Mental Hospital Worker Kidnaps Attractive Aide

CHICAGO (UPI)—A mental hospital worker, apparently urged on by "some kind of love motive," kidnaped an attractive coworker and threatened a murder-suicide. Cook County sheriff's police said today a search was under way.

Officials said Miss Betty Richardson, 23, of suburban Phoenix, an attractive, dark-haired psychiatric aide at the suburban Tinley Park State Mental Hospital, was dragged from the third floor of the institution Monday night by a man who slugged a woman and shot at a male visitor on the way out.

Police searched for Leo Williams, 33, a rehabilitation worker who had lived at the hospital in connection with his duties for the past 1 1/2 years. A letter was found indicating Williams planned a murder-suicide, police said.

Witnesses told police that Williams, generally regarded as "trusty by mood," dragged Miss Richardson down the hall at gunpoint, into the elevator to the first floor and then out into the building's parking lot.

A patient identified as Mrs. Mary Bushnell, 30, Chicago, tried to stop Williams on the first floor.

Williams then "cracked Mrs. Bushnell on the head with his gun and knocked her unconscious," officials said, leaving her lying in the corridor while he rushed Miss Richardson out the door. Miss Bushnell required head-stitches.

Authorities said a visitor at the hospital, Bob Young of Chicago came running out the building to help Miss Richardson but Williams warned him he'd shoot.

Sheriff's police described Williams as a Negro, 6 feet tall weighing 165 pounds. He was last seen wearing beige pants and a dark-colored three-quarter length jacket. Police said Miss Richardson is also a Negro, but they had no detailed description of her features.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Armed Services Committee today approved a bill calling for a $2.7 billion, three-stage pay raise for members of the armed forces. It would parallel increases voted by the House last week for civil servants.

Navy Jets Bomb Haiphong Bases

Helicopter Barracks Blasted

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. military spokesmen said today U.S. air power devastated a Haiphong missile and helicopter assembly plant and barracks, pounded the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and struck a Viet Cong base camp near Quang Tri with such force some of the Communists ran out waving leaflets.

A spokesman disclosed that thousands of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops supported by an amphibious landing of U.S. 7th Fleet forces had mounted a huge search-and-destroy mission near Quang Tri to end a major threat to the coastal city.

B-52 strategic bombers hit the DMZ during the night and again today and then turned their fury against a Communist buildup in the Central Highlands where a Red thrust is expected at any time from across the Cambodian border.

Once again the B-52s in the DMZ were trying to halt the North Vietnamese artillery which has bombarded the Marine outpost at Con Thien for weeks. A spokesman said the Communists fired 33 rounds of artillery Monday—some of it long range 100 millimeter shells—wounding 10 Marines.

Despite bad weather over North Vietnam Monday sweeping planes from the 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany struck Haiphong targets for the third time since Washington removed the sprawling military complex from the list of untouchable targets on Oct. 9.

Navy Phantoms and Skyhawks sweeping in from the Tonkin Gulf left columns of smoke billowing a mile into the air from the missile and helicopter assembly plant three miles south of Haiphong. The area had been left untouched before because hundreds of Soviet and Chinese Communist technicians were reported working there.

Other Navy planes bombed the big Kien An highway bridge 1.7 miles from Haiphong's center while other attack planes attended to anti-aircraft defenses. The Navy has cut all of Haiphong's four bridges and then returned when they were repaired.

The 1,500-mile per hour Navy jets roared in low to hit three surface-to-air (SAM) missile sites near Haiphong and three anti-aircraft sites on the city's outskirts. There were no reports of enemy MIGs rising in challenge, but anti-aircraft fire was intense.

Governors Cruising In Political Brawl

Aboard the SS Independence (UPI)—The nation's governors steamed into another political brawl today with GOP state executives raising the civil rights issue against Democratic pressure for another declaration of support for President Johnson on Vietnam.

The Republicans started their backfire soon after this 23,000-ton luxury liner headed down New York's narrows and out to sea for the three-day conference cruise to the Virgin Islands.

They had heard rumbles that the Democrats would ask the National Governors Conference to go on record in support of the administration's conduct of the war for the third consecutive year. Some of the Republicans believe the issue should be out of bounds as a question not involving state problems.

As a result, the GOP state executives began talking about submitting resolutions on civil rights, including the hotly controversial open housing concept; giving the states a share of any tax increase voted by Congress, a GOP article of faith this year, and maintaining (federal) fiscal integrity.

These were the proposals reported from the first GOP caucus Monday, along with an announcement that the Republicans had taken no position on the Democratic Vietnam resolution because they had not seen it.

But Colorado Gov. John A. Love, the GOP caucus chairman, said he did not believe that the governors conference was a proper place for a Vietnam resolution. He said he personally was opposed to such a declaration, though he voted for last year's conference resolution at Los Angeles.

Backed by a resolution passed unanimously by his Democratic colleagues Sunday, North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy, chairman of the governors conference, said he expected a Vietnam declaration to be offered this year also.

Last year, the governors passed a resolution expressing support of the military defense of South Vietnam against aggression. The disclaimer, Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, is now a senator.

The governors are evenly divided 25-25 between the Democrats and the Republicans. Forty-four governors in all are making the trip.

A United Press International poll conducted before the eight-day working holiday got under way showed that governors willing to speak out on the issue favored Johnson's policies in Vietnam by a margin of almost 2-1. Seventeen of the 27 governors who responded to a question about Vietnam strategy said they favored no change in U.S. strategy.

Police issued an all-points bulletin for three men in a light blue car seen in the vicinity of the blaze when it erupted late Monday afternoon near Ditch Canyon on the northern side of the valley. The men also were seen when two smaller fires broke out behind some small homes in the western portion of the valley.

The one fatality blamed on the fires that have burned for three days was Jan Cameron, about 75 of Simi, whose car was involved in a chain reaction collision in dense smoke.

Division Fire Chief Everett Doe of the Los Angeles County Fire Department blamed arsonists for a number of minor blazes that started Monday but were immediately contained.

"We're going to have these until we catch a firebug," Doe said.

Greenhouse to Produce Tomatoes All Year Long

By JEFF HOLLADAY, Daily News Staff Writer
The love apple, that fabled fruit of old which Europeans so long deigned not to eat, may soon be a red, juicy, vine-ripened, year-round reality, thanks to the wonders of hydroponics.

Long eaten and popularized by Americans, used in everything from sandwiches to salads, toiled over in small gardens, produced in huge quantities by truck farmers, eaten year-round, the tomato today is a solidly ingrained eating habit to millions of Americans.

And now, locally, the new concept in the raising of vegetables promises to give impetus to the eating habit by producing tomatoes year-round with the flavor formerly associated only with the home-grown variety.

A trio of hydroponics farmers from Pampa — Glenn McConnell, Jimmie Little, and Dave Jodie — are now in the process of constructing a hydroponics greenhouse on the Borger Highway and expect to have their first crop of tomatoes ready for market by the middle of January.

Green thumbs working in greenhouses have for many years produced the fruit in off-season, but the new concept will probably make mass production of vine-ripened off-season tomatoes a reality for the first time.

Tomatoes, of course, have long been available year round. But because they are grown in temperate regions and often shipped long distances, they are picked before they are vine-ripened. Agronomists long ago developed varieties with tough hides to withstand the duress of handling and shipment. As a result, off-season tomatoes are seldom red, juicy, or ripe. M.L.J. Inc., as McConnell, Little and Jodie's firm will be known, hopes to change all of that.

They are constructing a 193-foot by 40-foot greenhouse for the hydroponic production of tomatoes, and expect to market 60-100,000 pounds of tomatoes their first year.

"These tomatoes will be vine-ripened one day and marketed locally the next," Jimmie Little, one of the firm's partners, said.

What is hydroponics? It is the culture of plants without soil, the partners explained. Rather than using soil, the plant grows in gravel, or other inert material and its food supply comes from water-soluble nutrients which are fed with water at timed intervals.

"This is not something new," Little said, "but it's just now becoming feasible."

"Through research, plant food has been developed that contains all the nutrients and trace elements for the best plant growth and production of the tomatoes."

"Since the soil is not an unknown factor or a variant, we can control the nutrients and make our tomatoes taste any way we want them to — like dill pickles or anything else."

"And even the water is monitored," Little continued. "The pH factor (an alkaline-acidity factor) will be 6.2, giving the tomatoes a very slight acidity—just enough twang," he said.

The Greenhouse
The building is a steel-framed structure of 193 by 40 feet, with roofing and siding (except on the north side) of a clear fiberglass product which allows sunlight to enter. The north side is of plywood and insulated on the inner side. The outer part of the insulated material is a tin-

140 DEMONSTRATORS ARRESTED

Nationwide Antiwar Protests Being Staged

United Press International
Thousands of young Americans, convinced their country is wrong in fighting in Vietnam and stocking the military by conscription, today launched the second day of a week-long nationwide protest.

The demonstration, due to wind up Saturday with a march on the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. began Monday with police jailing demonstrators and draft cards fluttering like fallen leaves in the wind.

More than 140 of the get-out-of-Vietnam, stop-the-draft demonstrators were arrested Monday for blockading induction centers, staging sit-ins and being "disorderly."

Federal officials are deciding today whether the hundreds of youths who turned in their draft cards would be, or could be, punished.

The resistance, a militant antiwar organization headquartered at New York City, announced demonstrators turned in 350 draft cards at San Francisco, 291 at Boston, 185 at New York, 55 at Los Angeles, 40 at Chicago, 11 each at Washington, D.C., and London, England and lesser numbers at cities from Denver to Oregon to Atlanta to Champaign, Ill. Col. Daniel E. Omer, deputy director of the Selective Service, refused to accept draft cards handed him by 11 demonstrators in the nation's capital.

He said it would be up to Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, to decide whether the cards, turned in would be given to the Federal Bureau of Investigation or state selective service boards for action.

Failure to have a draft card in possession at all times is considered a felony punishable by a fine of $10,000, five years in prison or both.

The arrests Monday came mostly as the result of civil disobedience.

Police arrested 140 persons, including folk singer Joan Baez, for attempting to shut down the Oakland Calif. induction center.

Five demonstrators were arrested at Chicago when they protested with U.S. marshals enforcing a court order ejecting protesters from the federal building.

FOR WEDNESDAY OCT 18

GENERAL TENDENCIES—The early morning hours you tempted to let fly with some choice and unpleasant comments or actions but later upon conditions improve and you are able to get into the various practical duties facing you and to get things behind you in a detailed fashion. Use all that energy being released in various directions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Being perfect with others means being perfect with yourself. You are increasing your income in a very matter-of-fact way. Listen to what a very successful person has to suggest. Follow ideas and advice to the letter.

TALIESN (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Did yourself of that dull work in a.m. so that after lunch you can get out and handle personal and more interesting matters with a happy, contented smile. Meet in a most sociable way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Don't speak out with a good pal in A.M. or you have trouble. The afternoon is then fine for whatever is of a secretive nature. Get out to see that specialist. Get the information you need quickly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 23) — Get into that plan that requires backing of good friends after you have done your regular duties well and with alacrity. Socializing in p.m. brings the happiness you want so much. Be of a cheerful attitude.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) — Morning is not a good time to put some new idea across but after lunch is fine when you have a supporter of a big idea, and you gain good will. Show that you are an A1 citizen. This is especially true in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Although the morning may start out rather sadly you can make up for this later when the aspects are very much better for you. Be devoted to mate. Some good friends need your kind consideration, all right.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — This is the right day to get that plan working, since it can be most successful. Use that penchant you have for neatness and working harmoniously with others. Be tactful and you gain the cooperation you want.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Get that hunkum work done in a.m. then you can sit down with associates and plot some course that is more successful for the days ahead. Support the ideas that your partners have and all is fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Do some cooperative work with partners and you find they are most helpful with you. Taking health treatments is wise. Get out and about around for some fall walking that is in the latest style.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Take the time to entertain persons of whom you are fond and you please them immensely. Also you need to get into some form of pleasurable recreation. Relieve tensions that have been building up for some time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Find out what your family wants the most and do your utmost to help them get their desired goals. Then you improve harmony at home also. Forget however about going off on any tangents that are just no good.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Get into those important reports early and be more enthusiastic about some immensely interesting project you have on hand. Do not get cold feet now. Find out what partners desire. Then combine efforts intelligently.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those very real, very young people who later in life settles down to practical and sensible life, does very well in business. Be sure you settle this nature down to study early by being quite firm otherwise your progeny may even experiment with your car at 10. Much success is possible here.

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my best friend Agnes. She named her baby "Ricky," after my husband. Maybe I'd better start at the beginning. Agnes was always crazy about Ricky, in fact they went together before Ricky met me. It turned out that Ricky liked me better, so they broke up, and Agnes married Doug. (She went with Doug before she went with Ricky.) First Agnes and Doug got married, then Ricky and I got married, and Ricky had to go to Vietnam.

Well, two months ago Agnes had a baby boy and she named him RICKY! (To make matters worse, she calls him "Little Ricky.") People are wondering if maybe my husband isn't the baby's father. Poor Ricky is in Vietnam and can't defend himself. Doug either doesn't care or he's so dumb he doesn't know the difference. What should I do about it?

RICKY'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: There is nothing you can do about it. There are lots of "Ricky's" in the world. Maybe she just liked the name. At least she didn't name him "Ricky Jr."

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me how to fight blackmail? Once I went with a friend on vacation. He took some pictures of me which are unclean and very suggestive. At the time I was very fond of him so I didn't mind.

Since then, our love has faded and he isn't the wonderful man I thought he was. Now he is holding the threat over my head that he will show the pictures around and ruin my reputation if I don't give him money when his finances are low. I have given him quite a bit of money already, but he keeps coming around asking for more. Don't tell me I never should have let such a thing happen. The question is, what can I do about it now?

NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: See a lawyer. Better to pay him once

He will be guest speaker at a Plains Cotton Growers Association luncheon meeting, Friday, at the Ko Ko Inn in Lubbock. From there he will go to Muleshoe for a dinner meeting with the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation at the Corral Drive-In and a 7:30 Town Hall meeting at the High School Cafeteria, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Vic Benedict, Muleshoe chamber president will be in charge.

Steel Carriers Head to Offer Settlement Plan

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The president of the 66-member National Steel Carriers Association (NSCA) said today he would recommend to its membership acceptance of a six-point settlement proposal to end a lengthy steel haulers strike.

"We are of the opinion that our previous objections have been eliminated," said Howard Miller. The NSCA will vote on the proposal at a meeting in Chicago Wednesday.

A group of 82 independent trucking firms headed by Robert Eazor Express Inc., Pittsburgh, also will meet Wednesday to act on the proposal, hammered out by a seven-state mediation panel, the Steel Haulers Protest Committee and leaders of the independent carriers at a weekend meeting in the state office building here.

As moves to end the nine week-old walkout by 20,000 haulers in eight states were under way, violence erupted again in three states. Twelve truck drivers were injured Monday in Youngstown, Ohio, when striking haulers showered rocks and bottles on a police-escorted convoy of 12-steel-laden rigs leaving the Campbell works of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

A driver was shot and wounded in Indiana and state police in Pennsylvania reported "more than half a dozen" incidents on the Pennsylvania Turnpike today in which truck windshields were smashed by rocks dropped from bridges in the Pittsburgh-Somerset and Ft. Litleton areas.

Representatives of the striking drivers, however, termed the new proposal "lousy."

Bernard Berkman, attorney for the striking haulers, said, "We have accepted the original proposal and the voters have ratified it. There is no other proposal that has been made to us that would be acceptable."

foil-like material which will deflect the rays of the sun and further aid in warming the building during the winter. The south side has sections which can be opened during the summer when the air conditioning units, mounted on the north side, are needed to maintain the constant humidity and temperature. The south side opening allows the air conditioners to blow out the carbon dioxide produced by the plants.

Inside, the building has 84 fiberglass tubs, each of them 30 feet long, 18 feet wide and eight inches deep. Each holds 32 plants, giving the greenhouse a maximum of around 2,688 plants.

35 Per-Cent Automated
The operation will be 85 per cent automated, according to the partners. Cooling, heating, and humidity regulation and feeding of the plants will all be done by automation.

Each four beds will share a water reservoir where plant nutrients will be poured in and agitated to mix it with the water.

Plants will be fed only during the daylight hours—every four or five hours—since tomatoes do not grow at night. Waterborne nutrients will circulate through the gravel in each of the tubs to feed the plants.

"We'll produce for nine months," Little said, "then we will have to have three months to get the next crop started. We will do this in June so we won't be competing with the tomato market in the summer."

Once implanted in the gravel, plants will be individually suspended from nylon cord, instead of using trellises, the partners said.

Four varieties of tomatoes have been specially developed for use in hydroponics farming, Little said. MLJ, Inc. has selected a variety called Florida, a round rather than oval-shaped tomato which has no stem and is all edible, according to the partners. There will be different grades, Jodie pointed out, but he said the tomatoes will grow with a uniformity not known to gardeners.

Tomatoes will be picked one day and marketed locally the next, according to Little. And persons who do the picking, he

Commissioners Meet Wednesday

County Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning in the County Court to decide if a bond election can be called for improvements at Highland General Hospital.

Ten per cent of the eligible voters of Gray County (who must also be property owners) must sign petitions calling for the improvements before the County Commissioners can call the election.

Petitions were being counted today on the Hospital issue, but a tally on the number of signatures was not available.

The commissioners have announced their intention to call the election on both the hospital and airport bond issues on Nov. 11 if the required number of petitions are signed.

"I'm a stock broker. Here's one thing every investor should remember about listed stocks."

"There is generally more information available about them—and that's a big plus."

Information of what kind?
"Information that might affect the market value of a stock or influence your investment decision. When a company originally applies for listing on the New York Stock Exchange, it's expected to publicize such information."

Is it mostly a matter of telling the public about the company's profit picture?
"That's an important part of it, but by no means the whole story. Every listed company agrees to put out an annual financial report. These contain such facts and figures as sales, earnings and dividends, and often a summary of important developments and plans. Most of them also issue quarterly statements."

What if something big happens in the company?
"Under Exchange policy, they are expected to publicize these matters, and do so promptly. For example, new products, a proposed merger, management changes—such news could carry a lot of weight with the investor. The whole idea is to help the investor make a well-informed decision."

FREE INVESTMENT GUIDE ON LISTED STOCKS—SEND COUPON TODAY.

Suppose the news is unfavorable?
"If it's important, good or bad, the investor is entitled to have it. So it should be publicized."

Just where does a broker fit in as a source of information?
"When you walk into an office of a member firm of the Stock Exchange, the broker expects you to ask him for facts. Maybe he has information that has escaped your notice. Or his firm may have done some additional research. The smart investor will ask the broker's opinion of what the information means."

Does all this mean there is little risk when you buy listed stocks?
"On the contrary, every investment has risk, and not every listed stock is for you. The important thing is to use judgment based on facts. Facts about yourself—how much you can invest after expenses and emergencies; whether your goal is growth, or dividends, or a more conservative approach with bonds. Then facts about companies that interest you. Before deciding, I think every investor should take into account the advantages listed stocks offer."

Foreign News Commentary

By LEON DANIEL
TOKYO (UPI)—One of the oddities in this nation whose constitution prohibits war is the militancy of its pacifists.

One of the ironies of Japanese politics is rock-throwing and club-swinging in the name of peace.

A leftist student organization called Zengakuren recently staged a riot in which one student was killed and 700, including 600 policemen, were injured.

The students were protesting Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's goodwill tour of Southeast Asia, a trip they say could lead to Japan's involvement in the Vietnam war.

A look at the casualty figures would indicate that the pacifists won a clear-cut victory over the police in the fighting near Tokyo's International Airport.

Wreck Armored Cars
The students packing clubs larger than axe handles, knocked out several armored cars by setting them afire.

It took 2,500 police firing tear gas barrages four hours to disperse the battling pacifists.

Zengakuren toppled a prime minister seven years ago and forced President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel a visit to Tokyo.

In the years that followed Zengakuren's flames of fanaticism burned lower, but the latest riot indicates the group still is very much a threat to law and order if not to the Sato government itself.

The student who was killed was run over by an armored police vehicle seized by the students on a bridge leading to the airport.

The Japan Socialist party already has issued a statement blaming the student's death on the Sato administrator and criticized the prime minister for "leaving the country for a visit to South Vietnam in disregard of the people's opposition."

Plans The Same
A spokesman for the cabinet said the government has no plans for altering Sato's tour because of the riot.

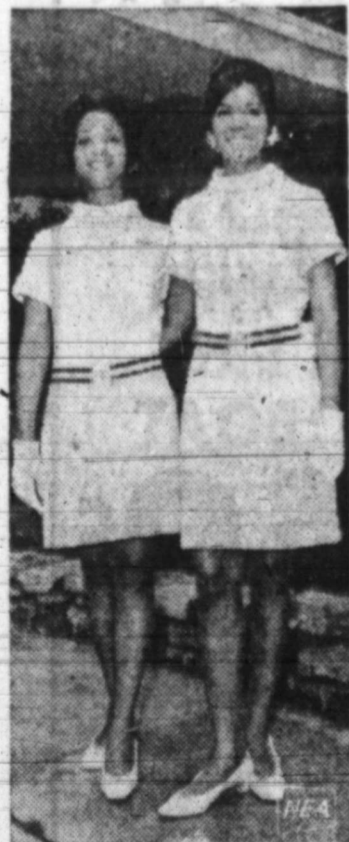

Government officials are studying more restrictions on demonstrations.

Also, U.S. officials here are keeping a wary eye on the student demonstrators because the United States-Japan defense treaty comes up for renewal in 1970.

It was this treaty that sent thousands of sweating, chanting students surging through the streets seven years ago. They mobbed a car carrying White House Press Secretary James Hagerty and he had to be plucked to safety by a U.S. helicopter.

The battling continued until Washington was convinced that Eisenhower would not be safe here, and his visit to Tokyo was called off.

The 300,000 member Zengakuren became a lawless mob and disrupted proceedings in parliament. In the end Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi was forced to resign. But another conservative moved into the prime minister's residence, the pro-West regime was preserved and the defense treaty with the United States was maintained.

Notre Dame Student To Portray Assassin

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI HOLLYWOOD CORRESPONDENT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Tony Bill, a handsome Notre Dame graduate and onetime Sinatra protegee put his future on the line earlier this year to portray Lee Harvey Oswald the man who assassinated President Kennedy.
England's BBC came up with a script titled "Lee Harvey Oswald, Assassin" a two-hour taped and filmed special.

All the television people needed was an American actor to play the title role, atouchy problem.
They approached Tony who gave it some thought. Friends argued that it would hurt his career—perhaps beyond repair in this country. But the slender young man decided to go ahead with it.

Reads Background
"If an actor plays a good part in a good show I can't see how it can hurt him", Tony reflected the other day on the set of "Ice Station Zebra" at MGM.
"Before doing the show I read almost everything I could on Oswald. When it came time to play the part I assumed Oswald was a fictional character so I could feel free within the confines of what I knew about him."

"Actually he was an ordinary human being during most of his life. He married, had children, held jobs. He wasn't running around frothing at the mouth."
"People tend to overlook the fact he was made of flesh and blood like everyone else until that fatal day in Dallas."

According to Tony the show was well received in Britain. It has also been shown with success in France and Australia he said.
"When I accepted the part I fully expected the show would be seen on American television," he added. "And I was willing to take my chances with American viewers."

"Now I know it probably will never be seen in this country for legal reasons. There would be dozens of law suits involved. Anyway I don't know if a network could find a sponsor for it."

Tony Bill resembles Oswald not at all. He's tall, slender, clean-cut and a successful working actor.

South Realism
"The BBC wanted authenticity not controversy," Tony said. "Most of the show had a documentary flavor and I played the assassination scene from that point of view. I admit it was kind of creepy because of the realism."

"But I found redeeming characteristics in Oswald just as there are in all people. Right or wrong he was a complex person."

"Each of us probably knows two or three persons capable of a terrible crime. I mean it wouldn't surprise us on second sight after the crime was committed that the person was capable of it. Such dormant qualities exist in thousands of individuals."

"I don't think Oswald was inhuman and that is why I decided to play him despite the horrible thing he did."

STARTLING STARLING
LANCING, England (UPI)—Police surrounded a house here Sunday night after receiving an emergency call that an intruder was inside. They closed in and found the culprit—a starling trapped in a bedroom.

'Cats, Bucks in Big Game Friday

Even when you lose there is usually someone who stands out among the rest. Such was the case at Canadian Friday night.

The Wildcats saw their four game winning streak and another streak, of having not given up in any points in four straight games go out the window by a mere 15-yards.

That's how far the field goal was that spelled doom for the Wildcats, 3-0 to Clarendon in a non-conference game.

But, as he has for the past five games the 'Cats senior guard Charley Ortega was in the midst of most of the tackles.

Ortega is the Pampa News' Lineman-of-the-Week for his all-out effort not only last week but the whole season.

"Charley is an exceptionally fine defensive player, one of the best in high school that I've ever seen," says Canadian coach Dwayne Currie.

Ortega is starting for his second straight season and at 173 pounds has become one of the best defensive players in the Top-O' Texas area.

Back-of-the-Week honors goes to a Pirate that plays for Le-fors, who broke the win column for the first time last week, 35-8 over Erick, Oklahoma.

Pirate quarterback Jim Gilbreath guided his team to the easy victory as he continued to look more impressive week after week in his second season as field general.

Gilbreath, a 6'0, 185-pound junior scored once on an 18-yard run and passed for a two point conversion.

He was the Pirates' leading ground gainer with 101 yards on only 15 carries. He hit seven of 13 pass attempts for 147 yards.

Canadian will face this week what will probably be the most important game of the season. It will probably be the most important for White Deer the 'Cats next opponent.

The two squads collide Friday in White Deer in a District 1-A clash. Both were favorites to win the district title.

The Bucks opened district play last week in fine fashion, ripping Sunray, 45-12.

Canadian will take a 4-2 record into the affray while the Bucks stand 5-1, having lost only to Claude, 10-8.

Both feature fine defensive squads with White Deer having the better offense.

Canadian has given up just 31 points against Booker and three to Clarendon. The 'Cats have scored only 69 points.

Other league titles are on tap in District 2-A: McLean, an 8-0 upset winner over Claude last week, hosts Clarendon and Wheeler (4-2 and 1-0) plays at Claude.

Miami plays a District 5-B eight-man contest at home, hosting Guthrie and Lefors entertains Vega and Groom plays at Silverton in non-conference affairs.

Durocher Named Manager of Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Leo Durocher, the "prince charming" who awoke the Chicago Cubs from their 20-year sleep, was honored today as the United Press International's National League manager of the year.

The 63-year-old former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants was the choice of 13 of the 24 writers who participated in the UPI's annual post-season survey. Red Schoendienst, who led the St. Louis Cardinals to their World Series victory, was named by the 11 other voters.

Durocher, working on the second year of a three-year contract, guided the Cubs to a third-place finish this year after their 10th-place finish in 1966. It marked the first time that the Cubs wound up in the first division since 1946 when they also were third.

Develops Youngsters
Famous as a dynamic manager of experienced personnel when he managed the Dodgers and Giants between 1939 and 1955, Durocher emerged this year as a careful developer of young players.

Among the young players who contributed to the Cubs' rise were Randy Hundley, Ferguson Jenkins, Adolfo Phillips, Ken Holtzman, Glenn Beckert, Don Kessinger, Rich Nye, Joe Niekro, Chuck Hartenstein and Bill Stoneman.

Hundley was a work-horse catcher regarded by some experts as one of the league's most valuable players. Jenkins won 20 games and Phillips developed into an exciting star. Holtzman compiled a 9-0 record despite Army duty during the season and Beckert and Kessinger gave the Cubs a solid double play combination.

Durocher also showed his old-time skills in handling veteran players like Ernie Banks, Ron Santo and Billy Williams.

Dynamic Manager
An excellent defensive shortstop and a dangerous clutch hitter with the St. Louis Cardinal gas house gang of the 1930's, Durocher was an instant success as a manager. He led the Dodgers to a pennant in 1941 and was a dynamic although controversial leader during the tumultuous years between '41 and 1947.

Randy Sails Shot 65-2 1/4

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—American performances in the pre-Olympics haven't been anything to write home about, but the Yanks have bagged two gold medals and today they shoot for four more in what is shaping up as a European show.

Big Randy Matson, the Pampa strongboy, and little Charlotte Cooke, the 19-year-old pretty blonde telephone operator from Washington, D.C., got the United States off the hook Monday by scoring impressive victories in the shot put and women's 400-meter dash, respectively.

Their victories, plus John Carlos' third place finish in the men's 100-meter dash on Sunday are all the Yanks have to show after two days of competition in the two-week Olympic dress rehearsal, for which the Europeans have come here ready while the Americans are ill-prepared for the events.

The bulk of the U.S. team showed up late Saturday and Sunday. None appear to have had sufficient training to cope with Mexico City's 7,349-foot track and field athlete, appeared headed for victory in the pentathlon. She took the 200 meters to beat Patton by 64 points.

Hungary also scored in the women's discus to run its gold medal bag to two (plus one silver and one bronze), while Russia added a gold medal in the men's high jump (Phil Shinnick of Los Angeles finished sixth) and a bronze to take the overall unofficial lead.

The French picked up a gold medal, a silver and a bronze Monday while Sweden added two silvers. Belgium won its first gold medal as did Cuba.

Today, Dick Railsback of Pasadena, Calif., takes on Chris Papanicolaou of Greece and San Jose State.

Sandies Next For Harvies

By RON CROSS

To coin an old phrase Pampa jumps from the frying pan into the fire this week when Amarillo's Golden unbeaten Sandies invade Harvester Field for a North zone football game.

The Sandies will bring an unblemished record into the game while Pampa will have an unblemished record going for them too. The Harvesters have not won a game in six starts while the Sandies have won all six times out.

Both are expected to keep their records unblemished Friday night.

This is one of the oldest series in Texas schoolboy history and the Sandies have been the better team.

However, since 1944 the Harvesters have pulled some rank upssets over the larger city school and in the past 22 years have won eight of the 23 games played. One ended in a tie.

From 1944 through 1946 the Sandies won five in a row. For the next five years the Harvesters were the winners but the Sandies then won six of the next seven games played with the 1956 contest ending in a tie. Pampa then won the next three, but since 1964 haven't been able to beat Amarillo.

The hopes were high last year but a 145 pound halfback by the name of Harmon Hollar ruined any hopes the Harvesters had. Hollar, who will be back again Friday night scored three times on Pampa last year, including a 97-yard kickoff return and a 51-yard pass. He also carried 14 times for 105 yards.

Pampa will be fighting not only for victory but to keep from breaking the all-time school mark of most points given up in one season.

Pampa has given up a total of 236 points only 28 shy of the 264 given up in 1961. Too, the offense, which has been blanketed in two straight games, and has only 18 points for the year will be trying to do something about this. The all-time school low in scoring was in 1960 when that team tallied only 59 total points.

To say the Sandies are good is an understatement. They have undervalued past six opponents, including a 35-7 North zone victory over Borger last week.

They are the second best defensive team in the district, having given up but 62 points with 150 scored so far.

Coach Warren Harper, who has done a masterful job in two years, he was 6-4 last season, returned four starters from 1966 and nine lettermen, including senior Dickie Graham, who was an All-District safety.

Seven lettermen start on offense for Amarillo with three of the backfield starters from the 1966 team. Nine lettermen start on defense.

WALKING OVER TACKLERS is high-stepping Leroy Keyes of Purdue, one of the best collegiate backs in the nation. Leroy's presence gives Purdue, an upset winner over Notre Dame, a good shot at the Big Ten championship.

Southern Cal. Widens Lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southern California, whose rating as the No. 1 team in college football wasn't expected to survive last Saturday's invasion of South Bend, Ind., has tightened its grip on the top spot with its 1967 season now at the halfway point.

After last week's 24-7 triumph over Notre Dame, even though the Trojans were 12-point underdogs, Southern California received 29 first-place votes from the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches. The loss knocked Notre Dame, last year's national champion, from fifth to 11th in the ratings.

Purdue, which also has beaten Notre Dame this season and crushed Ohio State 41-6 last Saturday in a stunning result at Columbus, remained in the No. 2 spot while UCLA, which faces USC on November 18, held onto the third spot.

Upsets Shuffle List
But the other seven places were all shuffled as a result of a sprinkling of upsets and Colorado and Alabama jumped into the fourth and fifth places in the ratings.

Southern California, which two weeks ago held just a one-point lead in the ratings, now has a 5-0 record as a result of its first victory in South Bend since 1939 and has amassed 340 points.

Purdue, which has never won the national crown and has had only two perfect seasons since 1929, rolled up 310 points with the help of five first-place votes. UCLA, 5-0 after a 37-14 victory over California, received one first-place vote and at total of 292 points to remain third for the second straight week.

Colorado, conqueror of Missouri 23-9 in a key Big Eight Conference showdown battle, jumped from seventh to fourth in the standings with a 4-0 record.

Alabama advanced from sixth to fifth after stopping Vanderbilt 35-21.

N.C. State Advances
North Carolina State, which boosted its record to 5-0 with a 31-9 triumph over Maryland, jumped from 11th to sixth in the ratings.

Tennessee, which warmed up for the Alabama game with a 24-13 victory over Georgia Tech, climbed from 15th to seventh in the biggest jump of the week. Georgia, upset by Mississippi 29-20, fell from fourth to eighth in the ratings while Wyoming, which blanked Utah 28-0, climbed from 13th to ninth. Wyoming is 5-0 this season.

Houston didn't play last week but with five of the top 10 teams losing, that was a good way to advance. The Cougars moved from 12th to 10th while idle.

Last year Notre Dame and Michigan State were 1-2 in the nation but this year they're 1-2 in the second 10 with ND 11th and M-State 12th.

Tech Supporters Rally to Players

By United Press International
More than 100 Lubbock businessmen crowded into the Texas Tech athletic office Monday to assure Coach J. T. King it didn't matter that his Red Raiders lost 28-24 to Texas A&M in the last three seconds.

King called his entire team up from their dressing room into the athletic office to talk with their supporters.

The Raiders had lost the previous week 7-3 to Mississippi State.

King said he was moving Jim Haney into the defensive right end position formerly occupied by George Cox. Cox got hurt against A&M.

The Raiders meet Florida State Saturday.

Forced Indoors
Chilly temperatures and rain forced the Arkansas Razorbacks indoors to put a crimp in preparations for their nationally televised game against Texas.

The Hogs drilled for an hour and a half in a gym crowded with basketball players and track runners also practicing.

Coach Frank Broyles said if his young squad was going to win, it would have to stop Chris Gilbert and Bill Bradley.

"Anyone that saw the Texas-Oklahoma game, saw Texas was moving better as the game went along," Broyles said.

"Bradley and Gilbert carry the ball 15 and 30 times a game."

Deceptive Record
At Austin, Texas Coach Darrell Royal said Arkansas 1-2-1 record must be deceptive.

"We looked at their TCU films," he said, "and they were just racing up and down the field on punt returns."

Royal said linebacker Joel Brame was on crutches from a bruised ankle and end Deryl Comer has an injured knee. Both were hurt against Oklahoma.

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panna News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Promises vs. Performance

There is a great difference between political promises and performance, as nearly any observer can see. And the party out of power can always demonstrate this clearly about those in office.

Republicans in Congress have taken a look at the promises made in the 1964 Democratic platform and compared them with performances of the Johnson Democratic administration and found a wide delivery gap. The comparisons were published in a recent issue of the GOP Congressional Newsletter. Some of the more significant discrepancies are listed below:

Promise: "The preservation of peace requires that strength of wage war and the wisdom to avoid it. The world is closer to peace today than it was in 1960."

Performance: The U.S. has been at war steadily since 1964. In Vietnam, the number of American troops has gone from 16,000 in 1963 to almost 500,000 today. More than 12,000 have been killed and 80,000 wounded. War costs now run more than $12 billion per month. Worldwide, the Communists continue to export subversion and unrest.

Promise: "To achieve the goals of higher incomes to the farm and ranch, particularly the family-sized farm, lower prices for the consumer and lower costs to the government, we will continue to carry forward this three-dimensional program."

Performance: Farm income has slidded continually since 1964. The family-sized farm is caught in a cruel cost-price pincers which has forced 303,000 farms into bankruptcy since 1964. Meanwhile, consumer prices have risen and the government is still deeply involved in paying farmers not to produce and in buying up their surplus commodities. The farmer has been the forgotten man of the Great Society.

Promise: "Every penny of federal spending must be accounted for in terms of the strictest economy, efficiency and integrity. We pledge to continue a frugal government, getting a dollar's value for a dollar spent, and a government worthy of the citizen's confidence. Our goal is a balanced budget and a balanced economy."

Performance: Federal agencies have proliferated. Deficits now total $51 billion, with another $29 billion in the red scheduled for fiscal 1968. Millions in waste has been uncovered by the General Accounting Office in the military, space, Federal housing and poverty programs. Promise: "A total war against the causes of human want."

Performance: The "war" on poverty has become a massive political fiasco, with patronage as its chief function. Despite expenditure of billions, welfare rolls continue to grow in nearly every major American city and unrest increases.

Promise: "The federal government exists not to grow larger, but to enlarge the individual potential and achievement of the people. The federal government exists not to subordinate the states but to support them. The government's business is the people's business. Information about public affairs must continue to be freely available to the Congress and the public."

Performance: The federal government has grown like Topsy. Federal employment has jumped from 2,509,708 in 1964 to 473,451. The administration has fought moves to give the states more authority over various federal state programs, such as "block grant" funds for education. Moreover, the Great Society has become the secret society. Less information has been available to the public and Congress than ever before. Even after Congress passed a "Freedom of Information" bill, many federal agencies promptly took steps to classify information to keep it away from Congress and the public. The phrase "credibility gap" is now in common usage.

Promise: "We cannot tolerate violence anywhere in our land—north, south, east or west. Resort to lawlessness is anarchy and must be opposed by the government and all thoughtful citizens."

Performance: Violence and crime have hit new heights during LBJ's tenure in office. Crime is up more than 30 percent since 1964 alone. Riots have torn more than 100 American cities. LBJ has acted as an anti-law legislator, has acted decisively when riots broke out. Hate preachers are touring the country urging shooting and arson. No nationwide crusade against crime has been launched. The Administration's anti-crime moves have been limited to commission studies and reports.

In other areas, the platform indicated that something would be done about Castro, the Berlin problem, Mideast tensions and halting the spread of nuclear arms—although failing to spell out specific courses of action. These problems still exist—but in worsened form.

Student Call for Revolution

Some statements made by students at a recent meeting sponsored by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, Calif., compel attention.

The conferees, 19 of them, weren't merely students, but student leaders.

One of them, the president of the student body of Washington University in St. Louis, Devereaux Kennedy, urged a program of terrorism which would "demoralize and castrate America."

A student at the University of California at Santa Barbara, David Seeley, advised that "The revolution is coming. We are bound to destroy the university. Not pull it apart brick by brick, but bring it to a complete stall."

A younger member of the Saltston family of Massachusetts, a Yale graduate, said, "We have the power to bring the American juggernaut to a halt. Let us paralyze the university. Let us ball up the economy. One day soon, congressmen and Presidents may petition us, not us them."

Fortunately, these students, even though they are "student leaders," do not represent the thinking of the majority, if statistics resulting from polls taken last year among college students are reliable. These showed, according to an official at the University of California at Berkeley that less than 20 percent of the students in more than 700 colleges and universities, come anywhere close to holding such revolutionary sentiments. By far the majority, as shown by the poll, cling to the moral precepts that are closely akin to our Puritan past.

But it must be remembered: we are constantly told, in regard to the riots in the cities, that by far the majority of Negroes do not participate in them and do not condone them. Yet the damage is just as real.

Less than 10 percent of the USSR's population carries a Communist Party card, yet the people are just as enslaved—more so, since they are not among the ruling elite—as if they were certified Reds.

The riots and at the Berkeley campus were participated in by much less than the majority of student body, still the entire student body was affected by the disruption and the aftermath.

Only a few determined advocates in the "right" place at the "right" time bring about a revolution.

DON'T DRINK TEA IN BOSTON

The study of American history has always fascinated me. The period from 1600 to 1789 especially. I guess that really isn't American history; it is more correctly "Colonial" from 1600 to 1789, and only after 1789 (the ratification of the Constitution) does American, or United States, history really begin.

What has always drawn my attention and respect is the stalwart character of the colonials: their indomitable spirit, their insistence on non-interference and their willingness to fend for themselves.

And like many others, I suppose, whenever I visit the Boston area I enjoy stopping at Lexington and Concord and various historic sites in Boston Proper. In my own way I'm saying a silent, "Thanks, fellows; nice try."

And a good and noble try it was. Imagine the rigid backbone of the men who refused to pay a one cent tax on tea because of the principle involved. They didn't concern themselves with the question of what the penny would be used for. They took their stand on principle. They refused to recognize the right of ANY monarch to take their property AND they refused to avail themselves of the property of others. They wanted to be left alone—to earn their own way. They were a virtuous people. Sadly I note that virtue is not hereditary, nor does environment or geography have anything to do with it.

For today in Boston the townspeople have adopted the "Modern ethic." They are reveling in the result of a $200 million federal expenditure in urban renewal. They are engaged in a political circus over what to do with "public funds" in the "public schools." They are not concerned with the principle of taxation, but rather with the disposal of the proceeds. And in the midst of the battle over the spoils, a great center of higher learning, a university of world renown (the Boston branch of the London School of Economics) leads its intellectual approval.

All this must sound as if I am especially critical of the people of Boston. Seriously, I am not. I believe what is happening there is merely a reflection of the people across the entire country. It is United States—1967.

On July 4, 1776, a group of fifty-six men pledged their "lives, fortunes, and sacred honor" in the Declaration of Independence.

On November 28, 1776, a group of seven-hundred New York citizens signed the "Declaration of Dependence," affirming their loyalty to the British Crown and condemning the revolution. It would seem that the values of the latter group have finally prevailed.

Whenever I visit Boston I never order tea. I don't think it as sweet as it must have been 194 years ago.

H. L. Hunt Writes

WHO IS DELINQUENT?

Recently a group of young people were picketing in a small town in New Jersey, and this time on Sunday in front of a church. One of the typical signs carried by the youngsters asked, "Who's delinquent?" About 150 teenagers dropped out of Sunday School classes to participate in the demonstration.

They were demonstrating against "parent delinquency" from adult Bible classes. Two of their signs read: "Truth reaches youth" and "Come attend church." The rebellion had the full support of the church leaders, who cited the Bible verse, "Train up a child in the way that he should go and when he grows old he will not depart from it."

This is the reverse side of the picture so often shown us of juvenile delinquents and "teenyboppers." Certainly there are irresponsible youngsters, but irresponsibility is not confined to the young. Youth is not responsible for the severe losses suffered by the cause of freedom in the last thirty years or

Johnson's '65 Inaugural Most Expensive in U.S. History; Dale Miller Report Finally Submitted to President

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's 1965 inauguration was the most expensive in the 176-year history of this quadrennial event.

It cost $1,597,000. That is $421,000 more than President Kennedy's elaborate and exuberant ceremonial induction in 1961. The $1,176,000 price tag on that was a record up to then.

Not only did Johnson's inaugural cost more than any other, but it took in more money—$1,642,000—as against $1,455,000 four years previous.

However, the high outlay for the Johnson event resulted in a considerably smaller surplus. The claimed surplus is $90,000. But the actual surplus was only $44,000. The remainder came from a $50,000 donation from the Kennedy inaugural surplus.

This totaled $222,000, of which $50,000 was put in escrow for the 1965 event, and $172,000 was given to Washington's United Givers Fund.

The $90,000 Johnson surplus was disbursed somewhat differently. Half was deposited in a bank for the 1969 inauguration, and $45,000 contributed to the Society for a More Beautiful Capital, a favorite project of Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson.

These and other interesting details are contained in an unpublished report that Dale Miller, chairman of the 1965 Inaugural Committee, has finally submitted to the President.

Left wholly unexplained in Miller's long-delayed report is the reason for the $150,000 loss incurred in the inaugural parade. Possible clues are a $45,000 item for construction of the presidential reviewing stand in front of the White House, $70,000 for stands for the press, radio and TV, and $47,000 for "architecture, supervision and salaries."

Similarly unexplained is the $54,000 expenditure for indemnity and general liability insurance premiums. There is no hint who got this juicy business—but it's a sure bet it wasn't Republicans!

The inaugural book that produced a $32,000 profit had an exceptionally heavy printing expense. Sold at $10, the 25,000 copies cost $123,000 to print. There is no indication as to who got this expensive job. A total of 20,393 were unloaded on concerns doing government business, 3,101 given away, the remainder listed as "unissued."

Another intriguing item is $256,000 for the printing and mailing of vast numbers of inaugural invitations—a large proportion of them souvenir invitations. The latter alone cost $79,000 and the postage $34,000.

RECOMMENDATIONS—Foremost among Chairman Miller's recommendations is that there be no lessening of the importance and glamor of the historic Inaugural Ball. "The Ball should remain in the future, as in the past," he advises, "the highest social occasion of the inauguration and every effort should be exerted

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure answers.)

Question: In the face of ever increasing debt, why cannot our federal government eliminate all unnecessary spending?

ANSWER: We would say it is because governments just do not function in this manner. When they enter the field of attempting to solve human problems there seems to be no limit. But in the thinking of most of those in government there is no such thing as "unnecessary spending." The practice of log-rolling has developed in which one politician agrees to support another's program in return for support of the first politician's pet project.

Some politicians want foreign-aid programs, others want moon and space programs, others want funds for war-making, others for schools, fighting poverty, health research, mental health, medicare, farm support, small business loans, urban renewal, airport development, housing loans; the list is endless—So they vote for each other's programs. Added together, they become a massive list of programs and expenditures.

One can hardly expect those in Washington to reduce spending when local city councils, county boards and school districts continue spending to the hilt going into debt and then running to Austin and Washington to demand handouts. Big government spending begins in the local communities.

If there is any way to stop the continued spending it will have to be by "cutting them off at the pockets" that is by eliminating the source of revenue and preventing deficit spending which increases debt and is the principal cause of inflation.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Everybody got pretty excited a few weeks ago when an ivory-billed woodpecker was sighted in the big thicket region of Texas. And for good reason.

For at least 20 years it had been assumed that the ivory-billed woodpecker was extinct. I hope by this time you have regained a modicum of composure. You are going to need it, otherwise, when you hear the latest news you might jump three feet in the air and bust. Think you can stand it? Okay, here goes—within the past few days a self-trimming fundcutter has been sighted in the capitol hill region of Washington!

Suddenly Back

The sudden reappearance of the woodpecker after 20 years of presumed extinction is nowhere near as startling as the re-emergence of the self-trimming fundcutter.

The latter had apparently been extinct for the better part of a century. Indeed, there were strong doubts it had ever existed at all.

Then the other day I was idly glancing at a stack of statements by house members demanding cutbacks in federal spending—and there it was!

Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., had written a letter to the Budget Bureau proposing an economy move in his own district!

Specifically, he requested that funds for a courthouse annex back home in Nashville be withheld until such time as the federal budget is reduced "at least to the point of a reasonable and manageable deficit."

May Be Argued

It may be argued that Fulton is not an authentic self-trimming fundcutter, but only a mutation. Otherwise, he would have advocated canceling the project entirely.

I refuse to accept such doubt as valid. Compare his markings and coloration with the common, garden-variety of undercutters who confine their economizing to somebody else's district. You will then agree he is the real thing.

Very well. Now that we know the self-trimmer is not extinct, steps should be taken immediately to preserve the species. I suggest something on the order of the conservation program adopted for whooping cranes.

The chief danger to self-trimming fundcutters is being killed off at the polls. In many congressional districts they are considered undesirable. One possible solution is to fix a bag limit for each election.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Winslow, Cohn & Stetson says the stock market is now in one of its "classic squalls of temperament," displaying all the ingredients necessary for a secondary reaction in performance issues. The analyst says that whether such a reaction materializes depends on the degree to which holders of these issues are acting as bona fide investors or as traders who believe they can frighten more timid holders into selling at lower prices.

Bache & Co. says the market could receive some stimulus if the flow of third quarter corporation earnings is favorable. Still, the company says it doubts a concerted upward move is possible without some relief in the beleaguered bond and money markets.

Graham Loving & Co. says if a moderate correction takes place in the market before the end of the month, a rally to new recovery highs should be expected before the end of the year. The analyst, however, says that if the market fails to complete its intermediate correction now, a "much more severe" correction should take place later in the year.
