his feelings were that his brother, Lee Harvey Oswald, "fired the three shots that killed the President."

Oswald, who recently wrote a book about his brother's life, said he saw in Lee's eyes "no expression, there was no guilt."

He visited Lee in the Dallas city jail Nov. 23, 1962, the day after President Kennedy was killed and the day before Lee was shot to death in the jail basement.

"I think that we will always be faced with these theories and new theories," Oswald said of the investigation of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison of New Orleans.

"I conclude that Lee alone fired the three shots that killed the President," Oswald said in a television interview.

Oswald said he could "no longer sidestep" the fact that Lee's mother "dominates his entire life. She did in fact, real-

Greece Still Trying to Get Constantine Home

By United Press International

Greece's ruling military junta today decided to make at least one more attempt to bring King Constantine home from Rome to his throne, authoritative sources in Athens said.

The sources, reported UPI correspondent Ray Moseley, said the junta will send an unnamed old friend of the young monarch on a mediation mission to Rome today.

Earlier, the sources had reported a complete breakdown in negotiations between the military regime and the king, who fled to Rome after vainly attempting to oust the junta Wednesday. They said then that the military regime had decided to negotiate with Constantine only on the naming of a royal regent.

The United States and Britain had been reported exerting heavy behind-the-scenes presures for the junta and the monarch to compromise and end the crisis in Greece, a key nation in the western defensive alliance.

Earlier sources in Athens said the junta insisted that the young monarch could return only if he left his mother, ex-Queen Frederika, in Rome. Sources in Rome had reported the king insisting the price of his return was the resignation of Col. George Papadopoulos, who masterminded the April 21 military coup which Constantine unsuccessfully tried to overthrow Wednesday.

Both sides were reported to have rebuffed the others' key demands.

The debate appeared deadlocked. Sources in Athens said Constantine, 27, today would be off in permanent exile except for diplomatic pressure by the

Dear Abby
By Abigail
Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is stationed at Tan Son Nhut air force base, Vietnam, and I would like to quote a part of the letter I received from him yesterday:

"There is a Sgt. Jefferson over here whose problem was 'no mail,' so he wrote to Dear Abby. She printed his letter and asked if some of her readers would care to write to him. Well, you would have to SEE the mail that poured in to have believed it. He got so much mail that he sorted it according to states, then he put a mimeographed notice in every mail box here, saying that anyone who wanted some mail from his home state should come down and help himself. I was on duty then, but later I went down and took a bunch from Pennsylvania.

"Let me tell you, Dee, the people in the United States are the greatest! I already knew that, but some of those letters were out of this world. Folks of all ages, and from all walks of life wrote to this sergeant. You should see the guys with all that mail. They are trying to answer as many as they can. So am I.

"This morning I wrote a letter to a mother in a little town of Pennsylvania I never even heard of. She has seven boys, and just wrote to thank all the fellas over here for what we are doing for her and her seven sons. It really got me. I am so proud to be an American, and you can bet your bottom dollar that every one of the troops in this stinking place is saying the same thing, and I mean it from the bottom of my heart."

Well, Abby, I just thought you might like to know what one letter in the "Stars and Stripes" did for our men over there in Vietnam. And I personally want to thank you for bringing so much happiness to so many people.

DOLORES FLICKINGER

DEAR ABBY: I am the Sgt. Malcolm Jefferson who wrote to you from Vietnam. I said I was lonesome and wanted some mail for Christmas. You published my letter in your column, and so far I have received over 100,000 letters and 1,000 packages. They're still pouring in, and I've quit counting, but I am passing them around to the others who want mail. I've heard from all 50 states, and even some foreign countries. (I don't know why, but the two cities I received the most mail from were Dayton, Ohio, and Las Vegas, Nevada.)

Tell your readers that some of them may not receive a reply instantly, but I will personally do my best to answer as many as I can, if I'm still at it when I'm retired in the Old Soldiers' home. And if it is possible to answer mail in the world beyond, I'll do that, too.

Someone suggested that I have "form letters" made up, saying, "Dear Friend, thank you for your letter, etc." But, Abby, how can you answer a 6-year-old girl, who wants to know if she can send you a Bible, with a form letter? And how can you answer a mother, whose only son was killed in Vietnam, with a form letter? And how can you thank teachers with a form letter for having the whole class write to you? And how can you send a form letter to an 8-year-old boy who says he wishes he could send a big box of cookies over here for our fighting men, but his family is on welfare?

I heard from a 10-year-old girl in Rome, Italy. She said, "Malcolm, Dear, if you answer my letter, please don't put your return address on the envelope because my mother might wonder why a strange man is writing to me." Another girl, age 12, wrote, "I have 10 brothers, 4 sisters, 7 rabbits, 2 dogs, 3 cats, and 21 kittens."

Abby, I did not receive one smart-aleck letter. Everyone who expressed appreciation for what we are doing over here. I want to thank them all from the bottom of my heart. God bless you, Dear Abby. And God bless America.

Price Asks Probe Of Railway Mail Service Stoppage

An investigation of the decline in railway passenger service and the discontinuance of railway mail service was called for Friday by Congressman Bob Price of Pampa.

The resolution would authorize the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee to make a study of the effect Post Office discontinuances of rail mail service have had on railroads and the overall transportation system in the United States.

"Railroads serving the Panhandle have either discontinued or served notice of discontinuance in many cases of the last passenger train serving large areas and communities with no other transportation facilities except bus service," Price said.

Price said he knew there were circumstances under which both the Post Office Department and the railroads found these actions necessary, but that the wholesale discontinuance nationwide of practically all remaining railway post office service "left him wondering if the Postmaster General had any real concern for the public interest."

Thieves Take Copper Tubing At Bowers City

Thieves took 3,000 pounds of copper tubing, and copper gates valves and pipe fittings sometime over the weekend at the Bowers City oil field plant of the Phillips Petroleum Company, the Gray County Sheriff's Department reported this morning.

No estimate of their value was available.

Deputy D. L. Day said the thieves broke the padlock off the gate, drove a vehicle up to a warehouse, and loaded the copper and brass hardware into a truck.

B. W. Smith, a Dumas contractor, is handling the dismantling of the oil field plant. The theft was reported this morning by Roger Trujillo, an employee of the contracting firm, who discovered the theft when he came to work this morning.

Deputy Day said the investigation would be completed by this afternoon.

School Board Session Called For Tomorrow

Pampa school trustees have called another meeting for 7 p.m. Tuesday to discuss the school district's accreditation standing and the athletic committee reports and have also called an executive session to discuss coaches' contracts.

Trustees are expected to review a report by H. E. Phillips, director of the Texas Education Agency's Division of Accreditation. Phillips has completed his survey of Pampa's school district and recommended the district be given until the 1969-70 school year to meet accreditation standards.

Unless the district meets the state's standards in the time allowed, it could lose its accreditation, which would make it harder for graduates to be accepted in accredited colleges and universities, according to Pampa school officials.

The board is also expected to complete items omitted during the regular meeting Thursday.

Christmas Mail Volume on Par With Last Year

Christmas mail volume in Pampa during the current holiday season has been running about the same as last year, Postmaster Raymond McPhillips said today.

The weekend ice storm held up outgoing mail to some extent, but business picked up again today, he stated, and postal workers were looking for the last-minute mailing rush in the next day or so.

Incoming mail is being sorted and delivered as quickly as possible with the aid of extra postal workers.

The mailing of packages still was heavy today with a long line still winding through the main post office lobby.

There was an unusually heavy crush at noontime, caused by workers off for lunch descending on the post office to get their packages off in time for Christmas delivery.

Rams End Unbeaten Dreams of Baltimore Colts

By United Press International
Gabriel played first trumpet on Judgment Day.
Roman Gabriel, overshadowed all season by the exploits of Johnny Unitas, hit all the high notes Sunday in outstanding the remarkable quarterback of the Baltimore Colts and pacing the Los Angeles Rams to a title-clinching 34-10 victory.
The 6-foot-4 Gabriel, who has developed into one of the finest tacticians in the National Football League, was at his best as the Rams pinned the first defeat on the Colts and walked off the field at Memorial Coliseum with the Coastal Division crown.

"You would have thought he was Johnny Unitas today," said coach George Allen of Gabriel. "He sure held his poise out there. Roman has matured greatly over the past two years."
For the record, Gabriel tossed three touchdown passes, completed 18 of 22 for 257 yards and engineered Los Angeles into the Western Conference champion ship game against Green Bay before Sunday in Milwaukee. The Rams defeated the Packers 27-24 in the final minute the previous week to avert elimination.

The trouble with the Colts is that nobody would have thought Unitas was Unitas. Hounded by a fierce pass rush led by Deacon Jones, Unitas was dropped for losses seven times and had two passes intercepted, including a crucial one in the second quarter.
Trailing 10-7, the Colts drove deep into Los Angeles territory before Unitas, under pressure from Jones, wobbled a weak pass to the Rams' 12 where safety Eddie Meador intercepted it and ran it out to the 19.

Gabriel then marched Los Angeles 81 yards and capped the drive with a 23-yard TD pass to Bernie Casey.
Los Angeles and Baltimore finished the season with identical 11-7 records but the Rams captured the title on the basis of most points in the two games between the clubs. Their first meeting ended in a 24-24 tie.

The Packers, meanwhile, rested quarterback Bart Starr for three quarters and absorbed a 24-17 defeat from the Pittsburgh Steelers. The two Eastern Conference finalists, Cleveland and Dallas, also lost their finales. Philadelphia rapped the Browns 20-24 while Frank Ryan and four other regulars watched from the sidelines—and San Francisco upended the Cowboys 24-16 on Saturday.
Elsewhere, New York crushed

St. Louis 37-14, Detroit defeated Minnesota 14-3 as rookie defensive back Lem Barney staged a brilliant exhibition, Gale Sayers sparked Chicago to a 23-17 triumph over Atlanta and New Orleans stunned Washington 30-14.
Defensive end Ken McGee intercepted Starr's first pass and rumbled 21 yards for a touchdown and tackle Chuck Hinton ran 27 yards with a Zak Bratkowski fumble in the third quarter as the Steelers upended the Packers.

Norm Snead's three-scoring Century Division . . . Barnyard trials, including two in the intercepted three second quarter fourth quarter, lifted the Eagles passes, ran one back 71 yards over the Browns, whose third for a TD and set up the second string quarterback Gary Lane Lions' score . . . (5) St. Louis passed for two TDs . . . (6) Snead stillered 51 yards for one tally . . . George Mira's tree TD and scored a second touchdown passes in the first half propelled on a 33-yard pass play from the Forty Niners to their upset Jack Carrington as the Browns of the Cowboys, who play host beat the Falcons . . . And as the Browns next Sunday for nine-point outburst within 19 seconds of the third period on a Frank Trakenton's four touch-down passes enabled the Giants to slip past the Cardinals and clinch second place in the Eastern Conference title.

But it wasn't enough. Lamonica connected on 16 of 32 passes for 275 yards and three TDs and exploited an injury-wrecked J.C. secondary for a 47-yard pass to Billy Cannon that put the Raiders out of reach.
Smith's record-breaking 106-yard sprint with a Denver Parilli's league record for yards gained on passes in a single season when he passed the Ken Hall.

ON THE LOOSE — George Bailey (32), Johnny Carlos (44), Beau Bond (behind Carlos) and Beau Bond (behind Bailey) are looking for a loose basketball. Carlos found it for Pampa.

Aggies Taking Time Out Until After Yule Season

By United Press International
The Christmas holiday season won't mean much to any Southwest Conference basketball players except the Texas Aggies.

All seven other clubs are in action this week with Rice and Texas Christian playing three games, pace-setting Baylor, defending champion Southern Methodist and Arkansas playing twice and Texas and Texas Tech appearing once each.
The Aggies, now 4-3 after losing all three road stops last week, are idle until they play Seattle in a four-team tournament in the Pacific Northwest Dec. 29.

Yaz Officially Wins Trip Crown

BOSTON (UPI)—It was Carl Yastrzemski's year—on the field and in the record book.
The 28-year old outfielder, who led the 100-to-1 shot Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant, was officially certified Sunday as the 11th triple crown winner in baseball history and was disclosed to have led the circuit in three other hitting departments.
Yastrzemski won the triple crown by leading in batting average with .326, in runs batted in with 121 and tying with Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins in homers with 44 each. Yastrzemski is an official triple crown winner, despite the tie in homers, as was Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1937.

Baylor, 4-1 for the year, should build it to 5-1 Tuesday night at home against off-beaten Texas-Arlington, but it likely will be another story when Oklahoma City's potent Chiefs invade Waco Friday night.
Arkansas, now 2-2, plays Centenary at neutral Little Rock Tuesday night and is at Alabama Thursday night; Texas (2-4) hosts California-Santa Barbara Wednesday night at Austin; Texas Tech (3-4) is at home to Denver Thursday night; TCU (1-3) hosts Sam Houston tonight and plays at Georgia Tech Thursday and at Memphis State Saturday.
Rice (1-4) competes in the Charlotte Invitational against Davidson, Miami and Temple tonight and Tuesday night, then returns home to face Army Thursday night; SMU (0-5) hosts Denver Tuesday and Army Saturday.
With most clubs having trouble winning, no favorite has moved to the fore as the most likely successor to SMU, but one may be established by the time opening league games come Jan. 3.
Mickey McCarty of TCU, who got 28 points in TCU's 98-86 loss to Oklahoma City, is setting the scoring pace with a 20.5-point average for four games, followed by the Aggie's Ronnie Perschke with a 19.5 average.
Baylor's David Sibley and SMU Bill Voight—at 17.0.

king closely in the shadows with 21 marks.
Pampa still has six first half league games left and can't afford to stumble and well they know it.
But Pampa has gotten excellent shooting from just about everybody and when one starter is a little off form there is always somebody ready to pick him up.
Such was the case Friday night when Johnny Carlos, who had been averaging 10 points per game in two district outings got only three points. But Jim Cornutt, who had hit double figures only one other previous game, came to the front to bag 18 and help Pampa slay the potent Plainsmen.
Bo Lang has improved every game and has slowly but surely developed a turn away jumper that is almost impossible to defend against.
Lang and George Bailey, who was held to a mere (for him) 18 points against the Plainsmen, started tied for the league scoring leadership, each with 21.3 average.
Amarillo has three players averaging in double figures and, as everyone knows, the Sandies are always tough at home.
Pampa will take a nine game winning streak and a 10-1 season record into Tuesday's contest. The Pampa Shockers and Amarillo Junior Varsity will get the ball rolling at 6 p.m. The Shockers are 9-2 for the season.
After the Amarillo contest the Harvesters will take time out from conference action Friday when they host Tulsa.
Pampa won't see action again until Dec. 27 when they will be in New Mexico for the Hobbs tournament where they were beaten in the finals last year.
Bailey and Lang took over the district scoring lead Friday night when Plainview's Hollis Shewmake scored only four points in the Bulldogs' victory. The 6'6" center had been averaging 26 points per contest before the Friday night game.

Thus far the District 3-4A coaches knew what they were talking about when they picked the Pampa Harvesters, in a pre-season poll, to win the district basketball race.
Of course, the season isn't even half over yet but the Harvesters have made believers out of three league teams and will try to add a fourth to their trophy case Tuesday night when they meet the Amarillo Sandies in Amarillo.
Pampa is all alone atop the district standings now with a perfect 9-0 record but Amarillo, Monterey, Tascosa, Plainview and Lubbock Coronado are lurking closely in the shadows with 21 marks.

AFL Season Will End Sunday

By United Press International
Revenge is a mighty sweet morsel for the Oakland Raiders—particularly Daryle Lamonica—who have just about determined who they will play for the American Football League championship.
Lamonica wanted to beat the New York Jets the worst way. He never forgot a personal humiliation when his team bowed to the Jets in New York earlier in the season—the only blot on the Raiders' magnificent 12-1 campaign.
The former Notre Dame ace got its wish. He connected for three touchdown passes to outline the storied Joe Namath and lead Oakland to a 38-23 victory Sunday. It was the Jets' third straight loss and virtually knocked them out of the AFL title picture.

Oakland, which had clinched the Western Division title a week ago, thus dropped the Jets one full game back of the Houston Oilers in the Eastern Division race—with one game to go.
Houston had taken a half-game lead on Saturday when the Oilers whipped San Diego 24-17, and now needs only a tie with fourth place Miami this Saturday to clinch the division title.

The Jets, meanwhile, have to take on San Diego and can earn a tie and playoff with Houston only if New York topples the Chargers and the Oilers are upset by Miami.
The two division titlists meet in Oakland on Dec. 31 to see who plays the National Football League champion in the Super Bowl at Miami Jan. 14. Oakland will become the winningest team in AFL history if it beats Buffalo in its finale next Sunday.
In other AFL games Sunday, quarterback Len Dawson hit Otis Taylor with three touchdown passes and Nolan Smith set an AFL record by streaking 106 yards with a kickoff in Kansas City's 38-24 win over Denver and Miami dropped Boston 41-32 and sent the Patriots into the Eastern Division basement behind Bob Griese's three TD passes and a 28-point second period.

Namath was his customary flamboyant self in a losing cause. He hit on 27 of 46 passes for 356 yards and broke Babe Parilli's league record for yards gained on passes in a single season when he passed the Ken Hall.

There were two main reasons given for selecting Denver over the other cities: All four cities presented strong cases before the board but Denver's superior transportation facilities and ready housing units at the University of Denver were thought to be the deciding factors.
The Denver delegation will now have two years to beef up their program before presenting the 43-member board to the IOC at Antwerp, Belgium, in 1970. The 1972 Winter Olympics begin in Lake City, Utah, and Seattle, Wash., also had bid for the February at Grenoble, France, and the 1972 games are set for Sapporo, Japan.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Tougher for Small Business

Crippling governmental restrictions, plus more and more taxes, plus union-wage and benefit demands, plus costly federal red tape.

These are some of the built-in handicaps going against businessmen on the American scene today. It's an uphill battle all the way for the free enterpriser to stay in business. Some make it; some don't.

Results of all this interference with a free market is showing up in reduced business and vanishing jobs. Take a look at this:

"For the first time in five years, employment by the nation's independent businesses is declining," according to the latest survey made by the National Federation of Independent Business, as disclosed in its November report.

After deducting jobs eliminated from new job hirings and dividing by the number of employers who made changes, an average net loss of one-tenth of a job per employer is indicated by returns for September, the report said.

Thirty-one per cent of the small business respondents reported changes in their employment levels compared with a year earlier. A computer projection on all the nation's 4,700,000 independent firms reveals a probable national loss of 145,700 jobs. This compares with a net gain of almost 5,000,000 new jobs in the last year in the Eisenhower-Kennedy influence," the federation report added, and does not take into consideration increased population figures and the greater number of people requiring employment.

"A continual downward trend in small business employment has been evident for many months, but this is the first time a negative figure has developed from the poll, which began in 1962," the report continued. In the first quarter of 1967, the report showed, a net gain of 0.8 jobs was noted among those firms whose employment structure had changed. This gain declined to .06 in the second quarter, to 0.5 in July, and to 0.4 in August.

"The Mountain states," says the federation, "have had the most consistent loss in small business employment, with 1967 (per-firm) losses reported between .02 and 0.9 jobs." Losses elsewhere, while less drastic, are, nevertheless, alarming.

"It is obvious from these figures," concluded the federation's research staff, "that small businesses are experiencing one of their toughest periods since the depression." Recent stock market reactions bear testimony to the accuracy of the federation's assessment of things.

Yet, in spite of these clear and compelling warnings, governments at all levels continue to push for more taxes, the federal government shows no inclination to reduce disincorporated spending and the accompanying inflation, union bosses increase their exorbitant demands, and bureaucracies interfere increasingly with red tape and regulations, showing no willingness, whatsoever, to climb down off of industry's back.

Anatomy of an Accident

Using the shock treatment as a bid for attention to safe driving during the upcoming Christmas holidays, an insurance company has sent along a grim reminder. It is a break down of just one second of inattentive, careless driving, at an unsafe speed.

In one-tenth of a second the front bumper and grill can collapse. In the second tenth of a second the crumpled hood rises and strikes the windshield, while spinning rear wheels rise from the ground and begin to wrap around a tree. After three tenths of a second, the driver's body catapults from the seat, slamming his legs into the dashboard as the steering wheel begins to collapse. After four-tenths of a second the front end of the car is totally demolished, but the rear end is still pushing forward, with the rear of the car rising high as the tree's lower branches. After still another tenth of a second, the rear wheels, still spinning, may fall to earth, hinges rip, doors spring open and seat falls out. What happens in the remaining four-tenths of the second no longer matters.

How accurate the time schedule is we don't know, but we assume it was compiled from some insurance statistics into the gory happening. The best life insurance possible is observing the rules of freedom on the highway. This does not mean speeding along freely without regard to others; it means driving at safe speeds with utmost regard for others, not cutting in, not switching lanes, no tailgating — in short, minding your own business without harming others, and permitting others to do the same.

For Sale: Your Tax Return

When the federal income tax was first proposed, objections were raised that it would be an invasion of privacy to have one's earnings made public. So the law, as originally passed, provided that tax returns would be inviolate, a matter solely between the government and the taxpayer.

Of course there are penalties for illegal disclosure of such information by those with access to it. But then there was a time when it was illegal to do precisely what the IRS is now brazenly doing to make a few more bucks and to help other politicians get their pound of financial flesh from taxpayers.

Washington's file on every taxpayer in the county, his total income, including interest income and dividends received, his social security number, address and zip code.

The burden of defense is an immense one. Yet the Congress cannot get rid of this burden at a time when the enemies of freedom and the capitalist system are warring against the U. S. Thus the United States has fixed expenditures in the defense area that are inescapable. Reduction in public costs, designed to bolster domestic and foreign confidence in the dollar, has to come out of the innumerable non-essential spending items that have been added to the budget during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

We have seen the result of continuous spending of more than is received — as has been the case in the United States for 32 of the last 38 years — in two formerly great nations of the world in recent years. One of these nations, France, accepted a dictatorship. The other, Great Britain, accepted

Sensing The News

Protecting the Dollar In arguing for a tax increase, the Johnson administration in recent weeks has taken the position that it is needed as a signal to the world that the United States will fight inflation and will not go the way of Great Britain, which has devalued its money.

Certainly the U. S. should be signaling to other responsible countries that the dollar will be maintained at its present level. More importantly, people at home need to be reassured on this point. The U. S. government has a solemn duty to uphold the worth of the currency and not to destroy the value of savings and other financial holdings.

But what is the best way to signal this intention to people at home and abroad? Is a tax increase the best way? Thoughtful citizens may properly deny that a tax increase, without corresponding cuts in public spending, is an adequate signal.

The dollar is threatened for one reason, namely, because the U. S. government for a long period of years has been lending or giving away more money than it earns in revenue. It has been pumping money into wasteful projects overseas and at home. It has been estimated, for example, that over $100 billion has been spent on foreign aid since the end of World War II. The Johnson administration, while allegedly concerned about the balance of payments, is continuing to support this kind of aid on a tremendous scale. India, for instance, is virtually fed by the United States, which sends vast quantities of wheat to that country.

Yet this spending on free food to India has not done anything fundamental to help the Indians save themselves. The Indians, caught up in a tragic mess of corrupt religion and equally corrupt economics, have wasted what has been loaned or given by the United States. India's problems become more acute every month.

At the same time, the leaders of the Great Society are insisting that the War on Poverty must be escalated and that a vast financial appeasement operation must be conducted for those who are in a mood to riot in the nation's cities. Influential liberals call for a domestic Marshall Plan that will involve the spending of more billions for rebuilding of urban "ghetto" areas at government expense.

These expenditures, domestic and foreign, are undermining the value of the American dollar. The reason is that they are non-productive expenditures. Unlike money spent on building a new plant in the United States, the federal projects do not lead to any financial return for the American people. They constitute a form of blackmail of this nation, whereby money is spent simply to keep the restless from committing havoc.

The United States cannot afford to pay this kind of tribute forever. Rich as this nation is in material and human resources, its economy is not a bottomless well. Our society cannot get around basic economic laws. In our lifetime, we have seen the U. S. dollar devalued through unwise federal spending from 100 cents on the dollar to less than 50 cents. The grim prospect is that a more direct and speedy form of devaluation may be required unless immediate action is taken to bring spending in line with the nation's income.

It is inescapable, he holds in view of the committee's findings (overwhelmingly approved by the full Senate) that Senator Thomas Dodd be censured for misuse of private contributions. Cooper argues that dodging the fund question in any guise would lay the Senate open to widespread cynicism and criticism.

On this he is strongly supported by Senator Clifford Case, R-N. J., who flatly brands private funds to pay for senators' office expenses as "bad practice."

Private 'Expense' Funds For Senators Under Fire And May Face Probe—Despite Sensitivity—In Next Session

WASHINGTON — The Senate Ethics Committee is sharply split over what to do about private "expense" funds — such as the $100,000 being raised by Illinois businessman for Senator Charles Percy.

Some committeemen want to bar them flatly and explicitly; others to deal with the touchy issue in generalizations that call for discretion but not prohibitions.

Root cause of this difference is the backstage fact, well-known in inner circles, that other senators besides Percy have such privately provided "expense" funds.

In the Senate cloakrooms, a report has long circulated that one and possibly two members of the Ethics Committee itself have such funds.

Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., author of the resolution creating the Ethics Committee, is leading the demand for inclusion of an unequivocal crackdown on such funds in the code of conduct slated to be submitted to the full Senate when it reconvenes next year.

It is Cooper's emphatic contention that private "expense" funds are improper and undesirable, and should be barred outright. He is against any quibbling on that.

"If senators feel that not enough money is provided to adequately meet their very considerable office expenses, and I would be the last to gainsay that," declares Cooper, "then the matter should be raised in the Senate and request made for additional funds. There is not the slightest doubt they will be forthcoming. They always have been."

"In my opinion, there can be no justification for the use of private funds to transact public business. Senators are engaged in public business, and only public funds should be used for that."

SEEK A SHOWDOWN — Cooper is determined that the Ethics Committee take a clearcut stand on this issue.

It is inescapable, he holds in view of the committee's findings (overwhelmingly approved by the full Senate) that Senator Thomas Dodd be censured for misuse of private contributions. ## Changes Due in Pentagon When McNamara Leaves

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Ten Pentagon changes are likely when Robert McNamara goes. Large institutions in the long run have a way of reasserting their authority over the men who run them. For awhile, a determined man may have his will, and he may, during his tenure institute systems that will change the institution. But the institution weakens such a man and turns back on his changes. This action is slowed down, but not stopped, when one "strong" man is followed by another. It is unusual that a strong man follows a strong man. It is therefore best to bet on the institution.

By this reasoning, the following changes are likely in the Pentagon regardless of the man who follows McNamara:

1.—Undoubtedly, more delegation of authority and decision making will come. Men down the line will surely get more chance at responsibility.

2.—Morale will probably go up. The operation will become a little sloppier.

3.—The intangibles of war—those things that cannot be measured on computers—will likely receive more consideration.

4.—Things will be less exciting. There will be less tendency to equate honest difference of opinion in the services with disloyalty to the chief, less internal spying on what officials are saying privately. As a result, officials who disagree with the secretary of defense won't be looking over their shoulders furtively while they work.

5.—Pentagon officials will have more time to move ahead on positive programs instead of being embroiled in the "turbulence" brought about by constant reorganizing.

6.—Some McNamara reorganizations may fall apart. These are the ones which have been held together in name only by his insistence.

7.—Major McNamara reorganizations may fall apart. These are the ones which have been held together in name only by his insistence.

8.—The fire behind the smoke about UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg's forthcoming departure is not of recent making. It has been smoldering for a long time.

As far back as September of last year, Goldberg clashed sharply with the State Department hierarchy over his proposal to recognize Outer Mongolia. He wanted to throw out that idea in his speech at the opening of the fall session of the UN General Assembly.

At that time Outer Mongolia was eager for recognition. Its government was strongly pro-Soviet and thus a foil against Peking, bitterly feuding with the Kremlin. Goldberg also argued that recognition of Outer Mongolia and establishment of a consulate there would give the U. S. an exceptionally valuable listening post in a vital strategic area.

But the State Department turned a deaf ear — in a characteristically bureaucratic manner.

Goldberg's proposal was neither approved nor disapproved. Nothing was done about it. It is definitely known his UN speech reached Secretary Rusk's desk, but what happened to the Outer Mongolia plan remains a mystery.

For the opening of the UN General Assembly this year, Goldberg's speech was again stalled. He didn't get State Department approval of it until the morning of the day he was to deliver it. There was no explanation for the infuriating delay.

Personally, Rusk and Goldberg got along well enough. Their differences are not over basic policy, but methods and procedures.

weapons systems, each to backstop the other. The new men will not likely be so certain as McNamara that they are dead right in the systems chosen and assume that in a war it's impossible to predict exactly what will happen or which weapon will fall to do the job expected of it.

On the other hand, McNamara and his immediate predecessors

With Some Reservation

Boy, you never saw so much action in the House of Representatives as when they lost their Beauty Shoppe.

It seems the woman who had been working the hair-shirt emporium took off in the dead of night. Either she got fed up with the gossip or she couldn't stand the raft of government ladies getting hot under the collar.

Anyways, she up and pulled out on a Saturday night and by Monday morning the House Ladies Chambers were running into the Chambers with their hairs all at loose ends.

Right off that Rep. Martha, a Michiganizer, introduced a Bill authorizing 15 Gees to buy new equipment and the House stamped its approval like a Flat-foot Floosie with a Floy-Floy.

Next Rep. Martha, Rep. Edith and Rep. Catherine put their frazzled heads together and formed a committee.

They went to work and put in chairs, dryers and bubbly shampoo stations and got their quarters painted and cleaned.

They hired a Beauty Mangler for 15,000 per ante-um, which is a pretty good wage for scratching heads — especially when you figure I'm a heap classier expert on scapls myself.

So the Beauty Shoppe is open again—for biddie or for worse. Its too bad them women up there on the Hill can't get that excited about passing a Bill to end the War.

Question Box

QUESTION: Could the government actually "step in" and herd all "public" school children together for "sex education" classes as if there were no such thing as parents, home and religion? A catechism teacher.

ANSWER: Since the schools are a political agency of government there is no way for the parents to control what is taught in the schools. They can attempt through political action to gain a majority legislative regulation, but will find the school hierarchy's opposition too interfering with academic freedom will likely prevent any success.

The fact is that when schools become a government function, the parent no longer has any control over what or how subjects will be presented to the pupils. The school hierarchy will select the subjects, the textbooks and the method of presentation. Since all the government schools are financed to a large extent by state tax money, the state is the principal agency of control. Those which accept federal tax money also subject themselves to federal government regulations.

It makes no difference whether it is sex education or history the agency disbursing the tax money will exert control.

The only available alternative under the present system is for the parent to seek a non-tax-supported school which more nearly provides the type of training he wants. This is a hardship, since he must continue to finance the government schools he does not use and of which, in many cases, he disapproves of the increasingly heavy tax load for state schools, it becomes more difficult for parents to finance non-tax-supported schools.

Even with the present voluntary schools, parents and the school officials do not have complete control, since they are required to comply with state requirements in order for their schools to be "approved" by the state and by the colleges the graduates may seek to attend. The Amish in Kansas and some other states have found that they must comply with state laws or the parents have been arrested and jailed for not sending their children to "approved" schools.

UNTOUCHABLES DIE
NEW DELHI (UPI)—Three Untouchables, members of India's lowest level of society, were shot to death by villagers for wearing handlebar mustaches, press reports said Saturday. The victims were killed in a Central Indian village last week, the reports said, for defying high-caste Brahmins. The constitution bans discrimination but the practice is dying hard in the country, where most of the 50 million untouchables live.

Hairdresser's Career Both Interesting and Profitable

Hair — like fashion — have their "fads" which come and go. At present you may take your pick between either the "Twiggy" look (shaped to resemble the male sex) or the "Long Straight" look (accomplished by artificial hair and bobby pins.) Be it the latest "fad" or a hairstyle involving lines, curves, and curls the professional cosmetologist can please the most discriminating lady.

The career of a hairdresser is as profitable as it is interesting. Dollar-wise, its annual income is well in excess of three billion dollars. The continual growth potential of this profession remains exceptionally good, for at least two sound reasons: (1) Women are becoming—and will continue to be—beauty conscious. Aside from personal experience they constantly are being educated to this end by newspaper and magazine beauty editors and by radio and television commentators. (2) In addition to the widening percentage of women educated to avail themselves of beauty salon services each year, we must add the factor of a constantly and rapidly expanding population. Both of these factors have contributed to numerical expansion of beauty salons and cosmetologists in the past, and obviously will continue to do so at an increased rate in the years to come. The brick building located at the corner of Foster and Purviance streets, known as the Pampa College of Hairdressing is engaged in teaching and promoting the beauty culture industry. With the aid and use of a wide range of equipment, accessories and supplies, the newest and most up-to-date technical methods are extensively taught to all enrollees at the school. In order to keep abreast with the latest techniques in the beauty culture field for presentation and instruction for their students, the owner and educational director, Bob E. Parker, is continually attending seminars, style shows, trend classes, and distributor demonstrations. Mr. Parker wants his graduates to be hairdressers or hairstylists, not "beauty operators." This can only be achieved by demanding and receiving the best training possible in a well-qualified college of cosmetology.

Postal Workers Stay on Job for Christmas Mail

Pampa's post office workers came in for some extra praise Saturday when they disregarded the 12 noon closing time and remained on the job to accommodate a long line of Christmas package mailers. Many were mailing packages to relatives out of town who feared they might not be able to drive to Pampa because of weather conditions during the coming week.

The line in the post office lobby extended back to the main entrance as the 12 noon closing time came, but patrons were served for more than an hour after the regular deadline.

Experson Now In New Building

Back in the fifties campers were a rarity in the state of Texas, and really were not too plentiful any place. Those few units that did filter into this part of our world never failed to arouse a considerable amount of interest. It appeared that both visitors and local residents seemed to sense the practicability of such outfits.

These units were observed by craftsmen and contractors who were astute business men, and they could foresee a great future in the camper business. They were sure they could build a better camper than those they had first observed.

Then in February of 1958 the firm of Red Dale Coach Company came into being in the city of Longmont, Colorado.

First production efforts were conducted in a barn and house located on a small tract of land at the western edge of town. Today there are four large, professional looking buildings.

In 1966 the demand for Red Dale products upped to 70 to 75 units a week. Ever since then, it has continued to soar. The experienced camper, fisherman, or outdoorsman has learned to appreciate the comfort and ease of living the modern day camper has brought to them. They appreciate the convenience of taking their family along to enjoy the great outdoors, visit the mountains, or spend some time on the trails of the majestic Rockies hunting their favorite game.

For us Texans, we find spending the weekend at the lake one easy way to get away from the daily routine, away from the ringing phones, the public, and get lost in the group at the water's edge. . . . But for real pleasure, try a Red Dale Camper, look over their complete stock of fine craftsmanship. . . . You'll be impressed. See Experson Camper Sales at their new location on West Brown St., or give them a call for an appointment.

Joe Kennedy To Florida

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (UPI)—Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy left Saturday for his annual winter trip to Palm Beach, Fla.

The father of the late President Kennedy was seated in a wheelchair as he arrived at Barnstable Airport from Hyannis Port with his physician, Dr. Robert D. Watt of Centerville; his niece Ann Gargan; and a nurse and a secretary, all of whom accompanied him on the trip.

A spokesman said Kennedy's wife, Rose, arrived in Palm Beach last Wednesday. Scheduled to join the family for the holidays will be Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Balloons to Help Scientists

HOUSTON (UPI)—They're not the kind of balloons kids buy from hawkers at parades. The diameter of these balloons, when inflated, is equal to the height of a 55-story building and they weigh 1,200 pounds although they are composed of polyethylene thinner than the clothes bags used by cleaning firms.

The balloons will be sent aloft next March from a station in Australia by a team of scientists from Rice University. They intend to study several little-known celestial bodies through the detection and measurement of the gamma rays they emit.

For this purpose balloons will carry telescopes to heights of 130,000 feet and more, according to Dr. Robert C. Haymes, chief scientist. The telescope than points itself to the source of the rays and takes various measurements.

The data is sent back to earth by radio and recorded on magnetic tape, Haymes said. One of the theories the team will test is the suspicion that the earth's galaxy, commonly known as the "Milky Way," has exploded. If sufficient gamma radiation is detected from the center of the galaxy, it could signify the possibility of such an explosion, Haymes said.

Another object to be studied is called Scorpius X-1—brightest of all known X-ray sources. Through an optical telescope, it seems to be a flickering blue star but its exact composition and nature are unknown.

"We intend to see if any gamma radiation is coming from this weird object and try to explain the mechanics of why it flickers," said Haymes. The Rice researchers plan to take three balloons for the six-week project. Each costs $7,000 and contains 10.5 million cubic feet of helium.

Similar experiments have been conducted by Rice researchers from a station at Palestine, Tex. The Australian venture will be financed by a $236,500 grant from the Air Force office of scientific research.
