District Court Room Remodeling Underway

The sound of hammers, saws and balcony seats being removed echoed through the County Court House this morning as construction began on improvements in the District Court Room.
The work is being done by Reid Strickland Construction Co. of Amarillo, low bidders for improvements on the District and County Court Rooms.

The firm submitted the low bid of $39,700 at last Monday's meeting of the Commissioners Court.

The improvements are to include air conditioning and tiling of both the District and County Court Rooms, new paneling in the District Court Room, and construction of a jury deliberation room and a client-lawyer conference room in the District Court Room.

Workmen began their work on the third-floor District Court Room this morning. County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. had previously announced that the parking lot north of the Court House would be pre-empted for use by the construction firm.

Changes in the District Court Room will be: improved lighting, a 12½-foot ceiling, wood paneling on the walls to match the other paneling of the court room, removal of the balcony and construction of the lawyer-client and jury deliberation rooms in the area where the balcony overhang extends to, and installation of air conditioning equipment. The changes will make the District Court Room the same size as the County Court Room.

No construction will be begun on the County Court Room until renovations on the District Court Room are completed. District Court will be held in the County Court Room for the next few weeks.

138 Hurt in Worst Accident of Decade

LONDON (UPI) — A broken rail may have caused 11 cars of a speeding crowded passenger express to plunge off the tracks in a heavy fog Sunday night and cause Britain's worst railway crash in a decade, railroad officials said today.

Scotland Yard said 51 men, women and children were killed and 139 injured when 11 coaches of the 70-to-80 mile-an-hour Hastings to London train jumped the track and tumbled down a 20-foot embankment near the site of a worse train crash 10 years ago.

Officials feared the number of dead would rise because of the seriousness of some of the injured.

Railway engineers found the broken rail 600 yards from the spot where four of the cars jackknifed into the muddy embankment.

"It would appear, subject to confirmation by the findings of the official inquiry, that the accident could have arisen from a broken rail since there was a serious break found near the scene of the derailment," said a spokesman for the state-owned British Railways.

Train officials said the uninjured express crewmen were blameless.

In the 200 yards of twisted steel, in the fog and pouring rain, detectives of disasters crawled through the wreckage looking for more clues to the cause of the wreck.

Weeping policemen chalked the number of dead on the side of each twisted carriage. Doctors performed surgery in the mud and pouring rain. Rescuers leading grandmother Mrs. Ethel Cowland, 64, tried to spare her and one said, "Don't look dearie, keep your eyes shut."

"God I wish I had kept my eyes shut. There were bodies everywhere," she whispered later.

Residents along the tracks southeast of London yanked survivors from the mangled steel, laid them on blankets and passed out cups of tea.

They had done it once before. Sunday's night crash was the worst in Britain since Dec. 4, 1957, when a crash just a mile down the same line killed 90 persons and injured 175.

The crash Sunday also was Britain's second disaster of the weekend. An Iberia Airliner plane from Malaga, Spain, crashed near London airport Saturday night, killing all 37 persons aboard.

Out of the train wreckage near Hether Green bridge and into the fog and rain Sunday night stumbled pop singer Robin Gibb, 19, member of the Bee Gees group whose record "Massachusetts" is Britain's current No. 1 best seller. His head was bloodied but a friend said he was "all right."

NOT MUCH TO GO ON — Burglars were unsuccessful in their attempt to open a safe at Firestone Co., 120 N. Gray sometime over the weekend. Gray County Deputy D. L. Day examines the safe, which contained over $400 and Pampa Police Lt. George Wallace dusts broken glass for fingerprints. The burglars entered the building by breaking out a washroom window, then used the company's own welding torch to try to open the safe, but their attempts were unsuccessful and they gave up.

National Guard Holds Explosive Election Site

GARY, Ind. (UPI)—National Guardsmen, alerted for possible peace-keeping duties during Gary's mayoral election that pits a Negro against a white candidate, today moved near the Indiana steel city.

As the guardsmen mobilized, parking rows of armored personnel carriers outside the city, courtroom showdowns were scheduled to resolve disputes concerning the use of the troops and alleged voter registration fraud.

At Hammond, a panel of three federal judges was expected to rule today on a petition to delay the election filed by Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro Democratic nominee for mayor.

Hatcher wants Tuesday's election to be delayed until alleged white "ghost" voters are purged from registration rolls.

In a separate federal court case in Hammond, Judge George N. Beamer was to rule on a Justice Department petition to enjoin five Lake County (Gary) officials from tampering with Gary voter registration rolls to dilute Negro voting strength.

Indiana Atty. Gen. John J. Dillon was scheduled to ask the Indiana Supreme Court to dissolve a superior court injunction against the use of National Guardsmen as a possible peace-keeping force in a local election.

31 Texans Killed Over Weekend

By United Press International
Multiple-fatality highway accidents contributed heavily to Texas' weekend violent, death toll. One smashup killed four persons and two others killed three each.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday night showed at least 29 violent deaths, including 23 on the state's highways.

The worst accident killed four persons and injured three others near San Antonio Sunday. Two cars collided on U.S. 90 and a truck hit the wreckage.

The dead were Elliott McClung Jr., 21, of Dallas; Charles H. Richardson, 21; John Wenfree Cockran, 21, and James W. Bendele, all of San Antonio.

A pickup truck plunged over an embankment east of Hondo Sunday, killing Ernesto R. Gallegos, 26, of Pleasanton; Anselmo Pena Reyna, 27, and Edward Moreno, 29, both of San Antonio.

A head-on collision Sunday five miles west of Cypress killed three more persons.

Race and Vietnam Are Key Issues in Election

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both parties get a preview of voter sentiment on the key 1968 issues of racial tensions and the Vietnam war Tuesday in state and local elections across the nation.

The mayoralty contests in Cleveland and Gary, Ind., pit Negro candidates against whites, while in Boston the city hall race may yield clues to the extent of white backlash in riot-scarred cities.

U.S. Planes Bomb Main MIG Airfield

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. fighter-bombers today pounded tons of suspected war goods within three miles of downtown Hanoi and shot down at least two MIGs in dogfights over the North Vietnamese capital, a military spokesman reported.

U. S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs roared in from bases in Thailand and hit the 91 storage buildings clustered in the Gia Thuong storage center at the edge of the still untouched Gia Lam international airport used by both MIGs and commercial aircraft.

The planes, covered by F4C Phantom jets took advantage of a break in the monsoon weather to resume the bombardment which has become the greatest aerial offensive of the war. They ran into heavy anti-aircraft, surface to air (SAM) missiles and swarms of MIG fighters.

When strings of bombs from the F105 Thunderchiefs began falling with "pinpoint precision" on the Gia Thuong complex of 72 storage sheds, 11 support and 8 administration buildings, MIG17s rose to try to prevent disaster.

The Phantoms, flying cover

In the first such referendum in a major city, San Francisco voters will vote on whether the United States should withdraw from the Vietnam war.

Indiana officials, worried that Gary's mayoral contest between Negro Democrat Richard Gordon Hatcher and Republican Joseph Radigan could touch off racial violence, were going to court today to defend the need for mobilization of the state's for the Thunderchiefs, promptly shot down two of them—the 97th and 98th MIGs nailed by U.S. pilots in the war.

The attack followed Sunday's Thunderchief strike at the newly repaired MIG interceptor base at Phuc Yen, the North Vietnamese anti-aircraft defense center 18 miles from the capital. One Thunderchief was shot down, spokesmen said.

Pilots reported MIG21s and MIG17s rose today and challenged the one-man Thunderchief. Dogfights ensued but no planes on either side were reported lost.

U.S. spokesmen said bad weather which had been protecting the Hanoi-Haiphong area for days lifted just enough today to allow the Thunderchiefs a crack at Gia Thuong, which lies between the giant Paul Doumer and Canal des Rapides bridges smashed in earlier raids.

Because of the bridges being broken, a U.S. spokesman said there was "quite probably a backlog of supplies and a militarily lucrative target" at the supply complex.

Thunderchief pilots reported hitting two MIG17s on the ground at Phuc Yen Sunday.

National Guard. The state attorney general was asking the Indiana Supreme Court to dissolve a lower court injunction banning the troops.

The early-bird balloting title this year went to Louisiana, which voted Saturday for a governor and a state legislature. Incumbent Gov. John J. McKeithen swept back into office for an unprecedented second consecutive term over Rep. John R. Rarick, a staunch segregationist. For the first time since the post-Civil War era, a Negro was elected to the Louisiana legislature.

Overall, 39 of the nation's large cities were to elect mayors Tuesday—20 by party and 19 on a nonpartisan basis.

Republicans in Philadelphia have the best chance in 20 years to capture city hall. Incumbent Mayor James H.J. Tate, weakened by feuding among the city's Democrats, faces Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter, a former special investigator for the Warren Commission.

New York state voters will decide on a controversial new state constitution in which the church-state issue is a major factor.

Cleveland's mayoral contest pits Democrat Carl B. Stokes, a Negro, against Seth A. Taft, the grandson of President William Howard Taft. When the local Democratic organization balked at Stokes, the Johnson administration stepped in and backed him. Subsequently, local Democrats fell into line, giving Stokes a good chance to becoming the first Negro mayor elected in one of the nation's 10 largest cities.

Boston's mayoral contest pits Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, regarded by some as a symbol of racial backlash, against Massachusetts Secretary of State Kevin H. White. If elected, Mrs. Hicks would be Boston's first woman mayor.

U.S. Nuclear Defenses Pose A New Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A major battle over the state of the nation's nuclear defenses seemed to be shaping up today between Congress and the Johnson administration.

At issue was the newly disclosed Soviet orbital bombardment system and the effectiveness of the Pentagon's planned "thin" antiballistic missile (ABM) screen—dubbed the "Sentinel"—in meeting such a threat.

The battleground was likely to be the joint congressional hearings on missile and antimissile development, conducted by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. The panel was to hear from Deputy Defense Secretary Paul H. Nitze.

In Jackson's view, the disclosure that Russia apparently was developing an orbital bomb was:

"... further evidence of Soviet determination to overcome our present advantage in strategic weapons. This development proves the Soviets do not accept the notion, still popular in some American circles, that military technology stands on a plateau."

Current Defense Department plans are for a $5 billion Sentinel shield, directed primarily at the threat expected to be posed in the 1970s by the relatively unsophisticated Red Chinese missiles.

But Sentinel will take three years to build and, according to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, the Russians may have their orbital bombardment system ready to go by next year.

McNamara has steadfastly resisted any U.S. commitment to a more extensive ABM system, one providing a thicker defense shield against a heavy Soviet attack. He contends the $40 billion such a system would cost would be wasted because there is no shield that cannot be penetrated by an offensive missile. In any event, U.S. superiority in offensive missiles is enormous, he says.

Louisiana Democrats Favor Gov. McKeithen

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Early bird Democratic voters gave Gov. John J. McKeithen an overwhelming primary election victory, assuring him of becoming Louisiana's first governor to be reelected to two consecutive terms this century.

Louisiana also was on the verge of sending its first Negro to the legislature since 1879. A New Orleans lawyer held a slim lead in a race with two white men and another Negro. Seventy five per cent of Louisiana's registered Democrats voted in the Saturday election for which McKeithen campaigned on a racially moderate platform.

"I think this victory demonstrates you don't have to be an extremist to win in the South anymore," McKeithen said. "We have a new pattern for the South. There is no question about it."

McKeithen won a lopsided victory over Rep. John Rarick, D-La., an uncompromising segregationist. A Democratic primary victory in Louisiana is tantamount to election.

McKeithen would become the first Louisiana governor in this century to be elected to a second term. He faces tough opposition in the general election.

Ernest N. Morial, a New Orleans lawyer, appeared to have broken Louisiana's 83-year-old legislative color line, but he did not claim victory in the close race.

Morial had only 111 votes over the necessary majority in incomplete returns. There was a possibility that the official count Tuesday could force him into a runoff.

Twenty-five Negroes besides Morial sought state house and senate seats, but none of the others was successful.

Voters Advised Of Eligibility

County Clerk Charlie Thut reminded all Gray County voters this morning to remember that they are eligible to vote only in their own precinct in Saturday's elections.

There are 14 voting precincts in Gray County. The precinct voting places are listed below:

- Precinct 1—City Community Center, Lefors; 2—Baker School, Pampa; 3—Grandview School, Grandview; 4—Ala Reed School, Alanreed; 5—City Hall, McLean; 6—Lakeaton Farm Supply, Laketon; 7—Horace Mann School, Pampa; 8—Stephen F. Austin School, Pampa; 9—Woodrow Wilson School, Pampa; 10—Court House, Pampa; 11—Phillips Office, Phillips Camp; 12—Lamar School, Pampa; 13—Milliron Engineering Office Bldg., Pampa; 14—Travis School, Pampa.

Absentee voting is being conducted at the County Clerk's office. Those who because of sickness, disability or projected absence, cannot vote Saturday have until tomorrow to complete absentee forms.

COOL OF UPPER CLASS SHAKEN

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI)—This affluent and sophisticated town has been shocked, angered and spurred into action in one week by revelations of teen-ager drug use.

A respected psychiatrist says the drug problem is epidemic among young people here with marijuana "experimentation" reaching perhaps 40 per cent in one high school.

A community of 28,000 lying 50 miles northeast of New York, Westport has had for years a reputation as a bohemian suburbia not lessened by being the setting of the swinging satire, "Rally Round the Flag, Boys." But the town is upper class, and many of its husbands and fathers are top-salary executives and ad men who commute daily to Manhattan's posh managerial suites. Artists, writers and film stars who live here add to Westport's glamor image.

Scandal Upsets Community
The "cool" of its adults has been shaken by real life notoriety: the discovery of two high school girls high in class on LSD or methedrine and the subsequent drug arrests of other students. The scandal that broke here last week followed by a few weeks the slaying of a Greenwich, Conn., girl from a millionaire family in a hippie pad in New York's East Village and a scandal last year in Darien where teenagers were getting intoxicated in their parents' opulent homes. The proximity of the three towns—Greenwich and Westport are about 20 miles apart with Darien in between—adds to the discomfiture.

There is resentment among adults that seems not unjustifiably from being singled out because of Westport's "image." Dr. Leon Tec, a child psychiatrist and for 11 years director of the Mid-Fairfield Child Guidance Center, said he was convinced that Westport was only one manifestation of a "national epidemic" of smoking marijuana. He said the naivete of parents here and across the country was astonishing.

Dr. Tec, among a number of others, agreed that 40 per cent might not be the high an estimate of experimentation with "pot." He pointed out that "experimentation" might mean taking one puff at a party and he cautioned that the only real information must come from the young people themselves who year from secrecy to bravado in giving the "facts."

The Westport scandal broke when two girls behaved irrationally and became hysterical during classes at Staples High School and it was determined they had taken either LSD or methedrine, apparently obtained (See DRUGS, Page 3)

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do I want for Christmas? There are at least 100,000 South Vietnamese orphans who need help. Infants wear, children's wear, toys, shoes. Anything. They are naked and hungry. Anyone desiring to send anything collected from friends and neighbors can address it to:

Sgt. Bill Thompson, A F10611072
CORDS-Refugees, Orphans
APO, San Francisco, Cal. 96243
That's all I want for Christmas, Abby, and God bless you for asking.

SGT. BILLY THOMPSON

DEAR ABBY: What would we like for Christmas from you people back home? A promise that you, too, will do your best to make this a better world. This will make the risks that we are taking worthwhile.

WM. A. NEWMAN,
Pfc. E3, U.S. Army
JOHANN HORVATH,
Sp 4, E4, U.S. Army.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I can be of some help by telling you what we don't want for Christmas over here.

Anything big, like heavy appliances, books, or things that are hard to store. We don't have room for them. Nothing expensive that would break our hearts if we lost it, like expensive jewelry, cameras, record players, etc.

No lima beans and ham, please as we get that in our C rations. Nothing in glass or aerosol cans.

Unless chocolate is properly wrapped, forget it. It's sirup by the time it gets here. You wouldn't believe the heat and humidity here. If anything perishable is sent, please send it "SAM" under 5 pounds. If goes air mail-and gets to us within a week or 10 days. Those big packages (unless sent airmail) can stand around on a dock for 3 months.

A LEATHERNECK

DEAR ABBY: The men in Vietnam are always glad to get some little trinkets for Christmas that can be given to Vietnamese kids. Yo-yos, balloons and plastic harmonicas, whistles, and dolls. As a gag, we once gave an ugly doll with wild white hair to a child. It really was hideous, but it ended up being a "baby doll" for that little native girl who had never had a doll before. She loved it.

PARATROOPER, Vietnam

DEAR ABBY: Next to goodies, like canned meats, salami, tuna, chicken, canned fruits, cookies, fruitcake, instant soups and Kool-aid, instant coffee, tea and cocoa, pretzels, popcorn, hard candies, etc., something to read or do is best. A subscription to the hometown magazines, playing cards and games like checkers, chess, jigsaw puzzles are great. Also, Abby, a real luxury is a clean pillowcase (we use our T-shirts) and a couple of pairs of heavy athletic socks.

DOUG FROM DALLAS

DEAR ABBY: Here is what the security guards of the 71st transport battalion want for Christmas: Sgt. Burge: To be alive for next Christmas. Sgt. Author: To be home with my few car. Spec. 4 Hoppenjans: More mail. Spec. 4 Tomazoli: Assigned to an airborne unit. Pfc. Keading: A fifth of good Scotch. Pfc. Barnes, 8x10 picture of my girl. Pfc. McSorley:

Drugs

Last Tuesday, three teenagers — two boys and a girl — were arrested. Kevin J. Haverty, 16, was charged with selling sugar cubes containing methedrine, a hallucinogenic drug. Walter Carlson, 18, was charged with selling marijuana and Johanna Merriss, 17, with possessing marijuana found in her home. Staples is a handsome $5 million complex of sprawling buildings resembling a small college campus. It was 1,968 students, virtually all of them white. Its scholastic standing is high with 85 per cent of the graduates going into higher education — 67 per cent to four-year colleges or universities.

Its principal of one year is James Calkins, 42, whose philosophy is that young people must be given a sense of personal responsibility and behavior.

John Zurich, the 16-year-old president of the junior class, was one of many who defended "all the good kids in this school" and Calkins' program of greater freedom for students. It includes "optional" study periods in which they may go to the student lounge, the cafeteria, the auditorium or to the library to study. No teachers are present.

The shocker to an adult reporter at Staples is the casualness with which the students speak of using marijuana.

Among a group of 50 in front of the school there was general nodding at estimates it had been tried by half the student body. The consensus was that it was not the affair of the school and particularly not of parents. There was the rebuttal that it was less harmful physically than cigarettes and less addictive and degrading than alcohol. "I saw the movie 'Days of Wine and Roses' on TV last night and I know I'm never going to drink," one senior said. "I haven't smoked grass (marijuana) yet but I'm going to as soon as it becomes legal and I'm certain it will."

The scholastically better students and most of the athletes say the use of drugs is vastly overestimated. Nick Alerton, a senior end on the football team, says 10 per cent among marijuana users would be his guess.

But Principal Calkins agrees that "experimentation" may be much higher than that. He says students have been coming to him in the past two weeks to talk about the situation and that he has been learning things he never knew before. Calkins says he doesn't think the problem can be solved in the schools and that candidly he personally doesn't know how it can be solved. He thinks it must come from among the young people themselves and he hopes to work to that end.

At the urging of church leaders and other civic officials in Westport, Dr. Tec is undertaking a crash project to be started in the next 10 days simply to find the extent of the problem and then try to bring into play all the forces which can contribute to solving it.

"But I can't emphasize enough that this is a national epidemic," he says. "It has blown up suddenly this very year and it's going to get worse."

Tec says young people must somehow be made to realize that marijuana is addictive in the psychological sense and in the undesirable and criminal elements with whom it brings a user in contact.

One of the latest developments is revelation that authorities now are looking into marijuana smoking at the junior high school students at Staples.

District 2-A Title on Line

White Deer will not represent District 1-A in regional playoffs for the first time in three years and although Clarendon has the top hand a three-way tie for the District 2-A title is not impossible.

At least two teams will end up tied for the District 2-B title.

All of this happened in football upsets, the most of the year Friday night.

McLean, Wheeler, Groom and Lefors are the only area teams that may not see their season end Friday night.

Clarendon leads District 2-A with a 3-0 mark followed by McLean, 3-1 and Wheeler 2-1. Wheeler, a 12-7 loser to McLean last week, hosts Clarendon while McLean plays at Gruver.

Wheeler must down Clarendon to earn a share of the 2-A title and if they win the race will end in a three-way tie same as last year when McLean won the coin toss.

In District 5-B all four teams have identical 1-1 records. Follett downed Groom 6-0 and Booker clubbed Lefors 25-8.

Last week Lefors and Follett battled to a 6-6 draw but Lefors won the game on penetrations, thus everybody in the district has a win and a loss.

Lefors plays at Groom and Booker hosts Follett Friday night and the two winners will engage in a coin toss next Saturday.

White Deer and Gruver battled to a scoreless deadlock in District 1-A Friday night but Gruver won the game on penetrations 3-0. Gruver has now completed play in the district and stand 3-0 while the Bucks, who host Stratford Friday are now 2-0-1.

Canadian won over Stratford 22-0 last week to run their season record to 5-4 and break a three game losing streak.

Miami closed out their season with a 58-8 loss to Darrouzett.

Knicks Going Strong in West

The New York Knickerbockers followed a certain editor's advice about going West and found instant success in the National Basketball Association.

A flop in the East, the Knicks are making the most of their Western tour. They defeated the San Diego Rockets 115-107 Sunday night for their fourth consecutive victory and now hover just below the 500 mark at 5-6.

Dick Barnett's scoring and Willis Reed's rebounding in a hot shooting third period paced New York to its victory. Barnett tallied 14 of his game high 22 points in this quarter as New York hit on 76 per cent of its shots. Reed yanked down 19 rebounds and contributed 21 points to the New York course during the game.

Jim Barnett and Art Williams each scored 16 points as San Diego lost its seventh straight home game. There was no other scheduled NBA action.

Baltimore Remains Only Unbeaten

By United Press International: It took Johnny Unitas just 51 seconds—and one "broken play"—to catch up to the Green Bay Packers—and enable the Baltimore Colts to hold on to their status as the only unbeaten team in the National Football League.

Unitas was held in check Sunday for 57 minutes and 41 seconds. Then he cut loose with two touchdown passes: 51 seconds apart to give the Colts a 13-0 victory over Green Bay that kept them one game ahead of the Los Angeles Rams in the Coastal Division of the Western Conference.

He might never have had the chance to throw the winning pass, however, except for the "broken play" on a fourth-down-and-six-yards-to-go situation with a minute and 40 seconds to go. Unitas was busy rushing trying to pass on the play but ran out of the pocket to the left sideline and just made the six yards needed for a first down on the Packers' 24-yard line.

On the next play, Unitas hit Willie Richardson with the payoff pass as the clock atop Baltimore Memorial Stadium showed 1:23 left in the game.

Unitas' 10-yard touchdown pass to Alex Hawkins had cut the Colts' deficit to 10-6 with 2:19 to go. Lou Michaels missed the extra point when Rich Volk, rubbing for the injured Bobby Boyd, spotted the ball improperly but the Colts' kickoff was onside and Volk recovered it on the Green Bay 34.

The Packers with a 5-2-1 record lead the weak Central Division by two games.

The Rams beat the San Francisco Forty-Niners 17-7 to remain one game behind the Colts and all but knock the Forty-Niners out of the Coastal race. Roman Gabriel's three-yard touchdown pass to Las Josephson gave the Rams a 14-7 lead in the third period and Bruce Gossett added a 27-yard field goal in the fourth period.

The Dallas Cowboys walloped the Atlanta Falcons 37-7, the New Orleans Saints defeated the Philadelphia Eagles 31-24, the Cleveland Browns downed the Pittsburgh Steelers 34-14, the St. Louis Cardinals rallied for a 27-21 victory over the Washington Redskins, the Minnesota Vikings nipped the New York Giants 27-24, and the Chicago Bears beat the Detroit Lions 27-13.

Dan Reeves scored four touchdowns, two on passes of 60 and seven yards from Don Meredith and two on one-yard plunges, in pacing the Cowboys to their sixth victory in eight games. Don Perkins grounded out 111 yards rushing to become the 10th NFL player in history to pass the 3,000-yard mark.

Walt Roberts, a 160-pound "flakeback," scored on a 91-yard kickoff return, a 28-yard run with a fumble and a 49-yard insurance touchdown. Fred Cox' 13-yard field goal with 13 seconds left climaxed a touchdown passes of 22, 14 and 13-point fourth-period rally that enabled the Vikings to beat the Giant's Bill Brown scored from the two-yard line after an 81-yard punt return by Bob Grim to cut the Giant's lead to 24-21 and Cox kicked a 37-yard field goal to tie the score. Frank Ryan threw three scoring passes of three and 41 yards. Ben Davis scored on a 52-yard punt-return and Ernie Greenbolted 27 yards for a touchdown for the Browns, who piled up a 24-7 halftime lead. Bill Nelson passed for both Steeler touchdowns.

Jim Hart's 55-yard pass to Jackie Smith set up a one-yard plunge that gave the Cardinals a 20-14 lead over the Redskins in the fourth period and Johnny Roland ended a 76-yard drive with a one-yard plunge for an insurance touchdown. South Zone Undecided

Amarillo has the North zone District 3-4A grid title safely tucked away and now awaits the outcome of the Lubbock Coronado-Tascosa tilt Friday to find out who they play in the zone playoffs Nov. 17.

Tascosa holds the South zone lead with a 3-0 reading while Coronado is 2-1. A Coronado win would necessitate a coin toss to determine the zone winner.

Amarillo blanked Caprock, 27-0 Saturday to go 9-0 for the year and finish zone play at 4-0. Caprock saw their record zip to 2-1 and season mark dip to 2-7.

Amarillo plays Palo Duro Saturday to close out regular season play while Caprock hosts Monterey in the final season game, a North zone tilt.

Monterey was upset by Borger, 7-0 Friday night to end all title hopes. The Plainsmen (4-5) have a 1-2 zone record.

Borger (2-7) and 1-2 in zone action hosts winless Pampa Friday in the season finale for both teams.

Coronado dumped Pampa 27-0 Friday, scoring all their points in the final quarter while Tascosa edged Lubbock High, 18-14 in an important zone match at Lubbock Saturday night.

Lubbock (1-7-1) plays at Plainview (6-3) Saturday to wrapup the season for both teams. Plainview, enjoying their most successful season in years, downed Palo Duro, 8-7 last week.

Knicks Going Strong in West

The New York Knickerbockers followed a certain editor's advice about going West and found instant success in the National Basketball Association.

A flop in the East, the Knicks are making the most of their Western tour. They defeated the San Diego Rockets 115-107 Sunday night for their fourth consecutive victory and now hover just below the 500 mark at 5-6.

Dick Barnett's scoring and Willis Reed's rebounding in a hot shooting third period paced New York to its victory. Barnett tallied 14 of his game high 22 points in this quarter as New York hit on 76 per cent of its shots. Reed yanked down 19 rebounds and contributed 21 points to the New York course during the game.

Jim Barnett and Art Williams each scored 16 points as San Diego lost its seventh straight home game. There was no other scheduled NBA action.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Union of Non-Working Stiffs

There is a movement under way to organize "welfare clients" into a union to get bigger unemployment checks and unspecified fringe benefits. Those promoting such a union point out that the reliefers represent a highly potent political force and they intend to use it to get everything that is coming to them.

Where "welfare clients" have banded together, their front men have been able to get more people on welfare rolls and obtain higher handouts for all the "clients." Government officials are dismayed at how this has boosted relief costs and say that a powerful welfare union could mean a welfare state in short order, with a back-breaking load placed on the non-bum element.

While it is alarming to realize that there are millions of parasites in this country who are greedily demanding more, we think there is an antidote.

No, we don't advocate a taxpayers' strike or any kind of a sitdown aimed at getting the freeloaders off the backs of people who work for a living. We think the antidote can be found in something that is happening right now—the tremendous amount of mail being sent to Washington and to State Capitols telling the politicians that taxpayers have had enough. It's a truism that he who pays the piper calls the tune, and it's the working people of America who pay the piper, not the indigents. Politicians know this and that fact will not be changed by a union of "welfare clients."

One of these days the people whose earnings are being increasingly taken from them to support "welfare clients" may demand, and get, something that would strike terror to those who toll not, neither do they spin. They may insist that "welfare clients" do more for their money than go to the bank to cash their checks. They may insist that these people do some sweat-producing toil, like shoveling snow, raking leaves or washing the windows of public buildings. So far politicians have not hurt the feelings of "welfare clients" by setting such conditions but taxpayers may get riled enough to demand this fringe benefit for the welfare union said to be aborting.

Incidentally, apart from not voting for politicians who won't give them what they want, we wonder what members of a welfare union would do in case of a strike. Stop not-working?

Anniversary of the Big Fight

It is a natural tendency that each generation of politicians and newsmen — and newsmen — fancy that the controversy at hand is the most bitter and decisive that our nation has faced. Thus the present hawk-dove debate in Congress, and all the demonstrations and agitation outside, joined with the confrontation between Congress and the White House over a tax increase and reduced spending are tending to generate extreme attitudes and superlative adjectives.

It seems improbable, as a matter of fact, that any controversy in this century can match that which gripped the nation exactly thirty years ago, in 1937, when Franklin Delano Roosevelt advanced his "pack the court" plan. Simply because that controversy involved all three branches of the government in mortal combat, rather than just the two which are contending in the present stalemate, the 1937 hassle has to take top billing.

Nor should it be forgotten that the man in the White House today, Lyndon Baines Johnson, began his march to that position by gambling his future in support of FDR's court packing plan. When the Congressman from Texas' Tenth District died, a special election was called. There were eight candidates for the office, all Democrats. Seven of the eight violently opposed the FDR court plan, as did the State's two Senators in Washington, Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard; also in opposition were Sam Rayburn and Hutton Summers, and no less than John Nance Garner, FDR's Vice-President, an institution in Texas as well as in Washington. So strong was the sentiment that the Texas State Legislature passed a resolution condemning the court plan.

But Lyndon B. Johnson rightly guessed that with seven candidates splitting the vote in opposition to the Court plan, he, as a sole supporter, could win the election, particularly with the Administration promising largesse if he could be elected. Newspapers reported that Mr. Johnson "shouted his advocacy of President Roosevelt's court reorganization all over the Texas Tenth District." And win he did.

But Roosevelt did not. After six months of the most bitter infighting in the history of Washington, 70 Senators voted against the FDR plan to appoint 6 new judges to the Supreme Court. Only 20 Senators supported the plan.

When the final vote was tallied, Senator Hiram Johnson lifted his eyes and his arms to the high ceiling of the Senate chamber and cried out for all to hear: "Glory be to God." The nation sighed "Amen!"

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

A FLAWED PROPOSAL

Many of the best informed persons in the nation today who deplore the present Electoral College system are convinced that election of the President and Vice-President by direct popular vote would be far worse than the present system. They present sound reasons for their conviction. The direct vote plan would greatly advance the centralization of our government. It would cause the Federal Government to come into the states to conduct each election. It would nullify the present system of absentee voting formulated for the convenience of the citizens of each state and the Federal Government would establish the rules for absentee voting.

In two states suffrage now begins at age 18, in one state at age 19, and in four states at age 20. Under the direct vote plan, the Federal Government would set the age limits for voting to apply to all states. Residence requirements in states would be imposed from Washington, D.C. The direct vote system would enhance power of the big city bosses. The Federal Government's conducting of presidential elections within the states would be a prelude to its conducting elections for U.S. senators, representatives, governors, state legislators, county officials, mayors and school directors.

These flaws in the direct vote plan make it highly undesirable and even dangerous to our Republic. The Electoral College system envisioned by the Founders of Freedom should not be abolished but reformed. That can be accomplished through adoption by constitutional amendment of the Congressional District plan expanding the same suffrage provided to members in the legislative field to the executive field.

Sensing The News

By SENSING THURMAN

Storming the Pentagon The horde of anti-Vietnam demonstrators that invaded the nation's capital Oct. 21 and attempted to storm the Pentagon could have been visitors from another planet. To those who saw the demonstrators close up, the mob of protesters was indeed a strange and disturbing sight. Many of the male marchers had long hair and were attired in beatnik or hippie costumes. In the line of march were individuals with Viet Cong flags or buttons proclaiming their hatred of the United States. One of the march leaders openly termed the President of the United States the real "enemy."

Those Americans who remember their history may have had a recollection of the so-called bonus army, another mob of protesters that invaded Washington a generation ago. At that time, the U. S. government was not confused about its rights and responsibilities to all the people of this nation. Under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, troops promptly cleared the bonus army out of Washington.

Unfortunately, the present administration lacks the same clear grasp of rights and responsibilities. In an excess of tolerance, it permitted the demonstrators to swarm across government property, to carry their Viet Cong flags up to the Lincoln Memorial, and in a variety of ways, to paralyze large areas of the nation's capital.

No one has yet calculated the final cost of the anti-Vietnam demonstration — to the taxpayers, that is. But it was necessary to bring soldiers to Washington from as far away as California.

There should be no misunderstanding of the meaning of the Oct. 21 demonstration around the Pentagon. It was a dry run, which enabled the communists to test their ability to disrupt the capital of the United States.

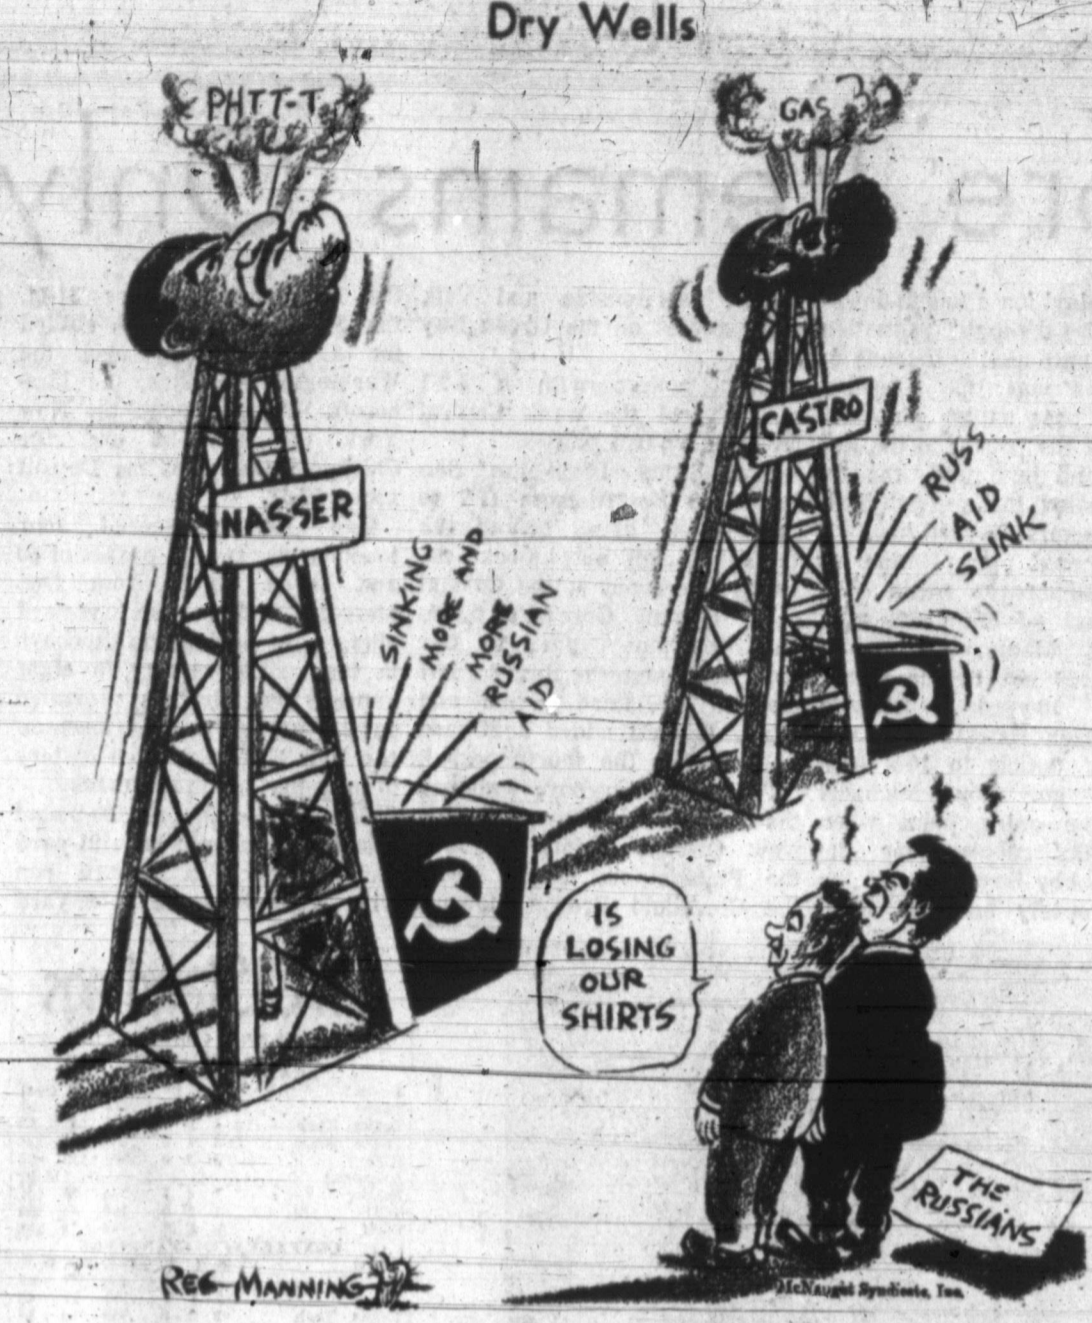

The various leftwing and revolutionary groups taking part in the Washington march are increasingly open in admitting their goal is revolution in the United States. The abortive effort to get a large number of demonstrators inside the Pentagon, nerve center of America's armed force, revealed the seriousness of the revolutionary danger. The assault group of demonstrators, which initially overran a thin line of defending marshals and soldiers at entrance No. 7 to the Pentagon, were using railroad flares in a regular assault operation.

Americans will be foolish if they imagine that the demonstration outside the Pentagon is the last such threat that will be posed directly against the U. S. government. All the evidence points to the fact that it is just the beginning.

What the public needs to appreciate is that the anti-Vietnam demonstrators — at least the leaders and planners of the assaults on the government — are conducting war from within. They are working hand-in-hand with Ho Chi Minh in North Vietnam and his Russian supporters. It is noteworthy that Ho Chi Minh sent a message of sympathy to the demonstrators in Washington. Around the world, communist front groups conducted coordinated sympathy marches.

The kind of excessive tolerance that the administration engaged in Saturday, Nov. 25, in dealing with the demonstrators, openly plays into the hands of the communists and their allies. If they believe that the U. S. government will be soft on insurrectionaries, then they will push all the harder. Actually, the administration was under no necessity to use the soft approach. The Constitution guarantees freedom of peaceful assembly, but the demonstration was anything but peaceful. Moreover, no one has the right to exercise "peaceful assembly" at any point or place. Specifically, no one, under the law, is allowed to trespass on government property or to deny the right of other citizens to use the highways for normal travel.

Unless anarchy is to spread in this country, the federal government is going to have to come down hard on Ho Chi Minh's allies in this country. Indeed the nation has to recognize that there is an enemy within — that disloyalty is a fact and has to be dealt with sternly. The press has an obligation to present, before demonstrations take place, the pro-communist character of the groups involved. The types of organizations engaged in the

The Doctor Says

Complete Abstinence Best for 'Alcoholic'

Q—My nice drinks alot. Is there any drug that is safe that she could take to stop drinking?
A—Disulfiram can be given for this purpose but only under medical supervision. It is dangerous to give it without the full knowledge and consent of the patient.

Q—My father-in-law, 79, drinks a half-gallon of wine a day. He appears to be in good health. Will the wine hurt his liver? If so, how can we get him to cut down his wine intake or give it up?

A—Wine is a great comfort to some elderly persons and, although in time it will damage the liver, this is a chance many are willing to take when they feel that their productive life is behind them. The only way to get anyone to cut his intake of alcohol is for the person himself to be convinced that it is detrimental to his health or family relationships and to want very much to stop drinking.

Q—Two years ago my husband was told that he has cirrhosis of the liver. Since then he has given up drinking except for an occasional social drink every week or two. Would this amount harm him?

A—Since alcohol poisons the liver, anyone with liver disease should abstain completely. On the other hand the liver has great regenerative powers and in two years may have recovered much of its function. Your husband should have liver function tests made to determine the present status of his liver. If the tests show the slightest loss of function, he should meet his social obligations by drinking a bloody Mary without the vodka, a bitter lemon without the gin or a concoction with out the whisky.

Q—What effect will three or four shots of liquor (and sometimes much more) have on a man? Will it affect his co-ordination?

A—Allowing at least an hour between each drink, it will have very little immediate effect but over a period of 15 or 20 years it may cause cirrhosis of the liver. Taken at a faster rate it will cause intoxication with impairment of judgment and muscular co-ordination.

Q—How do niacin and vitamin B help an alcoholic?

A—Alcohol destroys the vitamin B (including niacin). Injection of vitamin B complex into a vein helps to counteract the alcohol and shorten the hangover period.

Q—What are the symptoms of alcoholic arthritis?

A—The symptoms of any arthritis are pain and swelling in the joints but I can find no evidence that any of the many kinds of arthritis are caused by alcohol.

Washington demonstrations and storming of the Pentagon have the objective of destroying American society and our nation's strength.

Red Schools For Guerrilla Warfare In Africa Described At Pretoria Trial Of 36 As Terrorists

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

PRETORIA, South Africa — Africa's schools for slaughter, the terrorist training camps, are becoming more sophisticated.

Eight years ago Winneba, on the Ghana Coast was a joke. South African and Rhodesian African exiles spent most of their time arguing ideology and quarreling among themselves. The real business, the business of killing and destruction, took a very secondary role.

Today all that is changing. Russians, Chinese, Algerians, and Cubans with experience of fomenting bloody revolution in their own country are passing on their knowledge. Marxist discipline and methods have replaced the haphazard training of 1962. Their weapons are the best that the Russians and Chinese can supply for guerrilla warfare.

That's the ominous story witnessed here at the trial of 36 African terrorists which is being held in a former Jewish synagogue near the center of South Africa's winter capital.

The accused, who line two full benches at this mass trial, were captured in South West Africa earlier this year shortly after they allegedly returned from Communist terrorist camps in Algeria, Congo (Brazzaville), Zambia, and Tanzania.

More than 80 Russian and Chinese-made weapons, taken from the terrorists, are stacked in neat piles in the courtroom after being offered as evidence at the trial.

The weapons range from brand new Soviet submachine guns to a dozen different types of rifles and pistols designed in Russia but apparently manufactured in Czechoslovakia and Communist China.

HOW IT BEGAN — From the testimony given at the trial, which is expected to run for another month, a fairly clear picture emerges of how African candidates for guerrilla schools are inducted.

The terrorists are drawn from throughout Mozambique, Angola, South West Africa, Portuguese Guinea, South Africa, and Rhodesia. The first contact is usually made at home through a secret agent who has entered the country illegally.

Generally he promises an educational course of some kind, with the added bait that funds will be provided during the study period and all travel costs will be paid.

In some places — Like the Okavango swamps in South West Africa for example — hidden staging camps have been built with underground living quarters, communication centers, and arms and food caches. The strategy is to build up a force of 2,000 terrorists in this area from trainees in nearby Zambia and Tanzania during 1968. Approximately 100 are

SAY IT ISN'T SO "Last night I looked upon the stair; I saw a man who wasn't there. He wasn't there again today I wish that man would go away."

This childish nursery rhyme is the most apt description for a current and equally childish attitude on the part of the United States—the attitude toward the Communist fort entrenched only ninety miles from our shores. Despite evidence to the contrary, American observers of one sort and another continue to conclude that Castro's sun has set—that he is no longer (if he ever was, of course) a powerful member of the international Communist conspiracy (if it really exists in the first place). The general

The Nation's Press

"TIMIDITY" (Baltimore Sun)

When Science magazine asked the founders of the 1964 Scientists and Engineers for Johnson committee about their views on the war in Vietnam and the 1968 election recently a disturbing thing happened. "Most of those who were contacted requested anonymity as a condition of candor." Is the way the magazine put it. "(One) university administrator said he was fearful that speaking out on the war might have adverse effects on his institution's relations with Washington."

This raises the question of just what price the academic community is paying for the federal funds that mean so much to it. In the decade since the first Russian sputnik, federal funds for higher education have about quadrupled, from a billion dollars to four billion.

Science said the "timidity" of the scientists and engineers "confirms the worst fears of those who predicted that federal support for science would create inhibitions." To the degree that is true of scientists, it may be true of other educators. Perhaps colleges need to re-evaluate their dependency on federal money. The need for public money is admittedly great, but it is possible to pay too high a price for it.

FUNNY FARM BUSINESS

(The Wall Street Journal)

The Commodity Credit Corp. whose main activity is fixing the prices of farm products, is also engaged in a little interest-pegging. Its money-market maneuvering, like its price-fixing, is costly to the taxpayer. Farmers borrow from the CCC, using their crops as collateral. Quite often this is a speculative operation; the farmers hope to sell later at a favorable price and then pay off their loans.

While gains for the farmers thus may be in doubt, losses for the CCC are certain. As the General Accounting Office noted recently, the CCC borrows money at 5 1/2 per cent and then lends it to borrowers at 3 1/2 per cent.

According to the GAO, the Commodity Credit Corp.'s easy-money policy cost the Government $7.6 million in 1966. That sort of credit dealing would bankrupt any non-government lender in a hurry.

Up to now Congress seems disinclined to stop farm price-fixing, which mainly helps farmers who need no help. Failing that, taxpayers should at least demand that the CCC run its shop in a reasonably sane and businesslike way.

disinclination to fight have hampered the African terrorist movement.

But in recent months most of these obstacles were slowly being overcome by the use of dedicated Communist guerrillas from Algeria and Cuba (there are now an estimated 2,000 Cubans in Africa) into their ranks.

These Algerian and Cuban guerrillas are known as "the African Che Guevaras" after the legendary Latin American Red guerrilla leader killed recently in Bolivia.

The Pretoria trial, which has international significance, is the South African government's way of warning its people and the Western world of Moscow's and Peking's immediate and long-range designs on Africa.

In the future South African officials say the trials will be in the swamp lands, jungles, and deserts of southern Africa from the Congo to the Cape. The presiding judge, they stress, will be the man with the quickest trigger finger.

idea is: "If we ignore it, maybe it will go away."

Every straw in the wind that would substantiate the innocence of Cuba is hastily grasped by those who believe in the Non-Threat. The straws "prove" that Castro is perfectly harmless, or that his mischievous meddling in Latin America is simply his own personal hobby, and has nothing to do with Moscow or Peking.

A few months ago, for instance, the Non-Threat Group fell eagerly upon a public announcement issued by the Soviet Union. The Russians had issued a "demand" that Castro put an end to his participation in the revolutionary activities within Central and South American nations. Since that demand followed closely upon the heels of the Glassboro summit conference, the optimistic conclusion was that Johnson had pulled a real coup: He had managed to convince Kossygin to convince Castro to stop spreading Communism in Latin America.

If such a conclusion were valid—if our President could ask a favor like that of Kossygin and have it granted graciously in return for a luncheon invitation—then summit conferences would surely be the answer to all of our international problems. Indeed, LBJ ought to invite Ho Chi Minh to lunch as soon as it's mutually convenient.

Unfortunately, however, there are reasons to doubt that (1) Johnson convinced Kossygin that Communist expansionism of any sort, anywhere, should cease, or (2) the Soviets are really intent upon putting a stop to Castro's export of revolution.

If the Russians really wanted Castro to stop his meddling, all they would have to do would be cut off his allowance. He currently receives $400 million a year from Moscow.

We will believe that the Soviets mean business when they put their money where their mouth is—when they recall funds from Havana to Moscow.

The straw-graspers are more recently rejoicing over the death of Che Guevara in Bolivia. Since he is dead, the line goes, he can no longer foment revolutions, and, therefore, the danger is over. This is an interesting argument, especially when it comes from mouths which previously insisted that there was no revolution, or Che Guevara, in the first place.

But Guevara's death ended only a personal effort to "create a second or third Viet Nam" (Che's words) in the Americas. Guevara himself was not the organizer of the drive to capture Bolivia for the Reds. Nor was he the financial backer. He was merely one of Castro's deputies, receiving instructions from Havana, who in turn gets its monetary wherewithal from Moscow.

The revolution goes on—in Mexico, Guatemala, Bolivia, Venezuela and Colombia, to name a few. And the money keeps coming from Moscow. (And we keep trading with Moscow, helping her also to send supplies to Hanoi).

What is the reason for pretending? Could it be that we've promised the Soviets to leave Castro alone? Might it be true that Kennedy promised Khrushchev that Cuba would be protected by the United States from invasion?

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The announced purpose of vice president Humphrey's visit to Vietnam was to attend the inauguration of President Thieu and review the war effort. I cannot help suspecting, however, that these activities may have been only a cover.

When one fits all the pieces together, one gets a strong feeling that Humphrey's real mission was to check on the campaign by the U.S. Marine command to stamp out pinups.

Press reports indicate the campaign has been going badly. Worse, perhaps, than the Pentagon has seen fit to admit. Latest Tolls

According to the latest dispatches from Da Nang, pinup removal had been successfully carried out in only a limited area—namely, the walls of offices and other work areas.

This is the territory generally referred to in military terminology as "officer country." But in the barracks, "As and bunkers occupied by enlisted Marines, the story is different.

Even the most sanguine observers will concede that the campaign must be considered ineffective unless it can be made to work at the footlocker level. As military experts here view the matter, the main problem is the infiltration of cheesecake through the de-pinupification zone.

President Johnson is said to be under heavy pressure from hawkish elements in the Pentagon and Congress to authorize more stringent anti-infiltration measures.

The most extreme proposal advanced thus far would extend bombing targets to include Playboy Magazine.

Public Opinion

Against these advocates, however, the President must weigh public opinion polls showing that such a policy is supported by only 37 per cent of the American people, most of whom are little old ladies in tennis shoes.

The polls also show that a large segment of the American public is forming its opinion in terms of World War II pinups. Actually, of course, the caliber of pinups has greatly increased since then.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The "Public Broadcast Laboratory" series of National Educational Television bowed in coast-to-coast Sunday night, devoting almost all two-and-a-half-hour of its debut to the racial problem.

Extending its previously-announced two-hour length, and apparently altering part of its content as befits a live, experimental series—the laboratory also offered two publicized anti-commercials. One mocked the ads for 100-millimeter cigarettes, telling the viewer they contained more tar and nicotine.

The other said all aspirins are about equal in effectiveness, and suggested viewers just buy the cheapest ones. "PBL," as the series is nicknamed, is, of course, part of non-commercial television. And the anti-commercials, assuming their accuracy are a splendid idea. One would hope for many more than just two on the 24 future weekly broadcasts of "PBL" this season.

The series—in color—hopes to be a sample of what a national public television service can present.

Good, Bad Aspects

The laboratory had said it intended to stir things up, and it certainly did this on its premier. If it did not particularly break news, as it hopes to, it certainly made news in a video sense, because of some of its content. Not that all of its content was successfully presented. It had ups and downs.

The first part of the program, focusing on political contests with racial aspects in Cleveland, Boston and Gary, Ind., was professional and visually effective, but not much different from what the commercial networks do—and "PBL" is, after all, aiming at being an alternative in reportorial dimensions.

Next, however, came a lengthy segment of genuinely exciting television—an open confrontation, a dialogue, among Negroes and whites with varying views on the racial question. This confrontation, in which verbal sparks flew furiously, made the entire broadcast worthwhile in its revelation of some of the classic positions on the racial issue.

And somehow even the occasional hollering in the exchanges seemed more human than—and therefore preferable to—many of those ultra-calm, ultra-polished career talkers we usually see, and know are usually not truly representative. This dialogue was by far the highlight of the "PBL" premiere.

Kathy Gale Gets Role In Red Skelton Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Red Skelton, who was too ill to work, and Red was left with a gaping hole in his show.

It was panic button time. Choreographer Tom Hansen, however, kept his head and suggested to producer Seymour Berns that a talented blonde in the six-girl chorus might be able to fill the spot.

The girl in question was Kathy Gale who had been a member of Skelton's dance line for five years.

"Tom knew I could sing, but nobody else did," Kathy explained. "Joy was supposed to sing and dance 'Blues in the Night.' I knew the melody, but I

Andy's Specials To Be Featuring Lots of Singing

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor
NEW YORK — Andy Williams is both hesitant and excited. He's hesitant to say that his first of three NBC-TV specials is great, because he hasn't seen it. But he's mighty excited, because he was, after all, there when they taped it.

The show is called Love, Andy and it's set for Nov. 8. "We worked very hard on the show," Andy said, talking by telephone from his Hollywood office. "It doesn't have the usual musical-variety form at where you can always tell what will happen next and when the commercials are coming. We don't start the usual way, for example. There is 20 minutes of music uninterrupted by commercials. In this music, 10 different styles are represented. We have an enormous set, the biggest ever constructed at the NBC studios here. It's a labyrinth and, as the music changes, we move from one set to another. They are all keyed to color, too. For instance, for baroque music, it's all blue."

Henry Mancini, Erroll Garner and Claudine Longet, Andy's wife, are guests, but the show is built around Andy to the extent that he works with them all, there are no formal introductions, and much more music than usual.

Andy has a Columbia album due for release about the same time as the show. It's also called Love. Andy but the music is not the music from the show. "I hope that doesn't confuse people too much," he commented.

Claudine is also a top record seller, with three albums released by the A and M label. "Her first album sold over 300,000 copies," Andy said. "Of course, I'd slit my wrist if any of mine sold that many — but it's great for a female singer. They just don't sell very well."

Hold Your Breath

LONDON (UPI) — The Foreign Office said Saturday that foreign diplomats in Britain can hold their breath if stopped by a policeman on suspicion of drunken driving. A spokesman said the 3,000 foreigners holding diplomatic immunity can refuse to take the breath tests now imposed by British bobbies to prevent drivers from drinking too much.
