

Population of United States to Reach 200 Million Mark

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Stacks of money and we Americans would reach something like halfway to the moon.

Divide U.S. territory equally and every 57 of us would share a full square mile of elbow room.

A week from today, with a tick of a figure-fpd clock at the Census Bureau, there officially will be 200 million of us. Other statisticians say the figure actually will be about 206 million. By the end of the century, and by anybody's count, we should pass the 300 million mark.

Does this spell crisis? Will we reproduce ourselves out of food, out of living space?

No, says the Census Bureau in a report on the 200-million population milestone released during the weekend. We'll continue to have big problems, but the figures indicate we are at least moving toward solutions—with something of an assist from the laws of nature.

There'll be 85 Americans per square mile by 1970. But consider the 617 in Germany, the 579 in Britain, the 411 in India, the 190 in China.

Already the population tide sweeping over most American cities has a strong undertow back out into the suburbs and beyond. And, says the Census Bureau, "there are still thousands of less-crowded acres into which people can move.

Right now, one of every five Americans lives in a crowded strip between Washington, D.C. and Boston. There's a huge concentration in the Los Angeles-San Francisco area. The Gulf Coast is crowded, and the Southern shores of the Great Lakes.

Census seeks to allay the fears of these "megalopolis" dwellers by pointing out that for a long time, food production has been outstripping the population growth.

Farm Production Increases

Each farmer today feeds an average of 40 Americans, compared to seven at the turn of the century. He does it on less than a third of available farm acreage, and with his machinery gets more work done than four men could before World War II.

At present, the Census Bureau clock is adding one person every 14.5 seconds. This is based on the estimated birth and death rates and the average immigration rate.

Population profile, a private research publication, says the clock is running behind—that the census missed counting about 3.7 million Americans in 1960, and that the 200 million mark was reached in the spring of 1965.

Anyway, the birth rate is at an estimated low of 3,600,000 this year, compared to 4,332,000 in 1957.

The drop is due in part to "the pill" and other contraceptive methods, the Census Bureau concedes. But it says that behind this lies an increased emphasis on family planning and the fact that fewer couples are having children during the early, more fruitful years of their marriages.

In a foreword to the report, the bureau offered this conclusion: "We are the richest, most powerful, best educated, best housed and clothed nation in the annals of man—and yet we know that we have not finished our work."

Two hundred million strong we know that we are still at the beginning of the real work of the American Revolution."

"There is a price tag on human liberty. That price is the willingness to assume the responsibilities of being free men. Payment of this price is a personal matter with each of us."

Surveyor Photos Show Moon Is Rock-Littered

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Pictures taken by the latest U.S. moon satellite, Surveyor 6, show a moonscape littered with rocks ranging in size up to two feet wide which may have been spewed from a crater out of camera range.

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the rock-strewed Central Bay region looked like "a boulder field," but added scientists were unsure how the rocks got there.

One guess is the rocks were hurled from an unseen crater "from over the horizon, where no crater is visible."

DARING RESCUE of a paralyzed youth on a power pole was brought off by four death-defying Los Angeles city firemen. Brian Latasa, 17, had climbed the 30-foot pole, touched a wire, was catapulted into the air and fell across a 50,000-volt line. Paralyzed, he was able to move only his eyelids.

The picture of the debris was fitted together Sunday from five photos taken by Surveyor 6's television camera as it rotated across a field of six degrees.

The moon robot, which soft landed in the Central Bay Thursday night, has returned more than 4,000 pictures of the lunar surface. Scientists plan to take a total of 20,000 photos before shutting the spacecraft down for the 14-day-long lunar night.

Scientists described the pictures sent back by America's sixth automated moon laboratory as "the best yet."

The versatile spacecraft also dangled a miniature chemistry set from a nylon line to analyze the lunar topsoil. Data from the experiment was radioed back to earth where the information will help determine the best site for a manned landing.

The Central Bay, or Sinus Medii, is considered one of the four prime landing sites for Apollo astronauts.

Egypt's Faith In Russia Growing

United Press International—Israeli and Jordanian troops traded fire Sunday in a three-hour mortar battle along the Jordan River, Israeli military spokesmen said today.

In Jerusalem the cabinet made public a new, stronger stand against U.N. peace proposals which infringe on its "freedom of action."

The newspaper Al Ahram in Cairo editorialized that the Arab defeat in the June 5-10 war was such a shock to the Soviet Union that a "mammoth air bridge" has been built to carry Red arms to Egypt. It cited the "spirit of friendship and brotherhood" marking relations between the two countries.

New Suez observations posts, including one at sea, were set up by the United Nations Truce Supervisory Organization (UNTSO) to implement U.N. Secretary General Thant's proposals for stronger cease-fire observation machinery.

The Israeli cabinet Sunday night made clear that Abba Eban, the Israeli foreign minister, was acting in accordance with the cabinet's directives when he spoke out in New York during the weekend against an India-sponsored peace plan.

The resolution by India, which is supported by the Arab states, demands Israel withdraw to prewar boundaries.

Sunday's mortar fire began at dawn and each side charged that the other opened fire first. Neither side reported any casualties.

County Board to Accept Bids On Hospital, Airport Jan. 12

County Commissioners Court canvassed precinct votes this morning, approved them, and voted to set Jan. 12 as the date bids will be accepted for handling of the $250,000 airport and $850,000 Highland General Hospital improvements bonds.

Bids for the bonds will be advertised for and opened at the commissioners court meeting at 11 a.m. on Jan. 12. First Southwest Investment Co. of Lubbock will continue to act as the county's agent in handling the bond issues.

No construction on the airport or hospital will begin until the bonds are sold. An estimated $400,000 in matching federal funds for hospital improvements will not be available until late in 1968, County Judge S. R. Lenning, said, and construction would not begin until the Hill-Burton funds are available.

Sato En Route To Washington

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan was flying to Washington, D.C., today for crucial talks with President Johnson on Vietnam and Japan's desire to resume control of Okinawa.

Some Japanese political observers, including members of Sato's own Liberal Democratic party, believe the premier's days in office may depend upon the outcome of the Okinawa question.

Sato stopped overnight at Seattle on the first leg of his eight-day visit to the United States. He showed good humor although he departed Tokyo amid a bloody, two-hour battle between 7,000 police and about 3,000 leftist students of the Zengakuren, an organization that toppled a Japanese government in 1960.

The premier's departure also was marred by the death Sunday of Tadonoshin Yui, 73, who had set afire his gasoline-soaked clothes in front of Sato's residence Saturday night as a protest against Vietnamization.

WITH SPECIAL ELECTION WINS

State Republicans Gain Forces for Senate Seats

By United Press International—Republicans started marshaling forces today for a runoff campaign designed to turn their astonishing special election victories into seats in the Texas Legislature.

In Saturday's special elections for one Senate seat and six House seats, the Republicans won the Senate seat outright and GOP candidates reached runoffs in all other races. In fact, they led the voting in all but one. But Texas Democrats, whose votes might have been fragmented by races in which several candidates ran, could solidify and keep the GOP from its gains.

Texas voters approved six amendments to the state Constitution in extremely light voting. One of the changes had a slender margin, but the others were approved by substantial margins.

The amendments permit counties to put their tax money in a general account (this one had the hardest time winning approval); permit participation by certain subdivisions in mental health and public health services; extend the veterans' land program to Vietnam veterans with a $200 million bond proposal; authorize counties to pay law enforcement men's hospital bills when they are hurt on duty; authorize sale of $75 million of bonds for state park development; and allow non-elective state officials to serve in other non-elective offices.

Dallas Republican O. H. (Dick) Harris swept to the State Senate with a victory over 19 opponents, and he gathered more than 70 per cent of the

Time Bomb Explodes In American Jetliner

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—To the 72 passengers and six crewmen aboard the jetliner the noise sounded like a firecracker. The passengers looked around at the luggage compartment but otherwise took little notice.

Then the air pressure rose in the Boeing 727 jet—an American Airlines flight from Chicago to San Diego—but the pilot, Capt. Dwan C. Duncan, assumed there had been a malfunction. He switched to manual control and the pressure stabilized.

The jet landed safely and all aboard disembarked without ill effect. Only when the passengers learned that the FBI was confiscating their luggage temporarily did they realize what had occurred—their plane apparently had been bombed. The makings of a homemade bomb were found in the debris-littered luggage compartment.

The passengers and crew of the American jet heard and felt the jolt while the plane was flying high over Hill City, Kan., Sunday. Some attributed it to air turbulence. There was no visible fright and no apparent realization of what had happened aboard the big, three-engine jet.

But when ground crewmen at San Diego's Lindbergh Field opened the cargo space they found it in shambles. At first they thought an animal carried as freight had broken loose and caused the mess.

"It looked like an animal had been in there chewing everything up," said an airline spokesman.

"Three pieces of luggage were torn up quite a bit. He (See JET, Page 3)

Most Decisive Battle Of Conflict Underway

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnam poured heavy reinforcements into the Dak To region of South Vietnam today for what could be the most decisive battle of the war. An American general said Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the North Vietnamese defense minister "is personally in charge" of the forces.

One group of North Vietnamese overran a small village near the Dak To bastion today while another launched an attack on 800 men of the 173rd Airborne Brigade in one of the sharp clashes that have marked the 12-day battle 280 miles north of Saigon.

Fighting raged until dark but there were no immediate casualty reports.

Commander of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, said the Maj. Gen. William Peers, Hanoi regime was desperate for a military and propaganda victory to offset the effect of South Vietnam's return to constitutional government and had begun the Dak To offensive.

He said Giap "is personally in charge of the battle," apparently directing its operation from his Hanoi headquarters.

"This may well be the most significant battle since Ia Drang," Peers said.

Ia Drang was the scene of one of the biggest American victories of the war in November, 1965, the year of the big U.S. buildup in Vietnam.

In that battle across the slopes of a mountain just inside the border from Cambodia, the Americans put thousands of Communists out of action in a battle in which the Ia Drang River ran red with blood. The cost was heavy but it broke a major Red offensive, the first time the Americans had done

District Court Opens on Armed Robbery Charge

Trial got underway this morning in 31st Judicial District Court for two men charged with the Aug. 24 armed robbery of a McLean service station.

The defendants, James Lee Herring and William Benjamin Harris, alias Anthony Thomas Fiorello, both of New York City, were both indicted for the robbery, but a motion for separate trials was granted by District Judge Grainger L. McIlhenny Nov. 3.

The trial of Herring, 33, was the first on the docket this morning. Selection of a jury took up most of the morning, after the trial got underway at 10 a.m., and the indictments were read before court adjourned for lunch. An all-male jury was selected.

Testimony was heard this afternoon and is expected to continue tomorrow.

District Attorney Bill Waters will represent the state. Herring's counsel is David Holt, and Davis' counsel is Harold Comer.

The two men are charged with holding up the service station early on the morning of Aug. 24 and taking $107.75 from the cash register after tying up attendant Jerry Hilburn.

They were captured an hour later by Amarillo police. Both suspects were carrying .22-caliber pistols.

The two men have been held in Gray County jail in lieu of $200,000 bond.

Judge Grainger L. McIlhenny is presiding.

Five-Year-Old Civil War Ends

CAIRO (UPI)—Yemen's five-year civil war bloodbath came to a standstill today after the warring royalist and republican factions announced a cease-fire agreement.

The truce came less than a week after a Yemeni coup replaced the government of President Abdullah Sallal with a more moderate republican regime.

Middle East observers said the cease-fire announcement is a major and genuine step toward eventual peace in the 73,000-square-mile South Arabian country.

The commander of the royalist forces met with 29 Republican chieftains Sunday outside the Yemeni capital of Sana'a, the Middle East News Agency (MENA) reported.

The agreement they reached had been considered only a matter of time after U. A. R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, the republican's main supporter, and Saudi Arabian King Faisal, (the royalist backer), decided at the September Arab summit in Khartoum to end the five-year struggle.

The removal of Sallal, considered chief stumbling block to a settlement, assured Sunday's decision, observers said.

The cease-fire halted a conflict which began in 1962 when republican forces, backed by Egyptian troops, overthrew the regime of the Imam Badr, and seized power, installing Sallal as president.

Johnson Opens Top-Level Conferences ON VIETNAM PROBLEM

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, back at his desk after a 5,000-mile, 48-hour Veterans Day weekend with the troops, today begins a week of top-level conferences on the war in Vietnam.

The Chief Executive planned to confer on the diplomatic aspect of the U.S. effort with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, who returned from Saigon during the weekend.

Flying in from the Far East for the meetings were Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, and Robert Komer, the former presidential aide who heads the pacification program.

Vietnam was constantly on the President's mind during his coast-to-coast trek of military and naval bases. While aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise cruising off the California coast Saturday, he issued a dramatic challenge to Hanoi for a peace conference aboard a "neutral ship on a neutral sea."

Borrowing the jargon of the Navy, Johnson declared: "Now hear this: you force us to fight, but you have only to say the word for our quarrel to be buried beneath the waves."

"Standing here, specks between the vastness of ocean and heaven, men realize the ultimate smallness of their quarrels. They just might come to see the waste of war amidst this wealth of God and nature.

"Somehow, they might realize the infinity of promise that stretches outward like the sea. It may be only a dream; but it could so easily be salvation. The United States follows the dream of peace, so we include even the seas in our search.

"For us, the wardrobe could readily be a conference room. A neutral ship on a neutral sea would be as good a meeting place as any," he declared, adding that such a conference could take place so long as both sides "met halfway—so long as one did not insist that the other walk on water and work a miracle alone."

The theme of the second day of his journey was in vivid contrast to that of the first, during which he hammered away at his critics and declared time and again that there was but one way for America in Vietnam—the hard course and the true course—the only course—is the one we must steer between surrender and annihilation.

Since his trip took him only to military bases and installations, Johnson encountered none of his more vocal critics until Sunday at historic Williamsburg, Va., where he attended the Washington Gridiron Club dinner.

It was while sitting in George Washington's library, pew at historic Bruton Parish Church that the President heard the rector, the Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis, tell him that loyal Americans were "appalled" and "mystified" by the Vietnam war.

"We are appalled that apparently this is the only war in our history which has had three-tenths as many civilian as military casualties," Lewis said. "It is particularly regrettable that to most nations the struggle's purpose appears as neo-colonialism. We are mystified by news accounts suggesting that our brave fighting men are inhibited by directives and inadequate equipment from using their capacities to terminate the conflict successfully."

"While pledging our loyalty, we ask respectfully why?" After the sermon, the President shook Lewis' hand without speaking to him.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: I recently published a letter asking my opinion about letting a child see his mother in the nude. It produced an avalanche of mail. Here is the letter again, a repeat of my reply, and some typically vigorous reactions.
P.S. I must say, on second thought, I agree with the reactions.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's all right for a little boy, say around 4 or 5, to see his mother undressed? I have a friend who thinks it's perfectly all right to let her little boy hang around and watch her dress from the skin out and she thinks nothing of letting him come into the bathroom while she is in the tub. He comes in and asks her questions, or to just sit and visit while he gets his eyes full.

Maybe I am wrong, but I do not approve of this. My friend says it is better to let the boy know than to have him curious. What is your opinion?

DAILY READER: DEAR READER: Maybe I am old-fashioned, but I still believe in modesty. A mother shouldn't make a federal case out of it if her 4-year-old son accidentally catches her in the act, but the bathroom door should be locked while mother is bathing.

DEAR ABBY: Please reconsider your answer to Daily Reader. A 4-year-old boy is NOT a dirty-old man watching a stripper in a burlesque show. He is only a child wanting to be close to his mother. Why do you have to drag "sex" into everything? You and Dr. Freud would have made a peach of a pair!

DEAR ABBY: I say it is better to have the natural curiosity of a youngster satisfied by seeing his own mother undressed than to satisfy it later with smutty magazines or, heaven forbid, with some sweet little 15-year-old girl down the block.

Jennifer Released

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Jennifer Jones, found near death in the ocean surf from an overdose of sleeping pills, was released from a hospital in "excellent condition" Sunday night.

The Academy Award winning actress was found unconscious and not breathing last Thursday night at the base of a cliff near Malibu. She was taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital in a coma.

Rejected Husband Kills Wife, Self

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (UPI) — The bodies of a rejected husband and his estranged wife were found lying side by side Sunday afternoon outside the home where he apparently had gone berserk and sprayed a room with bullets, killing one other person.

Another victim lay in critical condition in a hospital here today, while a fifth victim was in fair condition, his scalp creased by a bullet.

Police said Anderson D. Nunnally, 28, charged into the home where his estranged wife was living with her mother and shouted, "I'm going to kill you all."

Bullets flashed from his rifle, hitting a neighbor, M. T. Fant, 41, who was visiting the home in the chest.

The gunfire also wounded Mrs. Loreta Moore, 50, and Robert L. Spraggins, 52, a lodger in the house.

Nunnally then dragged his estranged wife, Erma, 27, in front of the house; witnesses told police. Nunnally shot her in the back of the head; then killed himself with a shot to the forehead, police said.

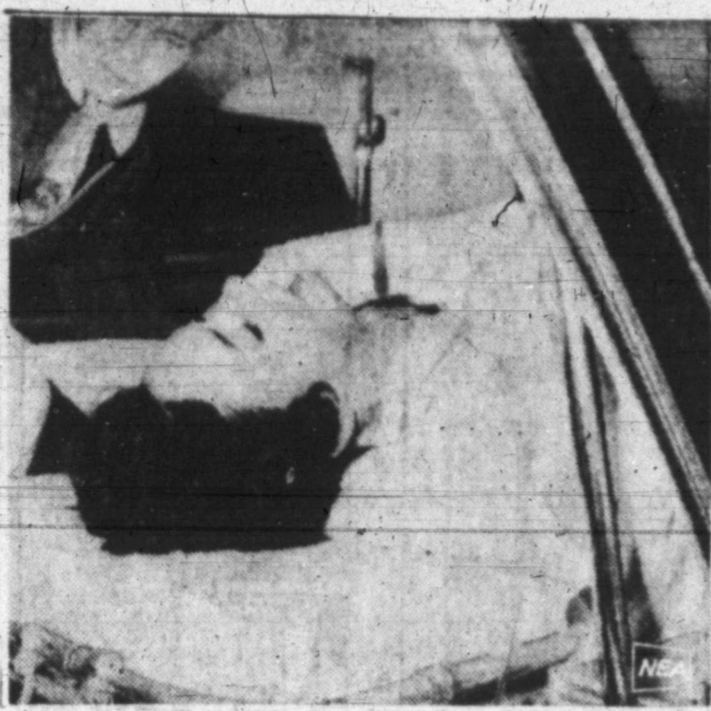

Spanish Class Starts Tuesday

No definite dates or hours have been announced yet for the conversational classes. Mrs. J. C. Clark said, but they will be arranged for the greatest convenience for those interested.

Tentatively, she said, classes would be for two or three hours once a week.

Marie Garriga, Cuban exile now living here, will conduct the classes.

ACTRESS Jennifer Jones, 48, found unconscious at the base of a 400-foot cliff near Malibu, Calif., is rushed by ambulance to a Los Angeles hospital for emergency treatment. She later was reported in good condition.

● Battle (Continued From Page 1) In one action today the Communists followed up their assault on the village of Dak Ran, two miles from Dak To, by hitting the paratroopers in a bamboo jungle a few miles away.

UPI correspondent Alvin B. Webb Jr., reported from Dak To that fighting raged for three hours but broke off after dark. The Communists hit a helicopter on the ground with rocket fire, killing one crew member. Casualties in the paratrooper fight were not known.

A small American patrol spotted North Vietnamese columns marching in from the north. The patrol was seen and surrounded, but managed to beat off the Communists until helicopters plucked in the scouts to safety with their reports, spokesmen said.

A the same time, North Vietnamese troops lunged out of mountain jungle and with mortars smashed their way into Dak Ran, two miles north of Dak To. They fled back to their hilltop hideouts as allied reinforcements drove in.

Hit Near Headquarters Dak To is the headquarters, supply base and airbase for the U.S. forces which have blunted the North Vietnamese campaign to take over the Highlands near the Cambodian border.

U.S. spokesmen said that so far the fight has cost the Communists 635 men killed. They said 92 Americans have been killed and about 500 wounded.

Jetliner

(Continued From Page 1) thought there was an animal loose in there and he immediately shut it up," the spokesman said. "Then we called our Chicago office to see what kind of animal we were shipping."

The Chicago office said no animals were shipped on that flight.

Then the FBI was notified. Agents found a clock mechanism and a battery inside the compartment which appeared to be a crudely made bomb, the airline said.

Among the passengers were the coach and seven members of the San Diego State College cross-country team on the way home after winning NCAA college division cross-country championships in Chicago.

The explosion sounded like a sharp bang, like a cherry bomb or a firecracker, said Peter Virgadamo, 20. "I didn't think it was a bomb or anything. I thought it was just part of the rough weather we had flown through."

Bill Kent, minister of Kingswood Methodist Church in Amarillo and former missionary to Bolivia in South America, will be guest speaker for the "Supper at Seven" hour.

11 Metal Workers Critically Burned

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — An exploding mold broke today and hurled molten metal over more than a dozen foundry workers, burning 11 of them critically.

"Orange-hot" metal was sprayed from an 18-foot long, 36-inch diameter mold at the American Cast Iron Pipe Co. (ACIPCO) plant.

Company spokesman H. B. Warren said 11 were taken to hospitals in critical condition and a number of others were treated at the company medical facility.

The accident occurred about 7:45 a.m. as workers were pouring hot metal into the mold to make a cylinder tube such as the ones often used as the center of large paper rolls.

Warren said for some unknown reason the head ore stop-off plate came off the mold. We lost a good bit of liquid metal and the revolving motion threw it around the plant.

He estimated 25 to 50 workers were in the immediate accident area.

The prime minister told reporters at Seattle his critics should wait for the results of his visit before protesting it.

Sato said if he were to make a major policy change and commit his country to a military way, then there would be grounds for criticism. He noted that he didn't change its policy when he recently toured the nations of Southeast Asia.

Sato said all Japanese shared a strong sentiment for returning administration of Okinawa and the Bonin Islands, a group which includes famed Iwo Jima to Japan.

But he said there was a divergence of opinion regarding disposition of the vital U.S. military base on Okinawa.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Do-It-Yourself Country

Much of what surrounds us seems too big and too massive to be affected by what we do. Government is huge, business organizations are huge and million-member labor organizations are commonplace. Too many of us shrug our shoulders helplessly and figure that there is little we can do on our own to influence the course of events. And right there we are absolutely wrong. Just as a great building is held together by individual steel members solidly bonded to cement, so is society's progress and constructive accomplishment made possible by the efforts of the individual citizen.

Mr. C. W. Cook, chairman of one of the nation's major food processing companies expressed the philosophy that many more of us are going to have to make

Open Up the Gate

Not long ago the President of the United States received a letter from the people of Los Algodones, a Mexican border town near Yuma, Ariz. Noting that the President has many problems, they nevertheless asked that he take a moment to consider theirs. "Could you please," they wrote, "keep the gate open 24 hours a day?" The gate in question separates Los Algodones from Yuma. For years it has been open only between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. After 6 o'clock, in the trenchant phrase of Gen. Alberto Mejia, a resident of Los Algodones, "we all turn into pumpkins." If there is more than a trace of bitterness in the phrase, circumstances justify it. Mexican cotton farmers who buy tractors and supplies in the U.S. city must adjust to a rigid time schedule to get their equipment serviced. People who want to shop in Yuma at day's end, or see a movie, must make a 120-

Don't Blame the Merchant

Food prices are rising again, but it should be remembered that the total bill at the check-out stand of a supermarket is a poor gauge of food prices. The whole organ of a large retail chain store system pointed out the reasons for this when it reported that one tenth of housewives' "total supermarket bill is used for nonfood items... shampoo, magazines, aspirin, kitchen ware, and many others." Her "food" bill is bigger because she's buying more nonfood items at the grocery store.

Today's Sobering Thought

Safety in Gas Transmission

Congress has been studying safety legislation in a number of areas. New regulations regarding automobile safety have already been enacted. Auto manufacturers have called some of the provisions of the regulations impossible to comply with because they are so poorly written. Congress has also been considering legislation having to do with safety standards in the transmission and distribution of natural gas.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

We had fun this week rigging a model three-masted Chinese junk Rudy Vallea sent us from Hong Kong. Until now we had never thought much about the traditional Chinese sailing ship. It always looked comely and clumsy with its high, gaily-decorated poop, its masts raking at different angles and its sails supported by many battens. However, a little research revealed it is one of the most efficient sailing ships ever designed. The Chinese were the first to use water-tight bulkheads, so that a hole in the hull would only flood one compartment. Most junks are flat-bottomed with a single very deep rudder on the sternpost that can be lowered when the junk reaches deep water to act as a centerboard as well as giving positive steering control. In fact our research disclosed the junk is one of the oldest of all sailing ships. Much of its efficiency was due to the fact it needed only a small crew to handle it in any kind of weather.

Today's smile. A husband and wife were sitting in front of a fireplace and the wife asked: "Can you see figures in the fire?" Her better half replied: "Yes dear." The wife persisted: "What figures?" Her husband answered: "Thirty-five dollars a cord for the wood."

Just about two years ago we reported that Tommy Steele was the greatest single talent we had seen on the stage, screen or TV in many many years. That was our judgment after seeing the young Britisher in the musical comedy "Half a Sixpence." Well, we must be a good judge of talent for young Steele is now the hottest thing in show biz. He is currently featured in four movies and we recommend particularly "The Happiest Millionaire" where he steals the picture from such an old pro as Fred MacMurray. Don't miss this one.

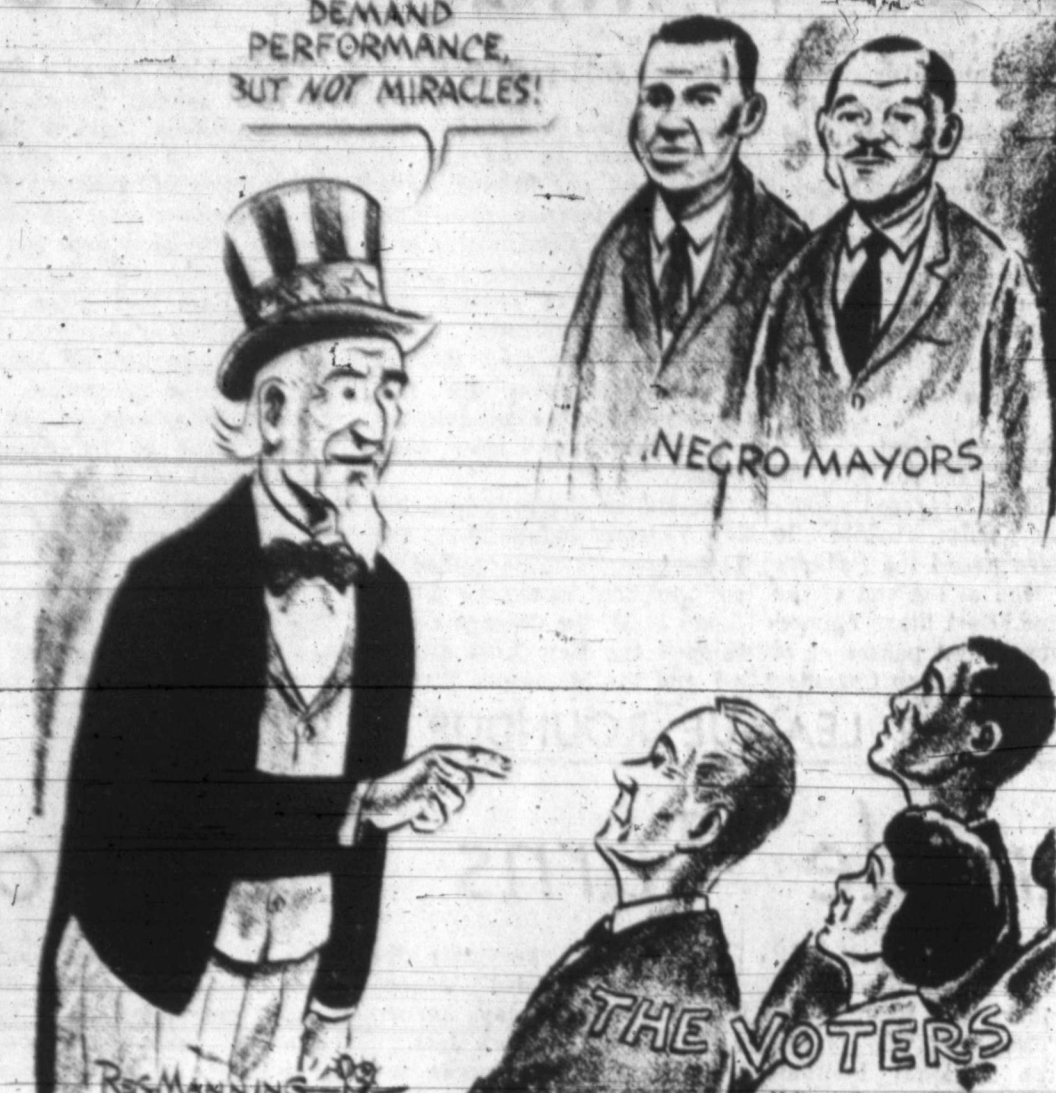

Thoughts while shaving: The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture reported recently Americans will smoke 551 billion cigarettes this year, about 215 packs for every person over 18 years of age. The same week the World Conference on Smoking and Health called upon all world governments to ban smoking in all government facilities and public places. Somehow we don't think the world governments will do anything about it. The words of Alexander Tyler, a British historian, uttered nearly 200 years ago are worth pondering in these troubled times when everyone wants something from the government. He said: "A Democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves largesse from the public treasury. From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidates promising the most benefits from the public treasury, with the result that a democracy always collapses over loose fiscal policy, and is followed by a dictatorship. The average age of the world's civilizations has been two hundred years." Think that one over.

The Wrens (Ga.) JEFFERSON REPORTER reported in a story: "Sewage has been run to the home of John Blank." We'll bet John didn't like that even a little bit.

Filibuster Threat — Encouraged by Dirksen — Ends Civil Rights Prospects This Year. Perhaps Next

WASHINGTON — There is absolutely no chance of the enactment of any civil rights legislation this session, and the prospects are not much better for next year. Reason is a powerful bipartisan bloc of Northern and Southern senators who are fully prepared to wage a last-ditch filibuster.

When they'll quit — It is still anyone's guess when the interminable session of Congress will conclude. Latest conjecture going the rounds in Senate and House cloakrooms is the end of this month. But admittedly that is hopeful wish-thinking. The plain fact is no one knows — including key leaders.

Country Editor speaking: "Have you noticed that the fellow who is always on his toes seldom steps on anyone else's?" considered that gas is continuously flowing 24 hours a day through a network of over 500,000 miles of distribution mains to 38 million meters in towns and cities aggregating over 140 million in population.

either here or there," parried Albert. "Well," demanded Gross, getting down to cases, "does the gentleman believe this Congress can adjourn by December 30?" "The gentleman is calling on me for speculation," retorted Albert. "I do not like to indulge in answers to hypothetical questions. My judgment is that we will be adjourned by then."

Albert was very safe on that prediction. Regardless of what happens, Congress would be sure to quit by December 20 for the Christmas-New Year holidays. It's possible that may turn out to be the only way to briefly get rid of the legislators. VICARIOUS AUTHOR — Senator Charles Percy, R-Ill., dark-horse candidate for President, is going to publish a book on foreign affairs. It will be largely ghost-written by a New Yorker.

PREDICTIONS — The U. S. will return the Bonin Islands to Japan. Announcement of this will be made when Premier Eisaku Sato visits Washington next week for talks with President Johnson and other officials. The Bonin Islands, some 750 miles south of Tokyo, were occupied by the U.S. after World War II. Although the American Bar Association favors giving life-tenure to the 14 members of the Federal Tax Court, the legislation has no chance of congressional approval.

"I assume," observed Gross sardonically, "that members of the House will be safe in buying a Christmas tree to be used here in Washington rather than their home districts." "They would be safe in buying one in Washington, if they wish," replied Albert noncommittally. "They would not have to cart it out to their districts," would they?" asked Gross. "That would depend on where they want to spend Christmas,

Sensing The News

Inflation: The Cruellest Tax. While talking out of one side of its mouth about the need for economies, the Johnson administration constantly promotes costly programs that add to the fires of inflation in this country. This inflation, resulting from federal actions, is worse than any tax load the government has placed on the people. Inflation is the cruelest tax, for it hits hardest the people who are least able to pay it. Inflation robs the people, and they often do not realize what is happening.

Senator John J. Williams of Delaware, a watchdog of the U. S. Treasury, recently spoke out in vigorous manner concerning inflation and its causes. Charging the White House with displaying little, if any, concern with the tremendous deficits it has consistently built up for the past five years, Senator Williams said: "Not only has the administration been encouraging the expansion of new spending schemes which were initiated by its Great Society Bureaucracy, but the White House has consistently been urging substantially increased expenditures on its own initiative."

Wit and Whimsy

Salesman—These socks are the very latest pattern, fast colors, hole-proof, shrink-proof, priced far below our competitor's price, and an excellent yarn.
Customer—Yes, and you tell it well.
Baby Sterk — Mama, where did I come from?
A man filling out an application in a factory was perplexed at one question: "Person to notify in case of accident?" His decision: "Any body in sight."

Optimist: One who thinks he can live like a millionaire if he earns a million dollars.
When the philosopher said, "Hitch your wagon to a star," he had no idea what these space programs cost.
trap about turning the lights off in the White House. Cuts in spending are needed all along the line. Yet even the most modest efforts to curb spending creates a storm among the liberals. Thus when some Congressmen sought to deny a wage hike to employees of the Office of Economic Opportunity the boon-doggling "war on poverty" agency, there was a hue and cry in protest.
The American people already are paying for years of fiscal mismanagement by the Johnson administration. The domestic and international giveaways, which have proved to be futile as genuine solutions to real problems, have robbed the American people of needed resources. These programs have caused a swift and dangerous inflation. Only determined braking action by Congress will relieve the American people of the inflation that is the cruelest tax upon their productivity and well-being.
