Military Leaders Hope For Troop Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America's top military and diplomatic leaders in Vietnam are cautiously hopeful that some U.S. troops, though only a token number at first, may begin returning home within two years.

"We are making steady, not spectacular, progress," said Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. "Now we are in a position to accelerate our rate of progress."

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. Forces in Vietnam, said that he could foresee "within two years or less we will be able to phase down the level of our military effort, which means that we could reduce the number of people involved."

He said this would involve withdrawal of some U.S. troops "with the understanding that the (South) Vietnamese will be prepared to take over those functions that are being now performed by our troops."

Bunker and Westmoreland appeared on a special, hour-long television interview program (Meet The Press-NBC) Sunday. Both were in the United States for meetings with President Johnson and congressional and diplomatic officials.

Bunker cited the South Vietnamese government's fight against corruption among officials, land reform, tax reform, and the movement toward democracy as signs of progress. He added that "the will of the South Vietnamese people to continue (the war) is strong; it is firm."

Westmoreland said he could cite innumerable statistics to show that the war was being won and progress being made but he said the most significant thing "is the attitude of the people: The Vietnamese people have an attitude of confidence and growing optimism; it prevails all over the country."

May Be Weakened

"I think that it is conceivable that within two years or less that the enemy will be so weakened that the South Vietnamese will be able to cope," said Westmoreland. At that time, he said, "We can progressively phase down the level of our commitment."

Westmoreland emphasized, however, that initial withdrawal of troops might involve only token numbers.

He said that the Viet Cong had been unable "to win a major battle of significance," that the North Vietnamese had a serious manpower problem, and the enemy "has been very hungry for a victory. He has become very desperate."

He said that a halt in the bombing would change this picture, and allow North Vietnam to supply its men in the South with more food, equipment and ammunition. "To stop the bombing would create additional casualties in our ranks, which I'm sure nobody wants."

Romney Against Bomb Cessation Of North Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gov. George Romney said today he was against cessation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, unless there was reason to believe it would lead to a worthwhile result such as steps to neutralize Southeast Asia.

The Michigan Republican, starting his quest for the Republican presidential nomination, as the first major announced candidate, was in Washington for briefings in preparation for an overseas trip, including a stop in Vietnam.

In a television interview ("Today"—NBC) Romney said he was studying the merits of proposals to "defuse" the old Indo-China region.

Romney said such a plan would require agreement among nations of the world to take the area out of the East-West struggle.

He said he thought there was some hope for this because "the international community is more and more concerned" that the Vietnam conflict could escalate into World War III.

But Romney said he opposed stopping the bombing "without reason to believe there would be a worthwhile result that would lead to something."

Romney plans to stop in Vietnam during the globe-girdling trip he plans, starting Dec. 7. It was during a previous trip there that he said he was "brainwashed" by administration spokesmen into thinking the war was going better than it was.

The brainwash remark has been cited by political experts as one reason for a decline by Romney in GOP presidential prospect ratings in recent months.

Romney today, conceded that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "is the man who has more party support than anyone else" at this time. He blamed his own relatively low position in opinion polls partly on what he called "a superficial job" (See ROMNEY, Page 3)

Four American Jets Lost in Viet Raids

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied forces killed 360 Communists and captured a peak in the Central Highlands near embattled Dak To, military spokesmen said today. U.S. spokesmen reported four American jets lost in raids against North Vietnam's Hanoi-Haiphong area and two downed over South Vietnam.

U.S. strike planes and artillery first softened up the North Vietnamese bunkers atop Hill 1416, nine miles north of the allied bastion at Dak To. Then South Vietnamese troops and U.S. advisers charged up the steep slopes and smashed through the Communist lines to the summit after an all-day battle Sunday, spokesmen said.

Fierce Fight

It rained to almost 1,300 the number of Communists slain in their 18-day-old attempt to seize Dak To and a strategic foothold in the highlands 200 miles north of Saigon. Communist fire still proved so fierce in the area that eight U.S. helicopters were shot down Sunday and today.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, two U.S. strike planes were shot down Sunday, spokesmen said. They said four planes were lost during Sunday's strikes against North Vietnam in which the jets hit a key bridge inside Haiphong and a large concrete factory and barge-building yard in Hanoi's suburbs. The Hanoi targets were hit for the first time.

Eight fliers were reported killed or missing in the six downed U.S. planes. One member of a two-man crew of an Air Force F-4C Phantom, downed near Dak To, was rescued, spokesmen said.

The losses raised to 757 the number of U.S. aircraft lost over North Vietnam, including eight helicopters. Ten planes were lost over the Communist nation the past four days. Losses over South Vietnam now total 215 airplanes.

CHARITY BALL CO-WORKERS — Mrs. William L. Arrington, center, head of the speech and hearing committee for Junior Service League, discusses this year's Charity Ball Tudor Rose with Mr. and Mrs. Mal Fitch, of Dallas. Fitch was director of the Mal Fitch Orchestra which played dance music for the Junior Service League's ball held Saturday night at the Pampa Country Club. Mrs. Fitch is vocalist for the orchestra. Proceeds from the ball will be used for the service league's annual speech and hearing clinic for pre-school children.

Bridegroom, Two Sisters Killed by Monoxide Gas

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—A faulty swimming-pool heater was blamed today for gas fumes which killed a bridegroom on his wedding night and two vacationing sisters at the plush Yankee Clipper Inn. The fumes sent 57 others to the hospital for treatment.

Bruce Plagman, of Cleveland, released from the Army in time for his weekend wedding, was found dead in his room early Sunday. His wife, Joan, was unconscious.

Mary Bishop, 56, and her sister, Betty, 50, of Elyria, Ohio, were found dead in their room, both victims of carbon monoxide fumes which seeped into 100 units of the 200-room motel.

Of the 57 victims taken to hospitals, four remained today, along with two deputy sheriffs who became ill while administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

One of the patients was 21-year-old Joan Plagman. She and Bruce, 22, were married Saturday morning in Cleveland, then held a breakfast and a small reception for friends and neighbors.

Plagman had been discharged from the Army a week ago.

Marine Cpl. Robert Heidinger, 20, and his bride, Sue, 20, also had been married Saturday morning in Cleveland and then drove to the inn.

Police awakened them Sunday and ordered them to open windows. "I went to the window but couldn't figure out how to open it," Mrs. Heidinger said.

"The next thing I knew, I fell down."

She was released from the hospital after oxygen treatment. The Heidingers checked out of the inn.

Police Chief Wallace Boers of nearby Boston Heights ordered the rooms evacuated and police and motel employees began knocking on doors, finding three dead, some unconscious and others ill.

"They just started coming into the lobby and keeling over," Boers said.

In all, 200 guests, most of them in pajamas and wrapped in sheets were evacuated.

Deputy sheriff Robert Metker and Sergeant Robert Zarle were admitted to St. Thomas when they became ill during the rescue operations.

Motel spokesmen said the heater for the round outdoor swimming pool had been checked earlier Saturday. They said the heater, which was located inside the building, was still in use because guests continued to swim in the pool. The temperature has hovered in the 50s and 60s here in recent weeks.

Police said the heater apparently caught fire and pushed the fumes into the building's ventilating system.

Guests were allowed to return to their rooms at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Many of them elected to check out instead.

Train Derailment Forces 2500 Residents From Town

NEWTON, Ala. (UPI)—This small town remained deserted today while a special rail-bad team prepared to drain oil from a potentially explosive, sealed tank car.

State and Coast Line authorities termed the operation "critical."

About 3,000 residents of a three-square mile area of Newton were evacuated Saturday night after 51 cars of a 116-car freight train derailed at a trestle over the Chocktatchee River.

Several tankcars containing anhydrous ammonia caught fire and fumes from the gas overcame at least five persons. They were not seriously hurt. National Guardsmen, soldiers and firemen had to wear gas masks to fight the brushfires around the track.

The train, en route from Montgomery to Dothan, derailed Saturday night as it moved over a 75-foot high trestle and approached a crossing.

Authorities said residents would not be allowed back into the area until today's righting of the derailed chlorine car and draining of the liquid.

The Miami-to-Chicago streamliner "South Wind" was derailed at Newton several hours after the derailment but a flurry of radio messages stopped the passenger train 40 miles from the burning wreckage. After a delay, the "South Wind" was rerouted from Bainbridge, Ga., to Montgomery. Seaboard officials said Sunday it would take 32 hours to repair the torn track.

B.C. High, Seaboard's transportation expert, said the cause of the derailment was not known immediately. Many of the cars tumbled down a steep embankment. At least two of the tankers ruptured and burst into flames. Other cars spilled fertilizer across the cross ties as added fuel.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it, Lewis Hardware.

Lay Leader's House Hit

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—A Methodist lay leader says the bombing of his home, the third such incident in the Mississippi capital within two months, indicates that "Klan types" are shifting their attacks to moderate whites from civil rights radicals.

The two-story frame house of R.B. Kochtitzky, 39, was dynamited Saturday night, extensively damaging the front of the structure. Kochtitzky, his wife and baby and a house guest were upstairs at the time. They were not hurt in the blast.

Kochtitzky, is director of the Central for Renewal, a n organization aimed at bringing about more active participation by the church in the problems of society. He had worked with Negroes in several religious affiliated programs and Negroes were frequent visitors to his home in a fashionable white neighborhood.

The dynamiting was the third in Jackson recently. A synagogue was bombed the night of Sept. 18 and the campus home of William T. Bush, dean of Tougaloo College was blasted Oct. 6.

Jury Is Selected For Robbery Trial In District Court

Trial got underway this morning at 10 a.m. in 31st Judicial District Court here for William Benjamin Davis, charged with the Aug. 24 armed robbery of a McLean service station.

Jury selection had been completed by press time at noon, and the indictment and opening argument were expected to be completed during the afternoon.

Davis, alias Anthony Thomas Fiorello, of New York was indicted by a grand jury for the armed robbery in the pre-dawn hours of Aug. 24 at the McLean service station. Davis and a companion, James Lee Herring, were charged jointly with the robbery but Judge Grainger L. McIlhany granted a motion for separation of trials on Nov. 3. Herring was found guilty by a jury in 31st Judicial District Court and assessed a 10 year prison sentence.

Davis and Herring were charged with taking $107.75 from the cash register after tying up attendant Jerry Hillburn.

The two men were apprehended by Amarillo Police an hour after the robbery.

Herring said last week that he and Davis were on their way to California when the robbery occurred.

Counsel for the defendant is Harold Comer, Judge Grainger L. McIlhany is presiding.

Tax Increase Urged Following Britain's Pound Devaluation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today Congress should approve a tax increase now—even a bigger one than President Johnson asked—in view of Britain's devaluation of the pound.

The Montana lawmaker told newsmen that President Johnson perhaps should consider asking for an additional tax hike "above the 10 per cent he has requested."

Mansfield stressed that he wants Congress to adjourn as soon as possible.

"Much as I hate to say so, however," he added, "the welfare of the nation and the stability of the dollar comes before any adjournment date."

"I think we have to face up to this tax situation."

BLACKTOP HELP — James Calvin Hill, right, committee chairman on the Parking committee of the Downtown Business Association presents a check for $2,500 to Pampa City Engineer Mack Wofford for the DBA's part in blacktopping the Santa Fe Parking lot on Atchison St. The DBA paid half the cost and the city the other half. Bids for blacktopping the lot, leased to the city for $1 a year, will be taken Dec. 12.

Prime Minister In Bitter Fight On Pound Value

LONDON (UPI)—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson today staked his Labor government on forcing Parliament to swallow a massive dose of money devaluation and austerity to save Britain from bankruptcy.

Wilson was expected to win a vote of confidence at the end of a three-day debate in the House of Commons over his cutting the value of the pound sterling from $2.80 to $2.40. The debate was being opened with Wilson making a major speech later today.

The opposition conservative party is bitterly opposed to the devaluation. They blamed it on Wilson's socialism. "Disastrous," said Edward Heath, Conservative leader. But Conservatives lack the votes to tumble Wilson.

Leftwingers and others in Wilson's Labor party opposed Saturday's announcement of devaluation. Their Labor union backers and others faced a long, hard winter of higher prices. But others were not expected to rebel. Such a split during the great depression shattered the Labor party in 1931 for a decade.

Wilson was courting on this and the traditional British stiff upper lip to tide him over the pound crisis and give him time to usher in some prosperity before the next general election in 1970 or 1971.

Sir Winston Churchill offered blood, sweat and tears in rallying Britons in World War II. Wilson in a national television and radio speech Sunday made a similar plea to conquer the economic dangers threatening Britain.

"This is a proud nation. We have the chance now to break out from the straitjacket on these past years.

"We're on our own now. It means putting Britain first. Any who fail thought laziness or self-seeking, any who frustrate the work of others by borrowing costs for U.S. consumers and businessmen.

Meantime, moving to calm financial markets everywhere, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said the United States stood "firmly committed" to joining with other countries in maintaining a sound world monetary system.

Fowler noted that "an overwhelming majority" of major countries had not been panicked into matching the British move with devaluations of their own. He reaffirmed the U.S. commitment to keep buying and selling gold at the existing price of $35 an ounce. President Johnson made the same statement, which means no devaluation of the dollar, shortly after Britain devalued Saturday.

Fowler said that events of the weekend had demonstrated "the spirit of monetary cooperation" and that the cost of all created in the free world since imported goods would rise. World War II.

Key Interest Rate Increased On U.S. Dollar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. government had its defenses ready today to guard the stability of the dollar from the pressures generated by Britain's devaluation of the pound sterling.

The Federal Reserve Board raised its discount rate Sunday from 4 to 4.5 per cent to prevent a massive outflow of funds from New York to London. The discount rate is the rate of interest banks have to pay when they borrow from the central bank.

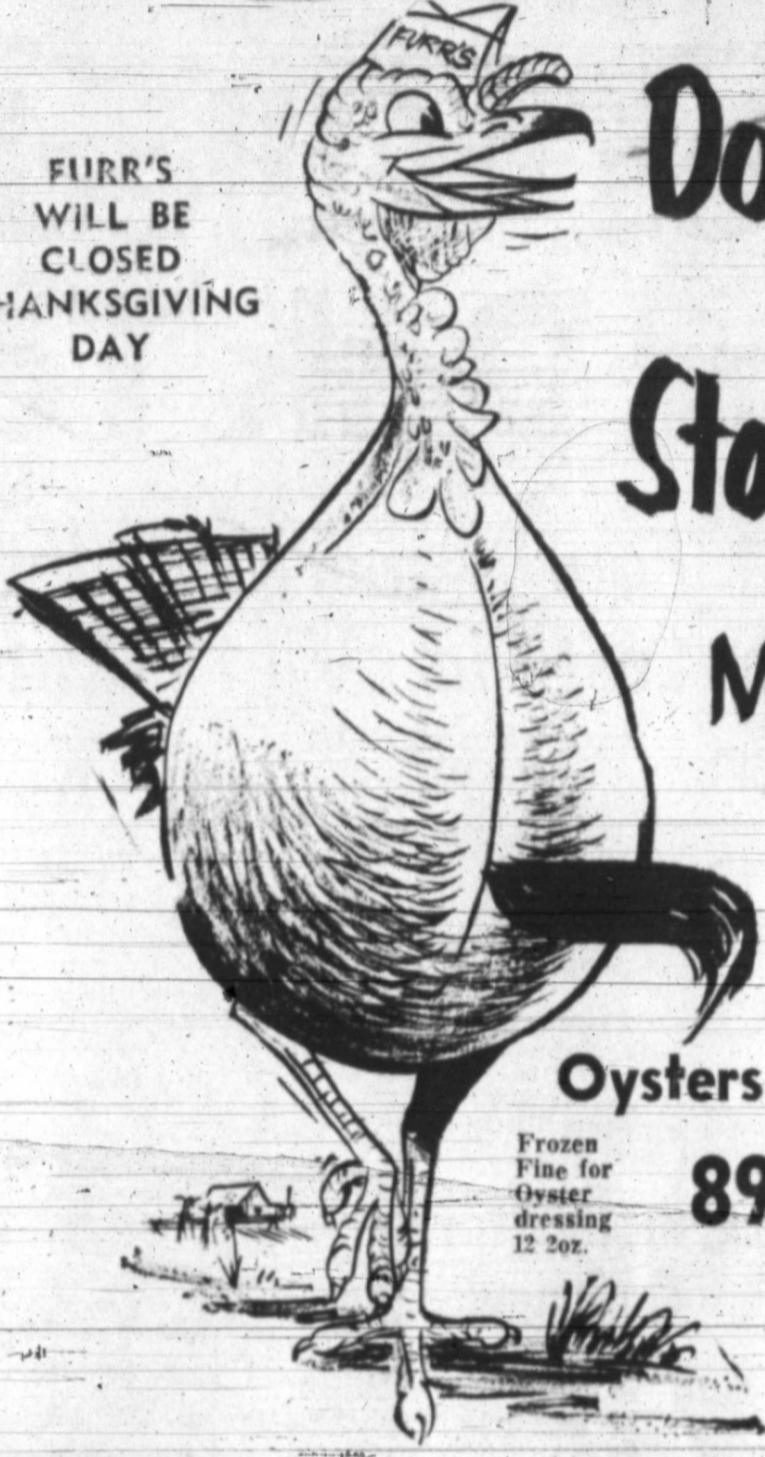

An increase in the discount rate usually means increases in other interests rates. So, while the FED's move may keep "hot money" in the United States, it could also result in higher borrowing costs for U.S. consumers and businessmen.

Experts said a loaf of bread would go up one or two cents from 15 cents. A quart of milk was expected to rise from a dime to 11 or 12 cents. A gallon of gasoline was expected to rise to 20 cents from 17 cents. Meat and butter prices were predicted to rise. The cost of all imported goods would rise.

Try Glazed Duck with Orange Sauce Florida Recipe

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor
Many readers have asked for good duck recipes. Here's one we tried in Florida, using oranges grown there.
The 4½- to 5-pound ready-to-cook duck is the most popular size on the market. A young duckling adapts well to roasting and is simple to cook. Because of the covering of fat which results in dripping during cooking, a rack should be used in the roasting pan. The bird should not be covered, nor is it necessary to add water or baste during roasting.

FLORIDA GLAZED DUCK WITH ORANGE SAUCE
1 4½- to 5-pound duck (ready-to-cook weight)
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons honey
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted. . . .

Sprinkle outside and cavity of duck with salt and pepper. If desired, stuff duck with favorite dressing. With skewer, fasten neck skin over back. Close body opening with poultry pins or skewers and lace with string. Place duck, breast side up, on a rack in a shallow open pan. Do not add water; do not cover; do not baste. Prick the duck often during roasting. Bake in a 325-degree oven 2½ to 3 hours. Duck is well-done when drumstick meat is soft when pressed between fingers. About 1½ hour before removing from oven, brush duck once or twice with a mixture of honey and 2 tablespoons of the undiluted orange concentrate. Reserve remaining concentrate for orange sauce. (Four servings).

ORANGE SAUCE
¾ cup current jelly
Reserved orange juice concentrate
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ teaspoon ginger
Mash jelly with fork. Gradually stir in undiluted orange concentrate and seasonings. Heat and stir until mixture is smooth. (1½ cups).

BAKED HALF HAM with honey-orange glaze.

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, Burning and Relieves Pain of Piles in Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): The embarrassing itch caused by hemorrhoids is most torturous. But science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids. And all without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind. The secret is Preparation H. There is no other hemorrhoid formula like it. Preparation H, also lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

B&PW Club Names Miss Cole as Queen

The Business and Professional Women's Club met recently for its regular business meeting with Mrs. M. E. Powers, presiding. The club collect was given by Mrs. G. H. Anderson. Miss Phyllis Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cole, the Club's "Girl of the Month", was crowned "Queen for November" by the chairman, Mrs. J. J. Rance, and co-chairman, Mrs. Sam Williams. Miss Cole is a senior in Pampa High School, and was chosen as "Girl of the Month" for November, for the B & P W Club, for her accomplishments while in Pampa High School.

Minutes were read by Mrs. Ethel Anderson, in the absence of the secretary Mrs. Marguerite Nash. Correspondence was read and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Anderson. Members were given cards to deliver to business concerns for the collection of the Christmas Activities Fund, and asked to turn in the collections by Nov. 30. A motion was made to send Christmas gifts to Girl's Town.

Skin-Softener
If your lips are sometimes dry and your eyes occasionally seem irritated, you may be a borderline allergic or have sensitive skin. Baby oil left on overnight will soften your skin and protect it from moisture loss. A thin film can also serve as a make-up base.

Instead of exchanging gifts among club members at the Christmas party.

Members were asked to bring items for the Thanksgiving basket for a needy family to the Thanksgiving Banquet to be at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 21.

Mrs. Doris E. Wilson was guest speaker for the 18 members and one guest attending.

Study Club Reviews Program on Women in the News of Twentieth Century

Mrs. Frank Stolfa presented a program on "Women in the News" recently for the Twentieth Century Forum Study Club, which met in the home of Mrs. J. R. Holloway, 1234 Mary Ellen.

For her program, Mrs. Stolfa chose three women of the 20th century and gave several headlines that might have appeared about each of them, letting the members guess who they were. The first was Grandmother Moses. Born Anna Mary Robertson, she lived on a farm in New York state as a child. She married Thomas Moses when she was 27 and they moved to Virginia. In the 20 years they lived there, they had 10 children, but lost five in infancy, Mrs. Stolfa said.

They moved back to New York in 1905 and settled on a dairy farm near Hoosick Falls. As she reached her 70s arthritis began to cripple her so much she could no longer work. She turned to painting when she was 78. Her work was discovered, exhibited at a drug store in Hoosick Falls.

It was recognized immediately here and abroad as the last genuine expression of American folk art. She exhibited the first time in New York City in 1940. In 1949 at 89 she received an award from President Truman, Mrs. Stolfa said. "Grandma Moses—My Life's History" was the title of the autobiography written in the same simple direct way she painted. Mrs. Moses died in 1961 when she was 101 years old, she said.

"The next woman discussed was Sarah Bernhardt. An illegitimate child, she had an unhappy childhood and was alternately spoiled and neglected. She entered the Conservatory for Actresses at 15 and made her debut at 18 at the Comedie Francaise. It met with no great success and for the next four years she was the toast of the cafes of Paris," Mrs. Stolfa said. "She settled down to learn the theatre and by the time she was 24 she starred in the Paris theatre. In the U.S. she played 'Camille' in French and audiences understood and loved her. It's hard to separate fact from legend about her. She was supposed to have slept in a coffin, courting death, so to speak. Most of her roles depicted the dying heroine. Her slender figure and pale skin were quite convincing. "In fact, she was close to death many times in her life. At 71 her leg had to be amputated, but she went on acting from a wheelchair. When she visited the French soldiers at the front in World War I, they called her the "glorious invalid". Mrs. Stolfa explained. She began to make films when in her 70s and died while working in one, the end of another great performance by "The Divine Sara," Mrs. Stolfa said.

The last woman's career reviewed was Eleanor Roosevelt. After her father, the younger brother of Teddy Roosevelt, died when she was 10, she was reared by a strict, old-fashioned grandmother, Mrs. Stolfa said. "A shy, solemn child, she began to break out of her shell at 15 when she went to school in England. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, her fifth cousin, proposed to her when she was 19. Three years later they were married at a gala society wedding. President Ted Roosevelt gave the bride away," she said. In 1911 when her husband was elected to the New York Senate, they moved to Albany, N. Y., with their three children. In the next years she learned how to manage a house and family and became more independent than in the first years of her marriage, Mrs. Stolfa said.

"The six years after her husband was stricken with polio were the only private interlude in his life. Mrs. Roosevelt became interested in politics to reawaken her husband's interest in the outside world. She became more knowledgeable and contributed to the government of her country. During her husband's years in the presidency, she was the center of controversy," she said.

"Never content to be merely a social hostess, she spoke out on issues, helped foster legislation, prodded all levels of government, wrote two columns, gave lectures, and most objectionable to her critics, advised the President," she said.

"At his death, she prepared herself for many changes but her life of public service was just beginning. She was appointed United States delegate to the United Nations for seven years. Her special interest was in refugees. "She earned respect of her fellow delegates because she never backed down from a debate. Even after official retirement, she was active in Democrat Party politics and campaigns in presidential elections. She returned to the UN a while in 1961, but soon returned to her New York home and died there in 1962," Mrs. Stolfa said.

Mrs. Harold Chapman was welcomed as a new member. Members attending were Mrs. Holt Barber, Joe Franklin, Robert W. Harmon, Homer Johnson, Holloway, McHenry Lan, M. McDaniel, Stolfa and Chapman.

"IN LIKE FLINT" IN COLOR

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
Troop 214 recently spent a night camping out near a dry creek north of Skellytown. Breakfast was prepared next morning by patrols. After clean up campers, the members prepared lunch. A roast potatoes and carrots were put into a dutch-oven and placed in a bean-hole to cook while the troop hunted arrowheads.

Members of Troop 214 are Debra Brumfield, Cathy Collinsworth, Jeannie Cox, Lou Ann Pulcher, Cindy Hatfield, Cindy Hicks, Jeannine Maness, Carol Rose and Marva Rowan. Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cox Jr. and Mr. Conner Hicks accompanied the troop.

Troop One spent a weekend at Camp Mel Davis recently. They studied the stars, made track casts and found tracks, several wild life, deer, coyote, bob-cat, racoon, turkey and river gull. Fathers of troop members were guests for dinner.

DEAR ABBY: Last Friday I wanted to buy a diamond engagement ring for my girl, and every store I went into, they tried to sell me a whole set, an engagement ring and a wedding ring to go with it. Abby, I didn't want a wedding ring and all I really wanted was an engagement ring and I had $1,600 cash on me to buy it, too.

First let me see what being engaged is like, and if I like it, I'll get married. Maybe I'll decide I don't like it, and don't want to get married. Then what am I going to do with the wedding ring? So, why, when a guy asks to see only an engagement ring, does the salesman look at him like he's some kind of rat?

NO NUT: "Sets" are popular because most couples who become engaged have a wedding date in sight. And since the two rings are worn side-by-side, they look better if they match. Next time, tell the salesman that you are interested only in an engagement ring, and if he looks at you like you are some kind of nut, ask for the boss. The "nut" is his salesman.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old, 5'8" female, engaged to a 22-year-old, 5'11" male college graduate. This man is kind, handsome and intelligent. I should be very happy, and I am, except for one small problem — my mother. Having married a man 6'3" with massive shoulders, etc., she insists that my fiancé is a runt and that I am settling for less than a man. She is beginning to get on my nerves and I can't seem to convince her that one does not measure a man's worth in feet and inches. She reads your column every day, so any help you can give me will be appreciated.

RUTH: If your mother is really "getting on your nerves" for the reason you

DEAR ABBY: My mother is in love with her new son-in-law. Well, "in love" may be a little strong, but she seems to have trouble keeping her hands off him. "Boobie" (as she calls him) doesn't know how bad it looks. He is 33, mother is 48 (but looks 30), and the whole thing is pretty ruseating. Mother is either sitting on his lap, scratching his back, giving him a neck rub, or begging him to dance with her.

My sister, (Boobie's wife) thinks it's lovely that her husband and her mother get along so well. This could be serious as mother is a swinging divorcee and the plot seems to thicken all the time. What can we do, short of telling Sis to open her eyes and hold on to her husband?

BIG SISTER: You could tell mother to act her age. And you mother also tell "Boobie" to be a little less cooperative.

DEAR ABBY: You were so right when you advised "WORRIED NEIGHBOR" to tell her neighbor what her teen-aged daughters were up to while they were working evenings. I was in exactly the same situation. I knew that the young girl next door was taking advantage of her parents' working nights, but I kept quiet because I didn't want any hard feelings. Now I have a guilty conscience over a hasty wedding and two sets of broken-hearted parents. Perhaps if I had told those parents in a friendly way, I could have

FOR MONDAY, NOV. 20
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is one of your very best days. A long while to come in what is best for you to almost anything requiring cooperation, initiative, understanding and awareness of what is best for you and your close allies. You can get excellent news from art, music, television, photography, motion pictures or local interests.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Ideal day to spend with you, making new plans, establishing a better harmony at home, etc. Concentrate upon how to increase income, have a bigger knowledge in days ahead. Put on a novel idea.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20): Look to your daily contacts for the best opportunity that can put you in the highest brackets very soon. Get data you need from new areas, persons, news. Show that you are ambitious and a fine person to know.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Give most of your attention to whatever will increase your income appreciably. Give you a chance to add to property you own. Follow your hunches, since they are apt to be quite accurate. Be happy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Following your own inclination to the best way to attain your goals now. Show others that you are a charming, very sociable person. Become more popular as that you do not have to work so hard for it you get.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You have emotions that need a vent. Get the right results. Put yourself in the proper place. You can make big headway with one whom you are interested romantically.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): Ideal day and evening for going about in a social way and impressing the right people. Be sure to group you like. Have some interests as you. Be very bright with a girl and the very month.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21): Make it a headed off the trouble that caused the mess.

CHICKEN: Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keep Legs in Shape
Siree the mini is here to stay, for awhile, at least, be sure your legs are in shape. Firming exercises are important and, also, be careful that they are always de-fuzzed. No matter what method you use for eliminating the unwanted hair, it's a good idea to use a softening cream afterward to smooth the skin and eliminate blotching.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing...

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself.

How About It?

Herewith, a legal brief, for attention of the attorney general of the United States:

Hubert Gerold (Rap) Brown said: "There is a conspiracy to run black people out of America, but we are going to burn it down before we leave..."

Stokely Carmichael has said: "In Newark, we applied war tactics of the guerrillas. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities..."

The Greasy Coin Game

No wonder there is a "credibility gap" in Washington. No wonder people have taken to snoring in derision when some politician or bureaucrat is quoted as promising this or that...

The latest instance coming to mind of rank dishonesty in governing circles is in the area of silver and the removal of that precious metal from our coins.

Several months ago, when the federal government began removing silver content coins from circulation, replacing them with the greasy copper slugs...

That lame excuse should have been recognized for what it was: for, if the intent was to provide a stockpile as claimed...

Breaker or Maker

Considering the actions of a lawbreaker, ignorance is no excuse. Considering the actions of a lawmaker, ignorance is the only excuse.

BERRY'S WORLD

The Doctor Says

Pyloric Obstruction Possibly Nervous Spasm Q—I have a small pylorus gland and can eat only a small amount of food at a time...

A—The pylorus is not a gland. Rather, it is the outlet of the stomach which consists of a thick muscular layer to regulate the passage of food into the duodenum...

Q—I have had alcoholic gastritis, but have not taken a drink in over a year. I feel fine now and wonder whether a few drinks would bring the gastritis back.

A—Although an occasional weak alcoholic drink might not cause a recurrence of your gastritis, there is great danger that one such drink would lead to another. The safest course for anyone who has had alcoholic gastritis is to abstain from all alcoholic beverages...

Q—In a recent column you stated that smog reduces the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood. How does it do this? How can this decreased capacity be determined?

A—Carbon monoxide and other pollutants in the air form a more stable compound with the oxygen-carrying hemoglobin of your blood than does oxygen. If your hemoglobin is tied up with these compounds it cannot carry its full quota of oxygen...

Q—What is the difference between sarcoid, sarcoidosis and sarcoma? Are they related to tuberculosis?

A—Sarcoidosis, or Boeck's sarcoid, is characterized by the formation of hard nodules which may occur in any part of the body. When it involves the lungs, it closely resembles tuberculosis and is often associated with this disease...

Sarcoma is a very malignant form of cancer and is not related to sarcoid. It, too, may occur in any part of the body.

H. L. Hunt Writes

DEPLETION ALLOWANCE A depletion allowance is provided the producers of more than 100 irrepleacible resources which prevents these taxpayers from suffering the equivalent of a tax on capital.

There is a very high element of risk involved in hunting for oil. Eighteen out of 19 persons I knew who started in the production business went broke.

The consuming public is agitated against the depletion allowance although its elimination would be the equivalent of placing an additional tax between the producers and consumers...

The elimination of the present depletion allowance on oil and gas would afford the government additional revenue which would pay the cost of government only a few days.

Many producers would be forced out of business. The federal government, notoriously inefficient in its operations, would have to do the drilling and producing with consumers suffering from the inefficiency.

The war on poverty and other impractical socialist measures are drying up funds and causing some of the public to believe the 27 per cent depletion allowance on oil and gas represents a loophole for producers which must be closed.

Food for India 'Studied' by Administration in Light of Gandhi Policy on Middle East and Suez

WASHINGTON — The Johnson Administration is conducting a "study" to determine whether to provide India with still another million to $3 million tons of foodgrains.

What's behind it? — The State Department is making the administration's carefully unannounced "study" of whether to provide India with another 3 million to 5 million tons of foodgrains.

Already the shutdown of this waterway has cost American taxpayers more than $941,000 in additional transportation charges on 1,896,000 tons of grain provided India in the past six months.

In persistently pursuing a pro-Arab policy, Madame Gandhi is squarely following the incendiary line of the Soviet-India's principal weapons supplier.

"We spend billions to keep the Indians from starving, and Russia arms them," caustically remarked Senator Vance Hartke, D-Ind., influential member of the Finance Committee.

Hartke cited the following "ironic realities": —Since 1946 U. S. economic aid to India has totaled more than $6.25 billion. Of this immense sum, upwards of $1.5 billion has been in outright grants, and $3.512 billion in so-called "sales" of grain and other food for Indian currency...

—Since 1961 the U. S. has given and "sold" Egypt (for its currency which remains in that country) more than $660 million in grain and other food. There is around $500 million in such counterpart funds in the UAR. Also during this period...

State Department experts are pondering what these requirements are likely to be. Their conclusion will determine what the U. S. is prepared to do — on an equal matching basis with other countries, according to the State Department. The administration conditioned its agreement to provide India with 3 million tons of grain this year on the proviso that other big grain producers put up an equal amount — Canada, Russia, Australia, etc.

The U. S. has met its commitments so far, but the others have done so only partially. QUID PRO QUO — Senator Hartke is not against supplying more foodgrains to India, but he emphatically contends the time is long overdue for stern requirements to be imposed on such aid.

US on Hot Spot to Counter Soviet Space Bomb Threat

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA) — Defense Secretary McNamara's announcement of Russia's orbiting "bomb" program was misleading in five respects:

—McNamara said he is "not concerned." This statement does not mesh with the worried activity in U. S. military technical circles ever since Russian progress on the orbiting "bomb" was confirmed some time ago.

—McNamara suggested strongly that the new Russian orbiting warhead would not be accurate and therefore would be limited in its usefulness. This is a half truth. Such orbiting weapons can be made considerably more accurate than inter-continental ballistic missiles if allowed to orbit several times before firing.

—McNamara suggested the major objective of the Russian orbiting "bombs" would be to one big firm — a publishing house that recently absorbed a chain of foreign language schools.

The contract awarded this big combine totaled $1,645,000 as against $1,350,000 bid by the five small companies. Pentagon authorities have been mum about this strange transaction.

But suspicious congressional investigators are wondering what it's all about and are looking into the matter. They suspect there may be something more to it than meets the eye. It favors very strongly of possible "preferential treatment" — to put it mildly.

PREDICTIONS — Congress will adjourn by Dec. 16. There is absolutely no prospect of its winding up by the end of the month. Some congressional leaders have a tentative closing date of Dec. 9, but there is little likelihood of that.

An old gentleman tumbled over a barred gate just in time to save himself from an infuriated bull in the pasture. "You brute!" he sputtered shaking his fist at the angry animal. "And I've been a vegetarian all my life!"

US on Hot Spot to Counter Soviet Space Bomb Threat

While no one can read the Russian mind, technical men suggest the major Moscow target would be whatever anti-ballistic missile systems the United States installs — thin or thick.

Quite possibly, depending on their sophistication, the Russian slipping through currently planned types of U. S. ABM systems. —thin or thick.

—McNamara suggests Russian orbiting weapons would be limited for a considerable time to come to quite small payloads. He neglects to point out that the anticipated Russian payloads could nevertheless be three times as large as the payload of a Minuteman or Polaris missile.

—McNamara spoke of over-the-horizon radar as the answer to Russian orbiting nuclear weapons.

The fact that a weapon was known to be orbiting would not help the defense, necessarily, if the ABM sensor system couldn't determine where the "bomb" was heading until too late, or if it divided at the last minute and headed in several directions.

The Russians could really confuse things by keeping a considerable number of orbiting platforms in operation continuously. All of these could be unarmed. Then at a crucial moment, the Russians could put up a batch of armed orbiting missiles calculated to look exactly like the unarmed "scientific" type. There are a number of ways, the scientists say, for the Russians to operate such an orbiting system in ways that could outmaneuver presently planned U. S. defensive measures.

Despite McNamara's bland assurances, a strong effort is under way to find countermeasures.

Wit and Whimsy A man on his first hunting trip in Alaska asked the guide: Mr. Cobb — is it true that a grizzly won't attack at night if you have a flashlight? The Indian scratched his head thoughtfully for a comment, then replied: Red Cloud — I reckon that all depends on how fast you're carrying the flashlight.

Viet Cong Promises to Observe Three Holidays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top U.S. officials Saturday began a study of the Viet Cong's announcement it will observe the three, relatively long holiday truces in the Vietnam war. Indications were this country would be reluctant to follow the Communist lead entirely. On the subject of truces at Christmas, New Year's, and Tet, U.S. officials were noticeably cautious because to date no decision has been made, and United States has yet to consult with its troop-contributing Allies in the conflict. It was expected that after consultation with Saigon—which already has proposed truces of 24 hours for Christmas, 24 hours for New Year's and 48 hours for Tet—the United States would seek the opinions of Thailand, South Korea, the Philippines, New Zealand and Australia.

The Viet Cong, in what appeared to be a clever move to put pressure on the Allies, announced it would be observing ceasefires of three days each at Christmas and New Year's, and seven days at Tet. Since these year-end holiday fighting pauses became something of a tradition starting in 1965, the Viet Cong year by year have announced longer and longer ceasefires, allegedly for humanitarian reasons. But the Allied military forces know full well that the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese will take advantage of these pauses to repair their communication links and resupply their personnel. Taking such advantage of truces, even though no shots are fired, would give the Communists a recognizable advantage particularly welcome to them this year when, according to U.S. estimates, they have suffered considerable damage.
