Castro Blames Deserter For Guevara Death

HAVANA (UPI) — His voice trembling with emotion, Premier Fidel Castro today said his old comrade-in-arms Ernesto "Che" Guevara probably was caught alive by Bolivian troops last week, then shot to death.

Speaking slowly, Castro said it was "painfully true" that Guevara is dead.

In a two-hour radio and television speech, Castro summoned the Cuban people to a gigantic rally in Havana Wednesday to render homage to the "heroic guerrilla fighter."

Castro said the Argentine-born revolutionary leader may have been betrayed by a deserter from the Bolivian guerrilla movement. Indications are that Guevara was executed after being wounded in a battle with Bolivian troops Oct. 8, the premier added.

Castro said news dispatches from Bolivia "mention a deserter" in connection with Guevara's final clash with army troops.

"A deserter is always a traitor and it is always possible if he falls into the hands of the enemy he will reveal everything," he commented.

The Cuban chieftain said press reports from Bolivia quoting the unnamed deserter as having informed Bolivian authorities first that "Che" was ill.

"Then a few days later there was a big movement of troops in the area where Che subsequently fell to the enemy," he added.

Guevara probably was "taken prisoner gravely wounded," Castro told the Cuban people. "There is no question that they (the Bolivians) did not make the slightest effort to save him."

"But what they did do, apparently, was to finish him off."

Castro said there was "unanimous agreement" by all top Cuban government leaders who — like Castro — knew Che intimately, that he is dead in Bolivia.

As a result, Cuba began a 30-day period of national mourning as of midnight Sunday. For 72 hours, all public spectacles on the island are suspended, Castro said.

For the next 30 days all flags will fly at half staff in honor of "the heroic Maj. Ernesto 'Che' Guevara who died fighting for the liberation of the people of America at the head of the army of liberation of Bolivia."

The Argentine physician-turned-revolutionary helped Castro to power in 1959, served in a variety of posts for six years, and then quietly left the island in 1965. Two years went by before any concrete evidence of his presence in Bolivia turned up.

Doctors Attend District Meet

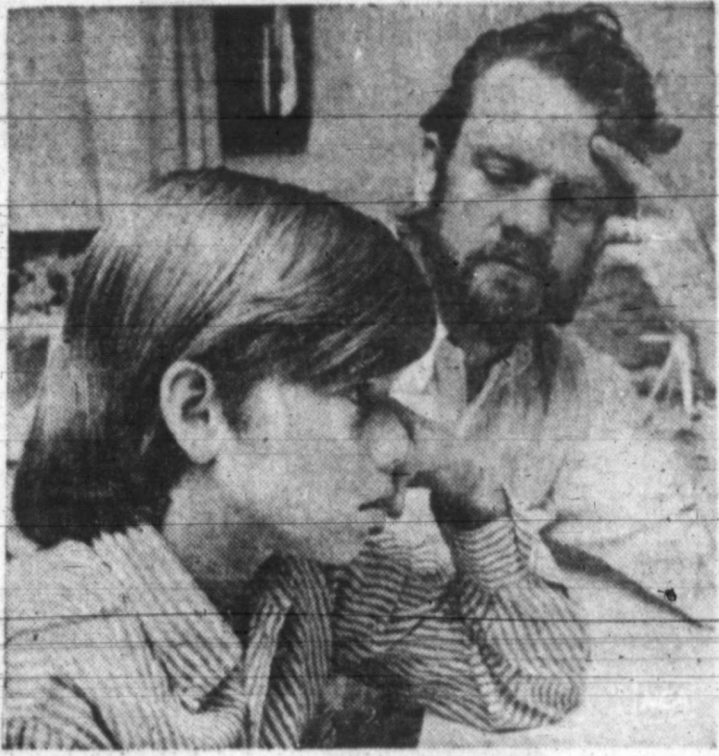

Five Pampa doctors attended the Panhandle District Medical Society meeting Saturday in Lubbock.

They were Dr. Raymond Hampton, Dr. Joel Donaldson, Dr. Malcolm Brown, Dr. Frank W. Kelley, and Dr. M. McDanel and their wives.

Doctors Henry T. Bahson, chairman of the Department of Surgery at the University of Pittsburgh, and Rene Menguy, chairman of the Department of Surgery at the University of Chicago, were the featured speakers for the surgical section, sponsored jointly by the Panhandle District Society and the Lubbock Surgical Society.

Speakers for lectures in medicine were Dr. Lloyd H. Smith, chairman of the Department of Medicine at the University of California, and Dr. Daniel D. Federman, assistant chief of medical services at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Dr. Howard R. Dodgson Jr., president of the Texas Medical Association, spoke at the noon luncheon on "The Impact of the Federal Medical Program."

U.S. Bombers Kill Marines

CON THIEN, Vietnam (UPI) — The first of the U.S. Marine bombs blew a Leatherneck lieutenant 10 feet into the air.

One bomb hit a platoon command post at this Marine bastion on the southern edge of the North-South Vietnam border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and opened a hole 30 feet across and 20 feet deep.

In his bunker, Delta Company commander Capt. Francis L. Shafer Jr., 29, of Newark, Okla., earlier had passed the word to "stay down." Marine jets were going to bomb the Communists out front.

But the U.S. bombs hit Delta Friday night, killing two of Shafer's men and seriously wounded 17. For almost eight hours, using bare hands and a bulldozer, Shafer's Leathernecks dug out those buried alive while the North Vietnamese poured in mortar fire to make more waves in the Marines' ordeal.

"It was the Fourth of July," said Lance Cpl. D. R. Davis, 21, of Salem, Utah, watching from an adjoining hill. "My squad leader thought the world was coming to an end."

Seven 750-pound bombs fell on Delta's fortress hill. At Saigon,

U.S. military spokesmen reported only two bombs fell.

U.S. officials blamed the accident on a fault in an automatic radar bombing system. They moved to investigate.

At the scene, dirt, rocks, beams and metal bunker supports buried some of Shafer's men in a series of explosions that "shook my bunker like a leaf in the fall wind," the captain said.

The seven bombs hit so near his defensive line that they set off Delta's trip flares and unleashed a protective minefield like a giant string of firecrackers. The third platoon was hit hardest, 42 men being buried. Most of them were shell-shocked.

Shafer first reckoned only North Vietnamese artillery could have done that to Delta. He sent his exec, Lt. James McGee, 23, of Plattsburg, Va., out to check. McGee radioed back, "the whole area's a mess."

Shafer took a nose count and began digging into cave-in bunkers. Marine fingers tore at smashed walls, broken beams, tons of fallen sandbags.

"I could hear people moaning inside," Shafer said.

They found one marine pinned by a wooden plank. His ankles were caught. Marines used hacksaws in the light of three flashlights and a candle.

Two men held up the trapped man's body. Someone gave him morphine to ease the pain. They yanked away the plank.

The third platoon medic had been sleeping in a corner of the command bunker. The blast blew him across the room and left him trapped under a fallen buttress beam. Shafer reached "Doc," as they called him.

"For awhile, I had a pulse. He was still warm. We decided to get a bulldozer," Shafer said.

"The bulldozer just wouldn't do it. At the end of three and a half hours, he was dead. He never knew what hit him," the captain said.

They dug out Doc's body the next morning.

"Several people in the vicinity at the approximate right time heard low flying aircraft, and two of them said the engine sounded like it was missing," Maj. Wall said.

Melton, 65, is a former Arkansas state senator and a gubernatorial candidate in 1962. He pulled out of the race saying he did not have enough money for the campaign.

Melton dropped out of sight while flying from his home in Jonesboro to Dallas, Friday. He was last heard of Friday at 10:30 a.m. when he made radio contact with Pine Bluff, Ark.

Melton was flying a white Beechcraft Debonaire, a white, single-engine airplane. He was once head of the organization now searching for him.

Police Find Clues In Triple Killing

"SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—A suicide note, a clipping from a newspaper and a half-empty vodka bottle were the clues today for police piecing together a triple fatal shooting.

Thelma Jane Oligario, 35, and George E. Lothrop, 39, were to be married in just one hour Saturday when a suitor rejected by Mrs. Oligario, Pete S. Rosario, 43, raged into the apartment where they were preparing for the ceremonies.

Rosario, carrying the clipping that told of the impending wedding and a .22 caliber automatic pistol, shot Lothrop, a merchant seaman, in the face.

He then turned the pistol toward the woman who recently rejected him. She died of wounds in the head, chest and hand.

Rosario shot himself fatally in the head.

No one witnessed the shootings, police said, and no shots were reported.

Authorities were alerted after Lothrop staggered to a window and cried out for help. He was found sprawled across a bed, and died a short while later in the hospital.

Police located Rosario's automobile behind Mrs. Oligario's apartment building following the shootings.

Inside, they found three empty beer bottles, a box of .22 caliber bullets and the partially consumed pint of vodka.

They also found the brown paper bag in which the bottle had come.

On it was scrawled, apparently intended for Rosario's children by an earlier marriage a suicide note: "My darling children, I love you. Take care of each other."

"Goodbye. God bless you all."

IN SHADOW OF MOTHER'S DEATH

Thousands Plan Vietnam Protest March

By United Press International. Thousands upon thousands of Americans planned to march this week in the shadow of a mother who burned herself to death as a protest to U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

In 30 cities, from Seattle, San Francisco and Portland, through the heartland to the eastern shores, protesters plan to fill the week with testimony to the belief their country should get out of the war. There also will be demonstrations against the draft, and planned counter demonstrations.

On the eve of the week's first protest, to be held by a group called "The Resistance," a 55-year-old mother of two soaked herself with gasoline and set herself afire Sunday in front of the federal building in downtown Los Angeles, Calif.

She was protesting the Vietnam war, her husband said. "She felt this had to be done, it had to be done," he said.

The week of protests ends Saturday in Washington with what is expected to be the largest antiwar rally ever held in the capital. A spokesman for the organizers predicted 40,000 to 100,000 will attend.

"The Resistance," composed mostly of young antidraft, antiwar protesters, said more than 2,000 men were expected to burn or turn in their draft cards during "stop the draft week." Antidraft protesters were to begin in Chicago today.

A call to resist illegitimate authority was sounded by supporters of the antidraft movement, including 35 clergymen led by the Rev. William S. Coffin, a chaplain at Yale.

The resisters will make "synagogues and churches

California Brush Fires Destroy 30,000 Acres

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (UPI) — Firefighters struggled in 90-degree temperatures today to contain a series of major brush fires that have destroyed at least 22 homes and forced hundreds of persons to flee residential areas.

Hot desert winds with gusts up to 50 miles an hour whipped the flames through tinder-dry brush. The four most serious fires had charred a total of 30,000 acres in Los Angeles and Ventura counties by early today.

A corona of black smoke hung over the Los Angeles area and the reflected glow of the flames provided a rose-tinted sunset Sunday evening in many areas of southern California.

Hits Valley Area

More than 1,200 firefighters battled the worst fire which erupted Sunday morning near the Chatsworth reservoir in the west end of the San Fernando Valley. The flames burned over 10,000 acres, moving in a westerly direction toward the community of Thousand Oaks in the Conejo Valley.

A second blaze started Sunday afternoon to the west in Ventura County's Simi Valley. By early today the smaller blaze had burned over 3,000 acres and had merged with the Chatsworth holocaust.

Men on the lines were hampered by the unpredictable winds, which frequently changed direction and intensity.

and by the lack of access roads to the rugged terrain.

Third Fire Erupts

More than 15,000 acres in Ventura County were ruined by a third fire which continued to burn out of control on its southeastern perimeter. The flames approached the outskirts of Santa Paula but were prevented from advancing into residential areas by the Santa Clara River which flows to the south of the city.

The Weather Bureau said no rain was expected for the next five days and the desert winds—called the Santa Ana wind by local residents—was expected to continue through Tuesday. Temperatures were expected to top 100 degrees in some areas of southern California today.

Witnesses said the woman ran for about 40 feet with flames shooting from her body before she collapsed. A security guard attempted to douse the flames with a fire extinguisher but police said the woman probably died before the flames were put out.

John Osbert, 65, said he was sunning himself on the steps when he suddenly saw "a mass of flames—moving toward me." As he approached the figure "she stretched out her arms and moaned at me," he said. "It wasn't a scream, just a moan."

Her husband, George Beaumont said the immolation was "absolutely intended" to be a protest against American participation in the Vietnam war.

"She couldn't stand to live any longer under this thing," he said. "She felt this had to be done, it had to be done."

Beaumont said he knew nothing of his wife's plan to commit suicide but added she apparently had confided her intention to a friend last week. "I did not think she would go this far," Beaumont said.

Police found literature urging a vote against President Johnson in 1968 and opposing the war in Vietnam in a pickup truck the woman had parked near the building.

More Rain Expected For Beulah Victims

By United Press International

South Texas rivers ran over low water crossings and threatened worse flooding today from six-inch-plus rains that fell in a cold-front-caused thunderstorm system that unleashed a tornado, destructive winds and lightning.

It was the heaviest rains since Hurricane Beulah loosed 25-inch downpours almost a month ago.

More rain was in prospect today across most of the southeastern third of Texas.

The Corpus Christi Weather Bureau said the Nueces and the Frio Rivers were already flooding at some places.

The Nueces was expected to reach 15 feet near Three Rivers, devastated by floods after Beulah. The Nueces spread out four miles wide at places.

The crest would still be almost 10 feet below flood stage.

More than five-inches of rain caused extensive flooding in Ennis and Mill Creek surged over a farm road between Frost and Italy.

The three-foot-deep torrent swept an automobile driven by William Dunning of Corsicana into the creek. Mayor W. C. Cummings of Italy said Dunning and three other persons managed to get out of the sinking car.

Rain totaling 5.61 inches soaked Avalon and Ferris got 3.10.

"We have some flooding in some houses but no evacuations," said an Ennis Fire Department spokesman.

Corsicana got nearly three inches.

The cold front that set off the rain spawned a tornado that tore through the plant of the Columbia Industries, Inc., which makes bowling balls at San Antonio.

Pepper Martin, the former baseball star who is president of the firm, said damage would run to more than $1,500.

Scores of roofs in San Antonio's Westwood Village were damaged and several garages and houses were otherwise damaged.

Lightning blasted a television tower at Elmoreford, Tex., 15 miles south of San Antonio. The tower serves stations KENS, KONO and WOAL in San Antonio and all three stations were knocked off the air briefly.

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) said more than six inches of rain fell Sunday at Montell, in Southwest Texas. Reports of three and four inches were numerous.

Leakey and Garner State Park both got 4.50 inches and four inches fell at Goliad, Camp Wood, Austin and Kerrville all got three inches.

The Pedernales River, which cuts through President Johnson's LBJ Ranch, was eight feet above normal at Stonewall.

The heavy rains missed the Lower Rio Grande Valley, still recovering from the Beulah-caused floods that were the worst in history.

"Heavy rains now wouldn't be of any benefit to us," the Brownsville Weather Bureau said.

As the cold air reached the Gulf Coast, rain-filled streets in Corpus Christi and several underpasses were temporarily flooded.

Three cars smashed together during a heavy rain near downtown Fort Worth Sunday, killing three persons.

The dead were Mrs. Annette Parmenter, 34, of Taloga, Okla.; Mrs. Richard Lee Holding, 33, and James Northcutt, 22, both of Fort Worth.

The heavy rain held down attendance at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas and forced a shutdown of the Midway at 7 p.m.

Credit Association Elects New Officers

The Consumer Credit Association of Pampa elected and installed new officers recently in a meeting at Jim's Steakhouse.

New officers are: Jewett Scarborough, president; Wes Langham, first vice president; Mrs. Charlene High, second vice president; and Wynn Veale, secretary-treasurer.

Two new directors are Charles Webster and Lewis Hackley.

Other members attending were Ken Peoples, Mrs. Edna Day, Larry Wall, Bennie Hunt and Tony Maples.

Counselors Give Educational Test

Pampa High School juniors are taking the Iowa Test of Educational Development today and Tuesday to measure their scholastic aptitude in courses they studied from the ninth to 11th grades.

Counselors, teacher and students use the test to measure the juniors' strengths and weaknesses in social studies, natural science, mathematics, reading literature, vocabulary and correctness of expression.

Counselors, Mrs. Ruby Father and Jim Hullitt, administer the test today and until noon Tuesday, at Pampa High School.

Judgements Against 3

The Gray County Court, Judge S. R. Lenning presiding, has awarded judgements against three men charged with default in payments to White Stores, Inc.

A jury was waived in the civil suits and the defendants, T. M. Morgan, Dale J. Smotherman, and Hank Lawson, failed to respond to citations to appear in court.

Judgements were made against Morgan for $564.08; against Smotherman for $525.57; and against Lawson for $383.61. Each of the judgements also carries a provision that six per cent interest be paid on money owed.

Knight of Year Award Presented

Chuck Alvis was named Knight of the Year at the annual Columbus Day dinner of the Knights of Columbus Saturday night.

Father Charles Welter, chaplain of the Grand Knights of Frank Keim council 2767, made the presentation. The award was presented to Alvis after he tallied the most votes of the council for the honor. Jerry Leiger acted as master of ceremonies.

Approximately 100 persons attended the affair, including Max Meyers, district deputy from Borger, and Grand Knight Frank Berient of Borger.

Youth Reprimanded On Driving Charge

Garril Mason, 22, of Pampa, was reprimanded in 31st Judicial District Court Friday for breaking the terms of his five-year suspended sentence and was ordered not to drive his personal vehicle for the remainder of his suspended term.

Mason was convicted in 1962 of a robbery in Gray County and given a five-year suspended sentence in November of that year. Eddie Lee Wells, his co-defendant, was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary. Mason was hailed before the court for DWI, a violation of the terms of the suspended sentence.

Judge Grainger McIlhenny admonished Mason that further violations of his probation would result in imprisonment.

Supreme Court Sets Aside Suit Won by Walker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court abruptly set aside today a $75,000 judgment won in Louisiana state courts by former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker against the Associated Press and the Times-Picayune Publishing Corp.

In a brief order, the court cited its decision of last term that a public figure cannot collect for damages unless he can prove malice on the part of persons making statements about him.

Last term, the court reversed Texas court rulings against the Associated Press brought by Walker on the basis of the same set of facts. They were among 15 suits by Walker against the wire services, its members, or both, asking total damages of more than $33 million.

The suits were based on stories of the general's activities on the University of Mississippi campus during the 1962 rioting when Negro James H. Meredith was admitted as a student.

Northwest Texas Nurse Graduates

AMARILLO (Sp) — Graduates of Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing, who took the State Board examinations for licensure 1965-1966, ranked among the highest in the state of the thirty-three nursing schools in Texas, including seven degree, twenty-three diploma, and three associate degree programs, according to a report released today by Mrs. Eunice King, director of nursing.

Northwest graduates scored the highest in the state in three of the five subject areas. The top scores were made in "Nursing of Children," "Psychiatric Nursing," and "Medical Nursing." Graduate ranked second in the State in "Obstetrics" and seventh in "Surgical Nursing." This achievement of N.W.T. graduates has been consistent in the past seven years, Mrs. King stated.

The school recently enrolled the largest class in its history when 65 students enrolled in September. The next class will enroll in January 1968. Northwest has the only program in Texas that enrolls two classes annually.

Texas Death Toll Mounts

By United Press International — Steadily mounting highway collisions climaxed by two smashups that killed a total of six persons helped send Texas weekend violent death toll spiraling upward. Rain-slicked highways contributed to the toll.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday showed at least 25 violent deaths, including 25 highway fatalities.

Two wrecks killed three persons each.

In a two-car collision two miles west of Kerens Saturday, Mrs. Pauline Allen, 52 of Waco; Mrs. Leroy Beach, 50, of Hamilton and Mrs. Billie Ingram of Richardson were killed.

A three-car pileup near downtown Fort Worth Sunday in a heavy rain also killed three persons. Four others were injured.

Night School Registration Taken Today

Adults may still register today for vocational night school classes taught at Pampa High School. Nine classes have started and another, electronics, may develop if enough students register.

Mrs. Dona Cornutt, high school registrar, said: "Classes which start at 6:30 p.m. today are typing I and II, shorthand I and II, data processing, general accounting, drafting I and II, welding and machine shop.

Today is the first day for classes. The three-hour weekly session is taught each Monday night at high school by high school teachers and Jim Whaley, a data processing instructor employed at Cabot Corp.

Credit and the certificate presented after completion apply toward a high school diploma, Mrs. Cornutt said.

Northwest Texas Nurse Graduates

AMARILLO (Sp) — Graduates of Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing, who took the State Board examinations for licensure 1965-1966, ranked among the highest in the state of the thirty-three nursing schools in Texas, including seven degree, twenty-three diploma, and three associate degree programs, according to a report released today by Mrs. Eunice King, director of nursing.

Northwest graduates scored the highest in the state in three of the five subject areas. The top scores were made in "Nursing of Children," "Psychiatric Nursing," and "Medical Nursing." Graduate ranked second in the State in "Obstetrics" and seventh in "Surgical Nursing." This achievement of N.W.T. graduates has been consistent in the past seven years, Mrs. King stated.

The school recently enrolled the largest class in its history when 65 students enrolled in September. The next class will enroll in January 1968. Northwest has the only program in Texas that enrolls two classes annually.

Obituaries

Mrs. Blanche La'd
Mrs. Blanche La'd, 92, died at 7:20 a.m. today at the home of her son, Henry L. La'd, at Williamsburg, N.M. She was born June 14, 1875, at Winslow, Iowa. Newsman Says Critics Could Be Premature

CHICAGO (UPI) — A veteran Washington newsman said Monday "political soothsayers" who predict President Johnson's defeat next year on the basis of his present low rating on Vietnam in popularity polls are premature to say the least, and could be terribly wrong.

Stewart Henley, chief diplomatic correspondent for United Press International, discussed "Foreign Policy in the 1968 Election" at a lunch meeting of the Inland Daily Newspaper Association.

There is no reason to doubt the accuracy of polls showing that more than 50 per cent of the voters disapprove of Johnson's handling of the Vietnam war, Henley said.

Not United Group "However," he added, this majority "consists of doves as well as hawks and millions of just plain unhappy pigeons in between. It is logically impossible for all of them to find a comfortable place to roost on any Vietnam plank the Republican platform committee may come up with, no matter how attractive or how ambiguous."

Once the Republicans have picked their candidates and been forced to take a stand, much of this "frustration" vote probably will swing back to Johnson under the old "lesser-of-two evils" theory.

In addition, there is always the possibility the administration will get some unforeseen "break" in the Southeast Asia conflict, although top officials are not counting on it.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases, to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that in case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of the inflamed hemorrhoids took place.

The secret is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it! Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Bucks, 'Cats Tangle Friday

Only District 5-B teams will avoid conference action this week as league play comes to full strength among District 1-A and District 2-A teams.

Claude took a giant stride backwards and McLean took a giant stride forward last week in District 2-A. The Tigers upset Claude 3-0 to move into first place tie with Wheeler for the league lead.

The Mustangs had no trouble whipping Silverton, 27-0 in a league opener.

White Deer, in 1-A, and Gruver took over the 1-A leadership as both posted victories in their conference openers.

The Bucks sailed by Sunray, 45-12 and Gruver edged Stratford, 13-8.

The District 1-A championship could well be decided Friday night when the Bucks entertain Canadian.

The Wildcats (4-2) and White Deer (5-1) were the pre-season favorites to win the district title.

championship, then the Tigers won a coin flip to gain the regional playoffs.

The Tigers weren't picked as a conference favorite this year but their upset victory Friday over Claude, who had earlier this season upset White Deer, moves them into the title picture.

Unbeaten Perryton opens AAA conference play Friday when they journey to Tulla.

Lefors, (1-5) who broke a five-game losing streak last week hosts Vega and Groom (0-5) goes to Silverton (4-2) while Miami (0-5) hosts Guthrie in an eight-man District 5-B game.

Randy Heads U.S. Olympic Team Today

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Russians were off and winging today in quest of the pre-Olympics title, already having picked up two gold medals in Sunday's opening competition, but Randy Matson, the Pampa strongboy, was expected to get the United States back in the running.

Matson, the world shot put record holder, arrived at a late hour Sunday and without a practice session under his belt in Mexico City's high altitude, took on the Russians and the second-place Hungarians single-handed.

Russia won both the gold and the bronze medals in the javelin, the gold medal in the triple jump, and the silver medal in bantamweight weightlifting on opening day to push their point total to 15.

Hungary placed second at the end of the first day with eight points, while the Americans had only a bronze medal on the strength of John Carlos' third place finish in the 100-yard dash.

Weighlifter Mohammed Nasiri of Iran broke his own world record for a gold medal in the bantamweight class, with a clean-and-jerk hoist of 320.1 pounds, 1.1 pounds over the record officials said he set in Teheran 20 days ago. But most attention was focused on the U.S.-Russia duel on the track.

SHUFFLE PLAYERS.

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Astros brought their roster to 39 players Sunday when they asked waivers on veteran infielder Bob Lillis for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release and added pitchers Scipio Spinks, Wayne Twitchell and Bob Watkins to the roster.

Packers Streak Ends at 17

By United Press International

The Green Bay Packers' remarkable 17-game unbeaten streak has faded into a blazing Canadian sunset.

And with it vanished, at least temporarily, the notion that the Packers were about to walk away with an unprecedented third consecutive National Football League title.

It took two Canadian imports, Bud Grant and Joe Kapp, however, to finally pierce the Green Bay cloak of invincibility.

Grant, the new head coach of the Minnesota Vikings and Kapp, the newly installed starting quarterback, engineered an astounding 10-7 upset of the Packers Sunday for the team's first victory of the season.

Dallas Victory

Elsewhere, Dallas survived a scare to beat winless New Orleans 14-10. San Francisco overhauled Philadelphia, 28-27, Cleveland clawed St. Louis 20-16, New York shocked Pittsburgh 27-24. Atlanta rallied to tie Washington 20-20 and Chicago pinned a 14-3 loss on Detroit.

Roman Gabriel's third touchdown pass—a 16-yard toss to Bernie Casey with fewer than three minutes remaining—gave the Rams a tie with the Colts. It was set up by Maxie Baughan interception of Johnny Unitas' pass and a Ken Willard climaxed a clutch 80-yard drive in the fourth quarter with a four-yard boot off tackle and Tommy Davis converted to give the Forty Niners an uphill victory and a record in the Coastal Division which Baltimore leads with a 5-0 mark.

Cleveland moved into a three-way first-place tie in the Century Division with New York and St. Louis by beating the Cards as the Browns turned two fumbles recoveries and an interception into a 17-4 halftime lead and hung on despite three field goals by Jim Bakken and a fine performance by rookie quarterback Jim Hart.

Pampa Shocker football coach Ed Lehnick and varsity assistant Don Weiser continued their successful formulas for picking the winners and tied for first in the fourth week of the Weekly Pampa Daily News Football selection.

Both finished with not too impressive 17-7-1 records, mainly because of a rash of college upsets.

Last week Lehnick finished in a first-place tie while Weiser tied for first week before last. Lehnick missed Lubbock's win over Palo Duro, Texas Tech's loss to the Aggies, Rice's victory over Northwestern, Iowa State's win over Kansas State, Kansas' upset over Nebraska, Navy's win over Syracuse and Mississippi's stunning win over Georgia.

Coaches Tie In Grid Selections

He did pick such victories as Southern Cal's flogging of Notre Dame and Texas' narrow victory over Oklahoma.

Weiser missed the Coronado track and win their second game in six outings when they hosted Berger B at 4:30 p.m. on Harvester Field.

Lee ninth (0-5) plays at Dumas and Lee eighth (1-4) hosts Dumas eighth, both on Thursday and Friday Lee seventh (2-1-1) plays at Berger-Houston.

Also Thursday Pampa ninth (0-5) plays at Berger Houston at 7:30 p.m. while Pampa eighth (0-3) and still scoreless hosts Houston, Friday Pampa eighth (3-1) hosts unbeaten Perryton.

Shocks, Berger Tangle Thursday

Lee and Pampa Junior High ninth grade football teams and Pampa Junior High eighth grade will try once again this week to get in the win column for the first time.

The Pampa Shockers will try to get back on the winning track and win their second game in six outings when they host Berger B at 4:30 p.m. on Harvester Field.

Lee ninth (0-5) plays at Dumas and Lee eighth (1-4) hosts Dumas eighth, both on Thursday and Friday Lee seventh (2-1-1) plays at Berger-Houston.

Also Thursday Pampa ninth (0-5) plays at Berger Houston at 7:30 p.m. while Pampa eighth (0-3) and still scoreless hosts Houston, Friday Pampa eighth (3-1) hosts unbeaten Perryton.

Pampa Hosts Amarillo

By RON CROSS

Coronado, Amarillo and Monterey did about as expected Friday night while Lubbock high pulled something of an upset and Plainview almost did as District 3-4A teams opened zone play.

The teams that didn't open zone play last week will Friday night with only the Lubbock High at Monterey clash the only non-zone game on the schedule.

In North zone play Pampa (0-5) hosts the Amarillo Sandies (6-0) in their annual battle and Caprock (0-6) plays at Berger (1-5).

In South zone action Coronado (6-0) plays at Palo Duro (2-3-1) and Plainview (4-2) is in Amarillo for a game with Tascosa (2-4) the defending South zone champions.

In South zone action last week Coronado and Plainview hooked up in a scoring donnybrook with the Mustangs edging the Bulldogs 29-28. In the other South zone contest Lubbock broke the win column for the first time and edged Palo Duro 7-6. All the scoring for the Dons came on a pair of field goals. Amarillo had no trouble in opening North zone clash as they tumbled Berger, 35-7 to Monterey for the zone leadership.

Chargers Rout KC Chiefs, 45-31

By United Press International

It was tough enough playing Green Bay in the Super Bowl—but that wasn't as bad for the Kansas City Chiefs as playing the San Diego Chargers Sunday.

After the defending American Football League champions were routed by the Chargers 45-31 in the new San Diego Stadium, Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said, "I can't remember anyone who ever played a greater game against us."

He added, "They have the best talent around."

Stram, though, still isn't giving up in the Western giving up in the Western Division race as he added, "It was a tough loss but we have nine games to go."

It won't be easy for the Chiefs to repeat as AFL champions now, however—and the Chiefs know it. The Chargers remained the only unbeaten team in the AFL with a 4-0-1 record while the Chiefs slipped to third place in the West, behind Oakland which boosted its record to 4-1 with a 24-20 victory over the Buffalo Bills.

In the other two AFL games, the New York Jets retained sole-possession of first place in the Eastern Division with a wide 28-23 tie with the Houston Oilers and the Boston Patriots routed the Miami Dolphins 41-10. The four games drew 177,797 fans—setting an AFL record for four games in one day. The Jets drew 62,729 for the top crowd.

LBJ Admits Inflation Is Tax

At last President Johnson seems to recognize that inflation is a tax. In a recent press conference at his ranch in Texas, Mr. Johnson threatened that unless Congress approved the 10 per cent tax on tax that he is demanding the American people will be forced to pay out immeasurably more money through inflation.

"We'll get a tax either way," he said, adding that the people will either have their taxes raised or suffer from inflation which is "much more dangerous." But Mr. Johnson wants more taxes and inflation too. It's not a question of either-or as he says. For the federal government has been embarked on a course of deliberately inflating the money supply for years and years. It has not just been the Johnson administration. It's been every administration, Republican and Democratic, which has taken the "easy money" approach to financing governmental activities.

It would appear that the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee finally has its back up over the issue of cutting federal spending. Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the committee, says his committee will not approve any tax increase unless the administration cuts spending an equivalent amount. This would mean Mr. Johnson would have to cut out $5 billion in spending in order to get $5 billion in additional taxes, the amount expected to come from the 10 per cent surtax.

It is indicated that the federal government will go in the hole something like $25 billion to $30 billion this year. So even with a $5 billion tax increase and a $5 billion reduction in expenditure the deficit spending would be at least $15 billion. To the extent that the deficit is financed by creation of new credit and fiat money the excess spending over receipts will be inflationary.

Is All-Out Bombing Best Tactic?

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Editorial Writer

The war we are bringing to North Vietnam is not directed against the people or that country but against its government. The aim is to make it as difficult as possible for Hanoi to wage guerrilla war in South Vietnam and ultimately to convince it of its futility. We are prepared to stop the bombing any time the North Vietnamese indicate they are willing to talk to us.

Extreme pains are taken to minimize civilian casualties in our raids. We are told that targets are removed with "surgical precision," although it is inevitable that bombs will stray and that there will be deaths among the civilian population. We are also told that we have dropped as much tonnage on North Vietnam as in three years of bombing of Nazi Germany.

Against that former enemy, our policy was one of unconditional surrender. The object was to smash Germany completely. It was total war, against both people and government. The needless obliteration of a city like Dresden in the last months of the war was one fruit of that policy.

Unconditional surrender was a mistake, some historians argue. There were many in the German army and government who were ready to overthrow Hitler if the Allies had offered a negotiated peace. Whether this is true or not, whether some other alternative to unconditional surrender could have shortened the war, remains one of the imponderables of history.

Yet future history is being written in Vietnam right now, and we have time to choose between alternatives. It is impossible to wage war limited or otherwise against a government and not against the people it rules, however convinced we are that it is an evil government, however much we may feel it does not represent the true aspirations of its citizens.

We fall to consider that when people find bombs raining down upon them, they get mad. Their resolve stiffens, and larger political considerations mean nothing in the face of attacks of an alien enemy.

Hitler made the same mistake in Russia. He was unable to understand that Russian love of country transcended whatever desire the people may have had to be free of dictatorial communism.

All the simple North Vietnamese peasant knows is that American pilots are dropping bombs on him and that these Americans are as much an enemy as were the Japanese and the French.

He knows nothing of Geneva accords and cares not a whit about international legal niceties. He remembers only that all of Vietnam was once one country, and that one foreign power was driven out and has now been replaced by another.

Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, for one recent example, complains that "we are fighting with one hand tied behind our backs. We could make this war so hot for them they couldn't take it."

The United States certainly did not tie its hands in the war against Germany. Is it really conceivable that if we unleashed our full bombing power against the North Vietnamese, that they would suddenly collapse, that they would prove any less willing to stand up and take it than Germans who had no great love for Hitler?

Why should Hanoi offer assurances of any kind in exchange for a cessation of the bombing? Would we?

Sensing The News

Gov. Romney Off Base
In an era of myth-making about how slums are created responsible American leaders have to be very careful that they don't try to brainwash their fellow citizens and aren't brainwashed themselves when they talk to the supposed "leaders" of so called community action groups in the slums.

Gov. George Romney (R-Mich.) in a speech before the National Conference of Editorial Writers in Nashville in early October, was less than careful in these respects. The Governor had just returned from a nationwide tour of slum hotspots, including the Watts district of Los Angeles, and Harlem in New York City. The message he gave the country's editorial writers seemed to suggest an effort at brainwashing, and strongly indicated that he himself had been brainwashed on the "poverty" issue while touring the country.

In the first place, Gov. Romney discussed the slum hotspots in terms that are hardly in accord with the realities demonstrated in the long, hot, riotous summer of 1967. The picture he painted was of people in these areas having been betrayed by their own society and eager for constructive action. Specifically, Gov. Romney declared: "Their hopes have been raised only to be dashed. They feel they have been tricked. They seek escape from dependency. They want to turn the American dream from a mocking delusion into a reality."

Informed Americans may properly reply Mr. Romney can't support his case. How can slum dwellers be tricked if the Great Society is spending billions of dollars for their uplift? How can their hopes be dashed when they are the recipients of financial assistance programs unprecedented in the history of the nation and when public officials bend over backward to appease rioters and looters, at the cost of the security and well-being of responsible citizens? And how can the Governor argue that many of the slum dwellers want to escape dependency when their spokesmen are demanding that the country spend billions of dollars to further improve the area in which they live?

Many informed citizens believe that the truth is far from what Gov. Romney declared it to be. They hold that the United States is coddling the indolent, promoting dependency, listening to people who threaten blackmail against our society if a reward is not handed over by Congress and the cities.

Gov. Romney also declared that a "strategy for a New America" begins with "equal law enforcement in many cities today in that the demonstration leader, the mugger, the street rioter, the sit-in specialist and the looter often enjoy a kind of privileged sanctuary in our cities. They get away with misdeeds and civil disobedience that other citizens would not be permitted, if they so desired. By all means, let's have equal law enforcement, and let's start by cracking down on the 'Black Power' extremists, the professional agitators, and those who, like Rap Brown, threaten destruction of the land of the free."

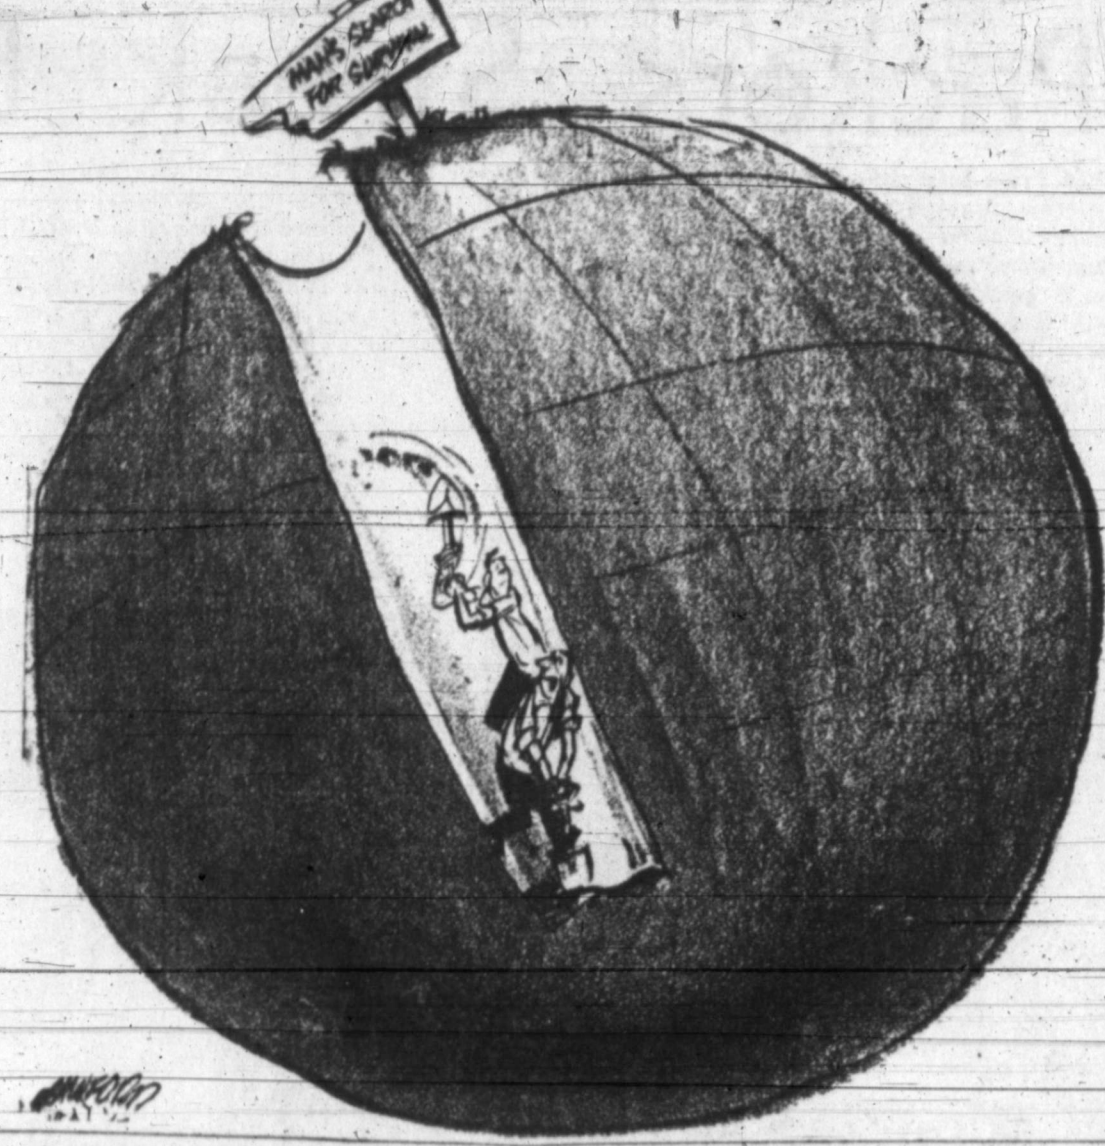

Obviously, Gov. Romney did not make as thorough a study of the urban "ghetto" groups as he should have done. For example, he told the editorial writers that in Rochester, N. Y., a "ghetto" organization known as FIGHT has "launched a bold, cooperative effort to guarantee job training and employment." What he didn't tell the editorial writers, though many of them knew it, was that FIGHT has waged virtually guerrilla war against Rochester's leading employer, the Eastman Kodak Co., and invaded that company's annual meeting. The company was required, because of the pressure tactics used by FIGHT, to request massive state police protection at a corporate meeting.

The country certainly has no problem in the big city problems, and everyone can agree with Gov. Romney's words about the importance of self-help and better education. But the upgrading of slum dwellers must be done in the right spirit and by the right methods, otherwise disaster will result.

The country cannot be expected to help people in the slums if a gun is pointed at society's head by angry young street radicals. Law and order must prevail. The authority and wisdom of the nation's established business and civic leadership must be upheld. It is nonsense to say that street-corner leaders can better direct community efforts than people of demonstrated capacity.

A MYTHICAL PARTNERSHIP
Where do so many people get the idea that there exists some kind of partnership between government and business? A partnership is supposed to be something in the way of an equal sharing.

For example, we say that marriage is a partnership. Imagine a marriage in which one of the spouses is able to act as follows: He can make all the plans, enforce compliance, tax, regulate, and in the event of dispute, arrest, try and convict. If the other partner objects and seeks to end the arrangement, he can be sent to jail and if he objects and refuses to go, he can be forced to go, and ultimately shot if he refuses to comply. How long would a marriage of this sort last?

Yet this is what we are being asked to believe about government and business as a partnership. The government operates on the capital of the business, and the only kind of partnership discernible is hopelessly one-sided and vicious. The illusion of partnership is carried out because, under some circumstances, the government will turn around and subsidize the other partner.

Imagine a marriage in which one spouse decides to subsidize the other and manages to carry out that subsidization by looting the neighborhood. If the beneficiary of this loot accepts, he becomes a partner in crime after the fact. If he resists he will be told that he is not acting competitively and that if he won't accept the loot, then there are plenty of others who will.

The illusion of partnership is carried still further because it is claimed that the businessman, finding himself sorely oppressed because of some policy being advocated in the government, can turn around and have an election and thus change the policy of the government. This is a little like promising you can change the direction of the aircraft you are flying in by changing seats in the cabin.

Going back again to the analogy of marriage, what kind of partnership would it be if one of the partners were told that any time he didn't like the way the partnership was going, he could elect another partner who would, as history and experience shows, merely provide a different head on the pillow and by no means a different policy toward the partner.

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

RED CHINA AND THE UN
The propaganda guns for admission of Communist China to the United Nations are sounding again. This time the UN Association of the United States and other organizations, as well as some public officials, are proclaiming that Red China should be admitted simply because it does exist as a nation and because its seating in the UN allegedly would give hope for eventual world peace.

Red China has existed for some time, thanks in large part to certain individuals in the U.S. Government who assured the American people that there were no communists involved—only "agrarian reformers." But its existence hardly qualifies it for membership in the UN, which supposedly is open only to "peace-loving states."

The UN is not, to be sure, a great force in the world. From one point of view, it would hardly seem to matter whether Communist China becomes a member. But it would be foolish and short-sighted not to consider the consequences of its admission on the nations in Southeast Asia which the United States is trying to support. The impact on the masses of the Chinese people themselves must also be considered. The obvious unrest on the mainland shows that many millions must look with longing to the time maintain a degree of monopoly. If government were to make its monopoly of coercion available to the market on the basis of market demands, this would call for a government which would exercise its coercive powers to please first one group and then another, vacillating as political reconfigurations occurred. This would provide an absolutely unreliable government, one of caprice and whim. It would coerce first one group, then another, benefitting some at the expense of others and hoping ultimately to benefit enough so that the general spoliation of the total market were not detected. But business is dependent upon an uncoerced market. So its presumed partner is in process of corrupting and destroying a condition upon which the business must ultimately depend. What kind of marriage partner would one be if he labored to corrupt the marriage concept per se?

In spite of these obvious facts, and more that could be marshaled, we are asked to accept the concept of a business-government partnership. It is an illusion. It is the kind of partnership which is no partnership at all. It is an arrangement between slavemaster and slave, and all talk of partnership in such a condition is pure mythology.

Juvenile Youth Problems In Soviet Sound Familiar

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Russians are having their own problems with delinquent youth. These problems, of course, have led to intensive official studies. The Soviet investigators looked into "capitalistic influences," but were unable to place the blame there. Instead, they found 80 per cent of the delinquency cases they looked into were connected with "parental neglect."

These men concluded that a major cause of juvenile delinquency in the Soviet Union today is parental "indulgence." They placed heavy blame on parents who accused them of "unjustified gratification" of their desires. The Russian investigators found that as income goes up, the parents are more indulgent. The overindulgence of some children, the investigators said, in turn seemed to stimulate their classmates to demand equal rights to indulge themselves. This put the pressure on the nonindulgent parents to follow along with the indulgers.

The researchers noted that half the juvenile crimes were committed at hours when the young people should have been at home if the parents had been living up to their responsibilities.

The data showed that the percentage of lawbreakers among youngsters raised in what the investigators called "incomplete" families was 50 per cent to 200 per cent greater than in "complete" families. "Incomplete" families were homes in which there was only one parent or in which one parent was away constantly on prolonged trips or inactive because of a long illness. Families in which both the father and mother worked were also "incomplete."

The researchers men decided the reason for this high percentage of lawbreakers from "incomplete" homes was because in these families youngsters were not watched over adequately. Other findings:

—A fourth to a third of the delinquents were children of parents who drank heavily. —Only 10 per cent of the employed youngsters who committed crimes while intoxicated had learned to drink after they had begun work. Ninety per cent had learned the drinking habit at home from their parents.

—Constant family quarreling and fighting exist in half of the homes which produce juvenile delinquents. —Most juvenile delinquents neither worked nor went to school. Most of those in school were two to three years behind. Less than a seventh were at the proper grade level.

Do these findings sound familiar? They give no comfort to those who argue that the cause of juvenile delinquency is in the social system, in poverty or in a lack of opportunity.

During his long career he won the middleweight title five times and was crowned as king of the welterweights once. No one ever equalled that record. . . . The Chicago (Ill.) DAILY NEWS reported in a story: "Gov. Ronald Reagan, the nation's fastest-rising political star, gets more than 100 invitations a day from every corner of the country to take a speech." Reagan is too shrewd to "fake" anything. He knows the only stagefolk who can fool the people are the magicians.

Country Editor Speaking: "Ignorance of the law may be no excuse, but it's better than knowing the law and willfully breaking it."

Buckingham Service Center Is Leading Dealer in Pampa for Goodyear Tires

Buckingham Auto Service Center is Pampa's leading dealer for Goodyear tires, America's Number one tire.

Pioneer Natural Names Director

Pioneer Natural Gas Co. announced today that Amarillo advertising and public relations executive R. O. "Bob" Mills assumed the position of director at Pioneer effective today. Mills resigned his post as president of McCormick Advertising Company to accept the newly created position.

C. L. "Stoney" Wall, president of Pioneer, in making the announcement said, "one of Mills' chief duties will be the development and distribution of information about Pioneer and the area it serves."

The talents of Mills will be available to assist the communities and realize their maximum potential in attracting and creating new business and industry. He will work with local officials and civic groups for the betterment of their community in all respects, Wall stated.

so that you are sure to find the size tires you need.

Brake refining and engine tune-ups are other fields of specialization for Buckingham Auto Service Center. Star ventilated brake shoes are recommended for longer wear, safer and quicker stops with less brake fade.

Buckingham has the Marquet engine analyzer for complete engine tune-ups. You can actually see your engine's performance on our "tv" screen.

Front end alignments are checked by the Hunter front end machine.

Factory trained mechanics are on duty to assure you of expert car service.

Another feature of Buckingham's Auto Service Center is

STOLEN TRUCK
LONDON (UPI)—There must be some mistake, said police guards when a large truck loaded with timber tried to force its way in the front entrance gate to Buckingham Palace.

The mistake, investigators found out after arresting the man behind the wheel, had been made by the original driver, who had been tricked into stopping the vehicle and getting out—only to have it driven away by another man.

The thief was to appear in court Saturday.

Pampa's newest car wash located adjacent to the service area. The "National Pride" Automatic Car Wash does all the work for you in three minutes for just 75 cents. You do not even have to get out of your car.

When you finish getting your car washed there, drive into our Sinclair Service Station and fill up with gas; and get your car vacuumed and windows chamoused free.

For the newest, most modern equipment, finest products and excellent service, drive out to Buckingham Auto Service Center, 1800 North Hobart.

Gray County To Be Represented At Survey Meet

Tracy Cary, chairman of the Gray County Historical Survey Committee and members of the county committee have been invited to represent Gray County at the 1967 annual meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and the Texas Historical Foundation, its private affiliate.

The meeting will be held at the Moody Convention Center in Galveston, Oct. 26 through 28. The joint membership of the two organizations totals more than 3,000 members in 254 county committees.

The county committees will be competing for several annual awards at the meeting. These include "Best Committee Newsletter", "Best Program of Work for 1967", "Best Historical Scrapbook", and "Best Publication of Local or Regional History". Awards will also be presented for the "Best Chairman of a County Historical Survey Committee," and the "Best Sub-committee Chairman of a County Historical Survey Committee."

In addition to the awards, a versatile and informative program has been drawn up featuring noted speakers in the historical field as well as related areas of endeavor.

Keynote speaker for the meeting will be Ernest Allen Connally, chief of the Office of Archaeology and Historical Preservation of the United States Department of the Interior, National Park Service. Connally will address the Annual RAMPS at 7 p.m. banquet, on Oct. 7.

Topics to be covered at the meeting include "Authentic Restorations in Texas," "Texas Travel Trails and a Comprehensive Museum Program."

Hairdresser's Career Both Interesting and Profitable

Hair — like fashions — have their "fads" which come and go. At present you may take your pick between either the "Twiggy" look (shaped to resemble the male sex) or the "Long Straight" look (accomplished by artificial hair and bobby pins). Be it the latest 'fad' or a hairstyle involving lines, curves, and curls the professional cosmetologist can please the most discriminating lady.

The career of a hairdresser is as profitable as it is interesting. Dollar-wise, its annual income is well in excess of three billion dollars. The continual growth potential of this profession remains exceptionally good, for at least two sound reasons: (1) Women are becoming—and will continue to be—beauty conscious.

Aside from personal experience they constantly are being educated to this end by newspaper and magazine beauty editors and by radio and television commentators. (2) In addition to the widening percentage of women educated to avail themselves of beauty salon services each year, we must add the factor of a constantly and rapidly expanding population. Both of these factors have contributed to numerical expansion of beauty salons and cosmetologists in the past, and obviously will continue to do so at an increased rate in the years to come.

The brick building located at the corner of Foster and Purviance streets, known as the Pampa College of Hairdressing is engaged in teaching and promoting the beauty culture industry. With the aid and use of a wide range of equipment, accessories and supplies, the newest and most up-to-date technical methods are extensively taught to all enrollees at the school. In order to keep abreast with the latest techniques in the beauty culture field for presentation and instruction for their students, the owner and educational director, Bob E. Parker, is continually attending seminars, style shows, trend classes, and distributor demonstrations. Mr. Parker wants his graduates to be hairdressers, or hairstylists, not "beauty operators." This can only be achieved by demanding and receiving the best training possible in a well-planned college of cosmetology.

LOST NAMES
REDFIELD, England (UPI)—The Rev. William Allen, vicar of St. Leonard's Church, hopes that nice young couple he's supposed to marry Nov. 11 decide to telephone in advance.

It seems he's lost their names—and can't post-bans without them.

"I shall need a bodyguard to face them if they show up and I can't marry them," the vicar said Friday. "I must find them before next Saturday."

Remember, There Is No Economical Substitute For Quality

Fast on the dry? Old Sol at high noon... or any means of drying can't come even close to Gas for speed. Then, too, gentle Gas heat blows moisture away—instead of baking it out—so your clothes are always soft, fluffy and almost wrinkle-free. All this and economy, too, in today's most modern dryer.

FASTEST SUN IN THE WEST... A GAS DRYER.
