Greece, Turkey In Accord Over Peace Settlement

Vance Says Crisis Ends Over Cyprus

By United Press International
U.S. mediator Cyrus R. Vance said today the two-week-old threat of war between Greece and Turkey because of Cyprus was over.

"Peace was secured. My job is done and I'm going home," the presidential troubleshooter told newsmen in Athens after "final" talks.

The happy envoy met newsmen after emerging from what he called his "last meeting" with Foreign Minister Panayotis Pipinelis. Earlier today Vance, in a conference at Nicosia apparently won the support of President Makarios III of Cyprus whose approval was the last reported barrier to ending the dispute over the Mediterranean island nation.

NATO Mediator Leaves Secretary General Manlio

Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), who also mediated for peace between the two alliance members, left Athens for his Brussels headquarters, telling newsmen, "My mission has ended. Peace between the two allies was safeguarded."

"The announcement of the agreement is someone else's job."

The agreement hammered out in Athens, Ankara and Nicosia by Vance was reported to be modeled along the lines of Turkish demands. Turkey had threatened to invade Cyprus unless much of the Greek force on the island was removed promptly.

Makarios, who had been withholding approval of crisis ending terms, emerged smiling from seven hours of talk with Vance at Nicosia. He said "Yes," when newsmen asked if the conference meant peace.

Newsmen then asked Makarios, a bearded archbishop of the Greek Orthodox Church, if there would be a Turkish invasion of his island. "I don't think so," said Makarios.

Vance pronounced his crucial talks with Makarios "constructive and informative." Then he flew to Athens to convey the news to Greek leaders. Vance had been shuttling between Pampa's annual Christmas parade will be held Friday, kicking off the season of good cheer in Gray County.

Parade Marshal Bill Adams said the parade would form at the Coronado Shopping Center at 3:30 p.m. and move out at 4 p.m.

The parade route will extend south from the Coronado Center on Hobart Street to Ward Street, southeast on Ward to Francis, east on Francis to Cuyler, and south on Cuyler to Brown.

Some 20 units are scheduled to participate in the parade, including bands, choirs, civic groups, fraternities and sorority groups, businessmen, Boy and Girl Scouts, riding clubs, pets and decorated bicycles.

Prizes will be presented to winners in four sections. Non-commercial and commercial first place winners will receive a plaque and $50. Second and third place winners will receive plaques. First, second and third place winners in the pet and decorated bicycle sections will receive prizes of $15, $10, and $5.

Santa Claus will also make his first appearance of the season Friday. He will be passing out candy for pre-school children at the Coronado Center between 2-4 p.m. He will also visit with school children after the parade and pass out Christmas stockings with the help of Justice of the Peace E. L. Anderson and a crew of Santa's helpers.

Winners in Friday's parade will receive their awards at a special presentation program at 10 a.m. Saturday morning in the Coronado Inn, according to Norman Fritzer and W. C. Bass, co-chairmen of the Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Christmas street decorations were erected by the Jaycees and the Pampa Key Club last week.

Pampa Youth Listed Critical

AMARILLO — Thirteen-year-old Clyde David Hamlin, son of Mrs. Roberta Hamlin, 514 N. Rider, was listed in critical condition in Northwest Texas Hospital's intensive care unit today.

The youth was injured about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday when the motorcycle he was a passenger on was struck in the rear by a vehicle in the 2200 block of Alcock, driven by Robert Joseph Moore, 33, Skelly-own.

Hamlin was rushed to Highland General Hospital by Duendel Ambulance and Howard F. Reames, 20, of 408 N. Wells, driver of the motorcycle, was taken later by private car to the hospital. He is listed in serious condition.

Investigating officer Danny Hoheycutt said the motorcycle had just pulled onto Alcock St. from a service station driveway when the accident occurred.

The Hamlin youth was knocked off the motorcycle and suffered a possible skull fracture while Reames rode the cycle to a stop.

The cycle was estimated at a total loss while the Moore vehicle was estimated at $75 damage.

Bargain With GM

Bargaining on a contract for GM's 372,000 UAW production workers has been conducted at the subcommittee level for the past two days.

At Chrysler, where a national agreement covering production workers was reached Nov. 8, the union still has to work out local settlements at 34 of 138 bargaining units. The agreement to cover 8,000 salaried workers, which was reached early Monday, was unanimously endorsed Wednesday by the UAW's Chrysler subcommittee which urged rank-and-file ratification.

Douglas A. Fraser, head of the union's Chrysler department, said Wednesday that strike authorization has been given to locals at five plants to begin the local walkouts because agreements haven't been reached at the plant level.

Included in the strike authorizations was Chrysler's Scranton, Pa., plant which has a defense contract for tank parts for the Vietnam war. The Scranton plant employs 230 UAW members and would be shut down at 10 a.m. Monday.

Altogether, the five plants employ 12,130 UAW members. The other plants, their employees, are: (See STRIKE, Page 3)

DEADLINE NEARS

Strike Threatens Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union today was setting a strike deadline for General Motors Corp. and preparing for strikes at five Chrysler Corp. plants.

The union, which resumed negotiations with GM on a national contract Monday, called its international executive board into session today to set the bargaining deadline for the world's largest corporation.

The executive board action was expected to be approved by the union's National General Motors Council when it meets here Friday.

Houston Family Killed in Crash

FAIRFIELD, Tex. (UPI)—A Houston woman, her daughter and two grandchildren were killed Wednesday night when their car went out of control trying to pass a truck.

Killed were Mrs. Eloise G. Hermon, 69, her daughter, Mrs. Mary Norris Follett, 40, and grandchildren John Gerard Penske, 2, and Joseph E. Penske, 5. All were from Houston.

Police said the car plunged into a creek after it went out of control passing a truck on U.S. 75 about five miles south of Fairfield.

The car was almost submerged in water.

Producers Sign For '68 Tot Rodeo

Plans have been finalized for the 1968 Top O' Texas Rodeo with the signing yesterday of Beutler and Son rodeo producers to handle the stock contract. The rodeo will run from July 24-27.

The 1968 rodeo will again feature the Judy Lynn Show with top specialty acts, including Jerry Olsen and his trained buffalo act, Quail Dobbs and his educated Ford, and Senator Clem McSpadden, of Claremore, Okla., as rodeo announcer.

A special added attraction to the 1968 rodeo will be an amateur bareback riding contest open only to amateurs.

The regular rodeo events, including calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding, bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding and the girls' barrel race will round out the program.

The Pampa High School band was approved to cue the 1968 rodeo.

Plans are under consideration for sponsoring a Rodeo Queen Contest to qualify a representative of this area to compete for the title of "Miss Rodeo of America." As soon as details (See RODEO, Page 3)

Has Eisenhower Set Stage for Invasion of North?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has done a nice piece of townfield blocking for President Johnson should the administration decide to carry the ball across the Demilitarized Zone into North Vietnam.

To date, direct U.S. assaults in the North have been exclusively by air. American planes have hammered military and support targets in North Vietnam for 21 months but U.S. ground forces have been careful not to step across the line.

But Gen. Eisenhower's proposal for a limited ground invasion to knock out Communist artillery, shelling U.S. forces just south of the DMZ is very similar to the course urged on Johnson by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

So far, the President has not taken this advice.

Should he change his mind, Eisenhower's prior endorsement of such a "hit and run" operation would give Johnson a considerable weapon with which to defend himself against charges that he was irresponsibly widening the war and risking Red Chinese intervention.

The backing of the man who led the Allied armies to victory in Europe in World War II is a prize asset.

There is evidence that Eisenhower was floating a trial balloon for the Johnson administration when he made his suggestion this week that a limited ground action would not be an actual invasion but simply removing a thorn in our sides. Nevertheless, administration officials will be watching closely to see what the reaction is here and abroad.

In addition, Eisenhower and General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, who appeared on a broadcast interview with him Tuesday night, brought out the argument that Johnson undoubtedly would use if he ever felt it wise to carry out such a limited invasion.

Bradley, who recently returned from a tour of the front, pointed out that the North Vietnamese long ago violated the DMZ, carrying out a military buildup in it, and now "shoot over it right behind the protection" of the sanctuary.

There is speculation here that the impending departure of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara might lead to a limited American invasion of some sort, since he is widely believed to have been one of the principal opponents of the idea. This is far from certain, however. Other high officials besides McNamara have strong reservations about the wisdom of any invasion, however limited, of North Vietnam.

They have felt that this ran the risk of bringing the Ho Chi Minh's full strength of 330,000 troops, into play against American ground forces. At present, 54,000 North Vietnamese regulars are reported actively engaged in the fighting in the South.

There are some who fear that Communist China, despite its internal troubles, might well send several hundred thousand "volunteers" into Vietnam as Peking did in Korea—if the North is actually invaded.

Quake Hits Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (UPI)—One of the most severe earthquakes ever recorded rocked the ancient Yugoslav city of Debar today and caused loss of life, Radio Belgrade reported.

At least seven persons were reported killed and more were feared buried by the rubble. The broadcast said 80 per cent of the city's buildings were destroyed.

About 10,000 persons from the city and environs were made homeless.

The quake trembled the earth for almost 200 miles around Debar, located in an earthquake belt that runs down to Greece, Skopje, 90 miles to the northwest, was hit by a 1963 quake that killed 1,100 persons.

Debar is near the Albanian border and officials said damage might have been done in Albania but no word on the quake came out of the tiny Red Chinese satellite nation.

The Skopje observatory measured the quake between 8 and 9 on the open-end Richter scale. On the basis of available information, seismologists consider a quake that hit Japan in 1933 and one that rocked South America in 1906 as the world's most severe at 8.9 on the Richter scale.

Seismologists consider a magnitude of more than 9 on the Richter scale beyond the realm of possibility.

The quake knocked out the electricity in Debar, a Macedonian resort city with a marketplace as a tourist attraction. The quake cut communications lines and the water supply was endangered, Belgrade Radio said. An appeal went out for bread and water.

Yugoslav army units and rescue teams moved into the stricken city. The homeless were taken to Ohrid, a resort on Lake Ohrid in southern Macedonia.

The vast quake was felt throughout the region and in (See QUAKE, Page 3)

Service Men Due Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Yuletide package of pay raises was well on its way to 5 million servicemen and civilians on the federal payroll today, but for the public it looked like the last year of the 4-cent Christmas card.

The Senate approved legislation for the pay raises and an over-all increase in postal rates Wednesday and sent the bills to a House-Senate conference committee for reconciliation with similar bills passed by the House.

The Senate versions basically would provide a 4.5 per cent pay raise for 2 million civilian workers, and a 5.6 per cent raise for 3 million servicemen, both retroactive on Oct. 1.

Postal rates on Jan. 7 would go up from 5 to 6 cents for first class letters; 4 to 5 cents for postcards; 8 to 10 cents for airmail letters, and 6 to 8 cents for airmail cards.

Second class rates would go up 24 per cent in three annual steps and third class would go up 40 per cent in two annual steps.

The Senate's bills differ but slightly from the House versions and have the administrations backing, leaving little likelihood of hitchhikes that would prevent enactment this session.

The Senate did, however, add provisions for greatly expanded insurance coverage for federal employees. The House did not include this item in its bills, but (See INCREASE, Page 3)

British, Reds Work Agreement On China Border

HONG KONG (UPI)—Britain and Communist China have worked out an agreement ending months of violence along the Hong Kong-Red China border, Peking announced today.

The Communist New China News Agency announced the agreement and the details were confirmed by government officials in Hong Kong.

A crown colony spokesman said the program, which included assurances that border residents could "propagate the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung," was worked out in secret talks with Red army security forces assigned to the 17-mile border.

In return the Communists assured colony authorities that the residents would "behave themselves," British sources said.

The settlement raised hopes for a reduction in a local campaign of terror in which Communists daily plant dozens of bombs—both fake and real—in public places.

The agreement called for: —Assurances of safety for Communist border residents and promises that they be allowed to farm their lands inside the colony and "propagate the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung." —Removal of barricades on a vehicle crossing shut down by the British when several colony policemen were abducted and taken into Red China.

Changes Given On School Buses

Pampa school officials announced today several changes in parking and school bus leading procedures at Pampa High School, according to Dr. John Damron, school superintendent.

The north entrance to the high school parking lot, on Decatur St., will be blocked to traffic from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, for the safety of school bus children, Dr. Damron said.

Parents who go after their children at the high school bus terminal, are asked not to use Decatur St., which runs behind the fieldhouse, so the bus leading will be safer, he said.

Except for the hours traffic is blocked, parallel parking is permitted on the south side of Decatur St. from Duncan to the high school parking lot.

Parallel parking around Pampa High School is also permitted on Harvester St. from Duncan to Charles St., and on the north and south sides of Decatur from Charles to Russell St.

Angle parking is permitted on the north side of Decatur St., from Duncan to Charles St., and on Charles St., on the south side of Decatur, in the north entrance of the parking lot.

McCarthy May Challenge President

By ARNOLD B. SAWISLAK WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Crescent Dictionary of American Politics defines the term "boomer" as "one who takes long chances in politics."

Boomer Eugene J. McCarthy wrote that book and he ought to know. McCarthy has faced a number of risky political situations in the 20 years since he left school teaching for Congress.

McCarthy appears ready to enter four or more primaries as a Democrat opposed to Johnson's Vietnam war policies. If he does, it seems likely that much of the politically rootless peace movement will rally to him and that most regular Democrats will try to avoid him like a belled leper.

The senator says his purpose is to force the Democratic party to debate Vietnam by giving its voters a choice between the author of administration policy and a sincere critic.

Special Christmas Stamp Is Repeated

The ovation given the 1966 special Christmas stamp was so overwhelming that the post office department has issued essentially the same stamp this year as an error.

The 1967 version duplicates last year's design but it will be nearly twice as large so that the rich details of the painting may be more adequately portrayed.

The stamps are now on sale at the Post Office. Assistant postmaster in charge English noted that the use of the special five-cent stamp on Christmas cards affords first class treatment.

escalate. In a recent interview with UPI, he spoke of the need "to develop a sense of change of policy."

"I don't say the bombing should be stopped necessarily unless it is part of a some what wider withdrawal or cease-fire. You might continue the bombing to cut off supplies but I think they ought to stop bombing close to the heart of Hanoi—this is really psychological bombing now—and maybe begin to evacuate or vacate some of the areas of South Vietnam as kind of a testing to see if some order and some stability might be established."

Turning to one of his frequent literary references—Alice in Wonderland in this case—McCarthy added: "They deplore what they are doing but it's a little like the walrus and the carpenter—they weep but at the same time they continue the program and intensify it."

Sharp Reply Suggestions that McCarthy might be an advocate of running away in Vietnam got a short and sharp reply: "Oh, nobody's for a straight pullout... they say, you want to pull out, you want to cut and run, they give you some of that cattle talk all the time."

Missed Opportunities The senator is not peddling a "McCarthy plan to end the war."

When the problem is simply a lack of understanding, the teacher can be most helpful. Some additional after school help or perhaps some further explanation in class can solve the problem.

Parents can be most helpful if they can work with the child at home possibly providing some of the needed explanation. In some cases they can help by taking pressure off the child and in other cases by increasing pressure.

Personality Problems Arise There are times when personality conflicts interfere with learning. In most cases the professional teacher can avoid such conflicts before they even develop.

It is urgent that the parent meet with the teacher. This should not be an antagonistic meeting. A warm cooperative relationship between the parent and teacher can go a long way towards solving the problem.

UNVEILS IKE BUST PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle sent Gen. Henri de Bordes, a member of his personal staff, to attend the unveiling of a bronze bust of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the American Legion.

CHEF BURIED LYONS, France (UPI)—Ferdinand Loucat, former chef at the White House, was buried in the town of Voiron southeast of Lyons.

Even though McCarthy has been critical of the President's course ever since the Vietnam escalation began, some of his friends are baffled and dismayed to find him playing the peace movement's George to the administration's dragon.

The puzzlement arises from the man's character. He seems and usually behaves, more like a wry and somewhat diffident observer than a political hot-spur.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo. "Apparently, he's been smokin' political pot and tripping on LSD—let's sink Democrats."

Hopes McCarthy Runs Zoltan Ferenczy, Michigan Democratic chairman: "I hope he decides to run. It'll be for the good of the party and the country."

A Democrat who served with him in the House: "I think he has this thing about the presidency. Remember, in 1960 he was with Hubert (Humphrey) until that blew up, and then he was with Johnson and he ended up nominating Adlai (Stevenson)."

A Republican who served with him in the House: "He had sort of a reputation of being lazy. But he was the favorite of the liberal intellectuals. I guess he sort of makes their skins tickle. But I'm surprised by that. It seeks-out-of-character."

My feeling is that this doesn't show the greatest commitment or understanding of American government if you prove how faithful you are by staying on the floor of the Senate and voting 30 or 40 times over a three-month period and then have all the votes wiped out," he said.

Question: "Don't you feel what you are doing now will endanger your political career?"

Question: "Senator, you have said that you want to operate within the Democratic party in the coming year. But what if a peace party, a third party supporting the principles you stand for on Vietnam should develop? Would you be willing to be the nominee of such a party?"

Question: "Wouldn't you like to be president of the United States?"

whose vice presidential running mate McCarthy wanted to be in both 1960 and 1964, also does not put him down. His reply that it is Johnson, not McCarthy, who has fled from the policy of limited military involvement in Vietnam established by the Democratic party in the 1964 campaign against Barry Goldwater.

No Common Opinion As noted before, men who have worked with and watched McCarthy for two decades in Washington seem to have no common opinion about his present motives or future intentions.

Still, this is not a new proposition for McCarthy. Six years ago, in the first of his books, "Frontiers of American Democracy," he wrote: "It is generally accepted that there are two conditions under which obedience to the government may be withheld. First, in the event that the state has extended its authority into fields of life which do not properly belong to it; for example, it usurps the authority of the family, of religion, or if it trespasses on areas reserved for individual and personal decision and choice; and second, when the government, acting in its proper sphere, orders actions which are wrong and contrary to right reason, an extreme example of which would be either an unjust war or an unnecessary one."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. Robert Lewin, founder and president of Springbok Co., is traveling around the country looking for new ideas for jigsaw puzzles.
 She has finally come to the right place.
 This city abounds in puzzle material, or at least puzzling material, but I fear that Mrs. Lewin is not making the most of it.

She mainly spends her time visiting museums, Springbok having made a specialty of using great works of art as jigsaw subjects.

To Be Sure
 Some of these are challenging, to be sure, particularly modern art works. If you put one together wrong, it may be an improvement over the original.

It seems to me that Mrs. Lewin, or somebody, could make a fortune by combining artistic jigsaw puzzles with those by-the-numbers painting kits that many people buy for time-killers.
 The puzzle is a blank, see, with each piece having a number. Then when you get it fitted together, you fill in the numbers with paint, as indicated in the directions.

Or, if you wanted to do it the easy way, you could fill in the numbers first, (a lot of people cheat on jigsaw puzzles).
 Either way, you would end up with "Whistler's Mother." And the zigzag lines running across the painting wouldn't matter because the old lady was pretty wrinkled anyhow.

Other Material
 But, as I was telling Mrs. Lewin during her stop here the best puzzle material in Washington isn't found in art museums. Here are some of the things I think would be far more difficult and interesting to fit together than the pieces of a masterpiece:

—An enlarged photograph of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's hair. It runs every which way and a puzzle fan could go nuts trying to figure out which strand goes where.

—A schematic diagram of the Pentagon. That would be difficult to put together even if the puzzle had only two pieces.

—A four-color graph of President Johnson's popularity rating during the past four years.

—A reproduction of the Code of Ethics adopted by the 86th Congress in 1958.

There are many other puzzle possibilities I could point out to Mrs. Lewin. But first I want to find out whether she is going to put me in on the royalties.

What Did Dak To Battle Prove?

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
 When North Vietnamese Communist forces fell back from the battle of Dak To, leaving more than 1,600 of their own dead behind, plus more than 200 Americans, they also left two important questions.

It had been rated the costliest battle of the war, and this raised the first question, what had the Communist hoped to achieve?

U.S. military men believed the Communists had prepared for the Dak To operation from sanctuaries in Cambodia and had retreated to these same sanctuaries.

Despite vigorous denials from Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk, the charge that Cambodia long had afforded a refuge for Communist Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces was an old one which suddenly was receiving more attention.

Department spokesman told newsmen that "North Vietnamese troops are believed to cross the ill-defined border between South Vietnam and Cambodia fairly frequently."

Hollywood Undergoing Boom Again

By RICK DU BROW
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Despite the annual death knells sounded for this film town by outsiders, there is a widespread feeling here that Hollywood may be beginning one of its biggest boom periods. And the changing face of television is a factor in all this.

A decade ago, with most of the major Hollywood studios losing their all-embracing power, with foreign films moving into the spotlight and with standard television series gaining ascendancy, an entertainment revolution was effected.

The collapse of the studios' stranglehold enabled individual stars to fill the town's power gap. The old guard was all but dead and a new generation of creative young executives had not yet arrived in force on the Hollywood movie scene. The action was in the fantastically popular new medium of television, and that's where the brightest young industry people were going to learn the ropes and make their names.

Yard Called On To Help Find Texans Father

LONDON (UPI)—A woman from Brownsville, Tex., has enlisted the help of Scotland Yard to find her father, who has not contacted her in 13 years.

Julia Collins, 30, of Brownsville said her father, Eric Henry Collins, told her in 1954 he was going back to his home, London, but she has not seen him since.

The woman's parents were married in 1934 in Mexico, where he was an engineer. The marriage dissolved in 1939 and Miss Collins saw her father only once after that—in 1954 in Chicago.

She said, "It has become an obsession with me to find him." She saved up $600 from her urgent need of television for more new movies and specials, and the presence in Hollywood of video's bright talents who are turning to motion pictures—

Solons Question Mac's Leaving

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The offer of the World Bank presidency to Defense Secretary Robert McNamara appeared certain today. But some senators were asking whether his impending departure from the Pentagon was really voluntary.

A spokesman for the bank Tuesday night finally confirmed officially reports that McNamara had been nominated for the job by President Johnson. It was expected that the bank's 20 executive directors would act "within the reasonably near future—perhaps today—on the nomination."

The White House still was not confirming that McNamara had been nominated, though it was careful to deny that his departure from defense would mean any change in the conduct of the Vietnam war.

FALLEN COMRADES in the bloody struggle for Hill 875 are honored by paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade at Dak To, South Vietnam.

Romney Changes Views on Viet

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—In 1965, after spending three days in South Vietnam, Gov. George Romney of Michigan concluded that U.S. participation in the war there was "morally right and necessary."

Romney, now a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, no longer believes the war is right. He now says it was a "tragic mistake" to have become "mired" in the land war.

He charges the United States has "Americanized" not only the fighting war in Vietnam but also the war for social, economic and political reform. And as the United States does more, Romney says, the South Vietnamese do less.

He questions the effectiveness of massive air strikes into North Vietnam, saying they will not bring Hanoi to the bargaining table.

Romney had gone so far as to suggest that the massive U.S. military buildup created the "conflict that now exists between communism and freedom" in Vietnam.

With dramatic but probably accidental language, Romney told a television interviewer that U.S. generals and diplomaats "brainwashed" him in 1965 into believing the United States was in South Vietnam mainly in a support role.

Rejects Domino Theory

Romney claims his present belief that the war is not "morally right and necessary" is the only shift he has made in his position since 1965. It is a major shift, for the presence of nearly 500,000 American soldiers on Vietnam soil is based on the contention that without them South Vietnam and eventually all of Southeast Asia would fall to the Communists.

Overshadowed in that Sept. 4 "brainwash" interview was Romney's statement that he "no longer believes" that it was necessary for us to get involved in South Vietnam to stop Communist aggression in Southeast Asia and to prevent Chinese Communist domination of Southeast Asia.

Earlier, at a news conference in August, Romney rejected the "domino" theory as a valid rationale for a large commitment of U.S. troops. This theory in its purest form holds that if one Southeast Asian nation falls to the Communists the rest will tumbel. Variations on this theme were espoused by President Eisenhower and his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

The irony is, Romney believes, that "we built this thing up" into a major military confrontation and created a domino situation of the type "we had been talking about before we became involved."

He places the blame for U.S. "entanglement" in Vietnam on Democratic Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, especially Johnson, and absolved Eisenhower of responsibility.

"We must acknowledge the wisdom of President Eisenhower's decision 13 years ago not to deploy ground troops in Vietnam," Romney said in a speech at Hartford, Conn., April 7. Withdrawal "Unthinkable"

Yet Romney rejects the argument that it is either possible or advisable for the United States to withdraw from Vietnam or even lessen the effort there.

"It is unthinkable that the United States should withdraw," he said at Hartford.

He warned Hanoi—in April,

September, and October—not to be deluded into thinking that there would be a lessening of U.S. determination if either he or any other Republican is elected president in 1968.

Romney does not necessarily define determination in military terms. Two years ago he said "we are too inclined to put too much emphasis on the military aspects of the conflict in South Vietnam."

"I am certain it is not going to be won by bombing and military action," he said at the time.

The South Vietnamese, Romney says, must carry the burden of breaking up the Viet Cong guerrillas, most of whom Romney considers "disenchanted nationalists" being directed by North Vietnamese and Chinese Communists.

Warns of Danger

The South Vietnamese government, he says, must win over these disenchanted through social, political and economic reform.

At Hartford Romney said Saigon should be prepared to negotiate a "peace with amity" with Viet Cong guerrillas who lay down their arms. He emphasized, though, that he does not favor forcing a coalition government on South Vietnam.

More recently Romney has proposed a neutralization of a wide area of Southeast Asia, including North and South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, and perhaps Thailand. New international machinery would be needed to supervise the neutrality of the area, he said.

Romney's most detailed statement on overall foreign policy was made Aug. 4 in a Chautauqua lecture in New York.

The United States, Romney said, is in danger of dissipating its energies "running around on a bucket-brigade trying to put out every fire that comes along."

Military intervention, he said, can be justified only if there is a "genuine threat to the balance of world peace... (and in the) absence of local resources to meet that threat."

Kremlin Charges U.S. Attaches Were Drunk

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Kremlin claimed Wednesday that American and British military attaches who said they were drugged and attacked in Soviet Moldavia actually had gotten themselves drunk on wine and Scotch whisky.

The Americans and British embassies, in terse and nearly identical statements, repeated charges of drugging.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said U.S. embassy attache Col. William J. Spahr and his British colleague, Brig. C.A. Des N. Harper, spent three hours at a wine-tasting finished with a bottle and a half of Scotch, wrecked their hotel room and passed out.

Izvestia quoted the two officers as telling each other, "by our actions we have soiled our nations."

The two embassies said medical tests showed the two men had been drugged at a wine-tasting session near the Soviet Moldavia capital of Kishinev during a visit on Nov. 17.

The two attaches became nauseous and passed out after returning to their hotel. The embassies said five or six men later "broke into their room,

City Sales Tax Is Flying High

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The local option city sales tax is flying at heights even its most optimistic supporters find hard to believe.

The one per cent levy will have been put to the voters' test in all but two Texas cities with populations above 50,000 by the end of next month, and judging on past performances, it will probably win in almost all of them.

The tax went into effect Aug. 28, but in the three months since then it has chalked up a record of 33 victories and only two defeats. It was turned down at Lufkin and Electra.

Its opponents in the 60th Legislature, which passed the enabling legislation after a fillip, American policy and indicated the Soviet Union still in unwilling to take any initiative toward peace talks.

Hanoi must decide its own destiny, Kosygin said. But he echoed the North Vietnamese line that bombing must stop before negotiations can be arranged.

Kosygin's comments were reported in paraphrase by Nilsson after the talks.

buster slowed it up, doubted that more than one Texas city would call election before 1968.

Observers felt it was a hot potato which could spell defeat for any city council endorsing it, and said many legislators putting his name on the bill would pay at the next election.

However, 69 more cities will vote on the tax within the next week, and another 66 have set elections before the end of the year. Eighteen more have indicated they will make the plunge next month also.

By Jan. 1, the only cities above 50,000 population still not voting on the levy will be Amarillo and Beaumont.

There will be two votes Saturday when Galveston and Kilgore have elections, but the biggest test to date will be Tuesday.

On that day, 67 Texas cities have set votes, including the largest metropolitan areas in the state.

Houston voters will join residents of Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Waco in deciding the fate of the levy.

Others in the Dallas-Fort Worth area are going to the polls Tuesday include Arlington, Carrollton, Cleburne, Garland, Grand Prairie, Haltom City, Irving, Lake Worth, Lewisville, Mineral Wells, Richardson and Richland Hills.

jumped the officers, took their documents and broke up the room.

The embassies said Wednesday they still consider the whole affair "a serious breach of diplomatic immunity."

The Izvestia account, they said, was identical to an earlier, unpublicized statement by the Soviet Foreign Ministry which was "totally inaccurate and clearly inadequate."

Izvestia said Spahr and Harper drank themselves into a stupor at the wine-tasting.

Izvestia said an Intourist guide and the officers' chauffeur helped the two attaches to their room which they proceeded to tear up after topping off the afternoon's wine drinking with a bottle and a half of whisky.

The paper said a hotel attendant found the officers lying unconscious.

A Soviet doctor diagnosed "an extreme state of drunkenness."

War may spread.

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei I. Kosygin said today American refusal to end the bombing of North Vietnam risks the danger the war will spread.

"The temperature in the world is high and dangerous," Kosygin said during a one-hour conversation in the Kremlin with visiting Swedish Foreign Minister Thorsten Nilsson.

If the United States does not end the bombing, the Soviet premier said, then the war will be prolonged and may spread.

As long as the war goes on, he said, the chances for international relaxation are harmed.

White House Rejects As 'Nonsense' Reported Rift

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House today rejected as "nonsense" reports of a rift between President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara. The World Bank's directors met meanwhile to discuss the nomination of the Pentagon chief to become the bank's president.

White House Press Secretary George Christian was parrying reporters' questions about the impending—but unofficial—departure of McNamara as defense secretary, the banks' 20 directors were meeting a few blocks away.

The bank finally confirmed late Tuesday that McNamara had been nominated by Johnson to become its president but a spokesman said today only that an announcement regarding the final selection probably would be made "within a few days."

Christian, at a midday news conference, said once again there was no positive information he could supply at this time concerning McNamara.

A reporter pointed out that the Chief Executive's public silence on McNamara's status was leading "some highly placed persons" in Washington interpret this as a Johnson slur of McNamara.

"I would classify as nonsense any inference that anyone here (White House) is making an effort to cast aspersions at Secretary McNamara or anybody else," said Christian.

Christian opened his meeting with reporters without waiting for questions.

"On the matter of the World Bank," he said, "the situation as far as the White House is concerned is about the same as it has been. There has been no official action, no resignation, no appointment involving Secretary McNamara."

"I cannot, therefore, get into the matter until facts develop on the situation."

There were several published reports today that McNamara was not leaving entirely of his own accord—or at least not at a time of his precise choosing. Congressional sources tended to partly support some of these suggestions.

The sources said McNamara was caught by surprise on the timing of Johnson's nomination of him to head the World Bank. The question of whether McNamara was going voluntarily or being "transferred" was raised on the Senate floor Tuesday by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Kennedy said in an interview today he had telephoned the secretary this morning to say he hoped his remarks had not embarrassed McNamara in any way. Kennedy said he was assured... they had not.

Informed congressional sources said they understood that although the possibility of McNamara's nomination for the World Bank had been under discussion between Johnson and the secretary, McNamara was not informed that the President had submitted it until after it was done.

The timing question was raised by reporters with Christian. He said simply that he felt certain the facts of the matter would come out ultimately

Pretty Paula Setting Records

DENVER (UPI)—Pretty blonde 25-month-old Paula Kay Hansen of Fort Worth is one of four liver transplant patients at Colorado General Hospital setting records every day for surviving the operation.

But the little girl, who has lived 121 days since her operation, still is in danger and doctors term her condition "serious."

Dr. Carl G. Groth, a member of the transplant team, qualified her condition further.

"She's doing fairly well although her liver function is poor," he said. Three other girls are listed in "good" condition. A fifth girl underwent the operation Saturday.

Doctors are battling Paula's natural rejection of foreign tissue in the body. The rejection process has been the major hazard in transplant operations.

Doctors said the efforts to combat the rejection "have not been too successful" in comparison with the other young patients.

Paula Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Hansen of Fort Worth.

Doctors said Mrs. Hansen is kept busy in Fort Worth with her other children.

The child is being cared for by a foster grandmother—a hospital volunteer—Mrs. Vera McDonald of Denver.

Eisenhower Donates Farm as Historic Site

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has donated his 189-acre Gettysburg, Pa., farm to the government as a national historic site, the White House announced Wednesday.

Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, will continue to occupy the house and use the farm facilities during the general's lifetime. But afterwards control of the farm, adjoining the Gettysburg National Cemetery, will revert to the government and will be opened to visitors.

Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said the property was transferred formally last Monday in a small ceremony at Gettysburg. Udall said he was

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old girl with a big problem. Please don't laugh, Abby, but my problem is that I am ticklish. And I mean like if someone just tickles me a little bit, I practically go into hysterics. Of course nearly everyone who knows me knows about how ticklish I am, but my uncle in particular takes advantage of this, and he will get a hold of me and tickle me until I am so played out from laughing and screaming that I always end up crying.

My parents aren't much help, Abby, and I can't handle this alone. Please tell me what to do.

TICKLISH
DEAR TICKLISH: Being ticklish is no laughing matter, and I sympathize with you. Your uncle sounds like a first class nuisance. Who's probably sadistic to boot. When you see him next, give him full warning that if he so much as puts a hand on you, you will riot him with a lamp, or whatever is handy. Then go ahead and do it. No jury would convict you.

DEAR ABBY: I am 38. I have four practically grown children, and I have a problem. The likes of which you've never heard. I guarantee you.

Six months ago I married a 47-year-old man, also divorced with three children. I had been a divorcee for six years. My husband assured me I had nothing to worry about because he had had an operation nine years before that made it impossible for him to father any more children. Naturally I took his word for it. Well, something went wrong because I am four months pregnant. My doctor confirmed it. I am just furious, Abby. My husband went back to the doctor who performed that operation on him, and the doctor said that the operation is 100 per cent foolproof, there are no failures, and if I am pregnant, the baby can't be my husband's. Abby, I KNOW the baby can't be anybody else's.

Tell me, are those operations on men always successful? If so, how come I am PG? Can a blood test prove that my husband is the father of my baby? If he is, can my husband sue his doctor?

PG AT 38
DEAR PG: The operation your husband had is called a "vasectomy." If properly performed, it is 100 per cent foolproof, but unfortunately it is not always properly performed. If your husband is indeed your baby's father (and I believe you when you say he is) then he should go to a urologist for a "sperm test." This will show beyond a doubt whether he is able to produce children or not. A blood test can be taken only after the baby is born, and can determine only who the baby's father is. NOT who he IS. Your husband CAN sue his doctor. Whether he can collect is another question.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a pilot for a big air line, and on layovers in different cities the stewardesses frequently go out with the fellows, and on occasion they go to dinner, movies or sightseeing. My husband says this is the accepted thing. I am consumed by jealousy and tied up in knots just thinking about it. I need advice on how to handle the situation so I don't question him too much and get into fights with him when he comes home.

I don't have any reason to doubt my husband but I worry myself of the jealous feelings I have. I love him very much, and am so afraid of what might happen as a result of the pretty new young faces that surround him. Can you help me?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: Jealousy is a sickness. The twin demons which usually cause it

Try This Holiday Crown of Silver

By PATRICIA KING
N.E.A. Beauty Editor
NEW YORK, (N.E.A.) — With holiday and party time almost upon us, many of the more mature women will want to devote a little more effort to their good looks.

Today's happy grannies are not spending their days rocking in a chair. More likely, if they are seeking it's on the cruise ship, in a country club or entertaining at home.

Today, the woman whose hair begins to turn gray or white has a choice. She can color it or let nature take its course.

If you're one of the girls who has made the decision to color, you must be prepared to spend extra time on the comb and styling of your hair. Unless you are prematurely gray or white, you are now at the stage in life when skin care and weight maintenance need special attention. But no matter how beautiful your figure, clothes or complexion, unkempt or badly styled hair will always spoil the effect.

As hair grays, its texture coarsens and oil content decreases. According to hairstylist Jerry Pandora, this combination of dryness and coarseness usually results in hair becoming added electricity and general unmanageability. In addition, the lack of abundant natural oils causes the hair to lose its luster.

To help remedy this situation, Pandora advises a shampoo approximately every 10 days. More frequent shampooing is likely to rob your locks of precious oil. A shampoo formulated for dry hair removes a minimum of natural oil and contains conditioners which add shine to the hair. Following your shampoo, a cream rinse with body will refine hair texture and add more luster.

Remember that gray and white hair usually grows with uneven color distribution, so you may find some type of is if once-did, therefore occasionally may not look as if it needs a trim. But dry split ends are one of the major causes of unmanageability and should be snipped off periodically.

By paying careful attention to the care and styling of your gray or white hair you can easily turn into the envy of every "girl" in the bridge club.

GRAY OR WHITE HAIR can be exceptionally flattering when it is properly cared for. A strict regimen of cleanliness goes for all kinds of hair, however, silvered hair need be washed only every 10 days. More frequent shampooing is likely to rob your locks of precious oil. As the hair grays, it also becomes dry and loses some of its luster.

Fairbanks High on List for Coach of Year

By BUD WILKINSON
 History may be repeated when the major college football "coach of the year" is named next month. Once again, a man who last February had no idea he would even be a head coach may be selected by his coaching associates. For the high honor this year, the winner may well be Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma.

Last season it was Tom Cahill of Army. Tom was elevated suddenly from coach of the plebe, or freshman, team to the head job when Paul Dietzel left West Point for South Carolina. Cahill directed a makeshift spring practice, then led the Cadets to a great season.

Fairbanks arrived at his present position in somewhat the same manner, but under truly tragic circumstances. He was an assistant to head coach Jim MacKenzie, who in his first year had directed the Sooners to a fine season in 1966.

During spring practice this year, MacKenzie died suddenly of a heart attack. The Oklahoma administration quickly decided to replace him with a staff member and settled on the 34-year-old Fairbanks. It was a wise and fortunate choice.

Picked to finish no better than third or fourth in the Big Eight Conference, the Sooners already have clinched the title. They're 8-1 for the season with Oklahoma State still to play and they have accepted an Orange Bowl bid against Tennessee.

Before I am accused—correctly—of having more than a cursory interest in Oklahoma football, I will point out that Fairbanks certainly is not the only candidate for coach of the year. In the eyes of many of his colleagues, another man may be the lead candidate.

That recognition may well belong to Johnny Pont, who has done such a remarkable job this season at Indiana. Winners of only one game last season, the Hoosiers, in one of the great reversals of form in football history, have lost only one this year and have captured the Rose Bowl bid.

They did it the hard way, too. After being beaten soundly by Minnesota, they faced third-ranked Purdue in their final game. They were playing their biggest game and their hopes for a bowl bid were on the line. Few other than themselves believed they could win, particularly after losing the week before.

But they managed the upset. The win established Pont even more firmly as a strong choice for the top coaching honor. It will be a difficult choice for the voters in considering Pont and Fairbanks, but they can be assured that in selecting either coach they can't go wrong.

The team of both men proved themselves in the most difficult circumstances, coming from behind to win in the fourth period, and bouncing back after defeat to win their most important victories. Oklahoma won the conference race after a heartbreaking loss to Texas, and Indiana shook off the Minnesota loss to handle Purdue.

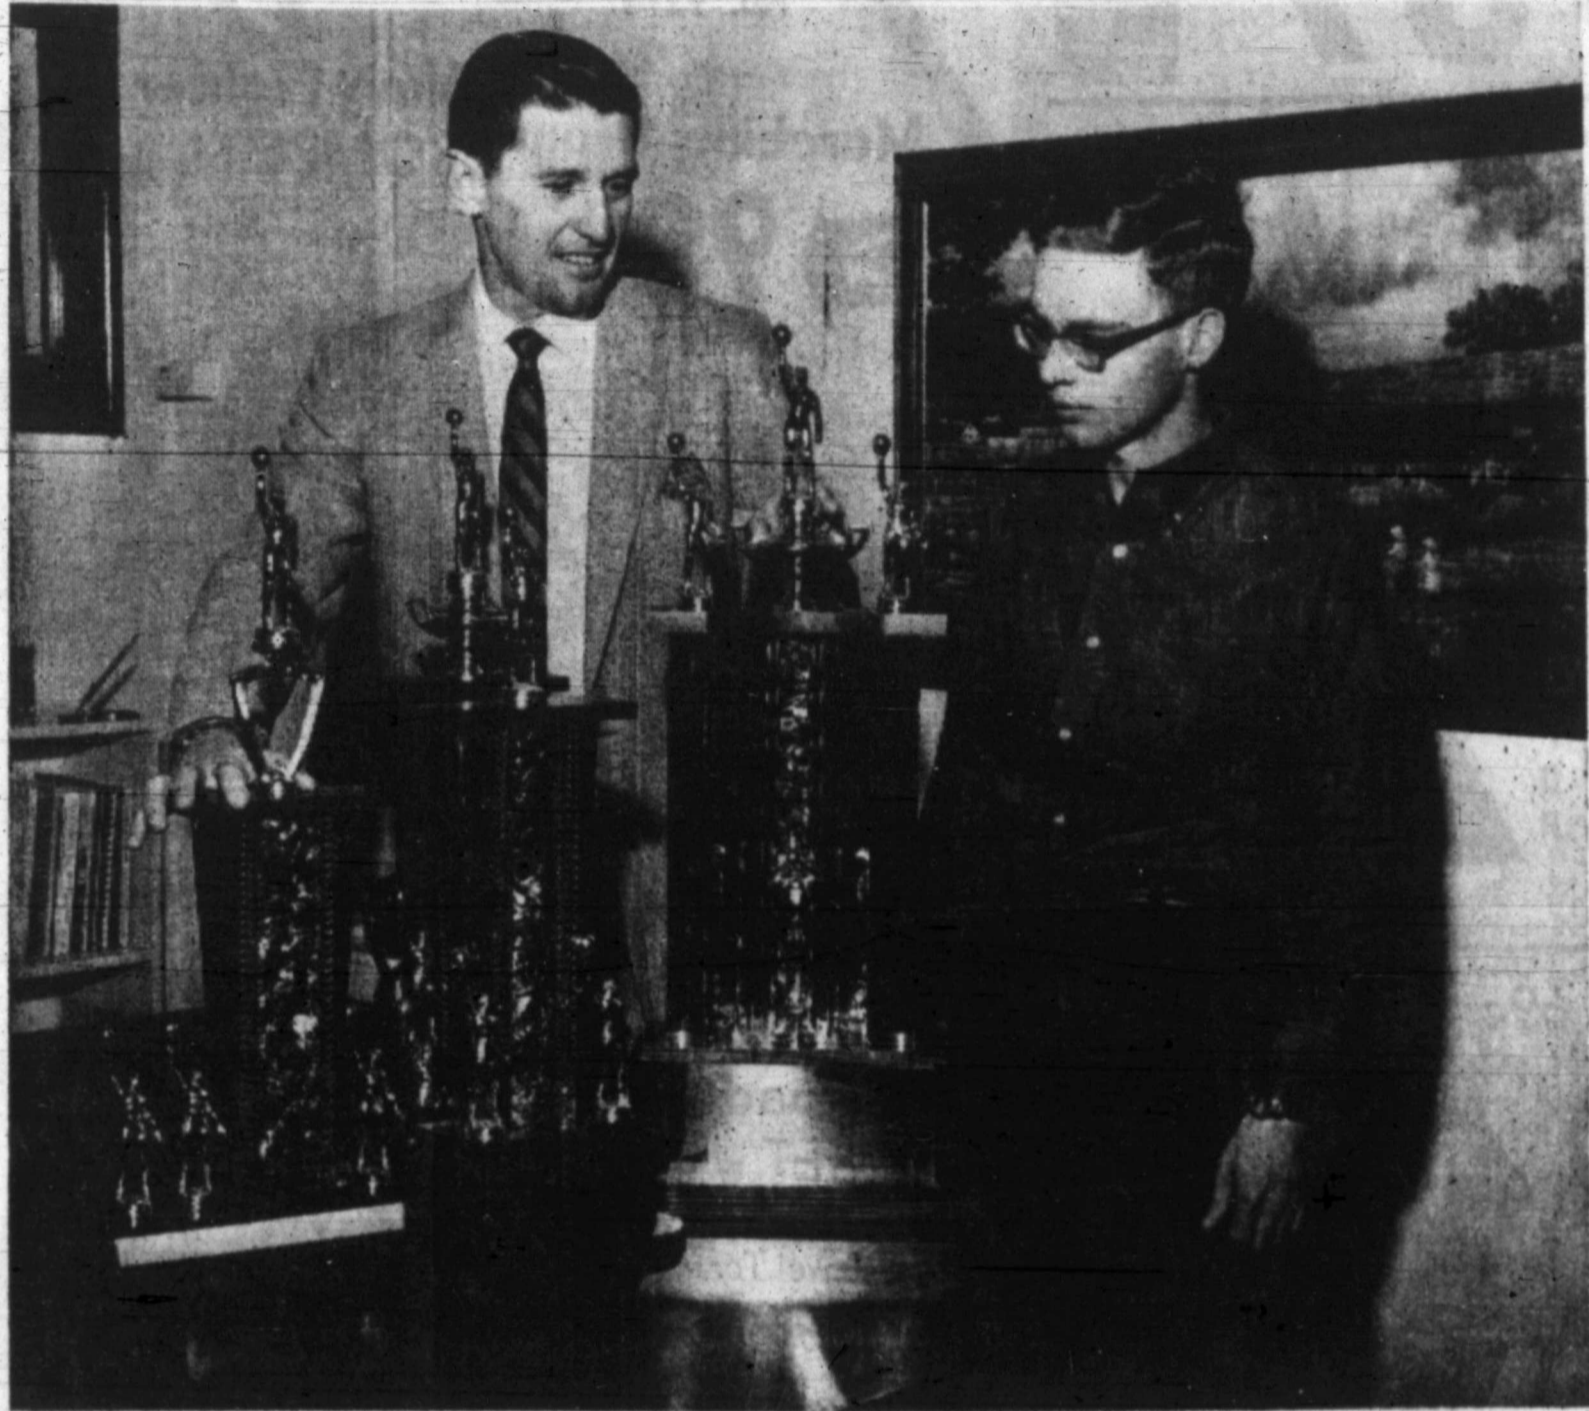

Fairbanks could be a sentimental choice because of the situation that caused his selection. In accepting the job, he said he was dedicated to MacKenzie's ideals and philosophy of college football and that he would be happiest if he could accomplish MacKenzie's primary goal of winning the conference title.

He shares another common coaching point with Pont, and the two share it with all outstanding coaches. They leave nothing to chance and work hardest on the little things that some coaches tend to overlook. The result is that their teams look, and play, like champions.

The coach of the year honor is one that any coach would cherish. This season, as in most seasons, it's unfortunate it can't go to more than one man.

UCLA Gets UPI Cage Nod

NEW YORK (UPI)—UCLA, boasting what could possibly be the finest collection of talent ever assembled at one school, was the unanimous choice today of the United Press International Coaches Board in pre-season ratings to repeat as national college basketball champions.

The Bruins received all 350 points from the 35-man board based on 10 points for each first place vote. UCLA, winner of 30 national title in five years, finished that campaign as the No. 1 rated team with 349 points.

Led by giant Lew Alcindor and a supporting cast of Lucius Allen, Lynn Shackelford, Ken Heitz, Mike Warren, Edgar Lacey and Mike Lynn, the Bruins will be after their fourth national title in five years. Houston, kingpin of the Southwest Independents, was ranked second. The Texans, guided by Big Elvin Hayes, received 286 points.

Kansas, shooting for a third straight Big Eight Conference championship, was given third place in the rankings with 265 points. Coach Ted Owen's Jayhawkers possess a top-flight scorer in Jo Jo White.

TRADES FAST AND FURIOUS

NL Ponders Expansion

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The National League doesn't know whether to sit tight or get off the idea of expanding as late as 1971.

The idea belongs to President Warren Giles and if all 10 NL owners go along with it today, the American League, which already has committed itself to expanding in 1969, will get a two-year jump.

Both leagues get together at a joint meeting today and the AL will tell the NL what it already knows—that starting in 1969 Kansas City and Seattle will be added to the junior circuit structure.

"Then we'll go into a meeting of our own and decide what we're going to do," explained Giles. "I've said I'm in favor of expanding in 1971. I believe in preparing for a big step like this minimum of three years. But that's only my opinion. I can't speak for all the others in our league."

All the others in Giles' league do not necessarily go along with him.

now interested in a new franchise "suddenly may lose interest."

Although they won't be allowed to make any presentations, there are representatives here from all cities seeking NL franchises.

Dick Butler, former Texas League president and now general manager of the Dallas-Fort Worth club of the same circuit, is hopeful of having the NL decide in favor of a franchise in that area. Judge Robert Cannon, former legal counsel for the major league players, is representing a Milwaukee group. Joe Mulvaney, president of the San Diego club in the Pacific Coast League, is among a delegation from that city, and Buffalo is represented by Jack Guthrie, president of the Buffalo Bisons.

Yanks Lose Out
 On the trading front, the New York Yankees pressed their hunt for a shortstop after striking out a second time. They tried Joe Zito Versalles and then failed again when Luis Aparicio went from Baltimore back to the Chicago White Sox in a six-man deal.

To get the 33-year-old Aparicio back after a five-year absence, the White Sox gave up pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. Along with Aparicio, the White Sox got outfielder Russ Snyder and rookie first baseman-outfielder John Matias, who then was sent to the White Sox.

The Cleveland Indians and California Angels completed the latest deal when they traded Chuck Hinton and Jose Cardenal to the White Sox.

HEYMAN TO PLAY
 PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Art Heyman, 6-foot, 5-inch former star at Duke University, is expected to be in uniform Thursday night when the Pittsburgh Pipers play the Anaheim Amigos in an American Basketball Association game.

The Pipers acquired Heyman Wednesday when they traded Barry Leibowitz to the New Jersey Americans.

Gruver, White Deer Pace I-A All-District Squad

District I-A champion Gruver led the district in All-District selections released today by the IA coaches. White Deer was second and Stratford third in the number of players named on the offense and defensive teams.

Coaches picked an offensive team, a defensive team and honorable mention.

Gruver landed nine boys, five on offense and four on defense while the Bucks had two players named to the offensive team and four to the defensive squad.

On offense, named at center was Delton Judd of Stratford, a senior and Norman Butts, junior from Gruver.

Gruver senior Jerry Hart and Canadian senior Charlie Ortega were named offensive guards while Mike Edwards, another Gruver senior, and White Deer's Monte Kreis were named tackles.

Donnie Woolsey of Stratford, a senior and Gruver senior Lanny Wilson were named to the end spots.

In the backfield White Deer's Stan Bush was named quarterback, he is a junior while Dan Ralston a Gruver senior, Jerry Faulkner, Canadian senior, Mark Lamp, a junior and Donnie Hawkins, a senior, both of Stratford, were named in the backfield.

On the defensive team Donnie Hawkins, Stratford senior, was named middle guard. Mike Edwards, Gruver senior, Jesse Martinez, White Deer senior, and Sunray junior Dewey Bain were named tackles.

Defensive ends named were Gruver senior Jerry Hart and White Deer senior Monte Kreis. Linebackers are Mike Hawpe, senior Buck; Ricky Barkley, Gruver senior and Canadian's Ortega.

The coaches picked four boys for the secondary including Ronald Brooks, Stratford senior; James Duke, White Deer junior; Lanny Wilson, Gruver senior; Jimmy Nicholson, Canadian senior and Sunray senior Kenny Rives.

Pampa Eyeing 13th Title in ToT Tournament

Tough, poised and ever-so deadly Pampa opens defense of its Top O' Texas basketball tournament at 8:30 p.m. tonight in Harvester Fieldhouse.

The Harvesters (3-1) host Burk Burnett in the final game of a three-game card today in hopes of reaching Friday's semi-finals and Saturday night's finals, something they have done in the 12 previous ToT tournaments.

The first game today got underway at 3 p.m. with Elk City, Oklahoma's Class A state champions in 1967 meeting Childress and a match between Canyon and Woodward, Okla. followed at 4:30 p.m. Dumas and Berger collided at 7 p.m. in the first evening game.

A win by the Harvesters tonight would pit them against the Canyon-Woodward winner at 8:30 p.m. Friday. The Childress-Elk City winner meets the Dumas-Berger winner at 7 p.m. Friday.

Consolation finals get underway at 7 p.m. Saturday and the Championship game starts at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Harvesters will be decked out in new uniforms tonight. The new suits arrived Wednesday.

Giants Favor Expansion
 The San Francisco Giants, for one would like the NL to expand the same time the AL will in 1969.

"I know this much," said Giles. "We won't name any of the new cities today. But I hope to get some sort of timetable as to when we will expand. I'm sure we'll also discuss how we will allocate players for new clubs and what the price will be for a new franchise."

The last four cost approximately $2.2 million each. The next four may go for anywhere from $5 million to more than $10 million. If it goes as high as the latter figure, some cities

SWC Teams Work Light

By United Press International
 The four Southwest Conference football teams with remaining games to play this weekend had a light workout Wednesday.

A couple of hardy teams, Texas Christian and Baylor, worked out in the rain.

Frog coach Fred Taylor said his team was "in real good spirits" and should be in top physical strength for the game against Southern Methodist Saturday.

TCU concentrated on pass defense, wary of the Mustangs' passing attack.

South Arabia Given Freedom

GENEVA (UPI) — Britain granted independence today to South Arabia and the crown colony of Aden, ending 129 years of colonial rule in the territory.

A formal independence agreement was signed only 11 hours before the proclamation of independence in the new nation, calling itself the Peoples Republic of South Yemen.

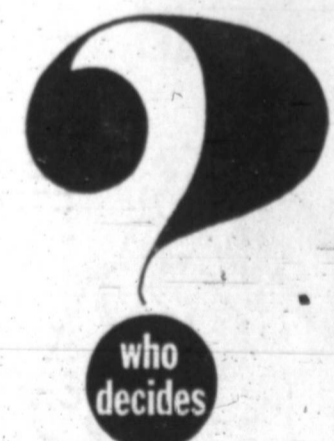

The National Liberation Front (NLF) and a rival nationalist organization—the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen (FLOSY)—waged a bloody civil war for years over which would take control when the British left. The army decided the struggle by accepting the NLF as the ruling party.

The signing came after a 19-hour negotiating session. Signing for Britain was Lord Shackleton, minister without portfolio who headed the United Kingdom delegation, and for the new republic, Qahtan As-Sbaabi, leader of the NLF who at midnight, Aden time, becomes president.

The pact was a remarkable achievement. The negotiations in the local YMCA office took only 10 days and were concluded in time to meet the Nov. 30 deadline. Before the came to Geneva, Britain at the NLF had never formally met in diplomatic contact. A joint communique said Britain and South Yemen would "establish diplomatic relations and exchange ambassadors."

VENICE (UPI)—Health authorities ordered stern checks on factories on the Venetian mainland Tuesday after finding thousands of dead fish in the Venetian lagoon were poisoned by potassium cyanide. The authorities said they believed the poison was dumped illegally into the lagoon by factories using it for chemical processes.

Governor Denies Being Contacted

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. John Connally said today he has not been contacted "directly or indirectly" about succeeding Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and said his trip to Washington has nothing to do with the widespread rumor that McNamara will resign. Connally, who served as secretary of the Navy before his election as governor in 1962, called a news conference to knock down speculation that he will be appointed to McNamara's post, a rumor that has been circulating for several years.

"I have no information on it except what I read in the newspapers and hear on radio and television," Connally said. "It hasn't been discussed with me either directly or indirectly." Connally, who is commissioner general of San Antonio's HemisFair '68, planned to fly to Washington later today on the first leg of a visit to France Friday.

He said the trip "has nothing to do with any rumors or speculation" about McNamara, and involves only HemisFair. The governor said he is not scheduled to meet with President Johnson during his two-day stay in Washington but hopes to do so.

He said his time in Washington will be spent in State Department protocol briefings and other matters related to HemisFair.

He refused to say what his decision would be if he should be offered the defense secretary's post, but said he does not "anticipate I will have any offers for any governmental position during my term of office," which expires in January 1969.

Connally already has said he will not run for re-election.

Cookbooks Pour In for Lynda

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lynda Bird Johnson and her future husband, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, have found a home in the Washington area, and gift cookbooks are pouring in to help Lynda feed him when they move in. Location of the house Lynda and Robb chose is being kept secret for the time being. It has to be different from the average newlyweds' hideaway, though, since it will have to be big enough to accommodate Lynda's Secret Service guardians who will maintain their around-the-clock vigil even after her Dec. 9 wedding.

The couple is expected to live in the house at least until mid-March when Robb is due to go to Vietnam. With the wedding day drawing near, Lynda is working hard trying to learn how to cook. The White House reports that the President's 23-year-old daughter has received at least a dozen cookbooks as wedding gifts since the word got around that she couldn't cook.

At the time Lynda confessed she was neoculinary artist, she quoted her mother as telling her not to worry about it. "If you can read... you can cook," was the First Lady's advice.

Texan Charged In Armed Robbery

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies early today arrested a 29-year-old Texan and charged him with suspicion of robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. Authorities said Kenneth R. de Pew of Odessa, Tex., was spotted near the scene of a $333 liquor store holdup.

Deputy Norman Jesseny said as he approached the suspect's car "he cocked a .38 caliber derringer in my face." The officer said he ducked. Jesseny said the suspect fled from the car. He fired at the man and wounded him in the shoulder. After searching de Pew's car, deputies said they found $333 in the trunk.

In 1965, the Havana to Miami airlift began after an agreement was reached with Cuban Premier Castro. Up to 4,000 Cuban refugees per month were to be flown to Florida.

Cambodia Denies Communist Bases Are Still in Country

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The Cambodian government Wednesday denounced "with indignation" reports of Communist lines in Cambodia. At the same time, it accused the U.S. government of sending commandos across the border into Cambodia for "sabotage and assassination purposes."

The denial and charges came in an official statement distributed by the Cambodian Embassy here.

It coincided with a statement by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander-in-chief in Vietnam who said the Viet Cong was operating from Cambodian sanctuaries.

The Cambodia statement charged that for years "the American press has been conducting a systematic campaign against Cambodia, accusing her of violating the obligations of her policy of strict military neutrality in favor of the Vietnamese national resistance."

"The royal government avails itself of this opportunity to accuse the American government of having infiltrated into Cambodian territory itself commandos for sabotage and assassination purposes."

The statement did not give any details. But it said Cambodia had statements from captured South Vietnamese members of the U.S. Special Forces to back its charges.

It said the U. S. press campaign had been intensified during the past weeks and "indicated a will to give credence, whatever the source," to the reports that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces were using Cambodian territory as a sanctuary to attack "the American expeditionary invasion forces" in South Vietnam.

"The royal government has always protested against these accusations which are totally unfounded and whose obvious aim is to explain the set backs suffered by the American Army in South Vietnam and prepare international opinion for an extension of the United States aggression into Cambodia," the statement said.

It's Agin' the Law

The next time somebody asks you if you'll deliver a message to a friend in another city, or down the block even, you'd better play safe and say no. Being helpful could cost you as much as $500. That is, $500 a message.

Carrying a message to Garcia or anyone else is apparently a federal offense, and there is a penalty for violation that can run as high as $500 for each unstamped "message in writing" that is carried.

This interesting aspect of Big Brotherism was disclosed when a steel company in Colorado found mail service so unsatisfactory that it started delivering company memos and messages without benefit of the Post Office. To speed things up, it set up its own pony express, an armored car that shuttled between the company headquarters in Denver and its plant offices in Pueblo, 120 miles away.

Everybody was happy except the Post Office. Despite the fact that Washington is dead set against monopolies, and the Justice Department is constantly warring on monopolists, the Post Office has a pretty tight monopoly on the delivery of mail. Just how tight that monopoly is was learned the hard way by the steel company when it started to deliver its own messages. Postal inspectors moved in faster than any mailman ever had.

Finally convinced that the steel men were just trying to improve their operating efficiency and were not trying to put the Post Office out of business, the postal inspectors made no attempt to toss anyone in jail. However, they figured out how many messages had been hauled between Denver and Pueblo and handed the company a bill of $2,000—for postage due. The steel men paid, and resigned themselves to the same service they had been getting from the Post Office, disbanding their pony express over the Rockies.

Technically, it appears, the individual has the same right. It's all right to deliver a message to Joe Klotz in the next town, or to Danny the bartender in the neighborhood pub—so long as you first stop in at the Post Office, buy a stamp and have it cancelled. At least that's what we understand from all this.

Somehow we think it can't be that simple. We'll bet that before you're allowed to make your appointed rounds, you'll be called upon to take a civil service examination or at least get a letter from a district leader or some other political nabob.

The Other Fellow May Be You

Accidents, injuries and disasters are things that always happen "to the other fellow" until a person finds himself flat on a stretcher in some strange hospital emergency room. The human inability to realize that nearly all of us at one time or another become the victims of emergencies and disasters is perhaps one of the reasons why the medical profession is working to improve emergency medical care services in the U.S. by bringing responsible organizations together in a cooperative effort.

The latter is a task of a newly established committee on emergency medical services of the American Medical Association. The committee's aim and some of the problems it was created to solve have been outlined by Dr. Richard F. Manegold, director of the AMA Department of Hospitals and Medical Facilities. He pointed out that an increasing number of persons use the hospital emergency room for both urgent and nonurgent medical needs. Hospitals often find that they have not budgeted enough money for manpower to staff the emergency room adequately. Often the hospital and local medical community have not cooperated in tying the emergency services in to the total health care system of an area. Many hospitals are short of interns. Inadequate emergency room facilities are not uncommon. These are some of the problems the committee was organized to help solve.

Most of us never think of this kind of an emergency except in terms of the "other fellow". Fortunately, the medical profession recognizes that you may be the other fellow five minutes from now and is working to provide you with the best possible care.

The Threadbare Sock

The greatest business in the world is the U.S. government. The voters of the United States hire managers for this business the President and members of Congress. They and officials appointed by them in the cabinet, bureaus, boards and commissions regulate and control virtually all industry and activity financed and operated by the private citizen and taxpayer, and yet they have no financial stake in what they regulate.

Many of the official managers are conscientious and competent, but the variety of complex matters they are charged with overseeing is often beyond their comprehension. Worse yet, some of the official regulators and managers directing the affairs of an industry have little or no practical experience or knowledge of that industry. Over the years, the managers of the people's government have mortgaged the people's property with the greatest debt in the world's history and are forcing their employers (the taxpayers) to carry over more burdensome and destructive tax obligations. Adding insult to injury, they do not hesitate to tell their employers how to run their properties.

Why shouldn't our public employees have their efficiency and spending checked by independent agencies? There will be no relief for the taxpayer if the tax spenders are left to check on themselves. This is something to consider before we face a $300 billion annual budget. The alternative is to awake one day and find that our hired managers have not only made off with our savings but also the threadbare sock in which we had them hidden.

Painless Pocket Picker

Everybody who earns a paycheck is generally aware that his income taxes are deducted from it along with his social security payment and unemployment insurance. This withholding tax system may turn out to be one of the greatest misfortunes that ever befell the United States. Since the taxpayer never experiences the pressure of jingling in his pocket all the dollars that he earns, he really never misses them. Huge amounts of taxes can be collected with an unbelievably small amount of pain. As more than one authority has noted, there might be a tax rebellion in the country except for the withholding system. As a matter of fact, this might not be a bad idea. Only the people of the United States can control taxing and spending policies of government, and they can do it in the polling booth at election time. If the

by Robert LeFevre

I have recently returned from a trip to the Berkeley campus, where one out of every three male students I saw sported a beard and two out of every three female students I saw wore mini-skirts.

It appeared, from what little I could observe in a short time, that the hippie movement, more prevalent in San Francisco than in Berkeley, is probably the most popular on campus. At any rate, more sympathy is expressed for the long-haired psychedelic devotees than for the position of other groups more oriented toward political action. At least the hippies have that to their credit. They don't seem to be engaged in trying to run other people's lives, although they may be involved in running their own.

Probably the next most important group in the Berkeley hills is the black power phalanx, definitely politically oriented, and militantly so. Opposing them, but in a far less dangerous stance, are the followers of Aya Rand and Nathaniel Branden. Followers of Rand appear as staid conformists when contrasted to the more flammable elements, yet their views are anything but middle-of-the-road.

I was trying to put some pieces together in my own mind by observing these youngsters and comparing them with their counterparts in my own day and age, which seems so long ago. There must be some central idea around which these more or less "way out" doctrines go into orbit.

Back in my youth there were radical elements, too. There were young socialists and young communists and various protesters. Perhaps I was insulated from them to a degree, but they never dominated campus life the way the various student juntas operate now. But as I attempted to draw a comparison, one idea suddenly jumped at me and I've been unable to shake it off.

There is one prime difference: It is the element of fear. In my salad days the world was a solid place. A ruckus might be stirred up on campus, but when the tumult and shouting died down, there was an absolutely solid and reliable social arrangement that would endure. The shouts of those who disagreed were on the periphery. Today they are in the center. And with that relocation of protest, the solidity of the operation of social practice and custom has vanished. Replacing it is a wave of uncertainty and fear. That is what's really bugging these young people. They are scared to death and they have various ways of trying to hide or sublimate their fears.

The hippies try to drop out; the black power advocates, filled with even greater terror, try to take over; the Randists try to show that anyone who disagrees with them is irrational. But every one of them, and probably the students who do not adhere to any kind of movement except the movement between classrooms, is looking at the kind of world adults are living in and it frightens them. They haven't matured and they may not want to mature in the kind of world we have.

If I take the time to look at the world through the eyes of these young people, I can see that they are not as "way out" as many adults feel. The fact is that these youngsters are more aware and more sensitive to the implications of our government-dominated society than are the adults. And they are far more worried by it, since they aren't insensitive to the direction in which we are moving.

A world which is already armed to the point where we have approximately ten tons of explosives on hand to blow every man, woman, and child into kingdom come is a rather scary world. It is even more frightening when we realize if the U.S. ever does go ground in an uncontrollable sea of deficit spending, inflation and ever-higher taxes, the painless system of withholding taxes will probably have contributed much to the final catastrophe. Now would be a good time to take a look at our paychecks and in the light of all the dollars we don't get to take home, consider the possibility that we already have more government than we can afford.

I can't blame the young person for trying to do something about this overriding sense of impending disaster. Depending on political decisions instead of making our own, has done this for us and to us. Perhaps the young people will stop their agitation when we, as adults, stand up to be counted in favor of principles, instead of setting the example of craven submission to the state.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: I frequently hear the statement that high taxes, government coercion and socialism are necessary because individuals will not voluntarily and adequately aid needy strangers. Since this is a common cliché could you please comment?

Answer: The individual who makes that statement usually insists that he himself will voluntarily aid those in need. "It's those other people who won't," he is likely to say. Granted there are some who will not, those other people who will not lend a helping hand to a person truly in need. This does not mean that many, if not most, of them are not "Good Samaritans" at heart.

The way individuals jump at the chance to aid the victims of fires, earthquakes, floods and other natural catastrophes, even in the present times of big government intervention, disproves the statement. When calls for assistance have been made in unusual cases, there have been countless individuals who have been eager to help. In the days before all of the government social welfare programs, people were even more quick to aid their less fortunate neighbors in time of need.

Those who insist that only the government can care for the needy are "so lacking in self-respect that they can have no faith in anyone else as an individual," writes Dr. Paul Poirot of the Foundation for Economic Education.

to the Kachin and Shan border states where Burmese army units are fighting dissident tribesmen.

DRASTIC TURNABOUT—Burma, the first non-Communist country to recognize the Peking regime, was on friendly terms with Communist China until last February.

Then Peking surprised the world by declaring propaganda war on General Ne Win's regime. The Chinese Communists branded the Burma government as "racist and reactionary" and recalled their aid specialists and diplomats. General Ne Win made his appeals for arms early in October after the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party sent a cable to the Burmese Communist Party which virtually declared war on his government.

"The Chinese Communist party and Chinese people," it said, "firmly support the people's revolutionary armed struggle led by the Communist Party of Burma. We regard such support as our internationalist duty. It is our firm conviction that the Communist Party of Burma will assuredly overthrow the reactionary Ne Win government and win complete victory in the revolutionary war in Burma."

The Burmese Communist Party is under command of Thakin Than Tun, who received training both in Peking and Moscow. He is currently in Communist China.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Q—My sister had a complete hysterectomy 28 years ago. Last month she started to menstruate. Her doctor says it is nothing to worry about and that it will stop of its own accord. Where does the blood come from after all these years?

A—Since the uterus has been removed, the bleeding must be from adjacent tissues. It is important to find the source of the bleeding and check it promptly.

Q—I am a housewife, 37. What side effects will occur if my uterus is removed?

A—You will no longer menstruate. If your ovaries are not removed there will be no "side effects." If they are removed at the same time you will have what is known as a surgical menopause. The attending symptoms can be prevented by giving you carefully regulated doses of female hormone.

Q—If my womb is tipped backward would that cause backache or headache? Would my menstrual periods be irregular?

A—This may be a cause of a backache that is worse during menstruation. It is not a direct cause of headache. In rare cases it may cause painful menstrual periods but would not cause irregularity.

Q—I have been taking Valium and Donnatal for 14 months. Is it harmful to take them for so long?

A—Diazepam (Valium) is one of the minor tranquilizers. It should not be taken by anyone who has glaucoma or who is pregnant. Its side effects include drowsiness, dizziness, fatigue, blurred vision, nausea and headache. If the dosage is adjusted to your needs, it should not cause side effects. After prolonged use it must be withdrawn gradually or convulsions may occur. Donnatal is a mixture that is given to relieve sour stomach. Because it contains a barbiturate, it may be habit-forming.

Q—Would Valium have a bad effect on one's mental health? Is it habit-forming? What is the difference between Valium and Equanil?

A—in some persons Valium may cause manic excitement, depression or hallucinations. These effects disappear promptly when the drug is withdrawn. Anyone taking this drug should avoid all alcoholic beverages. It is not habit-forming. Valium and Equanil, although chemically different, are both minor tranquilizers.

Wit and Whimsy

College library sign: "Don't disturb the train of thought."

The new invisible hairpins must be pretty good. We heard where a clerk sold four dollars worth after the store had been out of 'em 3 weeks.

John—That's what I'm doing, Mother. I'm only sitting on him now to make sure he's here when I've finished counting.

People will believe anything that you tell them, if you whisper it.

Yvonne—Whatever induced Dora to take up golf so suddenly?

Yvette—Oh, she read a newspaper article about somebody finding a diamond in the rough.

Rotary Club Embarks On Art Exchange Idea

Pampa Rotary Club has started a new project for Pampa—the International Student Art Exchange—a project to trade art works with students of other countries for display in Pampa.

Rev. Sam Hulsey, pastor of St. Matthews Episcopal Church and a member of the Pampa Rotary Club, is chairman with John R. Reeve Jr., as his co-chairman.

Four Pampa art teachers are working with Rotary Club members to locate the pre-school and student art works here. The teachers are Mrs. Tom Snow, at St. Matthews Day School, and St. Vincent de Paul Catholic School; Mrs. W. F. Skewes, Stephen F. Austin Elementary School; Mrs. Eugene Olds, Robert E. Lee Junior High School and Mrs. Floyd Sackett, Pampa Senior High School.

About 26 Rotary Club members started this week writing 76 letters to presidents of Rotary Clubs in other countries to see if they are interested in working with us on this project, Rev. Hulsey said.

"We hope to exchange art works done by pre-school children, and work done by senior high young people. If this project is successful, we would have works from the same age groups to display here in the spring," he said.

"When we talk about art, we do not mean just painting or drawing, but all forms of art which can be shipped without breaking, such as art work in oils, crayons, ink, art paper, charcoal, watercolors, poster paints, pencil, pastels and printing techniques," he said.

The art displays probably would not include sculpture, because of the difficulties in shipping it, and because the exhibits are not to be returned, but kept for displays throughout the year, he explained.

"Art is important as a means of communication—greater than the language of words. It is important especially for children to have a chance to express their innermost feelings and experiences. It nurtures the soul, both of the artist and the person who would view the work," he said.

The club's primary concern is not in "excellent technique, or perfect work," but in offering a chance for children and youths to participate in the project, he said.

The next step is to within a few weeks, devise standards of work, deadlines, and media required for the exhibits.

Countries contacted for participation were Japan, France, Austria, Portugal, Netherlands, Sweden, Australia and the City of Hong Kong.

The Southwest Amarillo Rotary Club sponsored a similar exhibit and loaned a few items it received to the Pampa club for a program recently, Rev. Hulsey said.

Movie Troup Flees Cong

SAIGON (UPI)—Comedienne Martha Raye's battlefront choruses of "Hello Dolly" were interrupted by a Viet Cong attack and she and two other performers were plucked to safety by helicopter, the Army reported Wednesday.

Miss Raye, wearing tiger-striped combat clothes and a green beret, was returning from entertaining troops further north of the lonely isolated outpost on Nui Ba Dan, known as the Mountain of the Black Widow.

She decided to pay a surprise visit to the 28 American troops stationed on the crest of the mountain which rises 3,027 feet above the flat surface of Tay Ninh Province. The mountain, located about 55 miles northwest of Saigon, resembles a pyramid from the air.

Miss Raye and two others in her troupe, which arrived for the current tour on Oct. 6, were performing for a Special Forces detachment and a radio relay station of the U.S. 1st and 25th Divisions when the bullets started flying.

The troops jumped for their weapons and the entertainers jumped for cover. The attack was described as a "sizable Viet Cong ground attack" by the Army, but there were no reports of American casualties.

A troopship helicopter, returning from carrying 25th Division troops into a combat assault, for the rescue of "some VIPs." The helicopter, flown by 1st Lt. Gerhard Weis of Milwaukee, Wis., and Warrant Officer Richard Eashline of Pittsburgh, Pa., landed in the midst of the firing.

Miss Raye, who has been to Vietnam more often than any other prominent entertainer, and the other performers were taken to a U.S. camp called Tay Ninh East.

An honorary lieutenant colonel in the Special Forces, the lively comedienne had a kiss for each of her rescuers.

This Couple Used to Calls From Cranks

HOUSTON (UPI)—Shortly after the 10 p.m. television news, the Titus Dickens got a telephone call.

"Is this Titus Dickens?" a voice asked.

"Yes," said Dickens. "Beep Beep," the voice said, and hung up.

The couple laughed. They're used to such calls.

The caller had just seen a television news report of a meeting at the couple's house.

"Why, just last month I got a call from a person who asked me if I wanted a ride in a flying saucer," Mrs. Florence Dickens, 34, said today.

"They said they'd been observing me for six months. They said they would be by for me in 30 minutes. But they never came."

Mrs. Dickens paused. "I don't know if they were kidding or not. They (men from outer space) have a way of observing us, you know."

The call after the news program Tuesday night was probably prompted by a meeting of the Amalgamated Flying Saucer Clubs of America in the Dickens' living room.

The couple and Gene Senter, a Harris County deputy sheriff who is president of the chapter, "invite reputable people to come speak to our group," Mrs. Dickens said.

"We don't want any of this hocus pocus stuff. We want genuine stuff. We would like to talk to people who have been contacted by spacemen," she said.

A call from a person who identified himself as one of "The Invaders" like on the television program was probably a hoax, she said.

"They said they were going to wipe us out. I'm sure they were just kidding."

The 73 persons at Tuesday night's meeting crowded the house. "We're planning on renting a hall for next month's meeting," said Mrs. Dickens.

Billy Graham Doing Better

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (UPI)—A doctor at Greenbrier Clinic said Wednesday evangelist Billy Graham "seems to be feeling fine" despite being confined to a hotel bed with pneumonia.

A physician said Graham was being X-rayed at the clinic and a bulletin on his condition would be released when the films were examined.

Graham had to call for the house physician at the Greenbrier resort hotel Sunday night after he and his wife checked in for the annual meeting of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. X-rays taken Monday showed pneumonia.

Graham's aides said the evangelist probably would address the group this week despite the illness.

Former News Employee Named To Austin Post

George W. Spaulding, former advertising employee of The Pampa Daily News, has been named classified advertising manager of the American-Statesman in Austin.

Spaulding succeeds Allen A. Oxford, who retired after a 45-year newspaper career.

He lived here with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Monday, 1913 N. Banks, while working on the Pampa News, in 1949 to 1954.

After he left here in 1954, he spent four years in the Air Force, before he registered in the University of Texas in Austin in 1957. He received his bachelor of business administration degree in marketing and advertising in 1961 and became a classified salesman for the American-Statesman.

He is director of the Better Business Bureau, a member of Austin Homebuilders Association, the Lions Club and the Austin Advertising Club. He and his wife Nancy have two daughters, Jo Betsy, 7 and Shelley, 3.

Polio Cases Are Rising

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Surgeon General William H. Stewart, noting a rise in reported cases, today warned against complacency about the threat of polio.

Figures made public by the National Communicable Disease Center showed that cases of polio, unlike most other infectious diseases, rose during 1966 to 102, compared with only 61 in 1965.

"Some people may think polio is whipped because cases have dropped so greatly from some years ago," Dr. Stewart said in a statement. "However, if all newborn infants aren't protected as they come along, cases can occur among those exposed to the disease."

Central Baptist Plan Yule Float

Central Baptist Church will have a float in the annual Christmas Parade planned Friday in downtown Pampa. The float will be rector by the Youth Council of the Central Baptist Church, more than 40 youths and 15 adults have worked on the float.

Theme for the float will incorporate a stained glass window, candles, and an open Bible, with the words, "Come, Adore Him."

Police Hunt for Bank Bandits

EULESS, Tex. (UPI)—Police today said they were still searching for the robbers of the First National Bank, but Chief W. M. Sustaie predicted an arrest within 24 hours.

The robbers got $5,820 in the Tuesday robbery.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents are looking for a tall, thin gunman and a woman, Sustaie said. FBI agents have three prime suspects, he said.

Three witnesses identified the driver of the getaway car as a woman, he said.

A nervous gunman hit the bank Tuesday after firing a warning shot into the ceiling. "I am not kidding. Anybody sounds an alarm, I will kill him," the gunman warned.

Fred Hughes, the bank's vice president, said she noticed the robbers as nervous as we were.

Mrs. Faye Chance, 27, secretary to Doyle Winters, bank president, said she noticed the gunman when he got out of a car.

"I am sure it (the driver) was a woman," Mrs. Chance said.

In 1918, President Woodrow Wilson sailed for France to attend the peace conference for World War I at Versailles.

A thought for the day—President George Washington said: "There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon favors from nation to nation."
