

U.S. Lost Six Planes Monday

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States lost six jets bombing Hanoi and its suburbs Monday including two Navy jets that Communist reports said U.S. bombers returned today to pound Hanoi into Red China, American spokesmen said today.

U.S. Air Force giant B52 Stratofortresses today struck for the 13th time in 12 days in an effort to smash elements of three North Vietnamese divisions poised for invasion on the South Vietnamese border.

In a Peking Radio broadcast, Communist China claimed the Hanoi raiding, the fatal intrusion by two Navy jets and the B2 raids formed American escalation of the Vietnam war. It called it all a Soviet-American plot against Red China.

U.S. air losses Monday fell short of the Dec. 2 record of eight jets, downed. But four Navy planes—three A6 Intruders and an F4 Phantom—and two Air Force F10 Thunderchiefs were shot down after pilots met perhaps the toughest air defense of the war over Hanoi Monday.

One U.S. pilot said so many surface to air missiles were fired at him that he quit counting them.

The losses brought to 63 the number of American warplanes shot down in action against Communist North Vietnam. Two of the 10 crewmen aboard the Biggest benefits are likely for Social Security

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bigger benefits and a controversial prescription drug proposal shaped up today as the most likely changes to be made by the Senate-Finance Committee in the House-passed Social Security bill.

Secretary John H. Gardner of the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) was scheduled to lead the increases in line with President Johnson's request in January. He was to testify at Finance Committee hearings.

Johnson originally asked for a 15 per cent across-the-board increase for 23 million older Americans. The House last week approved a 12 per cent hike.

Because of an unexpected increase in Social Security trust fund payments, there was enough money available last year to finance a general 8 per cent increase in benefits.

With 1968 an election year, the administration was expected to win plenty of Senate support for bigger benefit checks for elderly voters.

In a speech at New Britain, Conn., Monday Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who served as HEW secretary during the Kennedy administration, described the House measure as "totally inadequate" and promised to sponsor amendments boosting benefits 25 per cent.

"Social Security benefits have been raised only twice since 1954 the Connecticut Democrat said during ground breaking ceremonies for a housing project for the elderly. "Prices have gone up many times."

Auto Workers Issue Threat To Companies

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers Union officials charged Monday the auto companies were on a collision course with a strike next month unless they change their present strategy in contract negotiations.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Leonard Woodcock, director of the UAW's General Motors department, were expected to expand further on the subject today when they addressed rank-and-file members of local unions in Flint.

The strike threats were issued Monday by both Woodcock and Ken Bannan, UAW vice president and director of the Ford department.

Woodcock said one of the companies would be picked as a target and "there will be no extension of the contract at the target company."

The union chiefs charged the companies failed to make a contract offer or even indicate they planned to in the near future. Contracts with the "big three" expire Sept. 6.

Average Gray County Family Is 'Better Off' Than Most in Texas

Taking into account all his assets and all his liabilities, how well-off is the average resident of Gray County?

How much has he acquired over the years in the way of worldly goods—money, cars, real estate, personal property and other valuables?

According to recent economic studies, the personal wealth of the local population has been rising in recent years and is now close to $179,840,000.

That sum, it is acknowledged, is an estimate. It is based upon national samplings made by the Federal Reserve Board and upon surveys by others.

They show that, for most segments of the population, the net worth of an individual or a family is directly related to its annual income. Those who are at the bottom of the income scale have been able to accumuulate very little in the way of assets. Those with big incomes, on the other hand, have assets equal to many times their annual earnings.

In Gray County, where incomes have been on the rise in recent years, the net worth of most local families has been going up proportionately.

The average net worth in the area is now estimated at $17,300 per family, based on local earnings figures and on the overall findings of the Federal Reserve Board.

It compares with $15,800 per family in the rest of the West South Central States and with $16,600 in the State of Texas.

In general, the average assets of families in the $5,000 to $7,500 income bracket is placed at $13,200, of those in the $7,500 to $10,000 category at $19,100 and of those with earnings of $10,000 to $15,000, at $28,000.

Included in a family's assets are such items as cash on hand and in banks, the market value of property, such as automobiles, apparel, furniture and equipment, equity in real estate, cash value of life insurance, pension plans and investments.

Deducted from this are mortgages, loans payable to banks and all other obligations.

In determining the averages, all economic groups and all age groups are lumped together. For a closer look at any particular family, however, age becomes important.

Young couples, just starting out, have little in the form of assets. It builds up as they grow older, reaching a peak between ages 55 and 64.

10 Per Cent Tax Increase Dealt New 'Low Blow'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's carefully prepared case for a 10 per cent tax increase has been dealt a heavy blow from the business world.

While the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) was urging higher taxes Monday, the board chairman of the financially troubled American Motors Corp. was declaring that the President's proposed surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes could reduce sales by 100,000 cars next year.

AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. told newsmen at a press review of 1968 cars in New York that the surtax "would reduce by about $7 billion" the amount consumers could spend on cars and other products.

Since the health of the auto industry is a key factor in the health of the nation's economy, it seemed likely that Chapin's assessment would make the administration's job of selling the tax increase to the skeptical House Ways and Means Committee that much more difficult.

As for the NAM's support for the President's plan, even that was qualified. The organization's President, W. P. Gullander, told the Ways and Means panel Monday that the 10 per cent surcharge would be too much.

By reducing federal spending, Gullander indicated, Congress could get by with a 6 per cent surtax to reduce an "intolerable" $29 billion budget deficit expected by the end of this fiscal year.

Meantime, with an eye on the economy-minded House, Johnson took the unusual step of commending its Appropriations (See TAX, Page 3)

Negro Youths Defy Early Hour Curfew

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Gangs of Negro youths defied a curfew and took to the streets for the third straight night Monday, setting fires, smashing windows and looting stores.

Two busloads of Negro families with small children were evacuated at their request from a troubled area.

Police made 115 arrests, raising the three-night arrest total to 345. Most of those arrested were charged with inciting breach of the peace, theft and curfew violation.

The 8 p.m. curfew was imposed the last two nights by Mayor Richard W. Lee. By shortly before dawn the streets were quiet.

The fire department answered 38 alarms, about half in homes and five of a serious nature. The department said there were more instances of arson Monday than in the first two nights combined.

More than 600 city and state policemen patrolled the city, mostly three or four to a car. They used the chemical spray mace, which renders its victims meek, a few times to subdue unruly youths.

The aerosol paralyzer was sprayed in the faces of at least two dozen persons Sunday night when it was first used. The chemical has no permanent ill-effect.

The Director of the Connecticut Mental Health Center, Dr. Gerald Klerman, said about two busloads of Negroes, mostly families with smaller children had asked to be evacuated from their homes in the troubled neighborhoods.

Dr. Klerman said the refugees were brought to the mental health center on the edge of the hill section. They were taken in by families who offered shelter in North Haven, Hamden and quieter sections of New Haven, he said.

A police officer said the jeering crowds appeared to be "getting bolder" in the four troubled sections. The Hill, Newhallville, Fair Haven and Dixwell, which fan out from the downtown section.

Lee described the conditions as "at best unsettled." He said the disturbances appeared to be "disorganized, sporadic, but there is a good deal of it."

Lee said there were instances in which firemen and policemen answering calls were stoned.

At Balton Rouge, 50 state troopers reinforced police patrols in a Negro area and they had orders to shoot arsonists and looters on sight. Police Monday arrested Negro militant Walter Leon Jenkins, alias Billy Brooks, and charged him with inciting a felony in connection with scattered firebombings Sunday night.

H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), remained in jail in New York on federal firearm charges while efforts were being made to raise $25,000 bail, a federal commissioner rejected a motion to reduce Brown's bail to $10,000.

An associate of Stokely Carmichael said in Nashville, Tenn., Monday that President Johnson and the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) were responsible if any harm comes to the black power leader when he returns from abroad.

Communist China Charges U.S. Is Heightening War

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China today accused the United States of dangerously escalating the Vietnam war and said it is part of a Soviet-American plot, according to Peking Radio.

The Peking charge came less than 24 hours after two American Navy A6 intruder jets strayed from North Vietnam and were shot down in Communist China.

"The American bombing escalation carried to the border of China and the air intrusions into our country, the bombing of the urban area of Hanoi and the dispatching of another large type plane, B2s, all added up, prove to be a new plot between America and Soviet Russia," said a special commentary published by the official Peking Peoples Daily and quoted in the broadcast.

Early Hour Hearing Questioned by Solon

The 8:30 a.m. hour for holding a public hearing on Pampa's city budget was questioned by City Commissioner Elmer Radcliff at today's meeting of the city council.

Radcliff said it seemed to him it was an hour when not many taxpayers could attend.

Mayor Jim Nation said it had long been the custom to hold the public hearing at regular commission meetings.

The discussion came up when a motion was entertained to conduct a public hearing on the city's 1967-68 budget at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 26, regular meeting date of the commission.

Commissioner Hugh Burdette indicated those interested in the budget would make it their business to attend at that hour.

"Very few ever come to a public hearing," Burdette said. "The public is a trusting soul. 'How do you account for it?' Radcliff asked. 'Is it just apathy on the part of the people?'"

Following further brief discussion of the matter, Radcliff made a motion that the budget hearing be held at 8:30 a.m., Sept. 26.

Commissioners met with City Manager Jim White and studied the budget in detail at a special meeting late yesterday afternoon in City Hall.

The city manager said he would file the budget with the city secretary's office tomorrow. In other business today:

Commissioners seemed inclined not to be in favor of the proposal of the Pampa Post Office to install a mailbox receptacle on Ballard St. along the East Side of the post office. The opinion was expressed that the depository box at that location would force many motorists into southbound traffic on N. Ballard and might also cause a hazard for vehicle traffic. The matter was tabled for further investigation.

The post office suggestion came after removal of the depository boxes on a center street island on W. Foster in front of the post office. Postal employees claimed it was dangerous to cross the street to pick up mail from the boxes.

The commission passed two resolutions requesting the State Highway Department to ap-

Mental Patient Is Killer of Nine

NORTH BATTLEFORD, S.D. (UPI)—Victor Hoffman, 21, a high school dropout and farmer accused of slaughtering nine members of a farm family, Monday was remanded to a mental hospital for psychiatric tests.

Standing before Magistrate's Court Judge Joseph M. Policha with his head bowed and his belly peeking out of his blue and white shirt, Hoffman said he had no lawyer to defend him.

Policha told Hoffman he would appoint a defense attorney. Hoffman, charged with capital murder, entered no plea.

The judge ordered Hoffman, who is charged with fatally shooting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peterson and seven of their nine children, to Saskatchewan Provincial Hospital for psychiatric tests.

United Nations Faces Status of Holy City

By United Press International — The United Nations' special envoy on Jerusalem today was meeting with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban at the outset of his two-week fact-finding mission on the status of the holy city. He was greeted in Tel Aviv by demonstrators urging the U.N. to "keep its hands off Jerusalem."

President Josip Broz Tito was home in Yugoslavia following a tour of three militant Arab nations and was reportedly setting up a new attempt for an Arab-Israeli settlement in concept with other so-called non-aligned nations like India.

Egypt will keep the Suez Canal closed until Israeli troops are withdrawn from occupied Arab territory, the authoritative Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said today.

The paper said Egyptian Economic Minister Hassan Abbas Zaky told the Baghdad conference of Arab economic ministers that the Cairo government had made a definite decision to keep the waterway shut until the consequences of Israeli "aggression" were wiped out.

Guardsmen Study Riot Control

Pampa National Guardsmen and about 500,000 other national Guardsmen throughout the United States have started training for riot control in efforts to catch riot leaders and protect innocent bystanders, according to a reliable spokesman here.

The spokesman said President Johnson had ordered Secretary of Defense John McNamara to have all National Guardsmen switch from their standard combat training and concentrate on riot control training within the next two months.

The Pampa unit of four officers and 85 enlisted men in Co. B. 2nd. Ex. 142nd Inf. will start their training Sept. 9 and 10 with lesson plans written and authorized by the Department of the Army.

National Guard units will receive 32 hours of instruction, 16 hours each weekend for the next two months.

According to the spokesman, riot control training changes the "whole Guard organization quite a bit. Normally, we operate in a 10 man squad rifle company but under this particular set up the unit is changed to a 12 man squad, one of the 12 is an expert rifleman and another is unarmed."

The spokesman explained riot control tactics are not to kill anyone in the mob street, but to pick out only the leaders, and snipers, those responsible for

for the violence.

The man who is unarmed stands in the middle of the wedge formation advised for riot control. When the wedge opens up the unarmed man is to grab the leader and subdue him.

"Our orders are to shoot low, because we don't want to hurt anyone. If we are confronted with sniper fire, we are to take cover and the senior commander has to give the order to fire back," the spokesman said.

Riot control training countermands the guardsmen's traditional training, for usually, he is ordered when fired upon, to throw in a hand grenade or smoke bomb and take care of ev-

Senator Challenges Johnson War Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., challenged President Johnson today to give some "credible assurance" that U.S. objectives in Vietnam are possible.

"Unless the President does this," Case declared, "we shall be unable to avoid the conclusion that the task is beyond the capacity of his administration."

Case's remarks were contained in a prepared Senate speech which appeared certain to spark renewed debate on the administration's Vietnam policy, particularly in light of the loss of two U.S. jets over Red China.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and an outspoken opponent of the present U.S. Vietnam policy, said neither he nor others who protested the extension of the bombing close to the Chinese border were surprised.

"You simply cannot control those supersonic planes that closely," Fulbright said. "I don't know how they can be so sure Red China won't intervene in the fighting. They're pretty close to being in the war when they are snooting down our planes over their territory."

Another opponent of the bombing policy, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the incident "illustrates the risk of a wider war in attacks along the Chinese border."

Case challenged the President to disclose some "credible evidence" that the social and political reforms necessary to make South Vietnam an independent, self-governing nation could be realized.

"The Senator said there was a 'growing anxiety' among American people that the United States was bogged down in a Southeast Asian land war and that there had been no progress towards the creation of an independent, stable South Vietnam, the objective of the U.S. involvement there.

Auto Safety Inspection Laws Tighten Up Monday

Texas motorists will find higher standards will be required in automotive safety inspections starting next Monday.

Captain Alan Johnson, in charge of the Texas Department of Public Safety's Motor Vehicle Inspection Service in the northwest Texas area, said the vehicle inspection period starting late this month will continue through the usual deadline, April 15.

Local law enforcement officers are all for the new regulations. Pampa police chief Jim Conner said, "These new regulations should help cut down on the number of accidents. If you can just find five people out of 50 that you check then you may save five lives right there."

Sgt. J. W. Wilson of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said, "We feel the new regulations will be beneficial in that wrecks that have been caused by loose steering wheels and rims, etc. can now be curbed."

Quickest to catch the eye of the Texas motorist will be the new seat belt regulations. Another new provision is the inspection fee itself, raised to a $1.75 from the previous rate of $1.00.

The state legislature has ruled that front seat belts must be installed in all vehicles in which seat belt anchorages were a part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

Captain Johnson points out that seat belt anchorages are threaded holes in the vehicle structure suitable for receiving seat belt attachment fittings. "And seat belt anchorages were part of the manufacturer's original equipment on all American made passenger cars beginning with 1962 models," the captain explained.

Seat belts also will be required on foreign made cars in which seat belt anchorages were original equipment. In addition the new regulation requires that seat belts must be in serviceable condition, that attachment fittings are not damaged or loose, and that seat belt buckles are operative.

The new safety regulations also take in two more new areas—calling for mechanics to inspect steering, wheels and rims. Safety inspection stickers will not be issued to vehicles with loose steering, in which the steering wheel can be moved more than two inches (measured on the outside rim) without movement on the front wheels.

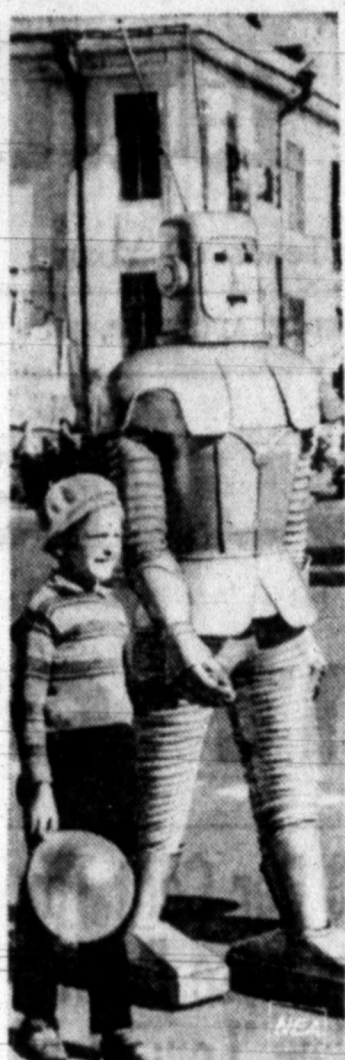

Also rejected will be those vehicles in which the steering wheel cannot be turned from full right to full left without jamming, and those in which the power steering fluid is below the recommended level.

In inspecting wheels and rims, mechanics are forbidden to issue safety stickers to vehicles with defective or bent rim flanges; or loose or missing bolts, nuts or lugs; or rims with defects and cracks that may impair the safe mounting and proper retention of tires.

Captain Johnson urged that residents of Gray County obtain 1968 safety inspections as soon as possible, since more than 22,500 vehicles must be checked at official inspection stations by the April 15 deadline.

In view of the presence of the Russian circus that had just come to town, featuring the robot, could it also have been a slightly capitalistic promotional stunt as well?

The United States...

The United States, in the year 200, will be a nation of from 260 to 350 million citizens. We will inhabit the same fixed number of square miles as today. And we will live from the bounty of the same thin layer of topsoil that feeds 200 million Americans today.

eryone fighting back.

"But in this case, we would be fighting our own American people, and some in the mob might not be causing trouble, but just happen to be there at the same time," the spokesman said.

The guardsmen will be trained here and at another designated place later. The four officers are to use the lesson plans devised by the Department of Army to train their men.

One department of Army source reported 1,442,479 men on active duty in the regular Army are getting similar training, but the Pentagon, answering wire service questions on the classes, said "within the last 90 days there has been no increase in the training of men on active duty."

The Army and National Guard Bureau refused to release the lesson plans, but the wire service obtained a set from other sources.

OTHER TAXES UP City Sales Tax Law In Effect August 28

AUSTIN (UPI)—The state and local tax load on the average Texan increased by $13 in 1966, but only 10 other states collected less from their residents.

The Commerce Clearing House of Chicago reported to the Texas legislature that the average of $220 in state and local taxes during fiscal 1966, compared with $207 the year before.

This compared with a whopping $410 in New York, for a $38 increase, and $395 in California for a $34 boost.

On the other end of the scale, South Carolina residents paid $181 on the average, up $20 from a year earlier. All states showed an increase from 1965 to 1966.

Texas paid less taxes than three of her four bordering neighbors. Arkansas, with $187 per capita compared with $159 in 1965, had the only lower tax figure than the Lone Star state.

Other States
But Oklahoma averaged $240, up from $216 in 1965; Louisiana paid $245, up from

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Alexander Hamilton Institute says the stock market is continuing to sag, partly due to the weight of profit taking, the copper industry strike and the negative results of the auto industry talks. Still, the investment firm says that on balance it appears that continued accumulation of reasonably priced equities should prove rewarding.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that while the market is somewhat vulnerable now, the downside risks do not seem excessively high. It maintains that investors and traders should not be fully invested although they should maintain a "substantial" position in common stocks.

Reynolds & Co. says that the market and the economy both are "in gear on the upside." With this in mind, the investment firm advises investors to manage their portfolios under the assumption that "the great bullmarket of 1967" is still very much alive.

Of course, other states also will move up the taxation ladder. California, for instance, already has passed a $1 billion tax package that could push it into the unwanted No. 1 spot ahead of New York.

On the current list, 14 states topped $300 per capita in taxes. Only New York cleared the $400 mark. In 1965, only six states were over the $300 figure.

The highest tax increase in 1966 was $67 in Hawaii, while North Dakotans had only a $11 boost. Texas was among five states with less than $15 increases.

The clearing house reported that collections rose to a record $56.7 billion, an increase of $5.5 billion over 1965.

Texas collected over $2 billion, trailing six other states in that department. New York again was the leader in collections, with $7.4 billion.

Selective Service Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 702 Colorado St., Austin, Texas 78701, and are published by the Pampa News as a public service.

Q — I received my bachelor's degree in June. I have been accepted for graduate study in history in September. Will I qualify for II-S deferment?
A — This depends on your draft board's decision. If it defers you, the new regulations permit it to do so for one year only.

Q — I have completed three years of college and have earned 75 per cent of the units required for my degree, but my class standing is very low. Can I be deferred for my senior year?
A — Yes. You must be classified in II-S (college student) if you are full time and satisfactory. Class standing doesn't matter any more.

Q — I've heard that the deferment of graduate students in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, and optometry is now mandatory. Is that right?
A — Yes, if the student is satisfactory in his studies.

Q — Who decides — he is satisfactory?
A — The school in which he's enrolled.

Q — Who gets classified in Class I-C?
A — A man who takes the Armed Forces physical and mental examination and is not found qualified for service, but could be later if Congress declared war or national emergency.

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI)—The process of destalinization, somewhat muted as it may be this jubilee year of the Soviet regime, goes on nevertheless without interruption.

It is not known as Destalinization here but it is described as "liquidation of the consequences of the personality cult," a phrase coined by former Premier Nikita S. Krushchev.

There was more "liquidation of the personality cult" last week with the ceremonial observations of the 80th birthday of Yan E. Rudzutak, one of the numerous leading old Bolsheviks, exterminated by Josef Stalin.

Another, and one of the few surviving old Bolsheviks, former President Anastas I. Mikoyan, interrupted his annual vacation and returned to Moscow to participate in the posthumous honors for Rudzutak.

Mikoyan was Krushchev's principal aide at the 20th Communist party congress in 1956 in launching the campaign to debunk Stalin.

Rudzutak spent 10 years in Czarist hard labor camps as one of the leaders of the Bolshevik seizure of power in 1917.

Although a staunch Stalinist, a member of Stalin's ruling politburo and chairman of the Communist party's top control commission, he was arrested, tortured and shot in 1938.

Seventy per cent of all the party leaders elected to the central committee in 1934 were arrested and shot between 1936 and 1938, Krushchev told a secret session of the 20th party congress.

Stalin, after his wife Nadezhda committed in 1932, forgot all history and started shooting his former associates and friends, his daughter Svetlana Alliluyeva said in her memoirs published in London last month.

MICHAEL OF LEONARD'S OF LONDON is literally the man behind Jean Shrimpton, in the beauty salon. Here he adds (upper left) a small fake wiglet to Jean's own hair, making the base larger. He doesn't necessarily believe that hair pieces have to match one's own hair. "It sometimes makes an interesting design by mixing light and dark shades." Using varying shades (upper right) in tones of blond and brown, he gives the Shrimp a sphinxlike look with layers of log braids looped from one side to the other.

who likes to do long hair. He has created some of the fabulous hairdos the Shrimp wears on numerous magazine covers. Jean and Michael were both in New York recently, she to present Yardley's annual London Look Award and he to do her hair for photo sessions.

Michael says "her face is fantastic. She can carry any hair style, even masses of hair pieces. She's a hairdresser's delight." Together they worked out the simple style that has become her signature, long, soft and free flowing with wispy, eyebrow length bangs.

"Michael is always a step ahead of others in hairdressing. He knows what is to come," says the Shrimp. His prediction is "people don't want a hair-style—any more—they want a look. Women strive for individuality more and more, not wanting to look like every other woman on the street."

"I like anything as long as it is well-done. Hair with more look, not curls as such, but movement. Long hair should be smooth and shiny. Short hair, natural and free. Hard unflattering hair is out," said Michael. The Shrimp usually does her own hair, but relies completely on Michael to do the newest and most flattering styles for her modeling work.

Another of the famous customers of Leonard's of London is mod model Twiggy. "She's the salon mascot and Leonard is the creator to Twiggy's much-imitated cropped coif," Michael explained.

Michael believes that men's hairdressing is the next big thing. He was once requested to cut Rudolf Nureyev's hair before a ballet, but when he showed up the dancer was afraid to have it cut and disappeared. Michael and Nureyev's manager hunted him for hours and he eventually succumbed to the scissors at one o'clock in the morning.

Miss Martha McMullen Presents Program of Poetry to Altrusa Club

Altrusa Luncheon Altrusa Club of Pampa held a regular luncheon meeting in the Coronado Inn with Mrs. Lora Dunn, president in charge. Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. V. L. Hobbs were elected as delegates to the District Nine Conference in Natchitoches in October; Mrs. Georgia Mack and Mrs. Willard Henderson were chosen as alternates.

Mrs. Thelma Bray, counselor of the Altrusa - sponsored Truteen Club, was in charge of the program. She introduced Miss Martha McMullen, daughter of Mrs. B. M. McMullen. Miss McMullen has been outstanding in many organizations and activities. She is Secretary and past-president of the Truteens, associate editor of Little Harvester, secretary of T. H. S. P. A. in high school and active in youth work at the First Baptist Church. She has received numerous awards including: Quill and Scroll Creative Writing Award; Regional Contest - placed first in editorial writing; one of nominees from P. H. S. in National Council of Teachers of English. She has had poetry published in the Little Harvester and the Prairie Gold, P. H. S. literary magazine. Miss McMullen was the recipient of the Altrusa Scholarship Award and will major in journalism at Baylor University.

Miss McMullen gave a program unfolding her feelings about life in the poems which she has written. She opened with this expression of faith:

"Behold His Beauty" You say you've never seen God? Excuse me, but you're wrong.

You say it's impossible? Excuse me, but you're wrong.

I saw God today, I saw him in the sunrise, I saw him in the trees, I saw him in the flowers, I saw him in the breeze.

I saw him in the sky so blue - 'Till it began to rain Then I saw his promise, A rainbow, pure, unstained.

I saw him in the setting sun After the sky had cleared I saw him in the moon and stars Whose courses by his hand are steered.

As I beheld these beauties Created by his hand My heart was filled with a joy Only I could understand.

I felt him in my heart today As always, He is near, He walks with me along the way And makes each moment dear.

Next time the sun begins to rise Above the grass so green, Look at them with conscious eyes And God can be seen.

Many other lyrical thoughts flowed out through her poems which she read.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, chairman of International Relations, announced that the next meeting would be a covered - dish supper in Lovett Library at 7 p.m. August 28th with International Americans, the foreign - born women, as special guests.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was out at my father's car the other day when I saw a paperback book on the floor, face down. I picked it up without looking at the front, and started reading it. It was FILTHY!

I was doing an errand for my father at the time. I went back into the house as if nothing happened.

Abby, I can't look at my father without almost hating him. Should I tell my mother? I have tried to reason with myself, but it doesn't work. What should I do? You are the only one I can turn to. Please answer soon as I've worried myself nearly sick.

WORRIED GIRL DEAR WORRIED: You don't say how old you are, but from your handwriting I would guess your age to be about 12 or 13.

First, let me explain that just because you judge a book to be "filthy," doesn't necessarily mean that it is. Even the Supreme Court cannot agree on that. (By some standards, parts of the Bible can be considered "filthy.")

Don't tell your mother. Don't "hate" your father. And remember that just as one swallow doesn't make a summer, neither does one book reflect one's moral standards or literary taste.

DEAR ABBY: Usually I agree with your views, but this is too much! I quote you, Dear Abby: "A wife is responsible for keeping her husband's clothes in shape." This is absolutely Victorian. If he isn't helpless why can't he keep his own clothes in shape?

Perhaps if the man had been taught to do things for himself as a boy, instead of looking to his mother for valet service, the problem wouldn't be present in his adult life.

The only service a wife or mother OWES, are those services the family cannot perform for themselves. Anything else she does is a gift of love, not a responsibility.

BUSY, TOO DEAR BUSY: I can't think of ANYTHING - a family cannot do for themselves if they have to (witness, motherless homes.)

All right, let me put it this way, "A wife - as a gift of love - should keep her husband's clothes in shape."

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teen-Agers Want to Know" send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Singer Hailed as New Koufax by LA

By United Press International
The Dodgers can't afford to wait 1,000 years for the next Sandy Koufax.

Eight months is long enough. Walt Alston himself had said when Koufax retired that, "A player like Sandy comes along once in 1,000 years," and catcher John Roseboro had been a complete agreement.

But by Monday night, a young right-hander named Bill Singer had just about convinced Roseboro that help was coming 1999 years early.

"He's got a faster fast ball than Sandy and more velocity on his slider," was the excited claim of the usually staid catcher after Singer had struck out 12 Atlanta batters and allowed only four hits as the Dodgers whipped Atlanta 2-0. Singer kept his record at a spotless 6-0 since the All-Star break.

Roseboro did say Koufax' curve had a sharper break than the 23-year old Singer's does. But it was the Koufax fast ball that struck out a record 317 batters last season. It was also the Koufax fast ball on an October day in 1965, that carried Los Angeles to victory in the final game of the World Series over power packed Minnesota. If the man who caught the great lefthander through most of his career says his fast ball was not as quick as Singer's, the National League is in trouble.

Singer allowed only five offensive support he needed when the Dodgers scored a first inning run on a single, a double and a double play ball. Los Angeles added another tally in the third on Jim Lefebvre's run-scoring triple.

Houston put together a 13-hit attack highlighted by rookie Norm Miller's three doubles. Miller, batting just .216, doubled in one run during the Astros' three-run first inning and wound up batting in two more runs and scoring two more as ninth-place Houston managed a split of the four-game series with the first place Cards.

Roberto Clemente homered and singled to drive in four runs as the Pirates won their fifth in a row. Woody Fryman and Elroy Face combined to stop the Cubs on seven hits with Fryman winning only his second of the year against six losses.

The Reds won behind Jim Maloney who held the Giants to Cincinnati scored in the first when Vada Pinson came home on Lee May's single and again in the ninth to a play briefly protested by the Giants. Pete Rose, who had sigled and gone to second on a sacrifice, was allowed to score when it was first ruled that right fielder Jesus Alou had dropped a fly ball and then ruled that he had caught it and that Rose had scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Cowboys returned to town Monday with many of their starters on the injured list, including one out for the entire season.

Center Dave Manders, injured on the third play of Sunday's 30-24 exhibition win over San Francisco, underwent surgery Monday on torn ligaments in his right knee.

Coach Tom Landry said Manders would be out for the season and Mike Connally would start at center. Connally is an eight-year veteran who was knocked off the starting team last season by Manders.

Some Still Injured

Everyone else on the team was expected to play against Green Bay, but many of them would be taking injured limbs into the game.

Quarterback Don Meredith had a bruised rib, Willie Townes was nursing a sprained ankle that kept him out of the San Francisco game and Ralph Neely and Bob Hayes had leg injuries.

While several Cowboys were off the active roster with leg injuries, one very important leg was off the inactive list.

Danny Villanueva, the Dallas place kicker and punter who had such a poor season in 1966 that the club searched the country looking for talent to replace him, will begin kicking the football in practice this week.

Cowboys Eyeing Packer Rematch

DALLAS (UPI) — The Dallas Cowboys prepared today for next Monday's rematch with the world champion Green Bay Packers, but their roster resembled a one-legged version of the team which battled the Packers for the NFL championship last January.

Elston Howard, for three weeks an outsider at the Red Sox revelries, finally is getting into the swing of things.

A prominent member of the New York Yankees for 13 years, Howard was shocked by his trade to Boston on Aug. 3 and didn't fully recover until Monday night when he finally became a member in good standing of the American League's hippest team.

The 38-year-old Howard, whose contributions to that point had been mainly in the way of knowledge and experience behind the plate, put his bat to work against the Washington Senators and delivered his first game-winning hit in a Red Sox uniform, a bases-loaded single in the ninth that provided Boston with a 6-5 victory.

It was only his seventh hit and second run batted in since joining the Sox but came at an important time, enabling Boston to move to within a single game of first place and stretching the club winning streak to five games.

The Chicago White Sox moved into a tie for first with the idle Minnesota Twins by edging the Yankees 4-3. California defeated Cleveland 6-4 and Baltimore beat Kansas City 5-2 in the only other AL games.

Howard's hit ended an 0-for-9 famine and came after he had left six runners stranded earlier in the game. Boston erased a 3-2 deficit with three runs in the seventh-inning on singles by Jim Lonborg and Yastrzemski sandwiched around an error. Scott's sacrifice fly drove in another run and Smith's triple scored Yastrzemski.

But rookie Mike Epstein hit his first homer in five weeks with Frank Howard aboard in the Washington eighth to tie the score 5-5 and set the stage for Howard's ninth-inning heroics.

John Wyatt, who yielded Epstein's homer, picked up his seventh victory in relief of Lonborg.

Ricky Colavito, acquired by the White Sox for the stretch drive slammed a two run homer and Hoyt Wilhelm pitched 3-1-3 innings of shutout relief as the Sox deadlocked the Twins. Steve Jones collected his first major league win with the help of Wilhelm.

Pinch-hitter Bubba Morton doubled home two runs and Jim Fregosi singled in another during a three run fifth that enabled the Angels to snap a seven-game losing streak. Jim Coates, involved in a near free-for-all when his pitch struck Tony Horton on the batting helmet, won his first game of the year with 2-2-3 innings of hitless relief. Larry Brown and Fred Whitfield homered for the Indians.

Frank and Brooks Robinson, the twin boosters in Baltimore's rise to the pennant last season, each hit at w-r-un homer and Frank doubled in another run during the Orioles' triumph over the Athletics to five hits.

MUZZLING might be one way for an umpire to deal with a player talking back, but actually it's just the camera angle as plate umpire Frank Secory and Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets air a slight difference of opinion at Pittsburgh.

Hart Looks Good in Grid Cardinals Win

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The only way to measure Jim Hart's progress is on the scoreboard.

For the quarterback who has so suddenly been slipped into Charley Johnson's shoes, statistics do not tell the story. The scoreboard does, though, and on the battlefield of the National Football League, that is what counts.

The scoreboard Monday night read the St. Louis Cardinals 9, the Baltimore Colts 5. And that is what gets to the heart of the matter.

The victory evened the Cardinals' exhibition log at 1-1 after an opening 23-14 defeat to the New Orleans Saints and dealt the Colts their first exhibition game defeat since 1964, when they bowed the Cardinals, 30-21. Since then, they had won 13.

Hart, who stepped in when Johnson, St. Louis' top quarterback and one of football's most versatile, stepped out to answer an Army call, completed only 9 of 28 passes for 143 yards against the Colts. Three of them were intercepted.

But twice he drove his team inside the Colt 10 yard line before the Cardinals lost possession, and in the second quarter he maneuvered his team into range for two field goals by Jim Bakken.

Those field goals traveled 17 and 29 yards. In the third quarter, Bakken kicked a third goal of 51 yards, the longest of his pro career.

Lou Michaels scored for Baltimore, kicking a 37-yard field goal late in the second quarter.

Late in the game the Cards ball for a safety and two points froze a Baltimore scoring effort for Baltimore.

A'S DEFY FINLEY

Players Rebuke Club Owner

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Player-representative Jack Aker said today that the Kansas City Athletics have voted unanimously to defy clubowner Charles O. Finley by refusing to retract a statement that they were being spotted upon by "unauthorized personnel."

The Athletics took their stand after first baseman Ken Harrelson was given his unconditional release and Aker was fined $250.

"On having a meeting requested by Mr. Finley to discuss the possibility of retracting our original statement Aug. 18, we the players of the Kansas City Athletics have voted unanimously to leave the statement as stated," said Aker after a meeting before Monday night's game with the Baltimore Orioles.

Finley and the players had no comment after a post-game meeting that lasted an hour and 50 minutes. Finley refused to answer when asked the direct question, "Will the Press let Kansas City Athletics play the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night?" The teams are scheduled for a two-night doubleheader.

Aker said the players planned to take no action about the release of Harrelson and denied a report that Finley had threatened to suspend the entire team unless the Aug. 18 statement of the players was retracted.

Finley said he was forced to fire manager Alvin Dark on Sunday "because some players were not living up to established standards of major league conduct."

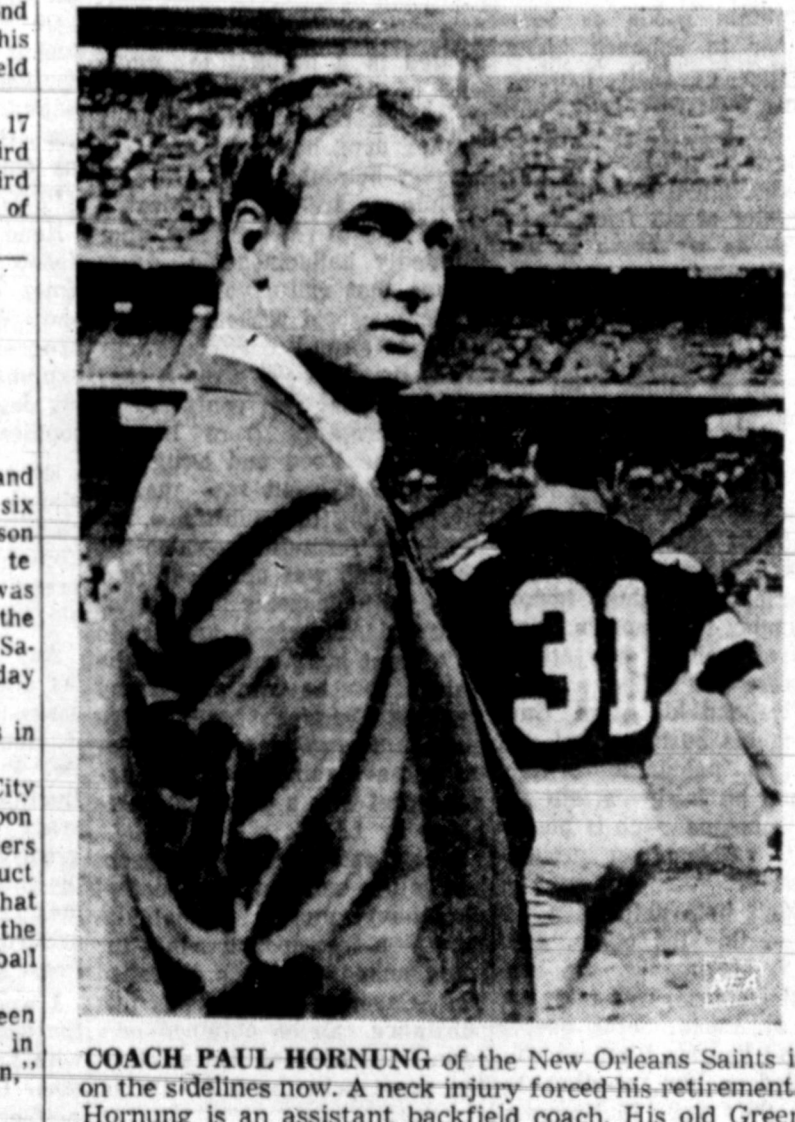

Harrelson, who was hitting .273, visited the Athletics' clubhouse Monday night and said he is negotiating with six major league teams. Harrelson was released because he criticized Finley and Aker was fined for allegedly breaking the Athletics' midnight curfew Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Finley explained his actions in a statement Monday.

"As owner of the Kansas City Athletics it is incumbent upon me to demand that all members of our organization conduct themselves in a manner that will reflect high credit upon the American League and baseball in general," said Finley.

"For this reason, I have seen fit to make several changes in the Kansas City organization," Finley said.

COACH PAUL HORNUNG of the New Orleans Saints is on the sidelines now. A neck injury forced his retirement. Hornung is an assistant backfield coach. His old Green Bay running mate Jim Taylor (31) is also with the Saints.

Baylor Loses Top Recruit

WACO (UPI)—Baylor University has lost one of its prime football recruits—end Preshe Hodge because he was married last Friday, coach John Bridgers said Monday.

Baylor football players cannot receive football scholarships until their junior year if they are married. Several players in recent years have been married, but have paid their way through school during their freshman and sophomore years.

"It had been our hope that Preshe would come to Baylor on his own and play football," Bridgers said after talking with Hodge, a Carrollton Turner High School product.

"However, he decided against the advisability of obtaining a student loan, which could have been arranged," the coach said. "He felt that perhaps he should go to some other school rather than go into debt."

Hodge was named the out-Texas High School Coaches All-Star game and was a standout end in the Big 33 game against Pennsylvania.

Grass Court Play Routine

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—Everything has been arranged to form at the 87th National Grass Courts doubles championships, making the normally dull first round routine even more routine.

First and second round matches in tournaments such as the National doubles, where there are 350 plus entries, usually consists of "name" players or teams facing virtual nobodies or players of lesser talent. Unless there's an upset it makes for fairly dull action with very few exceptions.

The action heated up a little today with two matches scheduled for some of the teams who hadn't played in either of the nine-day tournament's first two days. The top seeded foreign men's team, second ranked U.S. men and the No. 2 women headed the card.

Australians Tony Roche and John Newcombe, the 1965 Wimbledon champions, meet Stanley Pasarell and Alberto Carrero, both of Puerto Rico, in the first match for each team.

Austin Pitcher Misses No-Hitter by One Batter

By United Press International
Gary Hill came within one out of pitching a no-hitter Monday night to lead the Austin Braves to a double header sweep of the Amarillo Sonics 2-1 and 3-1.

The double loss plus the El Paso Sun Kings' 4-1 win over the Arkansas Travelers cut the Sonics' Texas League lead to five games over El Paso. The Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs beat the Albuquerque Dodgers 4-1.

Hill, pitching in the seven-inning nightcap, got through 6-2-3 innings without giving up a hit before Elijah Johnson hit a ground-rule double to left center. Fred Walters followed with a single to drive in Johnson to spoil Hill's shutout and give him a two-hitter.

Hill struck out the next batter to end the game. He ended up with nine strikeouts and four walks. George Gerberman was the loser.

Dogs Reluctant to Put on Dog

It's a sobering thought to learn that people are seeking professional help to learn how to get along with their dogs. And it lessens the shock only a little to know that this is going on in such places as Beverly Hills, Calif., where the psychiatrist's couch is as essential to the well-adjusted life as the private swimming pool and the intake car.

This intriguing aspect of the life and times of modern man is revealed in an extensive study by The Wall Street Journal, which will on occasion go to the dogs to bring its readers basic news.

The study also discloses that dogs are reasonable and even abstemious in their taste for loghouses.

It is, in fact, this spartan canine attitude in the face of owner insistence on forcing fancy loghouses on them that brings dogs and their masters to such imposing establishments as the Canine Behavior Institute of Beverly Hills for what the institute calls "psychological adjustment" of the parties concerned.

It's not at all unusual for pampered pets to turn up their purebred noses at palatial doghouses and insist on something simpler. Dogs commonly scorn such doghouse fur felows as air conditioning, radiant heat and picture window for just a plain old unadorned house. Democracy in action!

Nevertheless, many dog owners insist on buying a poodle-sized tent of mink for $400 or of chinchilla for $500. And for an additional $750 Fifi can sleep in a chinchilla bed.

And a New Jersey banker, The Journal reports, is happily paying $1,500 for a green and gold stucco home with a gold drinking fountain and a red velvet cushion for his German shepherd.

A lot of less affluent dog lovers, you have to suspect, would shed few tears if the German shepherd chewed up that red velvet cushion, left that gold fountain running until it flooded the green and gold doggy mansion, and insisted upon sleeping on a comfortable old blanket like many a disadvantaged pooch who, strangely enough, seems to regard his owner as a king. (At least that's the way it is at our house).

Root of The Problem Is In The Home

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—A survey made by this reporter of data from 12 states coast-to-coast indicates a pattern in the clandestine narcotics and liquor selling, dope addiction, glue sniffing and prostitution in a sizable number of high schools and even junior high and intermediate schools.

From South Boston there are reports of traveling liquor stores, that do a boom business selling cheap liquor and wine to youngsters at black market prices.

From Washington state and the Northwest comes the report that teen-agers in some numbers engage in prostitution to raise money for pep pills, marijuana or LSD. That information is echoed from coast-to-coast.

In upper New York state, a principal of a middle-class neighborhood elementary school reports picking up one, two and sometimes three or four empty tubes of airplane glue daily on school grounds.

On some high school and college campuses in a number of states, it is reported marijuana is as easy to acquire as candy bars.

From Alabama, there are reports of open sex facilities where teen-agers can bring their girlfriends for illicit relations.

In Massachusetts, reports tell of teen-agers taking spiked oranges to school in their lunch boxes. Hypodermic needles are used to shoot gin, scotch or vodka into the fruit.

These phenomena are no respecters of neighborhood, state or race. The data comes from the poor sections of town and from high-income neighborhoods. The youth involved are both white and Negro. At one leading East Coast university, where surveys indicated 15 percent of the students had taken marijuana, hashish or LSD, reports indicated two-thirds of the group were on the dean's list of superior students.

In New York state, one day the police arrested 23 youngsters on charges of peddling narcotics. The youth were a cross section of the middle-class community. Only one was a Negro.

The pattern in these 12 states was in the homes. The officer described a group he had in custody. The parents gave them liberal allowances. Some had cars. There was no supervision.

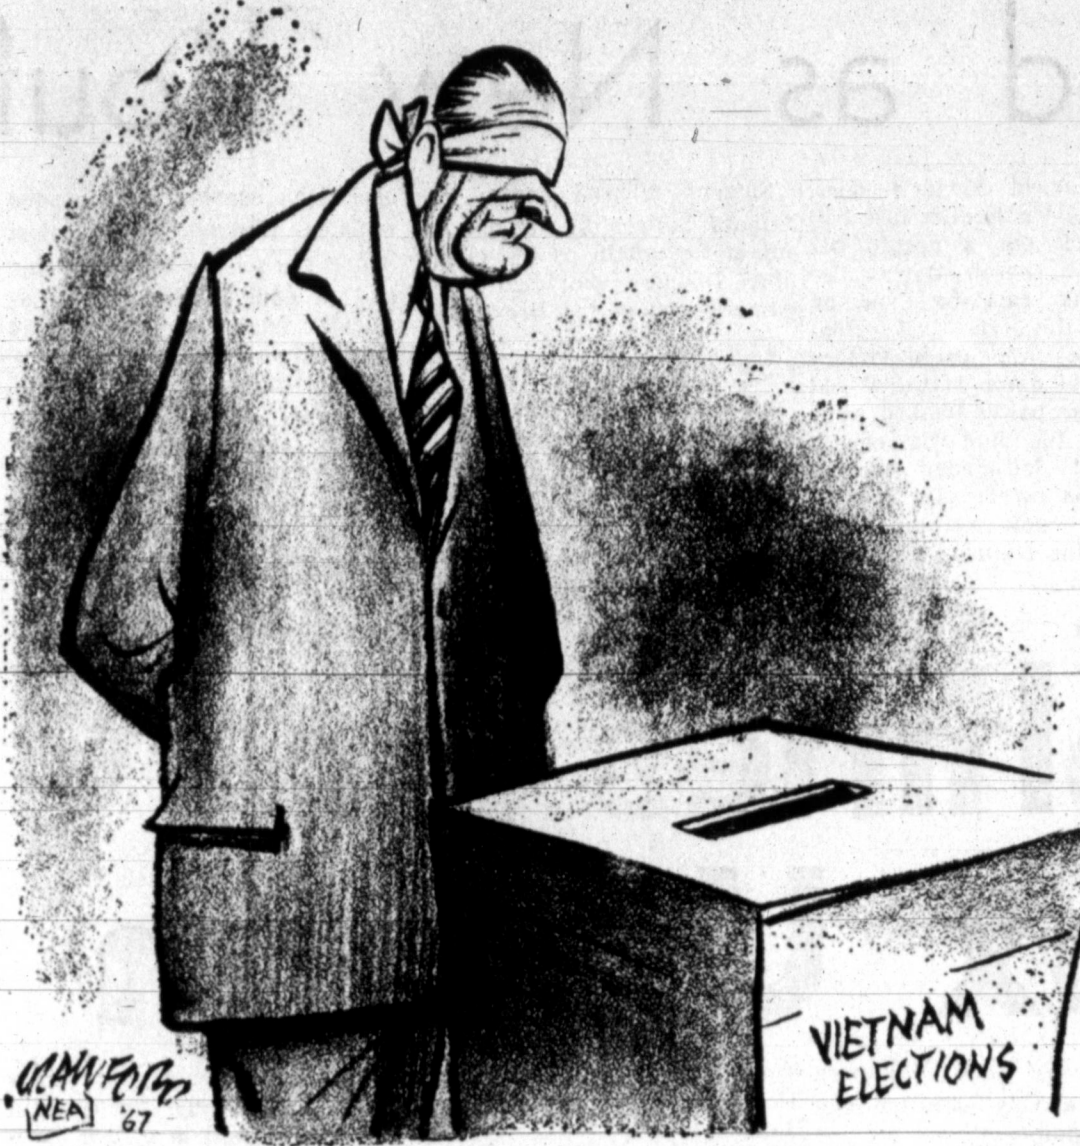

In most cases, officials reported absent or overly permissive parents. Some officials said of the youngsters they arrested on narcotics charges that there was no stable, significant male adult whose strength the addict could absorb. The father was dead, or weak, or he had abandoned the family, either physically or morally. If the father lived at home, he was a big drinker or spent his time in making money. The mother was the big shot. She had subdued the father.

Often the young dope addicts have been protected by their parents from the consequences of their actions. They've never known the cost of wrong-doing. Their parents have continually made excuses. When their youngsters have been caught, they have often pulled strings and the charges dropped.

Officials working on the problem complain that parents don't seem concerned enough to give their children the supervision they should. One Virginia Judge has been quoted as saying that if parents gave their children a strong sense of direction and moral values, juvenile offenses would drop drastically.

This is a problem we can't throw at the government. Only an aroused citizenry can change things.

PINE TREE FEATURES

WORK: PLEASURE OR PAIN?

An old friend of mine used to say that you could tell the character of a man by the way he swapped horses. There's some wisdom in that observation, even though we don't see a great deal of horse trading these days. We do see other kinds of trading, and the character of a man is often revealed by what he will trade for something else.

In a rather broad way, men seek to obtain goods or services, either to enhance their consumption or their production. Some men will trade their shovels for an extra pie; others will trade their pie for a shovel.

So we can detect something of the character of our friends and neighbors as we begin to discover their particular value scales. The man who will give up an evening of pleasure to advance his business, has a different scale of values from the man who will neglect his business or a customer to have an evening of pleasure.

We are getting a society composed almost entirely of show horses and riding horses. The draft horses and plow horses are beginning to disappear. You can travel a long way these days before you'll find a man who will spend his extra time advancing his business, but you can toss a pebble into a crowd and be fairly certain of hitting someone who is pleasure bent, rather than production bent.

I couldn't help noticing a reflection of this the other day. Robert S. McNamara, the Secretary of Defense, was taking a holiday at Aspen. Some people who didn't like his Vietnam policy called on him, wanting to discuss the war. McNamara wouldn't even see them. He said he'd be glad to talk about it during business hours back in Washington, but he wasn't going to interrupt his vacation to talk shop.

The funny thing was that this rather lame excuse went over in the press. You could see crowds of men gathering and talking about it and nodding their heads. McNamara is right; they'd say. The idea of trying to interrupt his vacation! I wouldn't want to have my vacation interrupted. That's what vacations are for; they are so you can get away from business!

So vacations and pleasure have become sacred and we can relegate the business of drafting and killing men to business hours in this country. Of course, there isn't too much vacation for the man on the line in Vietnam, although there's plenty of vacation, fun and games behind the lines in Saigon.

There are plenty of people who will swap a work horse for a pleasure horse, if anyone can be found who is foolish enough to trade in the other direction. It always warms my heart when I find someone willing and eager to work. It's very valuable and it gets increasingly valuable as it becomes and better.

The Doctor Says:

Death May Be Brass Ring

On LSD Merry-go Round
Although there is every indication that LSD is a dangerous drug and although it cannot be bought legally, it is taken by many young persons to escape from a life that, with sober effort, they could set about to improve.

In many users this has proved to be an escape into an unreality that is a nightmare more horrible than reality at its most depressing. LSD may make you think it is Christmas in July but the gaily colored package under the tree may be death.

Fortunately for those who have been hooked on this drug, which is not truly habit forming but which may have left them in a state of panic or mental confusion, a cure is available.

The victim must usually be treated in a hospital to make sure he does not harm himself or others. Chlorpromazine or a similar drug has been found to be very helpful.

While we are on the subject, I would like to refer to two other reputedly hallucinogenic drugs (drugs that cause you to enter a dream world without actually going to sleep).

The first, not yet given a chemical name, is contained in dried scrapings from banana peels. The Food and Drug Administration spent two months investigating this substance, using every formula known to the hippies, and was unable to find any hallucinogenic properties in it. This, therefore, appears to be a giant hoax and those who claim to be transported by smoking banana peels are either undergoing self-hypnosis or have reinforced their banana peel with a dollop of marijuana or LSD.

A new and more serious problem is the emergence of methyl dimethoxy methyl phenethylamine, a compound that for some unknown reason is called STP. Capsules or tablets of this substance can be obtained only from illicit sources and at about the same price as LSD. Its effects are more and more scarce. And of course there are always plenty of people who try to PRETEND that they like to work, especially if they think the boss is looking. But you catch on to the way they really feel when you see how they swap horses. Lots of people suppose that as long as the body is going through the motions of work, the mind can be busy figuring out what new pleasure to experience.

Such people are working only so they can have the rewards. They want time off, vacations, and pleasures, and work is merely the means to those ends.

You really find a worker when you find a man who, while working with his body, also has his mind engaged in the enterprise, trying to figure out ways and means to improve his job. His customer relations, his product or his service. And what a rewarding experience it is to find such a man.

The world has never had enough workers. But it always has had enough of the people who look to others to provide them with jobs and who hold the jobs only to get the pleasures that can come to them when they stop work.

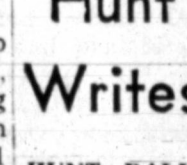

Some people work only to have fun. But with others, fun is achieved by learning how to work longer and better.

facts are similar to those of LSD and just as unpredictable.

Granted that this is not a perfect world, those persons who seek to escape from it through the use of drugs are sadly lacking in a sense of responsibility. They are the ones who, instead of trying to make this a better world, have given up without a struggle.

HUNT, DALLAS, AND N.E.T.
On various dates and times during the week of August 21, September 4 and September 18, National Educational Television (NET) will air a 60-minute documentary about me, my family, and our philosophy.

Reporter James Fleming questioned me at length at different times during the documentary, and during scenes in the program which did not require explanation or dialogue, Fleming describes many of my philosophies and activities.

He asked if I may be "overly alarmed" regarding Communism, and pointed out that Communists were a "weak breed" in the U.S. as many people like to believe.

Any program mentioning Dallas always brings up the tragic assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Charles Baker and Dr. Franklin Littell, of the Institute of American Democracy, whose philosophies differ greatly from mine, brought up the matter in connection with me. Like all Americans, I regretted the great tragedy of the President's death.

I would be the last person in the world to have any influence with Lee Harvey Oswald or any other Communist; and certainly neither I nor any one of my philosophy could contribute anything to the "atmosphere" that would have influenced Communist Oswald toward his dastardly deed.

The influence of Communism and Communists in and on this country is one of many interesting subjects discussed in this 60-minute documentary which I hope will be of interest to my readers.

Beware Federal Care

(Elgin, Ill., Daily Courier-News)

Much new federal planning aims ostensibly to shelter people from the vicissitudes of life, from cradle to grave.

We already have people who are shielded from many of the normal rigors of everyday existence. They were provided with land, are protected by the federal government against unfair treatment from other governments, and have a special agency to whom they can turn for help.

The agency is the Bureau of Indian Affairs, paternalistically responsible for the half million or so Indians. This special care might conceivably have made

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

You're really not with it if you haven't received at least one picture postcard from a friend vacationing at a summer resort with the inevitable message scribbled on the back: "Having wonderful time. Wish you were here." People on trips and vacations have been sending them to their friends since 1870. Like so many of our customs, sending picture postcards is of European origin, with France and Germany both claiming the honor of inventing them. The Post Office Department doesn't keep records on the number of picture postcards it handles every year, but says that last year more than two billion cards of all kinds were delivered in the U. S. with the postage totaling about $93 million. Seems as though that should be enough to offset the deficits run up in other areas of the postal service. When we were young every home had a postcard album and we recall spending happy hours on rainy days looking at the wonderful color views of such places as Niagara Falls, the White House, the Minute Man at historic Concord Bridge, and other sites of interest. In later years the only reason we visited many of those places was due to the interest whetted during such delightful moments in our youth.

Today's smile: A fellow aroused by his neighbor's curiosity by spraying the front and back doors of his home every day. Finally the neighbor asked "Why do you do that?" The fellow answered: "It keeps the tigers away." "Nonsense," snorted the neighbor, "there are no tigers around here." "Of course not," the diligent sprayer replied, "this stuff really works."

Thoughts while shaving: Most Americans only concern themselves with two kinds of time, the standard time of their own region and daylight saving time. However there are 63 kinds of standard time used in the world. And, speaking of daylight saving time recalls that it was first proposed by Benjamin Franklin in 1784, but no one thought much of the suggestion then. Franklin is also credited with having coined the axiom: "Nothing is certain but death and taxes." Someone has figured out that our earlier Presidents lived longer than the later ones. The average length of life of the chief executives before the Civil War was 73.8 years, and the average life span of those who served since is 61.67 years. If you enjoy a daiquiri you might be interested to learn they were first concocted by a group of engineers working some iron mines at a town of that name near Santiago, Cuba. . . . And the gimlet, also a popular summer cocktail, originated in British Hong Kong where its sharp, tart taste reminded someone of a sharp, small tool.

Although you are offered book matches every time you buy a cigar or a package of cigarettes we understand the match business is declining in this country. First electric lighting outmoded kerosene lamps and gaslight, which cut the household use of matches; pilot lights on gas stoves also eliminated the need for striking a flame; and finally the cigarette lighter supplied sufficient fire for the smoker to light his pipe, cheroot or cigarette. Maybe that's progress, but we still get greater satisfaction out of lighting our pipe with an old-fashioned wooden match than anything else. . . . You're really getting along in years if you can remember such advertising slogans as "tattle tale gray," "the five o'clock shadow," and "pink toothbrush." . . . The Hillsboro (N.D.) more revamping, more bold innovations, more throwing away of old ideas and old measurements and substituting new. Most of these call for smaller classes, more and higher-paid instructional personnel. Many think that smaller classes are better than big ones, that pupil achievement and educational efficiency improve as classes become smaller. Do facts support this theory? Here is what research has disclosed.

Roger A. Freeman wrote in his book, "School Needs, the Decade Ahead", after studying 200 research projects directed to this subject. "We note the amazing fact that factual research studies found better than two to one that pupil achievement is higher in larger than in smaller classes."

Rev. James R. Denneen and Rev. Daniel J. Manniti in two parochial school studies found "no relativity between class size and pupil achievement."

A Jefferson County, Colorado, research project partly financed by the Ford Foundation concludes, "Class sizes are not an important factor in the learning process."

New Voice Heard In Rat Debate

By DAVE BURGIN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Charles Joelson wasn't trying to be funny, really. He had a point to make — a well-researched one — and he thought it was solid enough to get a lot more press than it did.

So he sought publication of his remarks on the now infamous Rat Control Bill, which Joelson's colleagues in the House of Representatives refused to debate, 207 to 106.

Joelson, D-N. J., voted for debate on the rule but at the time he said nothing, instead listened as the $40 million measure was virtually laughed off the floor. Two weeks of research later, Joelson said:

"We can't give $40 million to get rats out of ghetto homes, but in the past two years we have appropriated $6 million for weed witch control, $2 million for white fringe beetle eradication, $1.7 million for bee culture investigation, and $100,000 to eliminate the Southern green stinkbug in Hawaii.

"Screw worm eradication got $4,123,000 in 1966 and $3,968,000 in 1967. Now, I do not have the time to list in full our largesse for plants and beasts, but it appears that the total for the past two years is about $500,000,000.

"Mr. Speaker, now that we have ministered to the flora and fauna, how about people?"

"Where is Max Fisher these days?" a reporter asked.

"He's in Israel," replied an aide to Michigan's Gov. George Romney.

Fisher, of Detroit, directs financial aspects of Romney-for-President. He also is active with various groups within the United States raising money for Israel.

"What's Max doing over there now?" the reporter asked. "The war's over."

"Yes," the aide replied. "But Max raised money for a six-week war. Since it lasted only six days, he may have gone over for a rebate."

Background: There is an old Texas story, according to a prominent Texan here, about how Texas privateers who crossed into Mexico risked being nabbed by angry Mexicans. The Mexicans lacked jail space, so the story goes, and set up a Russian roulette game, South-of-the-Border style. Each Texan was blindfolded and told to reach into a pot of beans. Those who pulled out white beans went to jail. Those who got black beans got shot.

Modern-day version, White House style: President Johnson (the prominent Texan) was puzzling over who should be named chairman of his special board to deal with the recent railroad dispute, hardly a glamor assignment. The President made his choice, but couldn't figure out how to tell the man. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

"Dear Chairman Wayne," the President now says he wrote Morse. "You drew a black bean."

Wit and Whimsy

Two sailors at sea for the first time, were looking out over the mighty ocean. Said one. One Sailor — That's the most water I ever saw. Other Sailor — You ain't seen nothing yet. That's just the top of it.

Close Up Public Records?

When the United States became the "Land of the Free" so many years ago, the Founding Fathers decided on a pretty good method of keeping it that way. They insured that all public records would be open to the public — period. No extra special breed of person had a kind of fancy rights that any of the rest of us didn't have. Information on births, deaths, land rights, marriages — whatever was needed to insure public order was right there where every citizen could look it over. No secrets.

But now the bureaucrats seem to think that too much information about ourselves may be bad for us. There's a big move on in a number of places to close up the public records letting only the privileged few have a peek at them when somebody with a title says it's all right.

The idea behind it seems to be that by hiding all information, the state can protect us from direct mail firms who provide information on new products, new services, new industrial techniques.

When someone starts "protecting" us by locking up the public records — for whatever purported reason — beware! To give someone the right to say what part of the public record will be revealed and what will be hidden is giving away part of your American birthright.

When someone decides to shut up sources of public information — for our own good — we are in trouble. Watch out!

A Ducky Project

A group of researchers at the University of Minnesota is making a seven-year study of ducks — specifically the shoveler duck. Seven years.

The researchers have already discovered that ducks are a lot like people, heaven help them. They build homes, pair off, keep the same mate — at least until the young ducks grow up — and defend their homesteads. . . . And stronger ducks take a bigger share of things than weaker ducks.

Now this is all mighty interesting, especially to ducks. But it does seem to a non-researcher that seven years is quite a spell to devote to just ducks.

The head of the research group explains that the project is aimed at trying to discover why ducks act as they do. . . . It seems a pity that ducks haven't the means to try to find out why researchers act as they do. . . . And if they could find out, quite a few people would like to know why, too.

The Other Side of the Pill

While doctors worry about the use and abuse of tranquilizers among the general population, they know that for tens of thousands of others the chemicals have been a literal godsend. . . . Despite population growth and increased admissions, the number of patients in state and county mental hospitals has declined for the 11th straight year. Reports the National Institute of Mental Health.

Last year, the total dropped by 23,000 — from 475,000 in 1965 to 452,000 in 1966 — the largest reduction since the first tranquilizing drugs were introduced 10 years ago. . . . Many of those released to their homes and to social usefulness are chronic mental patients who before would have been condemned to spend their entire lives in hospitals.
