GETS CHURCH AWARD—M.D. Snyder, right, owner of M. D. Snyder-Trucking Co., is shown receiving the Baptist Men's Award for Outstanding Service from the Rev. Carroll Ray, Top O' Texas area missionary. Snyder received the award last night at the Palo Duro Baptist Men's Association meeting in the First Baptist Church. Snyder received the award for furnishing and driving his own trucks loaded with clothing and goods for relief of victims of Hurricane Beulah in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Wet Snow Covers Area Pampa Gets 3 Inches; More Is In Forecast

It isn't over yet. Cold winter type weather for Pampa and the Top O' Texas area, that is. The Amarillo Weather Bureau predicted today light drizzle tonight and early Wednesday with the drizzle turning to snow late Wednesday evening. All this after a three-inch snowfall Monday evening and night in which Pampa recorded .22 of an inch of moisture. Monday's high temperature was an official 41 degrees and the overnight low recorded was 27 degrees. Weather Bureau also looks for an overnight low near 30 and a high Wednesday near 40 while the drizzle is falling. Winds are expected to be from the south at 12-22 miles per hour. Hazardous driving warnings were issued for all roads and highways in the Panhandle but all roads were open to traffic. Only two minor accidents were reported in Pampa and none in other parts of the County, pointing out residents were taking their driving seriously. Pampa streets and sidewalks were slick for the most part and pedestrians and motorists were apparently taking it easy. Arctic air collided with moisture-laden air of the south wind today and dumped snow and sleet over a big swath of North Texas and cold drizzle over much of the rest of the state. Snow up to two inches blanketed Amarillo, delighting children but giving city road-salting crews a full day's work. The snow turned to ice on city streets. Monday in a four-hour period, police counted 18 auto smashups, including one chain smashup involving 12 vehicles. Dalhart got about an inch of snow that mostly melted when it touched sidewalks and streets, but clung to shrubs and grass. Patches of ice made streets slippery. At Childress overnight snow totaled about an inch and then turned to a miserable drizzle by dawn. The snow did not last long enough for even a good snowball fight. The overnight lows ranged from 25 at Dalhart to 66 at Brownsville. The readings were mostly 30s in the Panhandle. Moisture totals included .70 of an inch at Abilene, .86 at Junction, .44 at Waco, and about a third of an inch at Dallas and Fort Worth. Other totals included Amarillo .26 of an inch, Childress .17, College Station .11, Dalhart .05, Del Rio, .02, El Paso .97, Lubbock .07, Lufkin and Midland .29, Presidio .03, Texarkana .03, Tyler .25 and Wichita Falls .15.

SNOW AND BEAUTY—Marveling at Pampa's three-inch snowfall is Miss Linda Stevens, the daughter of Mrs. L. M. Stevens, 713 Doucette. More of the same type weather is on tap tonight and Wednesday.

Defense Secretary To Head World Bank

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—After nearly seven years on the job, Robert S. McNamara is preparing to step down as secretary of defense. The news was greeted in Congress today with varying degrees of concern and relief. McNamara, 51, is said to be prepared to accept the presidency of the World Bank. The bank directors meet Wednesday and might vote formally on his selection. When McNamara would leave the Pentagon remained a question. It could be fairly soon or several months away. On Capitol Hill, where there

Paris Newspapers Assail de Gaulle After Conference

PARIS (UPI)—Paris newspapers today led an outraged onslaught on President Charles de Gaulle's blasts against the United States, Great Britain and Canada. The French government was bracing for the official reaction, which would come after the affected governments had a chance to study the complete text of De Gaulle's 92-minute semiannual news conference. "De Gaulle Threatens to Wreck EEC if Five Insist on Britain," said the headline in the International Herald Tribune. EEC is the European Common Market, which has five other members besides France. "De Gaulle satisfied with Antisocial Policy," reported the banner in the Communist L'Humanite. "De Gaulle: Negotiations With Britain Would Destroy the Common Market," read the headline on a front page editorial criticizing the general in L'Annonce. In his rehearsed news conference, De Gaulle: Bitterly attacked the U. S. dollar; Slammed the door once more on Britain's bid to enter the Common Market; Rapped Israel as the aggressor in the Suez-Mideast war with the Arabs; and Predicted that Quebec eventually would split from Canada and become a sovereign state. In a harsh statement before 1,100 newsmen, diplomats and politicians, De Gaulle warned the United States that even its "incredible power" would not save the dollar from devaluation unless Washington stopped championing the present world monetary system. Calling for the world to return to the gold standard of the 1930s, De Gaulle accused America of exporting the inflated dollar. "Discount Threats"—In Washington Stewart Hensley, chief UPI diplomatic reporter, said U.S. officials were privately shrugging off De Gaulle's attacks on the United States and the dollar as reflecting the frustrations of his declining years. "They said the French leader's effort to rally gold speculators against the dollar were doomed to failure. (There was no official reaction from the White House or the State Department.)

U.S. Jets Bomb Two MIG Interceptor Bases

SAIGON (UPI)—American jets dodged heavy anti-aircraft fire in North Vietnam and bombed three airbases, destroying a missile site at one and cratering runways at the other, military spokesmen said today. The jets flew 117 missions despite bad weather that confined strikes Monday to coastal areas. They bombed the Kien An and Yen Ba MIG bases and a key ferry for war supplies coming through the port of Cam Pha, the Communist nation's third largest, the spokesman said. The Communists in the Mekong Delta of South Vietnam mortared two small U.S. airfields used for light observation planes, killing one American and wounding two others. At the Soc Trang base 97 miles southwest of Saigon 15 mortar rounds slammed in and caused the casualties and "moderate" damage, the spokesman said. A half hour later the Communists struck the Lac Hong airfield at Rach Gia, 116 miles southwest of Saigon, where officials said four light observation planes, a gasoline truck and a jeep were destroyed. Navy jets weaved into the heavily defended Hai Phong area to hit the Kien An MIG base six miles southwest of the largest port in the north, the spokesman said. Military officials said they knocked out a Surface-to-

Commission Studies Building Ordinance

Pampa City Commissioners Tuesday morning passed an ordinance on first reading to make it mandatory for old, unsafe buildings in the city of Pampa to either be cleaned up or torn down. The ordinance, No. 670, will deal primarily with vacant buildings that are a public nuisance. Passage of the ordinance gives the city the right to require the removal of dilapidated buildings, first by contacting the owner, or if the owner cannot be contacted or won't comply with the ordinance, to instigate legal action to have the building removed and the lot it is on, cleaned up. City Manager Jim White said that a building inspector would inspect the building, contact the owner and upon his failure to act, legal action will be started. The owner of the building will then be contacted and asked for his permission to have the building removed. If an owner can't be located, an advertisement will be run in the newspaper for the required length of time and if the owner still cannot be located, Tuesday morning passed an ordinance on first reading to make it mandatory for old, unsafe buildings in the city of Pampa to either be cleaned up or torn down. Turkey Backs Request With Eight Warships

United Press International Turkey delivered an ultimatum to Greece today to accept Turkish terms for a settlement of the Cyprus crisis or face unspecified "necessary measures," informed sources reported in Ankara. Athens a Greek government spokesman mentioned the possibility of war. Turkey backed up the ultimatum by sending eight Turkish warships to within 15 miles of the Mediterranean island 40 miles off Turkey's south coast. Turkish jets roared over Cyprus and its population of 600,000 persons. U.S. presidential peace envoy Cyrus Vance rushed to Athens today from Ankara and five hours of negotiations with Turkish officials. He held a series of emergency conferences with top Greek officials in what appeared to be the most crucial day of the crisis. The Greek spokesman did not mention the Ankara reports that Turkey had sent an ultimatum. Instead he said: "Clarification of the situation will come within the day, either through agreement or in a negative way. If there is no agreement, there could be very dramatic developments, not excluding war."

UN Rejects Red China

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The General Assembly today refused for the 18th time to hand over China's U.N. seat to Peking. It voted 45-58, with 17 abstentions, against a 12-power proposal submitted by Albania to unseat Nationalist China in favor of the Communist Chinese regime. The 13-vote margin was 2 votes wider than last year. The United States and Nationalist China also had the votes to impose a two-thirds majority voting rule on the Albanian proposal; and to defeat an Italian proposal for a special study committee between assembly sessions.

Government Grades Cigs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fifty-nine popular brands of cigarettes now have federal government nicotine-tar ratings in what may be the start of a drive for strong new warnings about health hazards and the smoking habit. The ratings, the first of their kind released by the government, were compiled by the Federal Trade Commission in a two-month study using mechanical smoking machines to determine the amount of tar and nicotine in each brand. Along with the ratings Monday came word that a congressional committee that examined the alleged hazards of smoking last summer was studying the possibility of taping the rankings displayed prominently at points where cigarettes are sold. Release of the rankings, which showed nonfiltered Chesterfields had the most nicotine and tar and filtered Marvells the least, came on the heels of new pressure on the tobacco industry. POSES AS STUDENT

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI)—Glen P. Boggs was a "bright young fellow" in high school, his superintendent said. "He skipped a few classes, but accepted his work." Only Boggs wasn't his name, at least not in school. And he wasn't a student. He was a police undercover agent. Monday Boggs blew the whistle on widespread narcotics peddling in three Corpus Christi high schools. More than 200 students were implicated. Seventeen were arrested on felony charges of sale of conspiracy to sell or possession of narcotics or dangerous drugs. Yet Dr. Dana Williams, superintendent of schools, said today: "We'll put our youngsters against any in the country. We don't think they're any better or any worse than students anywhere in the country." The narcotics activity the 23-

year-old Boggs uncovered "presents itself all over the country," said Williams, who cooperated in the investigation. Boggs, in acting the role of a reluctant, 19-year-old student from California who had just gotten out of the service, sometimes frustrated teachers. They did not know when they sent him to the principal's office for "a dressing down," that he was a policeman. However, the principal was in on Boggs' activities. The world of high school narcotics scared him, said the young rookie, only four months out of a police academy. But, Boggs developed his memory. He had to in memorizing the names and faces of some 200 youths he devoted 12 hours a day to since Sept. 10 after he "resigned" from the police force. "It was a pretty hard proposition going back to being a teenager," he said. There was always a chance Boggs himself would be arrested or revealed as a police agent. Both almost happened. Once on a coastal beach early one morning, Boggs and a group of students hid five pounds of marijuana among sand dunes, then many of them "turned on," Boggs said. A tourist found the marijuana and called the sheriff's department. Unable to remember where they had stashed the marijuana, the "turned on" group was walking up and down the dunes when law enforcement authorities arrested them. "I really gave them (the deputies) a bad time," Boggs said. "They had to quiet me down a couple of times." In the telephone call he was allowed, Boggs instructed his wife to call police special services.

Gov. Connally Denies Rumors

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—"Not a word of truth in it." That is Gov. John Connally's reaction to rumors that he will be appointed to succeed Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. Connally once lived in Washington, as secretary of the Navy. He left in 1961 to make his first race for governor of Texas, and has often said he would not want to go back. But rumors that he was in line to be chosen to head the defense establishment some day have cropped up during Connally's three terms as governor of Texas.

Students Return From Conference On Government

Jim Holston of Canyon, West Texas State University student body president and David Harmon, sophomore senator from WTSU returned Monday from the National Association of Associated Student Government in San Francisco, Calif.
Harmon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harmon of Pampa, is a graduate of Pampa High School and a pre-law student.
During the conference, Harmon was nominated as ASG national vice president by San Jose University of California delegates, but withdrew his nomination. He also appeared on a San Francisco television station during the sessions.
The association, non-political student government organization, had student delegates from every major college and university in the United States.
During the conference, a press conference was held for representatives of CBS, NBC, ABC, UPI and Time magazine and four San Francisco television stations. Speakers at the conference included Harry Edwards, sociology professor at San Jose State University and president of the university's United Black Students for Action and Peter Jennings, NBC newsman.
Debate speakers on use of drugs on campus included Dr. Donald Louria, president of the New York Council on Drug Abuse and Chairman of the New York American Medical Association, and a representative of Tim Leary, a "hippie" from Berkeley, Calif.

Authorities Seek Identity Of Nude Pair

BUFFALO, Mo. (UPI)— Authorities in this tiny southwest Missouri community today await word from Canada in hopes of shedding some light on the identity of two persons found dead near here Sunday.
Police said they have reason to believe the pair, apparently dead about three months, may have been two "hippie" hitchhikers picked up three months ago near the Mexican border by a West Memphis, Ark. man.
The nude bodies of the young man and woman were found along with a business card belonging to W. S. Cheek of West Memphis. Officials said Cheek told them of picking up two "hippies" three months ago and leaving them at the Texas-Oklahoma border.
He said the girl told him her father was a Canadian bank official. The clothes of the pair found Sunday—carried Canadian labels and the man's hair was shoulder length. Their clothes, stacked neatly in a pile between them, gave the appearance they could have been hippies, officials said.
Dallas County Coroner Jerry T. Cantlon said the condition of the bodies prevented any immediate opinion as to the cause of death. Using metal detectors, officers found three .38 caliber bullets in the man's skull and one bullet in the woman's hair.

McNamara

This is a particularly critical time of the year for the Defense Department since it is in the process of making major decisions on its proposed fiscal 1969 budget, which President Johnson must present to Congress in January. These decisions involve long-range questions of strategy and resources and it was not likely the secretary would leave before they were thrashed out.
Desires Change
But it is known that McNamara has wanted to leave his difficult and exacting post for some months. Official sources emphasized that he was not leaving because of any disagreement with President Johnson over policy in Vietnam or elsewhere.
Johnson has repeatedly told friends he holds McNamara in high esteem ("Bob McNamara is the greatest secretary of defense this country has ever had," he once said); there were even reports in 1964 that he was grooming him for the vice presidency.
But the 51-year-old former Ford Motor Co. executive has borne the exhausting burdens of administering America's globe-girdling defenses for almost seven years and apparently feels the time is near when he would like to step down.
Congressional and other sources raised the possibility that McNamara would replace the retiring George D. Woods as the president of the World Bank, more formally known as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.
Bank Directors Meet
The president of the World Bank is selected by the bank's 20 executive directors, who are scheduled to meet Wednesday.
In September, Woods, a New York banker, announced he wanted to retire at the end of this year as head of the World Bank. But he later agreed to serve another one-year term until a successor is selected and becomes available.

Obituaries

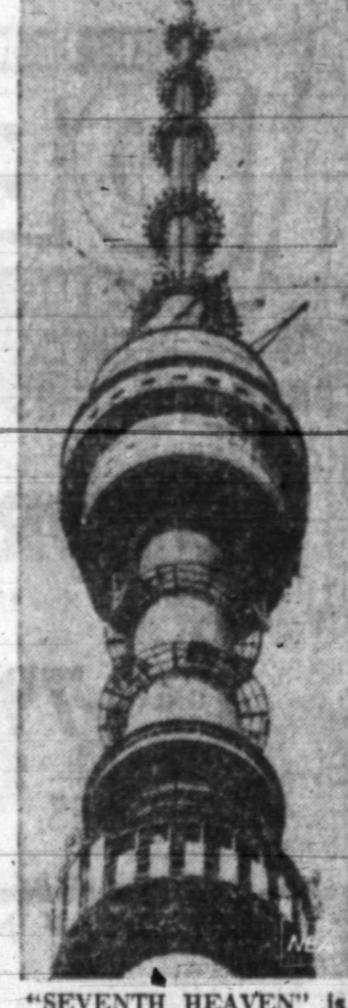

Mrs. Della McCampbell, who died Sunday at Highland General Hospital, will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at St. Stephens Baptist Church in Clarendon with Rev. Sam Williams, pastor of the Holiness Church in Clarendon, officiating. Burial will be in Citizens' Cemetery in Clarendon, directed by Carmichael-Whately Funeral directors.
Mrs. McCampbell will be buried beside the grave of her husband, H. D. McCampbell, who died Sept. 29, 1966.

Horace F. Haught, 71, 1008 Denver, died at Highland General Hospital at 9:20 a.m. today. Born April 6, 1896, in McClelland County, he was a retired farmer, and was married to Annie Johnson in Iredell in 1914. He was a member of Barrett Baptist Church, and an ordained Baptist minister. He had a parastate at Hilton.
Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Barbara A. Haught of the home; Mrs. Rebecca Smith, Grand Prairie and Mrs. Dorothy Barnett, Fort Worth; three sons, Floyd Haught, Pampa; James and Claude, both of Lincoln, Neb.; 14 grandchildren; and 26 great-grandchildren.
Funeral services are pending with Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

Search Parties Dig for Bodies Of Flood Victims

LISBON (UPI)—Search parties digging for bodies with bare hands and bulldozers in the knee-deep muck of Lisbon's "valley of death" took a short respite today for mass funerals of victims of terrible floods. Then they returned to their painful task.
Officials said 316 bodies have been recovered, including 90 from Quintas, a village of 150 now called "the Martyr Village" by religious Portuguese. The "astronomical" number of collapsed and severely damaged buildings has not even been calculated and no money estimate has been made on damages. Thousands may be injured—no one knows for sure how many.
President Americo Thomas was touring the ravaged areas to console the mourners and to see what aid the government can give.
Mass funerals were being held in Quintas, Alenquer, Arguda dos Vinhos, Louras, Oeiras, and Vila Franca de Xira. The floodwaters had receded in most places today but communications lines and rail service still were out from the floods, triggered by a four-inch torrential downpour during the weekend.
Residents of Lisbon were warned to boil drinking water to minimize the danger from typhoid and other diseases.
Quintas, nestled in a valley 14 miles from the capital, was hardest hit. The 90 Quintas residents were killed as they slept in their homes. The crashing waters roared through the valley and swept most away. Another 10 homes in the village perched on a hillside were spared. The 90 victims were being buried in two graves today.
Tales of personal tragedy still were coming to light 72 hours after the unsuspecting countryside was ravished by the raging waters.
Francisco Jose Andre lost nine members of his family in Quintas.
"The door of the bedroom was violently torn open by the force of the water," he said. "I saw my children pass by, carried by the torrent. I stretched out my hands and saved two of them, but when I went back for my wife, a wardrobe fell on her and I could do nothing."

TOKYO (UPI)—General Chiang Ching-kuo elder son of President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China, arrived in Tokyo Monday on his first visit to Japan. Chiang, 57, planned to meet government leaders for talks on Japan-Formosa relations during his six-day official stay.
A thought for the day—U.S. Army Gen. William Sherman once said, "I am tired and sick of war. Its glory is all moonshine. It's only those who neither fired a shot nor heard the shrieks and groans of the wounded who cry aloud for blood more vengeance, more desolation."

"SEVENTH HEAVEN" is the non-Marxist name of a restaurant high up on this reinforced concrete television tower rising 1,748 feet over Moscow's Ostankino District. The structure is nearly 300 feet higher than New York's Empire State Building with its antenna. The Soviets say clear television pictures from the tower's transmissions can be received up to 100 miles away.

U.S. Gets

Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs guided by radar snaked through flak to bomb the Yen Bay airfield 78 miles northwest of Haiphong and the Kep Ha airfield 50 miles north of the port city, spokesmen said.
Bomb Barges, Sampans
The pilots zeroed in on truck convoys and a flotilla of 25 sampans and two 20-foot barges, the spokesmen said. The vessels were hit where they were beached, about 29 miles southeast of Dong Hoi just north of the Demilitarized Zone, the spokesmen said.
Scattered ground action erupted throughout most of South Vietnam. U.S. forces trying to track down the bloodied North Vietnamese battalions that attacked Dak To in the Central Highlands met some resistance, officials said.
But Australian forces sweeping along coastal regions about 32 miles east-southeast of Saigon ran into a fierce two-hour firefight Monday, spokesmen said. Spokesmen said five Communists were killed in the battle and Australian casualties were light.

Smokers

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said the rankings would "enable a smoker who was unable or unwilling to give up smoking, to select the least hazardous cigarette on the market."
The FTC said that the first 50 brands tested represented the most popular. The testing this covered about one third of the brands or sizes of cigarettes now available. The testing is continuing.

Heroic Mexican Youth Critical

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—A 23-year-old Mexican youth, who nearly gave his life to save a woman teacher from hoodlums, today is in critical condition in a hospital here.
Primitivo Garcia, who had been reported in fair condition earlier, is recovering from a gunshot wound in the abdomen, inflicted by the hoodlums Nov. 15.
He took a turn for the worse Monday night and has been moved into the intensive care unit of St. Mary's Hospital.
Garcia, who had been in the United States for only eight months, attempted to prevent a gang of youths from molesting a teacher outside a Kansas City high school.
One of four youths, now in police custody, allegedly shot Garcia in the stomach.
The only supporter of his mother, brother and sister, the young Mexican had left night school where he is learning English and finishing his high school education, when he saw the scuffle.
Garcia's heroism captured the hearts of Kansas Citians who have donated blood for him as fast as hospital officials can process it.
A fund, begun by two Kansas City housewives, has totaled more than $10,000 and his employer has agreed to maintain Garcia's salary while he recovers.
The Kansas City Bar Association acclaimed the youth Monday for his courage and "willingness to become involved."
Earlier the City Council stood and applauded the youth, who at that time was listed in "fair" condition at General Hospital.
"Perhaps the spirit which you have evidenced will encourage others to be willing to be 'involved' in more than a passive way as good citizens and brothers toward their neighbors," the bar association's citation said.

Pampan's Mother Dies in Missouri

Mrs. Fannie Turk, 81, died at 12:55 a.m. Monday at Jester Nursing Home in Carthage, Mo., after a lengthy illness.
Mrs. Turk was the mother of Mrs. Glenn Richhart, Pampa.
Other survivors are her husband, L. A. Turk, Carthage, a son, Leonard Turk, Kansas City-Kans.; a daughter, Mrs. Loyce Nealy, Kansas City. Mo. went back for my wife, a wardrobe fell on her and I could do nothing."
Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Ulmer Funeral Home in Carthage. Burial will be in Carthage Cemetery.
Mrs. Richhart was co-owner of the Gift Box. The store will be closed from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesday.
The family requests memorials be made through the Book of Remembrance of the First Presbyterian Church here or to favorite charities.
In 1872, fire broke out in a Boston warehouse. By the next day 800 buildings had been destroyed with damage estimated at $75 million.
In 1869, women from 21 states met in Cleveland to draw up plans for the organization of the American Women Suffrage Association.

For Versatile Holiday Surprises, Try Combining Christmas Cookies with Candy

It's a season for surprises, and what could be more fun than to re-crea for a cookie and get a candy as well? To match such festive cookies, try a bar cookie, then top with a chewy layer of melted caramels and chopped pecans. For a new twist to chocolate-covered cherries, choose Buttersweets. Here, petite sugar cookies are topped with fluffy cream cheese, pink with cherry pieces. For the finishing touch, drizzle melted semi-sweet chocolate over all. Adapt this versatile idea to other cookies favorites, too. You'll want to remember these confection-type cookies for special days all through the year.

CARMELITAS
32 light candy caramels
1/4 cup light cream or evaporated milk
1 roll Chocolate Chip Cookies
1 cup (6-ounce package) milk chocolate or semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1/2 cup chopped pecans...

Melt caramels with cream in top of double boiler.

Slice cookie dough 1/4-inch thick and place in bottom of greased 8 or 9-inch square pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly brown. (Cookies will be puffy when removed from oven.) Cool slightly.

Sprinkle chocolate pieces over warm cookie base; then carefully spread with caramel mixture and sprinkle with pecans. Refrigerate 1 to 2 hours and cut into about 36 squares.

BUTTERSWEETS
1 roll refrigerated Chocolate Chip Cookies

Filling:
1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 (3-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries
1 drop red food coloring...

Topping:
1 cup (6-ounce package) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1/2 cup butter...

1 cup (6-ounce package) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

POULTRY — Leave whole or cut into serving pieces. Wrap giblets separately. NEVER STUFF POULTRY BEFORE FREEZING. Trim left over meat from bones before packaging.

SHELLFISH — Freeze shrimp

Chocolate Glaze Magic
This rich Viennese cake has a luscious chocolate glaze. Who'd ever guess it could be so easy! Empty a 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate pieces into a small saucepan. Pour in 1/2 cup light corn syrup and add a tablespoon vanilla, strong coffee or rum. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate is completely melted, then continue cooking and stirring until mixture is smooth. Spread warm glaze over cooled cake. The corn syrup is the magic ingredient supplying shine, smoothness and flavor.

The Butcher Wrap
When wrapping several patties or small steaks, place squares of film between them for easier separation later. Turn the stack on its side, placing it diagonally on the film. Bring back corner forward, pressing snugly against meat. Fold in from each side, pressing out as much air as possible on each fold. Pull up the remaining side of film. Seal the package with freezer tape and label.

MEATS — Trim excess fat and, where practical, remove bones to save freezer space. Pad any remaining bones with saran film to prevent puncturing the package.

FREEZING TIPS

either raw or cooked. Cook and remove crab and lobster from shells before freezing. Freeze clams, oysters and most other shellfish raw.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 Two important meetings scheduled by the Soviet leadership for after the new year may provide guidelines both as to the future course of Soviet policy and whether a split within the Kremlin is pointing more and more toward a return of one-man rule.

One of these is a meeting to debate Soviet economic reforms which could pit party leader Leonid Brezhnev against Premier Alexei Kosygin.
 The second is the apparent determination to go ahead with a summit meeting of world Communist leaders, despite opposition from important segments of the party including both Yugoslavia and Romania.
 Brezhnev, Kosygin and President Nicolai Podgorny are the men who have been at the top of the Soviet Union's committee or troika government since the 1964 ouster of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

But as the Soviet Union observed its 50th anniversary on Nov. 7 it also was observed that important decisions were being put off.

And among equals, it also appeared that Brezhnev gradually was emerging as more equal than the other two.

Aside from its obvious early indecision during the Mideast crisis, there were other outstanding problems to be met. One involved the future of Soviet agriculture, another final approval of the 1966-1970 five-year plan which now should be rounding out its second year but actually has been operating on a year-to-year basis.

And, of course, there always was the question of China.

On the purely political front Brezhnev could be expected to take the lead.

Despite the opposition, it appears he has decided this is the time to reassert Soviet world leadership of the Communist Party through a world summit meeting. Presumably this will include a denunciation of the divisive policies of Red China.

Two and a half years ago it also was Brezhnev who promoted an outlay of $45.5 billion to modernize Soviet agriculture.

These funds now have been cut by one-fourth for the benefit of a large expansion in production of consumer goods and other areas of the Soviet economy. A promoter of the cut was premier Kosygin.

An attack on the cutback carried in Kommunist, the party's leading ideological journal, indicated the battle was not yet over.

If committee rule is to continue in the Soviet Union, it appears important decisions also must continue to be put off. Only in that way can a united front be preserved.

DEAR ABBY: At the end of the school year, a teacher in our school retired. Another teacher and I collected $15 from each member of the faculty to give the retiring teacher a farewell dinner at an expensive restaurant. We also presented her with a set of matched luggage, and a generous check for the trip we understood she was to take.

At the beginning of the new school year, this "retired" teacher returned, explaining that she had decided not to retire after all.

This puts me in a very awkward position. Shouldn't the teacher return the money and baggage so I can refund it to the contributors? Any suggestions?

FEELS AWKWARD DEAR EELLS: If anyone is in an "awkward" position, it's the teacher, not you. Of course she should return the luggage and the money for (throw a party for all of you). But unless she volunteers to do so, you are out of luck. Since she was sufficiently brazen to return to her job and keep the "retirement" gifts, I doubt if even an outright suggestion from the group would jolt her.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "SUNK" who told her husband that after 18 years of marriage, his love-making did nothing for her, and she'd been putting on an act all along. Then she wrote, "It wasn't exactly the truth, I only said it to hurt him."

I am willing to bet it WAS the truth. Or very close to it. The husband's reaction was typical. Instead of being genuinely sorry to learn that his wife had been getting no sexual satisfaction from their marriage, and seeking ways to correct it, what did he do? He punished her by being cool, distant, and silent.

Why can't a man realize that this is a legitimate complaint—a cry of a faithful wife who wants her marriage to last? Frigidity is the result of the Victorian era, when no "decent" woman was supposed to enjoy sex. Only men were allowed to have sexual appetites.

and women were around for the purpose of satisfying them. Now we know that the physical needs of women are the same as men, and they are equally entitled to fulfillment.

A husband who really loves his wife will move heaven and earth to find out why his love-making does nothing for her. There are doctors to consult and books to read to correct the problem. Married couples who keep such secrets from each other grow apart and become strangers.

Can you guess, Dear Abby, how many women are in the same boat with "SUNK" but go on in silence, "pretending" because they hesitate to rock the boat of security?

MARRIED AND SATISFIED DEAR MARRIED: I have yet to see statistics that I would accept, knowing that people are more apt to lie about their personal sex lives than tell the truth. But judging from my mail, I would say there are more women in "SUNK'S" boat than in yours.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "FLOWER LOVER" compels me to express my own feelings about flowers at funerals.

True, flowers may not help the deceased, but I think they give much comfort to those remaining. I can imagine nothing more depressing than the sight of a bare coffin wherein rests the remains of a loved one.

Somehow the presence of flowers at a funeral softens the whole effect and makes it easier to bear. And of course the number of floral pieces is an indication of the number of friends who wished to pay their final respects.

Personally, I am very much opposed to the family asking that contributions be sent to such and such a charity in lieu of flowers. Let them give to their charities, and I will give to mine.

ANOTHER FLOWER LOVER CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORKING GIRL": If you are one of the "working girls" Heaven is supposed to protect, Heaven help the poor fellow for whom

Mrs. H.H. Boynton, vice president, presided over the business meeting, as minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. D. A. Caldwell gave the final report on the "Proof of the Pudding" rating to the American Rose Society. A dinner meeting was planned for December.

Mrs. Holly Gray presented Mrs. Ira Carlton, guest speaker. She demonstrated the proper method of starting rose cutting and said always start it where she planned the permanent plant to grow. Mrs. Carlton selected a forked cutting from an old branch, defoliated it, and dipped the cutting in a rooting compound. She recommended using perlite, sand, and peat moss for filling the hole, deep watering and keeping the plant wet during the rooting period.

She narrated colored slides which Mr. Carlton showed. The slides were of trips they took the past three years to the Jackson and Perkins gardens at Peoria, Ariz., the Tulsa City Gardens, the Tyler rose gardens, and the Hodges gardens in Many, La. She concluded the program by reading an editorial from the Portland, Ore.

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 28
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a strong urge and desire to reproduce results. You can put into motion a plan that is appealing and that you want to be in effect for a considerable period of time to come. This is in effect from early morning through the day and night and soon tomorrow. Do not let your ambition get going. Action is the key word.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — Go to the professional adviser for this personal problem you have and get right about it. How to handle others more effectively. When you become dynamic and accomplish a good deal. Be happy.

TALIES (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Sit down with associates and straighten out contracts you have made. Don't be afraid to speak up. Your ideas are excellent. Come to a true accord which has been impossible before this.

CREATING (May 21 to June 21) — Sitting down with fellow workers and listening to their work together early in the morning. Increase production appreciably. Coordinate efforts better. Improve health through proper treatment.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) — A day for exchanging compliments with those you like and feeling much happier than for some time past. Then plan for the holidays ahead by expressing your most artistic talents. Be your own boss.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) — Keep rooted in fundamental affairs. Now do whatever will truly please you at this time and start an uptrend utilizing your finest talents. Don't permit others to undermine your musical abilities either.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Improving regular duties should be first on the agenda today. Strive for more harmony with partners. Write those letters, do that shopping, keep appointments. Be on the go and succeed more.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Show others that you have practical ideas and add to your present assets, property. That plan you have mind is particularly good. Enjoy it to the letter. Get right allies to cooperate with you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Instead of concentrating so much on the dinner table, carry through with those imaginative ideas in a very dynamic way. Greater prosperity can be yours. Get on with it from the right way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — You are not aware of the true facts behind some puzzling situation, and this is the time to search them out. However, do not confide in others. Take time out for the romantic in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Entertaining those persons you most admire will make them respect you more and add to your prestige. Check on the day those social obligations you have been putting off. Fine invitations come your way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Show your finest talents and announce headway in the career world that you desire. Higher-ups can be impressed. Be willing to handle some dicey situations that are expected of you. This can lead to greater popularity.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Go to whatever source can produce the right ideas you want now. Then put them in operation quickly. Communicating in all ways with others can now bring the fine results you desire. Be brief, concise.

IF YOU'RE CURE BY TODAY...
No one else will be such a charming young person that others will be won over so quickly. Be sure to teach early on how to do this one quality thing and to prepare for life by knowing and saving stock, and not to arrive all made up faves from others. The big money, professional and best here.

MINI-BRAIDS ARE THE VERY LATEST in new fashion hairpieces and have received wide acceptance. These fine European hair skinnies are only 1 1/2 inches wide and braided to 18 inches long. The Oriental cue was the inspiration for this braid that adds fantasy to every coiffure. You can loop them, twist them, wrap them with curls or tie them with ribbons. Double them over and create a chignon effect on the back of the head. Treat them Egyptian style and leave them hanging down your back.

PALOOKA BEATS BRAY TWICE

FIRST TIME BY UNANIMOUS DECISION IN RING SECOND TIME BY K.O. IN DRESSING ROOM

by Peter Swensen Jr. and Jesse Townsend

WHAT JOE PALOOKA WAS UNABLE TO DO IN THE RING, HE ACCOMPLISHED WITH HIS BARE FISTS A FEW MINUTES LATER.

IT HAPPENED WHEN JOE PAID A COURTESY VISIT TO THE DEFEATED CHAMPION DRESSING ROOM. BRAY ASKED HIS TRAINER TO STEP OUTSIDE, THEN HE LOCKED THE DOOR AND ATTACKED PALOOKA. JOE'S FISTS WILL BE HAPPY TO KNOW THAT HIS RIGHT HAND IS AS WELL AS EVER, AS THE ABOVE PHOTO WILL ATTEST.

THE FIGHT ITSELF WAS A CLASSIC, WITH PALOOKA EMPLOYING AN UNNATURAL "SOUTHPAW" STANCE.

Spit Ball Gets League Scrutiny

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Remember the slogan: "Don't expectorate if you expect to rate!"

Organized baseball felt that way long before Madison Avenue came up with the admonition and the spitball and other illegal pitches have been outlawed since 1920. The only trouble was that some pitchers relied on the spitball and flouted the rule despite vehement protests from opposing managers.

Major league officials hope they put an end to the illegal pitch Monday, approving a rule change which forbids a pitcher from touching his mouth or lips while on the mound.

Umpires Enforce Rule
 By adopting the rule change only one hour after it was submitted by a major league general managers and field managers following a meeting earlier in the day, the rules committee placed the authority of enforcing the rule in the hands of the umpires. Previously, if an umpire caught a pitcher throwing an illegal pitch he would merely warn the offending hurler.

The rule change put sharp teeth into the legislation. Now the umpire will warn the pitcher once. A second violation will bring automatic ejection from the game with a fine and suspension up to the league president.

Negro Clubs Fare Well in ILLI Play

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—When members of the Texas Interscholastic League merged with the University Interscholastic League last year, speculation immediately began about how the Negro high school football teams would fare against the rest of the clubs.

A season has gone by, and the answer is now evident—they did very well.

Fort Worth Terrell captured the district 5-AAAA championship, Houston Kashmere Gardens won its zone of the mammoth Houston district, Lubbock Dunbar captured district 3-AAA and Galveston Central won in district 12-AAA.

But the team that has progressed the furthest is last year's Negro championship club—Beaumont Hebert.

Hebert lost its first two games this season, but stormed back to win the next eight, then defeated a tough Port Arthur club to capture the district 11-AAAA crown. Last week Hebert clubbed Texas City in bi-district play 42-21.

All of this has not come as too big a surprise to Clifton Ozen, head coach at Hebert for the past 18 years.

Ozen has had good players in the past like the Farr brothers Mell and Miller, now plying their trades for the Detroit Lions and Houston Oilers respectively—and Southern Meth-

ToT Tournney Set Thursday

Pampa will open defense of its 12 titles Thursday night when the 13th annual Top O' Texas basketball tournament gets underway in Harvester Fieldhouse.

The Harvesters (3-1) host Burk Burnett in the night's closing game at 8:30 p.m. Three other games are on tap with Childress and Elk City kicking things off at 3 p.m., followed by Canyon and Woodward at 4:30 p.m. and Dumas and Borger at 7 p.m.

Friday the Childress and Elk City winner meets the Dumas-Borger winner at 7 p.m. and the Canyon-Woodward winner meets the Pampa game winner at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday consolation starts at 7 p.m. and the finals at 8:30 p.m.

The Harvesters really have something to shoot for, they've never lost a game in the 12 previous tournaments and chances are better than ever they will make it 13 in a row this year.

Competition is tougher this year all around with the Elk City and Woodward squads two of the best in the State of Oklahoma.

Canyon, Borger, Dumas and Burk Burnett all have fine clubs this year and all will bring winning records into the tournament.

The Harvesters have been put down, but once this season, 61-37 at San Angelo. But they have bombed Winters, Childress and Quanah, scoring 90 points against both Winners and Childress and hitting 110 against Quanah in their first thus far only home game of the season.

Last year the Harvesters clipped Borger 68-50 in the finals.

Buffs Bowl Saturday

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Two of the nation's best small college football players—quarterback Bruce Lemmerman of San Fernando Valley State and halfback Eugene Morris of West Texas State—display their talents at the Rose Bowl Saturday.

They'll clash in the 22nd annual Junior Rose Bowl, the first time the game has matched small colleges. In previous years, junior colleges have competed here.

Lemmerman and Morris, who is nicknamed "Mercury," have glowing statistics.

Bruce, a senior, led Valley State to a 6-3 record this season, completing 122 passes in 269 attempts for 1,760 yards and 27 touchdowns. He added 362 yards on 81 runs for 2,122 total yards.

Lemmerman's statistics as a junior were even more impressive. He accounted for 2,270 total yards in 1966.

A 20-year-old product of Pittsburgh, Pa., Morris gained 1,274 yards on 191 carries this season to spark West Texas State to a 7-3 record. He tallied 11 touchdowns.

He twice gained more than 200 yards in a game, piling up 264 yards on 29 carries against University of Pacific L 225 yards on 25 carries against East Carolina.

"The ingredients are certainly here for a great football game," Cameron "Scotty" Deeds, chairman of the selection committee for the game and Los Angeles State athletic director said.

"It will be one team with a great passing quarterback against another with one of the nation's top runners," he declared.

"Naturally, Lemmerman isn't as well known but, mark my words, he's going to get high consideration in the pro draft."

Trojans Still First

Sooners Move to Third

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southern California's Trojans, whose ultimate fate was finally decided by a successful extra point, today became the elite of college football this season when the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches crowned them 1967 national champions.

John McKay's Trojans, dislodged from the No. 1 ranking in their next to last game of the season, bounced back to defeat top ranking UCLA 21-20 and regain top honors. Their position was assured Saturday when second place Tennessee scored an unimpressive 17-7 victory over Kentucky (2-8) and Purdue (No. 3) and UCLA No. 4 fell victim to upsets.

Southern California, with a 3-0 loss to Oregon State the only blurb in its 10-games, was named No. 1 on 27 coaches' ballots and received 340 points to easily outdistance second ranked Tennessee. The national championship is the second for the Trojans, who meet Indiana Jan. 1 in the Rose Bowl. They also won the title in 1962.

Tennessee in Second
 Tennessee, unbeaten since an opening game loss to UCLA, received six first place votes and 295 points to capture second place handily. The Volunteers, now 8-1 with their season finale against Vanderbilt Saturday, face third ranked Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

The Sooners, the Big Eight Conference champions, finished third with one first place vote and 204 points. The only loss in nine games for Coach Chuck Fairbanks' team was a 9-7 decision to Texas.

Notre Dame, the 1966 champion and a heavy favorite to repeat again in 1967, took fourth place, its highest ranking since being upended by Purdue in the third week of the season. The Fighting Irish, who practically forfeited all hope for the national title when they were ripped 24-7 by Southern Cal, ended with a 5-5 mark by outlasting Miami (Fal. 24-22) last Friday night.

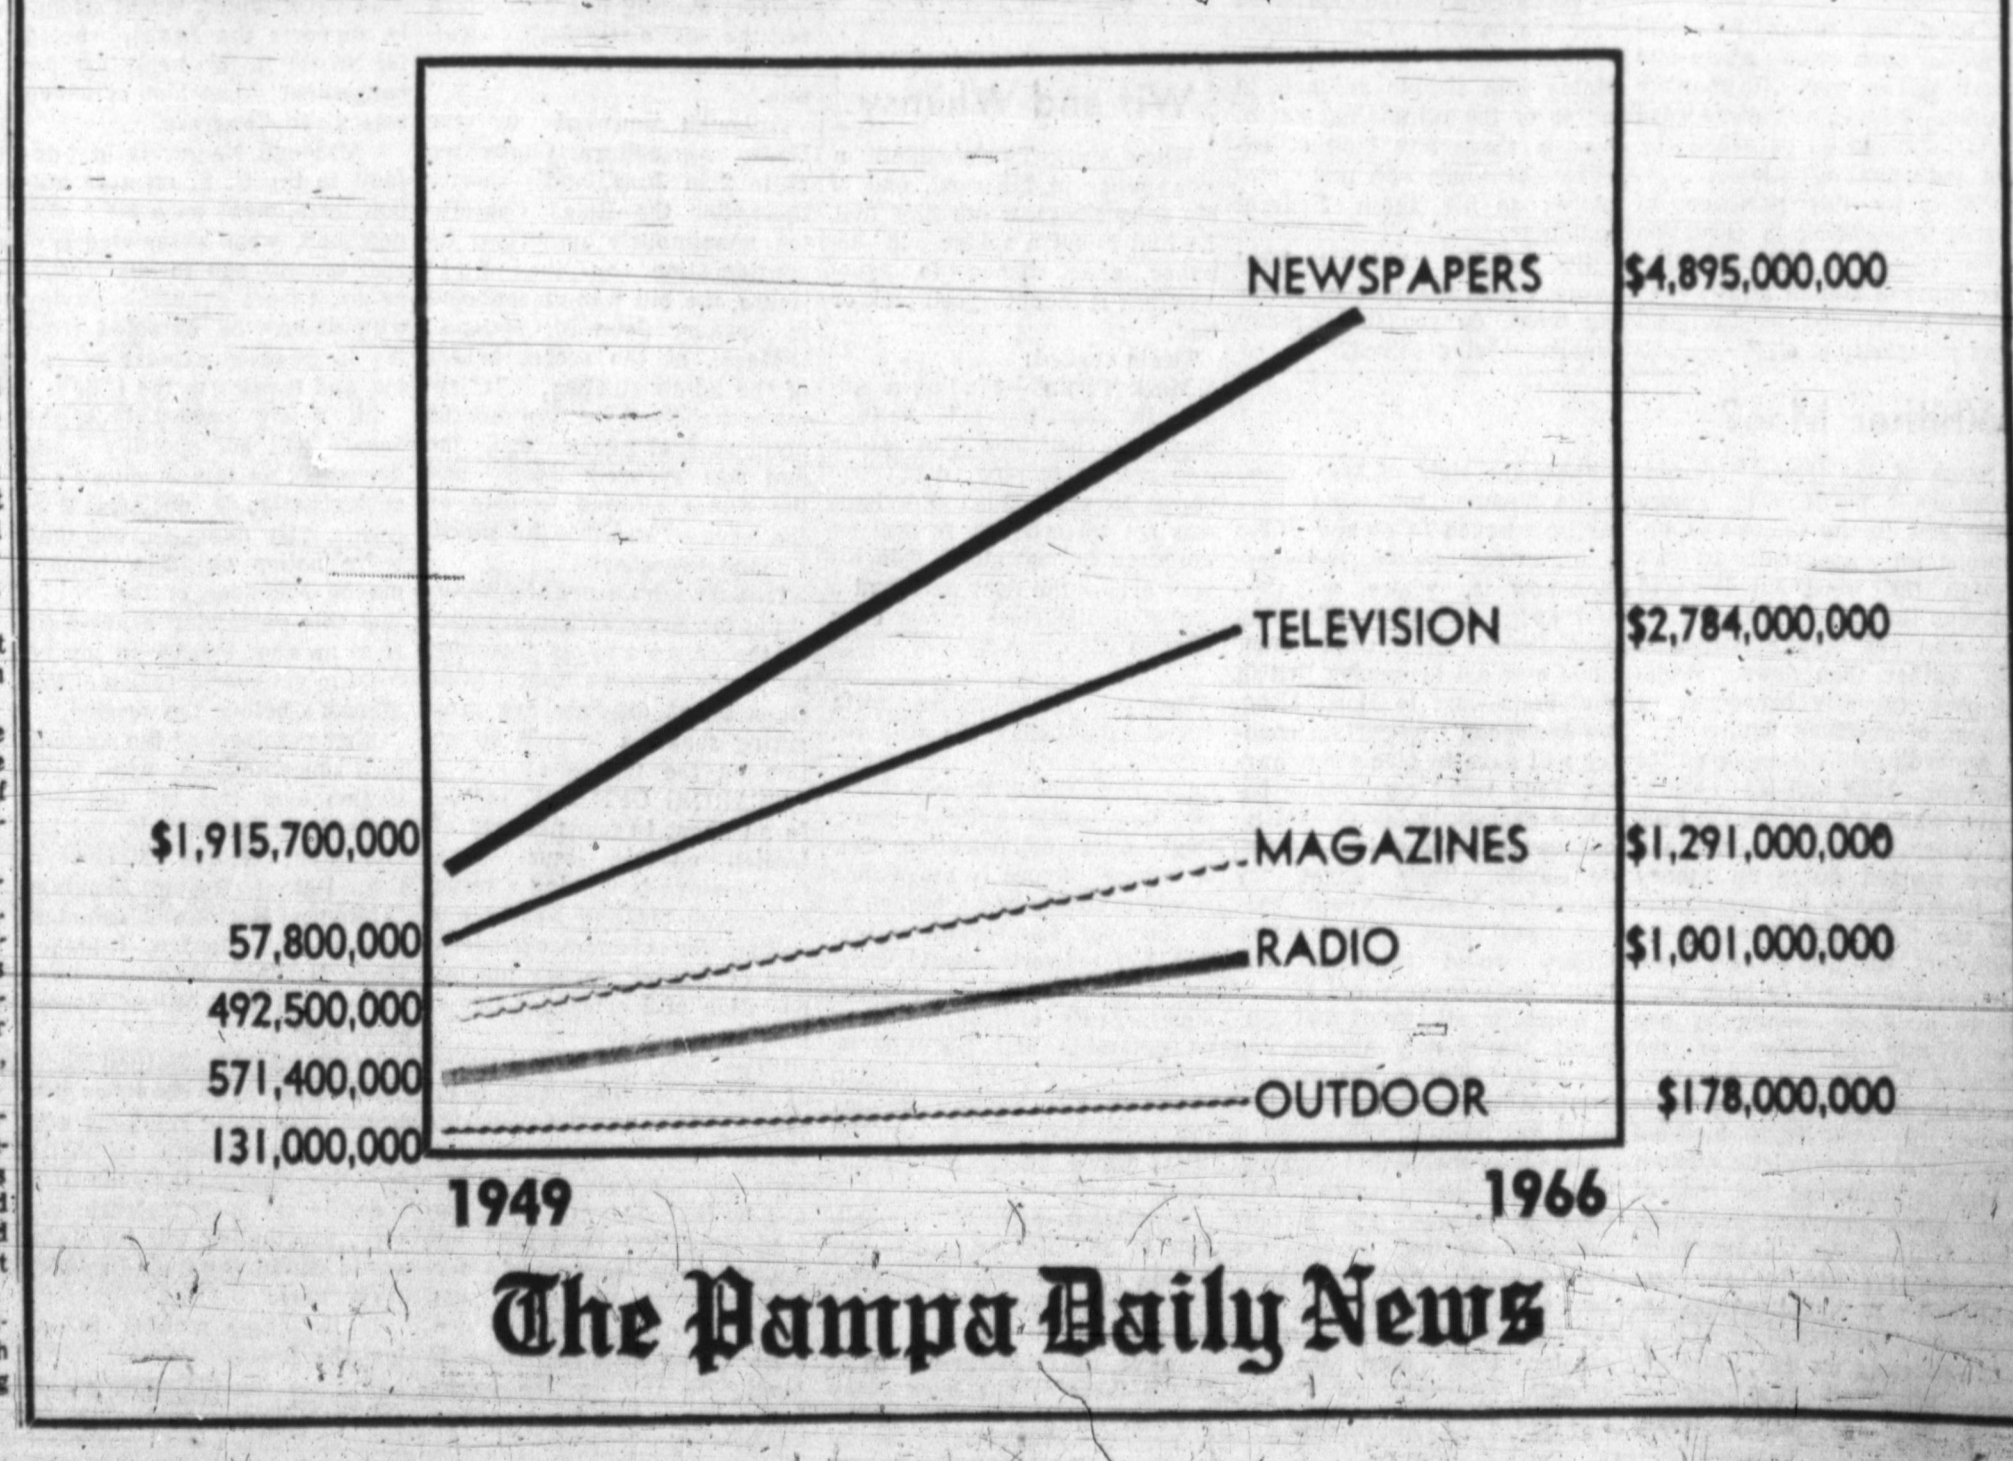

Wyoming, the Western Athletic Conference champion and the only major unbeaten, untied team in the nation, finished fifth, the highest rating in the school's history. The Cowboys, 10-0 and scheduled to meet Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl, received 162 points, 22 less than Notre Dame.

Sixth place went to surprising Indiana, which pulled off one of the season's biggest upsets and gained its first Rose Bowl bid by stopping Purdue 19-14 Saturday.

The Hoosiers, their eight-game winning streak snapped the week before by Minnesota, and appearing to be out of the running for the Rose Bowl, finished 9-1 and wound up in a three-way tie with Minnesota and Purdue for the Big Ten championship.

Alabama, which had its unbeaten string broken by Tennessee this season, was awarded seventh place. The Crimson Tide, now 7-1-1, face

No Par Value

How long has it been since you saw a silver dollar? Or even a fifty-cent piece?

Well, there is a reason you haven't seen a silver dollar for a long time. As of July 21 of this year the metal content of a silver dollar was worth about $1.61. Of course the Treasury Department has a ban on melting of U.S. coins. The maximum fine is $10,000 and a prison term of five years. But at those prices it would be a naive native who believes that a lot of silver dollars haven't overheated and become syrupy by accident or otherwise.

So, there is to be a new and less messy method of turning a profit on silver dollars. They are going to be traded on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Starting on August 21 you can contract to deliver 1,000 coins in a single canvas money bag. They may be the so-called Morgan dollars, minted from 1878 to 1904, or the Peace dollars, issued from 1921 to 1936. No silver dollars have been minted since 1936. You won't really have to appear juggling a canvas money bag filled with a thousand cartwheels. Change of ownership will be shown by transfer of depository receipts issued by banks to which the coins are deposited. The silver shortage which government spokesmen were assuring us would never come

Complex, Confusing, Centralized

More and more often one hears statements of despair regarding the complexity of modern life. Is it that existence has become so impossibly complex? Or is it rather that individuals have become hopelessly confused by policies and procedures that no longer are guided by common sense?

An answer to these questions may be found in a statement by Thomas Jefferson, in which he explained how this Republic was designed to function:

"Were not this country already divided into States, that distribution must be made that each might do for itself what concerns itself directly, and what it can so much better do than a distant authority. Every State is again divided into counties, each to take care of what lies within its local bounds; each county again into townships or wards, to manage minutely details, and every ward into farms to be governed by its individual proprietor. It is by this partition of cares, descending in gradation from general to particular, that the mass of human affairs may be best managed for the good and prosperity of all."

Whither Mao?

Some of our domestic revolutionaries, particularly those who hew to the Chinese Communist line, apparently haven't gotten the word but it would appear that Mao Tse-tung is on the way out. And the word is out, rather than down. Radio Moscow recently broadcast a report of startling nature.

According to the voice of the Kremlin, Mao and his cohorts have taken a leaf from the book of other astute dictators and have started piling up money in Swiss banks in preparation for the time when their loyal followers will turn on them. Deposits are said to have been made in their behalf by one Fei Yngin, publisher of the Chinese Communist newspaper in Hong Kong. In setting aside money for security in his old age—an old capitalist's custom—Mao is following the lead of that other prudent oriental, Chou En-lai, who was revealed some months ago to have established a personal savings account in Switzerland.

In reporting on this, Moscow radio predicted that one of these days the world would witness the sight of Mao, Chou & Co. heading for some capitalist haven to escape the wrath of the masses. The question now is, where will they end up? England wouldn't accept them, after what Mao, Chou et al did to sundry British diplomats—and to Hong Kong. No European iron-curtain country will dare to give them haven. They won't try France because everybody knows that no one can get along with Charles de Gaulle. They might try Cuba, but Moscow would probably say "nyet" to that, which Castro would translate into fluent Spanish very quickly.

Which, to all intents and purposes, leaves only Albania and the United States. The in-fighting in Albania is almost as bad as it has been in Peking, so it seems improbable that Mao and Chou and their buddies will want to plunge into a new squabble. So that leaves the United States. And everybody knows that the opportunities in the United States are much greater than they are in Albania, especially for liberals and reformers such as Mao Tse-

PINE TREE FEATURES

by Robert Lefevre
A quite understandable confusion exists in the use of words denoting political and economic systems such as socialism, fascism, capitalism, and so on. I remember my political science professor showing the 1892 first edition of the French newspaper "Le Figaro" with a list of almost 700 different definitions of the term "socialism". Some of them were goals, hopes, or economic dreams, used as definitions. Others were descriptions of the political coercion necessary to concretize those dreams.

The confusion increases when one listens to political speeches. Every step, measure, and principle of socialism is advocated, but called by such euphemisms as "Welfare State," "New Deal," "New Frontier," etc. To clear up these semantic or evasive twists, a simple yardstick exists. Who is to own property?

Socialism is a theory or system of social organization which negates private ownership of property and advocates the vesting of ownership and control of the means of production, capital, land, etc. in the community or its representative, the state. Socialism is practiced throughout the world in varying degrees. A lesser or greater percentage of property is taken by the state, through direct or indirect taxation. Certain means of production and certain services are publicly owned, such as the telephone, postal, and educational systems.

To the socialist economic system, Communism adds the political ingredient of violent revolution and the "dictatorship of the proletariat" (which is actually the dictatorship of the bureaucratic party).

Fascism leaves a pretense of private property. Nominal ownership is still in the hands of individuals, but control of property is held by the state. But ownership without control is a farce. The real owner is the government, which acquires all the advantages of owning property without any responsibilities. Some states practice a mixture of socialism and fascism.

Capitalism is the economic system wherein profits and savings are re-invested in the production process. It must exist in any system; but it exists in different ways: state capitalism (as in Russia), mixed capitalism as in the U.S.A. (present), and private capitalism. In the system of private capitalism, the means of production are TOTALLY owned by individuals who fully control their private property. It is this system that made America what it is, but it is also the system which recedes faster every day from our lives.

Wit and Whimsy

When Mark Twain edited a newspaper in Missouri, one of his subscribers wrote him that he had found a spider in his paper and wished to know whether it meant good luck or bad.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising, so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward!"

Money is something we gotta spend quick before it's all gone.

Lang and Chou En-lai. First off, they could write a book, singly or in collaboration. One of those picture magazines would probably pay a million or so just for the reprint rights. The big networks would compete for exclusive appearances. Seats of learning such as Columbia and Harvard or Princeton would establish chairs of Far Eastern Studies for them. And then, of course, there would be the lecture circuit.

Americans, after all, are willing to be informed and to pay a high price for their education. The only trouble is, they never learn, which is why we think Mao & Co. will head here, where there is one born every minute.

Backstage Washington

Sonata Hassling Backstage Over Nasser's Continuing to Dump $ Millions in Unneeded Long Staple Cotton in U.S.

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—A tense tug-of-war is going on behind-the-scenes in the Senate over the recently-passed House bill to put an end to large scale dumping in the U. S. of Egyptian extra-long staple cotton—which has netted Nasser more than $200 million since 1959.

As in the long House struggle over this legislation, the State Department, with White House support, is strenuously trying to block its consideration. When the House finally did vote, the measure was overwhelmingly approved 274 to 64. It is certain of similar decisive passage in the Senate—if and when the bill can be brought up there.

That's still very doubtful at this late date in the session. Leading the backstage drive for consideration is Senator Joseph Montoya, D-N. M., a sponsor of the legislation and member of the Agriculture subcommittee to which it was referred.

Among bipartisan supporters of the bill there is strong suspicion the Johnson Administration finally permitted the House to act on it in the belief that, with less than a month remaining of this session, the measure could be bottled up in the Senate.

Overt stalling has characterized the administration's strategy throughout on this legislation.

Although approved by the House Agriculture Committee 22 to 2 in June, and shortly thereafter the Rules Committee unanimously authorized its consideration by the full House, the bill was pigeonholed by Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., at the secret behest of the administration. It remained shelved for five months until, several weeks ago, the ban was abruptly lifted and the House allowed to vote on the issue—which it did speedily and sweepingly.

That the administration is pursuing the same delaying tactics in the Senate is indicated by inside reports that State Department officials are pressuring senators to hold up action on the measure.

TEARING-OFF THE LID—In an effort to focus Senate attention on this issue, Senator Montoya is making a forceful speech blasting Nasser and calling for prompt consideration of the bill to bar the importation of Egyptian extra-long staple cotton.

libly bolster our gold reserve and balance of payments by putting an end to these unnecessary imports."

Montoya is vehemently indignant over recent disclosures (by this column) that despite Nasser's curt severing of diplomatic relations on the wholly spurious charge that U. S. planes aided the Israeli in their blitz destruction of his Soviet-provided airforce, the Johnson Administration has —Allowed the importation of more than 12,000 bales of Egyptian long-staple cotton—thus handing Nasser some $3 million in desperately needed foreign currency. These shipments are still continuing and there is no indication of any intention to stop them.

—Similarly—permitted the shipment into the U. S. of millions of square yards of Egyptian-cotton textiles. In one month alone, August, these imports soared to 3.5 million yards—a gain of 350 per cent over July. These shipments also are continuing.

—In September, the State Department secretly extended until January 1, 1968, an expiring trade treaty under which Egypt has unloaded here up to 51 million square yards of cotton textiles annually. The Indian government, which strongly supports the Arabs, acted for Nasser in this backstage arrangement—no hint of which was given Congress.

—Although Nasser is in default to the U. S. on a $2 million installment on a $56.5 million loan, when completed several months ago to buy wheat, he got it from France—paying with dollars he obtained from his large-scale exports of cotton and textiles to the U. S.

"It is my earnest hope the Senate will act speedily and decisively on this much-needed legislation," declares Montoya. "By doing so, we shall serve notice on this paper-mache Napoleon of the Nile that this particular gray-train is at an end. I shall do my utmost to get consideration of this measure before the session."

Other members of the Agriculture subcommittee with jurisdiction over this bill are Senators Spessard Holland, D-Fla., chairman; George McGovern, D-S. Dak.; Walter Mondale, D-Minn.; Herman Talmadge, D-Ga.; Len Jordan, R-Idaho; Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.; Jack Miller, R-Iowa; Milton Young, R-N. Dak.

MORE ARAB IMPORTS.—Three other Arab countries that broke diplomatic relations with the U. S. on the now admittedly false charge that the U. S. aided Israel in its meteoric victory, are finding this no obstacle to continuing their lucrative trade here.

In the three months following the break, Algeria, Iraq and Syria (on the basis of latest available figures) shipped a total of $13.8 million in various products to this country. This is a decline from the same period last year, when these imports exceeded $20 million.

Trading since the Arabs severed official ties has not been wholly one way—although the balance has been heavily in their favor.

Between June and September the U. S. sold them a total of $3.6 million—chiefly auto and radio parts and accessories: Algeria $800,000; Iraq, $2.7 million; Syria, $140,000.

Curiously, in August the Commerce Department issued export licenses for the shipment of 163,000 pounds of explosives and blasting caps to Egypt, worth $97,000, and $9,000 of ammunition for "hunting and sport" to Syria.

MORE McNAMARA ECONOMIZING—Unless Congress intervenes and blocks it, the Naval Air and Marine Reserve faces the "pirating" of approximately one-fourth the funds voted them for training and operating expenses.

Congress gave these two highly regarded air reserves a total of $19,191,000 for this fiscal year. Much of these funds was to be used for training flights. These include flying cargo planes to Vietnam and other foreign outposts—thus saving the government many thousands of dollars in contracting private carriers.

Without even consulting Rear Admiral William Guest, head of air reserve training, Navy authorities on orders of Defense Secretary McNamara are proposing to divert $4,500,000 of the reserves' budget for "regular Navy activities."

Effect of this backstage grab would be to slash reserve flight operations by 35 per cent.

Admiral Guest is vigorously protesting, warning the impact will be crippling and have far-reaching effect on the readiness and capability of the air reserves. Not only would the axing seriously reduce the quality of the reserves but gravely impair the safety of the pilots and crews.

Also pointed out by Guest is the fact that the Fourth Marine Air Wing, which is funded by this budget, is a unit of the Fourth Marine Division that is a vital component of the nation's strategic reserve.

Aroused members of the House and Senate Armed Services Committees have been told that if this latest instance of McNamara's shortsighted economizing is allowed to stand, within a year Naval Air Reserve tactical units will be rendered practically impotent for rapid mobilization.

Whether this undercover "fund pirating" can be blocked is conjectural. If congressional persuasive efforts don't produce results, more drastic steps will be taken.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Swollen, Burning Tongue May Have Many Causes

By W. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My sister, 49, has had a burning, sore, swollen tongue for over a year. She has been to three doctors who have given her vitamins and allergy shots but these haven't helped. What would you advise?
A—A swelling or a burning pain in the tongue may be caused by a vitamin deficiency, iron deficiency, thyroid deficiency, anemia, excessive smoking, rough jagged teeth, allergy to lipstick, trichinosis or neuralgia. In many persons, however, the cause can not be identified. The condition is commonly seen in women who are in their 50s and emotionally highstrung. Fear of cancer may cause them to magnify the soreness in the tongue out of all proportion. In such cases, after a thorough examination to make sure no serious disease is present, a short course of tranquilizer often helps.

Q—Every morning on arising my tongue is heavily coated. What causes it and what can I do for it?

A—The cause is failure to eat enough food that requires much chewing—dry toast, raw carrots, raw apples and the like. Thorough chewing of these foods removes the coating of dead cells that is constantly accumulating on the surface of your tongue. If for any reason you can't eat these foods, you may use a small cloth to hold the tip of your tongue and brush the surface once or twice a day with a toothbrush.

Q—Since February I have had what my doctor calls a black hairy tongue. I have been using hydrogen peroxide as a mouthwash but it doesn't help. Is it cancer? How can I get rid of it?

A—Black hairy tongue is caused by a fungus. It is not related to cancer. If it cannot be removed by brushing your tongue with a tooth brush, you should see your doctor.

Q—I have migratory glossitis or geographic tongue. What causes it? Is there any cure for it?

A—The cause of this patchy redness of the tongue is not known. The condition is not serious. The chances are that no one will know you have it if you don't brag about it. No treatment is required and it usually clears up in a few days, but it may return.

UNITED AGAINST U. S.

Talk still goes on about pointed differences among the communist nations and how this much advertised division will benefit the free world. Yet the recent meeting in Moscow celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia ended with unanimous condemnation of the United States by the some 90 communist leaders present.

One after another, the speakers, including President Tito of Yugoslavia (who has been hailed in some quarters as "independent minded"), and Nicolae Ceausescu of Rumania (whose foreign minister is President of the United Nations in the present session) attacked the United States. Also, Gus Hall, leader of the U. S. Communist Party, declared, "The heroic Vietnamese people are the victims of U. S. aggression." Hall added that the communists consider it their main task "to fight U. S. imperialism."

Soon after the Moscow meeting, it was reported from the Russian capital that a world communist meeting will be held next spring or summer in Budapest. This will be the first such communist summit conference since 1960, and we may expect that it will result in more venom being spewed out against the United States.

The communists have not changed their spots. They still have the same goal, which is to end freedom all over the world and replace it with their own form of totalitarian dictatorship. They speak of peace and the peace they mean is based on surrender by the free world. Naturally, the United States, as the most powerful free nation, is their primary target. Whatever differences the communist countries may have among themselves, they are united against freedom for mankind.

UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House, it is said raffishly from time to time that some of President Johnson's best friends are Republicans.

Among the GOP stalwarts who have a degree of understanding and occasional social contact with the President is, of course, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader.

A somewhat different relationship is that between Johnson and Dwight D. Eisenhower, the 77-year-old former President. Contacts between them are seldom discussed publicly.

Johnson, however, sees to it that Eisenhower, the five star general who was supreme commander in Europe in World War II, is kept well-briefed on the situation in Vietnam.

Johnson finds particularly helpful Eisenhower's ability to strip down a complicated military situation into rather basic components. This is not to say that Eisenhower is exercising any influence on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Nor does Johnson say, to Gettysburg, "What should I do?"

But Johnson does find it helpful at times to go over a knotty military situation with the former President to get the reaction of a man who devoted nearly half a century to government service, military and civilian.

Why, then, the caution about having these periodic Johnson-Eisenhower contacts become public? First, there is no intention on either side to attach a military-type secrecy to the fact that Eisenhower is consulted from time to time.

Johnson, however, knows that if much were made of the fact, Eisenhower might be put in a sensitive position with members of his own party. The former President, from time to time, makes statements critical of administration domestic policies, but for the public record, he has supported Johnson on Vietnam.

Gladden Says He'll Run For Lieutenant Governor

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth, a veteran legislator who says "I do not back away from being identified as a liberal," announced Monday he will run for lieutenant governor next year against House Speaker Ben Barnes.

Gladden, a 37-year-old lawyer serving his fourth term in the House of Representatives, said he expects support from Negroes, Mexican-Americans and labor, and would have "no objection" to running as part of a liberal ticket with a gubernatorial candidate like Sen. Ralph Yarborough or Don Yarborough of Houston.

He said organized labor is not yet committed to any candidate for lieutenant governor. He said he told Sen. Yarborough of his decision to run, and said Yarborough's reply was "you're going to need a strong gubernatorial candidate."

Gladden said he favors a state minimum wage; repeal of the "right to work" law and workmen's compensation increases.

He said Barnes is an "errand boy for the special interests... a man who wait for the lobby to tell him what to do and when to do it."

He said he hopes to force Barnes to take stands on such issues as labor legislation. "My opponent has never developed a political philosophy," he said.

Gladden announced his intentions at a news conference. Several weeks ago he had said he would run if he found enough support for a strong liberal campaign.

Since Gov. John Connally announced his retirement, Gladden said "most those who questioned the wisdom of a race for lieutenant governor have reversed themselves and have encouraged me to enter my name as a candidate for lieutenant governor."

He said "I have never entered a campaign with a lot of money and I don't have a lot of money now. I hope like-minded people, liberals, will make it possible for me to mount a strong campaign."

He called voter registration the key to his race, and said he is confident he will carry Tarrant County "by a substantial majority," despite the fact that State Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth appears to be campaigning for Barnes.

They had sauced their sirloins in the Cottage Restaurant Sunday night when they heard the cashier scream and saw a man running out the door with a fistful of money from the till. The officers gave chase, arrested and booked the culprit, and returned to finish their steaks—which were now bigger, juicier and free.

WIFE-ACCUSED

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI)—Police today held Ursula McLaughlin, 30, on a charge of stabbing her U.S. soldier husband to death with a letter opener on Sunday. The U.S. Army identified the soldier as Spec. 4 Dawson McLaughlin, 24, of Elizabeth, N.J. The German-born wife allegedly told authorities she stabbed McLaughlin after an argument in which he mistreated her.

Drivers License Renewals Change

Beginning Jan. 1, 1968, driver's license renewals can no longer be made by mail. Each person must go to a local office for a vision check and be photographed. Birth-certificates are not required for renewal applications. Operator licenses ending in even numbers will renew for 4 years; the licenses ending in odd numbers will renew for 2 years the first time and 2 years thereafter. Commercial and chauffeur licenses ending in even numbers will renew for 2 years; the licenses ending in odd numbers will renew for 1 year the first time and 2 years thereafter. All licenses will expire on birthdate.

EXAMPLE: Your birthdate is July 10 and you hold an operator's license No. 2176902 that expires Oct. 15, 1968. About 30 days prior to the expiration date you should go to the local office for renewal. There your eyes will be checked and a photograph made (the film is sent to Austin for processing and your license is returned by mail). Since your license number ends in an even number, you will renew for 4 years the first time. The fee will be $6.00 for 4 years and your new license will show an expiration date of July 10, 1973, which is on your birthdate. This is also 4 years and 10 months from your last expiration date. You have gained 10 months on your driver's license. Some people will gain only a few days while others gain nearly a full year due to the new policy of expiration date on your birthdate.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reynolds & Co. says the "next serious" resistance in the Dow Jones industrial average seems to lie around 890, the point at which another test of "long term significance" should occur. The company says an advance to this area should be difficult but, if accomplished, will be convincing enough that the primary as well as the intermediate upward trend is pointed upward.

Winslow, Cohn & Steston says devaluation of the pound and brighter prospects of an income tax increase next year remove two of the "threats" which persuaded investors to sell during recent market weakness. The analyst says it now expects a "heavy flow" of new investment money into performance stocks.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that in view of current uncertainties the stock market may well have difficulty in making a great deal of progress over the near term. The company says a "rather cautious" investment policy seems appropriate, at least until it becomes more definite to what degree the government's monetary and fiscal policy will become more deflationary in response to devaluation of the pound and the gold buying surge.

Authorities Order Sweeping Investigation of Poisoning

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—Authorities Monday ordered a sweeping investigation into the mass insecticide poisoning at Chiquinquirá in which 78 persons died. The situation in the town of 10,000, 75 miles north northeast of Bogota, was reported under control after receipt of a massive shipment of American mercy drugs to stem the tide of death among the men, women and children who ate insecticide-poisoned bread.

Criminal Court Judge Tomas Peralta Garcia ordered three persons held in connection with the outbreak which involved some 600 persons at its height. Some 25 persons were reported still in serious condition.

The driver of a truck which carried the poisoned flour to Chiquinquirá from Bogota, the baker who turned out the bread and the merchant to whom the insecticide, parathion, was consigned were under arrest.

Police said a bottle of the insecticide shattered during the trip and seeped into sacks. The businessman to whom the insecticide was consigned, Luis Alberto Rodríguez, told police he had spotted the broken bottle and advised the truck driver, Hermerildo Vargas, of its poisonous nature. Vargas admitted Rodríguez had told him of the broken bottle, but denied he had been warned of its nature.

The baker, Aurelio Fajardo, said he had used the flour in making bread without knowing it had been poisoned. The victims included some members of his family as well as employees of the bakery.

Television In Review Overweight Blamed For Heart Failure

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Sinatra's recent, heralded NBC-TV special and Dean Martin's successful continuing series are tipoffs to the way various performers must be presented to be hits on television.

Martin is a very low pressure entertainer, and has made this a key to his formidability, a reason why he is a natural for weekly viewing. Sinatra, on the other hand, is a very intense performer whose singing not only gives 100 per cent but virtually demands 100 per cent attention from an audience. He is seemingly at his best when he appears only occasionally because the pent-up excitement he generates gives the impression of exploding forth.

Some professional observers, such as communications theorist Marshall McLuhan, have offered views that tend to support the idea that low pressure entertainers are basically the stuff of which regular weekly television shows are made. McLuhan, for instance, feels video is essentially a "cool" medium and is not as receptive on a frequent basis to "hot"—presumably he means intense—content and presentation.

This theory came to mind again during the past weekend when Sammy Davis, an intense entertainer whose weekly series on NBC-TV failed, gave an incredible, electrifying performance at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas—and made one wonder again why he wasn't a huge television success.

As it happens, his Vegas show, which was attended by a multitude of stars who were frankly awed by his performance, came on Friday, the day it was announced he and his wife were separating, and the situation was a reminder of one probable reason for his video ratings trouble: an interracial marriage.

Frankly speaking, when the goal of a regular weekly series is a large audience from all parts of the country, this personal matter is a factor. In addition, the intensity of Davis' manner, delivery and appearance seems to make him better suited for explosive one-shot performances. Infrequently, the way Sinatra does it.

Sinatra has the formula to entertaining, an hour a year, with complete control of the show. If you're big enough, it's the only way to go. And if a TV special and Dean Martin's network is smart enough, it won't put up too much of an argument.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The recent attack on the U.S. Information Agency Library in Penang, Malaysia, was really one for the books.

In this instance the demonstrators weren't necessarily angry at something the United States had done, or hadn't done. They were protesting the devaluation of the Malaysian currency.

Unless Malaysian government leaders had to go to the library to find out how to devalue a currency, it is difficult to see how anyone could have blamed the United States for that.

Apparently, then, they vented ire on the library out of force of habit. Which prompts me to lay before you a thought-provoking question.

Standard Targets Since USIA libraries have become the standard target for demonstrations the world over, and for whatever reason, why not establish USIA libraries in the United States?

Before you become too provoked at that thought, let me explain my reasons for bringing up the question. Demonstrations in this country thus far have been rather haphazard affairs. They lack a focal point, or central place of rampage.

Marching in front of the White House or storming the Pentagon provides some outlet, but these have serious drawbacks, one of which is travel. It seems that traveling about from one protest site to the next keeps many demonstrators so busy they don't have time to bathe regularly. Thus has arisen a crisis of sorts in the airline industry.

sinatra has the formula to entertaining, an hour a year, with complete control of the show. If you're big enough, it's the only way to go. And if a TV special and Dean Martin's network is smart enough, it won't put up too much of an argument.

HOUSTON (UPI)—A seven-year study of 3,500 persons who died of heart failure showed overweight to be the most common cause, a Houston doctors told delegates to the American Medical Association clinical convention Monday.

The convention, which has attracted 7,000 physicians, continues through Wednesday, climaxing with a House of Delegates meeting.

Dr. James K. Alexander of the Baylor University College of Medicine showed a slide of one heart-attack victim who weighed 1,100 pounds.

Dr. Alexander said this man, who died at the age of 43, was the heaviest man in recorded medical history.

He also told of nine others who weighed more than 300 pounds. Six of these had histories of heart failure, he said.

He said as a person becomes overweight, his amount of blood increases, so does the weight of his heart. He said a person 200 pounds overweight is likely to have twice the amount of blood as one of normal weight and his cardiac output at rest is twice as much as it should be.

Dr. Robert D. Leachmann, Director of Cardiology at St. Luke's Hospital, discussed congenital heart disease. He said the highest mortality rate occurred during the first year of a child's life and the most common cause of death was a defect in the lower half of the heart.

He said many patients could be saved if they received proper care.

In 1961, the U.N. Security Council gave Secretary General U Thant permission to use force, if necessary, to settle the Congo crisis.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Have you got a cat that can sing, dance, play the zither or recite "The Burning of Rome"?—if so you may have a potential star hanging around the house.

David Wolper Productions, which produced "It's A Dog's World" last year, has come up with a new television special, "Big Cats, Little Cats," and they're searching for talented felines.

Do Something Producer Bud Wiser wants to hear from people with cats that can do something besides purr and claw up the furniture.

"Apparently cats are untrainable," Wiser said unhappily. "But we'd like to find one that can talk like some of the dogs we had on the first show. Also we're looking for a little old lady someplace who owns more cats than anyone else."

"The problem is that most cities have a law against any one household having more than three or four cats in residence. Thus far, Wiser claims, he has heard from several persons who claim they can communicate with cats. Others boast that their pussy cats have the most unusual markings in the world.

One woman vows her cat forecasts the weather. More Offbeat "Cat owners are more offbeat than dog owners," Wiser said. "Our show will include stuff on lions, tigers and ocelots that are house pets, and maybe a cheetah or two."

The show will explore the myths of the cat world—whether they have nine lives, if a black cat crossing your path means bad luck. Wiser will even reach back to ancient Egypt where cats were worshipped as gods.

"There are more cats in the United States than dogs," Wiser said, "so the raw material is there all right."

Wiser has taken ads in newspapers and in cat journals asking for people with kooky or talented tabbys to contact him at Wolper Productions in Hollywood.

Who determines what your life shall be? What determines the real nature and destiny of man? If it be God, then there is more to prayer than mankind dreams, and every trial in our lives is an opportunity to discover man "in His image."
